PERILOUS FEAT ACCOMPLISHED BY NAVIGATOR

Captain Klaus Larsen Risks Death in a Voyage Down Niagara River—Piloting a Little Motor Boat, He Rides Through the Whirlpool Rapids. Engine Stops With the 4 1/2 Mile Trip Partly Completed, and Until He Strands and Is Rescued His Craft Is a Mere Plaything of the Waters.

Niagara Falls, Sept. 18.—Captain Klaus Larsen, in a little motor boat, the Ferro, late this afternoon made a successful trip from the foot of the cataract through the whirlpool rapids to within a mile of Lewiston, four and one-half miles. He started from the Maid of the Mist dock at 4:45 and ran onto a rock near the American shore at 5:30. He intended to start at 2:30, but he was delayed, the authorities threatening to interfere on the ground of attempted suicide.

The Ferro swung under the cantilever bridge, the engine running at top speed. The craft was caught in the swift drift water to the whirlpool rapids. Larsen held the middle of the channel and in less than three minutes had made the great pool. In the trip through the rapids the little boat was lost to sight most of the time, but at the Great Wave it was shot twenty feet out of the water. The boat landed right.

Larsen kept the outer edge of the pool and passed out and down without accident. Just as he left the pool, the engine stopped. Larsen then was at the mercy of waters hardly less violent than those above. The boat swung around stern first and turned over, Larsen coming up battered. Here he injured his leg. The boat was a plaything in the night of the river, the little craft swinging from side to side as if a mere chip.

After getting through Devil's Hole the Ferro swung toward the rocks on the American side, rolling over one hooter and then over the first one again and was caught in a shore eddy.

The Ferro grounded again near enough to shore to be caught by a man who waded out and caught a rope thrown by Larsen. The navigator wanted to continue the trip, but having accomplished the worst part of the journey he was persuaded to stop. Larsen said: "The trip was worse than I thought it would be, but I was not hurt and I will do it again with another boat."

Except the old Maid of the Mist, sent through in 1864 to avoid seizure, Larsen's boat is the only engine propelled craft to go through the rapids. In 1890, Nissen, of Chicago, in 1900, and C. A. Prey, in 1887 and 1901, are the only other men who went through and lived. They made the trip in barrels.

PITTSBURG PLAYER CAPTURES AMATEUR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.

Brookline, Mass., Sept. 18.—Steadiness with driver, mid-iron and putter won for William Clark Fowles, Jr., of the Oakmont club of Pittsburg, the amateur golf championship of the country and transferred from the Hinsdale club of Chicago the possession of the Havemeyer cup. The player who tried to keep the cup on the shores of Lake Michigan was Warren Kenneth Wood of the Homewood club of Chicago, but being decidedly weak on the greens he succumbed to Fowles by 4 up and 3 to play.

INCUBATOR BABIES DIE AND DOCTOR IS ARRESTED.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 18.—As a result of the death of three babies on exhibition in an incubator at the state fair here, Dr. Douglas Snyder of Pittsburg has been arrested. Twelve warrants were sworn out by the county attorney of Louisville, charging a statutory offense. Dr. Snyder made a statement prior to his arrest that the babies died because he was unable to give them proper attention while making the trip from Chicago to Louisville. The babies, it is understood, came from a charity hospital in Pittsburg. They were on exhibition four days, hence the twelve warrants, one for each baby for each day. A deputy coroner found that the babies died from inanition.

UMBRELLA COSTS A LIFE.

Appleton, Wis., Sept. 18.—Returning to get his umbrella after he had started home at the end of his week's work, Joseph Wilger, an employee of the Fox River Valley stone works, touched an electric switch as he entered the plant and was instantly killed.

VACCINATION CAUSES DEATH.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 18.—Audrey May Drabentz, aged six years, died today of lockjaw resulting from vaccination. In order that she might enter the public schools the girl was vaccinated Aug. 24. Her arm became very sore and tetanus developed.

EUGENE V. DEBS "ROASTS" LABOR LEADERS AND ROOSEVELT.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Eugene V. Debs, formerly candidate of the socialist party for president of the United States, opened the fall campaign of the socialist party in Cook county here today. He said: "The Constitution was prepared by colonial capitalists with the idea of keeping the working classes down." He declared the supreme court had always been a capitalistic organization. He also declared the day of labor passed; that labor had become the tool of the capitalist and the politician. He said: "The so-called labor leaders are mis-leaders. We see Gompers and John Mitchell sitting at the same table with August Belmont and other rich enemies of the working classes. Of the two men—Belmont and Gompers—I have more respect for the former, plutocrat and plunderer though he may be, than for the latter man, who betrays the people he professes to serve."

Disunionist Theodore Roosevelt, Debs said: "He is a dishonest man. He advocates publicity for campaign contributions, but ignores the challenge to publish the names of the trusts that furnished the money to elect him in 1907. He is a traitor to the cause of the people and the trusts used information he had to hold them up for millions."

FOWLER BOWS TO THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE

New Jersey Congressman Defeated at the Primary Election Accepts the Verdict.

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 18.—Although Representative Charles N. Fowler, one of the leaders in the fight against Speaker Cannon, has been defeated for reelection, he acquiesces without complaint. In a statement he says: "From a sense of public duty I have made a hard and clean fight for those principles and policies which I regard as absolutely essential to the present and permanent welfare of my country and therefore just as essential to the continuance of the Republican party in power."

"But as it now appears that the Republicans of the Fifth congressional district have thought best to nominate someone else to succeed me in congress, I most cheerfully acquiesce in their action—for I am a Republican. Therefore, I shall continue to fight for those principles in the future as in the past within the ranks of the Republican party."

BALLINGER DENIES CABINET WILL SIT IN JUDGMENT.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 18.—"It is true I am going to Washington to attend the meeting of the cabinet. I do not know that anything affecting me personally will be discussed at all." This said Secretary of the Interior Ballinger this afternoon, denying a report recently sent out from Washington that he is hastening out to Washington to attend the meeting of the cabinet, when he would put it up straight to his Republican colleagues to sustain him or turn him down. He added: "I will not resign as long as I am sustained by the president."

ROOSEVELT INVADES ENEMY'S COUNTRY

Braves Old Guard Leaders in Their Lair at Syracuse—Crowd Is With Him.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Theodore Roosevelt invaded enemy's camp yesterday and lashed the bosses. In a ringing speech the ex-president hurled defiance at those who have lined themselves against him in the fight against the old guard.

Colonel Roosevelt found no sympathy from the Republican machine leaders who went to the state fair grounds to hear his speech, but he wanted none. In clearly defined phrases he told the crowd of 40,000 that he would fight the bosses to the last ditch.

"I am in fighting trim," remarked the colonel to former Senator Francis Heisterly, who shook the hand of the old-time machine leader who is leading the fight to send an unbroken anti-Roosevelt delegation to the Saratoga convention. The colonel found Senator Timothy L. Woodruff, the Kings county leader, at the speakers' stand in the fair grounds and for a brief moment they glanced at each other. Then Mr. Roosevelt stepped forward and the warriors shook hands.

"Glad to see you," said the ex-president, greeting his teeth. The Kings county leader muttered a "Howdy" and slunk away. Woodruff, who had been a particular guest of Lieutenant Governor Horace White at the fair, did not wait to hear Colonel Roosevelt's speech.

The ex-president got to the fair grounds at 3:15 o'clock and was taken in an automobile around the track so the immense throng could see him. If the bosses did not want Roosevelt there, the crowd evidently did, for he was cheered vigorously as the tour of the grounds went on.

Lieutenant Governor White, whom Colonel Roosevelt has no more bitter antagonist, met the ex-president on the train just outside the fair grounds and escorted him around the grounds out of place.

Colonel Roosevelt's speech was the most vigorous he has made in the annals of his new nationalism.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Theodore Roosevelt arrived home from the Syracuse state fair today.

MR. TAFT LEAVES BEVERLY, BOUND FOR CINCINNATI

His Speech There Tomorrow Will Outline His Future Policy With Regard to River and Harbor Improvements—His Vacation Is Practically at an End.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 18.—President Taft's vacation practically came to an end today. At midnight he boarded a train for Cincinnati, going by way of New Haven, where he will attend a meeting of the Yale corporation tomorrow. Tuesday will find him in Cincinnati, where he will deliver an address at the opening of a dam that will outline his future policy with regard to river and harbor improvements. The remainder of his stay in Cincinnati will be given up to the dispatch of private business.

Saturday or Sunday next the president will reach Washington, where accumulated business of two months awaits his attention. The judicial appointments are to be decided, the Ballinger-Pluchot affair adjusted and other matters of almost equal importance demand attention. The cabinet will be in session practically four days, during which time all the members of the official family, save Secretary of War Dickinson, who is in the Far East, will be guests of the president at the White House.

Leaving Washington Oct. 1, the president will address the convention of the National League of Republican Clubs that night in New York. This speech is being carefully prepared by the president. It will be his final political utterance during the campaign, and he is being urged to strike the same definite note in this utterance that he did in his conservation speech at St. Paul. He will return to Beverly Oct. 2, but nothing but work is ahead of him here. The message is to be prepared, plans for economy completed, the estimate gone over, the work of the tariff board reviewed.

Mr. Taft announced today that in his message to congress in December he will recommend an appropriation of $2,000,000 to begin the work of fortifying the Panama canal. He will recommend also that provision be made for two new battleships of the Dreadnought type. Mr. Taft does not believe that the economy plan should preclude the construction of two battleships a year until such time as the Panama canal is completed.

The president will bid adieu to Beverly finally on Oct. 16 and go direct to Washington, where, unless he decides upon the Panama trip, he will remain throughout the winter.

CHICAGO IS FOURTH AMONG THE WORLD'S BIG CITIES.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The population of Chicago is 2,183,283, an increase of 486,708, or 28.7 per cent, as compared with 1,696,575 in 1900. This announcement comes from the census of the city as the second city in population in the United States and the fourth in the world. Chicago has almost doubled her population since 1890, when the figures were 1,093,784. The increase in population during the past decade was not so great proportionately as that of New York, the rate of increase being 10 per cent less than that scored by the eastern city. New York is yet ahead of its closest rival by 2,581,550.

Chicago can claim distinction in having jumped from sixth to fourth place, among the big cities of the globe, it following closely upon the heels of Paris, whose population in 1901 was 2,714,068. Chicago takes precedence over Tokio and Berlin by a close margin.

DEPARTMENT HEADS ADVISED OF PRESIDENT'S NEW POLICY.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Indications multiply that the letter written by Secretary Norton to an unnamed Iowa politician is an expression of a new policy of President Taft to be followed by the various departments of the government in the matter of patronage. Copies of the letter have been sent to the executive heads of all the departments of Washington. The letter is a direct statement that, so far as federal patronage is concerned, regulars and insurgents will look alike to the president.

BRYAN'S ASSOCIATE EDITOR TO SUPPORT A REPUBLICAN.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 18.—R. L. Metcalf, associate editor of W. J. Bryan's paper, has issued a statement declining to support Mayor Dahlman of Omaha, the "wet" Democratic candidate for governor. He says he will support C. H. Aldrich, the county option Republican candidate. Metcalf ran for the nomination for United States senator on a county option platform and was defeated.

SECRETARY DICKINSON IN PEKIN.

Pekin, Sept. 18.—American Secretary of War Dickinson arrived here today. When borne in a sedan chair to the American legation, he was heartily greeted on all sides. A most elaborate program has been planned.

CHINESE LEPER RECAPTURED.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 18.—Mon Wing, the leper who escaped from quarantine Friday, was caught tonight in the Chinese quarters.

The Weather

Washington, Sept. 18.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Generally fair, continued cool, Monday and Tuesday.

TRANSCONTINENTAL FLIGHT IS PLAN OF C. J. GLIDDEN.

Boston, Sept. 18.—A tour by aeroplane from the Harvard aviation grounds, on the Atlantic coast, to Los Angeles, on the Pacific, is formally proposed in a letter sent to the National Council Aero Club of America by Charles J. Glidden. He offers a trophy to be competed for annually under such terms as may be made.

Garden City, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Tod Shevler made an American record for flying by moonlight tonight, covering thirty-one and a quarter miles. He flew forty-nine minutes.

Atlanta Ga., Sept. 18.—Mobile and Atlanta broke the world's time record for a baseball game here yesterday afternoon when they played a full nine-inning game in thirty-two minutes, Mobile winning, 2 to 1.

ARMY OF MEN FURBISHING THE CAPITOL

Under the Direction of Superintendent Elliot Woods, Improvements That Will Cost Many Thousands of Dollars Are Being Made at Washington, D. C.

Desk telephones are being installed for the representatives, while each of the senators gets a new room in which to store his campaign ammunition.

Washington, Sept. 18.—While members of congress are campaigning in their respective districts Elliot Woods, superintendent of the Capitol, one of the most energetic officials in the government employ, is directing a small army of men who are engaged in the task of making the Capitol of the nation more beautiful and the private offices of the statesmen more comfortable.

Up to a few years ago only the most important committee chairmen were accommodated with office rooms in the Capitol building. Now, however, each and every member of congress is provided with private offices. Most of the members of the house have to struggle along with one office in which they work with their clerks. Senators, however, are given at least two offices—one for their clerks and an elaborately furnished private office. Each branch of congress has a beautiful marble office building. In the old days of congress, the average statesman kept his office under his hat. Today he goes into his private office, a bank president and far better than a average merchant.

Visitors to these office buildings immediately gain the impression that their representatives have been furnished with the best possible quarters. Should they come across Mr. Woods, however, they would discover that nearly every member of congress has left with him a letter outlining in detail the improvements he desires made during his absence from Washington. These improvements cost the government many thousands of dollars, but the statesmen believe they are entitled to the best in the land and as they are the men who handle the purse strings of Uncle Sam's treasury and are in a position to dictate, they invariably have their way.

Desk Telephone Demanded.

An illustration of the expense encountered during the summer months is to be found in the telephone system. When the house office building was completed the telephone instruments were attached to the walls of each room. The senate offices, which were not occupied until some months later, were equipped with desk telephones. The house members decided that they were getting decidedly the worst of the bargain. Nearly every member of the house made application for a desk telephone and as a result a corps of electricians have been kept busy during the summer months ripping out the old telephones, in many miles and miles of wire, and setting up the more convenient desk telephones.

Another scene of activity caused by the whims of the members of the house is to be found in the carpenter shop. When a United States senator wants to have his private office, he goes over in the house office building the average member has but one room. In the summer comfort demands that the door remain open, thus giving the ever present tourist an opportunity to stare at the member busily engaged with his correspondence. One member resented being an object of curiosity and called for a folding screen to shield his desk and the desk of his private secretary from the gaze of visitors. Now Mr. Woods has requisitions for scores of screens which are to be installed before congress meets in December.

When the senate office building was thrown open for occupancy less than a year ago it was expected that the accommodations then provided would be sufficient for many years. It has been found, however, that the senators require every available bit of room in the building. The building had been so constructed that in later years the basement might be used for offices. They were partitioned off, but with that exception were entirely unoccupied. When the senators come back to Washington they will find that the basement rooms, which were so unattractive two months ago, have been converted into offices quite as comfortable as those on the upper floors. It is not expected that these new offices will be put into immediate and permanent use. Senators who were candidates for reelection found that the two rooms assigned to them were inadequate for the countless mail bags of public documents it was necessary to keep on hand and for the extra force of clerks employed to supply their constituents with speeches, bills etc. These basement offices, therefore, will serve as campaign headquarters from time to time.

Turkish Baths and Swimming Pools.

It is in this basement, by the way, that the senators are provided with all the conveniences of a modern clubhouse. Here are to be found Turkish baths, swimming pools, a handball court, a barber shop, every known variety of up-to-date shower baths, and, in fact, every convenience which might possibly tend to refresh a statesman who had been compelled to spend several hours in the poorly ventilated senate chamber. Unfortunately, the senators are compelled to get along without the services of masseurs. Some of the younger senators, who wanted to keep themselves in the pink of condition, endeavored to get an appropriation for the employment of skilled massage artists, but were deprived of that comfort by the older senators, who frowned on the scheme.

San Francisco, Sept. 18.—Abe Attell and Ad Wolgast have been matched to fight twenty rounds here Oct. 31.

REPAIRS ARE BEING MADE WHICH WILL ATTRACT THE EYE OF THE GENERAL PUBLIC.

Two hundred men have been at work since the adjournment of congress with mallet, chisel, brush and paint. Through all of the rooms and halls and passages and stairways the workmen have labored their way, renewing as they went along. Paint has been growing like bark on a tree, thicker and thicker with the passing of years. This has been taken off and the sandstone of which the Capitol is constructed will once more be revealed.

It is related that when General Washington was planning the magnificent Capitol of the nation he helped to found sandstone for its construction was quarried in Virginia. This sandstone it was discovered "swallowed" by the growth of the mural and other paintings, and, therefore, it was decided about fifty years ago to paint it over. Since that time it has been painted again and again. Now these numerous coats of paint are being removed. The painting of the Capitol, including the dome, is an enormous task. It has been estimated that it would take one man nearly five years to do the job. The men now at work have the best mechanical devices to help them. Although some of them are at work two hundred or three hundred feet above the ground, they are so well protected that accidents are well-nigh impossible, either inside or outside the building.

TRAINS COLLIDE; FOUR MEN KILLED

Operator Who Failed to Transmit Orders Is Blamed for Bad Railroad Wreck.

Cairo, Ill., Sept. 18.—Four men were killed and two were injured in a head-on collision between Mobile & Ohio and Iron Mountain freight trains near Beach Ridge, Ill., north of here, this morning. The dead were:

CLAUDE ROHNS, engineer.
A. C. ROSNER, fireman.
W. E. STEVENSON, brakeman; all of the Mobile & Ohio train and all of Jackson, Tenn.

UNIDENTIFIED NEGRO.
Those injured are E. A. Bargarlof, of St. Louis, engineer, and E. C. Buckminster, conductor of the Iron Mountain train. The condition of the former is serious.

Witnesses testified before the coroner's jury this afternoon that operator Charles E. C. Gray who was on duty at Beach Ridge when the wreck occurred, had been drinking and failed to transmit orders. Clark was arrested, charged with responsibility for the wreck. The cars had the steamers loaded with lumber and coal were demolished.

THREE TWO HARBORS MEN DROWN IN LAKE SUPERIOR

Duluth, Sept. 18.—Three Two Harbors men, members of a pleasure party of four, were drowned early this morning when their motor boat was capsized in a storm near Encampment island. The other man swam ashore.

AVIATORS TO TRY FOOLHARDY TRIP

Flight Across the Alps to Be Attempted in Journey from Switzerland to Italy.

Brigels, Switzerland, Sept. 18.—Everything is in readiness for the greatest feat of aviation since the crossing of the Alps of the Rhone valley, Switzerland, over Simpson pass and down into Italy, crossing Lake Maggiore, to Milan. The contestants may start any time until Sept. 26, but must complete the air journey to Milan in a single day.

Many regard the attempt as foolhardy, as the aviator must rise over 7,000 feet immediately on leaving the ground and maintain that altitude for not less than half an hour to clear the Alps and descend again. Precipitous gorges would mean almost certain death. Meteorologists report the peaks of the mountains snow-capped and the air currents strong and gusty. In a month there have been only two days in which the pass could be crossed with safety. Pilots have calculated that the altitude of 7,000 feet will reduce the power of a motor 35 per cent.

George Chavoz, the noted Peruvian aviator, will start in the monoplane with which he made his height record of 8,792 feet. He regards the extreme cold mountain passes as the greatest difficulty. Other starters will be Cattaneo, Paillette, Wintzler and Weymann. Latham has withdrawn, saying that his motor is incapable of reaching the necessary height.

The country is broken and difficult and there are many chasms. Signal fires and flags will mark the route, and buzzards will show the way across Lake Maggiore. Latham is seventy-five miles from the start as the crow flies.

POLICE GRAFT IS CHARGED IN NEW YORK CITY

Allegations That the Department Is Honeycombed With Corruption Stir the Municipal Administration—Investigation by Grand Jury Will Begin This Week.

One High Official Said to Have Been "Caught With Goods" Is Expected to Tell All he Knows, in Return for Immunity—Sensational Revelations Promised.

New York, Sept. 18.—New York is agitated over the intimation that revelations of police graft that will eclipse the so-called sensational developments of the Lexow investigation are impending. The "inner circles" are about to be uncovered and the manner in which gamblers, disorderly house proprietors, "sure thing" workers of every kind and even the women of the street have been forced to contribute for protection in the city hall are well founded.

One report is that one full confession has been promised Acting Mayor Mitchell and District Attorney Whitman by a police department official who was "caught with the goods" and who is willing to tell all he knows and send many of his fellows to prison if he is assured immunity.

It is certain there will be a grand jury investigation of the police force. It will start this week. The eyes of attaches of the commissioner of accounts' office who have investigated the open gambling and the display of vice on the principal streets, and who are believed to know what amounts were paid for protection and to whom the money went, will be the first witnesses called.

Acting Mayor Mitchell and Mayor Gaynor are said to be in accord in the present plan to purify the police and to stop at least the open violation of the law. It was after a visit to Mayor Gaynor at Despatch that Mitchell went to see District Attorney Whitman and the grand jury investigation was decided upon.

SOUTHWESTERN COAL STRIKE ENDS IN VICTORY FOR MEN.

Kansas City, Sept. 18.—At a meeting here today representatives of the miners of the Southwestern field ratified the agreement made with the operators and will resume work Tuesday. The contract is said to be a victory for the miners. The men will receive an increase of 5.55 per cent on day work and yardage. They also will receive an increase of three cents a ton on shooting coal and an increase of five cents a ton on long-wall work. The arbitration clause leaves all future differences to W. L. A. Long, mine inspector of Kansas. When the operators close a mine, they must agree to pay a dollar a day an increase in time it is closed. The miners agree to pay the operators fifty cents a day for the time they cause a mine to be closed.

Big Lockout Is Feared in Wales.

Cardiff, Wales, Sept. 18.—Twelve thousand miners employed in the Cambrian mines here, disregarding the decision of their leaders to take a ballot, have adopted a resolution to begin a strike tomorrow. It is feared that the action will lead to a general tie-up locking out 200,000 men.

DETROIT TUNNEL IN USE; WILL REPLACE THE FERRIES.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 18.—The establishment yesterday of a regular freight service through the double-barreled Michigan Central railroad tunnel under the Detroit river between Detroit and Windsor, Ont., marked the beginning of the end of the road's car ferries, one of the picturesque Detroit marine features. Several preliminary round trips were made through the tunnel by heavily loaded freight trains drawn by electric locomotives in preparation for the regular schedule. Passenger service under the river will be inaugurated as soon as the engineers become conversant with the handling of the cars in the tunnel grades. The $15,000,000 tunnel will be augmented by the complete electrification of the Detroit terminals.

LINA CAVALIERI WILL FIGHT; HAS NO IDEA OF COMPROMISE.

New York, Sept. 18.—Counsel for Miss Lina Cavaleri, the singer, said today that his client proposed to fight for her rights and was coming to this country to see that the pre-nuptial agreement whereby Chandler turned over to the diva his entire fortune was carried out. Chandler's defense attorney said his attack will be that until his debts are paid no income from his estate will be available either for his wife or himself. It is known that everything he owns outright is very heavily mortgaged. Just what the value of his property is has been variously fixed at between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000. And the debts, it has been intimated, exceed his equity. His own lawyers are at sea on what that is at present.

FREIGHT RATE HEARING.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Four members of the commerce commission—Messrs. Prouty, Lane, Clements and Clark—will hear testimony here tomorrow when the commission's investigation into the proposed railroad rate increase is resumed here. The hearing is expected to last ten days.

MARQUETTE MICH., SEPT. 19, 1910.
DETROIT JOURNAL IN DUMPS.
The esteemed Detroit Journal has since the result of the senatorial primary become known, been unable to regard with cheerfulness or equanimity any political development. Its world has, apparently, tumbled in about its ears. It is pessimistic and dyspeptic, has a dark brown taste in its mouth and carries a wry face on its daily journey through the mails. It finds the weather beastly, the roads bad, the country wobbly, the times out of joint.
Waiting over the Maine election results, it says:
A Democratic majority in control of the next session of congress is now more than probable. Michigan may, and probably will, lose several Republican congressmen.
The only wonder is that the Journal doesn't surrender to the Democrats the entire state ticket and the legislature will elect Senator Burrows' successor. And why not concede all the county tickets, as well as everything else that is lying around loose?
Republicans can take heart even in the face of the Journal's predictions of dire political disaster in Michigan. They can reflect that the Journal lately demonstrated a childish innocence of knowledge of what is going on in Michigan politics. They can recall that the Journal predicted that the upper peninsula would cast 40,000 votes in the primaries, of which Senator Burrows would get 35,000, and that Burrows would get 10,000 majority out of Wayne, whereas he lost the county to Townsend by a goodly margin. When the wild excesses of the Journal's anti-primary gessing are remembered, it will be seen that there is nothing in its prediction that the Republicans will lose several congressmen in Michigan that need occasion even the slightest concern.
As a matter of fact, there is only one district in Michigan where the Democrats promise to make serious trouble. That is the First district, made up of territory in the city of Detroit and represented by Congressman Edwin Denby. Here the Democrats, encouraged by the farcical mixup over the Republican city ticket, which resulted in the nomination for mayor of P. Knox Owens, are preparing to make a vigorous campaign, and there is real apprehension that they may elect their candidate, Doremus. Representative Denby is an able man, and a good one, but he is so unstanding that he refuses in any way to temper his opinions to the drift of popular sentiment. He is a "standpatter," an out and out defender of the tariff and shows no disposition to make any concession to political expediency. He is the kind of man whom recent primaries and elections have shown to be shining marks for the opposition. His loss would be a real one for the Michigan delegation, but there is no gainsaying that it is within the bounds of possibility. However, with the exception of Mr. Denby it is difficult to see how any other member of the Michigan delegation is in particular danger, despite the doleful prediction of the Detroit Journal.
What's amiss with the Republican party in the Journal's eyes? Why Theodore Roosevelt, of course. It is our much beloved colonel who is wrecking the grand old party, smashing it to smithereens, and preparing it for the junk heap. Driven by his restless ambition to rule and dominate, our colonel is tearing the party from stem to gudgeon and when he has rested from his labors there won't be enough of it left to give our Democratic friends a decent fight. Such is the view of the present status of the Republican party expressed by that great bulwark of Republican strength and party integrity, the Detroit Journal.
"A bas Theodore Roosevelt." This is one of the favorite slogans of many gentlemen and newspapers bitterly disappointed in the recent primaries. The Detroit Journal is not alone in ascribing to him all the trials and hard circumstances of the Republican party. His decriers put forth their tirades against him with a sublime confidence in the gullibility of the country and the voters. They have overestimated this gullibility. The country and the Republican voters know that when ex-President Roosevelt turned the party over to President Taft it was still a homogeneous organization, ready either to work or fight effectively. They know that the seeds of disharmony which have now returned so rich a harvest were sowed during the special session of congress, when the tariff was under consideration. They know that when the tariff was being made, or mis-made, according to the point of view, and that when the regulars and the insurgents were getting by the ears, Colonel Roosevelt was pursuing his year's hunt in Africa, and that from him, by word or writing, came no statement bearing on Republican politics or policies. Theodore Roosevelt is no more responsible for the present plight of the Republican party than he is for the failure of Walter Wellman's north polar expeditions, and the country and the voters know it, even if the Detroit Journal does not.

The conditions now occasioning concern were created before the colonel came back to us. President Taft, long ere that event, had become embroiled with the progressives, had withheld the party patronage, which he has now restored, from them, had dismissed Pinchot and other conservationists and had taken on himself the burden of carrying Secretary Ballinger. The foundations of all the trouble which now has the Republican party so much up in the air were laid long before the newspapers were heralding abroad the story of the colonel's triumphant landing in New York. Nor have the colonel's activities since done ought but aid the party. By giving an impetus to the movement toward popular leadership, he has taken up the task of getting the party organization into the hands of men the mass of voters will trust and uphold. He is exerting all his energies to save the party by making it fully worth saving. All this is as clear as a pikestaff to the great mass of the people, even if so many dis-tinguished newspapers are not able to see it.

It is reported from below the straits that the selection of W. F. Knox, of the So., as chairman of the Republican state central committee is assured. He will have the support of the three largest delegations in the state, those from Wayne, Kent and Saginaw counties, and numerous other counties have fallen in line for him. He will have practically united support from the delegates from the upper peninsula. The selection of Paul King to be secretary of the committee is regarded as equally certain. It is said that Representative Townsend, Senator Smith and Chase S. Osborn will all stand firmly for the success of the Knox-King combination.
Regarding President Taft's patronage declaration the New York Globe says: "Thus ends the Wickersham attempt to define what is a Republican and to drive out of the party the men whose views differed from those of Mr. Wickersham. There is to be tolerance and the merry business of making the number of Republicans smaller is to be stopped. It was a policy that should never have been adopted and that is well abandoned. President Taft was not soundly advised when he was told that the patronage club would drive men into line when argument failed. Among the mistakes of the Taft administration was the Wickersham-Hitecock foolishness. It led to resentment and bitterness, rather than to conversion."
Representative Townsend will take an active part on the stump in the Republican campaign this fall. He feels that one way he can repay the Republican party for the handsome endorsement it gave him for senator is by doing everything that lies in his power to help it win a sweeping victory in the state. Mr. Ross, the nominee for lieutenant governor, also plans an aggressive speaking campaign, to help the good work along, and Chase S. Osborn expects to give the month of October up to another statewide speaking tour, in which his energies will be concentrated on the task of giving Mr. Hemans, of Mason, as good as he sends. The Republican party will command the services of a galaxy of brilliant oratorical stars, and will enter the campaign in much stronger position, and much better equipped for effective work among the voters, than in any recent year. The Democrats will doubtless put up a strong campaign, but they will meet point by point and no false confidence in the result will be allowed to work to their advantage.
All this mess between the warring factions on the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee would have been avoided had the Republican members of the committee, who were expected to see to Mr. Ballinger's vindication, been on hand at the scheduled meeting in St. Paul. Mr. Ballinger's vindication by a majority could have been attended to forthwith, and then, perhaps, he could have seen his way clear to resign from the cabinet. Mr. Ballinger doesn't like the way the committee has bungled things a bit more than the next man, and is now credited with the intention of forcing his cabinet associates on record with regard to his standing as a public official. Inasmuch as a determination on the evidence by the congressional commission seems to be indefinitely postponed, he proposes that the cabinet itself shall either vindicate or condemn him, he to govern himself according to its verdict. The failure of the Republican members of the investigating committee to report on time, thus permitting the Democrats opportunity for their partisan by-play, has not served to simplify the situation or to make the whole Ballinger business any easier for the Republican party to shoulder.

HERE AND THERE.
A lusty old boy or sow can kill more snakes in a day than an organized system. When the poison snake does not only have antipathy for snakes of all varieties, but look upon them as a luxury, and with their powers of scent are able to find snakes where a man would never think of looking. The bog goes directly for the snake. If the snake is in a hole, the man strikes that makes no difference to the big. It proceeds into striking distance, and when the snake lunges the animal turns its head and permits the fangs to strike it in the jaw, where there are no blood vessels to carry the poison into the system. When the poison snake strikes the reptile are exhausted the animal eats the snake, tearing it into ribbons with its tusks and sharp fangs. A drove of hogs turned loose on land infested with snakes will soon clean out the reptiles, as they are indefatigable in their search for this porcine dainty.
Singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee," three women charmed a rattlesnake that had crawled beneath a cushion upon which one of them was seated, out on the Vale ranch, says the Salt Lake Tribune. Mrs. F. P. Dunlap, Mrs. Harry Allison, and Mrs. A. Vale were seated on a lounge under the trees when Mrs. Dunlap perceived the snake. Instantly she thought of music charming reptiles, and she whispered, "Let's sing." She commenced to hum the sacred air, and the others, not knowing why, took it up.
The snake, with head poised, paused, and Mrs. Dunlap slowly arose and beckoned to the others to follow, which they quietly did. After having gained a safe distance, the others discovered what their danger had been. Armed with clubs, the women then killed the snake.

A LAUGH OR TWO.
The Lesson.
It is a poor rule that will not work both ways. A minister was catechizing a group of Sunday-school children on the incident of Eutychus. He had explained how at Troas the apostle had been preaching his farewell sermon and had prolonged his discourse to so late an hour that the young man Eutychus fell out of the window, being overcome with sleep. But St. Paul went down and brought him back to life again. "And what do we learn from the incident?" he concluded. "A little girl put out her hand, and the minister pointed to her."
"Please, sir," she answered, "we learn that ministers should not preach long sermons."—Tit-Bits.

A Ticklish Subject.
A great Scotch lawyer was pleading before a judge with whom he was on most intimate terms. Happening to be retained for a client of the name of Tickle, he commenced his speech:
"Tickle, my client, the defendant, my lord—"
He was interrupted by a laugh in court. "Tickle her yourself," said the judge, promptly. "You are as able to do so as I am."
"Whereupon the laughter increased.—London Mail.
Pilgrim's Progress John.
Cornelius V. Collins, the superintendent of New York's prisons, said in Troy of a discredited penologist:
"He is as ignorant of prisons as Deacon Smith was of religion."
"Deacon Smith, you know, once he led a religious lecture with these words: 'The Lord is my strength, and he has made me a man of war.' There's three Johns mentioned in the Good Book. There's the just, John the Evangelist; second, John the Baptist, and three, John the Bunton."—Pittsburg Dispatch.
Reward of Merit.
The motor car was obstinate. It wouldn't budge. Industrious, the man in waterproof cap and goggles turned the crank handle; but without result. He turned and turned and turned. Then he paused.
"I've it agen, Alfered!"
"Go it, Johnson!"
"Thus the crowd."
But to such gibings he was deaf.
Once more he hopefully seized the crank and turned it strenuously. No effect. He paused to remove his cap and regain his breath.
Observing the action, an elderly gentleman stepped forward and dropped a coin on the upturned cap.
"Thank you, my man—thank you!" he murmured. "It's the only street organ I ever saw that didn't get me nearly deaf with its noise! You deserve a copper!"—Answers.
He Took the Blame.
August Herrman, the new grand exalted ruler of the Elks, said at an Elks banquet in Detroit:
"The guilty man always gives himself away, for, like the chap who bought the 40-cent bathing suit, he can't hide his guilty conscience."
"The chap I have in mind entered the bath at Atlantic City in a 40-cent suit of blue flannel. As he splashed about he was joined by a girl friend. The girl dashed her bright eyes over the tumbling expanse of sea, and then, with a sigh of delight, she said:
"Isn't the water blue, today?"
"It's shocking," said the man, with a hot blush. "It's perfectly shameful how this cheap bathing flannel runs!"—Washington Star.

LOWER STATE NOTES.
JACKSON—President Merriman, of the prison board of control, was at the prison figuring with Warden Stone on what is needed in the way of repairs and improvements. The report to the governor is to be prepared and the legislature will be asked to appropriate money to provide these improvements. The board has in mind a new cell block. President Merriman says there ought to be no question that the legislature will appropriate for one, as the old one is dangerous to health and is getting worse and worse. Mr. Merriman declared that no farmer would house hogs in those cells if he wanted to see them thrive. It is figured that the total appropriation to be asked for will amount to $239,000, of which $200,000 is for the new cell block.
CHESANING—In attempting to avoid running over a dog that ran in front of his car as he was motoring here from Saginaw, Fred M. Miller of this city lost control of his auto. The machine plunged into the ditch by the roadside and turned turtle. Miller and his wife, who was riding with him, were both pinned under the overturned car. A farmer who happened along succeeded in releasing the imprisoned couple. Mr. Miller was unconscious when taken to the hospital and it is feared sustained a serious internal injury. Miller escaped with severe bruises. The accident occurred seven miles north of here. Aid was telephoned for and the injured woman was brought to her home.
PORT HURON—Henry Manion is in jail here on a charge of assault and battery, and his wife, who was confined to her bed with illness when it is alleged she was assaulted by him, is in a serious condition as the result of the attack made upon her. Manion is said to have struck her while she was in bed and to have driven the stem of a pipe through her nose. The physician who is attending Mrs. Manion said that while her condition is not dangerous, her injury is a serious one which combined with her state of health may weaken her for a considerable time.
BOYNE CITY—J. E. Worthington of Grand Rapids, secretary to Senator Burrows' campaign committee during the recent campaign, has taken the position of editor and manager of the Boyne Citizen, Evening Journal and the Boyne Citizen, the two papers just purchased by L. H. White and Joe Aldendier, son and son-in-law, respectively, of W. H. White, the rich lumberman. Mr. Worthington will take charge this week when the two papers will be merged.
SAGINAW—My other five children give me enough to live without looking all over the country for this one." With these words L. Shangle of St. Charles closes a letter to the school authorities in reply to a notice to him that his son Joe, aged 13, was not in school and that the boy must attend school. Shangle states in his letter that he sent Joe to school on June 13 last, and that he has not seen the boy since and that only once has he heard from him. A friend in Maple Grove wrote Shangle that Joe stopped with him two days but since then the father has received no word of the boy.
GRAND RAPIDS—Hypnotic power and mesmeric influence are alleged to have been the subtle influences responsible for the transferring of Helen Stevens' affections from her husband to another, according to charges set up in the papers filed in a $10,000 suit for alleged alienation of affections started by John Leon Stevens against Harry Selman, an actor. Selman was arrested on a capias by Deputy Sheriff Kataczak and taken to jail in default of furnishing $1,000 bail. It is charged by the husband that Selman had hypnotized his wife and had her under his control so that he persuaded her to leave home and go with him on the stage. Selman is doing a "revival" act at one of the low priced Canal street amusement places and was supported in his turn by Mrs. Stevens.
ST. JOSEPH—Trouble is feared from 300 Italians, members of a construction gang on the Michigan Central at Three Oaks, south of here, because of a robbery, when nearly $2,000 was stolen from an agent came from Detroit and collected the savings of the men. It was his custom to take the money to Detroit and deposit it to the credit of the various owners. He had started for the depot about midnight, when, according to his own story, he was set upon by footpads, knocked down and the money taken. The robbery aroused the village and a hunt was made for the robbers, but they could not be found. The agent is still in the camp, and for fear that the gang may wreak vengeance on him for the loss of their money, the officers are watching developments closely.

YOUR BACKACHE WILL YIELD
To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Bloomdale, Ohio.—"I suffered from terrible headaches, pains in my back and right side, and was tired all the time and nervous. I could not sleep, and every month I could hardly stand the pain. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to health again and made me feel like a new woman. I hope this letter will induce other women to avail themselves of this valuable medicine."—Mrs. E. M. FREDERICK, Bloomdale, Ohio.
Backache is a symptom of female weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To obtain permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. THE MAD DOG FALLACIES HIT Government Experts Deny Use of Stone To Ward Off Rabies.
Washington, Sept. 18.—In a public health bulletin A. M. Stimson repudiates certain mad dog fallacies and advises those skeptical of findings at a scientific laboratory.
This report from Surgeon General Wymann's bureau admits that rabies may not be uniformly fatal, though it is almost so.
"We do not know," says the report, "that artificial immunity can be conferred during the usual incubation period. The possibilities of antirabies serum have not been exhausted by trial, but our present data do not warrant us to expect very much benefit from this source."
Mad dogs are not always wild-eyed and frothing at the mouth, and determined men attacking every person they meet. The report contends that when the attack first begins to develop dogs are frequently more playfully inclined—the rabid dog is sick; he is not necessarily running wild and furious.
The dog is frequently obedient up to a late stage, and often seems to have a bone in his throat, or to have sustained injury to the back.
Another fallacy is the general belief that rabies are far more easily transmitted in the summer than in other months. The explanation is that more people are moving about and become subjected to attack. The malady is not confined to climate or region. It is liable to occur in the Arctic or the equatorial jungles. Dogs, wolves, coyotes and skunks seem to be especially susceptible.
The madstone and the chicken breasts as cures are arraigned as real dangers, because they frequently prevent people from seeking other remedies. Lastly, human hydrophobias do not seek to bite other persons. The average period of incubation is a little over ten weeks; but in some persons the effect of a mad dog's bite is not manifested for more than a year.

COSTLY FIRE AT INDUSTRIAL PLANT

Cleaves' Foundry at Ripley Is Damaged $16,000 Through Sunday Morning Blaze.

The coke shed, warehouse for finished products and a portion of the coal dock of the Portage Lake Foundry & Machinery company, in Ripley, were burned yesterday morning between 1 o'clock and 4 o'clock, resulting in an estimated loss of $16,000. It is not known how the fire started.

The Ripley, Hancock and Houghton departments were called to the fire and they worked splendidly, saving the company's plant from threatened destruction. The plant is that of the late Will S. Cleaves, carried on as the Portage Lake Foundry & Machinery company and now managed by George A. Royce.

T. W. SMITH DRAWS A LESSON.

Prepares Against Destruction of Calumet Car Shops by Fire.

Superintendent Thomas W. Smith, of the Mineral Range railroad, taking a lesson from the recent destruction by fire of the car repair shops of the South Shore at Marquette, has erected a "home patented" standpipe on the roofs of the Mineral Range shops at Calumet. The new fire protection plant, the like of which is not to be seen anywhere else in the copper country, consists of a dozen or more barrels of hardwood, all connected at the bottom by piping. The barrels are filled with water and are covered. They are erected on stands built expressly for them. From the piping at the bottoms of the barrels there lead several strings of hose into the shops below. There is a good pressure of water above and the shops are, therefore, protected by a system from which half a dozen strong streams can be turned out any blaze. Besides this, however, the shops are protected through the Tamark and Red Jacket hydrants and the railroad's yard system.

COURT TAKES RECESS.

Trial of Criminal Cases Will Be Resumed Wednesday Morning.

The Houghton county circuit court took a recess Saturday until this morning, when applicants for citizenship will be heard. The time Saturday was given to an issue of fact case in which Andrew Johnson appeared as the plaintiff and the Keweenaw Central railroad as defendant. Johnson started suit to recover $9,000 which he alleged was due for work done in connection with the construction of the Keweenaw Central road. This amount he claimed was additional to the specified contract sum because the company's engineer had made certain changes which necessitated more work. The company has a written receipt from Johnson representing payment in full. Johnson also claimed a sum slightly over $400 for posts, poles and ties.

The court took the $9,000 claim from the jury, giving as the reason that the engineer should not have acted as the arbitrator in the matter and, secondly, because a receipt for payment in full was held by the company. The jury awarded Johnson a verdict in his other claim. The case was completed before 11 o'clock. The jury was excused until Wednesday morning, when the trial of Charles Davis, charged with robbery, will be commenced. This is the last criminal trial on the calendar and is coming up at this late date only because it was impossible to secure a witness at an earlier date. Davis was arrested several weeks ago. He is claimed to have waylaid Daniel Donohue on the railroad track near Sidmar, assaulted the victim, relieved him of his money and then permitted the unfortunate to remain in the middle of the track where a night train might cover up all traces of the alleged assault and its purpose. Davis has defended a plea of not guilty and will be defended by Attorneys Van Slyck of Ontonagon and Burritt of Hancock.

MISS SALISBURY RESIGNS.

Would Leave Secretaryship of Calumet Associated Charities.

Miss Winifred Salisbury, secretary for the past two years of the Calumet Associated Charities, has resigned, the resignation to take effect the first of November. Miss Salisbury left Calumet Friday evening for points in lower Michigan, on a business trip. She will return shortly. The directors of the charities organization met Friday evening and decided, after a rather stormy session, it is said, to ask Miss Salisbury to reconsider her resignation. Whether she will do so cannot be learned, because of her absence from the district. It is said that the secretary is resigning because of inability to get along amicably with some of the members of the association.

Miss Salisbury has put the work on an excellent basis. During her absence Miss Jones, assistant secretary, is in charge.

JAMES J. BYERS STILL A DEMOCRAT

Houghton County Sheriff, Nominated on Four Tickets, Declares Himself.

Sheriff James J. Byers has made known his intention to run on the Democratic ticket, though he was nominated at the primaries by the Democrats, Republicans, socialists and Prohibitionists alike. The sheriff makes this statement:

"I cannot help feeling that I am justified in addressing all the people at this time, particularly after such expressions of approval and confidence in my official acts as were accorded me at the recent primaries, almost every political party having given me a majority vote for the nomination for a second term as sheriff of Houghton county. I feel that I would not have done my duty if I had not given public expression to the true feelings of my heart which encourage me to offer my most grateful appreciation to everybody, and I want to say, possibly with a little modest pride, that in receiving for a second term the endorsement of the parties consisting of an honor of which any man might well feel proud. I do not take all the credit to myself. It is in large measure due to the broadmindedness of a great people in a great community, as is further evidenced by the electorate raising above party prejudices in decreeing their choice of a public official for an important county office.

"I wish to thank the voters from the bottom of my heart and ask them kindly to continue their help and assist me in making my second term as satisfactory as the first."

ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS WORK.

Houghton County Society Decides to Hire Additional Nurse.

At a meeting held in Calumet, the Houghton County Anti-Tuberculosis society directors learned that the nurse's work had increased to such an extent that it would be necessary to procure an assistant nurse and an office assistant for Miss Eldert. A committee was appointed to engage rooms in Hancock for the city dispensary and to ask the physicians and dentists to co-operate. It was resolved that a vote of thanks be tendered the common council of Hancock and Dr. Gallon, chairman of the health committee, for providing for a dispensary in that city.

It is the sense of the society that steps should be taken toward the centralization of statistics concerning cases of infectious and contagious diseases in this and adjoining counties with the object of the better enforcement of health regulations as prescribed by law.

PLAN FOR HARVEST FESTIVAL.

Calumet Salvation Army Workers Preparing for Annual Event.

Salvation army workers of Calumet are making plans for their annual harvest festival, which is to be held this year on Saturday and Sunday and Monday, Sept. 24, 25 and 26. The celebration is to be the greatest in the history of the organization. Similar events will be held on the same days all over the world. Every member of the Calumet corps will be supplied with a card, bearing the name of the commanding officer, and will solicit funds and goods for the festival. The co-operation of all charitably inclined persons is invited. The following communication is given out by Essig Symmonds: "The need is great and the calls are urgent. Some touching incidents have been reported. It is our hope that you, we believe, open the purses of many. The slum angels, in their Christlike mission, the children's homes, the shelters for men and the industrial homes all call loudly for help."

MANY WOLVES IN KEWEENAW.

Fishermen Report Large Packs up Near the Point This Fall.

Keweenaw county fishermen who work the fishing grounds extending from Bete Gris report that packs of wolves are running wild and rough in the vicinity of Keweenaw point and as far south as Lac la Belle. The wolves are having considerable trouble in finding plenty to eat and are reported reavenously hungry and a menace to life and property. The fishermen, hunters, campers and farmers of the county are unanimously in favor of the proposed increase in the reward for killing wolves and they heartily support the stand taken on this question by the Keweenaw Rod & Gun club, which is made up of some of the foremost hunters and trappers and other sportsmen of the county. Calumet and Laurium. They feel that the menace is one that should be destroyed, if possible. The assistance of the state game officials in stamping out the wolves is urged.

It is believed that the wolves have been driven northward from Houghton county because of the rapid setting up of the country about Houghton and the south range towns and through the Otter river and Otter lake district. Parties of wolf hunters will be organized early this coming winter or as soon as there is sufficient snow on the ground.

ELKS' TEMPLE DEDICATION.

Mid-October Will See an Imposing Ceremony at Calumet.

According to present plans of the Calumet Elks the new temple of the lodge will be dedicated about the middle of October. Committees to make arrangements for the event will be named very shortly by Exalted Ruler George Williams. Among those expected to be present for the dedication are one or two of the Michigan Elks' association. It is expected also that a large delegation of the members of the Duluth lodge will be present. Every Elk's organization in northern Michigan will be invited. Practically the entire membership of the Hancock lodge will probably be in attendance. District

Deputy Alex Stephenson of Hancock will be one of the principal speakers. The program will consist of vocal and instrumental music and speaking by prominent Elks of the visiting and local lodges, to be followed by a banquet. The expectations at the time the temple was erected were that the building would be dedicated last spring, but there was considerable delay in the completion of the interior decorations and furnishings, which made it necessary to postpone the event.

DEATH OF MRS. CHYNOWETH.

Mrs. Richard Chynoweth, eighty year of age, died at 6 o'clock Saturday evening at her home in Greenland. She was one of the oldest residents of Ontonagon county and a member of one of the most prominent families connected with the mining industry in the copper country. Mrs. Chynoweth was a native of England. She is survived by her husband and these children: Mrs. Charles Starbuck, Mrs. Louise Cook and Mrs. Samuel Cox of Greenland, Mrs. James Bowdoin of Iron Mountain, Mrs. Clark of Kansas City, Richard Chynoweth, Jr., of Greenland and James H. Chynoweth of Centennial.

ALL-STAR CRICKET TEAM.

The following is the all-star cricket team selected by the league officials to play an exhibition game with Mohawk at Mohawk next Saturday: R. Badgley, Painesdale; D. Eddy, Painesdale; George J. Tamark, Keweenaw; Ken Karsarge, E. Williams, Painesdale; Carlis, captain, Tamark; J. Thomas, Butte; W. Vennie, Calumet & Hecla; J. Harris, Mesnard; J. Tresider, Keweenaw; A. Skews, Quincy; S. Dunstan, Painesdale, spare. The game will begin promptly at 2 o'clock.

DR. WHITTEN INJURED.

A collision between a street car and his own carriage on Front street in Hancock yesterday afternoon caused an injury to Dr. W. D. Whitten of Battle Lake and Mrs. Whitten and their baby were driving east near the Elks temple when the car struck them. The doctor received an injury to his back by being thrown from the vehicle.

EXAMINED THE ENGINEERS.

The Calumet Engineers company was inspected physically yesterday afternoon by Dr. M. M. Kerr, assistant surgeon of the Third regiment. The inspection was in anticipation of the trip to the camp at Indianapolis. The company leaves tomorrow afternoon.

IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION.

Assistant Mine Inspector Trevor of Laurium, has returned from Ann Arbor, where he went some time ago to receive treatment for his health. He is still in precarious condition.

IN A HARVEST FIELD.

The Princeton Youth Who Felt It His Patriotic Duty to Help in Saving the Crops of His Country.

"I see by the papers, as Mr. Dooley says, that a Kansas citizen magistrate sentenced in some vagrancy cases on condition that the culprits depart to labor in the Kansas wheat fields," said a young Princeton man.

"If those men who thus escape the penalty of the law knew what they were going into, they would regret the service of a Kansas farmer at harvest time they would welcome six months at hard labor on the highways or rock pile instead of a month in the golden fields of Kansas. I know I would. I've been there, and for me it is never again." The memory of it makes me all the more sore, because I wasn't driven to it by any necessity. I had plenty of money and I had several opportunities of congenial employment with pleasant surroundings and liberal compensation. But no, nothing would do me but to work the fields of Kansas, far away from home and friends. It was all about the time the farmers first began to employ college boys to help out through harvest. The papers were full of their appeals. Everybody was talking about it. It took a brave youth to resist the appeal, with all his friends commending him for his idleness and the great need in the West for able-bodied men.

THE BILLIARD ROOM.

Ideal Size and Arrangement—Choosing a Cue.

A perfect billiard room from the player's point of view is rather rare. There have been cases in which the room was built so small that it could not be played in. It should never be less than 16 by 22 feet and 18 by 22 would be much better.

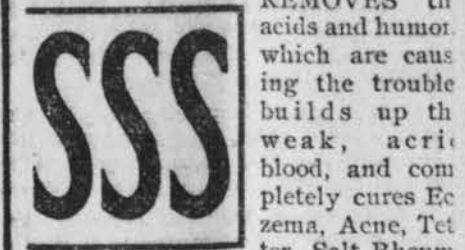

The seating in a small room should be on one side and the table should be five feet from the wall on the side opposite the seats. The ideal billiard room, that is, the minimum proportions, according to a writer in Baily Magazine, would be 20 by 30 feet. With the table five feet clear of the wall at one end there would then be a good space at the other, where a fireplace might be introduced.

The same writer declares that the proper colors for the walls of a billiard room is red (scarlet or crimson), the complementary color of green, the color of the billiard cloth which is such a prominent feature in the room. The curtains and blinds, too, should be of the same color. The green cloth is thus set off and the player's eyesight is materially assisted.

Nothing perhaps in connection with the game of billiards is of more importance than the possession of a really good cue. In the first place choose if you can a cue that has been made some time—it will then be less liable to warp—and

SKIN DISEASES HUMORS IN THE BLOOD

Nature has made ample provision in the moisture and sunshine of the air for the outward protection and healthy condition of the skin. But the more important work of nourishing the cuticle has been left to an inward source—the blood. It is from the circulation that the pores of the skin receive their stimulus, and the fibrous tissues are all preserved in a healthy state because of constant nutriment supplied by the blood. It is only when the circulation becomes infected with humors or acid that we are troubled with skin affections. The humors producing these troubles are carried through the circulation direct to the skin, and their irritating or inflammatory effect remains until the blood is cleansed. S. S. cures Skin Diseases, because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It goes into the circulation and removes the acids and humors which are causing the trouble. It builds up the weak, acrid, blood, and cures completely every Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Imples, rashes, and all eruptions of the skin. When S.S.S. has driven out the humors every symptom passes away, the skin is again nourished with cooling, healthful blood, natural vaporation is renewed, and the skin becomes soft and smooth. any life. We were in competition with one native who had apparently spent her whole lives right there. Nothing pleased them. Then there were Westcott's two daughters, big, strapping girls, who did as much work as any two men. They were dressed like men, wearing hats, suspenders and overalls and road brimmed hats. First their presence embarrassed us tenderly, and then their achievements in the fields amazed us. They made us feel like children.

About seven o'clock a horn was blown at the house and all hands were given over for supper—boiled pork, soiled beans and boiled potatoes. But our appetites made everything taste good, although we were so tired and sore we could hardly eat. Our hands were weary, our necks burned like fire, our feet were simply crippled. We could hardly walk. We sighed with contentment at the thought of soon stretching out and getting a long rest and sleep.

"But no. To our amazement, chairs and one face, which were back to the fields immediately after supper. The moon was bright, and we could see to work as well as in the daytime. "When we finally struck our pallets in the garret it was eleven o'clock. Sleep was out of the question. Every nerve in my body was on edge. I never knew before that I had as many separate bones and muscles as ached that night. "It seemed to me I had hardly got to sleep when I heard Westcott calling me. It was four o'clock in the morning, and they were being moved for another day in the fields. I buckled down to it and hard. I had made up my mind that would be my last day in those golden fields. When I climbed into that night gaiter at eleven o'clock that night I had my escape planned. "I never dreamed, I lay down till all was still, and then slipped on to the house and walked to the station, six or seven miles away. Sore, lame and exhausted, it took me until six o'clock to make those sixteen miles, a distance I had easily made in less than two hours "I never saw him. Every train passed through at nine o'clock and I boarded it. There was no happier being on that or any other train. I have never been back to Kansas. I never expect to go there. I wouldn't work in those harvest fields for a hundred dollars a day."

"So I joined a party of boys who had been corralled by a Philadelphia agent. Some were from Princeton, some from the University of Pennsylvania and elsewhere. We were banded into a day car and rushed to Kansas City. It was a roasting, stifling trip, and we were all ready to quit in the vicinity of the city. I was the only one with the courage to do so. Besides, some in the party really needed the money.

"At Kansas City we found other bands of students from colleges in Indiana, Illinois and other states. We were herded in a cheap hotel for a day and then divided into parties to be shipped out over the various railroad lines leading into Kansas. None of us knew where we were going.

"Where do I get off? I asked the 'low-brow' who was leading my party around. "See here, young fellow, that's enough for you," he said. "Finally we reached a station about one hundred miles from Kansas City. A half dozen farmers were there. They looked us over, and one red-faced, corn-fed-looking agriculturist picked me and a couple of others as likely assistants. I was feeling pretty good when we were in the farm wagon jolting along to the ranch, which was sixteen miles from the railroad station, Westcott, the farmer, talked along about the splendid weather which was as hot as the hinges of Texas; the fine crops and, incidentally, about chicken dinner, watermelon, the cool nights and other tempting things. I was glad I was 'among those present.' "We had arrived at the station at nine o'clock in the morning. We reached the farm house at one o'clock in the afternoon, and our first thoughts were of a chicken dinner with watermelon trimmings. Nothing doing.

"Well, boys," said Westcott, "pitch in and get a snack now and then we'll get right to work." "Chicken dinner," I never saw a chicken dinner the whole time. I was there. That first dinner consisted of cold corn beef, cold boiled potatoes and coffee that was an insult to the palate. We were all but starving, so we more than did it justice, anyway. Then laying aside our coats, we were driven into the fields.

beautifully furnished bungalow 'all by yourself' a whole summer long. It was lonely, too.

"I have such a nice front parlor boarder, but he wants a piano. I have oceans of chairs and tables and what not, but no piano. I have so much furniture it's a pity I haven't another bungalow to fill with them. Do you know of anybody who has a piano he doesn't want to put in storage for the summer?"

"Let me see," mused her friend. Then, when she had seen: "No, I don't know a soul who wants her piano kept, a female soul or a male soul. You see, people don't want their pianos all ruined by the sea air. I suppose that's why," she said thoughtfully.

"I do need a piano awfully," she said. "It is really the only thing I need. I love everything that you could want for a bungalow, though, as I say for two bungalows, but no piano."

"Has anybody offered you an automobile yet?" asked her friend. "No," she answered, "not yet. That would be nice, wouldn't it, to have a large, comfortable roomy, swift automobile to take my boarders out in?"

"That is an interesting game," remarked one of the men when they had watched the two alight and walk off down the street, "an awfully interesting game. Takes her friend's bungalow and fits it out with the furniture of all her friends, then keeps roomers and boarders and what not. An interesting game," he repeated, "and vastly economical, taken all in all."

"But," objected the other, "the pity of it is, that some wealthy friend doesn't offer her the loan of another bungalow by the sea that she can fit out with her superfluous furniture and rent to some other roomers." And according to the New York Times, each man went thoughtfully on his way.

GIVING NECESSARY ASSISTANCE.

We suppose that when the new woman condescends to marry she will take the proposing into her own hands. She will feel that this should come from her as the superior being. But even before the days of advanced woman's right lunatic dogs were helped over stiles, runnates Professor E. J. Hardy, in the London Graphic. Indeed so shy are mere men that hardly any of them would dare to propose to a woman if she did not go half way to meet him. The following are instances of women going the whole and not merely half the way.

Some people waste much energy by not knowing how to wait, say, at the railway station or when meals do not come up on time. They might at least observe and think, but they only fuss and bludge themselves and others. In a better way did a man of whom I have heard spend or, rather, have his time spent. He was waiting for a train in the refreshment room at a large station. It was presided over by a good looking girl who happened to have red hair. The gentleman asked if she could oblige him with a match.

"With pleasure, if you do not object to a red headed one," she replied, with such a suggestive, demure smile that she aroused his interest. And now they are a very happy couple.

"A shy young man once said to a young lady: "I wish, dear, that you were of such a terms of intimacy that you would not mind calling me by my first name."

"Oh," she replied, "your second name is good enough for me."

"The lame dog was effectually helped over the stile."

"Should women propose, or even give as much help over the stile as these ladies did? Even in other years that leap year we think that they may when men would be too shy to carry the effort through without them. Queens have to propose, and very prettily did Queen Victoria do this."

"My own opinion is that we men are so modest and retiring that none of us would dare to propose marriage to a woman unless she came just a little bit of the way to meet us."

"But the sex is so good natured in helping lame dogs over a stile. An Irish girl did it in this way. She thought that her boy was very slow in coming to the point, so she said: "If I were you, Jack, and you were me, we'd be married long ago."

"Spoken by her heroine are remarkably ready to take the initiative in this most serious business. Helena demands the hand of Bertram as the price of her wonder-working prescription. Desdemona hints broadly that she is to be had for the asking."

"But if the proposal is unwelcome! Well, Robert Leighton, bishop of Dumbane, met in the would-be Mrs. Leighton a spinster of mature years and limited charms. She called upon the bishop and informed him that it had been revealed to her from heaven that he was to become her husband. His right reverence, though somewhat startled, was equal to the occasion. He told the lady that such an intimation was not to be despised and that he would give the best attention to it when it was vouchsafed to him as well as to her."

CAN YOU "COME BACK" IN LATIN?

They tell me that Bobby Burns, the Latin sharp of the Evening Sun, met his match through the evil genius of a literary comrade of Park Row. Burns knows Latin so well that he can think in it, and there are times when he can be persuaded to trot out a few quarter sections of Latin poetry for the edification of his friends. One occasion of which I am about to speak, Burns had obliged so vastly that a wicked member of the party said to him with the air of a man seeking to know:

"I heard a little Latin phrase when I was a boy in school, but I was such a poor scholar that I have forgotten what it means. I wish you would help me out."

"Fire away," said Burns. "What it runs like this: 'In pi ne taris ino ak non eis; in mi deusa re; inlay non eis.'"

Burns puzzled half an hour without discovering that the piece of foolery with which he was wrestling was in simple English: "In pine tar is, in oak none is; in mud eels are, in clay none is."

The pure Latin expletives of Brother Burns subsequent to his discovering the jest, are barred from my family column.

P. E. Spear made the run to Gwin, and return in his motor car Saturday. Brett Read made the trip yesterday.

Accompanied by his family, Charles McCabe will leave for New York city this morning, after a visit here.

Mrs. H. R. Fox, East Arch street, entertained at "500" Saturday afternoon in honor of her mother, Mrs. David Lee, of Chicago.

E. O. Stafford and daughter, Ruth, left last evening by boat for New York and Boston. Miss Stafford will resume her studies at Wellesley college.

C. J. Byrns, of Ishpeming, was in the city. Asked about the Marquette collectorship, he said there was nothing new in the connection, so far as he knew.

C. G. Catlin, who has been in the general office of the Mason & South-eastern railway for the past three years as bookkeeper, left Saturday night for Minneapolis, to take a similar position with the Soo line.

J. W. Spear and family have returned from a seven weeks' outing at one of the Trout Bay cottages on Grand Island. Mr. Spear declares that Grand Island is one of the most desirable places on Lake Superior to spend a vacation.

The Misses Eileen Seuly and Carrie Sigel left Friday for Grand Marais, where they will teach in the public schools the coming year. The opening of the Grand Marais schools had been postponed until this time on account of an epidemic of diphtheria and scarlet fever.

F. H. Vandenberg brought a well matured ear of field corn to The Mining Journal office yesterday which compares very favorably with corn grown in the central states. He is more firmly than ever convinced that corn can be grown successfully and profitably in the upper peninsula.

A special train will be run from Neegaunee to Escanaba today, leaving Neegaunee at 11:30 o'clock. The fare will not be more than $2.50 and will probably be less. The Neegaunee and Escanaba baseball teams have now each won two of the championship series, and a double header is scheduled for today.

Death of Infant—Elmira Catherine Bennett, year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Bennett, 144 Rock street, passed away yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, after an illness of less than a week. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the residence. Rev. Bates F. Burt will officiate.

In Circuit Court—The jury impaneled in the case of Samuel Jaffa vs. Wm. Lewinstein, a suit for $102 claimed to be due as wages from the defendant, returned a verdict of $50.75 for the plaintiff Saturday forenoon. In the afternoon the case of James H. Lawry vs. Peter Gummerson was taken up. In this suit Mr. Lawry charges that the defendant unlawfully sold liquor to his son.

Right Hand Amputated—Gus Roth, a well-known Chocoley fisherman, had his right hand mangled in a cog wheel of a gasoline pump near Chatham Saturday, and was taken to the Mining hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate the hand at the wrist. Mr. Roth was temporarily employed by George D. Sherman, who is constructing a concrete culvert near Chatham, and it was there that the accident occurred.

Lake Superior Rough—Lake Superior was in the throes of one of the fiercest of the fall storms yesterday, and the waves ran so high that several small vessels put into the Marquette harbor for shelter. A number of hunters went down the Chocoley shore, thinking that the wind would drive ducks to shore, but very few were sighted, though a few lucky hunters brought home one or two in their game bags last evening.

Breakwater Extension—According to the Duluth Evening Herald, bids for work on the extension of the breakwater in this city, a construction work for which the government has made an appropriation of $70,000, will be received within a few days at the Duluth government engineers' office. The work will consist of placing a large amount of rock at the point where the extension to the breakwater is to be made, and also the construction of the breakwater. It is expected that much of the preliminary work will be done this fall.

Fine Automobile Trip—A fine automobile trip, not yet as popular as it should be with owners of motor cars here, is the one from Marquette to Gwin, via Carlsbad, and return to this city by way of Swaney, Sands and the Sands road, entering Marquette by the county farm. The roads throughout the route are in excellent condition, permitting an average speed of fifteen to eighteen miles an hour, and the scenery for a few miles outside Marquette on the Sands road is unsurpassed in the county. The mileage of the trip is about fifty-five and it can easily be made in an afternoon.

Manual Training Teacher—Superintendent of Schools G. W. Gehrand returned from a scouting trip through Wisconsin and Illinois yesterday in search of a manual training teacher to fill the position left vacant by the resignation of Daniel Green a short time ago. Mr. Gehrand engaged Joseph Bayley, a middle aged man of considerable experience, for the position, and he will arrive in Marquette this morning to begin his duties. Mr. Bayley is a graduate of an eastern polytechnic school, and has taught manual training at Zion City and at Pittsburg. This summer he has been teaching at Chicago university. Mr. Bayley is married, and will shortly start housekeeping in this city.

Kloman Ore to Be Tested—The Ardis furnace at Iron Mountain is being put in shape for another run. It is proposed to make a trial run on the low grade ore from the Kloman mine, in the Republic district, and 1,000 tons from the mine are now being shipped to the furnace. The Kloman mine is owned by a company in which Marquette capital is heavily interested, but is held under option by the Ardis furnace people. Under the terms of the option, the furnace people may take out ore on a royalty basis, and in case they decide to purchase the property royalties paid will apply on the purchase price. Should the test prove as satisfactory as is anticipated, it may result in the development of the property on a large scale. Mr. Jones, inventor of the process in use at the Ardis furnace, may, it is stated, decide to build a furnace at the mine.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO.

WHERE HAVE THE WILD PIGEONS GONE?

One Naturalist Believes They Have Been Driven to Argentina, South America.

Where have the wild pigeons gone? Are all the wild pigeons dead? These questions, often asked, are confidently answered by E. Du Bois of Bluffton, South Carolina, in a communication to the New York Tribune, partly on the authority of J. A. Watson of Chicago. The assertion made that the pigeons are not extinct—that they are as numerous in Argentina, South America, as they used to be in the United States, and that they have given up their migratory habits, being exempt from the merciless persecution to which they were subjected here, and assured of a more generous support by "the wheat fields of that bountiful land."

Mr. Du Bois thinks that the factors in their disappearance from the United States were "merciless slaughter" and the cutting down of the white oak forests of the Eastern States and Eastern New York, and the decline of wheat cultivation in the eastern states.

As to the cultivation of wheat leaving any relevancy to the disappearance of the wild pigeon, there is a chance for argument. Wild pigeons were plentiful enough in the upper peninsula five days of late, and certainly when they depended upon wheat cultivation for food they would have had to starve. There were not as many acres in wheat in the days when wild pigeons were most plentiful as there have been since the wild pigeons began to grow scarce. Today, while the Ornithological Union is offering prizes for the discovery of nesting pairs, the wheat crop of the United States is enormously greater than it was when the sky was darkened by flights of wild pigeons. Since the theory of a relationship between a wheat field and wild pigeon, now proposed, it is worth of note that the wheat crop of the United States at the present time is three times as large as that of Argentina.

That the wild pigeons once so numerous in the Northern United States were migratory there is no doubt, but there is no certainty that when they flew south they went as far as Argentina. To do that they would have been obliged to pass through the tropics—is it likely that they did? Much more likely is the supposition that the "merciless slaughter" supplies the reason why they have become a scarce bird.

It seems impossible, when their former numbers are considered, that they can have become extinct. That they would eat wheat is undoubtedly true, but that wheat was ever their main dependence here or is their main dependence in Argentina is open to question. If wild pigeons fed on the wheat crop, farmers would be obliged to undertake their "merciless slaughter" in self defense. The controversy regarding wild pigeons offers a fine chance for a ruction between "faunal naturalists."

INFORMATION FOR HUNTERS.

Extracts From Game Laws That Apply During Fall and Winter.

For the information of hunters the following extracts from the state game laws are given: The season for killing black bear will not open until November 1 and will close again the first of April. The same season applies to the taking of other fisher, marten, fox, racoon and skunk. Trappers make a very good living through the winter. They kill few black bears, for few are seen, but other animals are taken in large numbers. The value of raw furs is increasing, too, although the supply of the fur-bearing animals is growing less. The partridge season will not open until October 1 and closes November 30. It is unlawful to kill more than twelve partridges a day or to have more than fifty in one's possession at one time. The open season for deer hunting begins November 10 and closes November 30. Deer are reported very plentiful this year. The duck hunting season opened the first of the present month and will close the first day of January. All other water fowl may also be killed now, such as snipe, plover, etc. There is no closed season for rabbits, although it is rather early to kill them yet, the flesh being bad at this time and through the summer months. Although many believe it will be lawful to kill beaver after the first of January 1911, as stated in the old game laws, this is untrue. The game laws have been revised and beaver are protected until after the first of January, 1913. The season for taking bass will remain open until the first of February, from which date until the fifteenth of June it will remain closed.

SETTERS LOST TO BUFFALOES YESTERDAY

Comedy of Errors Witnessed by Good Crowd at the Union Park Grounds.

UNUSUALLY QUIET WEEK IN THE CITY

Street Carnival at Park Took Crowds Away from Business District.

The Negaunee Buffaloes defeated the Setters yesterday afternoon at the Union park by the score of 9 to 4. Morse, in the box for the Buffaloes, was effective at all times and only allowed five hits, three of them being in the second inning, when the Setters scored three runs. They also got one in the fifth and one in the ninth. Corbish, the Setter's twirler pitched a good game, but did not get strong support. Eight hits were secured off of his delivery.

The playing of Farley, on third for the Setters, was a feature for the interested fans as he made an error out of nearly every chance he got.

The Buffaloes secured five runs in the third inning on two errors and three hits. Holmberg, the first batter, got to first on an error by Lindberg and stole second. Morse was hit by a pitched ball and Peel strangled Aring Holmberg. Heinonen flied to Farley. Morse scored when Ayotte fumbled McAuliff's ground hit. T. Flynn went out, Trombly to Ayotte. Peel scored on J. Flynn's single and McAuliff and J. Flynn scored on Pete's two-bagger. Peterson ended the inning by fouling out to Prin.

The Buffaloes secured another run in the fourth on singles by Peel and Heinonen, after two were out. The next run was secured in the seventh inning, when Heinonen singled and stole second and scored on E. Flynn's single. Two more runs were annexed in the eighth, on one hit and three errors.

The Setters scored one run in the first by a base on balls and two errors. In the second three Setters crossed the plate. Adamson hit safe and scored on Lindberg's single, on a wild throw by Heinonen to catch him off third. Lindberg scored on Heinonen's error on Martin's batted ball and Martin scored on a hit by Prin.

The summary:

LOOK FOR GOOD TRADE.

Ishpeming Merchants Putting in Large Stocks for Fall and Winter.

It is doubtful if the general mercantile establishments of Ishpeming have ever shown more attractive lines of early fall merchandise than are now on display. The merchants look for a big fall and winter trade and have made their purchases accordingly.

Dealers in women's garments are preparing for an early fall business and according to some of the merchants, who recently spent some days in the markets making big purchases, this season's display will be by far the finest ever shown here. He said that the business in women's suits, skirts, etc., has grown more than 100 per cent in Ishpeming in the past two years. The fall goods are now being made so satisfactorily by the manufacturers that it is no longer difficult to fit patrons with ready-to-wear garments.

Conditions for a good fall and winter patronage in the mercantile lines are favorable, as practically every man who desires employment is working steadily and earning good wages. There are now a larger number of men employed at the mines in the city and at the properties in the near-by districts than for more than two years past. The gradual increase in the working forces in the North Lake district has benefited the Ishpeming business houses, as practically all of the families in that district do their trading in the city.

A PINE ATTRACTION.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" comes to the Ishpeming theatre in the near future with a strong cast of players who have been carefully selected by Liebler & Co., the producing managers of this delightful comedy. Everyone has read the stories of "Mrs. Wiggs" and "Lovey Mary", both of which are included in this dramatization, which gives vivid life pictures of all the characters and scenes in the books. The entire action takes place in the Cabbage Patch, and the scenes, characters and situations are exquisitely presented.

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints, it is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by The People's Drug Store.

Furniture upholstering and hair treatments made over. Franklin Wade, at Swanson & Person's store. Both 'phones. (9-1-11)

WILL BE SHERIFF.

John Rowett, the well known Cornish wrestler, has been nominated for the office of sheriff in Gogebic county and will make the run on the Republican ticket in the November election. Mr. Rowett won in the recent primaries and his election is a certainty, as it is predicted that the entire Republican ticket will win in Gogebic by the usual big majority.

STEEL CORPORATION'S EARNINGS.

Current Quarter Will Show Profits in Excess of $35,000,000.

Although the United States Steel corporation's report for the last quarter has not yet been issued, it is currently reported in New York that the earnings for that period will be in excess of $35,000,000. This is a much better showing than was anticipated at the beginning of the quarter, and it is said that the heavy shipments of finished steel will figure largely in the increased earnings. Conditions have been more stable than indicated by the 70 per cent production of pig iron. The favorable shipments of steel have resulted in cutting down unfilled tonnage for the current month, and it is expected that the report will show a shrinkage of some 300,000 tons in August.

It is said that the Steel corporation's mills have sufficient business on their books to keep their plants as active as they are at the present time until well into October. After that everything will depend largely on the volume of new business received. The railroad companies are not ordering steel as freely as they were a month ago. The railroad officials explain that with tariff revision talk, freight rates in doubt, and the pending supreme court decisions, they do not care to make commitments too far ahead. It is because of this that most of the steel purchases have been for immediate delivery. The steel companies are taking a position similar to that of the railroads, and it is said that they are not making elaborate plans for new construction as generally the case at this time of the year. Prices for steel are holding up well and the situation is said to be more sound in this respect than it was a month ago. The manufacturers are working in harmony to prevent a cut in price of the steel products.

PIERCE PLAYERS.

"Soldiers of Fortune" Will Be Offering Here a Week From Tonight.

The Pierce Associate Players will return to this city, for a night's engagement on Monday of next week, the 26th, when they will present a dramatization of Richard Harding Davis' famous novel, "The Soldiers of Fortune", in which Robert Edson first gained recognition. It has been said that "The Soldiers of Fortune" has been read by over three million people. The story is one of romance and adventure in a South American Republic where men live free lives and love quite as well as they can hate. As Robert Clay, a mining engineer, Mr. Jossey has a role to play in the first time that Mr. Jossey has essayed this character, as he succeeded Mr. Edson in the piece some years ago, touring the country with a road company.

"The Soldiers of Fortune" is an unusually heavy undertaking for a stock company but the various members of this high class organization are sure to acquit themselves in a highly satisfactory manner.

MOTOR WENT INTO SHAFT AT GWINN

Unusual Accident Resulted in Loss of Miner's Life at Stephenson Mine.

A most unusual accident resulted in the loss of the life of John Sagerlick, a young miner employed at the Stephenson mine, near Gwin, on the Swanazy range, a little after 11 o'clock Saturday morning. At the property, which is operated by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company Sagerlick was employed on the third level, operating the electric motor employed to haul the tram cars to and from the shaft. He was making a trip to the shaft with two loaded cars and ran into the cage opening, falling eighty feet to the bottom of the mine. The weight of the motor, cars and ore amounted to many tons, and Sagerlick's life was instantly crushed out.

The accident had no witnesses, and the exact cause will never be certainly known, but there is little doubt that Sagerlick did not properly judge the speed at which he was running the motor and approached the shaft with such a rapid rate that he was unable to check the train's momentum in time to avoid sending it into the shaft. That the train was moving very rapidly is shown by the fact that a heavy oak gate guarding the shaft was carried away.

Sagerlick was but eighteen years of age. His parents conduct the boarding house at the Austin location.

THE MOISSANT AEROPLANE.

Daring Flyer Says He Has Invented Novel Machine.

Though adverse weather and mechanical troubles stalled John B. Moissant at Kemsing, twenty-seven miles from London, the Chicago aviator believes his experiences in the Paris London flight are likely to aid in writing aeroplane history later on.

He told the Herald correspondent of a new aeroplane he has invented. He says it is made entirely of aluminum and that no wires are used in the framework, thus giving greater stability. The body gives the effect of a bird. The rear portion contains a section shaped like a torpedo boat. It is watertight and capable of floating a weight of 1600 pounds. "In case the machine falls into the water it will be amphibious as well as aerial, you see. I finished the machine last September in the suburbs of Paris and attempted to fly last November. I ascended 90 feet at terrific speed, for the machine is capable of traveling seventy-five miles an hour. But I came down faster than I went up. Like a jockey unable to master a wild horse, I hadn't mastered the art of flying sufficiently to handle this steed of the air. That is why I wanted the experience of the present flight.

"The feature of my metallic machine is a vacuum created by the rapidly revolving propellers in front of the aeroplane. The principle is that the body of the aeroplane is drawn through the vacuum, and meets comparatively little resistance from the air, thus facilitating its speed. I believe that the greater the speed maintained, the easier it is in the air. Scarcely any wind would be able to deviate an aeroplane from its course when travelling at terrific speed."

Mr. Moissant is enthusiastic over the prospects of the international tournament at Belmont park, and said: "I want to take a hand myself if possible. I wish I could qualify. It will take an earnest effort to capture the international cup. After I get to London carrying my machine, I intend later on to make a flight alone from Paris to London to see how quickly it can be done. I should make the journey in five hours, perhaps in three hours in the early future."

MOTOR WENT INTO SHAFT AT GWINN

Unusual Accident Resulted in Loss of Miner's Life at Stephenson Mine.

A most unusual accident resulted in the loss of the life of John Sagerlick, a young miner employed at the Stephenson mine, near Gwin, on the Swanazy range, a little after 11 o'clock Saturday morning. At the property, which is operated by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company Sagerlick was employed on the third level, operating the electric motor employed to haul the tram cars to and from the shaft. He was making a trip to the shaft with two loaded cars and ran into the cage opening, falling eighty feet to the bottom of the mine. The weight of the motor, cars and ore amounted to many tons, and Sagerlick's life was instantly crushed out.

The accident had no witnesses, and the exact cause will never be certainly known, but there is little doubt that Sagerlick did not properly judge the speed at which he was running the motor and approached the shaft with such a rapid rate that he was unable to check the train's momentum in time to avoid sending it into the shaft. That the train was moving very rapidly is shown by the fact that a heavy oak gate guarding the shaft was carried away.

Sagerlick was but eighteen years of age. His parents conduct the boarding house at the Austin location.

SUPERIOR COPPER.

The Superior Copper company is now shipping about 500 tons of rock a day which is earning good copper values. It is impossible to estimate the average yield of the rock, owing to the great variation in copper contents. Production is about 200,000 pounds a month. At this property the values sometimes vary as much as 60 per cent from one month to another, so any estimates other than for a considerable period of time would be very misleading. The tonnage hoisted, which is now slightly greater than that for July and which amounts to approximately 500 tons a day, is being taken from the No. 1 shaft and not from any particular location in these workings.

"The Superior property is developed by two shafts, No. 1 and No. 2, located approximately one-half mile apart. The No. 1 shaft, which is sinking, is now nearly to the 14th level. This shaft, which is sunk in the footwall, reaches the vein by cross-cut on the various levels. Drifts have been run to the lowest, which is the fourteenth, and production at the present time is being taken from this point up to the second level. The No. 2 shaft is now down to 750 feet, with the last cross-cut on the sixth level. This intersection was made within the last three weeks. No drifting has been done at this point. Both the No. 1 and No. 2 shafts are being sunk at the rate of from 45 to 50 feet per month.

The hole on which the Superior development has been done has not been definitely correlated with others in that section, but the best authorities believe it to be the Baltic lode. On this the company commands approximately 6,000 feet on the strike, and probably 300 feet horizontally on a dip of approximately 35 degrees. The ground at the Superior is extremely hard ground to work and the company has been handicapped in this respect. The stopping problem has been very different than that of most of the other mines in the district. However, the management is now solving this problem satisfactorily.

"Superior should in the future maintain a more uniform production, as the management is endeavoring notwithstanding the great variations in the grade of rock, to eliminate erratic outputs. It may be stated also that the production is representative of the workings at the No. 1 shaft and that no attempt is being made to mine the rock at the No. 2 shaft and that the rock at the No. 2 shaft is being taken at the rate of from 45 to 50 feet per month.

NOTES OF THE COPPER NEWS.

South Lake's success in opening good copper ground in two diamond drill holes brings up the question of a permanent shaft. If it had an outcropping of rock the expense of getting down with a shaft could be figured accurately. But in fact it has the problem of getting down through 275 feet of overburden. The indications, however, apparently point to an easier solution than that at almost any other property that has a similar difficulty because a large part of the overburden is clay. The longest time consumed in sinking the pipe through the overburden to reach bedrock for diamond drilling at South Lake was fifteen hours, where many weeks are often consumed elsewhere to accomplish the same thing.

The property work in the McGaw shaft at the Superior & Boston property has taken it to a depth of date of 831 feet. The shaft sinking is being discontinued for the present and all the attention is being directed to the construction of the station on the 820 level. There are at present between thirty and forty men employed on the entire plant in three shifts. Six of these on a shift are em-

LOCAL LACONICS.

Miss Rose Taylor has returned to Detroit to resume her work as instructor in the Agricultural college.

Miss Irene Manning will leave Wednesday for Ypsilanti, where she will resume her studies at the State Normal.

Louis Townsend left last night for Fairbault, Minn., where he will resume his studies in the military school.

The Misses Marion Bedford and Margaret Boney left last night for Chicago, where they will enter a kindergarten training school.

Mrs. Edward Schuch and daughter, Myrtle, have returned to Chicago after a several weeks' visit in the city with her sister, Mrs. J. F. Allison.

Miss Lillie Anderson, daughter of Gustave Anderson, of Rock street, is a patient at Dr. N. J. Robbins hospital, where she submitted to an operation for appendicitis.

Charles Peterson, who came home from Escanaba a few weeks ago suffering with typhoid fever, is improving, but it will be some time before he will be up and around.

The funeral of the late Charles Wasmuth, held Saturday afternoon from St. John's Episcopal church, was largely attended. Services were conducted by Rev. R. T. T. Hicks, the rector.

The funeral of the late Mrs. J. C. Brown was held yesterday afternoon from the Mitchell Methodist church, Rev. D. Plannett, pastor, officiating. Many friends of the deceased attended the obsequies.

The members of the Negaunee live of the Lady Macabees of the World will conduct a dancing party next Thursday evening in the Scandinavian society's hall. The ladies extend an invitation to the public to attend.

Miss Margaret Adams, who will be a student at Fond du Lac, Wis., again this year, left last evening, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. E. W. Adams. They will spend a few days in Milwaukee before going to Fond du Lac.

The ladies of the Swedish Lutheran church congregation met with the success with their bazaar, suppers and entertainments, conducted Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings in the Scandinavian society's hall. Several hundred people were served with supper and the hall was well filled with programs were being given. The ladies disposed of the greater part of the articles that were offered for sale.

Rev. D. Plannett, pastor of the Mitchell Methodist church, and wife, will leave today for Detroit, where they will attend the annual meeting of the Detroit conference, which will convene tomorrow. There is to be a celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Central church, in Detroit, the first Protestant church erected in the state. Mr. and Mrs. Plannett will be absent ten days or longer.

ABROAD WITH A SUIT CASE.

"If you are reading up for your trip in Europe next summer, you will notice that most of the guide books advise one to dispense with a trunk and take only hand luggage," says a writer in the Woman's Home Companion. "Do so by all means, but remember that numerous pieces of hand luggage are more vexatious than one trunk.

"A girl I know expressed her entire baggage into one suit case, not a leather one, but a light wicker telescope with strong shawl straps and a comfortable handle. A tiny padlock was fastened securely through the strap when it seemed wise. To make the case fairly damp proof she covered it neatly with dark green denim, which matched her traveling suit in color.

"A folding umbrella was slipped lengthwise under the straps at the top, her raincoat when not in use was strapped flat on the side; there was room in the case for her short jacket. Instead of the inevitable handbag a leather satchel with several pockets held the needed tickets, cards, keys and so forth.

"Inside the outer part or lid of the case she tucked a piece of denim with fitted pockets of different sizes to hold not only toilet articles, such as soap, brush and brushes, but her drinking cup, sewing and writing materials and all small things. Instead of unpacking this when she reached each place she simply lifted the lid off into a drawer and used the articles from there, replacing each after using, so there was no waste of precious time collecting little belongings at each departure.

"In the other side of the case were the tight rollers of underclothing; over them she laid two dimity envelopes the size of the case, in which were her extra blouses and the silk gown. For those crepe de chine and Silman silk packed most satisfactorily without wrinkles.

"Having a raincoat and the silk skirt, she found her one cloth skirt quite enough, and also only one petticoat which was of strong silk lined throughout with tan muslin. On the inside of it she sewed two large flat pockets with buttoned flaps, which on short excursions held a veil, extra handkerchiefs and even her light rubbers."

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

Cures Colds, Croup and Whooping Cough.

There are many people inexpressibly tired of Mr. Roosevelt's methods and his whole bunch of speeches. It is perfectly apparent that he has a boundless capacity for stirring up the country and keeping its business interests on the ragged edge of uncertainty. His big asset is agitation, big noise and brass band style, bringing himself before the people. He is a man without any business training and does not fill any of the useful professions aside from that of politics, and it is unfair for him to travel through the country to distract the minds of its citizens from the sober tasks of life. He has had his day, and he ought to remain in dignified retirement until called upon for advice or leadership. Capital and business enterprise do not want to be made timid now, when strong efforts are being made to foster confidence in the stability of our splendid industrial and financial position. It is therefore in order to publicly ask Mr. Roosevelt to refrain from saying that which shakes confidence either at home or abroad, and to apply his energies to a constructive policy for the good of all the country.—Carr, New York Herald.

NEGAUNEE AND ESCANABA TIED

Sandy City Men Won Saturday—Locals Made It a Shutout Game Yesterday.

Negaunee and Escanaba are tied in their series for the baseball championship of the upper peninsula. Escanaba won a close game here Saturday, but Negaunee turned the tables on the Sandy City men yesterday, shutting them out by a score of 5 to 0, and rubbing it in by knocking Buck Nolden, their crack pitcher, out of the box. He was relieved by Olmstead, but Negaunee had the game safe.

Escanaba won Saturday by a score of 2 to 1. The game was a fine exhibition, both pitchers receiving excellent support. Siebenthal, in the box for Negaunee, allowed but three scattered hits, and four hits were secured off McDonnell, who was in the box for Escanaba. #### NEARING COMPLETION.

Negaunee's New Cemetery Will Soon be Turned Over to City.

The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, which has had a crew of men employed for several months past at the new cemetery, a half mile west of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, has now finished up the work.

Negaunee people who are familiar with what has been done are satisfied that the grounds will, in time, be most attractive. Both the city and Catholic plates were laid out by Warren H. Manning of Boston, one of the best known landscape artists in the country, who laid out Gwin and has also done a lot of other important work for the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company. Engineers have been constantly on the grounds to direct the work.

It is expected that the new grounds will be turned over to the city within a month or so. The area contained in the plates is over eighty acres. The present cemetery, which has been used for something over forty years, has contained less than 5,000 bodies. All of these are to be moved to the new grounds by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, but the work will not be started until the cold weather sets in. It is not expected that all the bodies will be removed during the fall and winter months, as the work will be done carefully and to the entire satisfaction of the city as well as the individuals interested.

Within a comparatively short time the new cemetery will be a more attractive place than the present cemetery ever was, as the grounds are not only properly laid out, but they are to be given more careful attention. They will be provided with fine gravel roads, flowers, grass plots and fences.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO ESCANABA

Will Leave Negaunee at 11.30 O'Clock Today—Fare for Round Trip Reasonable.

A large party of Marquette county baseball bugs will travel to Escanaba today to help the Negaunee team win the upper peninsula championship. On hearing that the Negaunee team had won the fourth game of the series, putting it on equal terms with Escanaba, the Negaunee management at once busied itself and made arrangements with the officials of the Northwestern road for a special train, which will leave this city at 11:30 o'clock, returning immediately after the game. The Northwestern road has guaranteed a specified amount, so it is not possible to say exactly what the round trip fare will be. However, it will not be more than $2.50 and may be $1.81.

It is expected that a large delegation of Negaunee people will go down to root for the team, and it is probable that they will be joined by some Marquette and Ishpeming fans, as the people of both these cities are pulling hard for Negaunee to win the championship.

The Negaunee team has aroused much enthusiasm by its strong showing. It has opened the eyes of the Escanaba people, who expected to see it swamped. With Roseaver in the box today, Negaunee will stand an excellent chance to win the deciding game, as Roseaver was an enigma to the Escanaba players in the second game of the series.

MUCH EXPLORING.

Corporations Interested on West Range Are Boring Many Holes.

The district for miles west of Ishpeming, extending to Michigamme and beyond, will be thoroughly explored with diamond drills during the next few years now seems certain. Some of the companies owning lands in that district have met with such success in their exploratory work during the past three years or more that the drilling operations will doubtless be continued for some time to come, as the field has not yet been thoroughly gone over. It is no secret that satisfactory results are being obtained. Ore has been encountered in many holes.

That mines in addition to those already started will be opened in the not distant future is expected. It is likely that in time the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company will undertake the draining of North Lake, upon the east shore of which mines are now being developed. In view of the fact that ore bodies have also been found on the west shore it is thought that the deposits beneath the lake bottom. As the lake is about three-quarters of a mile in length the ore body, if it is found to be continuous that entire distance, is no small affair and the operators can afford to drain the lake, if this should be deemed necessary.

Plans for the organization of the mining company that will develop and operate a mine on the tract under control of George J. Maas and his associates have not yet been perfected. Mr. Maas has received a number of applications for stock since it was announced that a company is to be organized, but sales will not be authorized until the corporation is formed.

The Oliver Iron Mining company, which recently put two drills on lands some distance west of the Maas tract, is working in promising territory. If ore of the same quality as that located on the Maas lands is found it will be a sure indication that the mineral extends through the territory lying between the two tracts. The Oliver company will put down some deep holes, if necessary, to prove up the tract.

OHIO POLITICS AT FIRST HAND

Democratic Congressman from Buckeye State, Recreating at Hotel Marquette, Talks Interestingly of Situation There and Outlook for the Fall Election.

Predicts That Judson Harmon Will Be Re-Elected Governor and Believes Legislature Will Be Democratic - Senator Dick Prominent Figure in Campaign.

Hon. W. G. Sharp of Elyria, O., Democratic congressman from his home district in the Buckeye state, spent the week end at the Hotel Marquette. Sharp is a man who carries considerable water in his own community, as is shown by the fact that two years ago he was elected to congress by a good majority, though living in a normally Republican district. He was able to give the reporter some very interesting first hand information on the political situation in Ohio, where the results at the November elections will be watched with as great interest the country over as in any state in the Union, with the possible exception of New York.

Though in national politics Ohio is counted a safe Republican state, the voters two years ago elected Judson Harmon, a Democrat, for their governor and he is a candidate for re-election this fall. His Republican opponent is Warren G. Harding, a newspaperman and politician who is recognized as one of the best campaigners in the state. Mr. Harding is popular personally and a very shrewd politician, and is now doing his utmost to secure the support of both the conservative and progressive elements of the Republican party. However, he is a foe of Roosevelt and a stand-patter at heart, as is shown by his allegiance to Senator Foraker until he saw that "Fighting Joe" was destined to go down and out, when he deserted his friend. It is significant that Harding did not visit Columbus when Roosevelt was there last week. The issue in Ohio this fall looks to me about the same as it was in Maine - stand-pat Republicanism vs. Democracy - and with this state of affairs I look for the Democrats to win.

Columbus Street Railway Strike.

"Harmon has made a good governor, even his political opponents have to admit that. The Republicans are not attempting to assail his administration to any extent, but urge that a Republican victory in Ohio is particularly to be desired in President Taft's own state, basing the campaign on national rather than state issues. An attempt has been made to discredit Harmon in connection with the Columbus street railway strike, and temporarily it may have been to some degree successful. Astute observers, however, realize that politics is at the bottom of all this talk. The Republican mayor has been wilfully weak and vacillating in handling this strike, and has endeavored to throw his errors of omission and commission on the governor's shoulders.

"Another feature of the Ohio situation is its senatorial respect. Senator Dick seeks a re-election from the legislature this winter. He is an out and out stand-patter, though a follower rather than a leader. There is strong opposition to him in his own party, but he seems to have the pole over Byron T. Herrick, his most formidable opponent, and if the legislature is Republican I think Dick will be re-elected.

"But I am not at all sure the legislature will be Republican. In fact, I believe it will be Democratic and that my party will have the selection of a United States senator. If so, Senator Dick will be in the position of the boy who was told there ain't going to be no core. The last two legislatures have been controlled by the Republican machine and many of the better class of Republicans, particularly in the rural districts, are openly avowing their intention to do through the machine politicians at whatever cost. This feeling, I believe, is strong enough to elect a Democratic legislature. In any case, there is going to be some lively politics in Ohio this fall, and the whole country will watch the fight with much interest."

A MUSICAL EVENT.

Miss Ford of Chicago Will Assist Miss Tucker at Recital Sept. 29.

Miss Susie B. Ford, a well known Chicago pianist, will accompany Miss Tucker in her vocal recital, to be given Thursday evening of next week. Miss Ford will also interpret several classics from some of the best masters. This will form an important part of the program, and will furnish local people an opportunity to hear and enjoy that degree of artistic skill and integrity that have already won for her enduring fame. Miss Ford was one of the accompanists of Geo. Hamlin, known in the musical centers of every land as America's greatest tenor. It was while Miss Tucker was studying with Mr. Hamlin in Chicago that the two ladies first met, and later formed a close friendship, and it was because of this alone that Miss Ford consented to waive other pressing and important engagements to appear in Marquette with Miss Tucker and add to the musical value of her program.

The September issue of the "Musical Leader", the leading musical journal of the Northwest, pays the following tribute to the genius of Miss Ford: "The career of Susie Ford, musical protégée of Frederick Grant Gleason, has been watched by the public with keen interest, and this pianist is today one of the best known of Chicago's accompanists."

The following excerpt was taken from a letter of appreciation written by Frederick Grant Gleason: "At an early age, Susie Ford showed a fondness for music and an extraordinary musical talent. At nine she was placed under my instruction in piano and theory. Theodore Thomas heard her play some of her own compositions at this time and pronounced her a musical genius. This little girl has always possessed the gift of absolute pitch, and her ear is so acute that she can even hear the overtones produced from a single generating note. In 1901 she was awarded the first prize in composition for an operetta, The Witch of Thuringia, which showed dramatic and melodic instinct, and a good command of orchestral resource. Through her exceptionally gifted talents Miss Ford has already secured a position in the musical world, of which older people might be proud. Miss Ford was accompanist last season for Luella Chilson-Ohrman, appearing with some of the most prominent orchestras, choral societies, and clubs in the country. She has been engaged for the coming season and has already begun preparations for this year's programs. During the summer Miss Ford was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Hamlin at their Green Lake cottage in Wisconsin, and she assisted the tenor in preparing a repertoire of two hundred songs which he will use in his coming concerts. She also appeared with the Brahms Quartette in their several Chautauqua appearances in August."

Miss Ford will arrive in Marquette next Sunday morning. In Miss Tucker and Miss Ford there is a combination of vocal and instrumental artistry that guarantees a rich musical treat to Marquette and sister cities.

Guild Hall Notes

The West Ends defeated the Guild Hall team in a very close game Saturday by a score of 8 to 7. In a second game Saturday afternoon, the Rival Juniors defeated the Has Beens by a score of 3 to 0. If the weather continues favorable this week several more games will be played in the series. The West Ends, Rival Juniors, and the Leftovers have not lost a game in the series.

The football candidates will have regular practice each afternoon this week. Mr. McPherran will have charge of the work and will meet with the men as often as possible. Tonight the Young Men's club will meet at 8 o'clock. This meeting tonight is to take the place of the regular Wednesday evening meeting. The club will meet regularly on Monday nights instead of Wednesday nights hereafter. After the meeting tonight the football men will meet in the large hall for signal work. A practice game will be played with the High school team either Tuesday or Wednesday afternoon. In order to have a team fit to play in this game it will be necessary for all who are interested in football to be at these meetings for practice.

The regular weekly meeting of the E club will be held at 7:30 tonight. Plans for a football team will be discussed at the meeting tonight, and a captain and manager will be elected.

The regular weekly meeting of the Juvenile Athletic club will be tomorrow at 4 o'clock instead of this afternoon. The club will meet hereafter on Tuesday afternoons instead of Monday.

E. Reckmeyer of Milwaukee will be at the Marquette Millinery company's store, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday with his line of Royal Furs.
