

G. O. P. VICTORY THE ONLY HOPE SAYS CUMMINS

In No Other Way Can Desired Reforms Be Brought About, Declares the Iowa Senator in Opening the Speech-Making Phase of the Congressional Campaign.

He Admits in an Address at Chicago That There Is Much Unrest, but Asserts It Would Be Madness to Turn to the Democratic Party for Any Relief.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—The speech-making phase of the Republican congressional campaign began here tonight when Senator Cummins, of Iowa, speaking before the auspices of the Hamilton club, addressed a meeting at Orchestra Hall.

The announced intention of the Iowa senator was to secure Republican votes and to this end the keynote of his speech was what he termed the fallacy of voting for Democrats when the only hope of securing the desired reforms was to elect Republicans.

"For a man who, in his heart, wants to preserve fair and reasonable protection for the American wage-earner and the American producer and who, therefore, wanted the duties so adjusted that they would measure the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, and who, in his heart, abhors the Democratic fallacy of duties for revenue alone, it would be extreme madness to vote for a Democratic candidate for congress, who, if he is honest, will rob the country of its surplus savings."

Senator Cummins said that it would be a matter of deep regret to him if his presence here would in any way become a matter of embarrassment to the club. He said: "I believe I am in perfect sympathy with the purposes of the club, but it ought to be understood in the very outset that neither the club nor any individual member is to be held responsible for the views I may take on public affairs, nor for the form in which I shall express my judgment on the political situation. Right or wrong, I speak for myself, and there shall be no sacrifice for my sins."

"If there is no basis for party unity in the coming election other than the transparent pretext that there have been no material differences among us, the effect to get together will be a dismal failure. We all know—and it is an inexcusable blunder even to attempt to conceal it—that if every Republican who feels that we did not revise the tariff in accordance with our party platform votes the Democratic ticket in November, there will be a Democratic house of representatives. If every Republican who feels that some of the proposals made by the Republican leaders in the last congress for the regulation of the common carriers were reactionary and unfair should record his vote for Democratic candidates, a Republican victory is impossible."

Taking up the subject of railroad regulation the speaker declared: "I take up the accepted judgment of all disinterested men that there can be no adequate regulation of our railways, their rates and their practices unless we can for the future see to it that there shall be no capitalization either by way of bonds or of stocks that does not truthfully represent the money actually used by the common carriers in the betterment or the enlargement of their properties."

The senator also touched on the conservation of the natural resources and on the regulation of trusts and monopolies.

OSBORN IN KENT COUNTY; TALKS TO LARGE CROWDS. Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 24.—Addressing over 1,500 persons in Powers' theater here tonight, Chase S. Osborn, Republican candidate for governor, and ex-Mayor George P. Codd of Detroit, closed a successful day in Kent county.

DOCTOR SAYS SENATOR ELKINS IS SIMPLY TAKING A REST. Elkins, W. Va., Oct. 24.—Because of conducting reports as to the condition of Senator Stephen B. Elkins, who is ill at his home here, Dr. W. W. Golden, the senator's physician, gave out a statement today saying that the alarming reports of the senator's condition were untrue.

SENATOR SHIVELY OF INDIANA TO LOSE ONE OF HIS TOES. South Bend, Ind., Oct. 24.—United States Senator B. F. Shively, who has been suffering a week from an infection of the toe which followed the paring of a corn, was sent to bed late today by the physicians. It was announced that to prevent the danger of blood poisoning the toe probably would be amputated.

JAS. R. GARFIELD ASSAILS FORAKER AND SENATOR DICK.

Ravenna, O., Oct. 24.—In a speech here, James R. Garfield tonight scored former Senator Foraker for his attack on Roosevelt Saturday at Marysville, and urged the voters of Ohio, above all things, to defeat United States Senator Charles Dick for re-election. He declared that Foraker in any way represented the Republican party and declared him an enemy to the republican form of government.

W. J. BRYAN OFFERS TO PAY SPEAKER CANNON'S EXPENSES.

St. Paul, Oct. 24.—W. J. Bryan spoke here tonight in behalf of John L. Gieseler, a Democratic candidate for congress in the Fourth district, which is now represented by C. F. Stevens, Republican. Mr. Bryan offered to pay the expenses of Speaker Cannon if he would come to St. Paul to speak in behalf of Mr. Stevens, and he offered to pay for the telegram if Mr. Stevens would invite him to come.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT USES AN AUTOMOBILE

He Rides 93 Miles—Studies Scientific Farming and Makes Three Political Speeches.

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 24.—A study of scientific farming at close range kept Theodore Roosevelt busy most of today. He rode ninety-three miles in an automobile to inspect abandoned farms of this section, beginning at Ithaca and ending at Binghamton, and he decided that the farmer who goes about it in the right way can make a good living from land which is now going to waste.

Mr. Roosevelt found time to keep things stirring politically by making three speeches for the Republican state ticket. He declared that John A. Dix, had been a director of the so-called wall paper trust for eighteen months, in spite of Dix's statement to the contrary.

STRYKER RIDICULES THE EX-PRESIDENT

Hamilton College Head, Until Recently a Republican, 'Gets After' Roosevelt.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Alton B. Parker and Dr. M. W. Stryker, president of Hamilton college, were the principal speakers at a mass meeting here tonight under the direction of the Democratic Association of Utica. The greatest interest was manifested in the remarks of Dr. Stryker, a lifelong Republican and a loyal supporter of Vice President Sherman, who is a trustee of Hamilton college.

Dr. Stryker recently announced himself for Dix, the Democratic candidate for governor. He devoted his address to ridicule of Mr. Roosevelt. "I resent Roosevelt as a national or a state issue. I've had enough of him. He is a mighty hunter, but he cannot have my vote. He is an attitudinizer and uses the American people as a looking glass. His record shows great lack of the ethical perspective and fundamental disregard for the law. His own sweet will suffices for him. He is a great musician. He plays a fine old tune, 'I am I,' his text always his own conceit. He regards himself as an irreplaceable example of the immaculate recitade."

"In New York he advocates one thing, and in Kansas another. In Massachusetts, he embraces Lodge; in Indiana, he put his arms around Beveridge. In New York, he talks against bosses, and in Cincinnati he kisses them. One of the most curious things is that he does not realize how funny he is. There may be one who thinks he would be a good Diaz, but few of us would make good Mexicans. He has been preaching in disparagement of the supreme court, the final bulwark of our liberty. But it is not a deep disease from which we have been suffering; it is only a rash. It is only our complex clearing. We are on the road to recovery."

"On the ninth of November the watchman in the neighborhood, in order that the colonel might deliver an address there Oct. 29. Haswell had to engage another hall."

SUGAR PRICES ARE CUT AGAIN. New York, Oct. 24.—All grades of refined sugar were again reduced five cents a hundred pounds today.

IT WON'T HELP ELECT THE FOE OF LAFOLLETTE

Republican State Central Committee of Wisconsin Repudiates the Man the Supreme Court Has Declared the Legal Nominee of the Party for Attorney General.

On the Ground of His Hostility Toward the Senior Senator, It Declares It Cannot Support Him, and It Endorses the Candidacy of an Independent.

Milwaukee, Oct. 24.—The Republican state committee tonight adopted a resolution endorsing Charles H. Crownhart, of Superior, as an independent candidate for attorney general and urging all voters to actively support him.

This action was taken in view of the recent ruling of the supreme court that the name of Levi Bancroft, anti-La Follette, should be certified as the legal Republican nominee.

Bancroft received the next highest vote to that of Frank T. Tucker, deceased. The state central committee had planned to make Crownhart, the regular nominee, but it was enjoined by the supreme court. The resolution of the state central committee states that owing to Bancroft's attitude toward Senator La Follette, the committee cannot support him.

Gubernatorial Candidate Speaks. Also in this city tonight, Francis E. McGovern, Republican candidate for governor of Wisconsin, sounded the keynote of the Republican campaign.

He spoke at the Bohemian Turners' hall. Mr. McGovern made a glowing tribute to Senator La Follette and urged that the votes of the party be cast for the candidates for the state senate and assembly who would support La Follette for senator. He said the Republican party of Wisconsin stands for advancement. He charged that the great fortunes were not acquired honestly, he said that the monopolies must either be destroyed or be controlled in the interests of the people. He condemned the rule of the special interests, and he praised Wisconsin as one of the leaders in progressive Republicanism.

COAL CARRIER IS A TOTAL LOSS

Wooden Steamer Langham Burns to the Water's Edge Off Keweenaw Point.

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 24.—The steamer Langham, a coal carrier, owned by James E. Adams of Detroit, burned to the water's edge off Keweenaw point, late Sunday night, and the hull was beached a total loss. The crew of seventeen got ashore in safety and were at the Delaware mine today. The captain refused to give any of the facts regarding the fire, referring all seekers for information to the owners. The Langham was a wooden steamer, 281 feet long, 41 feet beam and of 1,810 gross tons. She was loaded and was bound for Port Arthur, Ont.

PANAMA CANAL LIBEL CASE ARGUED AT WASHINGTON.

Washington, Oct. 24.—The final attempt of the government to uphold the validity of the indictment in the New York federal courts of the United States Publishing company on the charge of libel, growing out of the publication of an article in the New York World on the purchase of the Panama canal, was made this afternoon in an oral argument before the supreme court of the United States. The government efforts were opposed by arguments for the Press Publishing company designed to sustain the action of the lower federal court in quashing the indictment. The court took the case under advisement. The opinion may not be rendered for several weeks.

NAVY OFFICIALS UNDECIDED AS TO CAPT. PEARY'S DUTIES.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Although his leave of absence expired yesterday, Captain Robert E. Peary, the Arctic explorer, did not report for duty today as a civil engineer of the navy. Acting Secretary of the Navy Withrop said that it had not yet been decided to what work Captain Peary would be assigned.

ENORMOUS HAVOC WROUGHT BY FIRES IN NATIONAL FORESTS.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Six billion board feet of timber, valued at $15,000,000, were destroyed in the recent fires in the national forests of Montana and northern Idaho. The total area burned over in this one district is 1,200,000 acres.

FUNERAL OF D. B. HILL TAKES PLACE AT ALBANY.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 24.—The funeral of David Bennett Hill took place today from St. Peter's church. There was just the impressive burial service of the Episcopal church. The church was crowded to the doors. The interment will be at Montour Falls, Mr. Hill's birthplace, tomorrow.

The Weather

Washington, Oct. 24.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Fair, Tuesday and Wednesday; not much change in temperature; moderate winds, mostly west.

COSTLY BLAZE AT SUPERIOR EARLY THIS MORNING.

Superior, Wis., Tuesday, Oct. 25.—The huge storage shed of the M. A. Hanna coal dock here caught fire shortly after midnight, and is a total loss. It contained a quarter million tons of anthracite. The entire fire department and several fire tugs are working to prevent the blaze from spreading. The loss will be $500,000.

MANY NATIONS TO SHARE EXPENSE OF NEW MAP.

New York, Oct. 24.—Professor Bailey Willis, a member of the United States geological survey, returning today from South America, reported that Argentina, Brazil and Chili had consented to share the expense of making the new geographical world map in which nearly all the civilized nations have become interested since the plan was proposed some months ago.

NO TIDINGS FROM THE MISSING AERONAUTS

Rescue Expedition Is Planned, to Start from Sault Ste. Marie in a Balloon.

St. Louis, Oct. 24.—If Alan R. Hawley and Augustus Post, the missing pilots, and their balloon America II are not reported by Wednesday morning, S. Louis Von Phul, as the representative of the Aero club of St. Louis, will attempt to locate them with the balloon St. Louis III. Von Phul, with J. M. O'Reilly, will go to Sault Ste. Marie, where the balloon will be refilled and sent north into that part of Canada where Hawley and Post are now supposed to be. The rescue party will take along a month's provisions and a light collapsible canoe. The Aero club officials are moving on the theory that Hawley and Post will be found in the country contiguous to the Regulus and the northern Lake Superior region.

Aviator Breaks Altitude Record.

New York, Oct. 24.—In the third day of the international aviation meet at Belmont Park, Long Island, a new American record for altitude was set by J. Armstrong Drexel, who reached a height of 7,015 feet. The best previous American record was 6,175 feet, made by Walter Brookings of Atlantic City. Brookings today reached 4,882 feet. Before the grand stand, ten machines aloft at one time delighted the crowds with maneuvers in the various other events.

COAL CARRIER IS A TOTAL LOSS

Wooden Steamer Langham Burns to the Water's Edge Off Keweenaw Point.

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 24.—The steamer Langham, a coal carrier, owned by James E. Adams of Detroit, burned to the water's edge off Keweenaw point, late Sunday night, and the hull was beached a total loss. The crew of seventeen got ashore in safety and were at the Delaware mine today. The captain refused to give any of the facts regarding the fire, referring all seekers for information to the owners. The Langham was a wooden steamer, 281 feet long, 41 feet beam and of 1,810 gross tons. She was loaded and was bound for Port Arthur, Ont.

MORELAND'S SALVAGE IN DOUBT.

The chances of saving the steamer Moreland, stranded at Eagle River, are not as promising as they have been. The wrecking crews of the tugs Favorite, Whale and Boyton had a good day Sunday, and their hope of floating the badly battered craft was high. But early this morning the men were forced to seek shelter from a heavy sea, and they do not know when they can get to work again. In the meantime the battering of the waves is increasing the damage.

Later—the tug Boynton arrived in Houghton from the wreck this afternoon. She and the other wrecking boats were driven from the Moreland by the sea at 3 o'clock in the morning. Captain Ryser now says that the plan is to save only the after half of the Moreland, as the forward half is beyond saving. A bulkhead will be built into the forward part of the hull to be saved and this portion of the boat will then be pumped out and floated.

NEWFOUNDLAND STEAMER IS LOST WITH NINETEEN MEN.

St. Johns, N. F., Oct. 24.—News of the loss of the steamer Regulus, bound from Bella Island to Sydney, with the loss of nineteen men of her crew, was received here today. The wreck occurred in Shoal bay, nine miles from this port. The Regulus was owned here and the crew were mostly New Foundlanders.

Fears for Overdue Freighter.

New York, Oct. 24.—Fears are felt here for the safety of the steamship Silverdale, a freighter, now eight days overdue on a trip from Brooklyn to Havana. The vessel, carrying a crew of thirty, should have arrived at Havana Oct. 16. It is believed the steamer was in the path of the recent tropical storm.

MAIL SERVICE ABOUT PAYING ITS OWN WAY

Figures, the Compilation of Which Has Just Been Completed, Show That the Deficit Was Reduced to $6,100,000 During the Year Ended June 30, Last.

Compared With the Preceding 12 Months, the Saving Is More Than Eleven Million Dollars—This Without Impairing the Facilities in Any Direction.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Figures, the compilation of which was completed today, show that the exact reduction in the postal deficit during the fiscal year ended June 30, last, was $11,500,000. The deficit of the previous fiscal year was $17,600,000, so that in one year the deficit has been brought down to $6,100,000. In commenting tonight upon the saving of $11,500,000 last year, Postmaster General Hitchcock said:

"This tremendous saving was made without the curtailment of the postal facilities in any direction. In a word, the department's policy is to extend the service as rapidly as warranted by the increasing population, and to accomplish its saving, not by a curtailment of the postal facilities, but by handling in a more systematic and business-like manner the constantly expanding volume of the mails."

The tables prepared indicate that more than 1,500 new postoffices, with the necessary officers, employees and equipment, were established during the fiscal year, and that 515 new rural routes, with a total mileage of 12,235, were put in operation. There were appointed over 1,800 postoffice clerks to enlarge the working forces in city postoffices, and more than 1,000 additional letter carriers. The railway mail service was strengthened by the appointment of about 750 new employees. The salaries of the clerks were advanced in the aggregate $1,250,000 while the aggregate salaries of the letter carriers were increased $1,226,000. The railway mail clerks received increases amounting almost to $250,000. Mr. Hitchcock sees a self-sustaining postal service and one-cent letter postage in the near future.

FIRST PLACE HELD BY TUBERCULOSIS

Census Bureau Data Show the White Plague the Most Deadly of All Diseases.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Tuberculosis of the lungs, heart disease and accidental violence, in the census bureau's death registration area of the United States, which represents more than 55 per cent. of the estimated total population, caused more than 37 per cent. of the deaths from all causes in 1909, among certain classes. These classes are styled as "genuinely employed or occupied males."

The bureau says that of a total of 210,567 deaths among men genuinely employed, typhoid claimed 2.2 per cent, tuberculosis of the lungs 14.8, cancer 5.4, apoplexy and paralysis 7.3, heart disease 11.9, pneumonia 8, Bright's disease 8.5, suicide 2.6 and accidents 10.5. Among the occupied women the percentage included: Tuberculosis, 21; typhoid, 2.8; cancer, 8.1; apoplexy and paralysis, 5.9; heart disease, 10.2; pneumonia, 7; Bright's disease, 7.3; suicide, 1.6; accidents, 3.2.

Charles McCarthy of Madison, Wis., chief of the legislative reference library of the Wisconsin free library commission, was at the White House today, in consultation with the president and Secretary Norton. It is said that Mr. McCarthy may be called in to assist in working out the general plans for greater economy in the administration of the government departments.

NEW MOVE MADE IN THE CAR REPAIR GRANT CASE.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—A new move by the counsel for John R. Harriman, Charles E. Wing, John M. Taylor and Charles L. Ewing, former Illinois Central officials, charged with conspiracy and with operating a confidence game in the Illinois Central car repair cases, was made today when a motion was filed for the dismissal of the latter charge. Judge Bruggemeyer, of the municipal court, ruled that the charge should stand, but agreed that a change of venue should be taken. The move came as a surprise to the prosecution, whose attorneys believed that the two charges were being heard jointly. The court ruled that only one charge, that of conspiracy, had been on trial.

OKLAHOMA INDIAN LANDS TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION.

Washington, Oct. 24.—All the unallotted lands of the five civilized tribes of Indians in Oklahoma, approximating 1,350,000 acres, and the forested area in the Choctaw nation, amounting to about 1,365,000 acres, are to be sold at public auction, according to the decision of the secretary of the interior today. The

BATTLED BALL IS FATAL TO AN INDIANA PLAYER.

Dana, Ills., Oct. 24.—Samuel James, thirty years old, died here today as a result of being struck in the temple by a batted ball while playing yesterday.

JEALOUS INDIANA MAN KILLS GIRL AND HIMSELF.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 24.—Martin Robertson, aged twenty-eight, shot and killed his sweetheart, Grace Eller, aged eighteen, at Montmorenci, late last night, and two hours later shot himself. He died this morning in the jail hospital. Jealousy was the cause of the crime.

CRAZED WOMAN AT KEOKUK PERPETRATES SHOCKING DEED.

Keokuk, Ia., Oct. 24.—Emptying a two-gallon can of gasoline over herself, her husband and her son here today, Mrs. Rena Stuetterman then set fire to the trio. The woman, who is supposed to have been mentally unbalanced, died shortly and her son a few hours later. The husband is in a critical condition.

CLAIMS TO HAVE KILLED TWO MEN

Leigh Rhodus, "the Candy Bandit," Asks to Be Taken to Chicago for Trial.

East St. Louis, Oct. 24.—Leigh Rhodus, the self-confessed "candy bandit," arrested here yesterday, who claims to have killed Dr. W. E. Michaels, a dentist, at Englewood, Chicago, Aug. 5, last, and one other man, is anxious to face trial on the murder charge in Chicago. Late this afternoon he asked Chief Purdy, of the local police, to take him to Chicago immediately. Rhodus, however, will be held here for a couple of days, pending an investigation of the Chicago case. The police say they are not willing to give the prisoner up to the Chicago authorities unless satisfied there is sufficient evidence to connect him with the Michaels murder. Rhodus told the police tonight that he would rather take his chances in the Chicago courts than to face the numerous charges against him here and in St. Louis, which would keep him in the penitentiary for life in case of conviction.

PRISONER IN MINNESOTA CONFESSES TO MURDER.

Winona, Minn., Oct. 24.—Chris Overdy tonight confessed to the slaying last Sunday of Chron Olson, a fruit gardener, aged sixty-eight. Olson was found dead in bed at his home at Houston, Minn., beaten to death with a gun. Today Overdy was arrested on suspicion. He said that the old man had struck him with an old mallet. The young man then wrenched the gun out of Olson's hands and dealt the gardener a blow over the head. As the old man attempted to rise, Overdy struck him again. Then he placed the body in bed and fled.

JAPANESE DOGS AGT AS "BRIDESMAIDS"

Pacific Coast Couple Figures in a Unique Wedding Ceremony in New York City.

New York, Oct. 24.—Just the minute that Rev. E. L. Copefield started the wedding service making Mrs. Mary Schley Bowen, a wealthy San Francisco woman, and Percy W. Evans, head of a big Seattle shipping concern, man and wife today the three bridesmaids began to frisk and caper about. It took all the efforts of the best man to keep them fairly quiet so that the ceremony could proceed. The bridesmaids wore gorgeous embroidered gowns, with tiny lace, and were high pedigreed Japanese spaniels from the mikado's kennels. They were simply glad to see their mistress.

DIMPLES MADE BY WAX.

London, Oct. 23.—Women at present are studying their chin more than all their other features. No devotee of fashion as it is now represented dare risk the possession of a double chin and many women are resorting to dangerous methods to obtain pretty ones.

A Bond street beauty specialist said that hundreds of chin straps, which are worn at night, are being sold. "The injection of wax into the chin is also being practised," she said. "This should not be undertaken without a doctor, as I have known cases of women's faces being utterly spoiled. By the injection of wax the chin can be made any shape desired. After a time the wax moulds itself with the tissue and looks perfectly natural."

"Women frequently have a fascinating dimple manufactured in their chins in this way. The result of the operation is often perfectly successful, but some flesh cannot bear it, and in such a case there is danger."

GALE IN ITALY CAUSES GREAT DEVASTATION

Damage to Property in the City of Naples and the Surrounding Country Runs Into the Millions of Dollars—Region a Scene of Shocking Desolation.

Island of Ischia, in the Mediterranean, Is Reported Swept by a Tidal Wave Deadly to Many Persons—An Avalanche Rushes Down Mount Vesuvius.

Rome, Oct. 24.—The ministry of the interior this evening received word of a tidal wave at Casamicciola, on the island of Ischia, that drowned two hundred persons. Verification is impossible. Four men-of-war have been ordered to the scene. Casamicciola is at the foot of Mount Vesuvius. It was nearly destroyed by an earthquake in 1883, when about 1,700 lives were lost. The population is 4,000.

A hurricane has caused much destruction along the coast of the province of Salerno. The town of Cetara, on the gulf of Salerno, is reported to have been destroyed. Twelve bodies have been taken from the wreckage, and there are many injured. Amalfi and Sorrento also suffered. Reports place the dead in the storm zone as high as two hundred.

Naples, Oct. 24.—The island of Ischia, in the Mediterranean, sixteen miles southwest of Naples, has been storm-swept. The first reports received here gave a very considerable loss of life from a tidal wave, but the latest reports indicate that the victims are few. Communication with the island is difficult, but brief dispatches from Casamicciola state that while it is believed that some persons were killed by the collapse of houses, the only one woman has been recovered.

Naples suffered severely from a furious storm of wind and rain last night and today, the damage running into the millions. Every section of the city bears marks of the gale, while in the suburbs several persons were killed. The surrounding country is devastated, great quantities of grape vines, trees, walls and parts of houses being scattered about. An avalanche of stones and mud rushed down Mount Vesuvius above the lava line of the eruption of 1906. It swept all before it as far as Portici. It wrecked the tram line and engulfed nearly a score.

While up to the present there is no confirmation of the report that Ischia succumbed from a tidal wave or a seismic disturbance, it was in the direct path of a hurricane which toppled over houses in Casamicciola, an outbreak of large debris. After the earthquake of 1883 these places were rebuilt with the thickest of houses, which, while admirably calculated to resist earth shocks, were unable to withstand the violence of the storm of the last twenty-four hours. It is believed there are some bodies under the debris. There is much anxiety here, however, as many residents of Naples went to Ischia to escape the cholera.

PHILADELPHIA GIVES BALL TEAM A ROUSING RECEPTION.

Philadelphia, Oct. 24.—The American Baseball league and world's champions reached home from their victorious trip to Chicago this evening, and were given a rousing reception by the thousands of fans headed by Mayor Rekrburn. About three hundred policemen were needed to preserve order. The players were entertained at dinner and then were taken to the theater.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—The only consolation that Manager Chance and his players in the Chicago National League team got out of the world's series was in the division of the receipts which occurred this afternoon. Each of the players received a check for $1,315. Secretary Williams and Trainer Simmons were voted in for full shares.

Big Trade in Progress.

Cincinnati, Oct. 24.—What is forecasted to be one of the largest deals in the history of baseball is said to be in process of completion tonight, in the proposed exchange of more than half a dozen players between the Philadelphia National league club and the Cincinnati league team. President August Herrmann tonight stated that the deal would be made within twenty-four hours. The men slated, according to the rumors, are among the best known players on the two teams.

CHAMPION ABE ATTELL OUT-BOXES JOHNNY KILBANE.

Kansas City, Oct. 24.—Abe Attell won the decision over Johnny Kilbane, of Cleveland, after ten rounds of fighting here tonight. The champion's title was never in danger from the start. Kilbane, Attell in the eighth, was on the retreat. Attell continued to follow his opponent about the ring.

The aeroplane has surely come to stay. It is an unmanageable contraption, but it is so delightfully dangerous!

The verdict of the country on the "Cubs" is that they are dubs as exponents of the national game.

The managers of the Republican campaign in Detroit should hitch an "equilibrator" to their candidate for the mayoralty without further delay. Even that may not hold him down, but it would help.

The Democratic candidate for governor in Minnesota favors local option. If he is to be elected it must be by Republican votes. The Minnesota Democrats have no more use for prohibition in spots than their brethren in Michigan and elsewhere.

If something is not done to arouse interest in the election in this part of the state a light vote may be looked for. The trouble up here is that there is hardly a fight. Wet is the name over the local tickets, and the interest in the gubernatorial contest is not of itself sufficient to bring out the vote.

Woman suffrage is the dominant election issue in South Dakota. That state is said to be full of able-minded women and they expect to be voters after this year. Hope they will win. A woman who lives in South Dakota ought to have everything she may desire that the state can give her.

Reports from Indiana and Ohio indicate that the Democrats stand a good chance of carrying both these states, while New York may be classed among the "doubtful" states this year. The latter state is doubtful only because the colonel is taking a hand in the fight there. If the "Old Guard" had won out in the state convention a Democratic victory would be a sure-thing wager.

A New York young woman threw over her young man on the day set for their wedding because she had just discovered that he was earning but twelve dollars a week. She had supposed that he was a "thirty-five dollar a week man" for the four years of their courtship, and only discovered the dreadful truth regarding his earning capacity on the day before that appointed for the nuptials. It was a perilously close escape for—which?

The report for 1909 of an insurance company which confines its operations to insuring steam boilers and flywheels shows that during that year it did a snugly profitable business, taking premiums to the amount of $1,732,881 and having to pay out only $70,746 in losses. It's not to be wondered at that we have insurance companies to take almost any kind of a risk. There is big money in relieving other people of their anxiety over remote but possible disasters.

All things considered, it is well that the Democrats of the state are showing such faith in their prospects this year. It would be no great misfortune for the interests of Michigan if the minority party were to grow strong enough to keep the Republicans' everlastingly on their good behavior. If such a political condition were to develop in the state we would not soon again see the Republicans send to Lansing as law-makers such a lot of incapables as made up a large proportion of the membership of the last house.

While he is telling what he will do if elected governor it might be well for Mr. Hemans to mention that with a Republican legislature to hamper him there isn't much that he could do. And nothing is more certain than that the Republicans will have an overwhelming majority in the legislature to be chosen in the pending election. If the voters want any "house-cleaning" done at the state capital next winter their only chance of having it done, so far as the governor's influence and power goes, lies in placing Mr. Osborn at the head of the state administration.

Mr. Hemans says in his stump speeches that Osborn is buying votes with promises of jobs under him in case he is elected governor. Mr. Osborn is promising a thorough clearing out of useless commissions and officials when he becomes governor, and that promise is undoubtedly gaining him thousands of votes throughout the state. And beyond that, and pledging himself to the enforcement of honesty and economy in the administration of state affairs, Mr. Osborn is making no promises. He doesn't have to, for the people believe in him and know that he means just what he says.

Representative Denby of Detroit, an uncompromising standpatter, is having a hard fight for re-election, owing to dissatisfaction with him among the Republicans of his district on account of his unwavering loyalty to Speaker Cannon and the other reactionaries in the house and senate. He has as his opponent one of the most popular and able Democrats in Detroit, Mr. Doremus, and the latter is making a vigorous and effective canvass. Mr. Denby has a most creditable record as a member of the house, and it is to be regretted that there are any Republicans in his district who feel disposed to desert him because of his manliness in standing for what he believes to be right. That he refuses to adopt a belief that he doesn't entertain in order to obtain support from the "insurgent" wing of his party in the district should count in his favor instead of working to his disadvantage. Honest men in public position are too much needed just now to make it wise for voters to drive them from place merely because they refuse to truckle.

HEMANS THEN AND NOW.
Mr. Hemans was a member of the constitutional convention of 1908. In Jan. 14th of that year he spoke against a proposal to place a limit on the power of the legislature to appropriate money for the maintenance of state institutions, saying:

The reason for increasing taxation comes from the creation of new institutions, new boards and new acts and new ways for the expenditure of money through the great increase of patients in our insane asylums and our prisons. I do not believe that the increased expenditure comes through the extravagance of the legislature in voting its appropriations. So I do not believe it is proper or wise for a law to be created that shall set limitations on the appropriations for state institutions. Mr. Hemans had been a member of the legislature, and must have spoken with knowledge of his subject. He wasn't the Democratic candidate for governor then, and could afford to speak the truth. But he is seeking the gubernatorial office now as the candidate of the opposition party, and so finds that the increased expenditures in recent years are chargeable to Republican extravagance. What a twister he is!

THE GOSPEL OF SECTIONALISM.
Toward the close of his campaign for the gubernatorial nomination Mr. Kelly abandoned the dignified attitude he had previously maintained as a candidate and engaged in a desperate attempt to win by preaching the gospel of sectionalism. Because Mr. Osborn, who was forging to the front strongly, is a resident of the upper peninsula, Mr. Kelly affected to believe that the interests of the lower part of the state would be put in jeopardy by his election to the office of governor, and sought to create that apprehension in the minds of his hearers. He went to extreme lengths in telling how the mining companies of the upper peninsula had been evading payment of their just share of the state taxes, and expatiated eloquently on the danger of giving them the further advantage, for the purpose of "tax dodging," of having an upper peninsula man in the executive office. What was the result? Mr. Osborn led Mr. Keney by over 10,000 votes in the primary election in the lower peninsula alone, and would have been the nominee of his party against both his lower peninsula opponents without the aid of a single vote on this side of the straits.

Yet in the face of this significant demonstration of the danger of appealing to a sectional prejudice which, it is pleasing to know, does not exist, Mr. Hemans, the Democratic candidate for governor, is preaching the same gospel that Mr. Kelly did, in the hope that he may make it win in the general election though it failed in the primary contest. In the course of a speech delivered in Wayne county Thursday last Mr. Hemans made this vicious attack on the mining companies of the upper peninsula:

The iron mines of the upper peninsula are assessed at $24,000,000 and the assessors who make the assessments are, as you may know, mostly employes of the mines. Yet last year the output of these mines sold for $22,000,000, or more than twice the assessed valuation of the mines. Wouldn't you farmers think you were mighty lucky if your farm from which you sold $10,000 worth of products in one year was assessed at but $5,000? Yet you would be no more lucky than are the owners of the upper peninsula mines of which my opponent is so good a friend.

Mr. Osborn is no better friend of the mining interests up here than Hemans professed to be when he was in the upper peninsula making campaign speeches recently. The Democratic candidate then assured the voters whom he addressed that he was opposed to a tonnage tax on our mines because he believed it would work them an injustice, and gave them to understand that he stood for a "square deal" in matters of taxation, as in all other things affecting the people of the upper peninsula.

How insincere he was in this is disclosed by his tirades against the mines in the effort he is now making in the lower peninsula to gain votes through appeals to sectional prejudice. He juggles shamelessly with the figures in comparing the assessment valuation of the iron mines with the selling

Try This Home-Made Cough Remedy
Costs Little, But Does the Work Quickly, or Money Refunded.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You will find that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually ends a deep-seated cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, chest pains, bronchitis and other throat troubles. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This plan of making cough syrup with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada, that it is often imitated. But the old, successful formula has never been equalled.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

price of their output, for he plainly expects his hearers to believe that the market value of the ore produced is all profit for the mines, whereas that covers the cost of production at the mine and the expense of getting it to the furnace east where it is smelted, this taking all but a small fraction of what the mines obtain for the marketed product. The bulk of the money received for the ore goes to the labor employed at the mines and to the transportation lines that handle it in transit. The true measure of the value of an iron or copper mine is the profit it yields to the owners, a fact of which Mr. Hemans is cognizant, not the value in gross of its product. If that were not the case we would not have scores of iron mines inactive because they cannot be profitably operated under present market conditions, though they could be easily made to produce as largely as those now being worked if it would pay to operate them. Many of the iron mines in the list of producers are making very little money, and their output furnishes no just measure of their earning power, facts that must be taken into account and given due weight when fixing their assessment valuation.

The same rule must be followed with other kinds of property if we are to have an equitable system of taxation in the state, taken in its entirety. But Mr. Hemans wants to have the mines and railroads taxed on their valuation as established by expert commissions employed by the state for the purpose, while for the farms and great manufacturing plants, the coal mines and salt blocks and the immensely valuable business properties of the flourishing cities below the straits he would have the assessments continue to be made as they now are, although on the testimony of the tax commission, corroborated by its action in such counties in that part of the state as it has been able to reach during the current year, gross undervaluation is the rule.

A short time ago an upper peninsula newspaper man happened to be sojourning in one of the smaller cities of the lower peninsula for a few days, and while there it occurred to him to look into the assessment of farm properties in the neighborhood. He made some astounding discoveries in the course of his investigations. One instance showing how farm properties down there are valued for the purpose of taxation is here given. On an eighty acre farm which the owner had paid for out of his profits on crops raised since he had settled on the land, buildings having a value of $4,000 had been erected and other improvements made, also out of the profits. Yet the eighty acres, with buildings and improvements thrown in for good measure, went on the tax roll at a valuation of $1,400. He found numerous other equally flagrant cases of undervaluation of farm properties, and so far as his investigations went the owners of valuable city properties were not a bit behind their neighbors in the country in applying this method of evading payment of their just share of state taxes.

In Mr. Hemans' home county of Ingham it has been discovered that there are automobile factories which, on their own statements to the secretary of state of taxable property held by them, have assets in the county whose cash value aggregates over $7,000,000; yet these properties are on the tax roll with their total valuation placed at a trifle over $1,000,000.

Why does not Mr. Hemans call attention to these glaring cases of undervaluation by the local assessing officers in this county and elsewhere in the lower part of the state, instead of confining his disclosures in the matter of alleged tax dodging to the iron and copper mines of the upper peninsula?

Simply because he is trying to fool the voters in his section of the state into making him governor on a false issue. But he will fail to win on the sectional issue in November just as Mr. Kelly did at the primary election in September.

Mr. Osborn stands for fair assessments and equal taxation throughout the state, and when the verdict of the people of Michigan is given in November it will be found that they are with him for a "square deal" and fair taxation all round.

Of the thirteen states having less than 2 per cent of illiterate ten years ago twelve allowed women to vote in school elections. Of the twelve states having more than 10 per cent of illiterates among the white population ten years ago none gave women the school vote. The Kentucky women who are making a campaign for countrywide school suffrage are using these facts as an argument.

The first municipal lodging house for women has just been opened in London and has been named for Miss Margaret Ashton, who is a member of the municipal council, and an ardent advocate of woman suffrage. On taking her place in the municipal council Miss Ashton declared that she would never rest satisfied until the discrimination against women by the city of London in furnishing cheap and decent boarding places for men and not for women had been remedied.

Japan, which has just suffered a flood by which 30,000 houses in Tokio alone have been submerged, is peculiarly the victim of elemental forces. The country contains fifty-one active volcanoes and has an average of about 600 earthquakes a year. As for fires, it is estimated that a city like Osaka was rebuilt once in ten years owing to this cause alone. It is no uncommon thing for three or four acres of the lath and plaster houses to be wiped out in an hour or two after the overturning of a kerosene lamp. A sturdier style of building and a more efficient fire brigade has made insurance in Japan possible, but floods and earthquakes still take a heavy toll of life and property.

Copper Country

POPULAR PASTOR TO LEAVE DISTRICT

Rev. W. S. Steensma of Chassel Accepts a Charge in Southern Michigan.

Rev. William S. Steensma, for the past four years pastor of the Chassel Congregational church, announced to his congregation Sunday that he had accepted a call from the church at Shelby, Mich., and that he would preach his farewell sermon at Chassel Nov. 13. He leaves for Shelby with his family Nov. 15.

Mr. Steensma's decision is greatly regretted by the Chassel congregation as well as by the numerous friends he has made in other places in the copper country. He is one of the youngest clergymen in charge of a church of his denomination in the upper peninsula, but his youth has not affected his work for his flock and he has been one of the most successful and popular ministers in the district. Mr. Steensma has made his church popular and the congregation has grown largely under him. He has added much to the pleasure of his people in his services with his splendid voice, he being a singer of exceptional ability.

A year or two ago Mr. Steensma was asked to take the Lake Linden Congregational church, but he refused the call, because he believed a pastor should remain with a church at least three years and he wanted to remain at least that long in Chassel. More recently he received a call from the Red Jacket Congregational church, almost coincident with the Shelby call. While the Shelby charge does not give Mr. Steensma the same material recompense, he feels that the opportunities there in a spiritual way are broader. Shelby is a prosperous farming town in Michigan, a fruit belt. The congregational church is a large one and the invitation of so young a pastor as Mr. Steensma to take it in charge is a fine compliment to his ability.

The Chassel church was Mr. Steensma's first charge. He having quit newspaper work in Detroit to take the ministry and he came to Chassel immediately after his ordination.

TO LAUNCH THE CAMPAIGN.

Hon. H. O. Young of Ishpeming Will Speak in Houghton County.

Hon. H. O. Young of Ishpeming, candidate for reelection to congress from the upper peninsula district, will be the first speaker in the Republican campaign in Houghton county this fall. Mr. Young will speak in Calumet Oct. 27, next Thursday, and at Painesdale Oct. 29, according to County Chairman Bentley's announcement of yesterday. Mr. Young will speak Friday night either at Lake Linden or Wolverine.

The congressional candidate's acceptance of the invitation to speak in Houghton county fills the program of the campaign, as far as outside speakers are concerned. Horatio S. Earle is to speak in Houghton Oct. 31, the only bit of spellbinding which Houghton is to treat. Dr. Madel, dean of Olivet college, has two dates. He speaks in Hancock Nov. 4, at the Kerpelle theater, and in Calumet, at the Calumet theater, Nov. 5.

Chairman Bentley says that the campaign is to be an aggressive one and many local speakers will be employed in all of the towns during the last few days preceding the election.

THIS MAY CREATE A STRANGE SITUATION

Lansing Rules That One Man May Not Be a Justice and Township Clerk, Too.

In the opinion of Assistant Attorney General Charles W. McGill, the offices of township clerk and justice of the peace are incompatible and one man may not hold both places. "The acceptance of one vacates the other," says Mr. McGill in a letter to Village Clerk O'Sullivan of Houghton, who took the matter up with the attorney general's office. Mr. O'Sullivan received on Saturday an opinion from the state's legal department, signed by Mr. McGill. He sought the information, because the question came up for discussion quite recently and he feared that his own combination of village clerk and justice of the peace might be incompatible. He is assured that one man may hold the two offices which he has been elected, village clerk and justice, but one man may not be both township clerk and justice.

Justice-Clerk Little Demurs. Charles R. Little of Houghton has been acting as justice of the peace and clerk of township since the last spring, but having been elected clerk two years and having been elected clerk this year. He was advised yesterday by the attorney general's opinion, but says he believes the opinion to be incorrect. Mr. Little is sitting on the township board as township clerk and not as justice. The statute provides that the township board must consist of a supervisor, clerk and two justices whose terms of office soonest expire. The justices acting on the board are Casper Brand and M. O'Sullivan. Mr. Little believes that in this way he is complying with the law and will continue to act in both capacities until he is convinced that he may not legally do so.

Some of the Possibilities.

There are tremendous possibilities in the situation, providing the attorney general's opinion is sustained by the courts. Casper Brand was justice of peace and township clerk for something like twenty years. If his acceptance of the office of township clerk made the office of justice vacant, it is not too wild a surmise to offer that all of his decisions and acts as justice were null and void.

If this is true, there are a great many people in the township and throughout the county against whom Justice Brand held adversely who have a right to seek redress. It may be that all of the men sentenced by him to the county jail have a legal right to sue for false imprisonment. It may be that men who have been sued and have been compelled to pay judgment can sue to recover from the township, the court or the successful litigants. And the most startling suggestion which grows out of the situation has to do with marriage. Justice Brand has for years tied knots for loving couples, and there are many young men and women in Houghton county who were joined in wedlock by the veteran squire.

Was a Common Custom.

The custom of electing one man to the two offices of township clerk and justice of the peace has been common in Houghton county, and the thing would have a wide and sinister influence. Michael Finn has for years acted for something like thirty years in Hancock, and there have been other similar combinations in other townships.

Whether or not any action against Justice Little will be taken by any one is a matter for the future. No one as yet has taken any steps to compel him to show cause for acting in both capacities. He will take no steps himself, and there are few in Houghton who would wish him disturbed, as he has been capable and efficient in both capacities.

GOVERNMENT TAKES THE CASE.

Hilma Steinback Matter in Charge of Immigration Bureau.

Under Sheriff Sheridan returned yesterday from an official visit to the Soo, where he took up with the local immigration officials the case of Hilma Steinback, the young immigrant woman who is in jail under suspicion of having murdered her new born babe three months after her arrival in the United States. Sheriff Byers wants her deported and Under Sheriff Sheridan's trip to the Soo was in this connection.

The immigration officials at the Soo took charge of the papers in the case delivered by the office and made notes of the information given by him. These will be forwarded to the bureau of immigration at Washington, together with a request for a warrant to proceed against the woman. If the bureau deems it best the matter will come before United States Commissioner Oliver at Hancock, who will have the authority to deport the woman if he finds that she is an undesirable alien.

MINING NEWS

ST. MARY'S MINERAL LAND.

Although it is not absolutely assured, the indications are that the St. Mary's Mineral Land company will within the next two months declare a cash dividend of $1 per share. Such action depends entirely on the dividends which the Champion Copper company pays within this time, and if this company pays $3 more, making a total of $8 for the year, the St. Mary's company will distribute $1 per share on its 100,000 outstanding shares.

Whether or not the Champion will pay another $3 per share depends on when the company will be able to collect on the copper which it has sold in advance, but as such payment will probably fall within the year it may be concluded that the company will within twelve months with a total of $8 per share, or the same rate as last year.

M. C. M. OFFICERS CHOSEN.

Hot Political Campaign Waged at the Michigan College of Mines.

The annual election of officers of the students' organization was held yesterday afternoon at the Michigan College of Mines. John Gibbons and Ernest Klapetko were the principal candidates for the office of president, and their friends made a warm campaign of it. The Gibbons faction was particularly active, having spread a big banner the length of the gymnasium and having circulars. All of the sidewalks in East Houghton were marked with pleas for votes for the opposing candidates and it appeared as if Tammany had charge of the campaign.

FUNERAL OF JOHN A. RUPPE.

John A. Ruppe, who died last week in Flint, was buried yesterday morning at Forest Hill cemetery, Houghton, after services at St. Patrick's church, Hancock. Mr. Ruppe had been an invalid for eleven years and died in a Flint sanitarium, where he had spent the entire period. He was a son of the late Peter Ruppe, founder of the wealthy mercantile house of P. Ruppe & Sons of Calumet and Hancock. P. Ruppe of Calumet and Joseph and George of Hancock were brothers of the deceased.

HANCOCK MAN IS INJURED.

Archie Mayette of Hancock, an employee of the Mineral Range mill, as a carpenter, was seriously injured Saturday afternoon while repairing the roof of the station at Osceola. A ladder on which he was working slipped and he was thrown to the platform. He broke one leg and suffered severe bruises. It is believed that he also is seriously hurt internally.

RUMFORD

The Wholesome Baking Powder

25c per lb.—No Alum

The Amalgamated workings surround the Raven and Snoozer on three sides. Butte says: "It may be gratifying to the 3,000 stockholders of at least one of the smaller independent companies at Butte to know that the Amalgamated and its managers are hardly of the all-leaving species which unfounded rumor has often accused them of being."

RAY CONSOLIDATED.

A meeting of the shareholders of the Ray Consolidated Copper company will be called at an early date to vote an authorization of $3,000,000 six per cent bonds, convertible into Ray shares at $20 per share. The funds derived will pay in full for the enlarged concentrator, smelter and power plant, which the company is now building on account of its vast increase in tonnage of developed ore, and to supply the company with an ample working capital for the carrying of its copper, which it will begin to turn out from the concentrator in February. While the deposits might have been issued convertible into Ray stock at a higher price, the directors, after mature deliberation, decided that they preferred to give a right of value to the shareholders who otherwise do not receive dividends during the process of construction. This entire issue of bonds has been underwritten and the underwriting has been heavily over-subscribed. These bonds will be offered to all of the shareholders pro rata at par, and the structure of the company will be reorganized and terms of payment will be mailed to the shareholders in a few days.

CORTEZ.

General Manager Olof Westrom of the Cortez Associated Mines has returned to Boston after an absence of eight months at the company's mines, which are located in Mexico. He reports development work progressing very satisfactorily, with a force of 250 men, and discoveries of copper, silver and gold ores at various points which afford great encouragement for the future of the mines. The property will be operated mainly by tunnels and the principal tunnels also are being advanced. This should make for low cost when the mines are advanced to a producing stage. Several of the old mines, worked by the early Mexican miners, have been re-opened and examined and afford valuable information as to the geological features of the ore deposits and encouraging indications as to the size and recurrence in depth of the ore bodies. Developments at the Humboldt mine are of particular importance. The company's properties are located in the state Hidalgo, Mexico, and comprise 3,000 acres of mineral land, and it has an ample treasury balance of $235,000. There are 275,000 shares outstanding.

ARIZONA COMMERCIAL.

A significant development at the Arizona Commercial property which attracted attention at the time was the discovery a month ago of an apparently new lode by the No. 4 drill. This hole, like all the holes recently sunk at the Arizona Commercial, was started from the seventh level in order to prove up the Black Hawk lode at depth. The results have been most satisfactory, as all drills except No. 4 have indicated that the secondary enrichment of the Black Hawk lode is 150 to 200 feet lower than was thought. The No. 4 drill, however, commencing at 771 feet passed through sixty feet of mineralized ground some five or six feet of which was extremely rich. The drill had to be stopped before it encountered the hanging wall of the formation on account of losing the bit. The Boston office is just in receipt of a composite assay of the first sixteen feet of the new lode which shows nearly 10 per cent copper and over nine tenths of silver to the ton. The new lode has not been identified, but the theory is advanced that it may be a continuation of the Old Dominion lode, and if this is true it is of extreme importance to Arizona Commercial which has heretofore bent all its energies to the development of the Black Hawk lode. The dip of the lodes is such that they are expected to come together near the 1000-foot point. Arizona Commercial water troubles are now apparently behind it, as two-thirds of the water is now being pumped out by the shaft by cement lams at the seventh level, and the bottom of the shaft is practically dry.

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS.

The Live Oak property, near Globe, is being examined by engineers in the interest of a prominent Boston banking concern, which will undertake the financing of the company if a favorable report is forthcoming. The Live Oak has 50,000 shares as a development company, fully paid to the extent of the par value, $10 per share, an assessment of $3 per share having recently been paid. A 600,000-share mining company will be organized to succeed the development company. The Live Oak claims 10,000,000 tons of ore developed by diamond drills and underground workings, which will average 2 per cent. The stock recently made a new high record at $30 per share.

It develops that General Manager Colin Macintosh, of the Ohio Copper company, resigned last May, but was persuaded to remain with the company until the Heinz suits were settled, and until he and Mr. Heinz should should have opportunity to make arrangements for financing the company in Europe. The failure of the negotiations abroad brought the demand from Mr. Macintosh that his resignation become effective Nov. 1, when he will be succeeded by Albert Frank. The Ohio mill is half completed, and is treating an average of 1,250 tons of ore daily, the profits running about $20,000 per month.

It is said that the stockholders of the Hancock Consolidated are not likely to be further assessed and that the company will issue treasury stock when additional funds are necessary for development work. The authorized capitalization is 200,000 shares, of which 100,000 shares are issued. The Centennial-Alfonse stamp mill will probably handle the rock from Hancock mine when shipments start about January 1.

The dividend of fifteen cents a share, payable Nov. 28 to stock of record Oct. 29, declared by the Parrot Copper & Silver Mining company, following a similar declaration Sept. 7, is the second since September, 1907, when twenty-five cents was declared, and is made possible by its ownership of 90,000 shares of Anaconda, from which the company is now receiving dividends at a rate of $180,000 a year. There are 229,850 shares of Parrot stock outstanding and the fifteen-cent dividend just declared calls for the distribution of $34,475.50.

MARQUETTE, MICH. THE PORT OF MISSING SHIPS

Barks From All Corners of the Globe Dock at the Old Wharf.

The old wharf lies slowly crumbling. The posts are eaten away with the chawing of many burrows. Inside the gate the old watchman dozes away the afternoon in a cloud of tobacco smoke. He is a bow-legged old fellow—trousers tucked in boots and slightly stooped as he leans along with his cane. His weather-beaten face and tawny beard are capped with a faded felt hat.

"Here, sir," he says, "is where the odds and ends of shipping comes. They are of all kinds—great steel ships and weather-beaten wooden barks and barkentine boats from Buenos Ayres to Bremerhaven, and Narvik. The crews are all foreign sailors, swarthy fellows with red foreheads and sabots, thick-set, sea-booted men of the North Sea ports with a sprinkling of all-nation crews. "I generally find where they come from," says the old watchman, "by the ballast, whether it be sand or pebble or dirt. Another way is by the cockle-baskets, bird-eggs, or flowers they have aboard. Then the ships that's ever had grain cargo has the rats—then that's brought home from Buenos Ayres in the worms. Always sorry," he went on, "to see them bring a bonny-ship, so many flies come along with it. Aboard 'em, the crews sleep covered with fly-netting, and they don't feel 'em any better than the pigs on a steel ship. Then there's the stowaway rats that come from Greenland; they're nice and clean, though. The mates aboard 'em tell me o' the strange seakink people of Ivgut. The other day a fellow on one of the Greenland barks got a letter all covered with postmarks that had followed him about for over two years."

The old fellow took me into the tumble-down store and pointed to the list of ships that had docked in the last year. My eye fell on the San Ignacio de Loyola. "What was she like?" I asked.

"Oh, a dirty brigantine hailer from Cuba," he answered, "with the skipper who had the airs of a steamboat captain."

"And what was the Fooling Svey?" I questioned.

"A fine four-masted bark a-flyin' the American flag. She had me guessing," he said. "Till the mate told me she was an Eastern trader owned in Honolulu, and when the islands became American she got the registry along with 'em." So we went through the list—"this one a tramp steamer held up for libel proceedings; that one—let me see—oh yes, the Gibson was a duffer that was towed in and sold at auction. You've heard of missing ships?" I said. "Well, here's where they start from. Many ships have left this dock on that list, them with the black line drawn around the name is the ones that was lost after leavin' here. There's the Jules Verne, the tank bark—she blew up in Marselles; the Calcium was buried at sea; 'em that's got the question mark alongside are ones I doubted if they would reach their destination, they was so worn out."

Looking closely, I saw that the doubtful marks and the black lines usually went side by side.

"The old East Indianer," he went on, "used to dock at every wharf with spices and tea, and ships with sugar and molasses came from the West Indies. Yes, I remember them all—remembers the day when a forest of masts lined this water-front, when ships came to the wharf under sail, and the crews came ashore from a two-weekend voyage."

The old fellow lighted his pipe and prepared to go out to his chair again. His great misshapen hand on my knee, continues George Harding, writing in September Harper's, he turned and said, "There's a heap of ships come to these docks in my day, and I often wonder who sees the most—'em 'at travels around, or me that's stayed here, seven days a week for more than 32 years."

Michigan has taken a drill core from one of the holes in Ogima horizon, showing considerable copper for a width of about fifteen feet. The company is engaged in making a complete cross section of its main tract.

Today's weather: Generally fair; stationary temperature. Yesterday's temperatures: Seven a. m., 46 degrees; noon, 48; 7 p. m., 46; maximum, 56; minimum, 44.

S. R. Kaufman left for Chicago last evening on a business trip.

Mr. Brown, of the Maloney Building company, of Oshkosh, is in the city on business.

Mrs. F. A. Wentworth has returned from a week's visit in the copper country.

Marquette council, Knights of Columbus, will hold a regular meeting at their club rooms at 8 o'clock this evening.

Guy Havener, manager of the box factory at the prison, left last evening on a business trip to Chicago.

The members of "A Broken Idol" company left yesterday morning for the copper country, and will play in Hancock and Calumet.

James D. Sherman and Bernard Sherman left yesterday for old Mexico, where they will spend several months estimating timber.

The Royal Neighbors will give a card party at Fraternity Hall at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The public is invited to attend.

Hans Jensen, who was arrested Saturday night for shooting firearms within the corporation, was fined $7 by Justice Byrne yesterday.

The French association Canada-Americaine will give a card party and dance in Legion Hall Friday evening. A door prize will be given.

The convertible overcoat demonstration will be continued again today at A. E. Archambault's store. The demonstrator will be in the window at the noon hour, from 5 to 6 o'clock at night and during the evening.

Bounty Money Paid Out—Deputy County Treasurer E. W. Wright paid out $80 yesterday in wolf and wildcat bounties. Fred Brandt, of Ishpeming township, received $27 for having killed a wolf in Ishpeming township, and Frank Rheault received $33 for having killed a wolf and two wildcats in Champion township.

Big Crowd at the Grand—The Dietz pictures shown at the Grand theater last night proved a big drawing card. The little play house gave four performances yesterday and each time the building was packed to its capacity. It is estimated that about 150 people were turned away on account of the big crowds last evening. The Dietz pictures will be shown for the last time this afternoon and evening.

Water Unusually Good—Water Works Superintendent John Kern has received the analysis of a sample of water taken from the intake Oct. 15, which the state bacteriologist gives his O. K. without qualification. He says that "this sample of water gives no indication of being otherwise than absolutely safe." This would make it appear that the water is not responsible for the typhoid fever cases in the city, which have been numerous lately during the summer.

Dredging Begun Yesterday—The two steam dredges which arrived in Marquette Saturday began the work of deepening the harbor yesterday morning. Each dredge is accompanied by three scows and a tug, and the dirt dredged up is towed out into the lake and dumped a mile or more south and east of the end of the breakwater. One of the dredges is working off the end of Spear's coal dock and the other off the end of No. 4 ore dock. The dredging will take several weeks and it is probable that the outfit will not be moved away from here before spring.

Badly Frightened Bear—Hunters who go out into the woods seem to see more bears than deer, partridge, or any other game. Almost every week some one tells of having seen a bear in the woods. Sunday, P. J. Delf and Tom Gowling were walking along the trail between Delf's and Drake's camps on Dead river, when suddenly a bear came leaping along the trail in the opposite direction. The animal did not see the men until a few feet away and then he slid some distance before he could stop himself. Both men and bear were somewhat frightened. The bear was evidently the more scared, for as soon as he could regain his equilibrium, he made his getaway as fast as four legs could carry him.

Deer and Wolves Numerous—County Game Warden T. J. Maney spent Sunday in the woods near the Salmon Trout and Yellow Dog rivers. He states that he found no evidence of game law violation and that deer are said by hunters to be more plentiful than for several years. Wolves also are numerous in that locality and are believed to be killing many deer. The warden visited several camps where outsiders are entrenched waiting for the deer season to open, but he could not find any evidence of their shooting deer or taking other game out of season.

MACHINERY ROBS FARM

LIFE OF ITS POETRY

New Reason for Drift Toward City
Given by Arkansas Philosopher.

And now we have a theory that queers the compass on the farm question, or rather that of rural versus urban life. It is advanced by an Arkansas philosopher who is also a farmer on a large scale, and assumes to speak from experience, or at least practice—a rather new thing in philosophy. He says that the drift cityward is not because of the loneliness of farm life, but on account of its monotony and drudgery which, he avers, have grown by reason of the "improved conditions of farm life." Time was when there was individuality in farm work. There was champions of neighborhoods who could drive the straightest furrow, could cut the widest swath. They led in cradling grain, in binding, and so on. But now what young farmer can swing a scythe? For more than a generation the invention and extension of farm machinery have been going on until a farm is pretty nearly as much all machinery as a factory. Why, there are even milking machines and the days of the champion who could milk the most cows and milk them better in a given time are fading! Machinery is doing it all.

Well for us that this is so. But here comes in the farmer as merely a link in a machine, as a factory hand is. There is nothing left for his individuality. A

Ishpeming Department

ISHPEMING MAN IMPRESSED WITH WEST

Refused $12,000 for Two Building Lots That Cost Him $500 Five Years Ago.

James H. Billings, wife and daughter, Peatrice, arrived home Sunday from a month's visit in the West. They spent eleven days in Butte, Mont., and the remainder of the time in Everett and Seattle, Wash., and Victoria, B. C.

Mr. Billings said yesterday that Everett and Victoria are two of the liveliest small cities he had ever been in. Five years ago he purchased two building lots on the principal street of Everett for $500. While there recently he refused $12,000 for them. He believes that the lots will be worth $2,000 or $3,000 more a few years hence, as there are now very few vacant lots in the business district. There were no buildings within several blocks of his lots when he purchased them, but fine buildings have since been erected close by.

Mr. Billings' brother, William, who lived in Negaunee and Ishpeming for some time prior to twenty years ago, when he went to Australia, later returning to America, has a prosperous boot and shoe business in Everett and is now planning on engaging in the fruit raising business on a large scale. He owns a fruit farm near Everett.

The boom began in Everett a year ago. Some fine buildings have been erected. Rents are unusually high. A clothing concern that is to occupy a new block now being erected on one of the principal corners is to pay $750 a month rent for the lower floor and basement rooms. Every business street in the city, as well as all of the principal residence streets are paved.

Everett has many new saw mills, and the lumber industry is furnishing employment to thousands of men. The fruit raising industry is also growing rapidly. The lumber industry, Mr. Billings says, will be good for many years to come, as there are thousands and thousands of acres of fine timber lands that have not yet been touched. Everett has a fine harbor. The city is only thirty miles from Seattle.

While in Victoria, which has a population of 50,000, Mr. Billings ran across J. D. Williams, an old friend to whom he loaned $20 twenty-four years ago. The incident had entirely slipped his mind, but Mr. Williams had not forgotten it, and he insisted on paying back the money. Mr. Williams is now in the teaming business in Victoria and is well to do.

STABBING AFFRAY.

American Mine Employee Slashed With Knife by Fellow Countryman.

While walking out from the American mine location Sunday, Peter Josia slashed a fellow countryman, John Horwack, stabbing him in the breast, below the left shoulder, and inflicting an ugly, but not serious wound. The stabbing was done without provocation and was premeditated, as Josia had coaxed Horwack to take a walk with him.

The men were on their way to a point where Frank Kursniers was building a house. When in secluded spot Josia pounced upon Horwack knife in hand and, after stabbing him, ran away. Neither of the men had been drinking but it is said that they had a quarrel while in the city about a week ago. Their friend, Frank Kursniers, returned last week from Green Bay, accompanied by his bride, they having been married in the Wisconsin city.

As soon as the stabbing was reported several men at the mine started out to hunt for Josia, but he was not apprehended until yesterday noon, when he was found at Humboldt, while repairing a train in his attempt to get away. It is expected Josia will be given a hearing in Ishpeming some day this week.

STRONG ATTRACTION.

Musical Comedy, Here Tomorrow Evening, Said to Be Best of Year.

"A Broken Idol" will be seen at the Ishpeming theater tomorrow evening. It is a comedy with a musical setting, the first act being in Chinatown, Los Angeles, during the New Year's celebration and the second on the estate of a wealthy American at Santa Monica, California. The idol is broken in a row in a Chinese chop suey emporium during the celebration by a party of Americans, who believe they have killed a Chinaman, when they see it fall. They are allowed to believe this until the finale of the second act, when the tangle is straightened out.

Ishpeming Football Players Put In Bad Light by Copper Country Paper.

The members of the Young Men's Christian association football team who arrived home Sunday night, had a pleasant trip. They complain, however, that they were put in a bad light by the Copper Country papers. They played a hard and stubborn game. The retirement of Dixon, the mainstay of the Ishpeming line, who was hurt in the first quarter, weakened the team considerably. The Ishpeming ends at no time in the game acted as if they were afraid of the Calumet backs. They broke in time after time and smashed interference and tackled the runner. The Calumet team's interference was exceptionally strong. The fact that Ed. Haglund, one of the ends, is credited by the copper country papers with being the

MORE STRANGE FRUITS.

Delicacies of the Far East That the Stay-at-Home Can't Enjoy.

The Detroiters who expressed surprise at the new fruits he had run across during a trip through the West Indies and Central America only touched the fringe of the subject on which he was expatiating. The fruits he also, while delicious and unfamiliar to stay-at-homes, are not in the true sense exotics.

It is a good deal that this returned traveler never heard of, for instance, of the Peruvian cherimoya, which those lucky enough to have eaten say surpasses the strawberry, in that in addition to the strawberry flavor it conveys to an imaginative mind, at all events—the hint of the cream also, and this is to the vivid palate a Peruvian compound of strawberries and cream.

But the Malayan countries form the Garden of Eden for queer and little known fruits. Their very names sound as though Lewis Carroll had invented them as provender for his jabberwock. How many Americans have ever heard of, let alone tasted, the blimbing, the langsat, the luing, the mandarot or the rams, which last grows in bunches and reminds one of a very large and very sweet grape, although it is not a grape at all?

Then there is the jintawan, as large as a big pear and with its flesh incased in a thick India rubberish overcoat—the flesh itself firm and pleasantly acid. Also the tarippe, than which the bread fruit tree has no finer variety. Then the Borneo fig, which Dr. Becard describes as "bearing great bunches of fine red fruit," the only fig that is not sweet but relies on an entrancing tartness to win its way to favor.

In Borneo, too, is grown the guango, which has six or eight seeds "embedded in a sweet pulp," something like a pomegranate. It is a fruit that, according to the doctor, "fall human beings like to eat quite exotically."

But king of all the Malayan fruits is the durion, or durian, the pulp of which has an ineffable flavor, while the smell of its rind is intolerable to civilized nostrils. White men in countries where this fruit grows form durian clubs, so that they can feast on it and confine the smell to one roof.

Queer fruits with queer names that sound like jokes are not confined to the Malay archipelago. Something over sixty years ago the explorer Chapman wrote that in the territory beyond the great Kalahari desert he had found the bododo and he characterized it as "almost too luscious for a white man's palate." Livingstone told of the maneko of Matabeleland and described it as "full of glutinous, woody fibre and about the size of a walnut." "Really excellent eating," he wound up. He also praised the marula of Zululand, which is like a greengage, with a large stone and hardly any pulp but with a sweet liquid instead—"simply delicious."—Detroit Free Press.

YELLOWSTONE'S BIG GAME.

There is probably no region in all the United States where wild game of the larger species is so abundant as in the neighborhood of the Yellowstone National park. Countless thousands of elk are there to be found, and bears, both black and grizzly, are so plentiful as to be almost a menace to the traveler, especially at night, when these animals roam about in search of food. It is in and about the proximity of the tourists hotels within the park limits where bears are to be seen more numerously than elsewhere. Just as twilight begins to shade the great forests, continues the Los Angeles Express, these animals emerge from their daylight haunts and stroll about in search of food. Their chief delight is to rummage about the great garbage heaps, where all the refuse from the hotels is thrown, and it is no unusual sight to see from five to fifteen and twenty of them at once, picking away industriously, turning over the tin cans and pawing about in search of dainties. As a rule the animals are harmless, if not molested, and they have become so accustomed to the sight of tourists watching their antics that one may approach within a very short distance of them.

ADVENTURE.

At a depth of about 925 feet, to which the new shaft has already been sunk, Adventure has encountered No. 1 lode, with a fair showing of copper. In all probability shaft sinking in search of the other two lodes will continue and drifting will be started to determine the extent of the lode. The impression seems to have gained ground that the Adventure management was searching for this lode from the bottom of the shaft by means of diamond drill operations but such was not the case. The shaft itself was lowered to sufficient depth to encounter the ore body. Some months ago the Adventure, through diamond drills, began to explore that territory about which nothing was then known. Drills encountered three lodes at as many different depths. It was then decided to sink a new shaft with which to prove up the territory and open the Crystal Falls and Iron River districts to the range again last night.

HUNDREDS VISITED NEW BURIAL GROUNDS

There Will Be a Rush for Lots When Sale Opens Tomorrow Morning at 9 O'Clock.

There will probably be several hundred people at the new burial grounds tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, when the sale of lots will open. Nearly 1,500 Negaunee people, and a number from Ishpeming, visited them Sunday. Hundreds of people have also called at the city register's office to inspect the plats. Many of those who will attend the sale tomorrow and Thursday know just what lots they intend to buy.

A Negaunee man who has visited the grounds a number of times during the past few weeks yesterday said that he could see but little difference in the locations, as practically every lot is desirable. Many people want lots in blocks where shade trees have been left standing, and others want them in locations near the main highway. Many of the buyers will select lots on the north side, the most picturesque spot in either cemetery.

The city will provide buses for those going to the grounds tomorrow and Thursday. All arrangements pertaining to the sale have been completed. Mr. Stensrud has received a carload of monuments that he expects to sell while transferring the bodies. His stone cutters are down from Superior and they will remain here while the work is in progress. His family arrived Sunday and will spend the winter here.

MUCH EXPLORATORY WORK.

Negaunee Man Home from Menominee District Speaks of Conditions There.

Fred Calm, a Negaunee man who is in the employ of Longyear & Hodge, the diamond drill contractors, came home from Crystal Falls and spent Sunday and yesterday with his family. He left for the range again last night.

Mr. Calm is working on a drill located on the main highway between Amasa and Crystal Falls. Practically all of the territory between these two points is being explored. The drilling in the Crystal Falls and Iron River districts extends over many miles of territory and it is believed that many additional mines will be developed. At and near Iron River sixteen companies are now opening up properties, and a number of other concerns and individuals are exploring either by test pits or with diamond drills.

At present the people in the Crystal Falls district are regretting the closing down of the Corrigan-McKinney company's Great Western mine. The quality of ore produced at this property has not been in demand this year and as a result over 500,000 tons have been stockpiled. Some of the pumps in the lower workings are being withdrawn. While the property is closed new buildings will be erected and other surface improvements made. The Great Western is one of the largest producers on the range. The company plans on giving all of the married men employment at other properties.

LOCAL LAONICS.

A daughter was born Sunday night to Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Smith.

Benjamin Neely, Jr., was over from Crystal Falls yesterday on a visit to his folks.

Miss Hoyen, who was the guest of Miss Myrtle Mitchell the past few weeks, left Sunday night for her home in Chicago.

Mrs. Catherine McCarthy left yesterday for her home in Fond du Lac, after a several weeks' visit with her daughter, Mrs. J. E. O'Donoghue.

Fred Larette, who has been a student in the high school here, will leave today for Minneapolis, to accept a position with an electrical company.

Ed Bernard, son of P. Bernard, the East Iron street barber, and Miss Savene Anderson of Chatham, were married in this city yesterday morning.

Geo. H. Bourge, who has conducted a hotel at Little Lake, has sold out to Robt. Perry, of Gould City, who will continue the business. Mr. Bourge will locate in the West.

The city crusher has been closed down for the season. There is no crushed rock in stock, and it will be necessary to put the plant into commission again as soon as the street work is resumed next spring.

Levine Bros. of the Savings Bank store announce a fur exhibit for tomorrow. A representative of Gordon & Ferguson, the well-known furriers, will be on hand with a display of fur coats for men and women, as well as various other fur goods.

Nearly 200 baseball fans crowded into George F. Ruez's brokerage office in the First National bank block Sunday afternoon to hear the returns from the world's championship baseball game, between the Philadelphia and Chicago teams.

Swanson Bros., the plumbers, are putting in a bath room and two toilets at the home of Mrs. J. Best, on Case street. Mrs. Best is also making a number of other improvements. The firm has also taken a contract to install a water heating plant in the home of D. W. White, superintendent of schools on the Swanzy range.

E. Polkishorn and John Lenton, who represented Iron Mountain lodge of the Odd Fellows, of this city, at the grand lodge convention in Grand Rapids last week, have returned home. The session was not brought to a close until Friday night. E. G. Jackson, a member of the board of control of the Odd Fellows home, who also attended the grand lodge meeting, arrived home last night. The fish warden had found a barrel half filled with undersized fish at his station.

Old-Time Lumberjack Expires—A woodsman named Fred Hartness was found dead at Floodwood, Dickinson county, last week. The coroner was summoned from Iron Mountain, but as no evidence of a violent death was apparent, it was decided not to hold an inquest. Hartness had been hanging around the depot for several days and his demise is supposed to have been due to heart trouble hastened by disipation. He had gone to Floodwood from Channing several days before his death. Hartness had been employed in camps thereabout for many years. It is said he has well-to-do relatives in Muskegon, Mich. The remains were taken to Iron Mountain for burial. The deceased was a middle-aged man.

WHY SWEDES EMIGRATE.

Advantages That Attract Them Still Await Development at Home.

The Swedish government has been endeavoring to stop the emigration of its people to America, but is not meeting with the success that was anticipated. H. L. F. Lagercrantz, consul general to the United States, recently made a report to the Swedish government on the advantages which attract Swedes to this country. He says that they are dissatisfied at home and that their discontent has been aroused largely by socialistic agitation.

Mr. Lagercrantz believes there are as many opportunities for the Swedish people in their native country as are offered them in America. He says that the conditions which are causing the people's discontent are not due to laws, and cannot be changed by legislation, but are due to the absence of the love of work which is characteristic of the American. Lagercrantz is a steel magnate and a large employer of labor, so that he is competent to judge of the conditions existing among the laboring classes of Sweden.

"Primarily there is a striking difference between the American and Swedish labor movement," says Mr. Lagercrantz. "Labor organizations in the United States are not fundamentally socialistic and hatred does not play the part in their attitude which it does in Sweden, though there might be far greater reason for discontent in the United States with its trusts and other oppressions. In the United States the Star Spangled Banner is the flag of the labor organizations, and the country's weal is placed above party."

"This is a country where capital has secured control of everything from eggs and meat to railroads. It may cause surprise, but in the United States, labor receives higher wages, thanks to the pressure of greater competition, than it does in the United States than in Sweden. This cannot be due to the constitution or the country's laws. It may be due in a small degree to the land's natural wealth. Primarily it is accounted for, in my belief, by the American training, which makes for self-confidence and love of work."

Mr. Lagercrantz discusses the relation of the church and the people and makes some comparisons which favor the United States. "The clergyman of the United States," he says, "are good speakers and straightforward, everyday men. Their theological attainments do not measure up with those of Swedish clergymen, but the church life is interesting, and the manner in which practical, social and political questions are handled is of educational benefit."

Drowning His Fate—

Supposed to have walked off the end of the wharf while in a befuddled condition, Charles Hoult was found drowned in the waters of Keweenaw bay at the waters of Keweenaw bay at 11 A.M. He was a woodsman, forty-six years of age, and was employed by the Hebard Lumber company of Pequotung. As far as known, he had no relatives in this country. He was a native of Sweden.

Tries Suicide With a Razor—

Rendered delirious with typhoid fever, Avid Laukus attempted to commit suicide at Newberry by cutting his throat with a razor. Laukus met a bad gash in his throat, severing the jugular vein. The doctors sewed up the wound, and unless Laukus dies from the effects of the fever he will recover.

Mine Suspends Operations—

The Great Western mine at Crystal Falls has suspended operations for an indefinite period. Several hundred men have been made idle. There is a large amount of ore in stock and from present indications the property will not be restored to the active list until spring. It was only recently that the Colby and Ironton mines at Bessemer were closed. All three properties are controlled by Corrigan, McKinney & Co. of Cleveland.

Escanaba Team Strong—

By a score of 21 to 0 the Escanaba High school football team trounced the Manistique gridiron warriors on their home grounds last Saturday afternoon. The Sandy City eleven is reported particularly strong this season, and it is out after the upper peninsula championship with a vengeance. So far, the team has won every game it has played.

It did not take the jury in the case of the state vs. Captain John of Life Saving station No. 10 long to acquit the officer when he was given a hearing at the Soo last Saturday. The case was tried before Judge Runnels. The captain was charged with violating the fish laws, it being alleged that the fish warden had found a barrel half filled with undersized fish at his station.

Farmer Found Dead—

Presumably as the result of injuries suffered in a fall at his home a few days previous, John Schultz, a farmer, living near Napan, Menominee county, was found dead in a wagon shed at the place. He was fifty years of age and had lived in the vicinity for fifteen years. He was the owner of an eighty-acre farm. A family survives.

Huntress Shoots Herself—

Miss Marie Ehlers, of Powers, Menominee county, met with a painful accident last week when she shot herself through the big toe of her right foot with a 22-caliber rifle. She was resting the point of the barrel on her foot and previous to placing the rifle in that position had raised the hammer, ready to shoot a partridge. The bird had flown however, and while peering into the woods the young woman accidentally pulled the trigger and the rifle was discharged. It was necessary to amputate the toe.

Escanaba Pastor Resigns—

Rev. E. E. Williams, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church for the past two years, has resigned the pastorate and will leave Escanaba Nov. 15. He presented his resignation to the vestry last week, and it was accepted. He is considering several calls from other congregations. The decision of Mr. Williams to leave Escanaba comes as a disappointment not only to the members of St. Stephen's but to all of the people of Escanaba who have come to know him. He will occupy the pulpit at St. Stephen's for the last time Nov. 13.

Pioneer Missionary—

Rev. and Mrs. Edward Seymour, who have been making their home with their son, F. S. Seymour, at Newberry for several years, have gone to Portage, Wis., on an extended visit to their daughter. Mr. Seymour is an Episcopal clergyman and was one of the early pioneer missionaries in the upper peninsula. His has been an interesting and varied career. Ministering to the spiritual wants of his parishioners when it was necessary to travel many miles on foot over trails through the woods to reach the sparsely populated settlements and oftentimes enduring severe hardships, he has lived to see a wonderful development of the region. Newberry was his last charge, and he continued to minister to the wants of his congregation until forced to retire by failing health and old age.

Democrats at Odds—

There is trouble in the Democratic camp in Delta county, all because, so it is alleged by indignant followers of the Jeffersonian political doctrine, the chairman and the secretary of the party county committee are not playing fair and square, asserts the Escanaba Journal. The names of Dominick McAuley for sheriff, Herman Desiles for county clerk, Otto I. Mertz for county treasurer, Ole L. Rollins for register of deeds and John J. Sourwine for representative are supposed to have been certified to the board of election commissioners by the Democratic county committee, but the official ballot is now in the hands of the printers, and the only names appearing in the Democratic column for county office is that of Mr. Sourwine for representative and Mr. Mertz for treasurer. It is too late to file the names of candidates, as the twenty-day limit is past.

Paralytic Stroke Is Fatal—

As the result of his recent stroke of paralysis, Emil C. Wickert has passed away at Escanaba, where he had made his home for more than thirty years. He was one of the city's prominent business men. Mr. Wickert was born in Germany Aug. 19, 1832, and emigrated to this country in 1868. He located first at Watertown, Wis., where he remained for several years. He went to Escanaba in 1879. He was engaged in the grain and produce commission business in Watertown and after coming to the upper peninsula he continued in the same line. He served several terms as a member of the village council and in addition served as city treasurer for three terms. The deceased is survived by his wife and eight sons and daughters. These are: William E. Wickert, Mrs. Thomas Preston, E. C. Wickert, Jr., the Misses Ida and Clara Wickert, Paul Wickert and Miss Meta Wickert, all of whom are

NEEDS MAYOR; ADVERTISES.

German cities are claimed to be the best governed in the world. How far apart are the ideas of Germans and Americans on the subject of city government may be seen from reading an advertisement which lately appeared in a number of German papers.

"The place of mayor of Magdeburg is vacant. The salary is 21,000 marks ($5,250) a year, including the rental of a dwelling in the city hall. Besides his salary the incumbent will receive 4,000 marks ($1,000) for his official expenses."

Can any one imagine an American city advertising for a mayor? The German idea is that a municipality is a business, to be conducted on business lines. The office of mayor is one requiring knowledge and skill of a technical, professional character. A man who has proved himself a good mayor in one German town is frequently invited to another.

The larger towns look to the smaller towns to train municipal officers for them. It frequently happens that two cities bid in competition for a particular expert man. So when their chief burgomaster, Dr. Lenta, was appointed Prussian minister of finance the good people of Magdeburg gave public notice of their need of a capable man.

COURSE IS MADE VERY PRACTICAL

Domestic Science Department of Public Schools Is Accomplishing a Great Deal With a Small Outlay of Money—200 Girls Under Instruction This Year.

Each Pupil Does Actual Laboratory Work in Cooking and Sewing and Are Taught to Make a Dollar Go as Far as Possible—Good Results Are Obtained.

Figures published in The Mining Journal last week showing the cost of supplies for the public schools' domestic science department to have been but $72 cents per day and about seven cents per month per pupil were a surprise to many local people, as the general impression was that the operating expense was much higher. As a matter of fact, however, the figures are not unusually low, though the month reported was not one of full twenty days of school. The total cost of supplies for the domestic science department last year was $183.32, or $18.32 per month, or $90 per pupil per year. This year there are 200 girls taking domestic science work, which is a larger number than ever before.

In the Marquette public schools, all girls in the seventh and eighth grades are required to take the prescribed courses in domestic science—cooking and sewing. In the high school, domestic science is an elective subject, except in the industrial course, where it is required. The complete course offered covers six years, from the seventh to the twelfth grades, inclusive. Each pupil taking domestic science recites twice a week, once in cooking and once in sewing, each period being one and a half hours in length. Recitation is not quite the proper name for these periods, as most of the work is practical demonstration by each pupil, and the necessary theory is worked in while the actual cooking or sewing is being done. The aim of the course throughout is to give the pupils an insight into the principles and practice of simple cooking, sewing and general housekeeping.

What the Girls are Taught. In the seventh grade the pupils are taught the rudiments of sewing and ways of cooking and serving fruits and vegetables. Several lessons are devoted to cooking potatoes, and while the laboratory work is in progress, the instructor teaches the food value of potatoes, nature of the plant and the underlying principles necessary to make them nourishing and palatable. Other fruits and vegetables are taken up in the same way. Plain sewing is taken up in this grade, and by the end of the year the pupils should be able at least to make a serviceable apron neatly.

In the eighth grade, attention is devoted to cooking cereals, eggs, and plan of study being the same as in the lower grade. In the high school grades, cooking meats, baking breads, making plain desserts, and among the seniors fancy cooking is taken up. In like manner, the work in sewing is made increasingly difficult, and at the completion of the course most of the pupils are in a quart of oysters, although the oyster is made to make a plain dress, while some are competent to do considerable fancy sewing.

Throughout the course, economy is taught and it is claimed for the course that it makes the graduates able to prepare a well-balanced nutritious meal at less expense than can one who has not had the training. For instance, it is demonstrated that there is more nourishment in a quart of oysters, although the oysters cost six times as much. In studying meats, by means of a chart the expensive and cheaper cuts are identified and ways of making cheaper cuts palatable are demonstrated. Besides cooking and sewing, the pupils are taught how to keep house neatly, and regular instruction is given in sweeping, dusting, house sanitation and home nursing. That domestic science is entitled to a place in the public school curriculum is proven by the many voluntary tributes of appreciation that the teachers have received from the parents of the children who have received the instruction. The course not only teaches girls to be good housekeepers, but it equips them to combat the constantly increasing cost of living, by using the money spent for food and clothing to the best advantage.

DREAM DISTURBED PEACE OF MIND

Sailor Invokes Aid of Marshal Manning to Save Him from Portending Death.

Now that the season is getting late and the boats are likely to encounter cold and rough weather on their trips, the captains are having more than usual difficulty in holding their crews together. Many of the sailors, particularly those who are sailing their first season, want to be paid off every time they get into a port. Then there are always a few who want to jump their contracts when at an upper lake port near the end of the season, so that they may be able to get winter work in the lumber woods. Captains dislike to lose experienced men before the vessel is tied up for the winter and strenuous measures are sometimes taken to prevent desertion. The sailors, on the other hand, invent all sorts of excuses for desiring to leave the boat. One of these landside sailors recently sought the assistance of Marshal Manning and in hope of obtaining his help to leave his ship, wrote the following amusing letter:

City Marshal, Marquette, Mich.
Dear Sir:—I am a sailor on board the bark Chieftaine. We are lying in back of the breakwater. I had a dream night before last that dies boat was going to sink. I ask the Kapten to pay me off and to let me go ashore, but he says "no." I ask him for a hospital receipt and he wont give it to me. I am holding here against my will. Would you please come and get me.

OSCAR MARS.
For the benefit of the curious, it may be stated that Mars later succeeded in getting off the Chieftaine without the marshal's assistance and at last returned home. We are lying in back of the breakwater. I had a dream night before last that dies boat was going to sink. I ask the Kapten to pay me off and to let me go ashore, but he says "no." I ask him for a hospital receipt and he wont give it to me. I am holding here against my will. Would you please come and get me.

NOTICE.
To the property taxpayers and other persons interested in the following proposed improvement, to-wit: For the grading and macadamizing of Park avenue, from the north line of Washington street to the north line of Bluff street, and the construction of curb and gutter thereon.

Notice is hereby given that the specifications for grading and macadamizing Park avenue, from the north line of Washington street to the north line of Bluff street, and the construction of curb and gutter thereon, together with estimate of the expense of making said improvement and profile of the work to be done and district to be improved and assessed to pay the cost thereof, are now in the office of the city controller for public examination. The district to be assessed to pay for the said improvement comprises all the property abutting on said portion of Park avenue on both sides thereof. The common council of the city of Marquette will meet on Monday, the 7th day of November, A. D. 1910, at 8 o'clock p. m. at the council chamber in the city hall, and consider any objections to said improvement, and the district assessment roll prepared therefor, and for the confirmation of said roll. Dated, Marquette, Mich., October 24th, 1910.

FERDINAND BENDING HAS PASSED AWAY

Succumbed to Bright's Disease Yesterday Afternoon—One of City's Best Known Men.

Ferdinand Bending, president of the F. Bending company, and one of the best known business men of Marquette, passed away at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at the age of sixty-four years. Bright's disease, from which he had suffered for six months or more, was the cause of death. Mr. Bending came to Marquette in 1867 and at once engaged in the wholesale liquor business, with which he was connected until his death. He was one of the city's oldest and most highly respected business men. Mr. Bending was a member of Ahmed Temple, Nobles of the Ancient Order of the Mystic Shrine, and was one of the oldest members of Marquette lodge, F. & A. M., having become a Mason more than thirty years ago. He was also a member of Marquette lodge of Elks. The remains will be taken to Detroit this afternoon, where the funeral will be held, and interment will be in the Jewish cemetery in that city, beside his mother and other relatives.

The deceased was born at Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Germany, April 7, 1846, and emigrated to this country in 1865. After living in New York city for two years, he decided to come to Marquette, which was then only a small town. This city has since been his home. In 1871, he returned to Germany and married Miss Elise Rothschild, the marriage being performed by the American consul.

He is survived by a widow and four children: Mrs. Abel Levine, of Negunee; Mrs. E. Edwin Frank, of Milwaukee; and Harry and Otto, of this city. The body will be accompanied to Detroit by several members of the Marquette lodge of Masons.

Evening Dress Clothes For Men Are Rarely Made Well

Yet you need them for the most careful dressing you do. Only high-salaried tailors should ever touch them—and high-salaried tailors who work for the usual merchant tailor are few.

You need evening clothes for the winter's festivities—for club, for dance, for the theatre. The way of wisdom is to purchase them as built by STEIN-BLOCH, full dress and Tuxedo. A corps of tailors do nothing else in the STEIN-BLOCH shops—and they don't botch their work.

The matter of price is also an interesting one to listen to. Try us before you decide, this full dress question.

- Full Dress Suits - $38 to $50.
- Russian Suits - $18 to $30.
- Overcoats - $18 to $35.
- Raincoats - $18 to $25.
