

PARTY CHIEFS TELL HOW THE VOTE IS GOING

Forecasts of the Outcome of Tuesday's Battle at the Polls in Various States Are Made by the Republican and Democratic Campaign Managers.

Osborn by 50,000 Is the Modest Prediction of Secretary King of Michigan—The National House Claimed by Both of the Big Political Organizations.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Statements regarding the control of the next house of representatives were given out last night by the Democratic congressional committee and Chairman W. B. McKinley of the Republican congressional committee.

Prohibitionists Have Hope. Chairman Charles B. Jones of the Prohibition national committee, discussing the prospects of the party in the elections Tuesday, said:

"With state and congressional tickets in the field, a substantial increase in the Prohibition vote is looked for. The Prohibitionists are confident of electing several of their legislative candidates, especially in important districts in Minnesota and Illinois. With three Prohibition party members in the last Minnesota legislature, there are excellent prospects of returning three or four times that number. In Illinois, at least eight stand good chances. In the Texas campaign, Andrew Houston, candidate for governor on the Prohibition party ticket, has attracted unusual attention.

Outlook in Iowa. Des Moines, Nov. 6.—The Iowa campaign was practically closed last night. Governor B. E. Carroll, Republican, is confident that he will be re-elected with the entire state ticket.

Ohio. Cleveland, Nov. 6.—The Ohio state campaign closed last night with the usual vocal salvo from a hundred or more platforms. The fight on the Republican side has been the most vigorous in years. Four members of the president's cabinet have been sent to Ohio to help the state ticket the past week. The Democrats claim the reelection of Governor Harmon by an unprecedented majority and a Democratic legislature to select a successor to Senator Dick. Candidate Harding, head of the Republican ticket, believes the country districts will elect him.

New York. New York, Nov. 6.—Ezra Prentice, the Republican campaign manager, declared today that Henry L. Stimson, candidate for governor, would win by 100,000 majority. Chairman Winfield A. Hupph of the Democratic committee estimated Dix's plurality at from 140,000 to 160,000. An output from the Republican headquarters was an open letter from John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine workers' union, attacking Dix's alleged treatment of the employees in his wallpaper factory.

Massachusetts. Boston, Nov. 6.—The high cost of living, the Aldrich-Payne tariff bill and labor measures have been the issues in Massachusetts, with the Republicans on the defensive. The Republican claim the state by 47,000. Governor Eben S. Draper is seeking a third term. His Democratic opponent is Representative Eugene Foss. The members elected to the legislature Tuesday will also decide whether Senator Lodge shall be given a fourth term.

Nebraska. Omaha, Nov. 6.—The present campaign has been one of the bitterest in Nebraska's history, the principal issue centering around the liquor question. While both sides are proclaiming victory, the Democratic claims exceed those of the Republicans. W. J. Bryan has been supporting the Democratic ticket, but did not endorse the head of the ticket, Mayor Dahlman, on account of their differences on the liquor question.

Missouri. St. Louis, Nov. 6.—The greatest interest in the Missouri campaign is in the state-wide prohibition amendment. Secretary J. J. McAuliffe of the citizens' defense committee said today that the amendment would be defeated by 150,000 majority.

Minnesota. St. Paul, Nov. 6.—With the exception of county option in the rural districts, there has been no real fighting of issues between the Republicans and Democrats in Minnesota. Governor Eberhart, Republican, and James Gray, Democrat, candidates for governor, have expressed a determination, if elected, to sign a county option bill if one is passed by the legislature. The betting odds favor Eberhart.

Illinois. Chicago, Nov. 6.—The leaders of both the Democratic and Republican parties made the usual predictions today of victory for their respective candidates. The campaign in some sections of the state, notably where legislative candidates have been attacked because of partisan actions, has been marked with much enthusiasm, but in general the voters are considered by the political managers to be apathetic. The congressional candidates, both Democrats and Republicans, particularly in Chicago and the down-state districts, have conducted spectacular campaigns on national issues.

In every congressional district of Chicago the final meetings of the campaign were held today by both the Republican and Democratic parties. Numerous civic and reform organizations held non-partisan meetings and also flooded the state with "last minute" individual instructions. The Republicans claim the state by 100,000 and Cook county by 43,000. The Democrats claim the county by 30,000, but fail to agree on the state plurality.

Michigan. Detroit, Nov. 6.—Secretary Paul King of the Republican state committee tonight predicts 50,000 majority for Chase S. Osborn, candidate for governor. Democratic State Chairman Shields predicts that L. T. Hemans will be elected governor and that the Democrats will have from twenty-five to fifty seats in the legislature.

Indiana. Indianapolis, Nov. 6.—Whether Albert J. Beveridge shall continue to represent Indiana in the United States senate or shall be succeeded by John W. Kern is the question of overshadowing importance to be decided at the polls of Indiana. Mr. Beveridge has made his fight as a "progressive."

Kansas. Topeka, Nov. 6.—Interest in Kansas politics centers chiefly in the races of Daniel A. Amodeo, the Fifth district and P. P. Campbell in the Second, Republican standpatters, for congress. Governor W. R. Stubbs is a candidate to succeed himself.

REPUBLICANS SURE OF BIG MAJORITY

Democrats and Socialists, However, May Each Get a Congressman in Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 6.—With election day in Wisconsin close at hand, a victory for the entire Republican state ticket, with the exception of L. H. Bancroft, candidate for attorney general, seems absolutely certain. It simply is a question of the size of the majorities. The Republicans also will elect nine or ten of the eleven congressmen the Democrats being practically sure of one district and the Social Democrats "pretty sure" of one and having a good chance in another. A strong progressive Republican majority will be elected to the legislature. A Democratic state victory would mean the reversal of a normal Republican majority of 100,000, and in view of the comparative vote at the September primary, this would not be within the bounds of reason.

There seems little doubt of the election of C. H. Crownhart of Superior to the attorney generalship as an independent Republican. Up to last Thursday many believed that the state central committee's repudiation of L. H. Bancroft might result in the election of John F. Doherty of LaCrosse, but on that day Senator LaFollette, in lieu of campaign speeches which he was unable to deliver on account of his recent operation, gave a public statement denouncing not only Bancroft but Doherty, characterizing the latter as a "Rose Democrat." The latter term is one of reprobatum in Wisconsin politics, because the "Rose Democrat" is of a stripe that never harmonized with the LaFollette propaganda. Hence it is expected that Doherty will lose the votes of thousands of Democrats who are of a progressive turn of mind.

In the congressional contests the Republicans may lose three districts—the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth. In the Fourth the fight is between Congressman William H. Berger, Republican, and F. E. McGovern, the Republican gubernatorial nominee, by which Berger is to throw Socialist support to McGovern and the latter is to refrain from aiding Coehms. Little if any denial has been made of this tale, but it is not generally believed among the Republicans in the Sixth district, which is normally Democratic, it is hardly believed that William H. Froelich, once secretary of state under LaFollette, can overcome the Democratic strength which is behind the candidacy of M. E. Burke of Beaver Dam.

PROMINENT ENGLISHMAN DIES IN NEW YORK STREET CAR. New York, 6.—Sir Clifton Robinson, managing director and engineer of the London United Electric tramways and a director of the underground railways of London, died tonight in a Lexington avenue street car.

DEMOCRATIC SENATE NOT IMPOSSIBLE

Odds Are Greatly in Favor of the Republicans, Nevertheless a Political Revolution Tomorrow Would Be Apt to Wipe Out Their Present Majority.

Success in Fourteen States, the Legislatures of Which Now Are Dominated by the G. O. P., Would Shift the Control to the Anti-Administration Party.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Great as are the odds against such a contingency, a general political landslide at the polls Tuesday might result in a Democratic senate as well as a Democratic house. Of the ninety-two seats in the senate, thirty-five will become vacant March 4, if action should not be taken to fill them, and in the large majority of the states legislatures will be chosen at the approaching election which will fill the seats by election.

Of the thirty positions, twenty-four are held by Republicans, and the circumstance are unusually propitious for the Democracy, as it gives them proportionately more opportunity for gain than ordinarily. The Republican senators whose terms expire are: Aldrich, Rhode Island; Beveridge, Indiana; Buckley, Connecticut; Burkett, Nebraska; Burrows, Michigan; Carter, Montana; Capper, Minnesota; Clark, Wyoming; DeWitt, New York; Dick, Ohio; Dupont, Delaware; Flint, California; Hale, Maine; Keam, New Jersey; La Follette, Wisconsin; Lodge, Massachusetts; McCluster, North Dakota; Nixon, Nevada; Oliver, Pennsylvania; Pike, Vermont; Piles, Washington; Scott, West Virginia; Sutherland, Utah, and Warner, Missouri.

The Democrats are making vigorous fights for many of these places but the Republicans are so strongly entrenched that nothing less than a revolution could insure success in a sufficient number of cases to give Democratic control in the senate. The Republican majority now is twenty-four, and in order to attain such control it would be necessary for the Democrats to gain fourteen of the twenty-four Republican seats and in addition hold all of the six seats now occupied by Democrats. The Democratic senators who either must retire or be re-elected are: March 4, 1911, Curtis, Texas; Frazier, Tennessee; Money, Mississippi; Raynor, Maryland; Swanson, Virginia, and Taliaferro, Florida.

Even though the Democrats do not gain control of the senate, the next congress will be a vastly changed body. In addition to those senators whose terms expire, Senators Daniel of Virginia, Dooliver of Iowa and McHenry of Louisiana have died since the adjournment last June and their places probably will be filled during the coming session. Of the Republicans whose terms expire in March, it is known already that several will not come back. Among them are Senators Aldrich, Hale, Flint, Piles and Warner, all of whom have refused to stand for re-election, and Senator Burrows of Michigan, defeated at the primaries.

Among the Democrats, Mr. Money's fate will be missed. His successor will be John Sharp Williams, former Democratic house leader. Senator Page of Vermont is the only senator of the entire thirty whose terms expire in March who already has received a re-election.

CRUISER WASHINGTON ON LAST LEG OF A LONG VOYAGE.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Following much the same route from the Pacific to the Atlantic followed by the Oregon in its famous around-the-horn voyage in the Spanish war days, the armored cruiser Washington, almost three months out from San Francisco, sailed today from St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, for Celebra, West Indies, en route to Hampton Roads. The Washington, with the rest of the armored cruiser squadron, left Yokohama, Japan, last January, visited Honolulu, reached the Pacific coast and on its way around the American continent was sent to participate in the celebration of the anniversary of the birth of the Argentine republic at Buenos Ayres.

POSTOFFICE BURGLARS OPERATING IN ILLINOIS

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—Burglars entered the postoffice at Dow, Ill., early today, placed the safe on a handcar and carried it two miles from town. There they broke open the strong box and took the stamps and money. The general store in which the postoffice is situated was not looted. The same burglars are believed to have robbed the postoffice safe in the general store at Bradfordton Saturday. The total loss is only $100.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE HAS MANY FRIENDS

More Than 20 Per Cent. of the Congressional Nominees Favor the Proposition

Washington, Nov. 6.—More than 20 per cent of the men nominated by the Democratic and Republican parties as candidates for congress at the coming election are in favor of suffrage for women, either in full or partially, according to the congressional committee of the National American Woman Suffrage association. In order to ascertain the views of prospective congressmen on the subject, the committee conducted a canvass by mail. The request was responded to by 180 of the 672 nominees addressed.

In the replies received, 107 favored full suffrage, sixty-four of whom were Democrats and forty-three were Republicans. There were thirty-six who favored partial suffrage, twenty-one of these being Democrats and fifteen Republicans. Only nine nominees declared themselves opposed to any kind of suffrage. These nine were Democrats. Non-committal replies came from twenty-eight nominees.

ORDER IS PRESERVED IN SPANISH STRIKE CENTERS.

Madrid, Nov. 6.—Quiet was maintained today at Barcelona, Sabadell, Tarrasa and other strike centers in Catalonia. As it is expected that the "padlock" bill will be promptly passed by the chamber, following its adoption in the senate Friday by the vote of 149 to 55, it is pointed out by official circles that it is now Rome's turn to speak and whether the negotiations on the revision of the concordat will be resumed. The amendment limiting the bill to two years was adopted in a spirit of compromise, to demonstrate that the government is not intransigent. The conservative press is pleased that Premier Canalejas has taken his present attitude and sees no reason why the Vatican should not resume the negotiations for a permanent law of associations and the revision of the concordat. The papal nuncio has already had several interviews with the premier.

LABOR LEADER TURNED DOWN BY FOLLOWERS

Prospect of a Speedy Adjustment of the Chicago Garment Workers' Strike Goes Glimmering as a Result of a Turbulent Meeting of the Union.

President Rickett's Agreement With Employers Is Hooted Down, He Himself Is Repudiated and the Aid of Mr. Gompers' Big Organization Is Solicited.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—The outlook for a speedy settlement of the garment workers' strike went glimmering today when the strikers hooted down a proposed agreement offered by T. A. Rickett, president of the United Garment Workers' repudiated him as a scab and sought the aid of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

While the federation is debarred by the American Federation of Labor from taking active charge of the strike, its delegates voted today to place the executive board at the disposal of the garment workers, with instructions to give them every assistance. The executive committee was instructed to issue a call for funds, and it will meet tomorrow to decide on the strike tactics. The federation board called a meeting of the American Federation of Labor, which meets at St. Louis next Thursday. The strike has now been on for six weeks, and forty thousand garment workers have been out most of that period.

New York Climax Due Today. New York, Nov. 6.—The climax in the strike of the drivers and helpers of the express companies is expected tomorrow and this, in the opinion of the leaders of the movement, will be in the nature of a general strike of the teamsters. After a conference today between American J. Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters; Valentine Hoffman, vice president of the union, and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, it was announced that a meeting of the brotherhood would be held tomorrow morning for the purpose of discussing the advisability of a general strike.

There was little disorder today. President Tobin asserted that a general strike would call out every driver or operator of wheeled vehicles in the city, with the exception of the motor-cars of elevated, trolley and subway cars and the employees of the steam railroads.

MAMMOTH GATES FOR PANAMA.

Pittsburg Making Ninety-two as High as Six-Story Buildings. Pittsburg, Nov. 6.—Miscellaneous boys' dreaming of gates they might seize as hollowed trophies, would not in the wildest nightmares imagine such enormous gates as are being made in Pittsburg for the Panama canal. They will be the largest gates in the world, any one of the ninety-two of them will weigh as high as a six-story building, as wide (65 feet) as many city buildings are, and seven feet thick. The structural steel bolters of the works will weigh 60,000 tons, or over eight times as much as was used to build the Eiffel tower in Paris. The cost will be $5,500,000.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 6.—Two explosions that occurred within a few minutes of each other this morning resulted in the death of twelve men in the Lawlers mine at Black Diamond, thirty miles south-east of Seattle. Seven men going down the shaft and five men coming up were caught between the first and sixth levels, and all perished. Natural gas combustion is assigned as the cause. All the dead were foreigners. The force of the explosions was terrific. Timbers sixteen inches thick and eight feet long were blown half a mile.

Soon after the explosions the mine began to cave in. It is doubtful if it will be reopened. The damage is $250,000. New York Fire Imperils Many High Bred Horses. JAILBIRD IS A MAN-BIRD.

Released on Promise to Give Wings to Moneyed Friends. New York, Nov. 6.—Harry S. Bronson walked out of the Queens county jail on the prospect that he can build a flying machine that will make all existing models look out of date. Friends who have this confidence in his inventiveness not only put up $8000 bail for him in Long Island City, but provided for possible trouble elsewhere. So when Bronson was re-arrested by Bronx detectives, another bondsman went with him to pledge whatever value might be necessary to save him from detention on account of the new charge. Pending decision on an appeal he has taken from a life sentence, his inventive talents will have free play.

DR. CRIPPEN'S WIFE IS SAID TO BE ALIVE

Based on Evidence He Says Has Come to Him, Attorney Francis Tobin of Philadelphia Declares That the Woman Is in Hiding in the United States.

J. M. Munyon, a Physician of the Same City, Holds This Belief Also, and to Back It Up He Offers $50,000 Reward to Anyone Who Will Produce Her.

New York, Nov. 6.—To back his belief that Belle Elmore, the wife of Dr. Crippen, is still living, Dr. M. Clayton of Philadelphia offers a reward of $50,000 to any one who will produce her. He said in this city today: "I will even pay the reward to the woman herself if she will come forward in time to save her husband."

Claimed to Be Hiding in America. Philadelphia, Monday, Nov. 7.—Belle Elmore Crippen, for whose murder Harvey Hawley Crippen is to be hanged Tuesday in London, is declared to be alive in this country by Francis Tobin, a lawyer, according to an interview which the Philadelphia Press publishes this morning.

Mr. Tobin declares that he has "received letters from those who have seen her" and says he knows "that she is living and hiding." The proper means for me to pursue is to at once get into touch with the secretary of state at Washington and lay before him the facts in my possession. Then we want to get him to cable the American ambassador in London, who will in turn lay the case before the state secretary, cause him to order a stay or commute the sentence, pending our investigation."

Appeal of the Doctor Is Denied. London, Nov. 6.—After a hearing lasting only a few hours, the appeal of Dr. Hawley H. Crippen from conviction and sentence of death for the murder of his wife was denied yesterday by Justices Darling and Pickford in the new Bailey court, and Crippen will probably be executed Tuesday.

The prisoner's counsel was the same as appeared for him at his trial. The principal grounds upon which they based their appeal were, first, that one of the jurors having been taken ill during the trial, was removed from the court by physicians without being in the custody of an officer; second, the identity of the corpse found in the cellar of the Crippen home has not been established, and, third, that the crown's rebuttal evidence had been improperly admitted.

Solicitor Tobin said that it was not charged that any one had tampered with the juror while he was temporarily excused, but that an important principle of law was involved. In reply the crown offered the evidence of a bailiff that the juror was in his charge throughout his illness. Deciding this point the court ruled that the temporary separation of the jury did not effect the trial.

Senator La Follette announces that nominee.

cline our way, should, besides doing much reading and still more thinking,

and be prepared to back up his ballot with his bullets, if necessary." This is, doubtless, what the socialists are wont
to call "an appeal to reason."

It has been reported that W. F. Knox, of the Soo, might be Mr. Osborn's appointee to be state insurance commissioner, if Mr. Osborn is elected governor.
However, "The Mining Journal" predicts that Mr. Knox will be found back at his desk as editor of the Soo News soon after the affairs of the campaign are closed up. Mr. Knox didn't get into the thick of the fight because he is a job hunter, but because he likes the game and because he thinks Mr. Osborn will make a most creditable governor for Michigan.

In regard to the report that he had agreed to accept from customs swindlers large sums representing legal duties
they had withheld from the government, with the understanding that there would be no prosecutions, Collector Loeb, of the port of New York, said:
"All smugglers look alike to me." "As a matter of fact," he continued, "all I intend to do is to transmit the requests of these persons to the treasury department and await the further orders of my superior officers. The treasury department and the department of justice will probably confer on the subject, and decide what course we shall pursue here. The men involved may yet be jacked up." The administration of the New York customs house is being tightened up every day. Hereafter the smuggler may not be let off with a fine, but may be forced to undergo punishment. Collector Loeb is reported to have taken the position that the stand of the customs officials is now pretty well known throughout the country and among foreign travelers and that any person who has the effrontery to try to evade just duties can now properly be visited with more severe penalties than seizure and fine. Certainly a few jail sentences imposed on "well-known and respectable" citizens would do more to end attempted customs frauds than any number of fines and money penalties,

no matter how heavy they are made.

The Detroit News recently printed an article from a special correspondent treating of political conditions in Alger county. It was related that last spring the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, which is the most important industrial factor in the county, and the "antis" went to the mat, and the "antis" won. It was asserted, however, that the "antis" did not follow up their victory by "getting after" the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, and the story was rounded out by a picturesque, if inaccurate, discussion of tax matters, and much comment of a nature, if not designed, to get important interests by the ears. The Alger county board of supervisors last week took cognizance of the article in an official manner, denying any hostility between the company and its members and placing itself on record "as being in harmony with the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company in its varied and extensive industrial operations, whereby the county is being developed and improved and, directly and indirectly, materially benefited. Instead of attacking the company we hereby commend it as well as our other industrial interests for what is now being done to bring about prosperity, thrift and improvements, civic and otherwise, throughout the county. In this respect our attitude is directly the reverse of that as outlined in said article." The resolutions were adopted by the unanimous vote of the board, with the exception of Supervisor Geismar, who said he was opposed to officially recognizing "yellow" journalism.

M. Briand does not let the grass grow under his feet. He has put an end to the railroad strike, he has secured from parliament complete vindication of his actions and the assurance that it will continue to support him, and apparently judges that now is the fitting moment to secure complete harmony in his ministry. In England his resignation would mean an appeal to the people after the war was sure to be parliamtent backed him; in France, after the recent vote, the president has no choice but to ask him to pick out the colleagues he wishes.

A considerable part of the biography of Frederick the Great, which the Kaiser is understood to be writing, is already completed. The Kaiser is credited with treating his subject with strict impartiality notwithstanding his enthusiastic admiration for his ancestor. One evidence of this is his whole hearted condemnation of Frederick's infidelity and his unchristianly treatment of the Jews.
It is said to contemplate a series of visits to all of Frederick's battlefields before completing the work.

The printed congress lists that the Republican Congressional committee is sending out this week are not marked, as formerly, by "Republican" and "Democratic" districts are "safe," "surely Democratic" or "doubtful." In former congress campaigns the committee put a blue circle after districts that were considered to be certainly Republican, a red circle after districts that had fallen square to the democrats and a blue square after districts where the result was too close to make a guess. The omission of the marks this year has caused the comment that the congress outlook must be pretty gloomy.—New York Sun.

The trustees of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, have elected Edward Robinson as director, the office which he held in fact though not by title since the resignation of Sir Caspar Pardon Clarke. The new director is American born, the first American to be chosen for the post. Mr. Robinson's training was in the fine arts, and he was director of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts before coming to New York
—coupled with his naturally catholic taste in matters artistic, warrants the confidence here that under his directorship the Metropolitan Museum will steadily forge abreast its most distinguished foreign rivals.—New York Sun.

An inmate of the poorhouse at Trieste, Austria, died the other day, at the age of seventy. An investigation of the effects of this supposed pauper, an Albanian called Sterio, revealed the fact that he owned over $225,000 in investments and bank deposits. He had made a fortune in Egypt before the British occupation and added to it by living at public expense.

The city council of Berlin has decided to honor the emperor of Austria by giving his name to the new opera house.
The Kaiser Franz Josef
platz, as it will be called, is situated on Unter den Linden, and is surrounded by the palaces of William I and the Empress Frederick, the Frederick William university and the Royal Guards. The rebuilt opera house faces the square across Linden. The plaza is adorned with a marble memorial of the Empress Augusta and five statues of Prussian warriors.

WHEN HER BACK ACHES.
A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Marquette women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fall make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headache, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all signs of sick kidneys, warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease.
Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure
all these disorders. Here's proof of it in a Marquette woman's words:

"Mrs. Mattie Parker, 175 W. Crescent St., Marquette, Mich., says: 'I am constantly recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to my friends who are in need of a kidney remedy. I do not hesitate to confirm the testimonial I gave in 1905, publicly recommending this remedy. My back ached a great deal and I had severe pains in my sides and loins. Headaches and dizzy spells were common and I was often very nervous. I did not rest well and I arose in the morning feeling all tired out. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills from the Stafford Drug Co.
and through their use I was given complete relief.'

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents.

SAVES AN IOWA MAN'S LIFE.
The very grave seemed to yawn before Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Iowa, when, after seven weeks in the hospital, four of the best physicians gave him up. Then was shown the marvelous curative power of Electric Bitters.
For, after eight months of frightful suffering from liver trouble and yellow jaundice, getting no help from other remedies or doctors, five bottles of this matchless medicine completely cured him.
It's positively guaranteed for Stomach,
Liver or Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Only 50c. at The Stafford Drug Co.

MICHIGAN'S LAND TAX LAWS
Following is an official opinion on and interpretation of the land tax laws of the state prepared for The Mining Journal by Auditor General Fuller:
The system of collection of state and county taxes is but vaguely understood by many whose property is subject thereto and to the state, together with interest on same to the date of purchase, but must also pay taxes of all subsequent years as shown by the records in the auditor general's office. Purchasers of state tax land are entitled to receive deeds at the time of their purchase. These deeds are subject to the same law in giving notice and the right of re-conveyance on the part of the owner as though purchased at the county treasurer's office.

Before the lands are offered for sale
by the county treasurer the auditor general files a petition with the circuit court in the different counties in which the lands are located, which petition gives a description of each particular parcel of land and the amount of taxes in arrears together with interest, and collection fee and expense of sale; the date of hearing of such petition is fixed by the circuit judge. The auditor general's petition, the order of the court, fixing the date of hearing, and the list of lands are then published in some newspaper in the county for four successive weeks next prior to the hearing.
At such hearing the owners of any parcel of land have a right to appear before the court and file their objections to the entry of a decree authorizing the sale of such lands. By this procedure, if the owners are dissatisfied with the assessment of their lands (either as to the valuation placed upon them or the amount assessed for any item of tax) they have the right to be heard at such hearing. After the hearing the court makes a decree either holding such taxes invalid or authorizing the sale of the land for such taxes. This is the sale which the county treasurer makes on the first Tuesday in May of each year.

In a great many instances lands are bid off at the county treasurer's sale by the county treasurer to the state for taxes of successive years. These taxes may amount to more than the actual value of the land, but the auditor general has no authority to sell any parcel of land held as state tax land for any sum less than the taxes and penalties amounting to. In order to avoid a large accumulation of lands of this character,
the same are deeded to the state as tax homestead land. Lands delinquent for taxes of five years or more, one of which years has been bid off to the state and the period of redemption has expired, may become tax homestead lands. An examination of such lands is made for the purpose of determining whether or not the same are occupied by the owners of the original title, and if not occupied by such owners, they are deeded by the auditor general to the state as tax homestead land. Land of this character is under the control of the state land commissioner; and it is within the discretion of that official to offer the same for sale at public auction, allow same to be homesteaded or acting in connection with the public domain commission to withdraw same from sale or homestead entry and transfer such land to the forestry reserve.

In case the lands are sold at public auction, such sales are usually held at the county seat of the county in which the lands are located, the lands having been first appraised at their actual value.
In order to purchase such lands at public offering, the purchaser must pay at least the appraised value. If lands are not sold at public auction, they can then be purchased from the state land commissioner at the appraised value. Purchasers of this class of lands have the right to take immediate possession of the land, and are not required to serve any notice whatever upon the owners of the original title. Owners of the original title have no further interest in such lands in that after they become state homestead lands.

Lands within the limits of an incorporated village are assessed for village taxes at the same time that they are assessed for state and county taxes. Such assessments are, however, made by the village assessor; and the village taxes become subject to payment to the village treasurer on the first day of July in the year in which they are assessed; and the warrant of the village treasurer may be extended by the village council from time to time, but not later than the third Monday in October. If the village taxes are not paid to the village treasurer within that time, he returns the descriptions delinquent to the county treasurer in the same manner as does the township or city treasurer. After such return, such village taxes are then collected by the county treasurer or the auditor general in the same manner as state and county taxes; and if not collected, are offered for sale in the same manner.

In many of the cities of this state, a portion of the city taxes are also subject to payment to the city treasurers on July 1st, and can be paid to that official in the same manner as village taxes.
If such taxes are not paid before the spreading of the state and county taxes on the December roll, such taxes are included in the December roll, together with an additional penalty and are then subject to payment or sale in the same manner as state and county taxes.

HANCOCK ELEVEN BADLY WALLOPED

Defeated by Escanaba, 5 to 23, It Is Put Out of the Championship Race.

The Hancock high school football eleven was defeated at Escanaba Saturday and thereby was eliminated from the upper peninsula championship race. The Escanaba Press of yesterday had the following to say of the game:

By drubbing the Hancock high school football team to the tune of 23 to 5 yesterday afternoon, Escanaba's gridiron warriors won the right to meet Ishpeming next Saturday for the upper peninsula football pennant. Outplaying the copper country champs at every stage of the game and veritably smothering the visitors with speed, the locals had little difficulty in pocketing a victory yesterday. Hancock's only consolation was the result of a fluke play when the visitors were forced to punt in the last quarter and the ball bounded over the head of an Escanaba man and was picked up by a copper country lad who raced the remaining distance for the visitors' only touchdown of the game.

At the opening of play it appeared that the teams were evenly matched, but when Escanaba's speed was pitted against Hancock's line the locals walked down the field, showing the ball for consistent gains and making the first touchdown in the first five minutes of play. Escanaba scored a touchdown once in the first quarter, twice in the second quarter and once in the third quarter, while the visitors scored their only points in the last quarter.

The Escanaba team showed a marked improvement in form yesterday over previous performances. Every player appeared to get into every play with a vim and a dash that would not be denied. Halfbacks Perow and Perin, Fullback Him and Quarterback Shaw, were the big ground gainers, the work of all of those players being spectacular in the extreme. For Hancock, Lento and Kotilla were the shining stars, both of those players making excellent gains on several occasions through the local line.

The game was a beautiful exemplification of new football. The Escanaba players showed themselves the master of the forward pass, the delayed pass and fake kicks, repeatedly using those plays for gaining long distances. The passing of the ball by Shaw to Perow, Fryer and Turner, who were used in turn, offered as pretty a bit of new football as could be desired. A delayed pass, which was used repeatedly, proved a great ground gainer, completely puzzling the opposing line. On plays through the line Him and Perow were repeatedly called upon to carry the ball and either could be depended upon to make the necessary distance when it was necessary.

The one-sided score does not fully show the offensive strength of the Hancock team. Twice the visiting players forced the ball to Escanaba's line when the locals presented a stonewall defense and gained possession of the ball.

Ishpeming Downed by Menominee.
Trouncing the Ishpeming eleven by the score of 16 to 0 the Menominee high school team showed that in despite of the fact that it is out of the running for the peninsula pennant, it is of championship caliber. The Ishpeming team had defeated every gridiron squad in the Marquette district and Menominee's easy victory over the visitors was wholly unexpected.

News of the trouncing given Ishpeming by the Menominee team received in Escanaba with rejoicing. As Escanaba defeated Menominee by a score of 11 to 0 and Menominee in turn has defeated Ishpeming, which team Escanaba must now meet for the championship, an easy victory for Escanaba is now expected at the Sandy City. However, Escanaba will not allow over-confidence to creep into its play during the week. The Hancock victory is recognized only as the stepping stone to the chief gridiron honors in the peninsula and all hopes will be centered on the contest next Saturday, when it is expected that the Ishpeming team will be brought to Escanaba.

AMATEUR THEATRICALS

Home Talent Will Furnish Entertainment at Hancock This Winter.

Hancock will be well entertained with amateur theatricals this season. Home talent will put on several productions at Germania Hall and the Kerredge theatre. The young people of the parish of St. Patrick's church have organized a dramatic club to give a Finnish Dramatic club also will be seen on the theatrical stage.

A very successful production, "The Belle of Richmond," was put on last winter under auspices of the Hancock Knights of Columbus. It is planned by this order to give a play this season also. The Elks will present an entertainment, following their annual custom, but have not yet decided upon its nature.

REGISTRATION BOARDS HAD LITTLE TO DO

Names of But Few Voters Added to Houghton County's Polling Lists Saturday.

The rather apathetic conditions which exist in the present campaign in Houghton county were manifested to some extent Saturday when the boards of registration met to register the names of voters and those who had not been recorded prior to the recent primary. The boards had very little to do, the registration being very light throughout the district. However this does not necessarily mean that Houghton county will not cast a large vote. The leaders of both parties worked hard last spring to get the voters to register, that their support at the primaries would be available, and this doubtless had no little to do with the small registration Saturday. A peculiar condition exists in the fight for county officers. The Democrats withdrew every Republican seeking office, with the exception of sheriff, and the Republicans in turn endorsed Sheriff Myers, the Democratic nominee.

Rally at Calumet.
Horatio S. Earle, the good roads man, and Thomas W. Nadal, dean of Oskola college, spoke at a largely attended Republican rally at Red Jacket Saturday night. Dean Nadal spoke of the high moral character of Chase S. Osborn, candidate for governor, and of his high efficiency to fill the office which he seeks. Mr. Osborn's election, he said, would mean a united, better and greater Michigan.

Mr. Earle spoke at some length on the tariff question, comparing the prosperity obtained under Republican administration with the depression and hard times experienced under Democratic rule. Speaking of the gubernatorial race Mr. Earle made the statement that Lawton T. Hemans still seeks to incite the voters of southern Michigan against those of the upper peninsula and seeks to make votes in that way. He said that Chase S. Osborn's election would mean a thorough housecleaning at Lansing and that the barriers between the two peninsulas would be broken down, resulting in a united Michigan. "Incidentally," Mr. Earle said, "we would have a system of good roads along the 'Earle' plan."

Mr. Earle said the city of Detroit would give Chase S. Osborn a bigger majority than any gubernatorial candidate, with the exception of Hazen S. Pingree. He recalled the fact that Mr. Hemans, while in the legislature, had voted against the appropriation for the Michigan College of Mines, one of Michigan's finest schools, and seemed to have a bitter animosity against the upper peninsula. Other speakers were W. R. Oates of Laurium and W. Frank James of Hancock. W. J. McDonald of Calumet presided as chairman.

MAKES GOOD OFFER.

William Kerredge Wants Factory to Be Located at Hancock.
Persistent rumors have stated that the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company of Chicago is desirous of opening a factory in the northern peninsula. This concern is the largest manufacturer of pool and billiard tables and bar and bank fixtures in the country and the establishment of a factory of this nature is a matter of considerable import. Hancock has been suggested as the ideal location.

It has been said that upon the offer of a bonus of $100,000 the company will select a site. It might be a difficult matter to secure that amount in this district. William Kerredge, the Quincy, Mich., hardware dealer and owner of the Kerredge theatre, says that he will gladly donate $1,000 in cash toward such a bonus and that he hopes ninety-nine other men will do likewise. The opening of a factory of the kind means the employment of 1,500 men. It would mean a great deal not only to Hancock, but to the copper country in general.

EXHIBIT OPENS TODAY.

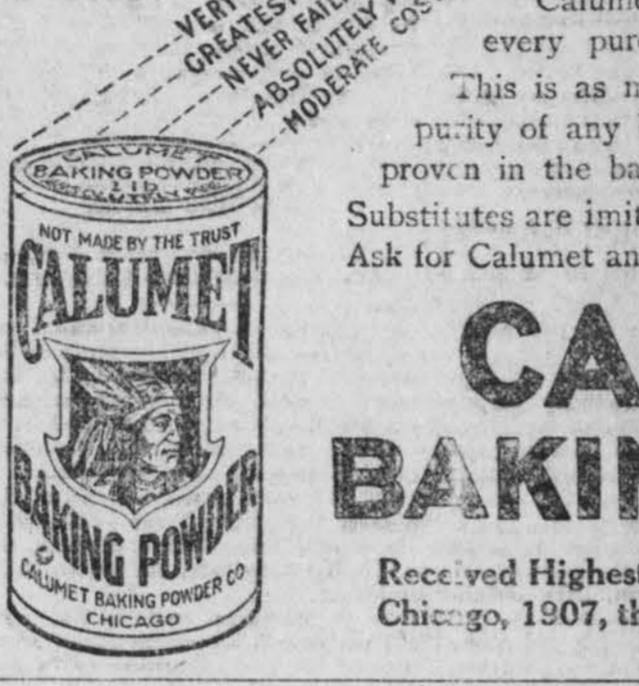

Houghton Library Has Large and Unique Collection on Display.
The Houghton Public library's rug, basket and pottery exhibit will open this morning and will continue throughout the week. Miss Whare, the librarian, feels very grateful to the ladies of the county, both those who have assisted her in the collection and those who have contributed the goods. She is particularly pleased at being able to secure the Gobelin tapestry which is the work of Mrs. Mathias Wold of Calumet. This tapestry, the subject of which is "In the Fairy Garden," by the famous European tapestry artist and painter, Gerhard Munthe, is one of several that Mrs. Wold has made for the Museum of Arts at Trondhjem, Norway. During the afternoon and evenings of the week, luncheon will be served at the library, the proceeds to go to the equipment of the children's room.

500 PEOPLE ARE INTERESTED.

Write to Copperdom Regarding Proposed Hockey League.
The people of the American and Canadian Soos are much interested in a proposed organization of a professional or semi-professional hockey league with teams from the copper country, the Soos and towns in Minnesota. The plan has not been considered to any extent in the copper country, but it is possible that the project will go through. A well-known hockey enthusiast and newspaperman of the Soo writes as follows: "I understand there is a movement on foot to organize a hockey league which contemplates teams from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Houghton, Calumet, Duluth, the Canadian Soo and the American Soo. I do not know who has taken steps to promote such an organization. On the occasion, however, that a team could be readily organized in this city, I have made inquiry on the subject. I am informed by former supporters of the game that it would be an easy matter to stimulate interest in the matter here,

Mining News

ALGOMAH.

Algolah's No. 2 drill hole has passed through the formation in which the shaft is opened and has disclosed a wide and well formed amygdaloid, but with very little copper showing in the drill core. The drill outfit has been removed to a position further west where a third hole will be put down with the object of testing at depth the lode recently uncovered in the No. 2 trench. This lode is exposed in the trench less than 500 feet distant from Lake shaft and from its position and general appearance is very likely the continuation of that famous lode. Over in the Algolah lode, which may or may not be identified with the lode opened in No. 2 trench, but is apparently not identical, operations are confined to drifting on the ore body at a depth of 104 feet, with the object of determining the lateral extent of this deposit. In this formation the ore body carries down to 104 feet in the shaft with no apparent diminution, and in the crosscut at this level the ore is showing up remarkably rich. Below just stopped and from still greater depths in the Algolah lode, shows a lesser enrichment. All this work was done in the Algolah lode, so called, and not in what is presumably the southern extension of the Lake lode, though absolutely proof either way is lacking.

GRANBY.

The Granby Consolidated company has acquired for $400,000 eighty per cent of the capital stock of the Hidden Creek Mining company, which owns the largest copper deposit in British Columbia. The remaining twenty per cent is held by M. K. Rivers, manager of the property, who has refused to sell. The Granby will take up the operation of the property at once and when sufficient tonnage has been developed will build a furnace, converting the ore into a low grade matte, which will be shipped to the Granby smelter at Grand Forks and there converted. Jay P. Graves, vice president and general manager of the Granby, in a statement issued from Spokane, his headquarters, said that the Granby expects by the extension of the matte furnace to cheapen its cost of operation and reduce its metal losses in the slag because of the larger percentage of iron. The addition of the matte to the smelter charge will enable the treatment of a larger quantity of silicious ore, and reduce the coke consumption. Mr. Graves placed the average copper contents of the ore body at 3 1/2 per cent. The Hidden Creek is at Goose Bay, near the Alaska boundary and consists of eight lode claims which have been crown-granted and four others not yet granted. About $300,000 has been expended in developing the property and in equipping it with machinery and tidewater wharves connected with the mines by a quarter-mile trolley. The ore in sight is estimated at 400,000 tons. The ore contains about the same amount of silver as are found in the Granby ore. Only test shipments have been made. One of the veins has an average width of more than twenty-five feet and the other has been opened to a width of 100 feet. The latter vein being of lower grade ore.

OLD DOMINION.

Old Dominion's smelter production for the month of October was between 2,250,000 and 2,500,000 pounds of blister copper. This is a slight increase over the thirty-day month of September. Old Dominion's costs continue to be a source of satisfaction to the management. For the first seven months of this year the cost of refined copper sold in New York averaged 10 1/2 cents per pound, which was by far the best showing the company ever made and compares with 11.55 cents and 11.25 cents for the fiscal years 1908 and 1909, respectively. In August the cost got below 10 cents per pound, while in September an entirely new low record was established. In fact, September costs were very close to 9 cents. This work brings the average cost for 1910 very close to ten cents, a reduction of 1 1/2 cents from last year, which is of prime importance when it is remembered that the lower metal market this year has resulted in cutting the dividend in half. This saving of 1 1/2 per cent when applied to the mine's annual production means additional earnings of practically $1 per share on the 233,245 outstanding shares. One thing which has contributed to the saving in cost, outside of the installation of new machinery, sale of water, etc., is the improvement in the United Globe, which is making very satisfactory monthly earnings now that its large construction account is nearly closed. Henceforth, it will be a substantial contributor to Old Dominion's profits.

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS.

The combined output of the Copper Range mines for October was 2,580 tons of mineral, which compares with 2,586 tons in September. Atlantic has completed its first drill hole in the Quincy Peninsular horizon on the main tract, and further work there has temporarily ceased. It is said here that this boring yielded a good core of copper ground.

The market action of Calumet & Arizona is taken to indicate that in the pending consolidation with Superior & Pittsburg a less favorable exchange rate for Calumet & Arizona will be determined upon than was formerly anticipated.

New Baltic's shaft in the footwall of the New Baltic lode is now 120 feet. The first crosscut to the lode will be at 200 feet and will be reached probably within six weeks. From the shaft to the lode is 35 feet, but due to irregularities the lode has twice been seen, and down about sixty feet it was well charged with fine grained copper. It has not been in evidence recently.

Shannon's September profits were at the rate of considerably over $1 per share for its 300,000 shares. The exact figures were $31,900, derived on a metal market which yielded the company 12 1/2 cents per pound. It is said that the cost per pound of copper was the lowest ever made in the history of the property—10.15 cents per pound, delivered in New York, sold. The production for the month was 1,418,720 pounds on which the profit was 2.229 cents per pound. A fine body of ore has been opened on the 2300-foot level of the North Butte mine, notwithstanding none was found on the 2200-foot level at about the same point. Development work is being pushed vigorously and it is said that every day the mine is showing every evidence of being as valuable as ever before. The shaft is now down to a depth of 2,300 feet, where a station is being cut.

So far as the Butte district is concerned the curtailment of the copper output has reached the limit. President Thayer of the Anaconda says that it is intended to keep the production at between 22,000,000 and 23,000,000 pounds per month. While under the merger of the ore hoisted and sent to the smelters is recorded at the mines, once it reaches the smelters it all becomes Anaconda ore and this does away with a lot of bookkeeping which was necessary when the ore from each mine was recorded separately.

Analysis of the annual report of the Nevada Consolidated is claimed to show that the company is now in a position to produce 85,000,000 pounds of copper a year, at a cost around six cents a pound, which at thirteen cents a pound would mean earnings available for dividends of close to $6,000,000 a year, or double the present annual dividend requirements. The total ore reserves are put at 40,360,000 tons.

President Thayer of the Anaconda company has confirmed the rumor that a working agreement has been reached with the Raven company by which the latter will resume work on the Snoozler mine, which is owned jointly by the two companies, and in which Raven several years ago opened a large and rich copper vein at a depth of 1,500 feet. Raven will sink its own shaft on the Snoozler, which is down 200 feet.

The 1200-gallon pump to be used in the new shaft of Giroux has been lowered to the pumping station at the 1200-foot level and is being assembled, and will be ready in a few weeks. The shaft of eight 200-horsepower boilers in the Giroux power plant is being bricked up and the cement foundation for the second of the hoisting engines is being filled in. The contractors are taking advantage of prevailing fine weather to hurry the erection of the power plant.

Upper Peninsula

Fine New Bank Building.
The First National bank of Escanaba is now located in its new and up to date banking office at the corner of Campbell and Ludington streets. The work of remodeling the building which is owned by the bank, has been going on steadily since last January. The structure is 50x140 feet, covering an entire lot. The bank proper occupies a space 50x90 feet on the first floor. Its seven vaults are solid concrete, reinforced by steel bars interlaced in the concrete. The vault foundation is three feet below the cellar floor and the concrete work extends in a solid mass to the floor of the third story. The massive steel door is six inches thick, weighs four tons and yet is so nicely adjusted that it can be swung on its steel ball bearings by the pressure of a man's little finger. There is no combination on this door and no holes through it, it being locked by an automatic lock on the inside, controlled by three timers. When the door is locked, it cannot be opened until the timers run down and throw the automatic unlocking device. The bank's securities and funds are further protected by three armor plate steel chests set inside the heavy vault, each chest having a round door which locks into place on the same principle as the breech in a cannon. The outfit is also entirely burglar proof.

The book vault is commodious giving ample room for the storing of books and papers. It is protected by a heavy burglar proof door provided with a double time lock. The vault is steel lined. In connection with the vault is a depositors' room with booths where safe deposit boxes can be opened and examined privately. The lobby of the bank is finished in solid mahogany. Italian marble and bronze. The ceiling and walls are decorated and the floor is of mosaic tile. Opening from the lobby at the left is a ladies' parlor, finished in mahogany, decorated, and having a white tile floor. The first room on the right upon enter-

WARDENS AS MOOSE NURSES.
Peculiar Duties Forced Upon the Guardians of Game in Maine Woods.
Augusta, Me., Nov. 6.—In addition to detecting and prosecuting violators of the game laws, the fish and game wardens of the state are occasionally called upon to nurse sick moose and perform other duties of a peculiar character. The November bulletin of the Maine commissioners of fish and game relates two instances of wardens acting as nurses for suffering moose.

Warden Jorgenson of Hayward found a yearling cow moose lying beside the railroad track near Squa Pan lake. The moose appeared at first to have been struck by a train. The warden endeavored to relieve the animal's sufferings, but was finally obliged to kill it to end its misery. An examination showed that the moose was suffering from a disease which is reported to be common among this species of big game.

A large bull moose was found disabled by Warden Sweet of Mars Hill, near Presque Isle lake. The animal was lying on its side, with one of its horns caught in the branches of a blown down tree. Observation showed that while feeding, the moose had hung itself in trying to shake off flies, and in endeavoring to struggle free had driven its legs in the soft ground under the trees in such a manner as to make it a prisoner. After securing assistance from a neighboring camp, Warden Sweet freed the animal, but it seemed to be paralyzed. It had evidently been a prisoner for several days, without food and water and tormented by flies. The moose was too weak to eat food, but drank nine buckets of water which the warden brought to it. It died the day after being found. Its horns had fifteen points and a spread of thirty-six inches.

Fish that are to be thrown back into the water by sportsmen ought to be handled with gloves, is the declaration in the bulletin of the superintendent of the fish hatchery at Grand lakes. Handling a fish with the bare hands causes a fungus growth to appear on the fish. All of the guides in the Grand Lake region have provided themselves with soft woolen gloves in order properly to handle the fish that are to be put back in the water.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Mitchell have left for the east. They will visit in New York for a few days and will later be the guests of Dudley Dean in Boston.
So far as the Marquette police officers have been able to learn, no trace has been found of the two men who attempted to rob the bank at Even last Friday morning.
The near-winter of yesterday makes marine men glad that the owners have delayed in laying up their boats than usual. Many predictions of an early and long winter were heard yesterday.
A Marquette man who spent yesterday in the woods near Antlers, on the Big Bay line of the Marquette & South-eastern railroad, reports that he found few traces of deer and that there is much snow in the woods.
Miss Alice Sullivan, East Michigan street, was given a birthday surprise party by about forty of her friends Friday evening. Dancing and games were enjoyed and refreshments were served.
Saturday Music Club.—A Schumann program was given at the home of Mrs. Ball, Saturday afternoon. Miss Schaffer gave an interesting account of the composer as a symphony writer, and a brief description of his opera "Genoveva." Mrs. Hodgkins and Miss Hampton followed with the overture to this opera. Miss Ross played Griellen and Miss Hicks the Nocturne in F. Mrs. Klar sang a Schumann lied, and by request, Miss Ottman sang "Mondnacht."
Wellknown Lecturer Stricken.—Marquette friends of Prof. James C. Monaghan, the wellknown lecturer and publicist of New York, have learned with regret that he was stricken with apoplexy at Portage, Wis., Friday night while delivering a lecture. He suffered the entire loss of speech and his right side was paralyzed. His condition is regarded as critical. Professor Monaghan addressed a large audience at Baraga hall some months ago under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, and left a fine impression.
Goes to Senter Plant.—E. W. Maynard, formerly employed at the Marquette plant of the Du Pont Powder company, and who has been employed at one of the plants of the company near Denver, Col., the past two years, was in Marquette Friday and Saturday, and left Saturday evening for a brief visit in the east. He will return to the upper peninsula to take the position of assistant superintendent of the Du Pont company's new plant that will go into operation at Senter some ten miles from Houghton, shortly after the first of the year.
Meeting Largely Attended.—The Socialist meeting last evening was attended by an audience that filled Keough's Hall and the address of the speaker, Dr. W. Hoogerhyde, state organizer of the Socialist party, was enthusiastically received. Mr. Hoogerhyde contended that the laborer was not getting a fair share of what he produced and that the only solution of the problem of distribution of wealth was democratic ownership of the sources of production. W. J. Roberts, candidate for representative from this county, was not present, as advertised.
Sleeping in Display Window.—Exactly as advertised, a young man was put to sleep through the hypnotic influence of Professor Barnum, by long distance telephone from Calumet at 7:30 Saturday night, in the display window of Siegel's pool room, and up to a late hour last night he had not awakened. It is stated that the sleeper will be awakened on the opera house stage tonight, at the opening of the Harmonic-Raffles company. Mr. Siegel states that the man has not been out of the window, has not been awake, nor has he been fed anything since he went to sleep in the window. The gawsome sight attracted much attention yesterday.
Bijou Theatre Program.—The Bijou management promises one of the best programs of the season this week. The first half of the week is taken up by Wagner and Gray, who do a singing comedy act that recently made a hit in Detroit. Manager Dorsey assures his patrons of a big treat in this act and also in the one for the last three days of the week, when Wray and Wray will give a singing and dancing turn, introducing their English manikins in full stage with special scenery, etc. Nothing like either of these turns has been seen in Marquette, it is said. Picture plays at this house are changed three times during the week.
Turkeys to Be Cheaper.—According to market reports from the turkey raising districts, a larger number of turkeys have been raised for the city markets than for some years past, and the prices that will prevail for the Thanksgiving gobblers will be less than in 1909. Due to the high rates that prevailed last Thanksgiving, it is stated that a large number of dressed turkeys were left on the markets, and these have been preserved in cold storage, several thousand now being ready for shipment in Chicago and New York. Another thing to cause a drop in prices this year is the large number of chickens that have been raised. The price of chickens last year was nearly as high as turkeys, and the result was that 5,000,000 pounds were carried over and will be taken from the cold storage plants and thrown on the market, according to St. Louis commission man. The same dealer states that prices for turkeys should be 25 per cent less than last November.

NOTABLE MUSICAL EVENTS.
Two Concerts to Be Given Here By Musicians of First Rank.
The Saturday Music club announces a recital by H. Evan Williams on January 26. Mr. Williams is undoubtedly the greatest American tenor and one of the most beautiful singers on the concert stage today. This concert is a continuation of the policy of the Music club, which was announced at the time of the Schumann-Heink concert last year. The club intends to present at least one musical event of the highest class each year. The great success of last year's effort and the splendid support given Miss Tucker's recital a few weeks ago seems to indicate that Marquette is a music-loving city and that a reasonable number of concerts will be received with enthusiasm.
The Guild Hall association expects shortly to announce a joint recital by Boris Hambourg, cellist, and Mme. Ricardo, soprano, the concert to take place soon after Easter.
Both of these concerts will be held in the Marquette Opera House. The price of seats for both will be within the reach of all, $1.50 to 50 cents. There will be very little increase over the regular $1.50 scale of the Opera House. Neither concert is undertaken for the purpose of making money, the object being to give everybody in Marquette the opportunity of listening to first class music.

LOWER STATE NOTES.
ADRIAN.—After nearly three years spent in an effort to get her case into the circuit court, Mrs. Dove of Tecumseh, plaintiff in an assault and battery case from that city, was awarded $1 by a jury against Grille Brishon. The case was started in court nearly three years ago, but has been held up at each session by technical objections. Under the law the plaintiff will be held for the costs of the extended suit.
PETOSKEY.—Henry Tompkins, of Harbor Springs, was instantly killed while dynamiting stumps for the Harbor Springs Lumber company in one of its camps. The fuse failed twice to explode the dynamite and Mr. Tompkins approached it again with intention of making another attempt. As he did so the explosion took place and he was thrown twenty feet into the air, the fall breaking his neck. Mr. Tompkins was about fifty years old and leaves a family.
BATTLE CREEK.—Mayor John W. Bailey took the most radical step yet in his stirring political career by filing a veto against City Attorney Wm. E. Ware collecting his monthly salary. It is explained that he would have taken this step before had he been sure the Democratic aldermen would stand by him, but after the recent incident wherein Ware referred sarcastically to Alderman Ralph Erskine's honesty and was knocked down by Erskine, the mayor decided to wait no longer. He also filed vetoes against the council electing Julius Hall city assessor to fill a vacancy and against the council's resolution to advertise for bids on $30,000 bonds for purchasing a new city hall site, as voted upon by the public last spring.
LANSING.—In accordance with a request from the Consumers Supply company and the Commonwealth Power company two men will be named by the state to go over the properties of the companies so as to determine whether the plants are worth a sufficient amount to warrant an issue of several million dollars in bonds, which the companies desire to float. The Commonwealth has named H. D. Riggs, a civil engineer of Toledo, as one representative, who with some competent state employe will go over the property, the total expense to be borne by the company.
BIG RAPIDS.—At a joint meeting of the board of public works and the city council it was decided to recommend to the council that the question of buying the lighting plant of the Big Rapids Electric company be submitted to the voters at an early date. The city needs more power to run its water works, and instead of spending $30,000 repairing the present plant an agreement was reached for the city to have its own lighting plant and to run the water works by electricity, the lighting company having indicated its willingness to sell out to the city for $50,000 on condition that commercial lighting be con-

Lessons in Saving

Can be taught the youthful minds much easier than when older.

Every parent or person in charge of children should teach them to save a portion of their pennies and nickels and put them not only where they will be safe but where they will earn something.

It will surprise you how easily the child learns the lesson of saving and the earning power of money. The greatest lesson in the school of life is the lesson of thrift.

Start an account for the child today with ONE DOLLAR. As the child adds to it we add interest at three per cent.

STATE LAW WON'T DO.

Requirements to Burn Slashings Should be Applied Nationally.

"There are a good many people who have the impression that the lumbermen are not much concerned whether their timber burns in forest fires or not," said H. C. Howe, of the American Lumberman, Saturday. "In support of this contention, one is asked to witness the carelessness of the loggers in leaving the brush where it will be a regular tinder box to start forest fires the next summer. It is further claimed that lumbermen generally have opposed bills introduced in state legislatures, which would make it mandatory on the loggers to burn their slashings behind them— unquestionably an effective precautionary measure."

"This is an entirely wrong impression and one which organizations like the newly born Northern Forest Protective association will have great influence in effecting. If the national government should consider a law compelling operators to burn their slashings, there is not a lumberman in the country that would not be in favor of the measure. To burn the slashings and so do away in large measure with future danger from fires would add about $2 per thousand to the cost of logging. This means that the lumberman would have to get $2 more for his product. If Michigan, for instance, passed such a law, the Wisconsin operators could sell lumber $2 per thousand less than those of this state, and the result would be that the Michigan mills would all be forced to close down. However, if such a law could be applied to the entire country, lumber everywhere would go up $2 per thousand. The lumberman would be just as well off as at present and the danger of disastrous forest fires would in large measure be removed."

I only burned 1 1/2 tons hard coal in my Favorite Base Burner last winter, says J. R. McDonald, 109 E. Arch St. They are sold by Kelly Hardware Co. (10-17-10)

PROPOSES LAWS AIMED AT MINES

Secretary Ford, of Tax Commission, Says Their Reports Are Not in Sufficient Detail.

George Lord, secretary of the state tax commission, in telling of a bill he proposes to introduce at the next session of the legislature, if he is elected a representative from Detroit, gave his views of why the taxation of mining companies has come to be so generally discussed and why it is alleged to be insufficient.

While the railways, telegraph and telephone companies, and other great corporations of the state, are required by law to file annual reports which must show in detail the value and condition of their properties, the mining companies, or some of them, file reports which Secretary Lord says are absolutely valueless to the state, in determining how to assess their properties.

So extensive are the reports of the railways and telephone and telegraph and express companies that the sheets are bound together in book form, while the mines file two-page reports, which, Secretary Lord says, are chiefly noteworthy because of the utter lack of information they furnish regarding the corporation. He proposes that the mines shall send statements similar to the bulky railway reports.

For Local Assessors. Those filed by other corporations are used to determine what their assessments shall be. Abstracts are made from the reports and this data is furnished local assessing officers for their assistance in determining what valuation should be placed on the property of those corporations not assessed under the ad valorem tax law. Were similar reports filed by the mines, it is pointed out that the state then would have a basis for actually determining whether their owners are paying their share of the expenses of government.

The conditions which Secretary Lord's statements set up also bring well out into the open the effectiveness of the fortifications which the mines have had in the state. Once in a while some legislator has run amuck and attempted to prod the mines, but he never got far and during all this time the mines not only have not been filing the reports required of other corporations, but an amendment was made to the law which eased their position a trifle, says the Grand Rapids Press.

Back in 1877 a law was passed requiring an annual report from the mines to serve as a basis in determining how much of a specific tax they should pay. Later the specific tax law was repealed and in 1903 the act was amended to provide that the annual reports should be filed with the secretary of state, instead

WERLINE'S COLUMN

I, G. T. Werline, Democratic candidate for congress for the Twelfth district, respectfully call to the attention of the electorate of the upper peninsula of Michigan the attitude of my opponent toward the laboring man when on June 21, 1910 (see page 8968, Congressional Record) he voted against the Hughes amendment.

I ask also that you read the article in the current number of Everybody's Magazine relating to congressmen generally and my opponent especially.

I am not conducting a campaign of personal abuse. That plan was adopted by the Republican candidates in the primaries. Then came forth a flood of invective, expetive and oburgation, spectacular and odorous. And who knows whether they did not tell the truth about each other?

Suffice it to say that I hold that the public acts of an official in the service of the people are fit subject for comment. I hold that the public acts of my opponent were unfriendly to the man who toils for his daily bread or works for a salary, especially so, and that his general stand on matters pertaining to Ballingerism and the reactionary banditti precludes the thought that any intelligent, normal voter could support him.

LOWER STATE NOTES.

OWOSSO—Declaring that a court room reconciliation, which had been brought about by Circuit Judge Minor, had failed to settle the differences between herself and husband, Mrs. Lena Sheldon, for the second time in six months, asked for a decree of divorce from New Sheldon, and it was granted. Sheldon is twenty-three and his wife is twenty-one. She alleged that her husband forced her to work in the fields and that life in the home was unpleasant because they lived with her husband's father, John Sheldon, one of the best known Adventists in the state, and he ridiculed her lack of belief in his religion. This summer the young people were persuaded by Judge Minor to withdraw the suit for separation, and they went in each others arms in the court room. Mrs. Sheldon proved, however, that the disagreeable conditions outlined before still prevailed. She was granted $75 a year alimony, the same to be continued for six years.

OWOSSO—A swell wedding was recently solemnized in this city. Many Owosso people were invited, but a number who anticipated receiving invitations were disappointed. A popular dressmak-

Boston Coppers.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 5.—The near approach of election put a stop to the speculative trading today. However, many small buying orders came in, and prices were generally stronger. Amalgamated, Union and Steel were leaders in New York, but the local coppers showed no change of importance. We look for a quiet and steady market on Monday, followed by sharp advances after election day. Closing quotations follow:

er, who is somewhat garrulous, states she has been busy for weeks making gowns for society folks and some who possibly are mistaken in the belief they belong under that head. Of a dozen customers who expected to receive bids and were determined to be prepared, the dressmaker relates only three realized their fond hopes. "But," she added philosophically, "there are social events and social events and even if a lady fails to get an invitation to any of them, a good gown never comes amiss." The dressmaker says one lady who ordered a gown could not be accommodated because of the press of business. "And do you know," remarked the voluble soul, "she was one of the three invited to the wedding and, mind you, she had to wear a ready-made gown."

BIRMINGHAM

When a man giving the name of Frank Garrison stepped from the dark along Woodward avenue and attacked Miss Winifred Robinson, a tall, good-looking athletic girl, she pulled a revolver from her hat and jabbed it into the man with such good effect that he forthwith ceased further effort to mistreat her. The girl escaped and sought refuge in the D. U. R. power house. Garrison was chased through the fields and captured. He was lodged in jail at Pontiac.

LANSING

After a conference in the offices of the state railroad commission, on the request of the various express companies operating in Michigan, it was decided that the commission draft a new schedule of rates which will present for the approval of the express companies. This request was made by representatives of the various companies who came here from New York and other points. Chairman Glasgow of the commission states that the work on the new schedule of rates will be commenced at once and he is of the impression that a settlement of the differences between the shippers of the state and the express companies will be effected. The express companies appear to be anxious for a settlement.

Chicago Wheat.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The noticeable feature in the wheat trade for the day was the absence of offerings and there was a nervous feeling among the shorts and a little further buying by the La Salle Street interest. There was no particular activity to the trading. The northwest receipts were 300 cars, compared with 643 a year ago. It is the opinion of the pit observers that the local shorts are fairly well covered, but the outside interest is in doubt.

ARMOUR'S EYE ON FRUIT CANNERIES IN CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 6.—Armour & Co., the pork packers, are preparing to invade the canned fruit industry of California. They evidently believe the orchards of the West can be made to run a close race with the stock raisers of Chicago. The big plant of the Armour's is to be located in San Francisco, but subsidiary factories will be distributed throughout the state. The Armour's have not fully determined whether to buy some of the existing canning companies or to start up on their own.

BLOOD TROUBLES

CONSTITUTIONAL INFECTION

Constitutional Blood Poison is the most insidious of all diseases. It begins in an insignificant manner, usually the appearance of a tiny sore being the only outward evidence of its presence. But down in the blood the treacherous infection is at work, and in a short time its chain of symptoms begin to crop out. The mouth and throat ulcerate, skin eruptions break out, sores and ulcers appear on the body, the glands in the groin swell, and sometimes the hair comes out. Mineral medicines cannot cure Constitutional Blood Poison; they only shut the disease up in the system to smoulder and await an opportunity of breaking out afresh. The only possible way to cure the disease is to REMOVE the germs from the blood. S. S. S. goes into the blood, and while removing the infection makes the blood pure, fresh and healthy. This

ISHPEMING BOYS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Gun in Hands of Companion Went Off, and Charge Took Effect in John Quayle's Leg.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM LOST TO MENOMINEE

Ishpeming Player Returns With Fractured Arm, Another With Broken Nose.

John Quayle, fourteen-year-old son of Mrs. Menhennitt, living on Second street, was the victim of a hunting accident Saturday afternoon, which resulted in the amputation of his left leg, below the knee.

Young Quayle and two companions, both a year or so younger than he, were hunting near the Ten Kilns, six miles north of the city. They were walking along the road, Quayle leading, when one of the boys directly behind him stumbled, and his gun was discharged. The entire charge struck Quayle in the leg, shattering the bone.

One of the boys remained with the wounded lad, while the other ran to the home of James George, a farmer, who lives at the Ten Kilns location, a mile or so from where the accident occurred. The wound bled freely for a minute or so. Both Quayle and his companion realized the danger of his bleeding to death before reaching the hospital, so they stuffed a handkerchief in the hole that had been gouged out by the charge of shot. As a result the boy lost a comparatively small quantity of blood.

Mr. George hurriedly hitched up his horse and lost no time getting to the wounded boy. The lad was brought to the Ishpeming hospital as rapidly as a clip as the horse could travel. The limb was amputated below the knee.

Young Quayle showed unusual courage and presence of mind for a boy of his age. He was feeling fine yesterday and was busy the greater part of the day talking to relatives and friends who called to see him. He declared that the shooting was purely accidental.

IMPROVED CAR SERVICE.

Trailer Will be Put in Use to Accommodate Working Men.

The Marquette County Gas & Electric company is to run a trailer in connection with the regular car which leaves Ishpeming at 6 o'clock every morning for Negaunee and also with the regular car leaving Negaunee at 5:30 in the evening, on all working days, for the accommodation of men traveling between the two cities. The number of men living in Ishpeming and working in Negaunee, and vice versa, has been increasing steadily all of them, and one car will not accommodate all of them. Some seventy men leave every morning for Negaunee and return in the evening, and about as many Negaunee men who work at the mines here make the round trip daily.

The trailer will stand on the switch near the old gas house each morning until the regular car picks it up at 6:15. A number of the men who work in Negaunee live nearby and the car will be at their disposal during the twenty minutes it is on the side track, so that it can be used as a waiting room.

LAST RALLY TONIGHT.

Congressman Young and Others Will Speak at the Theatre.

The final rally of the campaign will take place this evening in Ishpeming theatre, when Congressman H. O. Young and others will speak on national and state issues. Mayor W. J. McCorkindale will preside. The box seats will be reserved for ladies. The Ishpeming band will furnish music.

The members of the city committee were well pleased with the success of the rallies held Thursday evening at the Anderson hall and Friday evening at the Anderson hall. The attendance was fully as large as was expected, in view of the small crowds that have been turning out to meetings in other parts of the peninsula. One of the speakers here Thursday evening said that the rally was the best that he had seen in this part of the state. More than 200 Finnish voters were present at the rally Friday evening.

The leading members of the Socialist party of the county have been working hard for more than a week past, and they feel that their candidates for county offices will poll a good sized vote. The only Socialist rally of the campaign held in Ishpeming took place Saturday evening in the Anderson hall. Several speeches were made. The same speakers were heard last night in Keough's hall, Marquette, and they will speak again this evening at McDonald's opera house, Negaunee.

The Republican city committee has engaged voters in the several wards to work tomorrow, rounding up out those who are inclined to stay away from the polls. There will be no work at any of the mines tomorrow.

CAN NOT EVADE PRISON

Convict, Aged 65, Has Been Sentenced, All Told, to 43 Years and 5 Months.

NOW INMATE AT ATLANTA.

Wm. Coleman, Notorious Over the Country, Again in Cell for Stamp Robbery.

Washington, Nov. 6.—William Coleman, alias William Mason, recently convicted of stealing 50,000-cent postage stamps from the Baltimore post office, and sentenced to serve three years and six months in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., probably holds the record for the number of years a criminal has been sentenced to serve in jails and penitentiaries.

Coleman is sixty-five years of age. All told he has been sentenced to serve forty-three years and five months of that time. His specialty is "sneak robberies," but he also has been "sent down" for picking pockets and for larceny.

He was first arrested in 1869 at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and sentenced to serve five years in Sing Sing for sneak robbery. He escaped from Sing Sing in 1871. Coleman did not keep out of jail long. In 1872 the Pittsburgh authorities captured him and gave him three years in the Western Penitentiary for a sneak robbery involving $20,000.

In 1876 Coleman fell into the hands of the New York police for picking pockets and was sentenced to serve one year. Shortly after his release he was taken in custody at Lockport, N. Y., for sneak robbery and sentenced to serve four years in Auburn prison.

His next jail sentence was administered in Chicago in 1882 when he was sent to Joliet for one year for larceny. After his release from Joliet, Coleman migrated to the South. He did not remain long out of the toils. In 1884 he was sentenced in Georgia to serve seven years in the state prison for another sneak robbery.

When he left the Georgia prison Coleman went to Cincinnati, where in 1891 he was arrested as a suspicious character and ordered to leave the city, which he promptly did. What he did between that time and July, 1893, only he can tell. At that time he showed up at Rochester, N. H., and was sentenced to serve three years in the New Hampshire penitentiary for sneak robbery.

CHARACTER CAUSES ARREST.

The records do not disclose whether or not he escaped from this institution, but they show he made a sudden trip to Augusta, Ga., where he was convicted of having stolen $2700 from an express company and given another seven-year term in the state penitentiary.

In 1899 he showed up in New York again, doubtless having had his sentence remitted considerably for good behavior, and was arrested on suspicion, but later released. He thought he would take a run over to the national capital, where in 1900 he was convicted of a small sneak robbery and sentenced to serve five months in the district jail. After this he went to New York and was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail for attempted larceny. This was in 1901. Later in the same year he was convicted of petty larceny and sentenced to one year.

In 1903 he was arrested in Jersey City on a charge of petty larceny, fined $30 and released. In 1904 he was taken into custody in New York for Cooperstown (N. Y.) authorities, but later was released. The following year he was again arrested in New York for the Cooperstown authorities, taken to that place, convicted of sneak robbery and sentenced to six years and five months.

Securing the usual time off for good behavior, Coleman showed up in Baltimore in September of this year and made a spectacular attempt to get away with a package said to contain $9,000 postage stamps. He was convicted in October and is now serving county term in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

TESTING THE MORGAN HORSE

Army Will Try It Out in Race with Regular Cavalry Animal.

Washington, Nov. 6.—An interesting horse race, in which half a dozen animals of the famous Morgan breed will be pitted against twenty or thirty United States cavalry horses, is being arranged by lovers of the type in Vermont, with the cooperation of the war department, as a test of the comparative worth of the Morgan horse in cavalry service. It is within a few years only that the Morgan horse, perhaps the most famous of all the products of Vermont and one of the most spirited equine types produced in the United States, has grown in numbers beyond the possibility of early extinction. The proposed test is one of several features of a general policy of education as to the qualities of the type, designed to aid in perpetuating the breed.

Earlier plans to have the test run from Montpelier to New York have been abandoned. Instead, at the suggestion of Major General Leonard Wood, it is proposed to start from Fort Ethan Allen, beyond Burlington, and finish at Montpelier, the Vermont state fair in September next. All horses will carry the regulation cavalry equipment, the Morgans being ridden by Norwich University cadets and the government horses by army officers. The war department will be officially represented by a board of government experts, which will report its observations to the department. If the claims of superiority made by Morgan horse lovers for their type are sustained by the board's report, it is understood the department has promised to give the type a more extensive trial in the regular service. This is the end desired.

The efforts of the government to prevent the extinction, then seriously threatening, of the Morgan breed, prompted the establishment three years ago of the Morgan Breeding Station at Weybridge. The funds for the enterprise were furnished largely by Colonel Joseph Battell of Middlebury, a Morgan enthusiast. The movement has been successful thus far. From the original two score animals, headed by the noted stallion General Gates, nearly 100 horses have been foaled within the past three years, many having already been sold into active service. There are eight exhibitors the tough and wiry qualities which have marked the Morgan horse as unsurpassed as a roadster and of no mean ability in the line of speed. In its rather small size, in breeding, the effort has been to retain these qualities, handed down from one great father of the breed, Justin Morgan, foaled in 1793, and to improve slightly in the build of the animal. This is being accomplished, it is believed, and instead of being threatened with extinction, the Morgan horse today is increasing in numbers which promise a return to its former high standing.

FRANCE GIVES ROOSEVELT "STRENUOUS LIFE" DIPLOMA.

Paris, Nov. 6.—The Societe des Sports Populaires, of which Baron Pierre Courtin is president, in its public distribution of honors, announces that a diploma, "De Brouillard," has been awarded to Theodore Roosevelt. Baron Courtin says that when he was received by President Roosevelt at the White House, the latter was enthusiastic over the society's intention of presenting diplomas to persons distinguished in amateur sport, saying that he would enter the competition. So, the baron adds, Mr. Roosevelt has been made the recipient of a diploma "De Brouillard"—that is, the exponent of strenuous life.

Sugar Beets Profitable—

Charles Salensky, a farmer living on the state road north of the Sawyer-Goodman farm, in Menominee county, states that his sugar beets this year have netted him $100 per acre. He has only a few acres in the vegetables this year, and he says he intends to put in about four times that many for the crop of 1911.

Some Potatoes—

Dr. Truman, of Munising denies he is "going back to nature" but modestly admits he can raise some potatoes. On a plot of ground 15x30 feet, adjoining his residence, he raised this season seven fifteen bushels of first-class potatoes. This is at the rate of 513 bushels to the acre.

Trappers Pay a Fine—

One day last week Deputy Game Warden Marks of Munising located three men named Johnson, Hoosier and Ford, said to be residents of Antrim county, who had traps out and were prepared to capture any and all fur-bearing animals regardless of the law's prohibition. The men were arrested and taken before Justice Mike Ryan of Seney. Upon their plea of guilty the bunch was fined $10. No fur was found in their possession.

See Fish Hatchery—

Superintendent Harry Marks is getting the old state fish hatchery at the rapids at the Soo ready for operation and it is expected that the fry will begin to arrive about the middle of January. This will be the last season the hatchery will be operated at its present location. It is expected that there will be no opposition in the legislature for an appropriation for the removal of the building to the site secured from the government at the northeast corner of Brady park, facing on St. Mary's river.

Civic Pride Back of This Deal—

An important real estate transfer which has given satisfaction to a great many Escanaba people was completed when A. R. Moore acquired the ownership of the Gaynor property on Wolcott street. This property has long been an eyesore to the residents of that part of the city. In addition, Mr. Moore purchased two other lots in the same block. The entire deal includes the transfer of ten lots, with a frontage of 400 feet, and twelve houses. All of the old houses are to be sold to quick buyers who will move them to other parts of the city or tear them down, and the lots will be sold to desirable persons in parcels of not less than seventy-five feet frontage and who will be required to agree to erect substantial and creditable modern residences. In negotiating and consummating this deal Mr. Moore has been actuated by motives of civic pride. There will be no profit in the transaction for him, but he will have the sincere thanks of many for his commendable work.

Mill Finishes Season's Run—

The Jones Lumber company sawmill at St. Ignace has cut its last log of the season. It started up April 26 and with the exception of a few brief intermissions had run continuously, part of the time on a day and night shift. The output has been seven and one-half million feet of lumber, three and one-half million of lath and four million of shingles. In these days the logs are not of the size that marked the earlier days of lumbering, and to obtain the output has required an enormous number of logs was handled.

Woman's Dream Guides Searchers—

The story is current in Berrien county that, depending on a woman's dream to guide them, a party of searchers will go north to search the woods for the body of Robert Beilby, a deer hunter, who last fall was lost from a camp of a Berrien county party west of Channing, in the upper peninsula, and who has never been seen from the time he started out for what he said would be a "little run." Three times the woods have been searched for traces of Beilby, but without success.

Streams have been dragged, marshes explored and great sections of undergrowth searched, but no trace has ever been found tending to throw light on his end. Now, as a last resort, the gossip says a search is to be conducted with nothing to guide the searchers but mysterious directions which Beilby's wife, thinking of him, obtained one night during a dream. She calls it a vision.

According to the dream, she tells it, she saw her husband approaching through dense undergrowth and then coming up, took her by the hand and led her through a vast tract of forest. In the course of time they arrived at a small stream and standing on one shore looked across at the opposite bank and there beheld a clearing in the woods with a dozen or so houses grouped together. Beilby pointed to the river and houses and then disappeared. Impressed by the dream the wife of the missing man told one of his friends of what she had seen in the "vision" and he was surprised to hear her describe a spot which he had passed in a hunt for Beilby last fall. Now, believing that either Beilby, alive, is at the settlement, or his body is in the river, another party will follow the woman's direction in another effort to clear up the mystery of the strange case.

His Body Cut to Pieces—
The frightfully mangled remains of a man whose identity has not been discovered were found by a South Shore section foreman one and three-fourths miles east of Shingleton, Alger county, last week. According to all appearances the man had fallen on the track from a passing train. Before the body was discovered no less than five trains had passed over it and the remains were strewn for a considerable distance along the track. There was not a scrap of writing or anything discovered on or about the body which furnished the slightest clue to the identity of the deceased. The man wore a heavy, dark moustache, weighed about 175 pounds, was apparently about middle age, shabbily dressed and had $2.35 in silver in his pocket. No one in Shingleton remembers seeing the stranger there the day before he met his death or at any previous time. Where the unfortunate man came from, whether he was bound and other facts which might establish his identity, are unknown to the Alger county authorities.

OFFICE HOLDING IN CITIES ABROAD
In England city government has settled into certain definite requisites that it has taken centuries to determine, notes a writer in the Christian Herald. The Englishman of affairs works for the love of it. There have been cases of graft in British cities, but discovery meant quick punishment and complete suppression. Your English mayor or alderman is proud of his position because of the opportunity given to improve his city. His own emoluments are too small to be considered. His rewards must be what many American officials would regard as the merest sentimentalities.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.
Thomas Vincent, son of Charles Vincent, one of the Oliver Iron Mining company's police officers, had a narrow escape from death Saturday morning at 6 o'clock when he fell through an opening in the Lucy mine trestle, where he was employed, a distance of thirty-five feet. He sustained a fracture of the collar bone and was badly bruised. He will be confined to his home for some days.

HERE FROM HIBBING.
Mrs. Thomas Tobin, who was one of Negaunee's earliest residents, arrived in the city Saturday morning from Hibbing, Minn., she having come down to look after the removal of the remains of deceased relatives from the old to the new cemetery. The bodies of Mrs. Tobin's husband and eight children are interred in the Catholic cemetery. Her husband died at Hibbing about eighteen months ago and one of her sons passed away there a short time before. Although Mrs. Tobin is now over seventy-five years of age, she is strong and enjoying fine health.

SEWER WORK PUT OFF UNTIL SPRING

Board of Public Works Has Surveyed Route for Main to be Laid on Ann Street.

The Ann street sewer, the installation of which was petitioned for by residents of that part of the city nearly two years ago, will not be constructed this fall, but will be put off until the spring. The board of public works and sewer committee recommended to the council, at its meeting Thursday evening, that the work be done the first thing in the spring. This decision on the part of the council will be a disappointment to the many residents of Ann and the adjacent streets, who are anxious that the improvement is to be made, expressed regret that the work is not to be done this fall, but he was assured that it will be taken up the first thing next spring.

The board recently completed a survey of what board of public works and sewer committee recommended to the council, at its meeting Thursday evening, that the work be done the first thing in the spring. This decision on the part of the council will be a disappointment to the many residents of Ann and the adjacent streets, who are anxious that the improvement is to be made, expressed regret that the work is not to be done this fall, but he was assured that it will be taken up the first thing next spring.

The outlet of the sewer will run from opposite the O'Brien residence in a southerly direction to the main sewer opposite Yerkey's home, on the Blue mine road, a distance of 2200 feet. This portion of the extension will be equipped with a twelve-inch pipe and the cost of pipe, digging, etc., is estimated at seventy-five cents per foot, or a total of $1,650, making a total cost of $2,370.

The board also reported that the Boyer avenue outlet, which was favored by some of the residents in the district, would not be feasible as the flow of the Ann street sewer would not be sufficient to provide satisfactory drainage. Besides the cost of extending the outlet in that direction would be 25 percent greater than it will be on the other route outlined.

The proposed improvement will be further considered at the next meeting of the board of public works. It is expected that the board of public works will be instructed to purchase the necessary material in order to have it here in time for an early start in the spring. The board was instructed to fill the holes on Ann and adjacent streets where stagnant water now lies.

LAW DRY, BUT NOT PEOPLE.
Revenue Reports from Southern States Tell Inside Story.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The law in Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina may be dry, just as dry as Blackstone is to the average law student, but the dry belt is limited to the law, according to the report the revenue collectors in these prohibition states made to their chief in Washington.

These reports are fairly steeped, manufactured in liquor. They tell not only of "booze" being made, but of the sale, both in small and in large quantities. In another month Commissioner of Internal Revenue Royal Cabell will make public his annual report, in which he will quote figures furnished by collectors of internal revenue in these states, showing the number of special tax stamps which have been sold in the past year, along with the amounts yielded therefrom. A majority of these stamps were sold to retailers. The retail stamp costs $25 and the wholesale $100. It is estimated that in Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and a small part of South Carolina the receipts from the sale of these special tax stamps will amount to approximately $105,000 for the fiscal year which ended June 30 last.

Alabama, however, in the column of prohibition states in the South, leads in the number of stamps purchased. The sale of retail stamps amounted to approximately $31,000, and the combined

EAGLES' BALL.

Organized Here a Few Months Ago Will Hold First Annual Dance.

At the last meeting of the Negaunee aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, it was decided to hold a ball once a year, the first annual to take place on Thanksgiving eve, the 23rd, in Kirkwood's hall. Committees were appointed and a large number of invitations will be issued. Special invitations will be sent to the Marquette and Ishpeming aeries. Several members of the Negaunee branch were members of the Ishpeming aerie before the society was organized here.

Brotherhood's orchestra has been engaged to furnish the music for the ball and the tickets will be seventy-five cents per couple, including lunch. The hall will be attractively decorated and dancing will start at 9 o'clock, continuing until 1 or later. The committees are as follows:

Arrangements—Bert Wellet, Otto Langer and Salvatore Bertucci.
Reception—Fred Cox, William Nadeau, Joseph Vercillino, John Chapman and Thomas Kirkwood.
Floor—Trus Bath, Robert Smith, Timothy Curran and Paul Schwartz.

HONKA TO MOVE.
Iron Street Barber Will Occupy Shop in Basement of New Bank Building.

John Honka, the barber, whose shop has been located in the Miller block for the past two years, has rented the front rooms in the basement of the Negaunee National bank's new block, being erected on East Iron street, and will occupy them as soon as the building is completed. The shop will be fitted up with bath tubs, and tile floor. Mr. Honka intends to purchase new furniture and fixtures, which will be in keeping with the rooms. Entrance to the shop will be in the front, a few feet from the main entrance to the bank.

The interior work at the bank building has been confined almost exclusively to the plastering for some days past, but the carpenters will soon begin the finishing work. The furniture and fixtures, which have been made to special order, are about completed, and will be shipped as soon as the manufacturers have advised that they can be put in position. The concern that has the contract for the tile work has also advised the bank officials that they will have men here on short notice. It is not expected that the building will be ready for occupancy much before the first of the year.

Orenstein Bros., furriers, of Calumet, will hold a fur sale at Mrs. Arland's millinery store on Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 7 and 8. Fur repairing and remodeling. (11-4-41)

TIMBER OWNERS' ORGANIZATION

Men Representing About Two Million Acres of Upper Peninsula Wooded Land Formed the Northern Forest Protective Association Here Saturday.

Object of Movement is to Patrol Holdings of Members to Prevent Costly Fires and to Advance Mutual Interests in Every Way Possible — Officers Chosen.

Owners or agents representing approximately two million acres of upper Michigan timber lands met at the Marquette club in this city Saturday and organized the Northern Forest Protective association, the object of which is to prevent forest fires in so far as possible and in other ways to advance the interests of its members in so far as they pertain to their timber holdings. The following persons were present and took part in the organization of the association:

H. R. Harris, general manager of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company; Powell & Mitchell; E. S. Kellogg, of the Northern Hunkler and Hardwood Manufacturers association, Wausau, Wis.; A. T. Roberts, representing J. M. Longyear; C. V. R. Townsend, Negaunee, representing the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company; F. H. Smith, Traverse City; T. A. Green, Ontonagon; M. W. Joyning and A. F. Koeppke, of the Peter White Land company; E. O. Stafford, representing A. Kidder and others; and A. E. Miller, representing the J. C. Ayer estate. Letters assuring co-operation in the movement were received from several large timber owners who were not able to attend the meeting.

Object of Organization.

T. A. Green was chosen for chairman of the meeting and H. C. Howe, a representative of the American Lumberman, of Chicago, was elected secretary. The forenoon session was devoted largely to an informal discussion of the proposed organization and what might be accomplished by it. It was generally agreed that the only effective way to conserve the forests and protect them from fire was through a mutual protective association, modeled after those formed in many localities in the west, which have recently been recommended by the United States forest service.

Those present agreed informally that such an association should provide for a patrol of the lands of its members, at least during the summer months, through which agency many of the causes that usually lead to forest fires could be removed and fires once started could be taken in their incipency and effectively fought before they had spread over large areas. It will be the duty of the wardens or rangers, who are employed to patrol the lands, to educate the homesteaders as to the dangers from forest fires and to recommend precautionary measures for their prevention.

The association itself will work not only for an efficient patrol of the lands of its members, but will make a campaign of education as to the dangers of forest fires and methods for their prevention. It will also lend its support to the enforcement of timber and forest fire laws now on the statute books, and to the passage of such additional legislation as may be deemed necessary for the welfare of northern Michigan and Wisconsin timber interests. The question of the rangers being authorized to arrest trespassers on the lands of the association and of the organization making a united effort to prevent trespassing by hunters, fishermen and others, was considered, but was not favorably received by a majority of those present. It was decided the wiser course to refrain from attempting to establish a forest preserve, but rather to educate hunters and fishermen to be more careful about starting fires and to prosecute violators of the state law covering such acts.

Seven Directors Elected.

The active management of the association will be in the hands of seven officers and directors, elected as follows: President, T. A. Green, Ontonagon; vice president, C. V. R. Townsend, Negaunee; secretary, T. B. Wyman, Munising; treasurer, J. E. Sherman, Marquette; C. H. Worcester, Chassell; C. A. Goodman, Marquette, and W. H. Johnston, Ishpeming, directors. These directors are expected to meet monthly during the summer season, and will be elected annually at the meeting of the members, to be held the first Tuesday in March.

The constitution and by-laws adopted provide that the association shall be incorporated under the laws of Michigan, and that owners of timber land in Michigan and Wisconsin shall be eligible to membership upon election by the association. In the meetings every member is to have an equal voice in the proceedings, but the assessments to meet the expenses of the association are to be made upon an acreage basis. The direct management of the work to be done is placed in the hands of the directors, who are authorized to employ a chief ranger, upon whom will be shouldered the immediate responsibility for the field work. This chief ranger will also have power to employ subordinate rangers, within limitations, when conditions make such employment necessary.

Most of the details of operation are yet to be worked out by the board of directors, but it is expected that the scheme will be in at least partial operation by another summer. It is stated that this is the first forest protective association to be organized east of the Rocky Mountains, with the exception of a somewhat similar association in New York state.

MODEL TAILOR SHOP.

The Crawford Company Has Installed New and Modern Furnishings.

The Crawford company, tailors, 146 West Washington street, has just put in a set of new cases for carrying and displaying stock, which are something entirely different and in advance of anything heretofore seen in this city. Instead of bolts of cloth being displayed on tables, as in the case in most tailor shops, Mr. Crawford's stock is now kept in dust proof cases or cabinets with glass fronts. Upon opening these glass doors, the shelves can be pulled so that the cloth can be seen and examined just as if it were lying on a table. The cases not only keep the stock free from dust but are much more compact than tables, giving the show room a neater appearance and affording considerably more room for selling goods, trying on garments, etc. The cases are finished in early English oak in harmony with the room furnishings and are much more attractive than tables scattered about the room. The Crawford company now has an artistic and excellently equipped sales room and a first class cutting and garment making department, through which it is able to satisfy the tastes of men who want the best in tailor made clothing.

CAMPAIGN HAS BEEN CLOSED

Today Will, for Most Part, Be Devoted to Preparations for Polling Vote.

The state campaign between the Republicans and Democrats practically came to a close Saturday. There will be a few meetings here and there this evening, but, for the most part, today will be devoted to the final preparations for getting out the vote. Locally the campaign closed with the same calm that has marked its progress. Never before has an election of equal importance been preceded by an equally uneventful canvass and never before has there been so apparent a lack of interest. What the result of it will be in total vote hardly anyone cares to predict, but it is feared the vote will be unusually light, despite efforts that will be made to get it out.

Marquette Democrats Saturday received telegrams informing them that the big meeting of the Detroit campaign, held at the Light Guard armory Friday evening, was attended by a crowd that overflowed into the street. Mr. Hemans, Mr. Doremus, the candidate for congress in the First district, and other Democratic leaders, were present, and were heartily received. Don M. Dickinson, an old warhorse of Democracy, who has taken little part in active political affairs of late years, was one of the notable figures in attendance. Secretary Canfield has urged the Marquette Democrats to dig in and get out the vote. Saturday night the Light Guard armory was the scene of another mammoth meeting, when the Republicans put the finishing touches on their Detroit campaign. Again it housed a great audience, with Mr. Osborn, Representative Townsend, and Representative Deay as the head liners.

Both Mr. Osborn and Mr. Hemans wound up the week in Detroit, and each of them addressed several meetings daily. Their partisans gave them receptions with which they professed themselves entirely satisfied. State Chairman Knox, for the Republicans, and State Chairman Shields, for the Democrats, both claim the election tomorrow of the tickets for which they have been leading the fight. Mr. Knox says he knows of no reason why he should in any way modify his estimate of 75,000 majority, as it is based on conservative reports from all the counties. Mr. Shields has not given any figures on what he expects the vote will be, but says he is confident that Mr. Hemans will have more votes than Mr. Osborn.

It is the general expectation that the vote in the state as a whole will be light. It will be heavy in Detroit and Wayne county, and throughout the Fifth and Sixth congressional districts, where warm fights have been waged, but outside these districts it is expected that the vote will run materially behind the totals of 1908.

Registration Very Light.

There was little in the registration here Saturday to hold out hopes of a heavy vote tomorrow. Only 98 voters appeared before the boards in the several wards, as follows: First, fourteen; Second, eleven; Third, thirty-one; Fourth, twenty-five; Fifth, seventeen. Of this number forty-one were voters who were transferred from ward to another, leaving but fifty-five new voters. The average registration is usually more than double that of Saturday.

CRYSTAL FALLS SUED

Antone Hurkman Seeks to Recover Extras on Paving Contract

Suit has been started in United States court at Marquette by Anton Hurkman against the city of Crystal Falls of $10,000 claimed to be due on a sewer contract carried out several years ago. It is said that Flatley Bros., are really the principals in this suit and that Hurkman is merely a foreman in their employ. Hurkman got the sewer contract in 1906, and through hard luck and possibly mismanagement, he lost money on the job.

The final bill presented to the council contained several items, which the city engineer would not approve, and the bill was shamed in accordance with the engineer's recommendations. The plaintiff claims that he had to excavate considerably more rock than was called for in the contract and that the specifications were changed as to several items that ran into money fast. Suit is brought for the original amount of the contractor's bill. The case will probably be tried next spring.

GOOD MARKSMAN MUST SHUN ALL BAD HABITS

Capt. Hardy Gave Marvelous Exhibitions Here Saturday— Science of Shooting.

Captain A. H. Hardy, champion revolver and rifle shot of the world, was in the city Saturday and gave exhibitions at Guild Hall in the forenoon and at the Town and Country club grounds in the afternoon. Captain Hardy's shooting is really wonderful and there is nothing in his exhibitions of the trick variety. Every performance is a genuine display of remarkable skill in fancy shooting, and is the result of an iron nerve and years of practice.

At the Guild Hall in the morning he entertained a large crowd of boys by shooting Indian heads on tin with rifle and revolver, as well as performing other remarkable feats. He told the boys that if they expected to become expert marksmen, they should not drink nor use tobacco in any form, as shooting requires a clear eye and steady nerves. The weather was too cold for all of the out of door program at the Town and Country club in the afternoon, but he nevertheless gave a most interesting exhibition. To show what Captain Hardy is capable of doing, several times in the past ten days he has broken six blue rocks thrown up into the air simultaneously, while lying on his back with his gun under side up.

Captain Hardy is thirty-four years old and has been shooting since he was fifteen years of age. He neither drinks nor uses tobacco and says he keeps in shape only by leading a strictly temperate life. He uses a Marlin shot gun and Peters shells and cartridge in all his exhibitions. He has promised to spend four weeks in the upper peninsula next July or August.

His title of champion of the world was won at Cheyenne, Wyo., last September. One of his performances there was to ride in an automobile at fifty miles an hour, while from another machine glass balls were thrown into the air, Captain Hardy shattering them with ball from a rifle. Concerning the science of shooting, Captain Hardy says:

"A great many people are of the opinion that rifle experts are born, and while this may be true to a certain extent, nature does not do it all. I believe a person to make a success of anything must put his soul into the work he expects to excel in. As a rule, a fondness for some particular hobby develops when one is quite young, and it is natural that he gives it particular attention. A stage shooting act is necessarily rather mechanical; the performer does not have the opportunity to extend himself as does the out of door person. Acts appearing to border on the impossible are, in many instances, fakes. There are, however, many stage shooting acts strictly legitimate and deserving of credit. It is not always the difficult stunts that appeal most to the people. Sensational turns, which, as a rule, are comparatively easy, often get the applause.

"The average looker-on thinks a good shot with a rifle or revolver should be able to hit, without a miss, every target that is thrown from a trap. This is a mistake. Trap shooting with a shot gun is entirely different from rifle work, and one can hardly combine the two and become proficient in both. Although the rifle is very difficult and is mastered by few, the revolver is the most difficult of all weapons to learn to trap. With but one hand, held at arm's length, and a short barrel to guide the bullet, the science of the revolver is easily understood. One cannot pull off the trigger of a revolver with a sudden jerk and get good results. It requires the utmost care and a gradual success in stationary shooting at long distance with either rifle or revolver is a game all by itself. This requires much practice, a steady nerve and clear eyesight."

SPECIAL HUNTERS' EXCURSION TRAIN.

The Marquette & Southeastern railway will run a special hunters' excursion train, from Marquette to Big Bay and return, on the following Sundays: November 6th, 13th and 20th. The train will leave Marquette at 6:30 a. m.; returning, will leave Big Bay at 5:00 p. m., making the usual stops between Big Bay and Marquette. As this train will not handle baggage, it will be necessary for parties having other than hand baggage to arrange to make shipments of their baggage by freight on Saturday, which will require delivery at the M. & S. E. railway freight station not later than 5:00 p. m. Friday night.
