

LOCOMOTIVE DRIVERS TO TAKE A VOTE

Possibility of a Long and Costly Strike Confronts Sixty-One Railroads West, South and North of Chicago—The South Shore Line Is One of Them.

Negotiations Regarding Pay and Better Working Conditions Result in a Deadlock, and Now the Engineers Themselves Are to Decide Question of Walkout.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—A strike vote will be taken among the engineers of sixty-one railroads west, south and north of Chicago, including the Illinois Central, following the termination today of the negotiations between the roads and the grand officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers which had been in progress since July 28.

Grand Chief Warren S. Stone, of the Brotherhood, said today that he believed the strike vote would be unanimously in favor of a suspension of work, and that the engineers would have expressed that desire by Dec. 1.

These railroad officials heard the decision of the engineers' convention at Detroit, Mich., last spring, where it was decided that the existing wage scale, in effect since February, 1907, was unsatisfactory and that working conditions had been imposed by the railroads which should be eliminated.

The general working conditions of which the engineers complain include, among other things, the following: The drivers of Mallet compound engines, which do practically all the work on the railroads, are held responsible for the safety and capability of the same engines as other engines of high power engines of much lesser capacity.

The engineers wish to be relieved of the toil of preparing their engines for travel and of caring for them after use. Switching time should be paid on a different basis.

The magnitude of the wage question is evidenced by the statement of the drivers of the railroad American locomotives that they received approximately $2,700,000 a year. The cost of the alteration of the working conditions would be less than $500,000, it was asserted.

"When the conference began," said Chairman Scott, of the conference committee, "the engineers' demands amounted to a 27 per cent increase. This finally was brought down to 17. We finally agreed to a 10 per cent increase totalling $3,840,000 for the sixty-one roads we represent, and here we both stick for was more than we could concede."

Later it was made clear that the roads which are parties to the wage conference did not include all of those west of Chicago, but the chief roads west, south and north, and from Fort William west in Canada, excepting the Willamish lines and several minor systems.

The list of the roads affected are: Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe; Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe coast lines; Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe; Beaumont Lake & Western; Canadian Pacific; Chicago Great Western; Chicago & North Western; Chicago, Burlington & Quincy; Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul; Colorado & Southern; El Paso & Southwestern; Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio; Houston, East & West Texas; Indianapolis Southern; Kansas City Southern; Louisiana Western; Miami, Apolis, St. Paul & Gulf Ste. Marie; Missouri, Kansas & Texas; Morgan's Louisiana & Texas; Northern Pacific; Oregon Short Line; Quincy, Omaha & Kansas City; St. Joseph & Grand Island; Southern Kansas & Texas; Eastern Railway of New Mexico; Baltimore & Ohio; Chicago Terminal; Canadian Northern; Chicago & Alton; Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound; Colorado & Western Indiana; Chicago Junction; Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha; Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic; Fort Worth & Denver City; Great Northern; Houston & Texas Central; Illinois Central; International & Great Northern; Kansas City Terminal; Missouri Pacific; Minnesota Transfer; Mis-

WHITE HOUSE MAIL KEEPS STAFF BUSY

Clerks at the Executive Offices Often Work Far Into the Night to Handle It—The Volume Varies, but a Fair Average Is 200 Letters Daily.

Mr. Taft More Inclined to Give His Correspondence Personal Attention Than Most of His Predecessors—How It Is Classified for His Convenience.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Letters and more letters are received every day in the executive offices. Some days there may be about a hundred; again the total of a thousand has been reached. A fair average, day in and day out, would probably be two hundred. Mondays and Tuesdays are the lightest days of the week, due perhaps to the fact that comparatively few people take their pen in hand on Sundays, the Sunday mail being usually arriving here on Mondays and Tuesdays. Of these hundreds of letters, an unusually large number is brought, in a direct way, to the personal attention of the President.

President Taft's corps of personal assistants is getting bigger. The sacred hour of 1:30 to 2:00 p. m. has arrived. Yet the president made no motions looking to an adjournment. One after another his aides and helpers began to come, casting looks as lean and hungry as Cassius's in his direction. As unobtrusively as possible they endeavored to convey to the chief executive the intelligence that the recess period was at hand. One doorkeeper, catching the president's eye, in what seemed involuntary fashion, steered his glance toward the handsome clock on the mantel, which showed its sympathy by passing silently to 1:35.

Sorted on a Bread Table. Three times a day a special messenger brings the White House mail to the executive offices. It is received in the basement, spread out on a bread table and immediately sorted. Most of the letters fall naturally into two piles, one for the president, the other for Secretary Norton. But then, also, there is a large mass of personal correspondence, that of Mrs. Taft, for instance, which is sent to her secretary, and that of the attaches of the office. Occasionally there is mail for some one not at the White House, with the request that it be forwarded. There was a letter, for example, not long ago, from a man in a northwestern state who wanted to sell the president some eggs. Not satisfied with making a bid for White House patronage the enterprising Westerner enclosed another note, designed for former President Roosevelt, with the request that it be forwarded.

Four Summaries Made of Many. The first distribution of the White House mail is completed by eight o'clock. The second arrives at noon; the third, which is usually small, at 3 p. m. The first step to be taken after sorting is the opening of the mail. The clerk who is put at this task has seen at it for more than ten years and he carries copies of the White House—Received, together with the date. If the letter is on a purely technical subject, the receiving clerk marks it for the department for which it should be referred such as "P. O.," tossing it into the box with the other papers that are to go forward to the post office department that day. But if there is anything personal in the letter, or anything in which the president might be expected to take a personal interest, different disposition is made of it. It is handed over to another clerk, who reads it carefully, and then prepares a summary of its contents. Of these summaries he makes three carbon copies, which are sent to Secretary Norton—one for the president, one for Mr. Norton, and the third for Assistant Secretary Latta. A fourth remains on the desk of the clerk for purposes of record. On it is marked the department to which letter, so that at any moment the day it may be promptly produced if desired.

The semi-daily bulletin of the contents of letters thus prepared may read about like this: A. C. Clark, lawyer, New York city, recommends X. Y. Z. for the supreme court bench. Senator Cummins writes in re-postmaster's appointment at Blank. Refers to recent correspondence. J. T. King, Boise, wants to pay his respects Friday. P. L. Neill, editor of the magazine, asks the president's opinion as regards probability of a permanent tariff tariff. D. O. Burns writes personal letter. N. L. Nelson, secretary Chamber of Commerce, invites the president to annual banquet at—on Jan. 12. Recalls that president refused year before. Laura Chasler, aged thirteen, asks for Mr. Taft's autograph.

What The Yellow Tag Means. And so on. Perhaps half a dozen letters of each mail will be sent in with summaries. These are the letters of purely personal character, or family letters, or letters requiring immediate attention, which can be given them by no one except the president or his secretary. Marked with a yellow tag, they are easily distinguishable from the others and are certain to catch the first glances of Mr. Norton or the president. This

DIETZ OUT OF JAIL FOR A MINUTE

Released on Bail, He Is at Once Arrested on a Second Warrant.

Hayward, Wis., Nov. 7.—John F. Dietz, the "Cameron dam defender," today was released from jail under bonds of $40,000, but immediately was rearrested on another charge and tonight is again in jail. Dietz was jailed on the charge of having killed Oscar Harp, a deputy, during the recent siege of the Dietz cabin at the Cameron dam. As soon as Dietz stepped out onto the porch of the jail, Sheriff Madden served a warrant for shooting Patrick McGin May 8, 1904. The attorney for Dietz entered strenuous objections and asked if that was the last of the charges against his client, but no information was given. Then he stated that bail could be furnished in any amount up to $150,000. Attorney Schultz stated that $100,000 bail for Leslie Dietz would be available in a day or two. Bail for Mrs. Dietz is available at any time, but she refuses to accept it until her husband is liberated.

Canadian Freighter Wasago a Total Loss at Copper Harbor—The Crew Safe. Houghton, Mich., Nov. 7.—The wooden steamer Wasago, of Collingwood, Ont., burned to the water's edge while in shelter in Copper Harbor Sunday morning. The crew took to the life boats and escaped with very few of their personal effects. The men boarded the steamer Westmont, a Canadian boat, which also had been forced to seek shelter. The Wasago was loaded with farm implements and barbed wire. She was owned by the Collingwood shipbuilding company and was one of the oldest boats on the lakes. She was built in 1878, was 238 feet long, with a 36-foot beam, and had a tonnage of 1,108. The boat was in charge of Captain W. A. Glass. After burning to the water's edge, the Wasago sank in thirty-five feet of water. This is the second boat to burn in that vicinity this year, the Langham meeting a similar fate a few weeks ago, at Bete De Gris.

ZEEHANDLAAR RESIDENCE AN ILL-FATED HOUSE. Los Angeles, Nov. 7.—For the second time within a week fire today nearly destroyed the house which until ten days ago belonged to Felix J. Zeehandlaar, secretary of the Merchants & Manufacturers' association. At the time the plant of the Los Angeles Times was destroyed, bombs were found in Zeehandlaar's home.

ACTOR'S UNION CONSOLIDATES WITH THE WHITE RATS. New York, Nov. 7.—Announcement was made here tonight of the consolidation of the White Rats of America and the Actors' National Union. The White Rats Actors' union is the name chosen for the combined organization. It will affiliate with the American Federation of Labor.

NEW YORK MAN'S WILL GIVES $500 DINNER TO 12 FRIENDS. New York, Nov. 7.—Twelve friends of the late Katie Siedenburg, a business man, who died last October, are directed by the terms of his will, filed today, to eat a dinner costing $500, or $14.66 2/3 a plate, at the expense of his estate. The selection of the guests is left to his executor.

CHURCH TO RAISE $1,500,000 FOR ITS FOREIGN MISSIONS. Baltimore, Nov. 7.—The general committee on foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal church ended its annual meeting here today and will meet next year at Denver, Colo. It was decided to ask the church throughout the country for $1,500,000 to prosecute mission work next year.

FALL FROM A TREE KILLS A JANESVILLE (WIS.) MAN. Janesville, Wis., Nov. 7.—Patrick T. Joyce, a former alderman, aged seventy-seven, was killed by a fall from a tree today.

CHASE OSBORN IS PICKED AS THE ONE TO WIN

Betting at Detroit Stands at 5 to 1 That He is Elected Governor Today, and at Even Money That His Plurality Will Exceed Thirty-five Thousand Votes.

"We Are Going to Knock Them Through the Ropes," Declares Colonel Roosevelt in New York—However the Wagers Are at Three to One on Dix.

Detroit, Nov. 7.—The only apparent certainty about tomorrow's election in Michigan is that the next legislature will be Republican, which will insure the election of Charles E. Townsend to succeed Senator Burrows, whom he defeated in the September primaries. Democratic State Chairman Shields predicts that his party will have at least thirty seats out of 132. Republican State Chairman Knox concedes the Democrats one senator and four members of the house.

Money Bet at Detroit. However, notwithstanding the apparent uncertainty on the state ticket, the betting today stands at 5 to 1 that Osborn is elected governor, and at even money that his plurality exceeds 35,000. The big betters are still offering 5 to 2 on money bet on the state ticket. The direct result has been at 5 to 1. One bet of $5,000 even was made today that Osborn would win by 35,000. This was at the Marquette. At the Metropole, $2,500 was laid at even that Hemans would not carry five counties. It is conceded by some Democrats that Osborn will carry Wayne county, but there has been some betting that his plurality will not exceed 8,000.

The Osborn end of the 35,000 plurality bet was laid by men who have made a canvass of the state for setting purposes, and they are offering $1,000 more on the same proposition. It will likely be taken before the night is over, as leading Democrats do not believe that Osborn will have more than 25,000 to 30,000. The betting on Denby and Doramus is at even money, with but little money being laid.

Mr. Osborn Issues a Statement. Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 7.—Chase S. Osborn tonight issued the following statement: "Because there is no reason why the Republican ticket should not be elected in its entirety by a normal Republican vote, I believe it will be elected. The voters of Michigan believe in the Republican party, because of its long record of progressive achievements, and they will support it. The intelligence of the people begins to see a realization that the policies of the Republican party and its genius for administration are necessary to the prosperous perpetuation of the state. They will insist, however, that it be true to its highest inspirations, and the party will not disappoint them. As to the exact majority, that will depend upon the number of votes cast. The majority will be in normal proportion to the votes cast."

Situation in New York. New York, Nov. 7.—The New York gubernatorial campaign of 1910 passed into history tonight with Henry L. Stimson, the Republican candidate, and Roosevelt voicing their last appeals for votes. John A. Dix spent the last day of the campaign at home. Mr. Stimson spent the day and the evening on the stump in New York city.

The Dix leaders declare that the quiet that prevailed today for their side of the campaign was itself an evidence of confidence. Chairman Rodie said: "We have not had a single message from upstate today but which indicates that everything is satisfactory." Republican Chairman Prentice said: "I am absolutely confident that we will carry an absolute ticket, and I don't think the vote will be close."

Three to One on Dix. Gossip had it today and tonight that the campaign betting odds were fluctuating between 3 to 1 on Dix and 3 1/2 to 1 on Dix. It is reported tonight that one broker had offered $20,000 to $3,000 on Dix, and had found no Stimson takers. A considerable amount of Stimson money from Buffalo appeared late this afternoon, but the askers wanted 4 to 1 and found no takers.

"We are going to knock them through the ropes," was the way that Roosevelt put it in his speeches today. He continued his attack on John A. Dix. "We'll beat them to a frazzle," said Mr. Roosevelt, in his last speech on Manhattan island tonight. "One thousand dollars to $3,000 or 10 to 20 that Dix will have 125,000 plurality found no takers at the Waldorf tonight."

Mr. Taft Going Home to Vote. Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 7.—President Taft, on his way to Cincinnati to vote, passed through here at 7:30 tonight. He announced that he had decided to spend two more summers at Beverly, Mass., and that he had signed today a two years' lease of the Peabody house there. This is a typical country gentleman's estate.

DR. CRIPPEN IS NOT TO BE HANGED TODAY

Because Two Weeks Must Intervene Between the Dismissal of an Appeal and the Carrying Out of the Sentence, His Execution Is Put Off Till Nov. 23.

Woman Who It Is Reported Might Be the Physician's Missing Wife Is Said to Be a Patient in a Sanitarium Somewhere in the Middle West.

London, Nov. 7.—It was officially announced today that Dr. Crippen would not be executed tomorrow as originally arranged, for the reason that the law provides that two weeks must elapse between the dismissal of an appeal and the carrying out of the sentence. Nov. 23 has now been fixed upon as the day for the execution.

"Belle Elmore" Under Surveillance. Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—That a woman supposed to be Belle Elmore Crippen, for whose murder Dr. Hawley Crippen is under sentence of death in London, had been under surveillance for the last five days somewhere in the Middle West was stated by the head of a private detective agency here today. He refused to state the place where he had located her, but he said she could not be interviewed and he gave the impression that she was being detained in a sanitarium. He said: "I will be able to tell by Thursday whether our clues amount to anything. I do not wish any publicity in the matter and I'm sorry the story was published this morning." It was never scored that the woman had been forwarded to Washington by people who have seen Mrs. Crippen in this country, and that the London authorities have been informed of the facts in the case.

Miller Knows Nothing of the Woman. Chicago, Nov. 7.—Byron Miller, probably the only person in Chicago or vicinity who could identify Belle Elmore if alive, said tonight that he had not been called upon to attempt to identify any woman as Mrs. Crippen. Miller returned to Chicago today from London, where he had been one of the principal witnesses in the trial of Crippen at London. He said he had heard nothing that would indicate Mrs. Crippen to be alive, and he expressed disbelief in the rumors that she was hiding in this country. Miller was named by Dr. Crippen after his arrest as an intimate friend of the actress. The physician's partner, who he believed Mrs. Crippen had fled to the United States to join Miller, Miller, who is a contractor in East Chicago, testified that he had not seen Mrs. Crippen for years.

No Action Proposed by Washington. Washington, Nov. 7.—No action is contemplated by the state department in regard to the reports that Belle Elmore Crippen is still alive and is in this country.

GRAND ARMY COURT TO PROBE THE CHARGES AGAINST M'ELROY. Washington, Nov. 7.—John E. Gillman, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, today appointed the court of inquiry requested by Past Senior Vice Commander John McElroy of this city to investigate charges which, it is alleged, were circulated against the latter at the encampment of the G. A. R. held at Atlantic City in September. The court probably will sit here in December. Mr. McElroy was a candidate for commander-in-chief, but withdrew from the race because of alleged scandalous stories which he claimed were being circulated by enemies to injure his candidacy and requested that a committee be appointed to inquire into the allegations.

CUBA'S PRESIDENT PROPOSES REVISION OF THE TARIFF. Havana, Nov. 7.—The Cuban congress convened this afternoon. In his message, President Gomez recommends a general revision of the tariff, especially looking to the protection of the Cuban manufacturers of papers, soap, bottles, shoes and textiles. The exports during the first six months of 1910 exceeded those for the same period last year by $29,000,000. The lottery, which it was estimated would bring a net revenue of $2,000,000, returns a revenue of more than four millions.

OIL TRUST THE DEFENDANT IN AN IMPORTANT SUIT. Jackson, Tenn., Nov. 7.—The Standard Oil company of Indiana will be brought to the bar of the federal court here Wednesday to answer to alleged violations of the Sherman anti-trust law. The case is considered of equal importance to the suits heard in Chicago by Judge Landis. In the event of conviction on all the counts, the maximum penalty possible aggregates $30,084,000. The minimum is $1,524,000.

STEEL PILING TO BE USED IN RAISING THE MAINE. Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—A train of fifty cars carrying 1,500 tons of steel piling to be used in the work of raising the battleship Maine in Havana harbor arrived here today from Buffalo. The piling will be sent to Havana on a steamship sailing from this port.

OHIO BANK BURGLARIZED. Mettmore, O., Nov. 7.—Crackmen blew the safe of the Home Savings bank this morning and escaped with $2,000.

WALL STREET MARKET IS SEMI-STAGNANT

Volume of the Trading the Day Preceding the Election Shows a Shrinkage.

New York, Nov. 7.—The stock market came to the eye of the elections in a state of semi-stagnation. How far that action was due to solicitude over the political outcome and how far to renewed consideration of possible further unfavorable developments in other directions, no one could say. The shrinkage in the volume of the transactions made it clear that the time was considered inopportune for a large extension of speculative commitments. Union Pacific came forward into greater relative prominence, supplanting Reading in the position second to United States Steel. The proportion of the Steel total dealings was maintained at near one-third and the combined dealings in Union Pacific and Reading exceeded slightly the transactions in Steel. The reason for the increased attention given Union Pacific was not forthcoming beyond the assertion that buyers who were influential in last week's movement in Steel had diverted a large share of their activity into the railroad stock. The market closed irregular, but with renewed upbidding of Union Pacific for sustaining purposes.

The data of the Copper Producers' association for October were a distinct disappointment of the more sanguine expectations which had been fostered by market tips for some time past. The publication also was made in advance of the usual period for its appearance, with the result of suggesting a purpose to hasten the disclosure of its contents. The early publication coincided with an active circulation of new rumors concerning the copper industry. The copper stocks were reduced to the extent of 9,331,800 pounds during October but this compares with a decrease of 20,287,531 pounds in September. The production in October was almost seven million pounds greater than in September, and the daily averages as well as the total expanded. The deliveries for the same period fell off, especially those for export, which were 6,000,000 pounds below those in September. Thus the result of the promised curtailment of production is still further postponed. The effect of this showing on the copper industrialists was neutralized by revived rumors of the harmonization of the principal American copper interests.

Grains Close at Small Declines. Chicago, Nov. 7.—Under a scattered fire of selling by the best buyers among last week's shorts, the wheat market developed weakness today and closed at a net decline of a shade to 3/4 c. There was no apparent support from the large operators who previously had been working for an advance. The demand for wheat from any source was limited the entire day. On the other hand the supply from big short-sellers and from some of the longs seemed to be constantly increasing. The world shipments were liberal, the supplies on ocean passage heavy and the Canadian visible supply greatly enlarged. The statement of the amount of wheat in stock in the United States, too, had a total still mounting, though slowly. The tone at the close was firm, owing to the assertions of export sales at New York. The December opened at 80 1/2 c. Fine weather and fear of a bearish report from the government Wednesday weakened the corn market. The close was 1/4 c. lower, the December at 46 1/2 c. 4 1/2 c. In the oats pit, the speculative offerings were light and there was a fairly good demand. The close was unchanged to 1/4 c. the December at 31 1/2 c. 3 1/2 c.

THE WEATHER

Washington, Nov. 7.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Snow furries, Tuesday and Wednesday; moderate northwesterly winds, becoming variable.

Joe Horan, at Atlanta, Travels 250 Miles at the Rate of 72 Miles an Hour. Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 7.—Joe Horan, going steadily at seventy-two miles an hour in a Lozier car, won the 250-mile speedway grand prize here today, together with $3,000 in cash. Burman (Marquette-Buck) was second. Horan's time was 3 hours, 26 minutes and 15.10 seconds. Burman finished one minute and six seconds behind. Joe Matson, in a Simplex, was third. Horan set a new American record for the distance. His time beats the previous record of 4 hours, 38 minutes and 57 seconds, made by Burman (Buck) at Indianapolis Aug. 19, 1909, and comes within four minutes of equalling the world's record for 300 miles made by Brooklans of England.

Aviator Latham Earns $5,500. Baltimore, Md., Nov. 7.—In the aviation meet here today, Hubert Latham made a 25-mile trip in an airplane over the city, thereby securing the $5,000 prize offered by the Sun and the Evening Sun. There was a short detour from his course for the benefit of Ross Winnans, a wealthy invalid who had been leaving his home and who offered an additional $500 if Latham would come within his range of vision. Latham accomplished this. He varied the altitude from 400 to 2,000 feet. He used a 50-horsepower Antoinette and was in the air thirty-four minutes, making a stop after leaving the field until he returned there. It is estimated that the flight, which is understood to establish a record for over-city flying, was witnessed by half a million people.

HARRY LEWIS KNOCKS OUT "FIGHTING DICK" NELSON. Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 7.—In a fight claimed to be for the welterweight championship of the world, Harry Lewis of New York knocked out "Fighting Dick" Nelson here tonight. The end came in the second round of a scheduled eighteen-round bout. Lewis was about fifteen pounds heavier than Nelson and was the master of the fight at every stage.

The Weather. Washington, Nov. 7.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Snow furries, Tuesday and Wednesday; moderate northwesterly winds, becoming variable.

DON'T FORGET TO VOTE!

The upper peninsula expects every man to do his duty.

Now for a good pull to get out the vote. This means you.

Mrs. Dr. Crippen, if she's alive, should hurry into the limelight. There isn't much time to lose.

Among the various political forecasts are to be found predictions to suit even the most varied tastes.

Fix your eye on the colonel. Observe him coming up smiling and showing all his teeth, no matter what the count says.

After today "the cost of living" argument will get a little rest, but it will continue to be a live question with the housewives.

The Democratic senate may be possible, but at the same time the most optimistic Dem will have to admit that it is most improbable.

The matter of not the least interest in connection with the day's unpleasantness is the place where Mr. Hearst and his Independence league will get off at.

Yale and Chicago are brothers in adversity. In their respective sphere of action they have been going through the most disastrous football seasons they have ever known.

Either Chairman Knox or Chairman Shields is many miles off the way. As far as The Mining Journal is concerned, it has considerable confidence in the political acumen of Chairman Knox.

If Saginaw fails to turn up an average vote today, it will, at least, have a good excuse to offer. It can point to the smallpox epidemic as a reason why the electorate was afraid to go to the polls.

Muskegon lays claim to the youngest stump orator in the state. He's only twenty-two. What do the audiences who have been listening to him think? Has he been thoroughly baked in the oven of experience?

The Ishpeming football team returned from its engagement at Menominee "badly used up," with one player sporting a fractured arm and another a broken nose. The game must have been played under the old rules.

A Detroit man has waged $5,000 even that Osborn will be elected by 35,000, and there's another $1,000 that says he will win. Here's one political wisecrack who has an abiding faith that this is a Republican year, in Michigan at least.

The great Democratic rally in the Light Guard armory at Detroit, with such old warhorses as Don M. Dickinson on deck, was the most enthusiastic rally of the campaign, barring the Republican rally at the same place the succeeding evening.

Judge Baldwin, of Connecticut, says he is surely going to sue the colonel for alleged slander uttered in the course of the campaign. If the judge should be pressed, at any stage of the proceedings, for the ready money to carry them on, it's a cinch that he would have no trouble getting all the aid he might need.

We don't know what's on the cards about the office of state highway commissioner, but we are of the opinion that the state would be a clear gainer if Horatio S. Earle was again installed at the head of the department. His zeal for the good roads movement is undiminished, and he knows how to get results, too.

Poor old Yale. It looks as if there wouldn't be much credit for Harvard in beating her this year. But Harvard, as it looks over the record of football scores since the inception of the game, is not in a mood to show mercy. It has still to do a lot of winning before it evens up the count.

A single British grown apple was sold in Covent Garden, London, recently at public auction. It brought $70 "after spirited bidding." The weight of this valuable pippin (if it was a pippin) was twenty-seven ounces and its circumference sixteen and one-half inches. Thus in size it compared not unfavorably with the cantaloupe or pumpkin. It was, in fact, the record holder of the season. We don't recollect at the moment what is the record of the biggest American apple, but if less than London's 1910 pippin it is time our fruit growers waked up. It would be too bad to be beaten by the British in our own specialty.

O'Laughlin, writing in the Chicago Tribune, says that Vice President Sherman is the most distinguished bolter in the state of New York. It is most unlikely that the next Republican national convention will impress the M. D. B. into service for another run for the exalted office he now holds.

Secretary Lord of the state tax commission, who hopes to be elected a member of the house from Detroit, plans to introduce a bill that will require the mining companies to make more detailed reports. The mining companies will doubtless be much pleased to oblige Mr. Lord, the legislature and the state officials in a little thing like that.

Senator Smith has landed Colonel Roosevelt as one of the orators for the famous Lincoln day banquet at Grand Rapids. Evidently the senator feels certain that nothing that can happen today will in the least impair the colonel's drawing power as a banquet headliner. The Grand Rapids Lincoln Republican club doesn't go in for dead ones.

The high price prevailing for butter of late has had the effect of greatly increasing the production and sale of oleomargarine. The records of the internal revenue department show that never before has an equal number of tons of this product been manufactured as during the past year. The increase in output has been accompanied by a decrease in the frauds by means of which the tax on colored oleomargarine has been evaded. This is attributed to the effective work of the flying squadron of revenue officials, who do nothing but search the country for violations of the law. It is very profitable to dodge the tax on colored oleomargarine, but it is highly dangerous as well, as the records of convictions in federal courts show.

"Confused and archaic" was the way in which President Taft referred to the estimates annually presented to congress by the various government departments. He was speaking to officers from the different departments, who compose the committees which are conducting an investigation started by the president recently, having for its purpose economy and efficiency in the government's administration. He suggested that this year "the proposed expenditures be reclassified and thus reduced to a scientific basis, so that there may be some common understanding as to what is meant when appropriations are asked for." He expressed the opinion that the government methods which are criticized were not due to lack of zeal or willingness on the part of the civil servants.

The University of Michigan and Notre Dame have severed athletic relations. Michigan did the severing, when it called off last Saturday's football game. The Michigan athletic authorities charged that Notre Dame violated the agreement existing between the institutions by proposing to play men not eligible for football because they had been playing the game too long. Notre Dame defended the eligibility of the men whose status was questioned but the Michigan authorities were sure they were right and refused to give any ground. The baseball games with Notre Dame will be missed by Michigan, which still remains outside the conference fence, but it expects to make good for this loss somewhere. The Notre Dame teams always command respect as adversaries. It's too bad that the Notre Dame athletic managers do not stiffen up their requirements for athletics, so that no questions about the eligibility of their men can be raised.

MISGUIDED FRIENDS. If the Republicans lose the house of congress today, if the Democrats are victorious in New York and in Ohio, and win, as well, many minor elections, misguided friends of President Taft will be largely responsible. These "fair weather" friends are insisting in every state and district where the Republicans have their backs to the wall that it is not the Taft administration, but Theodore Roosevelt, or the progressives, or somebody else or something else, that goes on trial today, and, while protesting their devotion to President Taft, they are engaged in doing everything in their power to bring about the thing that will most damage his prestige—a Democratic year in the middle of his administration.

President Taft knows full well what is at stake today. He sees clearly that if the Republicans suffer a severe reverse at the polls he, and not Theodore Roosevelt or the progressives, or any other man or body of men, will be the principal sufferer. He knows that a Democratic house would effectively stop for a period of two years constructive legislation to which he is looking forward hopefully as a means of dispelling popular misapprehensions regarding his strength and his ability. He has sent his cabinet officers out to drive in this point in every doubtful state, and they have been doing so eloquently, presenting arguments in accord with those given by Senator Root in New York.

What impression they have made the results today will show. It is to be feared that it is not all it should be. Mr. Taft's Republican-Democratic friends seem dead set on fighting bugaboos this year. In New York they are so obsessed with the idea that they have a chance to administer a rebuke to Roosevelt that they have turned what might be practically assurance of success into probable defeat. Throughout the country they are sulking, if not openly "bolting," but they are all the while telling what a great man President Taft is and how desirable and important it is that he be upheld. These men are almost invariably men who sympathized with the faction of the Republican party to which Mr. Taft turned for counsel and support at the opening of the tariff session of congress. They, of all men, owe him most, for he gave them most of his confidence. Yet they have created the critical situation in the Republican party. The progressives are standing for party nominees the country over, and are according the party tickets comparatively loyal support.

If President Taft is led to slaughter today he will be led there as a vicarious sacrifice by those ostensible friends of his, whose assertions of admiration and support appear in strange contrast to their thinly veiled and hardly denied treachery. What will come after? They have given little thought to that. Perhaps they will be tremendously surprised and chagrined when they find out what it is. There is, at this late day, more hope than confidence that their mischief-working efforts will be made to go for naught by the voters whose political eyesight is infinitely better than their's.

THE STATE PRESS.

Perhaps the meat trust will relent and knock down a few prices, so that the people may have a suitable Thanksgiving.—Pontiac Press Gazette.

It is now asserted that the Cubans and not the Spaniards blew up the battleship Maine. Goodness, have we got to fight that war over again?—Saginaw News.

It is charged that Mr. Hemans used a railroad pass. Well, he was only a legislator. Not being a football player, he couldn't use the forward pass on the direct pass.—Flint Journal.

HERE AND THERE.

Many of the restrictions that hampered the influence of the press remained in force until the close of the eighteenth century in England. It was not until that period that newspapers obtained the right to criticize the policy of ministers and of the king. Mr. Walter, the first editor of the London Times, was prosecuted for censuring the duke of York. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $250, stand in the pillory for an hour, be imprisoned for a year and give security for his good behavior for seven years. The order with regard to the pillory was canceled, but he had to serve his term in jail.

"Spotted fever" received some queer treatment in John Wesley's day, according to Wesley's Journal of September, 1746. A man named John Trembath had the fever and Wesley wrote: "It was the second relapse into the spotted fever, in the height of which they gave him, sack, cold milk and apples, plums, as much as he could swallow. I can see no way to account for his recovery, but that he had not yet finished his work."

When President Taft goes down to Central America to inspect the Panama canal he is going to break a determination made some time ago and kept faithfully. Mr. Taft has accepted an invitation extended by C. C. Arosemena, minister from the republic of Panama, to visit that republic when he is looking over the canal. Colonel Roosevelt visited the Panama republic when he went down to see the canal several years ago, but President Taft had determined not to set foot outside of United States territory. It will be the first time since he became president that Mr. Taft has gone outside this country or left the protection of the American flag, with the exception of the time when he crossed the Rio Grande to meet President Diaz of Mexico.

Cholera was first recognized by the Portuguese in India as far back as the middle of the sixteenth century. It has the peculiarity of following a well-defined route, with a progress just equal to that of an average journey on foot.

Samuel Johnson's house in Gough square is not the only historic English residence to be offered for sale at this time. Pitt House, or "Widdows," as it was originally called, is shortly to be under the hammer. It was to this mansion on Hampstead Heath, then the property of Lord North, that the Great commoner retired in August, 1766, within a few days of his double elevation to the premier ship and the earldom of Chatham, and it was here that he remained in quietude more or less mysterious seclusion, that bore no good for either England or America. Pitt's apartments are said to be as they were, with the ruts made by the wheels of his invalid chair showing in the floor. The oak cupboard in which he kept his state papers is also preserved.

A LAUGH OR TWO. A Truthful Angler. It isn't often that a man is taken seriously or is given much credit when he tells a fish story, but Dr. Ellis Dunbar, coroner of Jefferson county, has proven an exception to the rule. Friends are saying that a message he was on a trip in Michigan shows him to be an exceptionally truthful man at all times and under any circumstances. It reads as follows:

"Near Petoskey, Mich.—Here's the home of the pickerel, well-eyed pike, and bass. They seemed satisfied and stayed there. The card contained a picture of the crooked river.—Louisville Times.

In Solvent. A young storekeeper who had failed the previous day was so diffident about meeting his creditors that he gave his wife the following instructions:

"Now, Marie, if any one rings, you answer the door and tell them that I'm not in. I'll hide."

LOWER STATE NOTES.

MONROE—Rudolph Adams, proprietor of a feed store in Toledo, and William Schomaker, also of Toledo, were arrested here charged with violation of the game laws. Three partridges were found in their rig. They pleaded guilty before Judge Mathews, paid a small fine and were discharged.

PORT HURON—Jacob Lesmer, aged twenty-nine, fell downstairs at his home on St. Clair street and died from a fractured skull. Lesmer was unmarried and was employed as a laborer. A physician was summoned, but the man's injuries were not at first regarded as serious.

LANSING—Governor Warner has appointed Miss Jessie Leese, a nurse in the Northern Michigan asylum, at Traverse City, a member of the state board of registration of nurses. The position was made vacant a few weeks ago by a decision of the supreme court, which held that Miss Alfreda Galbraith, of Cheboygan, could not hold the position on account of not having had the necessary experience in a training school for nurses.

SAGINAW—Sheriff Schulz believes he will have to wait until March for his money from the county just because he is not in with the party in power. The sheriff handed in his bill for payment to the treasurer for October and he was informed that the funds available for his office were exhausted and he would not receive any money until March, when the state was paid. The sheriff is a Democrat, the board of county auditors and treasurer are all Republicans, and he figures that they did not tell him of the condition of affairs until after the board of supervisors adjourned, so that every means of securing money was cut off. All justices of the peace also are affected by the condition.

SAGINAW—Louis Potvin of Zilwaukee, made a drinking spree in Zilwaukee, Mich., on the 2-4-10, and he suffered mentally and physically. Just as one of the interurban cars pulled out of Zilwaukee he managed to catch hold of the rear end and had neither hand nor foot. His first words were "Oh, please, conductor, get me to Saginaw as fast as you can!" After several minutes of waiting some one in the car managed to extract from him that he had taken a drink of formaldehyde. When it was known the predicament he was in the car crew opened up their eyes. The man in the car turned into Saginaw Potvin jumped out and raced into Dr. Grube's drug store, where he was relieved. Shortly after Potvin returned home as well as ever.

LAPER—Mrs. Joe Hodgson, aged seventy-two, died suddenly at her home of heart failure. She had been living alone, but within the last few days had rented a few rooms to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cole, who were with her when she died. Mrs. Hodgson had prophesied she would die suddenly, and had made all preparations, money having been found in an addressed envelope for her only daughter, Mrs. John Schram, who lives in Wayne. On arising she found Robert Hixon, a suitor, in her room. Mrs. Cole, saying she felt very ill, Dr. O'Brien was summoned, but she died before he arrived.

CADILLAC—Dirt begrimed and abusing the engineer, Miss Kate Parker, of nowhere in particular, was taken from the pilot of a G. R. & A. passenger train at midnight at Kalkaska and turned over to the sheriff. The train all the way from Mackinac City, passing through Petoskey without detection. The exact status of the estate will not be known for several weeks, as the liabilities have not been tabulated and investigation of some of the claims will render them exceedingly difficult for the commissioners to sift, and it is not unlikely that litigation will intervene before the estate is finally settled. RAY CITY—The Michigan Sugar company's recent "melon cutting" and the assumption that the independent beet sugar plants are doing the same stunt in dividend paying, is directly responsible for the organization in Bay county of the Michigan Beet Growers' association. The farmers announce that when the factories have a good campaign, as will be indicated by the condition of the beet crop at its outset, they will ask increased prices for their beets. When a bad year comes along they will get along with the scale now paid. The farmer now gets $4.50 for beets containing 12 per cent sugar and 2 1/2 cents per ton additional for every additional 1 per cent of sugar the beets contain, as shown by laboratory tests. The $4.50 rate is seldom paid nowadays, as through advancement in beet sugar culture the farmers seldom raise beets of less than 14 per cent sugar content. Bay county is the largest beet raising county in the United States, and the three Bay City factories make this city the largest beet sugar manufacturing city in the county. The local farmers believe that with this prestige their example will be followed by farmers throughout Michigan.

MEALY BUGS RALLY FORCES. Government's Lady Beetles Threatened With Defeat After All.

New Orleans, Nov. 7.—With victory almost won, it now appears that the government forces at the sugar experiment station here and their army of lady beetles will go down before the combined forces of the mealy bugs and ants.

The mealy bugs do thousands of dollars of damage yearly in the cane fields, living on the sap of the maturing stalk. The lady beetles, brought from California, have been playing havoc with the bugs. The ants are fond of sugar, but they are helpless to go at the sap without the aid of the mealy bugs in puncturing the cane. Professor T. C. Barber, entomologist at the experiment station, has discovered that millions of ants are removing mealy bugs from the stalks of cane on which the beetle larvae had been deposited and that the ants are taking the bugs to a part of the field free from the beetles.

Professor Barber says that this may sound like "natural faking," but all the ants that double once visit the station and view the operations of the ants for themselves.

THE SOCIETY GIRL'S IDEALS. "What sort of a man would I marry? Well, in the first place he'd have to be successful. Not terribly rich, though, because I have money of my own. Say $5,000 a year and good prospects. Don't care how he makes it, but he must be a good spender and have plenty of small talk. Dress in the style of the day, but in our set have to dress well or the girls wouldn't look at them. As for his principles and so on, I'm not awfully straightlaced, you know. What I absolutely insist on is that he does not get drunk in public."

The speaker, Miss Winnie M., says Robert Hixon, suitor, in Success station, was a popular member of the Smart Set in the large northeastern city which she called home. She was tall, slender, animated, with a charming flashing blue eyes. She was the only child of a millionaire and barely twenty-three.

"Of course I'd like him older," she continued. "About fifteen years older would do. The elderly ones give a girl a better position, and I wouldn't mind if he were a widower—either grass or soil. I know lots and lots of divorced people. And of course if I did get hit off with my husband I'd not be long about getting a divorce."

"Would I prefer remaining single to marrying a man I didn't love? The great eyes opened in naive astonishment. "Why don't you know that after a few years, if a girl doesn't marry, she simply has no position at all. Love is all very nice, of course, but it isn't really necessary for marriage."

"Children! Oh, yes. I'd want one or two, but no more. Heredity? Now what does that word mean, anyway?"

The average income demanded by the Smart Set girl, on which to start married life, is $7,000 a year and excellent prospects. Besides that, as a rule, she expects to have money of her own. "I simply couldn't be happy," declares a spoiled child of fortune in the middle west, "without certain luxuries such as opera seats, trained servants to care for me, and beautiful surroundings. I simply couldn't ride in the trolley cars. It may seem snobbish, but it's a fact. I hate crowds, and one cannot have privacy without money."

A WOMAN'S FEED HOPPER. As I could not afford to buy feed hoppers for my chickens, I determined to make them myself, writes "A. M. J." in the Rural New Yorker. I got shoe boxes about four feet long and one foot wide, took off the sides and top, next put strips on the ends of box, having them flush with top corners on top, and each strip slanting in about three inches on the bottom. Then I sawed off side boards so they will just fit between the ends, allowing them to go down within two inches of bottom of box, I nailed these boards to the slanting strips that had been fastened to the ends. Copper Country

DULUTH NOT IN A POSITION TO JOIN

ONTONAGON COUNTY HAS A BIG FUTURE

Likes the Idea of a Hockey League but Is Without a Suitable Rink.

Eventually Will Be the Center of the Lake Superior Copper Mining Industry.

A. L. Ferguson and W. L. Murdoch, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., formerly at the head of the hockey organization in the Wolverine city, are anxious for the formation of a league which shall include the American and Canadian Soo, Duluth, Houghton, Calumet and the Twin Cities, says the Duluth News-Tribune. At their instigation letters have been sent to leaders in the sport in the copper country, the head of the lakes and the Twin Cities.

Within two or three decades, it is predicted, the center of Michigan's copper country will shift to Ontonagon county. Houghton is now the financial center of the region, Calumet, with its great mines, is the mining center and the metropolis. The South Range field has come into prominence and added to both, but all will be surpassed, it is declared, by Ontonagon county with its prospects.

The movement is favored among the hockey enthusiasts in Duluth, but it is improbable that this city will be able to join with the others because there is no suitable place to hold the games. Duluth has no enclosed rink and there is no probability of obtaining one this winter. This drawback alone is sufficient to kill any chances of getting in the league.

The Phoenix team of St. Paul was up here last winter there was some talk of forming a circuit similar to the one proposed by the Soo men, but the local players held out as they anticipated they would have no suitable place for the contests.

When interviewed one of the officials of the local hockey league said yesterday, "If some of the local people would devote the same energy to the building of a new rink that the outsiders do to forming leagues, we would have a first class circuit this year with prospects for a letter one in 1911-12."

Houghton's South Range district, with the Copper Range Consolidated's mines, will merely add to the last and importance of the Ontonagon district, where for years mines have been operated but not in the right manner, and where fortunes have been sunk and lost but are about to be recovered.

When interviewed one of the officials of the local hockey league said yesterday, "If some of the local people would devote the same energy to the building of a new rink that the outsiders do to forming leagues, we would have a first class circuit this year with prospects for a letter one in 1911-12."

People of both the American and Canadian Soo are enthusiastic supporters of the game, and there is every reason to believe this great winter sport can be the enjoyment of Soothers this season. There are three or four of the old league players still in the Soo, and with the other promising material to be drawn from, it is believed that few players from outside places would be necessary to supply a full quota for a fast squad.

You Can Work Near a Window in winter when you have a Perfection Oil Heater. It is a portable radiator which can be moved to any part of a room, or to any room in a house. When you have a you do not have to work close to the stove, which is usually far from the window. You can work where you wish, and be warm. You can work on dull winter days in the full light near the window, without being chilled to the bone.

The Perfection Oil Heater quickly gives heat, and with one filling of the font, burns steadily for nine hours, without smoke or smell. An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap, put in like a cork in a bottle, is attached by a chain. This heater has a cool handle and a damper top.

The Perfection Oil Heater has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back, so the wick can be quickly cleaned. The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged and can be unsewed in an instant for reworking. The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel, is strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

Standard Oil Company (Incorporated)

During the two years that the Houghton-South interests have had control of the Live Oak property they have, it is said, developed 10,000,000 tons of low-grade ore which will average fully 2 per cent in copper content. The ore has a great depth, so that extraction by the adit system was employed. At present no underground work is being done, but the three chum drills are continuing to get encouraging results. The drills apparently have reached the ore body is 1,600 feet long and has an average width of from 400 to 600 feet, the average thickness being about 100 feet. These figures do not allow for any extension of ore beyond the limits already set by the chum drills which have not yet penetrated beyond ground in a single instance. It is said that in almost every instance the ore is continuous between the various chum drill holes and vertical shafts.

ISLE ROYALE.

Operations on Isle Royale's lode are showing steady and continuous expansion. Sinking was recently resumed in No. 4 shaft to a depth of about 1,000 feet. Plans call for resumption of sinking in shafts Nos. 5 and 6 next season, which, together with No. 4, have been bottomed at an average depth of about 1,000 feet for more than a year past. Drifting has progressed all this time without a stop and, in consequence, ground reserves have been materially increased in these shafts. The No. 4 shaft, now down to the twenty-ninth level, the mill continues to treat around 1,600 tons of rock daily and is securing a yield of between fifteen and eighteen pounds of copper per ton of rock stamped. Activity in the Baltic horizon on this property is confined to testing that formation for values at depth. Several cores showing copper in small quantity have been taken in widespread operations through some indicated ground of more than ordinary promise. This work is being done within a few hundred feet of the boundary of the Houghton Copper company.

SUPERIOR & GLOBE.

The annual report of Superior & Globe shows that the company has cash on hand amounting to $13,101. According to the report, the finances will allow the prosecution of work with the diamond drill for several months longer, and this should afford ample time to demonstrate the worth and character of the different lodes at depth. According to the statement the diamond drill should reach a depth of 1,200 feet after about 200 feet more drilling. At this point the culmination of the work should be looked forward to with great interest. So far, Superior & Globe has cut two veins—No. 1, known as the Yuma, and the second, designated as No. 2. Both are a moderate size, although they carry no mineral ore. The management is extremely hopeful of encountering ore at depth, and every effort is being bent to attain this end with the most economical expenditures possible. Superior & Globe has outstanding 245,000 shares of stock.

CONGRATULATED AT THE SOO.

"Pat" Cook, Married Recently, a Son of the Lock City.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo P. Cook of Houghton, who were married a week ago and had since been in Chicago, arrived at the Soo yesterday for a few days' visit at Mr. Cook's old home there. Concerning the bridegroom, the Soo Times says: Leo P. Cook, for a number of years a prominent and popular Soo newspaper man but for the past three-quarters of a decade engaged as a journalist in the copper country, has been initiated as a somewhat tardy member of the knights of the benefactors. The wedding took place at Houghton last Monday morning and Mrs. Anna C. Kettenbell of Houghton was the bride.

"Pat" as he is familiarly known by his army of friends scattered throughout the upper peninsula, is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Cook, Soo pioneers, who reside on Ridge street in that city. "Pat" graduated from the Soo High school and entered the field of newspapering at an early age. His unique and clever style used to contribute spice and flavor to the weekly Soo Democrat in the earlier days, and when Cook took a notion to separate himself from the Soo and since that time has been located in the copper country and employed as a writer of good stuff for statements of those who have denominated it a "good prospect." Possibly the engineer was not drawing a hair-line distinction as between a "mine" and a "prospect," but in any event despite the mistakes of the past, he is apparently convinced that Lake is better than a 1 per cent proposition, and several mines at Lake Superior are paying dividends on a 12 1/2-cent copper market from rock running very much less than twenty pounds of copper per ton.

FRANKLIN.

Development work in the Pewabic levels first class copper ground in the twenty-sixth to the thirtieth levels over conditions generally in the older openings nearer the surface. At the twentieth level, the twenty-third and in the steps of the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth levels first class copper ground is in evidence. The drifts both ways below these points are also in excellent copper ground, particularly those at the thirtieth level. Several of these drifts below the twentieth are into the Rhode Island tract and expose commercial ground at all points. The shaft to which these drifts are tributary is sinking about seventy-feet below the thirtieth level. The No. 13 shaft next south is temporarily bottomed at the sixteenth level, and at the fifteenth level is connected by a long drift with the Copper No. 1 shaft. A drift is now being made between these shafts at the twenty-third level and will eventually connect both shafts. The company is making no attempt at production and is doing only enough stopping to bring the tonnage secured from opening work up to around 500 tons daily in order to keep one steam stamp working full time.

LIVE OAK.

During the two years that the Houghton-South interests have had control of the Live Oak property they have, it is said, developed 10,000,000 tons of low-grade ore which will average fully 2 per cent in copper content. The ore has a great depth, so that extraction by the adit system was employed. At present no underground work is being done, but the three chum drills are continuing to get encouraging results. The drills apparently have reached the ore body is 1,600 feet long and has an average width of from 400 to 600 feet, the average thickness being about 100 feet. These figures do not allow for any extension of ore beyond the limits already set by the chum drills which have not yet penetrated beyond ground in a single instance. It is said that in almost every instance the ore is continuous between the various chum drill holes and vertical shafts.

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS.

The dividend of $1 a share just declared on St. Mary's Mineral Land company stock is the first cash declaration since January, 1909. A distribution of Franklin stock, however, was made last March when St. Mary's stockholders received one share of Franklin for each five shares of St. Mary's stock.

The terms under which the Pittsboro property was acquired by the East Butte company provided that the indebtedness on the Pittsboro property should be paid on Dec. 1, 1910. Owing to unfavorable conditions which have been prevailing in the copper market for the last two years, however, the Pittsboro people have extended the time of payment until Dec. 1, 1911, so that the East Butte will have another year to make its financial plans to complete the merger.

The arrangements between Anaconda and Raven provide that Raven may mine the rich ore bodies in the Snoozer mine and may thoroughly develop that property. Ex-Mayor Mullins, who sank the Snoozer shaft years ago, declares there is a large silver ore body in the workings of the bottom of the shaft that will pay big profits from the start.

The heavy sales of copper are bound to have a most favorable effect upon the statistical position of the metal in the immediate future, particularly as the deliveries will be made in the months in which the refinery outputs will reflect the restricted scale of production in the various copper mining centers in the past three months. The curtailment of production is variously estimated at from 12 per cent to 15 per cent, in addition to which there have been a number of suspensions of operations at smaller properties pending a return of a more favorable market. It is reasonably safe, therefore, to assume that the present monthly production of copper does not exceed 105,000,000 pounds.

Considerable interest is attached to the sinking of the new Wolverine shaft on the Osceola lode. The shaft is being pushed down rather slowly at the present time due to the fact that the temporary equipment is being installed, but this work will soon be finished and sinking can then progress rapidly. The Wolverine management, through exploratory work, has confidence in the Osceola vein and expects that the new shaft will be a profitable producer within another year. In the meantime the old mine continues to uphold the remarkable record made by the company during the past decade.

The Warrior Development company is continuing development work and ore extraction with about seventy-five men. The ore being sent to the Old Dominion smelter at the rate of ninety-four tons daily averages about 9 1/2 per cent copper. Much of the commercial material is being taken from the west end of the mine and practically all the ore is being extracted from the 250 and 300-foot levels. It is the intention to put a chum drill at work on Warrior land shortly after the first of the year. This work will be a continuance of that carried on during the early part of this year and indicates point to the possibility of a large production of high-grade sulphide ore from the Warrior ground.

At Ely there are still only two properties producing copper—the Nevada Consolidated and Cumberland-Ely. Gilron is still in the preparatory stage but is considerably nearer the production point than a year ago. It now has its big Giroux shaft sunk, will soon have its pump plant installed, and will also have its levels opened to the rich Alpha shaft deposits and will then be in a position to do mining. The feeling is that Giroux will make good. It has very good smelting ores that can be very cheaply mined and its ores also carry valuable precious metal values. Aside from Giroux there is nothing else near by that looks like a producer for some time to come, all other properties being explorations pure and simple. Giroux practically owns all the mineral ground in the two miles later-

Asks Damages of $10,000.

Mayme White, a Menominee young lady, has started an action against the Menominee & Marinette Light & Traction company for $10,000 damages. The complaint alleges that last June the plaintiff was alighting from a street car in Marinette when the car was suddenly started and she was thrown fifteen feet. She alleges that she sustained serious injuries. The action will be tried in the circuit court.

Doctors Choose Officers.

At the annual meeting of the Schoolcraft County Medical society last week, the following officers for the coming year were elected: President, Dr. A. S. Harkewell; secretary-treasurer, Dr. G. M. Livingston; directors, Dr. Baiter, Nelson and Saunders; delegate to state meeting, Dr. G. M. Livingston. The society will make an effort to organize an anti-tuberculosis society along the lines laid down by the Michigan State association.

Can't Explain the Accident.

Charles Griffith, engineer at the furnace at Newberry, was quite badly injured in an accident that occurred in the engine room the other evening. Mr. Griffith himself is not quite clear as to how it happened. He was working about the dynamo and it is thought he received a slight shock that threw him against some part of the machinery. When he recovered his senses he was lying on the floor with a bad gash in his head which was bleeding profusely. His injuries are not serious and he will be able to resume his work shortly.

Two Mining Accidents.

Peter Polavic, an Austrian miner, fell from the eighth level to the twenty-first level of the Eureka mine at last evening, and was instantly killed. Polavic was late in arriving at the shaft, and accompanied the last cage of men to go into the mine that night. He got off with the others at the eighth level, and a signal was given to hoist the cage to the eighth level in order that the shaftman might inspect the shaft before hoisting was started. Polavic crawled under the gate in an attempt to get on the cage, which he evidently thought was to be lowered to the twentieth level, where he was working. He fell into the shaft an instant after the cage was started toward the eighth level. The facts as stated were brought out at the coroner's inquest. Polavic was an experienced miner, having worked in the copper country for some time before he went to Ironwood, and was taken on at the Pabst mine two or three months ago. He was thirty-eight years old, and leaves a wife and one child in Austria.

George F. Yess's Review.

The copper producers' report showed a decrease of 9,333,000 pounds in the copper surplus, which was a most satisfactory shrinkage anticipated, but it was satisfactory as it displayed a tendency in the proper direction. The surplus was heavily traded in Boston today, advancing from 9 1/2 to 10 1/2. It is stated that the reports from the property are the best in the history of the company. Grady was advanced from $1.25 to $1.30, while Superior & Globe advanced from $1.25 to $1.30. Superior & Globe advanced from $1.25 to $1.30. Superior & Globe advanced from $1.25 to $1.30.

How to Have the Best Cough Syrup and Save $2, by Making It at Home.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it with the Sugar Syrup, you will have the best Cough Syrup as you could buy ready-made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly.

And you will find it the best cough syrup you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold usually stops the most severe cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect and taste is pleasant. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for hoarseness, asthma, chest pains, etc.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated component of Norway white pine extract, rich in quinine and all the healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This recipe for making good remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used and prized in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has often been imitated, but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send for The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The New York market was firm, preceding (not dull), as was the case with the election tomorrow. While Wall Street appears to be confident of the outcome, there is yet considerable hesitancy on the part of traders to make commitments until the returns are in. Union Pacific was the feature, advancing nearly a point from the opening, with the last 1/4 point above Saturday's close. Net changes in the others were generally confined to very small fractions. New York advises state that the market for the higher grade Union Pacific is the best purchase. The Boston market was generally quiet, with a speculative advance in Union Pacific to 48. North Butte and East Butte were active, the former gaining a small fraction and the latter a point for the day. Calumet & Arizona sold up to 49. Bid. Sinking of Pittsburgh was traded in around 15. Great Lakes and Giroux were both in demand and firm. The others were quiet, with the exception of particular significance. We look for a strong broad market after tomorrow and would buy the good papers at the opening Wednesday morning. The copper producers' report today shows a reduction in the surplus of 9,333,000 pounds. Net changes in the others were generally confined to very small fractions. The surplus was heavily traded in Boston today, advancing from 9 1/2 to 10 1/2. It is stated that the reports from the property are the best in the history of the company. The bride wore a traveling suit of champagne color, and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. Members of the intimate family and a few immediate friends witnessed the ceremony. The bridal couple left on the evening train for Chicago, from where they will go to Atlanta, Ga., where Mr. Mau is employed as a traveling salesman for the Fairbanks, Morse company.

REPORT ON CLIMATE OF UPPER PENINSULA

Weather Bureau Issues Bulletin of Especial Interest to Residents of this Locality.

The United States weather bureau has just issued a bulletin describing climatological condition in the upper peninsula of Michigan, which is of peculiar interest to the residents of this locality. The conclusions are based on the records of the various weather stations of the district since they were established. Records of each of the stations are tabulated, showing annual and mean precipitation, maximum, minimum and mean temperatures by months for each year, prevailing winds, and much other interesting data. The descriptive matter is brief, full of instructive matter, much of which is news to many residents of this locality. The following is taken from the report:

"This section was originally covered with heavy forests of pine, the greater part of which has now fallen beneath the axe of the lumberman. The eastern end of the peninsula contains much swampy land, the black soil of which, when properly drained, is very fertile. In the middle portion, Delta county and parts of adjacent counties, the surface is rolling and the soil well suited to general farming. Further west, in the iron and copper mining regions extending from Dickinson, Iron and eastern Ontonagon counties into the Keweenaw peninsula. The surface of this portion is rough and rocky and contains numerous elevated points, some of which are 1800 to 2000 feet above sea level. Still farther west, in portions of Houghton, Ontonagon and Gogebic counties, there is a considerable area of fertile agricultural land.

"The water powers of this section have been but little developed. Perhaps the greatest single power possibility is to be found on the Tahquamenon river, where there are two sets of falls, the upper having a sheer drop of forty-five feet. The lower falls are about seven miles below and separated from the upper falls by rapids having a fall of eight feet in three-fourths of a mile, while the lower falls themselves, a double cascade, have a fall of twenty feet.

Frequent Changes in Weather. "The climate is characterized by frequent changes in weather conditions as might be expected from the fact that this section lies in a region subject to the influence of storms and high pressure areas that move eastward across the Lake region.

"The mean temperature ranges from 38 degrees or less on the higher elevations to 43 degrees in the extreme southern portion. The temperature conditions are considerably affected by the proximity of the Great Lakes. As a rule, the range between the mean summer and mean winter temperatures is three to five degrees less for stations on the shore than for those in the interior. The most severe winter weather occurs in the more elevated regions in the western portion of the section, the temperature in that section being four to five degrees below that of stations of lesser elevation and nearer the lake shore. February is the coldest month, averaging from one to four degrees colder than January, and July is the warmest month.

"The annual precipitation averages from thirty to thirty-five inches over most of this section, although it is between twenty-five and thirty inches over considerable areas in the western part. The distribution of precipitation throughout the year is fairly uniform, but considerably more falls during the six months from May to October, inclusive, than during the remainder of the year.

"The annual snowfall is very heavy, 100 inches or more, in the Keweenaw peninsula and in a narrow strip of territory, perhaps ten or more miles in width, along the Lake Superior shore eastward nearly to Whitefish point. It decreases toward the south and is only about forty inches annually at Menominee in the extreme southern point. The heaviest snowfalls occur during December, January and February. Considerable snowfall sometimes occurs during May and September, and amounts too small to measure or snow that melts as it falls is not infrequent during those months.

"The average date of the last killing frost in spring is from May 8 to May 17 for localities having a lake exposure and ranges from the latter date to June 11 for interior points. Killing frost has occurred at Chatham as late as June 28 and at Escanaba July 9. The average date of the first killing frost in the autumn ranges from September 1 to 5 in the high lands of the western portion to October 2 to 10 for lake stations. However, killing frost has occurred at Escanaba as early as July 21 and at several stations during the winter. It is not infrequent in the more exposed localities during the latter month."

THE STORE OF QUALITY

Manistique's Murder Case—Vesel Nindt, the Macedonian, who deliberately murdered a fellow countryman—Louis Corfield—at Manistique and who is now in jail there, feels that he was justified in taking the law in his own hands, for he claims that his victim boasted of his personal knowledge of the infidelity of the former's wife. He came to Upper Michigan for the purpose of verifying a rumor that reached him through letters exchanged by mutual friends. The victim, it is said, admitted his wrong doing before witnesses, and made a written confession. In Manistique, it is declared, this sort of procedure would justify the wronged husband in taking the life of the guilty one. However, in this enlightened country, it is not deemed a sufficient provocation for committing murder, unless the influence and wealth of the murderer is of such a degree as to invoke the aid of the "retribution law." However, as the Macedonian admits his guilt, feels that he has righted the wrong done him and is willing to serve time or hang, if necessary, to atone for what he has done, it is believed that the aid of the "retribution law" will not be invoked and that justice will be swift and summary in this particular case at least.

Many Scales Found Defective—Sealer of Weights and Measures Arthur Ausden, a newly appointed Menominee official, is now a busy man. He has already visited fifteen grocery stores. In several places the scales were found under weight, but in each instance it was believed that it was not due to any intent but to the fact that the scales were out of order. In one instance it was found that the scales favored the customer. One fact has already been disclosed. Most of the grocers of the city, in measuring such commodities, as peas, beans, cranberries, etc., have used the liquid measures. This is wrong, as the customer is entitled to the dry measure. There is quite a difference in the two and in every instance where the liquid is being used instead of the dry a change will be ordered. Not only will the grocers be inspected, but the druggists and dry goods people will have to toe the mark, too. The inspection will be thorough.

Unique Sentence Imposed—One of the most unique sentences ever imposed upon a prisoner charged with a grave offense is that given by Circuit Judge R. C. Flannigan to Anton Kositzki in Delta county. Kositzki pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with intent to murder, having fired a charge from a shot gun at a party of automobilists near Hyde early last spring. It was shown to the court that he was the father of a large family depending upon him for support and that the offense was committed when the prisoner was intoxicated. After pondering over the situation Judge Flannigan sentenced Kositzki to abstain entirely from the use of intoxicating liquors for a period of five years. During that time Kositzki neither will be allowed to enter a saloon upon any pretext and any officer either seeing him drinking intoxicants or entering or leaving a saloon must arrest him promptly and arraign him before the court for sentence on a charge, the penalty of which is imprisonment in the state's prison for any term of years up to life. The Rev. William Peters, pastor of St. Paul's German Lutheran church, was appointed guardian over Kositzki for a term of five years and during that time the defendant will be required to make regular reports to his guardian and to the court.

SAVES AN IOWA MAN'S LIFE. The very grave seemed to yawn before Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Iowa, when, after seven weeks in the hospital, four of the best physicians gave him up. Then was shown the marvelous curative power of Electric Bitters. For, after eight months of frightful suffering from liver trouble and yellow jaundice, getting no help from other remedies or doctors, five bottles of this matchless medicine completely cured him. It's positively guaranteed for Stomach, Liver or Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Only 50c at The Stafford Drug Co.

Home Destroyed by Fire—The farm house of Philip Rousseau, located a short distance from Powers, Menominee county, with all its contents was destroyed by fire while the family were away from home. It is said that when they left a lamp was left burning on the table and it is believed that a cat accidentally tipped over the lamp. It was impossible to save any of the furniture. No insurance was carried by the property and the loss falls heavily upon Rousseau and his family.

Injured but Still on Deck—Deputy State Game and Fish Warden Charles Fisher of L'Anse broke his left arm in two places, at the wrist and near the elbow, also knocking his elbow out of joint, late last week. He went into his barn Friday, climbed into the second story to throw down some hay to feed his horses and unknowingly walked into a hole, falling to the floor below. Mr. Fisher has been busily engaged in looking after violators of the game law and he declares he will not let this injury interfere with his duties.

Novel Point Decided—An interesting case was decided by Judge Flannigan in the Delta county circuit court last week, entitled Champin vs. Minneapolis Brewing company. The company had rented Champion's building in Gladstone for a term of three years for saloon purposes, but the Warner-Cramton liquor law reduced the number of saloons and the building has been vacant for some time. Judge Flannigan directed a verdict in favor of the plaintiff.

REPUBLICAN RALLY LAST EVENING

Congressman Young Addressed Final Meeting of Campaign At Ishpeming Theatre.

The Republican rally held last night at Ishpeming theatre was well attended. Congressman H. O. Young, who delivered the principal address, was given a hearty reception. Mayor McCorkindale presided over the meeting and music was furnished by the Ishpeming band. Mr. Young spoke, in part, as follows: "During the months that have immediately preceded this time, the public mind has been chiefly directed to the contentions within the Republican party. The air has rung with the names of 'regular' and 'progressive,' of 'standpatter' and 'insurgent.' Although very few have any definite idea as to what kind of legislative action men so designated stand for, yet nearly all Republicans have ranged themselves under one banner or the other.

"But the time for all this has passed. I trust that we are all standpatters for all that is great and noble and worthy in the history of the Republican party. I trust that we are all 'progressives' in favor of remedying by wise and appropriate legislation every evil in American life and institutions over which either the national or state government has jurisdiction. "I am not here to take part in what in the jargon of the day is 'whirlwind' campaign. I never could convince myself that one's wisdom should be measured by the number of miles he travels in an auto, the number of speeches he makes in a day, or the extent to which he injures his voice in outdoor addresses, or that his patriotism should be measured in the violence of his language in denouncing his political opponents, within or without his own party. It has never seemed to me that the presence of a whirlwind of real or hot air was especially conducive to clear thinking or sound judgment.

"I have said that the time for contention within the Republican party is past. As President Taft well puts it, 'The question now is not what complication of Republicanism one prefers, but whether it is better for the country to have the Republican party control the legislation for the next two years and further redeem its promises, or to enable a Democratic majority in the house either to interpose and veto Republican measures or to formulate and pass bills to carry out Democratic principles.' "What is there, I ask, in all seriousness, in the history of the Republican party that should cause any fair-minded man who has voted the Republican ticket in the past, to withhold his support from that party in this campaign?

Party's Great Record.
"The Republican party has been able to retain the confidence of the American people, because it is the party of progress, while the Democratic party is the party of reaction. The Republican party is the party that does things; the Democratic party is the party that says things. The one is the party of construction; the other the party of obstruction. The Republican party is the party of prosperity and good wages; the Democratic party is the party of adversity and non-employment. As I've said in our national platform, 'the one finds fault, the other finds work.' The Republican party turns its face to the future; the Democratic party turns its face to the past.

"In order to build up our great industrial system, it was necessary that great corporations should be created in order to carry on such great industries successfully and enable us to compete with the rest of the world. We were per cent in the entire amount of duty collected, and at the same time, partly because of increased importations, and partly on account of increased rates of duties on luxuries. It has increased the revenues of the government at about the rate of $50,000,000 annually.

But there is another fact to be taken into consideration in relation to the charge that the tariff law has increased prices. Prices have gone up all over the world. Surely the tariff was not responsible for what has happened in Europe. In Canada, they have been having a parliamentary investigation as to the cause of the increased cost of living in the Dominion.

"Surely the rise of prices, which is world-wide, must have a world-wide cause. It can not be dependent on a tariff law which applies to the United States alone. Nor is it believable that a revision downward could cause increased prices.

"But, undoubtedly, all protective tariffs by increasing wages do tend to increase the cost of living over what it would be if there was no tariff at all. You can, if you wish, reduce the cost of living by abolishing the protective tariff, but you will thereby also reduce the wages and halt the hum of industry. What does it profit one if things are cheap and he has no money to buy them with?"

The Republican party still holds fast to its ancient faith in protection. It is progressive in dealing with new issues. Its candidates are worthy of the support of all Republicans. When the mists that obscure this administration's work shall have been dispelled by the clear light of reason and the passions and misunderstandings of the hour shall have yielded to the enlightening influence of time, the administration of William Howard Taft will stand forth in its proportion, in the minds of men, as one of the greatest in the history of the greatest party that ever administered the government of the greatest and happiest country in the world."

MANY WILL GO TO THE WOODS TODAY

Politicians Predict That Vote Cast in Negaunee Will Be Unusually Light.

The candidates for office and others who have been out among the voters the past week or two predict that a light vote will be cast today in Marquette county, but a strong effort will be made here to get the voters to the polls and ammunition the past week or so. More guns have been sold in Negaunee this fall than at any previous time.

The total registration in the city Saturday was only fifty-nine. This is regarded as another sure sign of a small vote, as many new comers in the city did not register. The polls will open this morning at 7 o'clock and will close at 5 o'clock. The election boards in the different wards will be located as follows: First ward—Jackson Iron company's office on West Iron street; Second ward—City hall; Third ward—Seaman's residence, on the south side of East Iron street; Fourth ward—Finnish Temperance hall, corner of Teal Lake avenue and Cass street; Fifth ward—No. 2 fire engine house.

DEDICATED CAMP. Ishpeming Men Entertained Friends at Their Resort Saturday and Sunday.

John Egan, Thomas Lokken, Christ Presthus, Ed. Kennish and Otto Kregren last week completed the erection of a camp about fifteen miles south of Ishpeming, a few miles from the Island Lake resorts. All of the men are employees of the Oliver Iron Mining company, and Saturday they invited about thirty of their fellow-workmen to attend the dedication. Twenty-five of them accepted. The resort was named "Camp Keese," in honor of F. E. Keese, the Oliver Iron Mining company's mining superintendent, who was among the guests. The visitors were entertained with a musical program on Sunday afternoon and a fine chicken dinner, prepared by Mr. Kenville, was served.

ISSUING DEEDS. Owners of Lots in New Cemetery Can Now Secure Them from Recorder.

W. H. Mitchell, the city recorder, yesterday began issuing deeds to lots in the new cemetery, A. C. Seass, owner of the Brietung house, who has been a resident of the city for more than thirty years, and Ed. St. Julian, another prominent resident, were the first to secure deeds for lots in the city and Catholic cemetery, respectively. There was a big demand for deeds and people stood in a line all day, awaiting their turn. The issuing of permits for removals was resumed yesterday, and the demand for them is as great as it was the three days they were issued. The permit clerk was kept busy from morning until night.

Contractor Stensrud removed over 600 bodies from the old to the new cemetery last week. With favorable weather for a month or more, most of the bodies transferred. He will not attempt to replace any of the monuments until spring, as it is now too cold for the concrete to set properly. Mr. Stensrud will endeavor to complete his contract, including the setting of the monuments by December 1st.

Several hundred Negaunee people visited the old cemeteries Sunday to look over the work that had been done during the week. Mr. Stensrud is required to fill in all of the graves, leveling the surface in good condition. Many of the old monuments were broken and included among them were the remains of members of the Scandinavian society, who assisted in the dedication of the society's burial lots. The members made the trip by special train via the South Shore line. Rev. G. Fletwood, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, in Ishpeming, conducted the services.

Some seventy-five bodies have been removed to the Ishpeming cemeteries, and a half dozen or more have been taken to Ishpeming were removed from the Catholic cemetery.

UNFOUNDED RUMOR. Steel Corporation Is Not to Buy Corrigan-McKinney Properties.

The report published in a number of upper peninsula papers a few days ago that the United States Steel corporation contemplated buying the Corrigan-McKinney company's properties, in the Lake Superior district, is said to be without foundation. The report was published, and employees of the Corrigan-McKinney company in the several localities where their properties are located wondered how they would be affected in the event the change in ownership took place.

The report is now said to have emanated from sources at Bessemer which are hostile to the management of the Corrigan-McKinney company. It was from that city that the story was sent out. The Steel officials made a friendly call on the Corrigan-McKinney company's representatives at Bessemer. And it is said that this was the cause of the rumor.

TRATHEN DOING WELL.

Former Negaunee Business Man Is Prospering in Idaho.

Thomas Trathen, who conducted a barber business here for many years, until a little over three years ago, when he sold out to his brother-in-law, Ed. Paull, and moved to Mountain Home, Idaho, is doing well there. At the last election he was selected president of the village and he is also president of the Commercial club. Mr. Trathen is in the furniture and real estate business.

Mountain Home has had a good growth in population during the past year or two and the town is building up. There are several fine farms in the neighborhood and the timber industry helps considerably in the support of the place. Some exploring has been done near the town, but up to this time no important discoveries of mineral have been made. Several promising silver mines are being developed a few miles from Mountain Home.

SOCIALISTS AT WORK.

Members of the Socialist party in Negaunee were busy yesterday distributing campaign literature. If the Socialists do not make a good showing in today's election it will not be the fault of the prominent members of the party, as they have been working zealously for the past two or three weeks.

LOCAL LAONICS.

Sol. Polkinghorn, a former resident, is here from the Mesaba range on a visit to relatives and friends.

James Farm, Democratic candidate for county sheriff, was in the city yesterday interviewing voters and distributing advertising matter.

G. R. Jackson, in charge of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's mining operations on the Swanzy range, was in Negaunee yesterday.

Bernard Garbellino, who is the deputy sheriff at Humboldt, brought down a prisoner from there yesterday, he having arrested him on the charge of disorderly conduct.

There will be no work at any of the mines in Negaunee today. The banks and saloons will be closed, but all of the other business houses will be open as usual.

W. H. Israel, the photographer, will open his annual art exhibit in his rooms in the Sundberg block tomorrow. It will continue for the remainder of the week.

Robert Stoneman and wife, of the Teal Lake location, left last night for Rochester, Minn., where Mrs. Stoneman will probably submit to an operation for cancer at Mayo Bros' hospital. She has been in poor health.

James Orenstein of Orenstein Bros., fur dealers, of Calumet, is in the city for a few days conducting a sale at Mrs. Arland's millinery store. Mr. Orenstein has a complete line of fur goods and he is also prepared to do repairing.

Wm. G. Argall has had transferred from the old burial grounds to the new cemetery the remains of his deceased child. The lot in which the re-interment took place was consecrated by Rev. Mr. Hicks Nov. 2.

The Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railway company has completed the extension to the siding leading to the independent Fuel & Lumber company's coal dock. The new track was connected with the old siding yesterday and the crew will finish up the work today or tomorrow.

The furniture and fixtures that were transferred from the old to the new house have been repainted and put in first-class condition. The hose companies have not been dissolved as the new by-laws, under which the department will be governed, have not yet been adopted.

W. F. Collar, superintendent of the New York Foundation company's concrete shaft operations on the Swanzy range, is in the city looking over the mine shaft, which is to be given a concrete lining and on which work will be started soon after the first of next month. He was accompanied by the Cleveland-Cliffs company's head chemist in the Swanzy district.

A new social club has been organized in Negaunee with the following officers: Samuel Collins, Jr., president; William Nadeau, secretary; R. H. Balcom, treasurer; O. J. Lacombe, A. Hooper, Louis Villeneuve, William Barabe, Paul Schwartz and Wilfred Messier, directors. The members will have their headquarters in the Malloney building, on Jackson street, and the organization will be known as the "Negaunee Social club."

time has made a change, and many surgeons at the present time maintain that the only suitable material for a buried suture is catgut, and that silk should never be employed except for skin sutures. In this, as in so many other points, the surgeon is greater than the detail. It is certain that millions of silk sutures have been inserted in the deep tissues, and have not cut their way out, for if a suture does make its way to the surface it is probably always because it was septic. The attempt to find a ligature or suture perfect in every way has caused surgeons to employ many different substances. Metallic sutures for a time received much support, though they are rarely seen now.

GOOD ELECTION NEWS SERVICE

Michigan State Telephone Company Will Receive and Send Bulletins Through Mining Journal Office Between Marquette and Detroit-Distributing Point.

Paine, Webber & Co. Will Also Get State and National Reports—Vote Expected to Be Lighter Than Two Years Ago—Resume of Local Results in 1908.

Marquette people will be well supplied with election returns. Paine, Webber & Co. will have a bulletin service at their office throughout the evening. Returns will be received from all parts of the country. The office will be filled with interested partisans, eager to get the latest news.

Marquette will be the distributing point and sending point for the upper peninsula for an elaborate service which will be given its subscribers by the Michigan State Telephone company. Manager Baker has arranged to establish headquarters for the work in an office in connection with The Mining Journal's editorial room. Into it will run a line on which a telegraph bulletin service between Marquette and Detroit will be carried on. Detroit will bulletin the latest returns to this city and from here will be sent out the upper peninsula returns, as fast as they are obtained and tabulated by The Mining Journal, which will use the long distance service in gathering them. A telephone will be installed, with an operator, for the accommodation of local subscribers, who will be given the latest election news. From Marquette the returns will be sent to all the company's upper peninsula offices. Persons desiring election news from The Mining Journal office should call 818.

The returns will begin to come in early, as, because of the difference in time, the count in many parts of the country will begin much earlier than in this region. Even the returns for Michigan will be much prompter than on primary day, as all polls will close at 5 o'clock, whereas on primary day in some places they were open as late as 10 o'clock. The principal Michigan returns to be handled tonight will be the vote on governor, and on congressman in the First, Fifth and Sixth districts.

Vote Two Years Ago.
The vote in Marquette county today is expected to fall considerably below the vote in 1908. Then the six candidates for governor polled a vote of 7-512, but 1908 was a presidential year, and the vote this year would naturally show a big falling off, even if apathy wasn't so pronounced as it actually is.

In 1908 Governor Warner was given 5,194 votes, Mr. Hemans 1,832. Governor Warner's majority being the substantial figure of 3,372. Stirtan, the socialist candidate, polled 203 votes in the county. It is expected that the socialists will show a considerable increase over their vote of 303 in 1908. They have been more active than the wheel-horses of either of the old parties. The socialist meeting in Marquette Sunday night was one of the biggest of the campaign in the county, the hall being packed. Most of those present were Finns, and it is believed that many of them were not voters.

In 1908 Hemans carried Marquette, and there is considerable speculation as to whether he will repeat this year. There is a big Democratic vote in both the First and Second wards, which are normally Democratic in national state elections. In 1908 the vote for governor in the city was:

First ward	Warner	Hemans
Second ward	127	206
Third ward	82	211
Fourth ward	226	144
Fifth ward	164	268
Sixth ward	171	151

The total vote in the city was 1,820. No one professes to have much idea of what it will be today, but it is bound to show a considerable falling off. The Democrats have been much more active here than in any other part of the county and it is not likely that there will be much of a spread between Mr. Osborn and Mr. Hemans. The Democrats expect to give their candidate for governor a majority, as they did in 1908, but on the other hand many informed observers believe that Mr. Osborn will get the larger share of the votes, though it is certain that a large number of the voters who cast their ballots for Hemans in 1908 will stick to him again this year.

Two years ago P. H. O'Brien, of Calumet, Democratic candidate for congress, ran ahead of Mr. Hemans in the county, his vote being 2,014 as against 5,353 for Representative Young. C. R. McCabe was elected representative in the First district over Peter Kremer, the vote being 2,309 to 1,285.

LEADS A LONELY LIFE.

Peter Moore, Caretaker at Silver Lake Dam, Makes Semi-Annual Visit.

Peter Moore, who is employed by the light and power commission as the caretaker at the Silver Lake dam, north of Ishpeming, made his semi-annual visit to Marquette yesterday. Mr. Moore is well along in years and lives alone in his cabin on the shore of Silver Lake, with no other human habitation within miles of the place. He receives $35 per month from the light and power commission for staying at the dam, but this involves little work other than being there, and he devotes a good deal of his time to hunting, fishing and trapping. In the summer time, he has visitors frequently, many of whom accept his hospitality for meals and lodging. In the winter, however, he leads a very lonely life, and sometimes, for months at a stretch, he does not see a human being. Last winter no one visited him for four months, with the exception of employees of the light and power commission, who went to his cabin once or twice to make sure that he was all right. This winter logging operations will be conducted near Silver Lake and he is likely to have more opportunity for sociability. He plans to come to Marquette twice a year.

SHOW PLEASED AUDIENCE.

Barnum and Raffles Are Experts in Their Line of Mystifying Work.

The Barnum and Raffles show pleased a good sized audience at the opera house last evening. Professor Barnum is a hypnotist, and he woke up the man who had been asleep since Saturday night in the window of Siegel's pool room, on the opera house stage about 8:30 last evening. The young man appeared none the worse for his long sleep. His hypnotic work, as practiced on a class made up of several Marquette boys as well as members of his company, was of a high order. He seemed to be able to get strangers as well as acquaintances under his spell, though he freely admitted that he could not hypnotize anyone against his will nor some persons under any circumstances.

Raffles, famous as the missing man of the Hearst papers several years ago, gave a very clever exhibition of getting out of a Siberian straight jacket in full view of the audience. He got into the jacket on the stage and it was buckled and fastened by Marquette men. Ropes and straps were then bound about his body from head to foot. Without being covered in any way, he wrestled with the ropes and straight jacket, of which he finally freed himself. The exhibition was an exceptionally clever one. Owing to some of the mechanism of the "Neptune's Prison" act not arriving yesterday, that exhibition will be given for the first time tonight. Raffles will be on the down town streets from 3 to 4:30 this afternoon and offers $50 to anyone who will identify him and say to him "You are the mysterious Raffles of the Marquette Opera House." Another show will be given by these gentlemen this evening.

WOODLAND GRAVE SUITABLY MARKED

Marquette Men Provide Monument at Resting Place of Man Drowned Years Ago.

Through the interest displayed by Morgan Wright and Nels Flodin a concrete monument, with iron name plate, has been placed at the grave of Edward Martin, a young Englishman who was drowned on the Salmon Trout river twenty-five years ago.

The grave has been observed by people using the road out from Big Bay to the Salmon Trout for many years. It is located close by the roadway, on the north side of the river, where it is crossed by wooden bridges, at Five Forks.

Martin was drowned on April 20, 1886, while working as a cookee at a lumber camp being operated in that neighborhood. Pat Sullivan, one of the pioneer lumbermen, who is still a resident of Marquette, was foreman of the camp. Martin went from the camp to where a gang of men were working, upstream, and endeavored to ride logs back to the camp. He was unfamiliar with this ticklish operation, fell into the river and was drowned. He was buried where his body was found. There is a story current among people familiar with the circumstances surrounding the case that Martin was the younger son of an English nobleman and that shortly after his death both his father and elder brother died, and that he would have come into the property had he not been alive. Nothing is known of the basis for this story, however, and it is probably untrue, a fantasy conjured up to round out the story of his death.

The Lake Shore Engine works is building a concrete and steel bridge to replace the old wooden bridge, within stone's throw of the grave, and the plan

"A NERVOUS WRECK"

"My daughter is rapidly becoming a nervous wreck," said an anxious father to a friend who happened to be a druggist, "she has no appetite, is run-down, weak, takes no interest in anything, and we cannot find anything that helps her."

"Why don't you give her Vinol?" said the druggist. "It is not a secret nostrum, just a simple and delicious cod liver and iron tonic, and the best strength creator and general all round tonic we have ever sold in our store. Take a bottle home and try it. We'll return your money if it does not help her."

Within ten days the father came back for another bottle of Vinol, saying that he had never seen such a change in a girl in his life, and he felt sure one more bottle of Vinol would restore her to her normal condition.

Such cases as the above are constantly coming to our attention, and we ask every run-down, nervous, debilitated, aged or weak person in this vicinity, and every person suffering from a chronic cough, cold, or bronchial trouble, to try a bottle of Vinol on the same terms as above. The Stafford Drug Co., Marquette; also Fred P. Tillson, Ishpeming, and J. E. O'Donoghue, Negaunee.

of marking the grave permanently was conceived by Mr. Wright ad take up by Mr. Flodin, while they were inspecting the work. The records of the death were obtained from Lansing. The iron plate attached to the monument bears Martin's name and the date of his drowning.

ANOTHER WRECK ON THE L'ANSE HILL

Broken Wheel Derails Six Freight Cars on South Shore, A Brake-man Being Injured.

A freight train wreck strikingly similar to one at almost the same place two weeks ago, occurred on the L'Anse Hill, near Taylor, about 6:30 yesterday morning, as the result of which, South Shore train service between Marquette and the copper country was demoralized yesterday. As in the wreck of two weeks ago, a broken car wheel was the cause of the accident, in which six freight cars were derailed, all loaded with meat, vegetables and other high class freight.

The wrecked train was fast freight No. 39, which left Marquette Sunday night. While going down the L'Anse hill, the wheel of the sixth car from the rear of the train broke and all the cars behind, except the caboose, were derailed and turned over on their sides. Fred Dorrie, of this city, the rear brakeman, was standing on top of one of the cars at the time, but by jumping when his car toppled over, he escaped without painful though not dangerous bruises. Conductor James Deegan, in the caboose, was uninjured. The broken wheel was on a C. & N. W. car loaded with vegetables. Owing to the kind of freight in the wrecked cars, the company's loss will be considerable.

In account of the wreck, the South Shore track was blocked all day yesterday until about 7 o'clock last evening. Passenger train No. 3, leaving Marquette at 5:15 a. m.; train No. 102, leaving Marquette at 7:35 a. m., and train No. 2, due from the copper country in Marquette at 2:30 p. m., were run by way of Silday and, of course, were several hours late in reaching their destination. A second section of train No. 2 was made up at Marquette and ran on scheduled time east from this city. Regular train No. 2 reached here about 4 o'clock last evening. No attempt was made to move freight between the iron and copper country. It is expected that the usual passenger and freight service can be resumed today.
