Cow in Catch Basin—A cow which had been purchased by Wm. Lewin, of North Marquette, and was being taken to his home behind a horse and sleigh, broke through the crust of snow and fell into the catch basin at the corner of Washington and Fourth streets about 9 o'clock last evening. By the time help had been secured all but her head and forequarters were jammed into the hole.
After an hour and a half's work, the animal was extricated, through the agency of a block and tackle and some forty or fifty men. The animal was apparently uninjured.

Escanaba Wins Championship—By defeating Trowbridge Saturday by the score of 6 to 0, Escanaba won the undisputed title of high school football champions of the upper peninsula, and it is likely that the Delta county eleven will go to the lower peninsula to contest for state honors with the Detroit Central high school team, which won the championship of the lower peninsula by defeating Algonk Saturday. In the Escanaba reports of the game, it is stated that at no time was Ironwood in sight of victory and the score does not indicate the degree of superiority of the Escanaba players over those from Gogebic county.

of Mangum, and a sister, Mrs. Heineke, wife of Rev. Mr. Heineke, formerly of pastor of the German Lutheran church near Lansing. The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at Green Garden.

Attended Horse Show—Among the interested attendants at the horse show in New York last week were Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Breitung of Marquette, who have been spending the past several they gave: "One of the dinners given complementary to Colonel and Mrs. P.

A. Kenna, of England. Colonel Kenna is aide de camp to King George V. and

FINE CHANCE IN THE ARMY.
General Wood Paints Advantages of Career as a Soldier.
Washington, Nov. 20.—The advantages of service in the ranks of the army are detailed in a circular just issued by General Wood, chief of staff,
with a view to stimulating enlistments.
After stating the mental, physical and other requirements of recruits and the rates of pay, it is stated that they also will receive without cost rations, clothing, bedding, medicines and medical attendance and additional compensation and allowances for all service outside the territory of the United States. By care and economy, it is stated, a soldier can save from his clothing allowance a considerable sum, payable on discharge.
He is paid 4 per cent interest on deposits with the army paymaster. After twenty years' faithful service, or when discharged on account of wounds or disability incurred in the line of duty, he is entitled to admission to the Soldiers'
Home in this city.
After thirty years' service he will be retired on three-fourths pay, in addition to which he will receive $6.50 a month as compensation for clothing and subsistence, and $6.25 a month in lieu of quarters, fuel and light. In case the soldier dies in the line of duty his widow or other designated beneficiary will receive an amount equal to six months' pay, less $35, or such part thereof as is expended by the government for interment. "A favorable opportunity," says the circular, "is afforded for active, intelligent young men of temperate habits who may enlist as privates and develop the necessary qualifications to secure promotion to the grade of a non-commissioned officer. Unmarried soldiers under thirty years of age who are citizens of the United States, who are physically sound, who have served honorably not less than two years in the army and who have borne a good moral character before and after enlistment, are permitted to compete by examination for promotion to the rank of second lieutenant."

L'UNION ST. JEAN IN COURT.
Hearing Begun in Receivership Proceedings Against French Society.
Providence, R. I., Nov. 20.—At hearing has begun in the superior court here in the receivership proceedings against L'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amérique, the largest French-Canadian organization in the country. The society is an insurance and fraternal order, with a membership of 25,000 throughout New England and New York.
Recently the association was severely consigned by the insurance commissioners of Massachusetts and New York for irregularities in its insurance business.
The resignation of Supreme Secretary J.
Adelard Caron of Woonsocket and the appointment of a temporary receiver followed.
The corporation is now cited to show cause why a permanent receiver should not be appointed, on the petition of John B. Brimmar, member of the finance committee, which found deficits in the accounts of several of the supreme officers. As both sides have engaged able counsel, a stubborn legal contest is expected.

BREAD IN BUDAPEST.

It is Made by the Municipality at Very Low Cost.

A staff correspondent in The Twentieth Century asserts that Budapest, the capital of Hungary, has solved the bread problem through municipal intervention. There had been great complaint among consumers for years, more particularly because of wholesale adulteration by the use of much potato and water, which materially impaired the nutritive value of the bread. The municipal department of chemistry demonstrated that one pound of flour could be mixed with 200 per cent of water and potato without the consumer's realizing the poor quality of the bread. Another cause of complaint was the steady increase in price, while the dirty and unsanitary condition of many bakeries which furnished bread to the poorer section of the city, menaced the health of the people. As a result, a general clamor arose for a public bakery, and six years ago the press and social reformers compelled the city of Budapest to establish a modern municipal bakery, which has been in successful operation for a year.

Recently two trained investigators made a careful inspection of the municipal plant. One of them was Adolph Smith, a health expert, representing the London Lancet, the other Odon Por, a careful student of economic progress. Both expressed the opinion that the municipal bakery has proved an unequalled success, and that the city would be justified in greatly increasing its investment. A building of architectural pretensions was erected in the outskirts, with high, well ventilated halls, wherein was installed the latest and best machinery. Part of the equipment was kneading machinery, doing away with the spectacle, common in Budapest and elsewhere, of half naked men, toiling and sweating as they plunged their arms into the dough. Every employee is required, as he enters the building in the morning, to take a bath, after which he is provided with pure white clothing. The interior walls of the building are painted a light tint, so that the presence of dirt can readily be detected, and the bread is transported to the city and distributed to consumers in specially constructed wagons, filled with slides for bread trays, and the sides protected with canvas, permitting the air to circulate but excluding dust. The experts found that every care is taken to insure that the bread should be pure, clean and nutritious. The city makes no effort to reap a profit over expenses, including interest on fund borrowed, to be repaid in fifty years. After doing this it was found that the city could make bread at a cent a two-pound loaf less than the prevailing price for the interior and in-nutritious bread of the private bakeries. This forced the private bakers to reduce their price, besides improving the quality. The city bakery now turns out nearly 100,000 pounds daily, but the capacity is to be increased so that it will bake 800,000 pounds daily.

SHOE HINTS.

The soles of shoes and boots can be made waterproof and will wear much longer if they are given several coats of copal varnish.

The varnish can be purchased and should be applied in very small quantities to the sole leather.

Stand the shoes upside down and allow the first coat to thoroughly dry before another is applied.

When the leather will absorb no more the varnish will form a shiny surface on the outside.

Soles that have never been worn should have the soles sandpapered, so as to remove the glazed finish before the varnish is applied.

RETAIL MEAT PRICES HAVE BEEN REDUCED

Ishpeming Butchers Have Adopted New Scale For Both Plain and Fancy Cuts.

After nearly three years of very high meat prices the Ishpeming retail dealers have made a substantial reduction, and they hope that they will be able to maintain the new prices, if not to offer further reductions. Practically all of the credit dealers have adopted the same scale, but F. Braastad & Co., who have been selling for cash for some years past, Saturday announced prices which are on an average one cent per pound lower than those announced by the dealers doing a credit business.

An Ishpeming butcher said that the reductions in the wholesale prices for pork and mutton have been much larger than for beef.

This is the time of the year when native steers come into the market, taking the place of the western cattle, which do not make as good beef. Native cattle are usually available from November until May or June, and during the summer months the wholesalers supply their trade principally with western stock. Choice native beef, which is the quality generally handled by the Ishpeming dealers, is now selling at from nine and a half to ten and a half cents per pound by the carcass. A short time ago this same class of beef brought from eleven to eleven and a half cents, the highest price charged for native beef in some years. Pork and mutton also struck top notch prices this fall. For months past the wholesalers have hardly been able to supply the demand for mutton and pork, particularly for the latter.

The wholesale market on pork, mutton and lamb had several breaks during the past week, and it would not surprise some of the dealers if lower prices will prevail. They do not, however, look for very heavy declines in beef, particularly the better quality, and it may be necessary to advance the prices for beef before the winter is over, as native steers, as a rule, bring a better price during the winter months than in either the spring or fall. A comparison of the former and present prices of new ones, which went into effect Saturday, is as follows:

The Negaunee meat dealers have also reduced their prices, to take effect today. The prices in Negaunee were about the same as those charged here, and there is little difference in the new scales adopted by the butchers of the two cities.

STETSON'S UNCLE TOM.

Duluth Paper Praises Production of the Old Time Play.

The Duluth News-Tribune said of Stetson's production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which will be the attraction at Ishpeming theatre tomorrow afternoon and evening:

"Two well pleased audiences witnessed the dramatization of Harriet Beecher Stowe's 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' yesterday at the Lyceum. The number attending formed an additional evidence that her work is immortal and that the interest in the book and the play taken from it never will die. The Stetson production has several new features, but aside from these it remains the same play that delighted thousands since the days of the civil war.

"Ed. Espy portrays the part of the old plantation slave, Uncle Tom, in an intelligent manner, avoiding the incongruities of which so many negro impersonators are guilty. Second in interest to Uncle Tom is little Eva, and this role is taken in a dainty and appealing manner by diminutive Benedete Stead. The transformation scene is finely worked out.

"James Stenson has the exacting and thankless role of Simon Legree, which he carries with a proper simulation of inhuman cruelty.

"The two Topsy and the two Marks with which the show is provided furnish the larger share of the humor, of which there is considerable. The Topsy 'who jess' grows' is Miss Ada Bowles, who performs all the outlandish antics of the impish daughter of Africa with amusing gusto. Miss Sadie Jackson is designated as Topsy No. 2, and is a clever partner for Miss Bowles. William Gates and William Small are the other duo of fun producers in the roles of Lawyer Marks and Marks, Jr.

The other parts in the play are well taken care of by the capable cast."

AUSTRALIA IN ROW OVER LAND TAX ACT

Bill Aims to End Extensive Holdings and Provide for the Small Farmer.

Sydney, N. S. W., Nov. 20.—The land tax bill of the new labor government is monopolizing public attention to a great extent, because directly or indirectly, it affects the interests of more people in a tangible and substantial fashion than any bill that has seen the light of day in any Australian legislature. No legislative proposal hitherto introduced in this country will have anything like such immediate effects upon individual citizens as this measure, if carried in its present form, promises to have, unless it altogether fails to fulfill the intentions of its authors.

The case for the imposition of some form of land taxation by the federal parliament can be shortly stated. There is a case for it now, and a fairly strong one. Whether that case justifies a tax in this form is another question. First, large areas of land suitable for agriculture are certainly at present locked up in the hands of wealthy holders, and are not put to their most productive uses. The weight of the tax is always exaggerated, but the evil is undoubtedly there, and in the interests of immigration and defense, if for no other reasons, it requires to be cured. It is not so easy for the small farmer as it ought to be to get land not too remote and unsuitable for cultivation on a small scale. Second, the state parliaments have had this evil before their eyes for a long time, but they have up to the present taken no vigorous or properly effective steps to cure it. With them land taxation was a duty, and they are directly responsible for letting it pass into their hands and upon a scale that makes any kind of equity, not to speak of equality of sacrifice, all but impossible.

Division Planned.

Third and last, the electors undoubtedly gave their sanction on April 13 last to the imposition of some form of graduated land taxation, calculated to "burst up" the big estates containing land suitable for closer settlement. They did this because in most cases they desired of state action, long overdue, and still either neglected or inoperative. All this must be admitted, whatever we may think of the form in which the proposed tax is now introduced. Admitting it all, however, we are still considerably short of a justification for the measure now before the federal parliament. There is, to begin with, the fundamental question whether, taking for granted all the results of state inactivity in the past, the federal parliament can be the proper authority to correct these. In other words, is it constitutional, entitled, in the apparent exercise of its taxing powers, to regulate the conditions of land holding in the states?

This is, in one of its aspects, a dry question of law, which is certain to be submitted to the judgement of the high court as soon as the tax comes into operation, and constitutional lawyers seem much divided as to what the answer will be. On the precedent of the new protection cases, where the high court held that the federal parliament could not, by pretending to impose an excise tax, regulate the conditions of workers in factories, there seems to be some ground for the anticipation that the graduated land tax, which under the guise of a tax undoubtedly regulates the conditions of the holding of land, will be disallowed. At all events, this is the main ground on which Mr. Deakin, leader of the opposition, has based his adverse amendment.

Amendment Questioned.

Even assuming the tax to be constitutional in the legal sense, it is still quite possible for it to be unconstitutional in the political sense. Here Mr. Deakin was on much stronger ground. It certainly strains the federal powers to their utmost and imposes a grave limitation on the freedom of the states to control their land policy, and which they alone can control effectively, and on the state powers of taxation. This may be consistent with the bare words of the constitution. It is certainly not consistent with the maintenance of the equilibrium of governmental powers which most people thought had been established by the constitution. It means, in effect, the transfer of a governmental power of the first importance from local authorities which can exercise it effectively to one central authority which for both constitutional and practical reasons can not. Not, of course, that every form of federal land taxation is obnoxious, but only that form with which the people are now confronted, since while affecting to be a tax for revenue purposes it in effect controls the use of land holdings in the states. It may be a good thing that the commonwealth should be now invested with the power with which the constitution has not endowed it to legislate on this question. It is not a good thing that it should obtain or exercise the power by a subterfuge. These considerations, of course, will not prevent the passage of the bill. It is a little out of fashion just now to show any regard for the maintenance of the federal principle upon which the whole of the constitution was deliberated and carefully founded. PULLING STRENGTH OF INSECTS.

Friendly Bumble Bee Easily Draws Many Times Its Own Weight.

John J. Ward, in the Strand, relates his experiences determining the strength of insects. With the aid of a toy coach and truck he discovered the pulling power of a bumble bee. It very ably manipulated both the empty coach and truck, he writes, the roof, however, being placed on the former. The truck was then gradually loaded with plasticine until an additional weight of 166 grains had been reached, the total weight of coach, truck and load then being 601 grains. The weight of the bee was exactly two grains, so that it was pulling a load slightly over 300 times its own weight.

It may, therefore, be said that the pulling powers of a bumble bee are proportionally 300 times as great as those of the horse or man, even when both the latter are estimated at their maximum strength.

But even the extraordinary strength of the bumble bee becomes insignificant when compared with that of the next insect experimented upon—namely, the familiar earwig.

I am inclined to think that, in proportion to its size, the earwig would prove one of the strongest, if not the most powerful of insects in all-round strength though, of course, to obtain absolute proof would require an enormous number of experiments.

If an earwig is held lightly between the fingers, it great strength can readily be felt as it struggles to escape, yet a full-grown specimen that I weighed barely turned the balance at half a grain, but what half a grain of active life could perform was a revelation indeed.

The earwig, like the ground beetle, prefers the darkness rather than the light and is, likewise, always in a great hurry to get under cover. It did not, however,

ALLOUEZ AND CENTENNIAL.

One "Coming," the Other "Going"—Some Interesting Comparisons.

Developments at the Allouez and Centennial properties are in direct contrast. Allouez is showing improvement while Centennial is retrograding. For the first ten months of this year Allouez shows an output of 3,932,361 pounds against 3,554,706 for the same ten months in 1909, an increase of 12 per cent. For the same period Centennial outputs 1,358,000 pounds against 2,364,900 pounds in 1909, a decrease of almost 50 per cent. The production compares as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Months, 1910 (pounds) and 1909 (pounds). Rows for 10 months and 10 months.

Under Calumet & Hecla management Allouez has shown substantial improvement, with respect to lower costs and a higher copper yield. In 1909 the extraction of copper per ton of rock was 15.93 pounds against 13.80 pounds in 1908. The yield for the current year will be fully up to the average of 1909. Of course, it is needless to look for any net income from Allouez in the treatment of a limited amount of rock on a low copper market, if, into the cost of operations there is charged any considerable sum for exploration and development. At the end of 1909, Allouez showed a profit and loss deficit of $142,417.

The underground situation at Centennial continues unpromising. Drifts are being continued to strike the extension of the Wolverine richness but up to the present time no substantial increase in copper values has been noted in any of the Centennial workings. The copper yield in 1909 from Centennial rock was 13.15 pounds against 12.94 pounds in 1908. The balance sheet at the close of the year shows a deficit of $20,396 and it is evident that the operations of the current year will show a further loss.

Calumet & Hecla owns 42 per cent of the 100,000 Allouez shares outstanding and a little less than 50 per cent of Centennial's 90,000 shares. It is therefore interested, more than any other stockholder, in the success of these properties. It is devoting its best energies to their economical development and to the treatment at lowest possible costs of such pay rock as is encountered in the process of opening work.

There is reason to feel considerably encouraged over the outlook at Allouez. There is plenty of room for improvement at Centennial, but the situation is not entirely hopeless.

ST MARY'S MINERAL LAND.

The St. Mary's Mineral Land company will enter the year 1911 with about $125,000 cash on hand and no assessments due for payment on the shares of the eleven mining companies held in its treasury. In the past three years the company has been called upon to pay out $795,282 in assessments and subscription for stock in the Houghton Copper company, which has necessarily forced the directors to curb dividend disbursements. With a continuance of the present rate of dividends by the Houghton Copper company, the St. Mary's company next year will be in a position to pay at least $3 a share per annum in dividends on its 100,000 shares as its ownership of 50,000 Champion shares shows a return of about $500,000 annually. The securities which the company holds in its treasury are as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Shares and Amount. Lists companies like Hancock, La Salle, North Lake, etc.

Other securities owned by the St. Mary's Mineral Land company have an estimated value of $10,000,000 and comprise: Fifty thousand shares of Champion Copper company, $3,767 shares King Philip Copper company, 20,000 Pacific Copper company and ten shares of the Amphidrome company of Houghton. The combined value of the company's treasury securities is about $11,000,000, or over $2,000,000 in excess of the market value of the 100,000 St. Mary's shares, which is $8,900,000. This figuring does not take into account the large land holdings of the St. Mary's company, comprising 94,923 acres and mineral rights in 14,098 additional acres at Lake Superior.

ISLE ROYALE.

Our special reports are to the effect that as yet the diamond drills operating in the "A" shaft of the Isle Royale Copper company have not revealed anything of value, although the work will be continued with the object in view of locating commercial copper in the Baltic lode, says the Boston Financial News. Drill work in this part of the property has always been considered as a side issue in the development of the Isle Royale, but the remarkable prospects of opening exceptionally rich ground in the Baltic lode has led the management to continue work in this direction.

The best feature of the Isle Royale is that a mine has already been developed on the Isle Royale lode with promise that the present production at the rate of between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 pounds of copper per annum will in the near future be brought up to a rate of about 12,000,000 pounds per annum. With copper the metal selling at 12 1/2 cents per pound, furthermore, the Isle Royale is showing a profit each month, over all expenses, including the exploration on the Baltic lode.

In fact the mine has been showing a profit for more than a year and from present indications the annual report for the current year will show a substantial profit. Last year the Isle Royale reported a deficit of approximately $161,000, but considerable development work had been done. The present management has discontinued a large part of such development and has thus put the company on a paying basis.

With Isle Royale showing a profit on a 12 1/2-cent copper market, it is safe to say that the average cost per pound is not higher than 12 cents, and undoubtedly some months the figure goes lower. In 1909 the average cost was 16.64 cents so the reduction during the current year means at least 4 1/2 cents per pound. This, on a 7,000,000-pound production, means increased revenue over the previous year of over $200,000.

The future of Isle Royale was never brighter than at the present time. The expenditure of approximately $2,000,000 on the property for development, machinery, etc., in the past ten years, is now beginning to show results and the stockholders have never been asked for a cent to aid in this development. Now that the mine is on a paying basis it will require only a small advance in the price of copper the metal to place the company in a position to consider a distribution of profits to the stockholders.

LA SALLE.

The LaSalle Copper company, which has suspended all exploratory operations in the territory known as the Caldwell tract, was organized in December, 1908, with an authorized capital of 400,000 shares at $25. It absorbed the Caldwell Copper company and now controls, through stock ownership, all but 156 shares out of a total issue of 54,959 shares of Tecumseh, the shareholders of the latter company receiving one and one-third shares of LaSalle for one share of Tecumseh. Of the 400,000 shares, 392,977 were issued in the process of the above absorptions, leaving 9,923 shares in the treasury. The Calumet & Hecla Mining company contributed $1,000,000 cash to the treasury, taking stock therefor and agreed to loan an additional $750,000 in case it was needed.

The lands of the company comprise 2,369 acres and embraced in this acreage is territory contributed by the Calumet & Hecla, St. Mary's Mineral Land, Sheldon and Douglas estates and other interests. The property carries the strike of the mineral formation for about two and one-half miles. The Tecumseh property on the northern end of the LaSalle, lying next south of the Osceola mine proper, carries about 400 acres of the underlay of the Kearsarge lode. The output recently reported by the LaSalle has sunk to a depth of 882 feet. This shaft was closed down in June, 1909. No. 5 shaft, next north, was according to the last annual report, down 1,220 feet.

The failure of all exploratory operations at the southern end of the LaSalle property comes as a distinct disappointment to those who have long clung to the belief that this immense acreage lying between Franklin on the south and Osceola (proper) on the north was pre-sure of demonstrating some very satisfactory copper values somewhere in its two and one-half miles of outcrop on the Kearsarge amygdaloid. Of course, the major disappointment falls upon the Calumet & Hecla company, which owns something more than a 50 per cent interest or 152,500 shares out of the 302,977 shares issued. In 1907, LaSalle sold as high as $35 per share.

OLD DOMINION.

President Smith of the Old Dominion Copper company says: "The costs of producing copper at the Old Dominion mine are now 9 1/2 cents per pound, a reduction of about 1 1/2 cents per pound over last year. The present low cost is a result of the installation of improved machinery and a new hoist at the 'A' shaft. The Old Dominion is now operating at about 60 per cent capacity. An increase in mining operations is contemplated upon an increase in the selling price of copper the metal. With copper selling at 12 1/2 cents per pound, but small incentive towards increasing the production is offered. The present poor state of the market for copper the metal may be attributed to the business situation, which is the present time is not quite up to normal. With confidence in the metal shares will be brought about in the near future and improvement in prices for the metal should take place soon."

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS.

J. A. Percival, secretary of Butte-Balaklava, and Walter H. Weed, geologist and mining expert, are in Butte to examine the vein and ore bodies in the controversy between Anaconda and Butte-Balaklava in behalf of the latter company.

It is claimed that the ore reserves at the Chino have been proved in excess of 30,000,000 tons, while the known ore bodies would raise the tonnage to 33,000,000. The foundations for the mill and other buildings have been completed and structural work will be inaugurated within a short time.

The stockholders have subscribed for practically all the treasury stock of the Lake offered for sale, so that the underwriters will not get any, except on rights that accrued to them as stockholders. The proceeds of the sale will place $416,000 in the treasury, which it is believed will finance the development of the property up to the time that the management may consider erecting a mill for the treatment of the Lake output.

Good reports come from the Ojibway as the openings into new ground at the 600, 650 and 800-foot levels. The ore extended, the drifts being in commercial lodes in all these levels. At the 350-foot level a station has been cut and drifting started; and should conditions in this upper level prove equal to those in the lower levels, the Ojibway will be increased considerably as soon as the second shaft is completed.

It is stated that the basis for the settlement of the Scott and Tuolumne controversy involves a sale of Tuolumne to North Butte on a basis giving Tuolumne a value of between $4 and $5 per share. C. E. Kelley, chief counsel for North Butte and Anaconda, has gone to New York with the agreement.

RAY CITY.—Hidden in a tiny closet in a house occupied by a family named Kowalski, across the road from her home, Detective Craig found the six-year-old daughter of Joseph Zysch, living in the south end, with part of her clothing removed. The detective interviewed the Kowalskis, but the latter denied knowing anything about the child. Then children told the detective they had seen the child at the cellar window and the detective returned to the house and walked in unannounced. He went down the cellar and finding a locked door under the stairway, broke it open. In the closet covered the half-dressed child. Craig wrapped her in a shawl and took her to her home. The child bore no evidence of ill-treatment. Despite every effort to find out from either Zysch or the Kowalskis, the police cannot get any further. All of the persons concerned talk very little English. Unless the father makes a complaint, the police will not attempt to solve what is apparently a mystery.

There are reasons to believe that in the consolidation of the Superior & Pittsburg with Calumet & Arizona negotiations toward which are now in process, a better treatment than originally proposed, says the Boston News Bureau. It is probable that this property will get better than the equivalent of one share of new Calumet & Arizona for four shares of Superior & Pittsburg. Incidentally it is to be noted that the October output of the Calumet & Arizona was very much smaller than for many months, amounting to less than 2,000,000 pounds and being 370,000 pounds less than October, 1909. For the first time in the history of the mine the older producer in point of output.

Hayden, Stone & Co. estimates that the "Greene-Canaan" output this year will be substantially the same as last year or 44,547,000 pounds with the cost practically unchanged. The earnings per share, therefore, should be the same as last year, or twenty cents from which it is deduced that the recent strength in the stock must be attributed to rumors of some kind of an amalgamation of this property with others controlled by the same interests.

In view of the fact that the net earnings of the Tennessee Copper company for the last two years have averaged but $1.00 per share, banking opinion is that net earnings of $1.00 per share per annum is an extravagant estimate of the increased net profits to be derived from the sulphuric acid department in the expansion of which the directors have asked the stockholders to authorize an issue of $1,500,000 six per cent bonds.

While no official announcement has been made, there seems to be little doubt that within sixty days Hancock will begin a stamp mill test at the Allouez-Centennial mill, which has the most modern equipment and insures the results of this test will depend the plans Hancock plans have been considered, and the location purchased, with only about a mile of haulage from the mine to the mill location. But many points of final decision are in abeyance until after the mill test is made this winter.

The Ray mill buildings have been completed and the machinery is being rapidly placed in position. It is expected that the first unit of the plant will go into commission about Feb. 1. The second shaft is nearing completion and

ARBUCLE HOPES TO RAISE THE YANKEE

Has New Compressed Air Method for Next Attempt to Float the Sunken Cruiser.

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 20.—Renewed efforts will be made soon to place the cruiser Yankee again on the commission list of the vessels of Uncle Sam's navy, from which she was read out a year ago, following her impaling on the ledges of Spindle rock, part of Hen and Chickens reef in Buzzard's bay.

Compressed air, the method by which the Yankee originally was floated, will again be relied upon to raise her in the coming attempt. The operating plant will constitute a sizable flotilla of vessels, all equipped with newly designed compressed air apparatus.

The presence among the wrecking vessels of the steamer Roosevelt, which Peary made his last Arctic voyage, lends additional interest to this latest effort to save the Yankee.

The presence of the wrecking vessel to save the Yankee, the polar vessel was purchased from the Peary Arctic club by John Arbuckle, the New York sugar king and philanthropist.

Resting on a soft bottom since her second accident, it is believed the Yankee has not suffered much. In grounding on Hen and Chickens reef during a thick fog, Sept. 23, 1909, while on her way from Newport to Vineyard Haven, the Yankee sustained a hole in her hull at and was badly wrecked by the pounding received while on the rocks from that date to Dec. 4, when she was floated.

The Yankee was floated at this time by the Arbuckle workers, after the navy department had finally abandoned their efforts to float the vessel.

Since Dec. 5 the Yankee has never rested on the water without artificial buoyancy. She has been temporarily raised several times and shifted about, but this was all in the planned operations of the wreckers to enable them to work to better advantage. The last time the Yankee was brought to the surface was early in the present year, when the pressure of the compressed air was so great when the deck of the vessel was released from the previously off-setting pressure of the water that the deck blew up.

It will take two or three weeks to repair this damage. Then the Yankee, braced to prevent a recurrence of such an explosion, will again be pumped full of compressed air and, it is hoped, will be floated again.

The Palace moving picture Theatre with picture machine, piano and chairs all complete, also livery barn located right in business section, will be sold or rented cheap.

MYSTERY OF SEA PUZZLES FISHERS

Whale, Submarine Craft or Serpent Lurks in the Waters of Narragansett Bay.

Providence, Nov. 20.—Is a whale, a submarine craft, "the" sea serpent or the devil lurking in the deeper waters of Narragansett bay?

Many old fishermen whose theory never has included the existence of a personal Satan are modifying their views, taking on new piety and trying to give supernatural significance to a succession of recent mysterious occurrences. It is declared that vessels' keels have scraped over shoals that are uncharted and that couldn't be found with a line and lead five minutes after; that fish pounds have been broken into, nets deprived of their fish and trawls seized in unexpected and unexplained ways, and that tide rips have appeared at stages of the tide when the surface of the bay should be as serene as a lily pond on the fairest of June days.

"If it" is neither a mechanical invention nor something alive, the fishermen say, then Nature is playing pranks down at the bottom of the sea in a way of a series of little earthquakes or something of that kind. This last is the theory of Captain Don Jose Bragana of the Antonio and Maria, who knew "trembles" in Portugal.

The presence of whales off the "back side" of Long island is reported by the incoming coast-wise steamers, and some of the bay saits maintain that a whale with a grouch has come into the bay and has contracted a pain in his capacious "tummy" from imbibing the polluted waters. If so, they say, the whale must have been here a number of days since he felt obliged to evict Jonah.

Some unhappy happenings on shore, as well as in the water, are now being attributed to the what-is-it. The recent apparently incendiary fires that destroyed cottages at Island Park, Portsmouth, and at Field's point, this city, are associated with the calamities at sea. Whatever the thing is it is reasonable to suppose that it can come ashore if it chooses. Wasn't the gorae amphibious?

CHOLLY EXCUSES HIMSELF.

Cholly had entered his father's office after graduating from college, but had shown a capacity for unpopularity that gradually got upon the old gentleman's nerves. "Well," said the latter one morning, "this is a fine time of day to get down snapping the cover of his watch anyhow as Cholly walked in about half-past 10 to business. Here it is half-past 10 o'clock."

"Well, my dear dad," said Cholly, languidly, "you have always said that the office should seek a man, and not the man the office, and I've been waiting for the blamed thing to turn up ever since breakfast."--Harper's Weekly.

Most Pile Remedies Miss the Cause of Piles.

Disagreeable treatment with ointments or suppositories, usually fails, to cure piles and cutting them off won't remove the cause. Such treatment only moderates the outside effects of the disease and fails to remedy the inside cause. The up-to-date doctors now use internal medicine, to free the circulation in the lower bowels, and so remove the disease.

NATIONAL GUARD IS FOR M'GURRIN

Strong Endorsement Is Sent to Governor-Elect Chase S. Osborn.

Talk of who will land the plums which Governor-Elect Osborn will have to hand out is becoming loud, with interest in Grand Rapids centered about the offices of game warden and adjutant general of the Michigan National Guard, says the Grand Rapids Herald.

Robert J. Bates, who has just retired as brigadier general, would like the place and his friends argue that he is entitled to it. General Bates has served many years in the National Guard, mounting from the ranks to be commanding officer of the brigade. Gen. McGurkin stepped from brigadier general to adjutant general, the only position which pays a salary in any way commensurate with the expenses. Therefore Bates' friends argue he should be promoted in the same way.

But among the National Guard the sentiment is for the retention of McGurkin. A concerted movement among the officers and men has resulted in a splendid endorsement being sent to Mr. Osborn on behalf of McGurkin. This endorsement, the officers are careful to state, is not a reflection upon, and for this reason the members of the organization have endorsed him heartily.

The other appointment, that of game warden, which is somewhat discussed, is one of the "lump" plums to be handed out. A half dozen are looking longingly toward it and each believes he has it good as landed. Mr. Osborn's policy of refusing to promise any position to anybody has left all in a somewhat clouded situation, but each thinks he sees the light shining through, and directly at him.

Alvin Coulter, who is a deputy game warden when Mr. Osborn was game warden, and who is now a deputy in the internal revenue service, believes he has a good chance of landing the job. John Baird of Saginaw, who has several times almost landed the plum, is also spoken of as a likely winner. Henry Wolf of Muskegon is another man who might get it. Mr. Osborn is the only man who really knows just who will draw the lucky card.

SWIDOWS AS WELL AS WIDOWERS. Sweden is probably the only country so far where spinsters as well as bachelors are indirectly taxed.

Just lately there has been an agitation among the male contributors who thought that what was sauce for the gander should also be sauce for the goose, in other words that the steadily growing number of female employees should be compelled to contribute to the widows and children fund. The city of Stockholm has been the first to adopt the idea, which is being extended all over Sweden. Widowers of female employees now enjoy the same privileges as widows of male employees and the name of the fund has accordingly been altered to the Widowers, Widows and Children fund.

Upper Peninsula

Dislikes the Hunting Invasion—For figures on the extent of the hunting invasion we are indebted to Pursor Wenzel of the Sainte Marie, who says that 3,200 hunters crossed the straits this year, as against 2,700 in 1909, reports the St. Ignace Enterprise. To us, however, nothing is so different from an Ohio man. At $25 each for a license, this army would contribute $80,000 that could be used in the preservation of our preserves from poaching and our forests from fire.

Andrew Bjorkman of Iron Mountain, the leading lumberman of the Menominee range, has closed a deal for the purchase of eighteen hundred acres of timber lands in Florence county Wis. The lands were purchased from the United States Steel corporation and the Breitung estate of Marquette. The acreage is covered with a heavy stand of pine, hemlock and hardwood timber. Mr. Bjorkman will log the timber and will operate several camps in the tract this winter.

Charles Clement, the Shingleton lumberman, reports having had a successful season the past summer. He has operated two camps—one at Craighton, the other at Clement's Siding—six and nine miles east of Shingleton. Mr. Clement has closed a deal with a Grand Rapids firm for his cedar poles and posts—about $12,000 worth. Besides this deal he has about 1,000,000 feet of logs which he is selling to the Cleveland Cliffs iron company at Munising. Mr. Clement has sold his bark to a Soo concern.

Representative-elect Knight of Norway, Dickinson county, says: "Prior to election the successful candidate made no promises as to his course of action if chosen to office. Much was said before the election on the subject of a two-cent per mile fare on upper peninsula railways, and now after election the representative-elect says that in so far as he may be able he will work to bring about an amendment to the statutes giving the people of the upper peninsula the same privileges in railway travel as are enjoyed by their lower peninsula brethren."

With a bullet lodged in his left forearm, Harry Jacobson, a ten-year-old Stonington lad, was taken to the office of Dr. H. W. Long, where the bullet was located with the aid of an X-Ray machine. As the leaden missile lay in a position which it would not be likely to give any future trouble to the patient it was not removed. The lad was injured as the result of one of the most peculiar accidents ever recorded in Delta county. With a companion he was at work in the rear yard of his home. His times almost landed the plum, is also spoken of as a likely winner. Henry Wolf of Muskegon is another man who might get it. Mr. Osborn is the only man who really knows just who will draw the lucky card.

Two hoboes came to Menominee last night on the late Northwestern train and left within ten minutes, followed by a couple of bullets fired by Police Officer Daniel Flynn, says the Menominee Herald-Leader. The two "hob" entered town on a late baggage train. They probably did not intend to stop here, but they were discovered by train of ficials. Officer Flynn saw them and started on a chase. The two visitors walked up the railroad tracks as far as Ogen avenue. About that time they were followed by Officer Flynn, who was following them. They broke and ran toward the court house, with Flynn several yards behind. It seems that they have had considerable practice at this game, for Flynn was unable to overtake them, and they gained on him pretty rapidly. Flynn fired a couple of shots at the retreating forms, and their speed increased so that the Menominee police officer is wondering if they have yet stopped. The last seen of them they were heading up Ogen avenue for the bridge, going at express speed, probably faster than they came in.

Delta county has a chance to land a beet-sugar manufacturing. Answering the query of Editor F. L. Baldwin of the Escanaba Journal, G. W. McCormick, manager of the Menominee River Sugar company, writes, in part, as follows: "For your information and for the information of the farmers of Delta county, we wish to state that we will contract to take beets from any railroad station and pay the farmers at the rate of 86 per ton on board cars. We will furnish the seed at ten cents per pound. It requires eight hundred pounds to the acre. Farmers of Menominee county this year have made from 500 to 1000 per acre in growing sugar beets, and fully three times the number of acres will be grown this season in 1911. The crop, notwithstanding the drought, has shown an average yield of about twelve tons to the acre, while the grain crops in most cases amounted to less than a half crop. We will take all of the beets that are grown in your county, no matter how large a quantity may be produced, and when the time comes that Delta county can produce enough beets to have a

How one man fooled his wife

She had been using her "favorite" baking powder. Wouldn't think of trying anything else, because "mother always used it," or some similar excuse. Hubby said she was prejudiced. He figured if Calumet, the new baking powder, selling at a moderate price, could be so successful, there must be some good in it. So he took a hand, and bought a can of Calumet, emptied the can containing her "favorite" baking powder and filled it with Calumet.

This evening, unsuspecting the trick, Wife prepared and served some of her famous biscuit— piping hot, temptingly browned and puffed up to airy lightness, they were even more delicious than usual. Hubby, after considerable difficulty, succeeded in convincing her that the basis of the improvement was Calumet Baking powder. And so an everlasting friend for Calumet was made.

sugar factory of its own, we will undertake to say that such a factory will be erected. Any farmers wishing contracts with us can write to us and we will gladly make the necessary arrangements with them."

In a personal conversation, Mr. McCormick said: "There is no question as to the sugar factory for Delta county, and it will be built just as soon as a sufficient acreage of beets is assured. We would require from five to six thousand acres, this amount being necessary for a 600-ton factory. I don't know how many acres are under cultivation in Delta county, but it seems to me that if the proposition were taken hold of in a vigorous manner and a thorough canvass made sufficient acreage could be contracted for in a year or two. I know whereof I speak when I say that there is no soil or climate anywhere in the world that is superior to Delta county for sugar beets. We had contracts with several farmers in various parts of the county the past season, and the results were equal to anything I have ever known in the history of sugar beet raising. One farmer near Perkins got seed last spring from which we expected he would grow about three carloads of beets. I was greatly surprised this fall when we received four and one-half carloads from him."

SHOEING A COLT.

The first shoeing of a colt is the most important of all. Many a good horse has his speed impaired by wrong judgment being used in doing his first job of shoeing. We have heard much on shoeing being an evil necessity but the greatest of all evils comes when the shoeing of the colt has not been followed along same lines.

In the hands of a competent trainer trouble rarely exists with the first shoeing because experience tells the hand the exact kind of a shoe that should be used on the colt for the first time. Two years of age is not too young for the first shoes to be put on, but at this age, when the breaking-in process has been started, the bones and muscles of the colt have not yet received their full portion of growth and strength, and in order to prevent breakage to the hoof and other damage it is advisable when colts are being worked at that age to apply hoof wear.

The unfortunate thing about horse shoeing is that some people look to save expenses by shoeing by applying more weight on the feet than the animal is able to carry and do him justice. A colt two years old that is a speed prospect should not be asked to carry more than three or four ounces, and it is not out of place to have the same weight attached to each hoof.

Notwithstanding the fact that there are men in the horse business who are always willing to charge some form of incompetency or ignorance against the horse shoeer, it is nevertheless a fact that the horse shoeers of today understand their trade better than those of past history. The improvement can be credited for the most part to the close association which horse shoeers have had with men who have given a lifetime of study to the gaiting of horses.

Some of these, however, are not to be considered among the rank of those who understand all the requirements of a horse, so far as his shoeing is concerned. Take, for instance, one who looks merely at the side gait without considering the conformation of the animal. It is impossible for such a man to give sound and safe advice to a shoeer, for the reason that he has not looked into the requirements of the case, and that is conformation.

A horse with a long toe and a low heel, either heel or front, does not possess true conformation, and what nature has denied the art of the shoeer must be called into play to correct or remedy whatever defect the abnormal conformation may have produced. In this particular a shoeer will advise a method of shoeing that will bring the fall and ground tread of the foot as nearly as possible under the center of the leg. If the hind feet are affected alike to those of the front, the same process must be followed, that of centralizing the location of the ground tread with that of the leg.

And the same reason follows, if nature has denied truth in conformation to the animal in other respects. The toe-out foot, either hind or front, as a rule invites to the horse offishness in his gait, and in many cases a destruction of a natural gait and speed. But in the hands of a competent trainer and shoeer the remedy is applied by art, and thus the two guides of the work act in concert in producing an improvement in the animal, which, as stated, has not been allotted by nature. It is not to be overlooked that to begin right with the shoeing of the colt and follow it up through the life of the horse none of those troubles which are found located in the animal which has not been taken right at the outset are generally experienced because the shoeing of the colt has been rightly directed and followed properly from the beginning.

Hoboes Persona Non Grata

Two hoboes came to Menominee last night on the late Northwestern train and left within ten minutes, followed by a couple of bullets fired by Police Officer Daniel Flynn, says the Menominee Herald-Leader. A SHOW OF 3346 DOGS.

With 3346 entries for prizes worth $7100, classes numbering no fewer than 636, and judging proceeding all day long in twenty-four rings, the Kennel club's fifty-fifth annual show, at the Crystal Palace, was an exceptionally comprehensive and interesting display. It embraced practically every known type of dog, from the massive Dane, St. Bernard and Newfoundland, to the diminutive Pekingese, Pomeranian and Japanese toy breeds, including the Conservatory. Half to themselves with their feminine attendants. And there were also several types of dogs which are, generally speaking, unknown in England, such as the Shetland and German sheepsdogs, elk-hounds, Afghan hounds and Pyrenean mountain dogs. The entry of nearly seventy dachshunds was a notably large one, and the breed is gaining in popularity. There were also heavy dog entries and grand lots of dogs of the various sporting breeds, especially of retrievers, spaniels and setters. Especially dense was the crowd beside the bulldog benches, where were displayed some magnificent specimens. In the open classes Dr. H. Patteson's Chinham Par-

THE LONGEVITY OF BIRDS.

An instance was recorded in a German paper recently of the shooting of a crow with a ring on its leg bearing a date of over a hundred years ago. In the same week a resident in one of the English counties wrote for the ornithological press putting on record the coming of age of his skylark. That letter brought to light the fact that if twenty-one years is not exactly a common age for a lark it is by no means a unique one. The writer has owned canaries that exceeded the twenty-one years of the skylark, and one bullfinch he possessed reached the age of sixteen years. Exhibition or "fancy" bred birds, on the other hand, are comparatively short-lived, and the variety known as the "Scotch Fancy" the canary with the half-moon shaped body, is decrepit when two or three years old and is becoming extinct.--Dundee Advertiser.

MEAT DEALERS LOWER PRICES

New Scale Calls for Reduction of From Two to Eight Cents Per Pound.

Negaunee people will be pleased to learn that the retail meat dealers will this morning put into effect a new schedule of prices, with reductions ranging from two to eight cents per pound on different meats. They are enabled to make these reductions because of the recent declines in the wholesale prices of beef, pork, lamb and mutton. Poultry prices will be just as costly, if not a trifle higher, than it was a year ago this time.

Practically all of the dealers have agreed to the new scale of prices and they hope in the future to be able to make additional reductions, but they cannot do this unless the wholesale prices are lowered still more. The tendency toward lower wholesale prices was stronger last week than at previous times in years. One of the dealers Saturday said that it was impossible for the retailers to reduce their prices until the wholesale prices were cut, as they were selling on very close margins. He said it was an actual fact that many times during the past year the retailers here lost money on certain meat stuffs, and particularly beef.

The new prices and old prices on the principal cuts are as follows:

	Former Price	New Price
Porterhouse steak.....	22c	20c
Sirloin steak.....	20	18
Round steak.....	18	16c
Rib roast.....	18	16
Chuck roast.....	14	12
Lump chops.....	28	20
Leg of lamb.....	26	20
Roast lamb.....	24	20
Leg of mutton.....	22	18
Mutton chops.....	20	18
Chickens.....	12 1/2	10
Bacon in piece.....	28	25
Sliced bacon (premium).....	30	25
Sliced boiled ham.....	35	30
Smoked ham (whole).....	22	20
Smoked ham.....	28	25
Lard (loose).....	19	15

Thanksgiving turkeys will retail in Negaunee at from twenty-two to twenty-three cents per pound. One of the dealers Saturday said that turkeys had cost him $1 more per 100 pounds than he paid last year. At from twenty-two to twenty-three cents the margin of profit will be small. Spring chickens will sell for Thanksgiving at eighteen cents per pound. Friday turkeys were quoted at from twenty-two to twenty-three cents wholesale in the Chicago markets.

Blame the Packers.

The Union Master Butchers' association, of Chicago, Friday placed the blame for the high prices upon the packers. There have been no reductions in the retail prices of meat in Chicago. Representatives of the association declare that the packers, alarmed by pending federal prosecutions, are trying to curry favor with the public and to make the retailers the "goat." One of the butchers made the statement that if Chicago retailers could pass on the relations and charges were freely made that the price of reductions were not borne out by the facts. Edward Levy, vice president of the Butchers' association, declared that the retailers of Chicago were making only small profits. He said that they were paying twelve and one-half cents for lamb by the carcass, and in spite of the fact that they charged twenty-five cents for the choice cuts they did not make more than fifty cents profit on each lamb. He said that six pounds of chops were all that could be secured out of a forty-pound lamb.

The retailers in Milwaukee have not yet lowered their prices and are not inclined to make any changes until the packers assure them that the wholesale prices will be lower for some time to come. Patrick Cudaly, president of the Cudaly Bros. company of Milwaukee, takes exception to Dr. Wiley's assertion that the packers have reduced their prices temporarily, only to get a better hold on the people. Mr. Cudaly says that the books of his company show that fresh meat cost 32 percent more this year than it did four years ago.

SECURED CONTRACT.

CHANGED THEIR MINDS.

Negaunee Man And His Companion Did Not Go To The Panama Canal.

Edgar Williams, son of John Williams of this city, who gave up his position with the Chalmers-Detroit company in Detroit a few weeks ago, and came home on a visit to his folks, leaving here with the intention of going to the Panama Canal to accept a position with the government as stationary engineer, decided after leaving Negaunee to locate in Denver, Colo. Guy Stephens, of Detroit, who also secured a position with the government on the canal, failed to pass the physical examination. This was a great disappointment to both young men, and Mr. Williams concluded not to make the trip alone.

WORK AT BARASA MINE.

Corrigan-McKinney Co. Next Week Will Start Pumping Water From Shaft.

Captain Richard Nicholls, who came over from Crystal Falls a week or so ago to superintend operations at the Barasa property, which has been taken under option by the Corrigan-McKinney company, expects to be able to start the pump the middle of this week. A boiler and small engine are now being installed and a good sized pump will be used in removing the water from the shaft and under-ground workings. The old machinery, used during part of the time the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company had an option on the property, was removed when the option was surrendered and practically all of the machinery needed for the exploratory work will have to be installed.

The Barasa shaft is 208 feet deep and the bottom drift, which extends toward the Negaunee mine, is about 2,000 feet in length. The greater part of the work in the drift was done by the fee owners, who operated the mine at different times before the Cleveland-Cliffs people took an option on it.

The Corrigan-McKinney company expects to give the workings a thorough test and it is possible that they will do some drilling underground. It is believed by mining men familiar with the formations in that vicinity that the present workings lie considerably above the main ore body. The Negaunee mine encountered its best ore at a depth below 700 feet.

Captain Nicholls is a former Negaunee man. He was one of the first miners employed at the Buffalo property, now operated by the Oliver Iron Mining company. Twenty-two years ago he worked in the Cambria mine. He left Negaunee twenty-one years ago for the Menominee range. About the same time Captain W. J. Allen of this city, who recently accepted a position with the M. A. Hanna company at a property being opened on the Menominee range, left here to take charge of the Great Western mine, then operated by the Hanna company. Captain Nicholls has been in the employ of the Corrigan-McKinney company for the past twelve years. He was superintendent of the Crystal Falls mine for some time, until three years ago, when he was transferred to the Great Western, where he held the position of captain until the mine closed down a few weeks ago.

The Corrigan-McKinney company had been gradually reducing its working force at the Great Western, for some three years before operations were finally suspended and at the time of the shutdown there were only about 150 men employed. The stockpile at the Great Western, which is perhaps the largest in the district anywhere in the Lake Superior district at this time, has been accumulating for several years. Corrigan-McKinney people were unable to use as much of it as they did a few years ago. Most of the men employed at the Great Western have been given other places with the company in the Menominee district, and the company is employing nearly as many men as it did during the past several months.

BOTH PHONES.

DR. WILSON, CAMPAIGNER.

Dr. Woodrow Wilson was accompanied, at every point at which he made an address, by corps of stenographers and typists, who furnished to the newspapers complete verbatim reports of his speeches within a half hour after their delivery. This was the more necessary in this campaign because Dr. Wilson never wrote his speeches in advance, nor, during the campaign, delivered two speeches that bore any likeness to each other.

Dr. Wilson proved himself to be one of the most easy and graceful of platform orators. He never indulges in ambitious flights of rhetoric, but speaks smoothly, in a well modulated voice, that is wonderfully persuasive, but yet has the carrying power to reach the remotest corners of the largest of the halls in which he appeared. He seemed, as he talked to his Jersey audiences, to be having a delightful conversation with them. He always has the needed—the exact—word that most effectively carries his meaning to his tongue's end. If he seems to hesitate, it is only to give added emphasis to the phrase he is about to employ. The absence of demonstrative outbursts was a marked feature of his meetings. His oratory is of the kind that makes one keep still and listen, rather than stamp his feet and cheer. He was always adaptable. He never talked over the heads of his hearers.—New York Times.

IS THE WINTER MORE MILD NOW?

Old Residents Declare That There is Much Less Cold Weather and Snow Now Than in Older Days, But Records of Weather Bureau Do Not Bear Out Claim.

Official Figures Show That in Ten Years Following 1872 Three Winter Months Averaged Slightly Milder Than the Past Decade—Warmest Winter Was in 1878.

Old Resident—"Don't talk to me about cold weather. Why, the winters here now are nothing to what they were twenty-five or thirty years ago. I can remember one year when the thermometer stood at 40 below zero for a week and we always expected to have sleighing eight months of the year. Oh, the winter climate here is ever so much milder than it used to be."

This or a similar statement everyone has heard hundreds of times and that the climate in the upper peninsula is more moderate than in the early days before the forests were cut away, is generally believed. Such being the common belief, it is quite startling to find, upon an examination of the records of the Marquette weather bureau, that the figures do not indicate that the winter temperature in Marquette is materially different now from what it has always been. The records of the weather bureau extend back as far as 1872 and as to what kind of weather Marquette had prior to that time there is no evidence except that of the old residents.

Observer Patrick has on file in his office a chart showing the mean or average temperature during the winter months, December, January and February, every year since 1872. These are considered as the three winter months. Strange as it may seem, this chart shows that the average temperature for these three months during the ten years between 1872 and 1882 was one degree warmer than during the same three months for the ten years from 1900 to 1909, inclusive. Pick out any ten years you choose and compare them with any other ten years of the thirty-eight since 1872, and the chart will show that the mean temperature for the three winter months has about the same, the average winter temperature for the entire thirty-eight years being a small fraction over 18 degrees.

Warmest Winter in 1878. As far back as there is any record, the warmest winter ever experienced in Marquette was in 1878, when the average temperature during December, January and February was 30 degrees. The coldest winters were in 1885 and 1887, when the mean temperature during the three winter months was 10 degrees. The mean temperature of all other winters since 1872 has varied, apparently without any regularity, between 30 degrees and 10 degrees. Up to about 1900, it appears from the chart that there was an exceptionally mild winter about every five years, but during the past decade the records disprove any assumption that very mild winters are becoming normally mild. With reference to exceptionally cold winters, the chart shows that they happen as they list, without any regularity whatsoever.

The mean temperature each year since 1872 during the three winter months has been as follows: Eighteen degrees in 1872; 17 degrees in 1873; 21 degrees in 1874; 14 degrees in 1875; 21 degrees in 1876; 21 degrees in 1877; 20 degrees in 1878; 20 degrees in 1879; 21 degrees in 1880; 14 degrees in 1881; 20 degrees in 1882; 16 degrees in 1883; 14 degrees in 1884; 10 degrees in 1885; 19 degrees in 1886; 10 degrees in 1887; 15 degrees in 1888; 20 degrees in 1889; 22 degrees in 1890; 20 degrees in 1891; 19 degrees in 1892; 13 degrees in 1893; 12 degrees in 1894; 16 degrees in 1895; 21 degrees in 1896; 21 degrees in 1897; 15 degrees in 1898; 19 degrees in 1899; 19 degrees in 1900; 21 degrees in 1901; 16 degrees in 1902; 12 degrees in 1903; 16 degrees in 1904; 23 degrees in 1905; 16 degrees in 1906; 23 degrees in 1907; 18 degrees in 1908 and 19 degrees in 1909.

Better Prepared for Winter. "The reason everyone thinks that the winter climate here is milder than in the days gone by," said Observer Patrick, "is that people are better prepared to withstand the cold now than in former years. People now live in steam-heated, storm-windowed houses, and have warm underwear, shoes and clothing that they used to. If you do not think this is so, just dress as people did twenty-five years ago and go out into the woods and spend the winter in a cabin or shack without any modern conveniences. I think the experiment will prove that the winters now are just as cold as they ever were."

Another reason for the common belief is that one only remembers extremes. If there was a day or two sometime when the thermometer went down to 40 below, one will remember it all his life, while he will forget that this was only an exception and that most of the time the weather was only normally warm or cold. The same is true of an exceptionally hot day or a heavy snow storm. The weather bureau records show that there is no material difference in the amount of snow fall now and twenty years ago, though from year to year there has been wide variation. The winter in which the snow was to feet deep is unseasonably cited as an example of every winter of the early days. Of course, there is no gainsaying that the snow melts more rapidly in the open than in the deep forest, but, otherwise, I cannot see that there has been any material change in the climate of the upper peninsula, and the records of the weather bureau in Washington, D. C., that in every section of the country the climate now is just about the same as it has always been, though almost everywhere there are wide variations from year to year."

JUNIOR PARTY.

Annual High School Event will be Given Friday Night of This Week.

The annual party given by the Junior class of the Marquette High school will take place this week Friday night, and promises to be one of the big high school social events of the year. Special committees were appointed some time ago and each is now busy looking after its part in the arrangements. Fraternity Hall will be beautifully decorated in gold and white, the class colors, flowers entering the decorating plans. There will be a large dome in the center and Japanese lanterns will supply light. Favors will also be given in several of the dances of the evening. Refreshments will be served in the rear of the hall in a booth of evergreens. Two members of the faculty will preside at the tables. Trombly's orchestra will furnish the music and a most enjoyable evening is anticipated.

GET CONTROLLING INTEREST.

L. G. Kaufman and Others Buy More Stock in Congress Hotel Company.

It is understood that a party of four or five of the old stockholders in the Congress Hotel Company of Chicago, have acquired enough of the stock in the open market recently to give them control. The party is said to include L. G. Kaufman, formerly of Marquette, Mich., now president of the Chatham National Bank in New York; F. H. Rawson, president of the Union Trust Company, and W. J. Watson, both of Chicago. They and a few associates, without making any contest for control, have picked up enough of the stock with what they held before to give them a considerable majority. They are understood not to have taken any part of the Southgate holdings, recently acquired and placed by Messrs. Joyce and Kennedy, managers of the hotel. There is understood to be complete harmony between these interests.

The net earnings are understood to have shown a material increase since the new management took control. The month of October showed very satisfactory returns. It is not expected that there will be any resumption of dividends on the common stock for some time, or until the property has recovered from the extravagant management that made the passing of the dividend necessary a few months ago. S. R. Kaufman and N. M. Kaufman have been in Chicago the past few days presumably in connection with the hotel deal.

THEATRICAL.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Jolly, tender sentiment, lively dialogue, and poetic justice—all are blended in ancient-honored "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which the Stetson company will offer Thanksgiving Day, matinee and night, in Marquette. Throughout this old stage story is illustrated the vagaries of life and the versatility of human nature. The law of compensation is strictly observed. The pathetic death of Little Eva has no sooner covered the audience with sorrow's pall than a vaudeville number comes to restore the spirits of the audience. The Stetson company is the leader in the production of Harriet Beecher Stowe's masterpiece. The cast is large and well distributed. The blood and music and the scenic effects, costumes and accessories are all the best attainable.

THE PROPER COURSE.

Information of Priceless Value of Every Marquette Citizen. How to act in an emergency is knowledge of inestimable worth, and this is particularly true of the diseases and ills of the human body. If you suffer with backache, urinary disorders, or any form of kidney trouble, the advice contained in the following statement will add a valuable asset to your store of knowledge. What could be more convincing proof of the efficiency of Doan's Kidney Pills than the statement of Marquette citizens who have been permanently cured?

Mrs. Leonard Richer, 407 Rock St., Marquette, Mich., says: "In 1903 I gave a statement for publication, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and I now confirm all I then said in their favor. My back ached almost constantly and there were severe pains in my side. My kidneys were weak and I was subject to dizzy spells. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills from The Stafford Drug Co. and through their use, I was given entire relief. The cure has been permanent. One of my children was afflicted with weak kidneys and had no control over the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills effected a cure of this case."

ENDORSES BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT

Rev. J. M. Rogers Tells His Congregation the Purpose of This New Organization.

At the morning services at the Presbyterian church yesterday, Rev. J. M. Rogers discussed the needs met by and the purposes of the Boy Scout movement, which has just been introduced among the boys of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist churches. Rev. J. M. Rogers gave his hearty endorsement to the movement and advised the parents of his congregation to give their active co-operation. His discourse consisted largely of a digest of parts of the book describing the movement, which has been written by Ernest Thompson Seton and General Daniel Post, the former its founder in this country, and the latter its sponsor in England.

"The purpose and object of the Boy Scout movement is character education and character building," declared Mr. Rogers. "In the great nations of the world there are signs of a general decline, the same as resulted in the overthrow of the ancient nations. One of the great problems of today is the problem of the unemployed, the drones, who are moved hither and thither at the instigation of unprincipled agitators. There is work for every man in the United States, yet there is a large class that is out of work most of the time. Why is it that the idle men do not step in and take the jobs that are to be filled? The reason is that these men are not trained to fight out their own destinies, but, on the contrary, are willing to give up as soon as the thing they are doing becomes the least irksome. It was the same in ancient Rome. At the time of the empire's downfall, her citizenship had become drones, non-producers and idlers. "Again, in the halcyon days of the Roman empire every man was a soldier and an athlete. In the halcyon days of the nation, her citizenship had become a narrow chested, effeminate, sickly race, whose pleasure consisted not in active participation in out-door sports, but in watching the exhibitions of hired gladiators and other abnormally developed athletes. Signs are not lacking that the civilized countries of today are trending the same way. Only a comparatively few play baseball and football and other physique building games, while the masses are content to pay their money to sit idly by and watch scientific exhibitions played by the few. The trouble with colleges and athletics is that everyone does not play football, baseball and other games."

"The Boy Scout movement is designed to create in every boy a love for many sports, to teach him to be self-dependent, and to know how to make use of the great out-door world. It is to give him the rights of his companions and to be a worker, not a drone. With the growth of cities, the boys have not that opportunity to employ their energies that they had on the frontier 100 years ago, and the parents are continually confronted with the question, 'What can I do?' The Boy Scout movement is intended to give the boy something to do, which will develop his body, his mind and his soul. In reforming a man, you reform an individual; in reforming a boy, you reform a whole multiplication table. It is to be working with the boys that the standard of citizenship can be maintained."

ENTER THE NAVY, SAYS EVANS.

Splendid Preparation for Life, Declares the Rear Admiral.

Washington, Nov. 20.—"Fighting Bob" Evans' advice to young men is to enter the navy. The famous sea fighter has just returned from New York to his home here. "I would advise any young man who was trying to decide on a career to enter the navy," said Admiral Evans. "He will never regret the experience it gives him. The navy turns out young men, who, when they enter the service, are experienced and of little value to themselves, or to anyone else, skilled mechanics, steamfitters, blacksmiths, carpenters, wireless operators, telegraph operators. When they graduate they have had an expert training for industrial life and are fitted to take positions in large industries. "But," continued Admiral Evans, "a man who received his education from Uncle Sam should be willing to serve his country after he has received his education. He should remain in the navy, unless there is some very pressing reason for him to leave."

Admiral Evans related an incident in his own life, showing that he might have become an active member of the steel trust had he desired. He said that an offer was made to him while he was steel expert in 1888 for entry into the steel business. "I turned the offer over in my mind that day," said Admiral Evans. "The government had given me my education with the idea that I should work for the government, and I felt it was my duty to remain in the navy. So I refused the offer. I have never been sorry, even when I have heard of other men who entered the business much later and have become wealthy. I place a greater value on the friends I have made around the world during my service in the navy than I do on the millions made in steel."

"I do not believe there is any other medicine so good for whooping cough as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. Francis Turpin, Junction City, Ore. This remedy is also unsurpassed for colds and croup. For sale by The People's Drug Store, S. B. Jones, prop.
