Crescent Laundry fire—Fire in the Crescent laundry on Washington street at 2:30 this morning caused considerable damage.

Boat Was Labeled—The steamer Republic, owned by M. A. Hanna & Co., was tied up on a label by United States Deputy Marshal E. D. Mosher Saturday, to satisfy a claim for supplies brought against the vessel by the Marquette Boiler & Sheet Iron works. The claim, which amounted to about $136, was settled shortly after, and the boat was allowed to proceed on her way down the lakes.

Staged Show in Milwaukee—Donald MacDonald, who staged "Up and Down Broadway" at the Marquette opera house last summer, last week put on one of his productions at the Pabst theater in Milwaukee, with great success.
It was given as a benefit for south side settlement work and a large sum was realized. The performance was participated in by well-known Milwaukee society people. Mr. MacDonald will stage a show in Grand Rapids the first week in December.

Are Not Counterfeits—Recently, there has been considerable talk about certain Canadian quarters in circulation hereabouts, which were believed to be counterfeits, as the reverse side appeared upside down when the coin was turned over, the ordinary coin appearing right side up when turned over in the same way. However, local bank officials state that the Detroit banks accept these peculiar quarters without question and declare that they were coined by the Canadian government, probably through some mistake of the employees at the mint.

Grocery Changes Hands—The firm of Lammi & Rytkonen, who have been conducting a grocery store on Washington street, opposite the city hall for about a year, has been dissolved and the Marquette store has been taken over by John Lammi, formerly the senior member of the firm. The firm has also been conducting a store at Negaunee which has been sold to John Ollila. Mr. Rytkonen will retire from the grocery business. Mr. Lammi has always been in active charge of the Marquette store and will continue to serve his patrons to the best of his ability.

Ore Season Nearing End—According to local stock officials, nearly all the ore to be shipped from this port has already been shipped down the lakes.
The L. S. & L. railroad expects to handle about 50,000 tons yet this year, and it is hoped that the entire amount will be loaded into the boats by the end of this week, though rough weather or other contingencies may delay the wind-up.

There are only about three cargoes yet to go down from the South Shore docks, but it is possible that the last of these will not have cleared before Dec. 1. The insurance runs out Dec. 4, and it is expected that all Marquette boats will be out of Lake Superior before that time.

Could Drive to Munising—Speaking of the article in yesterday's Mining Journal showing that the records of the weather bureau indicate that there has been no material change in the winter climate in Marquette since 1872, an old resident stated yesterday that it was in the early '70's that the winter began to moderate. Prior to that time, he stated, almost every winter ice froze along the south shore of the lake so that people made a practice of driving from Marquette to Munising on the ice. It has been many years since there was enough ice to make this trip possible.
In discussing this fact, another man suggested, almost every winter ice froze along the south shore of the lake so that people made a practice of driving from Marquette to Munising on the ice. It has been many years since there was enough ice to make this trip possible.

Fell Out of a Tree—E. B. Van Cleave, chief clerk of freight accounts for the D. S. & A. railroad, has returned from a hunting trip near Lathrop, with one deer and a pair of crutches, and thereby hangs a tale. The mighty hunter was equipped with a high power Savage rifle and started out afraid of nothing short of an African lion. But on seeing a deer run out from the thicket and make for him with head lowered, Van was thoughtfully laid down his rifle and took to the tall timber. It happened that an old scaffold was at hand used in summer to watch a salt lick, but Van failed to note that this scaffold had not been used for fifteen years or more. He forthwith proceeded to ascend like a squirrel on a hickory tree, but after getting up the ladder about ten feet, it gave way and he fell to earth with a dull thud.
He was pleased to note, however, that something soft broke the force of his fall, and after taking an inventory of himself, he found that no bones were broken, and that by his side on the cold, unfeeling earth lay the deer, his back broke by the force of the impact, quite dead. After returning to camp and summoning help, the animal was brought in and was found to weigh nearly sixty pounds. Van says he is a little sore but thinks the game was worth the candle.

BASKETBALL GAMES.

Classes of High School Have Formed a Four-Team League.

A basketball league composed of the four classes at the High School has been formed. The first regular game will be played Tuesday evening, Nov. 29, at Legion Hall, between the Freshmen and Sophomore teams. Games will be played twice a week on Tuesday and Friday nights and a High school basketball team will be chosen from the best material, as proven by this series of games.

In a practice game at Guild Hall yesterday afternoon, the Freshmen defeated the Sophomores by the score of 15 to 12 in a fast and exciting contest.
At the end of the first half, the score was a tie, 6 to 6, but the upper classmen were outplayed in the second half.
The teams lined up as follows: Freshmen—Patrick, captain, guard; Eccles, center; E. DeHaas, guard; R. DeHaas and Harkins, forwards. Sophomores—Lindstrom, captain, and Reinhart, forwards; B. Frei, Dutton and Woodmere, guards; McCormick, center.

Ishpeming Sons of St. George Held Fine Meeting

Nearly 300 Members Heard Interesting Talks on Supreme and Grand Lodge Affairs.

The meeting of the Sons of St. George societies of Marquette county, held Saturday evening in the 'Old Fellows' hall, was declared to have been one of the most enjoyable affairs that the Sons have ever held here.

Stephen Terrill, secretary of the Michigan grand lodge, presided. He first called upon William Andrews, who at the ninth session of the supreme body, held early in October at Scranton, Pa., was elected supreme messenger.

Mr. Andrews, who is one of the oldest members of the Sons of St. George society in America, and who has been prominent in one of the local branches, the grand lodge and supreme lodge for many years, gave an interesting and comprehensive history of the supreme and grand lodges.

NO CONSERVATION IN TIMBER INDUSTRY

Government Reports Show Lumber Waste Continues—Small Mills Blamed.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Comparisons made between totals of lumber production and of lumber producers in the preliminary report of the department of commerce and labor on lumber, laths and shingles show increases of both in amounts that bode ill for conservation and for profits to the mills.

These figures serve to explain the unprofitable prices which lumber manufacturers have complained of. With standing timber prices increasing, because of growing scarcity, and with labor and supplies at higher costs many of the mills in all parts of the country report that they are losing money.

The report of the United States forest service for July, August and September showed average prices at the mill for Douglas fir in Oregon of $11.96 a thousand feet; Western hemlock in Washington of $10.38; Western pine in Idaho of $18.25; Western yellow pine in Washington of $13.50; North Carolina pine in North Carolina of $12.99; yellow pine in the lower Mississippi valley of about $13.50; hemlock about $16.50; plain oak of $22.50, and so on through the list.

The estimate made by the forest service that the rate of consumption of timber is about four times the annual growth indicates, when these figures of production are compared with the estimates, are being destroyed at an accelerated rate. Too much lumber has been made for the business welfare of its producers and prices are too low for the proper utilization of the forest and for its conservation, although consumers will be pleased for the time being.

The most striking fact of the preliminary report was regarded to be the wide distribution of the lumber industry. No grand section of the country has any monopoly of lumbering for among the leading States are those so widely scattered as Washington, Louisiana, North Carolina, Virginia, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Maine. Forty-five of the states and territories were represented in the report, the last and smallest producer on the list being Kansas with an output of only 5,000,000 feet.

It has been thought by economists that the consumption of lumber per capita in the United States was decreasing owing to the increasing use of substitutes, of which the most important is cement, but this preliminary census report controverts the idea, although it is held possible that during the last few years of the census decade a change may have taken place.

The persistence of forest growth when it has the opportunity is shown by the maintenance of the product in some of the oldest lumbering states. Maine has been a lumber producer for three hundred years, for it was regularly visited by vessels in search of masts for his majesty's navy before the Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock, yet in 1909 it was the nineteenth in volume of production, furnishing 1,120,000,000 feet of the lumber supply of the country. But instead of producing almost exclusively white pine as was once the case, now it produces almost entirely spruce.

CHILDREN OF THE NIGHT.

In a well-lit cabin at the end of the platform sat a keen-eyed young man, pale-faced, clean-shaven, thin-jawed. Before him was a small table fitted with little levers, not more than six inches high. Facing him were two disks which blinked and were illuminated alternately with the regularity of a clock's tick. His fingers worked continuously at the tiny levers before him, and now and then his eyes searched a big illuminated diagram in front of him, but he never lifted his work. It was his duty to perform nearly 250 separate operations every hour without error; he was not paid for making errors. He was a signalman in that most wonderful and curious railway system in the world—the London Tubes.

In the hot atmosphere many scores of feet under the open street the signalman sat for hours every day until long into the night directing the irritating stream of trains that race through the tube. At the junction where two branches separate, I saw the swift working and the marvelous system. Forty-two trains passed through the junction every hour going northwards during the rush hours, and forty-two trains pass on their way south. That means a train every forty-three seconds.

Each has to be signalled, the points set and cleared, and besides that the line has to be vacant at intervals for an express train terminating at the station. In the records for time saving have been left far behind by the fast signalling system that governs the London tubes, where seconds do the average work of minutes.

"Do you never make a mistake?" I asked the shirt-sleeved young man at the levers. "Nothing is left to chance," he replied with his eye on the indicator above his head, and his fingers automatically working the row of points.

The hundreds of passengers seated in the trains that whizz through the station, who go through this task unflatteringly and with such infinite precision. Every train as it approaches the junction is shown on the diagram above the operator's head as a small black section moving slowly across the station, and as it nears the junction it is again in the blackness of the tube after he has switched it onto the line of its destination. He can delay or stop at will, but a stop between stations is almost unknown, even though half a dozen trains appear on the diagram at the same time. They come to the station, stop a few seconds and are off again.

So perfect is the system that there is little chance of an accident. The signalman, busy checking others, is himself checked, and if he fell dead at his post it would only mean that the trains would be brought to a standstill. It is an elaborate scheme that lies under the tube system. The points of the rails are so arranged that they give an "indication" immediately they are set properly and the signal gives the "clear call" to the driver. Should the driver find he is cleared for the wrong line he simply stops his train and uses his telephone receiver. This is carried by all drivers, and is fitted with loose wires which he attaches to the bare tube wires that run along the side of the tube, and when the bell rings in the signal box he is told of the error, and the points are altered for him.

D. T. Morgan & Co.'s Letter.

The New York market today was disappointing, opening well under Saturday's close and the close was at the low point for the day. This morning's newspaper comment in New York was very pessimistic, but our New York correspondents still maintain a decidedly bullish position and predict a much higher start in the near future.

Geo. F. Rues's Review.

The New York market opened from 1/2 to 1 point lower and very dull session, sagged off another point during the afternoon. East Bute was the only one copper to show any life whatever. It opened at 13 1/2, advanced to 13 3/4 on very good buying, then reacted to 13 1/4 in sympathy with the sagging tendency of the balance of the list. Tuolumne and China were the features on the curb. China opened at 25 1/2, advanced to 25 3/4, then sold off half a point on very heavy trading. Tuolumne was very active Saturday afternoon, closing at 25 1/2, advanced to 25 3/4 today. Higher prices are predicted for Tuolumne.

CONCRETE CASTINGS IN ROTARY MOLDS.

Concrete tubes, posts, etc., are produced by centrifugal action at a factory in Saxony. A steel skeleton may be used to give strength to the pipe, and this is inserted in a mold, with a suitable cement mixture, and this mold—which is in two sections—is given 500 to 1,000 revolutions per minute for ten to fifteen minutes in a series of special machines. Asbestos fiber is introduced to prevent the separation of sand, etc., from the concrete. The pipes formed are given uniform thickness by keeping the molds in a horizontal position, and the shape may be varied by inclining the molds. The centrifugal force molds, presses and dries the plastic mass.

CORRUPTION IN PORTUGAL.

Jose Relvas, minister of finance, declared recently in an interview that he was appalled at the corruption of the old regime revealed by his investigation. Hereafter, he said, it would be war to the knife against the abuse of special privileges, adding that all the old government employees will be dismissed. The king's civil list of $800,000, the minister asserted, will be replaced by a modest presidential salary. Taxes on necessities will be reduced and those on luxuries increased. Senor Relvas expressed the opinion that the separation of church and state will be accomplished within a month.

A delivery train belonging to W. M. Ramsdell of Norway was killed on the Northwestern track last Thursday. The teamster, Julius Swaabridge, was driving to the Cyclopedia mine, when a train of ore cars came suddenly upon him.

Bags Two Fighting Bucks

Charles Forsyth, of Peqanung, had driven a party of hunters to the Huron River district the other day and while returning had the opportunity of witnessing a battle royal between two bucks. The animals with antlers heads were shot by Mr. Forsyth when they fought and struggled in the forest. They were dragged to the road by the team and were then put into the sleigh box.

Will Fight Tuberculosis

That Schoolcraft county will enter into a vigorous fight against tuberculosis is assured. Steps leading up to the formation of a county association for the study and prevention of the great white plague were taken at a meeting held at Dr. Livingston's office at Manistique and which was attended by a large number of representative citizens.

Killed by Escaping Steam

Oscar Johnson, a fireman at the Mass copper mine in Ontonagon county, has met a violent death. He was employed in the boiler house when a union on a large pipe gave way, filling the room with scalding steam. He tried to grope his way out, but could not reach the door.

Escanaba Water Unsafe

City Chemist A. J. Carlson reports that the water at Escanaba is still unsafe in its natural state as taken from the mains and should be boiled before being used for drinking purposes. Dr. Carlson makes frequent tests and not since it became questionable some time ago has the water regained its former purity.

Football Game Hard Fought

It was in one of the fiercest and most spectacular football games played at Escanaba in years that the Escanaba High school football team downed the Ironwood High by a score of 6 to 0. By winning from Ironwood, the only unbeaten team of the upper peninsula, all doubts were laid to rest as to where the gridiron pennant should lie.

Homes Given Orphan Children

Six orphan children attracted considerable attention at Marinette the other morning. They were among a party of ninety that passed through the city in a special coach. The six children left at Marinette were met by Mrs. W. Weise and Mrs. N. Waechter, of Marinette, who took them to that place, where homes have been found for them.

Says Beaver Are a Nuisance

William W. Sykes, perhaps the oldest trapper and hunter in the upper peninsula, having been in the vicinity of the Soo and St. Ignace for the past half century, is this winter located on the Pine river. In discussing the contrast between the trapping business now and years ago, Sykes said at the Soo the other day, that the laws of the state as they now stand are not only a detriment to the hunter and trapper but also to the agriculturist.

banks to cave in every year. Beavers are much more plentiful than ever muskrats and other small for animals. They can be found within a mile of the limits of the Soo.

More Game Law Violations

W. H. Master and Jay Marks of Muskegon, deputy state game wardens, made a hunt on the Tiquanum river the other day to look up evidence against game law violators. J. D. Smith was arrested, charged with killing deer before the opening of the season. Another alleged violator, named Mecher, gave the wardens the slip and got away, buying a ticket for Detroit.

Charges a Gold Brick Scheme

It begins to look as though this portion of the upper peninsula was being systematically worked by creamery machinery companies who do not care a rap whether the plants they sell will ever be operated at a profit, says the Manistique Pioneer. All they are in the game for is to make an expensive plant and then to make an enormous profit upon an unsuspecting community.

Factory Proposition Is Turned Down

Mayor Sullivan and R. G. Ferguson have returned to Sault Ste. Marie from Chicago, where they went at the instance of the Soo Business Men's association to make a personal investigation of the affairs of the Great Lakes Portland Cement company, an enterprise that was being promoted by J. L. Schallaire for the establishment of a cement plant at the Lock City.

Diver Is Near Death

Sam Hogarth, a well-known marine diver at the Soo came near crossing the "great divide" the other afternoon. He was unconscious for something more than an hour and it is only by the heroic and untiring efforts of his associates and the attending physician that he is alive today.

down for three hours when it seemed to him that he was not getting the usual amount of air through the rubber tube. He signalled for more air and almost immediately afterwards gave the signal to haul up. His last signal was promptly answered by his tenders and although he was conscious when he reached the surface he almost immediately lapsed into a state of unconsciousness.

Important Liquor Case Decided

The supreme court has modified its rulings of Judge Flaunigan in the liquor case of Handol vs. the common council of Stambaugh. Handol, with others, applied for a license last April. At the time appointed by law the council passed on the application and allowed Stambaugh, refusing the application of Handol. Directly after this action, Handol filed application for a license in case those acted upon favorably, did not qualify.

SHORT OLIVE CROP IN SPAIN

Owing to the cold spring, which was followed by four months of unbroken drought which ended in terrific rain and hail storms, the indications point to a very short olive crop in Spain this year. In lower Arragon, a producing centre whose olives are classed with the best Italian fruit, the harvest will be insignificant.

HE FINDS THERE ARE TOO MANY NAVY YARDS

Secretary Meyer Will Tell Congress How It Can Save Uncle Sam Much Money.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Secretary of the Navy George von L. Meyer will soon report to congress a collection of facts and figures which may arouse that most placid body. It takes something besides economy balance sheets to cause a congressman to vote the "pork" out of his own district, and Secretary Meyer has been in politics too long to expect a great wave of moral reform merely because he is able to show that it would save the country a few hundred thousand dollars a year.

Pacific Coast Well Equipped In the opinion of the secretary, conditions on the Pacific coast are much better than upon the Atlantic. The navy yards at Puget Sound and San Francisco are necessary and are rendering efficient service.

Some Useless Navy Yards The department maintains three navy yards on the Gulf of Mexico, at New Orleans, Pensacola and Key West, coming up the Atlantic coast are Port Royal, Charleston, Norfolk, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and Portsmouth.

Secretary Meyer has just completed a visit to all the navy yards in the United States. As long as the yards were merely names to him, he naturally found it difficult to assimilate the information concerning them which poured over his desk. He made up his mind to spend the summer on a tour of investigation, and the result promises to be noteworthy.

The government has need of a naval base in the Gulf of Mexico to be used in conjunction with the Panama canal. The new naval station at Guantanamo is being developed in anticipation of a long career of usefulness, and the yard at Key West is a natural supplement to Guantanamo and no reason for disturbing it exists. It remains for congress, of course, to say what disposition shall be made of other yards which are, frankly, a continual burden upon the government and of no use except to maintain cheerful and healthy pay rolls.

When the old bureau system of the navy was in full power it was not difficult to find work for all the yards to do, even though the cost was extravagant and the output unnecessary. With the closer organization brought about by Secretary Meyer and exact figures at hand, through the investigations of the aides whose duty it is to look into such matters, the Secretary not only is able to acquaint himself thoroughly with actual conditions everywhere but to remedy many evils without legislation.

CASCADE RANGE HAS PROMISING FUTURE

Opening of High Grade Ore Mine May Be Means of Encouraging Exploratory Work.

In the opinion of several mining men, recent developments in the Cascade district fully warrant a more thorough exploration of the mineral lands of that district than they have so far received. The success of the Volunteer Ore company met with in finding Bessemer ore of high grade has convinced many that other bodies of high grade mineral will be found nearby.
