

GREAT TRUST MUST BATTLE FOR ITS LIFE

Attacking the American Sugar Refining Company as a Lawless Combination, the Federal Government Files Suit for the Dissolution of the Corporation.

Its Complaint Is a Sweeping Arraignment of the Huge Concern and One That Asks Relief in Any Form, Including a Receivership if Deemed Advisable.

New York, Nov. 28.—The federal government today began one of its most important actions against great corporations which are said to have violated the Sherman anti-trust law.

The petition charges an illegal combination in restraint of trade and asks relief in whatever form may be necessary, including a receivership, if deemed advisable.

The present suit, which it is estimated will be in the courts two years before its final adjudication is reached, is expected to rank in importance with those of the government against the Standard Oil company and American Tobacco company, which are now pending in the supreme court.

James M. Beck, former assistant United States attorney general, will lead the attack on the government's position for the alleged trust. Mr. Beck said that the sugar combine was not a monopoly, but that if it appeared when the supreme court interpreted the Sherman law in the tobacco and oil cases that the sugar company was in any respect violating the law, steps would be taken to comply with the law as thus interpreted.

"PORK BARREL" PROJECTS ARE UNDER THE BAN

Many Pet Waterway Improvements Not Provided For in the Chief of Engineers' Estimates for River and Harbor Work for the Coming Fiscal Year.

This in Accordance With the Insistence of President Taft That All Such Measures Shall Be Strangled—Marquette Booked for a Grant of $90,000.

Washington, Nov. 28.—The appropriations needed for river and harbor work for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912, aggregated $30,000,000, according to estimates made public today by Secretary of War Dickinson in the form of a report made to him by Brig. Gen. W. H. Bixby, chief of engineers of the United States army. These figures will be sent to congress by Secretary of the Treasury MacVegh and legislation in accordance therewith will be recommended by President Taft in his annual message. The estimates are divided as follows:

Under continuing contracts, $7,368,077 Rivers and harbors (general), including Mississippi River, Commission, and examinations, surveys and contingencies, $22,631,923 Under California Debris Commission (expenses), $15,000 Prevention of deposits in New York harbor, $85,200 Many pet projects calling for the expenditure of large sums have been omitted from the estimates this year. Among these are the 14-foot channel from Chicago to the Illinois river, deep channel for the Missouri river from St. Louis to Kansas City and from Kansas City north, as well as many others which have had as their champions members of both houses of congress who insisted strenuously that these projects be not forgotten.

"Pork Barrel" Measures Tabooed.

The elimination of many of the improvements which have formed parts of rivers and harbor bills in the past is in accordance with the insistence of President Taft that "pork barrel" measures shall be strangled. Instructions were given to the engineer officers of the army to prepare estimates only for such projects as are absolutely needed or which give certain promise to reduce the cost of transportation by opening up new water routes and enlarging some of those already existing.

The general estimates aggregating more than $22,000,000 are applied to 211 works. Of this amount about 10 per cent is for the restoration or maintenance of completed projects in 136 localities, so far as to secure the continuance of benefits resulting from past expenditures. Practically seventy per cent is for the prosecution of work on the Ohio, Mississippi, Detroit, Hudson, Delaware and Columbia rivers and at eleven important harbors. The remaining twenty per cent is for the prosecution and completion of eighty-two other works.

CREW WON'T WORK; CAN'T BE LANDED

Plight of a British Ship at Anchor in the Shadow of the Statue of Liberty.

New York, Nov. 28.—The British freighter Clan McLean, from the Far East, came to anchor in the shadow of the Statue of Liberty today with half of her crew prisoners between decks. Her captain took on a batch of Spaniards at Gibraltar to replace Lascaz, who had proved troublesome, and when they came in sight of America they refused to work. The officers had to drive the mutineers back from the bridge by firing revolver shots over their heads, and after working the ship into the shelter of Delaware breakwater the captain lay to for a fortnight until he could ship enough short-term men to mate this port. What to do with the crew is a problem. They cannot well be landed without the co-operation of the immigration department, and the ship cannot be worked while they are still on board.

AERO CLUB FINDS THAT DREXEL'S FLIGHT DID NOT SET A NEW HIGH MARK.

Yes, Batling Nelson used to be some fighter in his day, but that was the day before yesterday.

The public will regret the late Michael Cudaly for many reasons, among them the one that he recently predicted a period of low prices for meats.

The German socialists who have started in to gag Kaiser Wilhelm have cut out a merry time for themselves. He is no more gagable than our own strenuous citizen.

The University of Michigan has booked baseball games with Cornell and a football game with the Ithacans is not without the bounds of possibility, if the Minnesota game has to be given up.

The state knocks a clear profit of over $400,000 annually out of its insurance department. Obviously that is not the kind of a department meant when the complaint goes up that the state has too many departments.

Connie Mack had an audience with Pope Pius. It is to be hoped that the pope was sufficiently posted on the sporting situation in America, and tactful, to congratulate Mr. McGillicudie on the rare distinctions achieved by his beloved Athletics of late months.

It is reported that the Cubs' famous infield will be shut up before the Peerless Leader's hired men start on another championship quest. Yet it is the same infield that was described as quite in a class by itself before the world's championship series opened. It's a constant revelation, how had a defeat made the loser look.

The Houghton Mining Gazette has been felicitating itself and its readers on a lower Michigan news service it has lately honored with a place on its front page, and it hopes therefrom tangible results in the drawing together of the upper and lower peninsula. The Mining Journal has been giving, to these many years, a lower peninsula service identical with the one now featured by the Gazette, the only material difference between them being that the Gazette puts date lines on its lower Michigan news items and The Mining Journal does not. If there is any virtue in the theory that such a service can make the people of the two peninsulas brothers and pals, perhaps The Mining Journal is primarily responsible for the election of Chase S. Osborn as governor. Certainly it has long featured lower peninsula news long enough.

There is a vast deal of difference between the 16,000 words in the constitution of Arizona and the 104,000 words in the instrument of basic law in the new state of Oklahoma. It would need no more than the mere figures to indicate that Arizona has the better constitution of the two, as the size of the Oklahoma document indicates, what is in truth the case, that that state has written into its constitution all sorts of unheeded and radical experiments in government. The length of a constitution by no means determines its excellence. A well constructed constitution is more often noted for its comparative brevity than for its length. It should be a simple and direct statement of basic law and not, as is the case with some of the newer governments, made to embody a lot of things that might more properly be provided for by statute law.

President Diaz, also, blames the newspapers for the fact that exaggerated stories in regard to the Mexican disturbances have gotten abroad. President Diaz must know that this is unjust. The newspapers and the press agencies left nothing undone to secure accurate information in regard to conditions in the republic, but they found their task largely by the government, one that was too much even for their energy and resourcefulness. They were shut out from the use of telegraph lines and denied assistance in the gathering of accurate news. Retention, if not positive unfriendliness, was the consistent attitude of those Mexican officials who perhaps knew what was going on. Under these circumstances there need be no surprise that many baseless reports about the progress the revolutionaries were making found their way into print. The responsibility for this appears to be primarily that of the Mexican government, which had in its power, had it desired to do so, the opening up of ways and means by which accurate news could have been obtained. The newspapers, it can be taken for granted, spared no trouble or expense to get such news and to the extent they failed the obstacles placed in their way by the Mexican government are to blame.

Sometimes simple expedients mean large savings in the conduct of big business. The sum of $500,000, it is said, will be saved for the government as a result of one of the latest economy orders of Postmaster General Hitchcock, and all this order amounts to is instructions that the use of the envelope which it has been customary to use to enclose articles sent by registered mail shall be dispensed with. The postmaster general has declared that the envelope is of no real use and means simply a waste of time in the rapid dispatch of the registered mail matter, to say nothing of the increased cost of handling and printing involved in its use. In foreign countries mail is handled without special envelopes, and it is said that it can be safely handled that way in this country. It requires no special keenness to see that the innovation will mean a great saving in clerical work and this, taken in conjunction with the cost of printing the envelopes, is bound to mean a great saving in expense, perhaps all of the $500,000 estimated. The order serves to show what a wide awake postmaster general can accomplish by close attention to what may appear to be insignificant details.

In Saginaw it is believed that the worst of the bad situation growing out of the prevalence of smallpox in that city has passed, and the board of health has decided, in view of the greatly improved conditions, to raise the quarantine on the churches and theaters the first of December. This quarantine on assemblies of the people, combined with their reluctance to visit the shops and stores when there was danger of contracting smallpox, has made Saginaw a very dead town, and the visitation of the disease has been a most expensive experience for the city. It has been avoided by the people living in the surrounding districts who usually go there to trade. The loss in money to the business interests is of course difficult to estimate with any exactness, but it is safe to say that it will have run well up in the hundreds of thousands before the interference with business is finally at an end. The smallpox scare generally in lower Michigan is by no means over. New cases are being reported from the districts where the disease has obtained a hold and there is still danger of its spread, unless all the precautions that experience has shown to be valuable, and particularly the one of vaccination, are taken. The health officers have not relaxed their vigilance and the promise is that the disease will gradually be wiped out, unless it appears in new districts.

We are accustomed to rhapodies over the ground squirrel, and are accustomed to the drastic arraignment of the small boy who makes war on it with slung shot and rifle. And there is no gaining saying the beauty and charm of this busy little animal. It is one of the most interesting of animals and a delight to every person who observes it, either at work or at play. But the government gives it a bad reputation and one that suggests that the merciless warfare that the small boy carries on against it in and out of season is not an unmixt evil. A bulletin of the agricultural department estimates the damage done by the ground squirrels annually in the United States at $10,000,000, most of which is caused in the western states, some of which are fairly overrun by the pests, for that is what they are when they become too numerous. Aside from the damage they do to cereal crops, pastures and orchards, there is a special count against the California squirrels, namely, that, like rats, they become afflicted with the flea that carries tubercular plague, and thus are an agency in transmitting it to human beings. Take it all in all, the indictment against the squirrel is rather a serious one. However, a little thought will show that it does not lie in its entirety against the town-dwelling squirrel, and this little fellow can doubtless continue to be protected without encouraging a bold pest.

LOCAL OPTION A MISNOMER.
 Regarding the statement credited to Mr. Morrow, one of the leading anti-saloon workers, that the "dry" would make the "wets" spend $1,000,000 in Michigan next spring, the Grand Rapids Press says: "However satisfying to Mr. Morrow the prospect of a million dollar expenditure on liquor law agitation may be it is no cause for rejoicing on the part of the people of the state. No lasting good is attained by counties veering periodically from wet to dry and from dry to wet. The million dollars which is predicted as the expense account next spring represents the natural tribute which the state will have to pay for retaining a law which encourages just such uncertainty.

"Local option in this state is a misnomer. A system which makes a city like Jackson dry when a majority of its citizens vote for license is neither local option nor self-government. Prohibition was forced on Jackson by the surrounding rural districts, yet Jackson officials and Jackson citizens must abide by and enforce a law made for them by others. It is not fair and, being unfair, the results cannot be wholesome.

The Anti-Saloon league does not represent all the anti-liquor sentiment of this state by a long way and there are men outside its ranks well able to lead in a movement to give every city, village and township a simple square deal. The next legislature should be approached with a bill to provide this."

Silenced Him.
 Augustus Thomas' reappearance on the stump in New York in behalf of Dix recalled an encounter that he had three years ago with "Fingy" Conners. Thomas, who was Bryan's representative at the Carnegie hall convention, had opposed the Conners-Murphy deal vigorously. It was after one of his best speeches, but in this case ineffective, that Conners walked up to Thomas and exclaimed roughly:

"And you are Augustus Thomas, are you?"
 "I am."
 "Well," snorted Conners, "when I see Bryan going up in here, I think there is one fool in New York state."
 "When Bryan sees you," answered Mr. Thomas, "I am sure that he will agree with you."—Philadelphia Record.

The Juvenile Intellect.
 "Do not sneer at the juvenile intellect," said John J. Chickering, district superintendent of schools. "Sometimes a boy can ask questions that a man can't answer." And he went on to tell of an experience he had when he was principal of one of the New York schools. He was called on by a teacher to come to her aid.

"It's all right," said she, "until natural history hour comes. Sammy Jones lives on a farm, and he thinks he knows more about natural history than the man that invented it. He keeps asking me questions—and if I answer them Sammy laughs, and if I don't the children go. Discipline is simply gone to pot. The children would give up their recess if I would lengthen the natural history hour by five minutes."

"So," said Mr. Chickering, "in the pride of my manhood I told her I would come to her rescue. In the short, sharp answer will denote to Sammy that the matinee is over." The teacher welcomed my aid. That afternoon I dropped in and took charge of the exercises. I told the children I would allow just one question each. And Sammy stumped me. I had hardly made the announcement before his hand was up.

"What is it, Sammy?" I asked.
 "Has a duck eyebrows?" asked Sammy.—Cincinnati Times Star.

The Information Bureau.
 Some strange queries come into newspaper information bureaus and the answers are not always easy, but one of the funniest of these that has been received since the bureau opened was this: "Say, is this the Evening Times information bureau?" inquired a voice at the other end of the wire.

"It is," politely answered the reporter.
 "Anything we can do for you?"
 "Well, I want to know who was it killed Abel?"
 "Why, his brother Cain," answered the reporter, who had once attended Sunday school before he broke into the newspaper business.

"Oh, please," came regretfully from the inquiring voice, "I'll bet I'll have to go without a new overcoat this winter; I bet a fellow $20 that he will catch a cold."—Philadelphia Times.

Here and There.

The political situation never was so mixed in Nebraska as now. The Democratic candidate for governor, who pledged himself to veto a county option bill if passed, was defeated by the Republican candidate, who pledged himself to sign such a bill. But the legislature is so close that neither side knows in which way it will vote. The house is tolerably certain for option, but the senate is a tie, not counting one man elected by eleven votes, who is silent and says: "My vote will tell where I stand."

Will Kansas please take notice? They are going to hold a "Corn Exposition" this year (Dec. 5-8)—not in Iowa, or Nebraska, or Illinois, or Kansas, but in Columbia, S. C. And one South Carolina farmer will enter the competition with a record of more than two hundred bushels to the acre. Can Kansas win any way? Many people know that the world's corn record—254 bushels and 49 pounds raised on a single acre—is held by Captain Drake of Marlborough county, S. C. In this matter of corn, as well as in many other respects, the south is just coming into its own and taking a just pride in its achievements.—Collier's.

The "Russische Korrespondenz" publishes a letter written by Count Tolstoi to Prof. Walinowski acknowledging receipt of the professor's book on "Levenge and the Death Penalty," in which he says: "It will do!" I told my young friend Bulgakov recently, "much toward opening the eyes of the people." Little did I dream six years ago that the gallows would still be looked upon in half a century or more as a normal adjunct to the machinery of state, and that savants, philosophers and philanthropists would countenance its existence. But every ill brings some good, and the dreadful activity of the gallows in our country in the last year has resulted in the agitation for its abolition. Can the good be accomplished? Hope, work!

A growth of 15 per cent in Kansas against less than 3 per cent for the preceding decade is a favorable showing, as Kansas is almost wholly agricultural. It also illustrates a fact worth noting. In the eighties a great immigration poured into Kansas and that savants, philosophers and philanthropists would countenance its existence. But every ill brings some good, and the dreadful activity of the gallows in our country in the last year has resulted in the agitation for its abolition. Can the good be accomplished? Hope, work!

The year's enumeration confirms more than ever New York's title of Empire State. Its primacy in population, as in other respects, is beyond challenge or reasonable hope of rivalry. The figures are 9,113,279. That is nearly twice the population of the great central state of Ohio, as reported at the same time. It is one-fifth as great as the population of the United Kingdom. It is one-third as great as that of the empire of Austria. It is a million or two larger than that of the whole dominion of Canada. It is nearly half that of Spain. It is nearly equal to the population of the whole

A school for the training of hotel-keepers has been opened in Paris. Schools of the kind have long flourished in Germany, Austria and Switzerland. The course covers the entire business of hotelkeeping, from bottle washing to hygiene and modern languages. Writing to the London Telegraph, a correspondent says: "There is hardly an inn in France where you cannot get a good meal, but there are still thousands where everything except the cooking is primitive. The new school for apprentice hotelkeepers is to remedy all this, as hygiene and sanitation will occupy an important place in the curriculum."

Lower State Notes.

JACKSON—Because he could not make enough money to provide for his family by teaching the gospel, Rev. Frank Collins, of this city, has forsaken the ministry and attempted to make a living by manual labor. He has been walking the streets in search of work and the Salvation Army is caring for his family.

PONTIAC—The assessment to be raised to pay the debts of the defunct Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance company of Holly will be $45,333.32, according to the decision of Judge Chester, of Hillsdale, handed down here. Receiver J. H. B. asked that $54,375 be raised. There are 780 each premium policyholders who will escape assessment through an error in the printing of the policies.

MARSHALL—Edward B. Williams, conductor on the Allegan division of the Michigan Central railroad, lost both legs when he missed his footing and fell under the wheels in alighting from a train. He arrived with his local train and then boarded the west-bound express to ride about four blocks to his home. About an hour later he was found lying beside the track by a neighbor, who was attracted by the injured man's groans.

MOUNT CLEMENS—The sheriff's office has been notified by the Wayne county authorities of the mysterious disappearance of a man and woman who lived for a time just over the line in this county about three miles east of the state fair grounds near Detroit and has started an investigation of the case. Both the man and the woman, whose names are not known, disappeared from the house which they had occupied, but a short time, several weeks ago. On the night of their disappearance a huge bonfire was seen near their house and some of the neighbors noticed a peculiar odor. They are now of the belief that this odor was human flesh and that someone murdered the couple and burned their bodies.

DETROIT—What is believed by the police to have been an attempt to blow up workmen employed by the Henry B. Lewis Structural Iron works was discovered when three sticks of dynamite were found hidden in a Grand Trunk railroad flat car loaded with iron to be used in the construction of the iron works company's new plant at Ferry avenue and Ruby street. A policeman took the explosive to the Seventh precinct station, where it will be kept pending an investigation. Workmen unloading the flat car of unfinished iron found the dynamite on the bottom of the car, where the fall of any one of the pieces of iron would have caused an explosion.

IONIA—Deputy Warden Walker of the Ionia prison is in St. Thomas, Ont., from where he hopes to bring back Ned Clinton without the necessity of extradition papers. The reformatory officials, however, will not attempt to bring back Edgerton Timlin, who escaped from the prison. Warden Fuller has been notified by Secretary of State Knox that a charge against Timlin, adultery, is a non-extraditable offense, so that Timlin is safe as long as he keeps out of the United States.

CHELSEA—Rev. Thomas Holmes celebrated the ninety-third anniversary of his birth by preaching the annual Thanksgiving sermon at the Methodist church here. Dr. Holmes has been a resident of Chelsea since 1875 and for several years after he came here was pastor of the local Methodist church. Though mentally as bright as though in the prime of life, Dr. Holmes is a cripple, the result of an injury in 1908, which

MORELAND FILLS WITH WATER AGAIN

Captain Reid and His Wreckers Have a Setback Because of Stormy Weather.

Captain James Reid and his wrecking outfit were compelled yesterday to run to shelter and temporarily abandon operations on the steamer Moreland on the reef at Eagle Harbor. They had succeeded in patching up several of the holes and had relieved the craft of much water when the storm came up. The steamer immediately filled again.

The Moreland is still high on the reef, but when the patching is completed and the remaining cargo removed it is believed that Captain Reid will save her. His pump equipment is his strong card in the effort.

Season of Navigation Closes. The season of navigation on Portage Lake, aside from such boats as may pass through for shelter, closed yesterday when the steamer Alva took from the Copper Range dock a cargo of copper sashbar.

CALUMET ELKS' TOURNAMENT. Antlered Brethren Will Have Contests in Billiards, Bowling, Etc.

OFFICERS INTRUDE AT A "CAN" PARTY

Woman Who Opens a Temperance Hotel Is Arrested—So, Too, Are Other Women.

Mrs. Josie Oserchov of Hubbell opened a temperance hotel in that town Saturday night. A temperance hotel presumably is a hostelry for the entertainment of the wayfarer who does not desire stimulants; it is a hotel which has no bar, buffet, sample room or license to sell spirituous, malt or intoxicating liquors.

A "can" party is a form of entertainment in which a number of men and women get together for a pleasant evening or afternoon. A few minutes ago and anon they sent one of the party around the corner for a pitcher or pail of beer, which receptacle is known in police parlance as a "can."

As has been said, Mrs. Oserchov opened the hotel and had a few friends in to celebrate, including her sister, Mrs. May Clifford. The sheriff's office had reason to suspect that the resulting wassail would be somewhat rowdy and vociferous and Officers Sheridan and Vivian were sent to Hubbell.

The officers brought back to Houghton six women or girls. The proprietress and her sister, Mrs. May Clifford, paid their fines yesterday. The cases of the girls are pending. Their names are not used here, because it is believed that some of them, maybe all, were deceived in the character of the house.

They say they were invited to a party, sort of a housewarming, and that they were entirely innocent of any wrongdoing. They probably will have hearings today.

Is a Loving Mother. The case of Mrs. May Clifford, in this connection, is interesting, she having three young children. The sheriff's office reports that it has been trying to induce Mrs. Clifford to leave the country for the county's good for some time.

He was also impressed with the campaign for a boys' club, a discussion of which fell upon his ears in the Douglas house.

AN APPEAL FOR AID. Calumet Salvation Army Collecting for Poor's Christmas Dinner.

The following appeal has been mailed throughout the Calumet district by the Calumet corps of the Salvation Army: "Dear Friend: The Army lassie will stop at your door with a basket, not because you are sure of a good Christmas meal, but your help is needed to make it possible for her to leave baskets at needy homes; also to carry on the winter relief work. The cases are investigated, so that we know the people receiving the aid are worthy. Will you not join in making bright some home? The Army's ability and willingness to do the work thoroughly and systematically is so well known that I do not need take up your time to go into detail. Thanking you in advance, I am, very truly yours, ADJUTANT."

BRITISH-AMERICAN CLUB. Public Meeting to Promote Citizenship Next Saturday Night.

A public meeting for the promotion of interest in citizenship among alien British-Americans of Houghton county will be held at the Calumet theater next Saturday night under the auspices of the British-American club. The program will be as follows: Invocation—Rev. Daniel Stalker. Selection—"Conquers of Calumet"—Messrs. Johns, Eplett, Giles and Evans. Address—Professor F. A. Jeffers, Atlantic. Selection—Double quartet, directed by Harry King.

WIFE DESERTION CASE. Edward Fillion Will Have a Hearing in Hancock Tomorrow.

Edward Fillion of Hancock, brought back to the copper country last week by Under Sheriff Sheridan on a charge of wife desertion, will have a hearing before Justice Oliver of Hancock tomorrow. Fillion is charged with deserting his wife and three children. Judge Streeter's sentence of Albert Olson of Calumet last week to a year in Iowa indicates the attitude of the authorities toward the men convicted of wife desertion and abandonment of their families. Fillion is charged with being the second of this nature to come before Judge Streeter, as he probably will be bound over. Wife deserters are going to have a hard time in the copper country in the future and it is expected that this crime will be lessened, though in the past it has been the commonest breach of the law in Houghton county.

HUNTING AND HUNTERS' NOTES. Few Deer Reported—Bounties Claimed on Cats and Wolves.

Few deer were reported in Houghton yesterday, James Scott and R. R. VanValkenberg of the Michigan College of Mines and Miss Pamela Roberts of East Houghton and H. Newman of West Houghton accounting for one deer each. Dick Burkman of Oskar found a hibernating bear in a hollow tree Saturday and killed it. The animal was a fine specimen which had just gone into winter quarters. Mr. Burkman was chopping the tree down when he discovered the ursine sleeper. Joseph Doric, one wildcat; B. W. Church, two wildcats, and Sam Bennett, three wolves, were claimants for various bounties before County Clerk Richardson yesterday morning. The three are residents of Duncan township. Leigh Swift broke ninety-four out of 100 clay pigeons at the Houghton Gun

TWO NEW LODGE TEMPLES. Buildings of Odd Fellows and Masons in Houghton in Construction.

The Houghton public probably never took greater interest in building operations than it is taking in the construction of the Odd Fellows and Masonic temples, now being erected. The buildings have of course an immediate interest for a greater number of people probably than any structures previously erected in Houghton. Every member of the Odd Fellows lodge or encampment or canton, including the ladies of the Rebekahs, and every member of the Masonic orders, the lodge, council, chapter, shrine and commandery, with the ladies of the Eastern Star, feels that he or she has a material interest in the buildings.

The Odd Fellows temple is now entirely enclosed and roofed over and F. W. Stoyie, contractor for the heating, expects to have the boiler and heating plant ready for use in a week, so that Contractor Michels may begin interior work with the building warm and comfortable for the carpenters. The structure will be lathe and ready for plastering within a short time.

The second story masonry work on the Masonic temple was completed Saturday night and today the third story will be commenced. Contractor Gundlach is putting up a speed record on this building. He has a modern plant and a well organized force and the combination is getting results.

These buildings have shown that the old idea that masonry work may not be done in winter is fallacious. Architect Mans says that the frost does not affect cement mortar and this work can go on in winter as well as in summer.

Probably the handsomest calendar ever issued by a copper district mining business house is one that Pryor & Smith, brokers, of Houghton, are now sending to their friends and patrons. It bears a large portrait of a beautiful young woman and is entitled "The Open Book." The picture being a color photograph reproduction of a famous painting by J. Ross Bryson. The face—sunny, piquant—with languorous dark eyes; the dusky hair, entwined with roses, and the dim outlines of the background, with its harmonious color-tinting, all mark the very acme of artistic skill. "The Open Book" indeed, is considered by many critics as the best picture that Bryson has yet produced. J. Ross Bryson, America's foremost artist in pastel was born in Montreal, Canada, some forty years ago. After serving an apprenticeship in decorative work in the schools of the English provinces he studied many years in the various art centers of Europe, notably Paris and Berlin. He first attracted the attention of the world of art by his work in oil, but a little later he adopted pastel almost exclusively, believing its softness and transparency more effective in portraying delicate effects. The graceful witchery of his dainty, filmy draperies have been equaled by no other artist, and his studies have enjoyed wide popularity among picture collectors and publishers. Mr. Bryson now sells his pictures exclusively to the Thomas D. Murphy company of Red Oak, Ia., by which concern "The Open Book" is published. The calendar is a work of art entitled to conspicuous display in any home and Pryor & Smith are to be congratulated for their selection of its subject and artist.

PERMITS FOR DEER HIDES. Game Warden John Gipp of Calumet has received a number of permits from State Game Warden Pierce, which will be issued to owners of deer hides, permitting them to retain the hides in their possession permanently. As the deer law prohibits the retaining of any part of a deer in possession after thirty days from the close of the season, these permits are necessary for those who would retain the hides of the deer they have killed.

Y. M. C. A. WRESTLING CLASSES. Peter Berg of Oseola, a very clever amateur wrestler, has been engaged by the Calumet Y. M. C. A. to conduct wrestling classes in the association's gymnasium. The classes will meet every Saturday night and will practice all of wrestling.

ELLIS ELECTED VILLAGE CLERK. John J. Ellis, Jr., was elected clerk of the village of Red Jacket at the special election held there yesterday, by an overwhelming vote. His nearest opponent was Ed J. Dunn. There were nine candidates. The total vote was 574.

THAT COPPER MERGER.

Said Plans Will Be Held in Abeyance Some Time Yet.

Now that the large copper interests have reached an understanding as to just how the big merger is to be accomplished it is doubtful if there will be any immediate haste in bringing affairs to a head, says the Boston Financial News. Daniel Guggenheim has sailed for Europe for a couple of months abroad and the probability is that nothing will be done toward putting the merger through until he returns.

The position in which negotiations now stand is that the managers of the companies which are to be taken over understand on what basis the exchange of stocks will be made. One of the main troubles in the previous negotiations was that some mine owners wanted more than their properties were worth. They now have finally decided that they can obtain only the value which the examinations of the experts reveal. As the experts are impartial they will be no change for properties to be taken over at more than their actual value. Had it not been for the greed of some of the companies it is more than probable that the merger would have been an actual fact a year ago.

Mr. Ryan has made up his mind that the new company will be one with every dollar of capital backed by material assets, and thus the company will start off with a good earning power for its entire capital. As to just when the actual operations of merging will begin has not been decided, but it may be stated that the pending supreme court decisions do not stand in the way. Whatever form these decisions take they can have no more effect on the merger company than they will have on other corporations already in existence. When the opportune time arrives, therefore, to complete the transaction, the work will proceed to its conclusion. With all the details completed it will take but a short time to make final arrangements. The merger will not involve foreign interests, that is European interests, but there will be a general understanding with them in regard to the general cooperation.

A Significant Conference. The Boston News Bureau says: What were the ear marks of at least an informal gathering of copper conferees took place Thanksgiving eve at Sherry's friends. We have heard that not only the following is further evidence of the improved feeling in copper circles. What remains to be told of the Ryan dinner, however, is "Who got the long end of the wishbone at its conclusion?"

OLD DOMINION. The following is published at Boston: Old Dominion in October kept up the very favorable record which it has been making since the first of the year in the matter of costs. Cost per pound of copper sold in New York was the lowest ever shown and followed last September. The management had predicted that a 10-cent cost was in sight. This was realized in August when the figures were somewhat below ten cents. In September another record was made at very close to nine cents, but October showed up even better than September, which indicates that at least a nine-cent cost has been accomplished. Furthermore, indications now are that November will be even better than October.

That Old Dominion should continue to make such striking and consistent improvement is quite remarkable, particularly when it is remembered that the average cost for 1909 was 11.26 cents per pound. This year's operating expenses will certainly not average over 10 cents per pound, and followed last September. This difference is the more noteworthy when it is remembered that the 1910 production will be at least 6,000,000 pounds less than in 1909. With November costs maintained at or better than 9 cents it would seem that the low costs will be even better than October. That Old Dominion should continue to make such striking and consistent improvement is quite remarkable, particularly when it is remembered that the average cost for 1909 was 11.26 cents per pound. This year's operating expenses will certainly not average over 10 cents per pound, and followed last September. This difference is the more noteworthy when it is remembered that the 1910 production will be at least 6,000,000 pounds less than in 1909. With November costs maintained at or better than 9 cents it would seem that the low costs have come to stay and are not the sole result of continued improvement in United Globe ground. This is of course a large factor, but the real reason is quite as much the reflection of the policy adopted of making each department responsible for lower operating cost that could be obtained. To this end, contracts for smelting custom ores have been allowed to lapse unless a fair profit thereon could be shown; the excessive amount of supplies carried has been largely reduced with consequent saving in carrying charges; pumping cost has been reduced by installation of new and powerful turbines, and in fact all along the line economies have been introduced which although small in themselves make collectively an imposing array.

Furthermore, the present costs are not made possible by shaving of necessary charges in other directions, as is evidenced by the fact that a substantial amount each month is being charged directly to operations on account of the new machinery which has recently been installed. Development work is also proceeding on a normal scale of 2,000 feet a month. Later on when the production of Old Dominion is increased as a result of United Globe's contribution, these low costs are going to have an important bearing on the question of restoring the dividend rate to $2 per year. The directors will meet early in December to act on the dividend, but an increase at this time is quite improbable.

WINONA. Winona's new stamp mill now stands practically ready for service and can be expected to go into commission on short notice. The No. 3 shaft, which has been idle for some time and is still idle, has been completely overhauled and retimed throughout so that it is now in shape to yield a steady production. In No. 4 shaft operations continue in development work which is adding steadily to the ground reserves; so when milling begins the mine will be found opening well ahead of immediate requirements. The erratic yields secured in previous mill runs from this lode give an indication of the good looking ground, which is improving as the drift progresses. The drift is in about 500 feet. Drifting on the ninth level has just commenced and is proceeding both east and west. As soon as these drifts have advanced sufficiently sinking will be resumed. The "H" shaft which has been idle for a long time will be put into commission as soon as it is unwatered.

MASS CONSOLIDATED. At the Mass Consolidated property the west drift on the seventh level continues to show the very high copper values first encountered at about 300 feet from the shaft, which showing has continued now for considerably over 150 feet. No attempt is being made to produce from this level; the only rock going to the mill from here being that which is taken out in running the drift. On the fourth level the east drift has just encountered very good looking ground, which is improving as the drift progresses. The drift is in about 500 feet. Drifting on the ninth level has just commenced and is proceeding both east and west. As soon as these drifts have advanced sufficiently sinking will be resumed. The "H" shaft which has been idle for a long time will be put into commission as soon as it is unwatered.

NOT SORRY FOR BLUNDER. "If my friends hadn't blundered in thinking I was a doomed victim of consumption, I might not be alive now," writes Dr. T. Sanders, of Harrodsburg, Ky., "but for years they saw every attempt to cure a lung-racking cough fail. At last I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. The effect was wonderful. It soon stopped the cough and I am now in better health than I have had for years. This wonderful life-saver is an unrivaled remedy for coughs, colds, laryngitis, asthma, croup, hemorrhages, whooping cough or weak lungs. Price, 50c. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by The Stafford Drug Co.

SAVES AN IOWA MAN'S LIFE. The very grave seemed to yawn before Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Iowa, when, after seven weeks in the hospital, four of the best physicians gave him up. Then was shown the marvelous curative power of Electric Bitters. For, after eight months of frightful suffering from liver trouble and yellow jaundice, getting no help from other remedies or doctors, five bottles of this matchless medicine completely cured him. It's positively guaranteed for Stomach, Liver or Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Only 50c. at The Stafford Drug Co.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup will Surprise You. Stops Even Whooping Cough Quickly. A Family Supply at Small Cost.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough instantly and will usually cure the most stubborn case in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents worth in a pint bottle) and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of Pinex in treating asthma, bronchitis, and other throat troubles, sore lungs, etc. There is nothing better. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualcol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Royal Aramum Meeting—Members of the Royal Aramum are anticipating an enjoyable evening Friday, when the lodge will elect officers, following which a vaudeville entertainment will be given. There will be good music and lunch will be served. All visiting brothers are welcome. The festivities will be held in the lodge rooms in Siegel's Hall.

Sold Ironwood School—J. A. Ferguson, who until recently conducted a business college in this city and moved from here a few months ago to engage in similar business at Ironwood, has sold his school in that city and departed for Florida, where he will remain for the winter. Mr. Ferguson's health is said to have made change of climate necessary for him. The Ironwood school is now owned and conducted by W. W. Woodward.

Elks' Memorial Sunday—The Marquette, Negaunee and Ishpeming lodges of Elks will gather at the Ishpeming opera house Sunday afternoon for their annual memorial service. A large delegation from the Marquette lodge is expected to attend. The memorial address will be delivered by Attorney Francis McDonald, of Sault Ste. Marie, and Miss Oltman, of the Normal school, will sing. A delegation of Ishpeming ladies will meet the train from Marquette to escort any visiting ladies to the opera house, and after the services, the ladies will provide special entertainment.

A Novelty at the Bijou—Robert and Charley, billed as the Minstrel Wingates, are black face comedians introducing singing, talking, dancing, banjo, bone and tambourine solos at the Bijou the first half of this week. They drew big houses yesterday. Robert claims to be the only man who ever wore the title of world's champion home player, and his act is a novelty in this line of work. Picture plays are "The White Squaw," which is very interesting, and a display of man's dominion over the brutes, in a picture of Alfred Schweizer and his lions. This picture was featured recently in New York City in three picture houses and is a fine piece of photography.

Last Boats Loading—The last boats to clear from Marquette this season are now taking on their cargoes. The Robbins which was expected to clear from the L. S. & I. dock last night, is the last boat of the season to load there. The Thompson, which was emptied of her coal cargo at Richards' dock yesterday, ends the season at the coal dock. The Thompson will load with ore today and tomorrow, and she will be the last boat to clear from the South Shore docks. At Spear's dock, the last coal boat of the year is unloading. The prediction made some time ago that the treatment of the season in Marquette would end before Dec. 1 is now certain to be verified.

Mrs. Longyear "At Home"—The Boston Herald gives the following account of an "at home" given by Mrs. J. M. Longyear at her residence in Brookline, Mass., Thanksgiving Day: "Mrs. John M. Longyear of Brookline held her first 'at home' of the season yesterday afternoon. In the receiving line with Mrs. Longyear was her sister, Mrs. Edward A. Abbott of Chattanooga, who is here for the Thanksgiving festivities. The tea table had for a centerpiece a handsome pumpkin, filled with fruit, and in place of the conventional celabral, carrots were used for the candles. In addition to the usual confections at tea, cold turkey, cider and other eatables were served to carry out the Thanksgiving idea. The pourers were Mrs. Philip Martineau of London and Mrs. Alton T. Roberts (Abby Longyear), assisted by Miss Judith Longyear. During the afternoon Miss De Forest Anderson of London, flutist, played, her solos delighting the company.

Work Progressing Slowly—Work on the sterilization plant at the water works pumping station is progressing slowly and the plant is not likely to be put in operation for about a month. An impression has gone abroad that treatment with hypochlorite of lime will make the water harder than it is now. Engineers familiar with the system say that the treatment will increase the hardness of the water only one-tenth of 1 per cent, so little it could be detected only by the most delicate instruments. To show what imagiration will do, it is told that some persons have already made the statement that the city water is harder than usual, so much so as to make one's hands rough. Noting this condition, it has been assumed that the sterilization plant was in operation. As a matter of fact, Marquette people are using the same water that they have always used, and even after the new plant is put into service, it is authoritatively stated that there will be no change in the water perceptible to the senses.

ALASKA TO HONOR GOVERNOR'S MEMORY

Citizens Preparing to Erect a Monument There to the Late A. P. Swineford.

A movement is on foot among the citizens of Alaska to erect a monument to the memory of their first territorial governor, the late A. P. Swineford, for many years editor of the Mining Journal, whose remains were interred in Park cemetery Thanksgiving Day. Mr. Swineford was appointed governor of Alaska by Grover Cleveland and held that office until the Republican party again elected a president, when he was superseded for political reasons. During the period of his governorship and thereafter, the interests of Alaska were dear to his heart and he worked indefatigably for his adopted country in season and out of season. The feeling of the Alaskan people toward their late ex-governor is well expressed in an article published in the Ketchikan Miner, date of Nov. 1, as follows:

"Governor Swineford was the first champion of the laws of self government for Alaska. While still governor, he sought to relieve the people from conditions leading to prolonged misrule, and after his retirement he entered into the home rule movement with all the vigor of his personality and pen.

"Mr. Swineford wrote articles for the government of Alaska, which were masterpieces of political reasoning, and which should be incorporated in the constitution when Alaska becomes a representative commonwealth. He was one of the very first to make the claim heard above a whisper that our people were drawn from the salt of the earth, and being so, ought not to be subjected to the appointive oligarchy sent out to govern the state.

"When the history of Alaska shall have been truly written, his name will adorn the pages among the great men who forsook the glory and wealth of the northland. Alaska owes him a debt of gratitude which can only find expression in acts to perpetuate his memory. The movement he fathered still goes marching on, increasing in strength with the accumulating years.

"For that reason his friends have put forward a movement to erect a memorial to express his qualities and their loving remembrance of them. Contributions are being received at Juneau, in Sitka and in Ketchikan, the cities where he lived and was best known, and all Alaska is given an opportunity to contribute to the fund. When a sufficient amount has accumulated, the contributors will be asked to select the monument which will tell future ages something of his fight that they might enjoy political freedom—a memorial that will express a remembering people's love for Alaska's 'Grand Old Man.'

Are Caught in Clothesline—An ave with which County Treasurer-elect Richard Banfield was splitting wood at Ironwood the other day caught in a clothesline and inflicted a serious scalp wound on Mr. Banfield's head.

Wants $5,000 for Loss of Hand—Charles Peterson, through his attorneys, has begun an action in the circuit court for Delta county against the I. Stephenson company to recover damages of $5,000 for personal injuries sustained while he was working in the mill at Wells on July 13, last. Peterson's right hand was so badly mangled as the result of its getting caught in alleged defective machinery that it had to be amputated.

Will Fight Tuberculosis—An association for the prevention and relief of tuberculosis has been organized in Schoolcraft county, with officers as follows: President, Virgil E. Hixson; first vice president, M. J. Rice; second vice president, August Norman; secretary, Mrs. A. M. Leloy; treasurer, Mrs. Nancy Johnson. The constitution and by-laws of the Houghton society, with a few alterations and additions, have been adopted.

Fire Destroys Automobile—Edward Ryan, of Sagola, Dickinson county, is out an automobile. The machine was destroyed by fire at Randville the other night. Mr. Ryan was about ready to start for Sagola and had left the engine running. Fire was first discovered under the hood, but with the gasoline tank feeding the flames the blaze could not be extinguished and in a short time nothing but the frame of the machine was left. The loss is partially covered by an insurance of $800.

Will Log Extensively—Andrew Bjorkman of Iron Mountain has concluded his plans for his winter's operations in the woods. These show that his output of timber will be the largest in several years. Contracts to cut timber have been closed with thirteen jobbers and between two and three hundred men will be employed in the several camps. Nearly all the jobbers are now busy. Mr. Bjorkman states that he expects to bank on the river, and along the railroad fully 10,000,000 feet of logs—pine, hemlock and hardwoods. In addition to the logs his operations embrace 10,000 cords of pulpwood, 25,000 cedar posts and 5,000 cedar poles.

Old-Time Conductor Resigns—Robert McCourt, who has been a C. & N. W. conductor of the Peninsula division for many years and for the past two years has been on the Iron River-Amasa run and has made his home at Iron River, has resigned his position and has gone to Portland, Oregon, where his family has been residing for the past year or so. At Chicago he was met by his daughter, Miss Esther McCourt, who has been a student in the Northwestern University and has discontinued further work there, who accompanied him to the Pacific coast. Mr. McCourt has not decided yet what line of business he will go into, but may possibly take up railroading again.

Apoplectic Stroke Is Fatal—Bernard McKeivitt, an honored resident of Ironwood for twenty years, died from a stroke of apoplexy last week. He was stricken as he was returning from the home of his son, Thomas L. McKeivitt, being found lying on the sidewalk on Melrose avenue. He sank into a comatose condition, which continued to the end. The deceased, although advanced in years, had enjoyed excellent health, and appeared in his usual spirits when he left his home. He was born Jan. 4, 1841, at Carlisle, Ireland, coming to America in 1864. He remained at Portland, Me., for three years, and then came west, settling on a farm in Manitowish county, Wisconsin. Some years later he sold the farm and bought another in Brown county, finally disposing of that and removing to Ironwood in the summer of 1890. Until he retired from active work ten years ago, he followed the occupation of a farmer. The widow and seven children survive, all of whom were with him in his last hours. The children are Stephen, John and Thomas McKeivitt and Mrs. M. H. McMahon, Ironwood; Patrick and Edward McKeivitt, Hibbing, and Rev. Bernard H. McKeivitt, Richland Center, Wis. The funeral was very largely attended, St. Ambrose church being filled with friends and neighbors. Reunion high mass was celebrated, the Rev. B. H. McKeivitt, son of the deceased, being the celebrant, assisted by Fathers Buchholtz and Feldhaus. The six other sons acted as pallbearers.

Miner Meets a Violent Death

Caught by a fall of ore, Charles Carr has fallen a victim to an accident in the underground workings of the Newport mine at Ironwood. Seven men were repairing the timbering in a sub-drift. They had taken out the old timbers and were about ready to put in a new set when several tons of ore fell. Carr was under it and was smothered. He had worked at the Newport mine for some months. He was twenty-five years old, and leaves a wife and one child in the old country.

Would-Be Suicide Will Live

Tired of life, Anton Sakalon, living at the Palatka mining location in Iron county, made a desperate attempt to kill himself. He shot himself in the head. The muzzle of the revolver pointed outward too much, however, the bullet entering the jaw and passing through the tongue came out near the corner of the left eye. After firing the revolver and not completing the job, Sakalon started for a friend at the Baltic location but not finding any one up there he returned to his boarding house and going up stairs went to his room and laid down. Later on the chambermaid discovered blood on the stairs and floor and gave the alarm. The man was removed to the Stambaugh hospital. He is now getting along nicely and will recover. No cause is given for the rash act.

Killed Deer to Feed Family

Simon Sedpanen, a farmer in Portage township, Houghton county, was arraigned before Justice David Armit last week, on a charge of shooting deer during the closed season. The charge was preferred by Deputy State Game Warden John Gipp. It appears that Sedpanen had met with adversities the past year that had rendered him without funds. He testified that he was compelled to become a pot hunter to obtain his sustenance for his children, and that his wife previously had become insane. Several county authorities appeared for the defense. Sedpanen was found guilty and was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail. Sentence was suspended for one year.

Mayors Like He Are in Demand

The city of Gladstone, like other peninsula municipalities, is experiencing difficulties with its finances, comments the Escanaba Press. Luckily, however, Gladstone has a banker for mayor and that official, with a singular regard for the interests of his city, has been furnishing Gladstone with money with which to carry on its regular business, without charging interest. In spite of this fact Mayor Hammel is being criticized in some quarters, his gratuitous loaning of money to the city, carrying bonds beyond maturity and giving the municipality the best end of the argument being lost sight of. In spite of the discontent with Mayor Hammel in his home town, Escanaba and various other cities of the peninsula would welcome with open arms such a public spirited citizen. In Escanaba, when the city's funds are exhausted, Escanaba pays 7 per cent interest. When bonds are due they must be paid even if it is necessary to borrow money. Gladstone surely has a ministering angel in disguise and if it will loan its mayor with all of his advantages ready at hand he will be quickly snapped up by a number of peninsula cities, one of which is not far from Gladstone.

Clothesline Thief Still Busy

Thanksgiving this year, reports Crystal Falls Drill. His celebration of the day nearly brought him to grief, though as Ed Geske gave him a hard lesson and nearly bagged him. The fellow began operations at W. J. Reynolds' home, where he stripped the line of the choice of Mrs. Reynolds' washing. The day was not one to be celebrated with an ordinary appetite so the fellow decided to make a bigger meal of it and he went over to Joe Gremora's, where he ate the weekly washing waiving in the evening breeze. He had satisfied his appetite there and was starting for home when he met Ed Geske in the alley. It was about 6:30 in the evening and Ed didn't think of meeting anyone on an unending expedition at that hour. Ed was carrying two pails of water and passed the fellow before his suspicions were aroused. He set the water down and started after him. The men raced down the alley and crossed the railroad track. The fellow clung to his bundle of clothes for a time, but finally dropped it. He was a tall foreigner, evidently a Pole, and wore overalls and a short coat.

FEDERAL PLUMS FOR "LAME DUCKS"

Election Casualties Make It Difficult for Average Citizens to Land Offices.

Washington, Nov. 28.—The average citizen, who covets a federal office, will find mighty meagre pickings from this time on to the end of the present administration. Not that President Taft will not have a number of nice places, first and last to bestow. But when he started from Panama this week, he faced a big pile of letters from Republicans of more or less eminence, who were overwhelmed in the landslide. These men will be making personal appeals to him, almost from the moment he lands in Washington. They will bring other influential men with them to say how important it is that these particular friends be continued in the government's employ.

The most attractive prize these "lame ducks" have their eyes upon is the secretaryship of the interior. This is the case with Western Republicans, for it is taken for granted that only a Western man can serve as the head of that department. And while the political overturning was not very marked in the far West, it did sufficient damage to congressional careers to have assured already quite a formidable list of aspirants for Secretary Ballinger's office.

After the Shoes of Ballinger.

They "hear" that Secretary Ballinger will resign sometime after Congress convenes, and on the strength of the rumor are mustering support. Representative W. F. Englebright of Nevada City, Cal., a Massachusetts Yankee, who went across the Rockies many years ago to live, is seeking support for a cabinet place. He was beaten for re-election by a handful of votes.

Senator Frank P. Flint of California, who retires March 4 next, has also been much mentioned of late for the same place, as has Representative Duncan E. McKinley of the Sacramento district, who went down in the California primary landslide.

Since it became known that "Uncle Tom" Carter, the long-time Republican senator from Montana, would be confronted by a Democratic Legislature, suggestions have been cropping out in many quarters that he would make an admirable cabinet official. As he is credited with being such a "smooth proposition" that he can usually train with both sides in a fight and not be found out, considerable has been said in friendly circles to the effect that he would be a distinct political acquisition as a member of the President's official family.

Has Studied Postal Reforms.

Senator Carter would probably consent to serve his country as a secretary of the interior. He was commissioner of the general land office, which is a bureau of the interior department, when the big Democratic landslide of 1892 made Cleveland President a second time. He has constantly been growing in wisdom as the years have flown by, and in the Senate has been a leading member of the postoffice committee.

There he has studied postal questions and reforms very hard, in which connection it has been intimated to Postmaster-General Hitchcock that he had better get a fresh grip upon his present job. Senator Carter would consent to being postmaster-general.

Coming away to the East, there is a cloud of eminent citizens, soon to be ex-representatives, eagerly looking around for some good thing in the federal service. Conspicuous among them is Representative James A. Tawney of Minnesota, who as a lad witnessed the battle of Gettysburg.

He is chairman of House appropriations now, and a few years ago cherished a keen ambition of being some day President of the United States. As he is a lawyer, it has been said with emphasis that he would be a very capable selection for one of the five court of commerce judges.

Found Places In Monetary Commission.

A few "lame ducks" are being cared for in recent years, quietly, but comfortably, on the national monetary commission. The Republicans and Democrats of the finance committee in the Senate and of the banking and currency

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure The only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar No Alum, No Lime Phosphate committee of the House, who were designated some two years ago as members of the commission, are retained wherever they remain in Congress or not. They are paid by a contingent fund, and, when holding no other office, are receiving, it is understood, $7,500 a year, which is the salary of Senators and Representatives.

Henry M. Teller of Colorado, former senator, quite an authority on finance, has been and still is on the commission, as is ex-Representative Robert W. Bonjour of the same state. The latter went down in the Colorado landslide of 1908.

Senator Aldrich, although retiring to private life in March, will continue at the head of the commission. Presumably Senators Hale of Maine and Burrows of Michigan will also continue on the commission after March 4.

Placed on the Federal Bench.

Several senators and representatives, after falling outside the breakwaters in recent years, have been put upon the federal bench. A district or circuit judgeship conveniently falls vacant now and then when a lawyer congressman finds himself out of a job. Some of them have made very good federal judges, the legislative experience having furnished a good preliminary training for interpreting laws made at the Capitol. To be sure, it will probably be more difficult than ever during the next two years for an ex-congressman to "get by" with a judicial appointment, unless he has particular qualifications for wearing the ermine. President Taft is very careful about his nominations to the federal bench. He has none of the affection for congressmen of other branches that the late President McKinley had, or that President Roosevelt showed for those whose attitude on public questions accorded with his own.

Pressure from Ex-Representatives.

Probably none of the Republican senators in the East who have "lost out" will trouble the President much about offices. A senator's legs it would be largely from them. The Democratic "lame ducks" are comparatively few, but it is fairly certain that one or two of them will be chosen for important House offices. It has generally been so. The clerk of the House, whether it be a Republican or a Democratic body, is almost always a former member.

NEW INDUSTRY IN THE SOUTH.

Plant to Be Built to Convert Iron Pyrites Cider Into Ore. Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 28.—The Carolina Ore company, with a capital stock of $125,000, has been organized at Winston-Salem to install the first plant of its kind in the South, if not in the entire country. The plant will fuse and put in shape for use in the manufacture of pig iron the iron pyrites cinder from the fertilizer works at Winston-Salem-Charlotte, Selma and Durham in North Carolina, and from Columbia, Greenville and Blacksburg, S. C., converting what has been not only waste but a nuisance on account of the cost of removing it from the fertilizer works into a valuable ore.

A site for the new plant has been secured on the Southern and Norfolk & Western railroads, and the machinery ordered. There will be two buildings, one 180 feet long and 40 feet wide, and the other 60 by 25 feet, both steel frame structures. The most important part of the equipment of the plant will be a kiln, 100 feet long and somewhat similar to the kilns in cement works. The pyrites cinder will be put through the fusing process in this kiln, and when it comes out it will be in shape suitable for use in the manufacture of pig iron. The output will be used by the Virginia iron furnaces as a high grade mixing ore. The plant will be operated by electricity, using about 150 horse-power.

Markets

(By Paul, Webber & Co.) WALL STREET STOCKS.

New York, Nov. 28.—The reported interview with a prominent railroad financier, in which a rather unfavorable outlook was portrayed, did much towards shaping the course of the security market today. In addition the dissolution of the English parliament, the filing of an appeal for the disintegration of the American Sugar Refining company and the heavy selling by interests which were recently identified with the buyers, caused a somewhat more pessimistic feeling to prevail than has been noted for some time. The unsettled trade outlook and prospects for an indefinite continuance of the same in view of the fact that final decisions in the rate cases will not probably be forthcoming until the first quarter of next year, taken in connection with the uncertain outcome of the Standard Oil and tobacco cases, leads us to believe that caution should be exercised on the long side of the market. Boston Coppers.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 28.—The market received a severe setback, due to a bearish interview with James J. Hill. He predicted a business depression next year. No support was given to stocks, and liquidation broke prices easily. The local coppers were weak, but the volume of sales was small. A few stop orders were caught and the buying power was very light. We look for a lower opening tomorrow, to be followed by a sharp rally, due to short covering and organized support. The closing prices were as follows:

TEXAS COUNTY IS SOLIDLY REPUBLICAN

Not a Democratic Vote Cast in Zapata in Recent Election Is Novel Record.

Zapata, Tex., Nov. 28.—If there is a Democrat in Zapata County he did not cast a vote at the recent election. The solid voting strength of the county was cast for the Republican ticket from constable to governor, 599 ballots in all. The same thing happened two years ago. Zapata has been one of the banner Republican counties of the United States for many years. It has a population of about 3500 people, most of whom are Mexicans. It is situated in the lower Rio Grande border region, the international boundary stream separating it from Mexico on the south. The fact that it was such a Republican stronghold annoyed the Democratic leaders of the frontier territory, and a few years ago F. W. Seabury of Rio Grande City, the county seat of the adjoining county of Starr, who represented this district in the Legislature, attempted to have a law passed dissolving the county organization and apportioning the area which it embraces to the adjoining Democratic counties. The Legislature refused to sanction the measure because it was purely a political move.

Lying between Zapata County and the mouth of the Rio Grande are the counties of Starr, Hidalgo and Cameron. The opening of the rich valley lands of these counties to agricultural development has drawn to the border a flux of new settlers from Northern and Middle Western states during the last four or five years, and the Democratic rule that has prevailed so long in the three counties came near being overturned at the recent election by the vote of the men who are making the former remote and chaparral-covered territory blossom like the rose. Most of the newcomers are Republicans, and in their new home they have not forgotten the game of politics which they learned so well in Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and other states. In Cameron County the Democrats won at the recent election by a bare 100 majority; in Starr County the former overwhelming Democratic majority was cut down to less than sixty votes. The Republicans are almost in control of Hidalgo county.

New York Cotton Market.

New York, Nov. 28.—The action of the market today reflected the efforts to realize on cotton bought recently and the decline of about 25 points from the high opening caught spot orders that had been placed close up to the level of recent purchases. The market will have to absorb for a while, hedge sales against the heavy purchases of spot in the south, but the situation is too strong fundamentally to expect the market to seek a permanently lower level.

TARIFF ON HUMAN LIMBS. What is the value of an arm or a leg? The man who owns a full complement of these members is not in a very advantageous position to answer the question, but he who loses one or two of them may be said to occupy the vantage point of an expert. Yet may not even he err on the side of an extravagant estimate? We are moved to this thought by three events along the line of missing limbs, which have recently come out of the East. In a Pennsylvania town the other day a jury gave a man whose two arms had been amputated by a train a verdict of $20,000 against the railroad. On the same day, but this time in Connecticut, a woman was given an award of $10,000 for the loss of one limb, from which she had been separated by a locomotive; and a few days subsequently an employe of a street railway in New York city was awarded $10,000 for the loss of two legs.

The remarkable difference in the valuation of human limbs by juries in the three states above-named will strike the reader at once. Why a Pennsylvania man's arms should be worth $10,000 each and a New York man's legs only half that sum, while a Connecticut woman's limb should be appraised at more than three times the value of the New Yorker's leg is one of the mysteries of jury trials.

A man without any legs at all is scarcely damaged twice as much as a woman to whom there yet remains one, but the Connecticut jury were probably a susceptible lot, and the woman's lawyer must have worked upon their sentimental side with fine effect.

The crying need of the times seems to be some fixed tariff on the human body's various parts.—Nashville Tennessean.

OLIVET—Word has been received here that Hamilton King, minister to Siam, a former professor at Olivet, is soon to return to the college town to complete his convalescence before returning to his work at Siam. Mr. King has been in a Baltimore hospital for over three months and until recently there were grave fears that he would not be able to return to his diplomatic post. The ambassador has been suffering for a number of years with acute kidney trouble and although now greatly improved is still thought to be too weak to resume his labors in the Far East. His family are intending to have him remain at Olivet as long as they are able to, but Mr. King is very anxious to return to his post and will probably leave within two months.

SULLIVAN TO BE ARRESTED AGAIN

Prosecutor to Start Proceedings In Second Case Against Moving Picture Man.

F. A. Bell, the prosecuting attorney, yesterday directed Judge Andrews to issue a warrant for the arrest of C. S. Sullivan, manager of the Royal theatre, charging him with a second violation of the state statute, when he opened his theatre for business last Sunday afternoon and evening. Mr. Sullivan left the city early yesterday morning, but he is expected back today or tomorrow. Mr. Sullivan is charged with violating a different provision of the law last Sunday to the one which he was charged with violating the preceding Sunday. The warrant issued yesterday contains the following charge:

"Cornelius S. Sullivan of the city of Ishpeming did exhibit and run a show, to wit: a moving picture, within two miles of a certain religious society—the Grace Episcopal church society, a religious organization which was then actually assembled for religious worship—without having been duly licensed by the proper authorities, to exhibit such show."

The provision of the law which the prosecuting attorney charges Mr. Sullivan with violating reads as follows: "No person shall willfully disturb, interrupt or disquiet any assemblage of people met for religious worship by profane discourse, by rude and indecent behavior, or by making a noise within the place of worship or so near it as to disturb the order and solemnity of the meeting; nor shall any person within two miles of the place where any religious meeting shall be actually assembled for religious worship expose to sale or gift any ardent or distilled liquors, wine, beer, cider, port, or any other article of food or merchandise, or keep open any huxter shop in any other place, in stand or grocery, then such as shall be or have been duly licensed, in which such person shall have usually carried on such business; nor shall any person within the distance aforesaid, exhibit any shows or plays, unless the same shall have been duly licensed by the proper authority; nor shall any person, nor shall he be engaged in any racing of any animals or any gaming of any description; nor shall any person obstruct the free passage of any highway to any place of public worship within the distance aforesaid."

Mayor McCorkindale yesterday said that he has received protests from people who object to the moving picture theatres being open on Sunday. Before instructing Marshal Treavor to enter a complaint against Mr. Sullivan, charging him with violating a state statute a week ago Sunday, he was advised by Prosecuting Attorney Bell and City Attorney Jurma that a violation had been committed. Mr. McCorkindale said he realizes that others are violating the same law, but so long as no objections have been raised against them he did not believe it was his duty to take steps to compel them to close.

"MY CINDERELLA GIRL"

Popular Baseball Comedy the Attraction Here This Evening.

College life, with all its refreshing humor, its pranks and frolics, forms the foundation of Williams Norris' "My Cinderella Girl," which will be the offering at Ishpeming theatre tonight. Students of all types, some serious, some funny and some very odd, are seen in the piece, and they give their witty lines with much glibness and with telling effect. The attraction ran for 300 nights in Chicago, where it played to capacity audiences. The farce is by Richard Walton Tully, who wrote "The Rose of the Rancho" for David Belasco. The hero is a young man who tries to keep the knowledge that he is a baseball player from his father. There are two or three love stories in the piece, also, and they add interest and zest.

The song numbers, a dozen in all, are full of melody. They are by William Frederick Peters, who composed the score for "The Mayor of Tokio." The chorus was selected and trained by Gus Schlake, one of the best known producers of musical numbers in the country.

The curtain will ring up at 8:30 o'clock.

MEAT PRICES DOWN.

Canadian Announce Reductions, Following American Packers' Lead.

The recent reductions in the wholesale prices of beef, pork and mutton are principally due to the immense crops of corn and oats that have been harvested this year, and not to the government officials' investigation of the packing business," said a well informed produce man yesterday. "Meat values in Canada are now as low as they are in America. Both the wholesale and retail prices in Canada have been high and the Canadian market is closely following the American market."

"Many of the Canadian packers have expressed the opinion that there is a prospect of meat prices continuing the downward trend until the normal level is reached. There is little or no meat imported into Canada, but in spite of this fact it has been noticed for years that the meat prices in Canada and the United States move upward and downward in unison. More corn fed cattle are raised in the United States than in Canada and it is in this country that the reduction in the prices of corn will have the most direct effect on the prices of meats."

"I am of the belief that if the Canadian packers did not reduce their prices to meet the reductions quoted by the American packers, the latter would soon begin shipping dressed meats into the Dominion, and they would be able to make good money on the transaction. While the packers in Canada seem to look for a continuance in the fall of the price of meats in the Dominion, this condition of affairs, of course, will be largely governed by the conditions prevailing in the markets of the United States."

"As Canada's output of corn and oats is increasing annually, while the tendency in America is for a decrease in these products, the Canadian authorities predict that within the next fifteen years at the outside the United States will become dependent upon Canada for a large share of its supplies of meat and bread. In the Canadian west over 200,000,000 acres of wheat land with a capacity of 3,000,000,000 bushels still await the plow."

"It is a well known fact that the United States has not yet reached the limit in the production of wheat, corn and oats, and I feel certain that the farmers of this country will be able to meet the demands upon them for home consumption for some years to come, at least. I also believe that the present supply of beef in this country may be greatly increased within four or five years. I am satisfied, however, that Canada will excel in wheat growing in quality and product, and that for years to come she will occupy the first position, although not so prominently as to be without a rival."

D. T. Morgan & Co.'s Letter.

There was extremely heavy liquidating in the New York market today under which prices melted away rapidly, declines ranging from 1 1/2 points in Pennsylvania to 6 points in Lehigh Valley, and averaging over 3 points. The decline was precipitated by the selling of 50,000 shares by a former bull operator in the first few minutes, followed by an energetic bear drive. There was no rally of consequence and only a fractional recovery toward the close. New York thinks the tendency is further downward. The money situation is better and the excellent crops should tend to prevent any further serious decline at this time. The Boston market was weak in sympathy with New York, but resistance was strong until after noon. North Briton, Lake and Hancock suffered most, though losses were general throughout the list. New York wires that a reduction of 3 to 19 million pounds is expected in the coming copper producers' report. Boston says North Briton should lead in any rally in the coppers. Trading on the curb was very light, with China and Inspiration active but weaker. The others were very dull and generally slightly lower.

state. Mr. Bryan went over into Iowa and Indiana and gave his support to Democratic candidates who stood for the very things the Nebraska prohibitionists were fighting. His actions in supporting in Iowa and Indiana the measures which he was fighting in Nebraska caused the prohibitionists in this state to believe that he was simply venting his personal spite upon former friends.

And Mr. Bryan has lost even the confidence and support of the old-time Populists—the people who were responsible for his first rise to power. He is accused by them of having wrecked the Populist party, and after giving him their support are no longer favorable to him.

Mr. Bryan made a "rousing" speech in Omaha three nights before the election, in which he made a vicious attack upon the Democratic ticket, and the city gave those Democratic candidates the greatest majorities ever given a candidate in Omaha. The Democratic legislative ticket in its entirety was elected.

Says He Can't Come Back. "Bryan put himself outside the party line, and he can't come back now," says Judge W. S. Shoemaker, for several years a member of the legislature and re-elected to membership in spite of Bryan's opposition.

NEGAUNEE PASTOR TALKS ABOUT CEMETERY

St. Paul's Church Has Received Over $900 Royalty Money This Year.

Rev. Charles Langner, pastor of St. Paul's Catholic church, gave his parishioners some interesting information concerning cemetery matters Sunday. He said he had been told that members of the congregation believed that certain individuals were receiving money from the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, on account of the royalties being paid for the ore that lies beneath the surface of the cemetery, in excess of the amount being turned over to the parochial school.

The company has paid a minimum royalty of $500 per year ever since the contract was entered into, but this year Father Langner said that $471.73 additional had been received, on account of ore received from beneath the cemetery surface. The first ore mined was taken out a few months ago. A royalty payment of $971.73 was made last month.

The $500 received yearly has been used for the support of the parochial school. Father Langner said that inasmuch as there are five sisters in the school $500 is not enough to meet the expenses, and last month he placed $250 additional to the credit of the school, depositing the balance in the bank to the credit of the church fund. It requires at least $1,000 a year to maintain the school.

Father Langner told his parishioners that they are not to expect that the royalty will pay the running expenses of the church. He had been informed, he said, that some persons had expressed the opinion that pew rents should be given up and that the money received from the royalties should also be used in providing coal for the church. He told the congregation that there will be any particular rush, at least for a few days, as most of the property owners do not settle their taxes until after the middle of December.

WORK PROGRESSING STEADILY. Over 2,000 Bodies Have Been Removed from the Old Cemeteries. C. O. Stensrud has transferred 2,000 bodies from the old to the new cemetery up to Saturday night. He has been engaged in the contract less than four weeks. He is now doing the work more systematically than formerly.

The valuation on all taxable property in the city, as fixed by the board of assessors, is $6,218,663. In order to meet the requirements in the various funds it will be necessary to collect $97,086.75 in taxes. From Dec. 1 to Jan. 9 the taxpayers will pay 1 per cent additional, which is the customary amount charged for collecting and after Jan. 9, 3 per cent additional will be charged.

The money to be collected will be distributed as follows: City tax fund for general city purposes (2 mills) $12,463.72 Street and highway fund (2 1/2 mills) 15,379.65 Fire department fund (1 1/2 mills) 9,347.80 Special fund for the payment of outstanding debts and interest on bonds and debts (2 mills) 12,463.72 One mill tax 6,231.86 School District No. 1 40,000.00 Library fund 1,000.00

Total $97,086.75 The extending of the tax roll has been completed and it will be turned over to the bank today, when the clerks will begin making out the receipts. It is not anticipated that there will be any particular rush, at least for a few days, as most of the property owners do not settle their taxes until after the middle of December.

WHEN OUR GIRLS GO VISITING. I go to the State Normal school, and often take girls home with me, and sometimes visit in other girls' homes. A great many of the girls in our school come from ranches and farms, and while most of their people are pretty well off, they are hard-working people, and many of the mothers do their own work. My mother does, and I know she gets awfully tired, too. I have always helped at home. Now, what I want to say is that when you go away, girls, into the home of some other girl, if the mother does the work, then you take hold and help too. Offer to help, anyway, and there are certain things you should do without offering; just go ahead and do them. Keep your room in order. Even if you room with the daughter of the house do the room work. The daughter can help the mother better, and that is something you can do without asking. Don't be afraid to peel potatoes or wash dishes; it is all in the day's work and the day's fun. It will bring you into closer contact with the family, and it will mark you as a kind and thoughtful girl.—Harper's Bazaar.

WHAT IS TO BECOME OF WILLIAM J. BRYAN?

Nebraska Democrats Don't Want Him and Republicans Say They Won't Have Him.

Omaha, Neb., November 27.—What is to be the fate of William J. Bryan? The Republicans don't want him, and he can't come back into the Democratic party. Although he wielded power sufficient to turn many votes away from the Democratic candidates, he did not have the power to elect any of the candidates for whom he canvassed the state. He and the friends and supporters of the defeated candidates, from Dahlgren, defeated Democratic nominee for governor, down to the most insignificant village candidate, are howling for Bryan's political blood.

There is a United States senator to be chosen in Nebraska at the January session of the Legislature. And there is a Democratic Legislature which will make the selection. But Bryan will not be the choice. Another Democrat has been chosen by a majority six times as great as Mr. Bryan received in 1908. Bryan should announce himself a candidate for the senate and appeal to this Legislature to elect him, he would not receive half a dozen votes from among the Democratic members of that body.

For a year Bryan's popularity in this state has been on the wane. Each and every step he has taken in that time has seemed to make him more and more unpopular. He has antagonized political friends by the hundreds, and even his long-time personal friends have been alienated in great numbers. In the campaign just finished Bryan deserted friends of twenty years' standing and did what he could to cause their defeat. But the men who were elected are not his friends. Even the lone Democrat who carried the state by such a handsome majority is not a friend of Bryan's now. He was successful, not because of Bryan, but in spite of Bryan. Three times in former years Bryan "knifed" the successful one, and now that man has reached the United States Senate without Bryan's assistance he will not be under the influence of the latter when he takes his seat in the upper house.

Lost the Prohibitionists. The State Legislature is safely Democratic, but the members are opposed to Bryan. A few of these Democrats are pledged to county option, for which Bryan campaigned. The Republican members are county optionists because of their platform—but they are opposed to Bryan. It is not known, and will not be known, whether or not the county optionists are in control until the Legislature convenes. But, whether they are or are not, they are opposed to Bryan. The Legislature may pass a county option law, but Bryan will not be permitted to assist in the work, nor will he receive and credit for its passage. The only credit he is receiving is that of having assisted in the defeat of the party for which he had appealed so often that Democrats be "regular" and support the ticket—when Bryan was on that ticket.

Mr. Bryan has lost the confidence of the prohibitionists of Nebraska, despite the fact that he advocated county option. When he first bolted the Democratic ticket and took a stand upon "high moral ground" for the county option brand of prohibition, Bryan says lauded to the skies by Nebraska prohibitionists. He was a man of "conscience" and was standing for the right—a martyr to the "cause." But before doing any campaign work in his home

GOOD PROGRESS IS BEING MADE

Exterior Work at County Tuberculosis Hospital at Morgan Has Been Finished, Lathing is Now Being Done and Heating Plant is Being Installed There.

Building Will Be Lighted With Electricity Furnished From This City, and Electric Pump Will Supply Water From Well—Ready Early Next Spring.

The special committee of the county board of supervisors who have in charge the construction of the tuberculosis hospital at Morgan made an inspection of the building yesterday afternoon, which is being rushed to completion as rapidly as possible. Members of the committee who had not been at Morgan for several weeks were highly gratified with the progress being made. The exterior of the building is practically finished and the roof has been put on. Workmen are now lathing on the inside and in a few days the plastering will be begun.

Superintendent Retalic, of the light and power commission, accompanied the committee on their trip yesterday, and the lights for the institution are to be furnished from Marquette, and an electric pump will be installed at the well sunk last week. A fine flow of excellent water was struck at a depth of eighty-five feet and the institution is assured of water of unquestionable purity.

In order to give electric light service, the pole line that now runs to F. H. Vandenberg's farm west of the city will be extended to the tuberculosis hospital. This extension will be four and a half miles in length and its cost will be met by the county, after which current will be furnished by the Marquette commission at its regular rates. The electric wiring has already been done. The heating plant is now being installed, and it is expected to have the building ready for occupancy by early spring.

Institution Is Needed.

Dr. F. W. Shumway, of the state board of health has recently given out an interview in which the advantages of a tuberculosis hospital, such as is being erected in this county, are forcibly set forth, although he was speaking in particular of the state hospital at Howell.

"Consumption will never lessen in Michigan until some action is taken which will prevent the spread of the disease, or more strenuous efforts are put forth," said Dr. Shumway.

"I think the time is ripe for the people to take up the question of having the Howell institution take in advanced cases of consumption and that the matter should be brought before the next legislature so that body could amend the present laws that the so-called incurable cases, of which there are thousands in the state, could be taken care of at the state institution.

BETTER THINGS COMING.

Opera House Booking Trust Shows Now "Cinderella Girl" Friday.

Trust attractions as well as independent theatrical companies are now being booked by the management of the Marquette opera house, and theater-going people may look forward to a large number of first class shows before the winter is over. Since the Marquette opera house joined in the open door movement last summer, no trust shows have appeared here and bookings have not been as frequent as usual. It has now been several weeks since a first class company appeared in this city. After the first of the year, however, the usual number of good shows may be expected. There are already several good attractions booked for January and advance agents for others are now headed this way.

During December, however, only three shows have been booked as yet for Marquette. They are "My Cinderella Girl" next Friday night, "Seven Days," Dec. 10, and "Baby Mine," Dec. 20. "My Cinderella Girl" is touted as one of the big musical shows on the road this season and Friday night is being looked forward to by theatrical-wise as a pleasurable event. A Springfield, Ill., critic writes as follows of the show, which recently played in that city:

"At Chatterton's yesterday 'My Cinderella Girl' made a great hit before a small matinee audience and a large and enthusiastic night audience. It is a musical farce showing many ludicrous pictures of college life and introducing some musical specialties which are full of life and ginger. It is a play which deals principally with the baseball team of Swarth college and is staged in three innings. The play is deserving of large houses."

PRESENTED WITH SWEATERS.

Marquette Bowling Five Officially Recognized by Coca Cola Company.

Each of the members of the Coca Cola bowling team, which was organized early this season and already has attained an enviable reputation in bowling circles, yesterday received a handsome red sweater with the compliments of the Coca Cola company, of Atlanta, Ga. The sweaters are light jerseys of A. G. Spalding & Co., make and the members of the team are rightfully proud of them. This team has an undefeated record and its manager is authorized to challenge any five-men team in Marquette county to a series of three or five games, total pins to count, to be played on the Marquette alleys. After having investigated the respective prowess of all of the upper peninsula bowling teams and also the individual preferences of the various ten-pin slaughterers as to soft drinks, the Coca Cola company decided upon the five men who were sent sweaters yesterday as the team best qualified to represent this company in the upper peninsula. From now on, the Coca Colas are likely to be heard from frequently in the bowling news columns of the north country daily press.

DANGERS GREATLY OVER-ESTIMATED

Census Figures Show That Automobiles Cause Comparative Few Accidents.

"Three times as many persons are killed by horses as by automobiles. This was the rather startling statement made by a Marquette automobile owner yesterday. Continuing, he said: "Anyone who reads the daily papers is apt to receive the impression that as a death-dealing weapon the automobile has every other instrument beaten to a frazzle." We read the scare headlines about this accident and that collision, of this death and that mishap in which an automobile figures, and without further consideration condemn the automobiles.

"Last year the railroads of the country were responsible for ten times as many deaths as the automobile. Three men killed in a wreck get three inches of news space on page 11, and one man hurt in an automobile accident gets an illustrated half page. That friend of mankind, the horse, was responsible for the death of three times as many persons as the automobile caused. The difference from a news standpoint is that horses have been running away for centuries while automobiles are new to this decade.

"Another point is often overlooked. The automobile is blamed for accidents that are caused by careless drivers. How often the story in the paper tells of stops at wine rooms until the wee hours of morning find the man at the wheel possessing less sense than the car he drives. The result is often an overturned car and a funeral. If a man hits another with an axe, that's murder; if he hits him with an automobile, that's an automobile accident.

"Leaving out of the calculation all that great majority of automobile accidents which ought to be called homicides, the actual figures as prepared by the census bureau at Washington show that only lightning and freezing were responsible for less deaths last year than the automobile. The figures are: Railroad injuries, 6,659; drowning, 4,508; burns, 3,992; injuries at birth, 3,508; injuries by horses and horse vehicles, 2,152; street cars, 1,723; automobiles, 632; injuries in mines and quarries, 1,997; inhalation of poisonous gases, 1,837; other accidental poisonings, 1,779; accidental gunshot wounds, 994; heat and sunstroke, 816; cold and freezing, 251; lightning, 159.

INSURANCE COMPANIES DO A GREAT BUSINESS

Annual Report of Michigan Commission Shows Conditions to Be Flourishing.

That the business of the various life insurance companies doing business in Michigan has grown steadily during the past forty years is shown by the annual report of Insurance Commissioner Barry for the year 1909, just issued. The report was compiled before Mr. Barry tendered his resignation and is signed by him, although M. O. Rowland is Michigan's insurance commissioner at the present time.

A comparison of the business, excluding industrial, done by the legal reserve life insurance companies in Michigan since 1870 shows that there has been no increase in the number of companies, but the amount of the policies, the size of the premiums and the losses are considerably larger than the figures shown in the report of forty years ago. In 1909 the 60 companies in Michigan wrote 27,105 new policies amounting to $40,840,325.50. There were in force at the end of the year 175,453 policies amounting in all to $279,921,191.43. The premiums amounted to $10,039,327.13. During the year 1870 there were six-twenty-six companies doing business in Michigan. That year 10,172 new policies were issued amounting to $18,421,550. The total number of policies in force at the end of that year was 27,397. The premiums amounted to $1,690,577.08 and the losses $405,419.58.

The cost of maintaining the insurance commission for the year ending June 30, 1910, was $22,499.90, while the receipts amounted to $115,583.57. Of this amount the primary school fund was enriched to the extent of $483,119.04, while $32,464.53 which includes regulatory fees and receipts from assessment, life, accident and sick benefit associations, was turned into the general fund of the state. Therefore the insurance commission turned into the general fund $9,964.63 more than it cost to maintain the department for the year.

In concluding his report to the governor, Mr. Barry says: "The question of proper reserves for unpaid losses of liability companies, is just now receiving the careful attention of company managers and a committee representing the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners. This committee is under instructions from the convention to submit its report and recommendations at an early day in order that necessary legislation may be enacted in the several states during the coming winter. The state of Michigan has taken advanced grounds in the matter of such reserves and it is gratifying to note that it is unanimously conceded that the law of this state regulating such reserves comes nearer requiring correct and adequate reserves than the law of any other state.

"During the past few years Michigan has enacted much new insurance legislation. Time has proven the wisdom of these enactments. Most of this new legislation applies to life insurance. Material changes have taken place in all branches of the business. Some further legislation is necessary to meet changed conditions in other branches of the business. This department is arranging to have bills embodying the necessary legislation prepared by the attorney general for submission to the legislature at the coming session."

PRISON TO ASK NO SPECIAL AID

Board of Control of Marquette Institution Will Ask Legislature Only for $200 to Cover Overdraft, Which is Said to Be An Unusual Record.

Expense of Minor Improvements Is Being Charged Into Cost of Maintenance—New Cell Block Is Needed, But It Is Decided to Pass It By This Year.

The forthcoming session of the legislature will have no trouble meeting the demands of the board of control of the Marquette prison, for the reason that there are not going to be any demands. The legislature will be asked for only one special appropriation for the institution, and that will be for but $200, to cover an overdraft. The board will not ask for a dollar for building or for any other special purpose. This record, it is said, will be almost unique for a state institution, as usually there are requests for special appropriations running all the way from a few thousands up to $100,000 or $200,000.

The board and officers of the Marquette prison have adopted the policy of going ahead with minor improvements such as they previously asked special appropriations for and submitting the bills for them as part of the regular current expenses of the institution. These accounts have always been allowed by the auditor general's department. It is the idea of the board that heretofore many special appropriations have been asked when the objects for which they were sought should properly have been charged as part of the current expenses. Big items, such as extensive building operations, would, however, be presented to the legislature for approval, for they would be regarded as outside and beyond current expenses.

New Cell Block Needed.

The board would be warranted in asking the legislature to make an appropriation for a new cell block, as the number of convicts at the prison for several months has exceeded the number of cells available. Some convicts sleep on cots in the corridors. Others from time to time have temporary quarters in the solitary cell block, or "bull pen," where, however, they are about as well off as they would be in regular cells. But the board will let another two-year period, at least, pass before putting the need of another cell block up to the legislature. The Jackson board will ask for a new cell block at the next session. The need for that improvement at the Jackson prison is a pressing one, as the old cell block there is not even healthy, and its continued use has given rise to much criticism. As it will require in the neighborhood of $200,000 to make this improvement, even if the Marquette prison board asked for a new cell block it would hardly get it, as needs of the Jackson prison are much more pressing in this particular, and the legislature would hardly make appropriations for two cell blocks at one session. One reason that the Marquette prison board can refrain from asking the legislature for any extraordinary appropriations is found in the fact that its members and the officers of the prison have been constantly engaged the past eight years in repair work and the physical plant of the institution is now in excellent condition. The only exception to this is the bars, outside the walls. These are badly run down, they being the original frame structures, but the board has decided to get along with them as best can be done for an additional time.

Board of Pardons Here.

The board of pardons will be here today for a two or three days session. The full board is expected and there are some thirty applications for paroles scheduled for a hearing, which, if the usual ratio obtains, will result in paroles being granted to about two-thirds that number of convicts. One of the cases that will be presented to the board will be that of Boney Dixon, who pitched for the Lapeer baseball team last season. Dixon was recently returned to the prison for violation of his parole, he having gotten drunk in spite of his promise to let Brewer alone. The likelihood that Dixon will receive any further clemency is lessened by the fact that he was returned to the prison once before, last summer. He was then given another chance principally because well known Lapeer men pleaded for him urgently, and agreed to interest themselves in keeping him straight.
