The output of profitable ore is limited at present to about 250 tons per day. That this is the proper limit is proved by the fact that to maintain a larger output from January to September 1, 1910, a considerable percentage of unprofitable ore was shipped to the smelter.

Handicap Trap Shoot at Town & Country Club Is Concluded.

The handicap trap shooting tournament which has been in progress at the Town & Country club during the past two months was finished last Saturday. The Dupont Powder company's trophy was won by H. J. The scores of the other contestants who finished their strings of 150 were: Johnson, 90; Fred Bailey, 77; Yshinski, 70. This tournament was the most satisfactory yet held here. There were twenty entries. A number of "hunters" who failed to fill the benches this year found a lot of enjoyment shooting at a steel deer. The deer makes a good target, as it is suspended from a tree and is swung to and fro by means of a long rope. Trap shooting and skiing are indulged in at the club every Saturday afternoon.

DEATH OF OLD RESIDENT.

William Hoar Had Lived in Marquette for Over Forty Years.

William Hoar, a pioneer resident of Marquette, who lived at 911 Pine street, passed away yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock, after a protracted illness, aged seventy-three years. Mr. Hoar had resided in Marquette for over forty years. He was a native of Cornwall, England, and came to this country forty-five years ago, going to Rockland, Ontonagon county, where he was employed as a miner. He left Rockland a year or so after his arrival, and came to Marquette, where he had resided continuously to the time of his death. After coming to Marquette Mr. Hoar took up the painting trade. Thirty years ago he suffered an accident while working on the Merritt residence on East Ridge street. A scaffold on which he was standing gave way and he was thrown a considerable distance to the ground suffering injuries that resulted in his being crippled, and for the remainder of his life he had to get along without the use of his legs. He was energetic and busy, however, despite this misfortune, and for years carried on an extensive chair caning business. He was a well known figure about the city and had many friends. For the past few years the deceased had been confined to his home, because of failing health. He is survived by his widow, a woman also seventy-three years of age, a daughter, Mrs. Annie Anderson, and two sons, Joe, of Detroit, and Fred, of Marquette. The arrangements for the funeral had not been completed last evening.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS.

Season More Favorable Than Usual for Getting Nice Trees.

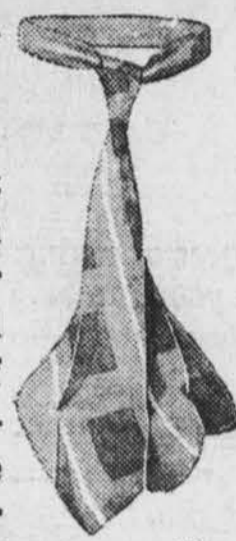

Most everybody can have a Christmas tree this year if he wants one. Although the supply is becoming scarcer each year and the axemen who search them out must go farther and farther into the timber with each succeeding season, the supply is said to be of superior quality, the trees being larger and the foliage much brighter than usual. Another feature of the Christmas tree market is that the prices will remain the same, despite the better quality. The conditions are caused by several factors, one important one being the fact that the dry season has allowed the woodsmen to penetrate far into the swamps that are usually inaccessible until frozen over at a date too near Christmas to permit the getting out of the trees. The ice formed early this year, also, so that some of the swamps filled with water will also be made to yield their trees. The swamp trees are much more desirable on account of their symmetry, and heavy and bright foliage.

Early orders for all other Christmas goods have been placed and the next supplies are expected within the next few days. Holly is always the most desired, its bright red berries and contrasting green leaves making it one of the most beautiful of the Christmas decorative items but mistletoe also meets with a heavy demand. Holly and mistletoe are becoming much scarcer with every passing year and the demand is at the same time increasing so that prices for these are expected to be materially higher this year. The gay Christmas wreaths are somewhat less common than in other seasons.

not disturbed at all and some but for a day or two.

The expense is much less for a family. If a doctor is called to the house the price of a visit should cover the cost for vaccinating the entire family, however large. Should it be done at the office a dollar should cover the cost to a single family, regardless of size. Possibly this is why so little is heard about the new way from the vaccine trusts or the stand-pat doctor. But this is an age of progression all along the line.

When the people know they can be protected from smallpox so simply and so safely and at trifling expense it will be little trouble to confine the scourge to very limited fields. It is but a matter of education and I am glad to pass on what I have so thoroughly tested out for a number of years in common with other progressive medical men.

CIRCUIT COURT IS IN SESSION

December Term Opened Yesterday Forenoon and a Large Amount of Work Was Accomplished—Eleven Made Citizens and Trial of Samuel Robinson Was Begun

Mrs. Hiberling and Ida Jackson Denied Having Kept a Disorderly House, But Former Admits Illicit Sale of Liquor—T. Horn Says "Not Guilty."

Circuit court opened yesterday morning at 9:30 and a considerable amount of business was transacted during the day. Judge Flannigan first took up the calendar of criminal cases and each of the persons charged with an offense against the law was asked to make a plea of guilty or not guilty. The civil calendar was then gone through case by case and entries in accordance with the wishes of the attorneys concerned were made.

Thomas Horn, who has been connected with the Baraga cafe in this city for some time, entered a plea of not guilty to both of the charges of having sold liquor without a license which have been preferred against him, and his trial on one of these cases will be taken up within a day or two. Mrs. Elizabeth Hiberling and Ida Jackson, who are also connected with the Baraga cafe, pleaded not guilty to the charge of keeping a house of ill fame, but Mrs. Hiberling pleaded guilty to having illicitly sold liquor. Margaret Reardon, who was arraigned with Mrs. Hiberling and Ida Jackson on the house of ill fame charge, entered a plea of guilty. The Hiberling-Jackson case was continued until the next term of court at the defendants' request.

John Pakkala, who is accused of committing an assault with intent to kill, pleaded not guilty, as did Samuel Robinson, the Northland homesteader who is alleged to have murdered Clement Schmidt, a neighbor, about two months ago, Michael Lindgren, who stole a fur lined ladies' coat from the Salvation Army barracks in Marquette a week ago, pleaded guilty. Judge Flannigan has not yet pronounced sentence on any of those who entered pleas of guilty.

Eleven Were Naturalized.

After the calendar for the year had been gone over, the examination of candidates for citizenship were taken up and eleven were given final papers. Thirty cases were eligible for hearing but a number of the applicants did not respond when their names were called and in ten instances the examination was continued until next term, the most common reason for continuance being that the applicant was deficient in his knowledge of civil government. Merton Sturges, United States naturalization examiner, of Detroit, assisted in the examination of the candidates. The following were admitted to citizenship: Tones Cotto, Jakko Heinonen, John S. Imbola, Solomon Laakso, John Savola, Leon Guimond, Matti Pikkumaki, Jani Mustajarvi, Isak Nyrrkonen, Wiljon Gustafson and Carl R. Carlstrom.

Robinson Murder Trial.

As soon as citizenship matters had been disposed of, the trial of Samuel Robinson, charged with murder, was taken up, and the impaneling of a jury was begun. This occupied the remainder of the afternoon, and though the attorneys for both sides expressed themselves as content with the panel when court closed, the jury had not yet been sworn. The evidence in this case will be presented today.

Judge Flannigan made the following entries on the calendar during the day: The People vs. Claude Southard; bastardy. Continued. The People vs. John Blood; rape. Nolle.

The People vs. Thomas Horn; Violation of the liquor law. Plea of not guilty entered.

The People vs. John Pakkala; assault with intent to murder. Plea of not guilty entered.

The People vs. Samuel F. Robinson, murder. Plea of not guilty entered.

The People vs. John Primeau and Melvin Evans; larceny. Plea of guilty entered. Sentence suspended.

The People vs. Elizabeth Hiberling, Ida Jackson and Margaret Reardon; keeping house of ill fame. Elizabeth Hiberling and Ida Jackson pleaded not guilty. The wishes of the attorneys concerned were made.

The People vs. Thomas Horn and Elizabeth Hiberling; violation of the liquor law. Thomas Horn pleaded not guilty. Mrs. Hiberling pleaded guilty.

The People vs. Michael Lindgren; larceny. Plea of guilty entered.

The People vs. Gusta Ekola; saloon open on Sunday. Pleaded guilty.

The People vs. Mary Houtala; disorderly, third offense. Pleaded guilty.
