An investigation of alleged "draw-back" frauds at San Francisco is in progress. Jail Terms for Bath-Tub Men. Washington, Dec. 30.—The attorneys for some of the individuals indicted as members of the so-called "bath-tub trust" for alleged violation of the anti-trust act came to the department of justice today in the interest of their clients, who in the event of their conviction and of the court's acceptance of the declared policy of Attorney General Wickersham to "stand for no more fines" are threatened with jail sentences.

After an hour's conference with W. S. Kenyon, Mr. Wickersham's assistant, the lawyers went away. They refused to say a word as to the purpose of the result of the conference; but it was authoritatively stated at the department that they had been given no reason to believe that the attorney general would consent to the acceptance of a plea of guilty and the imposition of fines rather than imprisonment. They were given to understand, it was said, that jail sentences will be insisted upon.

HECKEL IN LINE FOR COLONELCY

Houghton the Prospective Headquarters of the Third Regiment, National Guard.

It is probable that within three years the colonelcy of the Third regiment Michigan National Guard, will come to Houghton and with it the headquarters of the regiment.

Colonel J. N. Cox, adjutant general of the Michigan National Guard, has been advised of the fact that Colonel George B. McCaughn of Owosso, now commander of the regiment, expects to locate in Los Angeles, Calif.

Lieutenant Colonel John D. Boucher of Chgoeyan will succeed to the McCaughn eagles and it is understood that this veteran officer does not desire to hold the commission for more than two years.

Promotion by Seniority. This apparently rapid promotion comes by seniority, as far as the line is concerned.

Major Heckel entered the Michigan National Guard as a private in the Houghton company eight or ten years ago. He was a sergeant when Captain Irving Shields retired some seven years ago and he was elected to the command of the company, the arbitrary rule of promotion by seniority not having been in force then.

Mining News. ANACONDA-BUTTE BALLAKLAVA. Chief Counsel for Anaconda Issues Statement with Reference to Controversy.

C. F. Kelley chief counsel for the Anaconda Copper Mining company, has issued a statement with reference to the controversy between that company and the Butte & Ballaklava, concerning which Mr. Kelley says there have been numerous statements purporting to have the sanction of certain officials of the Ballaklava company.

Mr. Kelley says: "When operations were begun on the Ballaklava claim it was apparent that any workings which would be made from the Ballaklava shaft would encounter the large, well-known and well defined Mountain Chief vein aperting in the Mountain Chief claim north of the Ballaklava claim, and for the purpose of fully advising the Ballaklava company of the position which would be taken by the Anaconda company, the officials of the Ballaklava company were told that they would encounter this ore body and were notified it was the property of the Anaconda company and that the Anaconda company would so contend."

Mr. Kelley says that to avoid litigation in an endeavor to settle the question of the ownership of this ore body without expense or controversy, the Anaconda company proposed a plan for the prosecution of development work to demonstrate the position of the apex of the ore body and the ownership of the vein.

Under its suit the Anaconda company obtained a restraining order which was in effect a complete injunction against the Ballaklava and it has been in force since that time. Mr. Kelley says that the hearing on the application for an injunction pending the ultimate determination of the rights of the parties has been postponed from time to time at the request of the Ballaklava company and finally at the request of T. J. Walsh, chief counsel for the Ballaklava company the court set the case for July 23, 1911. Mr. Kelley's statement concludes as follows:

"There is no expectation that there will be a compromise in the case, as it is not believed by the Anaconda company that the case is one which will permit of a compromise, waiving the claims of the Anaconda company to any part of the ore body in question or to the recovery of damages for ore which has been extracted by the Ballaklava company."

The Anaconda company has at all times been ready to proceed in court to the question of damage for the extraction of ore. It has also announced to representatives of the Ballaklava company its willingness to submit the entire controversy to arbitration provided that such arbitration should be upon conditions and governed by stipulation which would make the same effective.

The position of the Anaconda company throughout the entire matter has been one of fairness and respect for litigation was had only when it was absolutely necessary to protect the rights of the company.

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS. The Eureka shaft of Arizona Commercial has reached the 1000-foot point, and as soon as the necessary sump is made a station will be established. The sump will be carried down about thirty feet in order that later on sinking of the shaft will not interfere with running the crosscut on the tenth level.

The Butte Alex Scott company has started slipping ore to the East Butte smelter in accordance with agreement recently reached. The ore is shipped from 6 to 15 per cent copper. One bodies on the 1,200, 1,500 and 1,800-foot levels are being blocked out. The company is doing a lot of development work on these levels.

The Mowick will close the year 1910 with a production well up to 1,000,000 pounds of copper, and all things considered it will have been made at a minimum cost. No. 6 shaft is being pushed down to command stretches of ground which may be said to be the richest in the mine, and should, with depth and drift extension later on, improve materially in copper contents. At the stammy mills changes are under way in handling the waste sands, and this will effect some saving in the milling.

At the Wolverine she shift sinking on the Osceola ledge should, in special nature, and as it is going down in ground the foot on lode shows no particular significance is attached to this. The value of this formation in Wolverine lodes will not be known until it has been drilled upon and proved by regular opening.

Had Scratched for 28 Years. Till It Got to be Second Nature—Suffering Endless and Without Relief—Cuticura Made Skin as Clear as a Baby's.

"If I had known of the Cuticura Remedies fifty years ago it would have saved me two hundred dollars and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly over my body and got under my nails. The scales would slip off of me all the time and my suffering was endless and without relief. A thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man but feel rich to be free of what some of the doctors called leprosy, some eczema, psoriasis, and I feel free from all of the scars and a year ago and I feel covered with the scales but by using Cuticura I was soon as clear as any person ever was. This was over twenty-two years ago and for a long time, through force of habit, I used to rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch, but this no purpose—I was well. I had scratched twenty-eight years and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. Dennis Downing, Waterbury, Vt., November 27, 1909."

J. Charland and Mrs. C. Charland and daughter Claire, have gone to Milwaukee, Chicago and St. Louis, where they will visit Miss Emma Charland, who some time ago entered St. Joseph's convent. From there they will go to Kansas City, where they will visit relatives and friends.
Basketball Next Week—The first inter-city basketball game of the season will be played Thursday, Jan. 5, at Legion Hall. The K. of C. team will meet the Ishpeming Y. M. C. A. and a good game is expected, as both teams have shown up well in practice. The game will be called at 8 o'clock, and will be followed by dancing until 12. Trombly's orchestra will play.
Will Be a Holiday—As New Year's Day falls on Sunday this year, Monday will be observed as a legal holiday throughout the state. There will be no publication of the Mining Journal and business generally will be suspended. All of the meat markets will be closed and most of the stores. The Peter White public library will be closed all day Sunday and Monday.
Eagles Dance Monday—Marquette's social, Patriotic Order of Eagles, will give their annual ball at Fraternity Hall on Monday night. The Eagles in the past have established an enviable reputation for enjoyable dancing parties and this year's function promises to be no whit less enjoyable. The committee has provided elaborate decorations and no effort is being spared to make the party a complete success.
Touched Zero Mark—For the first time this winter the thermometers in Marquette went down to the zero mark Thursday night, following the heavy fall of snow early in the evening. The lowest temperature recorded by the weather bureau thermometer was zero, but private thermometers registered from two to five below the zero mark. A farmer in town yesterday reported that it was ten below at Chocoma. The sun came out bright yesterday forenoon and the temperature rose to 9 above at noon. It was altogether the coldest day of the winter.
Salvation Army Services—A half night of prayer will be observed at the Salvation Army barracks this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. The sermon subject at the Sunday morning service will be "What God Cannot Do," and in the evening the topic will be "The Unpardonable Sin." Sunday school will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Next Wednesday evening a series of revival services will be begun, and Adjutant Stager, of Ishpeming, will be in charge of the opening meeting.
Death of Felix O'Hegan—John McMillan, corner Fourth and Rock streets, received a telegram yesterday from Dr. James McQuillen, of Superior, announcing the death of Felix O'Hegan in that city. Mr. O'Hegan was one of the pioneer residents of this city, having here about two years ago to make his home with Dr. McQuillen, his brother-in-law. He owned the O'Hegan block at the corner of Baraga avenue and Lake street. Mr. McMillan is a nephew of the deceased and the remains will be brought to his home on the early train Monday morning. The funeral will be held from St. Peter's cathedral at 9 o'clock Monday.Count de Beaufort at Bijou—The romance of Count De Beaufort has a little more than passing interest to people of his locality inasmuch as the family of his wife at one time lived in Ishpeming. On January 4, the Bijou theatre will display 1,000 feet of moving pictures, showing the career of the Count in all its phases since he came to this country. There are one or two pictures and scenes which, it is said, will prove in the nature of a surprise to Marquette people. This picture play is an extra and will be added to the usual program at the theatre. This is the first time "high society" has ever been displayed in motion pictures, and as the theme has a touch of local color, the people of Marquette are likely to show much interest in the feature.
INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO.

STERILIZATION, NOT FILTRATION
Nature of Water Purification Process Soon to Be Put in Service Is Misunderstood.
Many Marquette people have the idea that the water purification plant that will be put into operation within a very few days is a system of filtration, similar to that which is proving unsatisfactory at Escanaba. Such is not the case at all. The Marquette water is purified by sterilization or oxidation, which is no more the same as filtration than is boiling the water the same as filtration. There is also a general impression that the treatment will make the water hard and "limey," which is also erroneous, according to the statements of scientists who know the theory and practice of the operation of the system.
The plant about to be put into operation here does not contemplate filtration of the water but simply treatment with hypochlorite of lime. The action is simple disinfection. With regard to the chemistry of the process, there is some difference of opinion as to whether the bacteria are killed by chlorine or whether the chlorine liberates oxygen that kills the bacteria, but in either case the result is practically complete oxidation. There is no doubt, say the authorities, that when hypochlorites are added to water or sewage containing bacteria, that a large proportion of the bacteria are killed.
The plant involves a series of tanks in which the hypochlorite of lime is dissolved and the water from the lake is treated with the solution in the well at the inner end of the intake. Ten pounds of the powder will be used for every million gallons of water. The hypochlorite solution will flow into the well continuously, the flow being regulated to correspond to the amount of water being consumed. In this way it is expected that all of the water will be subjected to the same strength of treatment.
It is expected that there may at first be a "limey" taste, and possibly a taste of chlorine, until the flow of the solution into the well is properly regulated. It is also expected that the solution will act as a cleanser on the interior of the water pipes, which may make the water dirty for a few days. Once the system has been in operation a few days, however, it is expected that no one will notice any difference in the water and that it will be in every respect the same as at present, except that all organic matter it now contains will have been destroyed.
Results in Other Places.
The system is now in use at Milwaukee, Jersey City, Quincy, Ill., and several other cities and everywhere it is reported to be giving good results, even where the percentage of contamination is much higher than the water used in this city. The use of hypochlorite in the new swimming pool at Purdue university was experimented with some time ago, and the results are epitomized in a recent issue of the Water Works Journal.
Attention was called to the swimming pool on account of some epidemics of colds and sore throats which seemed to come from the use of the pool. Tests showed that the quality of the water was anything but sanitary, even though changed twice a week. The water was analyzed every day for a week in its usual condition, and similar tests were made the following week, the contents of the pool being treated with hypochlorite.
The total percentage of reduction of the number of bacteria was 99.8. The removal of colon bacilli, which were always present in the water after the pool had been used by bathers, was complete in every case after the use of hypochlorite. As to the physical conditions of the water during the test, it is interesting to note that there were no visible effects whatever noticed by the bathers or by those who were conducting the experiment. The appearance of the water was the same as without the use of the hypochlorite. In conclusion the article says:
"From the nature of this experiment and from the reports of experiments on sewage and one or two water supplies, it is believed that the hypochlorite, being used, the writer does not hesitate to prophesy that in the near future the hypochlorite will be very extensively used in the purification of suspicious and polluted waters."

ASK FOR NEW TRIAL.
Attorneys for Samuel Robinson Hope for a Re-Hearing of Case.
Probate Judge W. T. Potter and W. S. Hill, attorneys for Samuel Robinson Hope, have completed a motion for a new trial, which will be presented to Judge Flannigan at the earliest moment possible. The attorneys believe that the court was in error in its charge to the jury, after the evidence in Robinson's trial had been closed, and it is principally on that ground that the motion for a second trial will be based. Inasmuch as the conviction for manslaughter amounts to an acquittal on the charge of murder, it is pointed out that Robinson has nothing to lose and everything to gain if he can persuade the court to grant him a second opportunity to prove his innocence.
Robinson was a homesteader living near Northland and early in September he shot and killed Clement Schmidt, while the two with others were engaged in a drunken orgy at Robinson's home. He was indicted for murder, and making a plea of the shooting having been done in self defense, the jury convicted him of manslaughter.

A MAINE HUNTRESS.
Mrs. Walter Jenkins of Portland is a woman to whom the lure of the Maine woods is strong. She has just returned from her twenty-third season in the autumn forest with a record of twenty-eight deer to her credit. Mrs. Jenkins shot her first deer when a girl of fifteen while in the woods in search of partridges in her home town of Gilead. Mrs. Jenkins during her twenty-three years of hunting experience has tried many varieties of hunting costumes and has finally settled upon what she deems the most practical. She wears in the woods a stout, gray sweater, a pair of very full bloomers, the stout huntsman's stockings and a shoe similar in shape to a moccasin and waterproof with top of skin and vamp and soles of heavy rubber.—Kennebec Journal.

WOMAN'S HOME PROJECT FAVORED

Members of W. C. T. U. Pleased That Mrs. E. N. Brieting Will Accept Presidency.

The Ishpeming members of the Women's Christian Temperance union met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Carlson, on West Superior street, and Miss Maggie Walz, who is promoting the Women's Home, College and Sanatorium in Marquette, was present. She read a letter from Mrs. E. N. Brieting of Marquette, expressing her willingness to accept the presidency of the proposed home, Miss Walz, Mrs. J. A. Kelly, president of the Ishpeming union, and Mrs. I. Lindgren, treasurer, went to Marquette yesterday to confer with Mrs. Brieting on business pertaining to the home.

Miss Walz expressed the opinion that the project will be successfully launched. She said that it has the endorsement of the National and State Women's Christian Temperance organizations and that many influential people have expressed a willingness to help it along.

The Marquette banks have been designated as depositories for the fund. "The Hotel Superior is well suited for the purposes of the home," Miss Walz said. "Besides the hotel building and two other structures, there are twenty acres of land. The main building is seven stories high, with 150 rooms. The owners of the property have offered, at the consideration of $500, to turn over the option duly signed to the promoters for five years. They have gratuitously given to the cause all but $30,000 of the value of this property. A large amount of the $30,000 has already been promised. "Any deserving girl or woman, sixteen years of age or over, may enter this institution and besides being provided with a good home, will be taught the English language, domestic science, laundering, sewing, dressmaking, nursing, economics and sanitation, and there will also be a department for the training of housemaids, ladies' maids and visiting nurses."

Mrs. Mary B. Wilson, superintendent of the National Women's Christian Temperance union, has written Miss Walz that she intends to spend her vacation the coming summer in Marquette. She has asked Miss Walz for information concerning the proposed home, so that she might present it to the national organization at its next convention. Miss Walz believes that Mrs. Wilson will be successful in securing substantial aid from the national organization.

H. F. Browne, president of the Eastern Michigan Press club, has invited Miss Walz to give a talk on the proposed home to the members of that organization at its meeting, to be held in Detroit on Jan. 19 and 20. Mr. Browne, in his invitation to Miss Walz, states that he is much interested in the proposition and is prepared to aid in every way possible.

Miss Walz has just been advised that the National Women's Christian Temperance union is to have headquarters at Lansing for the purpose of directing a campaign for state wide prohibition.

LIVELY BOWLING CONTESTS.

City Team, Organized by F. Wade, Now Claims Championship of Ishpeming.

Ishpeming bowlers are watching with much interest the work of Wade's team, which claims the city championship as a result of recent victories over the Hematites and Superiors. By defeating the Hematites, the members of the City team won a turkey supper, and if they win the next three games in the nine-game series with the Superiors they will also have another supper coming Wednesday night the City team defeated the Hematites by 292 pins, and Thursday night it won from the Superiors by eighty-four pins. In the previous contest between the City and Superior teams the former won by eight pins, giving them a lead in the six games of ninety-four pins.

Many of the bowlers are wondering how Wade and Saline will come out in their fifteen-game series with Elmer Mitchell and Clyde DeFrance, of Negaunee, the first five games of which were rolled here this week, the Negaunee men leading by forty-seven pins. The second five games will be bowled Wednesday night at DeFrance's alley in Negaunee. Next week the league games will be resumed and there will also be a number of contests between the participants in the Finnish cup series.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Miss Margaret Fitzpatrick and Emma Ruez will leave Monday evening for Chicago, where they will enter St. Joseph's hospital to study with a view to becoming trained nurses.

The men of the Ishpeming Ski club will have a tramp to the clubhouse Tuesday evening. All men skiers are invited. The start will be made from the First street cut at 7:30 o'clock.

At the Salisbury M. E. church tomorrow morning, the subject will be "A Friendly Interrogation for the New Year." In the evening the theme will be "The Past and The Future." There will be special singing by the choir.

The members of the Sunday school of the National mine will hold their annual festival New Year's afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, in the chapel.

A musical program will be given this evening at the Salvation Army barracks. After the entertainment coffee and cake will be served and at 11 o'clock there will be a "watch night" service, continuing until the beginning of the New Year.

The basketball game between the Guild Hall team of Marquette and the Ishpeming Y. M. C. A. five in this city was not played last evening, as scheduled. Because of the failure of the electric service, the match was declared off until this evening.

Miss Jeanette Tonneson entertained a number of her girl friends yesterday afternoon at her parents' home. An interesting feature was the announcement by her mother of Miss Tonneson's engagement to Dr. Miles Main of Gwin.

Miss Minnie Roberts entertained a number of her young friends Thursday evening in honor of Miss Signe Egan of Detroit, who is home on a visit to her folks for the holidays. A dainty lunch was served and the young folks spent an enjoyable evening.

The fire department was called out yesterday afternoon on account of a blaze in the home of Dr. S. S. Smith, corner of Lake and Bancroft streets.

The fire was in the kitchen and the damage was trifling. The blaze was extinguished before the department arrived.

Fred Matson, a carpenter employed at the American mine, had his left hand so badly crushed yesterday afternoon that amputation will probably be necessary. There was something wrong with the rollers over which the cable travels and he was climbing up to adjust them, when he slipped, his hand going between the rollers. He was accompanied to the Ishpeming hospital by Dr. R. E. Spinks, the physician and surgeon at the mine.

The funeral of the late John Kalink was held yesterday morning from St. John's church. Rev. J. A. Keel, the pastor, who conducted the services, paid the deceased, who had been in the parish for the past thirty-five years, a tribute. Mr. Kalink had many friends in Ishpeming. He came to America from Holland in 1866, locating in Ontonagon. After remaining there for a few years he moved to Marquette, remaining there a short time, when he came to Ishpeming, where he had resided continuously until he passed away.

The street cars, electric lights and gas plants were out of commission yesterday afternoon on account of a break down at the power house. The street cars went out of commission until shortly before 3 o'clock, but the gas plant was in operation until about 5 o'clock, when all of the gas lights in the city went out. Most of the business houses were in total darkness until kerosene oil lamps and candles were brought into use. The electric light office and power house were besieged with telephone calls from people making inquiries about the service.

The use of electricity for light and power in the United States has more than doubled in the last eight years.—Washington Times.

A SIMPLE SAFEGUARD FOR MOTHERS.

Mrs. D. Gilkeson, 326 Ingles Ave., Youngstown, Ohio, gained wisdom by experience. "My little girl had a severe cold and coughed almost continuously. My sister recommended Foley's Honey and Tar. The first dose I gave her relieved the inflammation in her throat and after using only one bottle her throat and lungs were entirely free from inflammation. Since then I always keep a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar in the house." Accept no substitutes. The People's Drug Store.

MEXICO'S REVOLUTION.

Any American who has been down in Mexico will bet his money on old Diaz. He has the army, he has the treasury, he has the brains, and he has the nerve. Diaz is a stiff tyrant; it is not justice to him to suspect him of insatiable greed. In making the machinery of his one-man government run smoothly, he has been cruel in sending his steam roller over tens of thousands of miserable creatures. But he is strong. All foreigners are for him. Pretty much all Mexico, too, because he has kept his country from the anarchy which is epidemic among Latin-Americans.—New York Press.

My attention was attracted to Foley's Kidney Remedy and I am glad to say after using this wonderful medicine I am no longer bothered in any way by my old enemy lumbago." The People's Drug Store.

STRICT RULES IN FORCE AT THE NEW STATION

It Will Not Be Allowed to Become a Loafing Place—Smoking Is Prohibited.

Agent W. L. Bedford, of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railway company, who has general charge of the new union station, has received many complaints on his determination not to permit the depot to become a loafing place.

The order against smoking in the waiting rooms recalls an incident that occurred at the old depot many years ago, when Newman was the agent in charge.

Upon the arrival of the general manager at his office in Chicago he set down and wrote Mr. Newman a letter, advising him that he had been in the city expressing regret that he had not been able to visit with him.

Mr. Bedford and Dave Murphy, the baggage man, both have been invested with police authority and they intend to use it in the event loungers bother them at the new station.

Since the transfer of the telephone operations to the new station, some of the clerks in the freight department have advised duties to perform.

Governor Warner Paroles Convict Raymond Holzhey

Most Talked of and Written About Prisoner in Michigan Is to Be Given a Chance in Outside World.

WAS SENT TO MARQUETTE PRISON FOR LIFE TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO.

Is Regarded as Example of a Man With a Bad Past Who Has Undergone a Complete Regeneration—His Fine Qualities of Mind—Many Influential Men Have Been Interested in His Case.

"Of course while Governor Warner's kindly act of commutation of my sentence and paroling me has not been quite unexpected still I had built no great expectations upon the possibility of my release. To one in my situation, building castles in the air is a rather unhealthy occupation, they are so prone to come crashing down about one's ears, so I gave up that practice years ago, making up my mind to meet both good or evil fortune with equanimity. "Without the slightest desire for it, much notoriety has come my way in the past, and the things said and written about me were usually a curious mixture of fact and fancy. Because my case had somewhat unusual and peculiar features about it, all sorts of constructions were placed upon it, and me, to explain the why and wherefore of my actions, but never the right one, for that was far too simple and obvious. I was pictured as a bold, bad man, a would-be dime novel hero, and what not. But the bald truth at the root of my troubles was merely a physical nervous breakdown at the critical age of adolescence, a depressed and highly morbid state of mind, with the normal brain and nervous system leading for the time being to actions which were wholly at variance with my normal self, before and since. Of course justice, as yet, is not trained to see underlying causes and motives. It takes the evil deed and ascribes the most sinister motives which will best aid conviction, and lets it go at that. I was not in a condition then to explain matters, having but a confused realization of the facts myself, and moreover, even if properly set forth, my explanation would have met with nothing but ridicule as a disingenuous device to escape punishment. "Twenty-one years have passed away since then, and it is gratifying to note that at last the world has come to the conclusion that crime is often the result of causes and conditions of which the transgressor himself is the victim, and that, on the whole, his reform and redemption is better than the vengeful punishment and retaliation of the supposed good old times, which too often managed to transform the chance offender into a habitual one—evildoer and vindictive. "As for myself, I have been treated with the utmost fairness during the last four administrations, which cover the last twenty years. I have been the prison librarian and photographer for about seventeen years, respectively in the Michigan and Marquette institutions, and who has spent the past twenty-one years of his life within its four walls, will soon enjoy comparative liberty, as Governor Warner has included him among a number of convicts to whom he has extended the executive clemency in the closing days of his term. He has commuted Holzhey's sentence and granted him a parole. Word to this effect was received here unofficially yesterday morning from one of the Detroit newspapers, and the parole papers are expected within a few days. They will probably be received in time to be a New Year's gift for Holzhey and an augury of the brighter and better days in store for him. "A Regenerated Man. Holzhey is regarded as one of the most striking examples of a man who has undergone physical, mental and moral regeneration in prison. This can be furnished by the history of modern penology, and his case has been an interesting study for all persons who have become familiar with it. Holzhey's commitment to the Marquette prison was the culmination of a series of desperate and daring crimes in Michigan and in the upper peninsula in the summer of 1889, culminating in a murder of a stage coach passenger whom he had held up, along with others. "The early years of Holzhey's prison career were not out of keeping with the desperate conduct that brought him a sentence of life imprisonment. He was turbulent and prone to unruly conduct, regarded by all the prison officials as a dangerous man. On one occasion he justified his reputation here by seizing a fellow convict in one of the cell wings and threatening his life with a knife if he was approached or in any way molested, a highly dramatic situation that was summarily ended when Warden Tompkins, then in charge of the prison, with a marvelous rifle shot disabled Holzhey and freed day and will not be known until his parole is received. He will be on probation for an extended period, no doubt. He will not be free to leave the state unless he gets special permission to do so, and will be required to make monthly reports, as is the case with other paroled prisoners.

Story of His Career.

Holzhey's criminal career reads like a yellow-backed dime novel. The crime for which he was committed to prison for life was perpetrated on Aug. 26, 1889, when he, single-handed, held up the stage running between Lake Gogebic and Gogebic station in the upper peninsula and fatally shot one of the passengers who attempted to resist him. Five days later he was arrested at Republic and was returned to Gogebic county, where he was committed to prison for life on Nov. 15, of the same year, by Judge Williams.

The Gogebic stage robbery was only one of many of Holzhey's crimes and when he was at liberty he held the entire upper peninsula in terror as much as ever did Jesse James or the Younger brothers in the west, with both of whom he has often been compared. He operated in northern Wisconsin and the western part of the upper peninsula and his crimes included train robberies, hold-ups, burglaries and murder. All of his exploits showed sensational fearlessness and daring.

The Lake Gogebic stage which was robbed contained four heavy banknotes and A. G. Fleischman, of Belleville, the last of whom was killed. When they had proceeded about two miles on their journey to the railroad station, a man suddenly stepped out from the bushes, with a revolver in each hand, and said, "Donate, I'm collecting." One of the Chicago men replied, "All right, here's mine," at the same time drawing a revolver. He fired but missed the robber. The robber then opened fire and emptied both his revolvers, slightly wounding one of the Chicago men and fatally wounding Fleischman. The team then ran away with the balance of the party and the robber went through Fleischman's pockets, getting $37 in money, his pocketbook and a watch and chain. He then made his escape.

Captured at Republic.

Sheriff Dave Foley, of Gogebic county, now head of the Oliver Iron Mining company's police force, at once organized a posse and started in pursuit of the robber, whose identity was then unknown. He was followed as far east as the west fork of the Ontonagon river, about thirty miles from the scene of the hold-up, where the trail was lost. A few days later Holzhey showed up at Republic, having walked nearly all the distance from Lake Gogebic and registered at the hotel under the name of Henry Plant. Meantime, the news of the bold robbery had been disseminated to every part of the upper peninsula and Holzhey's identity was suspected by the landlord as soon as he entered the hotel. Wm. O'Brien, the landlord, expressed his suspicions to Deputy Sheriff John Glode and Justice of the Peace E. E. Weiser, and it was decided to keep a close watch on the stranger.

Saturday morning (the crime having been committed on Monday) the suspect

The robbery of a Milwaukee & North-ern train at Beaver, near Ellis Junction, was his next exploit. He made a pretty good haul there, the passengers being too much frightened to make any resistance as he went through the train. After this affair Holzhey worked his way through the woods to Keshona, Wisconsin, an old Indian whom he met to disguise what little loose change he had, and also lightening the purse of another man whom he encountered on the way to Shawano.

It was only a few days later that he turned up at Hartland Corners, a little town near Shawano. About breakfast time, just as Solomon Kahn had opened his store and with great politeness he asked the merchant to hand him his gold watch, the money in the drawer and other trifles that a person might have use for while sojourning in a strange country. Following this episode the pursuit for Holzhey became so warm that the young man took to the woods and was not heard from for some time. It was supposed he had left for Montana until about a month before the Gogebic stage robbery, when the robbery of a Wisconsin Central train occurred near Cadott. Holzhey started to go through a Milwaukee sleeper, but after robbing the conductor and porter the latter alarmed the passengers and the robber fled, firing a parting shot at the porter but missing him. His last and most desperate crime, the robbing of the Lake Gogebic stage and the murder of Fleischman, was committed a short time later.
