

DICKINSON RETIRES FROM THE CABINET

Mr. Taft's Democratic Secretary of War Resigns His Portfolio and Will Be Succeeded in Office Next Monday by Henry L. Stimson of New York.

It Also Is Announced That ex-Congressman Millington Is to Be Treasurer at Gotham—One Appointee a Roosevelt Man; the Other an "Old Guardsman."

Washington, May 12.—Secretary of War Jacob M. Dickinson of Tennessee, the Democratic member of the cabinet, has resigned. Henry L. Stimson of New York, the recently defeated Republican candidate for governor of the state, has been given the war portfolio.

In the letters exchanged between the president and Mr. Dickinson, no reason other than of pressing private affairs, is given for the secretary's retirement. The president will confer with Mr. Stimson in New York tomorrow or Sunday, but the new secretary of war will not take the oath of office until the return of the president to the capital on Monday.

Mr. Dickinson will go to his Tennessee home. He expects to devote his attention to business and will not return to the practice of law, in which he was engaged when the president appointed him secretary of war in March, 1907. He is the second member of Mr. Taft's cabinet to retire to private life. Secretary of the Interior Ballinger having severed his connection with the president's official family only a few months ago.

Another Important Appointment.

Coincident with the announcement of Mr. Dickinson's retirement came that of the appointment of C. S. Millington of Herkimer, N. Y., to be assistant treasurer of the United States in New York. Mr. Stimson was the Roosevelt candidate for governor, while Mr. Millington was a former member of the house from the Twenty-seventh New York district and is a close friend of Vice President Sherman and other leaders of the "Old Guard" in the Empire state, having succeeded Mr. Sherman in the house when the latter became vice president.

In two appointments, official Washington found food for speculation, and many politicians thought they saw therein the first step of the administration to straighten out the tangled skein of New York politics.

No effort was made by the president to conceal the satisfaction with which he viewed the appointment of Mr. Stimson. Not only has he the highest personal regard for the incoming member of his cabinet, but he is well aware that the appointment will be acceptable to a large faction of the Republican party in New York.

Root and Others Consulted.

While the selection of Mr. Stimson was made after only a few days' consideration, Senator Root and others were consulted and gave their approval. Former President Roosevelt was not called into conference, there is no question that he must approve the naming to such an important post of a man for whom he worked tooth and nail in the recent governorship campaign.

The position of assistant treasurer in New York, which has been given to the Sherman-Barnes-Woodruff faction, while not so important as that given to the Roosevelt-Parsons faction, is believed here to be a move in the direction of peace that will count for much in the future. Friends of the president were pleased tonight over the political outlook.

Officially, Washington tonight disensed with relish the resignation of the secretary of war. Unofficially, also, there were those who found other reasons than that given in his letter.

Disagreement Hinted.

Mr. Dickinson is a Democrat. His presence in the cabinet of a Republican president has not been looked upon with favor by some of Mr. Taft's political advisers, who were of the opinion that the office of secretary of war should be held by someone of the president's own party and who also pointed out that Mr. Dickinson might prove a source of embarrassment when the 1912 campaign began. Naturally, Mr. Dickinson also found the discussion of party measures in the cabinet often a personal embarrassment.

There were others who thought that Mr. Dickinson had incurred some criticism by his conduct of the war office. As was pointed out recently, there have been reports of friction over the Mexican situation between the state department and the war department. In some quarters it was being asserted that Secretary of State Knox was being overshadowed by Mr. Dickinson and there were reports that the former contemplated resigning, but these were met by official denials. There has been no hint that Mr. Dickinson contemplated retirement.

Two New York Members Now.

The appointment of Mr. Stimson will give New York two members of the cabinet, Attorney General Wickesham being resident of that state.

Secretary Dickinson, on May 5, wrote the president as follows: "Dear Mr. President: When I offered my resignation, it seemed that peace would be restored in Mexico. The situation is now so alarming that it might be unwise to make a change in the office I hold. While I have no right to withdraw my resignation and, if I could, would not take a step that would embarrass you, I want to say that in considering it please ignore all personal reasons advanced by me to support this and be guided alone by the consideration of public interest. This is not to embarrass you further, but, in view of the gravity of the situation, to put myself entirely at the public service, regardless of personal considerations. Respectfully, Jacob M. Dickinson."

Stimson a "Trust Buster."

Mr. Stimson was born in New York Sept. 21, 1867. He graduated from Yale in 1888 and from the Harvard law school in 1890. He was associated with Senator Root of New York in the practice of law and in 1906 was appointed United States attorney for the Southern district of New York. He resigned that position after three years' service, but became special counsel for the government in the prosecution of the sugar trust. As predecessor a Confederate Veteran.

Secretary Dickinson was born in Mississippi, most of his life in Tennessee and was appointed to the cabinet from Chicago. He is sixty years old. In the Civil war he served with the Mississippi volunteers. He was educated in the University of Nashville, the University of Liepzig, Saxony, and the Sorbonne, Paris. He was sworn in as secretary of war March 12, 1909, previously having been general counsel of the Illinois Central railroad, with offices in Chicago. In that case, he won the admiration of Attorney General Wickesham as Mr. Taft.

FARMER N. P. HULL WAXES INDIGNANT

"Insulting Inference" at Reciprocity Hearing Arouses Michigan Granger's Ire.

Washington, May 12.—Indignant at the "insulting inference" that the farmers of the country had acted improperly in employing lawyers to advise them in their fight against Canadian reciprocity, N. P. Hull, head of the Michigan grangers, who has been before the senate finance committee this week, today notified the committee that he would have the attorneys of the grangers appear before the committee next week to answer any questions.

Senator Stone the Culprit.

Senator Stone had interrupted the committee's public hearing on the reciprocity bill to ask Messrs. Allen and Graham, lawyers of New York, to subpoena to appear before the committee and bring with them copies of the literature they had distributed in opposition to reciprocity. His action was supplemented yesterday by a newspaper article questioning the identity of the clients of these attorneys.

"I'll tell you something about that," exclaimed Mr. Hull. "We farmers expect to fight with lawyers, and it is the first time that I ever knew a senate committee questioning the rights of a body appearing before it to pay lawyers to furnish technical knowledge about tariff rates. That's what these lawyers did for us." Mr. Hull said the lawyers had been employed by the farmers for years, upon occasion.

Canadian reciprocity would cost the farmers of the Northwest $40,000,000 annually, according to A. H. Wilkinson, a Minnesota farmer. The price of Michigan States farm products would shrink that much, he declared.

Ex-Governor Warner a Witness.

Most of the afternoon was occupied by testimony given by the bill by farmers from Ohio and Michigan. Former Governor Warner, of Michigan, introduced as the "farmer governor," declared the farmers should have protection the same as the manufacturers.

Dr. L. S. Sawyer, of the Michigan Agricultural college; C. E. Bassett, secretary of the Michigan Horticultural society, and J. R. Waterbury, formerly of the Michigan legislature, were among those opposed to the bill.

STARTLING CHARGE MADE AT OTTAWA

Prominent Canadian Alleges Corruption in the Creation of the Cement Merger.

Ottawa, May 12.—That over $12,000,000 (par value) of the Canadian cement companies passed into the hands of one man and his associates in the creation of the Canadian cement merger was the extraordinary charge made to the private bills committee today in a letter written by Sir Sanford Fleming, one of the most prominent men in Canada.

Sir Sanford is president of the International Portland Cement company of Hull and until recently was honorary president of the Canada Cement company, which is the title under which eleven of the leading cement companies of Canada were merged two years ago, with a capital of $30,000,000. The letter was a protest against proposed legislation authorizing the merger to substitute $11,000,000 of 7 per cent stock for $11,000,000 of 7 per cent cumulative preference stock. The cement merger was put through by Wm. Aitken, a young Canadian financier.

Sir Sanford's letter states that at a meeting of the Canadian cement companies, three documents were laid before it. One was his resignation, another a letter to Sir Wilfred Laurier, asking for an investigation, and the third a circular letter he had sent to the directors, in the latter will be found evidence to establish that an extraordinary misappropriation of capital has been effected through an intermediary agency at the very inception of the Canadian Cement company, and that such appropriation was effected by deliberate artifice under the guise of law," wrote Sir Sanford.

Bradstreet's bank clearings report for the week ending May 11 shows an aggregate of $2,963,190,000, as against $3,181,515,000 in the corresponding week last year.

WANTS ARMY PUT ON FIRM WAR FOOTING

Major General Wood, Chief of Staff, Outlines a Congressional Committee a Scheme for a Permanent Reserve Corps of 270,000 Trained Soldiers.

Without Some Such Plan, He Declares, an Outbreak of Hostilities Would Find the Nation in Sorry Straits—Disarmament a "Dream of Dreamers," He Says.

Washington, May 12.—By spending from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 a year the United States can have a permanent reserve corps of 270,000 trained soldiers, thus putting the regular army on a strong war basis, according to Major General Wood, chief of staff, who before the house committee on military affairs today opposed the bill changing the term of enlistment from three to five years.

General Wood said that his plan in seven years would put the full reserve strength of 270,000 within call of the war department. Characterizing disarmament as "a dream of dreamers," he urged the adoption of some practical scheme for putting the country's establishment on a stronger war basis, notwithstanding the persistent movement for disarmament and permanent peace through arbitration.

"We are never going to have time again in case of a war to train men for service after an emergency call," said General Wood. "We must have a reserve or we are going to get thumped the first year or two. It is my belief, however, that such a reserve force should be organized on the simplest lines and with the least possible restriction."

Opposes Longer Enlistment Term.

"I honestly believe that this proposed change in the enlistment term of five years would be a detriment to the army. The short term system with a reserve force is much better than a long term system which provides for no reserve."

"The regular army was never deadlier than just before the war with Spain. The officers, many of them, were old and ready for retirement. If we had been forced to continue the war after the fight in Santiago, we would have had to fight with volunteers. The regular army was finished."

"This bill would serve to increase the number of long term men and it has been clearly demonstrated that such is not good for the service. It means, in my judgment, disaster to the army. Men who keep in actual service for years without relief are excellent for park policemen when they retire, but as soldiers they are not worth their salt."

CASE OF THE DIETZ GOES TO THE JURY

Court's Charge Makes It Possible to Acquit or Convict the Defendants Separately.

Hayward, Wis., May 12.—The case of the state against John F. Dietz, Mrs. Dietz and Leslie Dietz for the alleged killing of Deputy Sheriff Oscar Harp is in the hands of the jury.

Judge Reid commended his charge, in which he instructed the jury to find the defendants either guilty or not guilty of murder in the first degree, at 4:50 o'clock this afternoon. The three defendants all said they thought the charge was a fair one and they had high hopes of acquittal or disagreement.

For the first time since the trial began, Dietz plainly showed anger. Sheriff Fred Clark moved to a position close to him. Dietz attempted to leave the courtroom but he could not fire the fatal bullet and asked for justice and not sympathy.

The charge of the court makes it possible to convict or acquit the three defendants separately.

Shortly after 11 o'clock tonight, Judge Reid announced that he would not receive a report from the jury before 7:30 tomorrow morning.

NO DEMAND FOR STOCKS; CONSEQUENTLY, THE PRICES CLOSE AT SMALL LOSSES.

New York, May 12.—The demand for stocks proved too small today to maintain the prices at the level fixed by yesterday's rise and a mild reaction occurred. Stocks advanced moderately in the first hour, on buying which appeared largely for the covering of short contracts, but when the inquiry from this source ceased, as it did on the advance, there was virtually no demand. Today's losses were slight, however.

On the Metal exchange today, standard copper was called dull, with spot and the May and the June quoted at 11.55@11.60 cents and the July and the August at 11.55@11.65. The market at London was dull, with spot at £53, 11s, 3d and futures at £54, 25s, 6d. The cotton house returns show exports of 16,010

SECOND DEATH SENTENCE IN WEEK IS PRONOUNCED AT SAULT STE. MARIE, ONT.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 12.—For the second time within a week a death sentence was pronounced today at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. Wm. Carroll, sixty-five years old, tottering from the courtroom, after being sentenced by Justice Britton to be hanged July 26. Carroll's crime was the murder of William Theiland last November in a lumber camp near Blind river. Mrs. Angelina Neapolitana was sentenced a few days ago to be hanged Aug. 9 for killing her husband with an axe. The dates of the two executions fall just two weeks apart.

JUDGE DEALS MEAT BARONS A BODY BLOW

J. Ogden Armour and Nine Other Chicago Packers Are to Be Tried on the Charge of Conspiring to Control Prices in Violation of the Anti-Trust Law

United States District Court in the Western Metropolis Overrules the Demurrer to the Indictments and Decides for the Government on Every Point.

Chicago, May 12.—J. Ogden Armour and nine other Chicago packers must go to trial on the federal indictments charging them with conspiracy to control the price of fresh meat, in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

This was decided today by Judge George A. Carpenter, of the United States district court, who overruled a demurrer to the indictments, in which the packers have held that the Sherman law failed sufficiently to define the offense it sought to prohibit.

These the Defendants.

The men who were indicted Sept. 12, 1910, and who are affected by the decision, are: J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour & Co.; Louis F. Swift, president of Swift & Co.; Charles H. Swift, director of Swift & Co.; Edward Tilden, president of the National Packing company; Arthur Meeker, general manager for Armour & Co.; Edward Morris, president of Morris & Co.; Francis A. Fowler, director of Swift & Co.; Thomas J. Connors, superintendent of Armour & Co.; Louis H. Heyman, manager for Morris & Co.

The attorneys for the government declared that the decision was a tremendous blow at the packers' defense and said the prosecution had scored at every point.

What the Indictments Charge.

The indictments charge that the packers controlling the greater part of the meat industry are divided into three groups—the Armour, Swift and Morris groups—and that these three have a common medium of exchange of price lists and instructions, through the National Packing company. The indictments also charge that the three groups have agents of the crime to justify the indictments, Judge Carpenter denied this. "The statute defines the acts declared to be unlawful in simple English," he ruled. "The purpose of the act, when ascertained from the language used, is as clear as may be."

Senator Kenyon to Prosecute.

Washington, May 12.—The department of justice is preparing to bring the beef trust case to an early trial, said Senator Kenyon of Iowa will be in charge of the prosecution. When he resigned as assistant to the attorney general, he offered his services free in the case, and Attorney General Wickesham accepted.

DOORS TO ARSENALS IN THE UNITED STATES ARE OPENED TO MADERO.

Washington, May 12.—Legitimate commerce between the United States and the border towns of Mexico now in the hands of the insurgents will not be interfered with by the American government. At a cabinet meeting today the general policy was laid down that there would be no interruption of trade which should not violate the neutrality of the United States.

The state department late today issued an official statement outlining the general policy referred to, but specifically stating that this government's course had no bearing upon the question of the recognition of the belligerency of the insurgents. The government's policy simply means that de facto control of the insurgents in the ports of entry which they occupy is practically recognized for commercial purposes only.

A Big Bean to the Rebels.

Mexico City, May 12.—The importance of the decision of the American government to permit arms and ammunition to cross the border into Mexico through the regular channels of trade is fully appreciated. Throughout the inspection the greatest handicap to the rebels has been the difficulty of securing rifles and ammunition. The decision greatly simplifies Madero's task of arming the recruits whom he expects to flock by thousands to his standard on his projected march to the capital.

INSURRECTOS NOW RECEIVING INCOME

Possession of the Customs House at Juarez Gives Them a Source of Funds.

Juarez, May 12.—The provisional government of Mexico made such progress with its work of organization today that it is believed that within a few days the states of Chihuahua and Sonora will be completely administered by provisional state and municipal officers. The establishment of numerous in various places in northern Mexico and the opening of railway and telegraph lines is being accomplished by direction of Provisional President Madero and his cabinet.

Although nothing was done today by the officials of the provisional government respecting peace negotiations, the fact that there is a deadlock over the procedure became more and more pronounced. The federal government and the provisional government are standing their distance, each waiting for the other to make the first move.

The provisional government, by taking possession of the customs house today, will begin to receive its first income. Taxes are being levied and tariff will be exacted as heretofore by the federal government, the funds being used to prosecute the revolution.

The news that arms now can be passed through the American lines was joyously received and arrangements already are being made for the purchase of such ammunition and artillery.

The United States' customs house officials have received word from Washington to pass arms and all classes of articles through to Juarez.

NO CHANGE IN THE ATTITUDE OF DIAZ

He Is Ready to Resign, but Not While Country Is in a State of Turbulence.

Mexico City, May 12.—General Diaz will not leave the presidency while the country is in its present state of unrest. He stands ready to state in more explicit terms the views contained in his recent manifesto, if necessary, his attitude with reference to his resignation. He has demanded to know from his opponents the terms in which they expected him to announce his willingness to resign and is waiting a reply from them.

The president's declaration of last Sunday was made in good faith and with the desire to serve the interests of his country. There was no subterfuge in his declaration. He meant what he said—that he would lay down the reins of government when he could do so without danger of anarchy or chaos following his action.

Word from Madero Awaited.

Minister of Finance Limantour made the above explanation today to a representative of the Associated Press of the intention of the administration under the circumstances as they appear at the moment. He declared that following the issuance of the president's manifesto and its rejection by the revolutionists, a message was sent to Judge Carrabjal, the government's peace representative, asking that Madero and his followers state in exactly what terms they desired to give up the country to anarchy, and the explanation would show that no hidden meaning was intended. The message should have been in Madero's hands for at least three days, and up to tonight no reply had been returned. Judge Carrabjal will wait in El Paso a day or two longer, under instructions to accept and transmit any further proposals the rebels may desire to make.

PASSENGERS AND CREW ALL ARE RESCUED

Not a Human Life Is Lost When Ward Line Steamer Merida, from Havana to New York and Carrying 319 Souls, Goes to the Bottom of the Sea.

Rammed by a Smaller Ship, Her Foundering Fortunately Is Staved Off Until All Persons on Board Are Transferred Safely—A Cat Is the Only Victim.

Norfolk, Va., May 12.—A near-tragedy of the sea occurred off this port early today when the Ward steamer Merida, bound from Havana, Cuba, for New York with 319 souls on board, sank in thirty-six fathoms of water, fifty-five miles northeast of Cape Charles, after she had been rammed by the fruit steamer Admiral Farragut, bound from Philadelphia for Port Antonio. Every person aboard the Merida was rescued, and but one was seriously injured.

The Merida was struck by the Admiral Farragut during a dense fog at 12:30 o'clock. In five hours the Merida was at the bottom of the ocean, but her passengers and crew were safely aboard her small destroyer, the Admiral Farragut.

Wireless Brings Aid.

By wireless telegraphy the Old Dominion Steamship company's steamer Alexander, bound from New York to Norfolk, was summoned by the Admiral Farragut and took aboard the rescued passengers and crew of the Merida and landed them in Norfolk at 7 o'clock tonight.

The Admiral Farragut, which carried but one passenger, proceeded for the Delaware breakwater, under convoy of the United States battleship Iowa, which also had answered a wireless appeal for assistance. The Iowa was standing by the Farragut when the steamer Hamilton left with the rescued passengers and crew for Norfolk.

The Admiral Farragut, after ramming the Merida, several times her size, staggered away with a bad hole in her port bow and it was feared that she, too, might sink.

The Farragut crashed into the Merida, disabling the latter's engines, wrecking her electrical dynamo and wireless apparatus and leaving the ship helpless in total darkness.

Wireless Operator Leach, of the Farragut, attempted to call assistance, but found his appeal for help could not be heard. Meanwhile the passengers and crew were being transferred from the sinking Merida to the Admiral Farragut.

Passenger Is Hero of the Hour.

One passenger from the Merida was Perry E. Benton, an expert engineer and a real hero of the hour. It was largely through Mr. Benton's assistance that the Farragut wireless was repaired and Operator Leach's first call for aid, sent at 5:30 o'clock, was made possible.

From the Old Dominion liner Hamilton and the battleship Iowa, both fifty-five miles away, came quick responses. "We will reach you by 8 o'clock," said the Hamilton's message.

Then the Iowa and Hamilton raced to save lives. The Hamilton won. Just a few minutes after 8 o'clock the Hamilton sighted the Admiral Farragut and shortly afterward had her life boats out.

The only death that resulted from the accident was that of a cat, the mascot of the ship, which was overlooked.

CANANEA IN PERIL OF AN ATTACK

Revolutionists Threaten the Town—Mayor Pleads That No Assault Be Made.

Cananea, Sonora, May 12.—Mayor Arnold of Cananea late today went to Interceded with the rebel chiefs who are threatening an attack on this camp and to urge them not to attempt the capture of Cananea. At a late hour the conference between the mayor and Juan Cabral, leader of the rebels, was still in progress. Mayor Arnold urged upon Cabral that an attack upon Cananea would result chiefly in damage to American interests, while the gain to the rebels would be slight.

Agua Prieta, May 12.—A scout has been sent to Agua Prieta by the commander of the rebel forces here, ordering Cabral back to Agua Prieta. The scout should arrive at Cananea tonight and the order might avert the impending assault.

Douglas, Ariz., May 12.—Five automobiles left Douglas for Cananea tonight to bring as many American as possible to the United States, in view of the expected rebel attack.

Buffalo, May 12.—Packer McFarland of Chicago outpointed and outfought Tommy Kilbane of Cleveland in a ten-round bout here tonight. Kilbane was weak and clinching at every opportunity to save himself, at the close of the tenth round.

MARQUETTE, MICH., MAY 13.

The members of the executive committee of the Illinois Farmers' Institute of Illinois are taking a winter risk in exposing themselves to the anathema of Grand Master N. P. Hull of Michigan, tamer of representatives and senators. Their effrontery is unheard of.

Edward Hines, of Chicago, ducked out of Hayward, Wis., before the process server sent out at the request of Defendant Attorney John Deitz could get within hail of him. Hines is one of the most effective subpoena dodgers who ever dodged an oncoming constable. Practice has nearly made perfect in his particular case.

Marquette county's share of the annual spring split of the primary school money will be in excess of $100,000, it having the distinction of getting one of the largest amounts apportioned to any of the counties in the state. It will have no difficulty finding places for the state's contribution to the cost of maintaining its schools, for its school establishment is a large one and it has a big corps of teachers to pay off every month.

There appears to be just sufficient aversion to the idea of Senator Gallinger in the office of president pro tem of the senate to make it unlikely that his election will come off in accordance with the caucus plans. Doubtless if our insurgent friends had obtained those committee places they were so desirous of landing they would not be so stiff-necked over what is, after all, a comparatively unimportant detail of senate organization.

The vehemence of the grangers and their persistence in seeking the limelight remind of the three tailors of Tooley street who deluded themselves into a belief that they were the people of England. Surely the grangers must realize that there are some people in this country who do not live on, and off, farms. There is a considerable urban population, it must be remembered, and, taking it all together, it is much to be questioned whether its lot is as fortunate a one as that of the rural population.

Governor Osborn has expressed his approval of the steps taken by the Detroit Bar association to test the constitutionality of the law requiring the supreme judges to reside at Lansing. He comments that if there is any doubt that the law is constitutional it should be settled without further delay. If such doubt has existed it is strange that the matter has not been brought to the attention of the proper court before now. Perhaps the delay in doing this has been due to the expectation that the legislature would repeal the law requiring residence in Lansing by the judges, and that would be all there would be to it. But Governor Osborn's veto of the bill covering that point settles all likelihood that the question will be disposed of in this way. Now as some of the Detroit attorneys are so much exercised at what they deem an invasion of the rights of the supreme court by the legislature, in presuming to say where its members are to live, by all means let us have the matter disposed of, once and for all.

Senator William Alden Smith has been suggested as a compromise candidate for president pro tem of the senate, in case it proves impossible to elect Senator Gallinger. Some of the insurgents who are opposed to the selection of Gallinger have indicated that Senator Smith would be acceptable to them. He is in the twilight zone between the rival camps. He stands with the regulars most of the time, but is conceded to be possessed of independence and to be in sympathy with the insurgents on many propositions on which he will, when occasion arises, vote with them. The insurgents object to Gallinger for president pro tem because they have no confidence that he can be depended on to treat them fairly. Such an objection would not lie against Senator Smith. Both those who support Gallinger and those who oppose him would be sure that Senator Smith would preside over the senate with impartiality whenever that duty devolved on him, if he were chosen to succeed Senator Frye as president pro tem. If a compromise has to be reached, through the failure of the attempt to elect Gallinger, it is not unlikely that Senator Smith will be seriously considered. The honor, it is to be said, is not a particularly substantial one, though it is eagerly sought. In practice the vice president is almost continually on the job of presiding over the senate, and the president pro tem has but few opportunities to perform this function. It would appear to be a pretty slim office to make such a first class row over. The contest as to who shall fill it simply goes to show how high is the tension between the rival factions in the senate.

With a capital, a well disciplined army, which has distinguished itself as well by refraining from getting drunk and from looting as by the defeat of the federals, with a provisional government duly named and authorized, from president down, and with possession of all the custom houses on the American line, the Madero government has some ground to appeal for recognition. And it is likely that it will presently have even more substantial grounds. The explanation of the ease with which the insurgents completed the conquest of Juarez against a large force of well equipped soldiers is now explained, and with general acceptance of the theory, by the statement that the federals had no heart for the fight and made little endeavor to effectively resist the onslaughts of the insurrection forces. This theory would appear to be borne out by the way hundreds of the federals have gone over to their conquerors. Disaffection seems to have been deep seated in Diaz's troops in Juarez, and if this was true in Juarez it is also doubtless true of the other troops, in which case little determined resistance to the insurgents' advance can be expected.

HE IS DISCREET. In an editorial leader the Detroit Journal says that Ed Stair of that city, the principal owner of the Journal and the Free Press, is not a candidate for governor, senator or any other office in the gift of the people. Mr. Stair's discretion cannot be too highly commended.

MINE VALUATION. Discussing at Lansing the question of the employment of an expert to make a report on the valuation of Michigan mines, Governor Osborn expressed himself as follows: "I believe a private mining engineer of high standing and irreproachable reputation should be selected, and not a member of the faculty of any mining school. Our mining school is as good as there is, but the members of the board of control are men interested in mines and while they are of the highest grade they agree with me that the school should not take up this work for the state. On the other hand I do not think the state should go to another college, for that might to an extent detract from the prestige of our school, and we do not want to do that. For that reason I believe we should secure a private engineer to do the work." The importance of securing a man whose report will be beyond question is plain to all of the men who have to do with the selection, and therefore there is no doubt that such a man will be found. No more important work has ever been embarked on in connection with the taxing system of Michigan than the proposed valuation of the mines. It is fully as important a work as the valuation of the railroads, and, because of the nature of the problems involved, vastly more difficult. If it can be done fairly, so that the people at large will feel that the mines have not been undervalued and the mine owners feel that they have not been overvalued, and a mutually satisfactory basis for taxation established without any danger of litigation, the state will be fortunate indeed.

ARE GAINING GROUND. Scoff at the initiative and referendum all you may; it is noticed that they are getting the centre into the best society, just as have so many other innovations in government that a few years ago were denounced as socialistic, if not worse. Think of the distinguished advocates they have. There is, for instance, Colonel Roosevelt, on the Republican side, who thoroughly believes in the principle of these reforms. There is Governor Wilson, of New Jersey, who will like as not be the Democrats' candidate for president next year, and who says that the initiative and referendum are like shotguns in a frontier country, weapons not to be resorted to frequently, but mighty handy things to have behind the door against a time of need. Governor McGovern, of Wisconsin, in a message to the legislature, from which The Mining Journal quoted yesterday morning, presented, in a dispassionate manner, some of the telling arguments for these principles. Viewed with prejudice against them as something ultra-radical laid aside, they are not at all startling, or sensational, and do not propose any revolutionary changes in our present methods of enacting laws. Both are emergency devices, to be resorted to only when legislatures prove unfaithful to their trusts by refusing to enact laws for which there is a state wide demand or by enacting laws which are plainly against the public interest. There is a deal of misapprehension about the initiative and referendum. Many people are perturbed whenever their adoption is discussed for no better reason than that they do not understand what they mean. Education as to their purpose will rapidly create sentiment for them as a highly desirable curb on the legislatures, which are rarely representative of the best citizenship and which are often—though fortunately not so often as in the past—rankly dishonest and dominated by men who do not care a penny about the public interest, but are, instead, responsive only to the suggestion of those who are, in effect, their private clients.

LOOKS LIKE BUTTING IN.

A story in a Detroit newspaper relates that Fred M. Warner, the former governor, J. L. Snyder, the president of the Agricultural college, and other Michigan men have gone to Washington to argue before the senate committee against the ratification of the reciprocity agreement. There seems to be a certain impropriety in President Snyder's journey for that purpose. It looks as if he were trying to throw the weight of his authority, gained largely because of an official position conferred on him by the state of Michigan, into the determination of a question on which the people of Michigan are by no means a unit.

Politics and economics are hopelessly involved in the reciprocity debate. If it were purely a question of economics President Snyder might properly have a place in the discussion underway at Washington. But Master Hull, of Michigan, has set the fashion of trying to intimidate those he has sought to influence with pointed suggestions as to what the granger voters are likely to do, if their wishes are not observed. This is a sort of political blackmail, that, under the circumstances, reflect but little credit on the men who practice it. We venture a hope that at least President Snyder will not follow the example of Master Hull in this respect.

We believe that President Snyder might well have stuck around Lansing, instead of journeying to Washington to take part, unbidden, in a hearing in which he is competent to represent only a part of the people of Michigan. It is difficult to see how President Snyder can do the institution of which he is the head any good by his course, and he may possibly do it some harm. In any event it would have been easy for him to have been extremely busy with the affairs of the college just now. Then he would not have given any opportunity for questioning the propriety of his course.

HE SELECTED MARQUETTE.

The advertising that the Detroit Journal has been giving the Marquette prison does not appear to be working out the way that enterprising, if somewhat yellow, newspaper expected it would. It bids fair to popularize that penitentiary resort with gentlemen under the temporary pleasure of the law, if the case of John J. Killian, sent up from Detroit for two and one-half to five years, is any criterion. It is to be hoped that Killian's example and the course of the judge who granted his request will not be generally followed, for there are already more guests than guest rooms at the big hotel. If there should be anything resembling a rush to the resort, the management would be compelled to materially curtail the existing privileges and lay in a new supply of paddles, in an effort to turn the trend of the criminal tourist travel in some other direction.

Says the Detroit News in connection with the case of Killian: "I wanted to be sentenced to Marquette prison because I thought I would get a square deal. I am not afraid of any of this talk about punishing prisoners at that institution. I intend to do the right thing by the warden and the keepers, and I am sure that I will fare well, from what I have been told by those who know the real conditions there." This statement was made by John H. Killian, who yesterday was sentenced by Judge Connelly to serve from two and a half to five years in Marquette. When sentence was first imposed Killian was destined to serve his time behind the walls of the Jackson prison, but on his request the judge made the change.

Killian was sentenced at noon and was then returned to the county jail, where he has been confined for nine months waiting trial. He was in the cell but a short time when he called Sheriff Gaston and requested that official to visit Judge Connelly and request that he be sent to Marquette. The sheriff went directly to the office of the judge. "It is hard enough to go to prison," said the judge. "I will grant his request." "I am now satisfied," replied Killian, as soon as he was informed of the judge's action. "The climate is good at Marquette, I understand, and I will work hard, that I may be liberated at the expiration of the minimum term."

WILSON, HARMON, CLARK, BRYAN.

It needs no sensitive finger on the pulse of politics to perceive that Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, is the most promising of the Democratic candidates for President, as the situation is today. His strength is growing rapidly. His name is becoming better known in all sections. Wilson has a claim upon the South by birth. He has a direct hold upon the East by virtue of his long residence there. His works and his students are all over the country. His fame is undoubtedly spreading far and fast. He has had his way in the Legislature of his state, and the credit for a progressive record such as New Jersey has not been accustomed to see has gone largely to the former president of Princeton University.

The contrast between Wilson and Harmon is complete. The Ohio candidate for the Democratic nomination for President is losing ground. He is not making good in the estimation of the country. He has not satisfied his own state. He has no new and impressive record to point to, nor has he anything like Woodrow Wilson's many-sided appeal to the country. As things stand now, the race will not go to Judson Harmon. He may "come back," but every day makes it less probable. Champ Clark is evidently striving to play politics for the leadership of his party in the campaign next year. He is much in the spotlight and he may hit the popular fancy hard before another spring comes. He is naturally strong in the Southwest, a section which sends big delegations to Democratic national conventions. But Clark does not look exactly like the man to whom the Democrats will turn in 1912.

As for Bryan, he must not be forgotten or ignored. The nearer his party seems to the goal of success the stronger will be the sentimental feeling that the Nebraska, after three trials when he had little chance to win, ought to be allowed to run when victory is apparently probable. A deadlock between Wilson, Harmon and Clark, with perhaps a few favorite sons in the field, would be quite likely to end in a stampede to the old leader.

The Democratic national convention next year will certainly prove an affair of real human interest. It can hardly be the mere formality it was in 1908 or lack in 1900. Nor will it be paralyzed by the hopelessness that hung over the convention which sent Judge Parker to unprecedented defeat in 1904.—Cleveland Leader.

A Laugh or Two

Spooning Spots. Jerome S. McWade, the Duluth philanthropist, paused, in an eloquent appeal for a fresh air fund, to tell an appropriate story.

"A little country woe-ker," he said, "was questioned, on his return home, about the lovely countryside he had visited."

"I seen trees," he said, "and flowers, and cows, and hedges, and—"

"Hold on. What's hedges? Wot are they made of?" asked another boy.

"Where I see," said the little fellow, "the hedges were made of bushes and leaves and sweethearts."

The Cud. J. G. Phelps Stokes, at the Knickerbocker club in New York, was praising the various country week associations that are already preparing to give the children of the poor brief country vacations.

"The little urbians," said Mr. Phelps Stokes, "enjoy these healthful holidays, and wonderful are the remarks that the country's strangeness draws from their young lips. One August afternoon at East Side, pointing at a farmer's herd in a shady meadow, said: "Where does the farmer get all the chewing gum for his cows?"

Drawing a Straight in Texas. Col. Cecil Lyon, the Republican national committeeman from Texas, was induced one evening to sit in a poker game in New York. The play had been in progress for about an hour when a newcomer, rather the worse for strong drink, bought to stack of chips.

On the next hand dealt, the colonel had three aces, and the newcomer, dressed in three cards and the colonel said, in a nonchalant, bored manner he guessed he would take one. Then the betting began and grew fiercer and fiercer. Every time the colonel raised the stranger raised him back again. Finally Lyon called.

"The other man spread out an ace high straight. He had held the king and ace and drawn the ten, jack and queen.

The colonel, looking like a man at the funeral of a dear relative, remarked in shrill tones:

"Down in my state when a man draws cards like that somebody else draws a gun."—Popular Magazine.

Cutting. George Barr McCutcheon, the novelist, was traipsing Chicago at the Chicago Athletic club.

"A New Yorker," he said, "visited me the other day, and was disposed to sneer at all he saw. When he registered at his hotel, he said to the clerk warily and anxiously:

"Remember, now, I'm from New York."

"Yes, sir," said the clerk, with a polite smile. "I'll see to it, sir, that a knife is served with your pie."

The Friend in Need. R. H. Davis, on a recent visit to Philadelphia, praised warmly the magnanimity of E. T. Stotesbury in guaranteeing Philadelphia opera—a good deed that may cost Mr. Stotesbury many thousands of dollars.

"Mr. Stotesbury," said Mr. Davis, "is a friend to music. Music might well say of him—

"Adversity is the sole scale that gives the correct value of our friends."

Gould and the Missouri Pacific. Governor Gould was making one of his last trips as president of the Missouri Pacific. His private car was laid out on a siding for some reason or other, and he got out to stretch his legs. An old Irishman was tapping the wheels. Gould went up to him.

"Morning. How do you like the wheels?"

"Not worth a darn," said the Irishman.

"Well, how do you like the car?"

"It's good enough for the wheels." "What do you think of the road?"

"It matches the car." Gould looked at the old chap for a minute.

"Maybe you don't know who I am." "Yes, I do," retorted the Irishman. "You're George Gould, and I know your father when he was president of the road. And, by gob, he's going to be president of it again!"

"Why, my father is dead," said Mr. Gould.

"I know that," replied the Irishman, "and the road is going to hell."—Chicago Tribune.

CUTICURA CURES STAY CURED

First Father is Cured of an Eruption that Burned and Itched Day and Night. Then Baby is Cured of a Distressing Rash.

Neighbors Pleased to Find a Sure Cure for Skin Afflictions.

"I suffered for eight years with what the doctors called the 'seven year itch.' This was like small red pimples such as form on the face but they burned and itched day and night. These pimples were from my ankles up, but mostly on my thighs and arms. I tried doctor after doctor but their medicines brought no relief. But at last I struck the right treatment—this was Cuticura. I bought a set of the Cuticura Remedies—Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills—and a few applications brought relief. When I had used about half the set I was nearly cured and after using two full sets I was well and best of all, I have stayed cured.

"About four months ago, our baby began to be covered with a rash and his head with a spreading sore. Back of the ears, the flesh cracked open and the poor baby would scratch till it bled. He worried, cried and could not sleep. Then we bought a set of Cuticura and with a few applications the burning and itching ceased, baby stopped worrying and could sleep. When this single set had gone we had no more trouble and baby was never troubled with the disease again. The neighbors who saw the condition of the baby all asked what cured him, and when we told them, they were surprised and pleased to find a sure cure for these skin afflictions. Edward H. Carter, 223 North 37th St., Camden, N. J., Mar. 6, 1910."

Miss Margaret Conklin leaves today for the East. She will spend the summer in Europe. Her mother, Mrs. George E. Conklin, will accompany her as far as New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Davis will leave this evening to visit friends and relatives in Chicago, Milwaukee and Green Bay. They will be out of the city two or three weeks.

Henry Harvey, of Powell township, brought a wolf pelt to the court house yesterday and received the usual $27 bounty. Mr. Harvey received a bounty on nine wolf pups a short time ago.

The dance given by the Owls Thursday evening was attended by a fairly large crowd and all enjoyed themselves, some playing cards while others danced. Supper was served by the ladies.

A. T. Roberts returned home yesterday from Baltimore, where he attended the National Peace Conference as a delegate from the state of Michigan. On the way home he stopped at Lansing.

The members of Marquette council, K. of C., will meet at the council's club rooms Monday morning at 8 o'clock, to attend the funeral of Ed J. Pellissier, who was a member of the order and whose funeral service will be held at the French church at 9 o'clock.

Superintendent F. A. Jeffers of Painesdale spent Thursday and Friday at the school, Dr. Dougherty of Grand Marais also visited the school Friday afternoon.

Miss Linton and Mrs. Rushmore had charge of a program which was given at assembly on Tuesday morning of this week. The various numbers were excellent, and thoroughly appreciated by the audience. Several pleasing musical numbers were as follows:

Piano Solo—"Elevation"—Chaminade
Miss Helen Withey.
Vocal Solo—"Love, the Psalmist"
Edward German
Encore—"A Bowl of Roses"
Vocal Solo—"Ain' Yo' Comin' Roun' No Mo'"
L. Pease Jessie
Miss Flora Retallic.
"The Value of Novel Reading" was a theme very well discussed by Miss Mary Grandchamp, while Miss Emily Wood gave an excellent reading, a scene from Saul of Tarsus.

Monday evening, Osiris Literary society entertained its members and the faculty at an informal reception and musical. An excellent program was given, consisting of musical numbers and readings. After the program, refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed. The program follows:

Piano Solo—Miss Anna C. Barron.
Vocal Solo, "Beloved, 'Tis Morn'"—Miss Sylvester.
Reading, Life of Beethoven—Minnie Anderson.
Violin Solo—Peter Behan.
Vocal Solo, "Sweet Clothilda"—Maie B. Grills.
Vocal Solo—Miss Flora Retallic.
Reading, Life of Schubert—Josephine Kreuz.
Violin Solo—Elizabeth Brumsted.
Vocal Solo, from Iolanthe—Marie Lioret.
Piano Solo, Rustic Dance—Edna Wehe.
President Kaye spoke on English schools at assembly on Thursday morning, discussing the differences between English schools and the schools of our country. He emphasized the management and the method of examination, whereby the government appropriation is determined and showed the changes which have been made in this method of late years. The talk was very interesting and instructive.

Last evening the gymnasium was the scene of one of the prettiest parties ever given at the Normal. The decorations were draped in olive and gold crepe paper and heavy hangings of the same material covered the windows. The walls were covered with green burlap and banked with evergreens, above which were school pennants. Numerous Japanese lanterns added greatly to the decorative scheme. The design 1911-12 in the class colors, olive and gold, and purple and white, in incandescent lights was given a prominent place at one end of the hall. Lundahl's orchestra of fish-penning furnished the music. The hall-way on the first floor was prettily decorated with palms, screens and Oriental rugs. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served at small tables throughout the length of the hall. In the receiving line were President and Mrs. Kaye, Dr. and Mrs. Mount, Will Byrnes, Minnie Anderson, Grace Fletcher and Johanna Slaa. This was the annual party given by the juniors for the seniors.

THAT GARBAGE QUESTION.

Editor Daily Mining Journal: May I ask that you publish this letter concerning the dumping of ashes and rubbish?

There is an ordinance prohibiting the throwing or depositing in any street or upon private property without the owner's consent of rubbish, ashes or garbage. Any violation of this ordinance is punishable by a fine of not less than $5, nor exceeding $100, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a term not exceeding three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

The law excuses no one on the plea: "I didn't know the dumping of rubbish there was prohibited" or "I supposed it was alright for I saw others had dumped rubbish there." Yours Truly, CITIZEN.

RETIRING REGENT TALKS ON D.A.R. WORK

Mrs. W. G. King Gave Interesting Paper at Last Meeting of the Year.

The meeting of the D. A. R. which was held on Tuesday of this week was the final one of the year, at which the annual election of officers took place. The reports from retiring officers were most satisfactory to the members, and showed the chapter to be in a flourishing condition. Meetings will be held next year in the Peter White public library, consent having recently been obtained from the board of management. The farewell address of the retiring regent, Mrs. W. G. King, printed below, gives a very clear idea of the work the ladies are engaged in. Mrs. King said: "I wish to take this opportunity to thank the members of this chapter, for the courtesy you have shown your regent during the two years just past. "You must have discovered how good were my reasons for reluctance to accept this high honor, and I thank you especially for your kindness and co-operation in the work, and for overlooking my many mistakes. "It is not my desire to take your time with any report of the past year. That has been covered by the reports of the various officers. "But I would like to answer two or three questions which have been put to me and which may have occurred to many of you. "What is done with the money? On reflection it seems to me that a more difficult question to answer of hand would be 'Where do we get the money we spend?' I remember the last time held in this room our treasurer reported a surplus of a few cents for which she was unable to account. I am not sure but what even larger surpluses have occurred since. "As we all know, half of our annual dues, together with all the initiation fees, goes into the general treasury at Washington, so that with our present membership our assured income is only forty dollars and, in passing, I would like to call your attention to the fact that one-fifth of this amount has been given this year to promote the cause of patriotic education by the providing of medals. "We are not a little patriotic club off by ourselves, but are allied with the great national organization and are in honor bound to bear a fair share of the general expenses. "So from time to time items ranging from $2 made in the second year of our existence to $10, $15 and $25 (the last pledged two or three years ago when our finances were at their best and before we had assumed the scholarship) have appeared on our expense account as contributions to Continental Memorial Hall. "These calls will not occur again, as it is anticipated that the building of this building is paid for, but I am sure that we are all glad that we were able to have part in the building of this beautiful Temple of Fame which houses our general officer, furnishes an auditorium for various patriotic societies and an assembly hall for the continental congress. "Another query sometimes heard is, 'What are the Daughters of the American Revolution doing?' I am sure that many forming opinion from the press imagine that their chief business and pleasure is wrangling over elections. "President Taft, in his address to the last continental congress, stated quite broadly that a great organization of differences of opinion as to the management and officers were inevitable. "However that may be and in spite of it, the work of the society goes steadily on. Records are being unarchived and preserved, and the names of soldiers who have slept for years in unmarked graves are being rescued from oblivion. Spots where great deliverances have been effected or great deeds done have been identified and marked as the Lord commanded Joshua, so that when our children ask 'What mean ye' by this we can answer with definiteness. "It was here that Israel came over on dry land. "This work is one of the primary aims of the society but lest any one may think that the dead are being honored at the expense of the living I hasten to remind you that another great aim of the society is patriotic education, including as one part of a very varied curriculum a reverence for the American flag and all that it represents. "While we own no schools, we are encouraging by our money and our influence the establishment of schools for those who are not able to avail themselves of the advantages offered by our public school system. "In some cities local chapters conduct night schools for aliens and I need not tell the company how dear to the hearts of the Daughters is the effort to make amends to the mountaineers of the south for the neglect and isolation which have prevented their taking their rightful places as descendants of some of the bravest of the revolutionary defenders of the country. "And while honoring the dead, teaching respect to the government as typified by the flag, helping to educate the present generation, the society, through its great committee on conservation of our natural resources, is working to preserve for future generations the grand forests, beautiful birds, and hidden wonders of the soil which American wastefulness, vanity and avarice have seemed likely to destroy. "As to the work of our local chapter, I wish you could read the book containing a record of its first years. "When barely one year old and boasting only sixteen members five dollars worth of historical essays in the city schools. "For three years or more, while attempting to obtain for our real daughter a more dependable income than that which came from holiday or birthday gifts the chapter lovingly smoothed rough places for this dear old pioneer of Marquette and finally rejoiced with her in the pension obtained for her from the national society which went so far toward providing for her old age and useful life pleasant ones. "Some of the records of those days are rather amusing. "Having joined the Federation of Women's clubs we pledged the chapter to a share of the Federation's work in providing dormitories for use in the rescue work of the Salvation Army. "This was before a former regent had conceived the brilliant idea of setting the flag, the fairest blossom in all this flowery world (to quote Bayard Taylor) to blooming on Marquette soil—and at the same time dropping dollars into the treasury. "Several of our officers and members were ill or out of town. Our membership was still under twenty. "Month after month the records read 'No quorum being present no business could be transacted,' or 'owing to the sickness of so many of our members it was deemed inexpedient to undertake any scheme for raising money,' or 'the regent and vice regent being absent the secretary called the meeting to order.' Those were the days when every member present was on the program every time. I shall never forget one of the members apologizing in all seriousness, for leaving me off on one occasion. However, we raised the money for the Salvation Army and I feel bound to say that the sudden end of the Federation was not due to any lack of interest on the part of this one of its component parts. "So the record reads—a doll purchased and sent to aid some struggling cause. As we grew richer, medals costing twice as much substituted for the gold pieces heretofore offered in the schools in the hope of discouraging the growing commercialism of the times. Flowers and flags given to those of our children who had attained the proud distinction thus including a proud sense of their country's approval among the honors of that day, which come only once in a lifetime. "One item of business seemed strangely familiar. It is a motion made at the meeting held in November, 1905, at that point a committee to ascertain whether the library commission would allow the use of a room in the library as a place of meeting. The library commission has taken, you will notice, nearly seven years to decide the question. In October, 1905, we held our first meeting in the room which we regretfully surrendered this spring. "A capable committee had hung curtains, laid rugs and arranged furniture and a delightful surprise awaited some of us upon entering our new home. The only assessment ever levied in the history of the chapter was at this time, to defray the expenses of furnishing the room, which we had sent for ever since through the generosity of one of our favorite sons. "I hope it seems to you, as it does to me, that we have contributed our little all to the best of our ability to further the ends of the society through all these years. "Aside from this we have inaugurated the observance of Flag Day and we have at some expense, a great deal of trouble and comparatively little profit to our own treasury, given the people of Marquette an opportunity to view a really fine collection of old china, rare prints, antique furniture and brasses besides probably the best works of art owned by private citizens of the town. "The work of the last two or three years I need not dwell upon. "The reception to our state regent, the display of old china as described, by one of our members at her home and the lucrative sale of flags which is a permanent source of revenue are all fresh in your minds. "The scholarship which we maintain is perhaps the most satisfactory of any thing accomplished by us—what it means to the recipient we like to imagine. "I have reserved until the last the hardest question which has been put to me—hard not because of lack of answers, but because I had not looked at the matter from the point of view of my questioner. "It was put to me some weeks ago by a friend whom I was urging to join the chapter and that was 'What good will it do me to join?' "I thought with pride and affection of the twenty-five or more women who from the working force of the chapter, of their gracious personalities, of the ability of some of them in art, music and literature, of their unselfish activities in church and missionary societies; of the benevolent associations, the art associations and the work among children in which some of them are or have been leaders, of the curfew ordinance, being the latest achievement of the W. C. T. U., of which some of our members are leading spirits, and I wondered if it would seem vain glory to say 'You will get great good in the uplift gained by such associations.' "I remembered my own narrow conception of the work achieved by our forefathers, as compared with the broader ones obtained by studying with a woman's more mature mind the history and biography which to the average school girl means only an account of 'Who beat' and I could say 'You will be benefitted by the historical programs given each month.' "I thought of how even heathen people reverence their ancestors and how he setheth the solitary in families; as he high praise as he stands everywhere and all that are bound in chains and I could answer every one is better off by being where he belongs. "There is a story of Joaquin Miller, the California poet, who on a storm day entered a clothing store and asked for a garment more suitable to the day than the heavy coat he was wearing. The proprietor looked him over with a calculating eye and then called to his clerk, 'Take, bring me a 37.' "Mr. Miller said he felt a great satisfaction after that in always knowing that he was classified as 37 fat. "So I think we all like to be classified, and what woman is not the better for knowing herself to belong to a society which stands everywhere and all the time for patriotism, in every sense of the word."

TEN THOUSAND DRUGGISTS

Unite in Their Opinion Regarding a Certain Medicine.

Druggists should know better than any one else the value of every medicine. Therefore, when over ten thousand recommended Vinol, the cod liver and iron tonic, without oil, over their own signatures as the greatest tonic re-creator and strength creator—and offer to return the purchase money in every case where it fails to give satisfaction, it must indicate that Vinol is a pretty reliable medicine. We cannot publish columns of such testimony as the following: C. A. Potterfield, the leading druggist of Charleston, W. Va., says he used Vinol for every member of his family and has never been disappointed with the results. Mr. J. F. Bradley, druggist of New Brunswick, N. J., says, "Vinol is certainly a wonderful medicine." He has proved it from personal experience. The many years that Vinol has been on the market has served to strengthen its popularity, and proved by continued tests that it will do all that is claimed for it. Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not build up your strength and give you an added interest in life.—The Stafford Drug Co., Marquette, Mich.

EMIL SWANSON RETURNS HOME

HOME-COMING WILL BE BIG CELEBRATION

Ishpeming Man, in Alaska Five Years, Arrived Here Yesterday and Will Remain.

Emil Swanson, who left Ishpeming six years ago next September, for Nome, Alaska, remaining there until about a year ago, when he located in California, arrived home yesterday. Mr. Swanson decided to return a few weeks ago, when he received a message advising him of the death of his father, the late August Swanson, and he will remain here.

Mr. Swanson yesterday said that he had an interesting experience in Alaska, but he was not so fortunate as some of the men who secured claims and explored for gold in the mining districts. For a time he was in the employ of the Pioneer Gold Mining company, and he also worked with the government surveyors. He invested his earnings in claims and endeavored to find gold in paying quantities, but was not successful.

According to Mr. Swanson no rich finds have been made in or near Nome in more than two years past, but two rich camps have been located on the Yukon river from 400 to 500 miles distant from Nome, or about midway between Nome and Fairbanks. Mr. Swanson did not visit the new camps, but before he left Nome reports of some rich finds in the new districts were being received.

The Pioneer company, of which John Bryntson, formerly of Ishpeming, was one of the organizers, owns the greater part of the mineral lands near Nome. The company some time ago adopted the ditch and hydraulic system of mining its claims. A number of dredges have been shipped in during the past year or so, and they are being operated with considerable success. If it were not for the fact that this system is employed, the operators in that line, would not be able to make any money, as the gold is widely scattered and is not found in rich bunches, as it was when the camp was first opened. The Pioneer company has absorbed nearly all of the smaller interests in the field and its holdings are of such a nature that it will have work for its dredges for ten or more years to come. Nome now has a permanent population of from 1,200 to 1,500 people, and the place is as quiet as almost any American town of the same size.

Ed and Fred Johnson, also former residents, have done well in the Nome district, and they are operating claims. They are the principle shareholders in the Eagle Mining company, which owns a large acreage of promising land near Nome.

Ladies of Episcopal Church to Give Unique Entertainment in September.

The ladies of Grace Episcopal church guild, at a meeting held Thursday evening, decided by unanimous vote to produce a home talent play, "The Ishpeming County Fair."

This play was written by Annie Sara Bock, a West Virginian who has made the drilling and producing of home talent plays a specialty. "The County Fair" has been her biggest and most successful production. Wherever it has been given it has been an immense success. The plan and plot of this play is very simple—nothing but a County Fair scene with all manner of people coming to the fair. It will be a picture of the old time County Fair, with displays innumerable of fish, yellow pumpkins, big potatoes, immense squashes, monstrous ears of yellow corn, red apples and any and every kind of fruit and vegetables raised by the farmers of the county. Not only will there be displays of these farm products, but the needlework, machinery and handwork of the thrifty inhabitants of Marquette county will also occupy a conspicuous space.

While the displays above described are always looked for at the county fair yet the real interest of this particular county fair is in the dialogue of the visitors and in the musical numbers to be presented. As the scene opens the loud mouthed fakery, lemonade man, side show man, balloon man will almost deafen you. Then follows a quick succession of farmers, old maids, school boys, jockeys, preachers, bride and groom, gold brick men, city visitors and all the characters one can possibly imagine at a county fair, each with an appropriate dialogue and conversation. But after all, no amateur entertainment at this day and age can be a suc-

Ishpeming Man Has Unique Contrivance for Tuning Church Organs.

M. J. Olson, the piano tuner, is testing a device on the pipe organ of the Swedish Lutheran church that promises to be a labor saver in that work. Mr. Olson has been working on the device for the past two years and several months ago he made application for a patent on it.

Using the device one man can tune a pipe organ, whereas under ordinary conditions it requires the services of two men, one at the keyboard and the other at the pipes inside of the organ. The Olson contrivance connects the keyboard and pipes by an electric cable.

The device is made so that it will fit into a case not much larger than an ordinary suit case, and as it will weigh less than thirty pounds it can be easily carried from place to place.

RACE WAS A SUCCESS.

Over forty boys of the Junior A and B classes of the Young Men's Christian association participated in the bare and bound cross country run Thursday afternoon. The laces, Jerstrand, Lund and Gummerson, of the Junior B class, gave the honors a close chase for over twelve minutes. They started out three minutes ahead of them and finished just a half minute ahead of the nearest of their number, Harry Van Broeklin. The race was such a success that a similar event will be held every Thursday afternoon until further notice. If the weather is favorable today the juniors of the association will play baseball on the Oliver diamond.

DELIGHTFUL CONCERT.

Program Given Thursday Evening in the High School Auditorium.

More than 500 Ishpeming people attended the concert, given Thursday evening in the auditorium of the Ishpeming High school, under auspices of the school club. The program was especially well rendered and the audience showed its appreciation by demanding a number of encores. The artistic success of the affair is largely due to the work of Miss Louise Stone, who has been directress of music in the schools the past year.

The boys' and girls' Glee clubs were especially pleasing and when they combined in the chorus of "Hark, Hark, My Soul" by Schell, and "The Bridal Chorus" by Coven, their efforts were most enthusiastically applauded. There were over fifty voices in the chorus.

The vocal solos by the Misses Anna Roberts, Louise Harwood, Magda Grotte and Borghild Braastad, also the piano solo by Miss Azaline Gunnville, were well rendered. Miss Harwood has a powerful soprano voice, with a wide range. Miss Braastad has a clear, sympathetic soprano, and delighted her hearers. Her solo, "The Slave Song," by Del Reigo, was a delightful number. Miss Grotte rendered most beautifully "The Last Rose of Summer" as an encore. Miss Roberts has a beautiful contralto voice, which she used with good effect in her solos.

The several numbers by the high school orchestra were admirably performed.

MEETING WAS VERY HELPFUL

Boards of Education and School Superintendents Met at Court House Yesterday With State Superintendent Wright and Discussed Numerous Problems.

Free Textbooks and Medical Inspection Came in for Considerable Discussion—New Laws Specify School Holidays and Require Physical Training Course.

About twenty-five members of school boards and superintendents of schools of Marquette and Alger counties met at the court house yesterday with State Superintendent L.L. Wright and discussed various matters of educational interest, particularly school laws and general school problems. The meeting was very informal, and there was no attempt to follow any program or order of business. Mr. Wright presided over the meeting and invited interruptions and questions at any time, a privilege which those present were not slow to take advantage of.

At the forenoon session the first subject discussed was school elections, which had a right to vote. Later the talk drifted to textbook legislation, which proved one of the most interesting phases of the meeting. Mr. Wright stated that there was a great deal of discussion of textbook legislation at the last session of the legislature, and that his belief was that some form of textbook law would be enacted two years hence.

These plans are considered in this connection. One is the passage of a statewide free textbook law, another uniformity of textbooks throughout the state with a provision that the price charged in Michigan shall be no higher than is charged for the same book in any other state, and the third, county uniformity of textbooks. While admitting that free textbooks would be something of a hardship on the parochial schools, Mr. Wright declared that he favored free textbooks in preference to either of the other bills.

Free Textbooks Discussed.

"I believe in free textbooks on the principle that the schools should be free," said Mr. Wright. "Free textbooks are not an innovation. The system has been adopted in many districts throughout the country and it has worked well. In Saginaw, where free textbooks have been furnished for several years, the cost is only fifty cents per pupil."

This subject instantly aroused general discussion, there being among those present active partisans on both sides of the controversy. It developed that free textbooks are being used at Republic and Twin in every township in that county, with two or three exceptions. Superintendent Cleno, of Republic, stated that six or eight years before he came to Republic, he was strongly opposed to free textbooks because he thought them unsanitary, but that after having had experience with them, he had been converted and was now an ardent champion of the system. He stated that he had never known of a single case of contagious disease coming from textbooks, and that by proper supervision on the part of the teachers, the books can be kept in better condition than if purchased and owned by the pupils. The system results in pupils remaining in school longer than they would if they had to buy their books, he said.

County Superintendent Sterne also expressed himself strongly in favor of free textbooks, while E. S. Bice of this city, and Fred Jeffers, of Painesdale, took a stand against the system. Mr. Bice thought that it was unsanitary to pass books from one pupil to another year after year, while Mr. Jeffers contended that in the higher grades at least, the pupils ought to be forced to buy their textbooks in order that they might have them in after years.

The proposed state uniformity and county uniformity plans were only casually touched upon. Mr. Wright stated that state uniformity with a maximum price fixed by law appealed to the average taxpayer who was not personally acquainted with school work and its problems, but that it was almost universally opposed by school men. He stated that he was inclined to favor county uniformity until he visited Iowa, where the system is used, but that it worked so badly there that he had changed his views.

Revised School Laws.

Amendments to the school laws adopted by the last legislature were next discussed. A bill was passed and has been signed by the governor, which specifies the holidays when the schools shall be in session and when the schools shall not be in session. This means that no session of school on New Year's day, Memorial day, Fourth of July, Labor day, Thanksgiving day, Christmas day and all Saturdays. Schools must be in session on Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays and on Columbus day, on which days appropriate patriotic exercises shall be held. Though not positive regarding the law, Mr. Wright was of the opinion that this law makes it illegal to dismiss school on any other than the prescribed holidays, such as Good Friday or the Friday after Thanksgiving, and that the substituting of another day for a holiday is illegal.

Another bill of special interest to Marquette and Ishpeming provides that in every city of 10,000 population or over, a course in physical training under the instruction of a competent teacher must be given in the public schools. The law leaves it with the state superintendent to prescribe just what shall constitute such a course within the meaning of the law, and Mr. Wright stated that he had not yet had time to consider this question.

By reason of the passage of the amendment to the constitution, which withholds further primary school money from such districts as already have enough money on hand to pay teachers two years in advance, Mr. Wright stated that the upper peninsula districts might expect an increase of about 8 per cent. in the annual primary school money distribution.

Other new laws passed provide that the school census must be taken between May 15 and June 1, and that the county

SCHOOLS OF STATE GET $7 PER CAPITA

On This Basis, Marquette County Receives $102,711—Pupils Number 14,673.

County Clerk Frank G. Jenks has received notice of the primary school money apportionment among the different districts of this county, and the money will be distributed in July. The apportionment this spring is on the basis of $7 per capita, as compared with $6.50 a year ago and as the county's population of school age has increased by 230, as compared with last year, this county will receive a total of $102,711, or $9,540 more than last June. At the meeting held yesterday, State Superintendent Wright stated that another distribution of about $1 per capita would be made in the fall, but that after this year only one apportionment would be made each year, and that in July. He also stated that he expected the income from the primary school fund to increase rather than decrease in the future.

Under the last apportionment, the various townships and cities of Marquette county will receive the following amounts:

Township/City	Pupils	Amount
Champion	446	$3,122
Chocoy	270	1,890
Ely	208	1,456
Forsyth	361	2,527

DEATH OF ED PELISSIER.

Well Known Marquette Young Man Passed Away Yesterday.

Edward J. Pelissier, a life long resident of this city, passed away at St. Mary's hospital early yesterday afternoon at the age of thirty-three. Death was caused by Bright's disease, with which he had been afflicted since last December, though he had been in the hospital but a week.

The deceased was born in this city, Aug. 9, 1878, and has resided here all his life. For several years past he has been engaged in railroad work and until ill health incapacitated him from active labor, he was employed as a conductor on the L. S. & I. road. About two years ago he started the Pelissier news stand on South Front street, which he later turned over to his sister. Two years ago next September, he married Miss Elsie Routhier, of Ishpeming, and to their union one child has been born, an infant about three weeks old.

Besides the wife and child, Mr. Pelissier is survived by a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pelissier, five brothers and four sisters: Joseph, of Munising; P. L. N. R. Chas. and Wm. J., of this city; Mrs. Clarinda LaVasseur, of Ishpeming; Mrs. Philonise Bernard, of this city; Mrs. E. J. Breganzier, of Kankakee, Ill., and Miss Virginia, of Marquette.

Mr. Pelissier was a member of Marquette council, Knights of Columbus, and of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. The funeral will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the French Catholic church, with interment in Holy Cross cemetery.

RECEIVES SAD NEWS.

Mayor Jacobs Advised of the Death of Sister in Ohio.

Mayor J. H. Jacobs yesterday received the unexpected news of the demise of his sister, Mrs. Catherine C. Fredericks, who passed away at Lorain, O. The death occurred yesterday morning. Mrs. Fredericks is survived only by one son, Dr. Fredericks of Lorain. The funeral will be held Sunday, with burial at Amherst, O. It will be attended by Miss Carrie Jacobs of this city, sister of the deceased, and who left for Lorain yesterday. Mr. Jacobs was not able to leave Marquette at this time.

POPULAR SUMMER UNDERWEAR

WE are showing many of the popular and best lines of Summer Underwear, and would suggest that you come in and ask to see them. We have taken particular care in selecting the different makes and weights, and feel that we can give you just what you want.

Summer weight Union Suits, with or without sleeves or three quarter length; also knee, ankle or three quarter leg length.

A very popular line this year is the "Lewis Suit," (perfect union suits) three quarter length inseams, the kind that does away with those unsightly wrinkles, when wearing low shoes.

Good Underwear adds considerable to a man's comfort. We have that kind.

MOTHERS' DAY TOMORROW.

Second Sunday in May Set Apart as Day Sacred to Motherhood.

Tomorrow is Mothers' Day. Three years ago in Philadelphia a movement was started that had for its object the annual observance of Mothers' Day. The second Sunday in May was selected as the date, and an appeal was made to religious, fraternal, patriotic and business organizations and schools to cooperate in the various channels of motherhood. Miss Anna Jarvis, 2031 N. Twelfth street, Philadelphia, is the founder of Mothers' day, and has prepared a special program adapted to the use of schools, Sunday schools and societies. The regular schools have their celebrations on Friday, and the Sunday schools on the day set apart.

Although the carnation has been designated as the badge of Mothers' Day, the indorsers of the movement may each wear the favorite flower of his or her mother. The national colors are the official badge gotten up for the occasion. Governor Osborn has issued a proclamation urging a special observance of the day throughout Michigan.

Marine Notes

The Samuel Mather cleared with ore from the South Shore dock yesterday, and the Castalia arrived last evening. The steamer Aztec and consort, Mizec, are unloading hard coal at Spear's dock. The Angeline is at the L. S. & I. dock.

The steamer Fayette Brown has been sold by the Northwestern Transportation Co., of which L. C. Waldo of Detroit is manager, to the Omega Transportation company, in which Cleveland people are interested. The name of the Brown has been changed to Omega. The Omega was built in 1887. She is 302 feet long, 40 feet beam and 21 feet 5 inches deep.

On account of the low water in all of the lakes this season, the officials of the Lake Carriers' association have decided to use decimals in figuring the depth of water in the various channels instead of fractions as heretofore. It is thought, by the use of decimals, masters will be more careful and will not load their boats beyond the recommended draft. All of the water-level instruments will be made to read in decimals this season. This will necessitate a change which will, no doubt, be more difficult for masters who were accustomed to the old style. Other changes will be made from time to time by the officers of the association for the best interests of mariners.

Consolidation of the Richelieu & Ontario, Northern Navigation company and Island Lines Ltd., of Canada is said to have been completed and it is expected the Canadian government will give its approval to the capitalization of the merged companies at $10,000,000. It is understood the stock control of the Northern Navigation company, recently acquired by James Playfair, was purchased at $125 a share, the price he paid, and that stock of the Island lines held by Furness interests will be secured at a slight advance over an appraisal value.

K. of C. TAKE NOTICE.
