With Only $5,000,000 on Hand and No Prospect of Borrowing More, She Again Appeals to the Great Powers, Meanwhile Suspending Offensive Measures.

News of the War Operations is a Maze of Conflicting Reports Out of Which It is Impossible to Sift the Truth—Even Tripoli's Occupation Doubtful.

London, Monday, Oct. 2.—Out of the perfect maze of conflicting reports and rumors, it is utterly impossible at the present stage to sift the grains of truth concerning the opening days of the Turkish-Italian war.

It appears even doubtful whether there has been any actual occupation of Tripoli, and it is practically certain that there has been no bombardment by Italian warships, as the only reported destruction of the Turkish fleet is untrue. In fact, the only result of the first three days' hostilities which can be vouched for is the destruction of the Turkish destroyers off Prevesa.

The Ottoman government clearly is not in a hurry, and the most significant news of the day is the decision of the Turkish council again to appeal to the powers and to the meantime suspend offensive measures. According to the Daily Telegraph's Rome correspondent, Germany and Austria already have made unofficial representations to Italy of their displeasure at her procedure and that it is expected to be followed in another shape by "humiliation to Italy."

Turkey's internal policy probably accounts in a large measure for her hesitation in taking the offensive. Said Pasha, the new grand vizier, continues his efforts to form a coalition ministry, but finds the task one of insurmountable difficulty.

Two Italian Cruisers Reported Sunk. London, Oct. 1.—The London Chronicle's Constantinople correspondent says: "News of the capture of the Italian steamship and the capture of the Italian torpedo boat, which were reported to have been captured near the entrance to the Bosphorus."

"It is rumored that Prevesa, in European Turkey, has been taken by the Italians and several Turkish ships wrecked out of coal have been seized. Close secrecy is observed as to the movements of the Turkish warships, and the newspapers are forbidden to publish any such news."

"Much is hoped from intervention by the powers, but it is reported that the sultan's personal appeal to the king of England has elicited a reply to the effect that it is too late for the powers to take any political action as Turkey desires."

"An eloquent commentary on the indolence of the former cabinet is the sight of several Turkish warships still lying idle in the Golden Horn. The opinion is held in some quarters that Turkey will not be able to hold out for long, this despite the intense desire to fight to the last. Volunteers are enrolling themselves at many places. All around the frontiers are unrest and haste in preparation."

"Turkey's chronic trouble—the lack of ready money—has become acute. She is facing the war with a ridiculously small sum in the treasury. The Ottoman public debt institution has been asked to provide $50,000,000, but it has informed the government that there is no more money available. Therefore the nation is going to war with only about $5,000,000."

Bulletins Anent the War. Tripoli, Sept. 30.—[Delayed in transmission.]—Fire was opened by the Italian fleet upon the forts this morning. It ceased almost immediately, the Turkish troops evacuating Tripoli, with the object, it appears, of preparing for resistance in the interior.

London, Monday, Oct. 2.—A dispatch to the Times from Malta says the report that no landing has occurred at Tripoli seems to be trustworthy. A Constantinople dispatch to the Times says it is reported that the Italian landed 1,600 men at Prevesa, after bombarding the forts, and then seized the promontory on which the forts are built. The Turkish garrison, retired to await reinforcements which it is believed have now arrived.

Constantinople, Oct. 1.—It is officially confirmed that the Italian squadron has bombarded Prevesa, but the landing of Italian forces there is denied. It is announced from Janina that two Italian warships yesterday bombarded the port of Roschide and the torpedo boats which at that harbor, one of which was damaged and sent its crew ashore. The Washington, Oct. 1.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Local rains, Monday and probably Tuesday; moderate winds, mostly northeast.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Hughie Jennings, manager of the Detroit baseball team, may become manager and a stockholder in the Washington team and manage the team here, said the manager. "I have been treated 'rarely' in Detroit and I am well satisfied there, but of course I would have some of my own money in the club here, and that naturally is the one thing that a fellow who has been in baseball over twenty years strives for."

Detroit, Oct. 1.—Manager Jennings tonight stated that he had been informed by President Noyes of the Washington club that he could secure a portion of the stock of the Washington team and would be acceptable as manager. Jennings said, however, that he was well satisfied in Detroit and hoped to stay here. President Noyes of the Detroit club says he has no desire to dispense with Jennings' services.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Maintaining that the policy of the United States government with relation to the public coal lands is not open to the criticism advanced against it, and that it is designed to prevent monopolization and to encourage development, Walter L. Fisher, secretary of the interior, tonight made public his reply to a protest against that policy submitted to him last June by Representative Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming.

Representative Mondell charged that the prices fixed by the government on public coal lands were prohibitive, that they paralyzed the coal industry of the West, resulted in increasing the cost of coal to the consumer from fifty cents to $1 a ton, and that they created a monopoly in the hands of the government and those who acquired coal lands prior to the classification policy July 1, 1907.

When Senator Stephenson first was elected to the senate in 1907, to fill the unexpired term of John C. Spooner, it is alleged the Legislature exacted a bribe and other corrupt use of money contributed to his election on March 4, 1909. Three members of the sub-committee of the committee on privileges and elections of the United States senate are ready to begin the inquiry.

One of the contentions which it is said will be made in Senator Stephenson's behalf is that "there is nothing to investigate," since the United States senate was authorized to inquire into his election by the joint session of the Wisconsin legislature on March 4, 1909, whereas he really was elected, after being nominated by the primary, by the legislature on Jan. 29, 1909, when the two houses elected him by separate votes.

LIST OF DEAD AT AUSTIN, PA., IS CUT DOWN

Estimates of the Number of People Who Met Their Doom When Great Flood Overwhelmed the Village Saturday Afternoon Now Range from 150 to 300.

Buildings Were Demolished When Hit by Mighty Wall of Water Released by Bursting of Big Dam and Huge Pile of Debris Marks Site Where Town Stood.

Austin, Pa., Oct. 1.—Estimates of the loss of life in the flood that overwhelmed the town of Austin late yesterday afternoon diminish today when an army of volunteer rescuers worked its way into the mass of wreckage. In the opinion of many on the ground, the number of deaths will not reach 150, while the less hopeful place the list of fatalities at three hundred.

Money Loss Exceeds $6,000,000. The property loss will exceed six million dollars and it is the general opinion that the town will be rebuilt, at least the large plants will be reconstructed and the majority of the business of the place have been financially ruined. The town was overwhelmed by a deluge in Sinnamahoning creek that resulted from the break in the huge concrete dam of the Bayless Pulp & Paper company.

The state officials in charge of the situation, after a hasty canvass of the population, today expressed the belief that not more than 150 are dead in the wreckage. Only sixteen bodies had been recovered at a late hour tonight. Chief of Police Baker, however, believes that fully three hundred are dead or missing.

The five hundred men who had toiled all day in a heavy rainstorm had to abandon their task at the beginning of darkness. Although they had moved mighty heaps of debris, fought fire and worked on without food, seeking to recover bodies of the dead, less than a score of victims had been found. A battalion of state police then surrounded the town and no person without a pass was permitted to enter.

Only Three Dead at Costello. Reports from Costello and points further down the valley grew more encouraging as the day advanced. At Costello, while there was a heavy financial loss, it was said that no more than three persons were dead. Beyond that point no fatalities had been recorded.

The survivors will not suffer from hunger nor lack of care, as the supplies and medical assistance rushed to the scene in ample care for them. The homeless have all been provided with shelter. Provisions continue to arrive in large quantities.

Many evidences of the tremendous power of the flood were seen today by the workers in the town. Engines weighing twenty-four tons had been rolled along the ground, an immense steel hopper was carried a half mile and thrown through the side of a house and immense steel cars were bent double.

The greatest damage was done by piles of lumber carried before the flood. These acted as great battering rams, which swept buildings from their foundations and unquestionably caused the death of scores who otherwise might have escaped after surviving the first rush of the water.

Danger Long Realized. An investigation into the cause of the breaking of the dam will be started at once, according to the officials in charge of the work of rescue. That there had been constant danger of the catastrophe of yesterday, due to the instability of the company's immense timber dam, was known to many residents of the town and a thorough investigation is demanded by many of the survivors.

The immediate scene of the obliteration of Austin covers an area three-eighths of a mile wide and one and three-quarters miles long. This comprised the business district and the valley residence portion. Nearly a mile above stood the mammoth concrete dam of the Bayless Pulp & Paper company, 600 feet long, 32 feet high and 20 feet thick at the bottom, tapering to a thickness of three feet at the top.

Back of this dam yesterday lay a reservoir of water a mile and a half long and an average of thirty-five feet deep. Directly in front of the dam stood the plant of the Bayless company, with four main buildings. Stacked high nearby were 700,000 cords of fifty-inch wood and slabs, and also a portion of the stantial business buildings along the town in the Austin valley fifteen million feet of hardwood and twenty-five million feet of hemlock. It was valued at $2,000,000.

Town Obliterated in Five Minutes. A mill stream called Freeman Run flowed through the town. The town proper was a smart little place of comfortable frame houses and more substantial business buildings along the main street, which ran from side to side across the ravine.

Five minutes after the dam burst, this stage had been swept of its scenery and setting. Along the foothills of the town the collapsed houses. At either end of Main street, brick buildings acted as buffers as the twenty-five foot wall of water rushed downward toward the town with its mass of debris. All most high, the wood, steel and brick were piled, a strange mixture of the contents of stores and homes and varied lengths of timbers and sticks.

The wreckage of the dam had been as complete as it was sudden. Two fan-like sections of the dam, 150 feet wide, were thrown out bottom, lying the immense gates of a canal lock. The outward swing was more than fifty feet

A SQUARE DEAL ALL AROUND— THAT'S ALL.

The Ishpeming Iron Ore comments at length on the steps the city of Marquette is taking to secure a new equalization of Marquette county, but it shows that it misapprehends the spirit in which the movement has been undertaken, and its purpose. It assumes that Marquette city proposes to ask for special favors and that it particularly desires to "soak the mines" with an unfair proportion of the taxes.

Each of these things is equally foreign to Marquette's aim. It is not the purpose to ask for any special favors, and there is no intention of seeking to have the mines "soaked." Indeed the movement that Marquette is engaged in is one of a nature to decrease the amount of taxation that the mines would otherwise have to bear, for expert inspection of the assessment rolls indicates that gross undervaluations can be found in the non-mining townships.

The tax commission will be in Marquette the latter part of the week. All the mining companies have been cited to appear before it. The purpose of the commission is well understood. It is to distribute, in accordance with the findings of Expert Finlay, among the mining companies of the county some $20,000,000 or more of increased values. Because of the limitations of its published call, and because of the limited time before the county board of equalization is to meet, it will be impossible to have the commission review any other than mining property.

It thus follows, unless the city of Marquette presented the data it is now busy in collecting, that the board of equalization would meet with an apparent duty of equalizing the county in a manner that would, in truth, "soak the mines," for they would have to be given practically all the increased value placed upon the county. But Marquette city will present data that will warrant a broader distribution of this added tax burden. Marquette's campaign, therefore, is more likely to help than to injure the mines, if the board of supervisors will do its work fairly.

The Mining Journal does not believe that the Iron Ore will have any serious misgivings about the intentions of the Marquette men, once it thoroughly understands them. All Marquette's representatives will ask is that the board of equalization give a full and comprehensive consideration to the question of relative values in the cities and townships of the county. They will have a mass of facts, not mere assertions, to present to the members, and it will be a desirable thing if other facts are submitted from other sources. Where gross undervaluations are shown in townships their valuations should be largely increased in a tentative equalization table. The increases the state board will give the mines should be taken cognizance of. If it appears that Marquette city's present valuation should be increased in this tentative schedule, to obtain equitable results, well and good; let it be increased. When it is decided that the figures for the cities and townships are in the correct proportion, let them all be scaled down, if necessary, to give a total of $54,000,000, the amount at which the county has been equalized by the state board. All that Marquette asks is a fair showdown on demonstrable facts and figures and a square deal all along the line, from mine owner to the man who has title to a cottage.

The Iron Ore, The Mining Journal is certain, can have no objection to this proposal. The Iron Ore doubtless will grant that there has never in the history of the county, been an adequate and fair equalization. The assessing officers' work has been accepted with little or no effort to determine whether the rate of assessment they applied has been 30 or 80 per cent. The equalizations have been conspicuous in the lack of all the qualities which should have characterized them, and it's high time that at least one equalization was made properly. The Mining Journal believes the Iron Ore will say Amen to this proposition.

Marquette city has been paying one-quarter of the state and county taxes levied because Expert Finlay found some $30,000,000 of unassessed values in the mines, and because the state board of equalization placed over $20,000,000 of this amount against the county. Does the Iron Ore consider that Marquette is asking for a favor when it asks an equalization that will relieve it of this proposed additional tax? Or is it asking merely for justice and a square deal? If a thorough and impartial investigation into the facts surrounding assessment values in Marquette county demonstrates that Marquette should pay one-quarter of the state and county tax, if it is made plain that all property in the county is now assessed at between 70 and 80 per cent of true value, which is about the average assessment in Marquette, and that the present equalization, therefore is a fair one, this city will gladly go on paying 25 per cent of these state and county taxes, if it desires to carry its full share of the burden. It will not approach the county board as a beggar for alms, but as a suitor for justice. What will be shown is that, as Tax Commissioner Shields has stated, Marquette is the highest assessed city on the iron ranges, and that the proportion of the state and county taxes levied against Marquette is, and has been, excessive. The city has been bearing a tax burden that other property in the county has been shirking, and all the shirking has not been done by the mines, either.

A word about personal property is not amiss. It has been suggested that if Marquette should make itself disagreeable there might be retaliation in the way of uncovering large values in personal property in this city that are now on the assessment roll. This will afflict no one. The personal property assessments here are no more subject to criticism than they are elsewhere in the county. There is little trace to be found on the tax rolls of any of the numerous huge fortunes owned in the county. Personal property in the form of stocks, bonds, and other capital securities is hard to locate for taxing purposes, and nowhere do the assessors have much success in finding it. The Mining Journal believes that if this question is approached by the supervisors and the other interests in the county with some breadth of view and a desire to attain honest and equitable results, there will be little difficulty in making an equalization that will do substantial justice to all the cities and townships of the county, and that will impose no unreasonable burden on any city, township or interest. It seems very clear to The Mining Journal that the interests of the mining companies lies on the side of a thorough inquiry. Under the existing circumstances, they are bound to be valued and taxed heavily. It now is to their advantage to see that grossly undervalued property outside of their holdings is brought up where it belongs.

As was generally expected would be the case, Chief Clancy, of the Milwaukee fire department, has been removed by the board of fire commissioners. Socialist members furnished two of the four votes cast against him. Only one vote was cast for his retention. There is emphatic dissent in many quarters from this action. The principal issue was the one of the chief's incompetency. The Milwaukee Sentinel regards the finding that he is incompetent as farcical, stating the case in favor of ability to administer the department efficiently as follows: "(1) The practical demonstration of administrative efficiency afforded by Mr. Clancy's excellent record for the past three years or so as the chief of the department; (2) the voluntary and enthusiastic testimony to his efficiency by practically every prominent fire insurance agency or representative in the city; (3) the splendid and unanimously endorsed professional tributes to Mr. Clancy by the convention of fire chiefs (the foremost experts in the country) held while his trial was going on; (4) the finding of the fire commissioners is generally regarded as having had a political basis, and bias. Chief Clancy will carry his fight to the courts, and the Sentinel says that unless it is mistaken, "the outcome will show this 'trial' by a quasi-political commission as a travesty on judicial justice and procedure."

Collector of Customs Loeb, of New York, is regarded as a probable choice for the post of chairman of the Republican National committee next year, and in well-informed quarters it is regarded as likely that he will, at some early date, be sounded by a friend of President Taft to ascertain whether he would undertake the great responsibility of directing the campaign. He is regarded as particularly available for the position because of his wide acquaintance with Republican leaders in both factions, the confidence they feel in him and his extensive experience in politics. Collector Loeb was among the few truly great presidents' secretaries, and his services to ex-President Roosevelt were invaluable. President Taft's secretary, Mr. Hilges, is regarded as another man who may take up the duties of national chairman, and many people think he is well equipped for the post, but his qualifications do not compare with those of Mr. Loeb. A selection for the position will have to be made before many months have elapsed.

The editor of the Iron Ore is a good sportsman. Commenting on the results of the baseball season he remarks: "Negaunee has the pennant, whatever that is, and it has won it by playing the game for all there was in it. We don't feel a bit badly about it. Negaunee paid its money for a winning team and was successful in landing in first place. It was lucky in getting a fast lot of men early in the season and it laid out and developed them, the team work counting. Ishpeming finished last, and we are not mourning over that. We had some really good ball players, a few very fast boys who will be seen in some of the big leagues later. We had a few who will be assisting in this upper peninsula farm movement, being too strong for sport. We have enjoyed all the games and the league can be described as a success. Ishpeming has all its bills paid and is ready for another year."

Evidently Senator Cummins had more trouble getting on easy terms with President Taft than did Senator Bristow. At least Senator Cummins confined his attentions to the presidential party to one appearance with it, at Des Moines, whereas Senator Bristow and Governor Stubbs accompanied the president on practically all of his journey through Kansas. It is remarked that the cordial attitude of the Kansas insurgents toward the president while he was the guest of the state has won much approval for them and helped their cause. It always pays to be gracious.

There's no necessity of anyone getting on edge over this question of equalization. If it is approached in a spirit of fairness and with a desire to obtain equitable results, all around the task of making a generally acceptable equalization should prove a comparatively easy one.

Well, which is it: Did Judge Adams quit the Jackson prison board because he needed his time for his own business, because he resented Governor Osborn's so-called interference, or because the governor intimated to him that his resignation would be accepted without any hesitation?

As a matter of fact, The Mining Journal believes that Editor Newett, of the Ishpeming Iron Ore, would not hesitate to endorse just the kind of an equalization Marquette city would like to get, namely, one that would apply the rule of the "square deal" all around.

Consequence. "The party will recover from this check," said Mayor Craig Covington, apropos of a temporary setback. "They say the party will be broken. I'd reply that it will be about as much broken as young Lansing's coat."

"A chorus girl who had refused young Lansing said to a friend: "I have broken his heart, I fear." "You have. You certainly have," the friend replied. "You've broken it right in half."

"In half? What do you mean?" "I mean that he takes two girls out to supper every night now."

Notice! Senator LaFollette, apropos of the congressional investigating committee now scouring the country, said the other day in Madison: "John W. Gates declared in his last days that it was a crime in America to own ten cents. If these investigating committees achieve as much as some folks hope they will, our malefactors of great wealth will have to get notices to stick on their doors:

Here and There

The great tunnel under the Elbe which will link up St. Paul and Steinwader is now nearing completion, and it is hoped that the inauguration ceremony can take place within the next two months. The tunnel, which will shorten the route between the two suburbs by over four kilometers, has cost over 14,000,000 marks to construct.

There are forty-nine superintendents, five county clerks, five county treasurers, six clerks of the district court, ten registers of deeds, two probate judges and one mayor, all women, holding office in Kansas at this time. Says the Kansas City Star: "All of these women are holding office by the virtue of the votes of men alone, except the one woman mayor, who was elected by both men and women. There are seventy-four other women, elected to their positions by the votes of men. It is estimated that 2,000 women are in public service in Kansas, elective and otherwise."

The recent denunciations of the hat check nuisance as practiced in restaurants, and the refusal to refuse to give his hat to a many buttoned boy in a restaurant lobby on Thursday evening. A larger boy followed him into the dining room, demanded the hat, said it was the rule and was upheld in his demand by the head waiter. After a few words of further protest the hat was surrendered, a check handed over and the man and the woman accompanying him had their dinner. Leaving the place he did not redeem his hat. "Tomorrow is the last day for straw hats, and I'll keep the check till next season and demand my property. In the meantime I know at least one man who refused to be held up."—New York Tribune.

The London authorities have just published the results of an experiment made by Dr. Houston, the water expert, who purposely drank unfiltered water from the Thames, known to contain 218,000,000 bacilli of typhoid, in order to see what the result would be. It was found that Dr. Houston suffered no ill effects as the germs in the river water did not seem to have great vitality. It is agreed by doctors, however, that whether a person takes a disease in such a case depends mainly on his physical condition; people who are run down will get it when those that are healthy will not.

That infants have an earning capacity in at least one country is made clear by this story from the current issue of the American Traveler's Gazette: "A sailor who spent some years in Ceylon asserts that the Cingalese mothers regularly bite out their babies as crocodile bait. These are his words: 'Baby bite is the only thing for crocodiles, and even young ones will eat it. I baby down there for 2 shillings a day. Of course, no harm ever comes to the babies, or else the mothers wouldn't rent them. The babies are simply set on the soft mud bank of a crocodile stream and the hunter then feeds them—sure and fast—until they are big enough to eat. In he comes, a greedy look in his dull eyes, and then you open fire. Some Cingalese women make as much as 8 shillings a week out of renting their babies for bait.'"

NOTABLE TRIUMPH WON IN THE ORIENT

Washington, Oct. 1.—A noted professor from the University of Chicago who spent several months in the Philippine Islands as lecturer at the Teachers' Vacation assembly conducted by the bureau of education every year at Baguio, the summer capital of the islands, returned recently to the United States and in speaking of the work of the schools there just before he sailed said: "Other nations one of these days will be coming to the Philippines to see how the educational triumphs have been won."

Without question one of the triumphs of America in the Orient is the wonderful work that has been accomplished there by the public school system during the ten years since its organization. From a mere handful of pupils and an expenditure of a few thousand dollars in 1901 the system has developed until now it reaches into every town and nearly every village of the island, and last year it instructed more than half a million boys and girls, and the Philippine government spent over three and a quarter million dollars of local revenue for education.

The services of over nine thousand American and Filipino teachers are employed in the various schools of the islands as supervisors and class room teacher of the academic and technical subjects of the courses of study.

The University of Chicago sent Dr. Sheppard and Dr. Goode, two of its ablest and most successful extension lecturers, to Manila during the past vacation to remain in residence at the Vacation assembly of teachers and conduct educational courses during the session.

In returning to the class of men and women engaged in the education at work there they speak in the highest terms: "I have seen many gatherings of educators, but none which average higher than this one. The reason, no doubt, is that nowhere else could such a com-

Copper Country

HON. P. H. O'BRIEN DECLARES HIS CHOICE

Judge-Elect of the Copperdom Circuit Favors Gov. Wilson as Party's Candidate.

Hon. Patrick H. O'Brien of Laurium, who will become judge of the Twelfth circuit, succeeding Hon. Albert T. Streeter of Houghton, Jan. 1, has come out strongly for Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey for the Democratic nomination for president. The judge-elect gave out an interview to that effect the other day in Detroit.

Mr. O'Brien is the leader of the Democracy in the copper country and as he has been elected to the most important office won by a Democrat in a generation in the upper peninsula he may be looked upon as the logical leader of the Democracy in the entire region. But he is not speaking for the copper country Democracy in advocating Governor Wilson, not just for his own ends.

A Detroit Wilson evangelist was in the copper country recently and he made no avowed converts. The Mining Journal was assured at that time that the Democracy of the copper country was not ready to commit itself. This assurance came from three leaders of the party, one of whom shares with Judge-elect O'Brien the highest place in the esteem of the copper country Democracy. The leaders said that the Democrats of the copper country did not care to take sides as yet, as between Wilson or Harmon, for instance, because the Democracy realizes that it has a chance in the next presidential election and wants to be prepared to steer itself into the most favorable political breeze. The copper country Democracy is waiting till it is pretty certain which hand wagon is going to be nearest the head of the procession.

In any event, the O'Brien interview is interesting and it here gives in part, Governor Wilson is gaining throughout the state. He represents the highest ideals of the progressive wing of the party along conservative lines. He is not too extremely radical for a presidential candidate and the party can make no mistake in choosing him as their standard bearer. I believe he can command a larger 'outside' vote than can any of the other men mentioned and that he can swing into the Democratic ranks more of what we call the independent or undecided vote than any of the others. While I admire greatly the other men mentioned, such as Harmon and Champ Clark, I cannot but believe that Governor Wilson's administration in New Jersey and the part he has advocated mark him prominently as a man of presidential caliber. He stands more than any of the other men mentioned for those ideals of the progressive portion of the party and is the only man who can pull the party above that criticism so often leveled against it is one of negation.

"The next platform of the Democratic party will be constructive. It will be one that will be representative of those progressive ideals the country now demands, the ideals that are in the minds of the people at this time. There is no Democrat in public office now who is so recognized as progressive as is Governor Wilson. His administration, too, shows he is not radical. He will have the support of both wings of the party if nominated."

COPPERDOM FAIR COMES TO AN END

A Great Success in All but Attendance—Bad Weather Kept Crowds Down.

The Copper Country Fair closed Saturday night. This year's edition was a great success from the point of view of the quality of the exhibits, but it is doubtful if it was profitable, because the very unfavorable weather kept the crowds down.

There was much interest in the school corn contest, of which Professor Leo M. Geismar of Chatham was judge. Ontonagon county won over all competitors. The following were the winners: Best corn grown in the four counties—First, Ed. Millard of Ontonagon, gold medal; second, Phoebe Jackson of L'Anse, silver medal.

Essays for prize offered by Commissioner of Baraga county—First, Teresa Serantany of Baraga; second, Ida Simla, Alice Gornach and Lempi Lauka Simla of Keweenaw Bay; third, Lydia Simla, Francis Mathews, Lena Simla, Alice Gornach and Lempi Lauka Simla of Houghton; fourth, Lydia Hocking, Houghton; Albert Savelle, Chassell; Carl Lorenz, Atlantic.

Baraga county—Phoebe Jackson, L'Anse; Theresa Serantany, Baraga; George Latorpess, Keweenaw Bay; Ontonagon county—Ed. Millard, Irene Hessel and Dorothy Buras, all of Ontonagon.

Keweenaw county—Mary Mattee, Eagle River; Mand Luokkonen, Mohawk; Arthur Soronen, Mohawk.

Grange Grains and Grasses.

Only three granges had entries in the contest for grains and grasses. The winners were awarded as follows: First, Baraga county; second, Fayette Grange, Delta county; third, Trap Rock River Grange, Lake Linden.

A layman might be excused for thinking that the Copper Country Fair might demonstrate that some crop out of all exhibited might have qualities which would lend themselves readily to the exploitation of the crop as a commercial proposition in the region. However, there were few things growable in the Copper Country at this time that were not shown, and inquiries from experts as to any crop of particular promise to the farmers of the copper country invariably led to the statement that anything can be grown in this neck of the woods.

In the grain department, Superintendent Cosgrove showed samples of wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, peas, beans and grass seed which he declared could not be beaten in any farming region of the United States. He would pick none of these things as a crop on which a copper country farmer might build a specialty. The one concession he would make was that there is not a sufficient acreage in the copper country to permit of wheat growing on a large scale.

JUDICIAL RECALL IS ATTACKED BY GIBBONS

Referendum and Direct Election of Senators Also Denounced by the Cardinal.

Sunday, the 15th inst., and continues until the 19th.

Defining the duties of his brethren of the laity he exhorted them to be faithful to the practice of their religion and urged them as citizens of the United States to take a patriotic part in every measure that contributes to the progress of the commonwealth.

"No man should be a drone in the social bee hive," said His Eminence. "No citizen should be an indifferent spectator if you question the members of the questions that are agitated around him."

"At the present moment there are three political problems which are engaging the serious attention of our public men.

"It is proposed that United States senators should be elected by popular vote instead of being chosen by the legislature, as is prescribed by the Constitution.

"It is proposed that the acts of our legislators, before they have the force of law, should be subject to the suffrage of the people who would have the right to vote.

"It is proposed to recall or remove an unpopular judge before the expiration of his term of office.

"You question the ability, the sincerity and the patriotism of the advocates of these changes in our organic laws. But I hope I may not be presumptuous in saying that, in my opinion, the wisdom of the proposed amendments must be seriously questioned.

ELECTORS OF MEXICO CAST THEIR BALLOTS

Madero Is Chosen for the Presidency—Second Place Is in Doubt.

Mexico City, Oct. 1.—Raising his belief upon information received from Madero, J. R. Madero, Jr., whom the people of Mexico today officially elected president, declared that his candidate for the vice presidency, Jose Pino Suarez, had also been elected vice president.

"We have won by a big majority in the capital," said Madero. "I am more than pleased that the people have proved my assertion that they were able to hold an open election."

At 9 o'clock Madero's central committee claimed 70 per cent of the federal district vote for the Madero-Suarez ticket. A third of the vote remains to be counted. The electoral college will have in it no fewer than twenty thousand delegates, and the party leaders announce that if the vote today indicates defeat will not occur working to change this in the vote of the electors on Oct. 15.

The system adopted made voting easy. Precincts were established on a basis of one for every hundred of population, each being entitled to one elector in the electoral college. It was an open ballot and as each vote was passed, checkers marked up the total, so that at all times it was possible to know who was winning.

De La Barra and Madero voted in different parts of the city. Madero voted a straight ticket, but De La Barra cast his ballot for Jose Leguna, whose name appears as a candidate for elector on no ticket.

CALUMET
BAKING POWDER

The wonder of baking powders—Calumet. Wonderful in its raising powers—its uniformity, its never failing results, its purity.

Wonderful in its economy. It costs less than the high-price trust brands, but it is worth as much. It costs a trifle more than the cheap and big can kinds—it is worth more. But proves its real economy in the baking.

and automobile and travel of all sorts) those who would have been considered old once are now only seventy or seventy-five years young.

Not only is there no definite period in adult or later life when these so-called senile changes begin, but there is no period at which they become accelerated or start to progress at a more rapid rate than before. In fact, the extraordinary paradox exists that what we term old age is the time of life in which we are growing old least rapidly. The only thing that makes it appear otherwise is that we have been steadily growing old all our lives long and the thousands of perceptible accumulations have mounted to a pitch which we can recognize.

ITS TWENTY-SIXTH YEAR.

Michigan College of Mines to Reopen Tomorrow Morning.

The Michigan College of Mines will resume work tomorrow morning, after the annual September vacation. No special preparation is being made for the event. Inquiry at the college reveals that there seems to be the usual number of new students, but that as registration has not begun, no information as to the number may be given out.

There will be a few changes in the faculty, but as a general proposition the new year will open with no outward indications that there has been a cessation of activity at the college at all. The college tomorrow will enter upon its twenty-sixth year.

NAVY MAY HAVE TO BUILD.

Private Yards Won't Bid on Warships Owing to Eight-Hour Law.

Washington, Sept. 29.—President W. A. Post of the Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock company has announced that on account of the eight-hour restriction of the recent naval act, his company would not bid for either of the great battleships authorized by congress in March. Mr. Post believed all the private shipbuilding plants would refuse to submit bids for the new ships. According to Mr. Post, the law authorizing the construction of the battleships provides that if the private builder violates any provision of the eight-hour law, the appropriation shall be withheld. This is the feature which has been the subject of particular objection. It has been understood that the company confidently expected to build at least one of the new ships.

The government may have to build the two battleships at its navy yards if the Newport News and other shipbuilding companies refuse to bid for their construction. Should the other companies follow the course announced by the Newport News concern, congress would be compelled to increase the appropriation of $10,000,000 it already has made. The naval bill provides for no part of the appropriation shall be spent in yards not complying with the eight-hour law. Whether or not this means that payment would be withheld in the event of a violation by the builders has not been passed upon by the department. Bids for the new ships will be advertised in about three months. The vessels, which probably will be named Oklahoma and Nevada, will be among the largest and most powerful ever constructed.

FISHERMAN CAPTURES DEER SWIMMING IN THE OCEAN NEAR THE BOSTON LIGHT.

Boston, Sept. 29.—Vincenzo Ruggiero, one of the skippers of the Blue Heron, a motor dory that put out from T wharf, is a fisherman, a big game hunter and a policeman. He caught a buck deer while cruising outside Boston light and the deer is now under arrest at station 1. Vincenzo, chugging along in a moderately heavy sea, was surprised to antlered head off to starboard. Nothing in the experience of his fishing days, and his festal days ashore offered an explanation, but with a prayer to the saints that guard the mariner he put alongside. He found a small buck deer, almost exhausted from swimming and on the point of sinking.

Pulling the little animal aboard, Vincenzo bound its legs and made for the city with his novel catch. The deer was taken ashore at the Eastern Packet company's pier and the police were requested to send a patrol wagon. The deer was carried like an ordinary drunk and disorderly to station 1, but there his reception was kind. He was placed out in the little stable yard and given water and hay and other kind things until he was fed. For which his swim seemed to have given him an indomitable taste.

The game commissioners were notified and will try to find the owner of the animal, which is thought to have been a pet. The deer's right ear has two notches. It is thought by the police that he swam from Nahant.

WORTH LOOKING AT.

A member of the cottage colony of Long Branch took a guest for a ride on the sight-seeing coach which makes the tour along the ocean. Passing a modest turnout, of which neither the vehicle nor the horses—a gray and a bay—would attract attention, a self-appointed "guide" among the passengers said: "There's something worth looking at. That's Mr. Lehman's team, the little girl driving is his daughter. The same outfit—horses, carriage, harness and the man on the box did service for the president's mother when she was no older than that little driver. How's that for keeping things in the family?"

OPPOSES INNOVATIONS.

"The election of senators by the votes of the people involves the destruction of the checks and balances against dangerous popular encroachments. There is given for the contemplated change is that many of our state legislatures are charged with being venal, and that it is easier to corrupt the legislature than the whole people. In reply I would say: If you question the members of the legislature how can you trust their constituents from whom they spring? If you cannot confide in our legislators, you cannot confide in human government, nor in human nature itself. If a man's legislative honesty has been found guilty of bribery, it is most unjust to involve all the others in their condemnation. I have sufficient confidence in the moral integrity of our legislators to be convinced that the great majority of them have never bent the knee to Mammon.

"To give to the masses the right of annulling the acts of the legislature, is to substitute mob law for established law.

"To recall a judge because his decisions do not meet with popular approval is an insult to the dignity of the judiciary, and the self-respect of our people. Far less menacing to the commonwealth is an occasional corrupt incompetent judge, than one who would be the habitual slave of a capricious multitude. What has been done in the ground trying to find out the verdict of the people.

"The Constitution of the United States is the palladium of our liberties and our landmark in our march of progress. That instrument has been framed by the wisest and enlightened men of the fathers of the republic. Its wisdom has been tested and successfully proved over a trial of a century and a quarter. It has weathered the storms of the century which is passed, and it should be trusted for the centuries to come. The better speedier protection against fire than the city has ever known before.

Six high-pressure hose wagons, one water tower, one steam pumping gasolene-propelled fire engine—all motor vehicles—form the present nucleus for the new department. Motor trucks have already displaced the horse in the repair service. Eight of the fastest and most efficient fire-fighting machines in the world are now building for New York at an approximate cost of $1,000 each, while in addition the apparatus board is pouring over plans and specifications for 125 more machines to be ordered and delivered before the close of 1912. At that time, the commissioner estimates, one-third of the horses will have been eliminated. Besides the motor trucks, an order and building twenty-five motor propelled "scout" chemical engines with a speed of thirty-five miles an hour—three times as great as that of the horse-drawn truck. Many an incident of fire disaster will be checked by the quick response of these "scouts"; the commissioner believes. It is his plan to press the high speed lever throughout the department in installing the new motors, to place the force on a thirty-five miles an hour or better basis.

Once the horse is replaced, the commissioner says, the annual cost of maintenance will come topping down to 15 per cent or thereabouts of its present level. A team of three horses cost $600 a year for upkeep; a $10,000 horse engine 885 for fuel and oil. Reckoned expense is correspondingly less, he says, while the life of the motor fire engine is three that of the horse-drawn vehicle. In addition, the department has been purchasing $180 or 200 horses annually at a cost of $350 to $450 each; this outlay will be entirely eliminated.

As fast as the new apparatus arrives, the horses drawing the old will be sold, to be placed, for the most part, between the shafts of East Side peddlers' carts.

OLD AGE OUT OF FASHION.

Healthy, Active, Happy People Stay Young Until They Die.

Careful studies and measurements have shown that our time of actual maturity and arrest of growth in physical characters, such as height, weight, and chest girth, is much later than formerly supposed. Instead of reaching, as was at one time confidently stated, our full height at eighteen, our full strength at twenty-three, and our full chest girth at twenty-five, as a matter of fact we continue to increase slowly it is true, in all these respects until thirty-five, thirty-eight or even forty years of age.

By living a healthful, active, happy life and keeping up all our interest, declares Dr. Woods Hutchinson in Hampton's, we can grow and develop and adjust ourselves and feel that we are growing until we are one day suddenly dead, without ever realizing in any distressing or painful way that we are growing old at all.

Already old age has gone quite out of fashion. The civilized, educated man or woman of seventy is younger than the savage of forty or the peasant of fifty. What with steady spread of regular vacations and country or suburban homes, and walking clubs, and golf, and gardens,

CALUMET WINS FROM HUBBELL.

Renwick's Pitching and Peterson's Homer Feature 3 to 2 Ball Game.

The Calumet baseball team defeated practically an all-star team at Athletic Park, Calumet, Saturday, when it won from Hubbell, which club has been trimming the visitors 3 to 2 in seven innings. Renwick's pitching and a home run by Al Peterson of Calumet were the features. Renwick struck out ten men, including the three leaguers, two of whom he fanned twice each.

Members of the Philadelphia Nationals, Becker of Columbus and Valliere of Toledo. Chaput and Valliere struck out twice each. Valliere and Chaput each got their base on balls twice, and Becker once.

Valliere refused to pitch for Hubbell, because of the cold weather, and played on first base. Chaput played in left field and Becker in right. Of the three, Becker was the only one to get a hit. In the second inning Peterson drove the ball ten feet over the left field fence for a home run. This probably was the longest hit ever made on the field, the ball going into the back yard of a residence across Elm street.

HOUGHTON HIGHS AGAIN WIN.

Calumet Loses to Prospective Football Champions, 6 to 11.

The players and coaches of the Houghton High school football team, as well as every member of the school, look for the eleven to win the championship this season. Houghton defeated Hancock a week ago. Last Saturday it defeated Calumet, 11 to 6. The line-ups in this game were as follows:

Referee, L. G. Christman; umpire, Stenley Chafin; field judge, D. G. Brown; head linesman, F. J. Platt.

CORN WILL BE THE KING.

But the close investigation seems to reveal that it will be the king in the copper country in years to come.

There were 256 exhibits in the school corn contest, to say nothing of the exhibits by farmers. All indications are that the copper country will be a great corn country in coming years. John C. Mann's demonstration of the saleable qualities of Houghton sweet corn is sufficient evidence of that without the additional evidence of the fine exhibit at the fair.

Superintendent Croker of the vegetable department insists that a copper country farmer can specialize on anything and make a success of it. He is a firm believer in the future of the copper country farms and is certain a farmer in this region could make a fortune in the United States. He would pick none of these things as a crop on which a copper country farmer might build a specialty. The one concession he would make was that there is not a sufficient acreage in the copper country to permit of wheat growing on a large scale.

PROSECUTES OWN MEMBERS.

Painesdale Rod & Gun Club Helping to Enforce State Game Laws.

An example of the way in which the members of the Painesdale Rod & Gun club are going after violators of the game laws was shown the past week, when the officers of the organization had one of their most prominent members arrested for shooting partridge out of season. More arrests will follow.

There are any number of good sportsmen on the South range who would like to bag a few birds at this time of the year, and who could easily do so, were it not for the game laws. However, they refrain from going into the woods and when the season does open the less principled hunters have killed off practically all other birds in the vicinity and there are some left for the true sportsmen.

The officers of the club were much incensed when they learned that one of their members had been out in the woods several times already this season and had bagged several good strings of birds. An investigation was made, with the result that the man was arrested and paid a large fine.

AUTOMOBILISTS ORGANIZE.

Copper Country Club Elects Officers for the Ensuing Year.

The following officers were elected Saturday by the Copper Country Automobile club: President, B. S. Sheldon, Houghton; vice president, Fred S. East, Calumet; secretary and treasurer, W. D. Calverley, Houghton; board of managers, the officers and and Johnson Vivian of Calumet, J. L. Harris of Hancock, H. S. Goodell of Painesdale, and A. F. Heidkamp of Lake Linden. The managers will name a number of honorary vice presidents in various parts of the copper country, and these men will be expected to work in the interest of good roads in their localities. Within a few days the club will make a demonstration of the road-making qualities of the King split log drag.

Miss Emily Phelps left last evening for New York city, where she will resume her studies at Miss Spence's school. She was accompanied by Miss Bessie Smith, of Brooklyn, who has been a guest at the Phelps residence for several weeks.

Colonial Inn Closed—The Colonial Inn on Front street, conducted by Miss Annie Fagan, closed its doors Saturday night. It is understood that the management has not found the business a profitable one. A Mr. Porter, of Iron Mountain, has leased the building, and it is stated that he will open a restaurant as soon as he can make necessary arrangements. Mr. Porter is expected to arrive in Marquette this morning.

Telephone Girls' Ball—The annual ball given by the Michigan State Telephone company operators will be held at Fraternity Hall this evening. The parties given by the telephone girls in the past have proven very enjoyable functions and it is promised that the party to arrive in Marquette this evening. Trombly's orchestra will furnish the music and all who attend are assured of a pleasant evening.

Had Trout and Birds—Deputy Game Warden Mosher arrested John G. Raisen, of Michigan, about three miles south of that place yesterday, on the charge of violation of the game laws. When arrested, Mr. Mosher states, Raisen had a number of brook trout and several partridges in his possession. Raisen will be given a hearing before Justice Argall in Negaunee today.

Vault at Cemetery—Paveggio Bros., of this city, are cutting stone for a vault to be built in Holy Cross cemetery. As the foundation is to be of concrete it is probable that actual construction work will not be begun until spring. A part of the stone was donated by Treblecock Bros. of Ishpeming, and part was obtained from J. M. Longyear. The vault will be well and artistically built and will be an ornament to the cemetery.

Checking Up Cigar Makers—John R. Macdonald, of Hubbell, deputy internal revenue collector, is making a tour of the cigar factories of the upper peninsula, for the purpose of ascertaining the number of cigars manufactured which are either smoked in the factory or given away, and collecting the revenue upon the same for two years back. Mr. Macdonald's action follows a new ruling which upsets former cigar factory traditions that a journeyman cigar maker is entitled to his daily allotment of "smokes," or that a cigar fresh from the maker's hands, may be presented to an occasional visitor at the factory. No revenue has been paid on these cigars in the past, but Mr. Macdonald has received instructions to collect the same for a period two years back and in the future. He will strike a daily average of the number of cigars smoked or given away and from this will estimate the amount of revenue due.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO. BOOKS WE WANT.

I want the books that help me out of the vacancy and despair of a frivolous mind, out of the tangle and confusion of a human existence, and then go down out of the meanness of unfeeling meekery and the heaviness of incessant mirth, into a loftier and serene region, where, through the clear air of serious thoughts, I can learn to look soberly and bravely upon the mingled misery and splendor of human existence, and then go down with a cheerful courage to play a man's part in the life which Christ has forever ennobled by his divine presence.—Henry Van Dyke.

COMPLETE THEIR REPORT ON TAXES

Experts' Findings Probably Will Be Submitted to Special Session of Legislature.

The special tax commission made up of Attorney Roger I. Wykes, of Grand Rapids; Prof. Adams, University of Michigan; and Patrick H. Kelley, Lansing, have completed their report, which it is supposed Governor Osborn will submit to a special session of the legislature in January, with the exception of a recommendation as to the assessment of mining property, upon which point the members of the commission are at sea and looking for assistance. Governor Osborn's object in securing a special tax commission was to have it devise a corporation tax and recommend such other changes in the existing tax laws that the money derived from them might be diverted to the general fund of the state and thus reduce the state tax. In a general way the recommendations of the committee will be as follows: Taxation of corporations for state purposes on so-called "intangible value," which will be arrived at by capitalizing the net earnings and subtracting the assessed physical valuation upon which corporations now pay taxes. Increasing the inheritance tax so that the state will realize $1,000,000 a year instead of $450,000, as at present, and diverting this money from the primary school to the general fund. Taxing interurban electric railway property by the same method as railroad property is now generally taxed and compelling such property to pay the average rate, instead of being taxed locally. The money thus derived to be also placed in the general fund of the state. In dealing with the corporation tax proposition the commission has secured much data showing that numerous automobile companies and other corporations are assessed at only a fraction of their real value, while at the same time they are paying enormous dividends. Members of the commission admit that the report will advocate the adoption of a corporation tax system which has been in vogue in Massachusetts since 1865 and from which the state gets $9,000,000 a year, which is turned back to the various counties instead of being used to defray the expenses of the state as the Michigan commission will recommend.

To illustrate the working out of the corporation tax P. H. Kelley, of Lansing, worked out the following example: "Suppose a corporation is assessed on its physical property at $1,000 and that it pays $500 dividends a year. If the dividend were capitalized at 10 per cent, that would make the value of the corporation based on earnings $5,000. From the latter amount subtract the physical value and it would leave $4,000 the amount that would pay the average rate for state purposes."

It is the understanding that the commission will endeavor to have its report ready to submit to Governor Osborn by Oct. 15.

Any special session that is called will also have to deal with the congressional reapportionment which is a vital question in political circles.

Upper Peninsula

Farmer Loses Finger—

While at work cutting corn with a corn binder William Hodgkins, living at Hyde, Delta county, had his right hand so badly crushed that amputation was necessary. In running the binder, a stalk of corn caught in the elevating chain and in attempting to remove it Hodgkins had his finger caught in a set of logs, crushing the member to a pulp to the first joint.

Solves School Book Problem—

The school board of Gladstone has been providing for the children of that city with text books at 10 per cent above cost the past few years and finds that the plan is very satisfactory. In this manner parents save from 25 to 50 per cent in the cost of books and the combined amount saved amounts to a snug sum annually. The librarian has charge of the books and sells them. The 10 per cent charged for handling them is sufficient to purchase all supplies needed by the teachers, and a balance reverts to the library, which is annually to be used in purchasing books for the library.

Chauffeur Given a Scare—

Returning from a trip to Flat Rock with his automobile, Charles Magnuson, a chauffeur of Escanaba, narrowly escaped death at the Wells crossing of the Northwestern road. The young man was running at a high speed and did not think of the passenger train then due. When near the crossing he passed a high load of wood that obstructed his view and when he again got a glimpse of the track the on-rushing train was but fifty feet away. He threw on the brakes and they failed to work. Seeing that it would be caught by the locomotive he turned the car into the ditch just as the train went whizzing by.

Explosion Costs Eyesight—

Alfred Leroise, of Schaffer, Delta county, is at St. Joseph's hospital, Menominee, suffering from the effects of a dynamite explosion. He was severely injured in the eyes and face. Directly after his arrival at the hospital the left eye was removed. It was thought then that "the right eye could be saved." However, it has been found necessary to remove that one also. Leroise is married. He has no children. He is thirty-seven years old. It is not known just how the explosion came to take place, further than that the victim was dynamiting stumps at the time.

Scents a Railroad Project—

During the latter part of last week, says the St. Ignace Enterprise, two mysterious acting men were looking about town, driving out into the country and making all sorts of inquiries of citizens on various subjects, getting what information they could and telling as little about their reasons for wanting to know as possible. However, we have managed to find that they were surveyors and railroad experts and that they were looking up a suitable route for a right-of-way for a direct railroad line between St. Ignace and the Soo. They seemed to have a knowledge of a large volume of business that could and would be obtained for such a line and that would be made up of both passengers and freight. They intimated that a field would be made here for a modern hotel building which would cost one hundred thousand dollars, and also conveyed the idea that capitalists were already interested in the project.

Act Is Laid to Revenge—

Some unknown person early the other night threw a heavy stone through a large plate glass window at the residence of Dr. H. W. Long, at 420 South Elmore street, Escanaba. As the missile, weighing nearly two pounds, crashed through the glass it narrowly missed striking Mrs. Long, who was seated near the window. Officers who were called could find no trace or clue by which the identity of the culprit could be established. The object of the injury, as the stone was thrown by some person whose enmity had been aroused by Dr. Long in his official capacity as city health commissioner in enforcing rigid quarantine rules during the recent diphtheria epidemic.

Telephonic Improvements Planned—

K. S. Baker, district superintendent, and Frank Sullivan, chief electrician of the Michigan State Telephone company, both of Marquette, have been here during the week, interviewing citizens regarding the future of the city from a business standpoint, says the Iron Mountain Press. The object of the interview, as we understand conditions, is to guide the company in its expenditures in the future. The outlook was found so satisfactory that the Press feels confident the officials will recommend the expenditure of a considerable sum of money in rebuilding the Iron Mountain exchange an improvement promised many years ago. There is a possibility of a new toll line with a direct wire to the Marquette range along the new county road.

Much Scrap Iron on Soo Docks—

Among marine men there has been considerable speculation as to how much could be realized if all the old iron and other metal which is lying about the docks along the river front could be collected and sold, says the Sault Ste. Marie News. Scattered all along the river front are tons of metal, everything from old cables to anchors, that have been discarded and hauled to a place where they will be out of the way. Some of this metal and damaged parts have lain for years unsheltered and neglected, although if collected and sold hundreds of dollars might be realized. Dealers in old iron and metals doubtless could reap a harvest by coming to the Soo. It is doubtful, however, if some of the second-hand stuff would be sold, as it is understood that bids have been made upon it but all bids have been refused. That which could be bought, however, would mean a small fortune in profits.

Chases Burglar With Umbrella—

In an encounter with a burglar, who invaded his home at 320 Ladington street at an early hour in the evening, A. M. Lovander of Escanaba sustained a long cut across the hand and his coat and trousers were slashed in several places before the intruder turned and ran. Mr. Lovander was sitting in his room, shortly before 8 o'clock, when he heard some one about the ice box in an adjoining hallway. When he opened the door he saw a man taking articles from the ice box and shoving them into his pockets. He quickly grasped an umbrella standing near the door and struck the man several times over the head. The burglar turned on him, armed with a long-bladed knife. He caught Lovander across the hand and with a vicious blow slit his coat and trousers to the waist. Dropping the articles that he had stolen, the burglar turned and fled, followed by Lovander, armed only with the umbrella. The intruder ran south on Harrison avenue, followed by the householder. He ran to the end of the street and into the city park. Reaching the edge of the bay, he plunged into the water. The stranger waded out for a distance and Lovander went to summon an officer. When policemen arrived at the scene the fellow was gone. He is described by Mr. Lovander as a well-dressed man of about fifty years, with dark mustache, dark overcoat and without a hat, as in the scuffle in the house the intruder dropped his hat and left it on the floor.

The Late Chief Satago—

Reporting the death of the old Indian Indian sachem, Chief Joseph Satago, mention of whose demise was made last week in the Associated Press dispatches, the St. Ignace Enterprise says: "Yesterday morning the grim reaper entered the home of Charles Lozon in the Satago settlement and took away a figure that was in its day prominent in the councils of the Ojibway tribe and who since the advent of the white race here had been a respected and revered object." Chief Joseph Satago. On New Year's day, 1812, a papoose came into the home of the chief of the Ojibways in St. Ignace. The child grew and thrived and when he came into manhood became a great warrior and eventually stepped in to his father's place. With the advent of settlements and peace between the whites and Indians he settled down to ordinary life. As he grew into old age, the chief's visits alike had a veneration for him and there were few tourists who came here for any length of time who did not make a pilgrimage to Chief Satago's home. For many years he and his sister, a few years his junior, lived in a cottage in the settlement, until the latter died three years ago, since which time the chief had lived at the home of Charles Lozon, his son-in-law. Chief Satago had not been ill, though slightly indisposed for a few days, and the end came suddenly and without pain or warning of any sort.

DO NOT OVER-EXERCISE.

Physical Effort Often Uses Energy That Should Be Reserved.

"More men in the past generation have been injured through over-exercise than from under-exercise," writes Dr. William Lee Howard in Munsey's, "Like most things in the United States, physical training and exercise have been overdone. "If you will take notice, you will observe how common it is for former athletes to succumb to some germ disease. It is not because they were athletes, but because, as athletes, they expended energy instead of making and storing it. I do not believe that any contestant in that heart-breaking stunts, the Marathon run, will ever have in him reserve force to withstand a good attack of disease germs. At an age when he needs force and cell endurance it will be found wanting. The heart has expended much of its intended reserve force. When called upon at forty-five years of age to put out latent energy it will not be able to do so; it was stretched and enlarged so much at its growing period that it has become soft and inelastic. GOV. OSBORN WOULD TAKE RENOMINATION

Is Not an Active Candidate but Will Run Again if He Is Chosen.

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 1.—Governor Chase S. Osborn has given to the Grand Rapids Herald a formal statement indicating his attitude toward a second term. He indicates that he will accept a second-term nomination next fall; and, if nominated, that he will go into the election campaign with all vigor and enthusiasm. His statement, which is self-explanatory and which is given out in response to hundreds of queries from all over the state, is as follows: "Your request for a statement from me regarding the possibility of an Osborn candidacy for a second term as governor is perfectly justified. It is no more than fair that my friends throughout the state should know just what my attitude is toward the splendidly complimentary demands that have been put upon me to permit my name to appear again in the Republican primaries. I am glad to make this statement as an acknowledgment of my profound appreciation of this public sentiment, wherever it may exist, which at least acknowledges that I have tried to conscientiously do my duty as chief executive of this great commonwealth.

"Before my inauguration in January, 1911, I made a public statement in which I said: 'I shall not be a candidate for governor for a second term; and in connection therewith I indicated, among other reasons, the suggestion that I believed the governor of Michigan should fill a four-year term rather than a two-year term, and declared that I did not want my advocacy of that, or any other reform measure, to be open to the insinuation that I had a personal or selfish motive in the position assumed.

"The state legislature has not yet lengthened the term of the governor, and will not until after the next election; therefore any embarrassment due to the charge that I sought a four-year term by re-election is obviated. I am thankful that, in all other measures which I have advocated before the legislature, my position has been free from political misconstruction; with the result that I feel less embarrassed in that direction than ever before.

"I feel even though the road seems dark, I can candidly say that my personal preference is to literally construe my pre-inaugural interview—as some who do not just agree with my attitude toward public problems would be very glad to have me do—and to lay down the burdens of the chief magistracy of this commonwealth at the end of my first term. I have done my best for Michigan and shall continue to do so as long as I am a public servant. I feel deeply the obligation of a governor to his people, and although many are declaring to me that I owe it to the state to continue in the governorship until the reforms which have splendidly started shall culminate in progressive statute form, I personally feel no such sense of personal necessity. I know that there is plenty of other good gubernatorial material in the peninsula. There is no such paucity of men in Michigan that there are not many who would do honor to the executive office.

Will Stand for Election.

"Such being my personal inclinations I shrink from a positive statement at this hour regarding the kindly suggestions that come to me regarding a second term. I am keenly appreciative, however, of the splendid loyalty of my friends who are pressing me to enter the field, and of the good people of this state—many of whom have been good enough to say they would like to have me continue for a second term—not to substantially acknowledge my debt to them. If I can pay them my debt in any way, it must be through service which shall justify their sympathetic and faithful support.

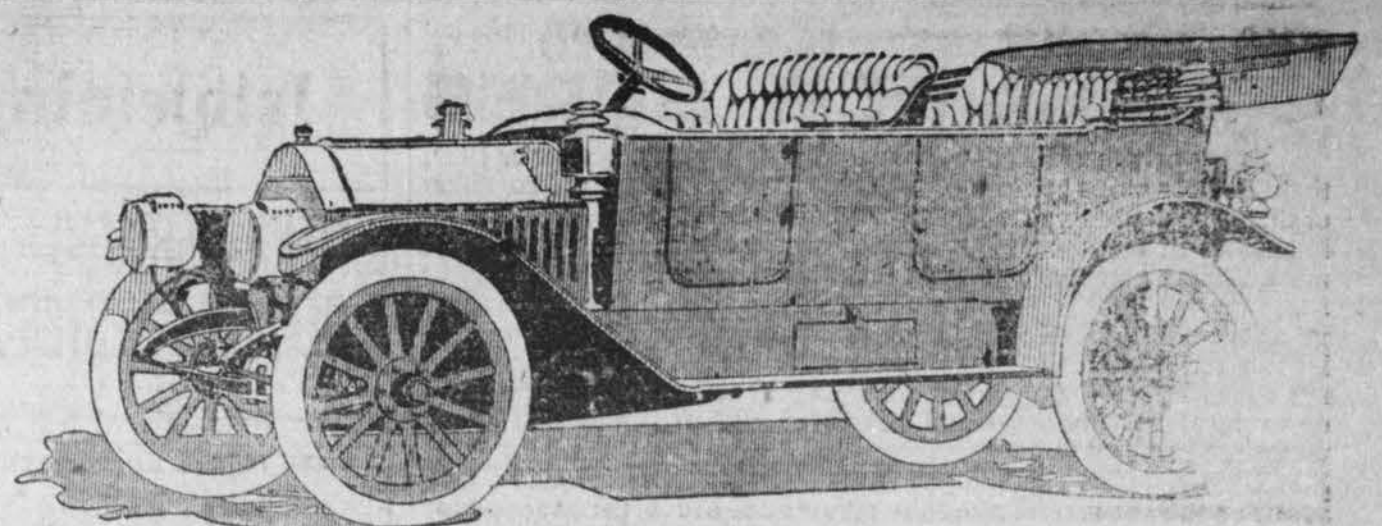

"So I say to you as I shall now say to them: I shall not be a candidate for governor for a second term, in any such sense as such an announcement ordinarily is made. I shall not seek the office, and shall not ask a single man to seek it for me. I shall be happy and content to step out of the spotlight at the end of another year. But if my friends insist upon presenting my name to the Republican primaries, I shall abide by the resultant primary referendum, a referendum during which I shall make a single speech or lift a single finger in the promotion of my own personal candidacy. If, under such circumstances, I shall receive a renomination, then I shall enter the election campaign with all the vigor at my command and seek to re-visit Michigan in the Republican column, where she rightfully belongs.

"I hope this statement will not be misconstrued. Every word of it is sincere. I love Michigan and her people. I pray for her progressive development along political as well as economic and social and industrial lines. I want her governor to be the best man for the place always; and no personal ambitions of any man are important enough to justify the application of any other rule. If it be deemed wise that my administration should continue through four years instead of two—in the face of my personal inclinations in the matter—then, under the conditions as I have outlined them, I am willing to leave the verdict to the people."

IS THE WORLD GROWING BETTER?

Many things go to prove that it is. The way thousands are trying to help others is proof. Among them is Mrs. W. W. Gould, of Pittsfield, N. H. Finding good health by taking Electric Bitters, she now advises other sufferers everywhere, to take them. "For years I suffered with stomach and kidney trouble," she writes. "Every medicine I used failed until I took Electric Bitters. But this great remedy helped me wonderfully." They'll help any woman. They're the best tonic and liver and kidney remedy that's made. Elements Emphasized

REALIZING that most cars are unreliable and inefficient, engineers were instructed to design the 1912 cars to outdo these three essentials:

Power

The secret of power in this Maxwell Special is its 44-h.p. long-stroke, smooth-running motor. Large valves, adjustable push rods, self-contained automatic oiling system, Stromberg carburetor, dual ignition with Splendor magneto and batteries, combine to produce more power and greater speed than will ever be needed. The power is there for emergencies. Gear shifting is reduced to a minimum, as this car takes the steepest hills with ease. Other mechanical features include large clutch discs, full-floating rear axle, sliding-gear transmission, drop-forged I-beam front axle and Columbia Honeycomb type of radiator. Wheel-base, 114 inches.

Style

This new ventilated fore-door, flush-side vestibuled steel body, with inside control, is the very latest thing in motor-car design. Its sweeping curves with a Columbia Honeycomb type radiator, new designed bonnet, and long, smooth flush-sides are strikingly beautiful. Finished in Royal green with Wedgwood green wheels and black upholstery, deep and well tufted, this car has an atmosphere found only in the most expensive cars. It is an aristocrat; the most artistic creation of the season.

Price

The price of this car is made possible by the unequalled factory facilities of the United States Motor Company, now recognized as the leading builders of automobiles in America. No car selling for $500 more than the price we ask can match the Maxwell Special. Comparison with other cars will prove this statement beyond argument. We urge comparison.

In the New, Big, Stylish, 36-horsepower Maxwell, $1280

Never before such a car at such a price. In addition, we announce: The MAXWELL MERCURY, a 30-h.p. mile-a-minute Roadster, for $1150. The MAXWELL MASCOITE, a 25-h.p. Touring Car, for $980; or a Roadster body for $950. The MAXWELL MESSENGER, a 16-h.p. Runabout, at $600.

LOEB MAY CONDUCT THE G. O. P. CAMPAIGN

New York Collector of Customs Is Groomed for the National Chairmanship.

Washington, Sept. 29.—William Loeb, Jr., former secretary to President Roosevelt and now collector of customs at the port of New York, has a chance to become chairman of the Republican national committee. Friends of President Taft desire that Mr. Loeb shall take charge of the campaign and the place may be offered him. If he does not accept it will be for personal reasons of his own and not because he would not be sincerely glad to do all in his power for the reelection of Mr. Taft. The outcome depends in part, of course, upon the willingness of President Taft to request Mr. Loeb to take the position. The president's advisers want Mr. Loeb and will advise that he be invited to lead the campaign. Friends of the president who know politics and men have many reasons for their desire to see Mr. Loeb in the chairmanship. They say that his ability as a tactful and forceful political manager is unquestioned, for he proved his worth while in the service of Mr. Roosevelt, who sought his secretary's advice in political matters ten times where he turned to any other man once. No one today probably knows the whole story of how much good campaigning Loeb did for Roosevelt. It was all done quietly, but with an effectiveness that was felt. Loeb friendly to Taft.

Has Influence with Insurgents.

No direct request yet has been made to Mr. Loeb that he shall hold himself ready to put off the cares of customs collecting to take on the greater cares of campaigning, but it is entirely probable that he knows that he may be asked to change his line of work in the near future. It is impossible, of course, to predict what answer Mr. Loeb will return when the question is put to him direct. There are a good many things which he must consider, but the collector has a staunch party loyalty which probably will move him to face possible great sacrifices for what he will be told is unquestionably to be the good of the party cause. There is a chance, of course, that before the matter reaches a head—when it is at a stage which will admit of a word in private from Mr. Loeb—that he may request that his name be given no consideration and that he be allowed to continue at his present post of work. There can be no doubt that if the collector should be made chairman of the Republican national committee he will be able to command the services of men who otherwise might stand aloof, preferring to keep their party regularity but showing no disposition to enter the field in a militant capacity in behalf of Mr. Taft. In other words, Mr. Loeb has great influence with the insurgent leaders. The general belief is that he could do more to tie the party together than any other man named or even thought of in connection with the national chairmanship.

Hitchcock and Hillel.

Frank H. Hitchcock, the postmaster general, is no longer active as committee chairman, the work and the responsibilities having been turned over a long time ago to John F. Hill of Maine. It is said and believed that Mr. Hitchcock has no desire to conduct another national campaign. He is now postmaster general and his resignation of that office would be necessary, unquestionably, if he were to put on again his political fighting armor. If Mr. Loeb should make up his mind to listen to the requests of those who want his services, he will be obliged to resign his post as collector of customs. This would be a sacrifice, for the collector is very far from being a rich man. Some men are inclined to consider the possibilities of failure and what might happen to them and to their families if failure should come. Mr. Loeb, however, would give little thought to possible disaster but would look only to the "certainty of success" and would let the future take care of itself. A national chairman must be selected shortly. Unquestionably the desire is to secure Mr. Loeb's services. It is possible that the president's secretary, Charles D. Hillel, may be given consideration before the time for the selection comes. Mr. Taft and people generally look on Mr. Hillel as a man admirably qualified for the work, but admittedly Mr. Loeb's experience has been greater. If the collector will not listen then someone else must listen, and very likely the voice will be directed to the present secretary of the president of the United States.

ALIMONY IS A BIG ITEM.

New York Spends Much Annually on Divorce.

How much is spent annually in alimony by the courts' decree? At least one million dollars in New York City. And how much is used in various out of court agreements? Little less than one million dollars a month, for the man with money pays to have every obstacle between him and his new happiness—whether that happiness spells woman or freedom removed.

The divorced wife of Howard Gould draws the largest amount ordered by the courts, or $25,000 a year; the smallest sum paid for freedom is $3 a week, and even the $3 man, though lavish with the first and second payments, grows weary or bored or negligent and often has to be summoned to the domestic relations court, and asked why the severing of the tie wasn't worth the price. If he doesn't answer in the language of the law he goes to jail in Ludlow prison, where alimony defaulters center and expiate their moral and financial deficiencies, and a man may be sent to jail for a $3 obligation he has failed to meet as well as for one of three thousand.—Theodore Bear, in New York Telegram.

S.S.S. CURES OLD SORES

Every person afflicted with an old sore realizes, sooner or later, that the ulcer exists because of bad blood; the character and condition of the place depending on the nature of the blood infection. Virulent impurities in the circulation produce angry, discharging ulcers, while milder, inert germs are usually manifested in the form of indolent sores or dry, scabby places. External treatment can never cure an internal trouble, therefore no one should depend upon salves, washes, lotions, etc., alone to cure a chronic sore. It is necessary to remove the cause before the place can heal. S.S.S. heals Old Sores by going down into the circulation and removing the impurities and germs which are responsible for the place. In addition to purifying the blood S.S.S. enriches this vital fluid so that the irritated flesh around an old sore is naturally and thoroughly stimulated, and a permanent cure results, because every morbid influence has been removed. S.S.S. is the best of all blood purifiers and therefore a natural remedy for old sores. Book on Sores and Ulcers and medical advice free. S.S.S. is sold at drug stores. SETTERS DEFEATED REPUBLIC YESTERDAY

Amateur Nines Played a 5 to 2 Game at the Union Park Baseball Grounds.

The Setters defeated the Republic team before a small crowd at the Union Park yesterday afternoon by the score of 5 to 2. Adamson opened in the box for the Setters and pitched fine ball for five innings, when he gave way to Andrews, who also pitched in excellent form. Adamson struck out four men and held the visitors without a hit. Andrews allowed five hits and struck out six men.

Nelson, in the box for Republic, was touched for eight hits, struck out six men and passed four. In the seventh inning it looked as if Republic would tie the score. With two out they secured three safe hits, but with three on base, R. Foss, the next batter up, fanned, retiring the side. It was the only time that the Setters were in danger.

Republic opened in the first inning with one run on errors by Martin, Johnson and Prin. They secured their next run in the sixth inning, when A. Ringette singled and Prin threw over Martin's head in an attempt to catch him stealing second. Lindberg, in center field, let the ball get by and the runner scored. The Setters scored two of their runs in the first inning on singles by Prin and Martin and an error by one of Republic's fielders. Two more runs were annexed by the Setters in the fourth inning, when Westman opened with a single and took second. Prin went over Ringette to Rahner, Martin got a life on Ringette's error. Westman scored on the play, and Martin scored when Adamson singled. A hit and two errors gave the Setters their next run in the sixth inning.

The game was free from wrangling and, due to this fact, was played in the remarkably short time of one hour. Elmer Simmons umpired and gave satisfaction to both teams.

ADVERTISING PAYS.
 Ishpeming Merchant Had Unusual Demand for Chickens and Beef.

J. J. Lefler, the Division street merchant, is now a firm believer in Mining Journal advertising, as a result of the rush of business at his place on Friday and Saturday, when he had announced in The Mining Journal advertising columns that he would sell spring chicken at sixteen cents per pound, and a reduction in prices in certain beef cuts.

Mr. Lefler Saturday said that the paper had hardly reached Ishpeming Friday morning before the telephone orders began to come in and he kept one person busy practically all day Friday and Saturday answering the calls. Many orders were received from Marquette, Negaunee and other places in the county. The demand for chicken was so heavy that he could not fill one-half of the orders. He had more than 300 chickens and on Saturday he sent a man into the farming districts looking for more, in order to supply part of the late orders.

THE DIORITE STORE.
 Addition to Building Is Completed—New Lines of Goods Added.

The addition to the Diorite Store company's building, at Diorite, has been completed and the store is now one of the best arranged in the upper peninsula. A second story and a large basement were provided. The additional room is used for the crockery, furniture and heavy hardware departments. The company carries in stock a complete assortment of jewel stoves and ranges.

One of the important features of the building is the elevator, which runs from the basement to the roof. The basement has a concrete floor space of forty by seventy feet. It was built by Treblecock Bros., of Ishpeming, and has a complete system of drainage.

The building and the residences of Mr. May, the manager, and several other houses along the lake shore, will be heated by water. The plant is now being installed by the Lake Superior Heating company. A concrete boiler house, seventeen by thirty-two feet in size, will be erected in the rear of the store, about fifty yards from the building.

A MEDICINE THAT GIVES CONFIDENCE.
 Is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound.

Mrs. T. J. Adams, 522 No. Kansas Ave., Columbus, Kas., writes: "For a number of years my children have been subject to coughs and colds. I used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and found that it cured their coughs and colds, so I keep it in the house all the time." Refuse substitutes. The People's Drug Store.

HARD COAL A REAL LUXURY IN ALASKA

Ishpeming Man Paid $36 per Ton for Fuel in That Country Last Winter.

"When I hear people complain about the high price of coal in this region I am reminded of what we had to pay for coal in Alaska," said Emil Swanson, who returned to the city a few weeks ago after spending five years in that country. "The people in the vicinity of Nome, where I spent most of my time, paid $36 per ton for hard coal and $20 per ton for soft coal. This seems like an excessive high price for soft coal when it is considered that the government experts have estimated that there is sufficient soft coal in Alaska to supply the entire United States for 100 years or more. If the government would open the coal mines, or give others the privilege of doing so, the price of coal in this country would soon decrease. Practically all of the soft coal now used there comes from British Columbia, and the hard coal comes from the states.

"The government experts believe that the Alaskan coal will be needed before many years. The Guggenheim interests have some sort of a hold on an exceptionally large area of coal deposits, but they have never mined any fuel. The Guggenheims are now the most influential interest operating in Alaska and they have spent millions developing and opening gold and copper properties and constructing railroads. Their Copper Valley railroad is said to have been the most expensive ever constructed in the world. It passes through an exceptionally rough country, penetrates mountains and crosses deep gorges. Some of the construction work is marvelous.

"There is one small coal mine being operated about 200 miles from Nome, but none of the product is shipped outside of its immediate neighborhood. The mine is supplying the people and the mines near there with practically all of the fuel they use.

"There are big coal deposits about sixty miles from Nome, in what is known as the Gallwin Bay region. Mining was done there on a small scale some years ago, and it was determined that the deposits are large, but no coal is now being produced. If the government should open mines there, or if other interests secured control of the coal lands, the price of fuel in Nome would soon fall. A comparatively small amount of coal is consumed in that country, as it is so expensive that it is a luxury. Most of the people burn wood, which can be purchased for less money than coal.

"The high price of fuel makes mine costs high and it adds greatly to the cost of living, as fuel for heating purposes is necessary fully nine months of the year."

ENTERTAINED GRAND CASTLE OFFICERS

Team of Lake Superior Castle Is Complimented on Manner in Which It Does Work.

The members of Lake Superior Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, and the ladies auxiliary of the order, held an enjoyable meeting and banquet Friday evening, in honor of George Hand, the grand chief, and Uriah Penberthy, grand master of records. Lake Superior castle has an enviable reputation for putting on the second degree work in a finished manner and at the request of the grand lodge officers this work was exemplified. The members of the Ishpeming team were highly complimented by the visitors.

At the conclusion of the lodge meeting, the members went to the Swedish Home society's hall, where the ladies served supper. A delegation of Negaunee members were present and the impromptu speeches and other features of the evening were much enjoyed. Mr. Penberthy argued the members of the Ishpeming and Negaunee castle to organize a uniform rank, saying that these ranks are an important feature of the castles in the copper country.

Mr. Hand reviewed the work of the organization from the time the first castle was perished in Maryland, in 1873. He said that Michigan has been one of the backward states. Its membership does not compare with a number of the other states in the society's jurisdiction. There are now over 100,000 members in the United States. Michigan has six castles, five of these being in the upper peninsula, the other in Detroit. Lake Superior castle of Ishpeming is the oldest in Michigan, it having been organized twenty years ago next March.

W. J. Thomas, past grand chief of the Negaunee castle, and Nicholas Jobe, also of the Negaunee castle, gave pleasing talks. Mrs. Mary Atwell of this city, who holds the office of deputy supreme templar in Michigan, spoke briefly in the interest of the ladies auxiliary. She urged the grand castle officers to start a movement in the copper country for the organization of auxiliary branches.

Miss Mabel Thomas, a recent arrival from England, sang two delightful songs. She is a talented vocalist. John Stevens, a prominent member of the Ishpeming organization, presided as toastmaster.

Mrs. Lukescuto recently visited her old home in Russia, arriving there July 4. It was explained in court that she brought back with her a quantity of Russian whiskey, which she says she distributed among her friends, without accepting any money for it. According to the evidence offered the liquor was of exceptional quality, and it was in great demand. The county sheriff who swore out the complaint against Lukescuto, stated that he will bring in at least one witness who will testify that he purchased some of the whiskey from Mrs. Lukescuto.

MADDOCK-STEVE.

A pretty home wedding took place on the evening of Sept. 21, when W. H. Maddock and Miss Clara Steve, both of this city, were united in marriage. The ceremony being performed by Rev. Carl G. Markets

WALL STREET STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co. Saturday wired from New York as follows: The foreign news continues aggravating and the continental markets are somewhat disturbed over the status of affairs in Tripoli, but the latest advices denote that intervention on the part of the various powers is not probable, in view of the spirit of the times, namely, to resort to arbitration rather than to arms. Labor difficulties are approaching a crisis, but judging by the expressed attitude of railroad managers it is not improbable that the corporations will refuse to concede from the position which they have taken, which doubtless means that before matters are settled the carriers may demand a revision of wage scales, taking the stand that a reduction in operating costs having become imperative and an increase in freight rates improbable the matter will have to be solved through lower labor costs. There are signs in evidence of the culmination of the pronounced downward tendency in the stock market and as declines have been steady enough to permit the conclusion that many of the adverse factors, both real and imaginary, have been largely discounted, we are disposed to take a rather cheerful view of the outlook and believe that the best results can be secured by purchasing the standard issues around present levels. Boston "Coppers."

Of the market at Boston, Paine, Webber & Co. Saturday said: Both markets showed pronounced strength today. The local coppers rallied faster than the New York list. A large majority of the orders in the local market are on the buying side, but limited to low. Confidence is returning and when these orders are raised we should have a further advance from three to five points. The action of the market today, in face of the war news and disturbed conditions in Europe, was very encouraging and the chances of a further advance next week are favorable. Chicago Wheat.

Paine, Webber & Co.'s Chicago correspondent had the following to say of the wheat market in that city Saturday: Most of the leaders expected activity and a wider range of prices and there was an impression also that the strength in the foreign markets and the war news might give a bull turn here. A LaSalle street leader and two or three other strong interests took the early offerings and helped bring about the fairly good rally an hour later. The domestic news for wheat was unimportant for the day. The hard wheat demand in the winter wheat markets was improved and some very adverse news in regard to the condition of wheat in Canadian provinces came to this trade. The trade is in a waiting position. The closing quotations were as follows: September wheat, 94 1/4; May wheat, 104 1/4; corn, 65 1/2; oats, 50 1/4; pork, 14.85. December wheat, 98 1/4; corn, 64; oats, 45 1/4. January pork, 14.90.

Ruez's Market Letter.

Geo. F. Ruez, broker, of Ishpeming, Saturday said: The New York market showed a very much improved tone today. Prices advanced from one to three points throughout the list on very odd buying. The announcement that the Harriman strike was on had no effect on the market at all. The Boston coppers were not very active, but a very noticeable fraction below the market. Gironx was in good command and sold at 4. East Butte continues to find ready takers around 10, while Calumet & Arizona at 49 and Copper Range at 50 are snapped up immediately. Live Oak is wanted in good sized lots under regular. The stock will be listed on the regular exchange some day next week.

A LONG DISCUSSED TOPIC.
What Has Been Done Looking Towards a Copper Consolidation.
The question of a general merger of the country's great copper properties has been one of the most discussed topics in the financial community ever since the severe decline in the price of the copper metal which set in early in the summer of 1907, a few months before the panic of that year. From a high price of 25 cents a pound or more at the beginning of that year the copper metal fell rapidly to about half that figure, and both the copper industry and the copper share market have seen some very hard sliding since.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.
Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for most sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.
If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit.
The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best.
Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

VERDICT RENDERED AFTER FIVE DAYS ISHPeming LOSES FOOTBALL GAME

Coroner's Jury in Saarikoski Shooting Case Unable to Place the Blame.

The inquest into the death of Matt Saarikoski was brought to a close Saturday afternoon after having been adjourned since Thursday, when the jury rendered the following verdict: "Matt Saarikoski came to his death by being shot by a bullet from a revolver, there being no evidence to show who fired the shot." This verdict was reported after five hours' deliberation, the jury withdrawing shortly after 3 o'clock in the afternoon and not agreeing until after 8 o'clock in the evening. The verdict, it is seen, permits the case of William Nadeau, the former police officer charged with the shooting, to go to circuit court without any prejudice.
A great bulk of testimony was taken during the inquest, eight witnesses having been heard, three of them were men who were in Saarikoski's company on the night of the shooting, and three of them were miners who heard the shots fired and were at the scene of the tragedy. John Zardis, another witness, is a former policeman, who, with Nadeau, made the "long beat" on the night of Sept. 5. Dr. Larson, the physician who performed the autopsy on the body of Saarikoski, described definitely the course of the bullet, and its effects.
John Zardis reviewed, under examination, the story that has been published before as the statement of Officer Nadeau.
The jurors were Justice Verran, Michael Cury, Henry Lee, Oscar Field, Henry Rasmussen and George Janes.

Negaunee Won Saturday's Contest in the Last Three Minutes of Play.

The Negaunee high school team defeated the Ishpeming eleven Saturday afternoon at the Union park before a small crowd by a score of 16 to 6. Fifteen and ten minute quarters were played. Ishpeming won the toss and kicked to Negaunee. Negaunee advanced the ball ten yards and was forced to punt to the center of the field. Ishpeming was forced to punt on the third down, and Hendrickson drove the ball forty yards to Negaunee's twenty-yard line. Both teams then had to punt repeatedly, until Sterling, Negaunee's diminutive quarter back, tore off an eighty-yard run for the first touchdown. Sterling failed to kick goal, making the score 5 to 0. The first quarter ended with Ishpeming in possession of the ball on its own forty-yard line.
In the second quarter neither team scored and at no time was either goal in danger. The first quarter of the second half opened when Negaunee kicked out to Hendrickson, who advanced the ball twenty yards. Stanford made a seven-yard run. Ishpeming was held for downs and kicked to Sterling, who advanced the ball ten yards. On the next play a Negaunee man fumbled the ball and Childs, of Ishpeming, caught it while it was still in the air, and ran fifty yards for a touchdown. Hendrickson kicked goal, making the score 6 to 5 in favor of Ishpeming.
Negaunee kicked off to Ishpeming and the ball changed hands for about five minutes in the center field. Finally, Captain Hendrickson of the Ishpeming team, was injured and was compelled to retire from the game. Myers going in at tackle and Childs to full back, in place of Hendrickson. The quarter closed without any more scoring.
Negaunee opened the next quarter with the ball in the center of the field, but was forced to punt to Gallery, who made a beautiful catch and returned the ball thirty yards. At this stage of the game Manning, of Negaunee, turned on an ankle and was forced to quit, Hawke taking his place. Negaunee's second touchdown was made on forward passes and center rushes. Sterling failed to kick goal, making the score 10 to 6.
Negaunee kicked off to Ishpeming, with but a minute to play. Childs caught the ball on Ishpeming's ten-yard line and after advancing twenty yards fumbled it. A Negaunee man picked it up and ran in for a touchdown. Sterling kicked goal, making the final score 16 to 6.

VICTORIOUS AT MENOMINEE. Negaunee Took Yesterday's Game by a Score of 4 to 0—Rosevear Pitched

Negaunee won yesterday's game with Menominee by a score of 4 to 0. Rosevear pitched for Negaunee, and Berscham, a Madison pitcher, for Menominee. Saturday's game was called, because of the rain, at 4 o'clock in the evening, when the score was 4 to 4. A press dispatch says: "The Menominee baseball team today played the crack Negaunee team, champions of the Marquette county country when the game was called on account of darkness. Negaunee was sent to the mound by the locals today, while Wallace was twirled star ball throughout the session. A sensational fielding marked the game. Negaunee played a clean fielding game and Wallace was given almost perfect support in the outfield while wobbles on the infield were expensive. Menominee with its aggressive play of Wisconsin league stars were held safe at every stage of the game, although Neeger twirled star ball through every inning."
The price of copper was hammered down without mercy, under this heavy production, and another adverse factor which speedily appeared was the advent of the copper fields of several about "porphyry" producers, working on large deposits of low-grade ore treated by steam-shovel methods and promising to make available for extraction at a profit a great amount of copper previously considered unprofitable. The idea of a formal merger seemed to have been abandoned by the summer of 1910, the interests involved evidently having failed to come to any satisfactory agreement, but the damage done by this constant increase in the copper output had become so serious that several about the kind was imperatively called for, and it finally took the form of an agreement for a fifteen per cent curtailment which went into effect Aug. 1, 1910, and although now expired, has been on the whole, lived up to ever since. This agreement involved not only the two groups mentioned, but also the Calumet & Hecla and other important Lake Superior producers, and foreign producers as well.
The government's anti-trust proceedings have formed, of course, the most formidable obstacle to a copper merger. Had the supreme court decided favorably to the Standard Oil and American Tobacco companies it is quite likely that something definite might have been accomplished by this time. Some evidences have pointed to a strong interest in such a proposal on the part of J. P. Morgan. But as the trust situation has stood since the handing down of the adverse decisions in these cases, the working out of any definite plan has seemed hardly feasible. The Calumet & Hecla, for reasons chiefly local, has sought to amalgamate the various properties under its control, but thus far the arrangements have been delayed by litigation brought by minority stockholders. The Superior & Pittsburg has been consolidated with the Calumet & Arizona, and some minor consolidations have been brought about. But the matter of a great copper merger is still in abeyance.

DEATH OF OLD RESIDENT. Mrs. Peter Peterson Passed Away Friday, After Long Illness.

Mrs. Peter Peterson, of Clark street, passed away Friday at five o'clock, after a long illness with cancer of the breast. She leaves a husband and ten children to mourn her, and five sisters and two brothers were at her bedside at the last. There are six sons, one of whom is married, and four daughters. One of the sons, Thomas, lives at Hibbing, Minn., and Edward, Chester, Walter, George, and Elmer make their home in this city. The daughters are Mrs. Thomas Goldsworthy, of Cyr street, Mrs. William Goodman, of Cyr street, and Mrs. Thomas Lamphere, of Hibbing, Minn. The parents of the deceased, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ble, live at Teal Lake.
Mrs. Peterson was forty-eight years old, and had lived in Negaunee for thirty-seven years. She was born in England, but when she was eight years old she came to this country with her parents and the family settled in the copper country. Three years later they moved to Negaunee. During the long residence here she made many friends, who, during her long illness, rendered her every assistance possible. The funeral will take place at two o'clock this afternoon, from St. John's Episcopal church.

LOCAL LACONICS.

Mrs. John Ward, of Escanaba, visited Negaunee friends during the latter part of the week.
Levine Bros. store will be closed all day to day, till 6 o'clock, account of a holiday.
Chris Johnson has purchased the Felsch block on Iron street, in which Henry Heisel has been conducting a saloon.
P. J. Healy and his bride, who was formerly Miss Anna Ryan, arrived home Saturday from a ten days' honeymoon trip to Chicago and Milwaukee.
Mr. and Mrs. Clark Kirkpatrick, of Park Falls, Wis., are in Negaunee on a week's visit to Mrs. Kirkpatrick's parents, Capt. and Mrs. Rough, corner of Mitchell Avenue and Peck street.
The Ladies' guild of St. Paul's church have just received five hundred copies of a small book, entitled "Dyspepsia," which is gotten out as a specialty by the Brethren Publishing company of Elgin, Ill. The book contains local advertising, which pays for its publication, allowing the ladies the profit from their sales at twenty-five cents a piece.

Said Shiftless Sam: "It is easy enough to make money if you have money to make it with. I see chances every day to make money if I only had a little stake to start with, but a fellow that has no capital doesn't have a fair shake in this world."
Said the Wise Old Owl: "You never will have a stake until you start. Stop your spending and try saving. Pinch out a little of your earning and start a bank account no matter how small. Add to it. The longer you put it off the longer opportunity will give you the cold shoulder."

Upper Peninsula Professor Davis to Appeal.

The case of F. D. Davis, ex-superintendent of the Escanaba schools, vs. the Board of Education of that city, a suit for recovery of salary under a contract that the present board refused to recognize one year ago, has been appealed to the supreme court by John Cumiskey, the attorney for Mr. Davis. At the trial of the case in the Delta county circuit court the jury returned a verdict for the defendant board, after all the evidence had been submitted.
While in the vicinity of Tridner recently, Deputy Game Warden O'Connell of Iron Mountain arrested a trapper named Carl E. Krouse. Krouse is said to have had twenty-five deer hides in his possession. It is alleged that the trapper's representatives, were from animals killed contrary to law. Krouse was at one time a deputy game warden. His camp is located in Iron county. He entered a plea of not guilty to the charge who arranged before a justice and was bound over to the circuit court for trial.
Bass Return to Old Haunts—
Bass fishing in the St. Mary's river this fall is said to be the best in a number of years and equal to that before the beginning of construction work on the West Neebish channel. Before this channel was built the West Neebish grounds were noted the country over for the quantity and the gameness of the bass to be found there. Blasting and dredging caused the bass to leave and while the fish were caught in considerable number at both the dumping grounds in Menominee and Ishpeming, they were not as large or as gamey as those at the Neebish rapids. Now they are coming back and the shores of Hay Lake from Charlotte river to the cut are said to be literally alive with them. Excellent catches are being made.

FIRST TRIP FOR R. F. D. CARRIER

J. G. Koepf, Former Harvey Postmaster, Will Drive Rural Mail Wagon on Chocolate-Green Garden Route, Beginning Today—Leaves Marquette at 8:45.

Postoffices at Harvey and Green Garden Have Been Abolished—The Route Is Nearly Twenty-Five Miles Long and Will Serve About 125 Families.

Rural free delivery of United States mail in Marquette county is an established fact. The first rural route to be established in this county will be put into operation today, and from now on the farmers of Marquette county will have their mail delivered at their doors each day, Sundays excepted.

Rural mail carriers are under civil service rules and are selected from a list of eligibles who qualify by competitive examination. Such an examination was to have been held in Marquette a few weeks ago, but through some mistake at Washington, none of the applicants received the cards entitling them to take the examination, and, consequently, none was given on the date set.

Accordingly, Mr. Mangum has appointed J. G. Koepf, former postmaster at Harvey, to carry the mail over the rural route until a permanent appointment is made. Mr. Koepf is thoroughly familiar with the country served by the rural route, knows its inhabitants, and in addition has had several years' experience handling mail for all of which reasons he should make a peculiarly efficient carrier.

Starting at the Marquette postoffice at 8:45 this morning, Mr. Koepf will drive south on Third street to Fisher, east on Fisher to Champion, south on Champion to Jackson, east to Jackson to Lake, southeast on Lake to city limits, southeast to Harvey, southwest to Silver Creek forks, southwest and east to the Cherry Creek school house, east to Dupras' corner, south to Courson's corner, southeast to Dell's corner, east to Rice's corner, north and northeast to Green Garden, northwest to Silver Creek forks, northeast to Harvey postoffice, northwest to city limits, northwest to Jackson street and thence back to the Marquette postoffice.

The route is twenty-four and seven-eighths miles in length and affords delivery of mail to 121 families, most of whom have heretofore been getting their mail at Harvey or Green Garden. The carrier is due back to the postoffice at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The carrier leaves the Marquette postoffice after the mail brought in by the Northwestern train has been distributed and returns in ample time to get letters away on the evening train for Chicago.

Mail for persons residing on the rural route should be addressed, "Marquette, Mich., R. F. D. No. 1." Every family on the rural route must provide a mail box at the roadside, into which his mail can conveniently be placed by the carrier. Letters being sent out may be placed in these boxes, and they will be taken up by the carrier. The carrier is under no obligation to deliver mail where there is no mail box. Quite a number of the patrons of the new route have already provided themselves with boxes and it is probable that the others will do so within a very short time.

While the great majority of the farmers in country districts farther south have enjoyed the benefits of free delivery of mail for several years, comparatively few routes have been established in the upper peninsula, because of the sparsely settled country and the poor roads.

The Chocolate-Green Garden route is the first to be established in this county. This route was approved two years ago, but the policy of retrenchment adopted by the Taft administration has prevented its establishment until this time, there having been very few new rural routes established within the last two years.

TWO IN 300 CLASS.
Official Batting Averages of Escanaba Team Given Out.

An official list of the batting averages of the members of the Escanaba baseball team was given out Saturday, and shows two Sandy City players, Scanlon and Lindquist, to have finished in the select 300 class. Pitcher Love ranks third on the list and has a percentage of .297, which is pretty good for a pitcher. Fielder Ernie Burke is the only member of the team who played in every game of the year. Aronson and Olmstead played in every game but one. Following are the batting averages:

G. A. R. H. P. Pet.
Scanlon	15	26	5	12	333
Lindquist	21	85	15	28	329
Love	23	74	10	22	297
Flath	21	45	6	16	246
Aronson	35	143	17	34	228
Burke	36	143	17	34	228
Connelly	19	82	13	19	232

LIGHTS WERE DIM.

City in Semi-Darkness Saturday Because of Water Wheel Mishap.

The breaking of one of the gates in the larger water wheel at the city electric generating station about 6 o'clock Saturday evening necessitated the shutting down of the larger generator until 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Until the break could be repaired, all the residence and business lights were carried on the small generator, which was greatly overloaded and the ordinary incandescent lamp was about as luminous as a tall candle. The street lights were cut off of the circuit and the city was as dark as a country village all evening.

About 6 o'clock the engineer in charge at the station heard a rattling in the large water wheel and at once shut down the plant to ascertain what was the trouble. He found one of the gates within the wheel to be broken off at one end, but nothing to indicate what might have caused the break. Before repairs could be made, all the water had to be let out of the flume, which had to be done gradually and took some time, and the wheel was not again in working order until an early hour Sunday morning.

It seems as if accidents at the light and power plant always occur on Saturday night, when the business houses need light most, but the danger of such accidents in the future will be practically eliminated when the new water wheel and generator, purchased by the commission a few weeks ago, are installed.

FAST FREIGHT LINES TO UPPER PENINSULA

Under New System Goods Will Be Moved from Detroit to Marquette in Two Days.

Detroit wholesalers will shortly be able to compete with those of Chicago for the upper peninsula trade, according to the Detroit Free Press, hereafter, upper peninsula merchants have been led in many cases to the Chicago market because of the faster freight facilities from the Illinois metropolis. Under the plan now being arranged, it is claimed that goods from Detroit will arrive in the upper peninsula quicker than if shipped from Chicago. The Free Press says:

"Arrangements are under way for a package car freight service into the principal points of the upper peninsula which, in the future, will make it possible for the merchants of Detroit and the upper peninsula to trade with each other without the delays of the past, which made it all but absolutely necessary for the Chicago market to get all of the upper peninsula business."

"Friday after a conference between Robert H. Day, manager of the Board of Commerce transportation bureau, and General Agent E. H. Thompson, of the M. C. R. R., and District Freight Agent M. C. Kimball, of the D. S. S. & A., and the M. St. P. & S. S. M., at the Board of Commerce, the following were some of the principal things agreed upon:

"St. Ignace and Marquette will be reached with a second morning delivery, and Houghton, Michigan, Ishpeming and Negaunee the third day. Arrangements are likewise pending for improved service on points on the M. St. P. & S. S. M. Mr. Kimball will go to Minneapolis at once to make further arrangements and will confer with the Board of Commerce before Oct. 15, when the proof of the Michigan routing book, now being made up by the Board of Commerce, will go to the printer. The new routing book is to be complete in every detail and will be the greatest help to shippers ever printed."

"Under the new schedule to upper peninsula points the necessity to bill by way of Chicago, where from one to two days are always lost in shipping, will be done away with. It will now be possible to ship directly through Michigan, making Detroit deliveries in the upper peninsula a few hours shorter than it is possible for the Chicago trade to make deliveries from the Illinois metropolis."

"This opens up, so to speak, practically a new field of trade for Detroit industries and vice versa. The time schedules of the trains are so arranged that during the winter months they will have a leeway of about six hours to cross the straits."

CANDY COSTS MORE.

Advance of Sugars Has Raised Price Two Cents per Pound.

Did you ever take the price of sugar in consideration when you bought candy and wonder why, compared to what you got a few months ago, it was so little? Candy has gone up two cents a pound on the average since August 10. The price of sugar has been the direct cause of it. The manufacturer does not propose to pay the high price of sugar so he simply raises the price of his candy and makes the consumer pay it. The consumer in turn notices that he gets less for his money than he formerly did. When he complains, he is told "Why, candy has gone up; prices on everything are steadily on the increase" and so on. Generally the storekeeper gets the purchaser to sympathize with him. The storekeeper, in fact, is as much exploited as you are when the matter is viewed from his side of the fence.

But does he pay more for his candy from the profit basis viewpoint than he formerly did? When he pays two cents a pound more, he makes you pay that much more and you are the loser, not he. Candy has been advanced in price two times since Aug. 10. But cheer up, a drop in the price of sugar is promised before long, although one grocer makes bold to predict that sugar will go up to nine cents a pound.

BOWLING ALLEYS WILL RE-OPEN

Date of Opening Not Fixed, but It Will Be About the Middle of October.

It will be welcome news to the many Marquette bowling enthusiasts to hear that the bowling alleys of the Marquette Bowling company, in this town, will shortly be reopened and run during the coming fall and winter season.

The alleys have been a losing proposition during the past two seasons, largely on account of the counter attractions presented by basket ball and indoor base ball, and the bowling company had about decided to close the alleys and wind up its affairs. After a careful canvass of the situation, however, it was found that an arrangement could be made for the coming season that would materially cut down the running expenses, and also that there is a pronounced desire for the reopening of the alleys among the local bowlers, many of whom have assumed the management, that they will give the alleys their loyal support and patronage. Thus encouraged, the management has decided to try it once more in the hope that a profitable season will make it possible to continue permanently these alleys, which by common consent are regarded as the model alleys of the upper peninsula.

The Bowling company, instead of operating the alleys on its own account, has sublet them to T. O. Bell, who for several years has managed them so capably. Mr. Bell's experience and ability as a bowling alley manager are too well known to require comment. It is understood that he will not only conduct the alleys in first-class style, as heretofore, but will introduce some new features that will add to their popularity. A feature that is bound to prove a winner will be a reduction in the price of bowling. Tickets will be printed and sold in dozen or half-dozen lots at the reduced price and it is believed that this will cause an increase of business that will more than make up for the reduced rate.

The exact date of reopening the alleys has not yet been fixed, owing to the fact that Mr. Bell will conduct his business at Presque Isle during October, but he expects to make arrangements to open the alleys before the middle of the month, the exact date of which will be announced within the next few days.

FANCY SHOOTERS HERE.

Exhibition Will Be Given at Presque Isle Grounds Tuesday.

C. L. Flannigan, of Montana, and C. E. Robbins, of Minneapolis, expert and fancy shot gun, rifle and revolver shooters, arrived in city last evening and will give an exhibition at the Presque Isle grounds tomorrow afternoon. The Ironwood Times reports an exhibition given recently in that city says: "Mr. Flannigan did some wonderful shooting, using rifle, shot gun and revolver with equal accuracy, many of his stunts being absolutely new and his shooting as a whole was the best ever seen here." The exhibition will be followed by several trap and rifle events.

About twenty marksmen attended the week-end shoot at the Presque Isle grounds yesterday. Kukuk and Waterbury made the best records at the trap, four hours; Carlston, 8 last night; DuPont trophy, and all who are entered in this event are handicapped to be on hand. This is a handicap event, and the handicaps have been so arranged that novices have an advantage over experienced shooters.

Much interest is being taken in the ladies' 22-caliber rifle event, and some good scores are on record. All Marquette ladies are invited to enter next Saturday and compete for the trophy. Those who have entered and have not finished their strings are requested to do so next Saturday.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health Is Worth Saving, and Some Marquette People Know How to Save It.

Many Marquette people take their lives in the hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has cured thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a Marquette citizen's recommendation.

Mrs. J. A. Kennedy, 723 N. Third St., Marquette, Mich., says: "A member of our family suffered from lamboago and kidney trouble for some time. Backache was almost constant and although different remedies were tried, none proved of benefit. Doan's Kidney Pills, however, brought entire relief. I am pleased to recommend this sterling preparation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
