

DAILY MINING JOURNAL

A MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED).

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

MARQUETTE, MICH., OCT. 30.

NO POLITICS THERE.

President Taft lost no time in taking up the suggestion that the prosecution of the Steel trust had been undertaken largely as a political measure...

The tenor of the president's entire address on this occasion was a refutation of the story that the starting of the case against the Steel trust was due to anything but a purpose to push it through as vigorously and effectively as possible...

In the light of the manner in which the achievements of the administration have kept step with its statements of purpose, it is idle to question the good faith of any of its prosecutions under the Sherman act.

MISTAKE JUDGMENT.

The Lansing State Journal believes that the members of the Michigan Manufacturers' association have erred in judgment in their decision not to make any representations before the commission on tax inquiry...

The attitude of the association allows the inference to be drawn that its members believe they can control enough members of the legislature to defeat the plan whether or not it is fair, equitable and a scheme of taxation the state should adopt.

The commission asserts, there is a large amount of corporate property at present escaping taxation. That phase of the report alone is worthy of attention, and the members of the association as good citizens ought to do their share in aiding the commission to ascertain the real situation in Michigan, as well as what tax evils there are to correct and the best method of correcting them. The whole proposition demands a fair show and the commission is entitled to co-operation by the manufacturers, rather than opposition. The latter attitude weakens their position.

THEY SEE THE LIGHT.

The movement for the introduction of adequate insurance rates by the fraternal orders of the country is now making substantial progress. The effort exerted through several years to persuade the memberships of these organizations that they should, for their ultimate good and the welfare of their orders, submit to paying higher rates than those provided for in the contracts on which they entered has finally borne fruit...

There is also promise that the Modern Woodmen of America will soon adopt adequate insurance rates. The officers of this order have for years been laboring to bring the membership to a state of mind in which it would be willing to pay rates increased enough so that the life of the organization would not be threatened. Its rates have been low and its membership large.

The enlightenment of the membership of the fraternal orders has not been accomplished without numerous sad examples of the fallacy of trying to do insurance business for less than cost. Several orders that would have been spared for great usefulness if their rates had been adequate have fallen by the wayside, and their membership have suffered heavy losses.

We must give President Taft due credit for having the courage of his convictions and not flinching from the avowal of his determination to perform his duty as he sees it, without fear of political perdition, says the New York Journal of Commerce.

Mr. Bryan is satisfied, he says, that the supreme court was slacked so that the Standard Oil and Tobacco trust decisions would make it impossible to punish criminally malefactors of great wealth. Mr. Bryan's suspicions on this score do him little credit and will win him little honor.

There can no longer be any questioning the genuineness of the progressive victory in China. The absolute reign of the standpatters is over. The power may remain in the hands of the Manchus, but they will have to consent, at least, to the enlargement of the rules committee and its election by the entire membership. The world do move, even in the Celestial Kingdom.

A year and a half will be needed, at the minimum, to take the evidence. Then there will probably be six months that will have to elapse before the arguments are in, and if the appeal to the supreme court is brought to an issue before another year passes, both the court and the attorneys will be doing as well as can be expected.

Mrs. Pankhurst says women would not do "soldiers, because men would not shoot a woman. Another reason is because women would not stand up to be shot at."—Lansing State Journal.

The Tripoli war has already cost Italy $100,000,000. We don't know much about war prices, but we have an idea that we could buy a much better one for less than half the money.—Detroit Free Press.

But the question is, can California produce twelve men such as the lawyers in the McNamara case have in mind?—Flint Journal.

It's all right to cut camed horse meat, if you do not know it, perhaps, but the fellow who has ever suffered from nightmare would be afraid to tackle it if he knew it.—Bay City Times.

Canada is not unfriendly, says Premier Borden. Neither is the United States. There need be no unfriendliness just because the two countries decided not to bowl over the tariff wall.

The governor has not yet disposed of the special session question, but the opinion that the members will be called together next January appears to be growing stronger.

Boss Barnes, of Albany, has proved a reticent witness, but the investigating committee has plenty of power with which it can loosen him up, if only it desires to use it.

The manner in which the legislature keeps the sportsmen guessing can only be compared with the manner in which it manages to puzzle up the commercial fishermen.

Not a word would Colonel Roosevelt say, but perhaps in due time he will have an editorial in Outlook on the subject.

According to the latest advice the Italian-Turco war is proving more than a moving picture affair, after all.

It is sincerely to be hoped that the new Chinese republic will not be modeled on the South American type.

"Tainted," remarked the Danish missionaries, as they looked on Dr. Cook's money.

FROM MR. MARKSTRUM.

To the Editor of The Mining Journal: Reading in yours of today a reference to myself and the proposed $250 state license for saloons, allow me to call the Journal's attention to its usual mistake in always getting the wrong pig by the tail.

The writer did not "argue" against any $750, or any other increased license. Incidentally it was stated that this additional license to the state would decrease the number of saloons and to that extent reduce the income locally.

The objection to this proposed $250 state license is not its "high" figure, but the fact that it makes the state assume sponsorship for the saloon by resting its tax-income thereon.

Should it not strike every citizen at Marquette what a ridiculous position the great state of Michigan assumes after granting the right of "local option" to its various local communities, then stepping in with this state license of the traffic which is but saying that communities opposed to the traffic must still participate in its profits?

K. S. MARKSTRUM, Bessemer, Mich., Oct. 28.

Big Rapids is to have two new industries—a pocketbook and a vacuum cleaner factory. A hygienic combination, so to speak.—Grand Rapids News.

There's an American duchess in Rome who is said to be happy with her foreign duke. Newspapers are giving whole pages to the sensational story.—Jackson Citizen-Press.

A Laugh or Two

Sure of the Fact. An Irishman applying for a pension at Washington insisted upon the justice of his claim owing to the fact that he had been wounded while in the service of his country.

"How and where were you wounded?" one of the committee inquired. Placing his hand over his heart he said: "I was shot in the breast on a retreat from Bull Run, yer honor."

"Shot through the breast on a retreat?" said the committeeman. "How could you be shot through the breast on a retreat?"

"If I had the inclination to run and look back, yer honor." "But if you were shot through the breast in the place you indicate the ball would have gone through your heart. How is that?"

"Me heart was in me mouth at the time, yer honor."—Housekeeper.

A Real Difficulty. "A funny incident occurred on a German railway train whereon I was a passenger," says an American who spends a bit of his time abroad.

"A certain stout Teuton had been assigned to manage the newly made engine to ride backward through the Black Forest. At the first stopping place he asked the postmaster, pursuant to German regulations, to give him another seat, saying it made him ill to ride backward."

"Ask the man opposite to change with you," said the postmaster, gruffly. "But there is nobody opposite me," protested the German. "So I cannot ask him."—Harper's Magazine.

A Superb Snub. One of the members of the Savage club had recently been knighted, and returned to Adelphi Terrace puffing with importance. Asked where he had been he replied, "At my ancestral home in Essex."

"But what do you call your ancestral home?" asked Leigh. "Burnbury Court," replied the newly made knight, with emphasis. "Oh, we know that," said Leigh. "But what's the number?"

In Castle and Court House, by Ramsay Colles.

He Escaped, Too. The noted actor, who had consented to give a reading for the benefit of a certain charity, arrived home late that night with a very worried look on his face, says Tit-Bits.

"Why, my dear," said his wife, was't the reading a success?" "No. Didn't do it at all," he replied, dropping into a chair moodily. "Didn't read at all!"

"No. You see, the chairman of the reception committee first made a speech introducing the chairman of the managing committee. He got up and told about the excellent work of the honorary treasurer, who got up and made a speech about the plans for next year and introduced the president of the association, who told all about the work of the concert, and then introduced the chairman of the meeting, who was to introduce me, but by that time the audience was leaving. So I slipped round to the door and came out with them."

A Good Actor. Robert Hilliard, the actor, who stars in the role of a hero, went to a physician not long ago, and was told that he would have to go under a slight operation.

"All right, doctor," said Hilliard. "There's only one thing I ask of you; please don't hurt me." Explaining that it would be foolish to administer an anaesthetic for such a slight operation, the doctor promised to be as gentle as possible.

Lower State Notes

REED CITY—Three factories are making propositions to locate in Reed City, two of them having decided that they wanted Reed City as a home since the business men have buried the hammer and are united for a bigger and better city.

CHESANING—Four years ago John Austin suffered a stroke of paralysis, since which time his mind has been affected. He recently started for his wife with an ax, she ran into a bedroom and locked the door.

SAGINAW—August Aret, by his next friend, Erwin Aret, has commenced suit against the Sommers Bros. Match company for $10,000 damages. The bill of complaint alleges that the defendant company allowed refuse to accumulate in Rust park, which was composed of explosives, and that the plaintiff while playing near the debris caused an explosion, which destroyed the hearing of one ear and burned him severely.

ANN ARBOR—Willis Severoy, 50 years old, whose home is in Houghton and who was brought here in the last day of September for treatment in the psychiatric ward, committed suicide in the institution by hanging himself with a towel to the waste pipe in his bathroom. An attempt was left him for a moment to render assistance to another attendant, and on returning found Severoy strangled to death.

JACKSON—The most important practical matter up for discussion at the Free Baptist meeting this year concerns the basis of union between the Free Baptists and the Baptists. There are three ways in which they may unite; the Baptists may join the Free Baptist church; or the Free Baptists may join the Baptist church; or the two churches may combine in forming a new church to be called the United Baptist church.

IONIA—Dr. Roy O. Knapp, physician at the Michigan reformatory, had a close call while crossing the Grand Trunk railroad bridge west of this city. He was out for a walk and was half way across the bridge when the eastbound flyer overtook him. He started to run, but was held by his footing on the bridge. Just as he stepped off the structure the train reached him. The engineer saw him and slowed down the train considerably, otherwise Dr. Knapp might have been forced to jump into the river.

IONIA—The Gridley club will be revived in January, President E. H. Thompson announcing that the animal banquet probably will be held the last Friday of that month. The club has been dead since the memorable campaign two years ago, at which Governor Osborn and P. H. Kelly participated in a lively debate.

JACKSON—Mrs. Hannah Holan was arrested on complaint of the coroner, who charged her with cruelty to Rosalie Rolan, her step-child, who died of scarlet fever October 15. The child was seven years old and the coroner's jury declared that the death was hastened by beatings and abuse. Mrs. Rolan is charged with beating the child, neglecting her welfare and causing her to experience unnecessary privations.

CADILLAC—Hon. Gerrit J. Dieken, former congressman from the Fifth Michigan district, was in Cadillac trying a new outfit and during the day stated among other things that Taft will be renominated and re-elected, that the president should be elected for six years and but for one term, that Governor Osborn already is good as re-elected, and that the governor's term should be for but four years with no chance for reelection.

LANSING—Further hearings before the commission of tax inquiry have been postponed until next week, when Lansing manufacturers will appear before it. Notice has been sent to mine owners that the commission will be ready to entertain their complaints next Wednesday.

TRAVERSE CITY—Mrs. Margaret Hyland, 74 years old, who was sent to the Northern Michigan State hospital from Oscoda county, in 1905, was murdered by Mrs. Phoebe Roelf, forty years old, who was sent to the institution from Newaygo in 1907. The patients were in the same room together through the night and it is believed that Mrs. Roelf acted from sudden impulse. In committing the deed Mrs. Roelf tied Mrs. Hyland's feet to the bed and then strangled her with a necktie. Mrs. Roelf confessed to the crime and a coroner's jury brought in a verdict of murder by the hands of Mrs. Roelf, and attached no blame to the management of the institution. The younger woman had the care of Mrs. Hyland for about two years. Both were patients of a mild type and were as a rule very affectionate toward one another.

Drumney, Chicago, formerly manager of the Postal Telegraph company in this city, in which he states that he is writing a book which will deal with the humorous and other happenings in the telegraph world. Mr. Drumney is being backed in his venture by the Postal Telegraph Athletic association. He will be glad to receive contributions such as "operators' slang," "telegraph gossip," etc., and he is also thinking of including a special article on Marquette.

Some One Shot at Window—Investigation of the accidental shooting of John Ellis while standing in his cabin at F. H. Vandenberg's brickyard farm, located those interested to believe that the bullet was fired by some one who shot at the window of the cabin, believing it was unoccupied. The bullet passed through the window of the cabin, passing it was ascertained, Mr. Ellis had a bad cold yesterday, but he was greatly improved yesterday and his physician is hopeful of recovery.

Negaunee Won, 5 to 5—Negaunee High school managed to get away with its game with Marquette High, played at the fair grounds Saturday afternoon, by a close score of 5 to 5. Marquette scored first in the first period on a well executed forward pass, but failed to kick goal. In the second period, Negaunee scored on the same kind of play, and took the lead by putting the pigskin in the end zone. Marquette's forward pass was in Negaunee's territory the greater part of the time, but Marquette was unable to score. Marquette failed to take advantage of a fine chance to make a drop kick from the thirty-yard line near the close of the game.

Gave Recital at Gwin—Miss Agnes Withely and Miss Louise Rushmore, of this city, gave a delightful recital at the Gwin clubhouse Friday evening. A large crowd was in attendance and the enthusiastic applause that followed every number showed that the efforts of the two young artists were greatly appreciated. Miss Withely confined her program to English songs, among the best of which were Chadwick's "Thou Art to Me," a group of Indian songs by Chas. Wakefield Cadman and the two "Bird Songs" by Lehman. Miss Rushmore's recited scenes from Rossetti's "The Princess," parts of Shakespeare's "Henry V" and "Dolores," by F. Marion Crawford. Both performers graciously responded to numerous encores.

Liszt Program Given—Many musical organizations have celebrated the Liszt centennial this month. The Saturday Music club met with Mrs. Roberts Saturday afternoon and gave a Liszt memorial program, which was much enjoyed by the members and their several guests. In writing of the Theodore Thomas concert in Liszt anniversary last week, a Chicago paper says: "Never before in the history of music has so much of Liszt's compositions been played as during this month. To do honor to a master who was born 100 years ago, it is surely right these celebrations should be held. For it is clear that Liszt was a musician whose gifts and influence were of vast benefit to art; whose love of truth and beauty was of the loftiest kind."

Passed Away in Chicago—Miss Margaret Flynn, of Fourth and Fisher streets, on Saturday received the unexpected news of the death in Chicago of her niece, Mrs. Margaret Flynn Marsh. The deceased was well known in Marquette, as she was reared here and had a number of relatives in this city, among them Mrs. Mary A. Dougherty, Mrs. Katharine Lynch, Mrs. Ed. Harris and Miss Flynn, her aunts. Mrs. Marsh's many friends were greatly grieved at the news of her sudden death. The deceased was a young woman of jovial disposition and was well liked by every one who knew her. Her husband, mother and brother will arrive here with the remains. The body will be taken to the residence of Miss Margaret Flynn. The announcement of the funeral will be made later.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO.

R. A. DOUGLASS IS OPPOSED TO PLAN

Upper Peninsula Man Does Not Believe in Adoption of Presidential Primary.

R. A. Douglass, of Ironwood, one of the Twelfth congressional district's representatives of the Republican state central committee, was in Marquette Saturday evening, after a few days trip in the eastern part of the upper peninsula, where he had been looking after the duties of Deputy Oil Inspector Holbein, of Manistique, who was taken sick on a train a few days ago.

Mr. Douglass, in discussing the matter with a Mining Journal man, said that he was opposed to the plan of holding a presidential primary in Michigan next year. He is now seeking to ascertain the sentiment in the upper peninsula. If he found any general demand for the plan he might vote for it, but as far as he has been able to learn there is little interest in the proposal. The matter of choosing delegates shall be changed. Mr. Douglass expects that the plan will be rejected by the state central committee by practically a unanimous vote, if the La Follette people advocate it seriously.

"In any event I would oppose a scheme to elect delegates by congressional district, the form in which the plan is now advocated," Mr. Douglass said. "If we are to have the presidential primary I believe that the complexion of the entire delegation should be decided by the voters in the state at large. To elect the delegates by districts might result in splitting the delegation, and I believe the delegates should be elected, if the old system is to be given up, as the presidential electors are chosen." It is the avowed plan of the La Follette adherents to force the state central committee to vote on the presidential primary plan. With the organization and leaders generally against them, they realize that they have no chance to make an impression in Michigan under the present order. If the presidential primary was chosen they could make a better showing, they believe. If they force the rejection of the plan on the state central committee they believe that this also will serve to increase the La Follette sentiment in the state.

Chairman of Supervisors. Mr. Douglass is chairman of the Gogebic board of supervisors, on which he has served for many years, and he talks interestingly of taxing conditions in Gogebic county. The mining men, with the exception of the Schlesinger interests, whose Newport mine was given the largest increase the tax commission placed on any individual iron property in the upper peninsula, are now fairly well reconciled to the results of the commission's work. There is some talk, however, that the Schlesinger interests may fight their taxes. The taxation rate in the city of Ironwood is $116, the lowest rate on record, and one much lower than the rates at Ishpeming and Negaunee, which were also given heavy increases by the state tax commission. The taxes on general property in Ironwood have been more than cut in two, the mines taking up the extra burden.

The Gogebic county supervisors re-realized the county at the October session, and Mr. Douglass' account of the procedure shows that the work is done much more thoroughly than it has been done in Marquette county in the past. The equalization committee makes a painstaking effort to determine the ratio that assessed valuations bear to actual valuations in the several townships and cities. This year the board of supervisors adjourned over a week from the date of the regular annual session, but the equalization committee remained in session and worked most of the intervening time. The rolls of the townships and cities were thoroughly inspected, figures were made on the acreages of wild lands and those lands bearing timber, with estimates of their value, and a conscientious attempt was made to find out what system, if any, the local assessing officers had followed. Mr. Douglass, the chairman of the board, who has hunted and fished over practically every foot of the country, and whose personal knowledge of land values in its several townships is extensive, participated actively in the work. Some of the townships were given heavy raises, but the feeling existed that the equalization represented an honest attempt to do justice by the different parts of the county on the basis of actual information, and only one of the twenty members of the board refused to ratify the equalization that was finally arrived at.

Gogebic county has gone in heavily for good roads the past year, the county road system having been adopted two years ago. A fine macadam highway leading from Ironwood to Bessemer has been completed. The old road has been encroached upon by mining operations, and it is simply a question of time when considerable parts of it will be built, so the road commission decided to build an entirely new highway. Gogebic is now one of the most active counties in the upper peninsula in road building work.

Farmers Raising Ginseng—Farmers in Stephenson township, Menominee county, have taken up the cultivation of ginseng and have found that growing this medicinal root so highly prized in China is profitable. W. P. Kezar and Ed. Perrizo started this industry several years ago as an experiment and although after due time it began to pay, it was not until lately that the real value of the crop has been recognized. Mr. Kezar now has a large garden at his farm west of the village and is selling large quantities of roots and seeds. Herman Warner embarked in the ginseng business on a small scale some seven years ago, and the other day he exhibited some five-year-old roots which were worth fifty cents each. This year he has sold over $600 worth of roots and has planted 12,000 new seeds. Hereafter he will harvest roots every year, bringing him an income of from $500 to $1,500, and that from a tract less than two acres in extent. Sylvan Evrad, who also engaged in ginseng-raising some years ago, is realizing a snug sum of money every year from the roots and seeds sold.

Poor Commissioner for Dickinson—R. W. Pierce, Jr., of Foster City, for many years a member of the county board, has been elected the first member of the new Dickinson county poor commission by the supervisors. The other members are Joseph Row, of Norway, and Dr. Dockery, at present holding office as superintendents of the poor. Mr. Pierce will be paid a salary of $100 per year. Messrs. Rowe and Dockery will continue to receive the usual salary until their terms as superintendents expire, when additional members of the commission will be appointed by the county board at the same salary as now received by Mr. Pierce. The county board had no power to legislate Superintendent Rowe and Dockery out of office. The new commission will conduct the poor business along the same lines as the county road commission and has been empowered to employ a secretary who will act as a purchasing agent and also investigate applicants for aid and issue the necessary orders. The supervisors are of the opinion that the change is in the interest of economy.

Mrs. Marion E. Crane will be at Hotel Marquette Oct. 28th to 31st with the most beautiful line of needlework she has ever shown. All the new things in punch work, cross stitch and Swedish weaving. 10-27-31

WOODSMAN DEAD AT I. STEPHENSON CAMP

Log Falling From a Car at Camps South of Ishpeming Instantly Killed an Employee.

Saturday, William Prin, the coroner, received a telegram, advising him that John Martinek, a woodsman, had been killed at the I. Stephenson company's camps, some twenty-five miles south of Ishpeming, and requesting him to go there to conduct an inquest.

Mr. Prin left for the camp yesterday morning at 5 o'clock in J. H. Billing's automobile, accompanied by Earl Leininger, son of William Leininger, the undertaker, who took charge of the remains. Mr. Prin conducted an inquest while at the camp, the jury being composed of the company's workmen, and a verdict of accidental death was returned. The party arrived in the city with the remains at 12 o'clock, noon, having made a fast run both ways, considering the distance covered and the condition of the road. It would have taken two days to make the round trip with a team.

The fatality occurred Thursday. Martinek and other men were working about two and a half miles from Camp A, loading a car with logs. The car was being moved on a slight incline and Martinek was delegated to "spike" the front wheels with a piece of timber at the point where the car was to be stopped. The car was moving at a fair speed as it came toward Martinek and the jar when it struck the "spike" timber, caused a log to roll off, the end of it striking Martinek in the back and killing him instantly.

The men who were working with the deceased testified that they had warned Martinek to remain crouched under, or immediately alongside, the car when it struck the piece of timber that he had blocked in front of the wheels, as they feared that one of the logs might jar off. However, he stepped back from the car, in front of the falling log. The deceased had worked at the camps for two years, until last spring, when he left, only to return again about a month ago. He was about twenty-five years of age. None of the men at the camp could tell where he made his home, nor could they give any information about his relatives, though one of his acquaintances said he had heard him say that he had a brother and sister living in Chicago. His clothing and other belongings were searched by Coroner Prin in the hope that he might find something that would aid in locating his relatives, but no letters or papers of any kind were found. The remains will be held at Leininger's morgue for a few days, while an effort is being made to locate the relatives.

"THE THREE TWINS."

Joe M. Gates' Big Musical Comedy Here Saturday Evening. "The Three Twins," which was greeted by a capacity audience at the Ishpeming theatre at the opening of the theatrical season of 1910-1911, when it attracted a pronounced success, will be the attraction next Saturday evening.

Several of the performers who were seen in the production here over a year ago, are still with the company, and Mr. Gates has provided the attraction with a scenic investiture of unusual magnificence, also with a complete new set of costumes. Not one particle of last season's outfit is carried.

"The Three Twins" is a production that pleases both young and old. Its music is dainty and sweet, and its humorous story is told in a manner that forces laughter from the most staid. The many novelties in scenic decorations and electrical effects introduced in the play make it so unlike the usual musical comedy that every one who sees it is delighted.

DEATH OF CHAMPION WOMAN.

Mrs. Joseph Hammel, of Champion, died Saturday night, after a brief illness. The deceased was born in Champion about thirty-five years ago, and spent all her life there. Her husband is in the employ of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company in this city, and he was summoned to his home Friday when his wife was taken seriously ill. Besides the husband, there are six children surviving. The mother of the deceased and three sisters also live in Champion. The funeral will be held this morning at 9 o'clock from the Catholic church in Champion.

DWELLING HOUSE BURNS.

Fire last evening which started in an unknown manner almost entirely destroyed the residence on North Third street occupied by Simon Carlson. Most of the contents of the structure were ruined. Mr. and Mrs. Carlson were away from home and the first that was known of the fire was when the flames suddenly burst out in large volume. The origin of the blaze was in the rear of the up-stairs portion of the building.

Evidently the fire had been smoldering a considerable time. The dwelling was known as the Winsand house.

WORKING GOOD-SIZED CREW.

William Treblecock came in from Silver Lake Saturday and returned yesterday, taking several men with him to work on the new concrete dam which Treblecock Bros. and Wahlman & Son are constructing for the city of Marquette. Up to this time the contractors have not been able to get as many men as they want, but Mr. Treblecock picked up a dozen or more on Saturday. When the new hands arrive there will be about sixty-five on the job. The concrete work was started some days ago and it is progressing satisfactorily. Mr. Treblecock said that they expect to complete the job within the next thirty or forty days.

"HOTTEST COON IN DIXIE."

"The Hottest Coon in Dixie," a musical comedy, produced entirely by colored people, will be a popular priced attraction this evening at Ishpeming theater. The attraction has been favorably received in other parts of the upper peninsula during the past week or ten days. The company carries its own band and orchestra and there will be a street parade at 2 o'clock, following the arrival of the South Shore train from the copper country. The band will also be heard this evening in front of the theater. The prices will be twenty-five, thirty-five and fifty cents.

ACCUSED OF BUYING DEER.

Nicholas Walsh, Jr., an Escanaba man, well known in this city, who spent last week hunting at Camp Clark, which is owned by Ishpeming men, was accused when he arrived home with a 260-pound buck of having "killed" the deer with silver dollars. The Escanaba Press says of him:

"Nicholas Walsh, Jr., came down last night with a big 260 pound buck and a yearling doe, killed by him, it is asserted, at Camp Clark near Ishpeming. Friends of Mr. Walsh disparagingly hold that both the buck and the doe were shot with silver bullets meaning to infer that neither of the animals was shot by Mr. Walsh but on the other hand were purchased by him with good American silver."

Samuel Salinsky, a member of the Escanaba high school football team, fractured a collar bone in the game against the Marinette high school eleven Saturday. He did not know that the bone had been shattered until after the game, and he played until the end of the contest. Marinette won by a score of 5 to 0.

Members of the Young Ladies' Sewing circle of the Swedish Lutheran church will conduct a Halloween social tomorrow evening in the Young People's hall. A musical and literary program will be given, the hall will be appropriately decorated, and refreshments will be served at the close of the entertainment. The admission will be fifteen cents.

Stephenson camps to investigate the cause of John Martinek's death yesterday morning, Coroner William Prin called at Camp Nine, where Fred Smith and his friends from Elk Rapids, Sheriff Lehman of Marquette, John Lacey, and others of this city, are camping. They had shot one of the bears, and the members of the party were in the woods when he called.

WALL STREET STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co. Saturday wired from New York as follows: The London market indicates that today's session would be without unusual events. We are of the opinion that purchases, followed with patience, of such low priced stocks as Erie, Southern Railway, and Missouri, Kansas & Texas will bring their rewards. For investment on basis of dividend, on any decline, we would purchase Aetna, Norfolk and Lehigh Valley. Eliminating political interference, at this season of the year general business conditions would be stimulated by trade activity in all lines. The sober and conservative citizens of the United States are yet to be heard from at the ballot box, and in the end American commerce will be supreme. The closing prices were as follows:

Of the market at Boston, Paine, Webber & Co. Saturday said: The liquidation seems to have run its course and this morning there were very few stocks for sale. The rally was small, but strong in the position of the market and the strong holdings of stock. We probably shall not hear much more about the Steel suit for months and it will be forgotten in the news of more important occurrences. At this point, but for a gradual rally, this point, but for a gradual rally as bullish as last week and would advise taking profits on any sharp rally. The coppers acted well yesterday and today and although the buying power was small, the offerings amounted to practically nothing. Lake was the favorite, selling at 26 1/2 and closing at the top. Closing prices were as follows:

Table of stock prices including Algonah, North Butte, and other regional stocks.

Chicago Wheat.

Paine, Webber & Co.'s Chicago correspondent had the following to say of the wheat market in that city Saturday: While there was not much headway in establishing new prices for wheat today, it was evident that there was a return of confidence after the heavy selling of yesterday. The trade was not under the influence of the eastern financial conditions to any great extent. There was more disposition to follow nature than there has been for some time. It proved enough to induce considerable replacing of disclosed holdings, and this gave a better tone to the trade late in the session at something over the closing prices of yesterday. The closing prices were as follows: May wheat, 103 1/2; corn, 65 1/2; oats, 49 1/2; pork, 15.85; lard, 9.17; December wheat, 98 1/2; corn, 65 1/2; oats, 47 1/2; January pork, 15.70.

Miss Schwittay has served most efficiently in the responsible position that she has held since Judge Yolland entered upon his duties in the probate court at Escanaba and she leaves the county's employ only to take a position with a considerable increase in salary. Miss Schwittay removed to Escanaba from Marinette seven years ago.

UGLY CARVING BEE SATURDAY EVENING

Two of Several Men Participating in a Saloon Row Badly Slashed With Razors.

There was an ugly carving bee in Frank Nardi's saloon, on West Division street Saturday evening, shortly before 6 o'clock, as a result of which two of the participants were badly slashed with razors, and three, including the two wounded men, were placed under arrest. The injured men are Fortunato Volala and Frank Bertussi. Bruno Donato is charged with having taken part in the fight.

People on the street in front of the saloon while the row was on were convinced that not less than a dozen men were mixed up in the fight, so great was the noise of yelling and jumping in the room. Several of those who were in the place left hurriedly through the rear door, fearing they would be slashed. The proprietor was among the number who got out.

Marshal Trevarrow and Officer Olds were notified of the row. When they ar-reached the street, but Volala was still inside. Donato had disappeared. Bertussi was apparently in a bad way, as his head, face and clothing was covered with blood, and there was a gash in his face, extending from the top of his forehead to the tip of his nose, that required eighteen stitches to sew up. Volala had a bad cut in the scalp, above the left eye, requiring six stitches to close it. After the surgeons had finished their work on Volala he was in pretty fair condition, and was taken to the jail.

Deputy Marshal Collins, who arrived on the scene in time to help the other officers round up the scrappers, and Officer Olds started out to look for Donato, and they found him in bed at his home, at the Junction location. For a man carrying a good load of liquor Donato made great time between the scene of the row and his home, as the officers were there in less than one hour after the two injured men were taken to the Ishpeming hospital. Donato denied having been in the saloon, saying that he had not been down town and that he knew nothing of the affair.

The hearing will probably be held some day this week, or as soon as Bertussi is able to appear in court.

The party who recently stole a skirt from the Main street restaurant is known. Return it and nothing will be said. 10-30-3t

ISHPEMING WINS FROM GLADSTONE

Delta County's East High School Eleven Lost Its First Game of Season Saturday.

Gladstone's clever high school football team was defeated by the Ishpeming high Saturday at the Union Park, the score being 21 to 6. It was either team's game until the last quarter, the score up to that period being 6 to 6. After Henrickson kicked a field goal from Gladstone's thirty-yard line, making the score 9 to 6 in Ishpeming's favor, the Ishpeming players took heart and pounded the line harder than they had earlier in the contest. The visitors were at their mercy, and two more touchdowns were scored in rapid order.

Ishpeming won the toss and Gladstone kicked twenty-five yards against the wind. Ishpeming was held for downs. Gladstone taking the ball on its forty-yard line. Gladstone punted, Russell, of the Ishpeming team, securing the ball on the twenty-yard line. Ishpeming was unable to do anything with Gladstone's line and the ball was punted to Gladstone's twenty-five-yard line. McCurley advanced ten yards through tackles and forwards, Stanford catching the ball on Gladstone's thirty-yard line, making the score 9 to 6 in Ishpeming's favor. The Ishpeming players took heart and pounded the line harder than they had earlier in the contest. The visitors were at their mercy, and two more touchdowns were scored in rapid order.

Ishpeming won the toss and Gladstone kicked twenty-five yards against the wind. Ishpeming was held for downs. Gladstone taking the ball on its forty-yard line. Gladstone punted, Russell, of the Ishpeming team, securing the ball on the twenty-yard line. Ishpeming was unable to do anything with Gladstone's line and the ball was punted to Gladstone's twenty-five-yard line. McCurley advanced ten yards through tackles and forwards, Stanford catching the ball on Gladstone's thirty-yard line, making the score 9 to 6 in Ishpeming's favor. The Ishpeming players took heart and pounded the line harder than they had earlier in the contest. The visitors were at their mercy, and two more touchdowns were scored in rapid order.

The Ishpeming players found, after two trials, that gains could not be made through Gladstone's line, so Henrickson kicked, sending the ball back to the goal. Gladstone man falling on it. The ball was brought out to the twenty-five-yard line and in several downs the visitors advanced forty yards, but were finally compelled to kick, and Childs caught the ball on Ishpeming's forty-five-yard line. After two downs, Ishpeming tried a forward pass. It went wrong, however, as McCurley interrupted the ball and got away for a fifty-yard run, to Ishpeming's twenty-yard line. The ball was advanced to within six yards of Ishpeming's goal, and it looked as though Gladstone would score. The ball was, in fact, carried over the line, but the touchdown did not count as both officials penalized Gladstone five yards for being offside. The ball went back to Ishpeming's eleven-yard line, and the visitors were finally held for downs on Ishpeming's five-yard line. Henrickson punted to Gladstone's twenty-five-yard line. The quarter ended with the ball in Gladstone's possession, on her twenty-five-yard line.

Second Quarter. Gladstone defended the west goal, having the advantage of the wind. Ishpeming punted to Gladstone's forty-five-yard line, and on Gladstone's first down gained the ball on a fumble. Ishpeming fumbled a few moments later on Gladstone's forty-five-yard line. On the second down, Gladstone again fumbled, and in the next play Henrickson, for Ishpeming, went through the right tackle for twenty-eight yards, to Gladstone's twelve-yard line. Henrickson again carried the ball the first time for five yards and the second time for four. On the third down

Childs went over the line about a foot, but he was mixed up and passed the ball a foot outside the line. Henrickson went over on the next down, securing the first touchdown in nineteen minutes of play. Henrickson then kicked goal. Ishpeming kicked off against the wind to E. Barry, on Gladstone's eighteen-yard line. Gladstone advanced thirty yards in six downs, making the gains principally through the guards and tackles. Ishpeming secured the ball on its fifty-yard line, when Gladstone's quarterback failed to get the ball to one of the other players. Henrickson then punted twenty-five yards to Gladstone's thirty-yard line, an Ishpeming man falling on the ball. Ishpeming punted again to LaFond, on Gladstone's fifteen-yard line. Gladstone returned the punt, Stanford catching the ball on Ishpeming's forty-yard line. Ishpeming was soon forced to punt again, F. Barry catching the ball on Gladstone's fifty-yard line. The ball was in Gladstone's possession on Ishpeming's thirty-three-yard line when the second quarter ended, with the score 6 to 0 in Ishpeming's favor.

Second Half. Gladstone seemed to have the better of the argument during the first quarter of the second half, when the visitors secured their only touchdown. Gladstone had the west goal and the kick off went to Moody on the twenty-yard line. The ball was advanced ten yards; Henrickson took ten on two downs. Ishpeming was compelled to punt, McCurley getting the ball on Gladstone's forty-yard line and advancing it fifteen yards. Strand then took ten yards around the left end and a gain of ten yards was made in the next two downs, through the center. Gladstone then worked a forward pass for fifteen yards, landing the ball at Ishpeming's ten-yard line. The most exciting period of the game followed. Gladstone was held for downs within two yards of its goal, and in the first down Henrickson, after advancing five yards, fumbled the ball. McCurley broke through the line for four yards and in the next down went over, securing the touchdown, after ten minutes of play. McCurley then kicked goal, tying the score.

Ishpeming kicked off twenty yards; Gladstone worked two successful forward passes after which time was called. Pretty Goal from Field. The third quarter opened with Gladstone defending the east goal. Henrickson sent the ball over the goal line, on the kick off, a Gladstone man recovering it. The ball was then placed on the twenty-five-yard line in Gladstone's possession. Ishpeming secured the ball on the first down on a fumble, without the visitors making any advance. After two downs, with a loss of five yards, Henrickson kicked goal from the twenty-yard line, the kick being a perfect one and making the score 9 to 6. During the remaining ten minutes of play the ball was continually in Gladstone's territory and most of the time in Ishpeming's possession. Two more touchdowns were made, the last one just a minute before time was up. The game was called after Ishpeming kicked goal. Ishpeming made most of its longest gains by a tandem play, through the tackles and guards.

Saturday's game was the only one that Gladstone has lost this season. The team played two tie games, there being no scores in either contest, and won one on a forfeit from Escanaba. The eleven is a fast one. Henrickson was the star player for Ishpeming and McCurley did the heaviest part of the work for Gladstone.

Ed Schmidt, who so successfully umpired the league baseball games toward the close of the season, was the referee and R. J. Wise, general secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, was umpire. Mr. Schmidt is an excellent official and all the players were pleased with his work.

DECLARES HE IS INNOCENT. Republic Man, Charged With Game Law Violation, will Fight Case. Louis Levine, a well-known business man of Republic, who is charged with having attempted to ship partridge by express to a Detroit man, will fight the case in Judge West's court next Thursday.

The partridge, shipped from Republic, were intercepted enroute by Deputy Game Warden Andrews, of Iron Mountain. Mr. Levine's name appeared on the package as the shipper, but he asserts that he did not ship the birds, and that he had no knowledge of their shipment until he was asked to come to Ishpeming last Friday to answer to the charge of violating the game laws. Mr. Levine refused to come to Ishpeming and Deputy Marshal Collins went to Republic after him. Mr. Levine accompanied the officer here Friday evening. He declared that someone was trying to "put one over on him" and he asked that the case be adjourned until Thursday, when he will return to the city to fight it, with W. T. Potter as his attorney.

Mr. Levine said that if he had shipped the birds, he would have pleaded guilty and paid the cost of court willingly. He believes the real offender placed his name on the package to cover up his own guilt.

Operations at the South Lake are centered in an effort to locate a suitable site for a shaft to reach and develop the several known copper bearing lodes previously disclosed in the exploratory campaign. The site originally selected was abandoned owing to the treacherous nature of the overburden, after a depth of about thirty-five feet had been attained in the drop shaft. So far as values are concerned the South Lake acreage seemingly is of great potential worth, but it is clear that much time and money will be needed to get a shaft down through the overburden, which is anything but light.

ISHPEMING OWLS TO INCREASE MEMBERSHIP

National Organizer of Fraternal Society Expects to Write 225 Applications.

J. B. Mondloch, a national organizer for the Order of Owls, arrived in Ishpeming Saturday. Mr. Mondloch has done phenomenal work for the order in the upper peninsula the past several months, and he expects to make a record in Ishpeming. He starts in with the hope of increasing the membership here to 400 by the 29th of next month. The Ishpeming branch now has a membership of 175.

Some ten days ago Mr. Mondloch organized a nest in Negaunee, with 204 charter members. Prior to starting work there he spent some time in the copper country, having organized a branch, composed of Houghton and Hancock men with 207 on the charter list. The Laurium-Calumet branch had 450 charter members at Albeek started with 194 members.

Mr. Mondloch Saturday said that the Order of Owls is having a big growth in membership and that many new branches are being organized. The order was organized Nov. 20, 1904, at South Bend, Ind., and there are now over 1,500 nests with a membership of 315,000 in the United States and Canada. At Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 29 last, a nest was organized with a charter membership of 3,095. This is the largest charter list ever secured by any order.

The society maintains an orphan's home at South Bend, Ind., to take care of the wives, orphans and other relatives of deceased members. The members solicited for the society here by Mr. Mondloch will be taken into the local nest under a reduced initiation fee. The cost of the membership, exclusive of the initiation fee, is fifty cents per month. In return for this the members receive $1 per day in case of sickness or accident, the services of a physician free for members and their families, and funeral expenses paid in case of death.

EXPERIMENTS SHOW SOME GOOD RESULTS

Conditions Under Which Alfalfa Will Thrive in Upper Peninsula Now Known.

Farmers neighboring to Negaunee are experimenting with alfalfa. The results obtained in the different localities have been varied, but for the most part the farmers believe that alfalfa can be developed into a successful crop in the upper peninsula. Captain Foley planted a crop on the Breitung lands, southeast of the Mary Charlotte mine, last spring, and he is much pleased with the growth. He mixed it with oats on a four acre tract. When the oats were ready for harvesting toward the last of July, he cut it together with the three-inch sprouts of alfalfa. Since then the alfalfa has grown more hardily, and now the crop is ten inches high. If it withstands the frost next year he expects to raise nothing on the tract but alfalfa hay.

Captain Foley bought seed for the experiment after a long study of alfalfa growing conditions. He saw acres of it in Wisconsin and southern Michigan, where the climate, though not as severe as that in the northern peninsula, is divided into seasons about the same length. He noticed that it grew well in the western states in latitudes as northerly as this.

Captain Foley expects that the alfalfa will winter well. The roots of the plant reach deep into the soil, in itself a protection from frost, although the peculiar structure of the stalk of the plant makes it especially susceptible to injury by frost. The plant contains moisture in large quantities, and this quality makes it a valuable fodder.

In order to successfully raise alfalfa, the soil conditions of the tract to be planted must be thoroughly understood. First of all, there must be plenty of moisture. The plant is similar to the common field clover. In fact it belongs to the same botanical group of plants as clover. On its roots are small knots, or nodules, or organic compounds containing nitrogen, as in the clover plant, which, as the crop grows year after year, and the old plants die, decompose and act as a fertilizer as well. Fertilization is not necessary under these conditions. The soil originally must be alkaline to a certain degree. If a plot of ground is used which has been heavily fertilized with decayed animal matter, such as dead leaves and vegetable tops, it will have an acid reaction, and raising alfalfa on it is practically impossible. To remedy this condition, some mineral matter of the alkaline earth metals compounds must be mixed with it, and soda or lime are the two substances most generally used for the purpose.

Quicklime, or calcium oxide, is a much used compound for the neutralization of the soil, but it has been found that upon standing on the ground it becomes carbonated, owing to the action of the carbon dioxide in the air, and turns to slake-lime, or calcium hydroxide, which is far less effective, and is a waste product from the manufacture of quicklime, is now more generally used. Soda is more expensive, and cannot be procured in any quantity in this part of the country. The application of the lime neutralizes the humic acid produced in the soil by the decay of vegetable matter and makes it right for the planting of the alfalfa.

Scientific data about the chemistry of the soil that is ideal for alfalfa raising are being ascertained at the Michigan Agricultural college at East Lansing. The state experimental station, located at Chatham, on the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company's railroad, is also the location of extensive experiments in the growing of alfalfa, and L. M. Geismar, who is in charge of the station, claims that he has developed a stock that is hardy enough to withstand the rigorous climate in this part of the country, and which will yield two crops of the hay a year. He is trying to introduce it to the farmers, but he is met with more or less apprehension on their part concerning the practicability of the crop. In his mind there is no doubt but that the crop can be made a successful one in this country, if the proper seed is used. He is ready to distribute seed to the farmers, to permit them to prove by actual experiment that it can be successfully grown by anyone who understands the soil conditions.

ENDORSES LAW.

Supt. Schurtz Believes in Physical Training in Schools.

Orr Schurtz, superintendent of schools, thoroughly approves of the state law requiring cities of over 10,000 population to establish courses in physical culture. He believes that during the "growing age," that age in which youth accomplishes the transition from childhood to manhood, and which generally comes during his high school life, boys and girls, especially boys, become too physically inert for the own good health. Exercises should be given them that tend to straighten them up. The developing of muscles is not so necessary as the straightening of the figure.

In discussing the question, Mr. Schurtz said that he would like to see Negaunee adopt a physical training course. The population of the city is not far from 10,000, and the added expense would be very little. Mr. Schurtz says that he would like to see the gymnasium more freely used, and filled with all kinds of exercising apparatus.

The new law requires that in all cities of over 10,000 population regular classes of physical culture shall be conducted in the schools, through all grades. It provides that there shall be regular class hours, the same as for any other school work. A report that the Negaunee board has adopted the course prescribed by law, and will put it into effect next fall, at the opening of school, is incorrect. Nothing has been definitely said or done in the matter so far.

TO OPEN TOMORROW NIGHT.

The bowling alleys will open tomorrow night. Manager DuFrane has been waiting for the snow to come before starting the season, but there has been such a demand for use of the alleys that he has decided to delay the opening no longer. During the wet, sloppy weather which has been experienced the last few days it is hard to keep the alleys clean. There will be a number of teams organized. Two Owls' team has already been formed, and is ready to challenge any other team in this part of the country. A series of games with Marquette and Ishpeming teams is being arranged.

FUNERAL OF JOHN PARALLA.

The funeral of the late John Paralla was held yesterday afternoon from the family home. The Negaunee aeris of Eagles attended in a body, and about twenty members of the Ishpeming aeris also were present at the obsequies. The services were conducted by the Rev. Saarinen, of the Finnish Mission church.

LOCAL LACONICS.

P. G. Teeple, of Marquette, was a business visitor in Negaunee Saturday.

Harry Davison, of Champion, visited in Negaunee Sunday.

John Ghiardi, the New Swanzy baker, was in Negaunee yesterday, visiting.

A hedge of shrubbery is being planted about the yard of St. John's Episcopal church.

Noreen Reidy left Friday night for Chicago, to be gone on a two weeks' visit.

Rev. Caleb Rutledge, of Ishpeming, spent most of Friday and Saturday in Negaunee.

Lawrence Theobald, bookkeeper at the Baron Mine in Humboldt, was in Negaunee yesterday, visiting.

Jerry Schoen, of Chicago, stopped off in Negaunee on business Saturday and remained over Sunday.

The brick front of Dick Nesbitt's saloon is being repaired. The masonry is being painted up, and broken brick is being replaced.

Marion, the seven year old daughter of A. C. Seewass was taken to the Negaunee hospital Friday night, to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Capt. James F. Foley will leave in a week or so for Lincoln, Cal. to spend the winter. It will be the second winter in succession that the captain will have spent in the southwest.

The Danish Sisterhood is arranging a supper and dance to be given on Saturday evening, Nov. 25, in the Scandinavian Hall. The Negaunee Trio, a new musical organization, will furnish music for the occasion.

The ladies of Negaunee who have not already sent in their donations of fruit for the Good Will farm will be called upon for them Wednesday. T. M. Wells has kindly offered to superintend the collection.

The Negaunee High school defeated the Marquette High school football team in Saturday's game, by a score of 6 to 5. This was the third game which the Negaunee team has participated, and its third victory.

The pipe organ recital, in which the new instrument was used for the first time, in the Mitchell Methodist church Saturday night was largely attended. Mr. Shaddick, the Ishpeming organist, justly deserved the applause given him following the rendition of the various numbers on his program. The special music by the choir was appreciatively received. Services held in the church Sunday for the first time since its repair drew out a large congregation.

J. S. McKale, a member of the 1910 championship baseball team, and who has since been located in Superior, Wis., where he has been principal of one of the schools, has notified friends here that he is now located in Tucson, Ariz., where he is engaged in similar work.

Timely advice given Mrs. C. Willoughby, of Marengo, Wis. (R. No. 1) prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies failed, her aunt urged her to take Dr. King's New Discovery. "I have been using it for some time," she wrote "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." CONCRETE DAM NEARLY BUILT

Immense Structure Above City Light and Power Plant Likely to Be Completed in November—Will Give Ten Feet More Head of Water and Will Last Forever.

Top Is Level With River Above Forestville Bridge—Changes Made Because of Black River Falls Disaster—Big Dam Well Under Way at Silver Lake.

Before the new year arrives it is expected that the two dams under construction for the light and power commission will be in operation, and that the auxiliary electric generating installed. Engineers believe that the capacity of the two dams, one of which is at the head of the penstock a half mile above Collinsville and the other at Silver Lake, will be sufficient to conserve the accumulation of water during the dead river the year round. If this can be done, it will be possible to operate the larger waterwheel and generator up to the full capacity of the flume, 1,400 horse power, at all times. By the auxiliary generating unit the public will be safeguarded against accidents, such as have caused the residents of Marquette serious inconvenience on various occasions.

The new dam now nearing completion at the head of the penstock, which will displace the wooden dam that has served for years, is a gigantic piece of concrete masonry. The spillway is ten feet higher than that of the wooden dam and will make an artificial lake of Dead river up to a point a short distance above the road bridge at Forestville, entirely obliterating the rapids just below the bridge. The storage capacity of the dam is very small, only sufficient to equalize the flow of water through the penstock for twenty-four hours, while the new dam will have sufficient storage capacity to provide for the needs of the power plant for a week.

Storage Dam at Silver Lake.

From a storage standpoint, the dam being built at Silver Lake is of more consequence than that at the head of the penstock, although it is a much smaller dam. The land above the Silver Lake dam is a flat basin of wide area. With the old dam at Silver Lake it has been possible to impound an eight-foot head of water. With the new dam a twenty-foot head can be impounded. It is estimated that this increased head will multiply the storage capacity of the Silver Lake dam fourteen times, which will be sufficient to conserve all the water from above at all seasons of the year. It is predicted by many that it will take at least two years for enough water to accumulate to fill the new dam at Silver Lake up to the top of the spillway.

The dam at Silver Lake will be an earthen embankment with a concrete core. It is being constructed by Wahlman & Treblecock, of Islipening, and should be completed within six or eight weeks. From an engineering standpoint, it is a small affair compared with the concrete dam at the head of the penstock, but from the standpoint of efficiency of the electric plant its importance is great, as it will protect the plant against water shortage during a dry season.

The Big Concrete Dam.

Powell & Mitchell, the Marquette contractors, are building the concrete dam above Collinsville. The job will be finished some time in November with all favorable weather, all but the wing walls being practically completed now. The dam proper, with the exception of a small section left open to permit the water passing over the old dam to run away, is completed.

The new dam, a cross-section of which, roughly speaking, is triangular shaped, has been built just below the wooden dam. It is sixty feet thick at the base and sixty-three feet high at the highest point. From the base it tapers narrower until at the spillway it is about four feet wide. The upstream face of the dam is nearly perpendicular, while the downstream face slopes at varying angles, and is designed to carry the water below with as little resistance as possible. The top of the dam or spillway is oval-shaped, it also being designed to overcome as much resistance as possible.

From bank to bank the dam is about 200 feet long, of which distance 220 feet is spillway, the forty feet at the south end being for the head gates. The interior of the dam is cyclopaean masonry, consisting of immense rocks imbedded at about equal distances from each other in concrete. The whole is further held together by wires, which permeate the whole structure. The face of the dam resembles that of a concrete sidewalk. The dam will contain about 8,200 yards of concrete, about 7,200 yards of which is already in place.

Head Gate Works.

The head gate works at the south end consist of a vertical flume fourteen feet square and twenty-four feet high. The water will be let into the penstock by means of two steel gates, each four feet wide by ten feet high. The water will enter the head gates at a higher elevation than from the old dam, giving an increased head of ten feet at the station, which means ten-eighths more power with the same amount of water passing through the penstock.

To provide for the time when the present penstock is worn out or is too small, a second vertical flume has been built in the new dam, with head gates designed for a ninety-six inch penstock, the present penstock being seventy-two inches in diameter. This second vertical flume is of practically the same dimensions as the one that is to be put into immediate use.

Precautions Against Floods.

In order to guard against the possibility of a disaster such as that at Black River Falls, Wis., a few weeks ago, the dam is to be secured by wing walls eight and a half feet higher than the spillway. The original plans called for wing walls five feet higher than the spillway but since the Black River Falls catastrophe, which was caused by a flood of unprecedented proportions, it has been decided to build the wing walls three and a half feet higher and to anchor them more securely into the banks.

Because of the contour of the river and the penstock opening being where it is, the strain at the south end of the dam will be much greater than at the north end. The main wing wall at the south end will be 100 feet long and will run into the bank at an angle of forty-five degrees. Between the head gates and the main wing wall, a second wing wall is to be run into the bank at an angle of forty-five degrees. On the north side, the wing wall will run into the bank twenty feet. On the down stream side a wing wall is being built between the spillway and the penstock, of the same height as those on the upstream side.

The Black River Falls catastrophe resulted from the high water overflowing the wing walls of the dam and eating away the bank, an unprecedented rainfall having increased the flow of the river far beyond anything that had ever been known. The original plans for the dam here were drawn on the same basis of strength as those for the Black River Falls dam, but by raising the wing walls and more securely anchoring them, it is believed that ample provision has been made against even such a flood as occurred at Black River Falls.

Present Status of Work.

At the present time the dam proper may be said to be finished, and the wing walls are being built. The main wall is pretty well along, but the second wing wall on the south side, the down stream wing wall and the north wing wall are barely commenced. When the forms are built ahead as needed, concrete is being put in at the rate of about seventy-five yards a day, and unless the carpenters get behind the work will be finished by the middle of next month. Inability to get enough good carpenters, however, has delayed the work all summer, and Superintendent Retelle will be satisfied if the dam is entirely finished by Thanksgiving Day.

At the outset in undertaking this contract, Powell & Mitchell built camps on the south side of the river just above the dam, where all the men sleep and are fed. The rock used in the dam has been quarried on the north side of the river just below the dam. At the north end of the dam, a crushing and mixing plant has been put up, to which the rock is conveyed in train cars operated by a cable. Temporary tracks have also been built along the dam, over which the mixed concrete is moved in cars to where it is wanted. About seventy-five men are working on the contract, and what was formerly a lonely spot in the woods now is a busy industrial plant.

Generating Machinery.

Reports from the manufacturers from whom a new water wheel and generator were purchased a short time ago indicate that the auxiliary generating unit will be delivered in a few weeks. The light and power commission, however, has not placed the contract for the valve necessary before this unit can be installed, and it will probably be at least Jan. 1 before the new machinery is in operation. The head of 100 feet developed by a valve of great strength and several firms have refused to make one and guarantee it to withstand the strain.

SCHOOL FOR BOYS.

The So-so-wa-ga-ming Club House will be Put to New Use Next Summer. The So-so-wa-ga-ming clubhouse on the Lake Superior shore, between Marquette and Big Bay, will be opened next June as a summer school for boys. Clarence E. Snyder, of the Girton school at Winnetka, Ill., will be in charge and he will be assisted by several competent instructors. While no age limit has been placed on those attending the school, it is expected that most of the pupils will be from twelve to sixteen years of age. The purposes of the school will be two-fold: To give the boys physical and athletic training in the great outdoors, and to prepare those who may be backward in one or more subjects for entrance to high school or college in the fall. Both departments of the school will be in charge of capable teachers and it is intended to make the place an ideal spot for boys to put in a healthful, happy and profitable summer.

Theatrical

"Get Rich Quick Wallingford."

"Get Rich Quick Wallingford," to be presented at the opera house tonight, is a comedy with a distinctly uplifting motive, and while not preachy it points a moral. Although the plot is George Randolph Chester's, the moulding of the character of Wallingford, the promoter of wild schemes, who is gaining a little country town and insidiously spreads the virus of speculation among its inhabitants, is characteristically Cohanese. Wallingford is as clever a rascal as ever waylaid a traveler on the highway, but the elements of humor that enter into his composition make him a hero. Geo. Cohan has given him the benefit of all his experience as a laugh maker and the result is a humorous rascal, trigged out in the best vestments of Cohan's genius. The portrait of Wallingford and his partner, Blackie Daw, are not entirely realistic, but the invention by this pair of schemes of the village of Hattlesburg, to promote several tremendous money making schemes, and the ease with which routed conservatism and rural caution melt beneath the oily plausibility of their get-rich-quick project, have enough of the semblance of variety to appeal to every reader of a daily newspaper.

BIG MUSICAL EVENT.

One of the World's Greatest Pianists to Appear in Marquette.

The big event in Marquette musical circles for the fall of 1911 is the appearance of the eminent Swiss pianist, Rudolph Ganz, in recital at the opera house the evening of Nov. 24.

Mr. Ganz returns to the United States for a short recital and orchestral tour, limited to only thirty engagements, and Marquette is indeed fortunate that one of his concerts will be given here. His tour opened with his appearance with the Boston Symphony orchestra early this month. He has been engaged by the Theodore Thomas orchestra to play a Liszt program in Chicago on the 100th anniversary of the birth of the great Hungarian pianist and composer. Probably the greatest Liszt player of the day, his return in the year of the Liszt centenary is particularly timely.

Everywhere he appears, Mr. Ganz leaves a profound impression of his ability as a pianist. His work is characterized by technical proficiency and nature artistry, and he makes the familiar works so vivid and inspiring that it is a delight to hear him.

Mr. Ganz's tour is under the direction of Charles L. Wagner, who brought the St. Paul Symphony orchestra to Marquette last May. Details as to the seat sale and prices will be announced later.

FELL TO HIS DEATH.

Young Man Instantly Killed at L. S. & I. New Dock Saturday.

Henry Soucy, nineteen-year-old son of Frank Soucy, Presque Isle avenue, was instantly killed at 4:15 Saturday afternoon, while in the employ of the Wisconsin Bridge & Iron company in the construction of the new ore dock for the L. S. & I. Railroad company. Soucy fell off a scaffold forty feet to the concrete base of the dock. He struck on his head and back, fracturing his skull and causing instant death.

The young man had been working for the steel contractors for six or eight weeks, his employment being that of catching rivets which were thrown from above. These rivets were used in the construction of the steel ore pockets of the dock. In doing this work he stood upon a scaffold most of the time. Fifteen minutes before quitting time Saturday afternoon he was seen to step off the edge of the scaffold and fall backward to the concrete base beneath. Whether he lost his balance or accidentally stepped back over the edge of the scaffold is not known. An inquest will be held this morning before Coroner Crary.

Henry Soucy is survived by a father and mother, one brother, Frank, and one sister, Blanche, all of this city. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning from the French Catholic church.

ENTERS INTO REST.

Sister M. Antoinette Ogg Passed Away at St. Joseph's Convent.

Sister M. Antoinette Ogg died at St. Joseph's convent, in this city, Saturday, Oct. 28, after an illness of several weeks. Sister Antoinette was the daughter of a prominent physician of Toronto, Canada. She entered the Sisters of St. Joseph at an early age and during the many years devoted to the service of the Master was distinguished for her sympathy for the poor and suffering. During the epidemic of yellow fever, which raged in Marquette in 1878, she was the first to enter the stricken district and the last to leave it. The last thirteen years of her life have been passed in Marquette, where she was well known and highly esteemed for her many virtues. The funeral will be held from St. Peter's cathedral at 8:45 o'clock Tuesday morning.

BELJAWSKI'S COMET.

Early Risers of City Have Been Admiring Celestial Wanderer.

Those who are sufficiently interested in astronomy to get out of a warm bed at 4 o'clock in the morning have been rewarded several mornings during the past week by seeing a brilliant comet, easily visible to the naked eye, which lies low in the eastern sky. This is not Brooks' comet, as many have supposed, but Beljowski's comet. Brooks' comet is now in direct line with the sun and invisible. At St. Louis university the latest comet has been photographed and is described as follows:
