TEXAS' LARGEST COTTON RANCH.
Charles P. Taft Reaps $250,000 Worth of the Staple This Year.
Gregory, Texas, Nov. 10.—Charles P. Taft, brother of President Taft, is the largest cotton-grower in Texas, if not in the south. He produced upon his ranch this year 4,500 bales of 500 pounds each. The value, including seed, is about $250,000. He was the pioneer in this industry in this part of the Gulf coast region. When he began clearing the brush off of his wild ranch land about ten years ago, and it was announced that he intended devoting it to cotton, all-time citizens ridiculed the idea, saying that the country was not adapted to that plant. This prediction proved erroneous. Success attended the industry from the beginning, and each year the acreage has been increased, until this season about 1,800 acres were devoted to cotton. Large forces of Mexicans are clearing more land, and steam plows are turning the virgin soil in preparation for greatly increasing the acreage next year. It is expected that approximately 3,000 acres will be in cotton next season. The yield this year averaged nearly one bale per acre, which is extraordinary, even in the most favorable localities.
The most approved cultural methods are used and every effort is made in getting production up to the highest possible stage. Through the intense cultivation and care exercised in destroying dead cotton stalks after the picking, thus preventing the hibernation of insects, little damage is done by these pests. The manager of the farming operations has had long experience and has capable assistants. The field labor is performed by Mexicans. Mr. Taft does his own ginning and operates a large cottonseed mill from which is obtained the oil, cake and hulls. The cake and hulls he feeds to his cattle and the oil is sold. Mr. Taft's success with cotton has inspired many farmers to engage in the industry, and many thousands of acres of former ranch land in the Gulf coast region are now devoted to the staple.
The Taft ranch is one of the show spots of Texas. Besides the large acreage devoted to farming about 150,000 acres are in grazing land. A $100,000 meat-packing plant was recently erected. The refrigerated meat is sent to meat markets which Mr. Taft operates in a number of towns. It is said that the Taft meat sells about five cents per pound lower than those of the so-called packers' trust. In towns where the Taft meats are sold the large packers are unable to do business. All the by-products of the slaughtered cattle are utilized in the packing plant.
Mr. Taft intends to bring the whole ranch into cultivation, making cotton the chief crop and making the yearly revenue well up in the millions.

CURZON'S COAL OF FIRE.
Lord Curzon, when a young man at college, once found his bad handwriting staid him in good stead. Writing two letters, one to a relative, the other to a chum, he included them in the wrong envelope. He changed that in the second letter he had made some uncomplimentary reference to his relative, and on discovering the mistake he had made he awaited developments with anxiety, relating the London Chronicle.
There presently came a letter from the uncle. "I have tried hard to decipher your epistle," it ran, "but your writing is so atrocious that I cannot make head or tail of it. However, I guess the drift of it to be that you need some money, you rogue, so I inclose a check."

MEXICO PROMISES SHE WILL BE GOOD
Will No Longer Try to Gobble Guatemala—Washington Much Relieved.
Washington, Nov. 10.—Mexico has quietly, unofficially but none the less authoritatively, informed the state department that henceforth she will not seek to extend her influence toward the South; in other words, that she will no longer menace the interests and independence of Guatemala. For a generation the attitude of Mexico toward her southern neighbor has been a source of annoyance, not to say anxiety, to the United States. Estrada Cabrera, whatever his faults growing out of his ambitions, has been an effective administrator for Guatemala and has succeeded in checking all overt and covert efforts of Mexico to engulf the country. The United States has interfered quietly but effectively between the two countries in strict compliance with her obligations under the Washington convention, for which document, however, the Diaz government never had too much respect.
The unavailing plea of a United States to preserve the integrity of the Central American states, and it is the intimation that the Madero government will hold itself bound equally with the United States that has been conveyed to the state department.
Wilson's Significant Remark.
An episode, illuminating and graphic as depicting the attitude of the United States government with reference to the two republics, occurred one evening at a dinner given in Washington by John Barrett, director of the Pan-American Union, to Andrew Carnegie, Huntington Wilson, assistant secretary of state, was noticed to have been seated between the Mexican and Guatemalan ministers.
"Ah, I see the United States between Mexico and Guatemala," remarked a Latin diplomat from across the table.
Wilson overheard the remark. "Yes, she always will be," he retorted quietly.
Enrique C. Creel, when a member of the Diaz cabinet, once came to Washington as special ambassador in connection with Guatemalan affairs. It always has been stated, without contradiction, that Mr. Creel's mission was to arrange that if the United States would allow Mexico a free hand in Guatemala, Mexico would sit back quietly and say nothing about whatever this country might do in Honduras, Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Salvador. President Taft refused to entertain the proposition. The decision of the Madero government to join the United States in its program with reference to the Central American states of the great republics of the state department.
Two questions naturally spring to mind in connection with the Madero administration: How securely seated is the new president and what will be his attitude toward the United States?
His Military Policy.
Since the books of the Diaz administration have been examined and visitors have been able to learn for themselves the actual conditions under which Don Porfirio governed during the last years of his regime, almost incredible facts have been uncovered. In an interview in Spain General Diaz remarked: "A country with a standing army of 24,000 men could hardly be said to have been under a military dictatorship." The truth appears to be that Diaz has even a smaller army behind him than he believed he had. Padded payrolls are said to have swelled the lists to what Diaz believed them to represent, and the accountants found the powder of which a four years' stock was supposed to be on hand, worthless.
Madero is quietly reorganizing the army, but many loyal personal friends of General Diaz are still in office and it is apparent that Madero's policy is to place his reliance on the regular army. They numbered about six thousand under Diaz, and are a body of men, like the Northwestern mounted police of Canada, selected wholly without regard to political affiliations for their superior efficiency as horse and gun. They are loyal to a man to their superior, Madero may rely on them implicitly. The force is now being about doubled by the addition of the pick of the revolutionists.
Only Two Revolts in the Republic.
Only two revolts worthy of notice are said to have taken place in Mexico under Madero, and only one of them appears to be more than a local disturbance. The recent massacre in Chiapas, one of the disturbed areas, is understood to have been an outcome of the controversy between San Cristobal and Tuxtla, both of which want to be made the capital of that state. A race war between the Indian and the Mexican has been on there for two hundred years, and in this episode the leader of one party enlisted the Indian prejudices against the whites for their own purposes. The riots are said to bear no relation whatever to the general situation.
The revolt under Zapata, in the state of Morelos, is of a different character and is directly against the power of the ad interim government. Zapata commanded a division in the revolutionary army but it was recruited late, and, in fact, its organization was not wholly completed until after the revolution ended. Zapata is a full-blooded Indian, is said to have broken into jail to get men for his army. However that may be, Zapata found himself at the head of a band of zealots who would hesitate at nothing in their revolt against authority. Many outrages were committed and the state was in a ferment. Zapata suddenly disappeared some time ago and whether he is dead or imprisoned is unknown.
Madero and the United States.
Madero himself is said to bear about the same relation to the Mexican aristocracy that an English squires does to the London smart set. The Maderos are rich and well educated, but provincial. They were educated in the United States and have nothing in common with the element in every metropolis, whose passion is politics or the display of money. Madero is a hard worker and is interested in himself only in the problems of government, leaving the political display and ostentation to others.
The Madero administration of course is under strong pressure from Spanish influence to discourage foreign investment, particularly of American capital, but it can be asserted with confidence that while as loyal as the next man to the doctrine of "Mexico for the Mexicans," President Madero will do all in his power to encourage the development of his country by whatever means can do it best. It may be set down for a certainty, say his friends, that the gross favoritism of the Diaz regime will not be practiced.

A Typical Diaz Concession.
A glaring example of misuse of power is seen in the oil concession to Lord Cowdray, formerly Sir Westman Pearson. This concession originally valued at $4,000,000 and even now standing on the books at $10,000,000, was granted to a British company which was given exclusive rights in Chiapas Campeche, Toluca, Vera Cruz, and other parts of the republic. No right was the proposition guaranteed that should others attempt to operate an oil well within three kilometers of the property of the British company they would be liable to prosecution. Among the stockholders in the company were Guillermo family y Escondido, governor of the federal district under Diaz; Fernando Pimentel y Fagoaga, mayor of the city of Mexico; Enrique C. Creel, minister of foreign affairs; Porfirio Diaz, Jr., son and aide to President Diaz; Luis Elguero and Luis Robt, members of congress. These gentlemen, it is stated, were given one hundred shares of stock each, except Governor Landa, who received two hundred shares, with a guarantee that it would pay them 8 per cent during their lives. Such a wholesale exploitation of the country's resources may not be expected under Madero; rather, say his friends, need American capitalists fear that they will not be treated fairly if they enter the country with the purpose of doing only legitimate business.
COTTON ONCE GREW IN MOROCCO.
Instead of Barren Desert, It Once Supported Vast Plantations of Our Southern Staple.
In view of the present controversy between France and Germany in regard to Morocco, the value of which country a portion of the German press is beginning to doubt, an article appearing in a German textile journal, written on information supplied by Herr Alfred Mannesmann is of considerable interest. Herr Alfred Mannesmann is one of the famous Mannesmann brothers, the firm which has done more by pioneer work and breaking fresh ground to extend Germany's field of industry and commerce, as well as her territorial boundaries, than any other private concern.
Two years ago while prospecting for minerals in Morocco Herr Mannesmann was taken prisoner by the Moors and conveyed to the Sus District, which up to that time had been trodden by the foot of no European. To his surprise, he found the ruins of vast cotton plantations which must have existed and flourished in the reign of the Sultan Edris, grandfather of the present sultan, but which now, uncultivated and uncared for, have run wild and gone to seed. Not only did Herr Mannesmann see the plantations, but he also saw above and below Tarudant, the capital of the province, he declares are the remains of an irrigation system designed to feed the plantations with the water which their dry, chalky soil requires to make it fruitful.
An artificial canal, with a depth varying from three to nine feet, drew water from the River Sus, and a hundred years ago, when the Sultan Edris had the power to force the indolent population to work, the cotton plantations must

The whole motive power is supplied by the tail, which acts as a propeller, and the vibration or quivering of the wings in air currents and their occasional shift of inclination are not phenomena connected with the propulsion of the fish in its aerial flight.

"THE COW AND THE MOON"
Chas. A. Sellen's "The Cow and the Moon," a new musical extravaganza, comes to the Ishpeming theater Wednesday evening. As the title implies it deals with a story dear to childhood, founded on the tales and rhymes of the nursery; all have heard of "The Diddle Diddle, The Cat and the Fiddle and the Cow Jumping Over the Moon," and this set to music and story. Surrounded by gorgeous scenic displays and interspersed by clever choruses, it is bound to make an entertainment worth while. The music is by Carleton Lee Colby favorably known here, and he has provided some sixteen or more numbers for the principals and chorus.

DYNAMITE EXPLODED SOONER THAN EXPECTED

W. E. NANKEVILLE DIED IN THE EAST

Workman in the Employ of Weidham Company at Trout Creek Is Killed by Explosive.

Charles Johnson, a former well known resident of Kenton, was killed Friday by a dynamite explosion near Trout Creek, while engaged in blasting stumps from the site on which the Weidham Lumber company is to erect a saw mill. Johnson was familiar with his work and had been employed on the blasting job for some time, but it appears the charge went off sooner than he expected. He was only a few feet from the stump when the explosion occurred, and though his body was badly mutilated he lived a few minutes.

The deceased was single and had resided at Kenton for a number of years. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon, with interment in the Trout Creek cemetery.

The Weidham company has had a crew of men employed for some time preparing for the erection of the mill, which likely will be completed and in operation before the present logging season is over. The company will erect a fairly large plant as it has control of a large tract in the vicinity of Trout Creek, and when both the mill and logging operations are in full swing a large number of men will be employed.

RUTLEDGE STILL BUSY.
Rev. C. H. Rutledge, upper peninsula representative of the Anti-saloon league, is still keeping his eyes open for violators of the liquor law, and occasionally he is the means of bringing some offender into court. His latest victim is Frank Anderson, a saloon keeper of Gladstone, who was arrested Friday, charged by Mr. Rutledge of having opened his place of business on Sunday, Oct. 22. The warrant was sworn out before Judge O. V. Landen, of Escanaba, and Anderson will be given his hearing some day this week.

JOHN M. KEITH DIED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Former Ishpeming Man Passed Away at the Home of His Mother, in Fond du Lac, Wis.

John M. Keith, former chief stenographer with the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company in this city, died yesterday afternoon at the home of his mother in Fond du Lac, Wis. The announcement of his death was received by his brother-in-law, George P. Ruez.

The deceased had been critically ill for nearly three months in Chicago, but about a week ago he began to improve and got along so well that his physician consented to his being moved to Fond du Lac. The journey did not seem to affect him, but soon after reaching his mother's home he was taken with a sinking spell, expiring within a few hours.

DIED SUDDENLY.

Old Michigamme Citizen Passed Away Unexpectedly Yesterday Morning.

Charles Boback, a pioneer resident of Michigamme, died suddenly yesterday morning about 8:30 o'clock. Heart disease caused his demise.

The deceased, who was about sixty-five years of age, got up yesterday morning at the usual time and finished his chores about the house. After his work was done he complained of not feeling well, asking one of the members of his family to go for Dr. Sciotte, the town physician, but before the mes-

Mr. Boback was known to practically all in the village and was highly respected. He had always been an honest and upright citizen, and last spring was elected to the office of overseer of highways, making an efficient officer. Besides the widow, four sons survive him. Two of the sons, Adolph and Walfred Boback, are located on the Mesaba range, and the other two, Herbert and John, live at home. The boys on the Mesaba were yesterday advised of their father's death and they are expected to attend the funeral, which likely will be held tomorrow afternoon, from the Swedish Methodist church in Michigamme. Interment will be in Lake View cemetery.

MRS. MARY M'KENNA HAS PASSED AWAY

Former Ishpeming Woman Succumbs to Paralysis on Menominee Range.

Announcement of the death at Quinnessee of Mrs. Mary McKenna, a former pioneer resident of Ishpeming, has been received by relatives of the deceased living in this city. Death was due to paralysis, she having been stricken three weeks ago.

Mrs. McKenna's daughter, Mrs. Thomas Dea, of Chicago, who was called home when her mother was first taken ill, came from Quinnessee to Ishpeming a week ago, stopping off here to visit relatives on her way home. On Friday she received a message advising that her mother had been taken with a relapse and she left for Quinnessee that evening, but her mother had passed away before she reached there.

The deceased was the widow of Thomas McKenna, who died some four or five years ago. The family resided in Ishpeming in the neighborhood of forty years ago, leaving here for Ne-gamie, where Mr. McKenna was in business for a few years, until his place was destroyed in the fire of 1874. Shortly after that one was discovered at Quinnessee and the McKenna family moved to the range, making Quinnessee their home from that time until the present.

Besides Mrs. Dea there are six other children surviving. All of them were called home when their mother was first taken ill. The deceased has two sisters, Mrs. J. K. Stack and Mrs. W. S. King, both residing in Escanaba. Two brothers and Pat McKenna, were also former well-known residents of Marquette county. They were brothers of Mrs. Daniel Sullivan of this city, and Mrs. T. F. Donahoe, who now lives in the west, but who has been here visiting for the past several weeks.

Captain Peter Pascoe and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Labod of Republic, and Mrs. T. W. Durham of Marquette, were among the out-of-town guests of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Eger, at their twenty-fifth marriage anniversary Friday evening.

Jens Lerrigan and family will take possession of their new dwelling, on East Bank street, within the next few days. The decorators are now completing their work and the electric wiring has been finished. The latter was done by O. H. Siwert of the Electric Equipment company.

John Rowett, sheriff of Gogebic county, came here Saturday to subpoena witnesses in a criminal case. The witnesses live at Diorite and Humboldt. Mr. Rowett drove to Diorite and Humboldt Saturday, leaving that night for the western end of the county by his friend, William Harrington of this city.

Miss Edith Langley, of Michigamme, and E. V. Lambert, of Chicago, were married recently in the latter city. The couple visited her mother and other relatives in Michigamme for a day, stopping off enroute to Taconah, Wash., on their honeymoon trip. The bride has been employed as a stenographer in Chicago for some years past. The groom is division superintendent of the dining car service between Milwaukee and Taconah on the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound system. They will reside in Chicago.

At a mission meeting of the Finnish Lutheran church held recently at Atlantic Mine, in the copper country, it was decided to establish an orphanage for Finnish children somewhere in the upper peninsula. A committee of three copper country people and two from Marquette county, was directed to prepare definite plans for the establishment of the proposed institution. ... hunters had in their possession hunting licenses issued by the clerk of Genesee county on Oct. 14th and dated Nov. 6th. The coupons were not filed out. In the camp of the hunters Wilson found five deer hung up. The men were arrested and taken to Crystal Falls and later to Iron River. At the latter place bonds were given for appearance next Thursday. The lower Michigan county clerk will be summoned to appear and explain his illegal issuance of licenses. His action in dating a license nearly a month in advance of the actual date of issue is undoubtedly a gross violation of the law. Other lower Michigan clerks are guilty of the same practice and it is high time some of them were brought to justice. The hunters will also be called upon to explain why they had the good fortune to kill five deer in about five hours hunting. Warden Wilson states that the deer were frozen hard and had the appearance of having been killed a number of days. County Game Warden Scott reports that on Oct. 23rd he found a man named Frank Page, at a place known as Camp Roosevelt, on the Sturgeon river between Norway and Metropolitan, who had a hunting license dated Nov. 1st, issued by the clerk of Oceana county. Scott went back again on the 29th and took a witness with him and again saw the license. The man gave his residence as Hart, Mich., in the aforesaid county.

HUNTERS NEED SKILL IN "JACKING DEER"

How Adirondack Stalkers Ply The Exciting Although Illicit Sport.

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 12.—"Jacking" deer with an automobile headlight, which is said to be causing trouble for the game wardens of Maine, would be adjudged unsportsmanlike by most lovers of the woods, though the principle of the thing is really one with that of deer jacking as practised in the Adirondacks.

Night hunting with the jack is a sport which has recently become very popular in the Adirondacks.

the fascinated creature stands stock still watching the approach of the brilliant and mysterious object. To the skilled hunter such a situation ought to mean certain success.

TAFT STRENGTHENED AS RESULT OF TOUR

People Convinced of His Sincerity by His Heart-to-Heart Talks — Understand His Policy.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Any summing up of the results of the long tour Mr. Taft has been making must start with the conviction that the president has strengthened himself with the people of this country.

It must be conceded that he has strengthened himself even in the most visible particulars he has visited.

Night hunting with the jack is a sport which has recently become very popular in the Adirondacks.

That he will be enabled to secure the approval of the senate to the international arbitration treaties is now believed to be certain.

Surprised the Insurgents. Mr. Taft's vigorous program of regulating the trusts was something of a surprise to the insurgent Republicans, who are seeking to defeat him for the renomination.

The president's friends are more than satisfied with the apparent results of the tour.

Settlement is now such in behalf of the peace treaties that the senate probably would not dare to reject them.

A TWO HEADED DOLLAR.

A Queerly Stamped Piece of Money Turned Out at the New Orleans Mint.

The only genuine silver dollar with two heads, i. e., a dollar with a head on each side, is that which is in the possession of a Georgian, who obtained the coin in New Orleans a year or two ago.

After due investigation it was ascertained that this coin owed its unusual features to the following circumstances:

BACKACHE, HEADACHE, NERVOUSNESS. And rheumatism, both in men and women, mean kidney trouble.

SOMEWHAT MIXED.

Automobile Owner Says Stretch Between Here and Ishpeming Is Continually Muddy.

A local automobile owner who has occasioned his car daily over the Ishpeming road says that the stretch on which the crude petroleum has been put is practically spoiled.

"For numerous days after rains the road remains muddy," says the motorist, "and is slippery and gross for any kind of driving, either by horse or machine. There is never a time following a wet spell of weather when an automobile can be run over the road without skidding."

AN ITALIAN WEDDING.

Upon the arrival of Maria Guisetto and Gustina Basso from Italy an Italian romance was continued which culminated Saturday morning in a double wedding, celebrated in true Italian style by relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The two brides arrived in Negaunee on the twenty-sixth of last month. The grooms are both well known and respected miners of this city.

WINS ANOTHER GAME.

Menominee Defeated Houghton by a Score of 34 to 0.

A great deal of local interest is being manifested in the season's foot ball championship situation. Although the Negaunee high school team is out of the race, there appears to be no real feeling here. The fact that Newberry aspires to first honors has caused no little surprise and the outcome of the game between Newberry and Menominee which will probably be played next Saturday is awaited with no little interest.

Although outweighed ten pounds to the man the Menominee high school squad played a runaway game with the Houghton high Saturday, winning over the Copper Country squad by a score of 34 to 0. From the start to the finish Houghton never had a chance to score, giving the game many of the earmarks of last Saturday's contest when the locals defeated Negaunee 81 to 0.

MENOMINEE SAYS NO TO NEWBERRY

Menominee defeated Houghton Saturday, 34 to 0, Manager Claims High School Football Championship of Upper Peninsula, Ignoring Claims of Hospital Town.

Captain Keigen, of Newberry High, in City Yesterday Declares That Eleven Has Been Unfairly Crowded Out of Race—Believes Team Can Beat Menominee.

By defeating Houghton Saturday by the decisive score of 34 to 0, Menominee claims to have won the title of high school football champions of the upper peninsula.

"On the other hand, I believe that the Newberry back field is just as fast as Menominee's and I am confident that our quarterback has it over any other high school player in that position in the upper peninsula.

"It doesn't look, however, as if Menominee would give us a chance to play them. In fact, Superintendent Davis has flatly refused to play Newberry, although we offered to pay all the expenses of the Menominee team to Newberry and return.

"The upper peninsula has been divided into three athletic districts, the eastern district comprising Delta, Marquette and all counties east; the central district comprising Menominee, Dickinson and Iron counties; and the western district, Gogebic, Ontonagon and the copper counties.

"Inasmuch as Newberry made every effort possible to get a game with Menominee and was refused, it looks to me as if this reasoning was pretty weak.

"Had Houghton won Saturday's game, their manager had agreed to come to Newberry and play us next Saturday.

"Menominee football enthusiasts who were interviewed yesterday were with one exception of the opinion that Newberry has been unfairly crowded out of the race for the high school championship of the upper peninsula, and that Menominee's title is an empty honor until that team has beaten Newberry.

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION

Michigan's Executive Formally Designated Nov. 30 as Thanksgiving Day.

Governor Osborn's Thanksgiving proclamation has been issued from the executive office, and like most of the governor's writings, it is not merely a formal state paper, but a literary gem.

"The loving and merciful God has vouchsafed benediction upon the people of Michigan during the year nineteen hundred eleven, now rapidly drawing to its close.

"Observation of Thanksgiving Day may be festive, but it is the duty of every individual to give thanks unto God.
