

PACKERS STILL HAVE HOPE OF AVOIDING TRIAL

Defeated in the Habeas Corpus Proceedings, but Granted Until Wednesday to Map Out a Course of Action, They Look to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Government Attorneys Pleased With the Situation—High Tribunal Will Not Interfere, They Say, and the Prosecution Will Begin on Scheduled Time.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Counsel for the Chicago packers indicted under the Sherman anti-trust act succeeded late yesterday in getting a further delay in the criminal trial which was to begin tomorrow in the United States district court. The delay until next Wednesday was granted by Judge Kohlsaat in the United States circuit court. He had been defeated in the efforts to make effective a writ of habeas corpus. After deciding to quash the writ of habeas corpus and after ordering the defendants to remain in their custody, Judge Kohlsaat agreed to delay the trial of this decision and order until Wednesday. This, it is asserted, will assist the postponement of the opening of the criminal trial of the packers enough to permit the indicted men to get before the United States supreme court before they automatically have lost jurisdiction in the district court appearing at the trial there. Judge Kohlsaat, in discussing the writ, said that he could see no reason for the delay. "I do not see how you can win any better a week from now than you are today," said Judge Kohlsaat to Attorney Mayer of counsel for the packers. "However, I will delay having the formal trial of the order made until Wednesday morning."

Packers Hold Secret Conference.

Today was spent by the packers and counsel in an prolonged session. For almost the entire day, a score of big automobiles were parked before the headquarters of the National Packing Company. That the packers are determined upon securing their acquittal, even as to the indictments, was made evident by numerous guards who patrolled the corridors of the building and its vicinity, driving in cars away. The government attorneys' attitude was one of gratification over the progress of events in the legal battle. They believe they now have the packers where they must face trial in open court, with no more opportunity to obtain decision in jurisdictional matters. A move by the packers today was to get the sending of emissaries to haste to Washington to file an application for a stay or for habeas corpus writs before the supreme court of the United States and the simultaneous patch of one of the counsel to Canada, O., to see Associate Justice Day of the United States supreme court, who is there at the bedside of a relative who is ill.

The day was passed by District Attorney James H. Wilkerson and the other attorneys and special counsel on the government's side in discussion of inter moves that might be made in the packers' case. Mr. Wilkerson expressed himself as confident of immediate action. There was little likelihood that the supreme court would interfere, he said, and if it did not the petition of the United States district court would be enforced and the trial held open Wednesday.

Threatens Use of U. S. Troops.

Coupled with a report that the packers intended asking the highest tribunal for an entire new petition was filed today a tonight that a state court would be petitioned for a writ of habeas corpus. District Attorney Wilkerson said this with a statement that if a state court attempted to interfere, he would call for federal troops if necessary to enforce the district court's order. The declaration before Judge Kohlsaat, Attorney Mayer of counsel for the packers, "that there was an agreement of the district court that the case should not go to trial," was denied by Mr. Wilkerson today. Any such statement is an unqualified falsehood," said Mr. Wilkerson.

From a source high in authority another version of the conference said to have taken place in Judge Carpenter's chambers was forthcoming. The explanation, Mr. Wilkerson said, was that Judge Miller, chief counsel for the packers, had to go to Judge Carpenter's chambers, following the removal of the case from Judge Landis' court, and told Judge Carpenter that the packers would not be indicted with him as judge. Judge Carpenter refused to discuss this alleged incident, intimating that something might be heard later. "Whatever I have said I will say across the bar in court," declared.

Respective Jurymen Are Summoned.

Proceeding on the basis that the trial will begin in the United States district court Wednesday morning, Judge Carpenter has ordered a special panel of jurymen to appear tomorrow morning for preliminary examination. All those to have legal exemptions will be excused, in order to weed out the panel of expedite trial.

Justice Day, of U. S. Supreme Court, Had Been Requested to Interfere in the Trial of the Indicted Chicago Meat Packers.

"I know nothing of an attempt to have me interfere in the meat trust case," said Justice Day. "If any attorney is coming to see me regarding the case, I will probably see him tomorrow morning. I have read the newspaper accounts of the case to some extent, but will express no opinion at this time."

PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICANS OF OHIO WESTERN RESERVE ADOPT LENGTHY PLATFORM.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 19.—A declaration of principles was adopted here today by a committee representing the progressive Republicans of the various counties of the "Western reserve." The platform will be presented to the state conference at Columbus Jan. 1 for action by its resolutions committee. To no candidate does the platform pledge progressive support. The platform demands downward revision of the tariff, but stands for protection. It calls for a non-partisan tariff board, remedial legislation for trusts, direct election of United States senators, indorses the Roosevelt policy on conservation and favors an income tax graduated upward, the abolition of offices created for "honey ducks," direct nomination in states, counties and municipalities, a general corporation commission with power to compel honest conduct of corporations, and the initiative and referendum.

DOCTOR ORDERS TAFT TO REMAIN INDOORS

President Has Severe Cold and Engagement at Richmond, Va., Is Cancelled.

Washington, Nov. 19.—President Taft is suffering from a severe cold, which confined him to the White House today. His condition, although not at all alarming, is such that his physician has ordered him to take care of himself. As a result, the president tonight cancelled his engagement for Richmond, Va., where he was to have addressed the National Good Roads congress tomorrow. The president contracted a bad cold shortly after his return from his trip through the country. Against the advice of his physician, Major Dulaney, he filled an engagement last week at Frederick, Md., where he addressed a big crowd. At that time, he apologized for his hoarseness, which was not lessened by his efforts.

Newsboys' Shouts Scare Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Newsboys carrying editions of a Sunday paper tried to boost the sales today by shouting, "All about President Taft's death." Until they were stopped by the police, the boys continued to spread the excitement. Throughout the day local newspaper offices were besieged by citizens alarmed by the false cries.

STEEL QUIZ SLATED TO RESUME TODAY

Ore Transportation Is Scheduled as the First Question to Be Looked Into.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The inquiry into the affairs of the United States Steel corporation will be resumed tomorrow by the special investigating committee of the house, headed by Representative A. O. Stanley of Kentucky. The committee has been idle since the latter part of August, but during the interim the chairman and agents of the committee have been preparing a line of inquiry into the alleged ore monopoly and the transportation domination of the steel trust in the Mesaba range. The transportation question will first be inquired into when the committee resumes, and officials of the Duluth & Iron Range and Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroads, the steel trust roads, and independent ore shippers from the Lake Superior ore region have been summoned to testify. Among the witnesses to appear is C. H. Martz of Minnesota, Mr. Martz was the constructor of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern.

TAFT ORDERS STRONG DERBY FOR CAMPAIGN PURPOSES.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 19.—President Taft has ordered a Cleveland firm to make him a hat which will be delivered within the next few weeks. It is no ordinary affair, and, according to local politicians, could not be meant for other than campaign purposes. The hat is a derby with a crown six inches deep and a brim two and three eighths inches wide. It will be constructed so as to relieve pressure on the head. The size is 7 1/2. The president's secretary, Mr. Hilles, has ordered the same kind of a hat, and have Congressman Nicholas Longworth and Governor Glasscock of West Virginia.

REVOLT CAN'T BE HATCHED IN UNITED STATES

Washington Takes Vigorous Action to Suppress Mexican Revolutionary Activity on This Side of the Border—Alleged Leaders and Munitions Are Seized.

President Madero Is Well Prepared to Cope With Any Outbreak, It Is Announced—Has 12,000 Troops at the Frontier, Ready for Duty.

Mexico City, Nov. 19.—If any organized revolutionary movement is begun in the northern part of Mexico, its leaders must expect to deal with twelve thousand federal soldiers. For some days the war department has been strengthening various posts in that part of the country, and today it was announced that more than one-third of the entire army is in the states bordering the northern frontier.

Munitions Are Confiscated.

Laredo, Tex., Nov. 19.—The federal authorities today seized a quantity of ammunition and arms said to be part of a store provided by persons expected to lead a revolt against the Madero government in Mexico. The officers were led to the place by Juan Mariga shortly after he was arrested as the result of a federal indictment returned at the same time as was the one against General Bernardo Reyes.

Mariga was formerly a cavalry captain of Mexico and his arrest is the fifth in connection with the alleged revolutionary plot. General Reyes was arrested in San Antonio yesterday and three others said to be implicated were taken into custody here. Mariga is said to have made a confession regarding the alleged revolutionary plot said to have been led by General Reyes. The officials said that Mariga told them he had been engaged in securing horses, arms and ammunition, a considerable amount of which has already been sent into Mexico.

Texas Authorities Co-Operating.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 19.—"All revolutionists in the vicinity of Laredo must leave Texas within forty-eight hours," read the specific orders tonight of Governor Colquitt of Texas to Adjutant General Hutchinson, who is at Laredo to cope with the situation there.

Governor Colquitt has received a telegram from President Taft, stating that he has instructed Secretary of War Stimson to co-operate with the Texas governor in every way to stop the movement in this state. This telegram came in response to a message to the president from Governor Colquitt, in which he stated that he had been informed to the effect that there were five hundred revolutionists in the vicinity of Laredo, planning to divide into two parties and begin the Mexican revolution at Laredo.

Attitude of the United States.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The arrest of General Reyes by the United States authorities at San Antonio is a violation of the neutrality laws is exactly in line with the policy of this government to stamp out revolutionary activities against Mexico in United States territory, according to Secretary of State Knox.

Reyes Asserts His Innocence.

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 19.—Because of the activity of alleged revolutionists along the Texas-Mexican border, especially in the vicinity of Laredo, Troop I, Third United States cavalry, has been ordered to that point. For patrol duty. General Bernardino Reyes, arrested yesterday upon a federal grand jury indictment, charging conspiracy against a friendly nation, will appear tomorrow before a United States commissioner and make another bond for his appearance at the next term of federal court. The general maintains his innocence of the charge and expresses confidence in the outcome.

HUNDREDS OF BANKERS IN NEW ORLEANS FOR THE ANNUAL CONVENTION.

New Orleans, Nov. 19.—More than twenty-five hundred bankers had registered here tonight for the thirty-seventh annual convention of the American Bankers association. At least one thousand and additional delegates are expected to arrive tomorrow. Monday will be devoted to committee meetings and the convention proper will not open until Tuesday morning.

MICHIGAN LINES NOT LEASED TO PHILADELPHIA SYNDICATE.

Detroit, Nov. 19.—In a published statement issued here, George G. Moore, chairman of the executive committee of the Michigan United Railways, denies the report that the railways have been leased to a Philadelphia syndicate. "The syndicate," Mr. Moore said, "is under the control of the Michigan United Railways which has always been owned in Michigan and probably will be for many years to come," he said.

The Weather

Washington, Nov. 19.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Local snows, Monday and probably Tuesday; moderate variable winds.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN DROPS MUCH MONEY

He Trips in Church at New York and Spills Contents of the Collection Plate.

New York, Nov. 19.—J. Pierpont Morgan tripped in church today and fell to the floor, spilled the contents of the collection plate, which was piled high with money. The banker was unharmed, but probably Tuesday, moderate variable winds.

Exciting Melée in New Haven Theater

Play Cut Short, Yale Students Cut Loose—Stage Hands Squirt Water.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 19.—A rigid inquiry will be made by the police and the Yale authorities into the disturbances in a New Haven theater during the performance of the Gaby Deslys company last night, in which students were ejected from the theater by the police, after the stage hands had turned on a hose and drenched many in the audience. This was followed outside by hand-to-hand combats.

Hyde's New Trial Opens Today.

Kansas City, Nov. 19.—Before a young jury with which the attorney expected to defend say they are well satisfied, Dr. B. Clarke Hyde tomorrow will go on trial for his life, charged for a second time with murdering Colonel Thomas H. Swope. The opening statements in this case are expected to occupy most of the day. Senator James A. Reed, as special prosecutor, will present the state's case at the opening of court. Frank P. Walsh, chief counsel for Dr. Hyde, will follow him. It is thought no testimony will be heard before Tuesday.

VICTIM OF THE OUTRAGE WILL TAKE THE STAND IN THE KANSAS TARRING CASE.

Lincoln Center, Kas., Nov. 19.—Miss Mary Chamberlain, who was given a coat of tar last August by a crowd of men and boys, will testify tomorrow in the trial of three of her alleged assailants. Several of the party have already pleaded guilty. The jury was completed last night and everything is in readiness for the beginning of the testimony.

BEATTIE UNMOVED BY FATE; FATHER ALMOST PROSTRATED.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 19.—With five more days to live, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., sits today, sullenly indifferent to his approaching fate, in the gloomy death house of Virginia state penitentiary. Henry Clay Beattie Sr., father of the condemned man, is, however, almost prostrated with grief over the fate of his son. But in the Richmond death house, calmly smoking his cigarette, the murderer himself shows no anxiety or regret.

JAPANESE EXPEDITION SAILS FOR THE ANTARCTIC.

Sydney, Australia, Nov. 19.—The Japanese Antarctic expedition, which was forced to return here last spring, after reaching 74 degrees south, has started on its second attempt.

PERSIA AND RUSSIA SEVER DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS.

Teheran, Persia, Nov. 19.—Diplomatic relations with Russia have ceased. The report has persuaded the premier, who is expected to leave today, to form a new cabinet.

LAISER IS WELL AGAIN.

Wien, Germany, Nov. 19.—Emperor Wilhelm, who a few days ago cancelled his hunting trip, because of a bad cold, is completely restored to health.

LIFE OF WOMAN IS AT STAKE IN DENVER COURT

Mrs. Gertrude Gibson Patterson Will Go on Trial Today for the Murder of Her Husband, Whom She Shot and Killed on Sept. 25, Last.

Self-Defense Is Her Plea, and Her Youth and Beauty and the Tragic Story She Will Tell Are Expected to Make a Deep Impression on the Jury.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 19.—Gertrude Gibson Patterson, who on Sept. 25 shot and killed her husband, Charles A. Patterson, a young Chicagoan, while the couple were walking in a suburb near a tuberculosis sanitarium, in which Patterson was a patient, tomorrow will be placed on trial for her life before Judge Allen in the district court.

Mrs. Patterson, according to her counsel, will plead self-defense, alleging that she shot her husband in the course of a quarrel in which he attempted to take her life. That the quarrel was over a suit for the alienation of Mrs. Patterson's affections which the young husband, it is said, contemplated bringing against a well-known Chicago millionaire, and that the killing resulted from Patterson's refusal to drop the affair, will be the contention of the state.

Sensational Evidence Promised.

Important in its effect on the jury, counsel for the defense claim, will be the story Mrs. Patterson will tell on the stand. She will lay bare, they say, all the details of her life, from the time when as a girl of sixteen she met the Chicago millionaire; she will tell of the interest that led him to send her to Paris to be educated, which resulted five months later in relations between them that were maintained for five years, during which she says she had many friends, as well as the friends of the millionaire, believed, the couple to be husband and wife. That after she had married Patterson her life was one long humiliation, marked by constant effort to make a deep impression on the sympathies of the twelve men who will decide her fate.

Trained Nurse to Testify.

Minneapolis, Nov. 19.—Marie A. Gilen, a trained nurse of this city, will leave tomorrow for Denver, to testify in the case of Gertrude Gibson Patterson, who is accused of shooting her husband. Miss Gilen took care of Patterson during his illness in Denver.

One of Two Chicago Youths Who Rob Chauffeur Is Killed by Him.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—John Cullinan and John Mahoney, each eighteen years old, spent last night in making a round of the levee resorts. Their money got to their homes by victimizing a taxicab driver, intending to give him the slip when they arrived. In the cab the idea came to them to rob the chauffeur. This they did at the point of a revolver, twenty-two years old, who had a revolver under his seat, caught the men off their guard and shot Cullinan to death. Mahoney fled, but was captured by a policeman within two blocks. This is the story that is told by the police, who say that Mahoney confessed and that Cullinan and Cullinan took from the chauffeur were found on Mahoney.

Police Commanders Facing Trial.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Four commanding officers of police will be placed on trial here next Saturday, as the result of the civil service commission's investigation now in progress. The men are Inspector Dorman, Captain Pinkert and Lieutenants Ambrose and Howard. They will be tried together, on charges of incompetence and permitting violations of the law by saloons and resorts.

Chief of Police John McWeeny and other officials accused in testimony by Harry Broslaski, a former gambler, denied the entire list of charges today and asserted that none of the accusations of connivance in vice affairs on the part of police heads was supported by evidence.

INDIANAPOLIS AERONAUT STARTS ON VOYAGE IN CONTEST FOR LAHM CUP.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 19.—In an effort to lift the Lahm cup for long distance balloon flight, Captain G. L. Buntlauch of this city started from here at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the balloon "Duesse-dorfer." Walter Moffit, an amateur balloonist, was in the basket as aid. The balloon arose to a height of about 300 feet and floated away to the northeast, in a wind estimated at twenty-five miles an hour.

Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 19.—With five sworn jurors in the box and two talesmen passed by both sides, necessitating five more talesmen before the third round of peremptory challenges can be exercised, the attorneys in the McNamara case forsook court affairs today for the mountains. The examination of talesmen will proceed tomorrow from a new supply of veniremen. To date 93 veniremen have been called, and about 500 names still remain in the jury wheel. Efforts to speed the progress of the trial are manifest. Judge Borwell has let it be known that he will endeavor to start

WARM WINDS AND RAINS IN WESTERN WASHINGTON RESULT IN COSTLY FLOODS.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 19.—The warm winds of the last few days, bringing heavy downpour of rain in the lowlands and melting the six feet of early snow in the mountains, flooded the rivers of western Washington today, broke the dam of the municipal electric plant, cut off Seattle's water supply, deranged railroad service, washed out bridges and flooded many farms and valley towns. No lives have been reported lost. The flood increased tonight, however, and it is feared that the property damage will be enormous.

PET WHITE RAT ATTACKS A BABE AT ST. PAUL; INFANT BELIEVED DYING.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 19.—Baby Allen, three weeks old, is believed to be near death at the city hospital from an attack made upon it by a pet white rat. The child's face is fearfully lacerated. The physicians say that blood poisoning has resulted and they hold out little hope for the recovery of their patient.

STEAMER MINNIE M RIDES OUT THE GALE

Missing Little Craft, Arrives at Grand Marais, Forty-Eight Hours Overdue.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 19.—A dispatch was received here tonight, reporting the safe arrival at Grand Marais of the little passenger steamer Minnie M, forty-eight hours overdue, and which, it was feared, had met disaster in the severe storm of Friday and Saturday. The gale has subsided and favorable weather conditions for shipping are indicated for tomorrow.

Turret Cape and Barth Ashore.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 19.—The storm which swept the lakes Friday and Saturday has abated and many vessels which took shelter at various harbors have proceeded to their destinations. A dispatch from Port Huron says that the Canadian steamer Turret Cape, up bound, lighted west shore on Cay Island, Lake Huron, during a snow storm yesterday. A tug has been sent to her assistance. The steamer L. L. Barth of the Edward Hines Lumber company is ashore west of De Tour. Her barges, the Norris and Helveta, are safe.

Two Ocean Barges Lost.

Block Island, E. L., Nov. 19.—A gale that prevailed yesterday and today caused the loss of two barges of the Scully Transportation company of New York and it is feared carried to watery graves six or eight persons. The barges are believed to have had their wives aboard.

NIGHT OF REVELRY ENDS IN TRAGEDY

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 19.—The Adams Express company's depot office here was robbed at 9 o'clock tonight of everything in the safe, and after a successful getaway. The safe was rifled of several thousand dollars, the exact amount not being known tonight. A. D. Harrison, the agent, had just come to the Union depot and after securing a quantity of mail entered the express room. He called for Messenger Paul Tower, who he supposed was on duty, but received no reply. He turned on the light and, standing with his back to the desk, saw someone come to open the mail when he heard some one behind him say, "Boost 'em up and be quick about it."

Harrison turned and was facing a masked man and the muzzle of a big revolver. With a threat to kill him if he moved or made a sound, the robbery came before the open safe and filled his pockets with money, bills and valuables. He then escaped.

RUSSIA'S NEW ENVOY EMPLOYERED TO REVISE MUCH-CRITICISED TREATY.

New York, Nov. 19.—George Baklanoff, the new Russian ambassador to the United States, arrived in New York today and left for Washington. The coming of the ambassador is of vastly greater interest than ordinarily attaches to a shift of diplomatic representatives, for he arrived at a time when a wave of popular and official protest is at its height against his government, because it refuses to honor American passports with out discrimination against the Jews.

It is understood that the ambassador is empowered to negotiate a revision of the treaty of friendship relations of seventy-nine years' standing between this country and Russia, the abrogation of which is advocated in resolutions now pending in congress. "I cannot discuss anything until I have communicated to the state department at Washington," he said. "You see I have been at sea for a week and I am not in touch with affairs."

As timely information, it was volunteered that an interesting matter here was an accusation which Jacob H. Schiff made last week, charging indirectly that John Hays Hammond had acted as agent for the Russian government in certain activities because of the influence it was believed he had with President Taft. The ambassador appeared interested, but declared he was in no position to "criticize."

Flood on Lac, Wis., Nov. 19.—Frank Temple, aged thirty years, was killed today when hunting by the discharge of his gun, which he had laid in the road when he threw some brush out of the path to permit his team to pass a bad place.

FLINT MAN IS SHOT DEAD BY OWN DAUGHTER

Armed With a Gun and Threatening, It Is Said, to Wipe Out the Whole Family, Frank Young Is Killed in the House of His Son-in-Law.

Flint, Mich., Nov. 19.—With a loaded shotgun in his hand and uttering threats to kill the whole family, Frank Young, fifty years old, was shot down and instantly killed by his daughter, Mrs. Marion Mills, at the latter's home near here today.

According to the story told by Mrs. Mills and her husband, Young came to their home in search of his wife, whom he had driven from his home last Friday.

When Young reached the door, he asked for his wife, who was then hiding in the cellar. Mrs. Young refused to return home with her husband or to speak to him alone.

Immediately after his wife's refusal, according to the Mills' statement, Young drew his gun to his hip with a threat to "kill the whole tribe." Mills grasped with his father-in-law, but was being overpowered, whereupon Mrs. Mills seized another gun and fired.

Young was shot through the lungs, dying instantly. Both Mrs. Mills and her husband are under arrest.

DETROIT MAN AND WIFE ARE BURNED TO DEATH.

Detroit, Nov. 19.—Robert Desner, a boiler maker, and his wife, each about fifty years old, were "burned to death" early today in a fire which destroyed their cottage. Neighbors who discovered the flames were unable to force an entrance into the house which was practically destroyed before the fire engines arrived.

DARING ROBBERY AT GRAND RAPIDS

Express Agent Is Held Up and Safe Looted of Its Cash and Valuables.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 19.—The Adams Express company's depot office here was robbed at 9 o'clock tonight of everything in the safe, and after a successful getaway. MARQUETTE, MICH., NOV. 20.

A WOMAN'S CLUB GONE WRONG. The women's clubs rarely go wrong on the question of enforcing the laws for the protection of child and women labor.

The Columbian club at Flint is an exception. This organization has adopted resolutions censuring Miss Barton, the deputy labor commissioner who recently looked over conditions in the upper peninsula, because in the course of her work she caused the arrest of a number of Flint business men who had been guilty of violations, and had them subjected to the unpleasant experience of being haled into court.

The Mining Journal predicts that their petitions will be received with no great favor by State Labor Commissioner Powers. He has been vigorously enforcing the laws for the protection of women and child labor, and he has shown that he has particular confidence in the ability of Miss Barton to do effective work.

Meanwhile the Flint club women should take advantage of some of their leisure time to grow ashamed of themselves.

THE PROGRESS OF THE NEGROES.

South Carolina has been greatly astounded by the census report, which shows that a majority of the farms of the state are owned by negroes. When the preliminary report to that effect was made some of the South Carolina editors stoutly denied its accuracy, but the completed figures show that the negroes own 99,696 of the 176,189 farms of South Carolina, according to the 1910 census.

With the development of the cotton manufacturing industry in the south, much of the available white labor has been drawn to the mills and factories, leaving the negro a freer hand as a tiller of the soil.

The prosecutor and an agent of the Indiana pure food department after a ten days' investigation announced that something like 400 violations of the pure food law had been committed by the Armour Packing company, of Chicago, and that indictments had been procured against it.

It should be a source of pride to the negro races that within forty-six years after the Civil war the former slave population of South Carolina includes within its ranks a substantial majority of the actual landholders.

Isleping Iron Ore wants to know who has been telling The Mining Journal that valuations on general property in Negunee and Ishpeming are lower than they are in Marquette. Why, mostly Negunee and Ishpeming people. If the Iron Ore will look back a few weeks it will find the assessing officers quoted as saying that their assessments on this class of property will have to be largely advanced next year.

This Marquette citizen testified long ago. Told of quick relief—of lasting benefit. The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive. It forms convincing proofs of merit.

Mrs. Leonard Richer, 407 Rock St. Marquette, Mich., says: "In 1905 I gave a statement for publication, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and I now confirm all I then said in their praise. My back ached almost constantly and there were severe pains in my sides. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills from the Stafford Drug Co. and through their use, I was given entire relief. The cure has been permanent. One of my children was afflicted with weak kidneys and had no control over the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills also effected a cure in that case."

goose must be sauce for the gander, all the songs always are."

At the meeting of the Republican state central committee last week it was asserted that an active press propaganda for Senator La Follette was being attempted in Michigan, and the question was raised whether it would not be advisable for the committee also to do some publicity work.

Chairman Knox suggested the issuing of press matter written to inculcate party principles without references to candidates. So much difference of opinion was developed, however, that nothing was done, and the matter was put over until the next meeting.

When it is ever brought up again, if it ever is, the committee should be careful to in no manner take sides as between the Republican aspirants. Whatever it does should be of a general nature, and not designed to benefit or injure any candidate. The committee, as a whole, does not favor La Follette, but La Follette and his friends are entitled to a field clear of interference by the Republican organization to make such showing as they are able to in Michigan. When the primaries are over and the lines of battle are drawn for the November battle it will be essential that the Republicans are able to muster every vote.

Only eight divorces were granted in the entire Dominion of Canada in a period slightly exceeding a year. In Des Moines, Ia., divorces are secured at the rate of one to every ten marriages, and while that ratio does not hold for the entire country, the comparison between divorce figures in Canada and in this country is astounding.

Across the border the people are united in the determination that the divorce evil shall never take root there. It is taught in the churches, and schools that divorce is an insidious evil which undermines the home and the nation.

There are no divorce courts and no easy route to freedom from matrimony. Now and then there are outbreaks in this country against the manner in which homes are broken up by those who fail to appreciate the fact that a marriage vow should have more force and effect than any law; that having once taken the vow the obligation is a matter in which the state and nation is interested and in nothing short of flagrant cases should a divorce be granted.

Agitation is resulting in a growing sentiment for legislation restricting the divorce decree. If Canada, with 7,000,000 people, can get along with seven or eight divorces a year, there is certainly reason to believe the number of divorces in this country can be reduced without making conditions oppressive.

Mayor Farrell, of Kalamazoo, is an ingenious gentleman. He has addressed letters to all the mayors in the state urging their attendance at a conference to be held in Lansing, Nov. 21, when the plan proposed by the commission on tax inquiry will be discussed. He asserts that if the taxation of the interurban railways and the power companies is taken away from the cities, as the commission proposes, that they will suffer severely. Mayor Farrell, however, entirely ignores another result that would follow on the introduction of the commission's plan. In compensation for withdrawing from the reach of the city assessors part of their taxable property it would entirely relieve the cities from any direct taxation for the support of the state government, and if Mayor Farrell will look up the figures he will doubtless find that for Kalamazoo that would be a considerable item. Unless there is a better reason for the meeting of the mayors than is indicated by Mr. Farrell's letter they cannot be too strongly advised to remain at home, and save their money.

The prosecutor and an agent of the Indiana pure food department after a ten days' investigation announced that something like 400 violations of the pure food law had been committed by the Armour Packing company, of Chicago, and that indictments had been procured against it.

It should be a source of pride to the negro races that within forty-six years after the Civil war the former slave population of South Carolina includes within its ranks a substantial majority of the actual landholders.

Isleping Iron Ore wants to know who has been telling The Mining Journal that valuations on general property in Negunee and Ishpeming are lower than they are in Marquette. Why, mostly Negunee and Ishpeming people. If the Iron Ore will look back a few weeks it will find the assessing officers quoted as saying that their assessments on this class of property will have to be largely advanced next year.

This Marquette citizen testified long ago. Told of quick relief—of lasting benefit. The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive. It forms convincing proofs of merit.

Mrs. Leonard Richer, 407 Rock St. Marquette, Mich., says: "In 1905 I gave a statement for publication, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and I now confirm all I then said in their praise. My back ached almost constantly and there were severe pains in my sides. I finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills from the Stafford Drug Co. and through their use, I was given entire relief. The cure has been permanent. One of my children was afflicted with weak kidneys and had no control over the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills also effected a cure in that case."

It's no wonder, under the political conditions that exist in that part of the U. P., that Houghton county aspirants sort of hesitate about running for congress. The helms are full of men with dirks in their belts waiting for other men who have changed to incur their political enmity, and there are so many factions that most people have given up keeping track of them.

George Graham, minister of railways and canals in the late cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, says that the annexation utterances of Champ Clark did more to cripple the Liberals in the recent election than any other one thing. Champ has told of this before, but he continues unflinchingly and unapologetic.

"It is said that we have too much politics in our business," said Governor Harmon, epigrammatically. "We certainly have too little business in our politics."

"When you start out being a progressive watch out for that don't progress backwards," says Senator Townsend.

A Laugh or Two

Rev. Herbert L. Trencham, in a lecture on "Woman" at a Methodist church in Duluth was condemning this winter's type of hobbie skirt.

"It's worse than last winter's," he declared. "It's altogether immodest. I wish all husbands had the courage of a Duluth man I heard about recently."

"This honest fellow's wife turned completely from the mirror, and, smoothing her new hobbie skirt—a skirt of that ultra sort which must be put on with a shoehorn—she said:

"I wonder if the hobbie skirt will ever go out?"

"Not with me," the man answered firmly.

His Scoring Did It. Edgar M. Church, the football veteran of Philadelphia, was praising a new full back at the Bellevue-Stratford.

"He wasn't very popular with the experts at first," said Mr. Church. "but after he kicked those three goals he made friends fast enough. Eighteen to nothing—those were the winning figures, thanks to him. Oh, yes, he made friends after that."

Mr. Church adjusted his pince-nez and added: "In fact, he made friends by the score."

Lecturer's Sore Throat. Miss Elizabeth Marbury, New York's noted theatrical agent, was condemning at the Colony club the shrewish, scolding type of woman.

"You can always tell her," said Miss Marbury. "If you can't tell her in one way, you can tell her in another."

"I said to a woman the other day: 'Why, my dear, how hoarse you are!'"

"Yes," she answered angrily. "My husband was out late last night."

Liking for the Scots. The late Meredith Townsend had an affection for Scotsmen as contributors to the Spectator, of which he was for so many years proprietor and co-editor.

Mr. Townsend's liking for the Scots was based on an experience he had in Leith when a boy. He was on holiday, and had run short of money for his return to London. He boldly boarded a London passenger boat, intimated his desire to the captain to go south, explained who he was, and stated that he was without funds. Seemingly favorably impressed by the lad's tale and appearance, the captain, a Scot said that would be all right, and showed him to a cabin. "But," said young Townsend, "this is a saloon. As things are, stowage would do all right." "Na, na, my mannie," said the captain; "if I trust ye at all, I'll trust ye first class!"—Pall Mall Gazette.

WEST BRANCH—William Gardner Gray has hunted for deer for seven seasons, but until this season has never been successful. A party of four, including Gray, went into camp twelve miles north of here, a few days ago. While his companions were settling their camp Gray took his rifle and struck out. He had only been gone ten minutes when he returned with two deer, one a big buck weighing 220 pounds. The other was a buck weighing 190 pounds.

MIDDLEVILLE—Dr. Charles E. Doyle of Augusta, Mich., has sold his 290-acre farm two and a half miles southeast of Middleville to a Chicago party for $24,000 cash. The new owner purchased this property for his summer home. The buildings are all new and up to date and the doctor had intended it as a stock farm, but, having been in active practice for twenty years, could not be content out of the harness.

BIG RAPIDS—Three deer killed in the day in Newaygo county, across the line from Mecosta is the record made by local sportsmen. First Alderman N. P. Geesley and Burton Phillips walked out in the morning and returned home at night with two deer to their credit. On the same day Hopp also bagged one. It had been thought to hunt deer in both Newaygo and Mecosta counties for ten years until now.

JACKSON—A four-day campaign of the Men and Religion Forward Movement is planned for Jackson, the meetings to begin Nov. 26. Speakers of national repute will be in the city on these days to discuss the furthering of the movement in this city. A team of experts will be here from Detroit to take charge of the various lines of work. The Bible study work will be in charge of Dr. F. S. Goodrich of Albion while Eugene C. Foster of Detroit will lead in the boys' work. The social phase of the movement will be in charge of Myron E. Adams of Detroit and C. W. Henzel of Toledo, an expert on mission work, will be in charge of this branch of the campaign.

ONTIAC—All that is left of Newberry's Imperial minstrels, a theatrical aggregation which opened its career here one night and closed the next, is three stranded actors who have not far to go to Detroit and a bunch of trunks and baggage which B. V. Woodward of the Hotel Woodward annexed as security for the hotel bill. Woodward is now in charge of the troupe. The social phase of the movement will be in charge of Myron E. Adams of Detroit and C. W. Henzel of Toledo, an expert on mission work, will be in charge of this branch of the campaign.

FRANCE'S BLACK SOLDIERS. France is steadily increasing the number of native troops in all its possessions. There are 120,000 French troops maintained in overseas colonies and of these less than half are Europeans. Altogether France has about 62,000 "native" soldiers, of whom the majority are Africans, officers by Frenchmen. The object of France is to be able to keep more and more of its purely French soldiers at home. It has an immense amount of fighting material at its command in its African colonies outside Algeria and Tunis. These furnish it with Arab battalions, but in West Africa and the Congo it has made a promising beginning of a Negro army in eight organizations, which in various operations have followed their French officers bravely and intelligently. France proposes that its colored troops should gain some acquaintance with European ways by tours of duty in France. It has a great advantage in this work of familiarizing "natives" with France in the absence of color prejudice.

There is hardly a likelihood of France using her Negro soldiers against Germany in a case of war with that power, and the danger lies not in their over-running Europe, but in later untold savage tribes shall have been drilled in military knowledge, feel the throbs of their own power and get ready to oppose their rulers in Africa.

In France at present there are no racial lines, but should France import Negroes in large numbers from her colonies it would not take France many years to have its Negro problem as it exists today in America, and is fast arising in the British South African colonies.—Richmond Journal.

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; heightens, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, "Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle."

For the present Lady Powerscourt to unearth them from unused rooms and place them where they would be seen and admired.

The eighteenth century produced the most beautiful mirrors of English handiwork, and Lady Powerscourt is trying to specialize in these. One Queen Anne mirror that she has is a remarkable fine example of that style, with delicate moldings and traceries, though the general effect is rather severe.

Her specimens of Chippendale's mirrors, on the other hand, are even more than ordinarily ornate. One is square, with heads, scrolls, flowers and leaves interwoven in marvelous fashion. Another is made after the manner of a large mirror, but instead of a single sheet, gift pillars, wreaths of flowers and other light decorations conceal the paintings, if they do somewhat detract from the practical use of the mirror.

A good example of an ancient Spanish mirror workmanship hangs on a wall at Powerscourt. It is square in shape and is heavily carved and gilded. At its top are two lionlike heads bearing a crown between them.

A charming little old English mirror is in the library. It is an oval glass surrounded by a design in carved and gilded wood of grapes and vine leaves. It is suspended by a gilded rope of wood, which runs down through the frame and encircles the glass.

The wholesale making of looking glasses seems to have first started in Venice and London retained the monopoly for many generations. The seventeenth century, however, saw factories started at Paris, Tourneville and Battersea on the Thames. Experienced Italian workmen were brought over to insure the success of the factories, which were under government protection.

Then with the swing of the pendulum hanging mirrors became rather unfashionable. Oval round or square glasses were built in over mantelpieces or on floors and early looking glasses consisted for their simple frames of plain wood. Came ornate hanging mirrors, and now comes a craze for them as well as for little old pocket mirrors, quaint French hand-glasses and indeed every conceivable kind of mirror except those that are too young.

ALDERMAN'S STATUS INTERESTS HANCOCK

Mr. Payne's Extended Stay at Sault Ste. Marie Creates Novel Situation.

Mayor Dodge's criticism of Alderman Payne at the Hancock city council meeting the other evening has stirred up a considerable commotion. Mr. Payne has been absent from the city, working at the Soo, for six months or so, and the mayor expressed the idea that the alderman should either return and attend to his duties or resign, or words to that effect. Alderman Payne's wife did not go with him to the Soo, which is taken as an indication that he intends to return, and she is wrought up over the mayor's remarks.

The records in the city hall show that Alderman Payne's last attendance at a council meeting was June 13. Mrs. Payne says the departure of her husband was prompted by a desire to procure work at his trade, which was unable to do at Hancock. Since going to Sault Ste. Marie, Mr. Payne has been given steadily employment in a butcher shop, although it was not his intention to remain away from the city more than two months. During July he was the victim of an attack of erysipelas which meant extra expense and, finding it possible to procure work a few miles longer, he decided to remain at the Soo. "The city has never asked my husband to resign," said Mrs. Payne, "although I understand the city clerk wrote him a letter along those lines. He has written me that so such letter will explain his motives thoroughly. I do not know whether he would resign if asked to," said Mrs. Payne, "that question being one which he must answer himself."

Alderman Payne was elected last spring by the Citizens party, which is believed to be actually the Democratic party. The leaders of that party have suggested to Mayor Dodge that if he will promise to appoint a member of that element to fill the vacancy, they will procure Alderman Payne's resignation. The mayor is a little adverse to this, he says that he is the mayor for all the people and that if there is a vacancy he does not want to be hampered by party considerations in filling it. This means a deadlock of a sort and interesting developments are expected.

PRICKETT'S NOTABLE VICTORY.

Roycroft Jersey Milk Wins First Award at Chicago Show.

At the recent Chicago Dairy show, held the first week in November, W. S. Prickett's Roycroft farm Jersey milk scored the highest test for purity—a record which the government expert present certified as being the highest in the history of the world—98 per cent. pure. The Jersey Bulletin and Dairy World of Indianapolis gives Mr. Prickett's product this mention: "Take, for example, the market milk exhibits in the competition with entries from sixteen states and Canada, Roycroft Jersey milk was awarded a score of 98, winning the gold medal thereby. The representative of the United States government in charge of the exhibit, in the following words, commends the Roycroft entry, reading: 'This milk is the purest market milk of which there is any record in the world—98 per cent. This is a victory of which Jerseymen may well be proud. It reflects credit alike upon the Jersey as a breed and upon Roycroft farm, the well-known Michigan breeding establishment where Jersey reign supreme.'"

The Farmers' Guide of Huntington, Ind., prints the following paragraph, showing the extent of the milk exhibit on the occasion, was overworked. In it were tons upon tons of butter, cheese and milk. Busts of President Taft and Uncle Sam made of butter served as decorations. The exhibit was a grand and these exhibits covered was surprising, especially in the milk classes. Milk had been sent from as far north as Canada and from away down in Louisiana and was in good condition. Other exhibits came from Indiana, Ohio, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Illinois, New York, Wisconsin, New Jersey, Iowa, Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Colorado, Vermont, Nebraska, Michigan, Montana and Maine."

Mr. Prickett did not immediately seek publicity for the honor which his herd of Jerseys won. He has been awarded the gold medal and certificate awarded him. He is now advised by General Manager A. O. Auten that these are in preparation and would be forwarded shortly.

A Lesson to Farmers.

Mr. Prickett's success as a breeder of Jersey cattle and a producer of pure milk should contain a cheering lesson to the farmers of the copper country. What he has done any of them can do. He has demonstrated that the copper country is a good dairy cattle raising region. The climate, the quality of the land, the purity of the water supply all tend to produce high grade cattle. If the business is backed by intelligence and a desire to arrive at the best methods of feeding and of caring for the stock.

"POP" CONCERT A NOVELTY.

Anti-Tuberculous Society Function Will Be Well Attended.

There is little doubt that the "pop" concert to be given next Friday night by the women of the Houghton County Anti-Tuberculous society at the Amphitheatre will be well attended. It is a novel function for Houghton and its novelty will draw many of the curious. Reports from the sale of tickets are encouraging. The general plan of the concert is to turn the Amphitheatre hall into a garden. There will be numerous tables at which the audience will sit and here refreshments will be served by a number of the charming young girls of the Houghton High school. At its conclusion the floor will be cleared and a program of dances will ensue.

SAWMILL IS CLOSED; LOGGING IS STARTED

Eddy Lumber Company Will Put in Five Million Feet of Timber This Winter.

The Eddy Lumber company of Lake Linden has closed its sawmill, after a very successful season's work. The mill had a good run this year, being worked continuously since the first of May. The company employs a large number of men throughout the summer months, as well as a large force during the winter.

The company is operating two large camps this winter. One is located six miles from Cassell, on the Sturgeon river. The other camp is in the vicinity of Portage Entry. Samuel Eddy, one of the members of the company, says the usual cut will be put in. This means in the neighborhood of five million feet. The timber will consist of hardwood and hemlock.

The firm disposed of a large amount of hardwood timber this year. There is always a good demand for hardwood, especially from the large manufacturing firms that make furniture. The company also did a big business in the softwood line the past season.

New Boiler House.

Numerous repairs will be made at the sawmill plant during the winter. A new boiler house will be erected. This will be 42 by 46 feet in ground dimensions. The company heretofore used three boilers. The increased business demands the installation of a larger plant and therefore the new house will contain four boilers.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leonard of Hubbell Married Fifty Years.

Just fifty years ago yesterday—November 19, 1861—a wedding ceremony was solemnized in Ottawa county, the lower part of this state, which made Miss Harriet Palmer and Frank Leonard man and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard now reside in Hubbell, in a quiet way they celebrated their golden anniversary.

Mr. Leonard is a native of Germany, and when five years of age came to the United States with his parents. Mrs. Leonard is a native of New York state. They were married at their home at Avon, Ohio, where Mr. Leonard grew to manhood. He then went out in the world for himself, locating in Ottawa county, the lower part of Michigan. It was there he met Miss Harriet Palmer and where they were married. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard returned to their old home at Avon, Ohio, where they resided until 1861, when they concluded to come to the much talked of copper country of Michigan. They came from the lower part of the state by boat and landed at Eagle River. For a time they made Phoenix their home, later going to the Central mine.

In 1887 Mr. and Mrs. Leonard decided to leave Keweenaw and migrate to Houghton county. They came to Lake Linden just two days before the earthquake there destroyed the greater portion of the town. Their furniture was placed in what they thought would be their new home, but the fire destroyed everything with the exception of the clothes on their backs. They went to Hubbell, which was in its infancy at the time, and there they erected a home for the family. After his arrival on Torch Lake he worked for the Tamarrack and Osceola companies at their stamp mills. For a number of years he was watchman at the property. Just three years ago Mr. Leonard resigned his position and retired to active labor.

PECULIAR FATALITY.

Calumet Engineer Falls from Stool and Fractures Skull.

Henry Grimmer, aged forty-nine years, one of the first men ever employed in the machine shops of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company, was suddenly killed Saturday morning while at work. He was standing on a stool when he fell backward, striking his head, and it is believed, suffered a fracture at the base of the skull. The deceased, it is said, was subject to fainting spells and his fellow-workmen believe his fall was due to one of these spells.

A VIEW OF NEW HOCKEY RULE.

C. E. Westcott Agrees With Canadian Authorities on Six-Men Team.

The recent action of the Canadian Hockey association in deciding that in future teams shall be made up of six men only, doing away with the rover, continues to give rise to discussions among Houghton hockey fans. C. E. Westcott, a former member of the championship Portage Lake team and of various former Canadian teams, was asked for his views on the matter. "I unhesitatingly approve of the change," he said. "I notice that a Calumet critic says that seven men make the game faster in the big copper country rink. He betrays his ignorance of the subject. It is a well-known fact in Canada that when a team wants to make certain of winning a hard game they drop the seventh man."

Mr. Westcott recalled a game he-remembered in Stratford, in which he played wing on the London seven. The score was 7 to 2 in the first half, in favor of Stratford. At the beginning of the second half the London team insisted that their rover be knocked out and with the six men on the ice they scored ten goals. The rover is an added position on a hockey team anyway. The original hockey teams were made up of six men and the rover was added simply because there was an excess of players and the framers of hockey laws wanted to give them a chance.

The size of the copper country rinks makes it different. The rink at Houghton and the season promises to be very productive.

HUNTING CONDITIONS IMPROVE.

Snow Results in Better Success For the Hunters-Instances.

There are instances enough now to show that the arrival of snow helps the deer hunter. One deer was shot by Houghton and the season promises to be very productive.

A party made up of Mr. and Mrs. John T. McNamara and Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Ferris, of Houghton, and Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Burritt, two Al. Larson, two Antoni Galus, one of the two Ziergen brothers, one each.

George Marocco did not check in with a deer but he did manage to produce a wolf to account for his time in the woods. The wolf is not a contributor to the rover but his scalp will bring Mr. Marocco $25 at the county clerk's office.

County Clerk Kaiser has issued up to Saturday noon more than 1,500 deer licenses. The names of those who have licenses in Houghton county is 1,609. The county clerk believes that he will get rid of that number before the season closes.

MINING COLLEGE ATHLETICS.

Expected That Hockey Team Will Play Columbia and Cornell.

The athletic outlook for the Michigan College of Mines is very bright. The most promising varsity and scrub basketball teams have been organized and hockey practice will start as soon as there is ice. The varsity basketball five is organized with Newkirk as captain and Thacher as manager. The team will have a playing manager this year, to curtail expense on the trips.

The varsity will play its first regular game next Friday, when the men will be in Marquette on what is called the "G. I. trip." The varsity has little chance to the furnace of the Pioneer Iron company. The College of Mines five will meet the Knights of Columbus team of that city. The second varsity game will be played at home Saturday Dec. 9, either with the Calumet Y. M. C. A. or L'Anse-au-Loup.

Five teams have been entered in the scrub basketball series. The five are made up as follows:

- Team A—Mellie, Newkirk, Gibbs, Elliott, Worley, Harry McDonald.
- Team B—Thacher, Booth, Case, Galambir, Hanchette, Thurber, Anderson, Holmberg.
- Team C—Prvor, E. L. Sparks, Peterson, Sterk, Mackie, Mills, Dueso, Jansen.
- Team D—Scott, Baker, Huntington, Holland, Rowell, Johnston, Loveland, Haas.
- Team E—Dempsey, Manness, Rashleigh, Steier, Laing, LaLonde, Loerbach, Wohlhaupter.

The hockey outlook is excellent. The school is in communication with a number of the Eastern colleges, including Case, Columbia, Cornell, West Point and Western Reserve. It is probable that a trip will be taken during the Christmas vacation. An intercollegiate tournament is to be held at Cleveland and the Houghton institution probably will send a team there. Later an attempt will be made to bring one of the Eastern school teams here for a series. Games with Cornell or Columbia would give the Michigan College of Mines an athletic standing not heretofore enjoyed.

ABRAM RAISANEN IN LIMBO.

Abram Raisanen, charged together with John Hendrickson, alias Hahiti, with the larceny of the sum of $93 from the till in the Kangas saloon, Calumet was captured late last week, at Winona, Minn. Raisanen was brought to Calumet Saturday by Under Sheriff Phil Sheridan and was arraigned before Justice Jackson. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of larceny, demanding an examination, which will be given him tomorrow afternoon. Hendrickson also will be given an examination then. Conflicting stories are told by the two men.

Hendrickson, when arraigned some days ago, denied that he stole the $93, but said that Raisanen took it, giving him a portion of the lot. Raisanen denies all knowledge of the theft. Neither man was able to furnish bonds and they were taken to the county jail.

LAURIUM CHARITY BALL.

There will be a general meeting early this week of the committees in charge of the arrangements for the Laurium charity ball to be given Dec. 8, in the town hall. Results thus far have been very encouraging. The committees have been assured that they will need to incur very little expense in arranging the ball, so practically the entire proceeds can be devoted to charitable work. It is likely that the committee will dress the ball room with evergreens, decorated with cotton batting to represent snow. Several novel features will be introduced into the program, which likely will include one or two vaudeville acts.

SCOTCHMEN TO CELEBRATE.

St. Andrew's society of Calumet has decided to celebrate the anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns, the Scottish bard, Jan. 23 next. The celebration will consist of a lengthy program, with numbers appropriate to the anniversary; a concert, a dance and a supper. A feature of the supper will be old-fashioned Scotch dishes. The dancing program will include a number of old country Scotch dances. The season's first regular meeting of the Copper Country Ministerial association, which is an interdenominational organization, will take place this afternoon at the Calumet Young Men's Christian association building. It is expected that a majority of the Protestant ministers of the counties of Houghton and Keweenaw will attend. Rev. R. W. Farquhar, pastor of the Red Jacket Congregational church, will present a paper on the subject, "The Ministry for the Times."

CHINESE REBELS ARE STANDING PAT

Peace Negotiations Are Refused Unless Conditioned on Emperor's Abdication.

Peking, Nov. 19.—Demands for the throne's abdication are crowding upon Premier Yuan Shi Kai, who doubtless will be forced to make a decision within a week. He has been asked to fight or ask the court to depart from the capital. Every suggestion for abdication is accompanied by promises of protection and ample pension. It is reported tonight that the premier has ordered a protest attack upon Han Yang and Wu Chang. If this is true, it signifies his choice.

The government has succeeded in riding the Lanchow troops of both revolutionary generals, Chang Shao Tseng and Lan Tien Wei. The former is now at Tien Tsin. The latter, however, is the third division, has been dismissed and is proceeding southward. Notas Yuan Shi Kai's envoy, to submit further proposals to General Li, the rebel commander, as previously reported, but to join the rebel forces.

Peace Negotiations Futile.

Various efforts made in influential quarters to start negotiations looking to peace have up to the present failed. Yuan Shi Kai's lieutenant, Tsai King Kan, has returned here from a fruitless attempt to negotiate with General Li on Wu Chang. The commander of the revolutionary forces seems determined not to yield in the slightest degree.

Rear Admiral Mufelski telegraphed the American legation today from Nanking that the American consul, with the archives, is aboard the New Orleans and that all Americans have left the city with the exception of the Red Cross. It would be impossible, said the admiral, to protect American property in Nanking without landing three hundred marines, prepared to sustain a siege. For this reason he had sent word of his mission to the United States.

The foreign banks have decided to establish a banking committee at Shanghai, as in 1909, to meet the extraordinary conditions and adjust the payments of the indemnity and other claims.

An edict published today announces that the report representing the emperor will on Nov. 26 swear before the emperor's tablet in the ancestral temple that he will adhere to the nineteen constitutional articles.

Nanking the Key to the South.

Shanghai, China, Nov. 19.—The situation in southern China is becoming more involved each day. The republicans' position is determined to secure the elimination of the Manchou dynasty, but there are grave doubts of their ability to establish a stable government in time to avoid the consequences of continued disorganization and the absence of revenue and a competent administration. The situation at Peking has little influence on the rest of the country. The power of Yuan Shi Kai's name is waning, because it is believed he has deserted the cause of the people.

The provinces which have declared independence are organizing separate governments, but each refuses recognition to the responsibilities incurred by the central government. Nanking, the ancient capital, is still firmly in the possession of the imperialists. Therefore the assertion of southern supremacy is not taken seriously. Even the reformers recognize the importance of Nanking, and both they and the imperialists are directing all their efforts to this important city.

Missionary's View of the Situation.

New York, Nov. 19.—Dr. Robert C. Beebe, of the Methodist Episcopal board of foreign missions and superintendent of a hospital at Nanking, who is in New York city, talked today of the expected battle at Nanking, which many think will be the decisive conflict in the Chinese struggle.

The strategic point of defense against the revolutionary assault upon Nanking, he said, was Puyi mountain, held by the imperial forces. If successful in taking the mountain, the revolutionists, he thought, would have little trouble in forcing Nanking's surrender. From it, they could shell the business section and the viceregal palaces. The foreign element at Nanking, said Dr. Beebe, does not number over one hundred persons.

The capture of Nanking would be most important to the revolutionists, because of the city's great influence as an educational and political center. Although it is wealthy, its position from an industrial point of view is insignificant among the larger Chinese cities. The population is between 350,000 and 500,000.

Rumot of Massacre Is Not Confirmed.

London, Nov. 19.—No confirmation has reached London of the rumored massacre of foreigners at Sian, capital of Shen Si, where some Scandinavian and English missionaries are located. The secretary of the Baptist society here says that he has no information regarding a massacre. According to the latest cable advices from that province, several missionaries, all the missionaries at Sian Si, were safe. A dispatch to a London news agency from Shanghai reports fifteen gunboats proceeding to Nanking to cooperate in the rebel attack. The Daily Telegraph's Peking correspondent says that anonymous letters have been received by Yuan Shi Kai, warning him that an attempt is to be made to assassinate him and the members of his family. The premier is constantly surrounded by a guard, fearing a revolutionary bomb.

THE HORRORS OF THIRST.

There is no horror like the horror of thirst, no physical suffering comparable to it. A traveler over the desert in Egypt describes a man who had lost his way, wandered about for days without water, and finally came staggering into his camp. The man's eyes were bloodshot, his lips swollen to twice their natural size, and his tongue, blue, parched and swollen—lung out of his mouth. To allow such a man to drink water would be like pumping cold water into a red hot steam boiler. It would kill him. This man required to be held forcibly by four men in his eagerness to drink. A few drops, while a fifth man allowed a few drops to trickle down the

JAPANESE STREET PEDLERS.

Strolling Medicine Men, Repairer of Bamboo Pipes and Vendor of Sweets.

Passing and repassing through the streets of Tokio are vendors of every description. Early in the morning one's slumber is disturbed by their plaintive cries, and should the windows of the house look upon a thoroughfare, there may be seen through the sari a countless procession of hawkers, but they do not need to be seen to be recognized, for their characteristic cries—echo and reecho from morning until night.

Take the oshichi, for instance, the strolling medicine vender. Often he is a musician with a tenuous accent. Envious glances may be cast at his red and white capulet, his uniform and his cap. Many a youth might consider it the height of ambition to be able to go about the city in the same manner and win simon from all the young women in the streets through which he passes. But the oshichi has all he can do to make his daily bread, and his lot is often very hard indeed.

The center for the distribution of his medicine is at the merchant's house, which is situated on the little island of Tokiji, Tsukijima. The applicant who wishes to become a traveling apothecary must pay five yen as a guarantee to be faithful to the master. The next day he is given a cap, a suit of clothes and a pair of shoes. In addition he receives medicine to the value of 7 yen, and his breakfast is supplied every morning. For his other means he must shift for himself and eat them in whatever part of Tokio he finds himself when he becomes unwell.

All the vendors must assemble at the master's house in the morning and be ready to start out by 8 o'clock for the 808 streets of Tokio. The oshichi sings a song which has for conclusion the expression oshichi, or one, two, keeping time to the music of an accordion and walking stately and slow. Whenever the street gamins hear this song they run after the oshichi, just as the rats run after the mad piper of Hamelin.

This song is an advertisement of his medicine. It is difficult to learn and often takes several days before the vendor can master it. If he is not a success at singing the song he will be of no account as a vendor, for the secret of his popularity lies in his rendering of the peculiar melody.

When seen in the Ra-ya, or repairer of bamboo pipes, in the neighborhood it seems as though a miniature locomotive was letting off steam, for one peculiarity of the Ra-ya's trade is a cart which has in it a little furnace, a steam vent over which the pipe is placed to heat it thoroughly on the inside and also through the roof of the cart a steam whistle.

For the privilege of pushing his cart through the streets the Ra-ya must pay three yen a year as tax. It takes a long apprenticeship to know all the tricks of the trade and no one who is not accustomed to this kind of mending can be a success. The number of Ra-ya is steadily on the decrease, perhaps because there are fewer and fewer old-fashioned people now who use this kind of pipe.

In the old Yedo days the trade was a brisk one and the Ra-ya ran through the streets, two baskets slung at the ends of a pole across his shoulders and his cry was a most familiar one. Now he is minus the baskets and the cry, but the cart and the steam whistle have taken their place. Then, too, so many people today smoke cigars and cigarettes that the Ra-ya finds his old bamboo pipes few and far between. According to statistics those who use the pipe have fallen off considerably and the menders have decreased one-half in the past ten years. It is a sad commentary on the passing of many old-style people.

In Tokio there are about fifteen merchants who sell the bamboo for the pipes, and the Chinese bamboo is considered the best. This business cannot be carried on when it is rainy, as the repairing must be done out of doors. The Ra-ya must be examined by the officers in his district twice a year.

If his cart passes the examination he may continue his work. He charges three yen to replace a pipestem, and he must use about ten yen worth of charcoal a day, so that the profits accruing are often very small. This business is practically limited to old men. They take off the silver or brass bowl and mouthpiece and put in a new bamboo stem, they clear the whole by steam and polish the metal until it seems as good as new.

Another personage among the street merchants is the Amazake-ya. His cry, Amai, Amai, Sweet, Sweet, is so suggestive of sweet things that the cry brings the children from every quarter. The men who ply this trade are generally old. They form one of Tokio's picturesque street elements with their two large red lacquered boxes on either end of a shoulder pole. Amazake is sold to street retailers from thirteen wholesale merchants who thus supply the trade.

An applicant who wishes to enter this business goes to the merchant with a person who acts as a guarantor, and borrows the outfit, which consists of the attired red boxes, is almost ready to set forth on his travels. But he must buy his own clothes, which consist of a blue suit and a blue coat with a white collar and cuffs, in which character on its lapels and a Chinese character for Amazake on his back.

"To Suit Every Taste"

Winklers, Duluth

It is very hard for an old man to carry two such heavy boxes, and the Amazake-ya is often taken with a desire to rest by the wayside. But this is against the law, and if the policeman catches sight of him he is told to move on in the polite language of Korea! Korea! Sometimes he is fined from 20 sen to one yen for loitering on his way.

Like the proverbial milkman of West-ern countries who waters his milk, it must be confessed that the Amazake-ya has the reputation for diluting his liquid so that it is doubled and sometimes tripled in quantity. But then he only charges one sen for a cup. And the musical sound of Amai! Amai! is such a pleasant one to the ears that the Amazake-ya may be forgiven for all remissnesses in his business.

MODERN SPOOKS WAX USEFUL.

One Spector Direct's Mate to Change Whaler's Course While Another Operates a Sawmill.

The apparition in a white sheet that drifts down the corridor of the old manor house and vanishes with a hollow groan is out of date. It is a useless, pointless being that never was known to do any work beyond rattling a spectral feller or frightening a nurse maid into a fit.

Ghosts, like everything else in this bustling world, are being extinguished to the mark, and to a certain extent. There are instances on record of spooks doing really useful work.

Robert Dale Owen is our authority for the following story:

The mate of a barque which was sailing south westwards across the bays of Newfoundland was in the cabin working out the vessel's course, when he noticed a man sitting at the other end of the table busy writing on a slate. Thinking he was the captain, he paid no further attention, but presently, looking up from his calculation, he saw the man suddenly disappear.

Startled, he went across, picked up the slate, and found written on it "Steer to the north-west."

He called the captain. The writing was certainly not that of any of the crew, and eventually it was decided that the strange order. The vessel was put in a nor-westerly course, and a man stationed at the mast head to keep a sharp lookout.

In a few hours they sighted ice, and sailing in an almost sinking condition, a big ship, they reached her just in time to save her people. Among them was a passenger who had written the direction on the slate.

According to the other passengers, this man had been in a deep sleep, or trance at the hour at which the incident had taken place.

An American paper tells us that a ghost has been running a sawmill at Butler, N. J. The mill was abandoned because the late owner failed to make any pay, but soon afterward the neighbors declared that it was running again, but oddly enough at night and not in the daytime.

A man named Henion went to investigate, and when he entered the mill found that the saw-table had been lifted up with a log. Presently the saw blades were lifted and the circular saw began to revolve.

Then Henion became aware that a man was guiding the log against the saw. As he watched he saw the man seat himself upon a log which was rapidly moving toward the saw.

He rushed forward, but felt a blow which staggered him. When he came to the man sat laughing on the log. Next instant the big saw log, through the spectral form, which vanished instantly.

Austin Farrell and Dr. E. J. Hudson left for Chicago last evening.

Mrs. James H. Hodgson, of Houghton, was a Marquette visitor Saturday.

E. G. Delano, formerly night agent at the South Shore station, spent yesterday at the city.

Mrs. C. N. Beckwith, of Chicago, formerly Miss Agnes Smith of this city, is visiting friends here.

The ladies of the B. R. T., will give a card party tonight in Bureau's Hall. Lunch will be served.

Roy Sullivan, who has spent the summer and fall estimating timber in northern Wisconsin, has returned to the city.

Mrs. Frank J. Russell and children left last evening for Utica, N. Y., where they will visit Mrs. Russell's parents.

Miss Florence Piche, of Republic, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Davis, on North Third street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Brainard left last evening for Chicago. Mr. Brainard will attend a meeting of the consistency in that city.

The second of the series of dancing parties being given this winter by the United Commercial Travelers will be held at Fraternity Hall Friday evening.

Peter Duetsch, who was injured in a runaway on Front street several weeks ago, left the hospital last Tuesday and will resume his work as driver of one of the Marquette Steam Laundry wagons this morning.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Daniel Wieland will be held this afternoon, at 2 o'clock from the residence of his wife, Bastien, 149 Rock street, and at 2:30 from the German Lutheran church. Rev. Wm. Koepke will conduct the services.

A meeting of the common council will be held this evening. Its primary purpose is to confirm special assessment rolls, but it is expected that Mayor Jacobs will announce an appointment to fill the vacancy on the police commission, caused by the resignation of Rev. J. M. Rogers.

Married Saturday Night—Miss Helmi Nordlund, who for the last two years has been a dressmaker in this city, and Oscar Knues, an employe of the Huron Mountain club, were married Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. M. A. Brandt, 343 East Arch street. Rev. J. Saarinon, of Negaunee, performed the ceremony.

Royal Arcanum Social—McKinley council, Royal Arcanum, will hold a social meeting at Siegel's Hall this evening, to which the wives and lady friends of members have been invited. There will be dancing, to be followed by a luncheon. Leon Shauer, regent of the council and bride, will be the guests of honor.

Hunter Reported Lost—A report reached the city yesterday that a hunter named Strubbe, a brother of former passenger Conductor Strubbe of this city, had been lost in the woods near King's lake, in the Nestoria region, the past three days. Searching parties had, it was stated, been unable to find any trace of him. The missing man is said to live at Kenton.

Last Boat from Straits—Notices have been sent South Straits agents, that the last D. & C. boat will leave St. Ignace for Detroit on Wednesday, Nov. 22, marking the close of passenger navigation on the upper lakes. Passenger boats plying on Lake Superior were discontinued some time ago. The summer has been an exceptionally profitable one for the passenger vessel lines, more passengers having been carried, according to reports, than in any previous year.

Under U. C. T. Auspices—Arrangements were made at a meeting of the executive committee of the Marquette council, United Commercial Travelers, held Saturday, by which "The Traveling Salesman", to be presented at the opera house Wednesday evening, will be offered under the auspices of the local traveling men's organization. The local council will receive a percentage of the receipts and its members will be invited to have as large a crowd in attendance as possible. This show is said to afford a laughable evening's entertainment and to be an accurate, if humorous, portrayal of the typical drummer's life on the road.

Gilligan a Free Agent—Rube Gilligan, a much-touted big league pitcher who wore an Escanaba uniform for a few weeks last season and whom the Marquette sluggers pounded to all corners of the lot, is now a "free agent." Gilligan joined the Milwaukee team after leaving Escanaba and after the playing season closed, he was purchased by the St. Louis team. Because of the loose manner in which the transfer to St. Louis was handled, however, the National Baseball commission has held the sale void and Gilligan is open to any club that may choose to sign him up.

"Fairies Picnic" at Bijou—"The Fairies Picnic" will be the vaudeville attraction at the Bijou the first half of this week. Of this skit, the Detroit Free Press says: "An act different from all other talking and pantomime acts is that of Dillie and Geyer. All of the elements named above are used to bring out a story entitled 'The Fairies Picnic' and for real hard fun there has seldom been anything evolved in vaudeville that has it beaten. Four pictures will be shown. They are entitled: 'Grant and Lincoln,' a drama of the Civil war; 'Chasing the Rain-bow,' a touching drama, and two comedies, 'Too Much Aunt' and 'On the Installation Plan.'"

Addressed Union Meeting—Mrs. Leona E. Field, of Ann Arbor, vice president of the Michigan W. C. T. U., and superintendent of purity work of the national organization, addressed a union meeting of the Baptist Presbytery and Methodist people at the Baptist church last evening. The attendance was large and the address was received with interest. Mrs. Field spoke along sensible and sane lines, paying the most attention to the financial side of the problem discussed by her. This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Mrs. Field will address a parlor meeting at the home of Robert Brunner, corner of Park and High street. Her topic will be "Social Purity." The women of the city in general are invited to attend. In the evening Mrs. Field will be tendered a reception at the Methodist church. On this occasion she will give a thirty-minute talk. The public is invited.

Schoch & Hallam's Anniversary—For twenty years Schoch & Hallam have been engaged in the jewelry and glass and china ware business in this city, and all that time in the one location on South First street. Today, in observance of the event, they will open a "twentieth anniversary sale" of holiday goods, a new and unusually large line of which has been received and placed on display. The firm has enjoyed a steadily increasing business throughout its career. Recently a number of new pieces of furniture have been made in the store. Wall cases have replaced shelving, new show cases have been installed and a new heating plant has been put in. Buyers of holiday goods will find an excellent assortment at Schoch & Hallam's.

Newberry Sore at Heart—That Newberry is anything but satisfied with the decision of E. J. Willman, who has ruled that Menominee need not play the hospital town eleven in order to claim the upper peninsula football championship, is evident from a copy of "Senior Slams" that has been received from Superintendent Fuller of Newberry. The "Senior Slams" is the work of the high school pupils and consists largely of various "slams" and "roasts" aimed at the Menominee team. One cartoon, showing a football field, with Menominee lying flat on its back, Houghton running away and Newberry getting ready to settle the question of supremacy, is a well done bit of work. A three stanza ode to Menominee shows that Newberry high is not without its poet.

CONVICTS GET LIBERTY.

Three Released in Accordance With Supreme Court Decision.

Three convicts have been released from the Marquette prison as a result of the decision of the supreme court in a case brought by a prisoner at Jackson, named Fortesque, that all prisoners sentenced subsequently to June, 1903, for a crime committed previous to that date could not be held in prison for more than the minimum time, less good time. The gist of the opinion was that prisoners could not be sentenced under the amended sentence law of 1902 except for straight, or definite, sentences. In all, there were some dozen convicts in the three prisons who were affected by this ruling. Four of them were released from Ionia last week. There are two more in the Marquette prison who will be released when their minimum sentences expire.

One of the men already released from the Marquette prison is Robert McKnight, who was sent up from Hillsdale in September, 1905, for burglary, with a sentence of from seven and a half to fifteen years. McKnight was the partner of Fortesque, the Jackson convict who pushed the case that resulted in the supreme court's decision. The other two are John B. Dalhour, sent up from Iron county, June 21, 1905, for from seven to fourteen years, for manslaughter, and Clarence Lomdo, sent up from Delta county Nov. 1, 1905, for from seven to fifteen years for rape.

LAWRENCE GLEE CLUB.

College Musical Organization Will Give Concert Here This Year.

The Lawrence College Glee club, of Appleton, Wis., one of the most favorably recognized college musical organizations in the Badger state will make a tour of the upper peninsula early this winter, in the course of which a concert will be given in Marquette. This club has toured the upper peninsula in former years and it needs to be introduced. The date for the concert here has not been announced, but it will probably be during the holiday season. Clarence Bystrom, of Ishpeming, is a member of the club.

Plans are being made this year for the club to take three trips, one including Marquette, Menominee, Escanaba, Ishpeming, Iron Mountain and Marquette; the second Antigo, Wausau, Merrill, Chippewa Falls, Eau Claire, Lacrosse, Winona, Rochester, Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis, and the third, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Manitowish, Sheboygan, Port Washington, Milwaukee, Racine, Waterville, Madison, Portage, Monroe, Watertown, Beaver Dam and Ripon.

The members of the club are as follows:

First tenors—George Nixon, LaFarge; Jay Griswold, Sheboygan; Lester Paulus, Appleton; Raymond Green, Milwaukee; Raymond Sorenson, Appleton; Leslie Griswold, Sheboygan.

Second tenors—Vaughn Clark, Ontario; Russell Hall, Fond du Lac; Marion Hunt, Greenwood; Charles Beyer, Green Bay; George Reynolds, Jamesville; Emmet Brooks, Oro.

First bass—Claymond Leek, Racine; Clarence Bystrom, Ishpeming, Mich.; Kenneth Dickinson, Appleton; Noble Smith, Appleton; Clarence Plank, Plainfield; Millard Sawyer, Milwaukee; William Glasser, Milwaukee.

Second bass—Orville Scandling, Iron Mountain, Mich.; Lester Armstrong, Antigo; Clayton Quayle, Gwin, Mich.; Lloyd Watson, Brandon; Bert Hocking, Rockford Ill.; Herbert Hodgson, Iron Mountain Mich.; Chester Roberts, Brinsford.

Director—William Harper, Dean Lawrence Conservatory of Music.

Accompanist—Howard Smith, Oshkosh.

Theatrical

"The Traveling Salesman"

The next attraction at the opera house is James Forbes' latest comedy success, "The Traveling Salesman", which will be seen here Wednesday night with the original New York and Chicago cast. Mr. Forbes in his latest effort has reproduced "Life on the road" as successfully as he depicted "Life behind the scenes" in "The Chorus Lady." The story of "The Traveling Salesman" the scenes of which are laid in Grand Crossing, a village of the middle West, opens on Christmas day. The first act shows the interior of the railway station, with the meeting of the principal characters, Bob Blake, the traveling salesman, and Both Elliott, the pretty telephone operator. Both own a piece of apparently worthless land, which suddenly acquires value since it is necessary to a scheme of improvement planned by a railroad company. Blake's employer tries to defraud the girl of her property through a perversion of the law governing the sale of land by the township through unpaid taxes. Of course Bob Blake comes to the rescue. The second act transpires in the drummer's room in the Elite Hotel, and here is shown what is regarded by everyone who has seen the play, the most laughable situation ever employed by a playwright—a poker game. The play is a series of laughs from start to finish, and if the New York and Chicago critics are to be credited, it is one of the most mirth-provoking comedies seen in years.

"The Cow and the Moon"

"The Cow and the Moon" which was presented at the opera house Saturday night, was witnessed by a small audience. Those who stayed home because of the storm were fortunate, for the play was a disappointment. There were only about twenty members in the company, including seven chorus girls. None of the songs had the faculty of lodging in the memory, and the pleasing voices were few.

E. D. Gilmore, the leading comedian, was "the whole show," and though some of his jokes were time-worn his enunciation and expression made him a pleasing character. Hazel Rice, the diminutive soubrette, took the part of "Innocence," and her doll-like appearance was a distinctly charming feature of the presentation. Will Havens displayed unusual versatility by taking at least six different parts and appeared in a confusing variety of costumes.

The story is simple and childish. The great Domo, ruler of the moon, comes to earth in search of a moon bride. He selects Miss Innocence, who has never seen a man. He promises to take the whole troupe to the moon, but first Miss Innocence must kiss the sacred cow, which is kept in China. After their arrival on the moon circumstances force the Domo to release Miss Innocence and the company returns to earth.

The vehicle affords an unusual opportunity for mysterious, lurid and beautiful effects, not only in the fantastic scenery of the moon, but on earth and in China as well, but it was evident that the company was not large enough for a presentation of such large and extraordinary dimensions and thus various promising situations fell rather flat.

"TRAVELING SALESMAN" TONIGHT Forbes' Successful Comedy Will be Offering at IshpeMING Theatre.

One of the important theatrical events of the present season will be the appearance at the IshpeMING theatre this evening ing of A. S. Stern's production of "The Traveling Salesman," James Forbes' latest comedy success. Many interesting types are introduced, among them that great American character, the "drummer," portrayed by Robert E. O'Connor. The play deals with incidents in the life of the road.

CARRYING CONCEALED WEAPONS PROHIBITED

Council Adopts an Ordinance That Will Go Into Effect on Friday, Dec. 8.

Carrying concealed weapons within the city of IshpeMING will be a violation of a city ordinance on and after the 8th of next month. The cutting affray early in the fall prompted the authorities to draft a law giving the officers power to arrest and the court power to fine or imprison persons found with prohibited weapons in their pockets, and at the adjourned meeting of the council Friday evening the following ordinance was unanimously adopted:

"No person, except officers of the peace, shall go armed with a dirk, dagger, sword, pistol, revolver, air gun, stiletto, metallic knuckles, pocket knife, sand bag, skull cracker, slung shot, razor or other offensive and dangerous weapon or instrument concealed upon his person within the limits of the city of IshpeMING. Any person violating the provisions of this ordinance shall be punished by a fine of not less than $10 and not more than $100 or imprisonment in the county jail or the city jail for not to exceed ninety days, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. This ordinance shall take effect Dec. 8, 1911."

Special Assessment Roll. Three separate resolutions were adopted, authorizing the preparation of special assessment rolls in certain sewer districts, under instructions contained in a resolution adopted by the council, following the approval of inspectors by a special board of assessors. The resolutions were presented by Alderman Peterson and were unanimously adopted. The districts for which the special rolls are to be provided are:

- Extension No. 2 of Sewer District No. 2.
- Extension No. 3 of Sewer District No. 3.
- Extension No. 1 of Sewer District No. 2.

The form of the resolution covering each of the three districts was as follows: "Whereas, the board of assessors of this city, pursuant to the instructions contained in a resolution passed at a special meeting of this council, held Sept. 25, 1907, has prepared and submitted to this council a special assessment roll for the fifth installment of the city of IshpeMING, showing data of construction of sewer on Second street; now, therefore be it Resolved, That the said assessment roll be received and filed in the office of the city recorder and numbered special assessment roll No. 13, for extension No. 2 of sewer district No. 2 of the city of IshpeMING, and be it further Resolved, That the said assessment roll be and the same hereby is confirmed and the city recorder is hereby directed to indorse upon said roll a certificate, showing date of confirmation thereof. And said common council does hereby direct that the assessment so made in said special assessment roll be collected directly therefrom and that the recorder prepare a certified copy of said special assessment roll, pursuant to the provisions of the charter in such case made and provided."

MUCH ORE FROZEN.

Dock Men at Escanaba Are Having Hard Work Dumping Loaded Cars.

Captain F. E. Keese, general mining superintendent on this range, for the Oliver Iron Mining company, spent Friday at Escanaba. He found that the workmen were having considerable difficulty thawing out ore that had been frozen in the cars between the time it was loaded, on the Menominee range and the time when it reached the crusher. Mr. Keese learned that 1,200 cars of ore from Menominee range properties were lying on the docks at Escanaba, the ore in all of them being frozen solid. Friday, it required a force of 100 men to empty fifty-seven cars. The ore is being thawed out by steam, and boiling water is used to cut away the ice from the cars.

The Oliver Iron Mining company's crusher, at Escanaba will probably close down for the winter the latter part of this week. Three boats were on the Friday, waiting for ore, and several more are expected before the close of navigation.

BALKED AT COLD STEEL.

"I wouldn't let a doctor cut my foot off," said H. D. Ely, Bantam, Ohio, "although a horrible ulcer had been the plague of my life for four years. Instead I used Bucklen's Africa Salve, and my foot was soon completely cured." Heals Burns, Boils, Sores, Bruises, Eczema, Pimples, Corns, Sore Pile cure 25c at The Stafford Drug Co.

WINTER IS HERE.

Saturday's Storm the Worst Seen Here in Many Years in November.

According to the older residents of IshpeMING, the snow storm which started in Thursday night, continuing until Saturday night, was the worst they had ever seen in November. About two feet of snow came down and in many places drifted to a depth of four to six feet. On Friday the storm was mild, compared with Saturday. The train service was not affected, but on Saturday every passenger and freight train arriving in the city, with the exception of the local passenger from Marquette, was delayed from one to three hours. The Northwestern passenger from the South arrived over two hours late, the St. Paul train from Chicago was an hour behind schedule and the passenger from the copper country, due here at 1:30, did not arrive until 3:30 o'clock. The Northwestern afternoon passenger was nearly five hours late, it having been stalled for a time at Lathrop.

The street cars were put out of commission for a short time after the noon hour, but the snow plow opened the line about 4 o'clock and by keeping the plow in operation until the storm abated the cars were kept moving on fairly good time. There was much demand for the cars Saturday, especially from the Lake Angelina district. Saturday was pay day at the Lake Angelina mine.

On account of the great quantity of snow at the crossings and at other points in the yards, the railway companies will be obliged to begin hauling away the snow earlier than usual the season. It is likely this work will be started today. The city walk plows were operated both Friday and Saturday, and they were out again yesterday. Most of the walks in the principal portions of the city were opened yesterday morning before the service hours at the churches.

Stamping of fancy work, all kinds, also instructions in this line, Mrs. J. Lallerstadt, 502 North First Street. 11-15-2w.

KARL LEHTO AND ZBYSKO TO WRESTLE

Finnish and Polish Champions Will Meet in IshpeMING Monday, Dec. 11.

Contract has been signed for a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match between Stanislaus Zbyzsko, the Austrian-Polish champion, and Karl Lehto, the Finnish champion, to take place at the IshpeMING theatre on Monday evening, Dec. 11. It will be the greatest contest of its kind ever held in Marquette county, as Zbyzsko and Lehto are classed among the greatest wrestlers in the world.

About two years ago Zbyzsko failed to put Lehto on his back after they had wrestled desperately for an hour, the match taking place in the copper country. Zbyzsko was striving to throw Lehto twice within the hour. In a later contest Zbyzsko secured a fall over Lehto after they had been on the mat for one hour and forty-five minutes.

This match on the 11th will be the first one in which Lehto will participate since his return from his triumphal tour of Finland, where he met and defeated all of the great Finnish wrestlers. It is said that during the time he was in Finland he gained considerably in weight and strength and that he is now a more finished wrestler than he was prior to his tour of his native country. Zbyzsko will go on the mat here at about 245 pounds, and Lehto will weigh something over 200 pounds. Zbyzsko has been wrestling professionally for the past eight years and in that time he has defeated every wrestler of note, with the exception of Frank Gotch, the world's champion. He is the undisputed champion wrestler of the world in the Greco-Roman style and he is now confident of defeating Gotch in the catch-as-catch-can title when they meet. He is thirty-two years of age.

If Frank Gotch will agree to wrestle Zbyzsko in catch-as-catch-can style, the Pole's manager, Jack Herman, will present him with $10,000 for his share. Herman makes no restrictions of any kind and all he wants, he says, is a match with the champion, the same to be to a finish, the first two out of three falls to count, and the contest to be held in any city in America, to be mutually agreed upon.

Zbyzsko arrived in America less than two weeks ago. He was in constant training during the summer and is said to be in condition to meet any wrestler in the world. Herman cannot understand why Gotch will not accept his $10,000 offer for a match with Zbyzsko. He says that if he does not make good on his offer, Gotch can take the money that is now up as a forfeit and give it to any charitable institution that he may name.

Herman expects to force Gotch to meet Zbyzsko before the big Polish wrestler leaves the country again. He states that he will leave no stone unturned to get a match with Gotch some time during the winter months, and he intends to force the champion to a meeting if there is a possible chance of doing so.

The friends and admirers of Karl Lehto in Marquette county will be delighted with the opportunity of seeing him in action against Zbyzsko.

WHEN MEN RUN.

Henry Sydnor Harrison maintains that there are men in this world who will run miles in any weather to avoid talking to a woman who knows more than they do, and knows it, and shows that she knows that she knows it.

ISHPEMING MAN
HOME FROM TEXAS

Went Down to Inspect Farming Lands Near Fowler for Club Members.

Frank Snow, a well-known Ishpeming man, residing on Ridge street, has just returned from Fowler, Texas, where he inspected farming lands for himself and six others, who recently formed a club for the purchase of farms in the 100,000-acre tract recently platted by Fowler Bros.

The tract he inspected is the same one looked over a few weeks ago by Andrew Peterson, who represented the first club organized here. Mr. Snow confirms the favorable reports made by Mr. Peterson. He purchased a tract for himself and secured options for several relatives and friends.

There were forty persons, from all parts of the country, in the party Mr. Snow traveled with. The men represented by Mr. Snow are Arthur Bergquist, who conducts a confectionery business on First street and who has purchased a twenty-acre tract; Napoleon Mayrand, of West Superior street and his son, Eddie Mayrand; Henry Nelson, aderman from the Eight ward; August Vorkey of the Junction location, and Edward Meunhennit, who conducts the shooting gallery in the Voecker property, on Main street.

Ray and Clarence Greenman and Joshua Sweitzer, residents of the lower peninsula, represent the Fogler Bros. land company here. They are now organizing several other clubs, and they expect to sell land to between 200 and 300 Ishpeming men. Each club of from seven to ten members is allowed to select a representative to inspect the lands, whose transportation and other expenses are paid by the company.

The land is being sold at $38 per acre, $15 paid down and the remainder in installments of $10 per month, without interest and without taxes until all of the land is paid for. Those paying cash are given a discount of 10 per cent, and all purchasers of ten acres or more are given a further discount of 10 per cent.

At Fowler many buildings are being erected. The hotel has been finished and a number of business blocks are well along. The railroad has been completed from Gardendale a distance of twenty-eight miles to Fowler. The latter is seventy miles from San Antonio, which has a population of 96,000.

The lands in the Fowler Bros' tract are irrigated by artesian wells which have been successfully operated for the past twenty years. The sinking of wells increases the cost of the land about $15 per acre, as they must be put down to a depth of from 150 to 200 feet, and to obtain a flowing well a depth of from 500 to 700 feet must be reached. The water from the shallow wells is raised by gasoline pumps.

The Fowler Reporter, the first issue of which was published on the first Friday in this month, announced the arrival of Fowler of Charles Borgeson, of Ishpeming, who has purchased a ten-acre tract, and is to locate there permanently. Mr. Borgeson is in the employ of O. Laitreine.

IS A LAUGH PRODUCER.

"The Private Secretary" Is Commended by Montreal Publication. The Daily Star of Montreal, Can., in its issue of Oct. 3, said of "The Private Secretary," which will be the offering at the Ishpeming theatre Wednesday evening:

"With its delightful English humor and laughable English eccentricities, 'The Private Secretary' has returned to Montreal, at His Majesty's, as an old favorite, with Mr. C. James Bancroft, in the character of the timid curate, made famous in America by Mr. William Gillette's production of the play.

"Mr. C. James Bancroft, in title role is himself responsible for a laugh almost every time he opens his mouth. There is little similarity between his portrayal of Rev. Robert Spaulding, the eccentric curate and hesitating private secretary of the play, and that presented by Mr. William Gillette, but there is no doubt that Mr. Bancroft is eminently fitted to carry out the humor of the role to the hearty entertainment of the audience.

"Second only to the character of the curate in the piece is that of Mr. Catremole, the cranky, overbearing uncle who reduces everybody to submission. In this role, Mr. Joseph Clancy's presentation is sometimes even more humorous than that of the curate, probably because his role appeals a little more directly to the heart, because his dominating manner, which arouses so much mirth, never disguises his real admiration for many youths, who can be a little bit sporty at times.

"The characters themselves are the whole play, the vestige of a plot being built around the old uncle's mistaken impression that the bashful curate is his nephew, and hence arise all the humorous tangles of the play.

"Two other characters well represented in the play are those of Mr. Sydney Gibson, the bond street tailor, represented by Mr. Shirley Braithwaite, and Miss Ashford, the spiritualist, played by Miss Nell Cave. The other roles are less humorous, but are as well played as their importance demands."

DEATH OF AGNES MALLONEY.

Miss Agnes Malloney, only daughter of Dennis Malloney of this city, died Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Death did not come unexpectedly, as the deceased had been in poor health five or six months and her condition had been critical for a few days past. Miss Malloney was twenty-five years of age and was born and reared in Ishpeming. Besides the parents, the family consists of six brothers, five of whom are living at home. The oldest brother—John Malloney—has been on the Mesaba range for some years past. The time of the funeral, which will be held from St. John's church, has not yet been fixed, pending the receipt of advices from relatives.

The employees of the Oliver Iron Mining company in this city will be paid today for last month's work.

A regular meeting of the Ishpeming council, Knights of Columbus, will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Anderson Hall.

Daniel O'Connell, who has been located on the Mesaba range for a number of years past, is in the city visiting relatives.

Fred Needham, manager of Needham Bros' laundry in Houghton, spent Sunday with his brother, Frank P. Needham, in this city.

Mrs. Poore, wife of H. P. Poore, manager of the Lyric theatre, will spend the next week or ten days with friends in Chicago.

Mrs. W. H. Johnston will leave today for Chicago and Evanston, Ill., to visit her daughter, Mrs. Seldou White, at the latter place.

The plate glass windows are being put in position in the Knights of Kaleva block, formerly the Danahoe brownstone building, corner Division and Pine streets.

Thomas Clancy spent the past few days at Ann Arbor. He saw the Michigan-Pennsylvania football game Saturday. During his last year at the university Tom was student manager of the Michigan team.

A railroad shanty in the Junction location was destroyed by fire last night shortly before 10 o'clock. The department was summoned to the scene, but its efforts were futile, no water being available.

Clarence Jadedeck, who is in the employ of the New York State Steel company, on the Menominee range, was here to spend Sunday with his mother, Mrs. H. Jadedeck, and brothers, George and Gordon Jadedeck.

The Royal theatre, in the Voecker block, reopened Saturday evening, under Co. D. Skiff's management. The attendance was large, in spite of the unfavorable weather. The interior of the house presents a much more attractive appearance than formerly, a number of alterations having been made during the ten days the theatre was closed.

The first of the series of monthly "pops," held Friday evening at the Young Men's Christian association's building, was well attended. The program was very much enjoyed. The first part of the entertainment consisted of musical numbers, and the second half of games and exercises in the gymnasium.

The members of the Ladies Aid society of the First Methodist Episcopal church will conduct a sale of useful and fancy articles suitable for Christmas gifts tomorrow afternoon and evening in the church parlors. They will also serve supper. The sale will begin at 2:30

Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dewittville, N. Y. — "Before I started to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered nearly all the time with headache, backaches, and bearing down pains, and had a continuous pain in my left side. It made me sick and weak that I was obliged to wear corsets all the time. But now I do not have any of these troubles. I have a fine strong baby daughter now, which I did not have before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. A. A. GILES, Route 44, Dewittville, N. Y.

Mining News

LIVE OAK DEVELOPMENT.

New Arizona Property Bids Fair to Become an Important Producer.

The advance in the stock of the Live Oak Development company is a reflection of Globe (Ariz.) reports that the company has developed 19,000,000 tons of ore, having an average copper content of 2.11 per cent, of which 15,000,000 to 16,000,000 shares, the property is given a selling value much below the parity of its nearby neighbors. The company in August last anticipated its final property payment, the option on which ran to December, 1912, and on Sept. 1 still had $200,000 to its credit. The capital is 100,000 shares, of which $1,800,000 are outstanding. Of the balance 11,869 shares are under option until Dec. 1, 1911, at $20 per share net to the company and 6,250 shares are reserved for the future use of the corporation. The property has been known as a Bonland and Smith enterprise. Henry B. Hovland is being the president. The board of directors, as now constituted, is made up as follows: Charles Hayden, Joseph B. Hardon, J. Dudley Clark, S.R. Kaufman, Oliver R. Nelson, Henry B. Hovland, Elmer W. Nutting, David L. Fairchild and George F. Piper. Apparently the 19,000,000 tons by no means represents the limits of the company's ore reserves. The property is in its infancy. Just now a station is being cut at a depth of 800 feet in shaft No. 2, which was recently sunk to a depth of 625 feet for the purpose of developing the western end of the ore body. The shaft, which was sunk on a claim-drill hole, penetrated the ore body at a depth of 705 feet and showed it to be 210 feet thick at this point. The first 100 feet assayed over 3 per cent copper and the average for the entire thickness of 210 feet is about 2 1/2 per cent, which is considerably higher than the average for the ore body given in the report of July 1—2.25 per cent for 12,000,000 tons.

SHANNON.

The report of the Shannon Copper company for the year ended August 31, 1911, shows net profits of $118,854, compared with $109,656 in the previous year and $84,237 in the year ended August 31, 1909. The cost of production was 11.57 cents per pound. The report says: We produced 15,168,108 pounds of copper at a cost of 9.983 cents per pound at Cliff, or a total cost, including all Eastern expenses, of 11.57 cents per pound. We received 12,352 cents, against 12,830 cents per pound. We have paid during the year all of the outstanding 7 per cent bonds and have added over $200,000 to our quick assets. The operations may be considered satisfactory during the year. Although the market for copper is less, we have shown a saving of five cents per ton in that department. Cost of power has also shown a decrease. The physical condition of the property is very satisfactory. We are not in a position to figure ore reserves in the Shannon mines with accuracy, owing to the very heavy nature of the ground, making it expensive to open the mine in such a way that our reserves could even be approximately estimated. The present history of the mine taken in continuation of the Shannon mine, the realized ground still untouched, is the best criterion that large ore reserves still remain. We have at the Shannon a large tonnage of low grade ore, averaging between 2 per cent and 2 1/2 per cent copper—probably 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 tons. There has been no known method of treating this ore, but experiments are at present under way on a large scale, and if successful, it will, of course, be of considerable importance to the company.

NOTES OF MINING NEWS.

The work of equipping the High Ore mine with electric and air power has been practically completed. The rubber mill will start operations in the latter part of this month. The Leonard mine will be the next to shut down for air equipment.

Adventure is making excellent progress in the 1900-foot level crosscut, which has for its object the intersection of Adventure lodes Nos. 2 and 3. The lateral has attained a length of 220 feet and is expected to reach No. 2 lode within another 250 feet, or about the end of January.

Further reductions have been made in the surface force at Tamaraek, principally in the shops, in continuance of the policy of retrenchment inaugurated several months ago. Tamaraek's repair work, excepting minor jobs, will be done in Calumet & Hecla shops, where it can be done more economically.

BUNCOED THE CANNIBALS.

Emile Van Baelen, a Belgian rubber merchant and lord absolute over Congo plantations in the Congo, natives of whom he arrived at New York recently on the Red Star liner Vanderland, said that two years ago he fell into the hands of cannibals in an unexplored part of the African interior.

"Here, said I to myself, the white man's brains must conquer," Mr. Van Baelen went on. "Boldly facing them, I told them I was god and would inflict instant death upon them unless they recognized my divinity. They fell to the ground and worshipped me.

"During the three days I spent with them I demonstrated my power by such simple tricks as lighting a match, or lifting rocks by means of a lever. They were astounded, for they had never seen such things."

He eventually escaped with his servants.

A LIBERAL OFFER

We Guarantee to Relieve Dyspepsia. If We Fail the Medicine Costs Nothing.

To unquestionably prove to the people that indigestion and dyspepsia can be permanently relieved and that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will bring about the result, we will furnish the medicine absolutely free if it fails to give satisfaction to any one using it.

The remarkable success of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is due to the high degree of scientific skill used in devising their formula, as well as to the care exercised in their manufacture, whereby the well-known properties of Bismuth-Subnitrate and Pepsin have been combined with Carminatives and other agents.

Bismuth-Subnitrate and Pepsin are constantly employed and recognized by the entire medical profession as invaluable in the treatment of indigestion and dyspepsia.

The Pepsin used in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is carefully prepared so as to develop its greatest efficiency. Pepsin supplies to the digestive apparatus one of the most important elements in the digestive fluid. Without it the digestion and assimilation of food are impossible.

The Carminatives possess properties which aid in relieving the disturbances and pain caused by undigested food. This combination of these ingredients makes a remedy invaluable for the complete relief of indigestion and dyspepsia.

We are so certain of this that we urge you to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets on your own personal guarantee. Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Standard Drug Co.

THE HAZARD OF CONSTANT PAIN

Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dewittville, N. Y. — "Before I started to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered nearly all the time with headache, backaches, and bearing down pains, and had a continuous pain in my left side. It made me sick and weak that I was obliged to wear corsets all the time. But now I do not have any of these troubles. I have a fine strong baby daughter now, which I did not have before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. A. A. GILES, Route 44, Dewittville, N. Y.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

Development work on some of the outside properties has been very encouraging and a substantial tonnage of ore has been blocked out. This development will be continued as the properties give promise of eventually becoming important producers. The Shannon-Arizona railway has continued operations throughout the year and net earnings were $9,856, after charging $30,000 bond interest.

NORTH BUTTE.

North Butte has probably furnished more sensations on the Boston Stock exchange than any other single stock during the comparatively short time it has been listed. It was organized in 1905 when 400,000 shares of stock were issued at $15 per share, of which $1,000,000 cash went to the company's treasury. It has since paid nearly $10,000,000 in dividends, bringing the price of the stock to $12.50 early in 1907, when the dividend rate was 82 per cent quarterly with talk of even larger disbursements. At the high price of 120 North Butte was a hot market, that market value of $48,000,000—about that time, fine copper was brought to 200 cents per pound and North Butte was the marvel of the Butte camp, with its sensational ore bodies on the 1,600 and 1,800 levels of the Edith May and Jessie veins. At present selling prices, with 410,000 shares issued, the property is selling for $9,000,000. North Butte is making excellent progress in the 1900-foot level crosscut, which has for its object the intersection of Adventure lodes Nos. 2 and 3. The lateral has attained a length of 220 feet and is expected to reach No. 2 lode within another 250 feet, or about the end of January.

Markets

WALL STREET STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co. Saturday wired from New York as follows: The accounts during the past week up to today were, taken as a whole, such as to increase the initiative of the element which has been most conspicuous on the buying side of the stock market. In addition, corporate interest was cheered by the utterances of ex-President Roosevelt on the theory that even radicalism is likely to be tempered with moderation when it comes to a question of formulating the planks in the platforms of the various parties next year. Many seem to be disposed to await further developments in trade circles in order that it may be ascertained whether or not the improvement in that quarter will measure up to the advances in the security markets, especially as it appears more probable that tariff agitation will command more than its usual share of attention as soon as congress convenes, which may exert restraint on the part of merchants and manufacturers and thus retard improved tendencies in trade circles. The decisions in the packers' case today, the effect of which will be that the defendants are likely to be tried at an early date, under the Sherman law and the constitutionality of the latter as a criminal statute thus tested, caused heavy trading during today's session and may for a time hold the stock market in check. The day's closing prices follow:

Table of Wall Street Stock prices including columns for various stocks like Amal, Anaconda, B. & O., etc.

Boston "Coppers."

Of the market at Boston, Paine, Webber & Co. Saturday said: Coppers somewhat active with certain specialties higher. Live Oak sold at 26, Calumet & Arizona at 54 1/2 and Copper Range at 56 1/2. The feeling on coppers is much more bullish and we expect to see a broader and higher market next week. Closing quotations follow:

Table of Boston Copper prices including columns for Live Oak, Calumet & Arizona, Copper Range, etc.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

Paine, Webber & Co.'s Chicago correspondent has the following to say of the wheat market in that city Saturday: The most noticeable feature in the wheat trade for the day was the undoing of some important spreads between December and May. It is claimed that extensive lines were sold for December and bought for May some time ago, and a group of commission houses today and for several days past have been closing up this spread by buying of December and selling May. Local shorts covered their lines yesterday, but the sort of buying referred to seemed to be supporting influences as the spasmodic strength in December contracts seemed to induce a fair volume of buying orders in May in part of the spread. Liverpool cables reported overnight advances from Argentine indicating better weather conditions at the same time, futures in the English market were firm and higher, due to poor quality of Canadian crop, higher spot prices and better demand for cargoes. Montreal Letter said that English bids were coming at a good advance today as if the trade on the other side believed in damage to the Argentine crop. It looks as if our market will hinge on heavy or light Northwestern receipts, and character of Argentine news first of the week. The closing prices were: May wheat, 100 1/2; corn, 64 1/2; oats, 50; pork, 16.77; lard, 9.55; December wheat, 93 1/2; corn, 63 1/2; oats, 47 1/2; January pork, 16.25.

Rue's Market Letter.

George F. Rue, broker of Ishpeming, on Saturday said: "The demand for the copper shares continues to increase. Calumet & Arizona, Live Oak, Copper Range and Green Can, were the active and strongest buyers today as if the trade at the close. Copper Range advanced to 56 1/2, Greene from 7 to 7 1/2 and Live Oak from 25 to 26. Keep your eye on this Live Oak. Southwestern Miami was in good demand under $2.00 on the curb. Boston wired the following on it. The result of the property of Southwestern Miami Development company is still in ore at a depth of 1,100 feet. The drill struck what is believed to be a continuation of the Live Oak ore body at 1,110 feet making 50 feet of ore proved up. This greater part of the ore body averages 2 1/2 per cent copper. With Live Oak under way, Southwestern Miami is sure to receive considerable attention and advance of 100 per cent, would not be out of reason, if favorable developments at the property continue. The news from the metal market continues to show improvement. Advice from Boston today stated that better than 12 1/2 cents was secured for Electro copper today for next year's export, several million pounds being involved in the transactions. I get it from a very reliable source that there are big things under way in the copper market, and copper shares are sure to be benefited."

UNITED STATES DEPOSITARY

DEMOCRACY AND EDUCATION.

Humanity Must Have Leaders, and the Great Problem is How to Make Them Worthy to Guide Masses.

William Allen White, taking "A Democratic View of Education," in the November Nation, speaks of the differences in the requirements for the several "degrees" given in our colleges and universities, the lack of uniformity or any required standard. He says: "Looking over the catalogues of the leading colleges and universities of America, one is surprised to find how far removed are the courses which young men and women may do elect for the degree of Bachelor of Arts. And the thing that gives the fond parent, trained in the straight-jacket of the sixties and seventies, the creeps is the wide variety of things once believed to be essential, that the youth today may ignore and still march forth from the university with the rank and insignia, privileges and emoluments of an educated gentleman. Democracy is saying with all the emphasis possible in all the college catalogues that education is for use, not for adornment; and as a corollary we may infer that man is made for use and not for show. Education seems to be in a state of confusion, possibly preceding some period of coherent organization; but while it is reasonably true that there is no such thing as an education—definitely and certainly prescribed today, yet we may be well assured that when it is declared and set, education will be more of a hand-saw than a plume. It will be cultural only as it is vocational. It will fit men and women to live and aspire as workers—not as drones. The much Thomas Jefferson did when he deposed the classical trivium."

"It may be well," continues Mr. White, "to pause for a moment and to inquire with an humble and a contrite heart—what is the proper education for a democracy? We must not hope to define it. But we may hope to consider education in its relation to a democracy, and we may then reach down with the concentrated ballots and help such poor devils as are delaying progress by lagging behind."

"We must not expect the coming of democracy to change human nature; though it may change the exterior forces that play upon human nature. But men always must have leaders. The qualities of men differ so widely that there can be no equality save that of social inheritance—that is, equality of youthful opportunity. But the leaders of their fellows—men who those widened perceptive faculties that make for high quality, must be leaders in a democracy, by reason of their quality, not leaders by mere chance of birth or fortune. The schools of democracy must solve this problem. They must develop the latent qualities of leadership in men, and at the same time breed into the masses—the talent for recognition of wise leaders. To establish a system of education that will make men useful, and at the same time make them wise enough to choose leaders who will shepherd them through the problem of democracy. Will not plan help that will insure an approximate of justice in the schoolroom by promoting industry and sincerity in youth? Vocational work, honestly graded and arranged so that promotion may go as a reward of exceptional industry and sincerity, must be given to those who by their limited qualities always must be followers. It is also necessary to develop leaders; but will not the same plan that rewards inferior humanity according to its merits, the plan that promotes for qualities of industry and sincerity, also stimulate high qualities? It is a difficult problem. But if democracy is to prevail this problem must be solved. Let us state it: We must promote social justice; to do that requires men and women who know what social justice is and who can tell it to the people in any crisis; and second we must develop in the masses an enthusiasm for social justice so sufficiently unselfish that they will recognize it in spite of their self-interest, and follow wise leaders at whatever temporary sacrifice, when the general welfare demands it. We must put into each that spirit of abnegation that controls men in war. We must educate men worthy of a great people and a people worthy of a great man. That is humanity's puzzle; no one knows the answer now. But there is an answer. Democracy is one side of the equation. The answer is the other side. And to quote Captain Cuttle: "When found, make a note of it."

TRICKS OF FAMILY BANSHIES.

Famous Olden Houses Which Seemed to Be the Favored Stamping Ground for Ghosts Successful and Otherwise.

There was a certain Psaender whose name has been preserved in one of the proverbial sayings of the Greeks, because he lived in continual fear of seeing his own ghost. Just that thing happened to the German poet Goethe. One day when he was out riding in a spot somewhat removed from the usual haunts of men he saw a horseman approaching him, and as it drew near he saw that the rider was no less a person than himself—his other self—though dressed differently. Twenty years after he found himself quite without forethought of the matter, in the same place on horseback and dressed just as was the apparition of himself which he had met there two decades before.

Newstead Abbey, the home of Lord Byron, has the reputation of being haunted by more than one specter, and many curious noises and strange sights have been heard and seen by residents and visitors there. But the best known and most noted specter connected with the place, and immortalized in Byron's verse, is the "Goblin Friar."

This apparition is the evil genius of the Byrons, and its appearance portends misfortune of some kind to the member of the family to whom it appears. Lord Byron fully believed that he beheld this apparition a short time before the greatest misfortune of his life, his ill-starred union with Miss Millbank. Alluding to his belief in these things, he said: "I merely mean to say, what Johnson said, 'That in the course of some six thousand years, all nations have believed that from the dead a visitant at intervals appears; and what is stranger upon this strange belief.'"

Is that whatever bars the reason rears against such beliefs, there's something stronger still.

In its behalf, let those deny who will. Epworth Passage, the home of the Rev. Samuel Wesley, father of John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, was "haunted" by a spook which they called "Old Jeffrey." John Wesley himself gives a long and circumstantial account of the penible disturbances at Epworth, which continued for a series of years. This spook never appeared in visible form and never answered back when spoken to, except by "rappings." One night when the children were frightened by the disturbances, the elder Wesley said to them: "Thou deaf and dumb devil, why dost thou frighten these children, who cannot answer for themselves. Come to me in my study, that am a man." Instantly it knocked as if it would shiver the board to pieces, and nothing more was heard that night. But the next evening, when Samuel Wesley attempted to enter his study, the door was thrust back with such violence as to almost throw him down. However, he thrust the door open and went in. Presently there was knocking, first on one side and then on the other, and after a time in the next room.

These are instances of what may be termed successful ghosts. The ghosts that have failed, remarks the Kansas City Star, are perhaps entitled to a brief notice. A "ghost" once undertook to frighten the great naturalist, Cuvier. This ghost appeared with an ox head, nothing more was heard that night. Cuvier awoke and found the fearful thing glaring and grinning at his bedside. "What do you want?" "To devour you," growled the ghost. "Devour me," quoth the great Frenchman—"hoops, horns, granivorous? You can't do it. Clear out!" And clear out the discomfited ghost did.

DIPLOMACY AND DUELLING.

Our Representatives Abroad Must Conform to the Usages of the Countries to Which They Are Sent.

Americans who live abroad must conform to the usages of the people among whom they dwell, and in the event of their violating not merely the national ethics, but even the social laws of the country in which they are residing, they cannot complain if a continuance of their stay is rendered impracticable by more or less pronounced ostracism. I am led to make this remark, says a writer in the Metropolitan, by the announcement that George C. Kendall of the New York Raceport and Tennis club and his wife have been made so uncomfortable at Dinard, since his refusal to fight a duel with Algernon Boyesen, after exchanging blows with him in public at the Dinard casino, that he is giving up the lease of his villa and is leaving his French seaside resort, so popular among Americans and English.

The excuse given by George Kendall for refusing to fight was that duelling is forbidden by American law, and has ceased to form part and parcel of the usages of American life. But George Kendall at the time of his fracas with Algernon Boyesen, was living not in the United States, but in France, where, as elsewhere on the continent of Europe, duelling, though prohibited by law, is nevertheless exacted by the social code, as the only honorable means of obtaining satisfaction for an insult. In England, and in the United States, yet if an English diplomat has the misfortune to become involved while abroad, in a quarrel, either hand he fights, his government closes its eyes to the matter and only disciplines him in deference to English middle-class sentiment in the event of the affair becoming a matter of public knowledge. I understand that the status of the diplomat at Washington proceeds on very much the same lines in this respect, as the English foreign office. For it could not afford to retain in diplomatic office abroad, a man who by refusing to fight, had caused the downfall of every club and of every saloon on the continent, to be closed against him.

NO MORE VAUDEVILLE.

There will be no more vaudeville at the Star theatre. The management has found that it does not pay, and Saturday night's performance was the last. Since the closing of the Bijou theatre Friday night, Manager Allen of the Star has made arrangements for the licensed film service that formerly went to the Bijou. From now on, only licensed films will be shown.

THE OWLS DAN E.

The Negaunee nest of the Order of Owls will give their first annual ball to-night. McDonald's Hall has been elaborately decorated for the occasion, and will be the scene of a grand affair, and twigs of a tree making a big noise in chirpings, incessant and shrill. As one moves toward the noisy little creature it makes a slow flight to a nearby tree and continues its chirping; follow it again and the same performance is gone through.

COAL THIEVES AT WORK.

Since a cargo of coal was dumped under the city's new coal trestle at Teal lake, thieves have been at work almost nightly carrying off sacks of it. The coal that can be carried away at one time by the thieves amounts to little, but the amount taken from the trestle amounts to tons. Marshal Jackson has a fairly definite idea of who the thieves are, and plans to "get" them if the practice is continued. At first it was thought that the thieves were committed by youngsters, but judging by the amount that has been carried away it is evidently the work of men.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

St. Paul's church, No. 312, Catholic Order of Foresters, will hold memorial services in St. Paul's church on Wednesday morning. On Thursday morning, the ladies' auxiliary to the Catholic Foresters will hold memorial services. The services will start at 8:30.

AMERICANO-SYRIAN TRADERS.

Syrian traders will seldom buy goods without having opportunity to examine samples. European dealers and manufacturers realize this fact, and send over salesmen with samples, who cover the entire Levantine territory. These agents are usually of the same nationality as their principals, and in Turkey are under the jurisdiction of their respective consulates. Americans have failed to obtain trade by sending goods on consignment, and to meet this difficulty an American-Syrian chamber of commerce has been established at Beirut, the membership to include merchants from all over Syria and the United States. The object is to disseminate information, to establish communication between merchants and manufacturers and to take and transmit orders for goods.

STORM INTERFERED WITH TRAFFIC

Trains Were All Belated Friday and Saturday, But None Were Tied Up.

Passenger and freight trains on all lines into Negaunee were belated Saturday because of the snow storm which swept entire upper Michigan and Wisconsin. The passenger service was badly impaired, the handling of freight was much delayed. The ore movement was accomplished with difficulty, but this traffic suffered least. The railroad snow-plows were kept busy all day about the yards and spurs of the L. S. & L. and the South Shore, and the tracks to all the properties were kept open, even though considerably over a foot of snow fell Friday night and Saturday.

The North-Western railroad, whose upper peninsula branch is not well equipped to fight the snow storms, suffered the worst. The Chicago train, southbound, leaving here at 6:30 p. m. had to be pulled by "double-headed" as far as Green Bay on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, which means a great added expense to the company. The locomotives used in this branch are high wheel, double drivers, built for speed. They have tremendous pulling power, but have had going on the grades. In the winter time they find the deeply drifted and heavy snow hard to negotiate.

The South Shore used snow plows Friday and Saturday, but nevertheless trains Nos. 1 and 2 have been late nearly every day for the past four days. At the Mackinac end of the line the storm made the straits too rough on Friday to attempt carrying the cars of train No. 1 across from Mackinac City. A special train was made up at St. Ignace for the Calumet run, making No. 1 two hours late into Negaunee.

The Marquette County Gas and Electric company had their troubles both Friday and Saturday. Although cars were run throughout the day Saturday, they went off schedule early in the morning and no attempt was made to make the streets of Negaunee. Since then the saloon has been run by a former partner, to whom license was lately granted.

The storm swept over a territory of considerable extent, covering all of upper Michigan, and extending well into central and southern Minnesota. The northern counties of Wisconsin suffered from the effects of the snow, but the cold was not so intense in that portion of the storm area. In his district and as far east as Marquette, the snow fall was particularly heavy. In Negaunee no snow was kept busy both Friday and Saturday.

LOCAL LACONICS.

Miss Priscilla Price is spending a few days visiting friends in Escanaba. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bartle, of Superior, Wis., who have been visiting Mr. Bartle's sister, Mrs. H. J. Peterson, for the past three days, left for their home yesterday.

Al. Williams, Jacob Salo, Louis Boncher, Louis Villeneuve, Ollie Simmons, Doc Stewart and T. A. Thoren, left Saturday morning on a hunting trip in the vicinity of King's lake.

DR. HAIDLE, WHO HAS BEEN ABSENT FROM THE CITY FOR THE PAST TEN DAYS, ATTENDING A MEETING OF THE STATE BOARD OF DENTAL EXAMINERS AT LANSING, IS EXPECTED HOME THIS MORNING.

Miss Amanda Suss, of Milwaukee, has been in the city for the past two months, visiting her sister, Mrs. George Maas, left for her home in Milwaukee Friday evening.

A large number of Negaunee people will see "The Traveling Salesman" at the Ishpeming theatre tonight. There will be special street car service, leaving Negaunee at 7:30 p. m.

Marshal R. W. Jackson will go to Newberry this afternoon with Mrs. Nicholas Reichel, who became insane Friday morning. Mrs. Reichel has had frequent spells of insanity for a number of months back and was only recently discharged from the hospital at Newberry.

Announcement is made of the coming marriage of Edward Lique to Miss Doris Mallett, a well known couple of the city. The wedding will take place Tuesday morning at St. Paul's church, and the Rev. Father Langner will officiate.

FRENCH POSTMAN CANNOT READ.

Mail Carrier in Normandy Town Unable to Decipher Addresses.

Just as no well-conducted municipality would engage a blind man as a road surveyor, it is difficult to imagine any government employing as postman one who cannot read, writes a correspondent of the London Globe. Yet the case is not unknown in France. One of Le Figaro subscribers wrote to that paper the other day from a little seaside town on the Normandy coast: "The postal service is not well done here, and we get our letters very irregularly. In winter the little town has only 300 inhabitants, so it has only the right to one postman, over forty years of age, who gets 800 a year. He must be over forty, so that the state will not be obliged to pay him a pension. For that price, and under these conditions, we have a modest factor who does not know how to read. He explained a few days ago that, knowing the names of the people who live in this quarter, he managed to decipher their names; but for the others it was 'plus difficile.' One of our friends asked him: 'Have you any letters for me?' 'He replied: 'I don't think so, for a little while ago, I called at your brother's, and if I had had any for you I would have given them to him!'"

The story recalls that told by the late Ammanuel Aroue of the Corsican postman who could not read or write. As it was impossible for him to take the letters to those for whom they were intended, he solved the difficulty by meeting his fellow-citizens on the village market place. At the same hour every day he stood there, with his letters spread out, and everyone took the missives addressed to him. There was only one man in the village who received letters every day, mostly from the surrounding communes; that was the local doctor. The first day after his appointment the postman noticed with a suspicious eye that the doctor claimed half of the letters in his box. "What sort of a man can this be?" he asked himself. The next day the same thing happened, and the postman with difficulty refrained from asking for an explanation. On the third day all the letters were for the doctor. Quietly he collected them. "One, two, three, four,"

SUCCUMBED TO INJURIES.

Charles Johnson, of Ishpeming, Died at Hospital Saturday Afternoon.

Charles Johnson, of Ishpeming, who was struck by train No. 4 on the South Shore at 7:15 Friday evening, died from the shock of his accident at the Negaunee hospital Saturday afternoon at a little after one o'clock. His chances for recovery at first seemed to be good, but the shock to his system proved to be too severe. Following his death the physicians made a postmortem examination of his body to determine whether he was injured more badly than he appeared to be upon their examination on the night of the accident. No trace of blood-poisoning, and no further injuries than the gash in the thigh and the large scalp could be found.

Mr. Johnson leaves a wife and a brother in Ishpeming. The brother, E. A. Johnson, has a general store at the corner of First and Bank streets in Ishpeming.

IN TROUBLE AGAIN.

Andrew Nordlund Arrested for Attempting to Knife a Man.

In a drunken brawl at the Doctor saloon on Iron street last Thursday night Andrew Nordlund drew a knife on William Huttinen, the former proprietor of the place, and slashed at his neck, also badly wounding his arm. Fortunately for Huttinen he wore a heavy minkskin with the collar turned up. Nordlund's knife struck into this, making a long cut in it, but the force of the blow was lessened, and the blade did not reach Huttinen's throat. Had the blow been well directed or the coat collar down, Huttinen would undoubtedly have been mortally wounded. Nordlund was arrested and tried Friday morning. Judge VerRan recalled other misdemeanors by the man who made himself notorious about town and sent him to Marquette for sixty days, almost the limit in "drunk and disorderly" cases.

It will be recalled that Nordlund was the man who accepted a dare in an Iron street saloon last winter, and in consideration of a purse made up for him went across the street and back stark naked.

William Huttinen, formerly proprietor of the Doctor saloon, was put out of business for selling liquor to minors at the last of circuit court. Since then the saloon has been run by a former partner, to whom license was lately granted.

As he was about to take the last one, the postman, losing patience asked him, angrily: "Aren't you going to leave any for the others?" It took some pains to calm him, but after that he decided to learn to read.

A rural postman was once seen "delivering" his letters from a little table in the center of a village in Aix-en-Provence, about three years ago, but it was not because he could not read. The surrounding country had been ravaged by an earthquake, hardly one house had been left standing, and it was useless for the postman to try to find the people whose homes had been destroyed. They were sleeping in carts, by the wayside, and in the fields, and every day between certain hours they used to come into the village, and the postman, sitting under a tree in the market place, surrounded by crumbling walls and heaps of lath and plaster and broken furniture, would select from the package in front of him the letters destined for the people who had no address.

It would be a happy thing if all Americans could see and know all America. It would be a good thing for the travelers as well as for the hotels and the railroads. It is in a way, the way of Americans who can afford it to see their own country.

COMMISSIONER'S PLAN OUTLINED

R. J. Shields Says Tax Board Is Getting Values in Iron Mining Counties so That It Will Be Able to Check Up the Work of Local Assessing Officers.

If Tax Rolls Are Made on Basis of Real Cash Value of General Property There Will Be No Reviews—Corporations of State Are to Be Revalued.

The Mining Journal is in receipt of a letter from R. J. Shields, of Houghton, member of the state tax commission, in which he explains the purpose of the work that the commission has undertaken in Marquette county and will pursue here during the next few months. Mr. Shields' letter makes plain that it is not the present intention of the tax commission to enter Marquette and the other iron mining counties—Gogebic, Iron and Dickinson—to make reviews and new rolls, but that it will do so unless its inquiries satisfy it that the assessing officers have of their own initiative put the general property in their respective districts on the rolls at actual cash value.

Mr. Shields writes as follows: "In regard to the work now being done in Marquette county by our commission, I would say that we are simply trying to get correct information as to how the general property is assessed there. You will remember that there were filed with the tax commission affidavits showing that the general property was assessed at one-third its cash value. We want to see if this is so, and we had to investigate.

Will Assist Assessing Officers. "The work we are doing is further to assist the local assessing officers so that all property may be properly assessed, and thus avoid a general review by the tax commission next year. The mines are at cash value, practically, and it is only fair to them that all other property should be similarly assessed. If the assessing officers do the fair thing there will be no need of the tax commission holding reviews there.

In regard to the review called for the Richmond mine property I would say that an error made in the original report after the hearing at Marquette and as it would result in a very great injustice to the company we decided to correct the assessment. The error was simply clerical.

Mr. Shields' letter makes it clear that there is no reason why the commission appointed by the Marquette council—A. H. Palmer, William O'Meara and John Robertson—should not go right ahead with their work of revaluing Marquette property, in preparation for making a new roll, one in which the same rule of value will be applied to all Marquette property.

It was suggested after the agents of the tax commission made their appearance in Marquette that if it was the purpose of the commission to make a complete roll for Marquette city, there would be no good purpose served in having the plan outlined by the council carried out, for the valuations fixed by the commission would have to stand for three years and the commission's roll would have precedence over the one prepared by the Marquette men.

A Fine Cash Value Roll. "Mr. Shields' letter shows," said a city official to whom it was shown last night, "that if we make a roll that appeals to the commission, on the basis of the knowledge they have obtained of local conditions, as being a fair one it will be accepted by that body without any review. Mr. Shields also makes it clear that the roll will be expected to show true cash values. This is what the council has planned to do. It has realized that there is nothing to be gained by tampering with this situation any longer, and that Marquette might as well prepare a true cash value roll voluntarily as to wait and see the commission come in and do the work. The Marquette committee should be able, because of its thorough knowledge of local conditions, to make even a more equitable roll than the commission could, for the commission bases its work largely on actual transactions of record, and, as is well-known, these are frequently misleading.

The plan statement of position by the commission, and its evident intention to satisfy itself concerning conditions in all parts of Marquette county, will put the local assessing officers in their nettle and it is likely that all of them will prepare true cash value rolls, as they will write a review by the commission.

It is pointed out that once the whole county is on this basis the work of the county board of equalization will no longer afford an opening for serious disputes, for there will be no reason for changing the ratio of apportionment of taxes in any great measure from the figures obtained by totaling the tax rolls.

Will Value Corporations.

The plans of the tax commission now contemplate a new valuation of all corporate property in the state. Concerning this project Chairman Thompson is quoted as saying: "Corporations will be assessed at their cash value, which means taking into account every factor that determines what this actual cash value is. We shall place an experienced manufacturer at the head of the division to make the necessary investigation and give him a force of practical factorymen to assist in the work. The value of the reality of a manufacturing corporation, its earning ability, the market value of its stocks and all other factors which should be considered in determining its cash value, will be taken into account. The commission has authority to examine books and require reports for its purposes and all necessary information will be required.

"And you this will not interfere with the other work of the commission," said the chairman. "We have held men out examining general property now and they will continue that work. This is simply a new feature, and it is not new in any sense because we have been considering the matter for a year past. The trouble with the whole proposition has been the lack of public sentiment favoring the valuation of state property at its true cash value. Gradually sentiment has been veering that way, but if the commission had attempted to force values up faster than public sentiment favored, nothing would have been gained except the destruction of the entire system. Now I believe the state expects and desires that all property be brought to this basis.

It is pointed out that this plan of the tax commission is likely to postpone the final consideration of the report of the commission on tax inquiry until such a time as the results of the tax commission's work have had an opportunity to appear, and it is said that this latest announcement of the tax commission lessens the likelihood that a special session of the legislature will be called.

ANNUAL FIREMEN'S BALL

Gay and Festive Time Promised at Fraternity Hall Thanksgiving Eve.

Announcement is made of the annual firemen's ball, which will be held at Fraternity Hall Thanksgiving eve, Nov. 29. The various committees who will have the function in charge have been appointed and already are at work formulating plans which insure the success of the party. The hall will be tastefully decorated and luncheon will be served at the Hotel Clifton. Trombley's orchestra will furnish the music. The members of the committee have begun selling tickets and are meeting with good success. Following are the committees:

Arrangements—T. J. Downs, John Siegel, T. J. Maney, Martin Delaney and James J. Donovan.
Reception—M. V. Mullaly, Frank La Bonte, Phil Honkine, P. F. Mullaly, R. J. Kelly, John Kind, Wm. J. Johnston and C. A. Siegel.
Floor—P. J. Donovan, F. V. McGuire, C. LaFave, Fred Price, D. La Bonte and E. J. Bernard.

SURPRISES THE RULE IN SATURDAY GAMES

Princeton Football Champions of the East—Western Title Is Badly Muddled.

Saturday's football games resulted in the definite settlement of the eastern championship. Princeton has won that title, and the Yale-Harvard game this year, which usually decides the football leadership of the east, will, for once, be in the nature of an anti-climax, as the real championship game, for the Tigers have won clean victories over both their historic rivals.

The championship situation in the west is left decidedly muddled by Saturday's results. Minnesota ruled a favorite over Wisconsin, and was generally expected by the dopesters to win a decisive victory, but the Badgers proved that they have the greatest team turned out at Madison in a decade. Their tie game with Minnesota makes their claim to the title as good as that of the Gophers.

There remains one big game in the west. Wisconsin meets Chicago Saturday. The Chicago team, which was decisively defeated by Minnesota, will prove a worthy opponent for the Badgers, as is proved by its 9 to 7 victory over Cornell Saturday, and the Wisconsin men will hardly feel justified in counting the Chicago game as a victory until the score has been counted up in the right way. If Wisconsin wins Minnesota and the Badgers will have equal good claim to first honors in the west. If Chicago should continue the stride it struck in the game in which it defeated Cornell and humbles the Badgers, it will be impossible for anyone to make any satisfactory rating of the western teams, for Chicago's defeat by Minnesota was one of the most decisive that Stag's proteges have ever suffered.

At present Minnesota and Wisconsin rank together at the head of the western eleven, with Michigan and Chicago in the next class. The inter-sectional games both resulted in the favor of the west, Michigan's defeat of Pennsylvania being particularly praiseworthy because of the fact that Michigan lost one of its stars, "Boots" Thompson, the team's most valuable player, on the eve of the game. One interesting result was the defeat of the Carlisle Indians by Syracuse. Syracuse didn't show much early in the season and was not particularly expected to watch the Quakers play, and the Syracuseans held Michigan to a tie. The Carlisle Indians, who went down before them Saturday, had defeated both Pennsylvania and Harvard in earlier games, so the result makes the Syracuse eleven look distinctly good.

The football season will close next Saturday. The historic rivalry between the institutions makes the Harvard-Yale game one of great interest, although the Tigers have securely stored away the eastern championship. The game between Chicago and Wisconsin cannot do much to untangle the western situation, but it promises to be superbly fought, for the Wisconsin machine has been shown to be a fine one, and Chicago had to play real football to defeat the eastern invaders Saturday.

LEUTY AT LAST PREY TO WAVES

Last Vestige of Wrecked Steamer Swept Off Rocks Saturday—Engine Nearby.

Following a blizzard of unusual severity for November, the sun came out bright and warm yesterday forenoon and it proved to be a delightful mild winter day. Until after dark Saturday evening it had snowed steadily for two days and the ground is covered with a thick coat, which fell in just the right manner to make excellent sleighing. On Saturday the snow storm developed into a real blizzard and the high wind lashed Lake Superior, which had been rough all week, into a fury. So far as learned all the boats had time to get into safety before the crest of the blow arrived, but no calls for aid were received at the life-saving station. The ore carriers have been considerably delayed all month and expected November shipments are considerably behind the schedule.

All day Saturday the high waves swept over the battered hull of the wrecked steamer Leuty, on the rocks off Lighthouse point, and at length they finished the work they apparently had set out to do—the last vestige of the once seaworthy lumber carrier was washed off the rocks into the lake. Even the engine and boiler, which resisted the waves to the last, were finally overturned and toppled into the water, where they now lie submerged, but in shallow water. It is hoped that the engine and boiler can be raised and taken to shore, although whether this is feasible cannot be known definitely until an examination is made.

Passenger trains came into the city Saturday all the way from one to four hours late and normal conditions had not been restored yesterday morning, as both the trains from Chicago were over an hour behind time. It was stated at the South Shore offices last evening that the storm Saturday extended the whole length of the line, and that trains were operated with great difficulty. In this respect, however, the South Shore was in no worse shape than all the other upper peninsula railroads. Practically all of the trains on any of the roads were unable to make their schedules, and ran several hours late. By yesterday noon, the South Shore tracks practically well cleared, and operating conditions were about normal.

The South Shore railway company has had a force of men removing snow from its Marquette yards the past few days. It is shovelled onto flat cars and dumped outside the city. It is said that this is the earliest date in recent years when the South Shore has found it necessary to haul snow out of the yards.

SEAT SALE OPENS TODAY

Rudolph Ganz's Recital Here Takes Place Friday Evening.

Rudolph Ganz, the distinguished pianist whose recital here on Friday evening promises such a treat for all hearers, opened his season with the Boston Symphony orchestra, playing Liszt's E-flat major Concerto for piano and orchestra, at the concert commemorating the Liszt centenary. The occasion is described by the Musical Courier thus: "On a pedestal back of the stage stood a magnificent bust of Liszt, massed with flowers and lit by a soft light from the floor. In his honor, with Rudolph Ganz as soloist to complete the ensemble, nothing more was needed, since Mr. Ganz is a virtuoso of the caliber who can play the Liszt music as it should be played. Again, too, rendering the E-flat concerto as a severe test of pianistic achievement as ever was devised. Bored by all imaginable difficulties the soloist plunges into them at once with scarcely any pause for re-encouragement, as it were—the slow movement being so very short—the terrific pace is still further increased in the finale and this, presto—all is over. But, with Mr. Ganz as interpreter, the hearer neither felt nor saw any difficulties, his inexhaustible fund of reserve force leaving everything untroubled so that the inner beauties of the work could be thoroughly enjoyed. Possessing also a concerto tone, capable of giving the rhythmic phrase to a biting incisiveness good to hear and feel. Mr. Ganz stands before his world-wide public a great and recognized authority in his supreme art. The audiences at both concerts as well as at his appearance with the orchestra Thursday evening in Chicago, where he gave for his recital here begins at 8:30 this morning at Bigelow's news depot.

Mr. Ganz gave the same program announced for Marquette at Orchestra Hall in Chicago yesterday. The seat sale for his recital here begins at 8:30 this morning at Bigelow's news depot.

Stormy Weather of Past Week Means Fast-Work Until Dec. 1.

If the weather is all favorable during the remaining ten days of this month there will be about as great a quantity of the L. S. & L. ore dock as at any time this season. This company hopes to handle from 50,000 to 60,000 tons of ore before Dec. 1, which means that cargoes must be sent down the lakes at the rate of from 5,000 to 6,000 tons a day. In midsummer this would be an easy task, but with the chances favoring much cold and disagreeable weather to move that amount of ore looms up like a prodigious job.

At the South Shore dock there is not such a rush at the tag end of the season and it is possible that the last cargo will be cleared this week. Not counting the boats now in the harbor, there are five vessels yet to load at the South Shore docks this year, all of which are due to come up with coal this week. If the coal can be unloaded the last of the boats will be sent down with ore before next Sunday, but the chances are that some of them will not be ready to load until the first of next week.

One shipping has been greatly hindered by the stormy weather of the past week. Not only has it been too rough on the lakes part of the time for vessels to navigate in safety, but the cold and
