Democrats Wax Enthusiastic as Revision Work Nears the Climax—Discount on Goods Brought by American Ships Is Retained, Despite Republican Opposition.

Washington, May 7.—Amid a clamor that at times drowned the voices of champions and opponents of the Underwood revision bill, the first Democratic tariff measure in twenty years was rushed to final passage in the house today.

Party leaders, primed for the final political thrusts of the tariff debate, hurled their denials across the chamber on belated amendments, with alternating currents of applause reverberating through the chamber and the top galleries frequently joining in the bill on the floor.

THE WORD OF AUTHORITY.

A special committee of the Chicago council, reporting this week on the conclusion of an extended inquiry into the vice problem, follows the lead of the vice commission of 1911, headed by Dean Sumner, and strongly urges the policy of "constant repression with a view to total annihilation," as opposed to the policy of segregation.

Inasmuch as the question is a much mooted one, and the advocates of the "necessary evil" theory are still numerous, if less influential than they once were, brief extracts from the report of the Chicago committee possess interest and value. It asserts, in part:

When, however, remedies were proposed there was a decided and sharp exchange of opinion. The question which arose at the outset was whether these evils could be restrained and the physical diseases incident to them checked by means of regulation within a restricted zone. Some members of the committee were inclined to favor this idea, on the ground that if the trade in vice could be restricted within certain limits it could also be controlled, its criminal aspects checked, and its physical consequences reduced by sanitary measures and medical inspection.

On the other side of the question an overwhelming testimony was presented. The committee found themselves facing a veritable avalanche of witnesses against any form of regulation and of segregation in particular. Eminent clergy (Catholic, Jew, and Protestant), lawyers, physicians, merchants, and citizens generally, including prominent women, spoke eloquently against the toleration and segregation of the vice trade.

"Constant repression of the social evil with a view to its total annihilation and the immediate elimination of all segregated vice resorts. Your committee gives the following reasons for its conclusions regarding segregation. Commercialized vice has no rights that ought to be respected and conserved. A real light or segregated district means a recognition of commercialized vice and implies a permitted or legalized vice traffic. Existence of such a district is a constant market for the white slave traffic. Segregation does not segregate, nor does regulation regulate. Abundant evidence was furnished that all efforts in Chicago or elsewhere to restrict the business within a given zone always have resulted in its spreading to other districts, the recognized district becoming a feeder for other neighborhoods."

The inquiry of the committee was directed to vice in its commercialized form, but incidentally it became apparent that back of this there exists serious and deplorable conditions of domestic infelicities. The essence of home life is virtue and family life. Where these are absent, whether in the midst of poverty or plenty, there is a fertile breeding spot for vice.

There is a very large proportion of homes in which the knowledge of right and wrong is never inculcated in the child of the household without the direction of parental authority or interest. There are many homes where domestic infelicities are not caused by poverty, where there is little or no sense of responsibility of parentage, and where ideal knowledge allied to virtue have no existence.

In addition to its stand against segregation, the committee recommends a war on flats and dwellings outside the vice districts known to be used as assignation houses; steps by the board of education to furnish parents with information concerning instruction of their children in the elemental facts of sex hygiene; a housing commission that shall study the problems of the congested quarters and decide how they may best be met; a law requiring public notice of several days prior to the issuance of a marriage certificate; a commission to study the wage question; steps by employers to protect their employes, particularly young girls, and, finally, the fullest co-operation of the people of the city with the police in order to cope with the problem of driving out the assignation houses maintained in decent neighborhoods.

The report, in toto, is one that does great credit to the committee that made it, and one that, if followed out, will result in inestimable benefit for the city. As a rule, the problems the committee deals with are problems common to all larger cities. In a measure they are also the problems of most smaller cities, some of them located in the upper peninsula. For the smaller cities the thing of most moment in the report is its definite finding—backing up the finding of the vice commission of 1911—against segregation, and its recommendation that a policy of repression and annihilation shall be adopted. This is the recommendation that the small city should take to heart. Commercialized vice should be scotched. Not all the upper peninsula cities have, as Marquette has done, anticipated by some years this admirable report. Let those that have not yet done so profit by it to the full.

HEWING TO THE LINE.

Auditor General Fuller is again starting in the role of watchdog of the treasury. He has refused to issue warrants for several claims allowed by the legislature for which, however, the law makes no provision. Furthermore he is standing between several state officials and increases in salaries kindly voted by the legislators. He says, and he says it very plainly, that as far as he is concerned the officials in question will have to wait for their increases until they are reapportioned, as he intends to respect the requirement of the constitution that the salary of no official can be increased during his term of office. It has been suggested that this objection might be met by having the officers affected resign one day and be reapportioned the next, but Mr. Fuller says that he will not stand for any subterfuge.

Mr. Fuller appears to have the rights of the matter. And he is discreet, for he would be, in a measure, responsible for any expenditures in violation of the law. The auditor general is particularly charged with seeing that the public money is disbursed only as authorized. In the attitudes he has taken Mr. Fuller is not erudite but unreasonably. He is merely doing his plain duty. His course will have general approval.

AGGRESSIVE MR. GROESBECK.

It is with considerable interest, not to say amusement, that one watches the career of Alex. Groesbeck, chairman of the Republican state central committee and an aspirant for a political job, remarks the Lansing State Journal.

Mr. Groesbeck was a regular of the line last fall. He was a standpatter of the first water, or carat or degree, or whatever it is, and counted that day lost when the descending sun did not find him at the telegraph office writing statements to newspapers that Taft would carry Michigan.

Along the latter part of the winter Mr. Groesbeck began to show signs of weakening. Before the spring convention was over he was being quoted in state papers as declaring himself a progressive Republican who had always been in favor of progressive men and measures.

After being made acquainted with the result of an eleven-hour switch by the fate which overtook Amos Musselman last fall, when he urged dissatisfied Republicans to support Roosevelt and was promptly deserted by his party members as a result, on would have expected Mr. Groesbeck to show more composure than he exhibited in the turbulent times of the spring convention.

As matters stand today the progressive Republicans ask leave to laugh at Mr. Groesbeck and at least a share of the real dyed-in-the-wool standpatters are sharpening a knife which they hint darkly is intended for their former co-worker.

This may be the reason that Mr. Groesbeck has heard no loud and insistent demand for him as a candidate for governor and has, therefore, decided that the lieutenant governor's chair is about his size. If his suggestion meets with no more favor than the first we do not know what Mr. Groesbeck will do. But if he insists on holding a political position he might try for the nomination to the legislature from Wayne county with some chance of success—almost anything being possible in Wayne.

Bosser Murphy and Barnes are running the New York legislature all right, all right, but in the light of the attitude of Governor Sulzer and numerous other distinguished protestants it would be too much to say that they are laying an easy time doing it. The situation serves to remind that the Progressives are more responsible for the nomination of Sulzer than any other one force. They made an admirable selection when they named Oscar Straus as their candidate, and forced Tammany's hand. In fear of the possible result if Straus was permitted to solidify the racial vote he might naturally be expected to attract the machine had to consent to the selection of Sulzer, who was particularly strong on the East Side. Sulzer was, however, a much better man than Tammany would have liked to have nominated. It was suspicious of him, and the issue has fortunately proved that its suspicions were well founded. Thus the country now has the illuminating experience of his bristling interviews fully and forcibly defining the extent, and vicious nature, of the bi-partisan combine in full control at Albany.

P. H. Kelley, congressman at large, is the author of a conservative statement dealing with his political plans. It is conservative because Mr. Kelley keeps the future clear so that he may do either one of two things—run for governor or run for congress in the Sixth district, to succeed Sam Smith. However, he indicates that he is strongly inclined to eschew the gubernatorial race and go after the seat in congress, and he asserts a belief that the Republicans should get solidly behind one candidate for governor next year. On the latter score Mr. Kelley speaks wisely, no doubt, but he can hardly expect that the condition he refers to will come to pass. Mr. Martindale has declared himself a candidate, but it is unlikely that he will be permitted to hold the field alone, unless for the reason that other possible aspirants believe there is no use running against Governor Ferris, anyway. If they think there is a chance to win, the progressive Republicans, whose progressivism dates back further than the last session of the legislature and to the Roosevelt campaign of 1912, are not likely to be content to allow Mr. Martindale to gain the prize without a contest. If L. L. Wright and Senator James are at all interested in gubernatorial politics, they may well note the present attitude of Mr. Kelley. His not being a candidate is one of the conditions necessary to make it likely that either one of them could go in and race off with the nomination.

EDITORIAL OPINION

Income Tax the True Solution.

According to one of the Chicago papers Julius Rosewald, president of the Sears-Roebuck company, which conducted a big mail order business is credited with owning 147,701 shares of the capital stock of that corporation, these shares possessing a par value of $14,770,100, but having a market value of approximately $25,000,000. On the Chicago assessment rolls last year, however, Mr. Rosewald was listed for only $100,000 personal property, although his personal property tax would have exceeded this amount on his Sears-Roebuck stock alone, had the latter been assessed at only its par value. And as he doubtless holds other personal property, which in all likelihood would at least represent the amount he was actually assessed, it is clear that he escaped paying any tax whatever on his Sears-Roebuck stock, although the latter, as explained, is worth the market value of $25,000,000 and pays rich dividends to the owner.

Marked advantages to the party in power lies in possession of all branches of the government. EDITORIAL OPINION

Income Tax the True Solution.

According to one of the Chicago papers Julius Rosewald, president of the Sears-Roebuck company, which conducted a big mail order business is credited with owning 147,701 shares of the capital stock of that corporation, these shares possessing a par value of $14,770,100, but having a market value of approximately $25,000,000. On the Chicago assessment rolls last year, however, Mr. Rosewald was listed for only $100,000 personal property, although his personal property tax would have exceeded this amount on his Sears-Roebuck stock alone, had the latter been assessed at only its par value. And as he doubtless holds other personal property, which in all likelihood would at least represent the amount he was actually assessed, it is clear that he escaped paying any tax whatever on his Sears-Roebuck stock, although the latter, as explained, is worth the market value of $25,000,000 and pays rich dividends to the owner.

Marked advantages to the party in power lies in possession of all branches of the government. Thus the Democrats are able to promise that they will investigate any reductions in wages, following the passage of the tariff, which appear to them to have a suspicious look. They aren't going to allow their party to be horseshodged by beneficiaries of the old schedules, if they can help it. Of course the alleged threats of manufacturers may be all a bluff. After the meeting Mr. and Mrs. Pearce expect to take a trip through Texas, stopping at San Antonio, Galveston and Houston. They will return by way of New Orleans and Chattanooga.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Emil Charles Shimonde, of Ishpeming, and Miss Eva live Lauzon, of Ironwood. Up to yesterday 109 licenses had been issued in Marquette county in 1913. This number falls about twenty short of the average number, which represents the issuance of about one license a day. The county clerk, however, expects to make up the shortage next month, as in June there are usually more weddings than during any other equal period of time in the year.

Union Meeting—A union meeting of the young people's societies of the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches will be held Sunday evening at 6:45 o'clock in the Baptist church.

Committee Meet today—The meeting of the committees of the Commercial club and common council appointed to consider ways and means of increasing the playground facilities, which was to have been held yesterday, was postponed until this evening. The members will gather in the city hall at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Williamson Resigns—Miss Clarissa Williamson, since 1905 supervising instructor in art in the Marquette public schools, has tendered her resignation to the board of education and at the close of school next month will leave for Kokomo, Ind., where she has accepted a more remunerative position, similar to that she holds here. Kokomo is thirty-nine miles from Logansport, Ind. Miss Williamson's home.

Chocolay Home Burns—Fire originating on the second floor of the house of Thomas Howard, a farmer on the Fraser's Mill road, at Cherry Creek, Chocolay township, burned the building to the ground at hour after it was discovered yesterday afternoon. Only part of the furniture on the first floor could be saved. Neighboring farmers organized a bucket brigade and made a valiant effort to save the house. Mr. Howard and his son were in Marquette yesterday afternoon at the time the fire broke out.

Tax Sale Ended—The tax sale conducted by Joseph Barabe, the county treasurer, which was started Tuesday morning and which was continued yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in the supervisors' room of the court house, was ended yesterday. All but 330 of the 1906 descriptions advertised for sale for taxes were disposed of. In many cases the owners of the property paid the delinquent taxes. The sale was attended by practically the same dealers in tax titles who have been bidders at every sale for years back.

Good Fishing at Forestville—Some fine trout have been taken at Forestville in the waters below the bridge, at the head of the pond formed by the main dam of the light and power commission above the city lighting station. This week one fisherman landed at this point several fish that ran from over a pound to over three pounds, the having two that weighed more than three pounds. Fishermen who have visited the place express the belief that by using a boat in the dead waters of the pond some excellent catches could be secured.

Cancels 100 Seals—The season for the legal taking of beaver closes May 14. The closed season extends from May 15 to Oct. 31, inclusive. Thirty-six beavers permitting the slaughter of 540 beavers have been issued from the office of the county clerk. On these licenses 100 pelts have been returned for the cancellation of seals. The county clerk believes that many trappers are holding back their catches until the last day or so, in order to bring all their skins to the city at one time. The clerk has received no notification whether the state game department will allow the cancellation of seals purchased this season during the one to open Nov. 1.

Two Witnesses Examined—The special chancery hearing in the suit of Case vs. Longyear is in progress in circuit court. Since Tuesday morning two witnesses have been examined—Mrs. Sophie Case, the plaintiff, and Daniel E. Case, her son, both of Detroit. When court adjourned yesterday afternoon, Mr. Case was being cross-examined. The hearing promises to continue for several days, as there are numerous witnesses to be examined on both sides. S. T. Douglas, a prominent Detroit attorney, is counsel for Mrs. Case. Myron J. Sherwood and Ball & Ball are the attorneys for J. M. Longyear. The case is attracting no little attention among upper peninsula attorneys and it is probably one of the most interesting chancery matters that has come before a judge sitting in Marquette. The litigation involves valuable lands in Gogebic county, covered by seven on deeds executed by J. M. Case before his death in Europe almost thirty years ago.

RADIUM IS FOUND IN AMERICAN ORE

Bureau of Mines Discovers Biggest Part of World's Supply Is from United States.

Washington, May 7.—The United States Bureau of Mines has made the discovery that more than two-thirds of the radium supply of the world is being made in Europe from American ores, shipped abroad through the foresight of foreign scientists. Radium is purchasable at a price equivalent to $2,500,000 an ounce, and although it is known the United States has the greatest known supply of radium-bearing ores in the world, not one gram has been produced here.

"The United States today is in the humiliating position of being forced to purchase at extravagant prices from abroad such radium as its hospitals and physicians can afford for experimental purposes, while we have been supplying the ore from which it is made," said Charles L. Parsons, chief of the division of mineral technology of the bureau. "We have paid Europe's prices for what we could get in order to investigate the wonderful properties of radium and their possible application to the eradication of disease, and have been greatly hampered in our work by the almost prohibitive prices at which the radium has been held."

Investigation Is Made. Several months ago rumors reached the Bureau of Mines that in Colorado there had been an increased demand for carnotite, the radium-carrying ore and that this ore was being shipped abroad in considerable quantities. It was also reported that the Europeans were insisting upon only the highest grades of these ores and that a great amount of lower grade ores was practically being wasted.

R. H. Moore and K. L. Kithil, in charge of the Denver (Colo.) laboratory of the bureau, were requested to investigate, and they reached the conclusion that while all the radium placed upon the market in the last few years had been produced in Europe, a large portion of this had come from American ores.

"Radium institutes have been established in Austria, France, Germany and England, and a European science and industry have been developed from American ores. The Austrian government, realizing the untold possibilities of the radium ores at St. Joachimsthal, purchased the mines, put them under direct government supervision and has an arrangement with the Vienna Academy of Science whereby the ore is worked up into radium."

Price Paid Too Low. "On the other hand, the United States has allowed her much greater resources to be exploited by foreigners on a basis which wastes perhaps irretrievably a large portion of the ores mined and has exported carefully selected ores at a price by no means commensurate with its radium value."

"Pitchblende, the richest of all radium-bearing minerals, has been found in small quantities in Connecticut and in the feldspar quarries of North Carolina. Practically the total American output has come from the mines in Quartz Hill, Gilpin county, Colo.

"Practically every ton of carnotite mined in 1912 went abroad and, as the American deposits are far from being inexhaustible, we are rapidly depleting our own reserve and are shipping from this country material of great value and of unknown possibilities, which can not be replaced."

STOCKS AT NEW YORK. WEAK IN THE MORNING. CLOSE DAY WITH GAINS.

New York, May 7.—After a day of mixed movements, in which no well-defined trend was discernible, the stock market became strong in the final trading this afternoon and closed with substantial gains for many of the important stocks. Speculative interest again centered in the Harman stocks, whose heaviness in the early trading was a disturbing feature. Southern Pacific broke to 93 1/2, a new low price since 1908. That stock and Union Pacific were the leaders in the late upturn, being helped by reports that the Union Pacific management had arranged for quick compliance with the supreme court's dissolution decree and that the distribution of Union Pacific's holdings of Southern Pacific already arranged. New York Central sold below par for the first time since 1908. Several other issues made new low records.

EXAMINE POTTERIES TO LEARN SECRETS

Government Agents Will Investigate the Industry on Order of President Wilson.

Washington, May 7.—Acting upon the direct orders of President Wilson, Secretary of Commerce Redfield, through the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, is to conduct an immediate and exhaustive investigation of the pottery industry of the United States.

The order for the investigation is the result of the persistent and bitter complaint of Ohio and New Jersey potters charging violation of promises which they say were made to them by Chairman Underwood at the time of the ways and means committee hearings on the pottery schedule.

In addition to the charge of bad faith, the potters insist their business will be ruined if the tariff rates on pottery are put into effect as proposed in the Underwood bill. As proof of their sincerity the potters have been demanding an examination of their books by experts representing the ways and means committee.

Representative John J. Whitacre of Canton, in whose district are most of the Ohio potteries, took the complaint of the potters before the Democratic caucus on the tariff bill. He said he had no means of knowing whether the potters were telling the truth and moved that the pottery schedule be referred back to the ways and means committee with instructions to put experts on the books of the concerns making the complaints. Representative Whitacre was turned down by the caucus, but won in an appeal to the White House and Secretary Redfield.

Now that the demand of the potters has been granted it is the intention of Secretary Redfield to make the investigation most searching. All the facts relating to the pottery industry, including matters which have been a cause of dispute every time a tariff bill has been before congress, are to be bare of the department of commerce has its way. The investigation will not stop with an examination of the books. It is to cover everything in connection with the pottery industry, such as equipment, management, wages and the conditions of labor.

The bureau of foreign and domestic commerce was organized under an act of congress giving it very largely the powers of the defunct tariff commission. In order, however, to make the investigation complete, if it is found necessary it will be prosecuted through the bureau of labor and the bureau of corporations as well as the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

The order for the investigation occasioned some surprise among members of congress who learned of it. The point was raised that since one set of manufacturers had obtained an investigation, those in other industries might make similar demands. Under the circumstances, it is argued, the precedent established in the case of the potters may cause some embarrassment while the Underwood bill is pending in the senate.

The advocates of a tariff commission are learning of the order with great satisfaction. According to their contention it is positive proof that the administration is not satisfied the proposed schedules on pottery in the Underwood bill are fair and equitable or based on exact knowledge of the facts.

While there is no statement from the White House, it is believed the order for the pottery investigation indicates a purpose in the mind of the president to enlarge the inquisitorial powers of the investigating bureaus operating under the department of commerce. If Secretary Redfield has his way there will be a large increase in the appropriations for the upkeep of the more important of these bureaus.

HAS COURT'S FATE WITHIN HIS POWER

President Wilson Holds Key to the Life or Death of New Commerce Tribunal.

Washington, May 7.—To be or not to be, that is the question congress still is asking itself, in regard to the commerce court, one of the pet projects of President Taft in the early part of his administration, and provision for which, at his earnest request, was made in the famous tariff law of 1909.

As the matter now stands, the court has sufficient funds to carry it along until June 30, the end of the fiscal year, when further appropriations being withheld, it will of necessity go out of business. Meanwhile, it will be a part of the duty of the present special session of congress to complete the work of demolition, assuming this still to be the Democratic policy, by enacting legislation transferring to the several federal district courts of the United States, all the cases which, under the present law, are under jurisdiction of the commerce court. Bills providing for this transference are pending in the house, the one introduced by Representative Thelus Sims, of Tennessee, apparently being the favorite.

It is interesting to note that the commerce court, which from the beginning has been a child of ill fortune, now that it apparently is about to be abolished by act of congress, seems on the eve of coming into a measure of reputation and favor. Formal action has been taken by the Boston chamber of commerce, speaking for the shippers of that city, in favor of having the court retained, and similar action by the New York merchants' association, which speaks for the shipping interests of that city, is expected daily. In other cities, also, the court's friends say the shipping public is beginning to realize the new court is probably a more useful thing than had been imagined, and that much of the criticism heaped upon it has been undeserved. Whether this alleged reversal of popular opinion will affect the action of congress, however, is quite another matter. Opinion is pretty well divided on that question.

As stated, the commerce court has been a child of ill fortune from the beginning. President Taft obtained its establishment only after the most strenuous exertions and for weeks in the time the tariff bill of 1909 was pending, it was a toss up whether he would get the court or not. Congress finally yielded and provided for it, rather against the judgment of some of its ablest members.

Once the court was established, it got in bad by a series of decisions overturning findings of the interstate commerce commission, then, as now, regarded as the protector of the people, who have come to look upon it as an adequate means of correcting dissensions and difficulties of all sorts existing between interstate carriers and the shippers.

The commerce court by its earlier decisions sought to restrict the authority of the commission, and this the shippers were quick to resent, for many of them said decisions of that character, being in the interest of the railroads, were contrary to the purpose which congress had in mind when it extended the commission's powers, in legislation inaugurated in the Roosevelt administration. Then came the Archbald scandal, leading to his impeachment and removal from the bench. Judge Archbald was a member of the commerce court, although his impeachment did not rest upon acts of his committed in that capacity, but rather in his capacity as federal district and circuit judge in Pennsylvania. It was while the Archbald impeachment proceeding were under way that public sentiment began to crystallize against the commerce court and to assume definite shape in congress in bills and speeches.

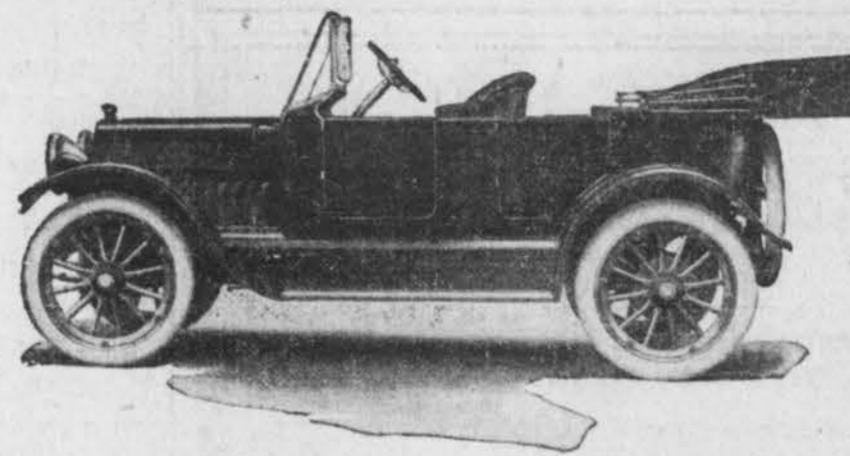

The whole question will come up for final settlement at the present special session, for if the court is to be abolished, there must be legislation at this time providing for the trial of commerce cases before the regular federal courts. When this legislation comes up, friends of the commerce court in congress will make a last stand, but with what result it is too early to say. An effort is being made to interest President Wilson, and, if this can be done, there will be a chance to have the court maintained; if he should decline to interest himself, the court will be abolished.

COUNCIL RESURRECTS AN OLD ENACTMENT

Aldermen Declare for Enforcement of Weights and Measures Law Adopted in 1877.

At its regular monthly meeting last evening, the common council declared for a more rigid enforcement of the city ordinance relative to weights and measures. This law of the municipality was adopted May 18, 1877. The ordinance provides for and establishes standards for weights and measures, scales and beams, such standards to be in the custody of the city recorder. It was recommended by the council last night that the committee on purchasing and printing should consider the purchase of equipment necessary for the strict enforcement of the ordinance.

Municipal Salaries Fixed. Among other business transacted at the meeting, the council fixed the remuneration of the city officers for the ensuing year. Following are the monthly salaries which will be in effect from May 1, 1913, to May 1, 1914:

The schedule of day wages was adopted as follows: Foreman of water and sewer system, $3; street laborers, $2.10; carpenters, $2.25; laborers for water-works and on sewers, $2.20; double teams, $5; single horses, $3.50.

Merchants Want Street Lights. A petition from the merchants on Canal street, asking for a new system of street lighting to extend from Main street to the Scotch Shlensinger station, was referred to the lighting committee.

A petition received from residents on Oak and Pine streets, requesting the construction of a new sewer, stated that the present pipe was too close to the surface, because of which it froze during the winter months. The petition was referred to the committee on sewers and public works. All of the aldermen favored immediate action to remedy the conditions of which the Oak and Pine street people complained.

CHANGE WIRING SYSTEM. Students At Manual Training School Enter New Field of Work.

Several students of the manual training school are now at work re-arranging the telephone wiring system of the high school, manual training school and Central grade school so as to place the four telephone lines of the school on one line, to be operated from the office of the secretary. The wiring is being done in such a manner that a person may call any one of the three other telephones without the necessity of calling central. The plan was worked out by the teacher of the manual training department, together with several of the students, who are now doing the wiring work.

Home Yutzey, head of the department, is now preparing for the annual exhibit of the work of the students. The exhibit will be one of the most extensive ever attempted here. Mr. Yutzey now has about thirty-five pieces of work which will be shown. Among the various things to be placed upon exhibition will be products of the machine shop, which is very fully equipped, like the work by students in the several grades of the high school, wood work, such as tables, tabourets, porch swings, settees, desks and chair in a variety of patterns. There will also be shown some of the drawings from the drawing room by students from the ninth to the twelfth grades.

POOL TOURNAMENT. "Pop" Geelan Makes Arrangements for Contest at Empire Billiard Hall.

"Pop" Geelan, proprietor of the Empire pool room on Division street, has completed arrangements for a handicap pool tournament to begin within a few days. Many entrants have already turned in their names and about twenty are expected to participate. It will require from three to four weeks to complete the tournament, as ninety games will be played. Three prizes are offered by the management of the Empire, first a cue; second, a box of cigars; third, a two pound box of candy.

CHARLES J. BYRNS TAKES NEW POSITION

Will Be Special Representative in Michigan for Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Charles J. Byrns, who for nearly three years past has been collector of customs of the Superior district, has accepted the position of special representative for the state of Michigan of the Equitable Life Assurance society of the United States.

Mr. Byrns will conclude his work as collector on July 1, at which time the four districts of the state will be consolidated into one, with headquarters in Detroit. The new position, which came to Mr. Byrns unsolicited, will pay him a better salary than he has received from the government. A day or two after his announcement the state and customs districts would be consolidated. Mr. Byrns received an offer of the position with the Equitable. The offer was such a flattering one that he at once took it under consideration. In the interval he has made a trip to Chicago and one to New York, to confer with the management relative to the proposal.

His record in fraternal insurance work is what directed the attention of the Equitable management to Mr. Byrns. He has for many years been regarded as one of the best informed fraternal insurance men in the country. His experience in this field was gained as state deputy in Michigan for the Modern Woodmen of America, and later as member of the board of directors of that order.

In his new position, Mr. Byrns will be in charge of the field work throughout the state and will organize agencies and direct their management. He will not begin this work, however, until after he concludes his duties as collector. The Equitable Life Assurance society is one of the strongest insurance organizations in the world. It now has thousands of policies in force in Michigan, and is operating in every state in the union.

When asked yesterday about his new position, Mr. Byrns was very reticent. He said he could not outline in detail what his duties would be, but said he would have general charge of the field work throughout the state. He plans to perfect a strong organization in the upper peninsula as early a date as possible. The Equitable Life Assurance management is, he asserted, very friendly toward fraternal societies, and it will be a policy for persons who will desire to pay their premiums monthly, instead of quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

DELAYS ARE BETTER THAN ACCIDENTS

Northwestern Company's Central Safety Committee Offers Advice to Employees.

The general plan of the central safety committee of the Chicago & Northwestern railway company, which has been adopted by several other railroads, they have in operation a total of 142,513 miles of track. The Northwestern system has 10,965 miles, making a grand total of 152,518 miles.

The safety committee has shown that many lives have been saved through its work; it has also shown that the railroad employees are working together to better advantage than formerly and that there is greater co-operation and greater efficiency in all departments.

"Be Careful" Card Used.

The latest advice given the company's employees and the general public is outlined in the current report, and will be spread broadcast over the system. The committee contends that the safest course for an employee to pursue is always to give something improper in order to cause a delay in the movement of a train or locomotive than to take chances on an accident. The advice of the committee is summarized as follows:

- "Don't take chances. When you do, the lives and limbs of yourself and your fellow-employees and passengers are the stakes. Every man who gambles loses. You can't afford to lose.
- "Exercise care to prevent accidents is a duty which you owe to yourself and your fellow-employees. Don't feel that you are doing something improper in calling attention to defects in the property or to carelessness of fellow-employees.
- "When necessary to go back flagging, remember that the lives of many persons are dependent upon you. You are paid 'to go back' and there is no excuse for not doing so. Be sure you go back far enough, and take with you plenty of torpedoes, fuses, a flag and red and white lantern. Rule ninety-nine is the most important rule in the book of rules.
- "Don't stand between engine cab and coal chute when taking coal. Keep your head inside cab of engine when engine is going in or out of roundhouse.
- "Never kick a draw-bar to make a coupling. Better miss and try again.
- "Trainmen and switchmen should never go under trains or engine without being sure that engine man knows where they are.
- "Other employees should never go under or between cars without being sure that engine is detached or cars are not to be moved. The surest way is to go around.
- "Never go between moving cars or engines for any purpose whatever. Stop them if necessary, and wait until they do stop.

"Never stand between the rails and attempt to get upon the footboard of an engine as it comes toward you. Let engine pass and get upon the footboard at the other end.

"Never move cars at stations or sidings or other places where men are likely to be working in or about the cars without first ascertaining that no one is in a position to be injured by the movement of the cars.

"Never get hands or feet in any part of apparatus or in the way of materials which may be moved automatically or by someone else. Do not rely on someone else to protect you.

"Never leave hand, velocipede or motor cars on track while doing work. Always ride cars facing traffic.

"Foremen should never forget that they are provided with whistles for warning fellow-employees of danger and should be on the constant lookout for danger to themselves and others.

"Remember that it takes more time to make a report of an accident than to prevent one.

"Never handle tools, materials or apparatus improperly, or allow them to get in such a condition as to give a false feeling of security to others. Remember safety first.

"Remember that the rules of this company were made because experience has shown every one of them to be necessary, and they were made to be obeyed. You are paid to comply with all the rules, and not just those you think you ought to comply with. It is not for you to decide whether the rules are necessary. That question has already been determined by men of many years' experience in the service. Think of that when you think of promotion.

"In case of doubt adopt the safe course."

TURN TO THE RIGHT AND DRIVE SLOWLY

Mayor Barnett Places Sign and Stations Officer at Main and Division Streets.

Mayor Barnett has started a "school of instruction" at the corner of Main and Division streets by which he hopes to educate automobile and team drivers to turn to the right and to go slow on all corners. The mayor has repeatedly directed attention to the danger of fast driving and making short turns around corners, and has urged every driver to turn to the right and to go slow on all corners. The mayor has repeatedly directed attention to the danger of fast driving and making short turns around corners, and has urged every driver to turn to the right and to go slow on all corners.

Dr. Barnett has noted many narrow escapes from serious accidents on street corners in Ishpeming, and believes every driver should be made to understand why the officer made them back up, turn around and then drive around the sign on which was printed "Go slow, turn to the right."

UTILIZING SUN POWER.

London, May 6.—Some one once asked Nikola Tesla what, in his opinion, was the most important discovery made during the last century. His reply was that he regarded no discovery as containing vaster potentialities than the small toy one sometimes sees in shop windows, in which a couple of tiny flags are made to revolve in a vacuum through the influence of the sun's rays.

Since that remark was made the process of harnessing the sun has gone much further, and the recent meeting of a city company which is actually engaged in utilizing sun power in Egypt and elsewhere has a very genuine significance. If the process is ever developed on a wide-spread scale, the tropics will come to their own at last, for sun power in its present form can only be adapted for irrigation and general commercial purposes within twenty degrees of the equator. The temperate zones must retaliate by harnessing the tides.

HOW MRS. BROWN SUFFERED

During Change of Life—How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Well Woman.

Iola, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was gone the bloating left me and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken twelve bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. Brown, 809 N. Walnut St., Iola, Kan.

Following trouble that had extended through a considerable time it is claimed that Petrozzi met his victim on the street, in front of his home. After a brief quarrel, it is alleged, Petrozzi first stabbed the man in the intestines and then fired two shots into the body. In the excitement that followed Petrozzi escaped and all efforts of the officers to locate him proved futile. Sheriff Dykes went to Escanaba, thinking that the man might go to that city on an ore train. With Undersheriff A. J. Henry and Sheriff George Curran, he made a careful search, without result. John Amicangeli, a carpenter, is the wounded man.

DOG'S WHINES SOLVE MYSTERY.

Skeleton of Woman Who Disappeared Ten Years Ago Is Discovered. Harrington, Del., May 7.—Following their dog into the cellar of an abandoned and partly ruined house on the Delmar road, two sons of U. Grant Nicholson made a discovery that led to a partial solution of the mystery surrounding the disappearance ten years ago of Mrs. Ann Maloney, who at that time lived alone in the house. The boys were attracted by their dog whining as if he had discovered an animal, and when they reached the pet it was pawing at the ground. Lighting some matches the boys found what looked to them like human hair protruding through the earth. The boys ran home to their father, who summoned neighbors, and the men with spades and picks, soon disinterred a human skeleton to the skull of which the hair was still fast. On examining it Dr. J. S. Strickland, who lived here at the time of Mrs. Maloney's disappearance, decided it was hers and showed the farmers a mark on one of the bones which, he said, had been made by an ax. At the time Mrs. Maloney disappeared it was thought that she had been murdered for her money and a negro was arrested on suspicion, but was discharged when no trace of the woman could be found. Then the belief grew that the woman had moved from the vicinity, as she had talked of doing.

Eventually additional help will be required. The business men are now using the new service extensively, and the people are becoming more and more accustomed to its use. The parcel post takes away from the express companies nearly all packages under eleven pounds in weight, which is the largest size package which may be sent by mail.

HOW TO MAKE BEST BREAD TOLD BY GOVERNMENT EXPERT.

Washington, May 7.—The American housewife wastes much energy in kneading bread, according to Miss Hannah Wessling, expert bread maker for the department of agriculture. Bread doesn't need kneading, she declares. Let the yeast germs do your work, is the motto of this little woman who knows how to make all kinds of bread from German pumpernickel to Hawaiian banana bread. Good American white bread is her specialty, and when it comes close to home she used to make the government's official bread maker declares the following instructions are the only ones to follow: Take twelve ounces of flour for a one-pound loaf. Use one-fourth ounce of sugar, one-fourth ounce of salt and ten ounces of tepid water. Mix the yeast, salt and flour and then let them ferment for an hour instead of using them immediately after they "foam." Warm the flour and mix with the ferment. Allow the mass to stand one hour. Don't handle it. It doesn't need much kneading. Mix it up and allow it to stand another forty-five minutes, when it is ready for the molds. The entire process should be conducted in a room where the temperature is 80 to 86 degrees. Any warmer means sour bread and any cooler "soggy" bread.

SCHOOL ATHLETES TRAIN FOR MEET

Negaunee Will Be Represented in Upper Peninsula Field Day in Marquette May 31.

Negaunee high school athletes are now training for the upper peninsula field and track meet, which is to be held at Marquette under the direction of the Northern State Normal school May 31. Professor Faulkner, director of physical training in the Negaunee public schools, said yesterday morning that the representatives of the Negaunee school will be chosen from the winners of an inter-class meet that will be held a week from next Saturday, May 17. Ten high schools sent teams to the upper peninsula meet at Marquette last year, and Negaunee took fourth place.

The Negaunee high school has exceptionally good material for both track and field events, and will undoubtedly make a good showing. The boys are enthusiastic over the outlook, and a large number turned out Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons for the preliminary practices. Other high schools in this and nearby counties are planning to send contestants to meet. Ispenung will undoubtedly send a team, and several of the copper county schools will be represented. The promoters of the meet expect a large representation than was had last year, and hope to secure contestants from nearly all the large high schools of the peninsula.

Ball Game Saturday.

The high school baseball team has been practicing every afternoon in preparation for their second game against the Ispenung Highs, which will be played Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The two teams are well matched, as the game last Saturday went four innings over. Negaunee won by a score of 4 to 3. Admission prices of fifteen and twenty-five cents will be charged.

The Negaunee line-up for Saturday's game will be: Edwards, third base; Leaf, shortstop; Bice, captain, second base; Schawke, catcher; (captain) field; William, center field; Frederickson, first base; Worme and Collins, pitcher; Field, right field; Carroll and T. Collins, sub.

PURCHASES FARM.

W. J. Thomas Will Take Up Residence Near Little Lake. W. J. Thomas, who for the past twenty-eight years has been a resident of Negaunee and who has conducted a dray line here for a considerable length of time, Tuesday purchased eighty acres of farming land from Peter Dugois, who has been a farmer near Little Lake for many years. The tract is located about three miles north of Little Lake. Mr. Dugois will retain the remainder of his holdings, and will continue farming approximately four miles north of the Little Lake station.

Mr. Thomas originally intended to return to his native home in England and offered his property in Negaunee for sale, but he has now decided to remain and will settle at Little Lake, where he will take active charge of the farm.

BOYS LOOSE LION IN BOX CAR.

West Orange, N. J., May 7.—Mme. Lalla Selbini's lion Pete was loosed from a box car in the Erie freight yard here by two boys who were investigating "complees." The freight yard is walled in, so the lion would not have been able to hurt any one except the boys, and they hid under the car. Policeman Bernard Heslin stood on a wall of the yard and shot his pistol at Pete, but did not hit him. The lion paid no attention to the shots. The two boys under the car seemed safe enough, but the wild horses of Joe Amento, whose stock yard adjoins the railroad, were wilder than ever had been thought possible.

It was Joe who came to the rescue. He used to be a cowboy. His first throw with the lasso caught the beast's shoulder. When the lion slackened Joe got a half hitch around Pete's hind legs. The ex-cowboy had the lion pretty nearly under control when Mme. Selbini appeared.

While a big crowd shouted advice, to which she paid no attention, Mme. Selbini entered the freight yard and unsnared the lion. She patted the lion on the head and the lion and the actress walked back to the freight car and Pete entered it as docile as a lamb.

Quarreling with Fate does no good. It is surprising how little fate has to do with our position in life. The industrious and the economical person has few complaints against destiny. He may have no more brains than the spendthrift, but he knows the value of saving. He sees the importance of laying up a few treasures on earth.

WATER MAINS MUCH WANTED

Board of Fire and Water Commissioners Received Many Petitions for Improved Service at Its Meeting Last Evening—Annual Budget to Be Prepared Shortly.

Proposition Submitted by Park, Cemetery and Street Commission Concerning Removal of Rock from Site of the Proposed New Hose House Was Accepted.

The business which came before the board of fire and water commissioners at its monthly meeting held last evening consisted principally of disposing of petitions for water pipes and water mains in various parts of the city.

The proposition submitted by the park, cemetery and street commission to take the rock from the board's lot at the corner of Front and Prospect streets, if the water board will haul it to the crusher, was accepted and is the first actual step toward the erection of a new hose house. The hose house committee of the board will look over plans that have been prepared and ask for estimates. The board as a whole will visit the site of the proposed structure to decide exactly what work will be necessary to prepare the lot for building operations.

Next Sunday the board will make an automobile tour of the city, to determine upon the program for the coming year. Before the June meeting of the council the board must prepare a budget. This really should have been passed upon at last evening's meeting, but the commissioners overlooked it. A special meeting will be held, subject to call, sometime before the last of the month.

Hose House Matters.

Relative to the acceptance of the park, cemetery and street commission's proposition, in which it agrees to quarry the rock on the Front street lot if the board will haul the stone to the crusher, the hose house committee reported that it had an offer of two Prospect street lots just back of the corner of Front street, the two of which together could be purchased for $1,200. It knew of another lot on Front street near the same corner that could be purchased for $850. It was believed, however, that the cost of removing the rock from the property already owned by the city would be about $800 and possibly less.

The pipe committee will be a busy trio until it completes the work the board referred to it last evening. Practically everything that has to do with the hose house committee, and which was not disposed of by the board was turned over to these men. The committee was instructed to make repairs at the pumping station to prevent air from getting into the by-pass and pumps from a leak somewhere between the pump cylinder and the intake pipe. Considerable trouble caused by air has been experienced when the by-pass arrangement has been used. By pumping from the well this trouble is obviated. The committee was also instructed to go as far as it could in making the necessary preparations for the installation of the new electric pumping equipment.

Owners of property on the north side of Ohio street, produced, west of the city crusher, between Pine and Spruce streets, petitioned the board last evening to furnish them with a water main. A representative appeared to explain the case. Work on the construction of houses will begin at once and water will be needed for concrete work. The board considers that a permanent improvement will cost a large sum, as it will be necessary to excavate rock the entire length of the ditch for the proposed main, and therefore it deferred action until an estimate of the cost can be had. The matter was referred to the pipe committee.

New Main in Arch Street.

One of the property holders at the corner of Arch and High streets, in registering a "kick" with the board on his quarterly water bill, which was for $19, a figure out of all proportion as compared to $1.50 and $2 that he had previously paid every three months, started an action to have a four-inch main laid in Arch street between the corner of High and Arch and Spruce and Arch. The residents of this locality have for years been supplied from a pipe varying between two and three inches in diameter and this service, aside from being poor, offers no fire protection. The board favored the laying of a four-inch main rather than one six inches in diameter, as the latter would cost twice as much as the former, while the former could furnish all the water needed for any occasion.

Complying with the requests of thirteen householders who have no water, and the Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company, which has no fire protection, the board decided to order the laying of a four-inch main from the intersection of Hewitt avenue and Cedar street, produced, down Cedar, produced, to Crescent street, connecting with a present main in Hewitt avenue. The proposed new main would be 1,200 feet long and is an improvement that has been badly needed for years.

A petition for a water main in the Longyear addition on the north end of Front street was read and considered favorably. The matter was turned over to the pipe committee, with power to act. The proposed new main will extend north on Front street from the corner of Magnetie to the corner of Hematite, thence east and west on Hematite, one block in either direction; thence north and south for a distance of about a block all told on either end. One end of the main will be in Second street and the other will be in High street. The size of the pipe will be decided later.

along with the other, was referred to the pipe committee.

Hennessy's "Hoss Trade."

The meeting opened with Alderman Michael Hennessy present. The alderman claimed to have been beaten in a horse deal with the fire department committee of the board and the meeting indulged in a few minutes of laughter over the details of the transaction as related good humoredly by Mr. Hennessy, touched off here and there with a few clever strokes of natural wit.

The aldermanic representative of the Second admitted that a few weeks ago he had negotiated for the purchase of one of the board's "cast-off" horses without looking the animal over, supposing it to be of the same calibre as a team sold a few weeks before for $150. He had merely noted its appearance at a distance. The committee offered him the horse for $100, Mr. Hennessy told the board, and he was ready to pay over the money, but that his reason for appearing was to beg a reduction in the price.

Mr. Hennessy had found that the animal was blind in one eye and could scarcely see with the other; that among other dreadful ailments too numerous to mention, it had an aggravated, highly developed form of the "cheever" and might easily drop dead during any of its frequent spasms. None of these afflictions were known to him when he bargained for the horse. Mr. Hennessy assured the board that the animal was not worth anything in its present condition and was not likely to convalesce, but that he stood willing to pay $75, spot cash, for him. The members expressed a desire to make it tight.

"You remember, Mike, that you offered me $125 for the horse at first," said Commissioner Case, "but we knew the horse was scarcely worth that and offered to sell him for $100, at which figure you jumped eagerly."

This statement not being denied by Mr. Hennessy, it was productive of a fresh outburst. The board readily agreed that $75 was enough for the decrepit animal, and the alderman promptly produced a red check book and settled the score.

Burial will be in the family lot in the cemetery at that place.

RESERVES TO ELECT OFFICERS TONIGHT

Enrollment of Seventy-Five in Marquette Division of Michigan Naval Service.

The Marquette men who have been in the charge of the organization of the Marquette division, Michigan Naval Reserves, yesterday received instructions to elect officers tonight, and accordingly the enrolled men of the division will meet for this purpose. The officers to be elected are two lieutenants and two ensigns. It is expected that they will be chosen from among the men who have been active in organizing and instructing the division to date, and who have had prior experience with military or naval service. There are, however, no active candidates, and this matter is one for the rank and file of the men to dispose of.

The affairs of the Marquette division are in a condition highly gratifying to the men who have interested themselves in establishing the service in Marquette. The personnel of the young men who have enlisted is regarded as excellent, and they have shown great interest in the preliminary work. Those familiar with activities of the kind express confidence that Marquette division will be quickly whipped into shape to receive the unqualified endorsement of the officers of the Reserve, and the members of the state military board.

Requisitions for the necessary uniforms have been made, and it is expected that the rifles that will be placed in the hands of the Reserves will be shipped within a week. A deal has practically been closed by the terms of which Fraternity Hall will be the armory of the Marquette division. It is proposed to fit out the east room at the northeastern end of the hall as a locker room for the equipment of the members. With this one change the hall will make a serviceable armory. The division will be the sole lessee of the hall, according to the arrangement contemplated, and will in turn sublease it for the various dances and other entertainments held there.

The present list of enrolled men of the Marquette division contains seventy-five names, of a number consisting in excess of the one required a preliminary to giving Marquette the division.

TROUBLE SETTLED.

Man Who Robbed Marigold Crew Yesterday Morning Rounded Up Later.

At about 3 a. m., yesterday the police rounded up the man who at 12:30 a. m., robbed the sleeping members of the crew of the light-house tender Marigold while she lay at Spear's coal dock. He proved to be the second cook and an indispensable cog in the culinary department. When he appeared before Captain Bernier, who was loath to leave him behind, a promise to behave himself was extracted without difficulty, and upon his turning over to the men the money, consisting principally of small change pilfered from the pockets of trousers that hung in the sleeping quarters, the police dropped the charge against him.

The Marigold left the harbor, bound for Duluth, at about 9 a. m., yesterday. The police had a lively chase before they located the offender, who was finally picked up on the streets while he was trying to get back to the boat. He apparently wanted to get aboard within being seen, in the hope that his absence might not have been noted.

BANISHING THE POPPY.

It is reported that the Russian department of agriculture has prepared a law prohibiting the culture of the poppy plant in the Transbaikalian, Amur and Maritime provinces. According to this law, not only the cultivation of the poppy will be a criminal offense, but also the smoking of opium, storing or purchasing it, as well as the purchasing of utensils used for smoking opium.

RETURNS FROM DETROIT.

R. C. Lowe Represented Commercial Club at Meeting of Secretaries.

In attending a convention of secretaries of commercial clubs and boards of commerce of Michigan, held last Friday and Saturday at Detroit, R. C. Lowe, secretary of the Marquette Commercial club, had the distinction of being the only delegate from the upper peninsula. That his presence was worth a great deal to Marquette is proved by the fact that the secretaries personally pledged their support to any plans advanced by the Upper Peninsula Development bureau for the agricultural development of the North country. The delegates expressed the opinion that too much stress is placed upon the importance of inducing industrial concerns to locate in the smaller cities. More can be accomplished, it is held, by booming the agricultural possibilities of a region.

The delegates were the guests of the Detroit Board of Commerce and last Friday evening were entertained by the Mt. Clemon's Businessmen's association. They rode out to the sanatorium city in a special interurban car and dined with members of the Mt. Clemon association. In Detroit the delegates made the Hotel Cadillac their headquarters. The meeting was successful in every way and one of the first of its kind held in the state. About thirty cities were represented.

Emigration in Michigan was a subject that was given much attention. Other matters discussed were conventions, municipal advertising, agricultural development, the financing of commercial organizations, the relation of organizations to the press and the disintegration of commercial organizations and their causes and cures.

PRESENTED WITH RING.

President Vaughn of Division No. 4, Honored by Fellow Members.

At a meeting of the Ancient Order of Hibernians held last evening in Keough's Hall, Daniel Vaughn, president of Marquette division No. 4, was presented with a beautiful A. O. H. ring, the gift of his fellow members, in recognition of the honors bestowed upon him by Hibernians of the state in recently being elected to the office of state vice president. The gift is similar to a stonet ring and bears the emblem of the order. On either side of the emblem is a small diamond. It was particularly appropriate for one whose services have been worth so much to the Hibernians of Marquette, the county and Upper Michigan. Mr. Vaughn has been state vice president of the order since last fall.

The presentation was informal and followed the initiation of several new candidates, after which a supper was served and a smoker enjoyed. When he was made the recipient of the gift, Mr. Vaughn responded with a pleasing speech. A program of several musical selections was given.

Mr. Vaughn has been a member of the order the last twenty-five years. The last fifteen years he has been a member of Division No. 4. During the years previous to that he was a member of the Negaunee division. Mr. Vaughn has now been president of the Marquette body for three successive years. He has filled with credit several other high offices both in the city and county organizations.

TENNIS CLUB MEETS.

Last Year's Officers Were Re-elected and Financial Report Was Read.

A large and enthusiastic attendance of members was present last evening at the annual meeting of the Marquette Tennis club, held in the offices of Dr. E. L. Drake, in the Savings Bank building. The annual reports showed the club to be out of debt and the prospects for the season of 1913 to be encouraging. Aside from the usual work of repairing and putting the courts into condition, which will be taken up at once, the club plans to hold several interesting events this year, possibly a big tournament. It is hoped to open the season of playing Saturday of this week.

The club invites any tennis player who is not yet a member of the club to join the organization. Such players may apply to any of the officers for the desired information. The officers, all of whom were re-elected for another term, are: Dr. E. L. Drake, president; A. E. Miller, vice president; and H. J. Waterbury, secretary and treasurer.

The heavy iron roller owned by the club and used to smooth down the surface of the courts is missing. The officers would appreciate the immediate return of the apparatus from the person who may have borrowed it.

RECEPTION LARGELY ATTENDED.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Powell Introduced Mrs. A. E. Powell to Friends.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Powell was the scene of a pretty reception last evening, at which Mrs. Arthur E. Powell, bride of their oldest son, was introduced to their Marquette friends. In the receiving line were Miss Pearl Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Powell and Mrs. D. W. Powell. They received the sincere congratulations of more than a hundred guests during the evening. The parlors and dining room were attractively decorated with cut flowers. In the dining room the feast was presided over by Mrs. Percy G. Temple. Mrs. Arthur Palmer, Mrs. Ed Farnum and Miss Minnie Moore. Mrs. Powell has spent the last several days in the city, and has already established a large circle of friends. After a short absence at her home, she will return to the city, where Mr. and Mrs. Powell will reside for the time being, while Mr. Powell's business affairs call him to outside points.
