W. ALDEN SMITH GIVES WARNING TO DEMOCRATS

Enactment of the Underwood Bill Would Bring "Dark Days" to Country, He Says—Would Kill the Beet Sugar Industry and Put Others in Desperate Straits.

These Remarks of the Michigan Solon Are in Connection With a Fight by the Senate Republicans for Public Hearings—Issue Goes Over Until Next Week.

Washington, May 9.—The Republicans of the senate leaped eagerly into the fight against the Underwood tariff bill when it was brought from the house today, and precipitated an issue by attempting to override the decision of the Democrats to consider the measure without public hearings.

Mr. Smith Fearful of Business Disaster.

Speaking of the Penrose amendment, Senator William Alden Smith, of Michigan, in a vigorous appeal for the public consideration of the bill, instead of "in the darkness and gloom" of the committee room, assailed the Underwood measures. He declared it would result in a repetition of the "dark days" that followed the Wilson bill, that the sugar industry would suffer, and that other industries would suffer, and that already business was falling off rapidly throughout the country.

Joint Meeting Sunday—The Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian Young People's societies will hold a joint meeting Sunday at 6:45 p. m. at the Baptist church. The topic will be "Love Not the World." Miss Markham will be the leader.

Must Keep Off Sidewalks—The police have received complaints about boys and girls riding bicycles on the sidewalks in the residence district. The practice is forbidden by a city ordinance, and will be prevented by the police wherever they encounter it. They are also ready to act on any complaints, so the boys and girls, to be on the safe side, may well keep to the roadways.

Two Chimney Fires—The fire department yesterday morning responded to alarms sent in almost simultaneously and extinguished chimney fires first in the building at the corner of Fifth and Washington street occupied by Morin's store and in a house at the corner of Fifth and Fisher streets. The firemen were just placing their ladders back on the truck when they heard the second alarm.

Concert at M. E. Church—A company of eight young colored persons, students of the Southern Normal college, of Brewton, Ala., will give a concert at the Methodist Episcopal church Monday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. The students are traveling under the chaperonage of President Dooley, who comes to the city tomorrow to deliver an address Sunday evening at the Methodist church. The program will consist of old plantation melodies.

Frost Is Injurious—Farmers are beginning to fear for the safety of buds through the present cold spell. Almost every night during the past week there has been frost and each night seems to be colder than the one which preceded it. Thursday night water in puddles was frozen over solidly and last night the chill was sufficient to make necessary a changing back to winter clothing on the part of those who had donned spring wear when the balmy sun and disappearing snow of three weeks ago gave promise of an early summer. Some of the leading agriculturists say the last week of frost will tend to delay the entire growing season and may blight the orchard crops.

Hearing Is Adjourned—The special hearing in the suit of Case vs. Longyear, et al, which has been conducted the last three days in the circuit court room, with Judge Flannigan presiding, was adjourned late yesterday afternoon until the second week of the May term, opening Monday, May 26, in this city. The exact date will be settled upon later. The principal testimony for the plaintiff has been taken, but four or five more witnesses will be heard before this side rests its case. The testimony of these, however, will be brief. The witnesses examined yesterday were Hugh McLaughlin, of Iron Mountain, Thomas Dillon and Gordon Murray, of Dickinson county, and A. C. Stellwagen, of Detroit.

A Hair-Raising Experience—Sailors on the DuRocher tug Ward tell of a hair-raising experience Thursday night, when they were drifted out into the open lake in the teeth of a stiff gale as they were bringing a scow loaded with rock from the quarry on Middle island to the site of the breakwater extension. It was about 3 o'clock they got fairly started on their journey to town. The loaded scow was almost too much of a load for the tug and slow progress was made. In the face of the offshore wind they were gradually drifted into the lake, until finally by 8 o'clock their absence was noted and the frantic whistling for help was heard and comprehended. The Wardsless & King tug Hoffmann Bros., which has been leased to T. L. DuRocher to assist in his contract work, was sent to the rescue and finally, with both tugs pulling on the scow, the harbor was made about 1 a. m. Friday.

EIGHT-HOUR WORKDAY HIGHLY COMMENDED

Federal Bureau of Labor Holds It Best Plan for Industries of the Country.

Washington, May 8.—That the eight-hour day is socially and economically desirable in private industries is the argument of the bureau of labor in its report on conditions in the steel industry. This is the first time that a government bureau has interferred with the federal government behind the eight-hour day.

Twelve-Hour Day Still Prevails.

Some changes for the benefit of the workman have already been made by the United States Steel corporation. Between forty and fifty per cent. of the men who used to work seven days a week have been affected by the "five-day-a-week" arrangement. But as late as last summer more than fifteen per cent. of the employees of the industry as a whole and more than fifty per cent. of the blast furnace workmen were on a regular schedule of seven days per week.

This, of course, is somewhat mitigated for some of the men by the fact that in many cases the week is six instead of seven days. But even this does not really help, he reports says. "Those who work six days a week are not given any advantage commensurate with the loss of one day's pay each week."

Arguments of Bar U.

It is notable that the bureau of labor argues for the eight-hour day not because of any peculiarity of the steel business but because it seems in general a wise and just policy. Its contentions can be advanced to apply to the conditions of any other business. They may be summarized thus:

1. It gives the workman time for complete physical recuperation, companionship with his family, self-improvement and leisure even when employed seven days a week.

2. From the experience of English blast-furnace owners who have adopted the eight-hour shift system and from the experience in other industries, it will tend to produce a much more efficient force of workmen.

3. It affords a much more flexible working system than exists with the present schedule of working hours.

4. The eight-hour shift system can be introduced gradually, and does not require a complete revolution in operation as did the plans for the elimination of seven-day work.

Only One Objection Considered.

The only objection to the eight-hour day which the bureau finds worthy of consideration is the natural objection of cost. This it meets as follows:

According to the steel industry, the going to an eight-hour basis would require increases in the hourly rates of wages, resulting in a higher cost of production. Such an increase would be absolutely necessary since a reduction of one-third in hours and a corresponding reduction of the steel output would place wages below the subsistence level and automatically kill both workmen and business. The average earnings of the employees in the productive occupations of the iron and steel industry are 23.3 cents an hour, or $2.08 for 12 hours work. The pay for an eight-hour day, reckoned on this hourly rate, would come only to $1.78, which is 12 cents per day less than the lowest form of labor now receives for a 12-hour day. Clearly, if wages follow hours, the eight-hour day is impracticable.

Assuming for the moment that this

NO DISCRIMINATION IN U.S. SENATE NOW

Because of the Small Majority, Youngsters Stand as Well as the Old-Timers.

Washington, May 9.—One doesn't hear so much of "baby senators" as of old. So narrow is the Democratic majority in the upper branch—there are fifty-one Democrats, forty-four Republicans and one Progressive—that no one can have fun with the new members without endangering a whole party programme.

The Democratic rules committee has lowered the price of soup to fifteen cents a plate, but left pie where the Republicans put it. Senator Norris, a Republican insurgent, has joined the protesting Democrats. He thinks ten cents is too much for pie.

HOPE FOR HALF-HOLIDAY.

Government Employees' Expect Favorable Decision from President Wilson.

Washington, May 9.—President Wilson has promised that on May 20 he will reach a decision as to granting a Saturday half-holiday for government employees. Representative James W. Curley received this assurance from the president and the subject is being made a matter of discussion in the cabinet. The president himself always takes at least half a day off Saturday and Secretary Tamm has made this almost a whole holiday by confining himself to the White House library, where he receives no callers. Last Saturday morning the president boarded the Mayflower and spent almost two days on the water. Clerks in the departments at Washington are now granted Saturday half-holidays for three months. The summer and the president has virtually made up his mind to make the holiday period five months if he can do so. Mr. Curley pleaded for a Saturday half-holiday all the year round and President Wilson assured him that this proposition also would receive his careful consideration.

NOT A SHERLOCK HOLMES.

A police officer tells an interesting tale of an old woman he once had to deal with. A batch of bank-notes had been stolen, and the detective found someone to tell him that the old woman in question, a notorious "fence," had one of the notes, at least, at her house.

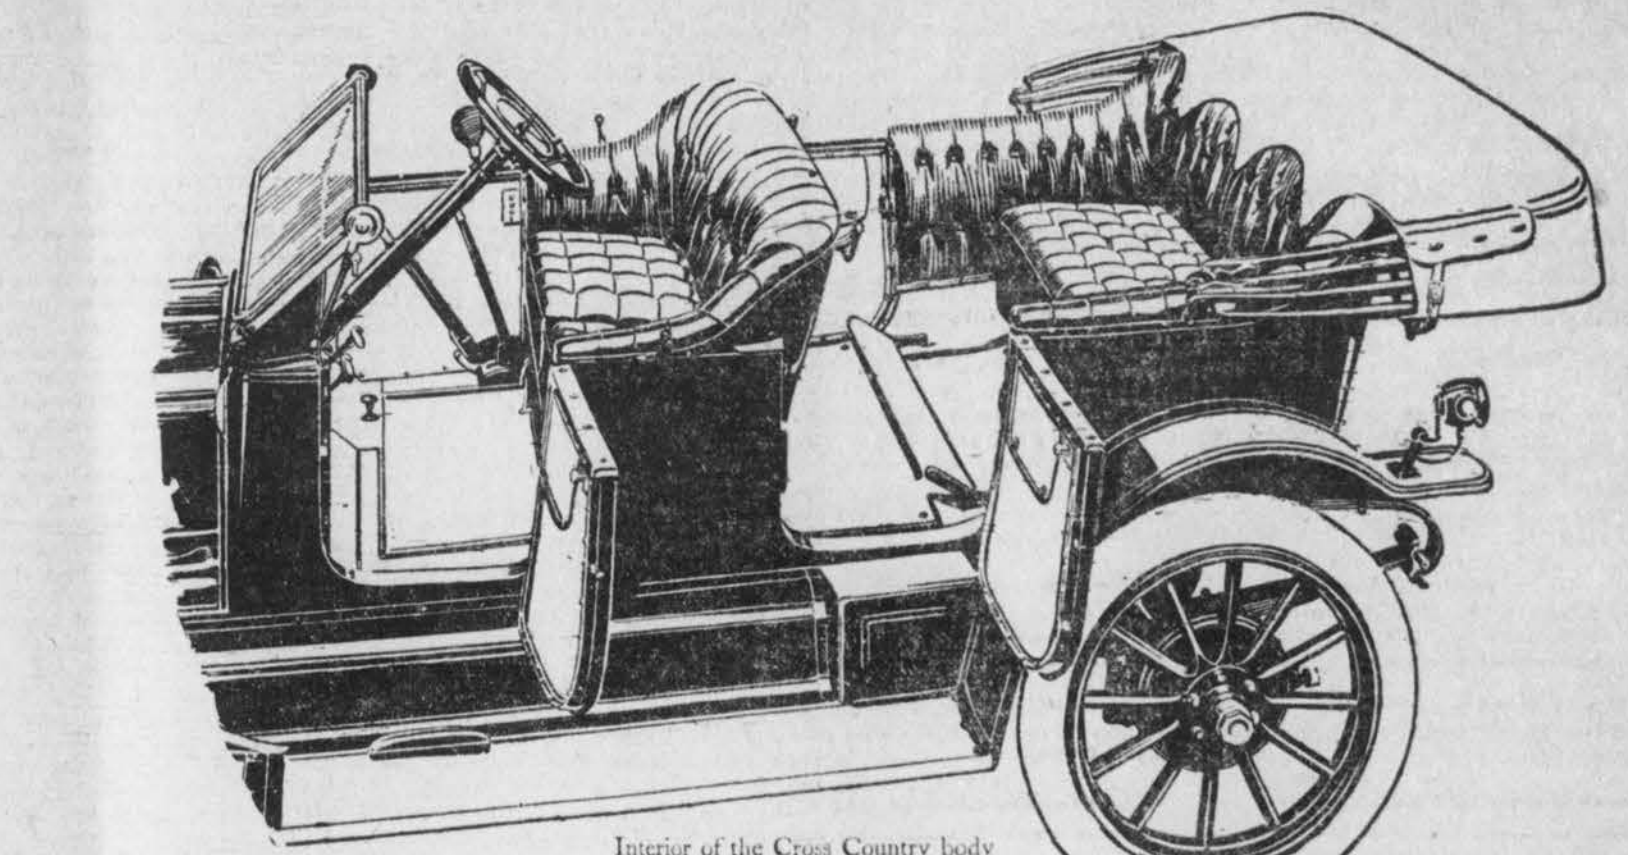

So implicitly did the detective rely upon his informer that he set aside the formality of a search warrant, and proceeded to visit the old woman's house, locked the doors on the inside, and ransacked the rooms from cellar to roof.

ROYAL BUSINESS MEN.

Not a few of the rulers of the world are prosperous business men. The most conspicuous example is the kaiser, who includes among his interests a porcelain factory. The general conduct of it is based upon rules and regulations laid down by the emperor. Indeed, it is said the emperor is not above engaging employees himself, adjusting their wages, and even designing certain of the wares turned out.

The king of Wurttemberg is the proprietor of two hotels within his domains, which are reported to be worth something like $2,000,000 annually to him. The emperor of Austria-Hungary, like the kaiser, operates a china factory. This establishment, situated near the Austrian capital, employs more than one thousand skilled workmen. The king of Saxony, too, has business interests of this character, though on a smaller scale.

Step into This Car and you will know Real Comfort

Interior of the Cross Country body

THERE is something rare and inviting about the comfort of the Cross Country that once it is experienced you will never quite forget. You enter through wide doors—20½ inches—that open fully, stepping easily from a running board that is clear.

The broad, carpet-covered foot rest in the tonneau is in just the right position for thorough relaxation. You sink down into the deep upholstery and lean back to find the pitch just right for perfect ease. The steady, deliberate action of the springs gives to one that pleasurable sense of modulated motion undisturbed by any jar. The forward seats are just the right height and the steering pillar may be adjusted at any angle to suit the comfort of the operator.

The hands rest comfortably on the steering wheel and the foot accelerator is so conveniently located and shaped that pressure may be applied with any part of the foot, always avoiding a cramped position.

You must experience the feel of the Cross Country wheel. It's a delight. It turns without a single vibrating jar. Your arms don't tire, your legs don't cramp.

To drive this car is exhilarating. Press the button with your foot. With hardly an audible sound the motor starts. A single movement of the lever—you touch the throttle and it's away.

Drive the car for ten minutes and you will grin in spite of yourself through rare delight.

A beautiful four-color reproduction of the Cross Country, from an oil painting by R. Philip Brainerd, is ready for mailing. See the Cross Country by all means, at any Jeffery branch or dealer's display room, but send for the picture anyway.

Currency Committee Chiefly New.

The new committee on banking and currency, which will shape fiscal legislation, is composed of a majority of new Democrats, if you include O'Gorman of New York and Pomeroy of Ohio, both of whom served some time in the Sixty-second Congress. Henry F. Hollis of New Hampshire was assigned to this committee almost on the day he took the oath, and he was Shafer of Colorado. The legislation to be expected of this committee is infinitely more important to the country than tariff revision, and it cannot be said that the committee has been packed in the interest of any particular brand.

MOTHERS' PENSIONS PRACTICAL.

In a private letter that has recently been published Mrs. Marshall A. Roe, of Chicago, tells how the idea of the mothers' pension originated in Cook county. She was a volunteer juvenile court officer at the time, and a police officer of the court appealed to her with the story of "an ideal mother" whose home he was called upon to break up and whose children he was called upon to send to institutions, because she did not have any money. Mrs. Roe found, upon investigation, a delicate, good mother who had been deserted, leaving her with three babies.

Tariff Bill May Be Changed.

How the house tariff bill can get through the senate unscathed with such possibilities of opposition ahead is a question. The administration leaders are fairly holding their breath as the lines are being drawn for the tariff fight in the senate. Should the four Democratic senators from Louisiana and Colorado combine, they could upset their party majority in the senate and force a change. The Colorado senators are equally interested with Missouri in changing up the rates on lead and zinc, which

Stone and Reed of that state are fighting for all they are worth.

When it is clearly seen that senators like these are placed in a position where they can force changes in the house bill, their constituents are unlikely to permit them to let the law duties stand. La Follette and Beveridge were severely hazed by their older colleagues when they entered the senate as freshmen and insisted on talking. The new Democrats of today may say what they please and their elders look on complacently. It is taken for granted that the finance committee will make several hundred "minor changes" in the Wilson-Underwood bill. It may decide to make some major changes.

LETTERS THAT WEAR AWAY.

The professor was talking of English words that, originally harsh, had been softened by a slight change in form or in the omission of some letter. The professor on this occasion gave rein to his fancy. "Now, for instance," he said, "here's the word 'numerosus,' from the Latin 'numerus,' a number. What have we done with that word? One may suppose that originally it was written and pronounced 'numeros.' Why not? But the 'b' in the middle of the word, in the abdomen, as it were, was very awkward. It was in reality of no more use than the appendix vermiformis. So an operation was performed, probably without the use of an anesthetic and the objectionable 'b' was

AMERICAN COLONY IN ROME.

The American colony at Rome has plenty to occupy its attention at the present time. The last dinner of the season at the American embassy was given recently. A large number of guests assembled at Ambassador O'Brien's table at Barberini palace. The company included Sir Rimmel and Lady Rold of the British embassy; Marquis Berca Dorne, the Italian grand master of ceremonies; the Brazilian minister and Mme. Talke; Baron and Baroness Funck of the German embassy; Countess Rignon, lady in waiting to the queen; Mrs. Chilton, Prince Falconiere, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Gays; Miss Parrish of Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Huntington Wilson have arrived to spend a month. Mr. Wilson was formerly first assistant secretary of state.

LIBRARIANS TO HAVE MEETING

Executive Committee of Preliminary Organization of Upper Peninsula Association Conferred With Marquette Board of Trustees Yesterday Afternoon.

Miss LaTourette and Miss Spencer Were in the City—Plans for Program Were Made—Much Enthusiasm Is Found—Miss Spencer on an Extended Trip.

Miss Lois A. Spencer, librarian of the Spies Public Library, of Menominee, and Miss Alexandria LaTourette, librarian of the Carnegie Public Library, of Iron Mountain, were in Marquette yesterday. They were here to attend a conference of the executive committee of the preliminary organization of the Upper Peninsula Librarians' association convened in session yesterday afternoon at the Marquette City & Presque Isle Railway company's power house, North Marquette. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital by his companion, and is thought to have been ascertained just how badly he is hurt. His spine appears to be injured.

DEVELOPMENT BUREAU MEETING AT IRONWOOD

Regular Monthly Session Will Be Held Wednesday—Executive Committee Busy.

The regular monthly meeting of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau will be held Wednesday, May 14, at Ironwood. It will be attended by the majority of the directors and the executive committee. An afternoon session will open at 2:30 o'clock, and in the evening the executive committee will meet with the Ironwood Commercial club.

Project Strongly Supported.

The organization of an upper peninsula librarians' association had been advocated for many years by the librarians, themselves, and there is no question that everyone of them will join and will take active part in the work. A large attendance at the Marquette meeting, at which the permanent organization will be effected, is expected. Miss Spencer has been visiting various cities of northern Michigan with the purpose of arousing interest and everywhere she has found ready support of the project.

According to the tentative program arranged yesterday, the opening session on Tuesday evening will be a social meeting, at which an opportunity will be given those attending to register as members of the association. Wednesday morning a meeting of library trustees and executives will be held. At this session library finance and administration will be the topics of discussion. The Wednesday afternoon meeting librarians will participate in the program, giving papers on library policy and methods. In the evening the feature of the meeting, the address, will be given. The selection of the speaker has been left to the state library committee at Lansing and the names this body has selected are all of men who would be drawing cards at any institute. The executive committee believes most of the librarians will remain in the city Thursday and Friday to attend the teachers' meeting. The Marquette committee has planned to entertain the visitors Thursday and Friday by taking them for automobile tours to points of interest.

Women Have Worked Hard.

The credit for bringing about the organization of an upper peninsula librarians' association belongs to the Misses LaTourette and Spencer, who were the first to take steps to get the librarians together at the Iron Mountain institute. These two worked unceasingly by means of correspondence the few weeks preceding the meeting last fall, with a result that a larger gathering of librarians attended the teachers' convention than ever before met in this part of the country. The sentiment was unanimous in favor of an organization and the details were left to the executive committee. Realizing the need of an organization for mutual benefit, that they may keep abreast of the times, the librarians have been quick to appreciate the merits of the plan. It is generally agreed that the meetings will be held each year in connection with and as a special section of the Upper Peninsula Educational association's annual teachers' institute.

Regarding the institute, Professor J. E. Lautner, of the Northern State Normal school faculty, secretary of the association, said last evening that between seven and eight hundred teachers were expected here. Except for the copper country meetings, which are usually attended by a much larger number, this is an average attendance. Since the last meeting held in this city a number of years ago the association has had a remarkable growth; in fact, each year the graduates from the Normal school join the association and plan to attend the annual meetings, since these generally take the form of class reunions, as well as having their educational purpose.

Plans for Teachers' Meeting.

While the preparations for the program of the teachers' convention are already under way, the general announcements will not be made until all arrangements are definitely arranged. This will be in the late summer, or after the opening of school next September. Albert E. Sterne, of Ishpeming, county commissioner of schools, who is president of the association this year, believes that an effort should be made to advertise the meeting earlier than usual. The association is negotiating for the use of the Marquette Opera House for the general meetings. The section will meet both at the high school and at the Normal. The Marquette committee, composed of President Kaye, of the Normal; Superintendent W. G. Gehrand, of the public schools; and J. H. McNeel, principal of the high school, is looking after these details. The expected presence of practically all the upper peninsula librarians will materially swell the attendance. President Sterne has tentatively engaged three prominent educators as speakers.

LINEMAN INJURED.

Wilfred Sellers, employed by Telephone Company, Suffers Fall.

Wilfred Sellers, aged twenty years, a lineman for the Michigan State Telephone company, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon at about 4 o'clock, when in some way he fell from a transmission pole near the Marquette City & Presque Isle Railway company's power house, North Marquette. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital by his companion, and is thought to have been ascertained just how badly he is hurt. His spine appears to be injured.

Stories as to how the accident occurred are conflicting. The patient is in no condition to be questioned. It is believed he was shocked by a bolt from the street lamp, or possibly by a wire which, it is thought, became crossed with the telephone lines.

Young Sellers was a member of a crew sent out to locate line trouble in North Marquette. The pole on which he was working is said to be twenty feet high and he is thought to have fallen from the top. His condition is reported to be precarious.

Boys Efficient Bricklayers.

The arrangement of the department is bad. Space that could be used to advantage on the second floor is taken up by the commercial and domestic science rooms and work benches. The work is with by the vibration of floors and desks caused by the machinery below. The mending department is squeezed into one corner of what should be a stairway in the basement. The bricklaying, however, is entirely detached from the main department. It is located in the basement of the Froebel building and is cramped for quarters, though a room over a hundred feet long and filled with timbers and rubbish is otherwise lying idle.

The bricklaying department has shown itself to be popular and profitable. Since its installation in December it has been in use continuously. The boys make walls, chimneys and freplaces and show great proficiency. A brick coal bin in the forging room is an example of their work. Six boys recently built a wall containing fifteen hundred bricks in the course of three hours. The work was well done and was an example of excellent bricklaying. These boys, in Mr. McClintock's belief, would be able to hold their own end of the work with any bricklayer in laying what is known as back bricks.

"The boys who take this work," he said, "ought by summer competently to fill positions, and if the Normal school building is erected they can easily make several dollars a day laying back brick. I was told recently by a contractor who is bidding on the work that if he secured the construction work he would not hesitate in employing these lads."

Mr. McClintock speaks highly of the liberality of the board of education as concerns the manual training department. Everything that would make for the betterment of the work has been done, and small but imperative improvements were sanctioned by the board. In the matter of expansion the director realizes that the board is unable financially to grant his requests. But he feels that with five teachers and a thoroughly equipped plant conducted on the lines of a great practicality the Marquette manual training school would rank with the best in the state.

Mr. Jas. Orenstein, the Furrier, of Calumet, Mich., will be at J. L. Walton's tailor store Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 12, 13, and 14. Special orders. Repairing, remodeling and storage of furs. (5-9-11).
