PREMIER BRYAN REITERATES HIS ENMITY TO WAR

He Knows of No Cause That Cannot Better Be Settled by Reason, He Tells the Delegates Here from Great Britain to Arrange for the Peace Jubilee.

Mr. Carnegie, Also a Speaker, Advocates Building Fewer Battleships and More Embassies—Chauncey Depew Is the Guide on a Visit to Nation's Capitol.

Washington, May 12.—"We are here to substitute the spirit of peace for the spirit of war. The ideals of peace are greater than the ideals of war. We know of no cause that cannot be settled better by reason than by war."

These were some of the sentiments expressed here tonight by Secretary Bryan, who said he spoke for the president of the United States and for the administration under which he holds office. He was addressing the gathering at the banquet given by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace for the delegates from Great Britain who are to prepare plans for the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of peace among English-speaking nations.

Andrew Carnegie declared that the United States ought to build fewer battleships and more embassies abroad for the housing of its diplomatic representatives. The giving of money, he said, might mean the construction of thirty embassies abroad at a cost of $250,000 each. Mr. Carnegie argued that this would save the United States from the necessity of sending millions abroad as ambassadors.

"Beware of millionaires," humorously remarked Mr. Carnegie, in conclusion.

Chauncey Depew Is Capitol Guide. "And now, gentlemen, we come to the chamber of the senate of the United States."

The speaker was former Senator Chauncey M. Depew of New York, as he was showing the Capitol to the visiting delegates this afternoon. The party had asked the former senator to show them the spots with which he had long been familiar, so Mr. Depew assumed the role of a guide.

"Is it much changed, may I ask?" said a British delegate. "The senate never changes," returned Guide Depew, "except as to personnel. I happen to know from personal experience. The only other change is that we have one new clerk over the vice president's desk. The chamber is the same. Senators in the early days used small snuff boxes, which have never been removed. There, gentlemen, is the Republican snuff box, over here is the Democratic snuff box, just as they were long before our time."

"Have you many rules?" asked Lord Weardale, another British delegate. "No rules to speak of," said Guide Depew. "A senator can talk as long as he wants."

"And when he talks too long, you call that filibustering, do you not?" ventured a Frenchman.

"We call it a nuisance," replied the venerable and polished Capitol guide, "and the senators usually give the filibusterer the benefit of their action."

"Now we come to the marble room," Guide Depew continued, escorting his interested sight-seers across the senate lobby.

"Here's where the senators meet their constituents who come to see them about this, that and the other thing. You come here and send in your card to the senator and he comes out to see you if he wants to. If he doesn't want to, the page tells you he has gone to the hall game or something like that."

London Mail Ridicules Commoner's Plan. London, Tuesday, May 13.—The Daily Mail comments in a cynical vein on Secretary Bryan's peace policy and describes Mr. Bryan "as a highly inexperienced diplomatist."

Referring to the Panamanian dispute, the difficulties with European nations arising out of the new tariff, and the Californian trouble, concerning which it says that Japan's proposal to refer the matter to the Hague "ought to be accepted with effusion by such an enthusiast for international arbitration as Mr. Bryan," the Mail concludes:

"With so many hard nuts to crack in his own particular department, it seems unnecessary for this eminent idealist to dissipate his energies in preparing for the millennium."

"The other London papers warmly welcome and applaud the aspirations of President Wilson and Secretary Bryan, although in some cases with reservation."

SENATE REPUBLICANS OPPOSE PENROSE PLAN FOR TARIFF FILLIBUSTER.

Washington, May 12.—Senator Penrose's plan to conduct an extensive filibuster in support of his proposal to hold open tariff hearings before the senate finance committee will not receive the unanimous backing of his fellow Republicans when it comes up tomorrow, according to the views of leaders today.

Many prominent Republican senators do not believe it wise to fire their tariff guns in the preliminary fight over the question of hearings. They argue that Republican oratory should be conserved until the bill is before the senate and that then their efforts should be directed toward showing the country what the party thinks of it.

Williams Would Prosecute Manufacturers. Senator Williams, a member of the finance committee, declared today that manufacturers who reduce wages or threaten to reduce them because of tariff reductions should be presented by the department of justice under the Sherman anti-trust act. The senator said the Sherman law had been used against laboring men who combine to increase wages, and it was no more than just that it might be directed against men who conspire to reduce wages.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON WITHHOLDS ACTION

California's Executive Postpones Consideration of Newest Phase of Land Legislation.

Sacramento, Calif., May 12.—Governor Johnson has not yet replied to the message of President Woodrow Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan, asking that he veto the Webb anti-alien land bill. The governor has until June 10 to sign the measure. It was understood that the chief executive was so busy today with details incidental to the adjournment of the legislature that he had decided to postpone taking up the new angle of the anti-alien issue.

Washington, May 12.—Secretary Bryan today let it be known that if legislation to amend the treaty between the United States and Japan, which the department will undertake to deal diplomatically with the Japanese government regarding the whole subject of alien land ownership as affecting Japanese and Americans. Meanwhile he declined to indicate the course that will be followed by the department in the event that his appeal is disregarded by the California executive.

Arizona Move Seeks New Treaty. Phoenix, Ariz., May 12.—A memorial to congress was introduced in the senate today, asking that steps be taken to amend the 1892 treaty between the United States and Japan and negotiate one which will permit states to enact their own alien land laws.

The senate approved the anti-alien land bill passed by the house, and it now goes to the governor, who has not declared citizenship intentions from owning real estate or leasing it for more than five years.

PROFESSOR TAFT RAPS NEW PARTY

Ideas of the Progressives Socialistic and Even Worse, as He Sums Them Up.

New Haven, Conn., May 12.—In his fourth lecture on "Some Questions of Modern Government" at Yale today, Professor William H. Taft characterized the new government advocated by the Progressives as "hair trigger" and "leading to anarchy and a despotism of the majority." Professor Taft's statements were made in connection with the discussion of the recall of legislative and administrative officers.

"The objects of the recall is not that it takes away the office from the official," the former president said, "but that it is an obstacle to the efficiency of government. Men do not administer government fearlessly, under a government which the recall is a part, but administer it so that their enemies may have no opportunity to make malicious attacks upon them. Government is for the purpose of accomplishing something. Had men like Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson and Madison served under the recall, they would probably all have been recalled. Time has since said of them, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.'"

Retrospection, Not Progression. "Such hair-trigger methods of government are said to be progressive. They are not; instead, this is retrospection; it is going backwards; it is adopting a feature of government rejected years ago."

"Leaders of this movement dwell upon the statement that the people have been seized with an almost religious zeal for cleanliness of government. Aspiration for better things ought to be ridiculed by no one; but sin left us; are we not all subject to the same weaknesses that have been recognized for six thousand years?"

"Is there not in every line in the campaign speeches, platforms and utterances of the men of the new school the assumption that they have discharged all of their duties and that their sole feeling in the matter is one of brotherly love?"

"The sole thought in all is socialistic—the idea to make the rich poorer and the poor richer, a leveling of property holdings. Ultimately, this fact will be known."

BOXING HONORS DECLARED EVEN. Philadelphia, May 13.—Johnny Coulton, the bantamweight champion, and Frankie Bradley, of this city, fought six rounds here tonight, and at the close the popular verdict was a draw.

URGE BIDDING FOR RETURN OF PROGRESSIVES

Republican Chiefs Conferring at Chicago Propose a Coalition, Not by Any Mechanical Way, but by Remedying the Causes That Led to the Separation.

Sentiment Is That National Committee Should Call a Convention to Effect Radical Changes, and Especially With Reference to Future Nominating Conclaves

Chicago, May 12.—That a uniting of the Progressive party with the Republican party is not only desired, but is actually being sought, was the gist of the sentiment expressed at the close here today of a two days' conference at which Republican leaders outlined plans for reorganizing the party.

Herbert S. Hadley, former governor of Missouri, who with Senators Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, William E. Donah of Idaho and L. Y. Sherman of Illinois, led in the discussion at the conference, said afterward that the desire to have those back in the party who left it to join the Progressive party was "manifest." The coalition, he added, was not to be effected by any mechanical scheme, such as the passing of resolutions by any of the leaders, "but rather by a remedying of the causes in the Republican party which resulted in the separation."

The conference, attended by six United States senators, numerous members of the house of representatives and leaders from states as distant as Massachusetts and California, resulted in the issuance of a statement. The statement expressed the belief that the Republican national committee should call a Republican national convention for an early date as possible for the purpose of effecting radical changes in party affairs and especially in reference to the conduct of future national conventions.

Do the thing you think is best and abide it like a soldier.

GOVERNMENT CLOSES CASE AGAINST PUGILIST JOHNSON.

Chicago, May 13.—The government caused a surprise late today when counsel announced that it would rest in the case of Jack Johnson, being tried on charges of violating the Mann law. The measure without the referendum was suggested or agreed to by Joseph P. Belle Schreiber, for whose transportation Johnson is charged to have paid, was the chief witness today.

DEFEAT FACES BILL URGED BY PRESIDENT

Jury Reform Approved by New Jersey House Is Expected to Be Killed in the Senate.

Trenton, N. J., May 12.—The assembly this afternoon passed the Egan jury reform bill, after it had been amended by attaching a state-wide referendum. The measure without the referendum was the so-called chancellor-sheriff bill, which suggested that Wilson agreed as a compromise when he was in New Jersey two weeks ago.

It is expected that the senate will take up the bill tomorrow. The Republicans, it was said, are to be of opposite political faith to the sheriff. The measure will not become a law until adopted by the people at the general election next fall.

Springfield Saloonman Involved. Mr. O'Connell explained that Sullivan came to him as a friend of Samuel Davis, a liquor dealer of Springfield, who had possession of the affidavit, because O'Connell was a friend of the Danne administration and might be interested in preventing a scandal. Sullivan told O'Connell that Davis had been summoned as a witness before the commission, of which Mr. O'Hara is the chairman, at its first sitting at Springfield, but that he did not want to be a witness. Davis proposed to use the affidavit as a club over O'Hara to avoid testifying.

Cook County Treasurer Tells of Things Indicating the Maude Robinson Affidavit Designed for Use as a Club in the Vice Inquiry—Alibi Is Claimed Also.

Chicago, May 12.—When the state senate committee investigating an allegation of immorality against Lieutenant Governor Barratt O'Hara resumed its hearings today, William L. O'Connell, treasurer of Cook county, took the witness stand.

Mr. O'Connell's testimony was confirmatory of that given by the lieutenant governor on Saturday. It was through the former that Mr. O'Hara received the information of the Maude Robinson affidavit. Mr. O'Connell said that he was visited by Richard M. Sullivan, deputy sheriff of Saugamon county, with information of the existence of the affidavit. In effect, Sullivan's communication was that unless Lieutenant Governor O'Hara curbed the vice investigation at Springfield the affidavit would be made the basis of public charges. This document made no direct charge of immorality, but related circumstances which might be construed as supporting such a charge.

Mr. O'Connell talked the matter over with Mr. O'Hara, and in the end advised the lieutenant governor to let the alleged "frame-up" against him run its course.

FARRELL PUTS GIANT COMBINE IN A NEW LIGHT

Steel Corporation an Organization Formed to Develop the Foreign Trade, Not to Suppress Competitors, Its President Testifies in U. S. Court in New York City.

It Has Agents in Every Land and Its Business Has Had Wonderful Growth—Witness' Intimate Knowledge of Affairs in Distant Climes Amazes His Hearers.

New York, May 12.—The United States Steel corporation was pictured today by James A. Farrell, its president, as a combination organized not to suppress competitors, but to develop the sale of steel in foreign lands, a development which could not have been accomplished, he said, if the corporation had not taken the various companies competing for foreign business under its wing.

He was testifying as the first witness for the defense in the government's suit to dissolve the corporation as a combination in restraint of trade.

Mr. Farrell amazed his hearers by his intimate knowledge of affairs in remote parts of the world, and held them keenly interested as he narrated the story of his rise from a common laborer in a steel mill at the age of fifteen to be the head of the greatest industrial corporation in the world at the age of fifty.

How Foreign Trade Has Expanded. The witness traced the growth of the steel corporation's export business from 222,000 tons the first year it was organized to 2,246,000 tons in 1912, and from $31,000,000 in value in 1904 to $92,000,000 in 1912, and said the efforts of the corporation to put its foreign trade had been "continuous and indefatigable."

The result had been that 90 per cent. of the country's foreign trade in steel was done by the corporation, he said.

Mr. Farrell declared: "Our competitors have been concerned with foreign business only when domestic trade has been insufficient to keep their capacity employed. We have kept after the foreign trade continuously. If we had not, it would have been impossible to develop it."

The witness contradicted the testimony of William E. Corey, his predecessor as president of the corporation, that there had been "understanding" between the corporation and foreign manufacturers as to prices and a division of territory.

Has 268 Agencies Abroad. The corporation has established agencies from Iceland to the Fiji islands, 72 two hundred and sixty-eight in all, Mr. Farrell said. "We do correspondence from our office in every language," said the witness, "in English, French, German, Russian, Chinese, Japanese and Hindustani. We have to get the business. Our office is an encyclopedia for American manufacturers on trade conditions in foreign countries and we often lead our salesmen to do their business for them."

MANHATTAN DETECTIVES FIND MOONSHINE WHISKEY SOLD BY PUSH-CART VENDORS.

New York, May 12.—Through the arrest today of Morris Katz, a milk dealer, on a charge of violating the internal revenue laws, it became known that the United States revenue agents are endeavoring to break up a gang engaged in selling moonshine whiskey made in Brooklyn and distributed on the East side of Manhattan by push-cart peddlers.

Katz is charged with selling whiskey without first having paid the internal revenue tax.

According to detectives, the scheme has netted its promoters a small fortune. The officers say the whiskey has been brought into New York in milk cans and as much of the milk sold on the East side is peddled from push carts the gang easily disposed of its products without exciting suspicion.

NEW YORK PROSECUTOR IS TOLD CITY OFFICIALS RIDE IN TAXICABS FREE.

New York, May 12.—The district attorney's office continued today its investigation of the failure of the board of aldermen to pass an ordinance regulating taxicab charges and abolishing private stands on public streets. Two witnesses were examined—E. P. Banta, formerly employed in a confidential capacity by the Yellow Taxicab company, and Jesse Jusson, assistant treasurer of the company.

It is understood that Mr. Jusson submitted books which showed the twenty city officials were given free rides by the company aggregating $25,000 a year.

The charge accounts of certain city officials, it is understood, ranged between $22 and $130 a month and no pretense was ever made of paying them.

A PURE CLOTHES BILL.

If the government sees that the people living under its beneficent rule have pure foods, why should it not see that they have pure clothes? Among the framers of this question has been Representative Lindquist, of Michigan, who can see no reason why the interests of the clothes buyer should not be protected with the same paternal care given the interests of the food buyer. Accordingly he has framed, and will urge to passage, a pure clothes bill, blood relation to the pure food law.

"I have," said Representative Lindquist, "introduced a pure fabric and leather bill, which, if enacted into law, will guarantee to the consuming public pure fabrics in the way pure food is guaranteed to them now. By such a law I do not propose to prohibit the manufacture of inferior merchandise, but to make it unlawful to sell inferior goods for the genuine. Each article will bear a label stating the quality of material from which the article is made.

"Not only will this bill, if enacted into law, mean a great saving in dollars and cents to the public, but it will insure the public sanitary goods, as the bill provides that all wearing apparel shall be fumigated before leaving the place of manufacture.

"You have no conception of the great percentage of manufactured commodities that are adulterated by the manufacturers for no other purpose than to permit them to take an unjust profit from the pockets of the people. There is scarcely an article of any consequence manufactured from fabric or leather but which is adulterated in some manner, yet they are all placed upon the American market for the genuine article and the public is compelled to pay a genuine price for them, and in no case have I found it necessary to counterfeit the goods or merchandise, except for the purpose of added profit. I find in my investigations that there is very little adulterating done in the high class of merchandise, excepting silks, so that you can readily see that the practice of adulterating falls heaviest upon the great masses of people who can least afford the strain. I propose to place the blame exactly where it belongs.

"I have sent out nearly 2,000,000 pieces of literature throughout the United States, covering every congressional district asking the people to advocate the merits of this measure; and I have the promise of over 6,000 women's clubs who have agreed to co-operate with me, and I am satisfied that the country wide interest that is manifested in this momentous question will result in the passage of this bill."

WHICH IS IT?

One controverted question in connection with the Young-MacDonald contest continues to come to the surface. It is recalled in Mr. Young's address of Saturday by sentences in which the speaker implies that in the case of MacDonald vs. the state canvassing board the supreme court had considered the merits of the controversy and had decided that there was no redress, in law, for MacDonald. Now this is all very well, but it has also been urged in extenuation—or explanation, if you will—of the failure of the supreme court to act that the matter was outside its jurisdiction, congress being the judge of its own membership. In behalf of this view, newspapers and orators have gone to the extreme of refined analysis to prove that the case of MacDonald vs. the board of state canvassers was none of the court's business.

But it is clear that the case of MacDonald vs. the board of state canvassers cannot have been none of the court's business, as has been asserted in many quarters, and at the same time, as Mr. Young implies, essentially the court's business. The supreme court cannot at one and the same time have refused to act in the case and have acted in it unfavorably to Mr. MacDonald. The supreme court must either have taken jurisdiction, or refused to take jurisdiction.

There would be little reason for any perplexity over this question if the supreme court itself, in handing down the decision in MacDonald vs. the board of canvassers, had complied with the requirement of the state constitution that an opinion shall be filed in all cases of the kind, setting forth the reasons for the court's action. Instead—perhaps because of the political embarrassment of the question involved—it made known its opinion with the simple word "denied," without any statement of the grounds for its action.

It would be an interesting thing if, before final is written on this many-sided case, there might be some authoritative expression of why the supreme court actually ruled as it did. Then we could know whether the view apparently held by Mr. Young, or the opposing view, is the correct one.

It is, of course, to be understood that the only reason the militant suffragettes hurled stones at the house of John Dillon lies in the fact that John himself was not available to serve as a target.

THE HANNA PROPOSAL.

Much interest has attached of late to the efforts of Dan Hanna, owner and editor of the Cleveland Leader, to bring about a concert of action in Ohio between the Progressives and the Republicans. In many quarters it has been hailed as another sign of the approaching union of these parties, and it has been widely discussed.

Whatever the wisdom and the merit of Dan Hanna's views on the subject may be, it appears, however, that they have had no general acceptance from the Progressive leadership in Ohio and that his persistence in them will not result in the early amalgamation of the two parties in that state, though it may result in an amalgamation of the Republicans and such of the Progressives as Dan Hanna may be able to deliver.

Walter Brown, the Progressive state chairman, formerly one of the leading Republican politicians of the state, has thrown down the gauntlet to Hanna. "Amalgamation of the Republican and Progressive parties is impossible," he says. "Judged by their party platforms, as well as by the public acts of their leaders, they stand for totally different things."

Illustrating Mr. Brown's views on this interesting question, the following paragraph are worthy of attention:

Every casual observer of politics has known that for several years there has been no substantial difference between the Republican and Democratic parties. Each has had its share of progressives and each its share of standpatters. Such a condition could not long endure. The masses of the people cannot be permanently interested in a contest merely for the spoils of politics.

"Today a division exists in the Democratic party just as certainly as it existed in the Republican party before the progressives left it. Of course, at present the most conspicuous thing to Democratic eyes is the pie counter. Whatever difference Democrats may have, they have none in regard to the desirability of pie. But once the pie is distributed, the line of cleavage must surely appear, with the progressive Democrats on one side and the standpat Democrats on the other."

It follows logically that all progressives, I use the word in the broad sense, must some day make common cause, and all standpatters likewise.

We shall then have in this country, as in other countries, which are governed by parties, a liberal or progressive party and a conservative or standpat party. Just what party labels they will ultimately carry, of course, no one can say, but of this I am certain, that the rank and file of the Progressive party, as it is constituted today, will be found on one side, and the rank and file of the Republican party, as it is constituted today, will be found on the other.

It is significant that the demand for amalgamation comes with substantial unanimity from Republicans. Progressives, generally, are satisfied with the progress their party has made in less than a year.

They are already the second party in the country and while they have elected but few candidates, legislatures in the control of both of the old parties have entered into law many of the salient features of the Progressive platform.

The Progressive party in state and nation will go forward. Our organizers are at work, and are meeting with encouragement wherever they go.

If here and there an individual, impatient for the rewards of political victory, falls out of the ranks, we are certain that the gap will be instantly filled from the scores of voters who have been standing aloof to make absolutely certain that the Progressive party is wholly sincere and free from every taint of special privilege.

Despite the hostility of the leaders of the Progressive party to the Dan Hanna plan, efforts to give it practical expression by a union of Progressive and Republican clubs are being made, and have been attended with some measure of success. What degree of ultimate success can be encountered without the co-operation of the Progressive leaders is, however, a matter of considerable doubt, and one that can only be settled by the test of an election.

The particular weakness of the Dan Hanna movement is its frankly materialistic spirit. Its basic tenet is that the Republicans and Progressives must combine, for otherwise the Democrats will continue to hold the offices. Naturally this does not appeal particularly to men who have never had the offices and who do not expect to get them.

After all perhaps the truest word that has been said on the subject of amalgamation is that it finally must be a question to be determined by the attitude of the hosts of voters. Leadership alone cannot determine it. From the Republican viewpoint the obvious way to propitiate the men who make up the ultimate tribunal is the elimination from places of influence in its machinery of those who had to do with thwarting the voters' will in 1912.

Senator Kenyon said the reorganizers would have no particular objection if the national committee should resign. But there are many of its present members who believe that the ark of covenant still needs guarding and that the steam roller is the noblest work of man. Are these worthy citizens to have no happy political home? And what is to become of Professor Taft, with his fear of the initiative and referendum and the other unsettling legislation that reminds him of the French revolution?

THE NON-PARTISAN BALLOT.

When the voter goes to the polls the close of the month to mark his ballot for charter commissioners he will, as far as Marquette is concerned, have his first experience with a non-partisan election having to do with the general government of the city.

He will be handed a ballot on which the names of all the candidates for commissioners at large and all the candidates for commissioner from the ward in which he happens to reside will be printed, without party designation, one after another. He will be expected to place a cross before the names of the men whom he believes are best qualified to serve the city in the offices to be filled. He will not be able to vote any ticket "straight."

In the manner in which they themselves will be elected to draft a charter for Marquette there is suggestion of one reform the commissioners can make in the election machinery of the city, irrespective of the nature of the changes they may make in its plan of government. Whether the present system is retained or a commission form of government is recommended, the non-partisan ballot can be provided for.

If nothing else was done to bring about improvement in the city government, the non-partisan ballot would be of great utility. It would make almost valueless the tireless delving and maneuvering by which men unfitted for the offices they have aspired to have been able, in the past, to secure an ephemeral success. No longer would a strong candidate for ward office, through the influence of "straight" voting, help an undesirable candidate for mayor, and no longer would a strong candidate for mayor pull through a weakling aspiring to ward office. Each man would have to stand on his own bottom, and the likelihood of the best men being chosen would be greatly increased.

An accompanying reform to the non-partisan ballot should be provision for the nomination of candidates for all city offices by petition. This would do away with the caucuses and conventions, and thus with a lot of useless and friction breeding preliminary effort, and would insure the electorate of the widest possible choice of candidates.

The non-partisan ballot should bring better men into public service than herebefore have entered it, and this irrespective of the fundamental nature of the scheme of government that is in vogue. It should be adopted in Marquette.

In the arena of state politics all kinds of possibilities are flitting before the public eye, and there has even been speculation whether there is a likelihood that the upper peninsula may land another governor. And now Senator Charles Emery Townsend has entered the possibility class. He is being seriously mentioned, by the correspondents of the Booth newspapers, at least, as a possible Republican candidate for president, and his qualifications, affirmative and negative, are being set forth with great gusto and considerable detail. But it appears that Senator Townsend would be a more likely bet in the possibility class if he were closer to the progressive Republicans who had just met in Chicago to discuss plans for party rehabilitation. They seemingly feel that he is one of the men whom they must, in a measure, take the party away from.

And these frank reorganizers appear destined to have the predominant voice in the future management of the G. O. P.

Child of favoring fortunes and opportunity? Why shouldn't Frank James be the G. O. P. candidate for governor? Big enough to be called into consultation with the party bigwigs to prescribe for "that tired feeling" with which the G. O. P. is now enervated, why shouldn't he be big enough to seek the highest office in the party's gift in the state? Why not, eh?

The antipathy felt by President Wilson for Charles Murphy, of New York, the political idealist, who, for, for, for many years, has presided over the destinies of Tammany Hall appears likely to cost Charles dear before the four years of Democratic administration have come to a close.

One-half of the fruit crop of lower Michigan was, it is said, practically ruined by recent frosts. Experience, however, has shown that these pessimistic predictions are always subject to radical revision.

And now President Wilson has passed the buck directly to Governor Johnson.

MME. DIMITRIEFF SINGS FOR AGED.

The 1,400 old men and women inmates of the New York City Farm Colony on Staten Island, will hear Madame Nina Dimitrieff, the Russian prima donna, sing arias from "Pagliacci," "La Tosca," "Carmen," "Origoletto," "La Traviata," "Aida" and other operas on the farm colony grounds this summer.

Madame Dimitrieff will be assisted by the New York Police band, which has been rehearsing for weeks in order to be able to accompany her. This will be the first time in Commissioner Waldro's administration that the band has appeared at any but a police function. Mayor Gaynor, District Attorney Whitman, Borough President Crowell of Richmond, and other city officials, have been invited to attend.

The tribute to the singer from the aged auditors will be a bouquet of 10,000 violets. One thousand of them will pick 100 violets each.

The Highest Ideals, Applied to Public Service

Back of every institution is an Ideal, a certain standard and conception.

The single Ideal of the Bell Telephone organization is Service which shall be Good and Adequate in all its phases.

To attain this ideal, high scientific apparatus, together with efficiency methods in operating must be evolved, a harmonious, well-disciplined organization must be built up, commercial methods must be perfected, the financial conduct of the enormous business must be above criticism, and the problem must be solved of growth and development to meet an unparalleled public demand.

These ideals are being realized in Bell Universal Service.

PREPARING FOR EMERGENCY.

Advices from Ilhaca say Cornell students at preparing for the role which is humorously asserted may be man's when women have the ballot.

Nine male students have this year registered in the domestic science department of the college of agriculture. Among them are Watson's "varity" baseball team, and J. C. Whitney of Rochester, a member of the Glee club.

Watson, Whitney and the others spend the regular hours each day in the kitchen laboratories, clad in aprons, kneading dough, studying recipes, cooking and washing dishes.

Miss Brownell, head of this department, is very proud of her male students.

EDITORIAL OPINION

Progressives of 1776.

Long after the revolution, when the passions of the war had cooled, John Adams estimated that at no time during the struggle had more than a third of the colonists been heartily in favor of independence. One-third were indifferent and one-third were Tories.

That is, to at least two-thirds of the population sought that the men whom we now call "the fathers" were radical and dangerous innovators.

The standpatters of today have no small coming to the spirit of the small minority of progressives of 1776 who engineered the Revolutionary War.—Kansas City Star.

Friedmann's Declining Star.

Dr. Friedmann's conduct in connection with his serum probably prepared the world for an unfavorable opinion on the claims he has made for it. For this reason the preliminary announcement by the board of United States Health Bureau experts will occasion no surprise, sadly though it will disappoint those whose pressing need has made them too sanguine.

Dr. John F. Anderson, the chairman, adopts a cautious form of warning: "The effects thus far observed do not justify the confidence in the remedy which has been inspired by widespread publicity." This does not close the door to hope. Further observation may warrant a more favorable conclusion. It is reasonable, also, to examine the works used carefully in the light of the fact that medical men are necessarily slow to accept positive assertions regarding remedial values. They have no predilection or optimism. It is possible that this first judgment in the critics, the facts under consideration permit.

But the bad impression created by Dr. Friedmann's precipitate rush for the dollars has given to integrity respecting the merits of his serum the place from which a reasonable open-mindedness pending a complete demonstration should not easily have been dislodged. If he has not forfeited the respect of the public he has at least failed to grasp an opportunity to win very high esteem and honor as an earnest worker in a field that is ever watched with vigilant gaze by suffering humanity. His critics now have the ear of the people. The prejudice against him, for which he is himself largely responsible, may lead them too rashly to condemn the serum of which so much has been heard.—New York Globe.

President Wilson Is Right.

President Wilson's order placing under competitive test the 50,000 postmasters which were Republican heretics, is an election, tried to continue in office by an alleged civil service order is being promulgated by the Republicans in congress as a political step. It is nothing of the sort. It was President Taft who played the political game. Practically all of the army of postmaster affected by his rulings were Republican heretics, who had received their appointments by virtue of their deeds in behalf of the party. Qualification and fitness were secondary considerations in securing for them their jobs. They constituted and would constitute a highly important factor in the strength and effectiveness of the Republican organization. What, ever the motive, the effect of Mr. Taft's order was to preserve this party machine on the eve of what he and all his advisers knew was his retirement from office and a change of administration.

A sincere method for planning this class of postmasters under civil service, wholly above suspicion of political purpose, would have been to subject each and every one of them to a competitive examination, the applicants giving the best proof of their worth receiving the office, regardless of party. That is the real effect of the order now issued by President Wilson. It proposes genuine civil service in the postoffice. The difference between the Taft and Wilson orders is that the former instituted civil service on a political foundation, while the latter makes it civil service from the ground up. President Wilson is clearly right. Let Mr. Taft's 50,000 postmasters demonstrate their competency for the positions they hold over all comers, and the best men, whether Republicans, Democrats or what not take the jobs.—Saginaw News.

When Pat Tackles Sam W.

Patrick Henry Kelly's ambition to cut down the number of Smiths in congress by eliminating Samuel W. of that name at the next general hustings is doubtless a laudable ambition. Patrick Henry is of the firm opinion that there are too many Smiths in the house of representatives, but anybody who has ever tried to pull a cat out from under a wheelbarrow full of manure, or who is thoroughly aroused may have a vague idea of the task which confronts the smiling statesman from Lansing when he tries to drag Sam W. out of the seat that he has occupied so long. When anybody tries to do anything like that, Samuel W. is all teeth and claws. He is as fishlike as a job as trying to feed a tablespoonful of red pepper to a bear.

There are Smiths and Smiths, and Samuel W. comes from the old line of fighting Smiths. He is small in stature and null in speech but he is as active in a political fracas as a burking cynos rabbit at his time of day. Sam is here, there and everywhere at one and swatting Sam requires much more patience and agility than swatting the ordinary July mosquito.

The people like Pat Kelley, who has been in some great gladiatorial contests, but he has never entered the lists against a man who can dodge in and out, between his feet and run up his back and hold a chloroform sponge under his nose while he is turning around. Sam Smith is ubiquitous. When you think Sam is in Paducah, Ky., he is on his way from Quebec to Fowlerville, Mich. When you think he is at home eating a dish of breakfast food, he has been on the road three hours and made seven speeches. He is the concentrated essence of political energy and is as busy as the catboretor on a six-wheeler, slightly horsepower racing automobile. He can cut every man in his district by his first name and inquire intelligently after the health of all of the children from Rufus down to Charilda.

Pat may reduce the number of Smiths in the house of representatives, but if he does, it will not be Samuel W.'s fault. The contest will be a real treat for those who like excitement all the time and plenty of it.—Grand Rapids Press.

WONDERFUL DEEP SEA FISHES.

These fish were captured in depths of from one to two hundred fathoms in the Atlantic, and brought to the surface by means of a trawl. To preserve the extraordinary shapes of these strange dwellers of the ocean floor, a corps of artists quickly secured the bodies and copied the colors. The majority of those living at great depths were jet black. Their luminous organs, which light up the dark waters like flaming torches, are marvelous. These fish glow through the dark waters like flaming torches. Some have elongated snouts, on the tips of which are luminous organs emitting great volumes of light. Others have rows of luminous cells on top and below their bodies, with reflectors and lenses which serve the function of projecting light in definite directions.

These light-emitting organs are thought to be of vital importance to the life of the animal, for the purpose of illuminating the surrounding water to avoid foes, to recognize their own kind or to capture prey.

Many of the deep sea pelagic fishes are extremely voracious and some are known to devour fishes several times their own size. At 1,500 fathoms annual life is quite abundant. The greatest depth found by sounding is 3,293 fathoms, or 31,914 feet, nearly six miles. This exceeds Mount Everest, in the Himalaya mountains, 29,900 feet, in the Himalaya mountains, 29,900 feet, in the Himalaya mountains, 29,900 feet.

This is a point in the Pacific ocean off the coast of Guam, about one hundred miles or so.—Technical World Magazine.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO. WILL BUILD COTTAGE FOR ATTENDANTS

Seven-Room House to Cost $3,000 Has Been Planned for Morgan Heights.

The plans of J. S. Menzie, of Ishpeming, head carpenter for the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, for a seven-room cottage for the attendants at the Morgan Heights tuberculosis sanatorium have been accepted by the buildings committee of the board of supervisors, which is now asking for bids on the proposed structure, the cost of which will be approximately $3,000. At a meeting last fall the supervisors adopted the report of a special committee recommending, among other things, that line nurses and help at the institution have separate living quarters. An appropriation of $3,000 for this purpose was included in the 1912 tax budget. The proposed site of the cottage is a hundred feet or so north of the hospital building.

In every report he has made W. H. Farrell, the superintendent of the sanatorium, has recommended that this cottage be provided, also that added room, in the form of cottages for the various classes of patients, be provided. The board is, however, not yet ready to increase the hospital space.

The plans call for a two-story building, thirty-one by thirty-four feet. The first floor will provide a large living room, fifteen by nineteen feet, on the southeast corner of the building, with a fireplace and brick hearth. Back of the living room there will be a bedroom, eleven by twelve feet. The entrance hall will be eleven by fifteen feet, with a stairway leading from it to the second floor. Directly back of the hall will be a parlor, twelve by fourteen feet. The second floor will be divided into four rooms, each eleven by twelve feet. Both upstairs and down, the bedrooms will be fitted out with the usual complements of clothes presses and wardrobes. A finely appointed bathroom will be provided on both floors.

During the present week a branch order of the Michigan Forest Scouts will be established in the Soo by Superintendent M. J. Walsh, of the public schools. Mr. Walsh will be assisted by several of the high school students who are interested in the movement. The plan of the Michigan Forest Scouts is to protect the forests from needless destruction by fire and to encourage the conservation of the same. One object of the scouts is the planting of trees. With this in view Gen. Warden William E. Bates has purchased 100,000 seedlings, which will be planted throughout the state during the year. Eight hundred trees have been shipped to the Soo and will arrive this week. A half-holiday will be proclaimed by Superintendent Walsh during the week, when the planting will be done.

MANY JAPANESE IN HAWAIIAN SCHOOLS

Children of That Nationality Number More Than Any of the Others Represented.

Washington, May 12.—Japanese pupils now form the most numerous element in the Hawaiian schools, and they are increasing at a more rapid rate than any other race, according to a statement by Governor Walter F. Frear, received at the United States Bureau of Education.

The Japanese now have a considerable lead in the school population, with over 31 per cent of the total; the Portuguese follow, with a little less than 17 per cent; the Hawaiians come next, with 14 per cent; part-Hawaiians comprise one cent; Chinese, 11 per cent, and all other nations of races, 12 per cent.

Governor Frear gives other interesting information about Hawaii's schools. He shows how, after the establishment of the territorial government in 1900, the public schools fared worse and worse until 1907, when, with increasing prosperity for the islands, more ample provision was made for education.

Finally, in 1911, a new method of financing the schools was adopted, under which there has been a decided gain in the number of teachers, in salaries, and in general efficiency. Industrial schools that are partially self-supporting are a feature of the Hawaiian school system.

Babies Are Badly Burned.

As the result of a spark from a chimney smoking fire to a tent in which they were sleeping at Metropolitan one child was burned to death and another was so severely burned that little hope is entertained for its recovery. Veda Bean, three-year-old daughter of Eugene Bean, passed away in agony a short time after her horrible scorching body had been removed from the tent. Emma Bean, six years of age, is the victim who lies at the point of death at the home of friends. Two months ago the mother of the little girls passed away, leaving them in the care of their father, Bean, employed by the Morgan Cedar & Lumber company in the construction of a dam, a short distance out of that village. A short time after the death of his wife, Bean took his two little daughters and established a camp on the bank of the river. Early in the morning he arose at the usual hour and started a fire to warm the children who were sleeping soundly when Bean went out to inspect an incubator in which he was hatching a number of eggs. When he returned the tent was enveloped in flames. Dr. Moll was summoned from Foster City as quickly as possible, while Mrs. Bean was returning from the frantic father, assisted by neighbors, in an effort to alleviate the sufferings of the little ones. Dr. Moll rushed to the scene in his automobile and placed both of the little victims in the machine to take them to the village. Veda passed away before the village was reached.

Says Carmody Was in Escanaba.

That the police officials in Omaha, Nebraska, are mistaken in their claim that Thomas Carmody, wanted by Escanaba officials in connection with the mysterious disappearance of his son Lester, was never in Omaha for six months, is the assertion of Charles Morton of Escanaba. Morton claims that on the morning of Tuesday, April 22, three days after the Carmody boy was last seen, he met Carmody at the North Escanaba station of the Soo Line. Morton says he was returning from Rhineland, Wis., and as he left the train at the station Carmody was standing on the platform. He did not see Carmody at first, but as he was passing him Carmody grasped him by the shoulder and spoke to him. They talked together for some time before the train pulled out. Morton says that Carmody told him he was going a little ways north to see the folks. Morton is positive in his assertion that the man he met was Thomas Carmody. He is also positive in his assertion that Carmody was alone and was not accompanied by a boy, as he saw him board the train as it was pulling away from the platform. Morton says that he has known the three Carmody brothers for nearly eight years and cannot be mistaken as to the identity of the Carmody whom he met at the Soo station, in spite of the statement of the Omaha police, of the little Carmody boy who was last seen on Saturday, April 19, when he left the Oliver Hotel, where his mother is employed. Morton claims that but three days later the man suspected of kidnapping the child was still in the district.

WILSON IN BATTLE TO END TAMMANY

President Opens Finish Fight by Picking Candidate for Mayor of New York City.

Washington, May 12.—President Woodrow Wilson has declared war to a finish against Tammany Hall. It will be a war of extermination if the president is as successful as he hopes and desires to be.

Tammany received its notice when the president named John Purroy Mitchel to be collector of the port of New York. If the president has his way the war will end only after Tammany has been driven from control of the government of New York state and city and stripped of all influence in national affairs.

This war represents the most dramatic political situation in any state in the Union. The beginning was when President Wilson spurned the financial assistance of campaign tender Thomas P. Ryan through Colonel George Harvey and Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Indeed, the president gave evidence of his contempt for Tammany and its methods even before that, for in the earlier stages of the preliminary campaign to nominate him he ordered the dismissal of one of the men managing his campaign because that individual had approached Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany chief, asking him to support Wilson.

But it is only now that the politicians of the capital discovered President Wilson intends to use the full power of the federal government to assail Tammany. As collector of the port of New York Mitchel is to be head of an office second only to that of the mayor of New York in political potency. He will have 3,382 subordinates, among them 344 who draw salaries of $2,000 or better. Twenty-five of these positions are big enough to be filled by presidential appointment.

With this great organization under his command, supported by the army under the collectors of internal revenue, the greater army in the postal service in New York and by all the rest of the federal influence, Mitchel is to be the administration's candidate for mayor of New York in November of this year.

For the first time, therefore, since Grover Cleveland was president Tammany is to have formidable opposition within the Democratic party. And this time the war is to be waged for the extermination of Tammany, a thing Cleveland had the disposition to undertake but not the political skill.

In Mitchel President Wilson has selected a New York leader he believes cannot be won by Tammany. Mitchel not only has a personal but a hereditary abhorrence of Tammany and its methods. His father was the strongest foe Tammany had in the local Democracy. Mitchel therefore goes into the fight with a double incentive.

A GREAT AMERICAN INDUSTRY.

Cement Resources Important Factors in Country's Material Development.

Washington, May 12.—Of the manufacturing industries based on mineral raw materials, one of the most important is the production of Portland cement. This is due not so much to the direct commercial value of the finished product, though the output of Portland cement in the United States is now worth some sixty or seventy million dollars a year, as to the way in which the product enters into general industry.

Practically all our great engineering works are composed, in part at least, of cement; many of the larger buildings everywhere are built of reinforced concrete, while in the construction of dams, in a vast aggregate, cement finds use on farms, in mining work, in building railroads and irrigation works, as a paving material, and in countless applications elsewhere.

The entire growth of the Portland cement industry in this country has been a matter of a few decades, for the American output in 1880 was only 42,000 barrels, compared with a present annual output close to 80,000,000 barrels. Its growth was at first hindered by mechanical difficulties in plants and machinery, most of which were overcome by American genius, so that now we find plants in Japan, Australia, England, Germany, and South Africa using types of kilns and other machinery that were originally invented or perfected in the United States.

ranging usually from 1 to 3 per cent. of the domestic production. It is probable that in the future much more serious attention will be given to the export trade, particularly by the eastern mills, for its development seems to be the simplest method of disposing of the surplus which now periodically weighs on the eastern cement market. Of course an export trade in a commodity like cement—relatively bulky and low in value—does not promise any large direct profit to the individual producer, but indirectly the creation and maintenance of such a trade will benefit the industry as a whole. Owing to the scarcity in most of the South and Central America and West Indies of the fuel supplies necessary to the manufacture of cement the development of local cement industries in those promising markets seems unlikely.

MAKES INFIRM CADDIES.

Cincinnati Official Puts City's Charges to Work on Links.

Cincinnati, May 12.—An innovation in golf caddies has developed here through the efforts of Otto P. Geier, superintendent of the city department of charities and corrections.

The plan adopted by Dr. Geier is to have men physically handicapped work on the golf links. In this occupation various classes of men can be used effectively without injury to themselves, among them one-armed men, cardiac cases, anaemias, convalescents, etc.

As the result of the innovation several men have been put to work as caddies at one of the golf courses.

CARD PLAYING DIVIDES CHURCH.

Causes Elder to Resign After Game at His Home.

Akron, O., May 12.—Stow Corners is divided over the resignation of Oakley Spade as elder and Sunday school superintendent of the Disciples church. Two weeks ago the minister, Rev. J. H. Hayes, preached a sermon against card playing. As cards were played at Elder Spade's house the Friday before the sermon started. The minister's daughter, who attended the party, left when the cards were produced.

Mining News

COPPER RANGE.

Baltic's Showing Disappointing Feature of An Otherwise Good Report.

The report of the Copper Range Consolidated for the year ended Dec. 31, 1912, makes a very good showing, the important features being: An increase of nearly $900,000 in net; a small increase in the yield of refined copper per ton of rock; a surplus of $904,137 after dividends. An increase of $891,000 in net earnings, from $1,094,262. The negative features are the disappointing showing of Baltic, where the yield of refined copper per ton dropped to 20½ per cent, against 22.06 in 1911, and costs went up from 9.99 cents to 10.34 cents.

The result of this, in connection with higher wages paid in all the mines, was an 8 per cent increase in the cost of production of the consolidated property, from 9.74 cents in 1911 to 10.51 cents last year. Champion and Triniton, on the other hand, did splendidly in recovery. Champion, increasing from 21.29 to 22.56 pounds per ton and costs decreasing from 9.63 cents to 8.88 cents. The net earnings of the Champion were $1,251,000, of which the Copper Range's proportion, or $625,809, was 37 per cent. The net of the entire consolidated property, according to the report, amounted to $99,807, being a part of the net profits of $308,472. Triniton last year was an important asset to the consolidated company, particularly when it is remembered that in previous two years the net totaled only $100,000, and in 1909 the property was operated at a loss of nearly $50,000.

The net of the combined properties was $1,092,556, compared with $801,509 in 1911, or $4.29 per share, against $2.04 per share. As dividends last year were $2 per share, it was the first time in five years that dividends had not been paid in excess of earnings. The net profit for 1912, as stated in a preliminary addition to the working capital, which stood on Dec. 31, 1911, at the very small figure of $200,000, compared with $1,354,000 at the close of the 1909 year.

Headache?—It's Your Liver

Too Many People Take Headache Powders When a Liver Tonic Is Needed. Try Olive Tablets—the Substitute for Calomel.

Anyone who takes Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets the moment he suspects his liver or bowels, will never have headache.

There is no necessity, when you take Olive Tablets, of following them up with nasty, sickening, griping salts or castor oil, as you should after taking calomel or other metallic drugs; they are a purely vegetable compound mixed with cod liver oil, sugar-cane wax, etc., and never grip or cause weakness.

Thousands of people take one every night at bedtime just to prevent disorder of the liver, constipation, bad breath, pimples, headache, etc. Dr. Edwards, calomel's old enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets after seven years of practice among patients afflicted with liver and bowel troubles. Try them for a week. Take one on retiring nightly. "Every little Olive Tablet has a moving bill of its own." 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.

BOSTON & CORBIN.

The weakness in Boston & Corbin is explained by financial exigencies. President Amster states that the delay in the completion of the new concentrator, together with the fact that the new plant cost about $115,000, against an estimated cost of about $100,000, created an indebtedness of $20,000, which caused some concern for a short time and gave rise to rumors that the stock would shortly be assessed. This indebtedness has now been temporarily provided for through a short time loan from a banking house, and the directors of the company are now at work on a plan for permanent financing. This will likely be done through the issuance of additional convertible bonds, of which there are now in the treasury $250,000 of the issue of $450,000 authorized in 1910. The $200,000 bonds now outstanding were issued to net the company $90,000, although the last financing which the company did was in April, 1912, when 10,000 shares of stock were issued at $8 per share, less banker's commission of 75 cent per share. The company has outstanding 100,000 shares, besides the convertible bonds. A contributing factor to the decline was the disappointing results attained by the new mill during its first few weeks of operation, but President Amster states that the concentrations are now averaging better in copper content, although the company has not yet reached a self-supporting basis. Frank H. Probert recently made an examination of the property, and figured that there were between 100,000 and 150,000 tons of ore in sight, which compares with previous estimates of the management of between 250,000 and 300,000 tons, although on Engineer Probert's estimate it is figured that there is between two and two and one-half years' supply with the concentrator treating 200 tons per day. Engineer Probert believes that on and below the 12th and 13th levels, which are the lowest in the mine, indications are good that further tonnages of pay ore will be encountered.

INSPIRATION.

At Inspiration, churn drilling exploration, which was discontinued during the latter part of 1911, has been renewed on that portion of the property lying between Live Oak shaft No. 1 and the silicate tunnel. The present intention is to drill between fifteen and twenty holes. During the past 229 holes have been drilled, having a total footage of 124,886 feet. The present drilling should materially add to the already large ore reserves of the company, as the ground from a geological standpoint is identical with the other ore bearing portions of the property. It has been definitely decided to erect a 100-ton test mill, which is to be located near the Scorpion shaft. This mill is for the purpose of further demonstration of the applicability of the mineral separation flotation process to the Inspiration ore. Work is to commence immediately.

NOTES OF MINING NEWS.

The directors of the Quincy will meet within the next ten days for divided action. Three months ago $1.50 was declared.

It is said there will be a public offering of shares of the New York Consolidated of that portion of the $1,500,000 six per cent Granby bonds which stockholders did not take. Tight money and the fact that the stock is selling well below the convertible price tended to keep down the stockholders' subscriptions. The bonds are regarded as an A-1 mining security.

Advises from the East yesterday said: "The situation in the district embracing the Greene-Canaan mines shows some improvement, according to reports from the company. Four blast furnaces and two reservoirs are in operation and copper being turned out at a rate of something like three million pounds a month. Operations at the Veta Grande mine will be started soon, also one section of the concentrator. There has been some improvement in railroad conditions.

Lower State Notes

LUDINGTON—D. E. Cartier has a fractured collarbone as the result of an auto accident which occurred when he and a number of friends, including Mayor E. C. Hardy, were tipped over an embankment while going on a fishing trip near Branch. The car was severely damaged.

IONIA—Deputy Game Warden Johnson at Grand Rapids has lodged John game law violators several hard jobs. George Ewing, a clam fisher, was arrested for netting in Grand river and his new trap was confiscated. Hallett Shumaker and J. Kony were arrested at Ionia as they were putting down a new net within sight of the dam. William Todd of Portland was fined $25 for catching black bass.

MUSKEGON—As the result of throwing about Japanese snuff in large quantities in the main assembly room at the high school while Professor E. C. Grant of the Houghton College of Mines was giving a lecture and which nearly broke up the meeting, Kenneth Townson, son of a well known local business man, was expelled from school. The action will also probably result in expulsion of several others said to have been mixed up in the affair.

HOLLAND—Governor Ferris has signed the new city charter and expressed himself as highly pleased with the work of the local charter commission which had prepared it and nothing will prevent its becoming a law if the electors approve the changes at the special election set for July 14. Both Governor Ferris and Chief Assistant Attorney General Thomas Lawler complimented the committee on the fact that it was one of the best documents of its kind ever submitted.

KALAMAZOO—Governor Woodbridge N. Ferris, in an Arbor day address at the Western Michigan Normal school, told the hundreds of normal girls present that they should not marry until they had sufficient training and could hold down a job by which they might support a husband. "Many of you girls may marry only a two for a nickel man, many who are not worth considering," said the governor. "For that reason your study should be trained to support yourself. I am tired of seeing the girls of this country permitting so low a standard of marriage."

BATTLE CREEK—Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver's famous juvenile court has a new educational plan which he is working out with the aid of Thomas Edison, the inventor, with whom the judge conferred before coming to Battle Creek for the purpose of developing a former won't tell the secret of his plan yet. "My system will remove the artificial restraints that make our schools like jails and will replace them with natural restraints," said Lindsey. "Sing Sing and our public schools are run along the same lines. But the real trouble ones where they can't do a thing that is natural for five hours. Then when they get out they break all the windows in the neighborhood. It seems natural. In ten years from now we will abolish truancy and will have trouble keeping children out of school instead of keeping them in." Recent interviews with Edison led to the belief that the plan which the judge hints at is nothing more nor less than Edison's dream of making moving school books.

LANSING—A close observation of the state industrial accident board indicates that this department is rapidly developing into one of the largest of the state departments. Sept. 1, 1912, this board was formed. For a time there was considerable speculation as to what satisfaction with the employers and employees of the children of school, instead of terminating, but it appears that both classes are satisfied. In order for a state board or department to be successful, it is necessary that such a board or department show development. This has been made possible by the almost universal acceptance of the employers of the state of the compensatory act. Beginning Sept. 4, 1912, with four employees, thirteen clerks and stenographers are now necessary to conduct the affairs of the board, and soon this working force will have to be increased materially. The necessity for this increased force of employees may be readily appreciated when it is known that over 7,500 employers of Michigan are operating under the act; that over 450,000 employees are protected by its provisions, and more than 6,000 injured employees have received benefits since the board was created.

PRINCE OF WALES' PLANS. The prince of Wales will not go to Cambridge after leaving Oxford, as was first intended. He will finish his university education at Magdalen college at the end of the year, and early in 1914 start for an extended tour through Canada. In order that he may appear in military uniform while in the Dominion he will be given a commission in the Grenadier Guards. Prince Albert, however, will go to Cambridge next year, as originally arranged.

WOMAN IS HEALTH OFFICER. Dr. Ruth Sanderson, Hermosa Beach, Cal., has been appointed deputy health officer for this beach. Mrs. Sanderson is the first woman to hold a position of this character in this section of beach towns. She has been a resident of Hermosa Beach for many years and is a prominent figure in political and humanitarian circles. Mr. Jas. Orenstein, the Furrier, of Calumet, Mich., will be at J. L. Walton's tailor store Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 12, 13, and 14. Special orders. Repairing, remodeling and storage of furs. (5-9-Lf.)

MARLBOROUGH DUCHESS FETS. The duchess of Marlborough attended the Little Commonwealth dinner at the Lyceum club given in furtherance of a scheme to found a self-governing community in England on the line of the George Junior Republic in America. The duchess, it is said, is extremely embarrassed over remarks made by her mother, Mrs. Belmont, on landing in England, as she hates this sort of publicity.

HOW TO CURE A HORSE OF KICKING

A contributor to the current issue of Farm and Fireside says that his horse stopped kicking when he gave him the following treatment: "We filled a stout gunny sack with sand and suspended it from the ceiling with a rope directly in the rear of the kicking horse in such a position that its heels could have a good play upon it. This mammoth pendulum, needing but a forceful touch, would swing with clockwork precision as soon as the horse began to pay its gymnastic stunts upon it. At the first kick the bag would swing away, only to return with great momentum, giving the horse as good as it sent. Of course this unexpected state of affairs resulted in a general mix-up between the horse and the bag of sand for a few minutes, but the bag held its own, returning all it received with interest, until the horse, coming to the full realization that there was no use to combat, was perfectly cowed.

HELL DIE WITH BOOTS ON.

Curious stories are told regarding the attempted assassination of the king of Spain. When the news of the murder of the king of Greece was conveyed to King Alfonso the latter quietly remarked that he was not in the least surprised and that in all probability he would be the next monarch to meet his death in similar fashion.

He was counseled to ride abroad only when attended by a strong escort. His reply was thoroughly characteristic: "If I am not to be allowed to go about as I choose, then I don't mind how soon my end comes."

Those who stayed at Eaton Hall when the king of Spain was there some little time back recall that he then declared that he had no intention of dying in his bed and that whenever the time came it would come very suddenly.

King Alfonso is a fatalist and makes no secret of the fact.

PUTS AN END TO BACKACHE

QUICKLY CURES WEAK KIDNEYS

A Few Doses Give Relief, Helps Lifeless Organs Regain Health, Strength and Activity.

It is useless, dangerous, and unnecessary to be tortured with the digging, twisting pains of backache and rheumatism, or suffer with disagreeable kidney and bladder disorders any longer.

The new discovery, Croxone, provides a remedy which every sufferer can now depend upon to promptly and surely relieve all such misery and bring about a speedy cure.

Croxone cures these troubles because it quickly overcomes the very cause of the disease. It soaks right into the stopped up, inactive kidneys, through the membranes and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid and makes the kidneys filter and sift from the blood all the waste and poisonous matter that clog the system and cause such troubles.

It does not matter whether you have but slight symptoms or the most chronic, aggravated case of kidney, bladder trouble, or rheumatism that it is possible to imagine, for the very principle of Croxone is such that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieve you the first time you use it, and all the misery and suffering that go with such troubles end.

You can secure an original package of Croxone from any first class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.

SCANDINAVIANS TO MEET IN DULUTH

Members of Help and Aid Society Will Hold Important Sessions Early in June.

Members of the Ishpeming branch of the Scandinavian society, in addition to the delegates, now plan to attend the sixteenth annual convention, to be held early in June in Duluth, when it is expected that several changes will be made in the by-laws.

The most important question up for consideration will be the proposed consolidation with the Scandinavian Brotherhood of America. This proposal has been turned down by the Scandinavian Health and Aid society more than a year ago, but it is now thought that it will be approved.

Duluth members of the society will entertain the visitors in a pleasing manner. In this connection the Herald says:

"Plans for entering the sixteenth annual convention of the Scandinavian Health and Aid society were made the last evening at a meeting of the lodge. A general committee and sub-committees were appointed to take care of all the necessary arrangements.

"The convention will be held at the Sloan hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street on June 3, 4, 5 and 6. It is expected that there will be about 100 regular delegates as well as several hundred members of the order present.

"The entertainments proposed for the visitors include a bonspiel drive followed by a 'silbeskat' at the hall on June 4. On the evening of June 4 a banquet is planned to be held in the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue and First street. A boat ride up the river and a trip to the steel plant are also proposed.

"The executive committees appointed are: Oscar Peterson, chairman; Louis Lavine, John Carlson, Charles Edgren and Joseph Olson.

"The other committees are as follows: Banquet, Joseph Olson, chairman; Charles Boostrom, Edward Olson, Gust Anderson, Charles Edstrom and Gust Carlson; entertainment, Charles Mark, chairman; Louis Lavine and Charles Boostrom; reception and hotels, Gust Carlson, chairman; Carl Hogstrom, and K. A. Franklin; program, Louis Lavine, chairman; Gust Anderson and J. W. Hellstrom.

"This will be the second time that the local lodge has entertained the grand lodge of the order. Six years ago the convention was held in this city under its auspices. The local lodge has the largest membership of any single lodge of the society in the country, its membership totaling over 350."

GWINN READY TO TALK BASEBALL

Swanzy Range Town Has Organized Team and Is Prepared to Go Into County League.

The Gwinn baseball fans strongly favor the organization of a Marquette county league, to include teams from Ishpeming, Negaunee, Marquette and Gwinn. They have already organized a team, and appointed a committee to confer with representatives of the three cities for the purpose of perfecting a league organization and adopting a schedule.

The Swanzy range men have been informed that Ishpeming is now holding up the organization of a county league, whereas a short time ago it was said that the Negaunee fans were not very enthusiastic. Within the past week or so prominent Negaunee fans have assured the Swanzy range men that they are ready to organize a county league and that they will send representatives to a meeting any time it is called.

The Gwinn men favor an amateur league, in other words one that will be composed entirely of home men. They do not object to the professionals now in the three cities of the county who played in last year's team, but they are not in a position to bring in outside men and pay them high salaries in case the other teams strengthen up toward the latter part of the season. They would like to have a meeting held this week, and as far as The Mining Journal representatives can learn the Negaunee and Marquette men are also ready to meet on short notice, to consider the matter.

The members of the Gwinn team Sunday afternoon perfected their organization. Art Brand was chosen manager and Chester Kuder, who played on the Ishpeming team a short time two years ago, was elected captain. The line-up will be as follows: Catcher, Messier; pitchers, Swanson and Laney; first base, Darby; second base, Brand; Kuder, third base; Main, short stop; Haglund, left field; Robare, center field; Smith, right field; Johns, sub-catcher and fielder.

Sunday's game resulted in a victory for the Gwinn team by a score of 8 to 0, Laneyville and Swanson did the pitching, while Austin used five men in the box. The playing of Dr. Main at short was the feature. Kuder went to first on a bit and continued the circuit of bases on errors.

Another game is being arranged for next Sunday.

BALL PLAYER FRACTURES LEG.

Roy Prin, catcher of the Setters' baseball team, fractured his leg Sunday afternoon in the contest with the Lule fido nine. He was blocking a runner sliding in at the plate in the first inning when the accident occurred. It was not known at the time that his leg was broken, but after he was taken off the field it was discovered that both bones of the right leg above the ankle had been fractured. This will put Mr. Prin out of the game for this season. He is a good catcher and the Setters were relying on him to do the greater part of the receiving work this summer.

PARISH TRUSTEES AWARD CONTRACTS

St. John's Parochial School and the Sisters' Residence Will Be Remodelled.

Rev. J. A. Koul, the pastor, and the members of the board of trustees of St. John's church met last evening and awarded to J. S. Wahlman the contract for the reconstruction of the parochial school and sisters' residence on Pine, Pearl and Front streets. John T. Burke was awarded the contract for the excavation and building stone for the foundations, Edward S. Schilling, architect of Detroit, met with the pastor and trustees in an advisory capacity.

The contracts for the plumbing and heating will be awarded later. Each building will be provided with a steam heating plant. Mr. Burke will begin the work of excavation before the close of the week. Mr. Wahlman will order material immediately, with a view to having the school ready for use at the opening of the fall term in September.

The contract awarded to Mr. Wahlman practically calls for a new school. The interiors of all of the rooms will be remodelled with new material, new plaster and decorating. The building will be a brick veneer structure, provided with all modern conveniences. The heating plant will be in the basement, where there will also be two recreation rooms and toilets for the boys and girls.

The addition on the east end on the ground now occupied by the sisters' dwelling will be fourteen by forty feet. The sisters' residence will be moved to the northeast corner of the lot. Its main entrance will face Pine street. There will be an entrance to the school on Pine street, together with the present entrance, one facing Pearl and the other Front. There will be stairs leading to the basement rooms from both ends of the building and there will also be an entrance from the sisters' home to the school.

There will be a hall on the third floor, as at present, but the interior will be completely changed. The rooms laid out to better advantage, and the present stage will be removed. The hall will be especially fitted for lodge meetings. Both buildings will be provided with hardwood floors throughout.

The school will accommodate in the neighborhood of five hundred children without crowding any of the rooms, which will be of the same size as at present. There are now less than four hundred children attending, so that eight rooms will be ample to accommodate all the pupils for several years to come.

Both buildings will be installed on condition for years past, and they lack modern conveniences. The remodeling for some time and the plans and specifications prepared by Mr. Schilling had been ordered some months ago. Mr. Schilling was in Detroit yesterday, but expects to return in time to see the construction work started. A competent builder will be engaged to supervise the work.

EXTENSION LECTURE

Professor A. A. Stanley Will Speak at High School Wednesday, May 21.

The third and last of the series of extension lectures, given under the direction of the extension department of the University of Michigan will be held in the assembly room of the Ishpeming High school the evening of Wednesday, May 21, when Professor A. A. Stanley will talk on the subject, "How May a Community Become Musical, and Is It Worth While?"

This is the first year that the university has sent lecturers from their extension department to Ishpeming. The first two lectures of the series were well received here. It is hoped that Ishpeming will be one of the cities included in the itinerary of the speakers next season.

INSPECTED STREETS.

The mayor, superintendent and members of the board of public works and members of the street and highway committee of the council looking over the streets of the city yesterday for the purpose of determining what thoroughfares will be improved the present season. They made the trip in the first department's hose wagon. The city rock crusher, west of the St. Lawrence mine, will soon be put into commission as the street work will be started in a few days.

JUBILEE SINGERS COMING.

The Alabama Jubilee singers, composed of men and boys, accompanied by Prudent Dooley, of the Alabama Industrial & Normal college, will give an entertainment tomorrow evening in the First Methodist Episcopal church. President Dooley was in the city a few days ago arranging for the engagement. The singers will be heard in all the popular plantation melodies. The entertainment will begin at 8 o'clock. The prices will be seventy-five cents for adults and fifteen for children.

WORK AT MICHIGAN.

Trebilcock Bros. will send a crew to Michigan about the first of the month to do some concrete work for the township. About 2,000 lineal feet of walk, 1,000 feet of curbing and 1,500 feet of gutters will be constructed. The firm also has a contract to put a concrete foundation under the fire hall, which is to be generally improved.

AN ACTIVE PARTY.

Professors and Students from Colleges Getting Over Ground, Rapidly. The party of geological students from several colleges, who spent a few days in this county, left Sunday night for the Menominee range, where they will remain two days, concluding their trip. The party that visited in Ishpeming was composed of Professors C. K. Keith, M. G. Edwards, Sam L. Houghton, Walter C. Barrow, J. C. Scoles, Clinton J. Hansen and Hon. R. C. Brintnall. The students were C. R. Allana, Santa Rita, Mexico; W. A. Knoll, Valparaiso, Lapland; Per Gedjer, Stockholm, Sweden; J. E. Reber, W. E. Green, P. W. Chandler, J. M. Herald, J. Britz, T. A. Herald, J. J. Ranner, J. W. Crane and G. L. Harrington, of Madison; A. A. Wilson, of Minneapolis; S. M. Schneider, Boston and J. V. Schellington, New York. J. J. O'Neil, employed in the government geological work, was also a member of the party.

While in Marquette county the students visited Michigan and Champion, and some of the mines in and near Ishpeming. They spent part of Sunday in the territory below Marquette, leaving there on the evening train for the Menominee range.

A party of students from the Michigan College of Mines is expected here in a few days.

H. O. YOUNG'S ACTION CAUSED SURPRISE

Ishpeming Friends of Representative Had No Knowledge of His Intention.

The resignation of H. O. Young as a member of congress, which has been a general topic of discussion the past few days, apparently came as a great surprise to his Ishpeming friends. So far as can be ascertained no one of their number, even of those who have been on the closest terms with him, had any intimation that he contemplated giving up the seat. The news attending the delivery of his final address, is reported to have been one of the most unusual and impressive that the house has ever witnessed. Mr. Young was almost overcome with emotion as he brought his remarks to a close. His address, in part, was as follows:

Mr. Young's Remarks. "At the time the certificate of election was issued, the contestant had refrained from filing any such statement of his campaign expenses and the source of his campaign funds as is required by law. A recollection of the gross misrepresentation of the campaign and the allegations of fraud naturally occurred to my mind. I believed that I ought to see what time and investigation would develop in regard to the entire matter and so stated that I would accept the certificate of election.

Mr. MacDonald immediately announced that he would accept the certificate of election. My refusal to accept the certificate of election would not have elected Mr. MacDonald. He would have been still compelled, either to submit his fortunes to the chances of a new election, or to have proven in this body a right to a seat upon the stump and the motives of the proven. Its only possible effect would have been to delay perhaps, for a considerable time, the determination of the question here. There was no tribunal in existence, to which the contest could be submitted, nor would there be one until the sixty-third congress convened and the election committees were appointed. No one could be prejudiced by the necessary delay and investigation.

"The law under which my certificate was issued was the settled policy of the state. Since the decision of the People vs. Tisdale in 1883, which validated a certificate of election on the same grounds as mine, the legislature of the state has met in regular session at least 35 times. At nearly every regular session of the legislature the election law has been amended and there have been quite a number of complete revisions. But no one has ever suggested that the legislature should, by its enactment, change the rule laid down in the People vs. Tisdale. Nay, more; since this controversy arose and attracted considerable attention, the state legislature has been in session for several months and no attempt has been yet made to change the law in this respect. It is a part of the settled policy of the state.

"No criticism, so far as I have heard, has ever been made on the legislature for its failure, or refusal to so change the law. No man has raised his voice against the law of the state of Michigan which for 70 years has failed, or refused to change this provision of the law. My colleague from Michigan, Mr. Doremus, was a member of the legislature. My colleagues from the Fifth (Mr. Mapes) and seventh (Mr. Cranton) districts of Michigan were members of the legislature. I cannot find that any of them ever sought to change the election law in this respect, and no criticism is made against them. My honorable colleague, the representative-at-large from Michigan, P. H. Kelley, has been for four years the lieutenant governor of that state. I do not find that he has ever used his influence to change the law in that respect.

Deplores Attack Upon Court.

"Notwithstanding these facts, notwithstanding that it is the duty of the courts to enforce existing law and the duty of the legislature to change it, notwithstanding the fact that the court in this case acted in the only way a high minded and honorable court could act, yet it has been assailed for such action upon the stump and the motives of the judges have been brought in question.

their fairness and integrity doubted. All of the Bull Moose orators, headed by Colonel Roosevelt himself, have been on the trail of the supreme court.

"And in the meantime, see what time and investigation would develop and then remembering that a fact which cannot be clearly proven in the same as a fact not in existence, determines what course a man should take who wishes to do the decent thing in politics whether or not he receives the same decent treatment. That course I have followed keeping my own course and taking only two gentlemen into my confidence, one in this house and one in the other. I make no appeals for popular support. "I am convinced that if the 458 voters in Ontonagon county should be counted for the contestant no other facts can be satisfactorily proven which in a forum governed by broad equitable rules would justify a verdict in my favor. I am also convinced that it was the intention of those 458 electors to vote for the candidate of the National Progressive party. The contestant was the only person claiming to be such candidate and while under the law of Michigan, as it now is, and as it has been for 70 years, he is not entitled to such votes.

Bids House Address.

"I do not care to hold a seat in the house under a title that may be questioned by some honorable and distinguished men. I have therefore prepared my resignation and shall forward it today to the secretary of state of Michigan and file a duplicate with the speaker. I wish to express my appreciation of the unwavering courtesy, kindness and consideration which I have received at the hands of the house. My only regret in leaving is because of the severance of ties with men beside whom I have worked and whom I have learned to esteem. This is especially true of the members of the committees on which I have served longest. After 10 years of service, reflecting on the conditions under which men are elected to the house and on the strength of the temptations here, to follow one's intellectual integrity in favor of what is believed to be popular and the greatness of reward for so doing in temporary honors, I am confirmed in my opinion of the high average of unselfishness, honor and courage of the membership of this house. And now, Mr. Speaker, the time has come when I must bid my friends in this house a final and affectionate adieu."

WORK IS COMMENCED AT NEW LOCATION

Victor Carlson Is Awarded Contract for Erection of Five Frame Dwellings.

A force of thirty men has started clearing ground for the Mackinac-Gardner location, at a point about midway between the two properties and two miles north of Gwinn. Wahlman, the Islepeping contractor, has started work on the erection of the new building. The foundation is being built by Treblecock Bros., of Islepeping. ### ITALIANS TO HAVE FINE CELEBRATION

Meetings of Upper Peninsula Organization Next Month to Be Held in Labor Temple.

Arrangements are now practically complete for the annual convention and reunion of the United Italian societies of the upper peninsula, which is to be held in Negaunee on June 19, 20 and 21. Felix Chiabotti, of this city, chairman of the arrangements committee, said yesterday that the program had been tentatively arranged. The reunion will be one of the largest gatherings of the summer in Negaunee and will draw people from all parts of the upper peninsula. The convention is to be held on the 19th and 20th, and the reunion will be held on the last day. It will be concluded by a banquet at the Labor temple on Tobin street.

The Labor temple has been secured for all the meetings of the convention. Delegates will be present from most of the Italian lodges in the upper peninsula. All the members of the city council, city officers and county officers will be extended an invitation to be present at the reunion June 21. The Negaunee Italian band has been engaged for the occasion and also the Iron Mountain Italian band, one of the famous musical aggregations in the peninsula. It is also expected that one of the copper country bands will attend. The Iron Mountain band will be attended by the Menominee range lodges.

The grand lodge of the upper peninsula was organized in Negaunee four or five years ago. The number of branches affiliated with it has been increasing rapidly, and the affairs of the United Societies have been conducted in a very satisfactory manner. Calmet is now the headquarters of the organization, but several of the prominent positions at the head of the allied societies are held by Negaunee men, who were instrumental in the upbuilding of the organization. The coming reunion will be the first that has been held in Negaunee since the United Societies were organized.

A number of prominent speakers will be in attendance at the banquet on the evening of the 21st. It is also possible that the Italian consul of Chicago will be present. The banquet will be for the delegates to the reunion, the grand lodge officers and the city and county officers.

The program for Saturday, the last day of the meeting, has not been definitely decided upon, in case the weather is not favorable entertainment will be provided at the Labor temple. Otherwise, there will be recreation for the visiting delegates at the picnic grounds.

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY.

Body of Henry Curley Will Be Interred in Negaunee Cemetery.

The funeral of Henry Curley, who met death by drowning Sunday morning, will be held in Negaunee Saturday afternoon, about seven miles north of Marquette, where he was residing in Marquette, will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from St. Paul's church. He was twenty-six years of age and leaves a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Curley, and also three brothers, John, Walter and Ray, residing in Marquette. There are two other brothers, Michael, of St. Paul, and Lawrence, of Chicago.

Mr. Curley was a graduate of the Negaunee High school, and, after graduating, was employed by the American Express company prior to coming to Marquette. He was widely known in Negaunee and was considered one of the exemplary young men of the city. He was a member of the Islepeping lodge of the Knights of Columbus, which will attend the funeral in a body.

His brothers, Lawrence, of Chicago, and Michael, of St. Paul, will be here to attend the funeral. An aunt, Mrs. Louis Kellan, and other relatives living in the copper country, will also be here.

DEBATE HOUGHTON FRIDAY.

Negaunee High School Team Working for Interscholastic Contest.

Under the direction of several of the high school instructors, the Negaunee high school debating team, composed of Kenneth Doyle, Frederick Townsend and Edmund McDonald, is preparing for the interscholastic debate with the Houghton high school on Friday, May 16. The debate is to be held in the assembly hall of the Houghton High school. It will be the first one in which the Houghton High school has met a team from a school outside its own county. The Negaunee team will leave for Houghton Friday morning. The subject will be "Resolved: That All Elective and Appointive Offices Should Be Subject to the Recall."

Last year the Italian government gave official notice to its female employees in the telephone service that they should not marry until the age of twenty-eight years. Recently a new order has been announced that no married woman need solicit admission into the service, as she will be refused. More than this, bachelor girls previously admitted must obligate themselves in writing not to take a husband. Those who do not submit to this requirement will be summarily dismissed. This barbarous decree has naturally provoked a number of meetings. Madame Teresa, the Italian advocate has delivered a virulent discourse. "The administration," she said, "has enacted divorce between law and love, a barbarous decree. Woman, on the contrary, can have but one device, Love and Labor."—Le Cri de Paris.

JURY RETURNED SUICIDE VERDICT

Letter Found in Frank Catareala's Pocket Conclusive Proof of His Insanity.

The coroner's jury which met in Justice Argall's office yesterday morning to investigate the death of Frank Catareala, the Italian miner, decided that he came to his death by shooting himself through the temple with a bullet from a thirty-two caliber revolver, while temporarily deranged. All the circumstances, and the testimony at the inquest, tended to show that Catareala was not in his right mind at the time that he shot his two companions, Michael and Bruno Tassoni, and himself.

The testimony showed that on the day of the shooting, last Friday, Catareala received a letter from Chicago. After he read it he became despondent and declared to several of his friends that he was crazy and was going to kill himself. None of his friends paid any great amount of attention to him until the night of the shooting.

In the coat pocket of the dead man was found a letter, addressed to his mother in Italy, in which he declared his intention to kill himself. It was sealed and was ready to be mailed. For several days preceding the affray at the Mary Charlotte boarding house he was despondent and kept by himself a great part of the time.

The inquest into the causes of Catareala's death was conducted by Coroner William Prin, assisted by Prosecuting Attorney M. J. Kennedy, of Islepeping.

The South Shore freight depot at Newberry was badly gutted by fire Wednesday afternoon and a considerable quantity of freight destroyed before the flames were brought under control. The building was old and as dry as tinder and the fire spread quickly, the entire roof being ablaze when the alarm was quickly on the scene and with two streams playing on the fire soon brought it under control. A spark must have been smoldering in the ruins, for early the next morning the flames again broke out and completed the work of destruction. While the walls are still standing, the building is so badly damaged it will have to be replaced with a new structure.

Fire Destroys Daggett Hotel.

Fire, said to have originated from a defective chimney in the attic of the Daggett Hotel at Daggett, Menominee county, resulted in reducing the structure to ruins and for a time threatened to destroy the business part of the town. The hotel building was a frame structure, three stories high, and was one of the landmarks of the village, having been built thirty-four years ago. It was owned by the Leisen & Hones Browning company of Menominee and was managed by Herman Wurtzel, who recently closed a deal to lease the National Hotel in Menominee. All the furniture in the building, owned by Mr. Wurtzel and valued at $1,800, was destroyed. The loss on the structure is estimated at $7,500, partly covered by insurance.

SPILLWAY WILL BE INSTALLED

Light and Power Commission Decides to Build "Safety Valve" for Silver Lake, in Order to Protect Storage Dam—Other Improvements Are Considered.

Street Railway Company Accepts Proposition for Obtaining City Current and Will Order at Once a 200-Kilowatt Rotary Converter for Its Power House.

In addition to routine business, three important improvements to be taken up during the summer, were discussed at length at yesterday's meeting of the light and power commission. The members being practically of one mind as to the necessity of these proposed improvements, it remains but to take formal action, and Charles Rettelle, superintendent of the city electric plant, will start at once to gather fact and figures.

The most important of the measures talked of is the construction of a spillway at Silver Lake, twenty-two miles north of Ishpeming, where storage water for the Dead river power plant is dammed. The dam built last summer is equipped with gates and there is nothing to check the strain that might rise over it and cause the water to wash over the top, in which case the safety of the structure might be jeopardized. Under ordinary conditions this would not happen, for it would mean a terrific increase in the volume of water back of the dam. But it is the water back of the dam that is the trouble, and the commission is now busy in laying out storage basins of the magnitude of Silver Lake to prepare not for the usual dangers but for the unlooked-for hazards.

Would Be Ready for Emergency.

There have been frequent cloudbursts in all portions of the country this year and one might occur in this portion of the upper peninsula, it is believed. It was shown this spring, when the freshets came down all at once, practically doubling the volume of water in Dead river that a safety valve, as it were, is needed at Silver Lake to prevent even the remotest possibility of disabling the normal source of municipal power depended upon in the hot, dry season of the year.

It was fully decided yesterday to furnish the Marquette City & Presque Isle railway with power to run its street cars, upon the acceptance of the commission's offer by the company. An order to connect up the power house is pending upon the installation of the proper converting equipment.

The commission further decided that the unfinished portion of the new power house at Collinville—that portion of the old wood building which still houses smaller auxiliary and emergency equipment and which forms the north side of the new building—should be finished as a concrete addition. This work will probably cost $1,000 and will make the structure absolutely fireproof. The machinery now housed by the northwestern portion on the old wooden building consists of a 550-kilowatt generator; the old 300-kilowatt generator, which may still be used in emergency; a 300-horsepower water motor which operates the small generator, and a rope drive connecting the 1,000-horsepower water wheel with the 300-kilowatt generator, which may be taxed to high duty if needed when driven with this tremendous source of power.

Company to Buy Converter.

The street railway company has fully decided to accept the offer of the commission to furnish it with power, and Charles Rettelle, who is general superintendent of the plant for the company, will advertise at once for bids on a 200-kilowatt rotary converter, which is the type of machinery he deems best for changing the alternating current furnished by the city into direct current for the operation of street cars. It is more simple than a motor-generator set and more efficient than any of the substitutes for this latter equipment that can be installed at a cost of $2,000 and will require but wiring to make it a complete unit in the company's equipment. The steam generating plant at the company's power house will be left intact, to be used in cases of emergency or when the city cannot furnish power owing to excessive load.

The rotary converter is a practical and compact piece of machinery. One such as it is proposed to purchase will take the alternating current in at one end at a tension of 380 volts and send out as direct current at the other end at a voltage of 550. An additional structure in connection with the installation will be about $800, to cover the cost of two 100-kilowatt transformers to step down the municipal current from 6,000 volts to the 380 volts required to produce direct current in the converter at a voltage of 550. The high-tension wires used in the transmission of current from the Dead river power house to the Washington street sub-station will be tapped at a point a few hundred feet from the street car company's power house. By taking the current direct from the generating station instead of from the sub-station the possibility of the fluctuation in the load carried by the converter affecting the city lights when the generator is running up to the peak of the load will be reduced to a minimum.

The Proposed Spillway.

The proposed concrete spillway at Silver Lake will be located southwest of the east side of the dam and will allow the excess of backwater behind the dam an outlet into a ravine where it is expected it will find its way naturally to the river at a point less than a mile below the lake. The improvement will not be expensive, but Mr. Rettelle could give no estimate of just what it would cost, as he is unfamiliar with the details. The commission retains T. W. Johnson, of Appleton, Wis., as its hydraulic engineer and he is at present working on plans for the proposed spillway. The work will unquestionably be started this summer. Mr. Rettelle will go to Silver Lake at once with an engineer to take levels at the site of the proposed improvement.

It is to be sure, but otherwise to be too sure.

Miss Mary Farley, for Years a Trained Nurse, Died Sunday Evening.

Miss Mary Farley, an aged resident of this city and a nurse by profession, passed away Sunday evening at St. Luke's hospital, after a lingering illness. Those whom she had attended during the earlier years of her life did all in their power to make her last days happy, for except for two sisters, Mrs. Ella Meahan, of this city, and a brother, James Farley, residing in Milwaukee, she was alone in the world.

Miss Farley was born in Dublin, Ireland, about ninety years ago. She came to America with her parents and lived in Canada for a number of years. In 1833 the family moved to this city, where at the age of sixteen years Miss Farley became a nurse. A few years ago her mother and father passed away in this city at an advanced age. Until 1907, when her years prevented her from entering into further activity, Miss Farley earned her living by nursing. During the last two years she had lived with Mrs. Joseph Hazlitt.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock with services at St. Peter's cathedral and interment in Holy Cross cemetery.

PETITIONS ARE NOW BEING CIRCULATED

Several Candidates for Charter Commission Will Seek Election on May 24.

Petitions are now being circulated for several candidates for the charter commission to be elected May 24. Among the candidates for delegate at large are Charles E. Brown, E. H. Bush, J. C. Gaussen, and W. J. Small. Other candidates are Harlow Clark and John Hoffman in the second ward, John Godwin in the Third, W. A. Ross in the Fourth and Professor Lautner, of the Normal, in the Fifth.

The petitions of the candidates for commissioners at large must bear at least 250 names of qualified electors, fifty from each ward. The petitions of the candidates for ward commissioners must have the names of fifty electors. The last day for filing the petitions is May 19, on which date they will be turned over to the election commissioners, whose duty it will be to ascertain if the signatures they contain meet the requirements of the law. The names of all candidates whose petitions are ample will be ordered printed on the official ballot.

No limit is placed for the number of candidates and any citizen who has been a resident of the city for the past three years may qualify by petition. It is likely that other candidates besides those mentioned will appear on the ballot. In the first ward no candidate has yet come forward. William Wiseman was urged to make the run, but he has declined to do so.

Much quiet interest is being taken in the question of charter revision, and it is the subject of many earnest discussions among men who have been making a study of various forms of the commission plan. When the commissioners are appointed to hold public hearings it is likely that this interest will find reflection in free and general discussions on the part of the voters.

From the present outlook the question commission vs. the present form of city government will not arise at the election at which the charter commissioners will be chosen. The ballot will be non-partisan, and there will be no party designation or designation of any form on it. The voters will have to select the individuals they desire to record their votes for and place a cross before their names. This is a condition that operates to prevent the raising of an direct issue between the two forms of government at the time the commissioners are elected.

Whether or not a charter that will provide for the commission form of government will be adopted, it is likely that there will be a searching inquiry into the advisability of doing this, as several of the men who are candidates for a place on the board that will frame the charter have expressed themselves as favorably disposed to some radical departures in the present form of government.

Men who have given the matter some thought express the belief that it will be possible to frame the new charter within a few weeks after the election of the commissioners, and they predict that the charter election will be held some time before the summer is very old. The law is so arranged that a new charter can become immediately effective. There are no rights held by present office holders that are not to be disposed of, if they will, by the votes of the people, in passing on a proposed new charter.

READY TO START IMPROVEMENTS

Newberry State Hospital Board, in Session in Marquette Friday, Orders Architects to Go Ahead With Plans for Buildings to Be Erected at Cost of $85,000.

Contract Will Be Let Shortly for Ward Cottage on Northeast Corner of Quadrangle and Which Is to Be the First Absolutely Fireproof Structure.

At a special meeting of the Newberry State hospital board, held in this city Friday night, matters connected with the construction of the buildings which the legislature appropriated $85,000 were discussed and Charlton & Kuenzi, the architects who planned the original group, together with Edward Demar, who has been associated with them in this undertaking, were instructed to go ahead with the plans and to get the work of erection started as soon as the plans are ready.

The original appropriation bill carried nearly $200,000 for improvements and additions that would increase the capacity of the institution, which is already badly overcrowded, but the appropriation was pared to $85,000, which covers the construction of one cottage to be included in the quadrangle of buildings; one cloister to connect it with the others of the group; a bathhouse; an addition to the power plant; and a new dispensary in size to allow of the installation of new machinery to supply the increased demands of the institution; a tubercular ward cottage; an addition to the dining room, and a residence for the assistant physician. It can readily be seen that every dollar of the appropriation will have to be carefully guarded if anything worth while is to be accomplished with the sum at hand. In the bill a special item was made of each proposed addition and improvement, and in each case the amount asked was cut, often as much as 50 per cent.

Plan Fine Ward Building.

The board will, however, concentrate its largest expenditure on the ward cottage which is to form a part in the quadrangle, and which will occupy a site at the northeast corner. The building will be planned to accommodate ninety patients and it will be used as an observation ward for the classification of patients. The construction of this ward will be watched until it is decided to which cottage they will be assigned regularly. This ward will greatly relieve the crowded condition of the institution, but will not afford as much space as is at present needed.

The materializing of the plan for this building will be hurried. The board already has a fair idea of what the lines will be and what the structure will contain and it remains only for the architects to produce the sketches on paper. A contract will be let as soon as the plans are ready. The new cottage will be strictly fireproof construction, differing in this respect from the other buildings of the group. Concrete and steel will be used instead of wood wherever possible. As the cost of erecting this building will be less because of the proposed quality of the construction, the quality of the other buildings will naturally be reduced to meet the financial handicap. As soon as the plans for the ward are completed, however, and a contract is let, work will be started at once on the plans for the rest of the improvement, and these will be carried out under separate contracts. It is the intention of the board to finish the ward building as soon as possible.

The Other Improvements.

The ward cottage for tubercular patients is another structure that is greatly needed and on which no time will be lost. The plans for the observation ward are completed. The present bathhouse, operated in connection with the commissariat, is too small to be practical and its output can no longer keep up with the demands of the growth of the institution. A new bathhouse is immediately necessary. The assistant physician's residence will be a modest structure, out of necessity. The addition to the dining room will increase the size of that department so as to accommodate the maximum number of patients that will be housed at the institution when the group of buildings is completed.

BIRTH RATE IS HIGH; DEATH RATE IS LOW

Vital Statistics Reports for Marquette County and City Make a Good Showing.

Marquette city, with its 11,993 inhabitants, has a higher birth rate than the city of Saginaw, with more than 50,000 population, according to the monthly bulletin of vital statistics for March. The number of births in Saginaw during March was seventy-eight, making the birth rate per thousand population 17.5, while Marquette, with twenty-three births, had a birth rate of 22.8. The number of births in the state during March was 5,997, and the birth rate for the state is 24 for every 1,000 population.

The birth rate for the upper peninsula is 25.2 per thousand, and the total number of births was 750 for March. Marquette has the third highest birth rate of any county in the upper peninsula. Schoolcraft, with a population of 8,681, reported twenty-six births, giving it the high rate of 30 per thousand. Gogebic county, with 23,333 population, reported seventy-six births during March and has a correspondingly high rate of 24 per thousand. The birth rate in Marquette county was 31.1 per thousand. The total number of births reported was 122. The birth rate reported for the state as a whole is 25.2 per thousand, and slightly over fifty per cent. of the population of Houghton county, which has a population of 88,098, and yet Houghton reported but 193 births, giving it a birth rate of 2.3 per thousand. It must be considered in noting these figures that the striking unevenness in some cases may result from laxity on the part of the clerks, or recorders, in reporting births, or of negligence on the part of physicians and widwives.

VAUDEVILLE-MOTION PICTURES.

Performance Enjoyed.

To judge from the attitude of the large assemblage of spectators gathered at the Marquette Opera House last evening and that filled the building from vault to gallery for both performances, no vaudeville program the management has ever had been so pleasing as that which is being presented this week. "King Bolo," the musical comedy sketch, given by six young women and two young men, was roundly applauded, Miss Madge Hughes, in a "single" sketch, introducing the comic song, "Ach! Die Hand," and "When the Midnight Choo-Choo Leaves for Alabama," gave a clever and laughable performance.

HEARING IN CONTEST CASE IS TO GO ON

Status of MacDonald as Contestant Is Not Changed by Young's Resignation.

The greater part of the interest shown in the resignation of the Hon. H. C. Young as M. C. for the Twelfth district has turned on the question of where it leaves W. J. MacDonald, the contestant for the seat. On this score a Washington dispatch in the Detroit Free Press has this to say:

"Mr. Young's resignation will not in the least affect the legal status of the contest for his seat in congress. The house will proceed to try the case as if Mr. Young had not resigned. This has been the uniform practice of the house since its organization, the most notable case being that of Connors vs. Mackey, in which the contestants died and the house proceeded to try the case, disregarding the fact that neither of them would have been alive to take their seats if he had won. Curiously enough, the house decided that neither of them had been elected."

"It would be possible for the house to find that Mr. Young is entitled to his seat and he could if desired withdraw his resignation. The fact that Mr. Young was not elected would not establish the right of Mr. MacDonald to the seat from the Twelfth district. There are a number of intricate legal questions involved which might result in the passage of a resolution by the house declaring the seat vacant. In this event it would be necessary to hold a special election to fill it."

"As intimated in Mr. Young's speech, the fact that Mr. MacDonald did not comply with the law requiring him to file his campaign expenses may be an important factor in deciding the case. Mr. MacDonald filed his statement, but not until after the time has expired which is specified in the act."

Right to Run in Question.

The "intricate legal questions" referred to in the above paragraphs are believed to be the points affecting Mr. MacDonald's right to a place on the Progressive ticket, which it was the purpose of Mr. Young to raise if the contest had been fought to a finish in the house. Mr. MacDonald was enrolled as a Republican at the time he received the Progressive nomination, and Mr. Young's attorneys were prepared to assert that he at no time had any right to a place on the official ballot as a Progressive candidate.

Henry Coehms, of Milwaukee, counsel for Mr. MacDonald, when he visited the upper peninsula recently in connection with the taking of testimony by Mr. Young's attorneys, asserted that he was entirely indifferent to contentious legal questions, and was ready to agree to a stipulation of facts in which all that was contended in behalf of Mr. MacDonald was granted. He asserted that the precedents of congress' action in similar cases were all in favor of Mr. MacDonald, and that the overshadowing fact in the case was the one that Mr. MacDonald actually got before the electorate of the Twelfth district and actually received a plurality of the votes. In the light of this, he contended that, the election being an accomplished fact, the question of how Mr. MacDonald got before the electorate became one of wholly secondary importance and was not material in congress' disposal of the case.

What bearing the fact that Mr. MacDonald did not file his election statement at the proper time will have on the case is problematical. He recently asserted that the failure of the state to meet to be made within the date specified in the law was due to the fact that he left this duty to his partner and it was overlooked until it was too late to comply with the letter of the law.

SEX DETERMINATION.

The medical authorities are discussing a new phase of sex determination. The current number of The Lancet-Clinic contains a lengthy article on that subject, of which the following is an excerpt:

"Regions rich in food supplies show a relatively high proportion of female births. To still further emphasize the part that abundant nutrition seems to play in sex determination, high altitudes and northern latitudes where the food supplies are scanty and obtained with difficulty both show a large proportion of male births. That more boys are born in the country, where the food supplies come from, than in the cities, is explained by the fact that many physicians can testify to that city diet is generally more varied and abundant, especially in the matter of meat. Dusing gives figures showing that in Prussia the numerical excess of boys is greatest in the country districts, less in the villages, still less in the cities and least in Berlin."

"Still more significant is the fact that the proportion of boys and girls rises and falls with the proportion of the amount of circulating medium (money) in a country to the purchasable food-stuffs available for purchase—in other words, in times of war, famine or other national disaster more boys are born, a beneficent provision of nature, apparently, to fill up the depleted ranks of the armies or to furnish additional male hands to dig irrigating ditches and till the neglected soil. Even the poverty of an individual family is said to have a distinct influence upon sex determination and the poorer districts of a city show a larger proportion of male births than do the well-to-do sections."

"Ethnologists state that polyandry is found almost exclusively in poor countries, where there is a scarcity of women and excess of men, this excess of males

GRIM HAPPENINGS IN RUSSIA.

Count Karnicki, chamberlain of the czar, startled the Russian court by lecturing on the subject of being buried alive. He cited three cases which he himself witnessed, he said.

In 1890, he saw a coffin taken from a new grave in the village Looonoff, because, when the coffin was lowered by standards heard a noise inside it. The victim was a girl of eighteen years. When the lid was raised the girl sat up and looked around. She is still alive.

Case No. 2 happened in Vienna to a woman who was an employe of the count's aunt. During the obsequies in the coffin the lid of which had been removed for a last farewell taking.

Case No. 3 happened in the count's own household to the Baroness Mary de Komar. The woman, fallen into coma, was obliged to listen to all the preparations for her funeral. She heard the doctors pronounce her dead.

Only when she was lifted into the coffin could she succeed by a supreme effort in showing she was still alive.
