Night Session Busy One.

More men were examined for the jury during the night session than during the afternoon. The defense exercised all four of its peremptory challenges, and the plaintiff's attorneys exercised three. And there was a procession of witnesses dismissed for cause. The defense rejected, on peremptory challenges, Claude Pangborn, a school teacher at Palmer, and apparently one of the best equipped men for jury duty on the coast. Sam Grenfell, an Ispheming miner; Raoul Delaire, keeper of Cleveland park at Ispheming, and George Williams, a Negaunee miner. The attorneys for the plaintiff rejected William Stantway, a clerk in the Cleveland Chills Iron company head office at Negaunee, another likely looking venireman; M. H. Hennessy, of Marquette, and John A. Wasmuth, agent of the Upper Peninsula Brewing company at Negaunee.

With the completion of the above jury to try the case of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt vs. George A. Newett, of Ispheming, the first day's proceedings came to a close last evening, and a tired jury, tired attorneys and tired veniremen took an adjournment until 9 o'clock this morning, when the case for Colonel Roosevelt, prefaced by a brief statement by James H. Pound, will be presented.

Six Hours to Get Jury.

The completion of the jury that will try the case required six hours of solid work. The afternoon session ran from two to five o'clock, without intermission, and the evening session, beginning at 7:30, did not close until shortly after 10:40, and there was a ten minutes intermission, after the court had been at work about an hour.

Seven occupations are represented by the men who will come into the courtroom of the next week or ten days, return a verdict on the question whether Editor Newett grievously libeled Colonel Roosevelt. The farmer element is most largely represented, the townships of the county having furnished about twenty to the jury. Two teamsters and two miners account for four more members, and the body of twelve men is filled out by a woodsman, a locomotive fireman, a clerk and a blacksmith. Ispheming is represented by two, Negaunee by two and Marquette by one jurymen. During the evening a large number of Ispheming veniremen were called, but most of them were dismissed for cause or on peremptory challenges.

Attorneys Are Satisfied.

The attorneys in the case last evening expressed themselves as satisfied with the jury. Before Mr. Pound, informed the court that the plaintiff was content, he had a few words with Colonel Roosevelt, who nodded his assent to the apparent question whether he was willing to abide by the selection of the jury. Following on the plaintiff's acceptance of the jury, Mr. Belden peremptorily challenged Raoul Delaire, of Ispheming. The next venireman called, Gus Paulson, stood the ordeal of questioning satisfactorily, and, having been accepted by both parties, was the last man named to pass on the testimony that will be introduced in the case.

Before twelve men had been agreed on some forty-five veniremen had submitted to examination by the opposing attorneys. This was slightly more than half of the combined regular and special panels. Throughout the evening session the veniremen were questioned as to whether their business and family concerns would permit them to give a week's time, or two weeks if necessary, to the case, and a number of tentative jurors were excused because their personal concerns would not permit them to serve except at considerable hardship to themselves.

Will Sleep in Court House.

The jurymen will be under the direct charge of Under-sheriff Bennett and Jamerson during the period of the trial, and last evening, while the court was in session, Sheriff Moloney was busy setting up a dozen cots in the ante rooms of the court house, where the jurymen will sleep while the trial is in progress. It will be the first time a jury has lodged at the court house. The members will eat their meals under the escort of the court officials, and will be deprived of newspapers during the pendency of the trial. On turning them over to the officers last evening, Judge Flannigan addressed to the jury a few words of admonition, instructing them to keep their minds open up to the conclusion of the case, not to discuss it even among themselves while the trial is in progress and to once report to the court any effort to communicate with them, or in any way to influence their judgment. The jurymen, he said, would be permitted to write all the letters they desired, but they would be permitted to BALKAN WAR IMPENDS, IT APPEARS; BULGARIA VS. SERBIA AND GREECE.

Vienna, May 26.—Bulgaria regards war as inevitable, according to dispatches from Sofia. Serbia's demand for a revision of the alliance treaty is regarded as an ultimatum, and it is expected that Bulgaria will flatly refuse. Eighty thousand troops are massed near Sofia and other troops are being hurried forward in Macedonia. London, May 26.—Dr. Danoff, head of the Bulgarian delegates to the peace conference, is understood to have made emphatically worded representations to the powers regarding the attitude of Greece and Serbia. The representations are declared to be almost an ultimatum. Dr. Danoff in effect declaring that the present situation as far as Bulgaria was concerned was absolutely intolerable. London, Tuesday, May 27.—A correspondent of the London Chronicle is informed on high authority that Bulgaria will have the support of Great Britain, but at the present moment it is uncertain what can France and Russia will take. It is believed that Serbia, relying on the support of Greece, intends to keep all districts occupied in Macedonia.

NEW REVOLUTION APPEARS ON THE TAPIS IN CHINA.

London, Tuesday, May 27.—A Peking dispatch to the Daily Telegraph says it is generally expected that President Yuan Shi Kai will launch this week a new decree which may result in a counter-revolution. The situation in China is now practically a deadlock. The south is solid in its determination to have no representative government, wanting the old regime under a new form. The south is equally determined to perpetuate the completed provincial autonomy, backed by secure parliamentary control.

LAND SAFELY FROM BLAZING AEROPLANE

British Aviator and Passenger Are Aloft 1,200 Feet When Biplane Takes Fire.

Salisbury, England, May 26.—Yolpian from a height of twelve hundred feet in a blazing biplane, the British aviator Pizy and a passenger, H. Fellows, reached the ground in safety this evening and stepped from the machine just as an explosion of the gasoline tank wrecked it. The aeroplane was in easy flight over the outskirts of the town, when suddenly the carburetor took fire. Breaking the inlet valve, the aviator shut off the gasoline and started a steep voyage. The rush of air fanned the flames, and to those who witnessed the incident it seemed as though the men in the machine had been in a splendid landing. Tongues of fire swept under the passenger seat, and Fellows drew himself up and clung to the stays while the aeroplane dove down in its swift descent. Pizy held the wheel in firm grip, although the flames scorched his hands, and succeeded in making a splendid landing. Just as the men spring from the machine, the gas tanks blew up, but the fliers practically escaped injury.

MRS. PANKHURST IS IN HALLOWAY JAIL AGAIN

Rearrested, the Militant Forth with Embarks Upon Another Hunger Strike.

London, May 26.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the militant suffragettes, is again in Holloway jail. She was rearrested today, having, in the opinion of authorities, sufficiently recovered her health to warrant her serving another period of her sentence of three years' imprisonment. Mrs. Pankhurst, though evidently not strong when arraigned at the Bow street police court, declared vehemently that she would continue her "hunger strike" until she died or the government women the vote.

MAY FINISH TODAY

It is likely that the case for the plaintiff, barring the testimony and evidence that may be offered in rebuttal, will be closed today. Answering a question of Mr. Andrews at the close of the afternoon session, Mr. Pound said that the submission of the case for the plaintiff would require at least today. It will begin to go in immediately on the convening of court this morning, at 9 o'clock, and it is likely that among the first witnesses to take the stand if he is not actually the first—will be Colonel Roosevelt. In the case for the plaintiff there will be presented the testimony of the distinguished gathering of well-known public men who accompanied Colonel Roosevelt to Marquette yesterday morning. In all over twenty witnesses will take the stand in his behalf, and their testimony will concern personal relations with him under all sorts of conditions over an extended period of years.

BALL PLAYER HAL CHASE TO WED MISS ANNA CHERUG, NEW YORK YOUNG WOMAN.

Jersey City, N. J., May 26.—A marriage license was issued here today to Harold Chase and Miss Anna Cherug of New York. Chase is best known to the baseball fans of the country as "Hal." He is the first baseman of the New York American team. Chase and Miss Cherug applied for the license this morning, but inasmuch as he could not produce a certified copy of the decree of divorce from his first wife, the license clerk refused to issue it. Chase has his bride left the city hall, promising to return later with the paper. Chase, however, was busy this afternoon with his team, trying to stave off defeat by the Boston club, and Miss Cherug came alone to the license bureau with the decree and received the license.

GOVERNOR HUNT LOSES AVOIDRUPPOIS IN STANDING GUARD ON PRISON WALLS

Phoenix, Ariz., May 26.—Armed with rifle and revolver as the regulations require, Governor George W. P. Hunt, mounted guard on the penitentiary wall of Florence for two hours yesterday while the convicts and their regular guards enjoyed a concert by vaudeville performers in the prison mess hall. It was hot on the wall and the scales at the capitol showed today that the governor had lost two pounds.

The Weather

Washington, May 26.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Generally fair, Tuesday and Wednesday, with rising temperature; moderate variable winds, becoming southeast and south.

CORONER'S JURY CLEARS PRINCIPALS IN THE BOUT FATAL TO LUTHER McCARTY.

Calgary, Alberta, May 26.—A coroner's jury tonight exonerated, in the prize fighter, whose blow killed Luther McCarty in the ring here Saturday. The jury deliberated only a short time before returning the verdict, which also exonerated all the principals in the staging of the variable winds, becoming southeast and south. The authorities were not pleased with the verdict and it was intimated the criminal proceedings would be continued. The court of investigation was changed today as a result of the announcement by physicians following an autopsy last night that McCarty's death was due to a blow to the jaw which dislocated the neck. The first supposition that death had been caused by a blow to the heart was discarded when the heart was found to be sound.

VAST ARMY OF PESTS DARKENS THE SKIES

Grasshoppers by the Many Millions Reported in Flight in the Southwest.

Amarillo, Texas, May 26.—Traveling northward, a column of grasshoppers, five miles wide and eighteen miles long is reported in northeastern New Mexico today. Reports that the millions of grasshoppers seem to spread as they travel and also the appearance of smaller bodies of grasshoppers in parts of the state have caused fears of a general grasshopper pest. The Southwest, especially in Texas, western Oklahoma and New Mexico. Government, state and railroad experts have combined forces in New Mexico to fight the grasshoppers by using poison.

RED-LIGHT DISTRICT IN GOPHER CAPITAL LOSSES MANY DENIZENS.

St. Paul, Minn., May 26.—The tinkle of pianos and the laughter of women were absent in the seamy segregated district of St. Paul tonight, for the first time in thirty years. Bats barred the entrances of the sixty-two houses consisting of the "red light" district, as the result of an order recently issued by Chief of Police Flannigan that all resorts must be closed at midnight, May 25. A law prohibiting the operation of all disorderly resorts in the state was enacted by the last legislature and will go into effect June 2. It was estimated tonight that three hundred inmates of the resorts boarded trains today for points in Wisconsin and Illinois.

STOCK MARKET IS DULL; INCLINED TO HEAVINESS.

New York, May 26.—Disappointment was the portion today of that element on the stock exchange which had looked for a resumption of last Saturday's strong and active market. The opening prices reflected a degree of irregularity, which soon turned to heaviness. The absence of any definiteness in connection with the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific dissolution proceedings and the protracted open session of the United States supreme court, whose deliberations continue long after the markets closed, were determining factors. Finally the day brought a number of railroad earnings, few of which were favorable.

F. AUGUSTUS HEINZE IS SUED FOR $300,000

New York Banking Department Is Plaintiff in Case Against the Copper Man.

New York, May 26.—A suit for $300,000 against F. Augustus Heinze, the copper magnate, by the New York state banking department, was begun in the supreme court, Brooklyn, today. It is charged that Heinze borrowed $250,000 on twenty-four notes, drawn on the Union bank of Brooklyn, now a defunct institution, and its predecessor, the Merchants & Traders bank, depositing mining stocks as security, and that the state banking department has been unable to realize on the security. The remainder of the amount sued for represents interest. The prosecution rested its case, after introducing twenty-four notes alleged to bear Heinze's signature. Heinze, called for the defense, admitted making the loans and said he deposited ample security. "The understanding was that at any time I directed the bank was to sell this collateral, satisfy its claims against me and pay the balance to me," he testified. Heinze said he notified the bank in the fall of 1908 to sell the collateral. "But the bank held it until it depreciated to such an extent that I lost $250,000," he declared.

CONSERVATION UPHELD BY U.S. SUPREME COURT

Deciding Adversely to a Soo Power Company, the Tribunal Rules That the Flow of Navigable Streams Does Not Belong to the Owners of Abutting Lands.

In a Second Opinion, the Justices Reverse the Policy Adopted in the "Mineograph Case" and Destroy the Big Monopoly Threatened in All Patented Articles.

Washington, May 26.—The supreme court of the United States decided today that the government was not required to pay the Chandler-Dunbar Waterpower company $550,000, adjudged by a Michigan federal court, for waterpower appurtenant to lands condemned for the construction of additional locks and canals in the St. Mary's river. It was held by the supreme tribunal that the flow of a navigable stream was in no sense the property of the owner of adjacent land or of the owner of the bed of the river. The decision is regarded as precedent-making. The government lost its contention that the lower court erred in holding that one of the elements of price in payment for the uplands condemned should be their value for canal and lock purposes. In the Minnesota state case, now pending, the state objected, among many other things, to an allowance in the valuation of railroad property for the peculiar value of the property for railroad purposes. The decision is regarded as a decided victory for the advocates of conservation of natural resources.

"Patent Monopoly" Wiped Out.

The so-called "patent monopoly" which threatened to prevent cut rates by retailers in all patented articles on the market was destroyed today by another decision of the supreme court. The tribunal held that the owners of patents are not given the right by the patent law to control the price at which retailers must sell to consumers. The decision in turn applied only to a nerve tonic for which a patent had been issued, but will control all patented articles sold under restrictions not to resell at cut rates. The court reversed the policy adopted in the famous "mineograph case" decided a little over a year ago, when only seven justices were on the bench, but allowed that case to stand so far as it goes. This was accomplished what has been unsuccessfully sought in congress ever since the "mineograph case" was decided. In the "mineograph case," Justice McKenna, Lurton, Holmes and Vandewater upheld the right of patent owners to place restrictions on the nature of articles to be used on the patented article sold. Chief Justice White and Justices Hughes and Lamar dissented. Today Justice Day, who was absent a year ago from the court, and Justice Pitney, appointed since then, joined with the chief justice and Justices Hughes and Lamar in overruling the policy advocated by the four justices who handed down the court's decision in the "mineograph case."

SENATE DIRECTS INQUIRY INTO A NORTH CAROLINA "CURE" FOR TUBERCULOSIS.

Washington, May 26.—At Senator Overman's request, the senate today authorized the public health service to investigate a tuberculosis "cure" discovered by two North Carolina doctors. "Cures for tuberculosis seem to be running riot in this country," remarked Senator Gallinger. The public health service today made public a report by Surgeon J. O. Cobb, commanding the marine hospital at Chicago, recommending that the service refuse any further investigation into the treatment "discovered" by a Chicago doctor. The recommendation was accepted.

LEGISLATURE OF NEW JERSEY PASSES JURY REFORM BILL.

Trenton, N. J., May 26.—The chancellor-sheriff jury reform bill, which has the approval of President Woodrow Wilson, passed the senate tonight by a strict party vote. The measure passed the lower branch of the general assembly two weeks ago. The chancellor-sheriff bill, which contains a referendum and cannot become a law until adopted by the voters at the election next November, provides for the appointment of a commissioner by the chancellor of the state to act in conjunction with the sheriff in the selection of grand and petit jurors. Jury reform legislation was the subject of much discussion throughout the regular session of the legislature, which failed to pass any measure of this character. It was held by the supreme tribunal that the flow of a navigable stream was in no sense the property of the owner of adjacent land or of the owner of the bed of the river. The decision is regarded as precedent-making. The government lost its contention that the lower court erred in holding that one of the elements of price in payment for the uplands condemned should be their value for canal and lock purposes. In the Minnesota state case, now pending, the state objected, among many other things, to an allowance in the valuation of railroad property for the peculiar value of the property for railroad purposes. CONGRESS CRITICISED BY PROFESSOR TAFT

He Blames It for the Nation's "Ludicrous Unpreparedness for War."

New Haven, Conn., May 26.—Former President William H. Taft, in his concluding lecture at Yale today, on "Some Questions of Modern Government," criticized the United States as "ludicrously unprepared for war" and criticized congress for failing to provide for an adequate army and navy. Continuing, he said: "Much of the literature written about what would happen in the event of an attack by the Japanese supposes they could do a lot of impossible things, and that in the meantime we would be doing nothing; but we must remember that in the past we have had great luck, and it might not continue." The president's declaration that the lobbyists were so fixed "that no one could throw a brick without hitting one" revived interest in two bills recently introduced in the house and senate to regulate lobbyistism on pending legislation. Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, and Representative C. B. Smith, of New York, have declared their intention to press bills they have introduced and which would restrict the work of lobbyists, require their registration and that they be licensed to appear before any committee or to carry on a campaign for or against proposed legislation. Heavy penalties would be imposed for violations. License System Proposed. SENATE COMMITTEE TO QUERY BANKERS REGARDING REFORM OF THE CURRENCY.

Washington, May 26.—The senate banking and currency committee began its investigation of what is the matter with the nation's currency system and how its defects should be remedied, late today, when a list of questions to be sent to bankers and financial experts was approved and prepared for immediate distribution. There are thirty-two questions in the list, enough, the committee believes, after careful consideration, to delve thoroughly into the subject of currency reform. QUOTATIONS OF PRODUCE. Chicago, May 26.—Butter was unchanged in price in the market here today. Eggs, also unchanged; receipts, 23,225 cases. Poultry, higher; chickens, alive, 15 1/2 cents; springs, alive, 15 1/2. LOBBYISTS AT CAPITOL STIR FIRE OF WILSON

Were Brick Hurling, It Could Not Miss Hitting Some One Engaged in Insidious Efforts to Defeat Pending Party Legislation, the President Declares.

It's Time, He Believes, That the Public Should Be Relieved from "the Intolerable Burden"—Bills to End the Evil Will Be Pressed, Say Authors.

Washington, May 26.—President Wilson stirred congressional circles today with an emphatic statement denouncing the "insidious" and insidious lobbyism in Washington attempting to create public sentiment against certain features of the Underwood tariff bill. This was accepted as referring to the unusual efforts being made against free raw wool and free raw sugar. Which the president was declaring in his opinion that the public should be relieved "from the intolerable burden," senators and representatives were viewing on every hand the evidences of the lobbyists which beset them; and significance was attached to a statement made by Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, which now has the tariff bill in hand, that in his opinion the lobbyists were not making any headway. GOVERNOR FOSS, DEMOCRAT, WON'T RAISE PAY BECAUSE OF CHANGES IN TARIFF.

Boston, May 26.—Governor Eugene N. Foss, acting for the management of the B. S. Sturtevant company of Hyde Park, of which he is treasurer, today refused the demands of his employees for a 20 per cent. wage increase. As one of his seasons, he gave "the impending changes in the tariff policy of the national government," which he threatened to strike, unless their demands are granted or submitted to arbitration.

THAT NEW ELECTION PLAN.

Proportional representation, or, as its advocates prefer to call it, "the unanimous constituency system of representation," already is in successful use in Sweden, Denmark, Japan, parts of Germany, South Africa and the state of Tasmania in Australia.

The claims of this system now are being pushed in this country, especially for municipal elections. It is said that by this method a representation of minorities is possible and that it thus brings about a share in the government by all classes in the city.

The system in brief is to allow the voter not only a first choice vote but a second, third, fourth or any number, depending on the total of candidates running. Where one or more of the candidates receive enough votes to be the unanimous choice of the fractional unit decided on they are declared elected.

The strongest argument for the innovation is that it does away with our present tyranny by bare majorities. As applied to city government, it enables the voter not only to vote for a man of his own ward, but for the candidates in other wards if he wishes.

OPPORTUNITY TO SAVE THE ELK.

Americans appreciative of the picturesque, shrink whenever they consider the twilight of the Indian and the passing of the buffalo. A similar suppression of an extremely picturesque element in the life of the American west is threatened by the extinction of the elk.

The proposal of a lodge of that organization which takes its name from the elk that a preserve shall be purchased in Montana bordering upon Yellowstone National park, should find, therefore, a ready response.

Elk at present spend the winter in Yellowstone Park in bands of fifties and hundreds. Through this season they are protected. Hunger drives them, however, beyond the borders of the park and on the opening of the season, when it is lawful to kill elk in Montana, scores of hunters lie in wait.

The Michigan State Telephone company plans new mergers below the straits. The amendment of the railroad commission law approved by the last session of the legislature assures that the public interest will be well protected.

After the mergers are completed, if they finally go through, the telephone company will not be permitted to increase the existing rates without formal authorization by the state tribunal.

The fickle public, always looking for the latest sensation, has pretty much forgotten what the Japanese contention over that California matter was about.

For the moment the Roosevelt-Newton case commands a certain measure of its attention. Next week it will be scanning the news horizon for other prospects for interesting headlines.

In short it is pretty well understood that the commissioners will propose a revision of the charter downward in the number of individuals directly concerned in the administration of the various city departments.

Well, anyway, Ty Cobb is worth all the money he is getting.

Notwithstanding the pictures in the advertising sections of the magazines our best young men are not playing lawn tennis this season clad only in their underwear.—Detroit News.

A Montegomery (Mich.) correspondent says that the frost in that section killed all the apples except the Ben Davis. And the Ben Davis is the one that ought to be killed.—Grand Rapids Press.

Both Detroit Saturday Night and the Houghton Gazette owe Representative Hamilton an apology, by heck. They twit him with the New York Sun's satirical editorial comment in which fun was poked at the "laughter," "applause," and "loud applause" with which the report of one of his speeches was so thickly sprinkled. But these journals overlooked that the valiant Hamilton wrested an apology from the august editors of the Sun by showing that the speech in question was not one of those canned effusions in which the Record abounds, but was actually delivered and that the "laughters," "applauses" and "loud applauses" all had spontaneous origin on the floor of the house. Let this all be set right. In these days of insecure tenure of public offices let not our Michigan representatives be assailed with any unjustifiable levity.

Because of the attitude of the local press the Roosevelt-Newton case has gone to trial in an atmosphere that should be conducive to its settlement with the minimum of friction that may be expected to attend a case so vexatious in its nature. There has been no unnecessary discussion of the merits of the issue, or of any of the related matters that might be the source of bitter contentions. The absence of heat in connection with a case in which there was infinite possibilities of generating heat has been commented on by all the visiting newspaper men. It's a condition that is not productive of good stories, but even the newspaper men concede that is a condition under which the pending case, above all others, should go to trial. All extraneous considerations and influences should be excluded from it.

First reports of the death of Luther McCarty, indicating that it was due to a weak heart, had to be revised in light of the autopsy that showed it to have been due to a lapse in his pugilistic skill that exposed his jaw to a jolt that rocked his head and dislocated his neck. For McCarty's death there is the compensation that it will be an additional discouragement of pugilist contests by second and third rate heavyweights who possess little of the highly developed skill and fine relation of mind and muscles that do most to redeem the fighting game. The consequences now to ensue on the tragic end of this champion's last fight promise to be both embarrassing and disconcerting for the promoters.

The Michigan State Telephone company plans new mergers below the straits. The amendment of the railroad commission law approved by the last session of the legislature assures that the public interest will be well protected.

After the mergers are completed, if they finally go through, the telephone company will not be permitted to increase the existing rates without formal authorization by the state tribunal.

The fickle public, always looking for the latest sensation, has pretty much forgotten what the Japanese contention over that California matter was about.

For the moment the Roosevelt-Newton case commands a certain measure of its attention. Next week it will be scanning the news horizon for other prospects for interesting headlines.

In short it is pretty well understood that the commissioners will propose a revision of the charter downward in the number of individuals directly concerned in the administration of the various city departments.

Well, anyway, Ty Cobb is worth all the money he is getting.

THE EFFECT OF EXAMPLE.

At a largely attended banquet given at New York last evening by the Japan society, in honor of George W. Guthrie, the recently appointed United States ambassador to Japan, toasts were drunk to the Japanese emperor and the president of this nation, in grape juice. One readily surmises, of course, that the use of this non-intoxicating drink on this occasion is the effect of the example set by the president and Secretary Bryan.

Customarily in the past wine has been used at such functions, and undoubtedly wine would have been used in this instance but for the precedents which have recently been set by the administration leaders at Washington. Observing this tendency, and with obvious respect to the foreign diplomats at Washington in government official circles, the shrewd Japs in charge of this banquet tendered to a prominent official, out of the wine and substituted a mild, non-alcoholic beverage for toasting the representative heads of the two nations.

Nothing could better illustrate the far reaching influence of administration officials in setting the style, so to speak, to direct and govern even private conduct in such matters. When Secretary Bryan gave his famous grape juice dinner to the foreign diplomats at Washington, some were inclined to poke fun at it and assert it would have no particular influence. The mistake of this conclusion is already apparent, for the tendency to follow the example thus set is in evidence. Unquestionably, moreover, this tendency will continue and spread so long as the leading official representatives of this nation display a preference for "soft" drinks at public functions. Of course this will not mean a suppression of alcoholic drinks, or a discontinuance of their use by those who prefer them, but it will mean a far reaching influence to promote sobriety and temperance. And few will attempt to dispute that such an influence is far better than an influence in the other direction.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

Abandoned Land.

In sixty-three years 800,000 acres of land in Connecticut, once under cultivation, have been abandoned. Corresponding conditions obtain in most of our eastern states. These 800,000 nutmeg state acres, if tilled as skillfully as similar land in Denmark is tilled, would not only support in comfort the 1,600,000 persons who now inhabit Connecticut, but it is also figured would provide farm produce for sale outside the state to the value of $20,000,000.

It was believed by those who watched that he went on talking for quite a while after that. But no one heard what he said.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

"It is the Efficiency of the Telephone that Makes it Irresistible to a Great People whose Passion is to Get Results."

So says Arnold Bennett, our distinguished English guest and commentator.

"The European telephone is a toy and a somewhat clumsy one," he continues, "compared with the inexorable seriousness of the American Telephone. The instancy with which the communication is given, and the clear loudness of the telephone's voice in reply to yours, are phenomena utterly unknown in Europe."

Nothing on earth in the nature of a public service approaches in efficiency or universality the Bell System in America.

Michigan Telephone company the Bell will dominate practically the entire portion of southwestern Michigan. For some time the big company has been working out a general merger plan, taking over smaller and independent companies, giving local shareholders an interest in the home plants and improving the system by adding to the equipment and increasing the toll service.

PONTIAC—It has become known that the valuation of the city of Pontiac is boosted $2,000,000 by reason of the visit of representatives of the state tax commission to Oakland county. The figures are now before the board of review and the increase will bring the total value of Pontiac up to about $15,000,000.

ALEGAN—Dr. Lafayette Stuch and Frank Town for damages because a team belonging to Town took fright on the street last winter and in their mad dash down the street straddled the doctor's automobile, which stood in front of his office, damaging it to a great extent. It was brought out during the trial of the case that the doctor had no license tag on his car at the time, and the jury decided he had no case and brought a verdict of no-cause of action. It also appears that Town had offered the doctor $100 in settlement, but he refused, demanding $177.

LANSING—Kansas' experience with its "blue sky" law will be inquired into for the benefit of Michigan. John W. Haarer, state treasurer, and A. E. Manning, deputy state banking commissioner, Treasurer Haarer and Deputy Manning propose to set out for Kansas to devote several days to a study of the Kansas "blue sky" machinery. Kansas adopted its law two years ago. The Michigan statute was put through the last legislature. It will go into effect Aug. 15, but before it becomes operative the officers who are to direct its execution propose to learn all there is to learn about the "blue sky" business.

LANSING—Charles P. Downey, proprietor of the Hotel Downey, was acquitted by a jury here of the charge of allowing waitresses in his hotel to serve liquor to patrons of the dining room. The trial was a short one, and about the only point raised was whether a dining room in a hotel constituted part of a barroom, the law under which the complaint was sworn to. No woman could be allowed to serve liquor in a barroom. Former Deputy Attorney General Chase was Downey's attorney, and when Miss Laella Burton, inspector for the labor department which preferred the charge, was placed on the stand she testified that the waitress who she saw served was intoxicating liquor or not. However this had little to do with the case as the question was a plain point of the law. Labor Commissioner Powers said he had never asked an attorney for his conception of the law, as he was not a lawyer, but of the law sufficient to work under. The jury was out but a few minutes when it brought in a verdict which acquitted the respondent.

HUDSONVILLE—In helping to remove an auto belonging to James Davis of Saugatuck out of a ditch into which it plunged with four Douglas men, Peter Dikema of this place suffered a fracture of the leg just above the ankle. A team of horses was pulling the motorcar up into the road with a heavy chain. The chain snapped and the automobile again tipped over, catching Dikema underneath.

LANSING—Destruction of "Asbestos Row," a ramshackle building in the heart of Kalamazoo, has been ordered by State Fire Marshal Wolf, who thinks the structure is a menace to the city. Fire Marshal Wolf has returned after a three days' inspection of Kalamazoo. Fifty other orders for the repair of buildings in Kalamazoo also have been made. The deputies are now on a tour of Galesburg and Calhoun county.

HOLLAND—A pair of spectacles saved Paul R. Coster, the photographer, from becoming totally blind. Coster was preparing to take a flashlight picture of a party of Hope college students on the beach near Castle park when one of the boys standing near the camera accidentally struck a match, ignited the powder and an explosion followed. Coster received the full charge in his face. His face and eyes were severely burned.

EAST LANSING—It seems altogether probable that the two-year course in agriculture at M. A. C., for which the farmers of the state have been clamoring, is assured. At the last meeting of the board of agriculture a committee was appointed, with Dean Shaw as its chairman, to investigate the proposal. The dean has visited the agricultural colleges at Ames, Ia., and at the University of Wisconsin, and is said to favor the plan.

GRAND RAPIDS—A queer tangle developed in the probate court here in the estate of Martha V. Cooley, supposed to be deceased. Two women, representing themselves to be the missing woman, appeared and claimed the property. One resides in Detroit, the other in Allegan. As a result of claims sensational developments are expected. As a result of the tangle Probate Judge Higbie appointed an administrator, M. M. Kruger of Caledonia, to investigate. He thus appointed an administrator for the estate of a person presumably dead when two persons claim to be the one. The estate is that of Martha V. Cooley, who was given away by her mother, then a resident of Allegan, when her father went west to seek his fortune, over thirty years ago and did not return until after the girl had grown to womanhood and married. Her grandmother recently died leaving her $1,000. This the two claimants seek.

BENTON HARBOR—Mergers of various telephone interests in several southwestern Michigan counties, including mainly St. Joseph, Berrien, Branch and Hillsdale, are now pending. Early summer will see the consolidation of several independent lines with the Michigan State Telephone company. The merger means the absorption of the Michigan Telephone company, which serves a large territory in St. Joseph, Branch and Hillsdale counties, by the Michigan State. In Berrien county the Michigan State controls the field with the exception of one or two small independent companies. In Cass and Van Buren counties independent companies have a fairly strong foothold. With the acquisition of the

There are 405 pupils attending the Park school. The pupils and teachers in the Garfield school are holding a meeting in the afternoon, establishing a record for that school. The pupils exhibited the same order as shown at the Park school and the teachers were active in the duties assigned them. The piano was used while the students marched out. Some repairs on a part of the staircase will be recommended by Chief Campbell. Three hundred and seventy-five pupils are in attendance at the Lincoln school. The 480 students at the Lincoln school left the building in one minute and five seconds. The piano was not used in this building and although the pupils marched out in good order they did not show the same quickness as in other schools. The Washington school was emptied in thirty-four seconds. Three hundred pupils are in attendance. The fact that the fire gong was broken caused some delay in giving the alarm. A new gong was recommended by the chief. In the Central and McKinley schools better records were made than at any other time. Both of these schools are prepared against accident in case of fire and are thoroughly equipped for fighting flames. Chief Campbell has nothing but praise for the teachers for the efficient manner in which they handle their pupils when an alarm is turned in.

J. A. Shattuck of Newberry is one of the most enthusiastic boosters for Cloverland to be found anywhere in the peninsula. He is a consistent booster, too, willing to back up his opinion with good money. He has lately been making an investigation of the possibilities of sheep raising in this section and has become convinced of the practicality of such a venture. Mr. Shattuck owns about five hundred acres of fine farming land south of town, with a wide area of nearby out-lying lands that can be used for grazing purposes. All conditions are favorable for sheep raising and he has about decided to engage in the business on a large scale. Mr. Shattuck has for the last lower part of the state to investigate market conditions with the intention of purchasing several hundred head of sheep.

In the map of Asia an important change has occurred. The vast region of Mongolia has ceased to be a part of China and is now independent. The Mongols are chiefly famous in the world's history as invaders and conquerors in Asia and eastern Europe. They were vassals of the late Manchou dynasty, but not of the Chinese government, and their separation from China resulted from the proclamation of a republic. Their secession from China was aided by Russia, which thus secures a "buffer state" on its Chinese frontier.

FIFTEEN ENTER PLEAS OF GUILTY

The May term of the Houghton county circuit court opened yesterday morning at the county building in Houghton, the business of the opening session being confined, as usual, to arranging the trial calendar and the hearing of pleas.

The criminal calendar originally contained thirty-five cases set for trial, but fifteen of the defendants pleaded guilty, three cases were settled, a family commission was appointed for one, Mrs. Kuisisto, and but sixteen were left for trial.

In the case of Mrs. Kuisisto, Prosecuting Attorney Lucas asked Judge O'Brien to appoint a commission to examine Mrs. Kuisisto, and advised that County Physician LaJone had already examined her and pronounced her insane. Judge O'Brien appointed a commission, consisting of Prosecuting Attorney Lucas, County Physician and Dr. J. G. Turner.

The following was the disposition of the cases: Pleas of not guilty—Jerome Bezotte, charged with violation of the liquor law; Herman Zuercher, saloon open on Sunday; Joseph Mihelich, saloon open on Sunday; William Grose, keeping gambling house; John Messner, saloon open after hours; John Tardulwicz, saloon open on Sunday; James Vignetto, saloon open on Sunday; But Quoilo, non-payment of liquor license tax; John Grey, saloon open on Sunday; Matt Dragic, saloon open on Sunday; two charges; Ed Lewis, open on Sunday; Gust Devecchio and Carlotta, Devecchio, non-payment of tax; Isaac Maki and Mike Bronkowski, statutory; Tony Gruber, non-payment of tax to do good bodily harm.

Pleas of guilty—Sakaris Witta, description; Angelo Stringari, non-payment of tax; George Beasley, larceny; Frank Isola, open on Sunday; Amedeo Marioni, saloon open on Sunday; Matt Gruber, saloon open on Sunday; Henry Naam, non-payment of saloon tax; Joseph Rech, saloon open on Sunday; Joseph Swetich, keeping gambling house; Dominick Vitro, saloon open on Sunday; John Heman, saloon open on Sunday; Rosa Pucet, non-payment of liquor license tax; Joseph Marvar, non-payment of liquor license tax; Howard Sanders, larceny and Howard Wilbin, burglary.

Two statutory cases against Werner Erickson and Alex Hannula were reported by Prosecuting Attorney Lucas as settled, as was the case of John Bay, charged with non-support.

Judge O'Brien announced yesterday morning that Judge S. S. Cooper of Ironwood would be here soon after the criminal calendar has been disposed of to take up some of the civil cases in which Judge O'Brien was interested before his election to the bench. Among these cases are those of Frank LePage versus the Alumet Mining company; Nellie Clare versus the city of Hancock; Emil Karppinen versus the Quincy; John Bianchi versus John and Joseph Vertin; Lucile P. Gillett versus Fred F. French, and Elizabeth J. Richards versus the Duluth South Shore & Atlantic railroad.

As there were a number of cases in which defendants or plaintiffs were indisposed, had gone to Canada or in which the attorneys asked to be placed at the foot of the calendar, the civil docket proved hard to arrange.

Chief Campbell of the same rank school and his duties were not used out. Some staircase will be built. Campbell, fifty-five pupils in the building, Lincoln school minutes and five not used in this school. The pupils marched and did not show the school. The pupils in this school had become ill of such a nature that they were sent to the hospital.

New Orleans restaurants serving drinks with meals must hereafter pay regular liquor license fees.

AV. S. Hendrickson, secretary of the temporary organization formed several days ago to make plans for a track meet in Hancock next August, has received two replies from letters sent to runners that are expected to participate. The letters are from Woods and Queal, the former of Canada and the second of New York. Both men are anxious to come if suitable inducement can be furnished. The replies from Kohlenstein, Longboat and Haynes have not yet been received.

Chief Rentebach of Hancock appeared in Justice Finke's court yesterday morning in the case of John Johnson, who was arrested late Sunday afternoon for being drunk and disorderly. Johnson being picked up by the chief in the city park. The prisoner drew twenty days in the county jail. This was Chief Rentebach's first arrest.

Mrs. Victor Honkonen, forty-six years of age, died yesterday morning at Jacobsville, Ill., and was buried in the place for the past twenty-five years, one of the oldest on the location. Her husband, two sons and two daughters, survive. The funeral will take place tomorrow at Jacobsville.

WANTS TO CHANGE TOURNAMENT DATES

Red Jacket Proposes to Entertain Upper Peninsula Firemen the Week of July 13.

The Red Jacket businessmen's committee, in charge of the firemen's annual tournament, which is to be held in Red Jacket this year, has decided to ask the executive committee of the Upper Peninsula Firemen's association to consent to holding the tournament one week in advance of the original dates. The businessmen's committee came to this decision Saturday night.

The association executive committee holds its annual meeting in Red Jacket next Saturday for the purpose of approving the dates, the program and other matters connected with the forthcoming tournament and convention. The request of the local committee will be presented at this time.

The original date of the tournament was the week of July 29. The Red Jacket committee has received intimations that several departments in the iron country as well as copper country departments could more conveniently attend the tournament if it were held a week earlier. There is no doubt that the association executive committee will comply with the request of the Red Jacket committee but, pending that decision, the Red Jacket committee is holding up its contract with the A. R. Miller Grator Shows, which are to furnish the attractions for tournament week. The committee has selected these shows and will sign the contract as soon as the seal of official approval is set on the date.

For a District Fair. It was announced in Laurium yesterday that the Laurium Warehouse club, owner of the Palestra, would attempt to effect a consolidation of the Upper Peninsula Agricultural association and the Keweenaw Fair association in the hope of arranging to have the Palestra fair held alternately at the Palestra and the Mohawk fair in Mohawk. The Upper Peninsula association was organized some years ago for the purpose of holding an agricultural fair at the Palestra. Nothing came of it and finally the Keweenaw Fair association took its stand. The Mohawk fair was such a success last fall as to argue for a big exposition if the proposed consolidation is effected.

The annual meeting of the Michigan Pioneer and Historical society has been called for June 4 and 5 in the state senate chamber at Lansing, and an interesting program has been arranged. The feature of most interest to Houghton county and upper peninsula people is the paper by S. L. Smith of Detroit.

Mr. Smith's paper will be on "Pioneer and Modern Mines in the Lake Superior Region." Mr. Smith is a former resident of Houghton, having come here in 1870. He has been a member of the society for many years, and in fact is one of the two survivors of the original fire department of Houghton, the other being Tom Brown of Washington, D. C. That Mr. Smith has been entirely lost his interest in upper peninsula affairs is shown by the fact that he has just arranged to visit the coast of Michigan at L'Anse, to take advantage of the boom in that village.

A number of other prominent Michigan people will be interested in the meeting and the first session of the newly created and Michigan historical commission will take place at the same time.

Whether or not the Keweenaw Historical society will be represented at the meeting has not been determined.

Through George H. Banks, superintendent of the Keweenaw waterway, Portage Lake and certain E. D. Peck of Duluth, United States, in charge of the harbors of Lake Superior, has asked for bids for the contract to dredge the proposed harbor of refuge in Portage river. Mr. Banks is sending out copies of the specifications. According to the terms of the specifications the dredging work on this important navigation improvement should be started before July 1. The contractor must start work within 15 days after he is awarded the contract, which award will be made shortly after June 3, the date of the opening of the bids at Capt. Peck's office in Duluth.

The dredging will be just within the mouth of Portage river, in sight of White City. The work will begin on the north end of the basin, on the west side of the present channel and will continue as far south as the available funds will permit. In making this statement the specifications seem to anticipate working to complete the work with the money appropriated for the purpose.

The area to be dredged has a width of 250 to 300 feet to the west of the channel and a length north and south of 1,100 feet, more or less, depending on the yarding. Some of this area will be shallow digging and some in marshy land. It will include the dredging away of the old Edgerton dock remains after the warehouse and timber of value are removed, and possibly the base of the rear range light. Digger dredges only will be used on the light.

The completed work shall have a minimum depth of 20 feet of low water datum, much is the mean lowest stage of the water.

It is proposed to award the entire contract to the bidder. The specifications prevent the use of any contract labor on the work and include the authority of the United States engineer in charge to order the discharge of any incompetent or objectionable employee of the contractor.

Work on Keweenaw Pier. Superintendent Banks is now engaged in making repairs on Keweenaw pier, the long breakwater running out from Portage Entry. The pier became weakened by the action of the waves, which washed out much of the stone in the cribbing. Much timber also has to be replaced. The work will require 3,500 tons of stone and 224,000 feet of timber. The work is being done by force account under the direction of the superintendent.

REMAINS COME FROM DULUTH.

James Shea Passed in Zenith City from Spinal Meningitis.

The remains of the late James Shea arrived in Hancock yesterday morning from Duluth and were taken to the home of the mother. Mr. Shea passed away in Duluth early Sunday morning, after a brief illness, death being due to spinal meningitis. He was thirty-eight years of age and after leaving Hancock went to Ishpeming, where he managed the Nelson House for a time. He is survived by his mother, four brothers and three sisters. The brothers are Mike, assistant cashier at the First National bank, John of Bessemer, Daniel of Virginia and Norbert of Hancock. The sisters are Mrs. Michael Driscoll and Mrs. Con Sullivan of Hancock and Mrs. Tibean of Duluth.

BARAGA COUNTY MAN HURT.

James Ryan Falls from Freight Train and Is Frantically Injured.

James Ryan, a resident of Spurr township, Baraga county, was brought to St. Joseph's hospital, Hancock, Saturday night in a serious condition. He had fallen from a freight train and was picked up unconscious on L'Anse hill Friday night.

Ryan, it appears, jumped an east bound freight train Friday night but fell off. The crew of the engine that pushes trains over L'Anse hill found the unconscious man and brought him to L'Anse. Dr. Eager, who saved him, called attention and later sent him to the Hancock hospital.

The unfortunate man sustained a bad gash on the head, contusion of the skull, his right ear was almost severed and two ribs and his shoulder bone are broken. It is doubtful if he will recover.

LOOKING FOR LEAK.

Water Committee Believes Water Main Is Broken on Sheldon Street.

The Houghton public works department yesterday morning put a force of men at work tearing up the pavement at the corner of Huron and Sheldon streets with a view of unearthing the water main at this point and seeing a leak in that main is responsible for the sinking of the pavement and sidewalk at this point.

The sinking here in the sidewalk has been noticeable for a year or more and the depression is now from four to six inches deep. Chairman Hill of the public works committee has long held that similar depressions were due to leaks in the water mains and it is to test his theories largely and to ascertain the cause for the sinking, that the main is being uncovered.

MICHIGAN HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

S. L. Smith, Formerly of Houghton, To Read Paper on Mines.

The annual meeting of the Michigan Pioneer and Historical society has been called for June 4 and 5 in the state senate chamber at Lansing, and an interesting program has been arranged. The feature of most interest to Houghton county and upper peninsula people is the paper by S. L. Smith of Detroit.

Mr. Smith's paper will be on "Pioneer and Modern Mines in the Lake Superior Region." Mr. Smith is a former resident of Houghton, having come here in 1870. He has been a member of the society for many years, and in fact is one of the two survivors of the original fire department of Houghton, the other being Tom Brown of Washington, D. C. FACES SERIOUS CHARGE.

Paul Chopp of Calumet Brought Back from Ironton, Minnesota.

Paul Chopp, a former resident of Calumet, was brought back from Ironton, Minn. Sunday evening by Under Sheriff Heikkila to face a charge of criminal assault on a fourteen-year-old Copper City girl. Chopp left the copper country two months ago, immediately after the alleged offense was committed. He was finally traced to Northern Minnesota and finally located at Ironton where he was found by the under sheriff.

MRS. TEDDY JOINS PROGRESSIVE CLUB

Wife of the Colonel a Director of an Active New York State Political Organization.

New York, May 26.—While Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt's attitude on the question of votes for women has been so conservative that she never has announced it officially, she appears among the directors of the New York State Progressive club of the twenty-ninth district, which has recently been incorporated.

It is the first real step toward giving women an equal standing politically with men in this state although woman suffrage is not an issue with the members. In fact, according to William Ferguson, one of the organizers of the club, they look upon the question of votes for women as "only an incident in the great question of progressivism."

Mrs. Roosevelt has been a member of the organization since its beginning, which was in the recent campaign and she has proved herself to be of great assistance to the club. Mr. Ferguson declared.

Other women directors are Mrs. Amos R. E. Jinet, Mrs. Samuel Herzog, Mrs. Arthur H. Scribner and Mrs. Richard S. Chisholm.

"The work of the women will be as general and comprehensive in character as that of the men members," Mr. Ferguson said. "I fully believe, however, that any will care to become district captains or take an active part in the machine work, as it were."

"Their end will be more social in character and they can keep careful watch of the political situation," he added. "They will distribute literature, write letters, get up entertainments and receptions which, as everyone knows, can be of immense value in a political way."

Some of the one hundred women members of our club," he added, "do not believe in the woman vote, but they believe in the woman influence in political life. I should take it that is why Mrs. Roosevelt is such an active member."

ANNU'S FIANCEE PROMISES SHE WILL BE TRUE TO HIM.

Philadelphia, May 26.—With the news that John Nicholson, Annu, was sentenced to Sing Sing prison for a term of two to four years for attempting to bribe Dr. John H. Russell, of Mattewan, to free Harry Thaw, came the announcement that the New York lawyer had been convicted of the same crime. The standards for temperature should always be set by what the robust can stand. The others will grow robust by acclimating themselves to the proper temperature. Of course, invalids and old people should have slightly higher than normal temperatures, but not the extreme heat which makes them drowsy and uncomfortable. Sympathy for such people generally leads the nurse or attendant to err in their favor and against his better judgment.

Dr. Eger takes a fling at the old theory that a regular, unchangeable temperature or climate is the healthiest. He declares that variation in temperature, as in everything else, makes for health. Death, disease and general debility, nipping air of the fall day is the best part of the American climate. Summer, if spent sanely, without the aid of alcoholic beverages, runs fall a course and the change from summer to fall is what adds to the health of each in preparing the system to combat disease.

Keep Your Windows Open. "The exercise given the circulatory system by variable weather is wonderful," says Dr. Eger. "The temperature variations during the day are healthful and should be imitated in doors." Sleeping rooms should have a much lower temperature than the rooms in which we spend our waking hours.

Harpooners Hook Cash. Whale Hunters' Pay Makes Congressional Salaries Look Little.

Washington, May 26.—If a member of congress who receives $7,500 a year can't live in Washington as he and his family should and make ends meet, why doesn't he become a harpooner in the Norwegian whale fleet?

Secretary of the department of commerce has received a report from Consul General Charles A. Holder, stationed at Christiania, Norway, showing that the average harpooner on one of the whaling vessels attached to the Norwegian fleet receives for five months work $5,300.

Incidentally the harpooner is not worried over the patronage game and is not required to pay the expenses in Washington of a stranded office seeker.

TROPICS NOT ALL AT THE EQUATOR

Government Surgeon Puts Out Some Timely Advice—Keep Cool and Live Long

Washington, May 26.—Do you live in the tropics? Sounds like "foolish question No. Umpty-umpty" to ask this of American citizens, but after thinking it over and hearing what Dr. J. M. Eager, surgeon in the United States public health and marine hospital service, has to say, the answer from several thousand Oregonians, a few thousand North Dakotans, several hundred gross of Vermonters, and an equal number of pine tree residents may be yes. Surgeon Eager is going to ask some millions of Americans that very question in a little circular which is being mailed today. With the hot weather approaching you will overlook a bit if you don't pursue it carefully. In the meantime, Dr. Eager permitted the United States to publish in advance the gist of what he says in the circular, which deals as much with high temperatures in winter as it does with high temperatures in summer.

Dr. Eager warns that this country, through the lack of knowledge of the general public, is exposed to dangers more dire than the exotic ills of the equatorial region. He says the general tendency to keep homes, business places and schools overheated is responsible for much of the sickness and inability to combat disease.

"High temperatures," claims Dr. Eager, "are debilitating and reduce ones ability to resist diseases as dangerous as the dreaded maladies of the tropic. Indigestion, diarrhoea, cholera, for instance, are less to us than tropic diseases, but the terrible yellow fever is a mild enemy to the human race compared with tuberculosis. Keep the temperature of your homes, offices and school houses, your streets and public meeting houses as near the ideal temperature of 70 degrees as possible. Any higher temperature reduces the resistance power of the human body and makes one liable to various ailments. It weakens the defense which nature has provided us to fight the bacilli of disease."

Send Children to "Tropics." "What sensible person would send his children to the tropics to school? Yet many thousands inadvertently do so. Schools are kept at a temperature of 80 degrees, and 85 is not unusual. Long hours spent in such overheated atmospheres render children unable to stand exposure, subject to colds and catarrhal affections. The personal preference for hot rooms, especially the preference of 'chilly' teachers and anaemic children, should be disregarded. If such persons cannot stand the heat, they should be segregated for the good of the great majority."

"While people accustomed to superheated atmosphere feel chilly in a temperature of 70 degrees, no harm can really come to them and they can very easily accustom themselves to it. The standards for temperature should always be set by what the robust can stand. The others will grow robust by acclimating themselves to the proper temperature. Of course, invalids and old people should have slightly higher than normal temperatures, but not the extreme heat which makes them drowsy and uncomfortable. Sympathy for such people generally leads the nurse or attendant to err in their favor and against his better judgment."

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pimples will vanish after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Nothing ever cleansed the blood the way that Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do. Olive Tablets are the only successful substitute for calomel—they do not bowels; there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Olive Tablets do all that calomel does and just as effectively but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. Tablets that take Olive Tablets is ever covered with a dark brown taste, a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are successful in patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective results.

Try them. Take one nightly for a week. Then look at yourself in the glass and see how you feel. 10c and 25c per box.

Healthy Baby is Precious Blessing

To Make It Healthy and Keep It Healthy Use a Reliable Baby Laxative.

In spite of the greatest personal care and the most intelligent attention to diet babies and children will become constipated, and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion have wrecked many a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But as we cannot all have perfect working bowels we must do the next best thing and acquire them, or train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative- tonic very highly recommended by a great many mothers. The remedy is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and has been on the market for two generations. It can be bought conveniently at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, and those who are already convinced of its merits buy the dollar size.

Its mildness makes it the ideal medicine for children and it is also very pleasant to the taste. It is sure in its effect and genuinely harmless. Very little of it is required and its frequent use does not cause it to lose its effect, as is the case with so many other remedies.

Thousands can testify to its merits in constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headaches, etc., among them reliable people like Mrs. M. Johnson, 752 Dayton St., Kenosha, Wis. She is the mother of little Dorothy Johnson who was always in delicate health until her mother gave her Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mrs. Johnson says: "I never saw such rapid improvement in the health of anyone. Syrup Pepsin is a wonderful remedy and I shall never be without it again." Thousands keep Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the home for every member of the family can use it from infancy to old age. The users of Syrup Pepsin have learned to avoid cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and other harsh remedies, for they do but temporary good and are a shock to any delicate system. If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

Markets

WALL STREET STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co. wired from New York yesterday as follows: The crystallization of sentiment over the week-end was of a more cheerful nature. Before the opening of the market buying orders were in evidence all around the room, and the advance was helped along by short covering. Arbitrage brokers sold stock on balance today, chiefly Canadian Pacific, Union and Steel common. We are not in favor of becoming too enthusiastic on the bull side as much of the selling today was helped along on account of purchases made at a lower level. The market in the afternoon was unable to withstand the effect of continued suspense over the lack of an announcement in the Minnesota rate decision, and became rather weak at the end. Much interest is manifested in the proposed currency bill and we expect this problem to excite the minds of the American people in a more serious manner than they have yet considered the same. The closing prices were as follows:

Boston Coppers.

Of the market of Boston Coppers, Paine, Webber & Co. wired yesterday as follows: Expectation of a court decision in Minnesota rate case held trading in check today and when it became evident that the decision would not come until after close if at all, market became rather close. There was very little liquidation, however, and should decision be handed down today and it is at all favorable, we look for a sharp rise tomorrow.

Rue's Market Letter.

George P. Rue, broker, of Ishpeming, yesterday said: "The New York market opened firm on small trading, everyone waiting for the Minnesota rate case decision to come out, but around noon time, when nothing came, there was a break in the best prices of the day, with a slight rally from the low at the closing. The Boston market opened firm but quiet. North Butte sold up to 29 1/2, and back to 29. Calumet & Arizona, around 45 1/2, to 65. Granby 63 1/2, to 83. Sir Hubert von Herkomer, the artist, is said to be an enthusiastic follower of "bio-scopic," or the making of film plays. The new art, he declares, "has three attractions—you can make pictures without the bother of painting them, act plays without a stage, and compose stories without the labor of compiling a book."

PROPOSED LEAGUE SCHEDULE.

Marquette County Teams May Each Play Seven Games With One Another.

Manager Rydholm, of the Marquette baseball team, has worked out a schedule for the season 1913, a copy of which he has submitted to the three other managers of Marquette County league clubs. As he was commissioned to do this work and as he has produced what he believes to be the only possible arrangement by which each team will play exactly the same number of games, special holiday contests included, and on suitable dates, he expects shortly to hear of its acceptance.

Under the proposed schedule each team will play seven games with each other team. There will be holiday games everywhere except at Gwin, where it is thought the attendance will be too small to warrant the extra expense for transportation. The schedule prepared by Mr. Rydholm follows:

Marquette—At Negaunee, June 1, August 10 and Sept. 21; at Ishpening, June 29, August 10 and September 21; at Gwin, June 15, July 27 and September 7.

Negaunee—At Marquette, June 2, July 4, August 3 and September 14; at Ishpening, May 30, June 15, July 27 and September 7; at Gwin, June 29, August 10 and September 21.

Ishpening—At Marquette, June 8, June 24, July 20 and August 31; at Negaunee, July 6; August 17 and September 1; at Gwin, June 1, July 13 and August 24.

Gwin—At Marquette, May 30, July 6, August 17 and September 1; at Negaunee, June 8, June 24, July 20 and August 31; at Ishpening, June 22, July 4, August 3 and September 14.

MAY BRING SUIT.

Father of Amide Paradiso Here Yesterday to Get Legal Advice.

Leonardo Paradiso, of Negaunee, father of five-year-old Amide Paradiso, who was killed Saturday May 3 by being run over by a delivery rig on Teal lake avenue, came to Marquette yesterday for the purpose of getting legal advice on the matter of suing David Hanson, the driver of the rig, for damages. The father maintains that the driver's negligence caused the accident.

The father believes there were other witnesses than Leda Guimond, who testified at the inquest, and claims that he heard a man who says he saw the lad hanging to the side of the wagon tell of the youngster's having yelled to be let off. The driver, this witness charges, paid no attention to the youngster. It is said that Mr. Guimond, who was sitting on the porch at her home directly opposite the point where the accident occurred, also admits having heard the youngster yelling before he fell under the wheels. The Hanson driver maintains that he had no knowledge of the boy's presence on the side step or on any other part of the wagon. He says he ordered a number of boys off the tail of the wagon before leaving the store on the trip on which the accident occurred. The father will take steps, if possible to get the testimony of the witnesses who claim to have seen his son on the step of the rig and to have heard his cries.

REMEMBERS GUCK.

Colonel Roosevelt Met Houghton Editor During Spanish-American War.

During a brief interview with Colonel Roosevelt yesterday, Homer Guck, editor of the Houghton Mining Gazette, who is in Marquette to cover the Roosevelt-Newett trial suit for his paper, reminded the ex-president that he had once met him in Cuba.

After but a moment's hesitation the former leader of the world-famous Rough Riders recollected that Mr. Guck had been one of the sentries that once stopped him on a bridge as he was riding into Santiago, after the surrender. Mr. Guck further reminded him that on that occasion the sentries had mistaken the colonel for his own man and had ordered him to get out of his boots and show it to them.

"We were stationed there to keep the soldiers from getting into the city and getting drunk," Mr. Guck added, pleasantly.

Colonel Roosevelt allowed a thoroughly Rooseveltian smile to wreath his countenance.

"If you were to say that I looked as though I were riding into Santiago after a drink," said the ex-president, "you would probably be a most valuable witness for the defense."

Mr. Guck is surprised.

Homer Guck, in writing of his experiences during the last two days in Marquette, says:

"As the editor of a country daily, the surprising thing about this Roosevelt-Newett case to date is the revelation that all these great men that we have been reading about for so many years and hearing so much about in the public prints, are just common, ordinary human clay like the rest of us, when you get close to them.

"Even Gifford Pinchot wasn't as tall as I expected him to be, nor was his nose as long. Garfield, too, is but a regular, ordinary-looking sort of a chap. The colonel comes up to expectations when you have a talk with him, although he isn't as large a man physically as one expects to see."

HIGH SCHOOL OPERA IS TO BE REPEATED

Second Presentation of "The Chimes of Normandy" to Be Given Tomorrow Night.

After six weeks or more of careful preparation under the supervision of Miss Norma Ross, director of music, the student of the Marquette High school will this evening present the first performance of the beautiful old comic opera, "The Chimes of Normandy."

The seats for this evening's performance were all sold Saturday and yesterday afternoon J. H. McNeel, manager of the production, announced that tomorrow evening a second performance would be given and those who hold tickets may have an opportunity at once to reserve good seats. The house was largely oversold for the first performance and long after the tickets had all been disposed of there was a large demand for more. As a financial success, "The Chimes of Normandy" promises to be one of the likeliest efforts of the pupils of the high school to have ever attempted.

The opera will unquestionably be a success from an artistic standpoint. Those taking part have worked long and painstakingly in preparing it and nothing that would add to the brilliance or charm of the performance has been forgotten.

ROOSEVELT ON SUFFRAGE.

At the pageant in the Metropolitan opera house on the night preceding the parade Colonel Roosevelt made a straight-out woman's suffrage speech. Suffrage conditions, according to this endorsement convert to the cause, have changed enormously in sixty-five years: "A meeting like this would have been impossible sixty-five years ago. The idea of the mastership of man over woman has changed to the idea of equal partnership between man and wife, and the loftiest type of family life that I

HAVE YOU A FRIEND AFFLICTED WITH ASTHMA?

Frank S. Archibald, of West Swansey, N. H., writes:—For the past five years I have suffered with Asthma almost constantly. I was so nervous at times, I could hardly remain in my school. This disease coupled with the nervous strain to which teachers are always subjected made life almost unbearable. During a visit to my home in Hillsdale, Mr. Mann, a local druggist, called my attention to your White Wine of Tar Syrup. At first I was skeptical as I had tried almost everything with no permanent help. Finally I took home a bottle and the cure it effected seems almost miraculous to me after my former repeated disappointments.

I want to recommend your remedy to everyone who has been afflicted as I was for five years and I shall be glad to reply to enquiries regarding my case.

JURY IS PROCURED IN TRIAL OF SUIT

Col. Roosevelt Himself May Be the First Witness to Give Testimony Today.

chamber presented an unenviable appearance. The galleries were lined with rows of spectators, largely women, and the main floor was filled to its capacity—filled, but not crowded, for the court officials did not permit the standing room to be occupied, and during the afternoon large numbers of late-comers were turned away from the doors.

Before the sitting was announced both Colonel Roosevelt and Mr. Newett had taken their places in the picture. The colonel had accompanied a party of his friends from the Shiras residence to the court room, and had entered the chamber from the supervisors' room, which had been placed at the disposal of his attorneys, up the main aisle of the floor.

The approach of the colonel was unobtrusive, even by whisper through the crowd and before most of those in the court room had realized his presence he was ensconced behind the court rail, between W. S. Hill and M. J. Sherwood. Mr. Hill's seat was later occupied by James Garfield, and it was from a post between these two neighbors that Colonel Roosevelt followed the afternoon's proceedings with closest attention. His face was lighted at times by a flitting smile, as the examinations of the veniremen developed something of a humorous nature, but for the most part he followed the developments with impassive features.

Mr. Newett On Deck.

Mr. Newett had preceded Colonel Roosevelt to the court room by some moments, and occupied a seat at his counsel's table, with Messrs. Belden, Andrews and Clancy, who are associated in the case. Mr. Newett looks less large than he has at times in the past, his health not having been particularly good of late, but he retains his usual high color. He and his legal opponent were at one in concentration of their attention on the presentation of the case without any attempt to advise with their counsel. Neither exchanged a word with their attorneys at any time during the sessions.

Inside the rail of the court was another unenviable sight, a delegation of some fifteen men representing newspapers and press associations in all parts of the country attentively following developments and at the same time writing running stories of the proceedings for the several operators waiting in an adjoining room to put their stuff hot on the wires. From the correspondents' tables to the wire room flowed a steady stream of copy sheets, and several operators were kept as busy as only fifteen newspapermen seeking to handle a big story on a big scale can keep them.

No more eager audience ever assembled in the court chamber than the one that hung on every word of the comparatively uninteresting business of securing a jury. Not a seat was vacated during the three hours' session of the court, and although the questions of the counsel followed the same lines and the proceedings were not enlivened by any departures from the usual, the stroke of a found the audience alert and keen for the developments, their mien expressing realization of the unusual nature of the case.

Judge Was Liberal.

Judge Flannigan ruled with great liberality on all issues of whether veniremen should be refused for cause. Up to the close of the afternoon session he had instructed seven veniremen to step from the box, mostly in response to requests of Mr. Pound. When Mr. Pound was determined that he did not want a given venireman on the jury he set forth to establish cause why the court should not permit him to sit, and he was successful in this throughout the afternoon. In some cases Mr. Belden interposed no objection, but in that of William Cowley, of Ishpeming, he argued strongly against a declaration of cause by the court, both he and Mr. Pound citing authorities. The arguments at this point were spirited, but Judge Flannigan finally held that cause had been established.

The men released from duty for cause up to five o'clock were John Erickson, Charles F. Rutledge, William J. Irving, C. E. Driscoll, John Veale, John I. Keeton and Carl R. Johnson. Erickson and Johnson were rejected principally for the reason that they showed considerable difficulty in apprehending the questions of the attorneys. In the case of Mr. Rutledge it was contended by Mr. Pound that the business relations he had had with Mr. Belden, Mr. Newett and the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company made it inadvisable to hold him for duty.

Opinion Was Definite.

William J. Irving, of Republic, who gave Ireland as the place of his birth and mining as his occupation, made a good impression under examination, but just as it was beginning to be commented that he would probably serve, an answer was definitely made up about the truth of the reports concerning Colonel Roosevelt. The positiveness of his expression brought a smile to Colonel Roosevelt's face, and the judge invited him to step down.

Mr. Pound was at some trouble in establishing cause in the case of C. B. Driscoll, of Negaunee, but he finally, after having whipped over the ground of Mr. Driscoll's business and political relations with men interested in the defendant's case, and after taking him with having disseminated the reports reflected by Mr. Newett's article last fall, secured a ruling that he should not serve on the jury. John Veale, a night watchman at Michigan, also was under Mr. Pound's probe for a considerable time. He had read the alleged libel and had discussed it. He admitted that he had formed an opinion about its truth or falsity, but said that his opinion didn't amount to much and could be removed by the evidence. Mr. Pound finally ruled him ineligible on his own statements.

John I. Keeton was a likely looking venireman. He is a chief clerk at the Princeton location for the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company. He had read the alleged libel, but hadn't formed any judgment about it. However, Mr. Pound, who evidently didn't want him on the jury, had no great difficulty developing a line of questions which led Judge Flannigan to leave him off.

The Trend of the Questions.

In examining the veniremen, Mr.

Pound followed this formula, in the main, varying it in but few essentials: "Where do you live? Where were you born? By whom are you employed? What did you do previously? Do you know any of the attorneys for the defendant (mentioning them by name)? Are you a subscriber to Mr. Newett's paper? Did you read the article in issue in the case? Did you talk about it with your friends? Have you formed any opinion as to its truth or falsity (if venireman had read it)? Do you believe a statement that a man gets drunk or is a thief, if libelous, is a serious offense? If in case the libelous nature of the article in question was established would you find damages?"

Most veniremen were asked if they knew Mr. Young or Mr. Van Evera, and most of them did not. The question about Mr. Young had reference, of course, to the long friendship between Mr. Young and the defendant. The one relating to Mr. Van Evera had behind it the spirited colloquy between Colonel Roosevelt and John R. Van Evera at the Marquette station on the occasion of Colonel Roosevelt's address in Marquette in October last.

For all details of a biographical nature Mr. Belden, when he took the veniremen, was willing to accept the statements that Mr. Pound had developed. Mr. Belden was particularly interested in, and insisted on, knowing whether the man being examined had any opinion prejudicial to the rights of newspapers to comment freely within the limits and under the characteristics of a candidate for an office at the time he was a candidate. He also asked every venireman examined whether the fact that the plaintiff in the case had been president would cause his word to weigh more heavily with him than the word of the defendant.

Politics in Discard.

But not one word of politics did either Mr. Pound or Mr. Belden address to any venireman. The term "bull moose" did wake a single echo in the court room, nor was form given to the word Republican. The attorneys for both parties rigorously eschewed politics, perhaps because they felt that if the political affiliations of the jurors were ever gone into the seeing of twelve good men and true of unbiased minds would be indefinitely postponed. Anyway they took no chances on the possibility of having even a small section of the last national campaign fought over again.

Of the afternoon crop of veniremen who were held for possible service when the session closed, William Pryor was one man who made a distinctly favorable impression. He is a resident of Marquette, a locomotive fireman for the past six years, who said he wasn't acquainted with Mr. Newett, felt confident he could give a fair verdict on the evidence, and, on the other hand, asserted that he would not give the testimony of the plaintiff undue weight because of the great prominence of his position. William Stanway, a land clerk at the land office of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company at Negaunee, likewise made an excellent impression.

Herman Ellison, a soft drink manufacturer at Ishpeming, is a Finn by birth, and when asked if he was a friend of Mr. Newett's answered with an explosive "no" that suggested that he was quite the reverse. Mr. Newett joined the audience in a laugh that brought a mild admonition from the judge, but the other rejoinders of Mr. Ellison being similarly emphatic and explosive it appeared that he had no particular grievance against the defendant.

Robert Bruce, of Big Bay, and Michael Hennessy, of Marquette, both made very satisfactory answers to questions of counsel. They professed themselves as of absolutely open mind concerning the case, and were passed for the time by the opposing attorneys, after comparatively brief examinations.

Associated Press Story.

Marquette, Mich., May 26.—In order to hasten the trial of the libel suit of Theodore Roosevelt against Editor George A. Newett, which was called in circuit court here this afternoon, a night session was held with the purpose of completing the jury. At the afternoon session, ten veniremen were passed for cause.

The arrival of Colonel Roosevelt in Marquette today, accompanied by Gifford P. Pinchot, Truman H. Newberry, James H. Garfield, Jacob A. Riis and others, caused scarcely a ripple. The party got here early and only a few persons were at the train.

The distinguished plaintiff entered the courtroom swiftly and there was a craning of necks for a moment to see him, but there was no demonstration and presently the spectators had eyes only for the veniremen examined.

George A. Newett, the defendant, whose paper, the Iron Ore, alleged that Colonel Roosevelt "got drunk, and that not infrequently" sat at a table with his lawyers, William P. Belden of Ishpeming and Horace Andrews of Cleveland. He appeared exhausted from his recent serious illness and sat much of the time with his eyes closed.

The former president was one of a number occupying seats within the railing, and by his side sat Mr. Garfield and Myron W. Sherwood, a Marquette lawyer. The spectators only comfortably filled the room, as entrance was barred after all seats had been taken.

Insane Man Wires the Judge.

During the day Judge Richard C. Flannigan, who presided, received a telegram from Minneapolis, as follows:

"Don't let this sensational trial continue until I have arrived." The message was signed, "Jacob Miles." Judge Flannigan turned the message over to Frank Tyree, who was one of Mr. Roosevelt's guards while the colonel was president and who is here in charge of the police of Minneapolis, who wired back that Miles was insane and had been arrested.

James H. Pound, of Detroit, questioned the veniremen for the plaintiff. His associate attorneys are William H. Van Benschoten of New York and W. S. Hill of Marquette.

The Detroit lawyer made it a point to ask possible jurors as to their acquaintance with the principals in the defendant's legal camp and about their acquaintance with H. Olin Young. Mr. Young was elected to congress in the upper peninsula district as a Republican, but the Progressive candidate, Wm. J. MacDonald, set up a claim in the house that he had a moral right to the election as a large number of persons who wished to vote for him had innocently used erroneously printed ballots. Before a decision was reached at Washington, Mr. Young resigned. Counsel for the plaintiff are interested in reports that remarks made by Mr. Young really inspired Mr. Newett to write the alleged libelous article.

The opposing counsel worded the same inquiry differently when asking if a venireman would be prejudiced against either party in the suit.

"Would the fact that the defendant is a neighbor and a citizen of this community, while the plaintiff is a resident of a distant state, prejudice you against the plaintiff?" was the way, in effect, that Mr. Pound put it.

Mr. Belden would ask: "Would the fact that one party to this case is a former president of the United States, while the other is a mere citizen, cause you to give more weight to the statements of one side than to those of the other?"

In all, five veniremen were dismissed for cause during the afternoon, two of these because they failed to comprehend simple questions asked them. One of them said he could render a fair decision "regardless of the evidence," whereas a titter went around the room, subsiding before the court could utter the warning that hung upon his lips. The other, seemed stricken dumb, an apparent victim of stage fright. He was a large, blonde man with a drooping mustache. His lips moved sometimes, but the words would not come. To give him time to recover, Judge Flannigan deferred the examination until others had set an example, but after an hour he was still unable to articulate and was excused. He left the building and went to his boarding house and after court took a recess crowds passing it on their way home observed him through a window, talking with great animation to a friend.

Colonel Probably the First Witness.

The case will be heard, beginning tomorrow, by a jury composed of four farmers, two teamsters, two miners, one blacksmith, one locomotive fireman, one woodsman and one mine clerk.

The plaintiff, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, probably will be the first witness tomorrow.

As soon as the jury had been sworn in at 11 o'clock tonight, Judge R. C. Flannigan ordered the jurors locked up and kept in confinement until a verdict is rendered in court.

Mining News

BOSTON & CORBIN.

As a result of technicalities which made it impossible to float the proposed issue of $150,000 convertible bonds at a fair price to the company, a protective committee has been formed to formulate plans for a reorganization of Boston & Corbin. The committee is as follows: Harry M. Stonemetz and Alfred Colman, representing the bondholders; Randolph C. Grew and Bernard M. Wolf representing the stockholders; and Charles H. Cole and F. L. Dabney, at present directors of the company. The committee is authorized to increase the number to seven in case of failure to agree. Mr. Stonemetz is chairman.

The company has a net indebtedness of about $40,000, after allowing for a credit of $15,000 which is outstanding for concentrates shipped but not yet settled for. While the exact amount of money which will have to be raised is not definitely known, it is believed that the new company should start out with at least $100,000 working capital. This would therefore involve the raising of say $150,000, which would mean an assessment of $1.50 per share on the present outstanding stock.

The reorganization will probably involve the elimination of N. L. Amster as president of the company. Mr. Amster is working in harmony with the committee and has indicated his willingness to be relieved of his duties at any time. The committee believes the property has possibilities and that with the expenditure of money for additional underground openings and with possible changes in the concentrator, the property may yet be put on its feet.

George F. Bartlett, who originally sold the property to the Amster interests and who is an expert on concentrating, is now at the property making a study of underground and mechanical conditions. Up to the present time in addition to original cost of property there has been $700,000 spent on Boston & Corbin.

NOTES OF MINING NEWS.

Davis-Daly stock is regaining some of its old time popularity in Butte, from which substantial orders have emanated in the recent past.

In connection with the recent decline in Boston & Corbin to $1 per share from its high record price of $2.50, it is interesting to note some big drops in several Boston mining stocks, as follows:

JOSEPH FARLEY TAKES OWN LIFE

Ishpeming Man Committed Suicide Yesterday at His Home on Saginaw Street.

Joseph Farley, one of Ishpeming's best known French residents, committed suicide yesterday-afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at his home on Saginaw street. The weapon he used was a gun, the muzzle of which he placed in his mouth and then pulled the trigger, the charge taking off the top of his head. He committed the deed on the veranda.

Mr. Farley had been despondent for more than a month past, ever since he received an injury at the Salisbury mine, where for a number of years he had been surface boss. A long rolled on his leg. He suffered a great deal of pain and had worried about not being able to return to work.

A few minutes before Mr. Farley ended his life he was in the yard, watching his wife at work. He complained that she was obliged to prepare the garden for planting and was grumbling when he left the yard and returned to the house. Mrs. Farley did not pay much attention to his protests and kept on working. Finally, she heard the shot. Mrs. Farley ran to the house, finding her husband dying on the veranda.

Word was sent to the marshal's office. Deputy Marshal Patrick Collins hurried to the scene and took charge of the body until Coroner Prin arrived. The latter impelled a jury, composed of James Roberts, Rev. Lewis Keast, James Granville, William Uren, William Maki and David Spencer. The inquest will be held this morning at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Farley had been a resident of Ishpeming for more than thirty-five years, and was a sober and hard-working man. Several years ago he lost one of his hands in an accident at the Salisbury mine and upon his recovery he gave up the position of surface boss, which he had held ever since. He worried about the injury to his foot and was afraid he would never be able to walk again, despite the fact that he had been assured by a physician that the injury in a few weeks.

Mr. Farley was fifty-nine years of age and is survived by his widow and two adopted children.

HAWKINS TO LEAVE THE OLIVER IRON CO

Superintendent of Mines in Virginia Field Is to Locate in Canadian Northwest.

M. S. Hawkins, one of the well known mining men of the Minnesota ranges and who has had general supervision of properties for the Oliver Iron Mining company, has resigned and he is soon to leave for the Canadian Northwest. Mr. Hawkins is especially well known here among the more prominent mining men of his resignation. The Virginia says: "M. S. Hawkins, who for the last fourteen years has been general superintendent of the Virginia district of the Oliver Iron Mining company, has tendered his resignation to take effect June 1."

Mr. Hawkins' field of activities as general superintendent included the Mountain Iron mine and the Virginia group, consisting of the Missabe Mountain, Lone Jack, Ohio, Norman and Higgins mines and the Stephens mine near Aurora.

"The many friends of Mr. Hawkins will regret to learn of his resignation, especially as his retirement from the mining industry will take him away from the range and into the Canadian northwest. The few weeks following June 1 he will spend in Virginia. He will take a well earned rest and will then go to his old home in Ohio to visit. From there he will go to Canada, where he will follow the life of a rancher."

"During his residence on the Missabe range Mr. Hawkins has filled several offices of public trust at Iron Mountain, among these that of president of the village and member of the school board. He has ever been a worker for the upbuilding of this part of the state and was commendably active at all times in his advocacy of good roads. It was largely through his efforts that the road from this city to Iron Mountain was built. His retirement from the industry is a distinct loss to the range."

"It has not as yet been officially announced who will be Mr. Hawkins' successor."

SEEN IN MANY COUNTRIES.

Musical Comedy Production Here Tomorrow Evening, Made Hit Abroad.

It is said of "The Prince of Pilsen" that it has contributed more to the gaiety of nations than any other musical comedy of American authorship. Under Manager Henry W. Savage's care, it has covered the theatrical highways of the United States and Canada several times. Still under his direction, it invaded England and still is one of the most successful attractions touring the provinces. It was taken to South Africa by a company organized to present a number of American musical comedies there and scored a hit. The popularity of the comedy is ascribed to its combination of tuneful airs, lyrics of striking beauty and a story in which hilarious comedy is a natural corollary to its incidents and development. When "The Prince of Pilsen" is shown at the Ishpeming theater tomorrow evening, "Jess" Dandy will be seen in the role of Hans Vagner, which he has played more than two thousand times. The cast will offer Lottie Kendall, Norma Brown, Bobby Woolsey, John O'Hanlon, Fred Lyon, Bernard Ferguson, Dorothy Delmore and Mary Murray in leading characters and the customary Savage quality of chorus and orchestra factors.

"Spite Fence" Case in Court.

The village council room at Iron River was filled to overflowing when the case of Russell vs. Ipes was tried before Judge Curley. The complainant was represented by A. J. Wagen, prosecuting attorney. I. W. Byers represented the defendant. The case was the outcome of a quarrel between the families of F. G. Russell and Jacob Ipes, says the Iron River Reporter. A fence eight feet high was built last summer by Mr. Russell between his property and the Ipes property and within three feet of Mr. Ipes' house. On the 22nd day of April this year the fence was torn down. In order that there should be no more disorder and back yard squabbles Mr. Russell decided to go to court and have Mrs. Ipes put under bonds to keep the peace.

After six good and true men had been picked to serve on the jury the trial was begun and furnished a great deal of amusement for the spectators. Mr. Russell was the first to take the stand. He testified that Mrs. Ipes had thrown refuse into his yard, necessitating the building of the fence. He was followed by a number of witnesses substantiating his story. When the complainant's side of the case had been heard, Mrs. Ipes took the stand and testified that the fence was a spite fence and one similar to it could not be found in Iron River. It shut out the light, so that she had to use artificial lights all day, and made her house damp. She also said that Mr. Russell threw stones over the fence, shot at her chickens and was continually shooting in his back yard. After Mrs. Ipes came a long string of witnesses testifying in her behalf.

When all the testimony was in Mr. Wagen held the interest of the jury and spectators and was followed by Mr. Byers, each one pleading their case in able manner. After the jury had been out for about an hour the following verdict was brought in: "Both parties in the case be put under bonds of $200 to keep the peace for two years; the fence, where it shuts out the light from the Ipes house, be removed to a height of four and one-half feet and the costs of the case be assessed equally between

The New Unifold Davenport

Finally solves the problem of making a davenport as comfortable for sleeping purposes as a regular open bed and at the same time retaining no features suggestive of the ordinary bed davenport.

We justly claim many points of superiority for our new bed davenport over any style heretofore in use, a few of which are as follows:

- First: The back is stationary. It does not have to be moved from the wall when being converted into a bed.
- Second: Unlike other bed davenports, when not in use as a bed, it possesses the style and outlines of the ordinary straight davenport.
- Third: While in use as a bed the occupant sleeps on a real mattress, not on hard upholstered tufts, as is the case with other bed davenports.
- Fourth: It is the only davenport bed that equally divides the merits of the bed and the davenport, in as much as it is a comfortable and real bed when used for that purpose, and at other times a stylish davenport not even faintly suggesting its double purpose. The springs and mattresses of the bed have nothing to do with the upholstering of the seat and back.

Step in and let us demonstrate the utility of the davenports and view the various patterns in the different grades of upholstering, all marked at Gately's Reasonable Prices.

SOCIALISTS FORMING OKLAHOMA COLONY

Communitistic Plan to Be Launched at Milton, Where Lots Are Being Sold.

Muskogee, Ok., May 25.—The Socialists of Oklahoma have undertaken to carry out in complete detail the doctrine of communitistic welfare, and to that end have purchased the town site of Milton and will there establish their colony. Already more than 100 lots have been sold in the town site and several homes have been started. Milton is in the Choctaw Nation, on the Fort Smith and Western railroad, four miles from Bokoshe. The town site consists of 200 acres of land and no member of the colony will be permitted to own more than two lots, one for a home and one for a place of business.

The plan of the Socialists is an ambitious one. It has some practical features aside from the generally accepted socialistic theories. The town site was bought from Walter Laird, a young Choctaw Indian, who as a part of the contract for the sale of the land agreed to turn over to the colony without cost a coal mine which has been developed on land adjoining the town site. This is to be turned over as soon as the town site is paid for in full. The lots are selling for $50 and $100 each. One hundred were sold the first day they were placed on the market. Dr. S. T. Peet of Muskogee is in charge of the promotion of the town site.

A great deal of attention is to be paid to the development of small trades of land adjoining the colony, and this is to be a community interest. Berry culture, fruit growing of all kinds as well as truck farming will be developed to a high degree and there will be a cannery, owned in common, to take care of the surplus fruits. This common ownership will be maintained in every line where it is possible to do so and in every industry in which the members have a common interest. It is expected to gradually extend it to include cotton gins and mills and the establishment of small factories for which the colonists will furnish the fuel from their own mine and the laborers from their own numbers.

It is planned to make this the center of socialism in the state, and proof that the theories of socialism are to the profit and comfort of the participants. The Socialistist-Democrat, the official newspaper organ of the Socialists in the state, now published at Oklahoma City, will be moved to Milton if present plans materialize, and this will serve further to attract attention and exploit the success of the Socialist colony.

If this plan of the Socialists should succeed it will mark an epoch in the history of Oklahoma. There are now practically 50,000 Socialist voters in the state. In the last general election their vote showed an increase of 100 per cent. over the vote they cast in the preceding general election. In addition to a state organ, they have established local newspapers in fifty-seven of the seventy-seven counties in the state and expect to have more. They do not own their own print shops to print these papers. Local editors supply articles of interest to that locality, and this is sent to the central plant at Girard, Kan., where all of the papers are printed, but there is a separate and distinct newspaper for each of these fifty-seven counties.

INSPECTOR CONDEMNS ENGINES.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 26.—Seven Pere Marquette locomotives were condemned as unfit for service by W. P. McNammy, United States district inspector of boilers. All of these boilers had been under the care of men imported in the boiler shops by the railroad company after a walkout last Saturday.

The action of the inspector is taken as proof by the strikers that the present working force at the railroad shops is efficient and that the company will yet accede to their demands for a wage increase.

Following the announcement by the railroad company, that the Pere Marquette would adopt an open shop policy, a meeting was held by both machinists and boiler makers, at which National Vice President Ryan made a plea for self control. So far, there has been no act of violence.

Mr. Ryan denied the report that the local strike was an independent one, and that the men disaffected would not have the support of the national organization. Superintendent Mulhern of the Pere Marquette local division, treats the condemning of the boilers as an incident of the situation which will be overcome within a few days.

CHEAPEST CUTS ARE DECLARED THE BEST

Kinds of Beef Usually Overlooked Contain Most Nutrition, Expert Advises.

Washington, May 26.—The nutritive value of cuts of beef do not correspond to their market price. Some of the cheapest cuts on the market are the most nutritious, and have the highest food value, according to experts of the United States department of agriculture. The great demand for one part of the beef, it is declared, is responsible for the high price of the so-called fancy cuts, while meat, from a nutritive standpoint, weight for weight, is a drug on the market.

To buy meat intelligently it is necessary to know the nature of the cuts, especially with reference to the proportions of lean meat, fat and bone they contain, and the food value of meat from different parts of the carcass. Uncle Sam is endeavoring to educate the American people how to purchase the most nutritious cuts of beef and thereby tend to aid in reducing the cost of living. An expert of the department of agriculture, making this subject an extensive study, says:

"A large majority of meat consumers have no knowledge whatever of these matters, but make their selection of meat solely according to habit or fancy. In fact, but little accurate data along this line have hitherto been available to those who wished to buy meats on a rational basis. As a result, a few well-known cuts are greatly in demand, and the remainder of the carcass is a drug on the market. To such an extreme has this condition developed that a portion of the carcass (horns and ribs), formerly only about one-fourth of its weight, represents nearly one-half of its retail cost."

"In view of the large place which meat occupies in the American diet, amounting to nearly one-third of the average expenditure for all food, the importance of an intelligent understanding of the subject on the part of the consumer is readily apparent.

"Not only are the foregoing statements true of meat producers and consumers as individuals, but it is highly essential to the entire beef-cattle industry, on the one hand, and the economic welfare of the beef-eating public, on the other, that a more intelligent understanding of the different cuts of meat be acquired by consumers generally.

"An increased demand for those portions of the carcass which are now discarded for the butcher to dispose of would contribute largely toward a more stable condition of trade and thus enable the producer to operate with greater confidence and economy. At the same time it would effect a tremendous saving to the consumer himself by more nearly equalizing the market values of the various cuts and by enabling the retailer to operate with a smaller margin of profit."

Uncle Sam's experts give the comparative nutritive value in various retail cuts as follows:

Nutritious Value Per Cut.
Lion steaks	average 50 per cent. lean, 32 per cent. visible fat and 18 per cent. bone. Steaks in general contain a greater proportion of lean and smaller proportion of fat than porterhouse and club steaks.
Rib roasts	contain, on the average, 95 per cent. lean, 30 per cent. fat and 15 per cent. bone. The greatest percentage of lean is found in the sixth rib roast, and the smallest in the eleventh and twelfth rib cut.
The various round cuts	made from the round average 45 per cent. lean, 18 per cent. fat and 17 per cent. bone. Round steaks contain 71 to 84 per cent. lean, the rump roast 49 per cent., round pot roast 85 per cent., and soup bones 8 to 66 per cent. The maximum percentage of fat is found in the rump roast and the maximum percentage of bone in the hook soup bone.
Chuck steaks	vary from 62 to 82 per cent. lean and 11 per cent. fat. The shoulder clod contains 80 per cent. lean and only 5 per cent. bone. Relatively more lean and less fat are found in the chuck rib roasts than in those cuts from the prime rib.
The brisket, navel and rib ends	average 50 per cent. lean, 41 per cent. fat and 8 per cent. bone. The brisket and navel are similar in proportions of the different constituents, but the rib ends are slightly higher in percentage of bone and lower in lean.
The flank steak	contains 83 per cent. lean and 16 per cent. fat, and the flank stew 64 per cent. lean and 35 per cent. fat.
Soup bones	from the fore shank carry from 17 to 69 per cent. lean and from 25 to 75 per cent. bone. The boneless shank stew contains 83 per cent. lean and 17 per cent. fat.

PACKERS TELL OF WOMEN EMPLOYES

Solons' Vice Commission Delves Into Moral Conditions at the Chicago Stockyards.

Chicago, May 26.—Moral conditions in the stockyards quarter of Chicago were considered at a session of the legislative vice commission here today. Louis Swift, president of the packing firm of Swift & Co., and representatives of Armour & Co. and Morris & Co. testified concerning the wages and surroundings of the thousands of foreign girls and women in the district "back of the yards," said to be the largest foreign settlement on this continent.

Mr. Swift testified that the wages paid the women employees of the packing houses were fair, only fourteen receiving the minimum of $6. Other witnesses said that the foreign women in the "yards" were temperamentally different from American girls and that the question of morality or immorality was a thing they settled for themselves, regardless of the welfare of the employers.

The average wage of the seven hundred women employees of Swift & Co. is $10.05 a week, according to Mr. Swift. The 399 girls in the packing plant average $7.59.

M. D. Harding, superintendent of the plant of Armour & Co., said that girls' wages in the yards were low, because the girls were unskilled foreigners. All the big companies spent much money on welfare work, he said, but it was hard to reach the foreign girls.

Data Showing Profits Presented.

Maxwell Edgar, president of the Illinois Tax Reform league, presented as testimony figures purporting to show the net profits of large concerns in Chicago. He said the figures were obtained from former Secretary of the Treasury Max Veach. Some of the figures introduced by Mr. Edgar follow:

Marshall Field & Co.—1909 net profit, $4,643,197; 1910 net profit, $4,419,427; Sears, Roebuck & Co.—1909 net profit, $0,909,794; 1910 net profit, $6,600,201; Armour & Co.—1909 net profit, $4,338,488; 1910 net profit, $865,296.

Social Worker Attacks the Profits.

Professor Graham Taylor, head of the "Chicago Commons," a social settlement, speaking before the commission, requested, surprised the legislative body by accusing it of being "spectacular, hysterical and sensational." Professor Taylor was provided with the report of the Rockefeller bureau on social hygiene and read statistics to prove that but 12 per cent of vice can be connected with low wages.

Senator Beall Takes Exception.

Senator Beall, of the vice commission, replying to Professor Taylor, accused him of being a "highbrow."

"You highbrows have got away from the question, professor," Senator Beall said. "We know we are lowwages here, but we know a thing or two. How can a poor girl with $3.50 a week have as good a chance to be pure as one with $7.50?"

FOR THE WEAK AND NERVOUS.

Tired-out, weak, nervous men and women would feel ambitious, energetic, full of life and always have a good appetite, if they would do the sensible thing for health—take Electric Bitters. Nothing better for the stomach, liver or kidneys. Thousands say they owe their lives to this wonderful home remedy. Mrs. O. Rhinehart, of Vestal Center, N. Y., says: "I regard Electric Bitters as one of the greatest of gifts. I can never forget what it has done for me." Get a bottle yourself and see what a difference it will make in your health. Only 50c and $1.00. Recommended by The Stafford Drug Co.

The Royal Neighbors gave a dancing party in the Bank hall last evening which was largely attended. The hall was prettily decorated and music was furnished by Trombley's orchestra. Refreshments were served while the guests enjoyed themselves.

The Gwinn baseball team is scheduled to play the Marquette amateur nine at the Marquette fair grounds Decoration Day, May 30. The game will be the first in the wonderful home remedy.

A large delegation will accompany the team to Marquette, it is believed. The league, which was organized at Ishpeming last week, is receiving strong support here.

STOPPED WARSHIPS TO SAVE CAT.

About twenty years ago, begins a writer in the London Spectator, when I was living in North China, the British squadron, then in far eastern waters, was steaming out of the port of Chefoo, when a little black cat fell overboard from H. M. S. Wanderer. At once the ship stopped, signaled to its consorts "cat overboard," and the entire squadron came to a standstill. A boat put off from the Wanderer and rescued puss, who was swimming for dear life after the ship. The officer who told me the story said the sailors would have been furious, if the little cat had not been saved, for not only was she a great pet, but they firmly believed that disaster would follow if a black cat were allowed to drown.

WONDERFUL SKIN SALVE.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve is known everywhere as the best remedy made for all diseases of the skin, and also for burns, bruises and boils. Reduces inflammation and is soothing and healing. E. F. Sossaman, publisher of News, of Cornelius, N. C., writes that one box helped his serious skin ailment after other remedies failed. Only 25c Recommended by The Stafford Drug Co.

Charles N. Fohrman, formerly a resident of Negaunee and Ishpeming, who is now engaged in Mexican real estate business, writes The Mining Journal concerning the agricultural pursuits of the native and American people living near and about Santa Lucretia, located five hundred miles south of the city of Mexico in the narrow portion of the continent where the distance from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast is but 150 miles. The city is the terminal point of the Vera Cruz Pacific railway.

"In the Santa Lucretia country you clear your land and plant your crops before ploughing," writes Mr. Fohrman. "The usual method adopted by American landowners is to lay a small plot of ground, hire a native to clear it of the brush with his machete—which operation never takes longer than two days—then let the brush dry about two weeks, set fire to it in the night and next morning the land is ready for ploughing.

"A banana plant dice after it has produced its bunch of fruit, but in passing leaves behind it a family of six or seven young sprouts which in fourteen or fifteen months will each duplicate the accomplishment of the mother stalk. The results of planting bananas over large fields are all that can be wished for. The plant continually propagates itself and in comparatively short time a field of the plants would develop into a thick forest where the plants not trimmed out.

"The banana is one of the most thriving of the man's tropical fruits that grow in this country.

"As has been noted before the banana grove gives much shade and chocolate trees, which thrive well under the conditions, are planted between the rows of banana plants. This gives the plantations double crops. The farmer that gets ten acres of bananas in here to right soil near a railroad, becomes independent. His crop is continuous. Two or three hours of labor a day is all that his plantation needs from him. The bananas raised in Mexico are near as all consumed at home. Good banana lands have high value, especially when near a railroad. Another fine thing for the planter is that revolutions never bother him. The rebels prefer the larger towns and cities to the country.

"The present conditions times in Mexico have been caused, I believe, by the 'bosses' and office-seekers. The plain people of Mexico have no part in the trouble and have nothing to gain or lose. The 'fanatics'—so-called because they can get followers among a certain half-civilized class—are the only agitators and these find ready employment at the hands of the politicians. The division of 'loot' is the basic cause of trouble here as in the United States. The people would like to have a more liberal government, however, and it now looks as if they were to have their wishes fulfilled.

"It is as sad to see a rich man with a poor appetite as it is to see a poor man who can't get to the lunch counter.

Good-Night.
Good-night! good-night! as we so oft have said
Beneath this roof at midnight, in the days
That are no more, and shall no more return
Thou hast but taken up thy lamp and gone to bed
I stay a little longer, as one stays
To cover up the embers that still burn.

Those who have hesitated to amass wealth because of the warning to "be wary of the billions of bacteria that lurk in every bill," need hesitate no longer, according to Dr. W. C. Rucker, assistant surgeon general of the public health service. He says that tests and examination of currency, both washed and unwashed bills, show them to be singularly free from germs. He attributed this to the ink used in printing the bills, which he said had proved to be almost a perfect germicide.
