

PRESIDENT IS HIMSELF LISTED AS A LOBBYIST

Mr. Wilson's Activity in Behalf of the Tariff Bill "the Nearest Approach to Undue Influence" of Which Senator Townsend of Michigan Has Knowledge.

He So Asserts at the Washington Inquiry—Democrats Indignant—Reply Resent the Insinuation and It Is Decided to Recall the Solons Who Have Testified Already.

Washington, June 6.—An unexpected turn was given the senate's lobby investigation late today, when Senator Townsend of Michigan, Republican, declared on the stand that the insinuation welded by President Wilson and by the Democratic secret caucus upon the making of the tariff bill constituted the "nearest approach to undue influence upon members of congress" that the investigating committee would be able to find.

Senator Townsend criticized the committee for not having asked members of the senate whether the president had sought to influence them and declared that even though the president had not intended it, his recent denunciation of "lobbies" working in support or changes in the tariff would force certain senators to vote against amendments they knew to be just.

Declines to Mention Names. "Who are those senators?" demanded Senator Reed. "I don't care to name anyone," returned Mr. Townsend.

The two Democratic members of the committee present—Senators Reed and Walsh—indignantly resented any insinuation that President Wilson had sold patronage or threats to force anyone to support free sugar or free wool to support the bill as a whole.

Senator Townsend insisted the committee had not asked any senator this or whether President Wilson had tried to influence him.

"I am for that," said Senator Nelson, of the members of the committee.

Weeks Also Criticizes Executives. Senator Weeks, of Massachusetts, also Republican, following Senator Townsend, expressed the opinion that "executives had had more influence in bills than all the persons who have come to Washington and put their names to the statement that the president put in regard to an insidious lobby influencing the public mind," said Senator Weeks, "and that has its effect upon the voters. The public believes a lobby is a bad man, and no senator likes to oppose a measure if the president says the lobbyists are seeking to change it."

Mr. Townsend's Testimony. Senator Townsend's statements were in the form of charges. He expressly said he did not charge the president with using improper methods; but insisted that the charge that lobbyists acted, and the president's support of free wool and free sugar, amounted to "an undue influence," even though he did not use the "big stick" of force.

As the term "lobbyist" is generally understood," Mr. Townsend said, "and I believe it was used by the president in his recent statement upon which this investigation was founded, it means one who tries to procure or prevent legislation by the use of means that are improper, by the offer or payment of money, the granting or withholding of it, by insidious threats of political position, by the use of patronage or giving of political rewards. I know no improper lobbyist of that kind, the nearest approach to undue influence being that of a lobbyist who, by the use of the influence exercised by the president and by the use and power of party secret caucus."

Gives Definition of Lobbying. Do you mean to say that is lobbyist?" demanded Senator Reed. "A lobbyist is a man who attempts to secure legislation against the honest vision, the conscience and the no-as-duty of the legislator," the senator declared. "Because of insinuation that a lobby exists to induce them to vote for amendments, I believe in, I think some senators refrain from so voting. This is coercion."

Senator Townsend said he had no substantial interests that might be affected by the tariff, and he knew of no lobbyist acting in Washington.

RY IN "BOMB CASE" APPARENTLY DEADLOCKED; OUT HOURS WITHOUT RESULT.

oston, June 6.—The jury in the "bomb" conspiracy case, which grew out of the Lawrence textile case, was still deliberating at a late hour tonight over the question of the guilt of the alleged three alleged conspirators—William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen company; Derrick E. Atteaus, a dye manufacturer, and Dennis J. Collins, a Cambridge financier. At midnight, after the jury had been deliberating nine hours, the court sent word that it would not receive a verdict until 6 o'clock tomorrow.

POSTAL INSPECTOR JAILS ALLEGED AUTHOR OF CARD SENT TO THE PRESIDENT.

Philadelphia, June 6.—Charged with sending a postal card to President Woodrow Wilson in which he warned the chief executive that the "violet creatures living" had acquired control of the government while the president "was asleep at the switch" and warning Mr. Wilson "to wake up," Henry O. Lafferty was arrested by a postal inspector here today. He was held without bail for examination into his mental condition.

NEW AMBASSADOR PAGE IS THE GUEST OF HONOR AT A LONDON BANQUET.

London, June 6.—Walter Hines Page, the new American ambassador to the court of St. James, tonight received his baptism of fire as an after-dinner speaker in London at a welcoming banquet given in his honor by the Pilgrims' society. Field Marshal Earl Roberts presided and had as supporters at the head of the table Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, and other notables.

Mr. Page was welcomed in speeches by Earl Roberts and Sir Edward Grey, the latter being given a great ovation when referred to by other speakers as "the peace maker of Europe." Mr. Page referred to the "great" English-speaking democracy which, in every part of the world, has the same large aims to keep men free and preserve the peace of the world.

PLAN NOT A POLICY OF THE ADMINISTRATION

Attorney General's Proposed Tobacco Excise Tax Merely Advanced as an Idea.

Washington, June 6.—In view of the widespread idea that Attorney General McKeen's proposal for a graduated excise tax on the output of tobacco was the expression of a new policy on the part of the Wilson administration to correct tariff evils, the White House officials tonight disclaimed that any general policy had been discussed or adopted.

The president thus far has not expressed his opinion about the McKeen proposal; in fact, it was said tonight, he has not regarded it as formal plan of action, but as an idea, the value of which, along with other suggestions on the tariff, should be considered in congress and public opinion on it sought at the same time.

President Wilson and the attorney general during the day discussed the numerous reports that had gone forth as to the government's alleged intention to strike a blow at the tobacco trust, and later the White House officials decided to explain just what had taken place in the councils of the administration on the tobacco question this far.

The proposal of the attorney general was described as "a suggestion" offered on its merits for discussion, and hearing neither the approval nor disapproval of the administration, when broached to the senate finance committee for consideration of an amendment to the pending tariff bill.

The president thus far has not expressed his opinion about the McKeen proposal; in fact, it was said tonight, he has not regarded it as formal plan of action, but as an idea, the value of which, along with other suggestions on the tariff, should be considered in congress and public opinion on it sought at the same time.

WILEY'S BABY WINS WAGER FOR FATHER

Unbeliever Forced to Buy Hat When Infant Shows Ability to Pull Hair.

Washington, June 6.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former chief chemist of the department of agriculture and "pure food" champion, is minus a handful of hair as the result of a wager made with a friend at the Cosmos club. It developed tonight that Dr. Wiley, to prove his theory that a proper diet was essential for the welfare, especially of young children, cited the case of his own baby, who is not yet one year.

"I haven't much hair to spare," wagered Dr. Wiley, "but if my youngster can't yank out a handful or two of it, just to illustrate its strength, I'll buy you a new hat."

The seoffer, who happened to be a close friend of the Wiley family, accepted the wager. The Wiley baby "made good." The denuded spot on Dr. Wiley's pate now is covered by a hat the unbeliever was forced to buy.

Lochet was released from prison today.

SENATORS SHOW ANTAGONISM TO ANTI-WAR PACTS

Attempt to Ratify Renewals of the Recently Expired Treaties With Great Britain, Italy and Spain Fails for the Second Time—Opposition Is Vigorous.

Hostility Is Such, in Fact, That There Is a Prospect the Principle of Compulsory Arbitration May Be Discarded Altogether—Canal Dispute a Factor.

Washington, June 6.—The principle of compulsory arbitration written into the code that has bound the United States with twenty-four great and lesser nations for the last five years is in serious danger, and unless there is a decided change in sentiment in the senate, the renewal of twenty-three of the treaties which gave concrete evidence of this nation's belief in such a policy may be impossible.

In executive session tonight the senate again failed to ratify the renewals of the arbitration agreements with Great Britain, Italy and Spain which recently expired. These conventions provide that questions relating to the interpretation of treaties, excepting those that cannot be settled through diplomatic channels or those of vital international honor or independence, shall be submitted to "The Hague." A similar treaty with France already has been renewed.

Japanese Question Bobs Up. The main argument arose over the contention that if the treaty with Great Britain is ratified, the Panama tolls question would have to be submitted to The Hague, but during the discussion the Japanese question and the general attitude of the nation toward compulsory arbitration was brought up and led to an expression of views utterly at variance with entrance into such binding agreements in the future.

A motion to refer the three treaties to the foreign relations committee, with instructions that the one with Great Britain be modified so as to exempt specifically the Panama canal tolls question was abandoned, but prolonged debate was predicted for future sessions, and friends of the principle of arbitration were alarmed at the strength displayed by the opposition. Some senators showed a disposition to criticize the making of compulsory arbitration agreements, even if they bound only in cases which do not affect vital interest, national honor or independence. One senator went so far as to declare: "There are many people in the United States and in the senate who ought to live in England."

Treaties Held to Tie Nation's Hands. Senators who did not speak, but who discussed arbitration with their colleagues during the day, expressed decided opinions on the extent to which this nation has bound itself to argue matters out before a court. This attitude was condemned as one which was becoming misunderstood throughout the world and one which had appeared to the country's disadvantage in the canal problem, in the dispute with Great Britain and in the more recent controversy with Japan.

Many senators were convinced tonight that few of the twenty-three agreements which will come up for renewal in the next few months will be agreed to without a hard fight. Although the treaties probably have many supporters, Chairman Bacon of the foreign relations committee was about the only one who spoke in their behalf tonight.

LAFOLLETTE IS HIT IN SPEECH AT MILWAUKEE

Medill McCormick Denounces the Senator in an Address Before the Progressive Club—Attacks Also the Accuracy of the Statesman's Autobiography.

Badger Leader Held to Have Made His Vengeful Purpose So Clear That His Hope of Election to the Presidency Has Been Destroyed by His Own Hands.

Milwaukee, June 6.—Medill McCormick, of Chicago, Illinois Progressive leader, in a speech before the Milwaukee Progressive club here tonight attacked the accuracy of Senator LaFollette's autobiography and described LaFollette as a "man so embittered by disappointments that he thwarted progress and achievement to defeat a more popular rival."

Mr. McCormick said that he was "not chagrined to find my own name on the list of those he brands as traitors—Pinchot, Cummins, Hiram Johnson, William Alden White and Roosevelt. But I am saddened," the speaker went on to say, "to remember that a movement, which might have been successful in 1912 if LaFollette had fought the good fight, failed in that year and that he had made his vengeful purpose so clear that his hope of election to the highest office in the country has been destroyed by his own hands."

"It is as pathetic almost as it is ludicrous to find in the last pages of the autobiography that the senator considers himself the sole incorporate expression of progressive principles."

HEETER IS OUSTED FROM HIS POST

Pittsburg Board of Education Discharges the Superintendent of the Schools.

Pittsburg, June 6.—After many weeks of investigation, the board of public education tonight discharged S. L. Heeter, superintendent of the public schools, finding him guilty of immorality in making improper advances and taking unwarranted liberties with women. But one member of the board, a woman, voted against discharging Mr. Heeter. The accused superintendent was not present.

Early in March, last, a domestic employed by Heeter made two serious charges against him while she was ill in a hospital. He was arrested, was indicted by the grand jury and was acquitted by a jury in criminal court. After his acquittal, demonstrations or "strikes," participated in by thousands of school children, appeared all over the city. Additional charges that Mr. Heeter had acted indiscreetly with others in the board of education appointing a citizens' committee to make a thorough investigation, last Monday the committee made its report to the board, finding Heeter guilty.

Senator LaFollette's account of the primary campaign of 1912, according to Mr. McCormick, contains numerous inaccuracies. He said that he would explain "certain things, regarding which no explanation has been made," concerning the substitution of the name of Roosevelt for that of LaFollette at the head of the Progressive ticket.

"After your senator's breakdown in Philadelphia, all of his congressional supporters save one were of the opinion that for his own sake and that of the progressive cause he should withdraw as a candidate," said Mr. McCormick. "His manager told me that at one time Senator LaFollette had assented to a public withdrawal. After the more equivocal statement was agreed on, his manager told me that this was to be interpreted as a release of Mr. LaFollette's supporters. It was not until we were so released that we gave our support to another candidate."

"When the movement within the Republican party began, Senator LaFollette did not announce his candidacy. The headquarters was known, not as the LaFollette headquarters, but as the progressive Republican headquarters."

TURN TO ROOSEVELT EXPLAINED.

Senator LaFollette's account of the primary campaign of 1912, according to Mr. McCormick, contains numerous inaccuracies. STOCK MARKET IS STRONG ON DENIAL OF WASHINGTON SENT FROM WASHINGTON.

New York, June 6.—Although not free from periods of unsettledness, the stock market today showed a distinct improvement, culminating in an emphatic exhibition of strength which lifted many important shares well above the previous day's close. In certain quarters of the list, particularly among the specialties, there was evidence of forced selling which brought about some severe declines. The leaders, however, were in much better demand. A factor in bringing about the smart upturn late in the day was the appearance of Washington advices stating there was no ground for recent rumors circulated Wall street concerning the attitude of the administration toward certain large corporations.

LIGHTNING KILLS 3 MEN IN CHURCH

Fourth Illinois Parishioner Is Paralyzed and Building Is Destroyed by Fire.

Freeport, Ill., June 6.—A shaft of lightning struck the German Reformed church here today, killing three members of the congregation instantly, badly injuring a fourth and causing a fire in which the church was burned to the ground. The dead were: W. J. DUTSMAN, K. S. MEYER, WESSEL HOKE.

The bolt struck and apparently passed through the body of Ontja Oltman, paralyzing him and making him unconscious. Oltman regained consciousness, however, and it is believed he will recover. All the victims were farmers. A score of members of the church had gathered for the annual cleanup day and had just finished their work in the church and churchyard. The four men were resting on the benches directly beneath the steeple. Lightning struck the steeple, descended to where they were sitting and felled all four. When other members of the congregation reached them, three of the men were dead.

The lightning bolt, passing through the bodies, tore a great hole in the floor of the church and passed into the earth. Fire broke out in the steeple and destroyed the building within a few hours.

THE POLICE AND SOCIALISM.

In the course of their duty the Negaunee police officers this week arrested a number of socialists on the charge of violating a city ordinance by obstructing a street on which they were holding an open air meeting.

Whether the police officers were unduly zealous in the performance of what they conceived to be their duty is not for The Mining Journal to say.

But one thing may be remarked in the way of a generality, and without particular reference to the Negaunee cases. Unduly repressive measures by police officers in controlling street speaking and other public activities of the socialists can only result in making socialists faster than the most expert of their organizers have been able to recruit them in this region for several years past.

Socialism is one of the causes that thrives mightily on any semblance of police oppression. Nothing would please the socialist propagandists in this region more than success in forcing the police into a series of repressive measures against them.

The Mining Journal recalls a socialist speaker who visited Marquette some two or three years ago. He climbed on a cracker box that he planted fairly in the middle of Front street, in the very center of the business district.

While there are some bright men engaged in the socialist propaganda, most of them are their own best antidote. They are illlogical, splenetic, unreasonable and not well grounded even in the subject which they are presuming to talk about.

By granting a fifty cent rate between Marquette and Ishpeming and Negaunee for the period of the Northern Normal summer school, the officials of the South Shore railroad will aid in a practical way to make the summer school a success.

They will be enabled to live at home throughout the six weeks' session. In practice this will mean that there will be more Ishpeming and Negaunee students in attendance at the summer session than there otherwise would be.

EDITORIAL OPINION

Saving and Spending. Stuyvesant Fish, the railway magnate, has delivered himself of the opinion that Americans are extravagant.

RED JACKET CHILD ENTICED FROM HOME THIS IS TAG DAY IN COPPER REGION

Serious Charge Lodged Against Girls and Young Matrons to Solicit Funds for Good Will Farm.

The rumor that there had been an attempt at criminal assault in Red Jacket Thursday night caused a condition of hysteria in that village. Police and Fire Chief Trudell called out the fire department to search for the alleged offender. The story is about as follows:

A man claimed to be Earl D. Carr, coming from Hibbing, Minn., and arriving in Red Jacket Thursday, was said to have enticed away from her home on Scott street the ten-year-old daughter of Peter Pasquini. As soon as the little girl's absence was noticed by her parents they gave the alarm and the fire department and hundreds of citizens turned out to make the search. The child was found at 10 o'clock, two hours after her disappearance, near the Tamarack roundhouse, about three miles from Red Jacket. The man was nowhere to be seen.

Yesterday morning at 5 o'clock Chief Trudell was advised that Carr had appeared near the Tamarack roundhouse and the chief hurried out and arrested him. The man was arraigned before Justice Jackson yesterday afternoon. The case was adjourned for next week.

The little Pasquini girl testifies that the man with whom she left Scott street offered her twenty-five cents to go with him. The child was not injured in any way and it is not believed the man made any actual attempt to injure her.

Carr was arrested because his description tallies with that given by the neighbors who had seen the man with the child.

FARM EXPERT TAKES HOLD.

Prof. L. W. Geismar Arrives in Houghton to Remain Permanently.

Professor L. W. Geismar of Marquette, former superintendent of the upper peninsula experimental farm station at Chatham, recently appointed farm expert for the Houghton County Farm bureau, arrived in Houghton yesterday with the intention of taking up his new work at once. Professor Geismar will open an office for the farm bureau on the fourth floor of the Masonic building. The office will adjoint the weather bureau station.

It is of course too early for Professor Geismar to formulate a comprehensive plan for his work in Houghton county. He will lay out his work as soon as possible, however, and is even now at the command of any farmer who may have a problem that requires prompt solution.

DENTISTS AT HOUGHTON.

Annual Meeting of the Upper Peninsula Society in Session.

Houghton was in the hands of the dentists yesterday. It was a painful experience, as the dentists were not actually engaged in their professional vocation. They are present to attend the annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Dental society.

BARREL OF PENNIES IN FIRE.

Hancock Kids Discover Treasure Trove in Freight Warehouse Ruins.

Hancock youngsters discovered a barrel of pennies in the ruins of the Mineral Range warehouse after the fire that destroyed that structure Thursday afternoon. A wild scramble for the pennies followed. The pennies were ordered by Hancock houses that realized of all kind of visitors going to Hancock this summer to attend the different state conventions.

It will be impossible for several days yet to learn the exact loss caused by the fire, most of the records in the building being destroyed. The excitement was such that the clerks grabbed what came before them first, in one instance a large bundle of old time tables was carried to a place of safety. It is the hope of Hancock people that the company will decide to erect a modern station and convert the building now used as a station into a warehouse.

THOSE TELEPHONE POLES.

Legal-Adviser of Telephone Company Retire on the Subject.

A tall, handsome, somewhat corpulent man of dignified mien, with iron gray hair, an eagle glance and much to be commended in the way of blue woollen clothing, stood near a towering wooden telephone pole on the south side of Shelburne street, Houghton, yesterday morning and indulged in a rambling, touching the pole with a gesture that was akin to fondling he soliloquized:

"Old pole, methinks you'll have to heat it. For these many years you have stood up against the elements and the village council, defying alike the storms from medicine hat and stomping from the village hall, standing fast against meteorological, municipal and city beautiful disturbances. You have helped to bear messages of love and hate, the doctor's advice, the lawyer's warning, the cement mixer's together in a sort of mixed metaphor. You are a good old pole and you are worth about fifteen dollars, but I don't think we can get more than ten for you when we cut you down."

A tear splashed on the concrete walk as the soliloquist turned to face a reporter.

"How do you, Mr. Thompson," asked the reporter, for it was none other than William E. Thompson, general attorney for the Michigan State Telephone company. "When are you going to move the poles?"

Fixing the reporter with that justly celebrated eagle glance, the attorney demurred, which is strictly in line with his duties. But eventually the interview went along on the old lines.

Mr. Thompson says that the poles will be moved very soon, that he is now here for the purpose of getting easements on property on which the new poles will have to be placed, also to do a little fishing. He really could not say when the poles will be moved, but he bids Houghton hope.

A MOST WONDERFUL CURE.

Joseph D. Underhill, of Doland, S. Dakota, says: "I have received great benefit from your White Wine of Tar Syrup. I had a deep seated cough and the doctor gave up all hopes of my recovery. I finally tried everything that I could find. Finally one of my friends prevailed upon me to use your White Wine of Tar Syrup. I took 1-2 bottles and am entirely cured. Such medicine I can recommend to those who are afflicted as I was."

Youth's Nose is Broken.

Leonard Grun, 27-year-old young man, suffered severe bruises on the head and face when some wood thrown from a slab saw nearby where he was working at the Peninsula Lumber & Lumber company mill at Menominee was thrown into the air and hit Grun on the head. The force of the blow rendered Grun temporarily unconscious. Examinations showed that the young man had suffered a compound fracture of the nose and ugly cuts on the face.

Drainage Operations Successful.

C. H. Sweeney, who is in charge of the drainage operation being carried on in the Sage marsh by the Western Land Securities company, has reached the South Shore railway at Sage with his dredge. The big ditch is already a success, draining an immense amount of territory heretofore covered with water. The work is being carried on in the settlement some of the richest agricultural lands in Luce county. The drainage ditch is to be continued due north until the Taquamenon river is reached and the big falls are to be lowered several feet by turning the water to drain off more rapidly in the spring.

Died While Playing Baseball.

John Polly, Mackinac county, was shocked and saddened when one of the town's most promising young men, Joseph Sears, Jr., dropped dead of heart disease. He was playing ball at the time, running a base, when he took a fall. Medical attendance was procured within three minutes, but when the physician arrived life was extinct. The deceased was twenty-two years of age and survived a young widow and a fifteen-month-old child. The young man was a farmer and had spent all his life in the vicinity of Gould City. The funeral was the largest ever held in the town, every conveyance in the vicinity being engaged for the occasion.

Business Men Endorse Charter.

At a meeting of the directors of the Soo Business Men's association this week, the proposed new city charter was endorsed and the citizens were recommended to vote in favor of its adoption. Answering questions, Mayor Johnson said: "The charter takes effect ten days after its adoption, but it is specifically provided that present city officers shall hold office until the first day of May, 1914. With the exception of the treasurer, new officers at the election next April from the mayor by Chairman M. H. Johnson and Supervisor Alex. Sly, two members appointed by the board to sell the bonds. The third member, Superintendent of Houghton, was unable to be present on account of business engagements. The sale is a good one, and nothing but the best of the city is to be had. The city is required to furnish the buyers with a certified transcript of all the proceedings of the board dealing with the bond issue, and if these are found legal and correct, the requirements of the company's attorneys will be forthcoming without delay. The same company agrees to take the other $30,000 issue on the same terms."

County Bonds Bring Premium.

Bids for $50,000 of the $100,000 gold bond bond voted by Mackinac county at the spring election were opened this week by Chairman M. H. Johnson and Supervisor Alex. Sly, two members appointed by the board to sell the bonds. The third member, Superintendent of Houghton, was unable to be present on account of business engagements. The sale is a good one, and nothing but the best of the city is to be had. The city is required to furnish the buyers with a certified transcript of all the proceedings of the board dealing with the bond issue, and if these are found legal and correct, the requirements of the company's attorneys will be forthcoming without delay. The same company agrees to take the other $30,000 issue on the same terms."

Democrats Hold Lively Meeting.

In a spirited meeting of the Chippewa county Democrats, held at the Soo, several important matters were thrashed out. The members of the party renewed their loyalty to President Wilson and in a strong resolution commended his stand in the tariff. George Lindsay was chosen chairman and C. C. Williams secretary. A question that took several hours of argument to decide was that of naming the candidates for the state and federal offices. The party committee in this respect threatened a split in the party. Both contended to the right of naming the candidates. The matter was finally decided by passing a resolution whereby all applications will pass through the hands of the county committee before the state and national committee. A committee of seven, composed of James R. McKee, Donald McKenzie, James L. Linsett, Francis T. McDonald, William Boig, J. H. Roe and H. H. Taylor, was named to act with the county committee in the consideration of the candidates. The meeting ended with harmony in the ranks.

Home Boys "After" Mining Students.

Iron Mountain was a real college town for a few hours last night, says the Iron Mountain Tribune-Gazette. Most of the expected the Houghton Mining students to get revenge for the trick played on them Monday night, when three of the students were tied up in the cemetery. The mining students attended several parties last night and attempts were made to capture the boys. Several policemen were sent in to keep the peace. The boys were loaded down with shears and hair clippers as they evidently thought the student was running down on them. The student was seen running down on them. The boys were loaded down with shears and hair clippers as they evidently thought the student was running down on them. The student was seen running down on them. ### Menominee Child is Drowned.

The waters of Menominee river claimed their second victim within twenty-four hours when Lillie, the four-year-old child of Edward Paul, fell into the Carleton creek slip and was drowned. The child is the son of Paul and his wife. The child was playing on the docks and in trying to walk between a car on the dock siding, the little girl slipped and fell into the river. No one but the small boy who was with her saw the little girl fall. The mother of the dead babe was about to sit down to the table for the noon day lunch when told of the accident. Rushing frantically to the bridge, the terrified mother made an attempt to find the body, thinking the babe had fallen from the bridge. Employees of the Carpenter-Cook company, attracted by the mother's screams, learned of the

WOLVERINE.

Exploratory operations on the Osceola lode at the Wolverine have been suspended. The work had been under way the past few weeks and results have been unsatisfactory. One or two during the opening of the formation there have been evidences of commercial copper, but not to material extent. During the past few months the openings have been in a class of ground which held out but little promise of values at great depth. Fifteen men were employed underground at this branch of the Wolverine ground in the mine. The surface work, including the buildings, will be dismantled and removed to the main shafts. No other exploration work will be undertaken at present.

QUINCY.

The Quincy is having some difficulty in keeping rock shipments up to normal. Unfavorable labor conditions and a natural decrease in production at the No. 7 shaft, which has reached the boundary and the territory to which has been partly well worked out, is responsible for a decrease of more than one thousand tons daily. The newer No. 9 shaft is not yet ready to yield anything more than a small output, and about four months will be required to get this shaft working to capacity. The No. 9 shaft has reached a depth of 2,800 feet. No. 8 shaft, which is down below the fifty-seventh level, is now handling most of the rock from the area tributary to No. 9 shaft. Shafts Nos. 7 and 2 are bottomed on the seventy-first level and shaft No. 7 is at the sixty-eighth level. The electric tram on the twenty-fifth level has been extended north of these shafts to the No. 9 shafts.

HANCOCK.

Hancock will not begin daily rock shipments in June, as the management has decided to continue the present plan of filling the bins at the mine and shipping the 2,000 tons they contain as often as they are full. As underground conditions permit, the intervals between shipments will be reduced and later on rock shipments will be made to keep one head of the Allouez-Centennial mill in constant operation. The rock now going forward is coming entirely from development work. The labor shortage has affected Hancock in connection with the other mines of the district and is solely responsible for work not being as far advanced at this time as was anticipated some months ago. The mine's situation in the city of Hancock gives it an advantage over mines more distant from settlements in obtaining labor, however, and it will be one of the factors to be taken into consideration when men are more plentiful.

TUOLUMNE.

The Tuolumne copper company is making excellent progress with its drift on the 2,000-foot level and is opening up an extensive ore body, say Butte adve. The vein is showing a width of more than twelve feet and the ore shoots more than six feet. The values are good and there is promise that heavy tonnage will be developed. The crosscut on the 2,000-foot level, is proceeding well and the vein on that level will be reached before the end of June. From the 500-foot level and general characteristics of the vein above it is believed that a great improvement will be found in what is developed. On the 2,000-foot level some places the ore assayed close to 8 per cent copper, showing a marked improvement from the level above. It is believed that an equal improvement will result on the 2,200-foot level. From the work already done it is established in the minds of the company's engineers that the lean zone has been passed through and that the zone of secondary enrichment has been reached. The Tuolumne mine appears to be coming into its own again.

SUPERIOR.

The Superior Copper company continues to open excellent copper ground at depth in two lodes, particularly in the so-called west lode, which is showing rich on all levels below the twelfth. The Superior lode, which the shaft is sinking has been opened to a depth of about two thousand feet and discloses excellent copper ground both at depth and in the north drift on the fifteenth level, which is now over 1,500 feet from the shaft and in very good ground. These developments are all in ground tributary to the No. 1 shaft. The No. 2 shaft is sinking for the eighteenth level, where it is expected to reach a depth of about 2,000 feet. The No. 1 shaft is sinking for the eighteenth level, where it is expected to reach a depth of about 2,000 feet. The No. 1 shaft is sinking for the eighteenth level, where it is expected to reach a depth of about 2,000 feet.

REDUCING COSTS IN BISBEE.

On the ground that a dollar saved is two dollars earned, the copper companies operating in the Bisbee camp are preparing to add materially to their earnings by a pronounced change from the square set mining system—the most expensive system in general use—to the slicing method. Both the Calumet & Arizona and Copper Queen are inaugurating the vertical slice method, where their ore bodies permit, and doing away with timbering. The Engineering & Mining Journal says: "The camp of Bisbee has long been noted for the extremely expensive methods necessary to extract the ore in spite of the large size of the mines. The causes of this lies in the irregular nature of the deposits and in the treacherous ground and the square-set and filling methods adopted, and no reduction upon the management of the companies. In vertical, it is now being discovered that some of the deposits, at least are susceptible to extraction by more economical methods. We are informed that the Copper Queen is now producing nearly 20 per cent of its ore from vertical slices in hard ground where the ore is being cut out without timber, the extraction being followed by filling, upon which fresh ore is broken. A similar method is also used by the Calumet & Arizona in suitable places near Junction shaft. This device is in line with the tendency of all the large copper com-

ANACONDA.

The gold and silver values recovered from Anaconda ores averaged 2 1/2 cents per pound of copper produced. This, combined with the fact that the tonnage of ore handled did not vary from the preceding month, the daily average being approximately 15,000 tons. Earlier in the year, exceedingly cold weather materially halted smelting operations. At one time, for instance, there were about 23,000 tons of ore delayed in cars to various mines and smelters. In February, 1912, excellent operating weather prevailed, resulting in an output of 26,800 pounds of gold for that month. Anaconda's ores do not vary much, as the concentrating material averages about 2 1/2 per cent copper and the smelting ores 3 per cent copper.

NOTES OF MINING NEWS.

Nearly 60 per cent of the North Lake Mining company assessment, which was due for payment May 19, has thus far been paid.

In the first six months of this year, Copper Range Consolidated will have paid more in dividends than in entire 1912 year when $2 a share was paid.

Interests connected with the Braden Copper deal that any new financing is contemplated by that company. Rumors of financing had been revived with the decline in the stock.

The directors of the Shattuck-Arizona company are scheduled to meet next week to declare a fifty-cent dividend. The last payment—fifty cents—was made in January this year.

Six copper stocks are selling ex-dividend, beginning yesterday: Calumet & Arizona, $1.25; Chino, Utah and Copper Range, each seventy-five cents; Ray and Nevada Consolidated, each thirty-seven and a half cents.

The May output of Wolverine—443 tons of mineral was the smallest for that month in many years, and was 15 per cent less than a year ago. The May output of Mohawk was smaller than for corresponding month in past two years.

General Manager Birch of the Goldfield Consolidated announces that during the month of April, 1913, the total production was 26,185 tons, from which resulted a net realization of $193,244, of which the mining realization was $28,277 and the milling and transportation company's profit and miscellaneous earnings were $165,057. During the month a change was made in the filter plant at the mill, necessitating the running of the plant instead of 100 stamps while the change was in progress. This work is now completed.

"C" shaft of the Mass Consolidated resumed operations Monday, after the mine had been shut down for six weeks as the result of labor trouble. Most of the men who went underground were old employees, but a few new miners were in the number. More men will be added to the crew. There has been no recognition by the company of the National Federation of Miners. The stamp mill was placed in commission Wednesday. The management expects to get out enough rock to keep one head in constant operation.

THE BRITISH YARD HAS SHRUNK!

The strict watch kept on weights and measures in the British Isles has led to the discovery that even the standard weights and measures of the government are not absolutely to be depended upon. The only four official copies of the imperial standard yard in existence in England have shrunk. The standard yard is kept in the strong room of the standards department in Westminster. The copies which, like the standard itself, are made of bronze alloy, have decreased in length, according to the annual report on weights and measures issued by the board of trade in the following proportions: The Royal mint copy, 23 millionths of an inch short; Royal society copy, 42; Greenwich observatory copy, 43; standard department copy, 215 millionths of an inch short respectively. The copies of the standard pound weight also have been found to vary, but not so much as the yard measure. In the business transactions of an empire a millionth of an inch in measure or of a pound in weight will make a considerable sum. There is no nation more scrupulously honest in its business dealings than Britain, remarks the Christian Science Monitor, self has in her careful scrutiny discovered the shrinking of her official standards of weight and measure, and will have it corrected at once.

FLAG DAY PROCLAIMED. Governor Ferris Enthusiastically Urges Observance of June 14.

Frank G. Jenks, clerk of Marquette county, yesterday received from Frederick C. Martindale, secretary of state for Michigan, an official copy of Governor Ferris' Flag Day proclamation, in which he urges the observance of the day in the following words:

"We believe that the American flag is the most beautiful and most significant of all the flags of all the nations of the earth. June 14, 1913 is the 136th birthday of our flag. The story of the stars and stripes is the story of a great and mighty people. It symbolizes 'life, liberty and the pursuit of human happiness,' the fundamental elements of a great brotherhood. Let the people of Michigan on Saturday, June 14, display this sacred emblem of all state, municipal and school buildings; let American citizens conduct factory exercises as will encourage our youth to love and reverence the flag and what it symbolizes."

"Therefore, I, Woodbridge N. Ferris, Governor of Michigan, do issue this proclamation and enthusiastically urge the observance of Saturday, June 14, 1913, as 'Flag Day.'"

The document is sealed with the great seal of the state and signed by the governor and countersigned by the secretary of state.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO. "BIG NINE" INSISTS UPON CONTROL BY FACULTY IF MICHIGAN IS TO RETURN.

Madison, Wis., June 6.--No action was taken regarding the proposed return of the University of Michigan to the "Big Nine" by the faculty board of the Intercollegiate Conference Athletic association here today. The board decided that in view of the position taken by the Michigan regents of May 29 in refusing to re-establish control of athletics in the faculty, no affirmative action on its part is possible under the present conference policy.

PHILADELPHIA MAKERS OF WOMEN'S GARMENTS VOTE IN FAVOR OF STRIKE.

Philadelphia, June 6.--Representatives of eight thousand men and women employed in the manufacture of women's garments in this city voted tonight to strike and declare they will leave their shops as soon as the order is given by a special committee appointed by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union of America. The workers say a walkout will be ordered within two weeks and that 160 shops in this city will be affected.

One of the principal causes of the strike is declared to be the sub-contracting system. Instead of having the work done in the factories, it was said, sub-contractors take work to their homes or to "sweat shops." This, the leaders of the garment workers declare, is "ruinous to the trade and endangers the lives of thousands who work in such places."

JAPANESE AMBASSADOR AT BANQUET, FORECASTS AMICABLE ADJUSTMENT.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 6.--Baron Chinda, Japanese ambassador, was a speaker at a dinner given here tonight to the new American ambassador to Japan, George W. Guthrie. He was introduced to the assembly by Secretary of State Bryan. With reference to the California land dispute, Baron Chinda said, in part: "The United States and Japan, separated as they are by the vast and unfathomed waters of the Pacific ocean, have been brought, and are destined to be brought, into closer contact with each other in all branches of peaceful activities. I do not deny that such contact is liable to give rise to occasional misunderstandings and complications, but do deny the existence, or the possible existence, of any phase on those difficulties which would not eventually yield to due and timely processes of diplomatic treatment--the treatment of justice and fair play and of a sympathetic understanding of the problems of each nation by the other. Our two nations, bound by auspicious tradition and guided by the same aims and the same aspirations to contribute to the pacific progress of the world, should forever remain good and trusted neighbors."

Normal Notes

Assembly on Thursday morning took the form of a special program commemorative of the new building. Executive officers of the Commercial club, the Normal school committee and members of the legislature took part in the exercises. President Kaye opened the program by explaining the plans of the building from pictures made by Professor Magers and which were thrown on a screen by the stereopticon. It was the first time that the students, as a body, had seen the plans. President Kaye, on behalf of the faculty and students, expressed hearty appreciation of the great help which the Commercial club, the Normal school committee, the legislators and other friends of the school had given. Mr. Archambeau replied for the club in a little speech in which he said it had been a great pleasure for his organization to do what it could and that at all times it was glad to assist the school in any way. On behalf of the Normal school committee, Mr. Russell, its chairman, outlined the history of the club and its place in the northern peninsula. He mentioned the special function of the Normal in education and showed that it was of the greatest importance and came the closest to the people of any of the state institutions. Happy addresses also were made by A. E. Miller, of the Normal school committee, and George Tucker. The students were enthusiastic in showing their appreciation of the work done for the school. The following men were present: Messrs. Archambeau, Roberts, Sherwood, Miller, Meyer, Russell, Bice and Tucker. It was an enjoyable occasion.

The children ceased their play and gathered in silent groups to regard the sacrifice of the infidel. A crowd of men and boys gathered and spoke in low tones. Often I heard the dreaded "Ya-sak" passed among them. Priests passed about and looked with a puzzled air, scarcely believing that such some powerful protection to dare this thing, and fearing to interfere.

Absorbed in the painting of marble against a sky of delicate blue, the sense of danger had been lulled to sleep in me by the somnolent chant of the holy man repeating his Koran near the grille. Suddenly his chant ceased. I heard hurrying feet and looked up to see a police captain and two men, followed by a number of priests, a noisy mob at their heels, making toward me. I kept my seat and regarded the captain quietly. With unmistakable gesture, but in a language that I did not understand, he ordered me out of the place. But I remained seated and indicated that I did not comprehend either his word or his meaning, and painted a stroke or two at the same time. My confusion affected him. He seemed to conclude that I must have permission. After some further parley he put a guard of two police over me, and went off to consult I knew not whom. I called him back, then led him to the shop of Abraham Effendi, who championed my cause boldly, and returned with me to the crowd, the deserted easel and the two policemen in the court. The captain had gone off to report. A fanatic promptly shouted defiance at Abraham, and he, no longer peaceful, shouted in reply. Then we witnessed an Oriental duel, in which the human hand and face performed the most vehement gestures and violent contortions, and the sacred court rang with a noise that frightened away the pigeons and brought the holy man hobbling on sticks.

Abraham Effendi and his black bearded adversary were still shouting at each other when a third policeman arrived smiling, to say that I might stay and "paint freely," as a naval officer interpreted. He and his companions saluted pleasantly, and went to pray at the shrine. The crowd melted to normal proportions—Sydney Adamson, in Harper's Magazine.

"THE SHINING BEETLES."

A singularly beautiful insect is found in and near the Palenque ruins, in the state of Chiapa, in Mexico. To the early Spanish chroniclers they were known as shining beetles; the historian describes them as "Somewhat smaller than sparrows, having two stars close by their eyes, and two more under their wings, which gave so great a light that by it they could spin, weave, write, and paint; and the Spaniards went by night to hunt the utios, or little rabbits of that country; and a fishing carrying these animals tied to their great toes or thumbs; and they called them locuyos, being also of use to save them from the gnats, which are there very troublesome. They took them in the night with firebrands, because they made to the light, and came when called by their name; and they are so unwieldy that when they fall they cannot rise again; and the men stroking their faces and hands with a sort of moisture that is in those stars, seemed to be alive as long as in the night.

This insect, which is common to the tropical forests bordering the Gulf of Mexico, belongs to a family of beetles known as the Elateridae, and is called by the Indians cucuj. Seen by day, this elater firefly is a large beetle, of a greenish black, a little more than an inch long. When resting at night with wings closed, only the two spiracles on the back show light. The larvae are thin, hard and voracious, and in the wire-worm state, are very destructive to sugar-cane. Full-grown beetles have a shiny, movable horn on the head, which laid on the back they cannot turn over except by pressing their horn against a membrane upon the front. Behind the eyes are two round transparent substances full of luminous matter, about as large as the head of a pin, and underneath is a larger membrane containing the same luminous substance. When roused and in perfect vigor, the insect seems perfectly saturated by the luminous secretion. The light is much stronger and far more beautiful in color than that of the common glow-worm. The phosphorescent substance remains luminous if removed from the beetle immediately after death. Four of these luciferous insects (which abound hereabout) will throw a fairly brilliant light for several yards around, and by the light of a single insect one may read distinctly the finely printed pages of a newspaper.

They are nocturnal creatures, flying only after dark, and their brilliancy is so remarkable that they are said to have saved the lives of travelers temporarily lost in the deep forests which characterize the southern portion of the Gulf region. To the uninitiated they resemble fiery dragons sweeping through the air with automobile lamps set upon their shoulders. They live upon gnats and other insects, and their lasting brilliancy causes them to be used as miniature torches by the natives. The Indians fasten them to their ankles when treading the forest at night; the women wear them in their hair under a thin gauze veil and construct little cages for them, thus using them as lamps. These cages are cylindrical with a disc of thin wood at the top and bottom, and slender uprights of split bamboo, so placed as to prevent the beetles from escaping, yet allowing the light to shine through. Three or four are placed in one cage, and this is occasionally immersed in water to prevent the insects dying. An Indian forest maiden with her hair ablaze with these singular creatures is a somewhat bizarre sight to the outsider. Boys rub the flesh of cucuj over their faces to frighten their fellows. The insects congregate by the thousands on certain forest trees, and as if by a given signal simultaneously flash their lights; then darken them and flash them again. The effect is singularly beautiful and unique; the entire fire resembles a giant phosphorescent flame. Thus, as if actuated with the success of their performance, the beetles dart upward in all directions, like sparks from brilliant fireworks.—Terry's Mexico.

PRIMITIVE AMERICANS.

The Hopi Indians, who number about two thousand, inhabit eight villages in the "Painted Desert" of Arizona. These villages are situated from eighty to one hundred miles from the nearest railroad point. All are located on the summits of mesas that rise precipitously to a height of one hundred feet or more above the plain. By reason of their isolation the Hopi retain their primitive customs, habits, and ceremonies to a far greater degree than is the case with any other Indian community in North America. Indeed, the Hopi may be said to constitute an anachronism, and for many other reasons than the unique position of their women, whose domination over the men is a survival of the primitive matri-

Pueblos were citizens of Mexico prior to the consummation of the treaty. Consequently they are now citizens of the United States, and as such entitled to vote, to run for congress, and otherwise to avail themselves of their privilege as bonafide Americans. It is not at all likely, however, that the Hopi will claim any such rights of suffrage now or for a long time to come. Indeed, these Indians are as indifferent to American politics as could be imagined. The government of the United States means nothing whatever to them, and were it wiped out tomorrow the Hopi would pursue the even tenor of their way quite as before.

HAPPINESS CLASSES.

Like people in Paris are now attending "happiness classes." The classes are conducted by a poet, who lectures the company on how to be happy. The principle is to "destroy the terror felt by living creatures toward nature, life and death." But the actual terror felt by human beings toward those subjects was probably never less than today, when the atmosphere of materialism has stifled imagination. Even the California earthquake or a great volcanic disaster leaves the great majority of people unmoved.

Movement of Lake Superior Ore Up to June 1 Was 2,027,483 Tons Ahead of 1912.

A record was made for ore shipments last month and for the first time in the history of the trade the movement exceeded 7,000,000 tons in May. The largest previous movement for May was in 1910 when the mines in the Lake Superior district sent forward 6,081,358 tons. The record was made in spite of the fact that there was a heavy movement of grain during the early part of the month and that there was considerable delay at the head of Lake Superior on account of heavy rains. That the docks and vessels can handle 30,000,000 tons in a season is made certain by the showing made last month. It is expected that the movement for June, July, August and September will average 7,500,000 tons and a leading shipper yesterday said that he would not be surprised if the 8,000,000 ton mark was reached in August. In order to reach the 50,000,000 ton mark the movement from June 1 to the close of the season would only have to be a little more than a half a million tons greater than for the same period last season. In 1912 shipments exceeded 7,000,000 tons in June, July, August, September and October and the movement for November was 4,072,674 tons. Last month the fleet loaded 7,284,212 tons, which was an increase of 1,265,128 tons, or 23 per cent, over May, 1912, when shipments were 5,919,074 tons. Up to June 1 the mines sent forward 8,150,699 tons. That is an increase of 2,027,483 tons, or 23 per cent, over the same time last season.

The outlook is for a heavy movement this month, as the ore is coming forward in better shape and there is a good supply of tonnage. Ore carriers are getting excellent dispatch.

SECRET OF PERPETUAL YOUTH.

Here is a Writer Who May Be Pointing Others the Way to Its Achievement.

It is the glory of the present age that in it one can be young. Our times give no check to the radical tendencies of youth. On the contrary, they give the directest stimulation, says Randolph S. Bourne, in "Youth and Life." A middle-aged world awaits wide outlets to glorify to inspire us to the bravest of radicalisms. Great issues have been born in the last century, and are now loose in the world. There is a radical philosophy that illuminates our environment, gives us terms in which to express what we see, and so ordains our otherwise aimless reactions.

In this country, it is true, where a certain modicum of free institutions, and a certain specious enfranchisement of the human spirit have been achieved, youth may be blinded and drugged into an acquiescence in conditions, and its enthusiasm may easily run into a glorification of the present. In the fact of the more urgent ideals that are with us, it may be inspired by vague ideas of "liberty" or "the rights of man," and fancy it is truly radical when it is but flying on the wings of the past. Our political thought moves so slowly here that even our radicalism is traditional. We breathe in with the air about us the belief that we have attained perfection, and we do not examine things with our own eyes.

But more and more of the clear-sighted youth are coming to see the appalling array of things that still need to be done. The radical young man of today has no excuse for veering around to the conservative standpoint. Synicism cannot touch him. For it is the beauty of the modern radical philosophy that the worse the world treats a man, the more it convinces him of the truth of his radical interpretation of it. Disillusion comes, not through hard blows, but by the insidious sappings of worldly success. And there never was a time when there were so many radical young people who cared little about that worldly success.

The secret of life is then that this fine youthful spirit should never be lost. Out of the turbulence of youth should come this fine precipitate—a sane, strong, aggressive spirit of daring and doing. It must be a flexible, growing spirit, with an hospital to new ideas, and a keen insight into experience. To keep one's reactions warm and true, is to have found the secret of perpetual youth, and perpetual youth is salvation.

ARTISTIC CUSHIONS FOR THE LIVINGROOM.

There is nothing which contributes such an air of homeliness to a room as a couch filled with clean, artistic cushions.

They are appreciated by every member of the household, especially the man, who can fling themselves down for a half-hour's relaxation without the risk of spoiling the dainty pillows.

Wash pillows are the only practical things to use in the living-room, the den or on the veranda.

When selecting materials for wash pillow covers, choose those which will not fade. Heavy linen in the cream or ecru tones, gingham in checked or plain designs, and the linen glass toweling in the barred designs all give excellent service. Purchase the best qualities, for it pays in the long run.

Plan the wash pillow cover so that it can easily be removed when soiled. There are various ways to fashion the cover. It may be in two parts and lined together; it can be fastened at one end or across the back, with buttons or buttonholes or snap fasteners, or it can be tied together at one end with short lengths of tape.

With very little work these covers can be made artistic.

A lovely pillow can be made of blue gingham embroidered with a floral design worked with Wallachian embroidery with coarse white mercerized cotton. Around the edge make a row of eyelets and lace the two sections together with narrow white linen tape.

A yard and a half of material is required for this cover. The front should be cut 24 inches square and the back 26 inches. To the front stitch a two-inch band of white material, using two rows of machine stitching. Care should be observed to make a perfect miter at the corners.

The Company Behind the Cross Country

Look up the rating given The Thomas B. Jeffery Company by the great national commercial agencies. You will find it is the highest that can possibly be given to any concern.

Forty years of manufacturing experience and the result of constant striving toward ideals of accuracy constitute the greatest asset of this company today.

The Boston sales and service building, 640 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass., one of nearly five hundred branches and distributing houses maintained by this company and by Cross Country dealers.

Rambler Motor Cars

Fifteen fundamental facts we offer in conclusion. These are the facts that every buyer must consider if he chooses wisely. Study them carefully and consider their meaning.

- 1 The 1913 Cross Country is the product of forty years of manufacturing experience.
- 2 The Jeffery Company has the highest financial rating that it is possible for the commercial agencies to give.
- 3 Capital three million dollars, all paid in, with a large surplus.
- 4 The Company is owned practically in its entirety by one man and is absolutely independent of any alliance with any other concern.
- 5 Every piece of equipment and every particle of real estate owned by this company is paid for in full and never has a bill been allowed to pass discount.
- 6 Ninety-six per cent of all parts are made in the Jeffery works.
- 7 Twenty-five thousand Rambler cars are on the road.
- 8 The Jeffery organization includes a factory manned by two thousand men, with a sales and service force including nearly five hundred branches and distributing dealers.
- 9 The factory ground area is one hundred and four acres and the floor area twenty-five acres.
- 10 Cross Country parts sell from one-half to two-thirds less than parts of other cars.
- 11 Fifteen employes of this company have been in its employ twenty years and over; fifteen from fifteen to twenty years and nearly all the rest from one to fifteen years.
- 12 The Jeffery Company was the first American company to adopt the demountable wheel, universally used abroad and now being imitated widely in this country.
- 13 The Jeffery service facilities in every part of the United States are under direct company supervision and are unexcelled.
- 14 The Jeffery organization is an organization of young men, who have built up a reputation for fair dealing which entitles them to expect to be in business for many years.
- 15 The Jeffery Company is notably conservative, valuing permanent success beyond temporary profit.

The Jeffery organization produces nothing but the Cross Country car. We cannot, in view of the facts enumerated above, do anything else but build it right.

A beautiful four-color reproduction of the Cross Country, from an oil painting by R. Philip Brainerd, is ready for mailing. See the Cross Country by all means, at any Jeffery branch or dealer's display room, but send for the picture anyway.

CHILDREN IN DEMAND. Whatever else was said in the recent reports of an Illinois legislative investigation of conditions in and relating to maternity hospitals in Chicago, it is worthy of attention, aside from the purposes of the investigation, that it was asserted that the demand for infants exceeded the supply. So far, therefore, as it applies to the territory and people within a certain geographical area, this refutes a prevalent belief that children are becoming classed as undesirable and unwelcome in most homes. And the particular area no doubt is more or less typical of conditions generally. Other lessons will be drawn from the legislative inquiry, the aim of which is not to ascertain whether demand is great or small and supply equal to it or the contrary, and as the sentence culled from the testimony is not likely to be enlarged upon or made the subject of recommendation, we feel like calling attention to it.

OTHER PEOPLE'S WAYS. "Shoe shining parlors" seem to be unknown in London. An American writes to the Chronicle of that city: "Having occasion to cross London bridge every morning and having my boots generously bespattered with mud by the passing vehicles, I discovered a shop in King William street, opposite the monument, devoted solely to the polishing of boots and shoes. The customer, sitting on a comfortable armchair, places his feet on low pedestals and has his two boots polished at the same time if he is in a hurry. I believe this is the only shop of the kind in London. I am sure you could use more of them."

THEATER ON A FARM. Around Sherman lake, one of the innumerable small bodies of water in New York state, gather many cottagers and campers during the summer months. Facilities for amusement, other than those provided by the lake and the surrounding farming country, are scarce, so the owner of a farm near the lake turned his barn into a unique theater. Benches and seats of the circus type, placed in the open air, accommodated the audience, while the central entrance of the barn is the stage. The big sliding doors, which are opened wide in the hay-making season to allow the loads to enter, serve as the stage curtain. Five sets of scenery, all made of wall paper, are used. Such a theater is available wherever there is a barn.

The Social Settlement

An English Magazine Writer of Wide Experience in the Work Gives the Uninitiated an Idea of This Interesting Phase of Human Endeavor.

"Settlement work," though better known in this country than in England, is still somewhat a matter of mystery to the majority and even those who know about its offices, may ask the question, "Do you think you are doing any good?" of settlement workers.

backing upon childhood, will remember that many of the most valuable lessons in conduct were given us, not by those who said didactically, "Thou shalt," and "Thou shalt not," but by those who were probably quite unconscious that we were patterning after them.

The spirit of youth and the spirit of the settlement go side by side, almost hand in hand. Out of the settlement is usually regarded as a profession, and that in order to be efficient in it one must have a special training, read books outside the lines of the ordinary library, be versed in the theories of sociology and do other mysterious things beyond the experience of everyday mortals.

SOME UNEXPECTED FORTUNES.

Stories of Humble Folk Who Suddenly Found Themselves Possessed of Great Riches.

There is a dramatic note in the story of the unexpected fortune of George Wilkinson, of Peterborough, England, a cattle drover, who it was recently announced, had inherited $100,000 from an uncle who had died intestate.

This story reminds a writer in the Philadelphia Ledger of that of a fish hawk named Stables, well known in Aberdeen a few years ago, who, while he was wheeling a barrow through the streets learned that inquiries were being made for him by a firm of solicitors, and that if he called upon them he would "hear something to his advantage."

Five years ago Ernest Douglass, a miner of Durham, was informed that he was entitled to a fortune of no less than $500,000, the money being left to him by a great uncle who had been successful in several industrial concerns.

JAPAN'S REAL LAND QUESTION.

Law Forbidding Foreigners to Own Property in Unincorporated Land is Both Obeyed and Evaded.

Japan has another land question besides that in California. Missions in Japan, despite the fact that the law does not permit an American to own land there, hold more than $3,000,000 worth of property, made up of schools, churches, hospitals, residences and the land on which they stand.

"For many years, in fact till 1903, I believe, this property was held in the name of a corporation which could hold property. A smart lawyer was engaged to go into the matter and his investigation resulted satisfactorily, the missionaries of each church, who, whether they be harmless as doves or not are sharp as serpents, immediately organized themselves into 'shadan' or 'zaidan,' two kinds of corporations.

GRATITUDE. The contributor to the Atlantic's perennially interesting Contributors' Club discourses this month upon Gratitude and relieves himself of some commendable sentiments. He asks: "Is Gratitude a living virtue like Truth or Courage, lacking which a man's soul is incomplete. Or is it an invention of the people who confer benefits? All real virtues, I take it, will be found springing naturally in the heart of an unspoiled human being.

GRATITUDE. "Gratitude, as called, must be indulged in with the greatest moderation. It is not like Mercy which bleaseth him that gives and him that takes. Gratitude may be very bad for the giver, since it lessens his merit in giving if he requires or even expects it. And, on the other hand, if he has a sensitive spirit, it wounds him, as the attitude of servant to master may wound and humiliate the master. And in case the gift is prompted by a sense of duty to himself, or to an ideal held by the giver, the recipient is not concerned with duty, though he profits by it and should be required to give thanks. It was not done for his sake, even though pity prompted the deed. In fact, his need or suffering has helped the benefactor to accomplish his end, for the act of charity may easily be only a means of relief for a wounded sensibility.

"And to the recipient of favors Gratitude is a burden which only the freest affection can enable him to bear with dignity. Let the burden fall and it may create a secret core of resentment, the more deplorable because it is unshared, or a callous ignominy which justifies the airy criticism of La Rochefoucauld: 'Gratitude is a lively sense of benefits to come.' or Edward Gibbon's sledgehammer dictum, 'Revenge is profitable, gratitude is expensive.' "If then donors do too much for a friend? Must he hold out his hand for fear of introducing a third between us, the sinister figure of Gratitude? No, a thousand times, no! For Gratitude, like Fear, can be cast out by perfect Love. But don't let us preach too. Gratitude is the duty of Gratitude, above all to the children."

THOMAS B. MILLS ENTERTAINED HERE

Grand Exalted Ruler of the Order of the Elks Is Guest of the Ishpeming Lodge.

Thomas B. Mills, grand exalted ruler of the Benevolent & Protective Order of Elks, was tendered a reception and dinner in Anderson hall, Thursday evening. Fifty members of the Marquette lodge came up by special train. They were met at the South Shore passenger station by members of the Ishpeming lodge and all marched to the home of A. J. Yungbluth, where Mr. Mills was entertained at lunch. Mr. Mills is an old friend of Mr. and Mrs. Yungbluth, they having been acquainted with him nearly all their lives. C. J. Byrnes, who is also a personal friend of Mr. Mills, and who entertained the grand exalted ruler during the afternoon, was also a guest at the Yungbluth luncheon.

A reception was held before dinner was served that all might have an opportunity to meet the guest of the evening. The meal was heartily enjoyed and the final number on the impromptu program was not given until almost midnight. A. J. Yungbluth made an excellent toastmaster, and in his introductory remarks brought out a number of interesting facts concerning the lodge and its work. A. T. Devine, exalted ruler of the local lodge, extended the welcome to Mr. Mills and the other town delegations. Frank Jenks, of Marquette, gave a talk in behalf of Marquette lodge No. 405 and Ed J. Butler spoke on "The Elks of the Upper Peninsula." M. J. Kennedy was spokesman for Ishpeming lodge and B. J. Goodman entertained with some of his noted direct stories. Others who responded to short talks were C. J. Byrnes and J. H. Quinn. George Hayden favored the assemblage with two piano solos and Arvid Hult sang. Lavigne's orchestra gave a concert while the dinner was being served.

Mr. Mills was the last speaker. He gave a most interesting talk on the work of the society, declaring that lodges are now maintained in practically every city in the United States, 5,000 population or over. The membership has almost reached the half million mark, and from present indications it will continue to grow and prosper. Mr. Mills mentioned the great charitable work the lodge is doing, referring particularly to the financial aid tendered the flood sufferers in Ohio and other states. A lodge in the Hawaiian islands was one of the first to send a voluntary contribution to the grand exalted ruler at the time of the flood disaster. Mr. Mills stated that more than a half million dollars had been contributed to charitable work the last year.

Mr. Mills whose term of office will expire in July, has put in a very busy year, and has visited a great many lodges in his extensive jurisdiction. He departed on the midnight South Shore train for his home in Superior where he expects to remain until he leaves to attend the national convention in July.

SCANDINAVIANS FORM CONSOLIDATION PLAN

Grand Lodge, Sitting in Duluth, Appoints Committee to Consider Proposed Merger.

The grand lodge officers and delegates attending the annual convention of the Scandinavian Fellowship & Aid society, in session this week in Duluth, at the business session held Thursday voted in favor of consolidating with the Scandinavian Brotherhood of America. A committee was then appointed to devise a plan whereby a consolidation of the two societies can be effected.

Albert Bjork, Christ Presthus and August Norrell of this city are attending the convention. It is expected by Mr. Bjork's friends, here, that he will be elected president of the national organization, as he has held the office of vice president during the last year. Oliver Johnson, a former Ishpeming man, who for the past few years has been engaged in business in Neegaunee, has held the office of treasurer of the national body for some time past and it is anticipated that he will be re-elected at the Duluth meeting.

That the visiting grand lodge officers and delegates are being well entertained by the members of the Duluth lodge is evident from the following taken from yesterday's issue of the Duluth Evening Herald:

"A trip to the steel plant this afternoon and a smoker last night featured the entertainment for the delegates attending the annual convention of the Scandinavian Aid and Fellowship society which is being held at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

"The entire delegation took the train at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The visitors were accompanied by a large delegation of local members and business men, being met at Sloan's hall. The opportunity of viewing the progress being made at the big industry.

PROMINENT PYTHIANS HERE.

Grand Vice Chancellor and Past Grand Chancellor on an Outing.

H. E. Vandewalker, grand vice chancellor and Victor Hawkins, past grand chancellor, of the Michigan grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, who attended the Upper peninsula league's reunion in Marquette this week, were Ishpeming visitors yesterday. They will spend the greater part of a week with Ishpeming friends fishing for trout in the streams south of the city.

Mr. Vandewalker, who lives in Ypsilanti, will be elected grand chancellor without opposition at the next annual meeting of the grand lodge. Prior to locating at Ypsilanti he spent considerable time in the upper peninsula, having been engaged in the insurance business and he is well known to many persons here.

Mr. Vandewalker says he will attend the fiftieth anniversary celebration and Upper Peninsula league meeting in Ishpeming next year. He commended the members of the Ishpeming degree team for their splendid work in the contest at Marquette. He declared that he had never seen more perfect work and he is satisfied from the enthusiasm manifested in Marquette in the interest of next year's celebration that it will be a "bummer" and will be well worth attending.

TAX MEN HERE.

Sumner G. Horton, J. R. Davis, A. B. Hubbard and F. Haas, representing the state tax commission, have arrived in Ishpeming and have started to appraise the real estate of the city. They have about completed their work in Neegaunee and Marquette, where they have spent the past four months. They expect to find work in this city to occupy their time for the next two months. Their work will cover all of the neighboring mining locations. Two of the men now working in the county are appraising the stocks in the various business houses of Neegaunee.

SWIMMING CAMPAIGN.

Boys Will Be Taught the Crawl Stroke With the Aid of Water Wings.

Preparations for the swimming campaign, June 14 to 28, when the Y. M. C. A. will undertake to teach the boys of Ishpeming to swim, are well under way. A large number of boys have registered and indications are that the capacity of the swimming tank will be taxed to the limit.

The boys will be taught the "crawl" stroke, with the aid of water wings, as this is the quickest and easiest way for a beginner to learn to swim. Before the pupils are permitted to enter the water they will have to master the arm movements of the "crawl" stroke and then one of the leaders will demonstrate the stroke in the water.

During the campaign there will be ten class periods each day, four in the morning, four in the afternoon and two in the evening. The two evening periods are for boys who are working, and for school boys sixteen to eighteen years of age.

WINNERS IN TICKET CONTEST.

The winners in the ticket contest conducted by J. Sellwood & Co., have been determined and the young people whose names are published below are requested to call at the grocery store for their prizes. The first prize, for returning the largest number of coupons, goes to Miss Rita Kirby, of North Third street, who brought in 608 tickets; Frances Gallery receives second prize, having brought in 471 tickets. For the largest cash value represented in the tickets Theodore Eger Swanson received the second prize for the largest cash value, her total being $115.08. The contest was such a complete success that Manager Matthews has decided to conduct another this month, but along different lines. With each 100 tickets turned in the holder will be given fifty cents in cash or merchandise.

Mrs. John T. Quine and son, George yesterday attended the graduation of her daughter, Lillian, at Stout Institute, Menominee, Wis. They are expected home today, accompanied by Miss Quine.

The headquarters of the Marquette County Gas & Electric company are to be moved July 1, from the Jones block, on Canal street, to the south room in the Heineman block, on South Main street, which was formerly occupied by Nicholas Cox, who, on the first of May, moved his business to the Losseyong building on Pearl street. The electric light company has outgrown its present quarters.

Charles Johnson is moving the house that stood at the rear of the Salvation Army barracks, corner Cleveland avenue and Third street, to the northern part of the city. The members of the Scandinavian Aid and Fellowship society will attend services tomorrow morning in the Norwegian Lutheran church and in the afternoon at 1:30 they will go to the cemetery, to decorate the graves of the departed members.

MUCH IMPROVEMENT WORK DURING MAY

Little Business Was Transacted at Meeting of Common Council Thursday Evening.

Several thousand persons congregated in the streets of the business district last night, expecting there would be excitement when socialist speakers attempted to give addresses at the corner of Iron and Tobin streets, as was the case the preceding two evenings, but they were disappointed. The police officers did not interfere with the meeting. Several carloads of people came from Ishpeming and it was estimated that from two to three thousand men, women and children were gathered around Edward J. McGurty, the socialist organizer, during the fifteen or twenty minutes that he spoke.

Before opening the meeting, Mr. McGurty asked the crowd to open a line for traffic through Tobin street, and several of his socialist co-workers kept the space cleared while he addressed the assemblage. Mr. McGurty also requested the several officers patrolling Iron street to assist in keeping the thoroughfare open. The assistance of the police was not needed, as the spectators did not attempt to crowd the street and then only while the people were dispersing.

Mr. McGurty is a fluent speaker. He was not backward in criticizing Mayor Heggaton and Marshal Newcombe for what he said was their attempts to break up the meetings. He asked the spectators to keep an open line in the street so the police would have no grounds to make arrests. The speaker defied the authorities to deny the right to free speech and declared the socialists would continue to fight for their constitutional rights indefinitely. The city officials would not tolerate them, he declared, no matter how often the socialists were arrested.

Mr. McGurty said he respected the city ordinances and that neither he nor any of the others who spoke earlier in the week had any desire to violate them. He said that in both Chicago and New York socialists are permitted to address meetings in the heart of the business districts, and that instead of interfering with the speakers the police protected them.

It was reported in the city yesterday that the socialists had wired to the organization's headquarters at Grand Rapids for more speakers and funds to help carry on the campaign in Negaunee. However, it is probable there will be no further interference with the speakers on the part of the city officials.

There seemed to be a good many present at last night's meeting who were in sympathy with the socialists, judging from the applause McGurty received. Several Negaunee socialists were busy distributing literature.

The receipts of the city's electric light plant for the month of April, 1913, shows a large increase over those for the same month a year ago. The receipts for the month were $2,558.82 as compared with $1,878.22 during April, 1912, an increase of $682.50. The report shows that there are now 11,537 incandescent lamps on the circuit.

Dr. C. J. Larson, city health officer, in his report for the past month, states that the city water shows the usual amount of organic matter, but is not unsafe. Eleven cases of contagious diseases were reported to the officer during May. There were two cases of scarlet fever, two of diphtheria, four of pneumonia and three of typhoid fever. Dr. Larson stated in his report that the committee appointed by the council to draft a milk ordinance had made an outline of the law and is awaiting the completion of the ordinance by the city attorney, who is confined to his home for the time being by illness.

Twenty-six arrests were made during May, according to the report of Marshal William Newcombe and $26.40 was collected in fines. The report follows: Drunk and disorderly, 10; drunk, 10; vagrancy, 1; disorderly, 3; petty larceny, 1; defrauding, 1.

Thirty-four residents of Lincoln street petitioned the council to have that part of McKenzie avenue between Main and Lincoln streets repaired. The street is in a very poor condition and the crossings are almost impassable after rain storms. The petition was referred to the street committee.

A request from Mrs. John Gribble that she be exempted from paying water rates, was granted by a unanimous vote of the aldermen. A petition for a street light at the furnace location was referred to the lighting committee.

A communication from Joseph Barbe, requesting the city not to open the public water fountain near the alley on Brown avenue, between Peck and Cass streets, as it is a public nuisance, was referred to a committee for further consideration.

An invitation from Felix Chiabotto, who is in charge of the Italian celebration here on June 19-20-21, asking the aldermen to attend the banquet on June 21 and the parade on the following day, was accepted.

A WORKER APPRECIATES THIS.

SOCIALIST SPEAKERS ALLOWED TO TALK

No Arrests Made by Police Last Evening—Street Is Kept Open.

every effort possible has been made by the Socialist party of Negaunee to effect reconciliation and understanding with the authorities. I went personally to Mayor Heggaton and endeavored to come to a reasonable understanding regarding the matter. I tried to show him that there had been no obstruction of traffic on Tobin street, because there was no traffic on the street in the evening. I suggested that he point out a corner that we could use, and his reply was: "There are no streets or street-corners in Negaunee which you can use for speaking."

"I would respectfully call your attention to the fact that socialist meetings are permitted and are protected in the Loop district of Chicago and in the business districts of New York City, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, San Francisco and many other large cities where the traffic is much heavier than in Negaunee. I do not say this to throw any aspersion on the city of Negaunee, which I recognize to be a place of no mean importance.

"I would further call your attention to the fact that I was not arrested last evening (the second time) for causing an obstruction of traffic, but for 'agitating' as the police chief expressed it. I have no hesitation in saying that I was criticizing certain political conditions in Negaunee, which I believe sorely need criticism.

"There is no privilege dearer to a socialist than that of the freedom of speech. We will not give up this fight for the maintenance of that right, no matter what the necessary cost or sacrifice may be on our part. That is the avowed position of the socialists of this town and county. And I make the statement not as a 'bluff' or a threat, but as a statement of a sincere position. (Signed) Edward J. McGurty."

COMMISSIONERS HAVE SESSION

J. E. Sherman and H. R. Harris Appeared Last Evening Before Men Who Are to Revise City Charter and Answered Many Questions on Varied Topics.

Meeting Was Attended by Twenty Persons, All Showing Keen Interest at Every Stage of the Proceedings—Sessions to Be Held Tuesdays and Fridays.

The first regular meeting of the charter commission at which the actual business of investigating conditions for the purpose of recommending either a change or an improvement in the municipal government was considered was held last evening in the band room of the city hall. Twenty men were in attendance. All showed the greatest interest in the proceedings. In addition to H. R. Harris and J. E. Sherman, who had been asked to address the commission, other citizens were present, and several of these were invited at the close of the meeting to give addresses at future sessions. Among the visitors were C. F. Dutton and Alderman Hennessy, the latter the oldest member, in point of service, on the common council. City Attorney George P. Brown and City Treasurer R. P. Byrne were also interested spectators.

The eight commissioners sat about a long table and before them were seated the men whom they were to hear. Chairman J. C. Gannon presided and parliamentary rules of order were in effect. The commissioners each were invited to ask any question and all took advantage of this opportunity. The two speakers were queried exhaustively relative to the light and power commission, of which they are members, and to the municipal government and business in general, in which both have taken great interest and of which each has made a study.

The meeting was in session from 7:45 until almost 10 o'clock. On the motion of Commissioner Small, the future meeting nights were set for Tuesdays and Fridays, and all sessions will be held in the city hall, convening at 7:30 p. m. By general consent of the commissioners, the water board was extended an invitation to address the commission at its next meeting Tuesday evening. It is hoped to have every member present. H. C. Young, now of the light and power commission but for the last five years a member of the water board, was also invited to be present at that time for the purpose of answering questions. C. F. Dutton and Alderman Hennessy were invited to speak Friday evening. Controller Primm and City Treasurer R. P. Byrne have also been invited to speak at the Friday session.

Mr. Sherman last night answered a wide selection of questions on municipal business affairs, some of which had somewhat awed the questioners at hand, but the replies to which were none the less interesting, as they all applied to topics akin to municipal charters.

One of the interesting questions asked of Mr. Sherman was put by W. A. Ross. Mr. Ross wanted to know if Mr. Sherman had thought of any particular reason why the city government should be changed. Mr. Sherman replied negatively.

"There is just one reason I think of, and that you doubtless all have in mind," said Mr. Sherman, correcting himself. "That is, there should be fewer persons concerned in making changes. If the people concerned in the larger cities of directing the policies of municipal business could keep away from the details, the business could be managed with greater expediency. Instead of as now, for instance, waiting for an epidemic to stimulate a health board to draw the breath of life, to be ready beforehand for any such exigency, as would be possible if the details were left to a smaller number of reliable, resourceful and intelligent men to arrange. In this example is involved the greatest criticism of the present system of government. What we want and need is not a new government that will follow up fads, but a government that will take the lead in all things intelligently—so it will not require an epidemic to wake them to the necessity of making provision for the maintenance of an efficient health department, for instance. The continuity of purpose and thought is broken by frequent elections under the present system. This matter should be thought of in the present charter revision. The principle of continuity is important in considering a new charter and along with that is included the recall, that the people become impatient or dissatisfied they may have the privilege of a change."

Commissioner Clark asked Mr. Sherman about cost-checking systems used by the light and power commission, and Mr. Sherman replied by describing briefly by the method of distribution of costs, illustrating it with the item of labor.

Water Board Difficulties.

Commissioner McKereghan asked Mr. Sherman whether the personality of the members had anything to do with the success of the commission. Mr. Sherman declared that it had not, out stated that its services to the people stood alone as the one thing responsible for the success of the light and power commission.

Thereupon Commissioner Ross asked why the water board has had so much difficulty in making "both ends meet," his question indicating that he wanted to know why it had not been such a good success financially as the light and power commission.

Mr. Sherman stated that the early history of the water board, in his mind, was responsible for the conditions at present. The sums of money sunk into it to plant by the board when it first started to operate filled those connected with it with a penchant for saving from under which they have never wholly emerged.

"It was this inclination that kept the late Superintendent John Kern digging his own ditch when, instead, he should have been on the banks directing the larger features of the commission's work," said Mr. Sherman. "The original struggle has had the effect of blighting the progress of the water board. It is this very penchant for saving that causes the water board to argue pro and con for hours the advisability of little, insignificant details. It was this very thing that resulted in the members arguing for 1 1/2 until 11 o'clock at one meeting. I at that time advised that they should place a patch on one of the boilers and how the job should be done. Never once did a member suggest that the matter be left to the judgment of the superintendent. It is things of this nature that have kept the water board from advancing. If the board had been liberal in its earlier expenditures and had expanded faster, it would have been on a better footing today. There has always been, however, so much expense connected with the board's property that the idea that everything must be saved has been too prevalent. The judicious expenditure of a considerable outlay at just the right time might have served the water board to better advantage than saving."

The question of having a city purchasing agent was discussed. Mr. Sherman stated that he believed the purchasing of supplies by the different departments had been worked out to a point of science and that enough could not be saved, he thought, to pay the salary of such an officer as the commissioners had in mind. The supplies of each department had been standardized and, as far as the incidental supplies for offices were concerned, these were too small to be considered. The plan, he advised, might be tried and might prove to be better than he judged it, by having all requisitions for a stated period go out through a single channel.

Commissioner Small opened up a discussion of municipal gas. Mr. Sherman, to whom the original question was directed, stated that he was not prepared to answer it, although he admitted of having read considerable on the subject and of having investigated its merits. Mr. Sherman said that if upon investigation it was found that gas can be placed cheaply in every man's house and any man could afford it, then, as a public utility, the city should own a gas plant. But if not, continued Mr. Sherman, and it could be only a luxury, as at present, then the city certainly should have nothing to do with it. The great improvements in the last ten or twenty years in equipment for the manufacture and delivery of gas have cut down the cost largely. The gas companies, for instance, have cut down leakage waste from 40 per cent. to 3 or 4 per cent. The problem of equalization of pressure has also been a large step in the advancement of the industry in that direction.

Mr. Sherman expects to see the cost of manufacturing cut down materially.

MRS. M. J. L'HULLIER ANSWERS LAST CALL

Pioneer Resident of Marquette Passed Away Early Yesterday Morning at Her Home.

Marquette lost another of its pioneer residents yesterday in the death of Mrs. Marie J. L'Hullier, who had lived in this city the last forty years. Death emanated a year's serious illness with cancer. For the last several weeks the patient had been in a precarious condition, although within the last two weeks her health had improved perceptibly. However members of the family realized that the end was near and her four children were at her bedside constantly during her last hours. Death occurred at 5:30 a. m. at the family home, 22 East Michigan street.

Mrs. L'Hullier came to Marquette directly from her home in Moussey, Alsace, on the Franco-Prussian border, and was at once wedded to the late Charles Emil L'Hullier, in this city. Her husband had come to America one year previous. Mrs. L'Hullier was twenty years of age when she left home to make the long journey to Marquette. She was born Sept. 11, 1852. Her parents and other relatives remained in Europe and except for her immediate family she had been alone in this country. The surviving children are Mrs. Otto L. Arnold, of Iron Mountain, and the Messes Villa H. and Evangelina F. and Charles L'Hullier, of this city. The funeral will be held Monday morning from St. John's church.

Mrs. L'Hullier was well and favorably known to a large number of Marquette persons and her activities during her life were principally devoted to church and charitable work. She had been a leading member of St. John's church since becoming a resident of the city. She was also a member of St. Cecilia court, Catholic Order of Foresters.

FEW COMPLAINTS.

Board of Review Not Asked to Make Many Changes of Assessments.

The first meeting of a two-days public session of the board of review for Marquette was held yesterday in the city hall. The meeting will close this evening. In the neighborhood of fifteen or twenty persons brought in complaints yesterday and the board made but few changes in the original assessments. The largest number of the callers inquired only as to the valuations of real estate. There were found to be scarcely any differences between the valuations this year and last. The valuation of personal property has, however, been boosted to some extent, as this year for the first time the state tax commission's figures were used in determining these assessments. The first year the machines are assessed at their original value, the second year with a discount of 25 per cent. and the third year with another reduction of 25 per cent.

Three automobiles and two automobile owners called during the afternoon yesterday and had much to say concerning their personal property assessments, but the changes made were scarcely worth mentioning.

GATHERING EVIDENCE.

Men from Attorney General's Department Working at Railway Offices.

Six men sent to this city from the offices of the attorney general of Michigan are working in the office of the auditor of the South Shore railway. Their duties consist of analyzing the accounts of the railway and reporting on traffic movement. It is the purpose to gather evidence to be used by the defendant, the state of Michigan, in the South Shore two-cent rate case. Testimony is still being taken in Detroit, but otherwise there are no new developments in the case and at this time it appears that the taking of testimony will require several months. The conclusion of this phase of the suit is still indefinite.

For the last four weeks the South Shore accounting offices have been a popular field of activity for numerous expert accountants, railway experts and civil engineers. Auditor Delf has given the attorney general's men the freedom of the books and has assisted them as far as possible. The men have set up an office in the Nester block as close as possible to those of the auditor. Their work is of an entirely different nature from that of the engineers and railway experts who spent a large part of last summer in the city and who made a systematic appraisal of every piece of property of every descriptor owned by the railway. It deals entirely with the present business of the company and is strictly clerical. The men report directly to Roger L. Wykes formerly attorney general of the state, who is representing the defendant in the suit. The personnel of the party of accountants and engineers changes from time to time.

Madame Labadie alone impersonating the entire cast. The motive of the play is the isolating effect of the wanton gossip, which gradually undermines the love that exists between the hero and his wife and the pure friendship that has united them both to another man.

Of Madame Labadie's presentation of the drama in Windsor Hall, Montreal, recently, The Montreal Daily Star said: "To meet this phony drama with its varied characters and without ac-
