UP TO COMMISSIONERS.

Largely in response to a request of The Mining Journal Mr. Brown, the city attorney, wrote an article, printed yesterday, in which he outlined his reasons for believing that Section 19, Chapter 33 excludes the body of railroad men in Marquette from holding any office in the city government, if the proposed new charter should be adopted.

Mr. Brown has agreed to furnish other articles on what he conceives to be the structural defects of the charter.

Of necessity these articles will, as far as they are adversely critical, constitute an arraignment of the judgment of the commission that framed the charter and of the value of its work.

The members of this commission should be among the first to resent the estimate that Mr. Brown has evidently formed of the product of their several weeks' labor, and they should take the burden of showing why Mr. Brown is wrong, if he is wrong, and why the charter they offer the voters is worthy of their confidence and their support. If the commissioners are silent at this juncture, they need not be surprised if the public interprets their silence to leading consent.

These suggestions are thrown out by The Mining Journal not with the purpose of trying to get Mr. Brown and members of the charter commission by the ears, but in the hope that the voters will be given an opportunity to form an intelligent opinion in a matter in which they ought to be much interested.

Discussion of the charter should be in the open, and should be frank and fair. As The Mining Journal has remarked, it should not be bludgeoned in the dark.

NOT TO BE COMFORTED.

A perusal of the editorial page of the Detroit Free Press is not conducive to good digestion in these Democratic days. That paper is apprehensive that the new tariff will raise hob with American industries by permitting the country to be flooded with imported products of cheap labor. Coincidentally with this, it is distressed beyond measure because prices of everything remain as high as before.

Therefore, as the Free Press sees it, our farmers and manufacturers are going to be ruined by foreign competition, while the home consumer of their products will obtain no compensating relief through a lowering of prices resulting from that competition.

Then, too, the Free Press is worried to death over the Mexican situation and the certainty that something awful is going to come of President Wilson's course in dealing with it.

There was a "Mexican situation" before the Democrats came into power. But, somehow, it didn't then strike the Free Press that there was anything very menacing about it. But, during the Taft administration, when a revolution had issue in the accession of Madero to the presidency, the policy of our government toward Mexico was one of studied non-intervention.

Huerta gained the Mexican presidency by treachery, supplemented by murder, cold-blooded and cowardly. President Wilson has consistently refused to recognize him, or to deal with his government. In this course he has the approval and support of the great body of the American people. Not only that, but the Powers have practically reversed their attitude toward Mexico to bring it into accord with the policy of our government. Even the Republican senators and representatives in the congress have supported the President in this matter. Why should the esteemed Free Press persist in remaining unhappy over the "menace" of the Mexican matter?

It would be a labor of love to lift this ancient mourner out of the dumps where that possible. But how can it be over the operations of the new tariff be assuaged when this ruin of American industry through the influx of foreign

THE FINNS AGAIN.

Discussing the relationship of the Finns to the copper country strike the Crystal Falls Diamond Drill very properly urges that caution be taken not to do the Finnish residents of the upper peninsula, as a whole, any injustice. It is not likely that any newspaper or person who has taken up this phase of the trouble has had such an idea in mind. But it has been important, as The Mining Journal suggested yesterday, to impress on the minds of the conservative and sane leadership of the Finnish residents the necessity of not allowing the radicals among them to be the sole spokesmen for their race in the upper peninsula. "The fellows to guard against are not the Finns as a race, but that element among the Finns that has socialistic tendencies. The curse of the Finn is clamor and intemperance, especially that intemperance that is fostered by liquor dealers of Finnish nationality," the Diamond Drill remarks. "Crystal Falls has Finns who are as sensitive about socialism as are any of its English speaking people and it is with those excellent citizens in mind that we raise our voice in protest against a general stigmatizing of the race."

IN SEVENTEENTH PLACE.

Dr. Leonard P. Ayres, representing the Russell Sage Foundation, one of the speakers before the State Teachers' association whose annual convention was held at Ann Arbor last week, asserted that scientific inquiry into the subject indicated that Michigan was entitled to rank seventeenth among the states of the nation in the efficiency and value of its public educational system. This means that Michigan ranks ahead of thirty-one states, but it also means that there are sixteen states that rank ahead of Michigan.

As Michigan is an enlightened and progressive state, it will be more concerned in asking why, after it has lavished its money and when the entire income from railway taxation is given to the encouragement of public education, it is outranked by sixteen states, rather than in felicitating itself on the fact that the efficiency of its educational system exceeds that of thirty-one other states. What are the reasons behind the comparative inefficiency of Michigan schools compared with those of sixteen other states? Despite all the money that is spent on them is not enough money spent? Are not the teachers well enough prepared? Is the internal organization of the school system faulty? Or are the leading seventeen states grouped close together in the efficiency of their schools, and Michigan's comparatively low position thus more relative than actual? An interested public would not ungratefully appreciate a little light on some of these questions.

Mr. Ayres showed that the neighboring states outrank Michigan in educational efficiency, sixth, eighth and tenth places being given to Ohio, Illinois and Indiana, respectively. The 1910 statistics show 800,000 children of school age in Michigan, of whom about 79 per cent are in school.

Scanning the general field of education Mr. Ayres dwelt on the following interesting facts in connection with public education: Rhode Island has the longest school year of any state—102 days—but if these 102 days of schooling were divided equally among the children of school age in the state the result would be 116 days of schooling each. This is the "effective school year." The results of this comparison show that this state provides 109 days as its effective school year. In nearly a quarter of the states the effective school year is less than three months. As a nation the United States has a shorter school day, a shorter school week, and a shorter school year than any other highly civilized country in the world.

The people of the United States spend half a billion a year for their schools. Michigan spends fourteen millions of this half billion. For every $100 of wealth she spends thirty-five cents on her schools.

The two extremes of annual expenditures for each child of school age are $7 in South Carolina and a little more than $30 in Washington. Michigan stands a little more than halfway between these extremes, spending annually $18 per child. Ohio, Indiana and Illinois all spend more.

The ordinary child requires from eight to ten years of schooling eight or nine months a year to complete its elementary course. In North Carolina or New Mexico the attendance period is so short that the average pupil would need about twenty-two years to complete an eight-year course of nine months each.

In eighteen of the forty-eight states the average annual wages of public school teachers amounts to less than a dollar a day. The highest average paid in the United States is $918 in California, the lowest is $200 in North Carolina. The average annual salary in the United States is $485. Michigan pays her teachers $5 less than the average annual salary in the country and about half as much as California pays.

With regard to the gubernatorial situation the Keweenaw Miner delivers itself of the following opinion:

There is one thing that isn't making Senator James any weaker this year with the people, and that is his lying low as far as 1914 politics are concerned. The jiggers who are making people tired already by their quarreling about their own pretensions as candidates for governor are likely to be so far in the rear when the votes are counted that no one but themselves will ever know that they coveted the office of governor. Their activity at this time is ill-timed, and up here at least is somewhat regarded as a joke. It is a mighty fair bet just now that Woodbridge N. Ferris would bury any of the Wayne candidates so deep that they would completely disappear from the political horizon and, at that, there would be but little hope in evidence over the political demise of some of the potential political patriots who seem to be obsessed with the idea that the state of Michigan couldn't do business without their help.

Mr. Burke, the Anti-Solomon leader, says he is going to repeat his attacks on Senator Wood in Menominee, Escanaba and the Soo, and that the senator may be present, if he desires to. As it is a matter in which he has a considerable personal interest, the senator will doubtless decide to be there. And so will a great many other persons in the towns it is proposed to visit. The Escanaba gathering, particularly, should prove a stirring affair.

Every weekend has its football upsets this year. The Aggies contributed their share to confusing the deposters by running over, first, the University of Michigan and, then, the University of Wisconsin. And the latest shock was administered by the spectacle of Colgate romping away with Yale. The victory of Notre Dame over West Point was also somewhat in the nature of a surprise. It's a topsy turvy year in football.

A few weeks ago, Mr. Murphy showed the people of New York, by banking Governor Sulzer out of office, that the state has the recall even if it is not associated in the constitution with the initiative and referendum. And now, today, there is fair prospect that the voters will demonstrate to Mr. Murphy, in his turn, that they, also, are in possession of the recall.

John H. Walker, speaking in Calumet, repeated the charges against the troops that he made several weeks ago, and attacked General Abbey. This is interesting, but not important. Immediately after Walker made his first charges General Abbey requested the evidence on which they were based, saying that an official inquiry would at once be undertaken and punishment meted out to any of the men found guilty of the misde-

Mr. Astor has had advice in this sense. If so, he has paid no attention to it. His course indicates that he is convinced that the best thing for a large taxpayer to do is to work as hard as he can to secure the best possible government to determine, levy, collect, and spend taxes. ## WEDDING GIFT FOR MISS WILSON.

Representative Gray's public denunciation of the plan of having congressmen "chip in" $5 each for the purchase of a wedding present for Miss Jessie Wilson on the occasion of her coming marriage is more amusing than important. The marriage of the daughter of a president is naturally a matter of considerable public interest, and there is apparently nothing incongruous or conspicuously offensive to good taste in the plan of allowing the members of congress to contribute to a fund for the purchase of a suitable wedding present. Of course there is no compulsion in this matter, and the members of congress may contribute, or refrain from doing so, according to their personal wishes and convictions. It would have been in better taste, therefore, if the Kentucky member had kept his opinions to himself and his money in his pocket, and apparently this was the impression that prevailed among the other members who listened to Congressman Gray's public lecture on etiquette and his reasons for regarding the wedding present plan a violation of American traditions and offensive to the idea of American simplicity.

It takes all kinds of men to make up the world, and always there are to be found critics of all objectives to almost everything that is proposed. Representative Gray is evidently one of the kind who likes to pick flaws and run counter to the trend of common sentiment, and at least his objections to a present for Miss Wilson place him in this light. It makes no great difference, of course, whether the members of congress purchase a wedding present for the president's daughter, or not. But it does seem like blowing feathers for a member of congress to make a public speech in denunciation of such a plan.—Oklahoma Northwestern.

CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

It is Cruel to Force Nauseating, Harsh Physic Into a Sick Child.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach; and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. See that it is made by "California Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

AGED MAN DROWNS IN DOLLAR BAY

Thrown from Bridge When Horse Shies, Demase Blanchette, 70 Years Old, Perishes.

Demase Blanchette, seventy years of age, was drowned at 8:30 o'clock Sunday night while attempting to drive across a small bridge over an arm of Dollar Bay, connecting the town of Dollar Bay and Point Mills. He was thrown from the carriage and it is believed that he struck on his head, dying while unconscious. Blanchette was an uncle of Frank Tourville, proprietor of the Dollar Bay livery, and was employed by him as a driver.

Mr. and Mrs. Platt of Point Mills engaged a carriage Saturday night and Blanchette went along as driver. The night was dark and with the bridge appearing dangerous Mr. and Mrs. Platt got out of the vehicle and the former volunteered to lead the horse across. The driver demurred and started to drive over unaided. For a reason not yet explained the horse shied and horse, carriage and driver went off the bridge and into the bay.

Mr. Platt was powerless to give assistance unaided and he ran to the nearest telephone. Help was forthcoming quickly. But by that time Blanchette was dead and his body was seen floating in the lake. It is thought he must have struck his head against part of the carriage when he was thrown out.

The horse was gotten out in an exhausted condition. The drowned man's body was recovered and taken to the Blanchette home at Dollar Bay.

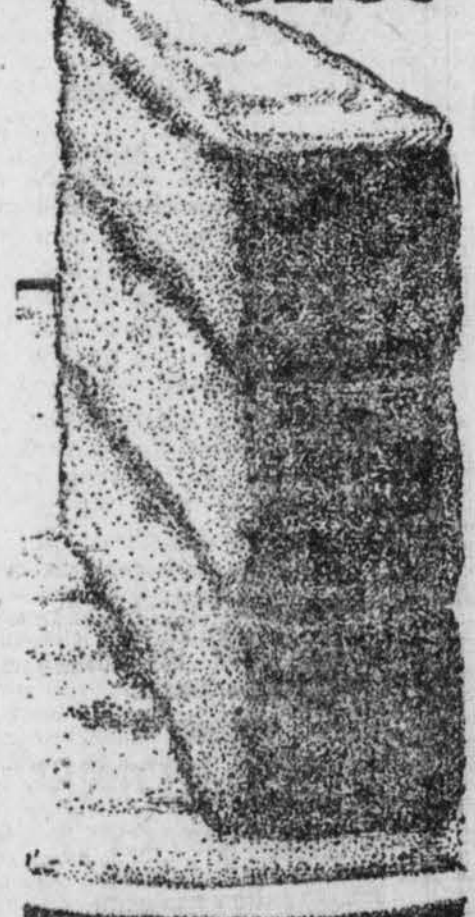

Mrs. Blanchette survives. The couple had no children.

Justice Little Birds Confessed Aids in Pollack Slaying for Trial.

Justice Little of Houghton yesterday completed the examination of Luka Plese and George Briski, charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Pollack Oct. 8. He bound them over for trial at the final term of the circuit court. The principal examination included only the reading of the testimony and the signing of it by the witnesses testifying in the first session of the hearing. Out of nine men arrested on the charge of murdering Pollack these two alone were held, they having confessed to complicity in the killing.

COURT AT HOUGHTON OPENS ITS SESSIONS

Nearly 100 Defendants Face Judge O'Brien—Accused Deputies Ask Continuance.

In the circuit court at Houghton this morning Judge O'Brien will hear an argument on a motion for a continuance of the trial of the six deputy sheriffs charged with the murder of Alois Tijan and Steve Patrick at Sebeville. Notice of the motion was made yesterday morning when the November term of the court opened, and Judge O'Brien set 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon as the time of hearing the motion, but when that time arrived the attorneys on both sides were not ready and the judge deferred the matter till 9 o'clock this morning.

Judge O'Brien yesterday afternoon sentenced Paul Chopp of Calumet to a term of two to three years at Marquette prison. Chopp was convicted of a statutory offense at the preceding term of court, but sentence was deferred. Chopp will be taken to Marquette Wednesday.

Nearly 100 Defendants Present.

The morning session of the court was a formal affair, having to do with the arrangement of the calendar, hearing of pleas and the usual preliminaries to the commencement of trials. The feature, if such it could be called, was the presence of the unusually large number of defendants, nearly one hundred in all. With a few exceptions the defendants are strikers, cases growing out of the copper mine strike being the principal matters before the original side of the court.

It was not the men charged with murder, nor any men, in fact, that excited the most interest in the few spectators who crowded into what little room was left after the defendants were seated. The exposure of all eyes was "Big Annie" Clemence, the leader of the women strike sympathizers at Calumet. Annie is defendant in two assault and battery cases, appealed from a Calumet township justice court. She is a woman of no unattractive appearance, though dressed in the manner of the women of the working class. Her solicitor "Big Annie" is somewhat of a misnomer. She is an exceptionally tall woman, but does not convey the impression of bigness that the popular name has given rise to.

Few Pleas of Guilty.

The criminal calendar was taken up in regular order. The only pleas of guilty entered were in the following cases: John Raatikka of Calumet, charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

Henry Saam of Twin Lakes, selling liquor without license, Hancock township, selling liquor without license.

Mike Richetta of Calumet, violation of the liquor law. Richetta was fined at once $25 and the costs. Saam and Washburn were ordered to appear next term for sentence. Raatikka was remanded to jail. The charge against the latter is preferred by his wife, Josephine Raatikka. She charges that he came home drunk at night and beat her so badly that he broke her arm in two places.

All of the other cases on the calendar were noticed for trial. There are fifty-three of them. In most of the cases the defendants stood mute and pleas of guilty were entered.

Deputy Sheriffs Arraigned.

The first men arraigned were Harry James, Edward Polkinghorne, Thomas Raleigh, William Groff, Harry Davis and James Copper, the six deputy sheriffs charged with the murder of Alois Tijan and Steve Patrick at Sebeville Aug. 11. Attorneys Charles S. Watson of Crystal Falls and Galbraith & McCormack of Calumet appeared for the six men and gave notice of a motion for a continuance. Judge O'Brien set the time of hearing this motion at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and then put over the matter until today. The arrangement of the civil calendar occupied the remainder of the morning session.

RETURN FROM KALAMAZOO.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Snowden have returned to Houghton from Kalamazoo, where Mr. Snowden was a delegate from Pilgrim lodge, I. O. O. F., to the state grand lodge. Alex. McDougall, the other delegate, returned last week and Mrs. E. Penberthy, who represented Lily Hebecker lodge, has been home for several days. On the way home Mr. and Mrs. Snowden visited at the latter's old home in Norway, Mich., and the following reference to their visit appears in the Current: "Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Snowden of Houghton, who left here about seventeen years ago, visited friends and relatives in this city several days of this week. Mrs. Snowden is a niece of Mrs. Ellen Dolithe and formerly was Miss Richards. Mr. Snowden was returning from the meeting of the grand lodge of Old Fellows at Kalamazoo, where Mrs. Snowden had accompanied him."

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. David Buteau of Harvey, Ills., who will arrive today to make the funeral arrangements. The body in the meantime is held at the Krollwitz morgue.

GUN LICENSE NOT NECESSARY.

County Clerk Answers Numerous Queries from Deer Hunters.

County Clerk Kaiser of Houghton receives daily queries from intending deer hunters, who want to know if it is necessary to procure a gun license as well as a deer license to hunt deer. The answer is in the affirmative. A gun license is the state hunting license required if a man hunts outside of the county in which he lives.

The county clerk wishes all hunters to understand that only the deer license is required if a man wants to hunt deer only. If he expects to hunt outside of his own county and intends to take a shot at other game than deer he must have the gun license. The state requires great confidence in deer hunters. If they say they intend only to hunt deer no other license is required.

Up to yesterday the county clerk had sold 125 deer licenses. He also has sold two heavier licenses and 400 gun licenses.

TEACHERS' COUNTY INSTITUTE.

Mr. Bath says: "Such an array of talent ought to draw every teacher from both counties to every session, morning, afternoon and evening. There is much to be learned and learning is acquired through the enthusiasm of united action."

The commissioner extends an invitation to all school officers and all others who may be interested.

MISSED THEIR BEARINGS.

Four Hancock Young Men Have Memorable Experience in Woods.

After walking for several hours and covering twenty miles of territory, J. F. O'Neil, John Hansen and Tim and Emmett O'Neil of Hancock found themselves Sunday evening at an old bridge spanning the Ontonagon river, a bridge that gave them their exact location and made it possible for the men to reach their destination five hours later than they planned at the outset.

The four young men were on their way Sunday morning to spend the day with friends, intending later to walk to Rockland and board the Copper Range train due at Hancock shortly after 7 o'clock in the evening. The friends the party missed at Victoria told a route of walking could be avoided. In some manner the wrong path was taken and the party walked about for several hours in the endeavor to get to Rockland.

Long after dusk they arrived at a bridge which gave them their bearing and, after following the river for two miles or so they came out near the Rockland station. From the station they walked to the location, arriving there about 10 o'clock in the evening. Tired and exhausted after the miles of tramping through the woods in the dark, falling over old logs and becoming entangled in the underbrush, the young men said it was an experience not soon to be forgotten.

Demand for Marriage Licenses Shows a Great Falling Off.

The marriage license bureau at the Houghton county clerk's office is depressed. The record for the month of October, only sixty licenses were issued, the smallest issue for the month in the period including 1907, the record marriage license year. The marriage license clerk has been continuously in office during that period and she has kept a record with cross references and data from every angle.

To date in 1913 there have been but 578 marriage licenses issued, as compared with 850 in 1912 and 732 in 1907. The same record for the month since 1907 was 106, in June of that year, tied in the same month of 1911. The smallest number of licenses issued since the record has been kept was twenty-six, this in February, 1910.

Bozon, Nov. 3.—The railroads and industries showed a slightly sagging tendency today, but the fractional fluctuations were not considered as part of any general trend of the market. The copper was unchanged, although there was a better demand under the market for the Lake stocks, whose position is materially improved by better strike news. The closing prices were:

The foreign fortnightly statistics show European stocks with a net decrease of 920 tons since October 15th, making the foreign surplus 25,827, compared with 26,777 Oct. 15th. The decrease in the European stocks failed to check the speculative operations in the London copper warrant market, which showed a decline of almost ten pounds today. The selling of the warrants is attributed to bear operations. The domestic market for copper is displaying little or no signs of life, and copper is being quoted around 16 1/2 to 16 3/4 by the leading agencies. ## WHITEHOUSE WEDDING PANS NEARLY MADE

President to Give Daughter Away Before Altar in East Room—Simple Ceremony.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Just who will make up the wedding party of Miss Jessie Wilson and Francis B. Sayre at the White House on the afternoon of Nov. 23 is the chief topic now in almost every Washington household, particularly so in feminine official circles.

While the list of attendants has not been given out by Mrs. Wilson, the general belief is that Miss Margaret Wilson will be her sister's maid of honor and Miss Eleanor Wilson and Miss Helen Woodrow Wilson, a cousin of the bride-elect, who makes her home with the presidential family at the Whitehouse, will be the bridesmaids. It is considered not at all improbable that Mrs. George Howe of New York, wife of a nephew of the president, will be the matron of honor, and that Miss Alice Wilson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilson, will also be in the immediate bridal party.

Dr. Alfred T. Grenfell, of the Labrador Mission for Deaf Fishermen, will be the best man for Mr. Sayre, and it is expected that Dr. Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N., the president's aide, will be one of the ushers. Then, too, Fitz William McMaster Woodford of Princeton, N. J., a young cousin of the bride, who spends as much time in Washington as he can get away from his studies, will surely be in the party.

Simple But Not Small Affair.

The regular ushers at the Whitehouse will assist in placing the guests, instead of the White House military aides, whose duty it is to do so at the White House. The wedding will be a simple affair, but not a small one. The regular ushers at the Whitehouse will assist in placing the guests, instead of the White House military aides, whose duty it is to do so at the White House. The wedding will be a simple affair, but not a small one.

That the wedding will be simple and carried out along democratic lines is certain, but a White House wedding, especially one with the bride, who is a member of the most distinguished southern family whose kinfolk are legion, and with the bridegroom a member of a northern family of rather good sized proportions, who all want to be on hand for the important event, it can only be simple and not small or private.

After the members of the family are invited and the intimate friends, the official family and the members of the diplomatic corps cannot be left out, nor can the members of congress.

It is likely that the wedding party will form in the state dining room and march from there down the broad marble corridor and into the East room, where an aisle will be formed to the improvised altar.

The president will give his daughter in marriage and it is expected that the Rev. James H. Taylor, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church in Washington, which the presidential family attend will assist in the ceremony.

Arrangement of Guests.

A reception will follow, with the supper being served in the state dining room, as is done at the official receptions.

Undoubtedly the guests will be arranged for the wedding much as they were arranged for the wedding of Miss Roosevelt and Mr. Long, who were married in the center of the room near the altar, the official and congressional guests at one end and the members of the diplomatic corps at the other end.

Quantities of clystanthems will be given to the bridesmaids, for this is to be a chrysanthemum wedding. The predominating color will be mauve, the bride's favorite color, and there is no color which will contrast and harmonize more perfectly with the newly decorated White House.

As to the plans for the honeymoon trip, it is believed that they include a visit to Windsor Forges, near Churchtown, Pa., the home of Miss Nevins, the bridegroom's aunt, where Miss Wilson and Mr. Sayre were visiting when they first met.

Mr. Sayre will take his bride to Williamstown, Mass., where their home, leased from Prof. William E. McElfresh at No. 40 Grace street, has been put in readiness for them.

The bride's trousseau. From those who have had chance to see some of the trousseau, which has been got in New York, Baltimore and Washington, it is said that the predominating color is violet and its various shades, and while the bride's gowns, cloaks and hats are strictly up to the moment, they are not extreme in point of style or number.

Numberless gifts for the trousseau have been sent Miss Wilson from all over the country. Among them are several pieces of exquisite hand embroidered lingerie from Mrs. Marshall, the wife of the vice-president, and other pieces equally as dainty from cabinet hostesses and from many of the girls with whom and for whom Miss Jessie Wilson labored in the settlement work which has always been of the deepest interest in her life.

In view of the fact that the president is opposed to the suggestion of Minority Leader James R. Mann to have the members of the house contribute toward a gift to the White House bride, and also discouraged a subscription list which was started recently by a newspaper, it is thought that he may intimate, through the proper channels, that presents from foreign courts are not desired.

What is Women's Beauty but Health

And the Basis of Her Health and Vigor Lies in the Careful Regulation of the Bowels.

MRS. C. S. VANCE

If woman's beauty depended upon cosmetics, every woman would be a picture of loveliness. But beauty lies deeper than that. It lies in health. In the majority of cases the basis of health, and the cause of sickness, can be traced to the action of the bowels.

The headaches, the lassitude, the salubrious skin and the lusterless eyes are usually due to constipation. So many things that women do habitually conduce to this trouble. They do not eat carefully, they eat indigestible foods because the foods are served daintily and they do not exercise enough. But whatever the particular cause may be, it is important that the condition should be corrected.

An ideal remedy for women, and one especially suited to their delicate requirements, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of women endorse highly, among them Mrs. C. S. Vance, of 511 S. Ray St., New Castle, Pa. At times she had spells of indigestion so severe that she thought she would die. Syrup Pepsin regulated her stomach and bowels, and she attributes her excellent health today to this remedy.

All the family can use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, for thousands of mothers give it to babies and children. It is also admirably suited to the requirements of elderly people, in fact to all who by reason of age or infirmity cannot stand harsh salts, cathartics, pills or purgatives. These should always be avoided, for at best their effect is only for that day, while a genuine remedy manently.

It can be conveniently obtained at any drug store at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. You will find it gentle in action, pleasant in taste and free from gripping, and its tonic properties have a distinct value to women. It is the most widely used laxative-remedy in America today and thousands of families are now never without it.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

WEDDING DAY SUPERSTITIONS.

How Some of the Quer Beliefs Originated.

Every nation has its own beliefs and superstitions in regard to weddings. It is considered unlucky to be married in May. The ancient Roman believed May to be under the influence of spirits adverse to happy households. On the other hand, June was held to be the most propitious time of the year for weddings.

In medieval times superstitions in regard to weddings were rife, and people had recourse to all kinds of love philtres, magical incantations and other follies which were supposed to bring luck to bride and bridegroom. Some of the superstitions of the Middle Ages were very curious. It was thought that ill-luck would dog the union of the married pair if the bride party in going to church met a monk, a priest, a hare, a dog, a cat, a lizard or serpent. On the other hand, it was considered very lucky to meet a wolf, a spider or a foal.

"Marry in Lent and you live to repent" is a superstition which holds to this day. All pontifical days throughout the year were considered unsuitable for wedding festivities. "If it rains on her wedding day the bride will weep all her married life," is a saying that is still believed in. It is also considered unlucky for the bride to try on the wedding gown before the ceremony. "Three times a bridesmaid, never a bride," is another well-known saying, and one seldom finds a girl nowadays willing to be a bridesmaid more than twice.

It is considered unlucky for a bride and bridegroom to have the same initials. "To change the name and not the letter is a change for the worse and not for the better."

In Sweden the bridegroom has a great deal of frolic and spirits, and as an antidote against their power he sees into his clothes various strong-smelling herbs, such as garlic and rosemary. It is customary to fill the bride's pocket with bread, which she gives to the poor she meets on the way to the church, and so averts misfortune with the alms she bestows. On their return from church the bride and bridegroom visit their church house and farms that the cattle may thrive and multiply.

The wedding ring as a symbol also dates to far-back times, probably having its origin in the days of Babylon. It was at one time customary for marriage rings to be worn by both sexes, and this custom is largely followed on the continent today. Our ancestors put the ring on the left hand because they found it more convenient, and they chose the fourth finger because it is less used than the rest and more capable of preserving the ring from damage.

It is hard to determine the origin of the idea that a shoe brings luck, but it is reminiscent of the time when a woman was practically sold to her husband. In olden times Jews confirmed a sale by giving a sandal to their customers.

HARBOR SPRINGS—George W. Ruffe, Postmaster at Clarion, narrowly escaped death when his car skidded on a muddy road in a swamp. Ruffe had just purchased a high powered racer, and was driving with Louis Gariepy, of this city, when the car skidded. Gariepy jumped, but Ruffe was badly bruised and the car was buried in mud.

BATTLE CREEK—Only the conscience of a prisoner, Victor Blakeslee, self-confessed automobile thief, and his desire to see the right thing foiled a successful jail delivery, when the chief of police forged the keys and left them within reach of a prisoner. Blakeslee's warning and refusal to skip made the others lose their nerve and they did not budge out of their cells, although they had opened all the doors before Captain McDonald discovered them.

MT. PLEASANT—R. A. Cochran, superintendent of the Mt. Pleasant Indian school, delegated by the commissioner of Indian affairs in Washington to investigate the report that 200 Bay and Arenac Indians were moving to land in Iosco and Oscoda counties, has gained the information that the Chippewa and Ottawa Indians have no right as Indians to the government lands, James K. Coon, chief of the Cady band of Chippewas, is said to have induced the Indians to homestead the lands, but none took advantage of the opportunity.

STANDISH—Miss Edna Larry was burned to death by carbolic acid in Au Gres. In a pocket over her left breast she carried a small vial of carbolic acid, which she had been using to dilute with water for a sore throat. In going down town the cork worked out of the bottle and the acid soaked through over her heart to the skin. Shrieking, she ran to a nearby store and fell fainting on the floor, dying soon after. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Larry, and was seventeen years old.

KALAMAZOO—The final dividend to creditors of the Citizens bank of Dowagiac, will be paid within a short time, according to Charles H. Kimmeler, trustee, who is now making out his final report. The creditors' dividends have already amounted to more than 50 per cent of the losses, and it is expected that the money which will be received this time, will bring the dividends up to at least 65 per cent. The Dowagiac bank, which went into bankruptcy several years ago, was controlled by Frank B. Lyle, who has died since the failure.

GRAND RAPIDS—Mrs. Maggie P. Hummer was granted $60,000 alimony, the largest alimony ever granted in a Grand Rapids court, from George P. Hummer, prominent Democratic politician and wealthy furniture manufacturer. Judge Perkins made the ruling. Action was started by Mrs. Hummer, July 27. She charged cruelty. She alleged the defendant would not take her anywhere except to church. She declared that for years she and her husband had not spoken to each other except in the presence of other people.

NILES—The state tax commission, which has just reassessed property of Berrien county, held a review here and property owners in Niles and vicinity learned that there is a general increase on residence properties of 40 to 75 per cent, and stocks of merchants have been raised to two and three times the valuation imposed at former assessments. Factories in some cases are doubled and tripled in value. One farmer was raised from $24,000 to $39,000 on 570 acres, assessments on some parcels being $132 an acre.

IONIA—The swift current in the Grand river here probably saved the life of City Attorney Frank C. Miller. With two others he had been up the stream fishing. They attempted to take the boat between the abutments at the new Pere Marquette bridge. The current smashed the craft against one of the abutments, and Mr. Miller and his companions were thrown into fifteen feet of water. Miller was carried onto a sandbar below where he waded out. The other two were saved by clinging to the bridge supports.

LANSING—The law relating to the exemption from taxation of the homesteads of soldiers and sailors to the extent of $1,000, does not apply where the veterans deed or lease their property, according to a rule by Attorney General Fellows. In an opinion rendered to Prosecuting Attorney E. R. Boyles, of Eaton county, Attorney General Fellows says that the law passed at the last session of the legislature, providing under certain circumstances for the sterilization of epileptics and the hopelessly insane, applies only to state institutions and not to the inmates of county infirmaries.

LANSING—The state industrial accident board has decided to put a stop to the work of shyster lawyers who visit injured workmen and urge the appointment of themselves as agents in the case. The board has found that in many cases, the injured man is compelled to pay 25 cent of his compensation for their services. This is wholly unnecessary under the law. No workman needs an attorney to collect his compensation. The board also advises workmen not to hesitate in signing agreements with the company as each article of such agreement is investigated by the board, and if the workman has not obtained his full rights, the board will take steps to see that he gets them.

LANSING—That the state fire marshal's department is making an active campaign to protect the patrons of moving picture theaters from possible injuries through fires in the amusement places is shown by the report of State Fire Marshal Winslip for the last month. Thirteen small playhouses were closed for non-compliance with the new act. The fire marshal approved 111 theaters and issued 101 licenses. Since the new law went into effect, licenses have been issued to 336 theaters. The department ordered theaters to discontinue the use of moving pictures at the following cities: Niles, Grant, Fremont, Plainwell, Quincy, Stambaugh, Lawton, Monroe, Pin (two theaters), Grand Rapids (three theaters), and Pontiac (two theaters). Theaters were ordered closed at the following places: Centerville, Gladwin, Kent City, Maple Rapids, Fremont, Gastra, White Cloud, Pontiac, St. Ignace, Greenville, Hartford, Lawrence and Scheraga. "Never since the organization of the state fire marshal's department have there been so few fires reported to the department in a single month as in October," said the fire marshal. "The actual damage by fire in Michigan last month amounted to $113,878.40."

INDIANAPOLIS CARS IDLE IN THE BARN

Protection Inadequate, Company Makes No Effort to Operate—Politics Is Blamed.

Indianapolis, Nov. 3.—The third day of the strike of employes of the Indianapolis traction and terminal companies ended tonight with no attempt to move the cars, which have stood idle in the barns since late Friday night. Charges that partisan politics has caused the police to fail to give the traction company sufficient protection to operate its system were made by candidates for office at tomorrow's election while an effort of Sheriff Porteus to swear in two hundred citizen deputies resulted in the charge being made that he had summoned the men chiefly for the purpose of reducing their activities at the polls. The strike situation was further complicated late in the afternoon when a suit for the annulment and forfeiture of the traction company's franchise and the appointment of a receiver was filed in the circuit court. The suit was filed by Attorney Albert C. Pearson, acting as a taxpayer, and alleges that the company by its failure to operate cars for the last three days has violated its franchise contract. After a day in which numerous minor riots were reported, Thomas Carlton, a chauffeur, was shot and fatally wounded while watching a crowd of sympathizers making an attack on the car barns where the strike-breakers are housed. Robert I. Todd, president of the traction company; John J. Mahoney, superintendent, and Martin Hyland, superintendent of police, were brained and forced to make a run for the terminal station while mounted police forced the crowd back.

ONE ILLINOIS OFFICER KILLED AND ANOTHER BADLY WOUNDED BY UNKNOWN COLORED MAN.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 3.—Jack Martin, a special deputy sheriff, was killed and J. B. Bird, a detective for the McKinley Interurban company, was perhaps fatally wounded tonight when they were fired upon by an unknown negro as the officers were returning from a coal mine north of town with a colored prisoner. Martin and Bird were walking along the road with their prisoner when another negro rode up on horseback and opened fire. At the first shot, Martin fell with a bullet through his brain. Before Bird could defend himself, a bullet from the unknown negro's gun crashed through his left lung, inflicting what is thought to be a mortal wound. The prisoner escaped.

COLORADO SOLDIERS CONFISCATING GUNS

Every Civilian Found in Strike Zone With Arms Must Surrender Weapons.

Trinidad, Colo., Nov. 3.—Final preparations were made tonight by Adjutant General Chase for another expedition to Ludlow tomorrow for the purpose of seizing the arms and ammunition at the Ludlow tent colony. At a conference here this morning with John R. Lawson, General Chase advised the union leader to use the utmost diligence in obtaining the weapons which he knew had been in the possession of the miners recently. Twenty-six weapons, including twenty rifles, were turned over to General Chase by Lawson today. A large number of the mine deputies are being enlisted in the militia, it was learned today. More miners are now at work than at any time since the strike was called, according to the operators.

In view of a riot yesterday at Walsenburg, in which one man was shot, there was issued today an order to disarm everyone found with firearms in his possession. Two hundred weapons were confiscated.

HIGH COURT UPHOLDS MASSACHUSETTS LAW

Bay State's Solution of the Problem of Taxing Foreign Corporations Stands Test.

Washington, Nov. 3.—After years of vain endeavor by state authorities to tax foreign corporations doing business within their borders, Massachusetts has solved the problem. The supreme court today sustained as constitutional the Massachusetts foreign corporation tax law of 1909. Chief Justice White and Justices Van Devanter and Pitney dissenting. The decision was regarded by many who heard Justice Day deliver it as marking an epoch in state taxation. The Massachusetts law provides that every foreign corporation shall pay annually an excise tax of one-fiftieth of one per cent. of its authorized stock. Justices Day, Holmes, McKenna, Lurton, Hughes and Lamar interpreted this to mean almost the same as the federal corporation tax law, which avoided previous errors by careful phraseology. They held that this meant a tax on the privilege of doing business within the state and not a tax on the corporation outside the state.

DAY'S NEWS UNFAVORABLE TO WALL STREET VALUES; SOME DECLINES ARE SEVERE

New York, Nov. 3.—Further response to the depressing character of news affecting speculative opinion was made by stocks in Wall street today. The highly unfavorable bank statement of last Saturday, showing a deficit, also affected the market adversely. Call loans were renewed at 6 per cent. The brief filed in the suit to dissolve the International Harvester corporation was cited as another cause of depression. Wall street regarded the statement of government position, indicating an uncompromising attitude in enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law. The declines ran from one to two points among virtually all of the leaders. New Haven broke through 80 for the first time.

Wheat at Chicago Closes Easy.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Wheat weakened today, after an early sharp advance, and the market closed easy. The December at 85½ and the May at 89½. December corn closed at 69½, the May at 70½@70¾. Standard oats closed at 40½@40¾.

AIMS TO FREE NATION OF CHRISTMAS "GRAFT"

Society for the Prevention of Useless Giving Is on the Warpath Again.

New York, Nov. 3.—The S. P. U. G., which may be recognized as the Society for the Prevention of Useless Giving, met with such success in its campaign last Christmas that it is waging early again this year against the useless Christmas present. The members are mainly department store girls who, under the leadership of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Miss Anne Morgan and others, found their year's savings annually depleted by the obligation to contribute toward presents for men and women "higher up." The idea of freeing themselves from this "Christmas graft" and all forms of useless giving spread like wildfire and many others joined the crusade. The leaders liken the movement to that of the "Safe and Sane Fourth" idea, which has been so widely adopted. The campaign this year is to be begun formally with a great rally on Nov. 11.

PROSPERITY CAME TO PETOSKEY THROUGH GREAT SLAUGHTER OF WILD PIGEONS IN THE LATE '70S.

Petoskey, Mich., Nov. 3.—A few red pigeons seen recently in this vicinity recalls the old "pigeon hunting days" of thirty-seven years ago. Along in 1875, 1876 and 1877 pigeons were so plentiful in Petoskey and the nearby woods that they often hid the sun, according to a favorite expression of the old timers. At times the birds came so close to the ground that person could kill them with sticks. They would appear in June, and, after nesting several months, would migrate south. They were slaughtered ruthlessly, and thousands of barrels of them were shipped to New York and other parts of the United States. "Pigeon trains" were inaugurated on the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad to transport the heavy shipments. During the season business enterprises were neglected, stores were closed, and the proprietors and clerks went pigeon hunting. When shotguns were fired aimlessly into the air dozens of pigeons dropped. Every home was converted into a "pigeonery," and all the members of the families who were not hunting were set to work plucking the birds. A favorite method of hunting was the use of an enormous net, which would fall on thousands of the birds when the net was dislodged by the watchful hunter at a time when the pigeons were feeding under the trap. It is not considered an exaggeration to state that millions of the birds thus met their fate each season. Many residents made small fortunes during those three years. But the three seasons was all, and 1878 was the last. In 1878 only a few stragglers were seen, but no one was able to account for the change. Of course the slaughter was responsible to a marked

That Is True

"Coffee drinking almost ruined my health before a heart and nerve specialist informed me that coffee was my whole trouble."

"I am 53 years of age, and from boyhood up to about the year 1900 I was strong and well, could eat any kind of food day or night, slept soundly, and it was said that I had no nerves."

"I began to suffer from indigestion and was getting sleepless and nervous. I took medicine, kept at work, and stuck to my coffee—the harm of it was never suggested to me."

"One morning just after dressing I collapsed, and for six weeks I was very, very sick. But I pulled through. After another rest I did not improve, but became worse. My heart got very bad, so weak at times that I would faint. I also suffered from constipation."

"In February, 1908 I was obliged to resign my position as manager."

"Finally in July, 1911, I came to San Francisco to consult the best heart and nerve specialist to be found, and was directed to Dr. Laramie Mayer. He made a thorough examination and several blood tests. He told me that the trouble was with my heart and nerves—brought about by coffee; that the caffeine contained in coffee was poison to me; and to stop the use of coffee absolutely and immediately. Since that time I have not tasted one drop of coffee."

"When I stopped coffee, I thought, what shall I drink. Milk had a tendency to constipate me; cold water is alright in its place, but it doesn't belong on the breakfast table. So I concluded to try Postum. It is delicious with cream and sugar. I drink it whenever I can find it and enjoy it as well as I once did coffee."

"My normal weight was about 170 lbs. and I had been as low as 133. In three weeks I was greatly improved; in six months I began to feel like my old self, and now, ten months after I stopped coffee I am about well and weigh 178 lbs. I have not been constipated once—not once! My stomach seems as good as ever; I sleep well, feel well, and am well."

"I am sure my good doctor's advice, 'stop coffee' is the secret of my improvement."

"Of course I 'have it in' for coffee, and why shouldn't I? See what it cost me, my health, position and thousands of dollars."

"Now in conclusion, you are at liberty to use my name any way you wish. I enclose names of my doctors. My only object is to help other afflicted persons. I don't want any compensation, and would not accept any."

Postum now comes in two forms.
Regular Postum must be well boiled.

AUTOISTS WHO KILL MUST GO TO PRISON

Chicago Judge Holds That Motor Car May Be Classed as Deadly Weapon.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—The automobile was catalogued officially as a deadly weapon—if misused—when Frederick Brodek and Lawrence Lindbloom, the first persons to be convicted of murder with an auto, were denied new trials by Judge Fenimore Cooper and the original sentences of fourteen years each in the penitentiary were confirmed. Lindbloom, a chauffeur, was found guilty of killing Joseph Weiss, a wealthy cigar manufacturer, who was knocked down on Aug. 5, 1910, and his body dragged two blocks by Lindbloom's machine. Lindbloom at the time was released on $25,000 bail, and he was not brought to trial until last September. Brodek was convicted of the slaying of Patrick J. Condon, a retired merchant, who was killed in almost the same manner as Weiss. Brodek was driving his machine through West Madison street, Austin, accompanied by Fred Condon, on July 24 last, when the auto struck Condon and dragged his body almost a block. Both cases were tried before Judge Cooper and presented by Assistant States Attorney Malato. The convicted men, through their attorneys, appealed for new trials Saturday on the ground that the automobile cannot be considered a deadly weapon. Prosecutor Malato was present to answer that a fatiron and even an ink-stand has been held to be deadly weapons in this state under certain circumstances.

"It depends upon the use to which an article is put whether it be a deadly weapon or not," said Malato, "and an automobile may be much more dangerous than any of the articles I have named." Judge Cooper assented to that view.

"This decision is especially important in connection with the public safety campaign," said First Assistant State Attorney Frank Johnston, Jr. "It establishes a precedent, which will demonstrate to auto speeders and reckless or drunken drivers that they are liable to be convicted not only of assault or manslaughter, but of committing murder. It is a great victory for Mr. Malato."

$1,000 A MONTH FOR PROBER.

Salary of United States Investigator of New Haven Is Fixed.

Washington, Nov. 3.—The compensation of T. W. Gregory, special assistant attorney general, who was designated by the attorney general to investigate the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railway company, in pursuance of the suggestion of the Interstate Commerce commission, can be $1,000 a month and expenses from May 20, the date he was assigned to the work, according to the controller of the treasury.

There was some criticism about the amount that the attorney general should pay for Mr. Gregory's services, and the matter was referred to the controller of the treasury. Controller Downey held that the question is one which Mr. McReynolds has power to decide as long as he remains within the appropriation provided for trust busting.

Pioneer Scandinavian Resident of Ishpeming Dies After Three Months' Illness.

Victor Eman, Sr., one of Ishpeming's oldest and best known Scandinavian residents, passed from life Sunday, after being ill about three months. Although Mr. Eman had been growing weaker for some weeks, he was in fair strength Sunday morning, but his condition suddenly changed for the worse, and he expired rather unexpectedly.

Mr. Eman, who was seventy years of age, was a native of Sweden. He came to this country in 1869, locating at Clarksburg, where he remained four years. At that time Clarksburg was a lively village, as the furnace was in operation and considerable prospecting was being done in the district. Mr. Eman followed mining all his life, until a few years ago, when he gave up his position with the Oliver Iron Mining company.

Many friends mourn Mr. Eman's death, for he was a man of excellent character. He is survived by his widow, eight sons and three daughters. The sons are Victor Eman, Jr., who conducts a shoe store in the Voelker brownstone block; John Eman, manager of the Ishpeming Store company; Albin, of the painting firm of Eman & Swanson; Ernest, with the Carpenter-Cook company, and David, who lives in Ribbing, Minn. The daughters are Mrs. Harold Trosvig and the Misses Agnes and Laura Eman, living at home. David is expected to arrive this morning from the Mesaba.

The deceased was one of the oldest living members of the Swedish Lutheran church here, he having been active in the congregation during all the years he had lived in the city. The funeral will be held from that church Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It will leave the family home, on North Main street, at 1:30. The church services will be conducted by Rev. Fred Wyman, the pastor. Friends desiring to view the remains are asked to call at the home.

Ishpeming Hunters Report Unusual Experience While in Woods After Birds.

Will Murray, Eugene Rock, Wilbur Forward and Ernest Eman, Ishpeming men, had an exciting experience with a bear Sunday in the woods about four miles south of Greenwood. On leaving camp they encountered a bear's tracks, which they followed a considerable distance, as a light snow covered the ground. Later they lost them, and then had forgotten all about the bear when they came to a large cedar tree, in which they noticed a hole a few feet from the ground.

In prospecting the hole Murray stuck his hand into the opening and was greatly surprised to stir up an animal in its head hole. A charge that took effect in its head took all the light out of the bear, and they had no difficulty dragging it out of the tree.

The bear weighed about two hundred pounds. The men carried it nearly a mile out to the road and then left it there, as their rig was not heavy enough to haul in the bear and their camping equipment. The carcass was brought in yesterday.

Says Boys Damaged Property.
For the reason that Hugh Brown of the Soo, had not filed notice with the probate court as to the amount of damages which three boys committed in his unoccupied residence on Bingham avenue in that city a few weeks ago, the hearing was adjourned until Saturday, Nov. 8. Brown alleges that the boys, who range in age from twelve to sixteen years, broke into his house and did damage to his property which he claims to be about $100. The parents are held responsible, as the boys are all under age. It is expected that Brown will file his bill for damages sometime this week.

Alleged Forger Exposed.
James Green, who claims the Soo as his home, has been arrested at Newberry, charged with forgery, upon a complaint sworn out by John Hunt, proprietor of the Harris House. Green is said to have forged the name of John Johnson to a check for $8.75 which Hunt cashed. Mr. Hunt became suspicious and called up Mr. Johnson at New Junction and learned the check was a forgery. Green will be held for trial at the next term of circuit court.

The Oliver Iron Mining company's safety committee last week completed an inspection of all underground safety devices in the company's mines on this range. The devices were found to be in first-class condition, and no improvements were necessary. The committee is composed of Captain P. E. Keese, chairman; Captain John Trebilcock, of the Hard Ore mine; Captain William Trebilcock, of Sagonia mine; Captain William Hatch of the Regent mine; C. M. Murphy, range master mechanic; Henry S. ESCANABA DEFEATED.
The Escanaba High school football team was given a surprise Saturday, when it was defeated by the Manistique school team by a score of 13 to 6. The Sandy City players expected "easy picking" at Manistique, but it appears they underestimated their opponents' strength, as the Manistique boys had the better of the argument all through the game. This is the first time since football games were played between the two schools that Manistique has defeated Escanaba. The Norway eleven will clash with the Escanaba team next Saturday.

Twin boys were born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strauberg, 837 North Pine street. Other births were a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. John Burton, 213 South Lake street, and a daughter to William Lassia and wife, 511 West Division street.

The Uniform Bank, Knights of Pythias, will conduct the fourth of its series of dancing parties Friday evening in Braastad's Hall. Dancing will start at 8:30, continuing until 12. Lundahl's orchestra will furnish the music and the admission will be fifty cents a couple. Invitations must be presented at the door.

The Woods-Ralton trio, presenting a comedy musical act, were favorably received last evening at Ishpeming theater. This is one of the best of its kind that has been seen here, the troupe carrying attractive stage settings. To-night's picture program will be "His Better Self," a Lubin drama; "To Abbeville Courthouse," Edison drama; Henrietta's Hair" and "Terroring Tramps," Selig comedies, and "The Message of the Rose," a Lubin drama. DAVIS-DALY.
The report of the Davis-Daly Copper company for the year ended June 30, 1913, shows current assets of $151,254 and current liabilities of $33,142, leaving net quick assets of $118,000. Expenses were $267,423 and income $200,080, leaving a deficit of $67,343. The company produced during the year 2,165,917 pounds of copper, which was sold at an average of 16 1/2 cents. The average grade of ore was 24.7 per cent copper and 5.66 ounces of silver. President Burton says, in part: "During the year extensive development work has been done on the various levels of the Colorado shaft. The company has done considerable mining, and has received from sales of ore $191,942, compared with $104,600 for the year previous; since May 1, 1913, the output has been greatly increased and the mine put on a paying basis. The directors feel encouraged by reason of the developments at the mine during the past six months; shipments run from 200 to 250 tons per day of ore averaging about 4 per cent in copper and carrying from five to eight ounces in silver. The company spent during the past year in development work and mining $279,855 and received from sale of its ores, royalties, rents, interest, etc., $200,080, leaving a large cash balance for further development. There is no bonded or floating debt or outstanding liabilities. The company employs about 200 men, with a payroll of from $20,000 to $25,000 per month. The Eastern office expenses under the present management are less than one-half the cost of the New York office under old management."

NOTES OF MINING NEWS.
Stockholders of the Calumet & Hecla and its subsidiaries are in receipt of the pamphlet report of the Copper Country Commercial club to the governor of Michigan, relating to strike conditions in the Michigan copper district. The report is profusely illustrated, and contains many statements of interest to all stockholders in Lake Superior copper mines.

Greene-Canaan continues to operate at about 60 per cent of capacity. From its own ores Greene is producing about 2,500,000 pounds of copper a month, while from custom ores purchased it procures 200,000 pounds additional. Aside from this yield the Greene plant, treating Miami concentrates, produces approximately 3,000,000 pounds, or a total of 5,500,000 pounds a month from the Greene works.

Earnings of Goldfield Consolidated in recent months have been at the rate of about $2,500,000 per annum, equal to sixty cents per share on the 3,500,000 shares outstanding, against the present dividend rate of $1.20 per share. September was a poor month because of the cloudburst. The next dividend is due to be paid on Dec. 30, and unless there is considerable improvement in earnings in the meantime, a reduction would seem to be in order. At the time of the last payment, on Sept. 30, an extra of ten cents per share was distributed.

WOULD MAKE THEM BETTER IF THEY COULD.

The makers of Foley Kidney Pills know that they have absolutely the best combination of curative and healing medicines for kidney and bladder ailments and urinary irregularities that it is possible to produce. That is why Foley Kidney Pills are the best medicine for the purpose you can buy. For sale by All Dealers.

HEALTH BOARD ASKS FOR MAP

City Sewers Must Be Platted for Information of State Officials, and Council Last Evening Referred the Matter to a Committee With Power to Act.

Time Is Coming, Assertion Is Made, When Sewage Treatment Will Be a Live Issue for All Great Lake Cities—Brief Session of Aldermen Last Evening.

To meet the requirements of a law passed at the last session of the legislature the sewer system of Marquette must be carefully mapped and copies of the map filed with the state board of health.

The council last evening set in motion the machinery that will secure compliance with the law by referring a letter from Dr. R. L. Dixon, secretary of the state board of health, dealing with the subject, to the streets and sewers committee, with power to act.

Accompanying the letter of Dr. Dixon was a circular of instructions setting forth how the work is to be done, the purpose being to secure uniformity in mapping the sewers of the state, so that the data gathered by the board will be available for purposes of comparison.

While the city already has extensive data in regard to the sewer system, it is expected that it will require considerable extra work to prepare maps that will meet the requirements of the state board. It is required that the maps be drawn to a scale of 300 feet to an inch, on tracing cloth, or a blue print of the same, on substantial drawing paper. The plans must have shown upon them all the existing streets, alleys, water courses, streams, lakes, ponds, schools and public buildings within the city, or village, limits. All outlets and overflows must be shown, and the location of present or proposed disposal works must be indicated.

In addition, there must be full information as to the materials used in sewers and full details about all special features in connection with the operation of the sewerage system.

Disposal Works Necessary.

Commenting on the request of the state board of health and the work it will entail, a city official said last evening: "In my opinion the time is not at hand when Marquette, in common with all other cities within the territory, will be compelled to provide works for treating the sewage flow, so as to make it harmless to health. If Marquette's own necessity does not make this an imperative step it will likely have to come about through the passage of state or federal legislation."

"Increasing agitation of this matter is noted. In Milwaukee a comprehensive sewerage plan is now under consideration that will involve the expenditure of many millions of dollars and that would for treating all the sewage of a city against the time when the law will prohibit the dumping of any raw sewage into the lakes. In many lake cities this problem has already reached the acute stage, and there is increasing talk of federal legislation to deal with it.

"Lake Superior has not as yet witnessed the development of the sewage problem on a big scale, for the reason that most of the Lake Superior cities, like Marquette, are comparatively small size, but the amount of sewage being dumped into the lake is annually increasing and it is only a question of time when the situation will approach in seriousness the one that now has to be met on the lower lakes.

"Furthermore, it is regarded as assured that when legislation on this subject is undertaken it will be general in its nature, and will apply to all the great lakes. It will follow that although the sewage disposal question on Lake Superior may not yet be acute, when comprehensive regulations are made of the lower lakes it will likewise be demanded of the smaller cities of Lake Superior as well. This is the probability that may well be taken account of in Marquette.

"The present order of the state board of health, and the legislation on which it is based, is a manifestation of the growing opinion that the question of sewage disposal is no longer only the community's business, but must also be disposed of with an eye single to the interests of the whole population."

Rolls Approved.

The city fathers had little business to transact last evening and transacted what there was of it in a hurry. An assessment roll for a sewer in Center street from Presque Isle avenue to Wilkinson avenue, was approved, also the roll for grading Altamont and Sixth streets from McMillan to Fisher. This latter improvement will provide a graded street that will be possible over Whitestone creek and will give residents of McMillan street access to the city. A roll for a sewer in Cedar street was set for a hearing at the next session of the council.

DEWEY UNDER ARREST.

Has Posed as Nephew of the Admiral in the Vaudeville Theaters.

Word has been received here of the arrest of Harry P. Dewey, at Alpena, by the federal authorities, the result of proceedings started by Admiral Dewey, whose nephew the younger man represented himself to be. Dewey is well remembered in Marquette, and he has many acquaintances here made while he filled a several days' engagement at the opera house a number of months ago. On the same trip he visited most of the vaudeville houses in this district, lecturing on the battle of Manila. Dewey is a plausible chap, of good presence, and it occurred to no one in the upper peninsula to question his representation about his part in the battle of Manila. An Alpena press dispatch says of his case:

"Harry P. Dewey, manager of a local vaudeville theater, was arrested for Hinton G. Clabough, of Cincinnati, special agent of the federal department of justice, who swore out a warrant before United States Commissioner Frank D. Scott, charging Dewey with falsely representing himself as a former officer of the United States navy.

"This was but one of the many claims made by Dewey, who also advertised that he served in the battle of Manila bay, at the close of which, he said, he was made a 'brevet lieutenant' for distinguished valor.

"He also advertised himself as the only nephew of Admiral George Dewey, the hero of Manila bay. Admiral Dewey's attention was called to the fact that the actor was passing himself off as his nephew in July last at Columbus, and it is said that the present proceedings against the vaudeville man came as a result of the annoyance thus caused the admiral.

"Dewey furnished bond in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance for trial in the federal court of Columbus Dec. 2.

"Dewey's specialty in vaudeville was a lecture on the battle of Manila bay. He always exhibited battle-scarred flags, a bugle, a sword and uniform and advertised them as his equipment on his 'uncle's flagship' on which he was bugler."

Mlle. Nadje Acted for English Queen

Appeared too, Before the Emperor of Germany—Also Was Artists' Model.

Mlle. Nadje, who is giving a physical culture act at the opera house the first half of the week, has had a varied and interesting career. Although aged only twenty-three, she has been before the public in her special line of work for more than eighteen years. Mlle. Nadje has twice given an exhibition for Queen Alexandra, mother of King George of England, and she has appeared before the emperor of Germany. This was about eight years ago. She has also appeared at local banquets, social functions of distinction in England.

The young woman was born in London, England, of French and English parentage. Her father was one of the leading men at Drury Lane at that time, and it was because of this that Mlle. Nadje started on the stage so young. She began practicing gymnastic work at the age of two years. When she was five years old she often posed for artists, and at the age of twelve she posed for Whistler's picture, "Rosevalk." Later she posed for Beatrice Afford's "Loving Cup."

Mlle. Nadje has not confined herself to stage work. She is the author of a scenario for the Biograph motion picture company, in which she played the leading part. The story of the picture is this: A vaudeville troupe becomes stalled in the West, with no money and no booking. Mlle. Nadje decides on a scheme. She opens a sanitarium, induces the fleshy women of the town to visit her and learn how to reduce their weight and makes love to their husbands. The complications as they arise in the picture are funny.

Mlle. Nadje is employed at the McFadden sanitarium in Chicago, teaching physical culture and putting women patients through the various exercises. This afternoon, after the regular matinee, to which everyone will be admitted, she will give a lecture on physical culture to women only. She will talk on diets and other subjects of interest.

Mlle. Nadje's act last evening was witnessed by two large assemblages. Her toe dancing and gymnastic work were excellent.

MAY HAVE SPEEDWAY.

Matinee Racing Club Will Ask Council for Use of Lake Shore Drive.

A request to flood the Lake Shore drive for about a half mile and use it as a speedway this winter will be presented to the council at the next meeting by the Matinee Racing club, according to Dr. A. W. Deadman. Either the drive, or North Pine street could be used, Dr. Deadman says. Traffic would not be interrupted.

If the request is granted, racing matinees will be held twice a week, Thursdays and Saturdays. Either cutters or "bikes" would be used, both in "mixed races" (cutters and bikes together) and in bike races and cutter races.

COURTS UNLIKELY TO GIVE RELIEF

Judge Angell of Opinion That La-Follette Shipping Bill Would Be Upheld.

A. C. Angell, former United States judge for the eastern district of Michigan, has given the lake passenger traffic an opinion to the effect that if the La-Follette seaman's bill becomes a law they cannot look to the courts for any relief. Judge Angell says it is unlikely that the courts would set aside national legislation affecting the safety of passengers at sea, even though the law should work an injury to the lake passenger lines.

Yesterday Frank E. Kirby, of Detroit, the famous marine architect, and Professor H. C. Sadler, head of the marine engineering department of the University of Michigan, were received by President Wilbur for a conference in relation to the proposed law. They explained to the president that it would be practically impossible for the lake lines to meet the requirements of the bill in its present form. Among other things, they asserted, the lake passenger service is designed for special service and that it would be impossible for many of them to support on their upper decks the great weight of lifeboats which would be necessary if the bill was made a law at all.

They also pointed out that if the law was put in effect and enforced against them the carrying capacity of lake steamers would have to be so reduced that they could not be operated at a profit.

Messrs. Kirby and Sadler, in company with A. A. Schantz, general passenger agent of the D. & C. Navigation company, will sail from New York today on the Justania, to attend the international congress on safety at sea which opens at London Nov. 12.

Lifboats Proved Useless.

In his advocacy of the seaman's bill, preceding its passage in the senate, Senator La-Follette is reported to have made much of the recent burning of the ocean steamer Volturo, involving the loss of a number of lives.

"Arguments were based on that accident in support of the seaman's bill, regardless of the fact that the Volturo was not an American ship and was not subject to regulations of the United States steamboat inspection service," says President William Livingstone of the Lake Carriers' association.

Mr. Schantz, of the D. & C., emphasizes the fact that the Volturo's lifeboats having proved useless, owing to inability of the ship's crew to launch them in the heavy sea, the safety of the passengers would in no way have been increased had the vessel been equipped with a greater number of lifeboats.

In this connection a comment made by the Marine Journal of New York is of special interest. It is as follows: "Developments in the burning of the Uranium liner Volturo at sea last week seem to show that the vessel carried a cargo of inflammable materials that would warrant the most rigid investigation, and that her passengers were made victims of this, if not actually unlawful, at least reprehensible condition of affairs. In commenting on this disaster, Anton A. Raven, president of the Atlantic Mutual insurance company, is quoted as saying:

"No sane insurance company would take a risk on a vessel carrying the Volturo's cargo unless it were what is known as a floating risk, in which there is no inspection of materials carried and a correspondingly higher premium is paid. Celluloid, as everyone knows, is highly inflammable, and is made of straw, rags and cotton. Many of the materials, although not explosive, in all probability became soaked with oil, so that the flames would creep along gradually and irresistibly.

Impossible Under American Laws.

"No vessel under the American flag carrying passengers would be permitted to carry a cargo such as the Volturo's unless it were a floating risk, in which there is no inspection of materials carried and a correspondingly higher premium is paid. Celluloid, as everyone knows, is highly inflammable, and is made of straw, rags and cotton. Many of the materials, although not explosive, in all probability became soaked with oil, so that the flames would creep along gradually and irresistibly.

Mr. Raven, who is quoted in the foregoing, is known by a number of the vesselmen, including A. C. Pessano, president of the Great Lakes Lightering works, who pronounces him an authority on insurance matters.

ORE SHIPMENTS SHOW DECREASE

Falling Off for October Is Reported, With Further Loss Likely This Month.

Ore shipments from Marquette harbor for October were 143,309 tons behind the shipments for the same month in 1912. To date Oct. 31 for the season the shipments were 139,333 tons behind the similar period in 1912. The shipping season has begun to taper off, and the November shipments will show an additional loss, compared with the shipments in that month last year.

The detailed figures follow:

	Oct. 1913.	Oct. 1912.
S. S. & L.	254,881	373,498
South Shore	144,111	141,103
To Oct.	31, 13.	31, 12.
S. S. & L.	2,046,291	2,064,082
South Shore	935,545	987,049

The heavy decrease in the S. S. & L. shipments for October this year, compared with the same month in 1912, is explained by the fact that last year the new dock was not in commission until August. Thus the shipments the early part of the season at the Presque Isle harbor were unusually light.

that the November shipments will show much, if any, increase over those for the corresponding month last year. Certainly much more ore could be handled than will be handled, if any particular reason existed for delivering a large tonnage to the lower lake ports. But the season's movement has already been large and the lower lake docks are well stocked.

By the end of the week, it is now said, all but a few companies depending on contract ore will have completed their deliveries, and the bulk of business next week will be the clean-up. Two fleets will have all their boats off Lake Superior by Nov. 15 or 16. Everything now indicates an early close, and it is not believed there will be any necessity for continuing lake traffic into December.

Unless there should be a change in the grain market shortly, insured boats will not be likely to leave after November 30, when insurance expires. Unless rates are paid that will make it worth while to pay in the neighborhood of 1 per cent, for trip insurance, there will be no reason for keeping the insured boats out. Should weather be favorable to navigation the last of this month and early next, uninsured boats, of which there are more than 100 in independent fleets, will probably be able to move their lake cargo of the down freight. Many of these have obligations to store either grain or coal, but the outlook is for a good supply of tonnage at the end of the season.

FURNITURE WILL FEEL THE TARIFF

Prices Are Expected to Go Down, Though the Process Will Be Slow.

Washington, Nov. 3.—From the garret to the cellar, furnishing the American home should be cheaper when the new tariff law gets into good working order.

Import duties on curtains, furniture, carpets, table linen, glass and china ware, kitchen utensils and other household articles are all sharply cut. Some of the tax reductions may eventually filter through to Mrs. American Housekeeper. Foes of the new law—its political enemies—assert that the tariff slashing will have little effect upon American pocketbooks at retail stores.

The duties on household furniture have been cut from 35 to 15 per cent. While little foreign furniture is bought by Americans, the slicing off of 20 per cent of the tax at the American seaboard will stimulate foreign competition and, Democrats believe, force down prices.

Number is also on the free list giving manufacturers of furniture the opportunity to buy Canadian planks cheaper. Sanguine Democrats believe 5 per cent will be a fair decrease in retail furniture prices, a predicted saving of $5 on $100 worth of new furniture.

Competition Slight There.

Fifteen per cent duty is taken off kitchen utensils, but foreign competition is slight in this field. The reduction is potent, however, with power to force retail prices lower on pots, pans and kettles of American manufacture. Aluminum ware should be cheaper, the duty having been cut about 40 per cent. Putting a new set of dinner dishes, glassware, cotton towels, dollies, blankets, sheets and pillow cases etc. are reduced from about 45 to 25 per cent in the new law. Some slight retail price reductions are expected to result. Linoleum should be slightly cheaper. Foreign imported next year under the new law are expected to aggregate $2,000,000 and to force retail reductions in this country. Duty on cotton window curtains are reduced about 12 per cent and some portion of that reduction may reach the buyer.

A saving of from 25 to 50 cents a dozen is expected in retail prices on woolen blankets is expected by friends of the new law, because of the sweeping tariff reductions on wool and its products. The decrease will hardly be felt for a year or more. From 5 to 10 per cent slashes in retail prices on cotton and woolen carpets is also confidently predicted by the Democrats.

NEEDS A MILLION FOR RADIUM.

That Sum Would Buy Ten Grams For Dr. Kelly's Free Clinic.

Baltimore, Nov. 3.—In regard to the free radium clinic to be established here, Dr. Howard A. Kelly's direction and in close affiliation with the Johns Hopkins medical school, Dr. Kelly said that a further endowment will be necessary for the purchase of radium, now fabulously expensive, and for the erection of a special building for the clinic with 100 beds.

"It will be necessary," he said, "before the general clinic can be opened to secure at least ten grams—about $1,000,000 worth—more of radium. There is on hand now about $120,000 worth and this will be required for the treatment of sixty pressing cases."

"Patients are coming from all parts of the country, but before the radium treatment can be made general the additional amount must be obtained and the special radium clinic building should be erected. It cannot be seen how this can possibly come about in less than three years. Meanwhile plans will be more fully developed and the work itself will go quietly on."

Money for the purchase of the Colorado source of radium was furnished by Dr. Kelly and Dr. James Douglas of New York.

ARE YOU A SELFISH PARENT?

Perhaps You Are and Do Not Realize That You Are.

"Did you ever think how selfish parents are with their children, when in reality they would give their lives for them?" This remark was made by a teacher who for years has made a study of girls.

"Now think of that girl," she said, "pointing to a splendid, big girl of about eighteen years of age. 'That girl is the only child of her parents, who idolize her. She is brought up to think that she alone is the center of the household; that its machinery turns only for her happiness and gratification. She has received only a fair education because she was supposed to be too delicate to go every day to school. She was never sent to school, because her doting parents could not get separated from their beloved child. She is absolutely dependent upon her parents for everything."

"Her mother gloats over the fact that she is her only daughter and dearest friend, her confidante. She stays with her mother constantly and knows no other companionship, no other mind. She never has an opportunity and apparently no desire to rub up against other girls of her age, to measure her strength with theirs, to have her little struggles and failures and successes, to learn herself and her own power in the world by contact with others of her own age. Instead she has constantly an adoring mother friend who blindly makes her feel that she is perfection—and look at the result."

"You see a splendid girl almost spoiled. She is flabby both in mind and body. Her mother is stout in body and averse to exercise; the daughter is becoming stout and is lazy. In the mother it is not a fault, because all that is asked of her is to be a good wife and mother; but in the daughter it is almost a crime in this day of tennis, basketball, swimming and general bodily fitness.

"The daughter cannot converse because with her mother she needs no spoken language; their very closeness obviates the necessity of the spoken word; their thoughts are so much in unison, their minds so in sympathy, that conversation is not necessary. But one must exercise the functions of speech or speech becomes an art too difficult to acquire. This girl cannot talk. She does not know what to talk about. She does not know what other girls are interested in and cannot speak their language. What would become of her if that mother should be taken away?"

"Why do not parents study the ways of nature in bringing up their children? Each bird flies for himself. Each flower grows on its own stem. Flowers may remain in the garden, birds may fly home to the nest, but no one has a right to deprive the bird of the power to fly nor the flower of the right to grow. But this is what the loving parent is doing for her child, and all in the name and for the sake of great love."

EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN.

"It is often the exceptionally bright child, on the right side of the road, on the wrong side," says Dr. Maximilian P. E. Grossmann, discussing the education of exceptional children in the annual report of the United States commissioner of education, just issued. "The stupid and weak-minded of original is not as dangerous as the clever and intellectual criminal."

Dr. Grossmann urges that public attention be directed to all types of exceptional children, not merely to the feeble-minded and degenerate, who, no matter how undesirable a factor they may be in society, are by no means the whole problem. He points out that the problem of the exceptional child is by no means merely the problem of the "defective," or the "subnormal," or the "abnormal" child. Often it is a case of directed ability on the part of a gifted mind; or the problem of childhood and development as affecting criminal tendencies. Sometimes it is vocational failures due to improper vocational education; or it may be a problem arising from racial differences, together with the difficulties of social adjustment in a nation which has grown through immigration.

Real progress, particularly in distinguishing between the various types of exceptional children, is reported by Dr. Grossmann. He considers the great lesson of the year to be the need for intelligent, united effort on the part of educators, medical men, social workers, charitable organizations, welfare societies, juvenile courts and other agencies that have been active in the endeavor to remedy early neglect of exceptional conditions. His point is that each of these separate agencies is doing commendable work, but that they must now join forces.

Money for the purchase of the Colorado source of radium was furnished by Dr. Kelly and Dr. James Douglas of New York.
