WIVISECTORS GIVEN FLAYING FOR CRUELITIES

Physician of John D. Rockefeller, Founder of Institute Practicing Alleged Barbarities, Joins in Condemning the Slaughter of Dumb Animals by Experimenters

He Speaks at International Congress at Washington—Humans Victims of Deadly Inoculations, It Is Charged—Use of Steel Traps Denounced by E. T. Seton

Washington, Dec. 9.—Cruelty to animals by vivisectors and needless infliction of pain in any other form were vigorously denounced at the opening session here today at the International Anti-Vivisection and Animal Protection congress.

Dr. Hamilton F. Biggar, of Cleveland, personal physician of John D. Rockefeller, said: "Scores of dogs are slaughtered in the laboratories of medical colleges for no other object than grandstand exhibitions, with no beneficial results to medical science."

Ernest Thompson Seton said there was no good reason why skins of animals should not be worn, but there should be no unnecessary suffering for the animals.

Frederick P. Bellamy, of Brooklyn, declared there should be investigation of reports that at certain hospitals children were inoculated with serums of loathsome diseases by experimenters and dangerous tests were often performed on healthy ignorant people.

Human Vivisection Charged. That vivisection is practiced on human beings as well as animals in the hospitals and scientific institutions of New York and other American cities was the claim made by various delegates.

The Rockefeller institute is a working model of hell. It is a good example of the appalling work of vivisection which is going on in the large institutions of this country.

The President again demonstrated his ability to handle a somewhat difficult situation adroitly and with tact when he received Dr. Shaw and her sister suffragettes at Washington this week.

Many subscribers, accordingly, are wondering what they had better do. The Mining Journal believes they may well stop payments at once, changing what they have already spent to profit and loss.

These clever exploiters of the public's gullibility are not in business for fun. They have heavy expenses, they make large profits and they must charge extortionate prices.

Commenting on the latest outrage in the copper country, the Houghton Gazette is of the opinion that it is high time for the persons who want peace and order maintained to make it clear to these servants of the people—these men we have elected to office—that it is necessary for them to be a part of the force that must work for a better copper country.

THE PROJECTED WORK.

For the coming year the bureau of research of the Upper Peninsula Educational association has outlined a layman's survey of the grade schools of the district that will aim to secure a representative statement of intelligent lay criticism of the methods employed in these schools and the lay opinion as to how they may be made more effective in training the youth of the district.

With more strike breakers being imported into the copper region to replace those who recently deserted, and Governor Ferris announcing that the upper peninsula can take care of its own troubles, we foresee some lively times to come.—Muskegon Chronicle.

realizes that Mr. Wilson will not get out of his way in 1916. It's all right for the correspondent to write that kind of an article if his paper wants it, but does he believe it?

That highwayman who held up a train near San Francisco in the very midst of a popovers' suburban district certainly gave a most remarkable exhibition of cheek.—Chicago Record-Herald.

It is to be hoped that the girls who have entered the Toledo School of Carpentry will learn how to saw wood and say nothing.—Cleveland Leader.

The police had to stop an automobile funeral in Long Island city because it was rumbling thirty-five miles an hour. Which is going some even for a New York funeral.—Indianapolis News.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Met Its Match. A cyclone visited the negro quarters in "Oh," Alabama mining camp several years ago. It tumbled down the cabins and not one joint or sill was left standing. Uncle Joe was the only one who came through the visitation unscathed.

"Yes, sah," he said, "I he'd 'd'at win' comin' through de bresh, an' I seen it, an' I felt it, an' I knowe it was or slykone—an' I s' de onliest pun in dat settlement what could hay, 'Heah she comes,' an' 'dar she goes!'"

Social Status.

You get swift conversations without intentional listening, says the London Daily Chronicle. Two alert young women sat side by side in one of those cosy arm chairs for two thoughtfully provided by the Tube company. Mutual interests were discussed.

"What do you think of that new girl in your office?" asked the one. "Oh," replied the other, "she's not bad, but well, she's the sort of a girl whose sister marries a policeman and then doesn't live with him."

A Real Delusion. The story is told of a college professor who was noted for his concentration of mind. The professor was returning home one night from a scientific meeting, still pondering over the subject. He had reached his room in safety when he heard a noise which seemed to come from under the bed.

"Is some one there?" he asked. "No, professor," answered the intruder, who knew of the professor's peculiarities.

"That's strange. I was positive some one was under my bed," commented the learned man.

Regarding Dancing. A stern old preacher had issued to his people a command against dancing, believing it to be a device of the devil.

A few of the young people disobeyed and attended a dance given at a neighboring town. Finally it reached the ears of the preacher, and meeting one of the culprits on the street one morning said in a stern voice: "Good morning, child of the devil!" "Good morning, father," smilingly answered the pretty miss.—National Monthly.

Not to be behind hand, candidates for lieutenant governor are now beginning to put in an appearance.

EDITORIAL OPINION

The Presidential Primary Next. The most vital thing in President Wilson's message was his suggestion that congress should establish universal primaries for the selection of presidential candidates.

The Progressive party was created as a protest against Republican contempt for popular sentiment. Had such primaries as Mr. Wilson recommends been held in 1912 Theodore Roosevelt would have been the Republican nominee at Chicago and the Progressives would not have been organized as a party.

The Republican convention succeeded in betraying the party, and the Democratic convention had the narrowest sort of a ghost of a chance of any such proposition getting through a Democratic congress, or even getting serious consideration there.

It is probably true that state, rather than national, legislation was counted on to accomplish the change, but the comment of the first hours following the message is all in favor of action along the line proposed.

This will be perhaps the greatest single step in the history of popular control of government taken in this country in years. It will place the selection of national candidates where it belongs, with the voters who are to pass judgment finally upon the nominees.

It is necessary, said Senator Root yesterday's Republican conference, to reorient the party. It is to be assumed that the learned senator, who was speaking after mature consideration, selected the word he did with full knowledge of its meaning.

To orient is to adjust or correct by referring to first principles or to recognized facts or truths. It implies a thought on the part of the orienter that he has lost the true course, and that it is necessary to return to it. Thus there was acknowledgment of past error by the senator by his use of the word.

LOWER STATE NOTES. GRAND RAPIDS—Members of the sheriff's force are searching Kent county for a dog named Rainbow, which has red, blue and grey legs and a body of black mixed with gray. It is a setter, the pet of Deputy Sheriff Johns. The dog is a complicated institution. It not only possesses a number of colors, but belongs to three men, Johns claims it, former Sheriff Ah Carroll insists that it belongs to him, and John Collins of the probate court says it is his.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO. HOW TO BANKRUPT THE DOCTORS. A prominent New York physician says, "If it were not for the tin stockings and thin soled shoes worn by women the doctors would probably be bankrupt." When you contract a cold do not wait for it to develop into pneumonia, but treat it at once. ANN ARBOR—By a vote of twelve to three the council passed the water works ordinance over the mayor's veto, which was based on the ground that the council should have delegated to him the right to appoint the commissioners. Mayor R. G. MacKenzie supplemented his veto by a communication to the council, asking that body to defer action until the next regular meeting, so that he might give further reasons for his veto. The council will meet as a committee of the whole to consider the appointment of the commission which will have charge of the water plant, operation of which the city assumes Feb. 1.

Copper Country

BUSINESS HOUSES WILL CLOSE THIS AFTERNOON

Holiday Is Declared, That Owners and Employes May Attend Indignation Meetings.

Hancock, with her sister towns in the copper country, will look upon today as a day for mourning. Every business place will be closed this afternoon, that the proprietors and employes may attend the mass meeting to take place at the Amphitheatron.

Senator W. Frank James, in behalf of Mistletoe lodge, Sons of St. George, of Quincy, yesterday issued a public invitation to all citizens of the city to attend the funerals of the three men murdered at Painesdale last Sunday morning.

The funeral of the three men will probably be the largest attended of any ever held in the copper country. Hundreds of persons from all parts of Houghton county will be present to escort the remains to their last resting places.

No event has occurred during the time of the strike to arouse the public as has the triple murder of innocent men at Painesdale. Mob violence has openly been advocated.

A Blue Christmas.

"What will Christmas be to the parents of those boys that were shot in cold blood Sunday morning?" asked one of a group at Hancock yesterday.

"Then, at Painesdale, is a widow, the wife of the murdered Thomas Dally, who will not have much to look forward to with the coming of Christmas. Instead of a happy home, a mother and father surrounded by their children, a mother with her children will observe the day silently in prayer, mourning the loss of a loving husband, an affectionate father and an honest citizen."

High Schools Will Close.

The high schools of the copper country will be closed this afternoon, in order to give the students an opportunity to attend the mass meeting.

Superintendent Duell of the Houghton schools said yesterday that the grade schools will be kept in session, because the school officers consider it advisable that the meetings be not overruled with children. Room will be at a premium and the younger children would be in the way. But the school officers believe the older boys and girls of the copper country may learn valuable lessons in citizenship at these meetings and they desire their presence there.

COOPER COUNTRY M. C. M. CLUB.

The regular monthly dinner of the Copper Country M. C. M. club will be given at the Houghton club next Saturday night. Following the dinner, Ralph R. Wiggins, recently of the engineering staff of the Panama canal commission, will discuss "The Engineering Problems of the Panama Canal." Mr. Wiggins will illustrate his talk with stereopticon views.

CALLED TO FATHER'S FUNERAL.

Thomas J. McQuillan, former of Needham's laundry, Houghton, has been called to Meredith, N. H., on account of the sudden death of his father, James McQuillan. The particulars of the death have not been received.

FACE DISFIGURED WITH ERUPTION

Spread Over Entire Face. Itched and Burned Terribly. Heavy White Crust. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Made Complete Cure.

310 East Elm St., Streator, Ill. "A running sore broke out above my right eye, which spread over my entire face. It started as a small pimple. I scratched it open and the contents of this small pimple ran down my face. Wherever this ran a new sore appeared. They itched and burned terribly. I couldn't touch my face. It was so bad that I was afraid to go to work. I lost rest at night and I couldn't bear to have anything touch my face, not even the pillow. I had to lie on the back of the head. I was always glad when morning came so I could get up. It was extremely painful.

At last I thought of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I commenced using them. I used the sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, one twenty-five-cent cake of Cuticura Soap and a half box of the fifty-cent size of Cuticura Ointment. It took three weeks to complete the cure." (Signed) Miss Caroline Miller, Apr. 30, 1913.

Cuticura Soap 25c, and Cuticura Ointment 50c, are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-page Skin Book. Address: Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston.

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

SUPERVISORS GRANT AN OPTION ON LANDS

J. D. Mangum, Marquette, Plans to Buy 4,000 Acres Owned by Houghton County.

At the monthly meeting of the Houghton county board of supervisors at Houghton yesterday, Chairman Hamar of the county land committee brought up a proposal by John D. Mangum, postmaster and lumberman, of Marquette, for an option on four thousand acres owned by Houghton county. The lands are near Michigamme. It was decided to give Mr. Mangum an option for ninety days at the price fixed by the committee, which was not made public.

Supervisor Rourke, as a member of the committee, dissented. He believed that the state's policy of conservation of timber resources is correct and he advised that the county should hold this land because of its future value and the possibility that it may contain valuable water power.

Chairman Hamar suggested that as the lands are swamp lands and only lightly timbered, the valuation placed upon them by the tax commission makes the taxes probably higher than the estimated increase in value per annum. The resolution to give Mr. Mangum the option passed, with Mr. Rourke voting in the negative.

Mine Strike Bills.

The total strike bills for the month of November aggregated $22,329.85. The largest item was $14,897, for special deputy sheriffs. The Waddell & Mahon corporation's item was $3,506.25 and the item for automobile hire was $459.99. The salary of George E. Nichols, special prosecuting attorney, was $1,215.

While animals' bounties aggregating $237 were paid, nine for wolves and four for wild cats.

Judge of Probate Bentley appeared on behalf of Miss Alice Bell, clerk in his office. He asked that her salary be increased by $15 a month, as the quality of her services to the county made this just. The increase was allowed.

The auditor general having advised the county that, through the increase in the state tax, the county treasurer's bonds should be increased by $135,000, James T. Healy, representing a bonding company, was present with the proposition. The board referred the matter to the finance committee to take it up with Mr. Healy.

Warden Willson Own Successor.

St. Clair Willson made application for recommendation to the state game warden that he be re-appointed deputy game warden for Houghton county for another year. The recommendation was adopted unanimously.

The board did not take any definite action on the matter of restricting the county, but the proposition was taken up. At the preceding meeting Supervisor Smith had offered a motion to take Houghton and Hancock townships from the third district and add them to the second. At this meeting he made a motion to do this with Hancock city. The motion was laid on the table, the supervisors expressing the opinion that they are not yet ready to act formally on the matter.

Probation Officer's Salary.

Chairman Edwards brought up the question of salary for the newly appointed chief probation officer of the county, James H. Hillier. He explained that the state law provides payment of $1 a month to the general fund of the county from each man on probation and that the county may pay the probation officer a salary out of the general fund.

It was shown that each county in the circuit may pay a salary to the officer, who in this case also is agent for the state board of corrections and charities in Houghton county at a salary of $3 a day and expenses when employed. It was decided to vote Mr. Hillier's $25 a month as probation officer of Houghton county.

BOILERS DUE THIS WEEK.

Dollar Bay Lumber Company Will Have Modern Plant Next Spring.

Word has been received by the Dollar Bay Lumber company that the boiler for the Dollar Bay mill will arrive this week. Preparations for installing the equipment have been going on for several weeks and the work has reached a stage where it will be possible to move the machinery from the cars into the plant as soon as it arrives.

In addition to installing new boilers and band saws at the sawmill, the company is making improvements which will make it possible to almost double the daily output of lath. When ready for commission next spring, the Dollar Bay plant will be modern in every respect.

BRINGS PRISONER FROM DETROIT.

Deputy Sheriff James H. Thomas returned Monday night from Detroit, where on Sunday he arrested William T. Miron, formerly a teacher at Tremont, who is wanted on a statutory charge.

FIT HIS CASE EXACTLY.

"When father was sick about six years ago he read an advertisement of Chamberlain's Tablets in the papers that fit his case exactly," writes Miss Margaret Campbell of Ft. Smith, Ark. "He purchased a box of them and he has not been sick since. My sister had stomach trouble and was also benefited by them." For sale by All Dealers.

STONES SENT THROUGH WINDOWS.

West Hancock Dwelling Houses Damaged by Midnight Prowers.

Two reports of attacks on dwelling houses in West Hancock were made yesterday morning. In both cases large stones were thrown through the windows, a stove in one of the houses being damaged. The occupants of the dwellings were so filled with fear that they seemed to investigate at such an hour, thinking the perpetrators might still be in the vicinity.

One of the homes is occupied by a workman who remained on strike for several weeks, but who saw no signs of a settlement and returned to work, saying that his children were more in need of food and warm clothing than the agitators. It is believed the stoning of the houses was done with the intention of intimidating the men.

ATTENDS LOGGING CONGRESS.

President Hamar of Houghton and Hemlock Association Returns.

E. A. Hamar of Chassell, president of the Northern Michigan and Wisconsin Hemlock and Hardwood associations, general manager of the Worcester Lumber company of Chassell, returned Monday from Green Bay where he presided as chairman at a congress of logging superintendents. The congress was held under the auspices of the association.

Mr. Hamar delivered the opening address and presided over the meeting. W. F. Merrill of Chassell, superintendent of woods operations for the Worcester company, also attended. The meeting was made up of superintendents of logging operations from the upper peninsula and all lumbering districts of Wisconsin.

QUEBEC RULES FOR HOCKEY ASSOCIATION

One Important Change Is Made—Play Will Be Continuous Throughout a Game.

Charles E. Webb, of Houghton, president of the American Hockey association, yesterday gave out copies of the official book of playing rules. The rules generally follow the Quebec rules with which the copper country is so familiar, but there is one radical change. The following rule is inserted to make the play continuous, to prevent the annoying delays following an injury to a player:

"In the event of a player being injured or compelled to leave the ice during a match, he may retire from the game for a period of ten minutes playing time, but play must be continued immediately without the teams leaving the ice, the opposing team dropping a player to equalize, with the exception of injury to goal keeper who will be allowed ten minutes to recuperate. If at the expiration of ten minutes the injured player is unable to resume his position on the ice, his captain may put on a substitute, providing the injury occurred during the first half of the match. If, however, the player was injured during the second half, the opposing captain shall have the option of dropping a man for the balance of the playing time or allowing the injured player's side to put on a substitute. The man dropped to equalize shall return to the ice when the injured player does or when a substitute is put on. In the event of a dispute between the captains as to the injured player's fitness to continue the game, the matter shall be decided by the referee, and his decision shall be final. An injured player may not resume play after his place has been filled by a substitute, without the consent of the opposing team's captain.

"Should the game be temporarily stopped by the infringement of any of the rules, the captain of the team not at fault may claim the puck for the back and face where it was last played from before such infringement occurred.

"When a player hits the puck, any one of the same side, who at such moment is in the vicinity of the puck, may pick it up and is out of play until the puck has been played by another player. A player should always be on his own side of the puck. An injured player may not rebound off the puck, but may be rebounded off the puck by a player of his team touching puck to be considered on side.

"The puck may be stopped but not carried, or knocked on by any part of the body, nor carried by any player close his hand on, or carry ten minutes in his hand. No player shall raise his stick above the shoulder except in lifting the puck. Charging from behind, tripping, collaring, kicking, or shinning, shall be allowed, and for any infringement of these rules the referee or his assistant may rule the offending player out of the ice for that match or for such portion of actual playing time as he may see fit, but it shall not be necessary to stop the game to enforce this rule.

"When the puck goes off the ice or a foul occurs behind the goals, it shall be taken by the referee to five yards at right angles from the goal line, and there faced. When the puck goes off the ice at the sides, it shall be taken by the referee to five yards at right angles from the boundary line, and there faced.

"The goalkeeper must not during play, kneel or sit upon the ice, but must maintain a standing position."

"The following rules will govern the play for the American championship and the MacNaughton trophy: The championship shall be decided by a series of home and home games, schedule of which shall be drawn by the clubs. A club winning in its respective district has the greatest number of goals, in such number of games with clubs in their district, as determined by the governing board, shall be declared the champion of their respective district and will play off by a series of home and home games with champions of other districts, team winning by the greatest number of goals by this process of elimination to be declared the champion of the United States. All championship matches shall be played on rinks approved by the governing board.

"The league shall offer a championship trophy, winning club to hold same and to be recognized as the Amateur champion of the United States. The trophy shall be delivered to the winning club within a reasonable time after the close of the season and shall be the property of the winners during the period of champions.

"Any team making default shall forfeit its right to compete for the championship and be liable to a fine of $100 unless good reasons can be shown to the governing board for defaulting.

"In all matches the referee and his assistant shall be agreed upon by the two clubs at least three days before the match. In case of disagreement officials will be appointed by the president.

"It shall be the duty of the captains of the contesting team to hand to the referee previous to the start of each match names of his players written on forms supplied by the club. The referee shall fill in the date, match and names of contesting clubs, substitutes used, if any, the score at the end of the match with names of other officials, the whole being duly signed by himself and forwarded immediately to the secretary of the association.

"A player must have been an actual resident within fifty miles of the place in which his club is located at least thirty days previous to being eligible to appear in any league match, and must be a bona fide member of the club he represents at least sixty days before he is eligible to compete in any championship match. No player shall play in any amateur hockey match of this association who, during the current season has played with another club in a recognized hockey association without special permission of the governing board.

"The secretary of each club shall file with the secretary of the American Amateur Hockey association at least thirty days previous to opening of the championship season, a list of the players of his club. The secretary of each club shall also file with the secretary of the American Amateur Hockey association the names of any additional players immediately upon their being elected to membership. The secretary of the American Amateur Hockey association shall file a list of players of all clubs with the proper officials of the American Amateur Athletic union.

"The puck used in all championship matches shall be the official puck of the league. The goal nets must be approved by the governing board."

Markets

BOSTON COPPERS.

Interest in the Boston market Tuesday again centered in the selling of specialties, such as Sugar, Telephone and New Haven, the last of which declined five points for the day, to a new record of 7 1/2. The selling of New Haven is based on the probability of the dividend being suspended entirely for some time. In spite of the pessimism prevailing in regard to the New England standard investment stocks, the action on the dividend had no effect on Copper Range and the position of the stock is stronger with this uncertainty out of the way.

The directors of Copper Range met Tuesday and did as was generally expected—passed the dividend payable in January. The stock was remarkably well taken at 33. It was rumored in Washington that the government had decided to take action against the strikers of the Calumet & Hecla mines and that an injunction preventing their further interference will shortly be issued.

The Boston market was dull and closed with but few price changes. Final quotations were:

New York Stocks.

Pressure in New Haven and American Sugar and selling of Canadian Pacific by people who hoped for more valuable rights to stockholders than provided in these rules. The market Monday afternoon checked the upward tendency in the New York market Tuesday. Good buying was noticeable in the leaders on all sessions. The total New York sales were 259,300 shares. Closing prices were:

IT'S A MISTAKE.

Made By Many Marquette Residents.

Many people in a misguided effort to get rid of kidney backache, rely on plaster, liniments and other makeshifts. The right treatment is kidney treatment and a remarkable recommended kidney medicine is Doan's Kidney Pills. Marquette is no exception.

"Mrs. Adolph Racine, 425 W. Spring St., Marquette, Mich., says: 'One of my family was troubled by a dull, heavy ache in the back, together with severe pains. At times she had headaches and dizzy spells. She was also annoyed by too frequent passages of the kidney secretions. She was all run down and was miserable in every way. One of our neighbors advised a trial of Doan's Kidney Pills. After a few doses were taken she was so much better she used a second box. She has not been bothered since.'

Mining News

Work at the Phoenix tract of the Keweenaw Copper company is progressing more rapidly than anticipated, owing to the favorable climatic conditions. Practically all surface work has been completed, and from now on all efforts will be centered in development. The collar of the shaft has been completed, and a new skip road is being built, the bed of which will be about four feet lower than the old road. This will allow the use of larger skips than were used in former days of operation. Up to the present, all drilling has been done with hand drills and steam, but henceforth compressed air will be used and this should expedite the work. The footwall being broken is found well mineralized, and the management is well satisfied with the showing. Unwatering the shaft was commenced last week, and it is expected this pumping will be completed this week; then developments should be rapid.

Conditions at the Franklin property have changed materially since 1911. At that time the prospects were good that the mine could be developed at this point on the Pewabic lode. Since that time, however, it has been demonstrated that the Pewabic lode within the boundaries of the Franklin property is too low in grade to permit of a commercial profit except with copper at a high level. For this reason Franklin will not—when it resumes operations after the settlement of the Lake Superior strike—do further work on the Pewabic lode, but will endeavor to develop a paying mine on some of the other copper beds which traverse its territory. The chance of success in this new line of endeavor is uncertain. Financially, the company is without working capital and its current liabilities exceed current assets by about $100,000, which means that another assessment on the stock must be levied before any considerable amount of development work can be carried on. There is discernible a disposition on the part of the Boston brokerage fraternity to look at the future with more confidence. They say the worst is known concerning all adverse market factors and that the sooner they can turn over the last leaf in the 1913 calendar, the better. They say they never did like the figures "13," and that the dawn of the year 1914 is sure to bring better times to the Street.

Owing to the inability of the Calumet & Arizona smelter to handle increased tonnage, Shattuck's shipments have been continued at the rate of about 250 tons daily. This amount should be doubled after Jan. 1. The company has been making an average monthly production of close to 1,000,000 pounds, which is ample to make the quarterly disbursement of fifty cents.

Prosper Isle chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, No. 403, will hold its regular meeting this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Masonic Hall. Visitors will be welcomed.

Adam Wiipola, of Ishpeming, brought eight beaver pelts to the office of the county clerk yesterday morning, this being the largest number that has been brought in this season.

Mrs. M. McMahon, high court deputy of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, will arrive in the city this morning and will meet the members of the three courts of the order during the day.

The Red Cross Legion will meet tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. On the close of the meeting at 8:30 o'clock, there will be dancing and card playing, to which the friends of the members of the lodge are invited.

Morris Stevenson, of this city, who is teaching in the public schools of New Era, Mich., recently passed an examination for the teaching service in the Philippine islands and will leave as soon as a position is open. He is a 1913 graduate from the Northern State Normal school.

Miss Viola Pierce is kept from her duties at the Central school by an attack of measles. Miss Hazel Ferguson, another one of the teachers, is ill with mumps. A report which has been generally circulated, that these teachers had smallpox, is without foundation.—Iron River Reporter.

The daily bulletins of the Marquette office of the United States weather bureau will be discontinued today for the winter months. They are sent out only during the season of navigation. It is probable that during next season the local office will issue weather maps, instead of the bulletins.

Informal Dancing Party—Tuesday evening, Dec. 16, an informal dancing party will be given at Fraternity Hall, the hosts being four Marquette young men. Invitations were sent out yesterday.

Work On New State Front—The remodeling of one of the store rooms formerly used by Watson & Palmer has been commenced and a new front will be built shortly. The material for all the contemplated improvements has been received.

Sing and Dancing Sketch—As one of the attractions to be given at the carnival at the Guild hall tomorrow and Friday evening, Harold Thompson, of this city, will give a singing and dancing sketch. There will be other vaudeville features each evening.

A Lunar Phenomenon—A corona with a double ring, a most unusual lunar phenomenon, was noticed by many Marquette people about 10:15 o'clock Monday evening, it being the first time in many years that such a phenomenon has been observed here. The first ring was a band of light of prismatic colors, which shaded into the second ring, which consisted of a fleecy white cloud. H. R.

Patrick, the weather observer, says that a corona of this kind is of very unusual occurrence.

Will Open Premium Store—The Grand Union Tea company will open the store opposite the city hall Dec. 15, 16 and 17 for the purpose of displaying the premiums offered to its customers. The display will be under the direction of Campbell Bros, the agents for the company here.

To Meet This Week—E. A. Daley, secretary of the Marquette Commercial club, will this week call meetings of the city goods merchants, haberdashers and tailors, three of the groups to be represented in the ways and means committee, for the purpose of choosing their representatives.

Soo Canal Passages—The steamer Cowle passed the locks at the Soo at 8 o'clock Monday night, according to advices to The Mining Journal yesterday. The Martin Muller went through at 1 o'clock yesterday morning, the Lakewood at 5 and the Sarnian at 6. All of these boats are upbound.

Snow Depths—The following depths of snow at various points throughout the upper peninsula have been reported to the Marquette office of the weather bureau: Iron Mountain, trace; Chatham, two inches; Newberry, about three inches; Ironwood, four inches. Marquette has about three and one-half inches.

Will Study Wireless—The students in the science department of the Marquette High school will, within a few days, organize a club to be known as the Wireless club, which will take up the study of wireless telegraphy. The department has no apparatus to carry on experimental work as yet, but it will be provided shortly.

School Orchestra Organized—At the Marquette High school there has recently been organized a school orchestra, which is under the direction of Miss Norma Ross, instructor in music. Practices have been undertaken already. The orchestra will play following the high school basketball games and social affairs during the winter months.

Neck of Land Washed Out—The severe storm of four weeks ago and the storm of the forepart of this week resulted in the complete washing out of the neck of land connecting the shore with the first of the Benic rocks, north of the city. Formerly a strip of land about fifty feet wide and one hundred feet long connected the rock and the shore. This has been completely washed away.

Entertainment At Normal—The members of the reading classes at the Northern State Normal school will present four short farces in the assembly room of the school at 8:15 o'clock this evening. The entertainment is being conducted under the auspices of the Student Girls' league, to which the proceeds will go. There will be several musical numbers included in the program.

Complying With Ordinance—Dr. A. W. Deadman, dairy and meat inspector, says that all the dairymen are now living up to the provisions of the dairy and milk ordinance, and many are now making necessary improvements to their barns and adjoining premises. Of late the inspector has had some difficulty getting some of the dairymen to wash their milk bottles properly.

Visiting Nurse Report—The monthly meeting of the Visiting Nurse association was held yesterday afternoon. The report for November follows: Number of patients, seventy-two; visits made, 165; official calls, fifty-one; garments given, 208; shoes and rubbers, twenty-two pair; employment was found for four persons. The disbursements of the association during the month were $131.37.

Warning to Boys—Marshal John Manning warns boys who have been shooting firearms within the city limits that the practice must cease. It is prohibited by law and a fine of $25 may be imposed for a violation. Within the past few weeks numerous complaints from various parts of the city have been received by the marshal, it having been asserted that youngsters are using .22-calibre rifles in shooting sparrows.

SMASH EGG CORNERS; PARCEL POST DOES IT

Government Chief of Markets Tests Mail Service and Finds Solution of Problem.

Washington, Dec. 8.—"The egg-producer and the egg-consumer can be brought together—and egg corners abolished forever! The high cost of eggs—and the cost of many other farm products, too—can be lowered by co-operation between the farmer and the egg user in the city or town. The parcel post is the solution."

That is the way Charles J. Brand, agricultural department expert on marketing, and chief of President Wilson's newly-created division of markets, sizes up the egg situation.

"The division of markets, in co-operation with the bureau of animal industry and the postoffice department, has been for more than a month quietly testing out the possibilities of the parcel post in shipping eggs from the country to the town. It can be done, and it can be done successfully and at low cost," declared Brand. "The agricultural department poultry farm at Beltsville, Md., has been selling the eggs produced there in the course of the poultry experiments to the employees of the department at the market price. We have in the last month been using these eggs simply to test the possibility of more than a hundred types of egg containers by sending them through parcel post."

Break One Egg in 288.

"Of course, the tests have not been concluded, but at least six of the containers are standing mail trips satisfactorily. Out of the first twenty-five dozen that we shipped," continued Mr. Brand, "there were only five broken eggs and four were in one particular dozen so that there were twenty-four dozen eggs shipped with only one broken."

"How about the expense for containers?" I asked.

"It is not at all necessary that the containers be expensive," he replied. "The less expensive types in several cases are proving to be as satisfactory as the others. But it is quite possible to use a container that is expensive without hurting the efficiency of the service. For instance, a number of the containers can be kept until they reach the parcel-post limit—twenty pounds—and then returned to the farmer by parcel post. But no doubt the best type will be found to be the 'gilt package' type that can be thrown away after being once used."

Get Acquainted With Farmer.

"But there is one thing that ought to be made clear, and that is that consumers ought to go to some trouble to get into personal touch with farmers in order that both may deal satisfactorily. It is worth while. Our people ought to learn to do as they do in Europe. In France, for instance, people go to the country to spend their summer vacation, and a part of their thought in going is to get into direct touch with the farmer and find out then and there the kind, quantity and quality of farm produce which they can get."

NAVAL BASE NEARLY READY.

London, Dec. 7.—The Rosyth naval base, which England is building at immense cost to harbor her North Sea Fleet and better enable her to meet any attack from Germany, will be completed a year ahead of contract time. Commenced in 1909, the contractors were given until 1916 to finish their work, but it is now announced that the base will be ready for use in 1915, although many additions have been made to the original plans. The original scheme called for a high level main basin covering fifty-five acres, with an entrance lock from the fairway enabling ships to pass out and in at all states of the tide; a dry dock 750 feet long by 110 feet wide; a submarine tidal basin; workshops and offices, and electrical power and pumping stations. To this was added another double dry dock and a third dry basin. Besides, a new town is being built for a population of 30,000 persons.

ORE MOVEMENT SHOWS INCREASE

Total of Nearly 50,000,000 Tons Received at Lower Lake Ports During the Season.

Figures received by The Mining Journal show that the movement of ore by water from the upper lake ports for 1913 fell just short of 50,000,000 tons and showed a gain of nearly 2,000,000 tons over 1912. Thus the predictions made at the opening of the season in regard to the movement were made good. The shipments could have been materially heavier, if the demand for ore had been such that the carrying capacity of the lake fleet had been pressed.

The movement by water for the season of 1913 was approximately 49,160,431 tons, as compared with 47,459,872 tons in 1912. The shipments from all ports to Dec. 1, 1913, aggregated 49,160,431 tons, and the estimated shipments from Escanaba after Dec. 1 were approximately 20,000 tons.

Thus the 50,000,000-ton season has essentially been reached, for the lake movement. It is now predicted that the shipments will reach 80,000,000 tons in 1920. This is the estimate of a man prominent in the iron ore and steel industry.

That such a total is feasible seems to be the general opinion. The increased use for steel, the growing population, the smaller iron content of ores being mined now and likely to be mined in the future are used as premises for such arguments.

In 1906, 37,513,595 tons of ore were shipped by water. Seven years later the total was increased by 11,650,000 tons, and much rich ore was being mined. Seven years hence an 80,000,000-ton movement would be but a repetition of the history of the growth of the Lake Superior ore movement.

During the season of 1913 the furnaces taking ore over Lake Erie docks received about 1,280,000 tons of ore more than in 1912. During 1912, 24,844,646 tons were shipped direct between the opening of navigation and Dec. 1. This year the same furnaces took 26,125,738 tons in the same period.

The increased shipments during 1913, approximately 1,700,000 tons, were practically evenly divided among the furnace districts and the individual ports principally were affected. The supply of ore brought down would supply the furnaces during the largest year the steel business has ever known. If the railroads, which use very close to half the steel manufactured in this country, purchase as heavily as it is said they should to keep up the roads, the supply of ore will be well out of the way by another season.

Ore receipts at Lake Erie ports to Dec. 1 were as follows:

PLANS PROTECTION OF WILD ANIMALS

International Committee First to Work to Stop the Killing of Whales and Seals.

Berne, Switzerland, Dec. 8.—An international committee for the protection of wild animals is organizing its forces in Basel for a world-wide campaign. The committee was appointed by the "International Congress for the Protection of Wild Animals," which met here recently on the initiative of the Swiss government. Seventeen countries were represented, including the United States.

The most urgent work of the committee will be to obtain the passage of laws stopping the wholesale destruction of whales and seals, which threatens to exterminate those species in a few years. Attention will be turned to the fur animal, birds and big game, such as elephants. There are now in Africa only four hundred thousand elephants, and these are being killed at the rate of forty thousand a year. The committee will attempt to put an end to the slow extermination of the primitive peoples of Australasia and South America.

The movement faces the strenuous opposition of strong business interests, for the capital engaged in the whaling, fur and ivory trades may be counted in the hundreds of millions.

MR. BUSH POINTS OUT HOW RAILROADS ARE HIT BY HIGH COST OF LIVING.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 8.—President B. F. Bush, of the Missouri Pacific railroad, in an address tonight before the Pennsylvania society of St. Louis said that the railroads of the United States were the losers and not gainers by the increased cost of living.

"Our wage scale constantly has advanced," Mr. Bush said, "and so have prices for materials and supplies we need. Yet it has been some time since we received any general rate increase, while we have been subjected to many reductions.

"During the last fiscal year, the railroads of the United States did a business of more than 300,000,000,000 units. A unit of freight is one ton carried a mile and a passenger unit is one passenger carried one mile. An increase of only one mill a unit would not be felt by travelers or commuters, but, because of the vast quantities in which the transportation companies deal, it would mean for them $300,000,000 annually in increased net revenue."

NEW HAVEN STOCK DROPS TO THE LOWEST ON RECORD; MARKET WEAK GENERALLY.

New York, Dec. 9.—The action of the stock market today hinged largely on a few issues. New Haven dropped nearly 1/4 cent, to 7 1/4, the lowest price at which it ever sold. New York Central and American Sugar were put down three points, to the lowest figures in five years. Canadian Pacific fell four points.

Although the market in general made fairly good resistance for a time, such sharp declines among prominent stocks constituted an influence which could not be ignored. St. Paul, Lehigh Valley and United States Steel showed weakness and the list as a whole was borne down.

New Haven's weakness was ascribed to doubt over the action to be taken on the dividend tomorrow. A report that the dividend might be passed was circulated today.

Wheat Up; Other Grains Down.
Chicago, Dec. 9.—Hessian fly danger, rank growth and fear of injury from cold had much to do today with a buying flurry in wheat. The close, which firm, left prices above last night.

Other grains finished at a net loss. Final prices were: December wheat, 88 1/2; May, 92 1/4; December corn, 70 1/4; May, 70 1/4; standard oats, 41 1/4 @ 42 1/4.

PRODUCE PRICES AT CHICAGO.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—Butter was higher in the Chicago market today, creameries at 22 1/2 @ 24 to 33 1/2 cents. Eggs, higher; receipts, 3,116 cases; eggs at mark, cases included, 26 @ 33 cents; ordinary firsts, 29 @ 31; firsts, 32 @ 33 cents. Poultry, alive, higher; springs, 13 cents; fowls, 12 1/2; turkeys, 15.

WORDY BATTLE IS WAGED IN SENATE

Republicans Resent the Charge They Are Obstructing the Currency Legislation.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Charges by Senator Owen, chairman of the banking and currency committee, that the Republicans were trying to delay the currency bill and waste time by insisting upon the presence of a quorum, broke into the progress of the currency debate in the senate tonight.

For an hour and a half, a wordy battle was waged, threatening at times to break the bounds of senate proprieties. The Republicans endeavored to show that Senator Owen, himself, had occupied time "uselessly" in debate and that the Democrats repeatedly had presented themselves from the senate and ignored its business.

"Day after day is used up here in idle debate," declared Senator Owen. "That is the reason why seats are vacated."

"If the senators from Oklahoma," retorted Senator Gallinger, from the Republican side, "would make his speech, then the arguments would be closed and the vote taken. If there is any one senator who wastes the time of this senate without any reason, it is the senator from Oklahoma, who he tries to read us a lecture on our duty," he declared.

Senator Snoot denied that the Republicans were attempting in any way to impede work on the currency measure. On the contrary he said they were attending closely to the sessions of the senate and were attempting to hasten consideration of the bill as rapidly as possible.

ACCIDENTS CUT IN HALF.

Report of State Industrial Board Makes Gratifying Showing.

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 9.—The industrial accident board will print 10,000 copies of a bulletin, copy of which is now in the hands of the state printer. All of the important rulings of the board will be printed and the opinions in the leading cases, several of which have been appealed to the supreme court for an indication. The board has received thousands of letters during the past fourteen months on almost every conceivable question that could arise in the administration of the act. The booklet is prepared in an endeavor to answer these questions in a wholesale manner by printing the answers to questions asked by the employers of Michigan.

The bulletin will embody the system of administration and procedure adopted by the board, and substantially present the experience of the board in administering the law from the time it went into effect, Sept. 1, 1912.

The operation of the law with particular reference to the workers under its provisions is shown in the bulletin by the following figures taken from the records of the board. Total number of accidents reported to date 2,172 of which there were 495 fatal, 2,112 amputations, 7,150, major (causing disability of eight weeks or more) and 11,415 minor (causing disability of less than eight weeks).

During the period that the law has been in operation, there have been 14,414 agreements for compensation filed with and approved by the board; 366 cases of arbitration; 61 cases heard on review before the full board, and 10 appeals to the supreme court.

A year ago the average was two fatal accidents each day and 100 accidents that were non-fatal. At present the average of fatal accidents is less than one per day, and of non-fatal accidents 65.

LEGISLATURE TO ASSUME DIGNITY

Michigan Body Said to Have Allowed Too Much Freedom—Lobbyists Numerous.

Lansing, Dec. 9.—It is expected that the next legislature will be the most dignified body of lawmakers that ever assembled in Lansing, if the plans of some of the members who have been here recently materialize. It has been a well recognized fact that the average justice court is a much more dignified institution than the Michigan legislature, and the frequent thrusts have set some of the solons to thinking that it would be a good thing if their friends could have a change at the next session.

During the last general assembly all the lobbyists known to man were given full permission to ply their trade and peddle their wares from both floors. Members of the house and senate are given cards by which their friends are admitted to the floor, and this privilege was abused in a scandalous manner during the last session. When some bills were under consideration there were almost as many lobbyists on the floor as members of the house and senate. The members of the legislature are seated along the sides of the halls, added to the general gaiety of the scene.

One member of the Indiana legislature visited the capitol while the house was in session, last winter and declared that he never saw so much freedom allowed visitors on the floor of a legislative hall. Ex-members are admitted to the floor of the house and senate without cards and many of them are retained by various concerns to lobby for and against measures.

A 5-year-old son of one member used to ride a bicycle up and down the main aisle of the house of representatives while his father pounded the gavel and yelled for order. Lives of some of the members being their sitting on benches and their friends at informal sessions while the houses are in session.

However, all this may be changed at the next session, as it is said that an effort will be made to keep every one off the floor except members, ex-members, house and senate employees and newspaper correspondents. Whether the reformers will forget their plans before the next session opens is a question, but some of the lawmakers are giving the dignity question serious consideration at the present time.

THESE DEMOCRATS OPPOSED TO FEDERAL OWNERSHIP OF ALASKAN RAILWAYS.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Rigorous opposition to the pending bill for a government-owned railroad in Alaska was voiced today in a minority report presented to the house by Representatives Ferris and Davenport, Democratic members of the territories committee. The measure has been approved by the committee majority.

The government ownership project was generally denounced by the minority report. "The bill is without an economic leg on which to stand," the report said. "It is a dream, beautiful to look upon, but unsound. It does not square with any of our pledges to the people."

PREDICTS DISASTER FROM HECTIC OF RAILROADING

New York, Dec. 9.—Arthur Curtiss James, member of the executive committee and director of the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Railway company declares that continued harassing by the state public utility commissions will either result in government ownership of bankruptcies for the railroads.

Mr. James has returned after a three week inspection trip over the Rock Island. "Business in the territory traversed by the Rock Island is very shaky due to the political situation and the constant harassing of railroads by the state public utility commissions," said Mr. James. "If this policy is continued, we will have as a result government ownership of railroads or the latter will go bankrupt."

PRESIDENT WILSON RULED BY WOMEN OF FAMILY.

Washington, Dec. 9.—That women rule in the Wilson household was emphasized when President Wilson told colleagues that the place of his Christmas vacation—if he gets one—will be decided upon by Mrs. Wilson and his daughters. Mrs. Wilson is said to be solicitous about the state of the president's health and fears that the duties of his office are overtaxing him and that he does not get enough exercise and rest.

GOTHAM OFFICE SEEKERS IN DARK.

New York, Dec. 9.—The return of Mayor-elect John Purroy Mitchel from a vacation trip to Panama has caused a stir in political circles, for Mr. Mitchel has to make appointments to office drawing aggregate salaries of about $1,000,000. The mayor says that no appointments will be announced until the end of the year.

NEW LAWS MAY BE HELP FOR FARMERS

Agricultural Conditions Being Investigated by Senators—May Affect Living Cost.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Following the forthcoming report of the American commission in Europe, which went abroad to investigate agricultural conditions with a view to improving the status of the American farmer and reducing the cost of living to the American consumer, there seems but little doubt that legislation recommended by the commission will pass both houses of congress at the regular session. The commission is composed of many well known men and its chairman is Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida.

Among those very much interested in the information gathered by the commission is Senator F. M. Simmons of North Carolina, chairman of the finance committee. He will study the questions of co-operative banking institutions and other co-operative enterprises as they relate to the farmer, and present to congress a bill that would help the producer get more for his crops and at the same time greatly reduce the interest on money to farmers and extend the time of loans.

Change of System Needed.
"I am convinced that we must change our system of marketing farm products before we can see the cost of living," said Senator Simmons. "I do not believe that there is any scarcity of eggs now, yet in some cities the consumer is paying 75 cents a dozen for them. On my farm in North Carolina we put in eight acres of Irish potatoes last spring. We got just enough out of the potatoes grown to pay for the fertilizer used on them. We got nothing for the labor. We were told that the markets were glutted. The truth is those potatoes were bought up by speculators, put in storage, and are now being sold in small lots at fancy prices. The same sort of conditions as to eggs and potato products are true in the case of other farm products. In one locality the market may be glutted, while in another it is short and the price is high.

Speaks as a Farmer.
"I shall study carefully the report of the American commission in Europe and try to formulate a bill that will remedy present conditions. Being a farmer myself—a truck farmer at that—I can speak for the producer."

Senator Simmons thinks that some general plan by which the farmers can be assisted by long and short loans of money will have more to do with reducing the cost of living than any other sort of legislation.

"We have been legislating for the manufacturer, the laborer and other classes of Americans for years, but we have neglected the farmer," said Senator Simmons.

Several bills based on the facts taken from the information gathered by the American commission in Europe have been introduced in congress.

NO RELIEF FOR MEAT CONSUMERS.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—The meat packers have cut the price of beef ribs and loins and pork 25 per cent during the past year, but the consumer is paying the same retail prices that prevailed a year ago, according to T. E. Wilson of Morris & Co.

LEGISLATURE TO ASSUME DIGNITY

Michigan Body Said to Have Allowed Too Much Freedom—Lobbyists Numerous.

Lansing, Dec. 9.—It is expected that the next legislature will be the most dignified body of lawmakers that ever assembled in Lansing, if the plans of some of the members who have been here recently materialize. It has been a well recognized fact that the average justice court is a much more dignified institution than the Michigan legislature, and the frequent thrusts have set some of the solons to thinking that it would be a good thing if their friends could have a change at the next session.

During the last general assembly all the lobbyists known to man were given full permission to ply their trade and peddle their wares from both floors. Members of the house and senate are given cards by which their friends are admitted to the floor, and this privilege was abused in a scandalous manner during the last session. When some bills were under consideration there were almost as many lobbyists on the floor as members of the house and senate. The members of the legislature are seated along the sides of the halls, added to the general gaiety of the scene.

One member of the Indiana legislature visited the capitol while the house was in session, last winter and declared that he never saw so much freedom allowed visitors on the floor of a legislative hall. Ex-members are admitted to the floor of the house and senate without cards and many of them are retained by various concerns to lobby for and against measures.

A 5-year-old son of one member used to ride a bicycle up and down the main aisle of the house of representatives while his father pounded the gavel and yelled for order. Lives of some of the members being their sitting on benches and their friends at informal sessions while the houses are in session.

However, all this may be changed at the next session, as it is said that an effort will be made to keep every one off the floor except members, ex-members, house and senate employees and newspaper correspondents. Whether the reformers will forget their plans before the next session opens is a question, but some of the lawmakers are giving the dignity question serious consideration at the present time.

WHITE SLAVE PLAY IS TABOOED AT NEW YORK AND PRODUCERS ARRESTED

New York, Dec. 9.—Miss Cecil Spooner, actress, and Joseph Conte, the manager of a Bronx theater where she has been appearing in a play in which the activities of "white slavers" are portrayed, were arrested tonight by the police, who announced to a crowded house that the performance must stop. The actress and manager were charged with presenting an immoral play.

No Case Against Negro.
Newark, N. J., Dec. 9.—The police have failed to make out a case against Arman Negro, the young drug clerk, charged with assault with a poisoned needle against Mrs. Marjorie Graf, bride of a week, as she sat in a theater box seat Thursday. In so ruling today, the committing magistrate reduced the amount of Negro's bond from $20,000 to $1,000. Negro furnished bail and was released.

WESTERN FUEL MEN CHARGED WITH FRAUD GO ON TRIAL AT FRISCO

San Francisco, Dec. 9.—Eight officers, directors and employees of the Western Fuel company were placed on trial here today in the United States district court. charged with criminal conspiracy to defraud the government of customs due on imported coal. The alleged weighing frauds have aggregated the prosecution claims, more than one million dollars at retail prices.

National notoriety was given the case when John L. McNab resigned as United States attorney, charging that he was unable to bring the defendants to trial, because of political pressure brought to bear on Attorney General McReynolds. The jury was not selected today.

ADS HELP FILL CHURCHES.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 9.—Ninety-six churches report increased attendance as the result of using half-page newspaper advertisements. "We believe it better to use newspaper advertising than to bring on noted evangelists," said R. R. Waddell of the Church Foundation, in charge of the movement for a "continuous" religious revival.

ESCANABA RESIDENT PASSES SUDDENLY

Young Man, Who Worked for Grinnell Bros. Here, Dies While Visiting Parents.

Word has been received in Ishpeeming of the death of E. G. Greenwood, a former employee of the Grinnell Bros. Piano company, who worked for the concern here for a short time.

"Within a few hours after his arrival at Manitowish to visit with his parents, E. G. Greenwood, a well-known resident of Escanaba, passed away Sunday afternoon at the home of his father, Hiram Greenwood, from an ailment of the lung," the Escanaba Press says.

"Mr. Greenwood left Escanaba on Saturday night and went to Manitowish where his parents reside. He reached that city early Sunday morning and went to his father's home. He complained of not feeling well but his condition was not at first thought to be serious. Early on Sunday afternoon his condition became critical and he passed away in spite of the efforts of physicians to save his life.

"While he had not enjoyed good health for the past few months he was about the city as usual. For some time he had been engaged as a collector and solicitor for the Prudential Life Insurance company and on Saturday he was about the city winding up his business here. Falling health caused him to decide to give up work for a time and a few weeks ago Mrs. Greenwood and little daughter, left for Marshfield, Wis., to remain with relatives for the winter, closing the family home in this city.

"Mr. Greenwood came to Escanaba about five years ago to take a position with the local store of Grinnell Brothers. Later he purchased and conducted a fruit and confectionery store at 404 Ludington street. About a year and a half ago he entered the employ of the Prudential Life Insurance company and was in the employ of that company up to the time that he was forced to give up work because of ill health.

"On August 16, 1910, he was married to Miss Edith Marshall, a teacher employed in the local public schools and whose home was at Marshfield, Wis. In addition to his wife and little daughter, Mr. Greenwood, who was thirty years of age, is survived by his parents, four brothers and one sister.

"He was a member of the Escanaba lodge of Knights of Pythias and officials of that organization were notified yesterday morning of the death.

"Funeral services will be conducted over the body at the home of the parents at Manitowish at 2 o'clock this afternoon."

ISHPEEMING IN BRIEF.

Miss Jennie Thexton is visiting friends in Munising.

A. Stier went to Marquette yesterday, on business.

Mrs. M. E. Arland visited in Marquette yesterday afternoon.

Dr. B. H. Olmstead, of Gwinn, was a visitor in the city yesterday.

Mesdames J. E. O'Donoghue and Thomas Flynn spent yesterday at Marquette.

Frank Olson went to Munising yesterday, on business for J. J. Leffler. He will return today.

Mrs. William J. Miners and children have returned from a week's visit with relatives in Marquette.

Harry C. Work, representative of the American Cracker company, called on his Ishpeeming customers yesterday.

Friends of the late Michael Wall, who died last week in Butte, Mont., have been informed that his death was due to pneumonia. He had been ill but four days.

The improvements at Trembath Bros.' business block, Canal street, will be completed within a few days. J. S. Schuman has practically finished the interior work.

The members of the Ishpeeming Ski club will play a game of volleyball at their regular outing tomorrow evening. They will assemble at the club house at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Maria Tallon and her daughter, Ida, who have been here visiting her sister, Mrs. Alice Rundell, for the past two months, have departed for their home in Butte, Mont.

Mrs. M. L. Clancy, and son, left Monday evening for Escanaba, where they will visit over the holidays with relatives. Mr. Clancy will go down to spend Christmas with them.

Miss Adelaide DeVorak, the roller skater, gave pleasing exhibitions at the Elite rink Monday and last night. Miss DeVorak will be seen at the rink every evening the remainder of the week.

Booth B. Goodman, the young attorney who recently came to Stambaugh from Ishpeeming, has moved to Iron River and opened an office over the store of Mrs. L. M. Pryne.—Iron River Reporter.

Beginning tomorrow evening, the stores will remain open after 6 o'clock until Christmas. The first paydays will occur tomorrow, when the women at the Cleveland-Cliffs-Iron company's Lake, Salisbury and Cliffs Shafts properties will be paid.

The tile floor in the lobby of the Ishpeeming theater, for which the foundation was laid a month or more ago, will be put down this week, an expert tile layer being expected here from Milwaukee this morning to do the work. He will, it is expected, also do considerable tile work about the residence of E. O. Young.

The Pan-American quartet will close its engagement at Ishpeeming theater tonight. This evening's picture program will be "The Slanderer's Tongue," an Edison drama; "Historic Boston," Kalem travel; "Broncho Billy's Conscience," an Essanay western drama; "The Watch Hand Back," a Kalem comedy, and "The Hand of Destiny," a Kalem drama.

MUCH WORK DONE AT POWER STATION

Plant of Traction Company Now Reported to Be in First Class Condition.

A number of improvements have been made at the Marquette County Gas & Electric company's power house during the last few weeks. The buildings have been repainted, and the large gas tank has been given several coats of white wash, as have all of the electric light and telephone poles on the grounds near the power house and car barns.

Manager Harrington has had a crew of men at work for some days removing the tar that had accumulated in the swamp near the power house. The outlet from the swamp flows into Partridge Creek, which empties into the city's sewer system, and the tar was beginning to flow into the sewer pipes, causing blockades. The tar given off in the gas making process is now pumped into the boiler room, and is used as fuel.

The company's rolling stock has been placed in first class condition and with the power house equipment in good order the plant is considered to be ready for efficient service. During the past summer the street railway track has been built and new rails have been laid and new steel has been put in wherever it was needed.

A number of repairs were recently made to the gas house, resulting in a steadier pressure and a better quality of gas.

WOODMEN'S ELECTION.

Officers Who Will Serve the Coming Year Named Monday Night.

At the meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America Monday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Venerable Consul—Stephen H. Collick. Worthy Advisor—James H. Allen. Escort—Thomas Channing. Clerk—August Carlson. Banker—John T. W. Lutey. Manager (three years)—John A. Olson. Physician—Dr. W. S. Picotte. Sentry—Leo Remillard. Watchman—Joseph Pryor.

A committee composed of John A. Olson, J. T. W. Lutey and Emil Swanson was appointed to make arrangements for a turkey supper that will be served on the evening of Jan. 12, following the installation.

At the February meeting delegates will be chosen to attend the county convention at Gwinn in April. At the county convention delegates will be selected to attend the state convention in Grand Rapids early in May.

FUNERAL HERE TODAY.

Mrs. Mathilda Tippet, a former resident of the Winthrop, who died Sunday in Calumet, will be buried in Ishpeeming this afternoon. The body will be brought down from the county on the South Shore train, arriving at 2:10 o'clock, and will be taken direct to the cemetery. Mrs. Tippet and other members of her family left the Winthrop more than fifteen years ago.

Upper Peninsula

O'Rourke a Veteran Wrestler.

Charley O'Rourke, deputy sheriff of Ontonagon county, was in the city yesterday on official business and took the opportunity to greet his many old-time friends, says the Ironwood Times. Time was when every man, woman and child on this range knew Charley, and no Cousin Jack wrestling match was complete unless he was present to don the jackets. But time has put a silvery tinge on Charley's locks and many of the old-timers whom he knew so intimately have moved to other fields or joined the great majority.

Affable Stranger a Game Warden.

An old doe and two fawns have been making their home sliding during the fall, and a number of hunters have attempted to get them, but without success. Last Sunday, however, three mighty hunters from Jessieville, with their trusty rifles and their dogs, went out there to show their prowess in the big game hunting line. The dogs found the deer all right, and were giving them a merry chase, when a stranger appeared on the scene. He was a companionable fellow, and he entered into the spirit of the game, asking many questions and finding out all about who were the members of the party and what was going on. The deer succeeded in making their escape, and when the party gathered together to talk over their ill luck it was made considerable worse when the affable stranger announced that he was Deputy State Game Warden Harrington and that the three members of the hunting party were under arrest. He took the hunters to Bessemer, where they pleaded guilty in justice court and each paid a fine and costs amounting to a trifle more than thirty dollars.—Ironwood Times.

Plenty of Men for Woods Work.

While in Escanaba the other day, says the St. Ignace Republican—N. S. J. T. Reilly, the cedar buyer, met the superintendent of the L. Stephenson Lumber company, who stated that this is the first winter since 1907 that they have turned men away; but this season an average of 100 men inquire daily at the various camps, which, however, are full. Last winter the company was paying to the highest class labor a favored rate of an even $40; this year it is $32 for the top notch, and ordinary wages run from $22 up. On his way home, Mr. Reilly says, there must have been thirty men, if there were one, to be seen walking the track at Bessemer. Some men have been laid off by the D. N. McLeod company at Garnet, it was reported. In some measure, the shortage of work in the woods is due to the unfavorable season, the wet conditions having prevented operations anywhere except on ridges. W. E. Mitchell, the employment agent, who had a special contract for supplying the Bay de Noc Lumber company and spent two or three years in St. Ignace, has left, moving his family to Escanaba. It is presumed his services are no longer desired by the company. Men are not now grabbed up as soon as they cross the straits by rival representatives of interests. Instead of two or more jobs clamoring for the man, with transportation to destination, the jobs have now to be sought out and the transportation consists of a tie pass only.

Fell With a Lamp.

At St. Ignace, the other afternoon Malvina Fogelsonger visited eleven-year-old Helen McLeod at the home of the latter's parents. Leaving just before supper, she was about to be seen to the door by her companion. The girls had been playing on the second floor, and as they started to descend Helen McLeod tripped over the cat and fell headlong down the stairs. In falling, she broke a lamp that she was carrying. Her right arm was badly cut and the oil was spilled over her dress and hair. Burning would undoubtedly have been her fate but for the almost providential good fortune that the lamp was extinguished by the fall, before it was broken.

Widow Is Refused Damages.

Mr. Reeves, a member of the state arbitration board, was in Crystal Falls during the week for the purpose of holding a hearing in the case of the late James Richards, a claim having been made by Mrs. Richards' attorneys, Moriarty & Dwyer, says the Drill. In such cases the appellant is entitled to select one arbitrator, the appellee the other and the member of the state board acts as the third. Harry C. Fraser was chosen by the Bristol Mining company and E. J. Bregger by Mrs. Richards. Senator Moriarty and Clarence Dwyer appeared for Mrs. Richards and W. Byers for the company. James Richards was injured in the foot while at work at the Bristol mine last July. In August, and before he returned to work, he was taken with typhoid and died two weeks afterwards. The appellant claimed that the injury had aggravated the disease and was the cause of the man's death. The company claimed that the injury had nothing to do with the typhoid and that no compensation was due the widow. The members of the family and Mrs. Darling, Larson, Libby and Metcalf were examined by the attorneys, the three members listening to the evidence. He voted stood two to one in favor of "no cause for action" and the case was dismissed. The attorney for Mrs. Richards will probably take an appeal to the full board and, if so, the arguments will be heard at Lansing later in the year.

WAHLMAN HAS HAD VERY BUSY SEASON

Ishpeming's Leading Building Contractor Is Still Working Fifty Men.

J. S. Wahlman, Ishpeming's principal contractor, has done more building this past season than in any other year he has been in business here. Several of his contracts will not be finished for some additional weeks and he will work practically his entire crew until after the first of the year. He is now employing fifty carpenters.

Mr. Wahlman's men have worked on the Marquette, Swanzy and Menominee ranges this season. On the Menominee range he erected seven dwellings, one for Superintendent Will Walters at the Forbes mine. The Jones & Laughlins company has an attractive location at the Forbes. The streets are wide and the houses are provided with modern conveniences.

Seven single dwellings and two double houses were built by Mr. Wahlman for the Boston American Mining company at Diorite. These were finished a few weeks ago, and are now occupied by families of the company's workmen.

One of Mr. Wahlman's largest jobs was the erection of several buildings for the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company at the Mackinaw and Gardner mines, on the Swanzy range. They included two brick power houses, combination office and ware house, a sub station and a captain's dwelling. Mr. Wahlman now has a large crew employed erecting an engine house for the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company at its Athens mine, in Negaunee. The masons finished their work yesterday.

Mr. Wahlman has twelve carpenters employed at St. John's parochial school and at the school building. The finishing work on the third floor of the school building was completed yesterday and Trembath Bros. will begin work on the painting contract today. The carpenters will work from the third floor and it is expected that they will complete the finishing work throughout the school building within two weeks.

In addition to the contracts mentioned, Mr. Wahlman has remodeled a number of buildings. Among the most important were the improvements at Ishpeming theater, and the complete remodeling of the homes of H. O. Young and Mrs. A. B. Miner. When the work on Mr. Young is finished, he will have one of the finest homes in the country. Carpenters have been employed there for several months and they still have about a month's work to do.

COMFORTABLE PEST HOUSE IS PROCURED

Smallpox Patients Will Be Cared for at Braastad Building on Deer Lake Road.

Ed Hillman, of Pearl street, and Erick Westlund, of 221 Vine street, who have been suffering from smallpox for a few days, were last evening moved from their homes to a dwelling, owned by F. Braastad, located on the east side of the Deer lake road, a short distance beyond the cemetery. The dwelling is in first-class condition. The city has taken it for a term of two years, to be used as a pest house.

Furniture, stoves and other equipment were placed in the house yesterday. Fires were started early in the day, so that the rooms were warm and comfortable when the patients arrived.

The old pest house was in a dilapidated condition, and it was through the efforts of Dr. Solberg, the health officer, that the city secured the Braastad property. John Davis, former janitor of the city building, has been placed in charge of the pest house, and will remain with the patients until they are out of quarantine. Dr. Solberg will take care of the patients until they are discharged.

Smallpox has been prevalent here for the past several weeks. The first cases were those of the Stensens sisters, living on Washburn street, and about four weeks ago Miss Clara Embom, residing on First street, was taken down. All have recovered and are now out of quarantine.

Dr. Solberg does not expect there will be a smallpox epidemic here. He intends to take every precaution to prevent the spread of the disease.

CARRANZA DEFENDS JUAREZ EXECUTIONS

Huerta's Officers Not Slain as Prisoners of War, but as Criminals, Rebel Chief Says.

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 9.—A letter from General Venustiano Carranza, defending the execution of General Francisco Villa of federal officers captured at Juarez, and telling why bloody reprisals were being visited by the revolutionists upon Huertista prisoners of war, was given out today by Governor George W. Hunt, of Arizona.

General Carranza's letter, dated at Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico, Nov. 27, was in reply to a communication which Governor Hunt sent to the rebel chief, suggesting that a continuation of summary executions by insurgent commanders would horrify the people of the United States and alienate their sympathy.

Governor Hunt wrote as a private citizen, not as governor of Arizona. He said he held the Constitutional leader in high esteem and feared that a repetition of the executions which followed the fall of Juarez would inevitably lead to the disadvantage of the Constitutional cause in Mexico so far as it is related to the citizenship of the United States.

General Carranza, in Reply. General Carranza's letter follows: "Esteemed Governor and True Friend: I am pleased to acknowledge the receipt of your interesting letter, written relative to the occupation of the city of Juarez by the Constitutional forces under the immediate command of General Villa. I assure you of my gratitude for the high regard for me personally which you expressed therein.

"While recognizing with pleasure the spirit of frank friendship which actuated your letter, your personal sympathy and that of the people of the United States with the struggle in furtherance of civilization and justice which we are carrying on, I cannot the less deplore the fact that, with an imperfect understanding of the peculiar character of the Mexican problems, there is likelihood in certain cases, and notwithstanding one's good intention, of placing a wrong construction on some of our acts.

"This is due, in all probability, to the fact that the criminal acts with which this struggle was begun and the cruel measures employed to maintain it are forgotten.

Reprisals Forced by Huerta's Acts. "When Mexico had realized the supreme Democratic prerogative of electing her own representatives and had reasons to expect, in the midst of peace and tranquility, the periodical change of public officials only by an expression of popular will, a most corrupt minority of the defeated factions, after attempting to overthrow for all time our political institutions by means of violence alone, have destroyed the lives, the rights and the interests of our fellow citizens, have carried out bloody executions without regard to any law, have murdered Constitutionalists who fell wounded while fighting for the liberty of the people and the deputies and senators, have torn away from their power of speech our Democratic institutions have torn away from their homes peaceful men and even boys to compel them to take arms against us or have filled them with terror by devastating entire cities.

"Destructive acts of this character have made it apparent that the cause which I represent has constituted not only a political form of revolution, but also has the character of administering calm and severe justice which punishes the culpable and safeguards the Mexican family. I have determined, within the spirit of our constitution and without any feeling of passion, but deliberately and with circumspection, to pursue these ends, until gradually the exercise of clemency and magnanimity can be attained. In satisfaction of an imperative demand of justice and the urgent necessity of securing peace and of assuring the future welfare of the nation I have determined to enforce vigorously and in accordance with the proclamation which was duly issued on May 14, 1913, the law of Juarez of January 25, 1902, which defines and punishes delinquencies inimical to the public peace.

Slain Officers Criminals.

"With strict deference to the law provided, the Huertista officers were tried and executed in the city of Juarez. Among them were some who had been captured at Torreon by this same General Villa, who, after pardoning them, agreed that they should be enlisted by our forces. Thereafter they endeavored, but unsuccessfully, to create a defection of the men whom I entrusted to their command, finally deserting to re-engage in crime.

"It is true that the established principles observed in international wars extend to prisoners the privilege of pardon or immunity from bodily harm, but in civil struggles the most civilized nations in all ages have employed more rigorous and bloody means even than we have been compelled to adopt. And we refer to the executions of the officers in the city of Juarez, there should be perceived that not any needless cruelty was visited upon prisoners of war, but merely such punishment as was prescribed by the law applicable to offenders against the public peace and safety.

"The Mexican people, in the beginning of this civil struggle, initiated by Hon. Francisco I. Madero, exhausted all their power of clemency and forgiveness, but experienced as the only results of their magnanimity, tyranny in their country's interior and the loss of prestige outside of its borders.

"Today I want to insure the operation of the country's institutions and to re-establish tranquility for all time by means of definite and effective reparation of the nation's organization.

Rebels Disciplined and Considerate.

"The occurrences at the city of Juarez were far from being invested with the numerical importance which our enemies, in their intemperate frame of mind, desired to give them. In the same manner more than forty women and girls had committed suicide through fears of the Huertista soldiers, and the Constitutionalists, although I can personally give assurances that in Durango, as in all other parts of the country, our forces have been disciplined and considerate, giving guarantees of safety to the different populations which have fallen into their powers.

"In conclusion, it is my desire to assure you that the same humane sentiments which you possess also animate me, and that even though I find it necessary, in deference to the national feeling, justice to public convenience and the necessity of restoring peace to my country, to be somewhat strict in the enforcement of the law of Juarez, I have provided at the same time that this law shall be applied only where the limitations are fixed by the most absolute need. It shall be enforced only against willful enemies, with the privilege of pardon and safety extended always to the guiltless and misguided.

Will Advise Greater Forebearance.

"I entertain the hope, furthermore, that my former declarations will suffice to make clear the just and humane attitude carefully observed by the Constitutionalists and to retain your personal sympathies, as well as the good opinion of the people of North America in favor of our cause, and you may be sure that I will take into consideration your high ideals to the extent of recommending, always with due respect to the law, greater forbearance toward our enemies.

"With assurance of my highest esteem, may it please you to regard me as your kindly and sincere friend.

(Signed,) V. Carranza."

NOT ALL ENGLISH CITIES ELECTING LABORITE MAYORS.

London, Dec. 7.—While Battersea has been elected a laborite mayor, the second time in the history of the country that a native of the West Indies has reached that position, some of the provincial towns have either declined or placed obstacles in the way of workmen who aspired to the chief magistracy of their towns.

The most noticeable case of the rejection of a workman candidate occurred at York. Here, as in all English cities, the mayor is elected by the city council and invariably the senior alderman is chosen. At York Alderman J. H. Hartley, the senior member of the board of aldermen, a railway shunter, was by all the precedents of the council entitled to the position and he was actually offered and had accepted it.

When the council met to ratify the election, however, the Unionist members offered a candidate in his place, and succeeded in defeating the workman's choice. This was in spite of a resolution passed at a great mass meeting of the citizens calling on the council to adhere to its original decision. As a result the laborites throughout the country are charging the members of the York city council with a downright act of snobishness.

In other towns, notably Bradford, Yorkshire, where a workman elected to the city council was dismissed by his employers, and at Warrington, where the new mayor received similar treatment, certain classes have been showing their objection to workmen gaining an ascendancy in civic affairs.

The colored mayor of Battersea is John Richard Archer, the son of a West India, but was himself born in Liverpool. His wife, who is colored, is a native of Canada. Mr. Archer was elected by the votes of the Progressive or Liberal members of the Battersea council.

TOLEDO WILL BE SCENE OF FIGHT

Insurance Rate of Modern Woodmen to Be Settled There—Would Oust Officers.

Rock Island, Dec. 9.—The final desperate battle between the head camp officers and the ranking members of the Modern Woodmen over the question of an increase in the rates of insurance to the order, which during the past two years has been marked as the bitterest struggle in the history of fraternal orders in America, will be fought out in the seventeenth triennial meeting of the order at Toledo, O., June 16, 1914, according to announcement of the executive council from the head camp officers here. The council, having set the date, is making preparations for the biggest meeting in the history of the order. Large numbers of members will attend, drawn by the struggle which they claim, involves the very life of the organization.

The rate question was first raised in its present form at the triennial meeting at Buffalo, in 1911. Action was postponed until the winter, when a special meeting of the head camp was held in Chicago, and a readjustment of rates voted. All the rates are higher than those hitherto prevailing, and those for the older members of the order are three to nine times higher. Throughout the country, and especially in the states of Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri, the rates were strongly resisted. Several test cases were brought in circuit courts, resulting in injunctions against enforcement of the new rates on the ground that they were not imperative to the financial safety of the order, that since the benefits of the organization are mutual and reciprocal, the higher rates imposed without the consent of the majority of the membership.

Referendum Is Failure.

The head camp in the summer of 1913 proposed a referendum, submitting seven different rate plans to the consideration of the membership. But the impression gained currency that the referendum was a ruse, and the result was a vote of less than one per cent of the members. The executive council had been expected to take some action on the question at its meeting here, but deferred it to the triennial convention. Opponents of the plan declare the whole proposal was a move to transform the insurance plan of the order from fraternal to "old line." They contend that the question will never be settled until this movement has been down, and that this can be done only by removing the present head camp officers and "selecting others who represent the views of the membership." They will attempt to do at the Toledo meeting.

Though the city of Toledo will be filled with the Woodmen, the voting delegation will not be large. Five hundred and fifty members of the head camp, 600 members of the local camp, clerks association, and delegates from the Forsters make up the convention proper. Second in importance to the executive sessions of the delegates will be the Forsters' drills, which head camp officials here estimate will include 5,000 uniformed men. These, composed of drill squads of sixteen to twenty men from each camp, will live in a tented city and maintain military discipline. Before Toledo was awarded the meeting she was required to agree to furnish a large parking place for the camp.

Six thousand dollars are to be given as prizes to the winning teams in the drill. United States army officers are to judge the competition. The executive council, which, with the Toledo authorities, will be in charge of the triennial assembly, consists of R. W. Parsons of Ashland, Wis., John C. Nagle, of Detroit, Martin Cogwin, of Minneapolis, and A. L. Armstrong, of Clinton, Mo.

KAISER HARD HIT BY LIVING COST

His $6,000,000 a Year Salary Not Enough—He May Have to Sell a Few Castles.

Berlin, Dec. 9.—The increased cost of living is making royal victims in Germany, and most of the federal princes of the empire are clamoring for more income. They contend that they cannot go on with the present civil list if they are expected by their subjects to keep up a royal appearance. On the other hand, the socialist party will not hear of any more money being spent on royalty.

The German states have always been comparatively generous with their sovereigns, as they understand that to exercise royal power, especially in this country, militiamen must accompany luxury and splendor. For instance, the kaiser receives $5,000,000 as king of Prussia and $1,000,000 as German emperor, although, of course, this money is not enough to keep him going, for his court equals in splendor any in Europe.

Increase Is Granted. Three years ago, although the civil list was then $4,000,000 the kaiser boldly asked an increase in salary, which was granted after violent opposition by the socialists. This year he seems to be a little short, as he has spent money right and left, not only on the usual court items and trips, but also on two great ceremonies last summer, the marriage of his daughter and his silver jubilee.

It is of course, impossible to say what the new functions cost the imperial treasury, but a court official says that the expenditure was borne by the kaiser alone. Germany believes the two fetes cost little less than $1,500,000.

It has often been suggested to Wilhelm to sell some of his castles, of which he owns about sixty in Germany, including shooting boxes with extensive trappings, occupying usually about 250 days a year, it is impossible for him to manage to visit fifteen houses annually.

To Sell Old Houses. It is said that he has now come to the decision to sell some of these houses, especially as many of the old mansions are badly in need of repairs. It must have broken the imperial heart to arrive at this melancholy conclusion, but it is a necessity and the kaiser is too much of a realist not to bow to the mother of invention.

It is understood that Mon Bijou castle, located in the center of Berlin, and known as the Hoenzollern museum, will be the first to put on the market. The ground, which is the kaiser's property, is very valuable, but the palace is very old, and unless the purchase continues it as a museum, it is not likely that a private individual would be able to live in it without having it rebuilt.

The kaiser is being criticised because he does not sell some provincial estate instead of the historical Mon Bijou.

The kings of Bavaria, Saxony and Wurtemberg contemplate asking for an increase in the civil list, which probably will be granted despite the socialist opposition, which contends that while the German population is ground under military and naval taxes it certainly is not necessary to squander money over princes who contribute nothing.

In the recent civil list debate in the Munich diet it was revealed that the king of Bavaria paid $10,000 yearly for the upkeep of the royal pharmacy, that a huge amount was spent in keeping up a school for pages, where three hundred young boys of the wealthiest families of the country were educated, fed and clothed, and that shooting, traveling and other picnicking expenses of the royal household were paid from the civil list.

Two German states where similar criticisms are unlikely are Reuss and Anhalt, where there is no civil list, although their princes are trying to start an agitation for one. Their present revenue is either from their own fortunes or from the sale of titles and decorations, and does not cover their increasing expenditures.

WHAT EVERY MAN KNOWS.

A Western youth, fired with ambition to be a railroad man, betook himself to the dean of a neighboring college to learn if he might obtain the necessary education there to fit him for that calling. The dean assured him that he could be taken care of. "How long would it take and how much would it cost?" was the next query. "Well," said the dean, "it depends upon what you want to learn. If you wish to know as much as a general manager, I should say about fifteen or twenty years and about $15,000 or $20,000. But if you want to know only as much as a member of a state legislature, it will take about half a day and cost about a dollar."—Wall Street Journal.

JAP EMIGRATION TO AMERICAS ALARMING

Oriental Labor Influx Into Monroe Doctrine Zone Causes Concern in the United States.

Washington, Dec. 7.—Emigration of Japanese laborers to South American countries, particularly to Brazil, recently has assumed such proportions as to command the serious attention of state department officials. While it is felt at present that there is absolutely nothing which can be done, even so were thought desirable to take some action, so great is the influx of the Orientals into the radius of the Monroe doctrine that the movement is regarded as one in which the United States is compelled to interest itself.

The magnitude of the stream of immigrants flowing in recent months from Japan to Brazil, Peru and also to Mexico is not generally appreciated outside a restricted official circle in Washington. The total number of Japanese in Brazil is now only 10,000, but it is the rapidity with which others are coming rather than the present size of the Japanese colony which is causing concern here.

On Business Basis.

The transportation of Japanese to Brazil—and also to the other South American countries to a lesser extent—has been placed upon a substantial business basis, in which considerable capital has been invested, and is backed heartily by the governments of Japan and Brazil. The introduction of this additional racial element in the already heterogeneous population of Latin-America contains the possibilities, it is feared, of raising grave questions for the United States in the future, particularly in view of the attitude of the American people toward the Japanese. The racial question between the United States and Japan is so delicate that officials are unwilling even to discuss the possibility of the restriction to the emigration of the Japanese in South America but it is admitted that the development is one meriting the earnest attention of this government.

Another interesting phase of the situation is the suggestion from British sources that, since the Japanese are meeting with such success and giving such general satisfaction in Brazil, they might well be introduced in British Guiana. This British holding, like all other South American countries, is suffering from lack of a labor supply, and there is now a tendency to regard the Japanese coolies as the saviors of the situation.

Governments Backing Move.

An argument advanced for it is that encouragement of Japanese emigration to British Guiana would relieve the anti-Japanese situation in British Columbia and Australia.

Only 2,000 Japanese were in Brazil last spring. During that season 3,000 more were brought to Brazil, and immediately thereafter arrangements were made for bringing 5,000 more this fall. That is the great majority of them have arrived in Brazil in less than a year. There is no attempt to conceal the businesslike manner in which the emigration to Brazil is being stimulated by the Tokio and Rio de Janeiro governments. Two emigration companies are engaged in the traffic in Japan. They are the Toyo Emigration company and the Takabayashi Emigration company. This fall each received an order from the Japanese government to procure 1,500 Japanese for emigration to Brazil.

The government of Brazil on the other hand, in co-operation with the government of the state of Sao Paulo, where most of the Japanese go, pays half the passage money of each emigrant. The emigration managers declare that it costs $125 to send one Japanese to Brazil. Eighty dollars of this is passage money, $40 of which Brazil pays. Ten dollars goes to the emigration company as a commission and $35 is necessary for miscellaneous expenses.

Canal Will Reduce Cost.

At present the immigrants are carried to Brazil by way of the Pacific Ocean and Cape Horn, a voyage of more than 12,000 miles. The extreme length of this voyage will be reduced somewhat after the Panama Canal is opened, and it is expected that there will be an increase of Japanese immigration to the east coast of South America corresponding to the reduction in cost of voyage after the canal is open.

The Japanese attention to the coffee districts and there bound out by contract to work on them for a term of years. It is naively complained by the immigration companies that they have much trouble with the Japanese leaving the coffee fields and returning to their cities, in violation of the contracts made for them by the companies. The immigration company officers assert that this is a mistake for the Japanese immigrant, as they say his cost of living in the cities exceeds his higher wage as a laborer in the coffee fields. The Japanese in Brazil are placed in great colonies, and for the most part they hang together as a group in each locality. Whole families have been taken from the start, so that community life and the propagation of the race have been consistent since the arrival of the pioneers.

Absence of Color Line Attracts.

The Japanese are attracted to the possibilities of a new home in South America by the circulation in Japan of advertisements originating with the Brazilian and other governments. The steamship companies, immigration societies and other interests are assisting liberally the dissemination of this advertising to attract the Japanese to South America. The absence of the color line in the South American countries, where the populations have large negro elements and most varied race mixtures is an added attraction which appeals strongly to the Japanese laborers who know something of the difficulties encountered by men of their race in the English speaking countries.

UNCLE SAM TO OWN ALL RAILROADS SOON

President Wilson's Alaskan Policy Taken in Washington as Beginning of Big Change.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Is the United States gradually drifting toward the governmental ownership of railroads? Many recent events, as well as the utterances of those high in authority in the business and official world, would indicate this. For the first time in the history of the country the president of the United States came boldly out and advocated the building and administration of a railroad by this government. In his recent message to congress, read before both houses, President Wilson made this remarkable statement:

"Alaska, as a storehouse, should be unlocked. One key to it is a system of railroads. These the government should itself build and administer, and the ports and terminals it should itself control in the interest of all who wish to use them for the service and development of the country and its people."

Tickles Bryan.

When President Wilson read this paragraph of his message William Jennings Bryan, who occupied a seat in the diplomatic gallery, smiled broadly. Later he applauded the sentiment with much vigor. William Jennings Bryan has been an advocate of governmental ownership of railroads for many years. "But it is not alone those in official position who are taking up the doctrine. President Daniel Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio, speaking for the allied trunk lines of the east, at the rate hearing at the interests to commerce commission recently, broadly intimated that refusal to grant the increases would open a pathway for steps in the direction of the governmental ownership and operation of railroads. He said:

"The problem in a broad and true sense affects all interests and the outcome of this particular case, whichever way it is decided, will mark an epoch because it will, in effect, largely determine whether we shall in the past continue to look to private capital and private enterprise for our transportation requirements or be compelled finally to accept the only alternative possible, meaning of course governmental ownership."

Europe Sets Example.

President Wilson's pronouncement is believed to forecast a tremendous struggle over this question, with the probability that it may become a political issue between the two big parties. It may be said that government ownership in far-away Alaska is quite a different proposition from government ownership in the portion of the United States which is fully developed and colonized. Still it is the entering wedge. With many of the countries of Europe successfully owning and operating their railways it is not a long step for this country to adopt the policy.

It may be suggested that such action would be socialistic or paternalistic. But this would not deter party leaders or sear the people. If the politicians thought it a popular move they would not care.

The house bill providing for this Alaskan railroad to be built and operated by and for the people was introduced by Representative W. C. Houston of Tennessee. The bill provides for a road running from the southern coast at Cordova or Seward, or their vicinity, to the upper Yukon river. It would not be more than 722 miles in length.

The cost of the project is limited to $35,000,000. The bill authorizes the secretary of the treasury to borrow this amount on the credit of the United States by issuing bonds. In addition it is proposed to appropriate $1,000,000 directly out of the federal treasury to pay the incidental expenses of the project.

ROUTE TO ALASKA IS MARKED BY WRECKS

Uncharted Dangers Cause Sinking of Great Steamers—Few Lights Guard Coast.

Juneau, Alaska, Dec. 8.—Recently a statistical figure on the Alaskan coast that Uncle Sam's northern domain of Alaska has 27,000 miles of coast line—just 1,000 miles more than all the rest of the United States. But the fact, it seems, has not made much of an impression on the United States lighthouse service.

Navigating the main water locker at the bottom of the sea, knows all about it, and he finds fat pickings along the beach above the British Columbia boundary line. The list of ships that have gone to Davy's locker via this route looks like a page out of a city directory.

On the Alaskan coast there are only ten lighthouses and fifty-four blinker lights.

One light house tender, a little boat, called the Columbine, no bigger than a deep sea tug, acts as tender along the entire 27,000 miles of coast line.

Navigating Alaskan waters is pretty much of a continuous gamble, with big odds on the side that sooner or later every captain will have to explain before the board of examiners why he "lost his ship."

Three great passenger steamers have been lost on the Alaskan coast this year. In fact, wrecks are so numerous that liners have from two to four life-boat drills every trip.

But the loss of life in Alaskan waters has been small in comparison to the loss of ships, since most of the wrecks have occurred in this way that some man or unmarked rock or run on an unlighted point in fair weather.

"The traffic doesn't warrant the expenditure of any more money," is the excuse that has been given to the many complaints of northern navigators.

This is no argument, for along the British Columbia coast, where the traffic is no heavier, every bar, rock, reef or point which a navigator of the famous inland passage would have an excuse for hitting is marked by buoy, beacon or light.

Until Uncle Sam makes navigation easier and safer to Alaska the chances for really developing our great storehouse of wealth are sternly withheld.

YEATS ALWAYS WAS POETRY MAD.

Katharine Tynan Gives an Interesting Picture of the Irish Genius.

An interesting picture of the youth of William Butler Yeats is given by Katharine Tynan in her new book, "Twenty-Five Years Reminiscences." As a boy in Dublin he was tall and lanky, she says, and very shy—"all dreams and gentleness." Not yet had he developed those combative tendencies that he showed in his defense of Synge and the Abbey theater.

"He must have suffered all through his youth from being unlike his fellows; a white blackbird among the others, a genius among the commonplace. Probably the Anglo-Irish milieu in which he grew up was the least sympathetic he could have found. The Anglo-Irishman, although he achieves great things at times, is, in the rank and file of him, somewhat harsh. He has the John Bullish attitude toward sentimentality without the real sentiment which John Bull is unaware of possessing, although it jumps to the eye of every one else. He has somewhat of the Celt's irritability and jealousy; in fact, these things grafted upon him make for an intolerance which is far from being Celtic."

"Being so unlike his fellows, he was bound to suffer at school and afterward. It is not in the ordinary school boy to take off his hat to a poet—even to one who is to help to make his age illustrious."

"Certainly he had not a trace of bitterness when I first knew him, nor for long afterward. I was beautiful to look at with his dark face, his touch of vivid coloring, the night-black hair, the eager dark eyes. He wore a queer little beard in those days. It was just a little later than his father's portrait of him, and he lived, breathed, ate, drank and slept poetry."

"I have been scolding the school boys; but I must acknowledge that in those days we all bullied Willie Yeats. I myself not excepted. I believe it was because we did not want to live, breathe, eat, drink, and sleep poetry, and he would have you do all those things if you allowed him. But then and always I knew that he was that precious little thing to the race and the world—a genius. Driving Willie Yeats to and fro, I used to say to myself:

"And did you once see Shelley plain?"

And this is a description of the Yeats of some years later:

"We never had the remotest idea of taking care of himself. He would go all day without food unless some one remembered it for him, and the next day would go on eating unless some one checked him. That first winter, a hard one, he would come to see me, five miles from Dublin, striding along over the snow-bound roads, gaunt young figure, mouthing poetry, swinging his arms and gesticulating as he went. George Russell complained to me the other day that Willie Yeats had said somewhere of him that he had used to walk about the streets swinging his arms like a madman, unconscious of the alarm and bewilderment of the passer-by. It was Willie's own case. I remember how the big Dublin policemen used to eye him in those days as though uncertain whether to 'run him in' or not. But by and by they used to say, 'Shure, 'tisn't mad he is, nor yet drink take. 'Tis the poetry that's disturbin' his head,' and leave him alone."

"Once he had a very bad cough—he very often had a cough or a cold from his inability to take care of himself. I was sorry, and I let him have a bottle of some cough lozenges which contained opium or chloroform or both, with instructions to suck one two or three times a day. He ate through the whole box at a sitting, and thereafter slept for some thirty hours. Fortunately he awoke none the worse, else I should have done a very ill service to the world."

Georgetown, Texas, J. A. Kimble, says: "For several years past Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been my household remedy for all coughs, colds and lung troubles. It has given permanent relief in a number of cases of obstinate coughs and colds." Contains no opiates. Refuse substitutes. For sale by All Druggists.

How Suffrage Was Defeated in Michigan.

To the Editor of The Mining Journal—A paper prepared by a member of the Michigan branch of the W. C. T. U. and read before a recent meeting of the body analyzes on the basis of an original inquiry the evidence going to show that the woman suffragists were opposed effectively by the liquor interests in their attempt to secure the ballot in Michigan last year. These interests are charged with financing the campaign of opposition, with subsidizing the "Anti-Suffrage" organization and with in general sparing no effort to secure the rejection of the proposed amendment.

This is a letter sent to a number of editors and inadvertently fell into the hands of a suffrage paper: Macomb Co., Retail Liquor Dealers Assn. Office of Secretary, Mt. Clemens, Michigan, March 31, 1913.

To the Publisher: I enclose herewith copy for an advt. which I wish you would insert in this week's issue of your paper making ten inches in depth, double column, on your local page, or front page, if possible.

I will thank you to see that this is done, and mail statement of charges, and also marked copy to me and we will remit for the same.

Thanking you in advance for your attention to this matter, I am, Yours truly, JOS. MATTHEWS.

And here is the enclosure for a subscription of which the Macomb county Retail Liquor Dealers Assn. guaranteed payment:

An Appeal to Men!

1. You should vote against woman suffrage for ten thousand reasons:

2. We mention but six.

3. As women, we do not want strife, bitterness, falsification, and publicity which accompany political campaigns.

4. We women are not suffering at the hands of our fathers, husbands, and brothers because they protect us in our homes.

5. We have woman's greatest right—to be free from political meddling. We do not want to lose this freedom.

6. We have refrained from protest heretofore, depending upon men to protect women from the ballot.

7. We now ask the men of Michigan to defend us and vote "no" on suffrage.

8. Don't vote for suffrage.

9. Don't start something you can't finish.

10. You are not sorry now, but if women are given the ballot you may regret it when it is too late.

11. Keep mother, wife, sister in the protected home. Do not force us into partisan politics.

12. Put a cross before the word "no" on April and win our gratitude.

13. Vote "no" April 7.

Issued by the Michigan Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, office 1128 Majestic building, Detroit. (Signed by names of officers.)

There was much excitement at Michigan Suffrage Headquarters when full proof came from the liquor interests were furnishing money to the anti-suffrage campaign.

"Everywhere and at every place," writes Mrs. J. C. Law Hardy, some underworld influence seemed to be hindering the suffrage work. Of open opposition there was little, but some man or woman who had promised aid and had seemed to be in sympathy would mysteriously withdraw support."

The anti-suffragists were aided by big corporations on every hand. In Oregon the Standard Oil company gave its support so openly that Dr. Anna Shaw said, "The list of names fairly reeked with oil." In Michigan the wives, mothers, and sisters of men prominent in public utility corporations formed the nucleus of the anti-suffrage movement.

In Detroit the anti-suffragists by printing statements against suffrage and refusing to print replies.

Other factors that aided the opposition were the irregularities at the polls. As an example, the village of Wheeler furnishes us one. A competent observer so says the Independent, "alleges that no suffrage ballots were given out until twenty persons had voted, and at the close, because of the rush of voters many were allowed to mark their own ballots outside of the booth with the help of anybody who might be present. This sort of thing might have happened in most any precinct where the inspectors happened to be hostile to the suffrage cause."

Then, there were the conservative ones, the indifferent ones or stay-at-homes who made another great factor for defeat of woman suffrage. It is true in many instances it is impossible to find out on which side are our friends arrayed? Are they not on the side of righteousness and in the interests of good morals and good government? Our enemy never sleeps and his forces are opposed to the very things we hold dear.

The women of Michigan have "put up a good fight" as some one has said, and their victory is but postponed.

An old-time colored preacher when asked about his method, replied, "I fast 'xplains de text! Den I present de arguments. And den I puts on de deusements." Can that way ever be cancelled? It is the old arrangement of doctrine and use. Bishop Atterbury's method was to address the understanding in the first part of the sermon and the affections in the last. He practically applied at the close what he reasoned out in the beginning. Not every hearer, however, would be satisfied with this method. Doctrine is very well, but duties are not always related. "How did you like the doctor today, Thomas?" was asked of a north countryman as he came out of the meeting house. "Well, John," was the reply, "the sermon was no' that ill, but I didna like you thrash o' duties at the hinner end o' it."

It has sometimes happened that the preacher has appropriated boldly for the pulpit the complete sermon of another of God, amen. There's only one thing man, and with humorous results. A Cambridge don could hardly have been reading his own composition when he

An old-time colored preacher when asked about his method, replied, "I fast 'xplains de text! Den I present de arguments. And den I puts on de deusements." Can that way ever be cancelled? It is the old arrangement of doctrine and use. Bishop Atterbury's method was to address the understanding in the first part of the sermon and the affections in the last. He practically applied at the close what he reasoned out in the beginning. Not every hearer, however, would be satisfied with this method. Doctrine is very well, but duties are not always related. "How did you like the doctor today, Thomas?" was asked of a north countryman as he came out of the meeting house. "Well, John," was the reply, "the sermon was no' that ill, but I didna like you thrash o' duties at the hinner end o' it."

It has sometimes happened that the preacher has appropriated boldly for the pulpit the complete sermon of another of God, amen. There's only one thing man, and with humorous results. A Cambridge don could hardly have been reading his own composition when he made the sudden appeal to an astonished undergraduate congregation. "And now, a word to you who are mothers." A young curate in preaching one Sunday read from his manuscript, "After forty years' ministry among you." He was, in fact, using one of his father's sermons and he had not taken the precaution of reading it over beforehand.

There are many tales of Sir Herbert Tree going about. But here is one from the London Daily Citizen that strikes one as new. Sir Herbert, in common with many other members of the theatrical profession, has a belief that another well-known actor-manager is extremely conceited and possesses a very fine sample of what is known as "a swelled head." Those who are acquainted with the London stage will realize what is meant at once. One afternoon, when Sir Herbert Tree was rehearsing with members of his company on the stage of His Majesty's theater, there was a gas explosion a couple of hundred yards away at the top of Haymarket, and a large portion of coping fell from the roof to the pavement. The loud report startled the rehearsing actors. "Good heavens!" cried Tree, in shocked and horror-stricken tones, "A. B.'s head has burst at last."

ALL HE LEFT.

One of the briefest and queerest wills on record is that of an old western farmer, who, though reputed to be rich, died penniless. His will ran: "In the name of the Lord, I leave the earth. My relations Cambridge don could hardly have been reading his own composition when he

NEW REMEDY SAVES OLD FOLKS FROM KIDNEY AND BLADDER MISERIES

Sleep Disturbing Bladder Weakness, Backache, Stiff Joints, Rheumatic Pains Disappear After Few Doses Are Taken.

While people along in years are naturally more subject to weak kidneys, they can easily avoid the tortures of backache and rheumatism, and be saved the annoyance of getting up at night with disagreeable bladder disorders.

Croxone promptly overcomes all such troubles by making the kidneys secrete the blood properly and sift out the poisonous acids and waste matter that cause these troubles.

It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped up, inactive kidneys, dissolves and drives out the uric acid, and other poisonous impurities that lodge in the joints and muscles and cause rheumatism.

It neutralizes the urine so it no longer irritates the bladder, overcoming unnecessary breaking of sleep and helps the kidneys and bladder regain health and strength.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what else you have used, it is practically impossible to take this quick-acting, effective preparation without immediate results. It starts to work the minute you take it—the first time you use it. An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorized to return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

Georgetown, Texas, J. A. Kimble, says: "For several years past Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been my household remedy for all coughs, colds and lung troubles. It has given permanent relief in a number of cases of obstinate coughs and colds." Contains no opiates. Refuse substitutes. For sale by All Druggists.

Rabbit Hunter Loses a Finger.

Albin Spanner was wounded in the hand by the accidental discharge of a shotgun in the hands of Andrew Ostrand while the men were hunting rabbits in the vicinity of Seven Springs, reports the Crystal Falls Drill. The wound has necessitated the amputation of the little finger, but other than this he is not looked upon as serious. As the men walked along two rabbits were scared up. Each took a shot and missed. Ostrand threw a second shell into his gun and in some way the gun was exploded. The charge passed close by the gun held by Spanner and several of the shot struck his left hand, which was extended along the barrel, inflicting a nasty wound.

Wife Gets Husband's Property.

Mrs. George Haffey of Des Moines, Ia., was here during the week, says the St. Ignace Republican-News. The late George Haffey and Mrs. Haffey were married in St. Ignace in 1885. After a few years, they parted. When Mr. Haffey died, he was possessed of three forty-acre tract, at Brownport, and property in Detroit. E. G. F. Gustafson, an old friend and neighbor, took out letters of administration, his legal status being that of a creditor of the estate. Attorney J. J. Brown acted for the administrator and got track of Mrs. Haffey's whereabouts. Many relatives, but none nearer than cousins, sprang up as claimants; but when Mrs. Haffey appeared on the scene, the question of descent settled itself. She took everything as sole lawful heir and the estate has been closed. Mrs. Haffey is now in Hancock visiting her sister, Mrs. McGrath.

City May Buy Water Works.

The springs north of town seem to be the only practicable solution of the long vexing question of a supply of pure water, and the question of acquiring these springs, and, naturally following, the water works system of the city, seems to be up to the municipal officials and the people, says the Ironwood Times. After spending some fifteen or twenty thousand dollars in an attempt to build adequate filters that would render the water from the Montreal river fit for drinking purposes, and meeting with failure in his endeavors, E. L. Appleby, president of the Water Works company, seems to have come to the conclusion that purifying the Montreal river water cannot be accomplished. He is looking for other sources of supply. Mr. Appleby has investigated a number of possible sources, among them the Presque Isle river, some twenty miles east of the city, but he evidently has come to the conclusion that the large springs to the north of town are the most feasible solution of the problem, this being inferred from the fact that he has recently opened negotiations with the owners for the purchase of the property. However, J. M. Longyear, of Marquette, having received a request from the Water Works company for an option on the spring property, which he owns, has communicated with the city officials and informed them that, in case the city wished to obtain this source of water supply, it would be given, the preference. The property on which these springs are located is eighty acres of Section 31, Range 47, Township 47. Mr. Longyear makes a price to the city of $40 an acre. The matter has been referred to the mayor and the fire and water committee, who are empowered to engage the services of an engineer and thoroughly investigate the matter. In the meantime, the mayor has asked Mr. Longyear to hold the matter in abeyance.

"Doctors' Trust" at Manistique.

The schedule of prices agreed upon by the "local medical trust" enlightens the public of the fact that $1 is charged for the first vaccination in any family and that the charges for the remainder of the family are fifty cents each, comments the Manistique Pioneer-Tribune. It has been learned that the prices are not being adhered to by some of the physicians. They should be compelled to disgorge. It seems that $1 is a still price for that sort of work and to the fellow receiving $2 a day and who has seven or eight children the assessment looks big. It means that he is compelled to work nearly a week to procure the funds with which to pay the physician for a job that requires no skill and a very small expenditure of money for vaccine points. In the future, if Manistique is ever visited with a smallpox scare and if general vaccination is to be resorted to, the board of health should enter into contract with some physician to do all of the vaccination at a live-and-let-live price.

ANN ARBOR—At a meeting here of the Detroit and Ann Arbor section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Dean M. E. Cooley, of Michigan University, read a paper on "Factors Determining a Reasonable Charge for Public Service." He declared that the public service usually took sides on the question through ignorance. "There is no greater service than could be rendered the people of this country by the newspapers if they would make a careful, systematic study of these questions," he declared. "They should treat the quarrels between the public and the public service corporations, not as items of news, but with the object of bringing to the public a clear understanding of all facts upon both sides. Such service would promote prosperity in every community."

BAY CITY—A petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the Bay City council, with interest, at any time; but, on the other hand, if operated for the interest of the Calumet & Arizona stockholders, the mine should return $30,000,000. The Cornelia property is a steam shovel proposition, the ore from which will assist in maintaining a uniform production for Calumet & Arizona, which is practically impossible with the grade of ore coming from Bisbee. Further, during a period of low price for copper metal, the property can be closed without any serious injury, and likewise production can be expanded when metal is high. As yet no decision has been reached regarding railroad communications with the Cornelia, although plans are expected to be formulated the forepart of the coming year.

One part of Ireland already enjoys complete home rule. The inhabitants of Inishmurry, an island off the coast of Sligo, have for many years defied soldiers and settlers any disputes that arise, no direct communication with the island and in a report made to the local government board in 1911 it was stated that the rate collector could find no boatmen bold enough to take him across. Some years previously two rate collectors who tried to land in Inishmurry were driven off with stones. The population, which consists of about fourteen families, is said to be a happy community. One of the islanders acts as a ruler and settles any disputes that arise, but these are rare. Every summer a priest visits Inishmurry to conduct marriages, and during the rest of the year the islanders hold a service among themselves every Sunday.—London Chronicle.

TIMBER MOVEMENT IS VERY LIGHT

In Consequence Railroad Traffic Is Not as Heavy as Usual at This Time.

Freight conditions at the Negaunee yards are not as favorable this year as in former seasons at this time, and Negaunee railroad men say that the warm weather and the lack of snow are largely responsible.

The lumbermen in the district have not begun loading as yet, and until the cold weather sets in the timber shipments will practically be at a standstill. Large crews are at work cutting, but the hauling of the timber to the railroads has not yet begun.

At this time of the year the grain shipments from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Superior are usually heavy, and extra train crews are employed by the railroad companies to handle the traffic, but so far this traffic has not been heavy enough to necessitate put-back on additional trains.

Last year at this time the mining companies had begun receiving their timber shipments, but no more timber is now being received. The mines of the county yearly receive in the neighborhood of 2,100 cars of timber. It usually begins to arrive during the latter part of November and continues to come in until May.

All of the timber purchased by the Marquette county mining companies is bought from jobbers who operate camps in Alger, Delta, Baraga and Marquette counties. Practically all of the product is handled by six jobbers who operate on a large scale, buying up the output of the smaller operators. The six principal concerns operate complete sawmills in Baraga county most of the small jobbers are farmers, who work their lands in the summer and work in the woods during the winter. They get out cordwood, logs, cedar ties and poles.

URGES NEW WAYS OF DISSOLVING TRUSTS

Attorney General McReynolds Is Opposed to Leaving Control in Same Old Hands.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Attorney General McReynolds, in his first report as head of the law department of the government, submitted to congress today, makes few recommendations for legislation. The changes he urges have more to do with the machinery of courts than with the fabric of the law.

On an anti-trust legislative program the attorney general was silent. He asked congress for no amendment to the Sherman act, the rod his department uses to bring trusts to terms, and he points out no fault in its operation. President Wilson, however, intends to send a special message on the trust question to congress in the near future, and that undoubtedly will embody some of the attorney general's views.

Attorney General McReynolds made it clear, however, that so long as he was head of the department he would oppose court decrees in anti-trust suits where the combination was dissolved into parts under the control of the same stockholders. The plan, adopted in the Standard Oil and American Tobacco cases, he calls a "fundamental defect" and later adds in the same connection: "My fixed purpose is to oppose any plan of dissolution which would leave the separate parts of the combination under the control of the same set of men."

Would Supplant Aged Judges. The attorney general offers a novel solution of the problem of superannuated federal judges. Such judges, under the Constitution, hold office during good behavior, although they may retire at the age of seventy, after ten years' service.

"I suggest," says the attorney general, "an act providing that when any judge below the supreme court fails to avail himself of the privilege of retiring now granted by law, the president, by separate act, may, with the consent of the senate, to appoint another judge, who shall preside over the affairs of the court and have precedence over the older one. This will insure at all times the presence of a judge sufficiently energetic to discharge the duties of the court."

Mr. McReynolds suggests that clerks of United States courts should be appointed for specified terms and subject to removal by the president for cause. He asks that provision be made for a review by the supreme court of the final decisions of the court of customs appeal, on application only by the government. He approves the bill introduced by Representative Clayton, giving the supreme court power to promulgate rules for trials on the law side of federal courts. He reminds congress also of needs of changes in his office and an increase in the salaries paid. He terms the present salaries "moderate for the character and amount of work to be performed."

Year's Work of the Department.

Coming to a review of the events which his department has accomplished during the fiscal year, the attorney general shows that when he took office, fifty-two cases were pending under the Sherman law, and that since March 4 eight cases have been begun. Investigations of complaints that mail law has been violated pour into the department by the score each month and come from all parts of the country.

PULSE-RATE DURING SLEEP.

The extensive records obtained in the course of the past few years at the Boston Nutrition Laboratory of the Carnegie Institution of Washington have made it evident that under normal circumstances the pulse-rate may be a sort of index of the extent of the chemical changes taking place in the body. Every one realizes from personal experience that muscular movements are attended with a more rapid heart-beat, the rate varying with the intensity of the exercise performed. No observations are more frequently repeated than those on the pulse-rate, a symptom which every physician continually makes use of at all times of the day. There are, nevertheless, few statistics available respecting the pulse in sleep, a period when muscular activity is at a low ebb. Data on this subject have been obtained by Dr. Klewitz in Moritz's clinic at Cologne. The average pulse-rate of persons free from heart defects was fifty-nine per minute during sleep and seventy-four when awake, the subjects in either case being at rest in bed. That the lowering of the pulse-rate during sleep is in truth merely the expression of a more decided condition of perfect restfulness is evidenced by the fact that even during waking hours fitness as low as those noted in sleep could be observed, provided the degree of rest was as perfect as can be maintained by a person awake. During sleep in the daytime the pulse-rate is scarcely decreased below that which obtains at rest in waking hours.

COST OF MOVING PICTURES.

The makers of the film showing Forbes Robertson as Hamlet paid $75,000 for use of a castle and costumed 400 people for their purposes. Their whole expenditure was $250,000, but they sold 3,000,000 feet of that film for $750,000. The "Tiger Hunt" film required an outlay of $250,000, but it was also sold at twenty-five cents a foot. For making the film of the lamented Captain Scott in the Antarctic $250,000 was expended, and the royalty already collected by Mrs. Scott exceeds the original cost of the picture. To actors of ability taking part in the making of moving picture films $200 to $500 a week is paid, but frank persons get as much as $300 to $500 a day. One woman gets more than $10,000 a week from the film makers for risking her life in cages with lions, tigers and leopards. Clad in tights, she permits herself to be buffeted and knocked around in the cages just as if she were one of the animals. A man who made a moving picture jump from Brooklyn bridge got $500 for his feat, and the man who made a parachute descent from the tower of the thirty-seven-story Bankers' Trust building in New York received $1,000. Eight large concerns in Europe supply the larger part of the world with moving picture films.—Leslie's Weekly.

The investigation has failed to disclose facts which would justify the institution of formal proceedings, but notice of the activity of the government has impelled officers of large and industrial corporations to curtail dangerous tendencies. The bureau of investigation has looked into thousands of cases of all kinds, those concerning violations of the Sherman law and the national banking act averaging together more than fifty a month.

Through the bureau of investigations and a corps of white slave officers, the department, the attorney general says, has vigorously carried on the work of prosecution of offenders and has helped suppress the traffic. Out of the $475,000 allotted for the detection and prosecution of crime $175,000 has been set aside for that work, and the attorney general concludes: "The department feels that very material progress has been made, particularly during the past year, in suppressing the most vicious features of this traffic."
