

TESTIMONY AT CALUMET QUIZ IS CONFLICTING

Witnesses in the Italian Hall at the Time of the Tragedy of Christmas Eve Disagree as to the Cause of the Panic When Questioned at Coroner's Inquest.

Man Wearing a Citizens' Alliance Button Is Asserted by Some to Have Been the Person Who Cried "Fire"—Bulk of the Evidence Directly Opposed to This.

Houghton, Mich., Dec. 30.—[Special.]—A great deal of conflicting testimony was brought out today at the inquest...

The testimony of three women who appeared as witnesses this morning, all maintaining that they saw a man wearing a Citizens' Alliance button, is here given in substance:

Says She Heard Three Shots. Mrs. John Ratz of Wolverine testified that she heard three shots just before the cry of "fire" and heard a window crash somewhere in the hall.

Mrs. Ratz's statement caused an adjournment of the inquest from Coroner Fisher's office to the Italian hall, the scene of the disaster.

Mrs. Therese Szabo testified that she also was in the bar and near the fire escape and that she saw a man wearing a Citizens' Alliance button in the hall...

Mrs. Hilda Forstrom testified that she was in the body of the hall when the stampede started and that she at once ran to protect her children.

Mrs. Anna Karna said the man who gave the cry wore a dark overcoat with a plush collar and wore no button.

Mrs. Szabo, the woman who this morning testified that there were two or three thousand persons in the hall, is suspected of manufacturing her testimony.

Sixty persons had testified when adjournment for the day was taken, and the preponderance of testimony is against the claim that any man cried "fire."

The following is a brief review of the testimony given by witnesses Monday afternoon:

Asserts Cry Was Uttered in English. Mrs. Antonio Coralis heard the cry of fire in English, but did not see the man.

Paul Spear, aged ten, testified that before the cry of fire there was a crush of children moving forward to procure...

F. W. DENTON SUMS UP THE STRIKE SITUATION

Copper Range Manager Outlines View of the Companies and the Men at Work.

Houghton, Mich., Dec. 30.—[Special.]—General Manager F. W. Denton of the Copper Range Consolidated Mining company today reviewed the strike situation...

Mr. Denton discussed the matter freely, saying that he did so because he believes that the national interest now aroused calls for the frankest discussion of the questions involved.

He explained the concessions made to the men, how the one-man drill now was an issue raised, and how the establishment of a nominal eight-hour day schedule was brought about after influence was brought to bear by the companies themselves on the miners...

Asks that the various arbitration proposals, Mr. Denton said they could not be considered simply because they would mean treating directly or indirectly with an organization that has no rights.

"If this organization represented a majority of our workers at the time it called the strike there might be some justice in asking us to treat with it," Mr. Denton said.

Charles Olson testified that a man wearing a gray coat, with a Citizens' Alliance button, gave the cry of "fire" at the door.

Mrs. Anna Karna said the man who gave the cry wore a dark overcoat with a plush collar and wore no button.

Mrs. Szabo, the woman who this morning testified that there were two or three thousand persons in the hall, is suspected of manufacturing her testimony.

DISAGREEMENT IS OUTCOME OF SCHMIDT TRIAL

No Verdict Is Reached at New York in the Case of the Former Priest Charged With the Murder of Anna Amuller—Deliberation for 36 Hours by Jury Is Futile.

Last Ballot Is Exactly the Same as the First, Reports the Foreman to Judge Foster—Ten Votes for Conviction and Two Take Ground the Defendant Is Inane.

New York, Dec. 30.—After deliberating for thirty-six hours, the jury trying the case of Hans Schmidt, the former priest of St. Joseph's church, accused of the murder of Anna Amuller, reported about 10 o'clock tonight that it could not reach an agreement.

The foreman of the jury informed Judge Foster that there was no possibility of an agreement being reached, the last ballot taken being exactly as the first.

Two of the jurors had stood out against conviction all the time, he said. The jury was discharged Tuesday, except the report of the jury without showing much interest.

The crime for which Hans Schmidt has been on trial is considered one of the most revolting in the history of this city. Early in September parts of a woman's body were found in the Hudson river.

Schmidt was arrested a few days later and admitted that on Sept. 2 he had killed Anna Amuller, a woman with whom he had lived. He said he acted by divine command.

His trial started Dec. 8 and toward yesterday came largely a battle between the assistants for the defense and the state. Schmidt's father and sister came from Germany to this country to assist in his defense of insanity.

It was learned late tonight that the two jurors who had failed to agree with the other ten were of the opinion that Schmidt was insane when he killed the woman with whose murder he is charged.

New York, Dec. 30.—An autopsy performed today on the body of the man arrested in a trunk and dumped at an East side tenement yesterday failed to reveal the exact way in which the victim had come to his death.

The police continue to prosecute a vigorous search for the man who left the trunk. The body was partly identified tonight as "Laborer" Edward J. Donovan, a contractor at Cornwall, N. Y.

Mr. Donovan is secretary of the Western Federation of Miners in this district and is a member of the union.

Other managers had thrown their books open to the investigators, to Mr. Moffitt and Mr. Palmer. The manager who suggested that the only man in the right of the Western Federation of Miners in this district could be shown was for that organization to be equally frank and to show how many actual members, by its books, it would not mix.

Mr. Denton takes this strike July 23. The investigators, as far as Mr. Denton ever has been able to learn, did not try to gain access to the Western Federation books, or if they did they were not successful.

Illinois Strike Breaker Is Killed in an Encounter with a Labor Chieftain.

Deatur, Ill., Dec. 30.—Carl Person, editor of the Illinois Strike Bulletin, published at Clinton, was shot and killed today by Tony Musser, a strike-breaker employed at the Illinois Central shops at Clinton.

The shooting was the culmination of an alleged attack on Musser through Person's paper. The men met this afternoon, and Musser gave Person a beating. They were separated, and Person moved away, only to whirl around, draw his revolver and open fire.

Musser had fallen, Person emptied his gun into Musser's body. Person, who is secretary of the Illinois Central federation, was placed in the county jail, but tonight was taken out of the city to escape mob violence.

Governor West Sends Woman to Mining Town to Close Up Its Dives

Portland, Ore., Dec. 30.—Governor West has ordered his private secretary Miss Fern Hobbs to proceed at once to Copperfield, a mining town in Baker county, and close the saloons and gambling houses operating there in violation of the law.

FIERCE BATTLE IN PROGRESS AT THE RIO GRANDE

Determined to Exterminate Huerfano's Northern Army or Drive It to American Soil, 5,000 Rebels Attack the Position at Ojinaga—Fight Is Waged Many Hours.

Revolutionists Gain Ground Steadily and at Nightfall Apparently Are Close to Victory—Casualties Are Heavy—Federal Deserters Sent Back by the U. S. Troops.

Presidio, Tex., Dec. 30.—A battle in which five thousand or more rebels are seeking to exterminate or drive across the United States border the northern division of the Mexican federal army, was still in progress around Ojinaga, Mex., opposite here, after dark tonight.

For thirty-six hours the opposing forces had been under a fire which brought to the ground dead and wounded on both sides.

Several score deserters jumped into the river and swam to the American side. They were disarmed and all but the wounded were sent back by Major McNamee, commanding the border patrol.

The fact that fifteen wounded were able to reach the American side of the river led the army officers to believe that the casualties were heavy.

About five thousand rebels were engaged, much of their firing, however, being without effect, because of their position below the village, but they constantly gained ground and tonight appeared to be within reach of victory.

The federals will surrender is improbable, because General Ortega has explicit orders to execute the so-called volunteers and their commanders.

SOME OF THE COMMENT.

The deportation of Moyer from the copper country has been the subject of much press comment, through most of which runs the sentiment that the law must be upheld against all offenders and that it should take its course against Moyer's assailants, irrespective of how far Moyer had gone in earning the treatment to which he was subjected.

"Until the law requires a legal and just forfeiture of life or liberty all men are unreservedly entitled to the full enjoyment of their constitutional guarantees," remarks the Grand Rapids Herald. "Though situations become aggravated and conditions unbearable, still no excuse can palliate the offense of those who either ignore or override the law. And this statement applies to the deportation from Hancock of Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners—if Moyer's story be the truth. It has been respect for the law that has aroused the rank and file of Michigan citizenship to protest against the violence that has potentially characterized many assaults in the name of 'industrial justice' which have thrown the 'copper country' into near rebellion. This respect for the law can know no favorites or partisans. It is a poor rule which fails to work both ways. Law either is or is not. So long as it seeks to protect one it must protect all."

"Therefore, if Charles Moyer can prove his case—prove charges of murderous assault, violent physical abuse, etc., etc.—he should do so with specific details at once; and whoever is guilty of the crime must be punished. But it will add nothing to the promotion of justice—and add only to the smouldering fire—for Moyer to issue proclamations from Chicago—proclamations devoid of proof or specific incident. . . . No tar-headed man can seriously criticize the mining interests of the upper peninsula for fighting to the last ditch to prevent such leaders from securing a foothold in Michigan—although this does not apply to the miners themselves. Yet even such a situation does not suspend the law that must protect Mr. Moyer as long as it protects anybody else."

The Detroit Free Press is of the opinion that Moyer has repaid what he has sowed and says that it is the height of insolence for him to "exhibit his wounds, wave the bloody shirt and call for the protection of a government which for years he has fought and insulted."

"Whether the people of Houghton were justified in their treatment of Moyer is wholly beside the question. He has no proper ground for complaint because of any mistreatment which may have happened to him. The person who incites to violence and law-breaking is in much the same position as the person who commits a cold-blooded homicide and is assaulted or lynched by an infuriated people. If retribution follows, he is but receiving a reward of his misdeed."

"The band that commits the violence may be guilty of a serious offense. But the offense is not committed against the victim. It is committed against organized society whose ordinances it has broken by taking extra-legal action. Society will vindicate its ordinances in this case, but it has no sympathy to waste on the victim who invited his own troubles."

Richard Henry Little, sent by the Hearst newspapers to the copper region with the special mission of looking into the various bearings of the Moyer case, comments on the outward order of the community, the prepossessing appearance of its citizenship and concludes that the Moyer incident is "isolated." "For the present at least, it looks as though the Moyer incident must be regarded as an isolated case," he writes, "and whatever treatment he received, if it was given him at the hands of the citizens, is due to reflections upon their manhood in connection with the heart-breaking tragedy of Christmas eve, instead of having root in the labor troubles. I have failed to notice the slightest atmosphere of lawlessness."

The description of the Moyer incident as "isolated" is a happy one. As noted by Mr. Little, it was not directly connected with the strike. Thus there is little likelihood that it will be repeated with regard to other leaders, or Moyer, if he should go back. The substantial interests of the strike district will doubtless refrain in the future from opposing lawlessness with lawlessness. The underlying thought in all that is being written editorially about the incident surely has suggested to the copper country men that a repetition of the Moyer incident would be most unfortunate.

FRANK MR. WHITACRE.

J. J. Whitacre, representative in congress of the Eighteenth Ohio district, will not return to his seat, Mr. Whitacre, as far as appears to the contrary, might go back if he desired to. Ohio is, for the time being, a Democratic state and he could likely be re-elected. He is a man of good intentions and fair ability, amply qualified to represent his district in the house.

But Mr. Whitacre doesn't want to go back. All he has been able to do in congress, he says, has been to look wise, and he has reached the conclusion that it is about all that any man who is not willing to barter his convictions is able to do. As he finds that a congressman is unable to do individualistic work, Mr. Whitacre is resolved to get back into private life, where his influence and capacity can be made to count for something.

This interesting statement from Mr. Whitacre indicates on what poverty-stricken times congress has fallen and how poor an arena it has become for the development and utilization of individual talent. Its state is a result contributed to by the gradual re-adjustment of the constitution set up as the co-ordinate powers of the three branches of the government and by the rules with which it has lobbied its own membership.

Presidential government, first introduced in tangible form by Colonel Roosevelt, has reached a higher refinement than Roosevelt even though of under President Wilson. The party measures are now prepared directly under the eye of the President. Such modifications in their texts as are permitted must have the acceptance, if not the full approval, of the President. The tariff and the new currency law are essentially presidential measures. If they are successful great will be the glory that will be reflected on Wilson; if they fail the country will be in no doubt as to where to place the blame.

Majorities in the house and the senate are responsive to the President's will as they have never before. The periodic insurrections are all made of staff and canvass. When put to the test, they fall away before the inexorable purposes of the President. If members incline to have ideas of their own, the threat of the party caucus usually suffices to make them reasonable. An intimation of ex-communication from the party given from the White House in veiled, suave, but easily understood, terms never fails of effect on recalcitrants.

The members of the house, and also of the once august senate, have, it appears, become so many markers in the work of constructive legislation and of governing the country. They are fetchers and carriers, no longer essentially builders. Hobbled by their own repressive rules, individual talent has little opportunity to exert itself, and little opportunity to perform big things. There must be many members who are in somewhat the frame of mind of Representative Whitacre.

Many things have contributed to the present low estate of congress. The country has lost confidence in it to an alarming extent. For many years it suspected that congress was not truly representative, and thus it has now fallen out that a congress perhaps, all in all, more representative than any of its recent predecessors has fallen, as far as the possession of actual power is concerned, to lowest estate.

Congress has not been jealous enough of its own character. When such a fight as was put up for Lorimer could be made in the senate and when the house Democrats could be satisfied with such a report as their committee returned at the conclusion of the Mulhall inquiry there need be no surprise that the country at large looks to the President with much more confidence than to congress, and expects the president, rather than congress, to formulate the great projects of national legislation.

The President has taken no power away from congress. Congress has allowed its power to slip away by its failure to hood the goodwill of the people; it has been supposed to represent and fairly to serve. Congress has itself to thank for its comparatively low estate.

A GREAT FOREIGN TRADE.

The exports of merchandise from the United States in November were the second largest for any like period in the history of the country. The imports likewise broke all records save one. If such business with foreign lands could be kept up through the year the exports would be about $2,947,000,000 and the imports not less than $1,783,000,000.

The surplus of exports for the month was more than $7,000,000, which is at the rate of $1,165,000,000 for a year, and, of course, this is beyond all present possibilities. But as it is, the excess of exports for 1912 will be well past $700,000,000.

Such foreign trade means much for the future of the industries of the United States. It promises great and growing prosperity for a wide range of interests, always expanding and becoming more varied. The time is far past when the export trade of the country was chiefly the shipment of a few agricultural staples. It has grown to be, in great measure, the sales of manufactures to consumers in all parts of the world, and this highly specialized business is rapidly increasing.

Such notable records for the foreign traffic of the United States as 1913 has given prove the steady development of numerous American industries on a basis which permits them to compete effectively with all rivals in neutral markets, near and far. Such business, once gained, will be held and its growth is certain.

Federation leaders are willing to go any length in an effort to inflame public sentiment in connection with the Italian hall horror at Calumet. One of their number is quoted in the Chicago Tribune as solemnly asserting that a deputy deliberately wrung the neck of one of the hapless children. Fortunately the leaders are making their stories so strong that they bear on their very face the evidence of their untruth.

Governor Ferris expresses confidence that Michigan will be able to look after the strike situation without any outside assistance. The governor is in a position to speak authoritatively on that subject. He has large powers to enforce the law against all offenders, and has at least as much power as any federal official. That amounts to no power at all.

A Chicago automobilist ran over a pedestrian and then onto a curb. Backing off the curb he ran over his victim a second time. The police intervened before he was able to return to the third attack.

It has been slightly obscured by the interest in the holiday season and other momentous events nearer home that have called for our attention, but the Mexican situation is still with us.

The Tinker and Brown deals have for the first time enabled the Federal league chieftains to stir a ripple of interest among the magnates of organized baseball.

EDITORIAL OPINION

Little Mexican Armies.

It cannot have escaped the notice of American readers of the news from Mexico that the "battles" fought there are between very small forces. The attacks on cities involve garrisons of 2,000 or 3,000 men at most, and perhaps twice as many besiegers, in extreme cases. Usually both forces are much smaller.

It seems probable that the federal and Constitutionalists together could cover 90,000 or 70,000 men under arms. They may not have 60,000 all told. And Mexico has at least 2,000,000 men of the right age for military service and fit for war.

Such figures prove that the masses do not take the struggle for the offices and the control of the government seriously. They fight, if at all, only because they cannot help it or because they hope for easy subsistence by plundering and escape from work.

It is a sorry picture of national indifference and sluggish patriotism which affords scant promise of better things for the Mexican people.—Cleveland Leader.

What Will Zapata Do?

As Huerta comes nearer and nearer to the end of his rope the Zapata problem becomes more and more important. With Villa sweeping down from the north, it most nearly to make good his threat of attacking the capital itself, the significance of the unconquerable bandit at the very gates of the city cannot be overlooked. If Zapata joins his forces with the Constitutionalists, the problem will be considerably simplified. If he remains an outlaw the final settlement will be much more difficult.

Zapata is in absolute possession of the state of Morelos, which is adjacent to the federal district in which Mexico City is located. He took arms against Porfirio Diaz to right the wrongs of the people. He co-operated with Madero, but after Madero's accession to power he again became a rebel being displeased with the legal and careful way in which Madero was approaching the land problem. Huerta, of course, was far more distasteful to him than Madero had been and so he was maintained himself in successful rebellion against three successive regimes.

It is true that Zapata is a bandit and a murderer. His method of fighting is not according to the standards of civilization. But he has been uniformly victorious, and that counts for much.

Before Zapata became a revolutionist all the land of the state of Morelos was owned by twenty-five families. The rest of the people were little better than slaves. Zapata encouraged the masses to fight for a fair chance to live, promising them a redistribution of land which would give every one an opportunity. Villa, the military leader of the Constitutionalists, has made the same promises, and has gone as far as possible toward making good by his vast confiscations in Chihuahua. Villa himself is little better than a bandit, though his recent operations have been on a broad military scale. It is not unlikely that Zapata will find the return of the Mexican wheel of fortune entirely to his liking, and he may consent to unite his little independent principality of Morelos with the rest of the reorganized republic.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Trade Names and the Law.

Business men who desire to have removed all doubt as to just what protection the laws give through trade marks and trade names are awaiting with interest the outcome of several cases now pending in the United States supreme court. The cases are anxious to know how far the business practice may go. And they confidently expect the decisions will more clearly define the rules of business competition within the law.

One case in particular which is attracting attention furnishes a good illustration of a practice all too common but fortunately growing less common each day. It seems a Cincinnati factory through many years of honest business dealing had built up a reputation for a certain type of woman's shoe manufactured by it. A St. Louis firm, in a brazen attempt to cheat both the public and their rival manufacturers, put on the market a shoe much similar in appearance to the one already popularized and under a name closely resembling that which for many years had been used.

Suit for damages followed, and the circuit court of appeals awarded the plaintiff $500,000, representing the illegal profits made by the St. Louis firm out of the misbranded shoe. The defendants claim the damages awarded should not have been more than a sum equal to the loss of business profits sustained by the plaintiff by reason of their trade name being copied, and carried the case for review to the supreme court on a writ of certiorari.

Other manufacturers are being robbed just as the Cincinnati concern has been, but it is gratifying to note that their number is not as large as it once was. Goods cannot be sold unless they are advertised, and dishonest merchandise is finding it harder each day to get representation in the decent newspapers and periodicals. The publisher who knowingly accepts fraudulent advertising not only cheats the readers of his newspaper but the honest advertisers who use his columns to sell their honest merchandise.

Honesty in everything always is the best policy. And in advertising especially this maxim holds good. This is being realized more and more as time goes on, and the day is not far distant when the dishonest manufacturer or merchant will find it as hard to advertise his goods in a newspaper pretending to pass through the eye of a needle. When that day comes the business man who lives by fraudulent misrepresentation will have received a more stinging blow than all the courts in Christendom can deliver.—New York Globe.

JEWISH WOMEN.

Tribute to the Jewish race and to the Jewish women, who, he said, had kept the race clean and made home builders, was paid by Judge Marcus Kavanagh at the monthly meeting of the Baron Hirsch Woman's Club and Co-Workers in Chicago last week. The judge was kept waiting for more than an hour until all reports had been received and other business transacted before he was introduced.

"I do not begrudge the long wait to make my address," the speaker said, "for it has interested me to hear these glowing reports of the work you are doing for humanity and for your race."

Speak of the American woman and the home, and want to say that you, the women of the Jewish race, deserve more credit than the men for keeping your race clean and pure and without a stain. Your fidelity has kept the Jewish race strong and clean. The chief benefit of the Jew to the country is fidelity in ideals, and one of these ideals is the home. Back of all is the family, and if the family is not worth while then the nation is not worth while, for the first sign of a break-up is the weakening of ties between wife and husband or mother and children.

"In recent years 5,000,000 persons have been affected by divorces and last year 100,000 homes were broken and 103,000 children made orphans through divorces, and yet you do not hear of divorces among the Jewish race, excepting from some of its lower communities."

"Japan is the only country in the civilized world that leads the United States in number of divorces, and during the last few years the number there has decreased while they have increased in this country."

"Jewish womanhood prevents divorce, and they and their children make the home permanent."

HECH HETCHY.

How do you explain the fact that a fierce agitation all over the country is kept up against a measure which has had the support of Gifford Pinchot, James R. Garfield, James B. Pielan, William Kent and a number of other conspicuous fighters for conservation in this country? Gifford Pinchot says: "I am fully persuaded that there is no other comparable source of water supply available at anything like a reasonable cost to the cities around San Francisco bay."

"Secondly: That the supply of surface water furnished by the Spring Valley Water company is adequate neither in quality nor in quantity."

"Third: That the injury to Hetch Hetchy by substituting a lake for the present swamp floor of the valley, affords allowances being made for whatever reduction in the height of the walls there may be, is altogether unimportant compared with the benefits to be derived from its use as a reservoir."

"Fourth: That the sanitary regulations included in the bill absolutely dispose of the plea, untenable at all times that what San Francisco is asking for is control of half of the Yosemite park instead of merely the Hetch Hetchy reservoir."

"Fifth: That much of the opposition has its root in the unwillingness of water power and transportation interests in and around San Francisco to see the city get possession of the large power it will develop if the grant goes through."

The forces in opposition are two. The water power companies who know exactly what they are doing, and the sentimental lovers of scenery who do not know at all what they are doing. A very few of them like John McLean know the facts and be out of perspective on their relative importance of things, but most of them are persons accustomed to studying exact conditions, who merely go up in the air when somebody tells them that so-and-so is going to be hurt somewhere. If there is an injury to scenery at all in this case, it will be so great as to explain why conservationists of the type we have mentioned are so enthusiastic for the new bill now before congress.—Harpur's Weekly.

ROYCROFT FARM
 Where Cleanliness is Paramount
 SIDNAW, MICHIGAN

FOR the past seven years Roycroft Farm has left nothing undone to produce the very best possible, clean, wholesome Jersey milk, guaranteed to contain at least 5% butter fat, and from tuberculin tested cows. This effort to produce clean milk has resulted in an average monthly bacteria count per cubic centimeter of less than one quarter the number permitted for certified milk which sells at from 18 cents to 20 cents per quart in the larger cities. It has also resulted in demonstrating to the owner of the farm that the price received for the milk at present does not cover the cost of production; and as the policy under which Roycroft Farm is operated will not permit the reduction of costs in any manner that will tend to interfere with the high standard or quality of the farm products, it has become necessary to raise the price of the milk to 15 cents per quart, beginning January 1, 1914. It may not be out of place to call our customers' attention to what the U. S. Government says of a sample of Roycroft Clean Jersey Milk that was exhibited at the National Dairy Show, and which won the gold medal against entries from all parts of the United States and Canada, viz: "This milk is the purest market milk of which there is any record in the world."

ROGERS RELINQUISHES OFFICE THIS EVENING

Hancock Postmaster Will Turn Keys Over to Successor, After Serving Five Years.

Charles F. Rogers will cease to be postmaster of Hancock at 12 o'clock tonight and Dan Holland will step in as his successor. Mr. Holland might have taken over the office several days ago, having qualified and received his commission, but he decided to wait until the end of the year 1913.

It is as pleasant to the citizens as to the outgoing and incoming postmaster to know that a strong friendship exists between the two. If there was to be no change and the Republicans were to continue in office, there is no man in the city the new postmaster would rather see in office than Mr. Rogers, and with the change in administration Mr. Rogers holds the same feelings toward his successor.

Mr. Rogers will relinquish the reins of office with the satisfaction of knowing that the public has been pleased with his administration. The office has progressed during the last five years until its business is double that when Mr. Rogers took hold. Mr. Rogers has made the best postmaster the city ever had, said a merchant yesterday, "and while we regret his term is ended, it is a source of pleasure to know that a man who has the confidence of the whole city is to succeed him. The public is indebted to Mr. Rogers for the service he has given and a public vote of thanks should be his. Mr. Holland will have the good wishes of the community."

No Changes Contemplated. The new postmaster announced several days ago that the office would continue the system under which it has been operated for the last five years. There are to be no changes for the present at least, although eventually Mr. Holland may have some ideas of his own which will be tried out.

HOPE TO ENTERTAIN POINCARÉ. French Societies Will Ask Him Here If He Visits This Country.

The latest idea that has suggested itself to the committee in charge of procuring speakers for the reunion of French societies in the copper country next summer, the reunion to take place in Hancock, is that of inviting President Poincaré of the French republic to come here. President Poincaré is considering a visit to America next year. This announcement has stirred the French societies of the country and they are planning to invite him to visit different states. The French societies of Detroit are active in this direction already. Should the president come to America and then visit Detroit, the copper country French societies will make an effort to have him come here for the annual reunion in Hancock June 24. As Detroit is the oldest American city settled by the French it is calculated that the fact could have some influence in inducing him to go there, should his journey to the United States materialize.

"Nothing would be more pleasing to the French than to have President Poincaré visit the copper country," said a member of the Hancock committee yesterday. "At present we are living in hope."

INSURANCE HELPS SUFFERERS.

Although the Western Federation of Miners will not permit the sufferers from the Calumet disaster to accept any assistance from the public, many are being helped through the payment of insurance claims. District Manager McVeigh of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company says that his concern has paid more than thirty claims to survivors. The policies ranged from $100 to $2,000.

SEVERE ITCHING AND BURNING. Eczema Began With Pimples on Lower Limbs. Constantly Tormented. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured in Ten Days.

233 Walnut St., Hillsboro, Ill.—"My child had a breaking out on the lower limbs which developed into eczema. The eczema began with pimples which contained yellow corruption and from the child's clothing they were greatly irritated. They seemed to burn, which made the child scratch them, resulting in a mass of open places. They made her so cross and fretful to keep her quiet. They caused her to lose much sleep and she was constantly tormented by severe itching and burning. I tried several well-known remedies, but got no relief until I got a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which did so much good that I got a large quantity that cured her in ten days after she had been affected for two months." (Signed, Mrs. Edith Schwartz, Feb. 28, 1913.)

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Prevent dry, thin and falling hair, allay itching and irritation, and promote the growth and beauty of the hair, frequent washings with Cuticura Soap, assisted by occasional dressings with Cuticura Ointment, are usually effective when other methods fail. Sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address Post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

HERE TO MEET WITH OPPOSING LEADERS

J. B. Densmore, Washington Official, Will Try to Settle Mine Workers' Strike.

J. B. Densmore, a solicitor attached to the department of labor at Washington, D. C. arrived in Houghton Monday evening. He will remain in the district for an indefinite time. "When I arrived in Lansing to confer with the Michigan officials in settling the present conditions of disorder and lawlessness, Mr. Ferris stated that he was very glad indeed that I had been sent to help in this work and would assist me in any way possible. He said also that any assertions that he disappeared of the action of the Washington officials were not true."

Governor Ferris Approves.

Recent publications of Governor Ferris' attitude are untrue, according to Mr. Densmore. "When I talked with the governor in Lansing," said Mr. Densmore, "I convinced him that I was not here to intrude into the affairs of the state, but simply to assist the Michigan officials in settling the present conditions of disorder and lawlessness. Mr. Ferris stated that he was very glad indeed that I had been sent to help in this work and would assist me in any way possible. He said also that any assertions that he disappeared of the action of the Washington officials were not true."

"When I arrived in Lansing to confer with Governor Ferris," continued Mr. Densmore, "I queried one of the officials as to the time of the departure of trains to Calumet. I must profess that my knowledge of the geography of this district is somewhat lacking. I was surprised when the state official asked me if I wanted to go by way of Chicago, as that was the shortest route. I was of the opinion that I could get to the copper country in about an hour on a fast train from Lansing."

Clergyman Justifies Moyer's Expulsion.

Rev. William Reid Cross, rector of Trinity church, Houghton, in his sermon Sunday, after having said that the task of reconciling the participants in the copper strike, and of healing the breach between them, should be taken up in a Christian spirit by peace-loving men, continued as follows: "And it is evident to all at this stage of the controversy that drastic remedies are necessary. The men who are making it their business to foment class hatred, who are deliberately and of set purpose poisoning the minds of one class of society against another, must be gotten rid of. They are not only undesirable citizens, they are not citizens at all. They are men without a country; they are outlaws and brigands and must be eliminated from the situation. They can no more be tolerated than we could tolerate having our woods infested with robbers or wild beasts."

"I have been slow in reaching this conclusion. I think I am temperamentally on the side of workers who are struggling to improve their condition; I feel profoundly that the business of a clergyman is to be on the side of the weak against the strong and I have tried to see that this struggle between the mining companies and their men is a part of the long-continued struggle to better their condition. But it must be evident to everybody at this time that this is not a strike at all, that it is rather an assault on civilized society. It is sedition pure and simple. "If there was any doubt in any man's mind as to about that it was made clear on Christmas, when one of my men tried to make capital for his cause out of the dreadful catastrophe at Calumet. I do not suppose anybody thinks it was anything but an accident. I cannot believe that any human being could be foolish enough to plan and carry out such a project. But there was one man who was devilish enough to think of the possibility of its being done by an enemy, and did not hesitate to publish his suspicions broadcast, knowing that it would awaken the deepest passions in the hearts of his followers. For a man, lightly and airily, without an investigation, without a scintilla of proof, without waiting to know whether there was any proof or not, to put that thought into the minds of these fathers and mothers was outrageous. "There can be no reconciliation of factions while these propagandists of treason and crime are permitted to continue their dastardly work. But when they are gotten rid of, remember that these others are our people, that they have been much tormented against their sinning, and that they can be won back to reason by sympathy and kindness and love."

FINNISH MASS MEETING TOMORROW.

The third of a series of meetings held by Finnish businessmen of Hancock to discuss the labor situation in the copper country with a view to having their countrymen return to work in the Hancock and Quincy mines took place Monday evening. It resulted in the issue of a call for a mass meeting in the city hall tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Miners willing to return to work will speak.

"For weeks it has been apparent to the Finnish merchants of Hancock that many of our countrymen now on strike are willing to return to work if given proper protection," said a member of the committee yesterday. "The trouble has been to induce the right men to take the initiative. Many of the men are married and have families and they have feared reprisals. We have banded together to see the men are given protection and our word of honor, with the pledge of the authorities that any man wishing to return to his work will be protected, is having marked effect. The nine employees will assemble at the city hall Thursday afternoon in a public meeting and there signify their intentions." Men employed at the Hancock mine when the strike was called have been appearing at the office lately to register themselves as willing to return to work. The first of the year. General Manager Harris said yesterday that the situation looked favorable and he expects both shafts will be placed in commission at the outset. The company announced a few days ago that it would resume operations the first of the year and all former employees would be taken back provided they relinquished their membership in the Western Federation of Miners. The men who do not apply for work before the first of the year will not be given a second opportunity.

Trimountain Resolutions.

The following resolutions were passed Sunday by the employees of the Trimountain Mining company: "Whereas, on Christmas eve, a meeting of W. F. M. members at the Italian hall in Calumet was held for the purpose of distributing gifts among the children of the members; and "Whereas, in some unknown manner the cry of 'fire' was raised, creating a condition of panic and causing a stampede for the exits which resulted in the blighting out of some four-score lives, bringing irreparable loss and suffering to the families involved and to the entire community; and "Whereas, the entire copper country, true to its past record on similar occasions, inspired by a Christian sense of the brotherhood of man and by the great need of the situation, actuated only by motives of mercy and helpfulness, instantly arose to the occasion and came forward with offers of adequate relief, tendered in words of anguish and sympathy; and "Whereas, the officers of the Western Federation of Miners, displaying an utter absence of feeling and a hardness of heart beyond comprehension, absolutely refused to accept or permit its suffering members to accept the assistance so freely offered, being willing in that hour of desperate sorrow and need to permit the members of its own organization to write under the terrible affliction visited upon them without making an effort to alleviate their sufferings by instant relief, or permitting them to avail themselves of the aid extended by their neighbors and friends for the sake and selfish purpose of using this horrible calamity to strengthen their own lost cause and to incite their membership to further hatred against those who would befriend them; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we regret and deplore the awful calamity which overwhelmed Calumet on Christmas eve, and extend to the bereaved friends and families of the victims our heartfelt sympathy; "Resolved, That we condemn as cruel and inhuman, the attitude of the officers of the Western Federation of Miners in refusing to accept and in preventing its members from accepting the offers of immediate assistance from the citizens of Houghton county in that hour of terrible need, which offers were freely and unreservedly made; "Resolved, That in thus closing their eyes and hearts to the awful sufferings of its own membership, and denying the inherent rights of mankind to suffer and sympathize with and assist its own, and in their endeavor to utilize this catastrophe for the sole purpose of exciting prejudice and hatred, this organization, as represented by its officers, has proved itself unworthy the allegiance of honest and law-abiding workers; "Resolved, That we unite with the citizens of Houghton county in their efforts to rid this district of the Western Federation of Miners, and, as a means to this end, we demand that the Trimountain Mining company, whose employees we are, give to employment to members of this organization unless they shall first renounce their allegiance to it."

CLERGYMAN A CANCER VICTIM.

General surprise was caused at Hancock when it was announced that Rev. Erick Rehner had passed away. Mr. Rehner lived on Ethel avenue, West Hancock. Death was due to cancer. The funeral will take place Friday afternoon, with services at the Swedish-Lutheran church. Three clergymen—Rev. Mr. Kaopman, pastor of the Western Lutheran church, Calumet, and Rev. Mr. Fant, of Iron Mountain, will officiate. Mr. Rehner was for several years pastor of the Hancock church and also of the Dollar Bay mission. Five years ago he was transferred to South St. Joe, Marie, his family continued to live in Hancock. The clergyman was fifty-six years of age and is survived by his wife and two sons and three daughters.

CONTRIBUTION FROM DETROIT.

The Detroit Employers' association has sent a contribution of $1,000 to the Calumet citizens' relief committee. The money likely will be returned, as the committee has not, as yet, been able to dispose of the $25,000 already in its hands, raised in the copper country. Furthermore, the people of the community have expressed the desire that no outside contributions be received, it being their desire that they do their own charitable work and care for their own dead. Although $1,000 in name of the fund of $25,000 has been used by the money is available for all sufferers who are in need of assistance. All the survivors and the suffering will be given quick assistance upon application.

KOSKI GIVES BAIL.

Henry Koski, financial secretary of the South Range union of the Western Federation of Miners, Monday night furnished bail for three men who were arrested in the sum of $7,000. Ivar Lindgren of Hancock township, former supervisor, and Henry Perkiomaki of Quincy are the sureties. Koski is charged with shooting Deputy Sheriff Driscoll.

HOCKEY MEN TO PRACTICE.

Candidates for the Portage Lake hockey team will appear on the ice at the Amphitheatre tonight for their third practice this season. Only one week remains before the first game will be played, this with Calumet at Calumet Jan. 6.

COLLEGE OF MINES PARTY.

Students of the Michigan College of Mines will entertain in the college gymnasium with a dancing party tomorrow evening. Klinghammer's orchestra will furnish the music.

Markets

In spite of lower London quotations, the New York list rallied sharply Tuesday morning, but the buying was short-lived and the close showed slightly lower prices than Monday night. With the elimination of a large part of the short interest, the market is technically weaker and more readily yields to the bear. Things are not ready yet for a prolonged upturn and it seems reasonable to expect a few points reaction from this level between now and the middle of January. The market for the Boston copper continues narrow, but there is decidedly more confidence and the selling is coming entirely from weak holders.

New York Stocks.

The New York market did fairly well during the morning session Tuesday, but realizing sales during the afternoon resulted in declines of from one to two points. The selling is purely profit-taking and is to be expected after substantial advance which has had the last two weeks. The total New York sales for the day were 329,100 shares. Closing prices were as follows:

Boston Coppers.

There was excellent buying of Granite, which advanced to 7 1/2. Calumet and Quincy, Copper Range, North Butte and LaSalle were the other Boston copper stocks to show considerable activity. The closing prices, however, show but few changes. They were as follows:

Canada is to have Largest Telescope.

A message from the East says: "The recent advance in copper from 14 1/2 to 15 cents per pound has been a year-end development as surprising as it is welcome. Large sales have been made for export and domestic account, some estimates placing the recent order bookings as high as 100,000,000 pounds."

Automobile Could Be Driven Through the Tube of Huge Instrument for Ottawa.

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—The Canadian government has awarded a contract to the Warner & Swasey company of Cleveland, Ohio, for the construction of what is to be the largest telescope in the world. The new telescope will probably be set up in Ottawa and about eighteen months will be required to manufacture it and place it in position.

MAIL SENT TO ARCTIC ZONE.

Edmonton, Alta., Dec. 30.—Four trusted employees of the Hudson's Bay company, which has operated in this country since 1670, accompanied by two dog teams, each carrying 300 pounds of mail and provisions, are on the way to Fort McPherson, 2,100 miles north of here, on what is conceded to be the longest overland mail trip in the world. They are scheduled to reach the fringe of the Arctic circle on Feb. 28.

Bronze Helios Found in Egypt Is to Come to New York. London, Dec. 30.—The wonderful bronze figure of Alexander Helios (Greek for sun), the discovery of which in Egypt last year caused such a furore among antiquarians, is on its way to New York and will shortly be exhibited here. It is now the property of Dr. Madsjo, a prominent collector of Cairo. Helios was the son of Anthony and Cleopatra. He and his twin sister, Cleopatra-Selene being the two oldest children of the historic couple. He was born about B. C. 40. His representation as a plump boy wearing the Armenian

TESTIMONY GIVEN AT CALUMET CONFLICTING Witnesses at Coroner's Inquest Disagree as to Cause of the Christmas Panic. (Continued from Page One) their presents. One girl or woman fainted, he believes. He heard the cry of fire but did not see the person who gave it. Andrew Saari, who lost a boy in the panic, testified that he heard some one cry out, but did not think this person cried "fire." However everyone else seemed to take up the cry and the panic ensued. He was pushed over the stairs and one of his children fell under him and was killed. He could see from where he lay in the heap of humanity in the stairway that the outer doors were open. He was badly trampled. John Krojich, ten years of age, heard the cry of fire and escaped through a window and down a ladder. John Fritz of Osceola, who was standing at the top of the stairs, outside the hall door or entrance, testified that the only cry of fire he heard was from within the hall itself. No one went up the stairs and gave the alarm and he saw no one with a Citizens' Alliance button. He was pushed down the stairs, but was unhurt. Peter Lantto said he was standing at the entrance to the hall, helping keep order during the distribution of presents. He knew nothing of the alarm of fire, but was pushed over the stairs. He was uninjured. Mrs. Alfred Lantto heard no cry of fire, but saw a woman at the stage telling everyone to leave the hall. Mrs. Minnie Palmieri, who was in the kitchen of the hall, heard the commotion, but did not enter the auditorium. There was no fire in the kitchen, she said. She saw many escape by way of the kitchen and the fire escape. Mrs. Annie Sandretto testified that she could not get into the hall because she had no union book. She returned later, but left before the panic. Shout Made in Two Tongues. Mrs. Lousia Lesh testified that she heard the cry of fire in both Austrian or Croatian and English from the back of the hall. It seemed as if the same voice called in both languages. She called to restore order and Mrs. Sizer played the piano. Possibly three or four hundred children had left the hall before the panic. They were leaving all the time. The floor of the hall, however, was nearly filled. Persons who desired entrance were called upon to show union cards or woman's auxiliary membership cards. She did not see who gave the alarm. There were no candles on the Christmas tree and there was no fire in the hall. Mrs. Minnie Lustig testified that she was on the stage, back of the curtain, and did not hear the cry of fire. She saw no Citizens' Alliance buttons in the hall during the day. Mrs. William Kello gave similar testimony. John Burcar, whose nine-year-old sister was killed, testified that he was going from the stage to the doorway when a man suddenly dashed into the hall and cried "fire." He said this man wore a "christy" hat and a long dark overcoat, with a fur collar turned up around his face, the hat being pulled low. The man, he said, had a dark mustache and wore Citizens' Alliance buttons on the breast pocket. The boy said he was twenty feet from the man. "He just bolted 'fire' and ran and the others ran after him," said the boy. The mother of the youngster testified later. She said she was in the back of the building and saw or heard little.

Hilton Promises Important Testimony. Judge O. N. Hilton of Denver, senior counsel for the Western Federation, promised at the close of this afternoon's session to bring in important testimony tomorrow. He asked for a little extra time in the morning, and the adjournment was taken until 9 o'clock. "These people are certain they can identify the man who gave the cry of fire," Judge Hilton said, "but I want a little time to investigate. It is an awful thing, you know, to implicate an innocent person." Coroner Fisher says that tomorrow morning a voluntary witness will take the stand and testify that there was no cry of fire and that the panic started in the rush of the children for their Christmas presents, in which rush some of the children fainted, as a result of which the stampede began. Mahoney Reported Returning. It is announced tonight that Charles E. Mahoney, vice president of the Western Federation of Miners, is expected to arrive in the district tomorrow morning. No confirmation of this report can be obtained. John P. Demore, solicitor for the department of labor, arrived in Houghton Monday evening. Mr. Demore says that he has come in no sense to conduct a federal investigation, that he has been named by Secretary Wilson as a commissioner of conciliation, to place himself at the disposal of both parties of the strike controversy, in the hope of being able to suggest some plan of settlement. He had nothing else to say when seen today. There are no strike developments. The matter is at a standstill, with all concerned awaiting the federation's next move and also the action of the strikers Friday, the day it has been stated they must return to work or lose all hope of ever being employed in these mines again, that being the announced dictum of the companies. Thirteen men applied for work at the Copper Range mines this morning and twenty-eight on Monday. This is the largest number of applications made in a similar period of time during the last three weeks, or since the shooting into the Daily boarding house. The strike situation on the South range continues quiet. With the steady influx of new workmen, many of whom are bringing their families, normal conditions are fast being restored. Grand Jury Resumes Work. The Houghton county grand jury resumed its inquiry during the day, after the Christmas recess, up to the hour of adjourning tonight, no results had been announced. Special Prosecutor Nichols to whom it is presumed Judge Hilton, counsel for Charles H. Moyer, will address himself in asking for an investigation of the Moyer arraignment, had not this evening brought the matter to Mr. Nichols' attention. Undoubtedly Judge Hilton will take some action of the sort and also it is without doubt a matter that will be called to the attention of the grand jury.

Big Concerns are Put in Hands of Receivers Curtailment of Bank Credit Hits the Siegel Stores Corporation, New York. New York, Dec. 30.—Two great department stores in New York, one in Boston, as well as an express company, a wholesale house and a private banking house, operated in connection with the department stores, all allied with and controlled by the Siegel Stores corporation, of which Henry Siegel of this city is directing head, were placed in the hands of receivers today, through a suit instituted by the holding company. None of the concerns, according to statements of counsel, is insolvent. The action was taken to conserve their good will, to rehabilitate and reorganize them. The assets and liabilities were not stated. Curtailment of bank credit made the receivership imperative. The gross earnings heretofore have been estimated at $40,000,000 annually. The Great-Hat-Siegel-Cooper company of this city has no connection with the firms controlled by the Siegel Stores corporation; and in Chicago, the store of Siegel, Cooper & Co., although the stock is owned by the Siegel Stores corporation is prospering. Counsel here issued a statement to this effect: The firms for which receivers were appointed are: The Fourteenth street store, New York; The Simpson-Crawford New York; Henry Siegel and Frank E. Vogel, doing a private banking business as Henry Siegel & Co., New York; Henry Siegel & Co., wholesalers, New York; Merchants' Express company, New York; Henry Siegel company, Boston, a department store; The banking house paid 4 1/2 per cent. interest and the majority of the depositors were comparatively poor people. Henry Melville, in charge of the bank, said tonight that he was not fully informed regarding the condition of the bank, which is in the fourteenth street store. "If the store is solvent, the bank is all right," he said.

POPULAR ACTOR SLAIN BY HIS AGED FATHER Harry Fragson, Vaudeville Performer, Is the Victim in Peculiar Tragedy at Paris. Paris, Dec. 30.—An extraordinary tragedy occurred in Paris tonight. A popular English vaudeville performer, known on the stage as Harry Fragson, was shot and killed by his eighty-four-year-old father, Victor Pott. Fragson had dined at a restaurant, and on the way to the theater where he has been appearing he called at the apartments which he occupied with his aged father. High words ensued, and suddenly the father drew a revolver and the son fell with a bullet in his head. The treble, old man was greatly shaken and trembled as he told his story to the police. He had bought the revolver, he said, with the intention of committing suicide, because life had become unbearable. His son had brought a woman to the house, in spite of repeated protests. Tonight, he declared, his son was accompanied by the same woman and reproached him for keeping her waiting. He meant to kill himself in their presence and drew the pistol. What passed, he did not understand, but instead of putting a bullet into his own temple he fired at his son. Why, he could not explain.

NEW YORK COMMISSION PUTS BAN ON BOB FITZSIMMONS. New York, Dec. 30.—That Bob Fitzsimmons, once heavyweight champion boxer of the world, cannot reenter the prize ring in New York was the decision formally reached today by the New York state athletic commission. Fitzsimmons said he was "feeling stronger" than ever, but the commission held he no longer possessed the stamina to stand a fast bout. From a New York ring Fitzsimmons recently challenged any member of the "white hope" class to engage him in a ten-round bout. SACRED COLLEGE SWEEP BY DEATH Unprecedented Situation in Vatican Demands Consistory to Name New Cardinals. Rome, Dec. 30.—When one dies three die. So runs the ancient tradition of Rome when the death of a cardinal is announced. The tradition has been verified. First, Tuto, the learned Spaniard and trusted friend of his holiness; a short while later, the beloved Gregorio, dean of the sacred college and a personality of might in the vatican passed away on Dec. 5. The third to be called was Rampolla, man of wisdom and deep piety, the papal secretary of state under Pope Leo XIII, a papal possibility himself, and once the actual selection of the cardinalate and rejected by the now obsolete "veto privilege," and but recently mentioned as the probable successor to Pius X, had he outlived the present occupant of the throne of St. Peter. Quigley a Possibility. With the unusually large number of vacancies now existing in the sacred college, the early calling of a consistory is inevitable, a fact which will naturally arouse in the mind of the American Catholic the possibility of the elevation of one or two notable prelates of the United States. It was said right after the 1911 consistory, at which the red hat was conferred on Archbishop Farley of New York and O'Donnell of Boston, that the holy father would not consider the advisability of another American cardinal for the present, but that was two and one-half years ago. Many events have happened since to warrant a change of reasoning. Of course, not the slightest intimation has ever been given here or any intention on the part of the Vatican, the names of two American Archbishops are always brought to mind when the subject presents itself. These are Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul and James E. Quigley of Chicago. The deeds and attributes, both scholarly and ecclesiastical, of these two eminent churchmen are already too well known on the American side of the water to call for extended comment. They are held in equally high regard at Rome. Falconio Declines Post. The great question now is who will succeed Cardinal Gregois as camerlingo, or master of ceremonies, of the holy see. Three names are prominently mentioned in this connection. They are Cardinals Ferrata, De Lai and Falconio, the last named of the trio being well known to the Catholics of the United States. It is understood that the pope recently approached Cardinal Falconio personally with a gentle refusal on the ground of increasing years. His eminence is now approaching his seventy-first birthday. The office of camerlingo is considered next in importance to that of the pope himself. It would seem now as though the choice lay between Cardinals Ferrata and De Lai, with the chances of appointment about equal. It is certain, however, that every effort will be made for an early assemblage of the consistory, which has been delayed chiefly owing to the delicate state of the Pontiff's health, as it was learned that the fatigue sure to follow upon the many ceremonies necessary would cause serious results to the beloved "Hermit of the Vatican."

Will Attack Organized Baseball as a Trust if Deserting Players are Enjoined. Indianapolis, Dec. 30.—That organized baseball will be attacked as a trust under the Sherman anti-trust law and as maintaining a blacklist in case there are sought any injunctions to restrain players held under the reserve clause from playing in the Federal league was indicated by a statement issued today by Edward E. Gates, of this city, counsel for the Federal league. "The national commission, if it goes into court, will immediately be confronted with two very serious propositions: First, is the commission a trust within the meaning of the Sherman anti-trust act? And, is not, in fact, a blacklist maintained?" Mr. Gates said. "There is no doubt in the mind of anyone, we take it, that organized baseball, as organized under the so-called national agreement, has in the past monopolized the baseball business, not only by attempting to crush competition but by trying to buy out the professional baseball clubs and players of the United States from the largest down to the smallest minor league clubs." Mr. Gates declared the Federal league has been consistent in its policy not to enter into negotiations with a player who has signed a contract to play the season of 1914 with any of its rival clubs, in either the National and American or any minor league. "We maintain, however," said Mr. Gates, "that the reserve clause is illegal and not binding upon players, lacks mutuality and is against public policy."

ABYSSINIA CAUSING WORRY TO ENGLAND With Emperor Menelik Dead, the Country is Reported Becoming Disorganized. Aden, Dec. 30.—With Menelik, the Negus, who thought the sun rose and set in the British Isles, out of the way and the procrastinating and feeble policy pursued by the British government in Somaliland, British East Africa, Uganda, and the upper Soudan, where the frontiers of these countries abut on Abyssinia, there is grave reason to believe that the British foreign and colonial offices will find themselves in a position similar to that of Italy in 1896. The point at issue is the territory of 8,000 square miles ceded by the late Negus to British Somaliland in 1897. All along the above indicated frontier bandit tribes have been gradually collecting which, although under a sort of government, do not recognize the administration of Adis Ababa. Over these fighting Amhars the central government has very real control. Each clan of Amhars has its chief or "Ras," and its own tribal district. The Ras pays tribute to the monarch, generous tribute if he is a weak Ras, little or nothing if, for the time being, he is strong enough to defy the king. Under these "rasses" are lesser chiefs acknowledging fealty, not to the central king, but to their own particular ras. When the king is a strong man, as Menelik was, the central authority, though defective, is in some limited sense real. Since Menelik lost control of the position, there has been practically no central government. The present king, Leesh I. Ason, has no real authority, according to trustworthy accounts. If there are any at all in Abyssinia who can keep the Amhars in any kind of order, they are Futurary Afar Gorgues and Ras Mikael. But the future of the internal politics of Abyssinia need not be too closely discussed. However so far from there being any justification for a hope that what may be called the "Menelik position" (which was not a tolerable one at its best) will be restored, all the indications point to the state of disorder in Abyssinia becoming graver. The usual policy pursued by a ras on getting to the leadership of a tribe, or bleeding it of all he can, is killing settled industry. Both trade and the cultivation of the land seem to be dwindling. If, as all the indications suggest, there are destined to be a series of civil wars to establish one of the many claimants to the throne, destitution among the Abyssinians will increase, and at the same influential in bringing on the slow reactionary movement of the afternoon. Wheat Under Pressure at Chicago. Chicago, Dec. 30.—Renewed assertions that the Canadian parliament would likely abolish within a month the duty against wheat had a discouraging effect on the efforts to lift prices here today. Closing quotations were as follows: May wheat, 90 1/2; July, 86 1/2; December corn, 69 1/4; May, 68 1/2; standard oats, 39 1/4. PINK GAS LIGHTS NOW FAD. Paris Experiments With the Discovery of an Englishman. London, Dec. 30.—Much discussion is going on concerning the value of the new neon lamp, recently adopted in Paris, which gives out a beautiful rose-pink color, peculiarly suitable for boudoirs and tea rooms. Neon, which is an atmospheric gas, was discovered by Sir William Ramsay. It possesses the property of allowing an electric current to traverse it under certain conditions of pressure and temperature and turning a large proportion of it into the rose-pink light mentioned above. The gas only exists in the atmosphere, however, to the extent of 0.002 per cent by volume, but nevertheless it will soon be obtained in fairly large quantities from the light residue from the fractional distillation of liquid air, which is undertaken on a considerable scale in Norway and Germany, in connection with the fixation of atmospheric nitrogen. Strange as it may seem, Sir William himself does not think very highly of it as a light generator. He said, "It works all right, but it does not last long."

NEW YORK STOCKS FAIL TO RETAIN EARLY GAINS; END THE DAY AT LOSSES. New York, Dec. 30.—The advance in stocks was resumed for a time today. Leading shares were marked up one to two points, but the movement lacked the power of last week's rise and the demand was not sufficient to sustain prices. Gradually the list settled back until the effects of the early rise had disappeared and the speculative favorites showed losses on the day. Announcement of the appointment of receivers for certain stores and interests of the Siegel Stores corporation apparently had little effect on the market at the moment, but it was

New Year's Dance—The ladies societies of the B. L. E. & F. will give a dancing party for the railroad organizations at Fraternity hall this evening.

Heavy Calendar in Delta County—The calendar for the January term of circuit court in Delta county will be an extensive one. Court will open in Escanaba January 12 with Judge R. C. Flannigan presiding. Many important jury civil cases are set for trial.

Employees Entertained—The employees of the Marquette Opera House were the guests of the management last evening, following the close of the second performance. A supper was served on the stage by T. C. Bergeron, proprietor of the Cleveland cafe. An excellent menu was prepared.

Hearing Adjourned—The hearing in the case of the People vs. Max Quandt for violation of the milk ordinance, which was set for yesterday morning, has been postponed until this morning, owing to the inability of the defendant's counsel to be present. The case will be heard before Judge S. E. Byrne.

Filed Articles of Association—The Little Lake Lumber company yesterday filed articles of association at the office of the county clerk. The headquarters of the company are at Little Lake, Forsyth township. The firm carries on a business in logs, lumber and timber products, operates a general store, and maintains a general manufacturing and mercantile business.

An Enjoyable Party—About fifty couples were in attendance at the informal dancing party given by Miss Rhea

Lewis at Hotel Marquette Monday evening. Lunch was served during the course of the evening. Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Lyle Doty, of Munising, Miss Jean Nelson, of Gwin, Roy Yungbluth, of Ishpeming, and Lawrence Coman, of Menominee.

Favors New Government—The Escanaba Press says: "J. H. Lewis, proprietor of the Hotel Marquette, Marquette, is a business visitor in Escanaba today. Mr. Lewis is one of the candidates for commissioner under the new commission form of government that has just been adopted. He has a high regard for the new charter, and believes that it will tend to open new era for Marquette."

Many Woodsmen Arriving—Yesterday afternoon nearly fifty lumberjacks arrived in the city from points both east and west on the South Shore line. Work at the lumber camps in this vicinity has picked up considerably during the week past. However, the conditions are not the best at the present time, and some who came in from the west took the afternoon train for points between Sand River and Newberry.

M. E. Sunday School Supper—The Christmas supper and entertainment of the Sunday school of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held this evening. The members are requested to be at the church between 6 and 6:30 o'clock. During the course of the supper there will be a program by the members of the Sunday school. All parents and persons interested in the work of the Sunday school will be welcome.

Good Program at Opera House—La Deone, character comedienne; King Baxter, the educated horse, and Hanley & Murray, comedy singing and talking, are the vaudeville bookings of the Marquette Opera House for the latter half of the week. All three are said to be attractions of the first class. There will be a matinee every afternoon during the remainder of the week, with two performances tomorrow at 2:30 and 4 o'clock. Tenny, the ventriloquist; Woodford's Educated animals, and Hanley & Murray, comedy singers and talkers, will close their engagement this evening.

TESTIMONY GIVEN AT CALUMET CONFLICTING

Witnesses at Coroner's Inquest Disagree as to Cause of the Christmas Panic.

their presents. One girl or woman fainted, he believes. He heard the cry of fire but did not see the person who gave it.

Andrew Saari, who lost a boy in the panic, testified that he heard some one cry out, but did not think this person cried "fire." However everyone else seemed to take up the cry and the panic ensued. He was pushed over the stairs and one of his children fell under him and was killed. He could see from where he lay in the heap of humanity in the stairway that the outer doors were open. He was badly trampled.

John Krojisch, ten years of age, heard the cry of fire and escaped through a window and down a ladder.

John Fritz of Osceola, who was standing at the top of the stairs, outside the hall door or entrance, testified that the only cry of fire he heard was from within the hall itself. No one went up the stairs and gave the alarm and he saw no one with a Citizens' Alliance button. He was pushed down the stairs but was uninjured.

Peter Lantto said he was standing at the entrance to the hall, helping keep order during the distribution of presents. He knew nothing of the alarm of fire, but was pushed over the stairs. He was uninjured.

Mrs. Alfred Lantto heard no cry of fire, but saw a woman at the stage telling everyone to leave the hall.

Mrs. Minnie Palmieri, who was in the kitchen of the hall, heard the commotion, but did not enter the auditorium. There was no fire in the kitchen, she said. She saw many escape by way of the kitchen and the fire escape.

Mrs. Annie Sandretto testified that she could not get into the hall because she had no union book. She returned later, but left before the panic.

Shout Made in Two Tongues.

Mrs. Lousia Lesh testified that she heard the cry of fire in both Austrian and Croatian and English from the back of the hall. It seemed as if the same voice called in both languages. She called to restore order and Mrs. Sizer played the piano. Possibly three or four hundred children had left the hall before the panic. They were leaving all the time. The floor of the hall, however, was nearly filled. Persons who desired entrance were called upon to show union cards or woman's auxiliary membership cards. She did not see who gave the alarm. There were no candles on the Christmas tree and there was no fire in the hall.

Mrs. Minnie Lustig testified that she was on the stage, back of the curtain, and did not hear the cry of fire. She saw no Citizens' Alliance buttons in the hall during the day. Mrs. William Keljo gave similar testimony.

John Burcar, whose nine-year-old sister was killed, testified that he was going from the stage to the doorway when a man suddenly dashed into the hall and cried "fire." He said this man wore a "christy" hat and a long dark overcoat, with a fur collar turned up around his face, the hat being pulled low. The man, he said, had a dark mustache and wore a citizen's Alliance button over the breast pocket. The boy said he was twenty feet from the man. "He just hollered 'fire' and ran and the others ran after him," said the boy. The mother of the youngster testified later. She said she was in the back of the building and saw or heard little.

Hilton Promises Important Testimony.

Judge O. N. Hilton of Denver, senior counsel for the Western Federation, promised at the close of this afternoon's session to bring in important testimony tomorrow. He asked for a little extra time in the morning, and the adjournment was taken until 9 o'clock.

"These people are certain they can identify the man who gave the cry of fire," Judge Hilton said, "but I want a little time to investigate. It is an awful thing, you know, to implicate an innocent person."

Coroner Fisher says that tomorrow morning a voluntary witness will take the stand and testify that there was no cry of fire and that the panic started in the rear of the children for their Christmas presents, in which many of the children fainted, as a result of which the stampede began.

Mahoney Reported Returning.

It is announced tonight that Charles E. Mahoney, vice president of the Western Federation of Miners, is expected to arrive in the district tomorrow morning. No confirmation of this report can be obtained.

John P. Densmore, solicitor for the department of labor, arrived in Houghton Monday evening. Mr. Densmore says that he has come in no sense to conduct a federal investigation, that he has been named by Secretary Wilson as a commissioner of conciliation, to place himself at the disposal of both parties of the strike controversy, in the hope of being able to suggest some plan of settlement. He had nothing else to say when seen today.

There are no strike developments. The matter is at a standstill, with all concerned awaiting the federation's next move and also the action of the strikers Friday, the day it has been stated they must return to work or lose all hope of ever being employed in these mines again, that being the announced dictum of the companies.

Thirteen men applied for work at the Copper Range mines this morning and were obtained.

POPULAR ACTOR SLAIN BY HIS AGED FATHER

Harry Fragon, Vaudeville Performer, Is the Victim in Peculiar Tragedy at Paris.

Paris, Dec. 30.—An extraordinary tragedy occurred in Paris tonight. A popular English vaudeville performer, known on the stage as Harry Fragon, was shot and killed by his eighty-four-year-old father, Victor Pott.

Fragon had dined at a restaurant, and on the way to the theater where he has been appearing he called at the apartments which he occupied with his aged father. His words engaged, and suddenly the father drew a revolver and the son fell with a bullet in his head.

The feeble, old man was greatly shaken and trembled as he told his story to the police. He had bought the revolver, he said, with the intention of committing suicide, because life had become unbearable. His father had brought a woman to the house, in spite of repeated protests. Tonight, he declared, his son was accompanied by the same woman and reproached him for keeping her waiting. He meant to kill himself in their presence and drew the revolver, but instead of putting a bullet into his own temple he fired at his son. Why, he could not explain.

BIG CONCERNS ARE PUT IN HANDS OF RECEIVERS

Curtailment of Bank Credit Hits the Siegel Stores Corporation, New York.

New York, Dec. 30.—Two great department stores in New York and one in Boston, as well as an express company, a wholesale house and a private banking house, operated in connection with the department stores, all allied with and controlled by the Siegel Stores Corporation, of which Henry Siegel of this city was directing head, were placed in the hands of receivers today, through a suit instituted by the holding company.

None of the concerns, according to statements of counsel, is insolvent. The action was taken to conserve their good will, to rehabilitate and reorganize them. The assets and liabilities were not stated. Curtailment of bank credit makes the receivership imperative. The gross earnings heretofore have been estimated at $40,000,000 annually.

The Greenbush-Siegel-Cooper company of this city has no connection with the firms controlled by the Siegel Stores Corporation; and in Chicago, the store of Siegel, Cooper & Co., although the stock is owned by the Siegel Stores Corporation is prospering. Counsel here issued a statement to this effect.

The firms for which receivers were appointed are:

- The Fourteenth street store, New York.
- The Simpson-Crawford, New York.
- Henry Siegel and Frank E. Vogel, doing a private banking business as Henry Siegel & Co., New York.

NEW YORK COMMISSION PUTS BAN ON BOB FITZSIMMONS.

New York, Dec. 30.—That Bob Fitzsimmons, once heavyweight champion boxer of the world, cannot reenter the prize ring in New York was the decision formally reached today by the New York state athletic commission. Fitzsimmons said he was "feeling stronger" than ever, but the commission held he no longer possessed the stamina to stand a fast bout. From a New York ring Fitzsimmons recently challenged any member of the white hope class to engage him in a ten-round bout.

SACRED COLLEGE SWEEP BY DEATH

Unprecedented Situation in Vatican Demands Consistory to Name New Cardinals.

Rome, Dec. 30.—When one dies three die. So runs the ancient tradition of Rome when the death of a cardinal is announced.

The tradition has been verified. First, the learned Spaniard and trusted friend of his holiness, a short while later, the beloved Orsini, dean of the sacred college and a personality of might in the vatican passed away on Dec. 5.

The third to be called was Rampolla, man of wisdom and deep piety, the papal secretary of state under Pope Leo XIII, a papal possibility himself, and once the actual secretary of the cardinalate and rejected by the now obsolete "veto privilege," and but recently mentioned as the probable successor to Pius X, had he outlived the present occupant of the throne of St. Peter.

Quigley a Possibility.

With the unusually large number of vacancies now existing in the sacred college, the early calling of a consistory is inevitable, a fact which will naturally arouse in the mind of the American Catholic hierarchy the possibility of the elevation of one or two notable prelates of the United States.

It was said right after the 1911 consistory, at which the red hat was conferred on Archbishop Farley of New York and O'Donnell of Boston, that the holy father would not consider the advisability of another American cardinal for the present, but that was two and one-half years ago. Many events have happened since to warrant a change of reasoning.

Of course, not the slightest intimation has ever been given here of any intention on the part of the Vatican, the names of two American Archbishops are always brought to mind when the subject presents itself. These are Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul and James E. Quigley of Chicago. The deeds and attributes, both scholarly and ecclesiastical, of these two eminent churchmen are already too well known on the American side of the water to call for extended comment. They are held in equally high regard at Rome.

Falconio Declines Post.

The great question now is who will succeed Cardinal Orsini as camerlingo, or master of ceremonies, of the holy see. The names are commonly mentioned in this connection. They are Cardinals Ferrata, De Lai and Falconio, the last named of the trio being well known to the Catholics of the United States. It is understood that the pope recently approached Cardinal Ferrata personally, but met with a gentle refusal on the ground of increasing years.

His eminence is now approaching his seventy-first birthday. The office of camerlingo is considered next in importance to that of the pope himself.

It would seem now as though the choice lay between Cardinals Ferrata and De Lai, with the chances of appointment about equal. It is certain, however, that every effort will be made for an early assemblage of the consistory, which has been delayed chiefly owing to the delicate state of the Pontiff's health, as it was learned that the fatigue sure to follow upon the many ceremonies necessary would cause serious results to the beloved "Hermit of the Vatican."

NEW YORK STOCKS FAIL TO RETAIN EARLY GAINS; END THE DAY AT LOSSES.

New York, Dec. 30.—The advance in stocks was resumed for a time today. Leading shares were marked up one to two points, but the movement lacked the power of last week's rise and the demand was not sufficient to sustain prices. Gradually the list settled back until the effects of the early rise had disappeared and the speculative favorites showed losses on the day. Announcement of the appointment of receivers for certain stores and interests of the Siegel Stores corporation apparently had little effect on the market at the moment, but it was

Wheat Under Pressure at Chicago.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—Renewed assertions that the Canadian parliament would likely abolish within a month the duty against wheat had a discouraging effect on the efforts to lift prices here today. Closing quotations were as follows: May wheat, 90 1/2; July, 86 1/2; December corn, 60 1/4; May, 68 1/2; standard oats, 39 1/2.

ABYSSINIA CAUSING WORRY TO ENGLAND

With Emperor Menelik Dead, the Country Is Reported Becoming Disorganized.

Aden, Dec. 30.—With Menelik, the Negus, who thought the sun rose and set in the British Isles, out of the way and the procrastinating and feeble policy pursued by the British government in Somaliland, British East Africa, Uganda, and the upper Soudan, where the frontiers of these countries about Abyssinia, there is grave reason to believe that the British foreign and colonial offices will find themselves in a position similar to that of Italy in 1896. The point at issue is the territory of 8,000 square miles ceded by the late Negus to British Somaliland in 1897.

All along the above indicated frontier bandit tribes have been gradually collecting which, although under a sort of government, do not recognize the administration of Adis Ababa. Over these fighting Amhars the central government has very real control. Each clan of Amhars has its chief or "Ras," and its own tribal district. The Ras pays tribute to the monarch, generous tribute if he is a weak Ras, little or nothing if, for the time being, he is strong enough to defy the king. Under these "rases" are lesser chiefs acknowledging fealty, not to the central king, but to their own particular ras. When the king is a strong man, as Menelik was, the central authority, though defective, is in some limited sense real. Since Menelik lost control of the position, there has been practically no central government.

The present king, Leelch I. Ason, has no real authority, according to trustworthy accounts. If there are any at all in Abyssinia who can keep the Amhars in any kind of order, they are Futurary Afar Gorgues and Ras Mikael, but the future of the internal politics of Abyssinia need not be too closely discussed. However so far from being any justification for a hope that what may be called the "Menelik position" (which was not a tolerable one at its best) will be restored, all the indications point to the state of disorder in Abyssinia becoming graver. The usual policy pursued by a ras on getting to the leadership of a tribe, of bleeding it of all he can, is killing settled industry. Both trade and the cultivation of the land seem to be dwindling. If, as all the indications suggest, there are destined to be a series of civil wars to establish one of the many claimants to the throne, destitution among the Abyssinians will increase, and at the same

John Farm, who a few days ago returned home from the West, where he had been employed selling horses, has accepted the management of the Ishpeming livery, and will succeed A. G. Bergstrom, who a few weeks ago tendered his resignation to take effect tomorrow.

Mr. Farm is regarded as one of the best horsemen in this district, and he will doubtless make an efficient manager for the livery company. He has lived in Ishpeming the greater part of his life, and was marshal of this city in 1900 and 1901.

STOCK SET ASIDE FOR STEEL EMPLOYEES

Fifty Thousand Shares of Preferred and Common Stock Available Next Year.

The officials of the United States Steel corporation will this year offer their employees both common and preferred stock at lower prices than they paid for the shares last year. The employees will get the stock at the ruling market quotations, which are $105 for the preferred and $37 for the common. A year ago the employees paid $66 for the common and $100 for the preferred.

The stock will be sold under the profit-sharing plan made effective several years ago, and will be paid for in installments, as in the past. It is announced that 25,000 shares of each class of stock will be set aside to be sold to the employees, but this does not mean that the men will be limited to those amounts.

MISS STACK TO WED.

Escanaba Girl, Wellknown in Ishpeming Is to Wed Western Man.

Miss Nancy Jane Stack, daughter of John K. Stack, a wellknown Escanaba man, is soon to be married to Walter M. Daly, of Portland, Ore., according to announcements received by relatives and friends of the bride-elect here. The Portland, Ore. Oregonian says of the forthcoming nuptials:

"An interesting announcement which came as a genuine surprise to Portland society is the engagement of Miss Nancy Jane Stack, of Escanaba, Mich., to Walter M. Daly, Mr. Daly will leave the day after Christmas for Escanaba, and the wedding will be a smart event in that city on January 3.

"Miss Stack is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John King Stack, a sister of John King Stack, Jr., whose wedding to Miss Cecile Wiley was a notable event in Portland a year ago last summer. Miss Stack passed several months in Portland, coming here to be bridesmaid at her brother's wedding, and gained much popularity during her visit here. She was also here on a previous visit at the time Miss Marguerite Wiley became the bride of John F. Daly, at which wedding she was also bridesmaid.

"Mr. Daly is one of the popular clubmen in town, and is the son of Mrs. M. F. Daly, a brother of Irvine, John F. and Miss Irene Daly. He is a graduate of Notre Dame College, in Indiana, and is treasurer of the Title & Trust Company of this city.

"At the wedding Miss Stack will be attended by her sister, Miss Loretta Stack, as maid of honor, and Orvine Daly, who is at present a student in Princeton, will be his brother's best man.

"The Stack family is one of the oldest and most prominent in Escanaba, Mich., and the bride-elect will be a welcome acquisition to Portland society."

REV. C. D. ATWELL BUILDS NEW CHURCH

Former Ishpeming Pastor Now Located at Park Ridge, a Suburb of Chicago.

Rev. Charles D. Atwell, for several years rector of Grace Episcopal church, who left here six and a half years ago for Traverse City, last Sunday conducted the dedicatory services at a new church, erected under his supervision at Park Ridge, a suburb of Chicago. An interesting feature in connection with the church is the fact that the rector carved the cornerstone, also a credence which was designed as a memorial to his parents and to Mrs. Atwell.

The Chicago Tribune of Monday gave the following account of the dedication: "St. Mary's Episcopal church at Park Ridge was dedicated yesterday with services which began with the celebration of the Holy Eucharist at 7:30, followed by a full choral Eucharist at 10:30, with a sermon by Bishop Charles P. Anderson and a choral even song with a sermon by the Rev. George Craig Stewart, rector of St. Luke's church, Evanston. In connection with the morning service six persons were confirmed.

"The priest in charge of the new church is the Rev. Charles David Atwell, who was appointed to the church Nov. 1, 1910.

"The cost of the church was $25,000. The principal donors were Miss Mary A. Wilson, C. H. Penny and sister of Park Ridge and Mrs. Arthur Penny, formerly of Park Ridge, now a resident of California.

CLANCEY PERSONS.

Wellknown Ishpeming Couple United in Marriage Yesterday.

Thomas Clancey and Miss Louise Persons were united in marriage yesterday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, in St. John's church. Rev. J. A. Keul, the pastor, performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives and a large party of friends of the contracting parties. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Edna Persons, and Theo Johnston was best man.

Following the marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Clancey and their attendants repaired to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. G. R. Persons, at the Salisbury location, where a reception was given them by relatives and intimate friends. A wedding dinner was served later, Mr. and Mrs. Clancey then departing on the evening train for Chicago and other points, to be absent ten days or two weeks.

Mr. Clancey and his bride were both born and raised in Ishpeming, and they are among the city's most popular young people. Mr. Clancey who is a son of James Clancey, is an attorney associated with W. P. Belden. His bride taught school at the Salisbury for several years until the close of the fall term.

Mr. and Mrs. Clancey will start house-keeping on their arrival home in a dwelling already furnished on Maple street, adjoining the home of his parents.

Among the relatives in attendance from out of the city were Mrs. Edgerton Wing, son and daughter, of Detroit.

CALIFORNIA WOMAN SERIOUSLY ALARMED.

"A short time ago I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs and caused me a great deal of annoyance. I would have had coughing spells and my lungs were so sore and inflamed I began to be seriously alarmed. A friend recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, saying she had used it for years. I bought a bottle and it relieved my cough the first night, and in a week I was rid of the cold and soreness of my lungs," writes Miss Marie Gerber, Sawtelle, Col. For sale by All Dealers.

POLLS WILL BE OPEN UNTIL 8

This Arrangement for Primary a Week from Next Monday Increases Likelihood of Large and Representative Vote on All the Candidates for City Offices.

Section of New Charter Proposes Disqualification for Either Treating or for Villifying an Opposing Candidate—Lull in Campaign at the Present Time.

The likelihood that there will be a large vote in the primary a week from next Monday is increased by the fact that the polls will be open until 8 o'clock in the evening.

The charter does not specify how late the polls shall be open for a primary, so the city officials decided that they would be governed by the general primary law of the state.

With the polls open until 8 o'clock, the great majority of voters will have no excuse for failure to participate in the primary. They will have two or three opportunities at least during the day to vote and two hours' time after 6 o'clock. It probably means that the total vote will be several hundred larger than it would otherwise be.

Just how large a proportion of the voters will go to the polls is a matter of conjecture, and there is little basis for prophecies, as Marquette has never before had an election like the primary will be. Always heretofore, when city offices have been at stake, it has been possible to work up combinations and ward tickets have been an important factor in developing interest.

But in the forthcoming primary there will be no party tickets, no nominees for ward offices to help the candidates for mayor out and a ballot that will practically defy tampering of any kind. In practical application, both among the candidates for mayor and the candidates for commission, it will be a case of everybody for himself, and the devil take the hindmost. No candidate is likely to do any boosting for any other candidate with the knowledge that he is doing so he will invite reprisals by the friends of other men also in the race for honors. The candidates are generally keeping a discreet silence on the score of the other aspirants.

"Treating" Tabooed.

The new charter throws certain limitations about the conduct of the candidates. Section 12, of Chapter 6, for instance, provides:

"Treating and Villifying. It shall be unlawful for any candidate for any office created by this charter at any primary or municipal election, and likewise for any person in his behalf, either directly or indirectly, to buy for, or give to, or cause to be bought or to be given to, any elector, any cigars or intoxicating liquors, and the candidate who shall violate any of the provisions hereof, or shall permit the same to be violated in his behalf, or shall be guilty of making, or causing to be made, any untrue or unjust statement reflecting on the character of any of his opposing candidates during any campaign, shall be disqualified to receive the nomination, in case of a nominating campaign, and shall be disqualified for holding office, in case of an election campaign. The intent of this section is to prohibit and prevent the practice of treating during a campaign and of villifying candidates for public office."

Names Will Rotate.

City Recorder Donovan is now arranging the form of ballot for the primary. The charter provides for the same rotation of the names of the candidates as does the general primary law of the state. The names of each candidate for mayor and of each candidate for commissioner will be printed first on the list on an equal number of ballots, and each successive ballot handed out to voters will have a different arrangement of the names.

This will preclude the instruction of any of the voters by telling them to vote for a candidate whose name is found at a certain place on the ballot. Voters who are not able to read English will have to ask the election officials for assistance in marking their ballots.

Another section of the charter provides that the ballots shall carry a facsimile of the signature of the recorder, so the first thing under the title, "official ballot," will be a facsimile of the signature of Dan S. Donovan.

Both the primary and the election of the new officials will be held at the usual polling places in the several wards.

For the time being there is a distinct lull in the preliminaries to fitting Marquette out with a new government. But few of the candidates are taking any steps to recommend themselves to the voters. What there is of an active campaign before the primary will likely go over until next week, after New Year's.

From "A Voter."

To the Editor of The Mining Journal: Now that all the entries for the coming primary and municipal elections are filed, the voter will naturally want to know just what the individual candidates stand for and advocate in municipal affairs.

It has occurred to the writer that perhaps there are many other voters like himself, who are interested in seeing good government follow the adoption of our new charter, who would like to suggest that if you were to throw the columns of your paper open to the various candidates they would be more than glad to avail themselves of the opportunity to acquaint the voters with their views and ideas.

A VOTER.

PRELIMINARY INQUIRY.

Government Inspectors Will Investigate C. C. Hand Disaster.

United States Steamboat Inspectors York and Gooding, of this city, are conducting a preliminary inquiry into the burning of the steamer C. C. Hand, which occurred during the early part of the fall near Summer Island, Lake Michigan. The steamer was bound down Lake Michigan to Milwaukee, carrying a cargo of 3,000 tons of coal, when she took fire. She was a total loss. No responsibility for the fire has been placed. If the preliminary inquiry warrants the action, the inspectors will call a formal hearing.

HEARING IS RESUMED.

Taking of Testimony in South Shore Rate Case Is Again in Progress.

The taking of testimony in the South Shore rate case was resumed yesterday in United States district court before H. L. Baker, of Detroit, special master in chancery. It is not known how long the present session will last, but it will probably be all of two weeks. Roger I. Wykes, of Grand Rapids, is counsel for the state. A. B. Eldredge, of this city, president of the South Shore; Pearce Butler, of St. Paul, and J. E. Tracy, of Marquette, are attorneys for the railroad.

William P. Belden, of Ishpeming, and John G. Stradley, of the Soo, were the witnesses whose testimony was taken yesterday. They were questioned as to the value of parcels of land along the right-of-way of the railroad. A. Parker, of Lansing, and Dar Luther, of Grand Rapids, are also here for the hearing.

SUNDAY OPENING OF POSTOFFICE FAVORED

Is Recommended by First Assistant Postmaster General in His Annual Report.

The assertion of Daniel C. Roper, first assistant postmaster general, in his annual report that he is opposed to the closing of postoffices on Sunday has been the subject of considerable comment of late. Mr. Roper believes that the rule prohibiting Sunday delivery of mail has added largely to the cost of the postal service and has materially lessened its efficiency. He suggests that it would be in the interest of both the service and the employes to amend the law so as to authorize Sunday work and grant compensatory time to employes assigned to Sunday duty.

The opening of the postoffice of Sundays would be greatly welcomed by Marquette people. Under the present plan only transients and persons renting lock boxes may secure their mail on that day. The general delivery window is opened only a short time, for the benefit of the travelers. While the postoffice employes favored the Sunday closing, they are now desirous of seeing the former plan in operation again. The mail accumulates over Sunday, and the carriers each Monday have double the work they have on other days of the week.

John D. Mangum yesterday afternoon said that he personally favors the opening of the postoffice at noon on Sunday, believing that the closing is an injustice to many persons.

More than a year ago several hundred thousand commercial travelers, merchants and other businessmen petitioned the postoffice department to open the offices on Sunday for the delivery of mail. Petitions were circulated in Marquette and were signed by many. The movement was started by the Commercial Travelers' organization and several other societies. The congressmen were asked to use their influence to have the postoffices opened for a short time on Sundays. This was later arranged, particularly for the benefit of the transients.

Guild Hall Party—A "house night" dancing party will be conducted at the Guild Hall Saturday evening by the Ladies' guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church.

F. J. Coughlin, of Calgary, Alberta, arrived in the city yesterday morning coming here to see W. A. French, who is seriously ill. Mr. Coughlin is a brother of Mrs. French.

All barber shops will be open until 11 o'clock tonight, and will be closed tomorrow.

Mrs. Frank Daley and daughter, Mrs. Austin Harmon, left Saturday for Green Bay, Chicago and Detroit. Mrs. Daley will spend the winter in Detroit with relatives and Mrs. Harmon will return to Marquette in two weeks.

K. P. ATTENDANCE CONTEST.

Will Close February 10 to Be Followed By Banquet to Members.

The Marquette lodge of the Knights of Pythias has made arrangements for an attendance contest, which will be conducted from the present time to February 10. The lodge has been divided into two sections, with Harry Glover and Arlington Ham as captains. The first results of the contest were shown at the meeting of the lodge last evening, when an unusually large assemblage was present. At the close of the contest the long side will be required to entertain the members at a supper on February 17, when the annual roll call meeting will be held.

On that date the organization will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary. Plans have already been laid to make it one of the biggest social affairs in the history of the lodge.

The Marquette Knights have commenced preparations for the meeting of the Upper Peninsula league, to be held in Ishpeming next September, when the state grand lodge will also meet there. A set of elaborate robes have been ordered and the training of the degree team for the contests at the league gathering has been begun.

NOTICE.

Munising, Mich., Dec. 12, 1913. The regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the First National bank of Alger county will be held at its banking room in the village of Munising on Tuesday, the 13th day of January, 1914 between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., for the election of directors and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting. G. SHERMAN COLLINS, Vice President and Cashier.

BI-MONTHLY PAYCAUSES SOME DISSATISFACTION

Hasn't Helped Merchants' Business Any, It Is Said—Not Favored by Many Employes.

Although the semi-monthly payday has been in force only a short time, Marquette merchants, the greater number at least, have formed opinions as to the operations of the new statute. Most agree that business has been made more stable and uniform, but there seems to be some dissatisfaction, not only among the merchants but among the men who come under the provisions of the act. It would appear that the monthly pay system is in favor with the greater number.

The amount of savings deposits at some banks has fallen since the new law went into effect, and this is attributed largely to a belief that most wage-earners are unable to lay aside any money under the twice-a-month pay plan. One Marquette merchant said yesterday, in speaking of the effect of the law:

"The semi-monthly pay plan has made business more stable and uniform. Our business formerly came in a lump, but now, with a payday every few days, it is more evenly distributed throughout the month. The amount of cash business has not been increased to any appreciable extent, and some of the merchants are complaining that collections are harder than formerly, although I do not find it that way."

That the bi-monthly plan is not working out satisfactorily was the assertion of a Marquette hardware dealer yesterday afternoon. "Collections are not as good as formerly," he said, "and payments on stoves and other large bills are being 'skipped' occasionally. Possibly the system will be all right as soon as it can be handled in the right manner. During the last few months, it has kept our store open at least twice as many evenings as formerly, but we are now planning on closing all evenings, with the exception of Saturdays, during the winter months. There has been no increase in the amount of cash business; in fact, this has shown a slight falling off."

A furniture dealer, when asked his opinion as to the new plan, said: "Our cash sales have not increased any, but our collections are slightly better than formerly. It is too early to tell how great an extent the new law is affecting our business. Considering the fact that many men are present working only three and four days a week, this may be making the difference in our business."

PRESENT MONTH HAS BEEN EXCEPTIONAL

Less Snow Recorded by Weather Bureau Than During Any December Since 1891.

That December (1913) has been an unusual month is shown by the records of the Marquette office of the United States weather bureau for the past forty-two years. Since December, 1891, or in a period of twenty-two years, there has been no time in any December when there has been less snow than at the present time. On the 21st day of December, 1891, one inch of snow was measured. Yesterday there was 1.8 inches on the ground here. In other respects the present month is unusual. On but few days has the temperature fallen below the freezing point, and the down-town streets are now devoid of snow. The following are the depths of snow recorded in Marquette on the last day of each December since 1905:

1905, 16 inches; 1906, 15.9; 1907, 6.8; 1908, 10.3; 1909, 19.1; 1910, 32.5; 1911, 20.1; 1912, 6.4; and 1913, 1.8. In December, 1891, there was one inch on the 31st day of the month. Two years later 37.4 inches was recorded, the greatest amount at that time since the Marquette weather office was opened. In December, 1896, 2.2 inches was recorded.

Reports of the depths of snow in various parts of the upper peninsula were received yesterday morning at the Marquette weather bureau office, as follows: St. Ignace, 2 inches; Iron River and Iron Mountain, trace; Ironwood, one inch; Newberry, .5 inch; Calumet, 2.5 inches; Maple Ridge, four inches; Marquette, 1.8 inches.

ARE MEETING WITH FAVOR.

Christmas Savings Plans Are Being Well Received.

The Christmas Savings club of the Marquette National bank and the Christmas Money club of the Marquette County Savings bank, which were opened Monday and yesterday, are meeting with such success as to surprise the officials of both banks. Under the terms of the contracts, depositors may open accounts with a small sum, increasing the initial deposit each week for fifty weeks by the amount of the first payment. The plan may also be applied in reverse order. None of the deposits may be withdrawn until a short time preceding Christmas in 1914.

While originated as a plan to provide depositors with a fund for Christmas buying, many persons are adopting it for more practical uses. Some have started the fund to pay their taxes for next year, and others are making deposits for a variety of purposes. The greater number of the deposits that have been made are those of adults, although some children have started accounts.
