The House You Buy Your Piano of----

-Look well to its standing. Not only is there satisfaction in having an instrument whose superior worth is fully established, but there's satisfaction, too, in buying of a house whose high standing is known to all. And, besides, it's good to feel that the house you deal with considers no transaction really closed unless your satisfaction is complete and permanent.

To state that you bought your Piano of the House of Grinnell tells of superior quality of greatest value, of strongest protection, of matchless service.

We have been selling Musical Instruments for nearly Thirty-five years-an established home concern! That we have the confidence of the public-that it's to your advantage to buy here, the fact that we have sold more Pianos in the state than all other Houses combined, conclusively shows.

YOU CANNOT AFFORD TO OVERLOOK THE STANDING OF THE HOUSE IN CONSIDERING WHERE TO BUY!
