

WORKS ASSAILS MEXICAN POLICY OF GOVERNMENT

California Republican Senator Attacks the Course of the Administration as Weak and Humiliating—'Makes a Dark Page in Our History,' He Declares.

Americans Murdered, Women Outraged and Property Destroyed, and Yet Nothing Has Been Done, He Says—He Would Send U. S. Soldiers After Benton's Body.

Washington, March 6.—The expected discussion in the open senate of the Mexican situation began today with a speech by Senator Works, Republican of California, who arraigned the government's Mexican policy.

Predicting that the Mexican situation is a matter with which the United States shall be forced to deal in some decisive way, and that very soon, Senator Works sharply criticized the Mexican policy.

History Will Be Read With Shame. To speak of the relations of the United States with Mexico, Senator Works asserted was an unpleasant task.

For three long years American citizens have been murdered, their wives and daughters outraged, their homes pillaged and their property destroyed.

Senator Works outlined the events in the history of Mexico leading up to the present difficulties and the refusal of this government to recognize Huerta after the assassination of Madero.

Demands Upon Huerta Preposterous. The demand of the president in his message to Huerta that there should be an armistice could not have been complied with, the senator continued.

Naturally, Huerta refused to consider these proposals, continued the senator, "what else could have been expected?"

At last a prominent British subject was brutally murdered by Villa or by his orders. Public indignation ran high. The people were aroused, but the state department maintained its usual degree of composure.

Humble Attitude Assumed. "This case was one to put our good faith and our courage to the test. The poor man asked for the body of his dead husband, buried on Mexican soil.

GRAVE CHARGES FILED AGAINST A BIG RAILROAD

Books Accounts of the St. Paul and Its Puget Sound Line Manipulated to Create Better Market for Stocks, Says the Interstate Commerce Commission.

'Serious Irregularities' Disclosed Are Regarded as Indefensible—Company Is a Valuable Property, Nevertheless, It Is Added, and Reforms Are Promised.

Washington, March 6.—Charges that the book accounts of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company, and of its subsidiary, the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound, have been so manipulated as to mislead the public and tend to create a more favorable market for the securities of the roads were contained in a report made public today by the interstate commerce commission.

While criticizing and condemning the accounting methods followed by the company, however, Commissioner Harlan, who prepared the report, said, "We do not mean to be understood by anything here said as intimating that the St. Paul company is not a valuable property and is not achieving the results reasonably anticipated from the extension of its lines to the Pacific coast."

Comptroller to Blame, Says Company. The disclosures by the investigation of what Commissioner Harlan described in the report as serious irregularities in the accounting system of the road were regarded as indefensible, although the officers of the St. Paul company explained that they "resulted from negligence, inattention and a lack of familiarity on the part of the company's comptroller and those under him with the requirements of the commission."

There is no sufficient basis of record," says the commissioner's report, "to enable us to condemn or acquit the comptroller either of full responsibility or of any share of responsibility for the condition of the accounts of these companies; but there are grounds for thinking that his responsibility was very materially qualified and minimized by the instructions and directions given him by the executive and other officials."

A general admonition contained in the report made it clear that the commission hereafter will hold to strict accountability all common carriers for the accuracy and truthfulness of their statements.

What the Allegations Are. The principal charges of manipulation cited are: That the St. Paul company overstated its income for 1910 by more than $2,000,000.

That for 1911 the road reported a $2,000,000 decrease in income which it falsely informed its stockholders was due to failure to obtain higher freight rates and to increased cost of labor.

That the Puget Sound company falsely reported a valuation of its properties which was $1,000,000 in excess of the cash investment made.

That by reduction of the rate of depreciation the St. Paul road has inflated its net operation income $500,000 a year.

President Earling's Explanation. Chicago, March 6.—An explanation of the conditions on which were based the charges made today by the interstate commerce commission against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway was made tonight by A. J. Earling, president of the road.

Mr. Earling gave the reason for the apparent over-valuation of the investment in the Puget Sound road. He asserted there had been "no intention to make other than accurate statements of its operating or financial condition for the purpose of promoting the sale of its stock or for any other purpose."

Mr. Earling declared that an apparent over-valuation of $1,000,000 of the Puget Sound line was due to the necessity of complying with the laws of the state of Washington, in which the road was incorporated. When it was found that this was not in compliance with the rules of the interstate commerce commission, Mr. Earling said, all the accounts were revised in conformity with the requirements of the commission. This was about a year ago, he said.

Stock Drops Four Points. New York, March 6.—Decided weakness developed today in the stock market. Railroad stocks were the chief sufferers.

Charles P. Taft, owner of the majority stock of the Chicago Cubs, was present at the meeting, but would not say what had been accomplished toward the sale of his stock.

BECAUSE FAT MAN STICKS IN A HOLE, CHICAGO POLICE NAB TEN IN GAMBLING RAID.

Chicago, March 6.—One man who was too fat to get through a hole in the wall caused the arrest of himself and nine others today when the police raided a basement gambling room downtown.

When the police came, the players fled for a small hole in the rear wall, planned for an emergency exit. One escaped and the fat man, who was second, got stuck, preventing the others from gaining their liberty.

IOWA STATE BOARD ORDERS STERILIZATION OF CONVICTS.

Four Meet Death in Fire at Saxon. Ashland, Wis., March 6.—Four persons were burned to death and one is dying in an Ashland hospital as a result of a fire which destroyed Patrick Auger's boarding house and saloon at Saxon, Wis., early today. The victims were: TILLIE AUGER, aged twenty-four, daughter of Patrick Auger. THREE UNKNOWN MEN.

Anna Bauer, of Butternut, Wis., is in a hospital in a critical condition. This was the sixth fire in the neighborhood within a year. It is believed the fires have been started by incendiaries. Several arrests have been made.

Worldwide Red Flag Strike Coming. Latola said Brander had told the strikers that after they had won the copper strike they would go into the mine outside the houses occupied by non-union men; they could not sleep. The speakers, he said, predicted that shortly all workmen in the world would be united under the red flag.

August Beck, chief of the Calumet & Hecla special police, said old men who were unable to get out of the way were kicked and beaten by strikers during disturbances the first two days of the strike. He said J. C. Lowmyer, a member of the union executive committee, and William Rickard, president of the Calumet union, were present when some of these assaults were committed.

Volunteers Called to Attack 'Scabs.' Albin Kuvava, a striking federationist who renounced the union and returned to work at the Quincy mine on Jan. 13, was a witness at the night session. He testified that he attended meetings at the union hall in Hancock at which Victor Brander called for volunteers for various purposes.

On cross-examination, Kuvava admitted drawing strike benefits up to the time he went back to work. He testified they had been struck with clubs and rocks because they would not quit work.

BOGUS PRINCE AND LORD HOODWINK LONDON SOCIETY. London, March 6.—All London is laughing over the easy manner in which Claude Grahame-White, the aviator, and a number of the members of the nobility who follow the flying pastime were duped recently by a bogus crown prince of Wurttemberg and his equally bogus friend, Lord Hope.

After enjoying a free flight with Grahame-White, the "prince" favored the assembled fashionable persons with his company and then disappeared, leaving "Lord Hope" to bask in his reflected glory. This the "lord" did so well that he has been a favored guest of London society leaders for the last week.

It now develops that neither the "prince" nor the "lord" is mentioned in the Almanach de Gotha or Debrett's peerage, and society is wondering the reason for the hoax, since the men took nothing but an expensive lot of entertainment.

UNIONIST LEADER CARSON IGNORES WOMEN BESIEGERS. London, March 6.—After laying siege for forty hours to the doorstep of the home of Sir Edward Carson, with the object of urging him to promise woman suffrage in Ireland as one of the conditions of his accepting Premier Asquith's compromise on the home rule bill, a party of militant suffragettes late tonight gave up hope for the present of seeing the Ulster leader. When the besiegers left their posts, however, they did so vowing to resume their vigil tomorrow.

TELL TALES OF LAWLESSNESS IN COPPERDOM

Score of Men Heard by Investigators at Houghton Describe Tactics Charged to the Western Federation—Testify to Assaults and Other Acts of Like Nature.

Statements of John Latola, ex-Unionist, Incriminating Strike Leaders, Are Expunged on Motion of Attorney Hilton—Violence Preached, Said the Witness Houghton, Mich., March 6.—A score of witnesses told today the congressional committee investigating the Michigan copper strike of assaults on non-union men and other acts of violence committed by strikers and their sympathizers.

John Latola, a Finnish miner, told the committee he had given up his card in the Western Federation of Miners last January and returned to work because he discovered the strike leaders were preaching unlawful doctrine. He said he had become convinced soon after the strike opened that the leaders stood for lawlessness, but had remained out until January because of "public opinion."

Latola's testimony was expunged from the report on motion of strike attorney, of counsel to the strikers, on the ground it did not show that unlawful acts were directly traceable to specific speeches of the leaders.

Congressman Switzer asked to be recorded as favoring the admission of Latola's testimony. Latola said he had reached his conclusion through listening to speeches by Victor Brander and others.

"Brander is not a member of the federation," said Attorney Hilton. "He is a socialist," said S. H. Lawton, of counsel for the operators, "and socialism is the doctrine and the Western Federation of Miners is the practice."

Worldwide Red Flag Strike Coming. Latola said Brander had told the strikers that after they had won the copper strike they would go into the mine outside the houses occupied by non-union men; they could not sleep. FOOD PRICES' AVERAGE STILL WELL ABOVE THAT OF TWELVE MONTHS AGO.

Washington, March 6.—Food prices in the United States reached the highest level in twenty-four years on Nov. 15, 1913. Since that date there had been a slight decline in prices, though the average still is well above that of a year ago.

The department of labor today made public a report showing the retail prices of the principal articles of food in forty of the most important industrial cities of the country. The report further points out that the decline "was more than counter-balanced by an advance in the price of eggs to a level never before reached."

For three of the articles—eggs, cornmeal and milk—the highest price was reached in November. For the remaining twelve articles—sugar, butter, hens, flour, sun-dried steak, round steak, ribs, roast, bacon, ham, lard, pork chops and potatoes—the prices were below the maximum quoted earlier in the year.

According to a statement issued by the department of commerce today, the importations of foodstuffs show a remarkable increase during the decade 1903-1913. Breadstuffs and meats each quadrupled their imports.

GEN. KELLEY'S ARMY TRAVELING IN STATE

California Counties, Shifting Men Along, Furnish Transportation and Meals.

San Francisco, March 6.—"Pass them along," is the plan on which California communities are dealing with "General" Kelley's army of unemployed, now on its way to Washington, D. C. As a result, the tourists are traveling in state, and it cost Contra Costa county $709.50 in railroad fares today to ship the army to Benicia, Salano county. Benicia at once made preparations to send it on to Yolo and Sacramento counties. An appeal to the state railroad commission brought permission for the Southern Pacific to grant a reduced fare, but the railroad company itself refused to be a party to any plan "for dumping a lot of undesirable onto unloading communities" and the Salano county officials then agreed to pay first-class fares, as had Contra Costa.

There was a hitch while the railroad company rounded up cars to make a special train and the army camped at Benicia for the night. With Adjutant General Forbes of the California National Guard on hand to see if there would be any need of calling out state troops to preserve order.

Contra Costa county was lavish in its hospitality today. It distributed to the two camps of marauders three thousand loaves of bread, six quarters of beef, fifty sacks of potatoes, twelve sacks of onions, a wagonload of fish, and tea, coffee and rice by the hundredweight.

THREATEN BUSY TIME FOR NEW YORK POLICE

Tannenbaum's Aids Plan to Continue Crusade While Leader Is in Jail.

New York, March 6.—Frank Tannenbaum, the twenty-one-year-old Industrial Worker of the World and leader of a small army of unemployed that has been invading churches in this city for the purpose of getting food and lodging, was today held for the grand jury in connection with the raid on Wednesday night on St. Alphonsus' church by Tannenbaum and 190 of his followers.

Tannenbaum, who had been released on $7,500 bail, after his preliminary hearing, was held in the same bail. The charge against him is inciting a riot, a felony. Two members of his "army" were sentenced earlier in the day to thirty days each at hard labor. Tannenbaum did not take the stand in his own behalf.

Max Appel, secretary of the International Workingmen's Defense league, organized last Wednesday night, stated tonight that $30,000 had already been raised for the defense of Tannenbaum. By the end of the week, he said, the sum of $200,000 would be available for the purpose.

Frank Strong Hamilton and Harry Kline, lieutenants of Tannenbaum, will meanwhile carry on the movement, according to Appel. Tomorrow afternoon a mass meeting would be held for the unemployed at Union Square, he said, and the next place to be visited by the men would be Temple Beth-El. Appel announced that the unemployed had an invitation to go to St. Mark's church next Monday.

INCOME TAX PROMISES TO YIELD $50,000,000 ANNUALLY.

Washington, March 6.—The income tax law bids fair to live up to the expectations of the administration by producing about $50,000,000 annually in revenue, paid by close to 425,000 individuals. It became known that more than four hundred thousand individuals had made returns in the sixty-three collection districts up to Monday at midnight, when the time limit expired. From these individuals it was understood the government probably would collect more than $40,000,000. It has been the opinion that thousands of individuals would take advantage of the thirty days' extension of time granted in case of absence and sickness and it is expected that the final figures will show at least twenty-five thousand more reporting.

SPY IS WITNESS AT THE DENVER INVESTIGATION

Arthur Langowski, a Union Man, Relates to the Congressional Sub-Committee How So-Called Plots Were Hatched and How He Helped Carry Them Out.

In the Pay of the Coal Operators, Hired to Obtain Information, He Says, He Took Bribe Money While Exploding Dynamite for Miners' Organization.

Denver, Colo., March 6.—Arthur Langowski, aged twenty-one, swore before the federal strike investigating committee here late today that he received $3 a day from the coal operators while exploding dynamite for the United Mine Workers of America.

The youth admitted that he was "watching both sides" and received pay from each party to the labor war.

Secretary-Treasurer of the Union. Langowski testified that he was secretary and treasurer of the Sopris union of the Mine Workers. "They consulted me about everything they planned to do," he added. "I tried to prevent them doing things that would have caused loss of life. They tried to get me to help blow up bridges with dynamite, but I said: 'What's the use of trying to dynamite bridges, where there are no guards? You'll just be found dead the next morning, with the dynamite on you.'"

"So we decided to explode the dynamite out in the prairie, to scare the guards. There were explosions in the neighborhood every night for six weeks, before the soldiers came. I helped pull off seven of these explosions, and was paid $2 or $3 each time for my work."

Says Men Waited Chance to Shoot. "One time we put four sticks of dynamite in a keg. It made a big noise, but did not do any damage or bring the guards down where we could shoot them."

"Did you have guns with you?" the witness was asked.

"Of course we had."

"Where did the money come from?"

"I suppose the companies furnished it." The witness explained that at the same time he was receiving $3 a week strike benefits from the union, in addition to the bonuses he declared he was paid for dynamiting.

"At a recent union meeting I heard President Labone of our union say that as soon as this investigating committee had gone away and the militia had been withdrawn, strikers would start things again," the witness asserted.

His Life Threatened, He Claims. The boy declared he had played his self-proclaimed dual role until a few days ago, "when the union men said I was a spy and threatened to hang me."

The witness added "I decided I would give them something to hang me for."

Langowski came to Denver, he said, to testify before the committee. He declared there were two other men in the Sopris union who were dealing with the operators or the officers of the law.

"I was coming to Denver with my wife and in the senate chamber during his testimony, because I don't want to get shot right here in this room."

"Who are you afraid of?" demanded E. P. Costigan, for the miners. "Do you think John Lawson, here, would shoot you?"

"No, but he might get some other guy to do it."

Later a member of the committee asked the witness if he thought when the strike was called that all the men who refused to quit the mines would get shot.

"Yes, I thought they would get shot, or half-shot," he replied, and explained that he meant by the latter term the men would be beaten by the strikers.

Langowski said he went on strike last September, but now expected to go back to work in the Sopris mine of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company. He admitted that he was introduced to E. A. Weitzel, manager of the fuel department of the company, on a train on the way to Denver.

Mesingale Testifies He Hired Youth. Following Langowski's testimony, the operators called Montgomery Mesingale, now in jail.

The witness said that Langowski one day went to him and said he wanted to quit the union and go back to work. "I told him," Mesingale continued, "that I thought he could do more good by staying in the union trying to prevent crimes and telling me of the plans of the strikers. I told him that if he would do this, I would try to get him a job when the strike was over and would pay him $3 a day for his services in giving me information."

Mesingale had furnished the money to Langowski as well as a fare to Denver to testify. He supposed the Colorado Fuel & Iron company would reimburse him.

Mesingale testified that he had hired union men to obtain information in 1911 and 1910, and had been reimbursed by W. H. Reno, special agent for the Colorado Fuel & Iron company.

STILL THE SAME HUERTA.

The fact that Huerta occupies a less prominent place in the press dispatches while the world is busy attending on the surprising performances of the Constitutionals, and the unheard of conduct of their real leader, Villa, does not make Huerta any the less an undesirable citizen.

The assertion, so frequently made, that if the President had recognized the de facto government in Mexico without hesitancy, strengthening Huerta's arm by an approval that would have made it possible for him to raise money freely, the country would now be settled in peace can fairly be challenged.

The elder Diaz enjoyed the support of the foreign powers and was able to borrow without stint on both sides of the Atlantic. He was in possession of a great armed force and had behind him the prestige of decades of materially successful administration. The Constitutionalist revolution under Madero was largely a family affair, insufficiently financed and depending on the rawest of volunteer levies for support in the field. Yet its progress was steady and its final issue was the ignominious flight of Diaz.

In the light of this recent history, it is difficult to find warrant for the confidence of those American newspapers and public men who insist that if Huerta had been given a free head he could have restored peace. He came to power through a welter of blood and with a display of treachery that aroused worldwide abhorrence. At his best he did not have the capacity of Diaz. He became president of a country riven by revolution and internecine strife. How can it fairly be said that he could, under any circumstances, have re-established the authority of the federal government when Diaz, a stronger man, failed to maintain it even under much more favorable circumstances? The underlying facts of the situation indicate that even if Huerta had been recognized and supported the Constitutionals would still be in the field, and the greater part of the country would still be in disorder.

Huerta would not have succeeded where Diaz failed for the reason that, whatever the solution of the Mexican problem may be, it is clear that the country is not to enjoy permanent peace under a despotism. That it cannot enjoy this peace under men of the class now leading the Constitutionals does not invalidate the first stated proposition. What the issue will finally be no one can prophesy, and the policy of "watchful waiting" though it is difficult to say what policy would have given better results—unfortunately, with the passing of time, seems only to make the outcome more involved in doubt.

FORTUNATE MINNESOTA.

In 1913 Minnesota received $800,000 income from royalties and leases of mineral lands to which it holds title. The income from these lands will increase annually for many years, and will, before the ore deposits are exhausted, bring the state tens of millions of dollars.

Meanwhile Michigan will not be getting a cent. Minnesota was fortunate both in the date and the conditions existing when its mineral values were developed. It held title to large acreages in the mineral belt and public opinion demanded that such title be retained, that the commonwealth might share in the expected development. The Michigan mineral fields first developed in the middle of the last century, before there was any public sentiment on the subject of the conservation and preservation to the people of the riches of the public domain.

Thus practically all the mineral wealth of the state found its way into private hands without any reservation to the commonwealth of a share in the tremendous profits it was destined to produce. If there had existed in Michigan the sentiment found in Minnesota at a later day, tens of millions of dollars in royalties and charges would have poured in to the state's coffers during the past four or five decades, and there would be other tens of millions to come. The state now reserves mineral rights on its public domain, but the provision to this end was only made a few years ago, so late was the development of a sane public opinion on the subject, when the choicer mineral lands had long since passed from the state to private owners. It is unlikely that Michigan will ever have any considerable revenue from this source.

If President Wilson's desire to have the canal tolls legislation revamped is met by congress it will be partly for the reason that there is a substantial body of opinion in the country that he is everlastingly right in his views, and partly because of the large number of Democrats in congress who apparently have reached the opinion that whenever the President puts his foot down the only safe thing for them to do is to jump at his bidding.

HI GILL'S SECOND CHANCE.

"I want to be mayor again," said Hiram Gill, the recalled executive of Seattle, a few weeks ago, "to show folks that I can run this town right. I used to think that the 'wide open' policy was good for business. I honestly thought that. But I do not now believe that the wide open policy makes for permanent prosperity. And it certainly isn't good for health and morals."

"I've got a couple of boys," the mayor continued. "The older one knows I was recalled. The younger boy will know before long. Occasionally my older boy comes from school looking queer and hurt. And I know that some little sprig has taken a shot at him because his dad tried to be mayor and couldn't make good."

"The boy don't say so, but I know he's just a little ashamed of the old man. And I tell you it hurts. When I'm dead and my boys have sons of their own, I want them to be able to say, 'Your grandfather was mayor of Seattle—twice. The first time he wasn't much of a mayor because he made mistakes. But the second time he was the best mayor Seattle ever had!'"

Gill has been given his second chance. He first was elected in 1910 on a platform which called for about everything but law and order. When the women of the city secured the franchise one of their earliest jobs was the ousting of Gill. He was recalled in 1911, a few months after he had secured the office.

The feature of the present situation is that those who brought about his recall three years ago are his chief supporters now. Apparently they took him at his word and decided that he had experienced a change of heart. When a man talks about vindicating his name for the sake of his boys there are a lot of folks in this world who want to help him do it.

What will interest the country will be Gill's record in office, now that he has been given another opportunity to make good.

INFECTIOUSNESS OF CONSUMPTION

Dr. Herbert G. Lamson of Minneapolis has been making studies to determine what may be called the "family contagiousness" of tuberculosis.

He chose a number of families in which there was an open and recognized case of consumption, and examined every member of that family whom he could reach for evidences of the disease. He did the same with other families in which tuberculosis was latent in some member, with families in which some person had been cured of the affection, and in families where no taint of consumption was known to exist.

The results of this patient inquiry are startling, and are given in the doctor's own words:

There were forty tuberculous and fifteen non-tuberculous families. In the forty tuberculous families, 207 individuals were examined, of whom 138 showed evidence of tubercular infection. In the fifteen non-tuberculous families, eighty individuals were examined, of whom two showed evidence of tubercular infection, and two were suspicious. That is, 66.23 per cent of individuals examined in tuberculous families showed evidence of infection, while only 2 1/2 per cent of those examined in non-tuberculous families showed evidences of infection with tuberculosis.

Among the forty tuberculous families were ten families containing fifty-four individuals, every one of whom showed evidence of tubercular infection.

Dr. Lamson's researches emphasize once more the supreme importance of infection in this greatest of all plagues.

"A recent article in the New York Journal of Commerce showed the futility of a boycott on the part of consumers as a means of lowering the price of any commodity," says the Michigan Tradesman. "Instead of lowering the price, the Journal of Commerce asserts that the boycott is a potent means of raising it permanently, because capital and industry are frightened away from its production. A realization of this fact would do much to stop the futile and foolish boycotts of beef, which spring up in various parts of the country every time that the price of this commodity advances. Although such a movement may result in bringing the price down for one day, or for a short time, it must result eventually in a diminished supply. Artificial restriction of price must have the same result. Retail butchers who are sometimes quoted in favor of such boycotts should remember these facts and show their customers what harm they are doing."

The Detroit News Tribune expresses the opinion that if the recommendations of the house marine and fisheries committee that investigated the state of the lake marine shipping are followed out by congress and "the interstate commerce commission is given rigid instructions to carry them out we have every reason to expect such a revival of shipping on these lakes as will constitute a revelation to the world. Given unimpeded access to terminal facilities; modern loading and unloading devices; municipal belt lines to connect the wharves of a city with its industries; and an iron rule forcing the railroads to make the same through rate to all ships alike, no matter by whom owned, and the revival of shipping will come. With it is expected to come unparalleled prosperity for the cities of the great lakes and the country tributary, for this will mean real and permanent competition in transportation, and it is cheap and efficient transportation that helps make prosperity."

It appears to be a generally accepted view that John Bassett Moore resigned his post in the state department, because he found himself out of touch both with the methods and the policies of his chief. The opinion that Mr. Bryan will not add to his prestige in his present post is being held by more and more persons, with passing time.

Felix Diaz appears very much in earnest, but there is an abiding belief that nothing would more shock his tender sensibilities than acceptance of his proposal that he start another mess in Mexico. In short, it is generally held that the only way it would be possible to get Felix back into Mexico would be in advance of a firing squad.

John Lind, of Minnesota, is suggested as a possible successor to Mr. Moore in the state department. Inasmuch as Mr. Lind's experience with our foreign affairs has been largely confined to his unsuccessful mission to Mexico it cannot be expected that the suggestion will give rise to any great showing of enthusiasm.

It is suspected that some of the M. Cs. who went to the copper country with their minds pretty well made up as to what they were likely to find there have been greatly disappointed at the course the inquiry has taken. Mr. Casey has not of late been so terribly shocked as he was in the earlier stages of the hearing.

Link Avery, of Port Huron, one of the elder statesmen of the G. O. P., says that if the party chieftains don't get together to discuss candidates and principles they will be sorry. But offsetting Mr. Avery's opinion are the pronouncements of men, like Mr. Martindale, who insist that they would be sorry if they did.

The yarn that Colonel Roosevelt held up his Brazilian entertainers for $3,000 in return for one of his addresses on the present tour has been as effectively nailed as that other yarn that the colonel is an intemperate drinker. And there was about as much excuse for its appearance.

If, as it is said may be the case, the union labor leaders are opposed to Governor Ferris next fall, at last we may have the opportunity of settling the much disputed question whether there really is a labor vote. Most persons have been inclined to doubt its existence.

The advertiser gets a value for which he has not paid and to which he is not entitled. This practice is clearly a fraud, and the advertiser who follows the plan does so for no other reason than because he thinks he is beating somebody. In other words, the newspaper man. He manages to get his bills printed at a small cost, and then for a small additional cost, he induces the distributor to insert his advertisement in the newspapers, thereby securing a distribution service which is paid for by others. Possibly he flatters himself that he is saving expense in this manner, but the method he employs savors of "sharp practice" that if carried out in other lines of business, would immediately smirch his reputation. The New York legislature has been asked to pass a law prescribing a penalty for the insertion, for the purpose of profit, of any bill or other printed matter, in newspapers previous to the distribution to the general public. The demand thus made by the newspapers is a legitimate one, and they are fairly entitled to this protection.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

EDITORIAL OPINION

Vindication Only by Trial. Charles S. Mellen, former president of the New Haven railroad, should hail with satisfaction the decision of the criminal superior court at Bridgeport, Conn., which yesterday overruled the motion to vacate the warrant of arrest against him on a charge of manslaughter.

Mr. Mellen is either guilty or not guilty of manslaughter. If the wreck which cost so many lives was due in any way to negligence on his part he should be punished. If, on the other hand, he is blameless, he should receive the most sweeping vindication. The issue is one that can be determined only by a fair and impartial trial in open court. No one can be more anxious than Mr. Mellen himself to have the question decided beyond all doubt. He must be grateful to the court for blocking his overzealous counsel's attempt to deny him that exoneration for which delinquency by a technicality is such a poor substitute.—New York Globe.

Showing Up the Fele'ation. The strike in the copper country was caused by the Socialistic teachings of the paid agitators of the Western Federation of Miners. Conditions had nothing to do with it. Plenty of evidence to bear out these assertions is now being presented to the congressional committee investigating the strike. The federation presented pay dockets showing small amounts received by mine employees, and incidents were related by witnesses of petty abuses, but the evidence now being brought out by the operators shows that the federation resorted to unusual, isolated instances in its efforts to make out a case, ignoring the usual practice in the mines and neglecting to say anything about the large average wages received by the very witnesses who testified to low wages, and by strike agitators as well.

The case of Dolphus Little is typical of the federation's game in its attempt to convince the world that the copper country miner is underpaid. Testimony offered by the federation was to the effect that Little had worked for the Okeola Consolidated in February, 1911, for nine days and had received only twenty cents. Yesterday, Attorney Peternann, for the operators, submitted Little's record of wages, showing that from January, 1911, to April, 1911, he received an average of $3.08 per day; his pay in January, 1911, was $97; during the entire year of 1911 he averaged $2.87 per day; in 1912, $3.86; and from January to July, 1913, his average pay was $6.77 per day.

The dockets of other federation witnesses and agitators also show a high average wage. In this connection, too, a letter to the press from James Gregory, of the Atlantic mine, who has worked in the copper mines for fifteen years, is both interesting and significant. He says: "I find the working conditions better since the two-man drill has been in operation than at any other time of my life. The miners of the copper country have made more money on the one-man drill than was ever made on the two-man machine. On the one-man machine you have the same price on contract as you have on the two-man drill. I have been working at Superior going on for three years. I have been on contract most of the time and my smallest pay was $102. My largest pay was $140.

"I have also made as high as nine dollars a day for a two shifts contract. There are miners today that are on strike who have made more money than I and I can prove it. It is not the one-man machine that made this trouble. It is the red flag platform. "I was employed at Trimountain, thirteen years ago, for a period of two years, opening shaft. The average wages I made during that period was $92 per month. I also worked at Tecumseh for nine months under Captain Skewes, and my smallest wages during that time was $110. I worked on the Calumet amygdaloid for four years and a half, stop mining, and the smallest wages I ever got was $72."—Calumet News.

A Good Man Basset. The retirement of John Bassett Moore as counselor to the state department at Washington is a real calamity at this particular time, when more international complications are pending than at any time in many years. Among all the appointments of the president, none possessed greater merit than that of Professor Moore—acknowledged as an expert in international law all around the world. In the early days of the administration developed between Moore and Bryan, and it was freely rumored that Moore's continued connection with the Bryan regime would be short-lived. It is emphatically declared, however, that the present retirement of Mr. Moore is in no way connected with his past or present differences of opinion in matters of American foreign policy. The fact remains that Moore's retirement is a calamity. Even though his views did not prevail, his views were of countless value to the pilots of the ship of state. His retirement strips the state department of its international veteran and leaves the Perambulatory One on his own resources. The selection of a successor to Professor Moore is a serious charge upon the president and the country will wish him well in his quest for a counselor who at least approximates Mr. Moore's proportions.—Grand Rapids Herald.

Fraud on the Newspapers. An interesting fight is being waged by the newspapers of New York state against a practice which has become peculiarly odious in that state and which, to a more or less extent, prevails in many other sections of this country. Reference is made to a plan which is followed by many news dealers and others of inserting in newspapers hand bills and advertisements of various kinds, so that the purchaser of the newspaper gets his handbill along with his paper, and

PROSECUTOR WILL PETITION COURT

Mr. Lucas Proposes Pollack Murder Case Be Returned from Baraga County.

Prosecuting Attorney Lucas is preparing to present to Judge O'Brien a petition for a return of the Pollack murder case in Houghton county. It is the most important pending case on the calendar, of those arising from the strike, and with a number of others was sent to Baraga county for trial. The prosecutor now feels that the necessity for the change of venue does not exist and he wants to recall it. It is understood he will present to Judge O'Brien affidavits from various widely separated residents of the county, in support of his motion.

The case is the one against George Briski and Luka Piese, men who have admitted complicity in the killing of Deputy Sheriff James M. Pollack, Jr., last October. It will be remembered that Pollack was shot down on the road between Houghton and Hurontown, dying an hour or so later without regaining consciousness, so that his own testimony as to the facts will forever be hidden from courts and juries. The same day Matt Muehlich was found lying with bullet wounds in his abdomen and in St. Joseph's hospital he passed away after steadfastly refusing to tell anything excepting that Pollack shot him. That Pollack took one of his murderers with him is undisputed, that there were other persons implicated is undoubted, but the confessions of Briski and Piese have only complicated the affair as they probably will not testify.

Out of this case also grew the perjury case against Mike Kneez, which still is pending. Kneez made a sworn statement the day Pollack was killed. He took officers to the scene of the shooting and described the affair in detail. Later he repudiated the statement and for this he was charged with perjury. Judge O'Brien is in Marquette conducting a term of court for Judge Flannigan. He will return to Houghton to convene court March 16 and will open the Baraga county term at Anse March 18. At the conclusion of the Seeberville murder case, over which he presided, Judge Flannigan adjourned court at Houghton until next Monday. It is not expected he will return to open court, as the only case he has yet to try in this county is the case against Thomas Raleigh, charged with the murder of Alois Tjan at Seeberville. Raleigh disappeared just a day or so before the Patrick case and the inability of the officers to locate him since has made it doubtful if this case will be tried for a long time.

Painesdale Cases.

An impression got abroad Thursday that John Huhta, who has confessed to complicity in the Daily-Jane murders at Painesdale Dec. 7, had waived examination and had been bound over to the circuit court. This left the impression that Verbanne, Jalonen and Juntunen would undergo examination separately from Huhta.

This impression is incorrect. The four men are charged jointly with the triple murder and will be examined jointly. Huhta is absolutely essential to the prosecution of the other three, as he is to testify against them. Thus he will not waive examination and remove himself from the process through which the others must go.

There are various rumors regarding Huhta. It is said that the Western Federation of Miners are circulating the rumor that Huhta made his confession while suffering with delirium tremens and that it is only a wild flight of the imagination. But the sheriff says Huhta was in his normal mind when he made the confession and he stands by his story today just as he did when he first told it. He refuses steadfastly to see any federation attorneys, though it is not said that they have tried to see him, and is declared ready to go on the stand and testify.

It is not alone on Huhta's confession that the prosecution is proceeding. There is a large amount of damaging circumstantial evidence to be produced and it is said that the case against the four men is strengthening every day. Prosecuting Attorney Lucas has made two distinct charges against the quartet. One charges them with the murder of Harry and Arthur Jane, the other charges them with the murder of Thomas Daily. The separate charges are made necessary by the fact that Daily died later than the other two victims. The Jane boys were killed instantly. They were sleeping when the nocturnal assassins fired the bullets through their bed chamber, where they were sleeping in one bed, and very probably they never knew that they were struck, the restful sleep of life being transformed at once into the never-ending sleep of eternity.

Daily's brief survival of his wounds makes his murder a separate charge. A similar condition existed in the Seeberville cases. Tjan and Patrick died at different times, and this fact gave different characteristics to the case.

SENATE SIDETRACKS WOMAN QUESTION

Suffrage Issue Is Shunted While Members Engage in Old-Fashioned Partisan Debate.

Washington, March 6.—A partisan discussion on one year of Democratic rule almost completely sidetracked consideration of the woman's suffrage constitutional amendment in the senate today. The debate was of the old-fashioned kind.

Senator Works hurled a broadside of criticism at the administration's record, while Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee and caucus leader, defended his party's legislative career. He drew from Senator Smoot a counter attack on his tariff remarks, the Utah senator basing his statements largely on treasury statistics.

Senator Works' arraignment of Democratic rule culminated in an attack on its Mexican policy as hopeless. Senator Simmons avoided stirring up this delicate matter by limiting his reply to legislative accomplishments. He resented particularly the remark that congress had been deprived of its functions by executive detention and caucus rule.

"There was a time when caucuses defeated the will of the people," said Senator Simmons, "but that was when Wall street and the special interests controlled them. The greatest achievement of Woodrow Wilson lies in the fact that he has restored republicanism to its proper government out of the hands of those special interests and laid it once more in the hands of the people; and that the people rule not only at the ballot box, but in the United States senate."

DISCOUNT ON IMPORTS CARRIED IN U. S. VESSELS IS LAWFUL IT IS RULED.

New York, March 6.—A 5 per cent. discount on all imports carried by ships of American registry as provided in the new tariff law was granted today by the board of United States general appraisers, in an opinion given by Judge B. S. Waite. The board held that the favoring of American shipping was the plain intent of congress in framing the statute and that the allowance did not impair the treaties with foreign countries.

The act allows a discount of 5 per cent. in duties on all merchandise imported in vessels of American registry, provided that the granting of this discount does not involve the violation of any treaty. If the courts finally sustain the ruling, the administration at Washington in all probability will undertake to have congress repeal the section granting the discount. Several nations have already protested against the provision.

HOUSE COMMITTEE VOTES TO REPEAL TOLLS PROVISION.

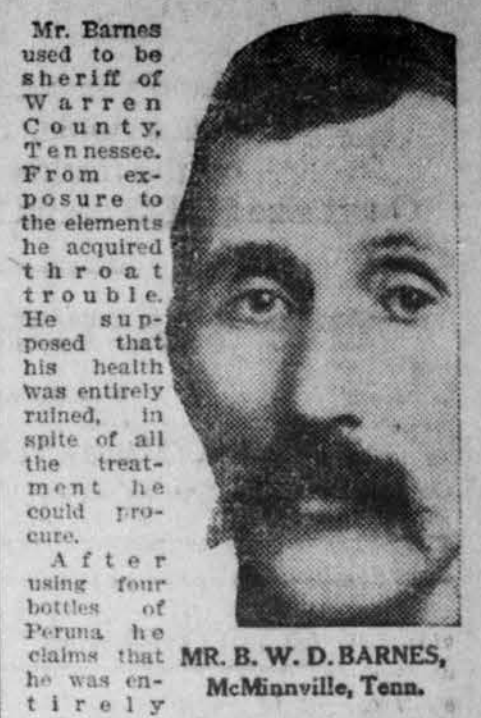

Washington, March 6.—Initial steps to repeal the tolls exemption clause of the Panama canal act as requested by President Wilson were taken in congress today when the house committee on interstate commerce reported favorably a bill to strike out the provision. In the senate, the committee on inter-oceanic canals decided to meet next week to consider the proposition. The house committee voted thirteen to three to favorably report the Sims repeal bill. Absent members who were recorded made the vote seventeen to four.

Newberry's new hardwood flooring mill is rapidly approaching completion and will be ready to go into operation shortly. All construction work has been finished and the work of installing the machinery is being made. It is only about six months ago says the Newberry News that negotiations were begun between the businessmen of Newberry and William Horner of Reed City for the location of this new industry, a bonus of $3,000 being offered. Mr. Horner, who has operated a plant at Reed City for many years, was looking for a suitable location for a branch factory and after looking over the ground he accepted the proposition. The buildings are all of a substantial character, being of brick and

Suffered with Throat Trouble.

MR. B. W. D. BARNES, McMinville, Tenn.

Catarh of the throat is not only an annoying disease of itself, but it exposes the victim to many other diseases. We are constantly breathing into our throats numerous atmospheric germs. Disease germs of all sorts. This cannot be avoided. If the throat is healthy the system is protected from these poisonous germs. But if the throat is raw and punctured with numerous little ulcers by catarrh, then the disease germs have easy access to the system. Keep the throat well and clean. This is the way to protect yourself against contagious diseases. Gargle the throat as explained in the new "Cure of Life" sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Barnes says: "I had throat trouble and had three doctors treating me. All failed to do me any good, and pronounced my health gone. I concluded to try Peruna, and after using four bottles can say I was entirely cured."

steel, and of large enough dimensions to permit a considerable growth in the business. The main building, in which are the flooring machines, is 70x220 feet. Three machines are installed and two more will be installed the coming spring. The dry kiln building is 80x100 feet and contains ten miles of steam pipe. The kilns are of the Sidman dry air type and have a capacity of 320,000 feet of lumber. The power house is 63x54 feet and is of strictly fire-proof construction with a concrete roof. In this building is a 600 horsepower Allis-Chalmers engine and a big generator to furnish electrical current to the numerous dynamos about the plant, as each machine is to be driven by an individual motor. There are also a cooling room, 80x30 feet; a loading shed, 80x80 feet, and a filling room, 20x40 feet. A blower pipe system will take the refuse from the machines direct to the boiler rooms, where it will be used for fuel. The mill will have a daily capacity with three machines in operation of 40,000 feet of finished flooring, operating ten hours a day, and this output will be increased to 65,000 when the two other machines are installed. It is the intention, however, to operate the plant both day and night as soon as a force of skilled workmen can be secured. The company is behind in its shipments and has orders booked ahead for enough flooring to keep both plants operating to their fullest capacity for months. The plant will furnish employment to sixty to seventy-five men at the start and this force will be increased to 100 men when it is operating to full capacity. H. C. Bruchshaw of Reed City who has arrived in the village, will have active management of the plant. Albert Ahrendt, also of Reed City, will be the foreman. It is the intention as soon as the snow leaves the ground to erect a shed, 120 x70 feet, to be used for storage purposes, also an office building. Both buildings will be constructed of brick. Every dollar of the bonus subscribed by the citizens has been paid and is on deposit in the Newberry State bank, ready to be turned over to Mr. Horner and his associates as soon as the plant is in active operation.

INTEREST ATTACHED TO MARINE BILL

Act Effective Soon Affects D., S. & A. Joint Owner of Car Ferries at Mackinac.

Wide interest is attached to the bill passed by the last congress prohibiting the ownership of boats by railroad corporations, which becomes effective July 1, 1914. There is a proviso for exceptions where it can be shown that it is necessary to operate boats in connection with railroad lines for the service of the public, and not in combination to throttle competition.

The bill affects the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway, which is a joint owner of the ferries that are operated at the Straits of Mackinac under the name of the Mackinac Transportation company.

Normal Notes

One of the most delightful and enjoyable concerts ever held at the school was the song recital given by Miss Sophia Linton, director of music, and Mrs. A. T. Roberts Tuesday evening. There was a large and enthusiastic attendance of students and townspeople, filling the auditorium.

The program consisted of two groups of duets and several groups of songs. Both of the duet groups were enthusiastically received. "The Envoy of Love" and "The Cypriote," both by Brahms, were especially enjoyed.

how the school, church and community in many ways were co-operating with the home for the better training and education of the youth. The lecture was much enjoyed.

The basketball team of the training school played the boys of the eighth grade of the Ely school Tuesday afternoon. The Ely school boys won, 12 to 11.

Miss Maxwell, head of the history department, gave an address on "Immigration" at a union meeting of the missionary societies at Ishpeming on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 26. The address was both historical and sociological in character and was much enjoyed.

At the preliminary Peter White oratorical declamatory contest at the high school, Professor Mazers acted as one of the judges. At the final contest, Professor Spooner was one of the judges on thought and composition, and Professor Stockwell was one of the judges on delivery.

Professor S. S. Stockwell, superintendent of the training school, gave the address at Assembly on Thursday morning. This was Professor Stockwell's first address and it was received with enthusiasm. The theme was J. P. Morgan's statement in his testimony before the Pujo committee of congress, that "Not property, or money, but character, is the basis of credit in the business world."

The grammar grades of the training school have just been equipped with new Monthrop chairs. These are the most up-to-date school seats on the market.

there will be a union service at the Presbyterian church. The Monday evening lecture at the Baptist church at 7:45 o'clock will be given by Rev. Bates G. Burt on "Economic Aspects and Prospects." # Upper Peninsula

Alderman Grills Alderman.

One of the most severe arrangements ever given a member of the Escanaba city council, says the Press, was that administered by Alderman Edward Stratton to Alderman Edward Smith. Mr. Stratton claiming that Alderman Smith had assumed to himself all of the powers of the purchasing committee and in making purchases for the city had not consulted any other member. Alderman Folio corroborated the remarks of Alderman Stratton. The discussion arose when a bill was presented from Charles Gunderson for fifty cords of wood at $4.50 a cord and Mr. Stratton claimed the price should have been but $4.25. In answer Alderman Smith said that the council had contracted with Gunderson for wood at $4.25 a cord, but that because there was no snow Gunderson found he could not deliver it in the city at that price and later the wood was purchased at $4.50 a cord. Alderman Smith said that he met Stratton on the street and they discussed the matter and he asked Stratton to go with him and see Gunderson, but Stratton refused. Later he said he saw Alderman Stratton going to Gunderson's office alone. Alderman Stratton arose in his seat and said: "I admit that I went there alone and I went alone because I knew you were such a flimflammer that I wouldn't get the right of it." Alderman Stratton became considerably excited and vigorously pushed his desk to lend weight to his words. Alderman Smith was on his feet shouting that while he was not inclined to be a fighter, he was in the game to stick until the end and he didn't care whether Mr. Stratton weighed 300 or 400. Both aldermen here lost their heads completely and Mayor Chatfield was forced to rap vigorously with his gavel to restore order.

Suspected Belting Thieves in Custody.

It is believed by the officers that the belting thefts at the L. Stephenson company mills at Wells, aggregating approximately $1,000, will be stopped as a result of the arrest of John Norden, millwright; Gust Richardson, shoemaker, and Michael Dinning, mill hand, says the Escanaba Press. For the last two years great strips of belting have been disappearing at the Wells mills and in spite of all that could be done by the night watchmen the thefts could not be stopped. This week an Austin was arrested on suspicion of the Wells store robbery and upon searching his suit case many strips of belting were found. Then the three men above mentioned were arrested. From the evidence procured by the officers it seems that the leather belting was taken and then sold to a select list of friends. As low as twenty-five cents was received for a piece and as high as $3. But in almost every instance the seller got some sort of "boot," such as a half dozen bottles of beer or a pint or quart of whiskey, and in some cases other trades were made. The leather was used to sole shoes. So bold had the robbers become of late that leather belting had been slashed from the pulleys and the extra wide belting had been cut into pieces and the choicest parts taken. All the men have been bound over to the circuit court and have furnished the necessary bonds for their release.

Manistique Fire Loss Is $12,000.

It is estimated that the loss caused by the destruction of the St. James hotel at Manistique by fire is $12,000. The insurance on building and contents was $8,000. Patrick J. McNamara was the owner of the hotel. Dwellings across the street were severely damaged, the heat being so intense that the clothing of the firemen was scorched and in two cases caught fire, necessitating a genuine ducking to the individual. One fireman, Allie Bishop, was overcome by smoke and was under the doctor's care for several hours. Max Petoake, also a fireman, was severely injured by a falling chimney. One leg was broken below the knee, and he was painfully bruised about the chest, arms and body. Fire Chief Wendland declares that in his opinion the fire was of an incendiary origin. Rumor is rife that several prominent residents have decided to sift the case to the bottom in an effort to rid the city of the criminals who are believed to have applied the torch. In the early days of Manistique when the lumberjack and his truck were conspicuous objects in the locality, the St. James hotel was one of the famous hostleries of the northern region and a paying proposition. But of late years, since the trend of business has caused the city to extend toward the lake in the opposite direction, and since the lumberjack's decline, it had not been a source of great profit and Mr. McNamara had decided to remove the building to a better location. Last fall he erected the foundation and made all necessary arrangements and he expected to undertake the work in the near future.

Professor Gilbert L. Brown delivered a lecture to the Baptist Brotherhood Monday evening, taking for his subject "The Constructive Social Forces in American Life." The central thought brought out was that the changed conditions in the home, especially in cities, had made it necessary for the school, church and community to supply many things which formerly were a part of the home activities. Mr. Brown showed

DEPARTMENT OFFICERS MAKE ANNUAL REPORT

Placing of More Hydrants for Fire Protection Is Urged as Measure of Safety.

John Lacey, the chief, and William F. Maloney, the secretary of the Ishpeming fire department, submitted their annual report to the council this week. It contained the inventory of the fire department's equipment, list of the fires responded to during the year 1913, the total losses and the insurance paid. It concludes with recommendations by the two officers that will doubtless receive the attention of the council at an early date. They advise the installing of additional hydrants in the business district. The department responded to sixteen regular alarms during the year and six still alarms. Eleven of the fires were caused by defective, or dirty, flues; four were the result of defective or circuit electric wires; one was due to a gas leak; one, sparks from a stove; one, combustion; one, overheated oven; one, overheated furnace; one, hot ashes; one, overheated stove, and one, overturned lamp.

The two companies making headquarters at the new fire hall traveled eight miles responding to alarms. Six thousand feet of hose were laid and used at fires and the firemen worked seventeen and three-quarters hours during the year.

The fire loss was $8,625, and the insurance paid, $7,650, a net loss of $975.

The cost of department maintenance in 1913 was $8,425, less a credit of $216.25 for team work, making the net expense, $8,250. The expense items include the salary of the paid men, the repairs on building and material used, insurance on the property, extra labor employed for installing the additions to the fire alarm system, electrical and chemical supplies, etc.

The officers estimate the value of the department's buildings and equipment at $1,060.75. The new building grounds, new apparatus and heating plant is estimated to be worth $10,000. The Sibley steamer is valued at $2,000 and the other at $3,000; the two hook and ladder trucks, equipped, are valued at $2,054.00. The building occupied by hose company No. 3, at the Lake Angeline, is estimated to be worth $1,500; the estimated value on the hose at headquarters is $3,600. The unoccupied hose houses, one at the New York location and the other at the Cleveland, are valued at $1,000.

The recommendations of the chief and secretary are as follows:

"The expense of maintenance for the year 1913 is comparatively high. Responsible for this is the fact that beginning about the first of March, the fire teams were used for fire purposes only and consequently the department is not credited with the usual amount of city work. In this connection it is worth to state that purchases of additional fire alarm equipment were also unusually heavy and the cost of labor and installations all added considerably to the general expense.

"The fire alarm system of the city is now very complete and is so arranged that the switchboard and generally the plant is capable of handling any additions to the system that the future growth of the city may require. The fire fighting apparatus on hand is in first-class condition and when purchases in this line, now pending, are completed, the department will be thoroughly equipped to handle any emergency that may arise.

"In this report as in a number of preceding ones, we wish to again urge upon you the necessity of more fire hydrants in the business district of the city. We believe this to be a very necessary improvement to give proper fire protection and having called the matter to the attention of your honorable body we feel that our responsibility in the matter ceases.

"In conclusion we desire to express the sincere thanks of every officer and man in the Ishpeming fire department for the splendid new fire headquarters and excellent fire fighting apparatus that it contains. We wish especially to express our appreciation of the work of the members of the building committee, the fire committee and the board of public works, in connection with the purchase, construction and final completion of the finest and most modern fire headquarters building in the Northwest."

ITCHED AND BURNED TERRIBLY

Face All Covered With Eruption. Unable to Get Rest. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

383 No. Union St., Aurora, Ill.—"My ailment started with a little pimple and it always itched and burned terribly. I scratched it and in a few days my face was all covered with sores. It ran up to my eyes and the day after I could not see out of my right eye. I was unable to get any rest. I couldn't go to bed, being afraid of getting the clothing all soiled, although I had my face all bandaged.

"I was given two jars of salve but it kept getting worse. It was something like a running sore because every time I used some of the salve I had to wrap bandages around my neck to keep the water and pus from running down my body. After I had the trouble two months my mother told me I should try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I wrote for a sample and in a few days I received these and washed my face with the Cuticura Soap and put on some Cuticura Ointment and the next morning my face felt cool and somewhat relieved. After using the sample I bought some Cuticura Soap and Ointment at the drug store. I followed this treatment just two days and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was cured."

checked the flow of the blood. Stakel would have bled to death before medical attention could be secured.

"The patient is in good condition today despite the fact that he lost much blood. The grit displayed by the young man was marvelous. The last words he said before going under the anesthetic were: 'As long as my leg is no good in this condition, cut it off.' Stakel is president of the junior class of the Menominee High school.

"Several serious accidents were miraculously avoided yesterday, when many ice yachts ventured onto the bay with the heavy wind blowing. The yacht races were postponed, few caring to take a chance in the heavy wind."

MISS N. ZEDLER PRAISED.

Noted Violinist, Here Next Tuesday, Well Received in Escanaba This Week.

Miss Nicole Zedler, the noted violinist who appeared here last season with Sousa's band, and who has been engaged to give a concert in the Swedish Lutheran church Tuesday evening, the 10th, was well received in Escanaba Thursday evening. Of her playing, the Escanaba Press said:

"Surpassing all spoken events of its kind ever arranged for this city, the concert given at the Swedish Lutheran church last night by Miss Nicole Zedler, world famed violinist, was a notable musical event. Miss Zedler, before an audience that packed the church to its capacity, fully sustained her reputation and gave to music lovers of Escanaba a treat that will not soon be forgotten.

"In addition to the numbers by Miss Zedler, and her accompanist, Prof. J. C. Salmon, director of the Escanaba Military band, appeared in a cornet solo that aroused the enthusiasm of the audience.

"The program was of nearly two hours' duration, but at that it was not long for the audience. It would be difficult to select the most pleasing number, all were so well rendered. Many thought the second number, 'Concerto in D Minor,' by Wieniawski, was the best work of the artists. Another exquisite thing was the Swan by Saint Saens. The group of selections in the third number were wonderfully played. The Caprice Viennois, by Kreisler was beautifully done.

"The beautiful tones obtained by the young lady were spoken for by many. The violin, worth a fortune, was presented to her by an admirer in Sydney, Australia.

"Nicole Zedler is an artist of the first class, possessed of excellent technique, power, tone, and plays with much feeling and sympathy. Miss N. Zedler, the accompanist, rendered two selections, 'Be'er Rabbi' by McDowell and an 'Old Love Story.'"

Hours at Shops Are Increased.

By an order that went into effect this week all employees of the Northwestern shops at Escanaba are now given employment for five eight-hour days of each week, as provided in the regular winter schedule. The increase in working days is exceptionally early and within a short time it is expected that at six days work each week will be provided in all departments.

Mayor Renominated.

At Manistique's primary election, held this week, Mayor W. L. Middlebrook, Republican, was renominated. He will be opposed at the municipal election, in April by Joseph Pattinson, Democrat. Other nominees are: Deior Lafolle, for treasurer, unopposed; James Christensen, Republican, who defeated Morley Bryce, of the same party, for city clerk; Gust Anderson, Albert Gage, W. H. McMullin and Daniel F. McCauley, Republicans; and Perry Hannas and Zacharias Bays, Democrats, for aldermen, and W. G. Stephens, Sherman McNeil, Burton A. Craver and Joseph W. Scott, Republicans; and Charles E. Deals and Charles N. Dewey, Democrats, for supervisors.

People Want Railroad Continued.

Charles F. Ewald, cashier of the Garden State bank, has procured an option on the railroad operated by the Van's Harbor Land & Lumber company between Cook's Mills, Van's Harbor and Garden. If the deal is carried to completion the village of Garden and the entire townships of Garden and Fairbanks will be assured of permanent communication with the outside world. It had been reported that the railroad would be abandoned and the steel taken up, an action that would seriously impair the future prospects of that part of Delta county. Garden and Fairbanks townships are rich agricultural districts. When the people learned recently that it was the plan of the Van's Harbor company to abandon the operation of the railroad they began to show an active interest and the action taken by Mr. Ewald was the result. Those acquainted with the people have no fear that everything possible will not be done to make successful the negotiations for the purchase of the railroad.

Senator Kern Holds Up Job.

Postmaster Coburn still performs the duties and draws the salary of postmaster of Escanaba, and who his successor is to be is an unsettled question, says the Escanaba Journal. The appointment of Michael Doherty to the postmaster's job was announced three weeks ago. Right at the heels of this announcement came the news in Washington dispatches that confirmation of Mr. Doherty's appointment had been held up in the senate by Senator John W. Kern of Indiana, who is said to be an old friend and fellow Democrat of the Sourwine family down in Indiana. John Sourwine of Escanaba being Doherty's rival for the Escanaba office. Senator Kern is "some pumpkin" in the Democratic senate, too. Michigan's Tammany Hall got awfully busy and frantic appeals have been going to the senator by letter and by wire. It is reported that Mr. Sourwine has been called pretty nearly everything but a murderer, but Senator Kern pins his faith to what he knows as to the loyal Democracy and the good citizenship of the Sourwines. The senator wants Mr. Sourwine appointed, and he's going to land him if possible. It is reported now that the Tammany Hall gang, despairing of being able to get Mr. Doherty, have chosen William Winnegan as the dark horse for the appointment. The fight has been going on merrily, and the longer it goes on the merrier and happier it will make Postmaster Coburn.

A delivery horse driven by Joseph Barabe, Jr., ran away yesterday noon on the street. The animal was stopped before any damage was done.

Paul Seppanen, of Palmer, and David Wirtanen were operated on Thursday evening at Dr. Robbins' hospital for appendicitis. Dr. A. H. Anderson performed the operations.

Hans Hemmingson, a formerly well-known resident of the city, who has resided in Marquette for the past few years, has moved his family here and will again make his home in Negaunee.

Dan Comstock yesterday received word from Sturgeon Bay, Wis., of the death of his mother. She was eighty-seven years old. Mr. and Mrs. Comstock left last evening to attend the funeral.

At the morning service his theme will be "A Plea for the Church," and in the evening his subject will be "Christ, the Model Magistrate of the Universe." At around 8 o'clock tonight there will be a meeting of the official board of the church.

BULLETIN DISCUSSES MATTERS OF HEALTH

Dr. Larson, in Monthly Publication, Gives Good Advice to Negaunee Residents.

The March issue of the Negaunee health department's bulletin is now available. In it Dr. Larson writes in part as follows: "In the larger cities well organized health departments have been in existence for some time. The smaller cities and towns are now awakening to the fact that 'real' health departments are a necessity, as much so as fire and police departments, if not more so. The question then arises—what is a 'real' health department?"

"This question we are not quite prepared to answer at least not just now. We shall watch with absorbing interest the reorganization of the health department of our neighboring city, Marquette. They have expressed a longing for a 'real' health department, and many different opinions prevail there as to what a real department is. The citizens of Marquette are going to tackle the problem in a grand style and will no doubt evolve a system of public health administration that will be thoroughly good for Marquette and a model for cities of Marquette's size. They have wandered in the desert long enough and deserve to come to something better. Not that there is any fault on the part of the individuals who have been in charge of the department, but the system in force at present is wrong as is our own here in Negaunee. We shall await with great interest the results of Marquette's efforts to secure a real health department, and wish them luck in the undertaking."

"In altogether too many communities the health department is in the hands of the person having the most political influence and about the most arduous duty he performs in connection therewith is the drawing of his salary, which, while usually small, is more than he is worth. In other localities, are found conscientious men who labor along for next to nothing, trying to enforce the law and to protect the citizens against disease, making enemies of unreasonable people, and giving freely of their time and talents in the great work of prevention of disease. How different are such men from 'political' health officers, and how few?"

"All the while this question of health departments and health officers is being discussed there is one factor that must not be lost sight of. This is the attitude of the public to this work and the co-operation of all the people in carrying out any scheme of public health work. If the people do not work in harmony with the health officials, if some of them try to 'fool' the health officer and to beat him out, then you may as well abolish all public health work, because nothing will be accomplished. The ignorant ones must be educated and the refractory ones must be hammered into doing the right things."

Literature Available.

"A great deal of literature is published by the state board of health on all health topics, this literature is in plain English and is issued free and it is unfortunate that so little of it ever reaches the public. Special pamphlets are printed on all the contagious diseases and copies may be had by applying to the state board or to the local health officials. It is unfortunate indeed that so little of it is read by the people and this department shall make efforts in the future to have this valuable reading matter utilized. Ask for the pamphlet on the subject desired, as scarlet fever, diphtheria, smallpox, whooping cough, etc.

ISHPEMING WAS VICTORIOUS.

Won from Negaunee High School Basketball Team Last Night.

In a game of basketball at the gymnasium of the Negaunee High school last evening, the Ishpeming Highs won a victory, after a hard-fought battle. The score was 34 to 29. The tally at the end of the first half stood 19 to 16 in Ishpeming's favor. The game was witnessed by the largest crowd of the season. Dancing was enjoyed for several hours after the contest.

Collins, Gaffney and Hawke were the stars for the Negaunee team, and Cooley, Potter and Magnuson led for Ishpeming. Negaunee was superior in team work, and the Ishpeming players in basket shooting. Carl Eckler, of Ishpeming, refereed.

In the free throws, Potter scored three out of six baskets, Cooley one of four, and Gaffney three of six. For Ishpeming, Cooley, captain of the team, scored eleven points, Magnuson fourteen and Potter nine. The other two members of the team were Gustafson and Henriksen, who played guard positions. Of Negaunee's scores, Leaf made eight points, Gaffney seven, Collins twelve and Hawke two. Fredrickson, the other man of the team, played at guard and, because of injury, was replaced in the second half by Hoole.

F. J. Muek & Son yesterday completed the installation of a modern meat market cooler in their place on Iron street. It is one of the best installed anywhere in the upper peninsula, and was manufactured by Wolf, Sayer & Co., of Chicago. Eight tons of ice can be stored in it. The cooler has a sanitary lining, and meat or blood will not stain it. The exterior finish is quarter-sawn oak.

FOUND LITTLE INTEREST HERE.

After spending two days in Ishpeming and Negaunee on business, Isaac Schram, premier baseball fan of the city, returned to Escanaba last night to report that but little sentiment has yet been aroused in those cities for the revival of the old Marquette-Delta county league, says the Escanaba Press. In Ishpeming Mr. Schram found considerable enthusiasm for the reorganization of the league but in Negaunee no baseball sentiment has yet developed and little hope is held in that city that league ball will be a possibility this coming season.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Hamilton, of Duluth, are spending a few days in the city, visiting with friends.

PENSION LAW NOT A BURDEN

No Petitions Under Recent Statute for Relief of Widows Have Been Filed With Judge of Probate of This County—Inquiries Regarding New Act Have Been Few

However, a Different Condition Exists Where the City and Township Plan of Poor Administration Is in Force—Delta County Among Those Affected.

The widows' pension law, so-called, does not promise to become a burden on the taxpayers of Marquette county. Not a single petition under the new statute has been filed with W. T. Potter, judge of probate. This condition does not exist in some of the other counties of the upper peninsula, where the payment of pensions is a heavy drain on the funds. While several widows have inquired of Judge Potter regarding the statute, their cases have been disposed of through the office of the superintendent of the poor. The pension law has been in effect only a short time, but it has been found by judges of probate in all parts of the state that the statute is crude and that it can easily be abused.

Few Cases Heard.

During the time that the law has been in force only six or eight have been brought to the attention of Judge Potter. In each of these it was found that the persons were merely seeking emergency relief. This was supplied through the superintendents of the poor, the plan working out satisfactorily in each instance. The money must come from the treasury of the county anyway, and it makes no difference whether funds are granted through the office of the superintendents of the poor or by the operation of the pension law. The names of those who receive aid from the county are not published as formerly. Thus there is no incentive in that particular for requests for relief under the pension act.

Delta County Swamped.

The pension act presents an entirely different aspect in Delta county, as well as in a few other counties of the peninsula. In Delta, the township and city plan of poor relief is in force. As the county must pay the pensions provided under the act, it has been found that in counties with the Delta plan in operation the number of petitions for widows' pensions has been large. This is due to the fact that cities and townships throw all possible relief work on the county, and the pension law affords them the only means of doing so. In Delta county the expense is already $100,000 a year and is rapidly growing.

Although many petitions for pensions have been filed in Dickinson county, careful investigation of the case of each applicant has resulted in a great reduction in the number of those who would otherwise be a heavy burden on the county. The law makes no provision of those who receive money under the pension act, and that which has been done in the various counties has been the work of the judges of probate. In Iron and Gogebic counties the number of petitions that has been filed has been large, but few of those who applied have been found to be worthy. However there is no disposition on the part of the judges to deny worthy appeals.

In some cases it has been learned that applicants have been deserted by husbands who are fully able to support their families. The decision of many of the judges in cases of this kind has been to request the applicants to swear out warrants against their recent husbands, promising apprehension and enforced support. In many of the cases the wives have refused to resort to this means. The amount of money that can be allowed widows and their families under the new law ranges from $1 to $19 a week, depending largely on the number of children in the family. Those eligible under the law are widows, single women with children, and deserted and divorced women.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT.

PASSENGERS GET A DUCKING.

Snoozing Travelers on Northwestern Train Have Unique Experience.

If you were dozing inside a Northwestern passenger coach, apparently secure from the March wind, whistling and frolicking over the snowy landscape outside, and then, just after you had squirmed into the most comfortable position imaginable and were really enjoying the trip immensely, had a deluge of cold water strike you in the face, trickle along down your spine and otherwise give you an extravagant wetting—wouldn't you be tempted to smash one of the ten commandments? Such sensations were experienced by the passengers on the Northwestern passenger train from Escanaba the other morning. The train halted at Little Lake, about twenty miles south of Negaunee, for water. When the tank was filled the water could not be turned off. Rather than lose time the conductor decided to pull out with the spout flowing. Ventilator fans in most of the coaches were open and as they passed under the five-inch stream water in copious quantities poured into the coaches, wetting down many passengers.

MARQUETTE GIRLS WIN A DECISIVE VICTORY

Defeated L'Anse Basketball Team at Fraternity Hall Last Evening, 29 to 4.

Marquette's supremacy in the realm of basketball was furthered last evening, when the girls of the Marquette High school overwhelmingly defeated the L'Anse girls at Fraternity Hall, while the Marquette City team was winning from the Gwin five at the Gwin club house. The scores in both games were decisive.

The victory of the Marquette High school girls was an easy one, notwithstanding it was their first intercollegiate game of the season. The score was 29 to 4. At all times the Marquette team ran away from its opponents, and there was little in the game to interest the spectators, although at times the L'Anse girls rallied. The visitors made only one field basket during the entire contest.

The Marquette players scored sixteen points in the first period, and thirteen in the latter half. All of the twenty-nine points were scored by Estelle Patrick and Mamie Clme, forwards. The work of the all the players was good. Of the L'Anse points, Dorothy Giorgas and Mae Crebassa, each scored two. The teams lined up as follows: L'Anse—Grace Campbell and Dorothy Giorgas, forwards; Dorothy Elliot and Florence Boiven, centers; and Rose Eggeus, Jean Campbell and Mae Crebassa, guards.

Marquette—Estelle Patrick and Mamie Clme, forwards; Amanda Mellin and A. Drall, centers; Esther Cleveland, D. Bergeron and Ruth Bilenberg, guards.

ADMITTED TO THE BAR AT 22.

Judge C. R. Brown Again Entitled to Practice in Berrien County.

A Niles press dispatch says: "Although he is eighty-two years old, Judge Charles R. Brown has been again admitted to the Berrien county bar to practice law. Judge Brown has twice been elected to the bench in Michigan, but some time ago retired from active service because of advancing age. Now he has decided that he is just as able as ever to take up the duties of his profession. Judge Bridgeman extended to the aged lawyer the greetings of the association.

"Years ago Judge Brown served as circuit judge of Kalamazoo and Van Buren counties when those two counties constituted one judicial circuit. It was Judge Brown who forty years ago called the first grand jury Kalamazoo county ever had. It was called to investigate liquor sales at a time when the entire state was dry.

"Later he moved to Marquette, where he was elected judge of that judicial district. His son is at present city attorney of Marquette. Some time ago the aged jurist and his wife moved back to this city. It was in 1860 when he was first admitted to the bar in this county."

WILL ASK FOR $55,000.

School Board Expects to Retire Another $10,000 in Bonds.

At a special meeting of the board of education last evening, it was decided that in the city budget for the next fiscal year the board will ask for $55,000, which is the same sum as last year. This amount will, it is expected, be large enough to permit the board to retire $10,000 in bonds, as will be done within a short time from last year's budget. The indebtedness of the board at the present time is $60,000, so that within a year or so this will have been reduced to $50,000. Nine years ago the board had bonds outstanding amounting to $100,000, and this has been cut down to the present amount without any extra demands on the taxpayers.

"OFFICER 666" AGAIN BOOKED.

Will Come to Marquette Opera House Tuesday, March 24.

"Officer 666," an excellent comedy presented by a well-balanced cast, will be seen at the Marquette Opera House March 24. The attraction was originally booked on Feb. 24, but was cancelled a short time before that date. "Binty Pulls the Strings," which was booked for March 24, has been cancelled, but will be seen here at a later date.

As a vaudeville attraction for the first half of next week the management has secured Johnson, Howard and Listette, known as "The Three Dusty Roads," a comedy act of the first class. Exceptionally good reports have been received on this attraction. "Mrs. Consul, the Educated Chimpanzee" is the vaudeville booking for the latter half of next week. It is the highest priced act that has been obtained in several weeks. The animal performs many novel stunts, such as sewing, high and low bicycle riding, roller skating, and eating by itself.

LEARN TO USE GENUINE GAS COKE AND SAVE MONEY.

It takes nearly two ton of high-grade Pennsylvania coal to make one ton of coke. That is why you get fifty bushels of coke to twenty-seven bushels of coal in a ton. All the dust, dirt, soot, tar, gas, sulphur, smoke, etc., have been removed at the gas plant. Genuine Gas Coke is the pure carbon which remains. Coke will not give good results unless properly handled. It requires less draft than coal and the furnace should always be kept full of coke whether you want a hot fire or not.

To hold fire over night shut fuel damper and all bottom drafts and open charging door. (2-18-1f.)

Go-to-Church Proclamation.

The churches of Marquette are an asset of this city. From a business viewpoint they rank high. Who would want to be identified with a community that had no churches?

The church buildings themselves are composed of wood, brick and stone, inanimate objects; but from these edifices radiate an influence for good that permeates every nook and cranny of our civilization. We have all over this country a "Back to the Farm Movement." I believe we need what we may designate as a "Back to the Church Movement." Many people unconsciously and without thought come to neglect their religious duties amid the whirl of social and business activities.

Certain of our citizens recognizing the great value and necessity to all men of the worship of Almighty God, have set apart the 15th day of March, 1914, to be observed as a day when special city-wide effort shall be made in the interests of better church attendance.

Now, therefore, in compliance with a request from those in charge of this movement, and in the conviction that an obligation rests upon our citizens in the behalf of good citizenship, to maintain and promote religious interests and institutions, I gladly proclaim Sunday, March 15, 1914, as Go-to-Church Sunday, and I urge our people, irrespective of creed or church affiliations, to attend divine services on the above day, at one or more of the church homes of our city.

Marquette, Mich., March 7, 1914.

FRED H. BEGOLE, Mayor.
