

MINISTRY IS READY TO USE FORCE IN IRELAND

Government Serves Notice Military Officers Will Not Be Permitted to Defeat Home Rule Plans—It Is Prepared to Carry Out the Will of the Country.

Harsh Means Not Projected, but Will Be if Necessary—War Secretary Seely Takes All Blame for Blunder—His Independent Concessions to Army Rescinded.

London, March 25.—The government published today its promised statement of its dealings with the revolting officers of the Third cavalry brigade, and the house of commons held another heated and disorderly session.

Between the documents presented and the various statements drawn from the cabinet ministers, the vital facts of the affair were made clear. They reveal a comedy—or tragedy—of errors perpetrated by Colonel Seely, secretary of state for war, and Sir Arthur Paget, commanding the troops in Ireland.

Seely Shoulders Whole Blame.

Colonel Seely took all the blame upon his own shoulders. He frankly declared that he had made a great mistake. His written assurance to General Hubert Gough that the government "must retain its right to use all the forces of the crown in Ireland or elsewhere to maintain order and support the civil powers in the ordinary execution of their duty," but has no intention whatever of taking advantage of this right in order to crush political opposition to the policies or the principles of the home rule bill," was given without the knowledge of the cabinet and contrary to its policy.

The war secretary tendered his resignation to Mr. Asquith, but the premier refused to accept it. The government has withdrawn Colonel Seely's guarantees, according to a statement made by Viscount Morley in the house of lords, and Sir Edward Grey told the house of commons that the government's decision would be made known to General Gough tomorrow. This situation with respect to General Gough and his fifty-nine comrades who sent in their papers is still in a state of suspense.

Important Demonstrations Not Planned.

The most important revelation was that the government did plan on important military and naval demonstrations upon Ulster. Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, confirmed the reports that he had ordered the third battle squadron and a torpedo flotilla to Irish waters, but explained that when the military arrangements had been successfully carried out he countermanded the orders by wireless.

The blunder General Paget made appears to be in giving a practical ultimatum to the officers of the cavalry brigade to say whether they would take active service in Ulster or accept dismissal.

Colonel Seely readily admitted that his error was in yielding to General Gough's demand for a written assurance that the army would not be used to suppress the covenanters.

Premier Asquith made plain the government's position regarding the army to the house of commons, declaring that he would not assent to the claim of any body of men in the service to demand assurances of what they would be required to do in circumstances which had not yet arisen.

Will Use Force if Need Be.

Sir Edward Grey spoke even more strongly. He said: "The government is prepared at any moment to use force to whatever extent is required to make the will of the country prevail. That is a contingency which cannot arise for a long time, and we will still labor to avoid it."

In refusing to accept Colonel Seely's resignation, the prime minister said: "I am not going to accept Colonel Seely's resignation. To do so would be ungenerous and unjust. He has loyally acquiesced in the judgment which I have given to this house, and he can count on the affection and the confidence of his colleagues."

Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, remarked that Colonel Seely had been thrown to the wolves, but that there had been a bargain that the wolves would not eat him.

The government members were placated by today's revelations, but there remains among the radicals and laborites a very strong dissatisfaction with the whole affair.

All talk of a compromise on the home rule bill is for the time suspended.

Ministry Strengthened, Holds Press.

London, Thursday, March 25.—The view of the Liberal morning papers is that though yesterday was the blackest day the government has experienced in its whole existence and, in the words of the London Daily Chronicle, "it seemed as if its life was worth forty-eight hours' purchase." The air has now cleared and the government is rehabilitated and in a stronger position than ever.

The Daily Chronicle remarks that in the face of the common danger from the Tories and the army combining together, labor is now making common cause with Liberalism, and whenever the general election occurs, instead of engaging in fratricidal strife, laborites and Liberals will stand shoulder to shoulder in the defense of civil authority and the rights of a free democracy.

MEXICO CITY CLAIMS VILLA IN MAD FLIGHT

Constitutionalist Army at Torreon Put to Rout With Great Slaughter, According to President Huerta's War Department—Its Casualties Are Said to Be 2,000.

Reinforcements Arriving Opportunely, Federals Are Asserted to Have Won a Decisive Victory—Rebels Reported Retreating, Hotly Pursued by the Enemy.

Chihuahua, March 25.—A p. m.—No official advices from the south have been received in the last twenty-four hours. The latest news was that the insurgents were still fighting outside Gomez Palacio. The absence of messages is not explained.

Eight Hundred Men Under General Joaquin Maas and General Javier de Monte, It is Announced, Arrived Opportunely from Saltillo in Time to Add Greatly to the Federal Victory. The Rebels Are Said to Be Retreating Northward, with the Federals Pounding at their Rear.

It is admitted that Villa's men entered Lerdo, a suburb of Torreon, but it is explained that this was a ruse on the part of General Velasco to ambush them. As soon as they were well in federal territory, the federal artillery shelled them out, the cavalry charging as the rebels started to retreat.

Generals Maas and DeMonte are reported to have executed the distance between Hipolito and Torreon in fifty armored automobiles, which they were carrying, the railroad having been cut at Hipolito.

The rebel losses in dead and wounded are reported to be two thousand.

All Foreigners Said to Be Safe.

El Paso, Tex., March 25.—An authoritative telegram was received here tonight, stating that all foreigners in the battle zone at Torreon were safe.

Unconfirmed rumors here have it that Villa has executed two hundred federal prisoners as an incident of the Torreon battle, and that in a general assault fifty-eight federals were killed and two hundred were wounded.

Constitutionalist sympathizers place a gloomy construction on the failure of detailed newspaper dispatches to get through.

Rebels Victorious at Guerrero.

Zapata, Tex., via Courier to Lerdo, Tex., March 25.—Monday's battle at Guerrero, near here, resulted in the retreat of the nine hundred federals under General Guardia.

Guardia stationed one hundred men on rooftops at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and for three hours these men held the position, most of them, possibly all, in ignorance that they were making a perilous stand. Meanwhile, Guardia's main force retreated.

A federal scout who escaped to the United States is authority for the story of the retreat. He claims that Guardia attempted to sacrifice the lives of one hundred men of the Twenty-Ninth infantry to save the major portion of his command.

It was not until 4 o'clock that the little band realized they were fighting alone. Concentration sprung among the handful of defenders, who scattered in all directions. Many were killed.

Terrazas' Life Reported Spared.

Douglas, Ariz., March 25.—Luis Terrazas, Jr., held captive by the Constitutionalist at Chihuahua, will not be executed in any circumstances, according to a statement made here today by Roberto V. Pesquera, a Washington representative of the insurgents, who was in Douglas on official business. In addition to asserting that Terrazas would not be executed, Pesquera announced that the young man probably would not be released under existing circumstances.

El Paso, Tex., March 25.—Whether the threat to execute Luis Terrazas, Jr., today has been carried out by the rebels was not known here tonight, but the absence of affirmative information led General Luis Terrazas, father of the threatened man, to believe that his son has been granted a further lease of life. General Terrazas said he placed confidence in the fact that Marion Letcher, United States consul at Chihuahua, had interested for his son.

He won an easy victory over four contestants in the grand final heat of the meet which began here a week ago. Cioni previously held the title of champion of Italy. Allice Moore, of Charlevoix, Mich., who held the championship during the last year, stayed in front for eleven laps, when he weakened and dropped back to last place. The time of the heat was 3:06.

TELLS HOW TO KEEP PENSION ROLL DOWN

Build Bigger Navy and Thus Shorten or Prevent Wars, Argues Capt. Fullam.

Baltimore, Md., March 25.—Captain William F. Fullam, commander of the United States Naval academy, declared in an address here tonight that if the government expended as much money a year on the navy as it does on pensions, fifteen dreadnaughts could be built annually.

The naval academy commander said if as much money should be expended on battleships as had been spent by the country in pensioning, since that system had been instituted, a line of battleships, each battleship four hundred yards apart, would reach for a distance of 115 miles. The comparison was used to show, as he said, that a larger navy would shorten what wars there would be and perhaps prevent their conflicts, the pension roll of the future thereby being reduced.

The pension system, Captain Fullam explained, had grown to such proportions because lack of preparation for war had caused struggles to be protracted far beyond the period they should have gone.

ULTIMATUM GIVEN TOBACCO CONCERNS

Government Demands That Monopolistic Practices Be Abandoned by Monday, Next.

New York, March 25.—The companies into which the tobacco trust was dissolved by the decree of 1911 were today given until next Monday to present a plan for abandoning monopolistic practices which the attorney general considers are in violation of the decree.

The United States District Attorney Marshall told the attorneys for these companies today that the government intended to put an end to present conditions by injunction or other means, but he postponed action until Monday, at the request of the tobacco attorneys, who are protesting against the government's complaints of certain independent dealers, who charge that a monopoly of the jobbing business in this district which was enjoyed by the Metropolitan Tobacco company under the old trust still exists and that independent dealers are obliged to buy their tobacco at retail rates.

The corporations represented were the American, the Liggett & Myers, the R. J. Reynolds, the P. Lorillard and the Metropolitan Tobacco companies.

STOCKS IN NEW YORK MARKET OFFER STUBBORN RESISTANCE TO ARRAY OF BEARISH NEWS.

New York, March 25.—The confidence of the bulls in the stock market was shaken by bearish news today. Sentiment swung towards the short side, and a few stocks, directly or indirectly, by the day's developments, were sent tumbling. But the list as a whole offered stubborn resistance.

Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati & St. Louis cut the dividend on the common from 5 to 3 per cent, and on the preferred from 5 to 4. The common stock broke to 70, a drop of thirteen points. Later it recovered part of its loss. Pennsylvania, whose returns on its holdings of the P. C. & S. L. stock are reduced at the rate of nearly $700,000 a year, was hammered down about two points.

Atchison weakened on an exceptionally poor statement for February. For eight months of the fiscal year Atchison's income in operating income is $2,802,000. Northern Pacific's February earnings also were bearish.

The weekly reviews by steel trade authorities were distinctly pessimistic. Smelting's annual report showed a decrease in net of $1,642,000.

'GEN.' J. S. COXEY GIVES WARNING TO WASHINGTON

President Is Advised in a Letter of the Ohio Man's Plans to Head a 'March' Upon the National Capital Like That Conducted a Score of Years Ago.

Purpose, It Is Stated, Is to Petition for Measures to Provide Work for Unemployed—Start Is Scheduled for April 16—'Army' Due to Arrive May 21.

Cleveland, O., March 25.—President Wilson tonight was warned of the departure for Washington of a second "Coxey's army" which, it is said, will start April 16 from Massillon, O., the starting point for the first "army" twenty years ago today.

General J. S. Coxey, of Massillon, the leader, tonight made the president a letter telling of his plans and enclosing a pamphlet on "the Coxey plan of setting the idle to work on market roads and other public improvements."

The "army," Coxey says, expects to arrive in Washington May 21 to petition the president and congress for measures which will give work to the unemployed. "This will give you forty-five days to inform yourself of the object of this second march," the letter to the president says, "and to consider the practicability and justice of our demands."

On the previous march, two other leaders and myself were jailed twenty days for our efforts."

Kelleyite Convicted at Sacramento.

Sacramento, Calif., March 25.—Edward Teesdale, one of the unemployed "army" leaders arrested here on charges of vagrancy during the riots three weeks ago, was convicted by a jury today. He was the first of the men to stand trial. Teesdale will be sentenced tomorrow. The trial of "General" Kelley, on a similar charge, will be held tomorrow, also.

New York, March 25.—The prosecution rested its case late today in the trial of Frank Tannenbaum, who, under the banner of the Industrial Workers, led an army of the unemployed into St. Alphonsus' church on March 4. Police men testified that after the men had been denied admission they pushed the police aside and marched down the center aisle. Some of the men, other witnesses testified, stood upon the seats and cursed and refused to remove their hats.

MINE WORKERS COMMITTEE ADOPTS A PLAN EXPECTED TO KEEP COAL DIGGERS AT WORK

Chicago, March 25.—The policy committee of the United Mine Workers today agreed upon a plan which is expected to maintain industrial peace in the bituminous coal districts of western Pennsylvania and Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. It was settled that the men are to remain at work under the present agreement until the end of the week in district conferences with the employers, abandoning, at least for this year, any attempt to do so in a joint conference of the four states.

The wage agreements are made for two years. The present agreement expired April 1.

West Virginia Strikers Evicted.

Colliers, W. Va., March 25.—Striking coal miners and the strikers, who yesterday were forced to move their tents by deputy United States marshals, today were forced to pull down the canvas.

The marshals ordered the miners to leave the property and the strikers, accompanied by their wives and children, in all about two hundred persons, marched ten miles over country roads to the Ohio river. Tonight the strikers are being cared for by labor union officials at Steubenville, O.

The eviction, it is declared, was on an order made by Judge A. G. Dayton, of the United States circuit court for the Northern district of West Virginia. It is reported that the strikers have sent appeal to President Woodrow Wilson and to Governor H. D. Hatfield, of West Virginia. The text of the appeals was not made public.

Sheriff Patterson and a large force of deputies hurried here late today from Wellsburg. There was little disorder, however. The sheriff reported hearing many shots fired, but said he had heard of no one having been hurt.

Makes Appeal for "Mother" Jones.

St. Louis, Mo., March 25.—United States District Attorney Houst, of this city, announced tonight that he had joined District Attorney Wilkerson of Chicago in a campaign to break up a gang of blackmailers whose operations are said to have been made possible by the provisions of the Mann act.

Numerous attempts to use the federal act which prohibits traffic in women as a lever to extort money under threat of prosecution have been brought to the attention of the federal officials, Mr. Houst declares.

MRS. BELLE GUNNESS REPORTED TO BE LIVING ON A FARM IN CANADA.

La Porte, Ind., March 25.—For the fifth time the authorities of this county have been persuaded to appropriate railroad fare for investigation of a report that Mrs. Belle Gunness has been "found." Clint Cochrane, town marshal when the Gunness robbery which is sensation was being exploited in 1908, left LaPorte today for Neville, Sask., where the Northwest mounted police have under surveillance a woman homesteader. According to the reports from Canada, the woman was recognized as Mrs. Gunness by a man who went to school with the latter in Norway, some twenty-five or thirty years ago.

Four bodies taken from the ruins of the Gunness home were declared by the coroner and petit and grand juries to be those of Mrs. Gunness and her three children. But the defense of Ray Lanphere, convicted of setting the place on fire, raised the theory that Mrs. Gunness herself set fire to the place and then escaped.

SUSPECTED ROBBER HAS BANK DEPOSITS OF $34,000 SAY SLEUTHS WHO JAIL HIM

Greenville, S. C., March 25.—John Radliffe was arrested by detectives here today in connection with the robbery of a Queen & Crescent express and mail train near Birmingham, Ala., on Feb. 19. He denies knowledge of the crime. Bank books showing deposits of $24,000 to Radliffe's credit in Greenville and Atlanta banks were found among the prisoner's effects, according to the detectives. Two men recently were arrested in Atlanta and charged with connection with the robbery, which is said to have netted three bandits in the neighborhood of $40,000.

PRESIDENT WILL WIN, PREDICTS SUPPORTER

House Claimed to Oppose Free Tolls by 100 Majority—But 'He Will Open Today.

Washington, March 25.—Lines were sharply drawn tonight for the opening of the house fight to repeal the law giving American coastwise ships free passage through the Panama canal. The opposing forces divided for the opening skirmish in the conflict, which will open when there is presented to the house tomorrow a special rule to limit the debate on the repeal controversy.

Personal convictions on the question have practically obliterated party lines. One enthusiastic administration leader predicted tonight that all opposition to the repeal bill in the house by a majority of nearly one hundred.

Senator Opposes "Surrender."

In the senate today, Mr. Chamberlain, Democrat, of Oregon, insisted that the president's view that all opposition to the repeal of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty is an erroneous one.

"I never will stand on the floor of this senate," the Pacific coast Democrat declared, "and advocate that this government yield anything to Great Britain. That nation is universally understood to be not the friend of America."

Mr. Chamberlain also assailed Andrew Carnegie and the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, declaring that Mr. Carnegie's friendship for Great Britain was "treasonable."

Senator Jones, one of those opposing the repeal of the exemption clause, today had read a letter from William B. Larkin, of Boston, assailing President Wilson's contention and saying:

"The president should be recalled to the classic shades of Princeton instead of being permitted to continue to bulldoze accredited representatives of the American people in congress."

Senator Thomas, Democrat, interrupted the reading of these letters to show the feeling and indignation among the ordinary people of the country.

Senator Thomas criticized Senator Jones as detracting from the dignity of the senate by reading letters that almost change the president with treason.

Trenton Straw Vote Upholds President.

SENTRY'S BULLET KILLED THE WOMAN AT THE SOO

Washington, March 25.—Violation of the treaty of Ghent, which restored peace between Great Britain and the United States after the war of 1812 is put forth as the basis for a claim for $25,000 pressed today by the British government before the British-American pecuniary claims commission, now in session here.

Miss Elizabeth Cadenhead, a British subject from Kingston, Ont., was killed in the streets of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., by a bullet fired by a Fort Brady sentry at an escaping military prisoner. The suit taken up today was brought by the British government in behalf of Miss Cadenhead's heirs.

LABOR FORCES WIN FIGHT FOR LEGISLATION

Bill Shutting the Doors of the United States to the Manufactures of Foreign Convicts and Paupers Is Passed by National House, After Vigorous Struggle

All Shipments of Goods Thus Put Under the Ban May Be Confiscated and Their Importers Fined or Imprisoned, According to Provisions of the Measure.

Washington, March 25.—After a vigorous contest, the house today passed a bill to bar foreign convict-made or pauper-made goods from competition with the products of American free labor. The measure, which now goes to the senate, follows a bill recently passed by the house and which forbids the shipment of convict-made goods in interstate commerce into states which prohibit the sale of such products in the open market.

The importation of foreign convict-made goods has been prohibited generally under the tariff laws since 1890, but owing to the peculiar construction of the law it has been difficult to enforce the statute and the labor representatives in congress declare it has been freely violated. Under the measure passed today, all shipments of goods proved to be convict-made or pauper-made could be confiscated by the treasury department and the importers fined or imprisoned.

The right of the government to exclude any class of goods, provided no attempt is made to discriminate as between nations, is undisputed, according to the state department authorities.

MR. WILSON "DROPS IN" ON SENATOR W. J. STONE, ILL AT HIS RESIDENCE.

Washington, March 25.—President Wilson kept pace today with his preceding-slattering reputation, exemplifying the human side of himself which has been his difficulty to enforce a few days ago, by motoring to the home of Senator William J. Stone, of Missouri, who has been sick, and having a chat about official business.

Senator Stone, who is the new chairman of the foreign relations committee, has been ill for several weeks. "The president," said Senator Stone later, "merely dropped in on his way to the golf links. I have been laid up a long time and was eager to hear what was going on. The president told me about Mexico, and we talked also about the canal tolls matter. It was a very nice of him to suggest coming here."

AMERICAN EXPRESS COM'Y WILL BUILD AT NEW YORK SKYSCRAPER COSTING $2,000,000.

THE DAILY MINING JOURNAL

A MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY The Mining Journal Company, Limited. Issued daily except on Sundays. Contains Associated Press dispatches, and is especially devoted to the Upper Peninsula interests.

THURSDAY, MARCH 26, 1914.

BREAKS WITH PRECEDENT. In the Ulster, a monarch, King George, disregarding limitations on his field of action accepted by his father and going further to make himself a determining influence in affairs of state than any recent British monarch, evidently has, to large extent, taken the bit in his teeth, and, flying in the face of his constitutional advisers, the Liberal ministry, has followed a course of action that has humiliated them before the nation and infuriated grievously with the carrying out of a policy on which they had determined only after giving due and deliberate consideration to all of its phases.

By recognition of the right of what is essentially military by officers of the army, the king has given reign to most subversive speculation as to the right of soldiers in the ranks, under certain conditions, to refuse duty. While England has an aristocratic army establishment and still supports an hereditary peerage, it is essentially democratic in its composition, and has advanced democratic principles more rapidly of late years than at any previous period in its history. The dominating democratic spirit naturally is much aroused by the success an aristocratic army cavalry has met with in overruling a parliamentary government placed in office by popular vote.

The King is represented in the calendars as, for several weeks, having been more apprehensive about the Ulster situation than his counselors have been, and they, it is said, have been at great difficulty to reassure him. While it would be too much to say that he feared for his throne, it is asserted that in his mind the situation has not been without a certain bearing on the ultimate status of the kingly office. It is apprehensions of this nature that led the King to take such a positive stand with reference to Ulster, it is asserted. If this is a correct theory of the developments, it appears that the King has precipitated a situation he has sought to avoid, for the denunciations aimed at him are with difficulty made as conventional denunciations as British traditions demand.

One of the rules of the king game in Great Britain has been that the King shall not interfere in public affairs to the prejudice of either of the great parties that contend for control of the realm. This rule the King is taxed—and properly, it appears—with violating. For the moment, his course has given aid and comfort to the Tories that they could have had from no other source, and has thrown them a substantial lifeline when they were about to go under in a losing fight.

The developments that might follow in the wake of such a breaking with tradition by the King are so varied and far-reaching in their nature that it would be ill even to speculate about them before the trend of events gives some data for guidance.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE.

The steadiness of our foreign trade is remarkable, even admirable, when the confused domestic situation is considered, remarks the New York Times. "The imports under the lower tariff increased during February 823,063, a sum which it will trouble the pessimists to exaggerate into anything worth while. The exports decreased $20,188,474 in agricultural products. It would seem that the weather and the crops had more to do with last month's foreign trade than the tariff. The excess of exports over imports is smaller than for recent years until we get back to such thoroughly bad years as those following the two regrettable episodes in the first decade of the current century. Our excesses of exports are large when we are contracting our imports because we cannot afford to buy and are exporting our own goods at whatever they will bring to pay our obligations, for we are still a debtor nation. For this reason there is no cause to regret our small, but considerable, balance of exports of $23,871,537 on merchandise movement in February. We are buying in full volume and we are selling only on our own terms. American bargains not being offered for the sake of making trade. There is so much frenzy and uncertainty in other departments of trade that it is reassuring to find something solid and normal."

Much regret will be felt at the latest destruction of the Miners' National bank building at Ishpeming, and for the loss it will involve, not only for the bank but for the tenants. The manner in which this particular property has been visited of late years carries a plain warning to the owners now to rebuild it so that fire can never again do more than scar it and the sturdiest of explosions can do no more than rock it gently.

The assertion is made that blank petitions for the nomination of Chase S. Osborn as the Republican candidate for governor are being prepared, and will shortly be circulated by his friends, without any reference to his attitude. It is highly improbable, it may be said, that if his friends went to the trouble of putting him in the field and then carried the primary for him he would refuse to run. But as he does not particularly want the office, if he wants it at all, it would be rather unreasonable to expect him to fight his head off for it.

The willingness of J. S. Monroe, of Gogebic, to sacrifice his time and his personal interests to serve the Thirty-first district at Lansing is noted, and his name has, accordingly, been entered on the list of tentative candidates. Next?

Remembering their experience of a few years ago telephone subscribers in the county will be thankful that this time the Ishpeming central office was not located in the Miners' National building.

The People's party leaders at Ishpeming announce that they will have a full ticket in the field. Past experience has shown, however, that this is not, of necessity, indicative of a lively election.

A LAUGH OR TWO

No Better, But Worse. Apropos of a policy of trust reformation, ex-Mayor Shank of Indianapolis said at a banquet in New York: "If a trust is inherently bad, kill it. You can't reform it. It's like the singing lady. 'One man said to another: 'I hear your wife has been taking singing lessons?' 'Yes,' was the reply. 'Well, what do you think of her voice since it's been trained?' 'Oh, no better; but there's a lot more of it.'"

Poet's Dog. Mrs. Stevens, who posed as a literary woman, professed great admiration for Lord Byron's poetical works. "She had recently purchased a little dog, and was showing him to a caller. 'What have you named him?' asked the caller. 'Perchance,' was the reply. 'What a singular name for an animal!' commented the caller. 'I named him for Byron's dog,' she explained. 'Do you remember that line where the poet says, 'Perchance my dog will howl?'" National Monthly.

A Poor Little Orphan. The teacher had explained the geographical lesson, which was concerning the forms of government, and had made an interesting talk to her third grade pupils on the succession of kings, election of presidents, etc. This lesson occurred during the latter years of Victoria's reign, and to see if they understood clearly she asked a few questions. "Now, if Queen Victoria would die, what would the Prince of Wales be?" "No answer." "Why, you remember, I told you that the Prince of Wales, was Queen Victoria's oldest son. Now if she should die, can't you think what he would be?" "One small boy, known. 'An orphan,' he answered.—The Delineator.

When Wine Helps. It is said that when Sir Andrew Clark, Mr. Gladstone's physician, recommended a patient to drink wine the latter expressed some surprise, saying he thought Sir Andrew was a temperance doctor, to which Sir Andrew replied: "Oh, wine does sometimes help you to get through work. For instance, I have often twenty letters to answer after dinner, and a pint of champagne is a great help." "Indeed," said the patient, "does a pint of champagne really help you to answer the twenty letters?" "No! no!" said Sir Andrew, "but when I've had a pint of champagne I don't care a rap whether I answer them or not."—Westminster Gazette.

Wrecking a Novel. In a discussion of the popular literary taste, Theodore Dreiser said at the Century club in New York: "Here is an illuminating episode: A preacher was talking to a critic. The preacher said: 'I don't like the work of Pott's, the novelist?' 'Neither, I do,' the critic answered. 'Yet in your review the other day you declared that Pott's last novel was remarkable for its purity, that its high moral tone was a splendid change from the tainted fiction of the day, and that you advised the public to turn to the moral Potts from the debasing fiction so much in vogue. Why, now, my friend, if you dislike Pott's, did you talk like that about his work?' 'I did it,' the critic answered, 'to spoil his sales.'"

Well Measured. Here is one that was told by Congressman Robert E. Broussard of Louisiana when reference was made to the question of the king: "Two men ran into a cafe one afternoon, and while waiting for their order one of the pair became occupied in a study of the adjacent scenery. Some minutes passed, and then the other looked up wonderingly. 'That is high for a king,' he said. 'What in the world are you looking at, Jim?' he asked. 'You have been peering straight into the show for ten minutes.'"

The New York Way. Tom Bateman thinks he may never be treated to the ways of New York bankers. "I wanted to open an account in a New York bank," said Bateman. "So I filled my pockets with large, pretty bills, and went to it. On the way down town, I would have come home with enough to head me any change. 'By and by I got up to where I could look at the top of the head of the pallid little runt who wore those mourning-rimmed glasses that look over the ears. 'I want to open an account,' I said to him. 'He never looked up. Just kept on scratching with his little pen. 'Here's the money,' I said, pushing a thick wad of plush under his little gate at him. 'He didn't ask my name, or where I came from, or how I liked New York. He just said: 'You'll have to get a couple of indorsers.' 'Huh?' I said. 'Huh? You mean I've got to get a couple of backers before I can even put money in your dog-rum bank?' 'He said that I had correctly apprehended the drift of his oral communication. 'Give me back that money,' I said. 'If a man ever hit the town I come from with $30, every banker in the burg would meet him at the depot with automobiles.'—New York Globe.

EDITORIAL OPINION

Food Importations Increase.

For the past sixteen years evidence has been accumulating to show the decline of food production in this country in proportion to population, but the actual realization of the fact is very recent. As long ago as 1898 we were importers of agricultural products to the amount of $29,853,286. In the next six years we increased our imports of food products nearly $20,000,000. In 1908, the dismal year following the New York panic, we imported $69,096,335. Since that time our imports have been increasing by the thousands, as compared with earlier years, and in 1912 the amount had reached $177,711,156. This increase of foreign foods has had no noticeable effect upon the prices of native products, in fact they were never so high in actual value as today. The reasonable inference is that these increases of imports were actuated by a steadily growing national appetite in the face of a slowly diminishing volume of production in proportion to population. But for our ability to look abroad for materials with which to stock the pantry, prices might have ranged so high that a million or so of our population would have suffered hunger and we should have had more disturbances of a very serious nature.—Detroit News Tribune.

The King.

All British and Irish parties and factions are looking to the king. They are not looking to him with any considerable hopefulness, for they have no reason to expect from him anything brilliantly decisive or courageously original. But there is a feeling that in such a crisis the king is not a mere figurehead, the kingdom the king may be moved to assume some small degree of the theoretical functions of a monarch.

The British kingship is in the next of the past. The prime minister is the chief executive of the kingdom; the king is an ornamental functionary. The crown has been shorn of most of its powers by legislative action, and those powers which have not been taken away are practically never exercised. About all that the king rules is "society," in its restricted sense.

It would take a man of unusual temperamental forcefulness to assert his royal individuality and to dictate or even influence a settlement. King Gustavus of Sweden has recently indicated that a water reformer is a great help in the case of some weight in the affairs of his nation. But between Gustavus V. and George V. there is little similarity, and moreover no nation, with the exception of the recently created Norway, has retained the royal influence to the British minimum.

For King George to take sides in the present dispute would merely result in bringing down upon him the execration and possibly the contempt of one of the great powers of the world. To interfere without taking sides would result in a benefit. His position is pitifully helpless, and even a stronger man than George V. might deem it wise to refrain from asserting himself.

It is, however, natural for the citizens of a kingdom to look to the man who happens to hold the title of king to interest himself in a conflict so full of menace. It is natural for him to display signs of activity and of comprehension. That is why the reactions are not looking to the king, rather in curiosity than in apprehension or hopelessness.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Reason and Unreason in Ireland.

The intemperance of the Unionists in Ulster is in marked contrast to the restraint and sanity of the Nationalists. The Nationalists are willing to accept a compromise. They have fought for years for establishment of Ireland as a free unit in the British empire, self-governed. The British government has yielded to the wisdom of this cause and has adopted it. The home rule bill, creating an Irish parliament, is about to be passed a third time by the house of commons. Under the parliament act the house of lords cannot then reject it. At this moment of success, when the Nationalists might well insist upon the territorial integrity of Ireland under the new arrangement, the Nationalists agree to the Amethyst compromise. Rather than give the Ulstermen an excuse for rising against the government, rather than provoke a civil war, they have agreed to accept the bill with an amendment allowing any county to vote itself out of the jurisdiction of the Irish parliament for a period of six years.

This is not merely a "stay of execution," as it has been called by the Unionists. It is a promise that the Ulster counties never shall be controlled by the Irish parliament unless the people of Great Britain agree to it, and unless the voters of Great Britain sustain them. The imperial parliament can make the exemption of Ulster permanent. The Liberal party, having given Ireland home rule, must stand the test of two elections, and if the Unionists win they may do them for Ulster what they now demand be done for the other counties.—New York Globe.

DRUG STORE THIEVES

It is getting so that even the best of thieves and robbers discriminate somewhat in their selections.

For instance, burglars recently broke into a drug store owned by our good Nyalist, S. B. Jones, corner Baraga avenue and Third street, on the night of Feb. 4th. After helping themselves to money, stamps, etc., they directly went to the candy case. After looking over a complete stock of various lines of candy, they took out a box of Nyls Chocolates as their selection and naturally finished the contents of the box.

It is going some when even a robber in his haste will stop in his excitement to eat a box of Nyls chocolates. It would look as though even the elements of the under-world were reading Nyls advertising.

The Marquette lodge of Elks will meet at Fraternity Hall at 8 o'clock this evening. Matters relating to the proposed temple will be considered. It is urged that all members interested be in attendance.

Miss Flora E. Hill, of the faculty of the Northern State Normal school, accompanied by Miss Adele Hessel, of Escanaba, left yesterday afternoon for New York, on their way to London, and will visit for several months abroad.

Will Appear in Concert—Tanelli Hurri, the well-known Finnish concertist, will appear at Liberty Hall, Washington street, this evening, at 8 o'clock. He has been in Neegaunee for the last two days appearing at the Star theater.

Report Is Unconfirmed—Mrs. Charles Meeske, mother of Miss Ella Meeske, whose marriage to Albert Hancke, of Duluth, has been reported at Chicago, has received no verification of the report. The relatives of Miss Meeske here are skeptical as to the truth of the statement that a wedding has taken place.

Welfare Club Meeting—A general meeting of the Women's Welfare club will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the assembly room of the city hall. Professor J. Lautner, of the faculty of the Northern State Normal, will speak, taking as his subject the new charter which embodies the commission form of city government.

Sent to Asylum—Nestor Pura, of Richmond township, was taken to the state hospital at Newberry yesterday afternoon, after having been given an examination before Judge W. T. Potter yesterday morning. That institution is badly crowded, but Mr. Pura was admitted, owing to the fact that several patients were recently discharged.

Program at Grand—Today the Grand theater is offering "The Hermit of Lonely Gulch," a two-act Essanay drama, featuring Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne. The other pictures will be "His Fireman's Conscience," a Biograph drama, and Pathe's weekly, Friday "Thor, the Lord of the Jungle," a special feature, will be presented.

Dr. Storms Will Speak—The board of education has selected Dr. A. B. Storms, of Indianapolis, to address the 1914 graduating class of the Marquette High school. Commencement exercises will be held the early part of June. It is expected that the class this year will be the largest in the history of the school. Nearly sixty students are in line for diplomas.

First Inspections April 8—C. M. York and C. M. Gooding, United States vessel inspectors for this part of the Great Lakes, will commence their annual spring inspection of vessels in the ports from Ontonagon to Green Bay about April 8. They will first visit the Soo, where several vessels are now in port, and will later go to Menominee, Manistique and Escanaba.

Engagement Is Announced—The Daily Virginian, of Virginia, Minn., says: "At a very pretty luncheon last Saturday to more than thirty guests, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Thorpe announced the coming marriage of their daughter, Susan Catherine, to J. Grover McCarthy, a former resident of Marquette. Mr. McCarthy is now located in Virginia and is in the employ of the Interstate Iron company. Both of the parties are well-known in Virginia and the announcement was received with considerable interest."

Opera House Bookings—For today, tomorrow and Saturday the Marquette Opera House will present the Yalto Duo in the tango, hesitation and maxine

FIREMEN'S EFFORTS ARE GIVEN PRAISE

Department Fought Blaze in Miners' National Yesterday for Fully Six Hours.

Efficient work of the Ishpeming fire department was a factor in preventing the spread of the fire in the Miners' National bank building to the adjoining Jenks' block yesterday morning. Owing to the great headway that had been made by the flames previous to the arrival of the fire department, it was doubted for some time whether the fire could be confined to the bank building.

The structure is to be rebuilt immediately. A meeting of the directors was held yesterday afternoon, when preliminary plans were talked over. It is now believed that the fire had been burning fully two hours before it was discovered. Its origin remains a mystery, but it is thought to have been caused by defective electric wiring. The department reached the scene at about 5 o'clock, and the firemen worked steadily until yesterday noon. The flames were under control early in the morning, however.

That the fire was beyond control when the department arrived is attested by the fact that the roof fell in only five minutes after the firemen were on the scene. Chief John Lacey and several other men were in the building just previously, and they had a narrow escape when the crash came. The roof carried the second floor through to the floor of the bank, and only the bare walls were left standing.

For nearly two hours after the roof fell in, the fire burned furiously, and attracted hundreds of persons, who were aroused by the alarm. Every available piece of fire hose was brought into use, and within a short time after the alarm was turned in by Patrick Ready, who discovered the fire, several streams were playing upon the structure. The ruins smoldered throughout yesterday. About 2 o'clock in the afternoon fire again broke forth, but was extinguished in a short time.

The damage to the Miners' National bank property amounts to approximately $15,000, and the remainder of the $20,000 loss is shared by F. A. Bell and M. J. Kennedy, attorneys, the Marquette county road commission, and Hans Gunderson, all of whom had offices on the second floor of the building. All of these parties carried insurance, and none are losers to any great extent. Michael C. Connolly, surveyor for the county road commission, was among the first on the scene, and saved many of the field maps and notes of the commission, obtained last summer, which are valued at about $2,000.

Henry Harwood, who owns the drug store adjoining the bank building in the Jenks block, was a loser to the extent of several hundred dollars. This damage was caused largely by the water leaking through from the bank building, wetting down a good portion of the stock at the rear of the store.

South Shore passenger train, No. 8, was held up at the Main crossing for more than an hour because of the fire. Hoses had been stretched across the track.

Until the bank is rebuilt the offices of Bell and Kennedy will be located on the second floor of the Hughes block, Main street, in the rooms that were formerly used by the county road commission. The bank will have its quarters in the Voelker block, in the stand that was at one time used by the Royal theater, and the county road commission will have rooms in the Dundon block, Main street.

Bank Vault Opened.

Charles H. Moss, cashier of the Miners' National bank, last evening said: "The workmen made an excellent progress in clearing away the debris. The vault doors were opened about 5 o'clock and everything was found to be in perfect condition. There was no damage, not even by water."

Ten S. & H. trading stamps free tomorrow. No purchases necessary. Ask for them at the premium parlor, 3d floor, F. BRAASTAD & CO. 3-26-14.

BRONSON-JOHNSTON WEDDING YESTERDAY

Ishpeming Couple Married at Maitland, Fla.—Guests from County Present.

Miss Annie Read Bronson, daughter of R. P. Bronson, and Henry Theodore Johnston, son of Captain William H. Johnston, were married in Maitland, Florida, yesterday.

The ceremony was performed in the Church of the Good Shepherd, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the rich, dark leaves of the magnolia bringing out the full value of the colors in the Cherokee roses and other flowers placed against them, while through the open doors came the scent of innumerable orange blossoms from neighboring groves.

The bridal party entered the church at high noon, the bride on the arm of her father, preceded by little Marjua Johnston White, of Evanston, Ill., as flower girl, and attended by her sister, Miss Lida P. Bronson as maid of honor. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march they passed up the aisle, and at the altar were met by Mr. Johnston with Selden E. White, of Evanston, who acted as best man. The marriage service was read by Rev. Ricketts. On its conclusion, the party entered automobiles and went to the residence of Mrs. L. P. Bronson, grandmother of the bride.

After a wedding dinner for the immediate family, an informal reception was held, following which the couple left in an auto for the East coast. From there they will go to New York for their honeymoon.

The bride was attired in a gown of silk crepe and lace headed in pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and orange blossoms. The veil worn by the bride, arranged with a cap of rose points was that worn by the bride's mother at her wedding.

The maid of honor was dressed in pink chiffon cloth and cream lace, with tiny pink and gold rose buds. She carried pink Killbuck roses.

The bridegroom is the son of W. H. Johnston, general superintendent for the Oliver Iron Mining company in the Marquette district, and the bride is the daughter of R. P. Bronson, manager of the Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will live at 602 North Pine street, Marquette, where they will be at home to their friends after June 1.

Among the guests at the wedding were the following from Marquette county: Hon. and Mrs. H. O. Young, Mrs. Samuel Mitchell, Miss Mitchell, Miss Margaret Adams, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Myers.

MILLMAN-LUCAS NUPTIALS.

Popular Young People United in Marriage Yesterday Afternoon.

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Miss Pearl Lucas, daughter of Thomas Lucas, alderman of the Eighth ward, and William H. Millman, of Negaunee, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, 119 East Superior street. The marriage ceremony, which was read by Rev. W. B. Coombe, of Crystal Falls, was performed under a bower of sweet peas and violets.

The bride was attired in a gown of embroidered voile and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Miss Ellen Millman, sister of the bridegroom, and Alfred Lucas, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom. Miss Anna Hennessey played the wedding march.

Following the ceremony a turkey supper was served to the wedding party in the dining room, which was decorated with ground pine and flowers. The color scheme throughout the house was green and white.

Mr. Millman, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Millman, of Negaunee, is well known in Ishpeming, as he has been employed in meat markets in this city for several years past. He is now head meat cutter with the Hughes Mercantile company. Mr. Millman's bride, who was born and brought up in Ishpeming, is well known and popular. For the present they will make their home with the bride's parents, on East Superior street.

CANDIDATE FOR TREASURER.

Charles Warnberg, of Ely street, who has been a resident of Ishpeming for forty-seven years, is a candidate for the nomination for treasurer on the Citizen ticket. Mr. Warnberg worked by the mines of the city for many years, but lately, because of poor health, has not been able to work. He has been voting the Republican ticket ever since he became a citizen, and has many friends who would be pleased to see him receive the nomination.

OFFICERS ON DUTY.

Ishpeming Policemen Were Not Neglecting Their Work When Fire Broke Out.

The following communication, signed by Mayor G. G. Barnett and members of the police committee of the city council, exonerates the police officers who were on duty on Main and adjacent streets early yesterday morning, and who were yesterday criticized by some persons because they did not discover the fire in the Miners' National bank building:

"To The Mining Journal: The question of the fire at the Miners' National bank was investigated by the mayor and members of the police committee. A director of the bank, the chief of the fire department, the marshal and members of the police force were present.

"The mayor and committee, after going over the evidence, find that the night watchmen were on duty, and had passed by the said bank at about 2:30 o'clock a. m., and at that time saw no evidence of fire. When the alarm was turned in, at 2:50 a. m., two of the officers were standing on the corner of Main and Division streets.

"From reports and evidence which the mayor and police committee had gathered, we are of the opinion the night watchmen were not neglectful in the performance of their duty.

Signed,
G. G. BARNETT, Mayor.

APPRECIATE GOOD SHOW.

Menominee People Enthusiastic Over Opening of Play House to Pictures.

Ed J. Butler, manager of Ishpeming theater, who has been in Menominee the past few days looking after business in connection with the opening of the Menominee theater, arrived home last evening. That the Menominee venture will be a success is predicted by the leading businessmen and other citizens of Menominee, who were well pleased with the opening bill.

Of the opening, The Menominee Herald leader of Tuesday said: "A packed house with scarcely standing room left, greeted Edward J. Butler, new manager of the Menominee theater, who last night opened the opera house for the first time with high class motion pictures and vaudeville. Mr. Butler deserves a strong patronage for his opening show was splendid and he promises to continue giving first class productions here."

"That the new management has equipped the theater with the best 'movie' apparatus on the market was last night evinced in the clear manner in which the pictures were thrown on the screen without the common blurs and flashes. In presenting the 'Lion and the Mouse,' Charles Klein's great masterpiece in six reels, Mr. Butler gave the audience a rare treat in moving pictures. Moreover, the 'movies' were given in life-size productions."

"Although the motion pictures greatly pleased the large audience, the vaudeville skit, 'The Seven Russells,' enthused the patrons to a high pitch and not until they had answered to several encores were they permitted to rest from their clever work. The vaudeville end of the show was the biggest hit of the evening. The Russells, with their black face comedians and pretty colonial girls, were of the highest standard. One noticeable feature was the clean and fresh appearing costumes worn by the members of the troupe."

HARMONY SINGING ACT.

Elkins, Fay and Elkins, in harmony singing, dancing, piano and tambourine playing, are the attraction at the Ishpeming theater the latter half of the week. The pictures today will be 'Too Late,' a Selig drama, 'Quandrell's Son,' Vitagraph drama, 'Only One Shirt,' Kalem comedy, and 'The Lord Mayor of London,' a Kalem topical sketch. A feature attraction of the theater will offer soon 'The Sunken City,' one of the greatest mine pictures ever photographed.

MICHIGAMME POLITICS.

Ticket Nominated at Caucus Last Saturday Evening.

The spring election in Michigamme promises to be interesting although it is now indicated there will be only one ticket in the field. Several candidates for township offices have, however, announced their intentions of running on slips. The following Citizens' ticket was nominated at the caucus last Saturday:

Supervisor—Dr. I. Sicotte.
Township clerk—T. J. Schwendeman.
Treasurer—Ed G. Muck.
Highway commissioner—C. Strom.
Overseer of highways—Tenns Anderson.

Board of review (2 years)—Edward L. Elmes.
Constables—Isaac S. Allen, John Veale, John Dietrich, and Jalmar Fredrickson.

Dr. J. C. Thomas was a candidate for the office of supervisor, but was defeated by Dr. Sicotte by a vote of 97 to 58. The meeting was held in the Old Fellows' hall. John B. Treadwell will be a candidate for treasurer, and unless another ticket is placed in the field, will make the run on slips.

Going Out of Business

Some funny things come back to us—this is what our customers say:

Two ladies from Negaunee came over with a $20.00 bill and bought several items in garments. They intended to spend all of it, but when they had bought all that was on their memorandum they said they still had $14.60 left, "and that is what they saved."

Another lady bought an Imported Velour Coat with beautiful trimming, handsome lining, a coat that retailed at $50.00, for $22.50. She saved 27.50. A business man came up and would gladly grab up this elegant stock at such apparent foolish mark-downs, but of course we made up our minds a long time ago to give the benefit to people of Ishpeming and surrounding towns. This is what he said: "Any fool can get a lot of business by giving away his goods."

Now it matters nothing at the present time what the goods will bring, we have orders to close out everything at the earliest possible moment, regardless of what the merchandise ought to bring and as long as the stock lasts it's yours for the little prices we are asking for same.

Another Big Mark-Down for This Week, Friday and Saturday

Come here to see whether it is possible to mark the goods any lower, unless we want to give them away. A suggestion on these lines will be appreciated, for we have strict orders to get through this week if possible.

S. REE, Manager.

CALUMET & ARIZONA.

The annual report of the Calumet & Arizona company shows combined earnings of $4,974,637, as compared with $4,540,883 the previous year. This profit was made on a total production of 52,987,383 pounds of copper, as compared with an output of 53,108,628 pounds in 1912. The costs were five-eighths of a cent higher than in 1912. This increase is almost entirely accounted for by the increase in state and federal taxes and some loss of time in changing from the old smelter to the new. After deducting the precious metal values, which amounted to $24,336 per ton of refined copper from domestic ores, the cost of production was 7.55 cents, as compared with 7.92 for the year 1912.

While the combined production for the year was a trifle less than for the previous year, Superior & Pittsburg outproduced nearly 3,000,000 pounds more. The grade of ore handled by both properties was about the same as for the previous year, but Superior & Pittsburg shipped 32,315 tons more, while the shipments from the Calumet & Arizona branch were 55,336 tons less than in 1912.

In comparing the balance sheets of Calumet & Arizona and Superior & Pittsburg, they show that the infant of a few years ago is now financially able to render assistance to the parent company, whereas a few years past the parent company was compelled to advance large sums of money to Superior & Pittsburg in order to get its branch on a producing and paying basis.

On the first of the year Calumet & Arizona had notes and accounts receivable of $2,505,208, whereas the previous report showed these items to be only $261,126. Superior & Pittsburg's balance sheet shows an increase of $1,874,847 in notes receivable, which would indicate that the latter company loaned this amount to the parent company.

The $2,500,000 borrowed by Calumet & Arizona was used in making payments on the smelter and the purchase of a controlling interest in the New Cornelia Copper company. The smelter account on Jan. 1st showed an investment of $2,199,578, which was increased during the month of January by about $19,000, making the total outlay on the new smelting plant $2,218,578, an expenditure in excess of the original appropriation by $270,075. Calumet & Arizona now has one of the most complete and up-to-date smelters in the country. It is making a higher recovery at a lower cost than the old smelter, as well as being able to treat all classes of ore.

Among the number of new properties that have been acquired by this company, mention of which has been made in the more recent annual reports, the New Cornelia Copper company looms up very promisingly. Mining operations on the Courtland property were discontinued Nov. 30 and the mine turned over to lesors. All supplies and equipment were either shipped to Bisbee or sold on the ground. Just what profit was made on the operations at the Courtland branch has not been stated, although it is said that it was a profitable investment to the Calumet & Arizona company.

The Pinal County operations in the vicinity of Lake Superior & Arizona's properties have been extensive. The three-compartment shaft was sunk to a depth of 739 feet and 3,221 feet of development work was accomplished. The vein on the Pinal County property, which is held under bond by Calumet & Arizona, was opened up on the 142 and 500-foot levels, and although no mineralization of importance was encountered the vein showed thorough leaching. The 700 level work should encounter the vein at this depth sometime the present month.

An option was procured on the Amole property, in Pinal county, and this property will be systematically developed by diamond drilling. At the Copper Giant property only assessment work was done the last year, but during 1914 it is the intention to explore this property by diamond drilling.

Calumet & Arizona now has outstanding 616,758 shares, with 27,754 shares held for the exchange of Superior & Pittsburg stock. On Calumet & Arizona's present outstanding shares, the earnings during 1913 were at the rate of a little better than $6.50 per share.

NOTES OF MINING NEWS.

Goldfield Consolidated Mines has taken an option on the Aurora Consolidated properties, the proposed consideration being $1,000,000. The Aurora mine is a low-grade gold proposition and is completing a 500-ton mill plant. The option expires April 18. Engineers are now examining the mine.

The export movement of copper continues on an enormous scale. During the first eleven weeks of this year there were cleared through the New York custom house 159,881,172 pounds of copper. In addition, the Baltimore custom house reports clearances of over 35,000,000 pounds, making a total for the Atlantic seaboard of about 200,000,000 pounds. The greatest part of this copper has been consigned to Hamburg, Havre, Rotterdam, Liverpool, London and Bremen.

CATARRH OF THE PHARYNX.

Clearing out your throat every day, all day. That is what you have been doing for months. Possibly years. A little mucus covers the pharynx.

If you were to go to a doctor he would tell you that you have pharyngitis. If you were to look into your own throat you would find just back of the soft palate a red, lumpy, granular appearance of the back part of the throat. Pharyngitis the doctors call it.

Perhaps he would call it follicular pharyngitis. It causes you constant annoyance. You are always making slight disturbances when seated in an audience. Can't hold your throat still. Stiffness bothers you. Worse in the morning.

A-hem! A-hem! A-hem! That is the way you are going nearly all day. Sometimes in the night when you wake up. You ought to gargle your throat with salt water every morning. Cold salt water. That clears out the throat perfectly and makes it ready for treatment.

Peruna is the treatment. Begin with a teaspoonful before each meal and at bedtime. Try it for a week. You will be convinced. Of course, Peruna will not entirely relieve you in a week. That is too much to expect of any remedy. But it will convince you so much you will be convinced. Yes, it will. It has done this many times.

Follicular pharyngitis. Big words. Almost as bad as the disease. But if you take Peruna for one month regularly, you may forget that you ever had such a disease. Then you will have a perfect right to forget the big words too.

People who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

$100. Cash Prizes For Housewives

WE are doing considerable research work, and would like to know what opinion the women of this town have of Gelatine.

Do you use Gelatine? How do you use it? What brand do you use? Why do you use that brand? Have you originated any special recipes calling for Gelatine? Do you prefer the "flavored packages" to plain Gelatine? Why? Does the fact that most "flavored packages" make only one pint as against the two quart plain Gelatine package, make any difference to you?

We want to hear from women who have used Gelatine. It makes no difference what kind. We simply want expressions of opinion direct from the women who use Gelatine. We are willing to pay for them.

For the letter which gives us the most information about Gelatine, we will pay $25.00 for the next best $10.00 for the next best, $10.00 and for the next ten best, $1.00 each, total $100.00—cash.

CONTEST CLOSING APRIL 15TH There are no strings to this offer, so sit down and tell us what you know about Gelatine. You stand just as good a chance as anybody else of winning the first prize. We are not looking for masterpieces of literature. Even if you do not win a cash prize, you will receive a little package of Gelatine, which will repay you well for your effort. They will also have your "winner's" name?

MAN COPIES NAMES FROM TOMBSTONES AND USES THEM IN SWINDLING OPERATIONS.

New York, March 25.—Obituary notices always appeared to Lucian Petrolous Wilson. Graveyards were his forte. He wandered through them and absorbed the inscriptions on the headstones. He confessed in the federal court that he actually communed with the dead, but admitted in the same breath that his communications were confined to the living when he wrote letters to relatives, informing them that valuable bonds and stocks in his possession had been left by the departed. It is on record that Lucian Petrolous Wilson visited morgues, went at random and took copious notes of the "dead one." Then invariably came this message to relatives:

"I have been in communication with the departed through spiritual medium and I have in my possession stocks and bonds in your name. Inform me as to disposition. I regard the securities as of high value. Your deceased relative, confided in me and left his (or her) last will and testament in my possession. The will has been probated. Shall I send you the bonds?"

It is likewise on record that the communications were answered by unsuspecting and supposed heirs and that they usually sent along a fee of from $10 to $25.

"I imposed on these people—that is sure enough," pleaded Wilson when arraigned before Judge Hollister, "and I thought that it was an easy way to get a dollar. I sent them stocks, of course, and bonds, too, but they were wildcat affairs and the recipient didn't know the difference."

"There are a lot of people in this town who all the evident things without knowing the difference," said Judge Hollister. "I am 62 years old, but I don't look it. I never tried a confidence game before and I let you me off with a suspended sentence. I promise you that I will not try again to sell worthless securities to you."

Judge Hollister evidently admired Wilson's frankness. He suspended sentence, imposed a nominal fine of $1, which Marshal Henkel paid, and advised Wilson to hurry back to Windsor, Canada, where he said his home was.

TO HELP FIGHT HOG CHOLERA.

Government Will Supply Inspectors With Serum for Test Work.

Washington, March 25.—Plans for the eradication of hog cholera in the states have been perfected by the agricultural department since the passage of the act of Feb. 23, and a memorandum of the policy has been sent to Congressman Carl E. Mages. Mr. Mages will communicate these plans to H. H. Halladay, of the Michigan state livestock sanitary commission, who will have an important part in carrying them out.

The plans include three major projects. First, experiment to determine practicability of eradicating the disease from certain sections. The department will select one county in each of about fifteen states, where qualified inspectors with assistants will be placed and furnished with serum for carrying on test work. The states will be expected to co-operate in carrying on educational work and enforcing quarantine and sanitary regulations.

Supervision of Serum Plants. The second feature of the plan will be the governmental supervision of private serum plants, to protect farmers against the use of spurious and dangerous serum. This will include inspection of serum and virus plants doing interstate business and issuance of licenses. Third demonstration work among the farmers. This will include organization of clubs for fighting the disease.

The president of the agricultural college, the state board of agriculture and the state livestock sanitary commission will be the agencies through which the co-operative work is handled. These three agencies will select the county in the state where the work is to be done under the first project, their selection to be approved by the secretary of agriculture.

SEES ADVANTAGES IN PYGMIES' LIFE.

London, March 25.—Probably few people would entertain the idea of spending their honeymoon in the heart of African pygmy land, yet, judging from the remarks made by Mrs. Powell Cotton in the course of a lecture at the Haymarket club the other evening, the place has its advantages. She spoke from personal experience, as she journeyed to Africa to marry her husband, and spent the first fourteen months of her married life in and near the Hurri forest.

The life at least is simple. The housewife is freed from the domestic worries which prevail in civilized countries, and is totally independent of the tyranny of fashion. A uniform case holds sufficient outfit to last for more than a year, a small tent illuminated with a single candle serves as a dwelling, which is shared with common rats and powerful mosquitoes.

Mrs. Cotton described the pygmies as nighty hunters, vindictive enemies and dead-end friends. Conditions are simple and clothes at a discount. A string of beads and a circle of two or three iron rings are regarded as the height of sartorial opulence in the case of a baby, and given in later life ideas on dress never go much beyond an apron of barkcloth with a bunch of leaves by way of ornament.

The birth of a girl is received with exultation; that of a boy with favor, but it is satisfactory to learn that in later life girls are looked on as of some value. It takes a prospective bride-room quite a long time to collect the five hoes, five sickles, three spears, thirty arrows and twenty necklaces, which are considered a good price for a wife. The groom is rather the simpler if he should happen to have a sister, in which case he merely exchanges her for a ride.

All pygmies begin life in a primitive helter-skelter shaped like a bee hive, four feet high, built of plant saplings driven into the soil and thatched with leaves. After time, however, they are placed by themselves in a hut about the size of a log kennel. In childhood they are singularly free from the restrictions im-

Fine Railway Stations for Iron River. Plans and specifications for both railway stations to be erected at Iron River this year have been completed. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul station will cost $18,000 to $20,000, and the Chicago & Northwestern $25,000 to $30,000. The Northwestern building will be a little larger than the St. Paul and the plans indicate that it will be more elaborately finished. Both stations are to be built of brick and concrete.

COPPER SITUATION STRONG.

The copper metal situation is reported strengthening every day, with domestic consumers getting into the market on a liberal scale. The foreign demand for copper is also strong, and they sent for inspectors, who broke the seal on the side door and discovered Comiskey unconscious in a corner. The police took him to the Philadelphia hospital.

Sheriff and Prisoners Get Wet.

Peter N. Demgen, sheriff of Baraga county, accompanied by two prisoners, started across the bay from Baraga to the other night for L'Anse, the road around the bay being in bad condition. When about a half a mile from the end of the Zenith Lumber company's docks the horse, buggy and all broke through the ice. The men floundered about in the water for some time, but finally managed to get on solid footing. Hulbert A. Brennan, prosecuting attorney for Baraga county, was also on his way home across the ice and was driving about ten feet behind Mr. Demgen when the accident occurred. His horse got excited and took him along, and he nearly before he could get it under control. He went back to the scene as soon as possible and found Mr. Demgen with his prisoners in safety, but horse and buggy still in the water. The party started back for town for assistance and in a short time a crew of men and a team of horses were on their way to the rescue. The horse was still struggling in the water. The harness was cut and a rope was put around the animal's neck and the horse hauled upon solid ice. It was some time before the animal was able to stand up, it being benumbed by the ice water.

YOUTH IMPRISONED DAYS IN REFRIGERATOR CAR QUELS HUNGER WITH RAW MEAT.

Philadelphia, March 24.—After being locked in a refrigerator car for four days, during which the car was run to this city from Richmond, Va., Joseph Comiskey, eighteen years old, of Richmond, was found frozen, almost starved and crazed by trainmen of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in this city. According to the information the police could get from Comiskey, the youth left his home in an angry mood after a quarrel with his parents and went into what he supposed was a common box car that was standing on a siding in the Baltimore & Ohio yards in the Virginia city. When he awoke before daybreak the next morning he found that the door of the car had been sealed and that the car was speeding with a train for some destination unknown to its lone occupant.

At the first realization of his predicament the youth says he did not feel any bad effects from the lack of air in the car. He expected to be found by the next day, and he had no fear for his safety. But as hours wore away and merged into nights and days, he found it next to impossible to breathe, and became so hungry, cold and weak that he became frantic. He would be smothered, frozen or starve to death before he was found.

He finally managed to open a small ventilator in the top of the car and through that received fresh air, and by the dim light that entered his prison through the top of the car was able to dress himself and other produce formed its contents. So hungry had he become that by that time he devoured several of the chickens and by eating some of the uncooked produce on his table managed to move about and keep himself from freezing.

The youth was discovered in the car last night at Twenty-seventh and South streets after it had been run onto a siding. Trainmen noticed that the little door in the top of the car was open and they sent for inspectors, who broke the seal on the side door and discovered Comiskey unconscious in a corner. The police took him to the Philadelphia hospital.

KALAMAZOO—There was one man in Kalamazoo county who spent money to be elected to office. He is E. Lakin Brown, of Schoolcraft, who was recently elected trustee of the village. His statement, filed with the county clerk, shows that he expended twenty-five cents. No other official was so extravagant, according to reports filed.

SAGINAW—State Dairy and Food Inspector J. W. Helme has issued a lengthy statement retracting assertions he made regarding John Baird, of Saginaw, when Baird's office of state salt inspector was abolished two years ago. This ends the $10,000 slander suit Baird brought against Helme. No money was involved in the settlement. Helme, in an article in his paper, the Michigan Estroon, made some offensive remarks. He and Baird had been engaged in a heated argument over state politics, being on opposite sides. Baird started suit and the case has gone along. Helme defaulted appearance in circuit court here. He tried to have the default set aside, but the judge demurred. Helme's retraction cover a page of typewritten copy. He says he didn't intend to reflect on Baird's character; he had known him for twelve years, back in the days in the state senate, and that by the word "graft" he meant "easy soap" or "soft thing." Helme looked up Webster's definition of "graft" and found those meanings. He didn't deny making the statements in his paper.

LANSING—The last three days of this week will be strenuous ones for the members of the supreme court. Consultations will begin Thursday and it is expected that at least ninety opinions will be handed down. Between the first of next week and April 7, the date for opening the April term, twenty-five more decisions will be made. Among the more important cases are the auto tax law, the civil service amendments in Detroit's charter, and the constitutionality of the court of domestic relations in Detroit. Many other decisions of some lesser importance are looked for.

PONTIAC—Clyde R. Morrison, a Detroit man, who was convicted of making false entries in the Clarkston bank, has been released on probation for five years. He paid the court fees of $500, turned over land contracts in Highland Park worth $5,000 and gave notes for the rest. If he does not meet the notes he will be sentenced on the charge. The offense was committed six years ago when Morrison was assistant cashier of the bank under Ralph Jossman, who is serving a sentence at Jackson for the wrecking of the institution. Morrison will return to Detroit at once.

LANSING—The hearing for a mandamus ordering a recount of the votes cast in the village election at Williamston a week ago, was heard by Judge Howard Wiest, of the Ingham county court. The question is one of "wet" or "dry" control, although the row is over the selection of village trustees. Six were elected, four "dry" and two "wet." The "wets" contest the last "dry" under the wire on the ground that twenty votes cast by the "wets" were thrown out. With the count three and three the president, a "wet" man, would carry the day. There are eight votes between the two disputants.

PETOSKEY—The council chamber was the stage of an exciting scene when the aldermen unanimously passed over Mayor Reyer's veto a resolution to pave the entire business district this spring. "If you ignore my veto I will put my hat in the ring and will run for mayor on slips at the coming election," the mayor declared before the vote. Mayor Reyer has not been in the race for re-election. George McCabe having been nominated on the Democratic ticket, on which Reyer has several times been elected. Charles Ditto is the Republican candidate.

LANSING—The state of Michigan has won its contention regarding the money order, and remember our standing guarantee of "money back if not satisfied" holds good. Order now. TODAY.

LUMBERMEN HAD A GOOD SEASON

Despite Drawback of Unseasonable Weather, They Have Come Out Fairly Well.

The lumbermen operating in this district are fast closing up their season's work, which, despite the many set-backs caused by unseasonable weather, has been a profitable one for most of the men. Many of the jobbers are now paying off part of their crews, and it is thought that it will be only a matter of a few days when all work in the woods will be suspended.

The sawmill men assert that the coming season will be a good one, and will show a considerable improvement over last year. Many buyers for outside concerns are now coming to the district to purchase stock. Dealers throughout the country evidently want as much lumber as they can lay their hands on. The business in northern lumber is a little slack at present, because of an over-supply of southern and western timber, but it is said that this grade is not as good as the product from this section. When the yellow pine and timber from the West is gone the price for northern timber is bound to respond, it is asserted.

"None of the lumbermen look for a boom this season, but all of us expect a steady improvement in the market, and especially during the latter part of the summer, when there will be a large demand for our stuff," said a Negaunee operator yesterday. "The best seller on the market at present is a low grade of pine that the Canadian mills are getting out. But it is of such poor grade that we have little fear of any great competition from that source. The mining companies are the largest buyers that upper peninsula mill men deal with. It is reported that a number of the companies are planning a number of extensive improvements and considerable building will be done during the coming summer. We already have received large orders from the companies in the Crystal Falls and Iron River districts."

Local lumber dealers are looking for a good season, as the mining companies, as well as a number of contractors here, are already planning on new buildings, including new engine and boiler houses, shafthouses, dries and residences.

It is said that hardly any logs that were cut this winter are now left in the woods. The long spell of continued cold weather three weeks ago was a great help to the loggers and, coupled with abundant labor, greatly helped the woodmen. In many of the camps night, as well as day, crews were worked practically all winter.

Labor in the woods this year was paid on a sliding scale from $26 to $30 a month and board. Men who are termed "jumpers" by the woodmen were paid $20 a month. The latter are those who do not work the entire season, quitting before the spring layoff comes. Men were more plentiful than for a number of years past, said to be due to the strike in the copper country.

FORGER GOES INSANE.

F. Hinonen, Arrested Here Last Week, Became Violent in Escanaba Jail.

Ferdinand Hinonen, one of the three men arrested here last week by Marshal Newcombe, charged with being implicated in passing a forged check at Comstock, Brox, store at Maple Ridge, has gone violently insane at the county jail at Escanaba.

The Press says: "Awaiting trial on a charge of being implicated in the passing of a forged check for $75 at Maple Ridge last week, Ferdinand Hinonen, became violently insane at the county jail on Sunday. It required the combined strength of four men to move the prisoner from the regular cell block to the padded cell where he was kept throughout Tuesday. After an examination by physicians, who reported to Judge Judd Yelland, in the probate court, the man was ordered committed to the state hospital for the insane at Traverse City, as the peninsula hospital at Newberry is now filled to the limit and more patients cannot be received there until additional buildings, now being constructed, are completed."

PINE PICTURE TONIGHT. Selig's three reel animal feature, "Thor, Lord of the Jungle," will be shown at the Star theater tonight. The picture drew three large houses at the opening theater last evening, and it is said to be the greatest animal picture ever produced. Two other reels will be shown tonight. The usual prices of five and ten cents will prevail. The concert given last night by Tanell Hurri, the Finnish tenor, was largely attended, and Mr. Hurri was favorably received.

Spring Millinery Opening Saturday March 28th at Braastad's. 3-25-24.

PERILS OF THE BATH. It was not left to modern doctors to associate the decline of the Roman empire with luxurious, warm bathing. Roman writers are full of moralizing on the subject. Seneca, glancing back at the past, recalled that the old Romans, though they washed their arms and legs daily, bathed their whole body once a week. Even when Seipio introduced a warm bath into his villa the bathhouse was "small and dark, after the manner of the ancients," with no pretensions to luxury; and the earlier public baths were so simple that the aedile merely tested the temperature with his hand. Things moved on rapidly, and such emperors as Commodus bathed seven or eight times a day, and took their meals in the bath.

Considerable pomp used to attend the entrance into the water of the Duchess de Becci, who nearly 100 years ago first made sea bathing fashionable in France.

When the duchess went bathing at Dieppe her arrival at the beach was hailed with a salvo of artillery. The holder of the then newly created post of "inspector des bains" had to be there to receive her, attired in a resplendent uniform, cocked hat and white gloves.

This functionary led her royal highness into the sea until the water reached his knees, when he retired with three profound reverences. The duchess, who was an expert swimmer, then proceeded to enjoy herself.—Chicago News.

LARGEST CASK IN WORLD.

A cask recently constructed for a California firm has put the famous fun of Heidelberg in the background. It holds 9,000 gallons and is made of California redwood throughout, and the selection of timber and the making required two years. Eleven out of twelve kegs were rejected as unusable. Two entire ratios of wagons were necessary to convey the selected timber to the vineyard.

The hoops of the cask, which are of the finest steel, weigh eighteen tons, while the completed cask is thirty-eight feet high and seventy-eight feet in circumference and large enough to form a three-story house, where three hundred persons could dine in comfort. This enormous reservoir would, if its contents were placed in ordinary casks, require thirty wagons for its transport and the contents represent a value of a million dollars.

POWER OF WATER.

The power of water is enormous. A tiny jet of water descending 3,000 feet, traveling at the rate of 100 yards a second, cannot be cut into with an axe or a sword. It will fracture the best blades of Toledo steel. It will hurl an axe through an oak plank. It is quite impossible for a man to cut this stream through.

To compute the power of falling water it is necessary to multiply the volume of flowing water in cubic feet per minute by its weight, 62.5 pounds, and this product by the vertical height of the fall in feet, and divide by 33,000, the number of foot-pounds representing one h. p. per minute. A stream of water when flowing over a weir five feet in length by one foot in depth at the rate of one foot a second and having a fall of twenty feet, develops eleven horse power.

CANINE NEWSDEALERS.

Two Chicago dogs—an Irish terrier and a water spaniel—the property of a successful newsdealer of the city, are proving themselves very useful to their master. If the latter goes to lunch, or has to leave his stand for a time, the two faithful animals sell newspapers for him.

"Rex," the Irish terrier, perches himself on the stand and grips between his teeth a big calabash pipe and a copy of a newspaper, while "Brownie," his partner, takes up his position on a little soap box beside the stand and holds in his teeth a little "plug" hat for the safekeeping of the pennies. When a passerby buys a paper, says the World Wide Magazine, "Brownie" sits up to receive the coin. Both of the dogs seem to have a fierce as well as sharp eye to business, and their master places great faith in them.

mann. Its price was less than a half-penny, and at first its users were allowed to write only twenty words on it. The card appeared in England exactly one year later to the very day.

The streets of Lisbon and Oporto are paved almost entirely with cobblestones. The pavement is rough and many of the thoroughfares are steep, as both cities are situated along the river front and on high hills.

SEASON'S WORK IS OUTLINED

Stephenson and Gwinn Mines, and Perhaps the Austin, Will Be Wrought by Cleveland Cliffs Iron Company in Gwinn Field.

In Addition Shaft and Development Work Will Be Conducted at the Mackinaw and Gardner Properties—Iron Market Taking Form Late This Year.

George R. Jackson, superintendent of the Cleveland Cliffs iron company's mines on the Swaneez range, who was in Marquette yesterday attending the session of the board of supervisors, answering a query, asserted that a fairly lively season is expected at the properties of which he has charge.

The Cleveland Cliffs iron company will operate at Gwinn the Stephenson mine and the Gwinn, formerly known as the Smith. It may resume operations at the Austin, where no work has been done the past several months, but the Princeton, where operations were suspended last fall, will remain inactive. There is a large stock of ore at the Princeton, and in all in the district there is now 700,000 tons, or thereabouts, above the ground.

The Stephenson is the company's largest producer on the range, and is capable of an annual shipment of from 250,000 to 300,000 tons of ore. The Gwinn mine is now producing about 100 tons a day, after having been carried on for a month on a small scale, and 125 men, or thereabouts, are employed at the property. It will be a considerable producer during the season.

Other operations on the range will be the opening of the Mackinaw and Gardner mines, which lie about three miles from Gwinn. The fee of the Mackinaw is owned by the D. M. & M. interests, hence its name, and the Gardner is named after the president of the Northwestern Railway company, which owns the property. At both substantial ore bodies have been measured and it is asserted that considerable mines will be opened.

Market Developing Late. Iron men are unable to make any predictions of value about local shipments, this largely for the reason that the iron market is taking form unusually late this year. Sales to date have been light, compared with what is usually expected in the first three months of the year, and many large consumers have yet to cover their probable requirements.

Their hesitancy is attributed to a desire to take as much time as possible, to allow industrial and commercial conditions to shape themselves, before they make definite commitments on the basis of the expected business. The purchasing interests are coy. They know that the ore has been mined and is for sale and that when they want it they will be able to close whatever contracts they may desire on the basis of not unfavorable prices. The general industrial situation is such that they are in no manner apprehensive about a runaway market.

Few definite predictions are made on the aggregate ore movement by water for the forthcoming season. At the present time it does not promise to establish a record, but it is the general expectation that it will be well up to the movement of 1913. What it will aggregate will depend largely on conditions that develop after the first boats are dispatched. In this connection it is recalled that the movement in 1913 did not result in driving the ore carriers at the rate that was predicted early in the season.

Lake Conditions Favorable. Lake conditions are unusually favorable for a large movement, i. e., the amount of ice on the lakes is not so great that there promises to be any serious delay with the opening of navigation, and, if it was deemed expedient to have it so, the early movement of ore and other bulk freight could probably far exceed all previous records.

But in practice it is not likely that any efforts will be made to establish any early season records. The backwardness of the ore situation will reflect itself in the attitude of the marine men, and at present they are going about their preparations for resuming navigation in a leisurely manner.

WRITE STORIES FOR MOVING PICTURE PLAYS

New, Spare-Time Profession for Men and Women—One Man Makes $3,500 in Six Months.

Owing to the large number of new motion picture theaters which are being opened throughout the country, there is offered to the men and women of today a new profession, namely, that of writing moving picture plays. Producers are paying from $25 to $150 for each scenario accepted, upon which they can build a photo play.

As it only requires a few hours' time to construct a complete play, you can readily see the immense possibilities in this work. One man, who gave the idea a tryout, writes that he earned $3,500 in six months. It is possible for an intelligent person to meet with equal success.

One feature of the business which should appeal to everyone is that the work may be done at home in spare time. No literary ability is required and women have as great an opportunity as men. Ideas for plots are constantly turning up, and may be put in scenario form and sold for a good price.

Particulars Sent FREE. Complete particulars of this most interesting and profitable profession may be had FREE OF CHARGE by sending a post card to Photo-Play Association, Box 158, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Nick Lustilla Run Over East of Chocoley Yesterday Afternoon. Their attention having been attracted by a horse standing close to the track, the engineers on the eastbound South Shore train yesterday afternoon failed to see the body of Nick Lustilla lying on the track and he was run over and killed. The accident occurred between Chocoley and Gordon, about three miles below Chocoley.

M. K. Reynolds, who was a passenger on the train, last evening reported that Lustilla was driving a horse, bareback, from Marquette to Deerton, where he recently purchased a farm on which he was preparing to settle. It is believed that he was thrown from the animal's back onto the track and stunned, so that he lay helpless in the path of the train.

The attention of the engineers was attracted by the horse at a considerable distance, and they observed it closely, interested to see what it would do, particularly whether it would make any move in the direction of the track. Thus it was that they failed to see Lustilla's body lying between the rails until it was too late to prevent the train from running over it. The body was badly mangled and death was instantaneous. Lustilla bore an excellent reputation among his acquaintances. He was married, but had no children. The farm he was to work near Deerton was purchased by him only a few days ago.

CAMP BREAKING CHARGED

Wm. Hammond Arraigned Before Judge Byrne Yesterday Afternoon. Charged with breaking into and removing articles from T. Durocher's camp at Middle Island, William Hammond was arraigned before Judge Byrne yesterday afternoon. The hearing was set for Monday. The man is confined to the city jail, having been unable to furnish bonds for his appearance at that time.

Hammond was taken into custody by Officer Hume while he was traveling across the ice from Middle Island to Presque Isle, carrying a bag of sundries. Mr. Hume reports that he saw the man go to the camp and lay in wait for him. The man did not attempt to evade arrest. Hammond was formerly an employe of Mr. Durocher.

LAST MEETING OF BOARD YESTERDAY

Supervisors Held Unimportant Session—J. A. Dresser Presents Report. J. A. Dresser, expert accountant, submitted to the board of supervisors at its March session yesterday a report of his examination of the books of the county road commission from October, 1905, to Jan. 1, 1914. The report is a summary of the transactions of the commission during that period. Mr. Dresser's report follows:

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 12, 1914. Hon. H. S. Thompson, Chairman, and Members of the Committee on County Officers, my dear gentlemen: I have compared the account of the receipts and expenditures of the county road commission, kept by County Road Engineer Hilyer, with the account of the county treasurer, from October, 1905, to Jan. 1st, 1914, and herewith submit my report.

Total receipts as shown by the county treasurer's account $295,537.35
Total amount shown on the county road commission's books 294,227.23
Difference $1,310.12

The difference is principally composed of tax collections not entered on the road commissioner's books. Balance to the credit of the county road commission, as shown by the county treasurer's account at close of Dec. 31st, 1913 14,110.06
Balance in hands of the county treasurer as shown by the books of the road commission 4,957.60
Add tax collections not entered 1,239.12

Total balance in hands of county treasurer as shown by books of county road commission when adjusted 6,187.72
Balance as shown by the county treasurer's books in excess of balance shown on county road commissioner's books 7,922.34
Time orders in hands of the treasurer 4,175.92
County road warrants drawn in 1913 paid by treasurer in 1914 3,624.07

Total 7,799.99
Balance which represents time orders and warrants outstanding 122.25
If a quarterly statement was obtained from the treasurer showing the various credits and debits, the engineer would be in position to reconcile his account with that of the treasurer with but little trouble.

I have made the necessary entries in pencil on the books of the county road commissioner to show the correct balance. Respectfully submitted, J. A. DRESSER, Accountant.

A resolution presented by Supervisor W. S. Ewing, and adopted by the board, authorizes payment of $1,000 to the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, under Act No. 88, public acts of 1913, for the support, maintenance and work of the bureau.

One hundred and four persons were confined in the county jail during the year, according to the annual report of the jail inspectors.

Yesterday's meeting was the last of the present board of supervisors. The terms of a large number of the members will expire this spring.

"SAFETY FIRST" WORK ON LAKES

Will Receive More Attention Than Ever Before on the Leading Fleets This Season.

The "safety first" movement promises to receive marked impetus on the great lakes this season. It has been accentuated at each annual meeting of fleet masters, and has been urged with the greatest force by the fleet commanders. It, and the necessity of the greatest caution in the handling of the ships, has been the keynote of every gathering of marine men during the past two weeks. The ships of the Pittsburgh Steamship company fleet will this year each have a "safety first" committee that will apply itself to the task of reducing the number of personal injuries in the course of the season. The first mate and the first engineer will be members, and prizes will be awarded to the ships that make the best showing. There will also be a "safety first" contest, to suggest "safety first" devices and practice. No ship will be allowed to clear this spring without a wreeking cloth aboard and it will also be insisted that all barometers shall be reliable. Any mate caught sitting down when in charge of the navigation of a ship will be discharged. It is announced that all tools will be removed from the pilot houses.

President Coulbys Views. President Coulbys, addressing the masters this week at Cleveland, said: "If there is anything on the individual boat that is not right, it is up to you to report it and to see that it is remedied. Since the big November storm I have thought a lot along the line of the question of individual responsibility of the masters. When the government inspectors come down to your boat, I don't want anything done up to pass inspection. I forbid you to do it. When the government inspector comes aboard your boat he has a great responsibility resting on his shoulders and he should be shown everything."

"Now as to the question of hatches, we will always be on the side of the benefit of the doubt. If the hatches are in need of attention, don't let them go another year, even if you think they safely can. Repair them at once. With the boats that have wooden hatches, make it a point to carry a few extra covers with you, and if you can't get them you get them. That's why we keep the shore organization. I repeat that the shore force has the whole fleet to look after, but the captain has the individual boat. If the vessel is not seaworthy in your opinion, don't take her out, even if I should tell you to."

"Remember also that it is expressly against our wishes to cover up anything that the government inspectors ought to see. In this connection I have heard rumors that the inspection in some ports is more rigid than in others. I don't know whether there is anything in it, but I don't want our boats inspected in the easy places. The government employs our inspectors to enforce the law and I hope the inspectors will be as severe as the law allows them to be. Never let a man get out of the boat if there is anything you want to do to get your boat in shape. A delay of from twenty-four to forty-eight hours is of no importance."

"THE QUAKER GIRL"

Big Musical Production Comes to Opera House Soon. The story of "The Quaker Girl," which John P. Slocum will present in the Marquette Opera House Wednesday, April 1, deals with the experience of a Quaker girl in Paris, who after being cast off by her own people, an exiled Bonapartist princess is attracted by the girl's beauty and helps her to secure a position as a model in Madame Blum's dressmaking salon in Paris. There she learns the art of wearing beautiful gowns, and when she meets Tony St. Clair, she establishes herself as her instructor in the arts of dancing and love-making. In the dressmaking salon in the second act there is a gorgeous dress display which is as good as a trip to Paris for the advance ideas it gives of current and coming styles in feminine attire. In the last act, also, there are many beautiful gowns, for the scene depicts a fancy ball. During the riotous merriment of the ball two English sisters give one of the dances for which they are famous in London and which are seen in this country for the first time in this production.

The music of the piece is simple and melodious and the lyrics are of the catchy sort that sets the whole town whistling and humming. The great waltz song, "Come to the Ball," is one of the big hits of this comedy. There are twenty new songs in the piece.

DR. SHAW'S SERMON. Services at Presbyterian Church Again Well Attended Last Night. Last evening the Presbyterian church was again filled with a congregation assembled to hear Dr. Stanley Shaw's sermon. The clergyman was at his best. Announcement was made at the close of the service of ten or more decisions to leave for Christ in the near future.

Dr. Shaw spoke on the text: "Let us lay aside our sins and the weight that does so easily beset us—looking unto Jesus." He said, in part: "No man ought to champion sin. Every man ought to hate it. The soul that sinneth, it shall die." "The days of death are numbered." "There is a life for a look at the crucified one! Look to Jesus Christ and be made free from your sins."

"The weights we are told to lay aside may be not be catalogued as sins, but rather as impediments. Our age is over-socialized. Men and women are chasing amusements and spending their time in silly, meaningless chit-chat, while the youth of the land looks in vain for examples of Christlike sacrifice, discipline and heroism."

Dr. Shaw closed his discourse by relating an experience of a former probation officer, whom he knew in Detroit. "This officer was detailed to look up the contributory causes of a young boy's delinquency," said Dr. Shaw. "He visited the boy's home and was surprised to find it one of the finest in the city. He was met at the door by a fifteen-year-old girl, together with several younger children. The mother was at a neighboring house at a card party. He called the next day and found the same condition. He waited for the mother's return, and charged her with the guilt of her son's delinquency. He subpoenaed the mother to appear in police court the next morning to answer the charge which had formally been laid against the seventeen-year-old son. The mother pleaded with the probation officer not to expose her. The officer promised to release her if she would agree to relinquish the silver trinkets she had won in social gambling and would abandon such amusement and give her time and energy to the proper care of her children. She made the promise, was put on probation and required to report every week for a year. The son was released and he gave the police no further trouble."

A noon-day prayer meeting for men will be held at the church today from 12 to 12:30 o'clock. A prayer meeting for both men and women will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock. At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, a mass meeting for men will be held.

ICE DISAPPEARING

Weekly Report Indicates Improved Conditions on Great Lakes. The weekly ice report, issued at Detroit under date of March 24, indicates improved conditions on the great lakes. The summary follows:

"The fields have practically disappeared over the extreme portion of Superior, but extend beyond vision of Keweenaw Point and some fields are reported at Marquette, also over the eastern portion where they are along the shore with the winds. The ice in Whitefish Bay is solid. In St. Mary's river the ice ranges from eighteen to twenty-four inches and is not snow covered. In Green Bay the ice remains solid. In Michigan the only fields over the central or southern portions are off Saugatuck Haven. The ice at the Straits continues firm, except at the extreme east portion where it is breaking off. In Huron extensive fields are reported from Presque Isle south to Thunder Bay Island; over the central and eastern shore, where the ice is breaking along the south shore and the fields are drifting with the winds. There has been no material change over the eastern portion. In Ontario the fields are rapidly disappearing and some of the harbors are open. There is not as much ice in any of the lakes as reported last year at this time."

The details for Lake Superior ports are here given: Duluth: Harbor ice 20 inches in thickness and cold weather has caused it to harden somewhat; an extensive field of ice in the lake during the night of the 20-21st; on the fourteenth the tug, City of Two Harbors, entered port; first local arrival from Two Harbors. Two Harbors: No ice in the harbor and none visible in the lake. Ashland: Harbor ice 24 inches in thickness. Port Arthur, Ont.: The harbor ice ranges from 14 to 25 inches in thickness; the icebreaker, Whelan, has broken a channel from the breakwater to the drydock. Portage Canal: The ice in the canal averages 2 inches in thickness; in the lake the fields extend beyond vision. Eagle Harbor: Harbor ice 19 inches in thickness; packed ice extends beyond vision in the lake. Houghton: Harbor ice 12.5 inches in thickness. Portage Entry: The ice in the river ranges from 9 to 11 inches; the open ice about 14 inches in thickness; open water visible 6 miles northeast of Jacobsville. Peppanong: Harbor ice 20 inches in thickness; the field ice extends beyond vision. Marquette: Harbor ice 3 inches in thickness and solid; bay covered with cake ice; small fields visible in the lake. Grand Marais, Mich.: Harbor ice 17 inches in thickness and solid; ice fields extend out 3 miles with open water beyond; same conditions off Sable Point; no open water visible at Deer Park. Whitefish Point: Bay ice 19 inches in thickness; the field above the point moved out for a day and then came back and there is now no open water visible. Sault Ste. Marie: Harbor ice 21 inches in thickness and solid; the ice in the main channel at Lime Island is 24 inches in thickness and not covered with snow. Note: Through typographic error the ice was reported 17 inches last week and should have been 21.
