

RAILWAYS ARE LOSERS IN IMPORTANT CASES IN THE SUPREME COURT

Interstate Commerce Commission's Power to Issue "Zone" Orders Is Upheld.

CITIES IN WEST BENEFICIARIES

Nation's Highest Tribunal Sustains the Validity of the Inter-mountain Rates and That of the Long and Short Haul Clause as Well—Lumber and Oil "Trusts" Are Hit in Other Decisions—Southern Pacific Triumphs in Land Litigation.

Washington, June 22.—The interstate commerce commission's so-called inter-mountain rate orders were sustained today as valid by the United States supreme court, which held at the same time that the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce law was constitutional. Both had been attacked by the transcontinental railroads.

The defendant commerce court, passing over the constitutional question, had annulled the orders on the ground that the commission had no authority to issue "blanket" or "zone" orders and might act only on the reasonableness of specific rates. In overruling that contention today and holding that the commission did have such power, the supreme court decided a point which lawyers say is of equal importance to the inter-mountain rate case itself—if not greater.

Opposition to the 5 per cent. increase in freight rates being asked by the Eastern railroads—and upon which the commission is expected to announce its decision at any day—had been based principally upon the contention that the commission did not have authority under the law to grant such a "blanket increase."

What the Decision Means. Thus, the railroads may charge no more than the regular rate on shipments originating in the territory west of a vertical line drawn through St. Paul. They may, however, charge an increase of 7 per cent. on those originating between St. Paul and Chicago; not more than 15 per cent. on those between Chicago and Pittsburg, and not more than 25 per cent. on those between Pittsburg and the Atlantic seaboard. Those increases the commission prescribed as reasonable, because of the condition of the water competition.

As a result of the decision, all questions as to the right of the commission, to pass on the reasonableness of a lower rate for a haul to a more distant city than to a nearer one in the same direction, and to rule as to how much the difference may be, is removed. The decision recognizes the power of the commission to fix such rates by zones as distinguished from taking up the conditions surrounding each point of shipment in the United States.

Religious Orders Score Victory.

In a Minnesota case, the court held that the vows to poverty in Catholic orders were not against public policy. Relatives of Father Augustin Worth had attempted to set aside a gift to the church of the priest's estate. It was said that had the court's decision been adverse, it would have thrown a cloud of doubt over millions of dollars' worth of property now held by religious orders.

Standard Oil lost its fight against government regulation of its pipe lines when the court upheld the validity of the Hepburn law amendment, which declares oil pipe lines across state lines common carriers, subject to the authority of the interstate commerce commission.

In another decision, the court affirmed the decision of the New York federal court holding that the organization of the Eastern retail lumber dealers had violated the Sherman law by circulating among their members blacklists of wholesalers who sold lumber direct to big consumers.

GOVERNOR FERRIS.

During all the discussion of Republican candidates for governor one thing that impresses the disinterested observer is the number of voters who are not Democrats who express friendliness for Governor Ferris and, in many cases, a purpose to vote for him.

Governor Ferris is what used to be said of President Wilson, namely, "stronger than his party." Of the marked impression made on the state by his service in office and by his personality there can be no question.

At the same time it does not follow that Governor Ferris can be re-elected. None has been more frank than he in recognizing that Michigan is not a Democratic state, and probably never will be. Governor Ferris will run much stronger in Michigan than any other Democrat could run, but he is now threatened by the sweep of the unquestioned movement away from the Democrats. With regard to the party of which he is a member the country has been growing sullen of late weeks, and it now is generally accepted that it will fare but poorly in the fall elections.

Whether Governor Ferris' personal strength will give him a second term is a question that depends perhaps as much as on anything else on the strength of the ticket the Progressives nominate and the vigor that they put into their campaign. Governor Ferris will make a great run in the 1914 election, but it would be too much to expect that he would be able to beat the Republican candidate, if there was a substantial breaking down of the Progressive campaign.

THE LAKESHORE BOULEVARD.

There will be much pleasure among farsighted folk that the commission looks favorably on the project of protecting the Lakeshore boulevard between the Pienic Rocks and the junction of the boulevard with the Pine street driveway, near the North Marquette furnace.

Major Peek, who spoke enthusiastically of the beauties of this roadway, was not too enthusiastic. On its completion, and before the lake had begun to encroach on it, the boulevard was one of the most attractive drives in the city. And much of its original beauty can be restored, although it has lately been given a serious blemish in the form of the electric transmission line from the Pioneer furnace south to the city pumping plant.

The boulevard is all the more worthy of preservation because it is an important link in what ultimately should be an all lakeshore driveway from the city limits on the south to Presque Isle on the north. When Marquette has such a lakeshore driveway, and the heaps of slag on the shore front at the Pioneer Iron company's plant are leveled so that the lake can be seen there, it will have a lakeshore boulevard worthy of comparison with those boasted by other lake cities.

The adequate protection of the driveway will involve an ultimate considerable expense, but it is an expense that may well be provided for in the few years to come. Meanwhile one expedient that will accomplish a great deal to that end, without any very heavy expenditure, is the filling in of the space of water between the shore line and the first of the Pienic rocks. The serious inroads on the shore north of the Pienics began to occur when this gap was allowed to develop to such proportions as to permit a free wash of shore material from the stretch north of the Pienics to the stretch south of them.

The commission, it is reported, intends to take steps to close this gap in the fall storms. It may well do so, for every month that it is allowed to remain open will increase the seriousness of the problem of finally protecting the boulevard.

IN BUTTE.

The news from Butte the past few days apparently confirms the wisdom of the copper mine operators of Michigan in turning a firm face against the Western Federation of Miners. It is difficult to see how an organization which finally, in a field where it has been supreme for years, has proved incapable of self-government could have conferred any benefit on the workers of the Michigan copper district or been anything but a weighty handicap on its operators.

The merits of the Butte dispute are, perhaps, difficult to weigh justly. Primarily they concern the assessments levied the past year, largely in support of the Michigan strike. These have been burdensome and this, coupled with suspicion that perhaps they were not wisely nor economically spent, has bred discontent that now has flamed into revolt. For it is known that successful organization is by no means a case of everything coming in and nothing going out. The outgo is a heavy drain on the wages of the men. And Butte is not the first place where it has been the principal cause of internal dissension in a union.

The seceders from the Federation at Butte are a large and important part of the workers, several thousand men, in fact. The situation created by their course is a most unusual one, for the Federation has contracts to fill the Butte mines and now suggests that if the seceders won't get back on the reservation the men necessary to carry out these contracts will be brought in. Should such a thing be attempted the ardor of the seceders suggests a storm beside which the disturbances to date would appear merely an afternoon's pink tea.

Here there's no quarrel with the companies. The latter have faithfully lived up to their part of the bargain with the Federation, and in the present contest they are disinterested. All they ask is that they be given all the men they happen to want at this time to work their mines. But they will surely become impatient if they are penalized by reduced production and higher operating costs because of a coil of trouble between men with whom they reached an honest agreement. If they saw fit to say "a plague o' both your houses" and proceeded to fill their mines with the first comers it can at least be said that stranger things have happened in the annals of the relations between employers and workers.

The Iron River Reporter, in the current issue, suggests that Senator Winegar should be a candidate for the Republican nomination in the Thirty-first district. Senator Winegar, the Reporter says, is a Republican, though he was elected as a Progressive. But the senator can hardly accept this statement of the case. If he did, he wouldn't have much success getting elected as a Republican, or as anything else, for the Progressives carried the district two years ago, and they would not remember the senator kindly if they thought that on that occasion he was merely masquerading. The way to the primary is open to the senator, as it is to every other voter in the district. He has the situation in his own hand. He can run as a Progressive or a Republican. He need be at the trouble of getting out petition papers.

It does not escape the attention of political observers that the primary campaign of 1914 is not going to be as difficult a one for a man to win as the campaign of 1910. This is a fact that the Osborn lieutenants doubtless bore in mind when casting up their tentative figures. Then there were three candidates, the Hon. P. H. Kelley, an unusual strong candidate, and Amos Musselman, with a considerable following in western Michigan, having besides Mr. Osborn, contested the primary. Now there are to be five candidates. This means a considerable division of the vote, with a prospect that a man who polls even 30 per cent of the total may win a close fight. As a political proposition, there's no gainsaying that there is lots of ground for the confidence of the Osborn lieutenants that their candidate will be one of the two real contenders for the prize.

The New York Central lines, along with many other railroads, have been conducting an energetic and systematic campaign to reduce the annual casualty lists. The results are shown in a statement just issued covering the first four months of the present year. It shows a reduction of 34 per cent in the number of all persons killed, employees, passengers and trespassers, as compared with 1913, and a reduction in the number injured of 27 per cent, compared with the same year. Inasmuch as this means the saving of 1,409 persons from injury, it shows the practical merit of the great "safety first" movement which has taken possession of all lines of industry, as well as the railroads throughout the country. Undoubtedly it is preventing fatal and serious accidents to thousands upon thousands of persons.

It may be merely psychological, as the President would say, but there's no denying that the success of our British cousins in prying loose the international polo cup, has served greatly to arouse our interest in the character of Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger. To watch another cup go sailing across the sea would make us still wiser, if much humbler.

The principal thing that makes the behavior on occasions of the Hon. Tyrus Cobb different from that of an ordinary pluggish is the fact that he chances to be the highest paid player in baseball. When the Peach finally blows many persons will be greatly interested, but few will be very sympathetic.

Looking to the reduction of the prospective number of fall casualties, why don't the Democrats take steps to introduce the "safety first" movement in politics?

The report that Mr. Musselman, of Grand Rapids, will run for governor merely to keep some votes away from Mr. Osborn will hardly be borne out by developments. Mr. Musselman is a hardheaded businessman who doesn't make a show of himself. He knows that if he wants to put a crimp in Mr. Osborn the best way to do it is to feel out which one of Mr. Osborn's opponents is running strongest and then proceed to give him such effectual backing as he can.

The story of the Georgia Peach vs. the Big Butcher Boy indicates that the Peach is not yet clear in his mind as to what he is drawing down the Detroit Baseball club's money for.

Perhaps the man-who-rocks-the-boat would prove amenable to the same influences that were set at work to achieve the Same Fourth.

It will be a matter of just ordinary precaution for the Ty Cobb family to cut out fish in the future.

A LAUGH OR TWO

President Wilson's humor is always kindly, and to a Chicago lady who congratulated him on his kindness he said the other day:

"I have found from personal experience, ma'am, that jokes where you see the point are funnier than those where you feel it."

Getting Round It.

Lincoln Steffens, in a recent address in Cooper Union in New York, said:

"The wife of a child labor millionaire once asked him in some little disgust: 'George, suppose you'd been born in the days when everybody had to live by the sweat of their brow. What would you do then?'"

"I'd open a stand," George answered, 'for the sale of handkerchiefs.'

Dodging Sunday.

Dr. Pankhurst, at a dinner in New York, said of Sunday observance:

"There are too many of us who are like the Hempstead woman."

"This woman said to her little boy the other day:

"You mustn't roll your hoop in the front garden, dear. It's Sunday. Go and roll it in the back garden."

"Isn't it Sunday in the back garden, too, mamma?" the little boy asked."

The Fingerless Kind.

Lillian Russell, during a recent visit to Atlantic City, was amazed to see the number of slashed skirts that still prevailed on the boardwalk.

"They must be last spring's leftovers," she said.

Just then a young girl, in a skirt slashed at back and front, asked her companion in passing:

"How do you like my new dress? Fits like a glove, doesn't it?"

"Fits like a mitt—she'd better say," murmured Miss Russell with a smile.

Everyone Works But Father.

Two men, who had formerly lived in the same town, met after a number of years and entered into conversation.

"Did all your boys turn out well, Jim?" asked one of them.

"Yes, indeed they did."

"What's Albert doing?"

"He's tryin' to discover a new germ," replied the father.

"And Bob?"

"Oh, Bob is tryin' his hand at a newspaper an' bein' editor," was the old gentleman's reply.

"And Charlie—what's he at?"

"He's an actor. All the time talkin' about elevatin' the stage."

"And what are you doing, Jim, now that all your boys are away?" asked the old friend.

"Well," answered the old man, "I'm

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor of The Mining Journal:—The final entrance of Chase S. Osborn as candidate for governor seems to close the lists and it may become proper for readers of your liberal, and generally pretty independent, journal to hear some expression from the rank and file of voters as to the next governor of Michigan, and, in that connection, it is perhaps unnecessary to state that the Gogebic assessment and taxation are the two most considered subjects with resident taxpayers.

The thorough investigation and report of Professor Finley, now some three years back, was the first real and effective effort in Michigan for practical enforcement of a fair cash valuation for mining properties, the same as for other property holders, and as performing comprehensive method and system as to mine valuations thus adopted would continue as the basis and principle for future guidance. Yet the fact is that the laborers and expense, of this Finley work is already wasted and if reductions candidates for governor stand on this important question of valuation and consequent taxation?

Chase S. Osborn, next to Pingree, has shown himself possessed of nerve and backbone sufficient to enforce a square deal as between mining corporations and other property holders, and as performing one this year. There is unquestionably a danger that for the time being there will be a loss of ground in a number of highly important political movements which have little or nothing to do with the responsibility of the Democratic administration.

There is the danger that the reaction will be unreasoning. The mood of the country may be one of impatience, if not intolerance. If this be so, the old discredited leaders of the Republican party will find sympathy and support in their attempts to regain or retain their leadership.

Canon, Penrose, McKinley, Barnes, etc., are confident that this reaction will be to their benefit, and they are astute observers. It therefore becomes more important than ever that there should be renewed opposition to them and their ideas.

Unless the voters be blinded by their own impatience they will not permit their distrust and disapproval of the Democratic administration to be turned to the advantage of the men who made the establishment of a Democratic administration inevitable. By their disregard of the expressed will of the Republican voters.

The Republican leaders in the 1912 national convention made a Democratic administration before the national convention had adjourned. Unless voters are wholly unreasonable they will not return these men to power or retain them in power.—Chicago Tribune.

Prosecution Not Dropped.

The story published in the Milwaukee Sentinel in regard to the abduction charge preferred against Francesco Sciotto, who enticed Mary di Fiori, a fourteen-year-old girl of this city, to go with him to Milwaukee last February, and who was placed under arrest, following his acquittal of a white slavery charge, and in which story it was stated that Prosecuting Attorney Henderson had agreed to try and obtain Sciotto's release on probation by appearing before Judge Flannigan in person, is without any truth whatever, says the Iron Mountain Tribune-Gazette. The article in the Sentinel further stated that the parents had buried their hatred for Sciotto, that they would take the young couple into their home, would receive Sciotto as a son, would give him a comfortable living, and in fact made it appear that everything connected with the case had just about been fixed up in a "milk and honey" way. The article is without any truth as far as it relates to Prosecuting Attorney Henderson, according to his statement, and undoubtedly the other statements were also manufactured. Sciotto will be forced to stand trial here on the charge preferred.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor of The Mining Journal:—The final entrance of Chase S. Osborn as candidate for governor seems to close the lists and it may become proper for readers of your liberal, and generally pretty independent, journal to hear some expression from the rank and file of voters as to the next governor of Michigan, and, in that connection, it is perhaps unnecessary to state that the Gogebic assessment and taxation are the two most considered subjects with resident taxpayers.

The thorough investigation and report of Professor Finley, now some three years back, was the first real and effective effort in Michigan for practical enforcement of a fair cash valuation for mining properties, the same as for other property holders, and as performing comprehensive method and system as to mine valuations thus adopted would continue as the basis and principle for future guidance. Yet the fact is that the laborers and expense, of this Finley work is already wasted and if reductions candidates for governor stand on this important question of valuation and consequent taxation?

Chase S. Osborn, next to Pingree, has shown himself possessed of nerve and backbone sufficient to enforce a square deal as between mining corporations and other property holders, and as performing one this year. There is unquestionably a danger that for the time being there will be a loss of ground in a number of highly important political movements which have little or nothing to do with the responsibility of the Democratic administration.

There is the danger that the reaction will be unreasoning. The mood of the country may be one of impatience, if not intolerance. If this be so, the old discredited leaders of the Republican party will find sympathy and support in their attempts to regain or retain their leadership.

Canon, Penrose, McKinley, Barnes, etc., are confident that this reaction will be to their benefit, and they are astute observers. It therefore becomes more important than ever that there should be renewed opposition to them and their ideas.

Unless the voters be blinded by their own impatience they will not permit their distrust and disapproval of the Democratic administration to be turned to the advantage of the men who made the establishment of a Democratic administration inevitable. By their disregard of the expressed will of the Republican voters.

The Republican leaders in the 1912 national convention made a Democratic administration before the national convention had adjourned. Unless voters are wholly unreasonable they will not return these men to power or retain them in power.—Chicago Tribune.

The story published in the Milwaukee Sentinel in regard to the abduction charge preferred against Francesco Sciotto, who enticed Mary di Fiori, a fourteen-year-old girl of this city, to go with him to Milwaukee last February, and who was placed under arrest, following his acquittal of a white slavery charge, and in which story it was stated that Prosecuting Attorney Henderson had agreed to try and obtain Sciotto's release on probation by appearing before Judge Flannigan in person, is without any truth whatever, says the Iron Mountain Tribune-Gazette. The article in the Sentinel further stated that the parents had buried their hatred for Sciotto, that they would take the young couple into their home, would receive Sciotto as a son, would give him a comfortable living, and in fact made it appear that everything connected with the case had just about been fixed up in a "milk and honey" way. The article is without any truth as far as it relates to Prosecuting Attorney Henderson, according to his statement, and undoubtedly the other statements were also manufactured. Sciotto will be forced to stand trial here on the charge preferred.

Supervisor MacNaughton moved that the report of the equalization committee be approved, and in the ballot Supervisors Rourke and Seeber were the only members to vote no. It was at this point that Mr. Rourke made his announcement.

NO ROOM FOR WOMEN.

Only Men Will Attend Commercial Club Annual Banquet.

The annual banquet of the Copper Country Commercial club at Calumet next Thursday night will be a "stag" party. The demand for places is so great that it is not believed the armory would hold the assemblage if each man present were accompanied by a woman.

TEA AND COFFEE

are just as harmful to children as alcohol is to grown-ups," says Dr. Charlotte Abbey, superintendent of the Women's Directory, New York.

The reason why coffee and tea injure anybody is because these beverages contain the poisonous drug, caffeine, (from 1 1/2 to 3 grains to the cup), which physicians have long known affects the heart, stomach and liver.

Children especially, with their delicate nerves, are susceptible to the action of caffeine, and should never be allowed to have tea or coffee or any other beverage containing drugs.

Thousands of adults have found that their headaches, nervousness, indigestion and sleeplessness have vanished when a change was made from coffee and tea to

CALUMET AUTO ACCIDENT.

Occupants of Horse Drawn Carriage Thrown Out and Injured. Ralph Wolf of Mohawk and Thomas Trembuth of Kearsarge were slightly injured Sunday night when the carriage in which they were driving was knocked over by an automobile driven by James McClure.

Mr. McClure was driving on Fifth street, Red Jacket, and about to turn into the Calumet road at the Union building. Another car was turning the corner in the opposite direction. The horse drawn carriage got between the two with the result stated. The young men were only slightly injured but they spent the night at the Calumet hospital. Their carriage was badly damaged, but the automobiles suffered no injury.

PETTY CALUMET BURGLARIES.

Total Haul of a Housebreaker Must Be Considerable. Chief Trudell and the Red Jacket police are interested seriously in the identity of a burglar that is doing a good business in petty house-breaking jobs. He has kept it up for two weeks and still there is no clue.

Reports of a dozen robberies from residences have been made in the past week, each taking place between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m. In one case the burglar took away $40 and a gold watch. Chief Trudell believes it is the work of a sneak thief acting as a peddler. In the meantime, pending the result of the search Chief Trudell advises Calumet people to keep their houses locked.

BAN ON CONCEALED WEAPONS.

Copper Range Consolidated Territory Bad Place for Gun Toters.

The carrying of concealed weapons fell into disrepute during the mine workers' strike and it is a practice that has not resumed its former popularity. But there are occasional instances. Chief James O'Donnell of the Copper Range Consolidated force of watchmen announces that the practice has got to become unpopular in his territory. He began yesterday by making an example of Nick Prusha.

Chief O'Donnell heard a shot on the highway through Painesdale at 1:20 o'clock yesterday morning. He picked up the first man that appeared from the direction of the shot. This man proved to be Nick Prusha and he had a gun on him. He was taken to the county jail and today will have a hearing before Justice Eichkorn.

KNIGHT TEMPLAR FIELD DAYS.

Grand Commander Campbell Arranging for Upper Peninsula Meetings. Gordon R. Campbell of Calumet, grand commander of the Michigan Knights Templar, expects within a few days to announce the dates of Knights Templar field days to be held in Escanaba and Houghton, following a plan in vogue in lower Michigan.

The purpose is to have the commandaries meet at central points for drills and meetings to discuss matters of common interest. As soon as the grand marshal of the state grand commandery has gotten in touch with the upper peninsula commandaries, to learn of the dates most convenient to them for assembling at Escanaba or Houghton, the dates will be announced.

BRIILLIANT YOUNG ADVOCATE.

Hon. Hector Laferte of Quebec Guest of St. Jean Societies. Hon. and Mrs. Hector Laferte of Quebec, P. Q., arrived in Houghton yesterday and for the ensuing three days are the guests of the St. Jean Baptiste societies of the copper country.

Mr. Laferte is known to a large number of the French-Canadian people of the copper country as a brilliant young lawyer and orator, and when he accepted the invitation to appear in the copper country next Wednesday and deliver at Electric Park the principal address of the St. Jean Baptiste societies' reunion they were overjoyed.

The Canadian lawyer is a young man, twenty-eight years of age in fact, and thus has not attained the right to place the letters, K. C., after his name. He is not yet a king's counsel, because a lawyer must practice ten years in Canada before he may attain that degree. The visitor has been in the United States but once before, a visit to Niagara Falls, on his honeymoon.

It appears that in Quebec a lawyer is so ethical that he will not engage in remunerative avocations. At least the visitor expressed some surprise when he learned that in the United States, as he understood also is the case in England, lawyers sometimes indulge in side lines of real estate, insurance and notarial work.

Mr. Laferte was yesterday taken to various points of interest by a committee of French-Canadians, headed by Postmaster E. J. Dube of Houghton.

A $15,000 industry for Hancock was given birth this week with the incorporation at Lansing of the Eilertson Manufacturing company. The officers are: C. W. Macdonald, Hancock, president; John Macnath, Hancock, secretary-treasurer; Olof Paulson, Calumet, vice president. The general offices and plant will be in Hancock. The Eilertson Manufacturing company is an outgrowth of Eilertson & Co., which for the last year or more has manufactured and marketed the "Elite" Tire Remover.

TEMPERANCE MEETING CLOSSES.

The 1915 meeting was awarded South Range. Officers were elected as follows: President—Edward Koivila. Treasurer—Edward Johnson. Secretary—Henry Nollanen.

In order to become a physician in Turkey one must be able to pass the required oral examination in either the French or Turkish language.

What's Doing in Baseball World

Pitcher E. J. Pfeiffer, of Brooklyn, has signed a contract covering 1915 and 1916. Pete Schneider ought to fit well into the ranks of the Cincinnati Reds. The harmonizers.

David D. Henry, pitcher, and Arthur E. Durgin, first baseman of the Pennsylvania university nine, have joined the Pittsburgh Nationals. President McCaffery of the Toronto International League Club has re-elected Ditcher Ritter to the Scranton club of the New York State league.

Garry Herrman is going to keep his lawyers pretty busy for the balance of this year, if he intends to sue the Feds for every ball player they steal from the Reds. If Tom Clark of the Reds jumps to the outlaws, as is reported by the Cincinnati team will not stay long in the first division, for Herzog has no other catcher to take his place.

Those Cardinals are making a show of themselves, now that they are in third place. Miller Huggins has stood for the sneers of the public long enough and wants a little of the glory now. It begins to look as if the Naps have come back to stay. They will be recognized as a real ball team, but trouncing the Senators four straight is no mean feat.

There will be no holidays for the Detroit ball players for the present. June 23, next Tuesday, is open on the schedule, but the Detroit and Cleveland managements have made an arrangement whereby the Naps will go to Detroit that day to play of the game postponed because of cold weather April 29.

One-quarter of the famous $100,000 infield—Second Baseman Eddie Collins of the Philadelphia Athletics—is ready to "jump" Connie Mack and join the Federals. This was admitted by Collins, "If I leave Mack I will join the Federals. I am sincere in my offer, I will quit the American league after 1914," Collins said.

Pitcher George Sisler, the University of Michigan southpaw, who was to have joined the Pirates next year, will probably never pitch again, according to a program to President Barney Dreyfus. The message said that Sisler threw out his arm while pitching for the Ann Arbor team and had no hope of recovering from the injury.

Denying a report that the Baltimore International League team had been sold to Richmond (Va.) capitalists, and that the franchise would be transferred to that city, Jack Dunn, president and manager of the Orioles, admitted that he had received an offer from Richmond interests for his players and franchise, but had refused it. It is understood Dunn was offered $62,500.

False Pretenses Alleged.

Deputy Sheriff Staley of Engadine came to St. Ignace with William McCarney, whom he had brought back from Ogemaw county on a charge of obtaining $8 by false pretenses from C. W. Bretz of Engadine, in charge. The complaint was laid before Justice Reagan last fall. The defendant pleaded not guilty and the case was continued.

Riotous Finns Arrested.

When a party of Finlanders, residing near Maple Ridge, broke loose on a rampage in that village, they all were taken to Sheriff Curran. The sheriff reced to Maple Ridge where he placed Oscar Oihla and Wilho Ranta under arrest and took them to Escanaba. The Finlanders became enraged at Dr. Stuart, a veterinary surgeon of Munising, who had called them. The veterinarian, who had been attacked and severely beaten before Deputy Sheriff Wallace Bridges could reach the scene. When the officer attempted to interfere he also was attacked, but with the aid of a policeman he was able to stop the assault on Stuart. A riot was then in for Sheriff Curran and the arrest of the leaders in the disturbance followed.

Bond Issue Proposed.

Steps have been taken looking to a start with the work on the Iron county road of the Gogebic road. The board of supervisors has directed Prosecuting Attorney Torney to prepare the necessary call for a special election to vote bond, and an election will be held at the earliest date possible. The board held a special session. When President McHale, of the Union club, heard of it he hastily called a number of business men in and hurried to Crystal Falls with the petition asking for an election to vote bonds to complete the road. Supervisor Lyons, when he heard that the West Side wanted to present the petition at that session, pushed the matter through and all the time the delegates arrived with the petition. The East Side has promised to vote with the West Side for the completion of this road and the bond issue is expected to carry.

A Mylander Is Not Dead.

While the corpse of a man that had been identified as A. Mylander lay in the morgue of Johns undertaking establishment in preparation for being buried by Mrs. Mylander and her two sons for the funeral, Mr. Mylander walked into his home, healthy and sound as when he disappeared last fall. The man whose body lies in the morgue was killed on the Northern Pacific docks last September. A death notice gave his name as A. Mylander, address unknown. Ed. Mitchell, manager of the Iron River Mercantile company, heard of the notice a few weeks ago and asked Gordon Mylander if he had heard from his father recently. Gordon denied an investigation was started. He and Mrs. Mylander both went to Duluth and identified the photograph which was taken of the dead man while he lay in the morgue as that of Mr. Mylander. The body was ordered delivered and shipped to Iron River for burial, and Mrs. Mylander filed suit in Duluth for $25,000 damages against the Northern Pacific Railway company, and also claimed $25,000 life insurance Mr. Mylander carried. An attorney for the life insurance company learned in some manner that the body that had been shipped to Iron River was not that of A. Mylander and started a search for the missing man. The first of the week he telegraphed Mrs. Mylander that her husband was not dead.

When You Can't Smoke

that's the time to chew PEERLESS. When you can't smoke—that's the time to choose PEERLESS.

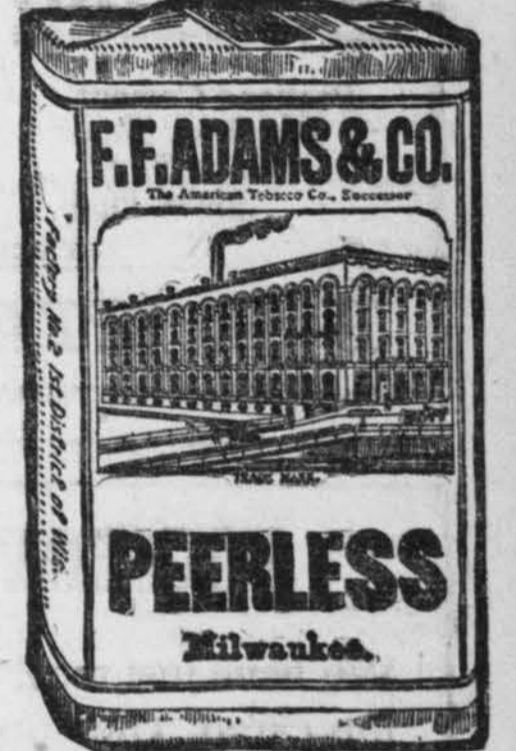

This pure Southern Kentucky tobacco is the great favorite with men of vigor. It is full-bodied and satisfying. It gets its pleasant richness from the natural aging we give it for three to five years. And that is what keeps its quality up, always the same, no matter what the year's crop may be.

PEERLESS Long Cut Tobacco

has given prime pleasure to manly men for over half a century. A PEERLESS man never switches to another brand; he knows he's just losing time and pleasure on a needless experiment. Many brands come and go into the discard—but old PEERLESS is still in the lead.

There's a snappy taste to PEERLESS that policemen and other big fellows like. It's got that man-size quality about it; not one of those insipid, next-to-nothing tobaccos—but the big king-brand for the he-men on the force.

A week's trial will make you a permanent user of PEERLESS—go to it today. Sold everywhere in 5c packages.

New York Stocks.

Despite the fact that the decision in the Eastern rate cases was not rendered over Sunday, the stock list presented a rather steady appearance during the forenoon. Aggressive bullish tactics were stimulated in the last two hours as a consequence of the supreme court making known its findings in the Southern Pacific land sales case. The court ruled, in effect, that corporations which have obtained land grants with the specification that mineral lands yet unproven are to be excluded will not be forced to disgorge themselves of the said mineral lands in the event that fraud was not exercised in the begging. The decision was regarded as being far-reaching in its effect and specifically of vast importance to Southern Pacific, as the lands which the decision covers are estimated by competent authorities to be worth an amount equivalent to the funded obligations and share capitalization of the company now outstanding. The interstate commerce commission is expected to take a recess on June 30, so the decision in the Eastern rate cases will probably not be delayed much further. Final prices at New York Monday follow:

Simple Way to End Dandruff

Stop Falling Hair and Itching Scalp. There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it permanently. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common, household ammonia from any drug store (this is all you will need) apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and itching of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be shiny, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. If you value your hair, you should get a bottle of ammonia at once, for nothing else is so dissolving. If, then, you destroy it permanently. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common, household ammonia from any drug store (this is all you will need) apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

IS CHAMPION DANDY

Has Shoestrings Pressed Every Morning.

New York, June 22.—The world's greatest dandy has been unearthed. He lives, not in New York but in London, nor in Paris the brilliant, but in London town. It appears that the art of dandyism has been underestimated; that so far from being a mere matter of clothes pressing and a clean collar, of many carefully folded ties and accurate trouser cuffs, of the proper number of buttons on the vest and the correct match in socks, that a greater condition can be attained, and upon this pioneer, this prince of masculine toilets, all dandydom gazes with rapt and breathless reverence. This gentleman positively refuses to walk abroad unless his shoe laces have been ironed. Every morning his valet, who must necessarily be a prince of valets as his master is the prince of dandies, abstracts the laces and presses them carefully. His master would no more think of leaving his apartment with unpressed shoe strings than he would consider leav-

LEPER COLONY STARTED.

London, June 21.—With the late Lord Strathcona's gift of $25,000, the first leper colony in the United Kingdom will be established next fall in a deserted part of Essex. A specially equipped hospital will be a part of the new colony.

This will obviate the necessity for concentrating any given product in large quantities in storage or marketing centers, save the cost incident to this concentration and consequent redistribution, and get the product to the consumer in a fresher, better condition.

The work of shipping eggs has progressed to a point where definite conclusions based on experimental data can be stated. More than seven hundred dozens of eggs have been shipped experimentally through the mails, from various points, under various conditions, and in various different types of containers, without loss, showing that it is undoubtedly a feasible and practicable method of transporting eggs.

CORONER INVESTIGATING THE HORROR AT SYRACUSE; LOST LAUNCH A DEATHTRAP. Syracuse, N. Y., June 22—An investigation of the launch accident which resulted in the drowning of twelve persons in the Oswego river last night is being made under the direction of Coroner Moore.

There were twenty passengers on the boat and it was reported today that the craft was licensed to carry not more than ten passengers. It was raining at the time of the accident and the canvas curtains had been pulled down and buttoned securely, so that the boat proved a deathtrap for its passengers.

Several children are numbered among the victims. Three women and two men also were drowned. Only one of the children on the boat at the time of the accident was saved.

STOCK MARKET IS STRONG ON HIGH COURT'S RULING IN THE OIL LANDS CASE. New York, June 22.—The course of the stock market was changed abruptly today by the decree of the United States supreme court favoring the title claims of the Southern Pacific railroad to California oil lands.

The ruling caused a sudden rush of buying orders and the quotation of the stock mounted swiftly. At the close, the price was 97 1/2, a gain of more than three points. The price of nearly all the leading railway and industrial shares joined in the upward movement.

COLLISION ON ELECTRIC ROAD IS SERIOUS TO FORTY PERSONS. Sandusky, O., June 22.—Forty persons were injured, several probably fatally, when an eastbound limited car on the Lake Shore Electric railroad collided with a work train standing on a siding near here late today.

Though officials of the road said tonight an investigation would have to be conducted before responsibility for the wreck could be determined, several passengers expressed the opinion that the switch connecting the siding with the main track was open when the car struck it.

SECRET SOCIETY WHICH SOUGHT TO MURDER 23 BROKEN UP IN TIME. Lisbon, June 21.—A political secret society which had for its object the murder of twenty-three persons has just been broken up, before the accomplishment of its purpose. Only one person had been put to death.

The organization was called The White Ants, and its headquarters were in the village of Alcabadele, on the outskirts of Lisbon. The chief government authority of the town, himself a member of The White Ants, and a number of his underlings, all of them members of the society, are accused of seeking to do away with certain members of the Moderate Opposition Republican party.

The first victim was murdered on his way home from a ball. A party of five of the White Ants had secreted themselves behind a wall near the man's home, and as he was about to open the door, they fired upon him. He fell mortally wounded. The chief authority of the village later was questioned and then arrested. A list of the twenty-three persons to be murdered was found in his possession. The list was headed by the murdered man's name.

LONG CONCRETE WALK.
Work Will Be Started Today on New Walk on East Division Street.

Trebilcock Bros. have been awarded a contract for the construction of about 8,000 feet of walk, extending from the Cleveland Cliff Iron company's old office building on East Division street to a point opposite the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railway company's roundhouse.

A portion of the old board walk was torn up a few weeks ago and the remainder will be removed this week. It will be the biggest single walk job that has been done in the city in late years.

Trebilcock Bros. will keep a large force busy this season, as they have a number of important contracts, in addition to work now being done for the city. They have a contract to put in approximately 17,000 feet of curbing and 7,000 feet of gutters. They now have a crew putting in curbs on Pine street and tomorrow they will put a force to work on the construction of curbs on Fifth and York streets. They also have a crew excavating for the foundation of the Gately-Wiggins new block, corner of Main and Pearl streets.

BRAASTAD RESIGNS.
President and Director of Miners' Bank Handed in Resignation Yesterday.

F. Braastad, who has been a member of the board of directors and president of the Miners' National bank for a number of years past, yesterday handed in his resignation. He feels that, in view of his extensive business interests, he cannot give the office of director the attention it requires. It is his plan in the near future to set aside some of his other business cares. Mr. Braastad realizes that he has reached an age where he should take life easier. He has been an extremely active man during all the years he has been engaged in the mercantile business here and has given up much of his time to assisting in the conducting of other enterprises in which he is interested.

WERE A LITTLE HASTY.

D. E. Rivers and E. Tyler, who have been in the city the past few weeks distributing advertising matter, were arrested Sunday afternoon by Deputy Marshal Collins for exploding fire crackers near Grace Episcopal church while the funeral services for the late Mrs. Jessie Bickle Dawe were being held. A man who saw them lighting crackers and throwing them into the street told them they were making a mistake, and they replied, "We are having good time in this dead town." Mr. Collins was called and it did not take him long to place the young men behind the bars. They were given a hearing in Judge West's court yesterday morning and each paid a fine and costs of $8.

SHE GAVE PEACE TO WARRING FACTIONS

Supreme Oracle of Royal Neighbors Brought Woodmen Delegates to Their Senses.

Collick, who served as chief of the postal service at the Foresters' encampment of the Modern Woodmen of America in Toledo last week, and the dozen or more members of the degree team of Hematite camp, are expected to arrive home today or tomorrow. At Friday night's session of the head camp peace was brought to the warring factions of the Modern Woodmen by a woman, Mrs. Myra B. Enright, supreme oracle of the Royal Neighbors of America, who, with a smile and tear, spoke to the members briefly. Mrs. Enright made a most intensely human plea for peace and she brought the Woodmen to their senses.

How Mrs. Enright re-established good feeling and peace among the opposing factions of the world's greatest fraternal society is related in the following from Saturday's issue of the Toledo Blade: "A woman's smile and a woman's tear moved the warring factions of the Modern Woodmen of America in convention Friday evening and brought to a close the great fight between the insurgent and administration wings. "The woman is Mrs. Myra B. Enright of Kansas City, supreme oracle of the Royal Neighbors of America. "Strong men had sat stolidly three days refusing to give quarter to their opponents in the battle for seats in the convention, while court action threatened the foundations of the order. But when the great mediator made her appearance in the gallery with a personal staff of 29 women, she was invited on the stage and the climax came with her speech, which was characterized as one of the most dramatic incidents on a public stage in years. "While Mrs. Enright pleaded for the delegates to lay aside their differences and act in harmony, delegates who, a few minutes before glowered at each other and made sinister threats of fraternal nature, sat silent in the uncomfortable quietness of the hall. "Let us all be as one for the protection of the home, our children and Woodcraft that means so much to them and to us," said the little woman as she stretched her arms toward the delegates from 45 states. Then she told a story of the civil war, where brother battled against brother for the sovereignty of

Lower State Notes

ANN ARBOR—Miss Anna Kreger of this city has brought suit against Harry N. Birn, proprietor of a restaurant, for $10,000 because of an injury to one of her fingers, suffered, she alleges, because of a glass which she was washing being broken. She claims proper appliances for cleaning glass were not furnished her.

SAGINAW—A few weeks ago City Clerk H. S. Gay was requested by Isaac X. Demmon of Ann Arbor, editor of the University of Michigan yearly catalogue, to find some record regarding the death and interment of Edgar L. Knapp, graduate of the pharmacy department in 1885. Gay started his investigation and found Knapp alive.

BATTLE CREEK—Though not a bona fide citizen, William D. Dunbar fell from a scaffold at the Kellogg Food company's plant, several days ago, he died from paralysis. Dunbar struck on his back and to all appearances was uninjured, but he rapidly grew worse. He was 48 years old, and is survived by his widow and three children including Mrs. Edie Saunders and Max Dunbar of Lansing.

DETROIT—Lying on the bed in his room in the Shotwell apartment here with his left breast torn by a charge from a shot gun, the body of George DeMassey, 45, soldier of fortune, a man of letters and evidently an officer of the English marines, was found by an employe. In a letter addressed to Charles DeKokowski of this city, a friend, DeMassey declared: "Goodbye old boy, I died as a gentleman anyway. Mr. George DeMassey, Pine Lodge, Eastbourne, England. Notify my wife."

MUSKOGEE—Paul Anderson, 5 years old, was drowned in Muskogee lake while his brother, Harvey, aged 7, ran home, a distance of a mile, to tell his mother how Paul happened to fall off a dock. Paul and Harvey were fishing when in some manner Paul lost his footing and fell into the lake. The child remained on the surface a minute or so and Harvey tried to save him by thrusting his fish pole toward him. Paul failed to catch hold and went down. Harvey then ran home, told his mother what had happened and she, with her husband, hurried to the lake. The body was recovered in a few hours.

FLINT—Attracted by an offer of $10 a day to act as "special horse guard" to a stranger, who flashed a roll supposed to contain $12,000, Frank Lakapoulos, a Greek popcorn vendor, who operates a stand in McFarlan park, closed up his shop, went to the National Bank of Flint and drew out $350, his savings of four years, and placed the money in a tin box as a "guarantee of good faith" with a package supposed to contain several thousand dollars. The stranger and a confederate excused themselves and told Frank to go home with the box and they would meet him later. He went to his boarding house, out the box open with a hatchet and found a neatly wrapped package which contained a bunch of railroad time tables. Two men who answer a description given the police, have been arrested in Port Huron and will be brought here.

DETROIT—Strong action against fusion of the Michigan Progressive party with any other party, in support of any other party, was taken at a meeting of the Progressive state central committee. Practically the entire committee was in attendance with State Chairman Charles P. O'Neil in the chair. The resolutions declare the party is alive and active in every county and is prepared to put a complete state ticket into the field. The resolutions further say that the local tickets of the party will be filled in every political district from congressional districts to precincts. There is some lively talk already of the party's candidates for governor, James S. Pound of Detroit is mentioned, and Mr. Pattengill of Lansing and Herbert Baker of Cheboygan, also have friends who are urging their nomination.

BAY CITY—Lloyd Elbere, aged twenty, and Gertrude Eickemeyer, nineteen, were drowned and Agnes O'Brien narrowly escaped. The party, when a canoe was taken, they were in tipped over in Saginaw bay, near Wrennash beach. The accident occurred in view of a number of persons and within a few yards of water so shallow that all could have waded ashore. When the canoe upset, several persons put out in boats from the Wrennash beach dock and David Wright succeeded in reaching the canoe to which Elbere and Miss O'Brien were clinging. He rescued the girl, but while he was pulling her into the boat lost his hold and sank. Both bodies were recovered. A pulmotor was used in an effort to resuscitate

JOINS FAMOUS PLAYERS. Noted Actor to Be Seen Here Friday in A Noted Comedy Drama.

John Barrymore, the distinguished dramatic favorite, is to appear in the moving picture version of the celebrated comedy-romance "An American Citizen," produced by the Famous Players Film company, next Friday evening, at the Ishpeming Theater.

The conjunction of this famous favorite of the American stage with a play that is recognized as one of the greatest comedy successes in modern history, in motion pictures marks another decisive step in the forward march of the photo-play. "An American Citizen," by Madeline Luette Ryley, a trans-continental comedy romance, with a million laughs and a few sighs, presents the Noted Star in a role almost personally suited to himself.

HOW OLD WAS GEN. SICKLES? The difficulties which biographers encounter in keeping their data straight are strikingly illustrated in the case of Major General Daniel E. Sickles. What was the year of his birth? Four different dates are given by reputable authorities.

"Who's Who in America" says that he was born on October 20, 1825. "The National Cyclopaedia of American Biography" gives the same date. Appleton's "Cyclopedia of American Biography" makes it October 20, 1825, and is sustained in that by the New York state publication, "New York at Gettysburg," issued under the authority of the Battlefield Monuments commission, of which General Sickles was chairman.

The general was twice a member of congress. Ben Perely Poore, in his "Political Register and Congressional Directory," edition of 1878, makes the date of birth October 20, 1821. But in the official "Biographical Congressional Dictionary," published by the authority of congress in 1903, the year 1825 is preferred. Finally, according to the New York Times, the coffin in which the general was buried bore the inscription "Born October 20, 1820."

Who shall decide among these conflicting dates? Seven cities claim General Sickles.—New York Tribune.

state and of nation and blended the blue and the gray into the symbols of Woodcraft and the national camp.

Bitterness Departs. "All thoughts of the bitterness that had characterized the proceedings during the early part of the week vanished and insurgents and administration arose en masse to extend the solemn triple handshake, the greeting always extended by the M. W. A. to the members of the Royal Neighbors.

"Attired in black blouse of late model and a picture hat, Mrs. Enright was introduced to the Woodmen as the woman who had made good, plus. That Mrs. Enright is a diplomat of the highest order was shown in her opening smile, because everybody in the hall smiling at her. Then she talked about the weather and the joy of fraternalism. Finally it was about the schism in the ranks—and there were tears in her eyes when she mentioned the need of peace and the duty that delegates owed their wives and children at home by maintaining the permanency of the order and the insurance features.

"The little talk of Mrs. Enright wasn't so eloquent, but it was intensely human. "After her little sermon—a veritable strop for the soul of man—she assured the order that they would always have the support of the Royal Neighbors. While the Woodmen were leading a cheer the band played jubilant airs, and the convention settled down to the order of business.

"With the settlement of the disputes and the seating of 128 contested delegates from Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska, and the agreement that the head camp would pay the mileage, $10 a day and expenses of the contesting delegates, both factions left the hall in the freest of spirit. Joe D. B. of California, floor leader for the administration, and John D. Denison, head of the insurgent wing, left the hall arm in arm."

The New Officers. The officers for the ensuing three years were elected at the Friday night session, following Mrs. Enright's plea for peace, and the administration slate went through without a hitch. The fact that the head camp voted in favor of allowing the contesting delegates the same mileage and per diem as delegates who were seated, had much to do with satisfying the insurgents. For some time prior to the head camp session, there seemed to be considerable opposition to James McNamara, the candidate for head camp, to succeed his father-in-law, Charles W. Hawes, who retires on account of ill health, but Mr. McNamara was elected with the other officers, who are as follows:

Head Consul—A. R. Talbot, Lincoln, Neb., re-elected.
Head Advisor—Dan B. Horne, Davenport, Ia., re-elected.

them, but without avail. Miss Eickemeyer was the daughter of Henry Eickemeyer, a hardware dealer, and Miss O'Brien the daughter of V. W. O'Brien. The three went to a cottage at Onatika beach early in the afternoon to prepare for a picnic party of young people later in the day. Having nothing else to do they borrowed a canoe, although none of them knew how to manage one, and went for a ride. They supposed they were paddling in shallow water, but had got out to a point where the shore sloped off quickly and went down in about eight or ten feet of water.

MONROE—Frank Mack, his brother, Ben, their team of horses and a pet dog were killed by the same bolt of lightning at their farm, seven miles northwest of here. The Macks were holding a fence bee and several neighboring farmers were helping them when a heavy rain shower set in. The Macks, with the ten-year-old son of Frank and the pet dog, drove their team under the branches of a tree for shelter. There they were waiting for the storm to pass when the bolt came, killing them and the animals instantly. Two other farmers were under another tree not more than ten feet away and they called to the little Mack boy to get in a buggy with them. He left his father and uncle and had squeezed between the two men when the lightning flashed about them, passing over their heads and caused the tragedy in the nearest wagon. The Macks, the team and the dog were not scared and the wagon was unharmed. The bolt did not hit the tree.

SULPHUR DRIES UP ECZEMA AND STOPS ITCHING

This Old Time Skin Healer Is Used Just Like Any Cold Cream.

With the first application of hold-sulphur cream the angry itching attending any eczema eruption ceases and its remarkable healing powers begin. Sulphur, says renowned dermatologist, just common hold-sulphur, made into a thick cream will soothe and heal the skin when irritated and broken out with Eczema or any form of eruption. The moment it is applied all itching ceases and after two or three applications the Eczema disappears, leaving the skin clear and smooth.

He tells Eczema sufferers to get from any good pharmacy an ounce of hold-sulphur cream and apply it to the irritated, inflamed skin, the same as you would any cold cream.

For many years this soothing, healing sulphur has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous affections by reason of its parasite-destroying property. It is not only parasiticidal, but also antipruritic, antiseptic and remarkably healing in all irritable and inflammatory conditions of the skin. While not always establishing a permanent cure it never fails instantly to subdue the irritation and heal the Eczema right up and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin.

PRESERVE FLAGS OF U. S. HISTORY

Smithsonian Has Collection of Famous Banners—Nation's Development Is Traced.

Washington, June 19.—Of the many remarkable sights of Washington which delight the visitor not least valuable and picturesque is the flag collection in the Smithsonian institution. In its peculiar way it is undoubtedly one of the most conspicuous features of the historical exhibits in that structure, including at least twenty examples of the American flag, and showing its development in the different historical periods, a valuable lesson to the student and an assistance to the scholar.

While there were no early colonial flags, such as were used before the flag of the United States was established by congress on June 14, 1777, a fine example of the first true United States ensign is shown. Representative of the stars and stripes type is a flag said to have flown on the Bon Homme Richard, under the command of Admiral John Paul Jones. This flag measures 10 1/2 feet by 6 3/4 feet. On Dec. 13, 1781, it was presented to Lieut. J. S. Bayard Stafford, U. S. N., by the marine committee of the continental congress.

"Star Spangled Banner." Another flag of high historic value is the original "Star Spangled Banner" of Key's anthem, which proudly waved over Fort Mifflin during the bombardment of Sept. 13-14, 1814, and which was presented to the Smithsonian institution by Eben Appleton.

The Fort Mifflin flag is of the type having fifteen stars and stripes, adopted in 1784 upon the addition of the states of Vermont and Kentucky. This type went into effect in 1785 and continued to be the standard until 1818, when congress returned to the original thirteen stripes and made provision for the addition of a star for each new state.

The original "Star Spangled Banner," which is very large, measuring 28 feet by 22 feet, is now being remounted on linen for the purpose of preservation and exhibition. Not Carried Into Battle. Recent researches on the history of our flag indicate that the Stars and Stripes was not carried by troops in battle until the period of the Mexican war. Up to that time, although it was used by the army as a garrison flag and flown on all warships, only the national standard, bearing the coat-of-arms of the United States and the regimental colors were carried by our land forces.

There are nine flags connected with the Civil war. The garrison flag of Fort Sumter, December 26, 1860; the remains of the flag carried in the three days' fight at Salem Heights, Va., May 5-7, 1862, when three color sergeants were killed; the standard never lowered or fell to the ground; the headquarters' flag of Major General William B. Ruffalo, comprising a large white star on a field half red and blue, representative of the rank of brigadier general; General Hazen's garrison flag of the fort at Fort Fisher, after the surrender of that fort to the Union army, December 13, 1864; the flag flown on the U. S. S. Kearsarge when she defeated the famous Alabama, deposited in the national museum by Lieut. Herbert Winslow, son of Rear Admiral Winslow, the memorable sea fight; a 35-star flag flown after the capture of Richmond, April, 1865; headquarters' flag of Major Gen. E. O. C. Ord, received from his son, Lieut. James T. Ord, flag of the First Illinois, Pennsylvania Volunteers, found in the capital at Richmond in 1865, and the flag raised at New Orleans by its citizens upon the occupation of that city by the Union forces under Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, May 1, 1862.

Fine International Collection. In the exhibit is a fine collection from the department of states, having a series of 67 flags of different nations. In the museum collection there are, too, flags of many types and sorts carried in the Spanish-American war, including some Spanish standards, a flag of truce captured by Lieut. R. F. Braintree for the release of two newspaper men from Havana, Cuba, and later the release of Lieutenant Holson and his sailors after the destruction of the Merrimac, and Commodore Schley's pennant, flown from the Brooklyn, June 3, 1898.

Among the flags are also a flag owned by Admiral C. D. Fox, U. S. N., one made of the first silk raised in the United States; the American colors flown at the North Pole by Rear Admiral Peary, in 1909; the flag of the Navy League, and the flag carried by the Smithsonian African expedition, under command of Col. Theodore Roosevelt in 1909-10.

MORGANATIC WEDDING OF PRINCE OSKAR AND THE COUNTESS INA TO BE SOON.

Berlin, June 21.—The fact that Hohenzollern princes have never been given to long engagements leads an interested public to believe the marriage of Emperor William's fifth son, Prince Oskar, to the Countess von Bassewitz-Lewitzow will be celebrated soon. No date, however, has yet been set. The engagement was announced May 26, and was a surprise to Berlin society, since it will be morganatic marriage, contrary to the traditions of the Hohenzollern family.

There are plenty of instances where that tradition was broken, but this will be the first time in sixty years that any of the Hohenzollerns have married beneath their rank. King Frederick William III, himself did so in 1824 when he married the Countess Harach, after the death of his first wife, Princess Adalbert, nephew of Frederick William IV, did so when he married the Viennese dancer, Therese Eleler. Another and the latest instance is that of Prince Albrecht, brother of Frederick William IV, who married a French noble, the daughter of a former minister of war, in 1833.

The empress is widely credited for obtaining the imperial sanction of Prince Oskar's intention to marry the Countess. She believed it to be a true love match. She knew the young woman well. She had served as her maid of honor until 1913, when the close attachment between her and the prince is said to have resulted in her resignation of service. She is described as tall and graceful, beautiful and a sunny temper. While her rank is that of lower nobility, her family lineage has been traced back as far as 1254 to one Bernhardus de Bassewitz, and the title of count dates from 1726. She undoubtedly will win some new title when she becomes the emperor's daughter-in-law.

She may make her husband a large landowner, as her father, Count Karl von Bassewitz-Lewitzow, owns six large estates in Mecklenburg and Prussia. He has for years occupied a prominent position in Mecklenburg society and politics. He has lately been minister president of the little state. Prince Oskar has had the training of a typical Prussian officer. The emperor did not send him to a university, as he did all the other princes, except Albrecht, who is the seaman of the family. Although Oskar's general education has been comparatively neglected, he is described as a man of much shrewdness and of quick intelligence. He is a captain in one of the foot-guard regiments at Berlin and at the same time is hearing lectures at the war academy with a view to acquiring a training in the higher military science, in which he takes a deep interest. People who know Oskar best predict that he will be heard from in any future war Germany may have. He will be twenty-six years old in July, while his bride is just a half year older. She enjoys the double distinction not only of having been born in the year when the emperor ascended the throne, but on his birthday, January 27.

The recent high prices for skunk skins have led to a discussion of the subject of skunk raising on a commercial basis. Although some breeders have encountered difficulties, on the whole there are good reasons for believing that it is profitable. Skunks are less than other members of the family to which the more important small fur bearers belong and their diet permits a good deal in feeding, whereas the marten and the mink require a diet almost exclusively of meat. The problem of providing pens for rearing them is also less complicated in the case of the skunk.

An enclosure for skunks should occupy a well-drained sandy hillside, partly shaded by trees and partly open and covered with grasses. An acre will afford room for about fifty adult skunks. A three-foot fence made of poultry netting and having an overhanging barrier at the top, is sufficient to confine the animals. The wire should be of No. 15 gauge and the netting 1-inch mesh. This low fence, however, is not sufficient to keep out dogs unless the overhang is very large and extends on both sides. Many breeders prefer a tight fence of boards or sheet iron, or even a stone wall. The fence should penetrate the ground to a depth of two or three feet to prevent the skunks from digging under it.

Besides the general enclosure, a separate breeding pen for each female should be provided. Cheap boxes with wooden floors will serve every purpose, but they must be dry inside. Contact with the soil improves the fur, but dampness must be guarded against. Meat, insects, bread, cooked and even raw vegetables and ripe fruits are included in the great variety of foods which skunks will eat. Table scraps will keep the animals in good condition, and the food for a large skunk ranch may often be procured from hotels when usually it will cost nothing but the labor of removing it. Especially to be recommended are cakes and nuts made of corn meal and bits of marsh fresh milk, cooked green corn and honey. Little more than the amount of food required for a rat will supply the wants of a skunk.

While skunks usually breed but once a year in captivity, occasionally a being defiled. Skunks are neither suspicious nor cunning and are easily trapped. In capturing the wild skunk for its fur trapping is a better method than shooting. For shooting the value of the fur and generally results in the being defiled. SKUNK SKINS SOLD AS ALASKA SABLE

Are Popular in Europe—Government Bulletin Tells How to Raise the Animals.

Washington, June 17.—The skunk brings annually to the trappers of the United States about $3,000,000. It stands second in importance only to the muskrat among fur-bearing animals. The value of a skunk skin in the raw fur market averaged from about 35 cents to $2.50 in 1913, and usually runs higher. Although this fur is not very popular in America, Europeans favor it because it wears well, and has a luster which makes it rival the Russian sable in appearance. These facts are emphasized in a new farmers' bulletin (No. 587), now being sent out by the United States department of agriculture, which may be had free on application by those who are interested in the "Economic Value of North American Skunks."

Thirteen states now protect the skunk by game laws in New York, because of the economic value of these creatures to agriculture, as well as to commerce, will, no doubt, result in protective measures in other localities. The earliest legislation for the protection of these little animals grew out of appeals from fox growers in New York, because of their value in killing the fox horser, This was in 1833, and since then laws have been passed for their protection in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, Kansas and North Carolina. The closed season for the skunk varies in the different states, but in the opinion of the author of this bulletin it should be extended to at least nine months in every case, for at present there is a scarcity of fur animals, and the increased demand for furs has put a higher premium on its skin. Unless given more adequate protection, it can not long survive a predatory skunk should always be reserved.

London is a great market for American skunk skins. In 1868 over 18,000 skins of this animal were exported. In 1911 over 2,000,000. Although only a small percentage of our skins are now dressed and made up here, we have received in years past a number of them back after they have been made up abroad, and many American ladies would soon wear a skunk skin had been proud of their imported "black marten" or "Alaska sable" which was merely the American skunk fur more attractively labeled.

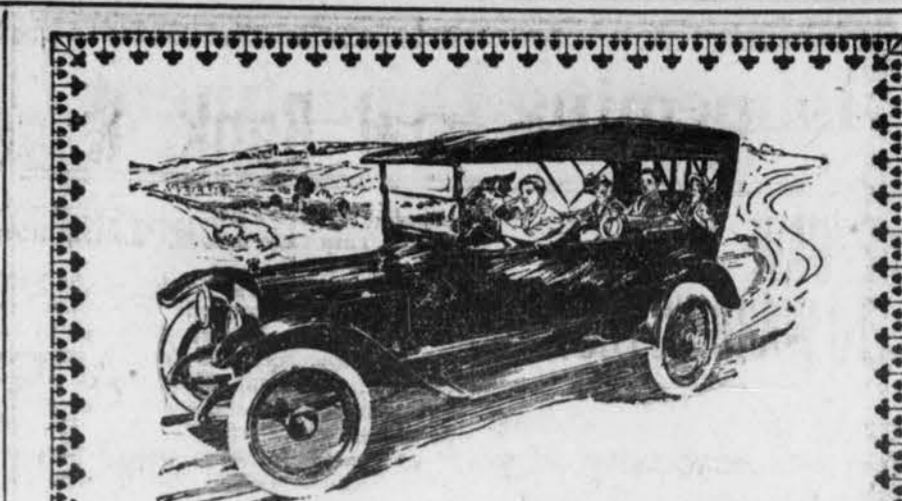

The recent high prices for skunk skins have led to a discussion of the subject of skunk raising on a commercial basis. Although some breeders have encountered difficulties, on the whole there are good reasons for believing that it is profitable. Skunks are less than other members of the family to which the more important small fur bearers belong and their diet permits a good deal in feeding, whereas the marten and the mink require a diet almost exclusively of meat. Lozier After Five—Ten—Years a Lozier Is Still—a Lozier Your experience teaches you that after two or three seasons's use the average car is an old car. Any Lozier owner will tell you that after five years—yes, ten years—and that is as long as Loziers have been making motor cars, a Lozier is still a Lozier. Which is another way of saying that Loziers stay good. No matter how severe the service nor how long continued a Lozier is so made that it retains its full power, its sweetness and its silence. And Loziers "stay good" in appearance and in style as well as in mechanical excellence. No matter how old a Lozier may be it is never out of style—like old lace or good old furniture, Loziers take on with age a richness that puts to shame the brand new coats of paint and varnish of cars—lesser quality than Loziers. Loziers stay good.

UNPUBLISHED STAGE STORIES. The Earnings of the Average Actor Are Not to Be Envid.

Stories of rich financial returns in the profession of acting, such items as that one which puts at $3,000 the weekly consolation of William Faversham for his excursion from Shakespeare into vaudeville, are always good reading, but they tend to make us forget that army of lesser players and the lesser rewards in the ranks. A huge amount is paid in salaries by managers each year, says a writer in the Theater Magazine for April, but it goes into many hands and our friends, the commoners of the stage, get precious little of it.

About 6,000 actors register their addresses in New York city; there must be another small army in Chicago, and many hundreds in stock companies scattered over the country. Of musical comedy and dramatic or comedy companies there were about 320 on the road about Christmas time. A hundred dollars for a week's work is a hard figure to get, but many good looking people of ability get it fairly easily. People who depend not upon good looks but ability to act find it a very difficult figure to obtain. There are a number of people who can ask for $150, but very few who can expect to make $200 a week. Among the commoners of the stage anything over $100 a week is exceptional. Perhaps you are a man of ability in some other profession and have, after ten years, toiled up to $2,000 or so. Your eye glances with yellow as I speak casually of $100 a week, eh? But you are thinking of $5,200 a year, while I am not. Actors and actresses think haven't they get an average of thirty weeks' paid work in a year at $100 a week—$3,000 is the result.

The salary is often given in parts which require expensive modern clothes. So deduct $200 from that, $400 would be nearer, but some of the clothes would be useful in everyday life. Any other expenses? Many! The week preceding Holy week, and that preceding Christmas, you will only find half salary in your pay envelope—deduct $100. There is at least one railway sleeper only a week to pay for on the road, and if you get $100 a week you will be expected to use parlor cars for day travel and to pay for them, and very often you will have to buy your meals on the train at expensive rates. I remember in the Blank company, toward the end of the season, some of the members ceased using the parlor car and a notice to the following effect was posted on the call board:

"Those members of the company whose position makes it appropriate are urged to use the parlor car. It would be regrettable if laxity in this respect should lower the style of traveling which has always been maintained by this organization." Deduct at least $100 for all this! As "no play, no pay" is the rule, you must keep in the pink of condition; an audience won't laugh at your little jokes unless you feel like laughing with them. A man who is out of sorts may be able by dint of struggling to lift a heavy weight on to a table, because it does not matter how he does it. But how to act the part means success or failure to the actor whose value, like that of a burglar, is judged by each fresh case he undertakes, only in the case of the actor he is freshly judged each night. No cheap hotels, then; had cooking is a bad investment. There only remains $2,000 of $3,000. This has to be spread over twelve months, and for eight months of that time it has to deal with expensive hotel life and the incidentals of traveling. Besides, don't forget that $100 is a difficult salary to get. Seventy-five dollars is a very good salary, and that will produce only about $2,250 a year without deduction. A $60 salary is a fat concern—$1,800 a year without deduction. Fifty dollars is a common salary for many an experienced, able New York actor who is in the support of a star. This means $1,500 a year without deduction—that is, roughly, $20 a week for living, clothes, traveling expenses, makeup and the multitudinous things that pocket money is supposed to cover. God grant you haven't any debts! I refuse to say anything regarding the poor devil who gets only $20, $25 or even less for fear I should get a nightmarer.

ONE DRINK AT A TIME. The article which recently published about a well-known London public house called "Dirty Dick's" where it was the rule that only one drink could be served to customers at a single visit, brings to mind another licensed house in the city where not only is a similar rule enforced, but where smoking is strictly prohibited. The proprietors of this licensed house, which is in Artillery lane, Bishopgate, frankly state that they reserve to themselves the right to conduct their business upon any system they may deem expedient, and they cannot permit their rules to be broken on any account with impunity. Furthermore, they "respectfully request all persons objecting to the regulations, and who are not willing to act in strict conformity therewith, to kindly transfer their patronage to some other establishment."

For upward of sixty years they have adopted, with others, the following three rules: "No person or party of persons can be served, under any circumstances, more than once, the rule being that he, she or they (as the case may be) must have left the house at least half an hour before either is entitled to be served again. "The quantity served upon any occasion, for consumption on the premises, not to exceed one gill of wine, half a gill of spirits, or one glass of malt liquor, for each person. "Smoking is strictly prohibited at all times and under all circumstances."—London Tit Bits.

HAVE FINE CAMP.

Victor Carlson has completed the erection of a five-room camp for the Gwinn club at Bass Lake, four miles south of Gwinn. It is said to be one of the finest in the Gwinn district and will be fully equipped. There are two sleeping apartments, a large dining room, a kitchen and a store room. A twelve-foot veranda surrounds the building and all of the rooms have hardwood floors.

The camp is situated on a point which extends 100 yards into the lake, and is one of the prettiest spots in the vicinity. The lake abounds with game fish of all kinds and has nice sandy beaches for swimming and bathing. Two rowboats and a canoe will be part of the equipment. Parties of boys and girls who are members of the club will be taken to the camp on outings under the supervision of Miss Gertrude Tucker and Martin Sather.

verest penalties were imposed for touching the "grail" with a touchstone or any other object.

It was the popular belief that the vessel was not made by the hand of man, but that Christ himself had fashioned it miraculously out of common clay on the day of the Supper. Others, however, maintained the view that its origin dated back to the times of the Queen of Sheba, who, it was asserted, presented it as the most precious gift among all her treasures to King Solomon in Jerusalem, by whom it was used in the ceremony of the paschal lamb.

However much opinion differed as regards the origin and composition of the relic, there was no divergence on the point that the "grail" was the most prized possession of the mighty republic, nay, the greatest treasure in all Christendom. Skeptics did not dare to raise their voices until the eighteenth century when some French visitors, on close inspection, claimed to have discovered air bubbles in the glassy substance of which the lacin was made.

Napoleon did not overlook the Grail of Genoa. He ordered it to be conveyed to the Cabinet of Antiquities of the National Library in Paris. A special committee was then appointed of members of the French Institute of Sciences, and they, after prolonged examination, declared the vessel to consist of mere colored glass of very little intrinsic value.

When Napoleon's spoils, after his final defeat, were returned again to their rightful owners the grail was in 1815 restored to its shrine in the Cathedral of Genoa, but much of its mystic atmosphere had vanished, never to return.

MINING MEN MORE HOPEFUL

Orders for One Week This Month Exceeded Total for May at Steel Plants.

The mining men are beginning to feel somewhat encouraged at the outlook in the steel market. The manufacturers in the Chicago district are commenting upon a decidedly better feeling and last week there was a considerable revival in the iron and steel industry.

It is said that the car orders for the past week exceeded the total in May, and the manufacturers are feeling greatly encouraged. The railroads have bought little or nothing in the steel line for several months, and it is expected that if the increase that will tax the capacity of the plants. The works of the American Steel Foundries company at Sharon, Pa., are reported to be operating at capacity, with every prospect of continuing on that basis, as a good volume of orders has been booked recently.

The new orders received by the United States Steel corporation are estimated to be running at a basis of 25,000 tons a day, or about 7,000 tons better than the low point reached a short time ago. Recent reports from Pittsburgh are that the inquiry has now so broadened in many lines that there is now a disposition to contract for a third quarter for prompt shipment at the present low prices.

The bookings of the Steel corporation have increased to such an extent that they are now estimated to be equal to shipments, as compared with the decreases that have been shown regularly since early in the year.

NEGAUNEE BATSMEN WERE DISAPPOINTED

Their Average Suffered as Result of Strong Game Pitched by Gardner.

The standings of several of the Negaunee players who had high batting averages slumped as a result of Saturday's game with Escanaba, when Gardner held the team to four hits, though some of them brought their percentages up again Sunday, when the team gleefully twelve bingles off of "Buck" Nolden, the former "big leaguer."

Yalmer Heinonen, who has been several points behind Sam Ford in the percentage column, went ahead as a result of Sunday's game, he having gathered four hits out of five trips to the plate. Ford got three hits in two games in nine times at bat. Holman came up from behind with four hits in two games, and went into third place, ahead of White, who was only able to connect safely once in the two games.

Negaunee has a valuable asset in Monte Murso, the south paw pitcher who held Escanaba down to four hits Saturday. Murso has good control, plenty of speed, uses good judgment and is a good hitter. Himmer Leaf, who lost his first game Sunday, is considered a marvel in the pitching line. Since the opening of the league season here he has already had several good offers to pitch for outside teams. Orlando Swick, who is this season with the Cadillac team of the Michigan State league, wanted Leaf to go to Cadillac with him for a tryout. Eddie Muro's, of this city, who was given a tryout by the Cadillac nine, has been released, and is now pitching for the Petoskey City team, and is making good. Saul Benyas, a former Negaunee boy, is playing an infield position for Petoskey.

The Negaunee team will meet the Ishpeming nine in a league game at the Union Park tomorrow.

The league standings and batting averages of the Negaunee team follow:

CORN IN THE PHILIPPINES.

A concerted effort, backed by the government of the Philippines, is being made to substitute corn for rice as an article of diet among the people of the islands, the bureau of education being engaged in a campaign of teaching the people how to grow and use this cereal.

As a result, during the last two years, there has been a marked increase in the production of corn and in the use of implements and machinery necessary to prepare it for food. In 1912, the corn crop of the islands amounted to approximately 8,000,000 bushels, having a total value of $6,500,000; in 1913 the crop was estimated at 15,000,000 bushels, with a value of $12,900,000. The bureau of education, as a part of its propaganda, established demonstration stations in nearly every community throughout the archipelago, giving practical instruction in every step in preparing corn for the table, including instruction in cooking and preparing a large number of dishes made from corn.

Wash Day Is Joy Day With "SKITCH"

"SKITCH" Sends Washboards to the Scrap Heap—"SKITCH" Saves the Backache of Rubbing—"SKITCH" Keeps Your Hands Out of Hot Suds—"SKITCH" Is a God-send on Wash Day.

Praises be for SKITCH! It's a perfect wonder. Throw your washboards away, women! Don't break your back rubbing clothes, or don't let your washboard break your poor back rubbing, for SKITCH cleans clothes better, than rubbing can do it, and makes your clothes last longer and look nicer.

SKITCH is a marvel! Try it right away and see what SKITCH does. Three teaspoons of SKITCH to a boilerful of clothes and the dirt is just skitched right out of the dirtiest garments while you sit and rest or do up your housework.

You never heard of anything so fine as that. There is nothing else like SKITCH—nothing like it was ever thought of before. SKITCH can't hurt the finest fabric—you could even eat it and it wouldn't hurt you.

Get a 10c package of SKITCH of your grocer today and see the joyful, happy wonder of it. Enough for seven washings in a 10-cent package of SKITCH—costs just a little over a cent to save a day's back breaking, rubbing and a day's misery of keeping your hands in hot suds, less than the soap used in rubbing would cost.

If your grocer doesn't have SKITCH, he can get it for you from his jobber. If he won't, write to me—send me his name and I'll send you a big free sample. Hans Fichtenberg, Milwaukee, Wis.

TREE PLANTING IN ADIRONDACKS.

Richard J. Donovan, a lawyer of New York city, has begun the planting of 100,000 more pine trees in Pine Park, in the Adirondacks. He planted 150,000 three years ago and 115,000 last year. Ninety-five per cent of the trees heretofore planted are now thriving.

"Conditions in the Adirondacks are ideal for tree planting, especially for pine and spruce and other conifers," he says. "The cost per acre will vary from $2 to $7, depending upon the age of the trees, how far apart they are to be planted, soil conditions and the efficiency of the tree planters."

FIGURES SHOW BIG REDUCTION

Total Assessment Valuation of County, as Equalized by Supervisors Yesterday, Is Off Approximately $4,600,000, Compared With the Figures Last Year.

Lower Aggregate of Assessments Is Due Largely to the Decreases in Mine Valuations Authorized During the Past Few Weeks by the State Tax Commission.

In preparation for the meeting of the state board of equalization on Aug. 17 the board of supervisors for Marquette county met here yesterday and equalized the several assessment rolls of the townships and cities, as a basis for the distribution of the 1914 taxes.

Because of the reductions authorized in the valuations of the mines and the North Marquette furnace of the Pioneer Iron company within the past few weeks, the total of the rolls, as equalized, falls something like $4,600,000 below the similar total last year.

The work of the board yesterday was hampered by the failure of the officials of Powell township to appear with their roll. The board, however, proceeded with the consideration of the other figures before it.

The principal decrease in the equalized valuations are noted in the cities of Negaunee and Ishpeming and a few of the mining townships. The figures for the non-mining townships are approximately the same as they were last year, as the tax commission authorized no reductions in their case.

Table with 4 columns: City or Township, Real Estate as Assessed, Personal Property as Assessed, Total Valuation as Assessed. Lists various townships and their assessed values.

Session Important. The forthcoming session of the state board of equalization is one of great importance, particularly for those counties like Marquette, that have been revalued by the state tax commission since the last state equalization was made.

Grocers and meat dealers to the number of twenty-four, along with six other merchants of the city, expressed their favor of the central delivery plan at a meeting in the city hall last evening. They voted unanimously for the adoption of the plan.

Figures submitted by Secretary Daley of the Commercial club last night show that the lowest figure for delivery service is not less than $100 a month, and one of the dealers was paying nearly $200. It was figured that by the use of the central delivery a saving of at least 40 per cent. could be made.

COMPANY HAS MADE DEFAULT

Municipal Commission Authorizes the Mayor to Make Further Demand of the Street Railway for Money Due City for Various Street Improvements Since 1914

In Case Company Refuses to Pay, Commissioners Will Amend the Railway's Franchise, Making the Amount Due a First Lien on the Corporation's Property.

The municipal commission last evening authorized the mayor to make further demand upon the Marquette City & Presque Isle Railway company for the payment of $3,250,226, the cost of street improvements assessed against it. The ordinance granting the company a franchise specifically states that the company shall bear the expense of paving and macadamizing such portions of the streets as are occupied by its tracks and other equipment.

Resolution Adopted. The resolution is as follows: "Whereas, The Marquette City & Presque Isle Railway company has heretofore operated a street railway system in this city under an ordinance granting a franchise therefor, under which ordinance the right to operate such street railway is conditioned upon compliance by the company operating the same with the terms of such franchise; and

"Whereas, Among such terms is the condition that such company shall bear and pay the expense of the paving and macadamizing of so much of such portions of streets or sections of streets in width as shall be actually occupied by any of the tracks or switches or turn-outs, including the ties or other underground structures of such street railway, and shall keep the space between the rails of its track in good repair at all times; and shall remove ice and snow from the streets when made necessary by reason of the plowing or shoveling out of the lines of track of the road of said company, in default of which the city may remove the same in which case the company shall bear and pay the expense thereof on demand; and

"Resolved, That the mayor is hereby authorized and directed to make further demand upon said company, and upon the receivers of its property, of payment to the city of all said sums and amount of money; and in case of failure to pay the same or any part thereof, the city attorney is hereby directed to prepare and submit to the commission an ordinance amending said franchise so as to make the payment of the same, and like charges in future, a first lien on all the street railway company's property and for the removal of said ordinance in case of non-compliance with the terms thereof in respect to the matters aforesaid."

Will Protect the Boulevard. Acting upon the suggestions of Major E. D. Peck, of Duluth, the commission last night authorized the employment of a competent engineer to map out a plan for protecting Lakeshore boulevard, which is fast being destroyed by wave action. The greater part of the damage done has been along that stretch from Ridge street to the point where the boulevard joins with the Pine street driveway. It will be necessary to fill in the stretch between the shore and the first of the Picnic rocks. This part was washed out last fall by the storms.

Olaf Johnson, of Fisher Street, Struck by Bucket at Spear's Dock.

While at work in the hold of the steamer Andaste, which has been unloading a cargo of coal at Spear's coal dock the past few days, Olaf Johnson, of Fisher street, was struck by the bucket as it was being lowered and one of his legs was pinned to the sidewall of the hold. He suffered a compound fracture of the leg. The bucket is a heavy piece of machinery, and would ordinarily crush a man. The accident occurred shortly after noon.

Mr. Johnson was taken to St. Luke's hospital in an ambulance, and it was learned that his injuries are serious. He will be confined to the hospital for several weeks. He is a single man. His work was to guide the bucket in the hold, shifting it from place to place.
