DACIA'S COTTON TO BE INSURED BY GOVERNMENT

Federal War Risk Bureau Has Decided to Issue a Policy for the Cargo of E. N. Breitung's Boat, But the Ship, Itself, Will Not Be Written, It Is Indicated

State Department Gives Notice That Trip to Germany Will Be at Vessel Owner's Risk—Officials Are Convinced Now of the Genuineness of Purchase

Washington, Jan. 20.—After conferences between Director de Lancy, of the federal war risk bureau, and Secretary McAuliffe, it was virtually decided tonight to issue a war risk insurance policy on the cargo of cotton which the steamship Dacia will undertake to carry from Texas to German ports in the face of warnings that the British government will regard the ship as a fair prize for its fleet. It was indicated that no policy will be written on the ship, although the owners are understood to have sought insurance on the vessel in addition to that already carried in private companies.

Officials of the treasury were still at work tonight compiling documentary proof that the transfer of the Dacia from the Hamburg-American line to Edward N. Breitung was bona fide.

It is not understood that the state department had advised the owners of the Dacia to make the proposed voyage. The government has simply communicated to the owners the unfavorable attitude of Great Britain, leaving them to take the responsibility, if they disregard the British warning. Meantime the officials reiterate their belief that the ship will have a good case before a prize court. The department has been convinced of the genuineness of the purchase.

HAULED DOWN AMERICAN FLAG?

Another shipping case in which interest centers just now is that of the American cotton laden steamer Greenbriar, which was taken into port by a British cruiser and detained three days. The United States has asked Great Britain for an explanation, particularly of the Greenbriar's captain's complaint that the American flag on his vessel was hauled down and replaced by the British ensign.

ANTI-ALIEN LAND BILL PASSES IDAHO HOUSE

Measure Sent to Senate—California May Make Law More Stringent.

Boise, Idaho, Jan. 20.—An anti-alien land ownership bill was passed by the house of representatives of the Idaho legislature today. There were only two votes against the bill. The bill prevents the acquisition of land in the state by alien persons, except by the enforcement of liens or through inheritance. In such cases it is provided that the land so acquired must be disposed of within five years or be forfeited to the state. The bill makes no mention of race or nationality. It provides that land may be acquired by aliens after first citizenship papers have been taken out. The measure now goes to the senate.

WOULD STRIKE OUT CLAUSE.

Sacramento, Calif., Jan. 20.—A bill to strike the leasing clause out of the alien land act passed by the California legislature of 1913 will be introduced in the legislature within two or three days, according to Paul Scharronberg, legislative agent for the California state federation of labor. Under the present law, aliens ineligible to citizenship may not own land, but may lease it for a period not to exceed three years.

TWENTY-TWO DEPUTIES HELD FOR CONNECTION WITH DEATH OF STRIKER

Roosevelt, N. J., Jan. 20.—With twenty-two deputies sheriff named as defendants in a blanket warrant charging manslaughter, investigations were under way tonight by the federal commission on industrial relations and the prosecutor of Middlesex county into the shooting here yesterday of nineteen striking employees of the American Agricultural Chemical company. One man died of his wounds, and several others of the strikers were in a serious condition tonight. Twenty of the accused deputies pleaded not guilty when they were arraigned late today, and were released on bail. They were sent back to guard the company's property tonight.

BURIAL OF DEAD IN AISNE VALLEY REQUIRES DAYS

After Four Days of Ceaseless Work by 4,000 Members of the Landstrum Soissons Battlefield Remained Strewn With Bodies of French and German Soldiers

Struggle in Which Allies Were Defeated Surpassed Bloodiest Battles of Civil or Franco-Prussian Wars, But Is Only An Incident in Present Conflict

Before Soissons, Jan. 18, by Courier to Berlin, Jan. 20, via London, Jan. 21, 3:35 a. m.—At the headquarters of a certain German army yesterday evening General von Kluck and his staff celebrated the battle and their success at Soissons in typical German military fashion, with a simple soldier's meal, a bowl of punch, brewed by the expert hands of von Kluck, himself, a graceful little speech by the general and a silent toast to the dead—both French and German.

The earth was still dropping on the graves of the fallen. So many men perished during the eight days of the bitter struggle for the heights across the river from Soissons that today, the fourth after the close of the battle, the plateau and gorges are still strewn thickly with dead, although 4,000 members of the landstrum have been engaged without a pause in clearing up the battlefield.

THOUSANDS STILL UNBURIED.

Most of the German dead have been given to the earth, but some French infantrymen in their far-to-be-seen red and blue uniforms, swarthy faced Turcos, colonials, Alpine riflemen and bearded territorialists still are sprawling in attitudes along the heights, in the deep cut gorges of the plateau and across the flat valley bed on the north shore of the Aisne.

The battle of Soissons, so-called in default of a better name, although it really was fought across the river from that city, in the number of men engaged and the extent of the losses would rank with Bull Run and Antietam in the American Civil war, or with Woerth in the Franco-Prussian war; but in this war it passes as an incident with the campaign worthy only of passing mention in the official reports.

No newspaper description of the battle has been written from the German side. The Associated Press representative was the first, and up to the present, the only newspaperman to inspect the battlefield, and have opportunity to supplement the brief official reports with details gathered on the spot.

GERMAN SUCCESS IMPORTANT.

The results of the German success are regarded here as highly important. The French were expelled from the heights north of the Aisne, vantage ground from which they had hoped to launch a successful attack against the big elbow in the German line—and driven across the river which now runs brimful and at many places is overflowing its banks between the two armies.

The river retain a foothold north of the river only at one point—St. Paul—where the bridge from Soissons crosses and hold this apparently on suzerainty since the bridge head is completely commanded by German artillery on the heights.

The barrier at this time forms an effective river to any repetition of an attempted French offensive on this section of the line.

DETECTIVES CLAIM A "FORGERS' TURST" WAS WORKING IN U. S.

New York, Jan. 20.—The existence of a so-called forgers' trust, with extensive ramifications and many agents throughout the United States, was announced here today by a private detective agency employed by the American Bankers' association to investigate a flood of forgeries that have lately poured into New York banks. It was said that agents of the organization had been shadowed for weeks and that many arrests would be made throughout the country within the next forty-eight hours.

WOMAN WHO EXPIRES REPUTED TO OWN COW OF CHICAGO FIRE FAME

Escanaba, Mich., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Maggie O'Leary, who for forty years has lived alone in a little farmhouse near here, is dead. Her neighbors, who have never been able to overcome Mrs. O'Leary's reserve, believe she was the woman whose famous cow was credited with having caused the great Chicago fire of 1871. Mrs. O'Leary never would admit nor deny that she was the owner of the cow, nor would she ever talk about the great fire when possible to avoid it. In 1893 when officials from the world's fair came to urge her to attend the exposition, Mrs. O'Leary refused.

LABOR LEADERS JAILED; RESULT OF STRIKE RIOTS

Former Councilman and Two Candidates for Governor Get Prison Sentences.

Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 20.—Pleas of guilty entered today by seven of the twenty defendants in the criminal cases growing out of the rioting in the Prairie Creek coal mine district last July, ended in one day the trial in federal court which it was believed would consume several weeks. Immediately after the pleas were made at the opening of court attorneys for the government entered nolite proesses in the cases of the thirteen other defendants.

Those who pleaded guilty and the sentences imposed on them are: Peter R. Stewart, McAlester, Oklahoma, former president of the United Mine Workers of America of Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas districts, fined $1,000; James B. McNamara, former councilman of Hartford, two years in the penitentiary and fined $1,000; James Shankard, former constable of Hartford, and Fred W. Holi, recent candidates for governor of Oklahoma, six months in jail and fined $1,000; Clint Burris, Sandy Robinson and John Manick, miners, six months in jail and fined $500 each.

All of the men were charged with conspiracy against the government, the cases being based upon violation of an injunction intended to prevent interference with the operation of mines of the Bache-Denman Coal company.

ANTI-TRUST SUIT BEGUN BY FEDERALS OPENS AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Jan. 20.—The powers that control organized baseball, or at least are said to control it, were described as oppressors of minor leagues and ball players by Keene Addington, chief of counsel for the Federal league, in his opening address today in the anti-trust suit, heard by Federal Judge Landis, against the national commission, the American league and the National league. Addington cited features of the national agreement, decisions of the national commission and general practices of baseball authorities to show that the game is governed by a group having almost absolute power, with authority to make laws, judge of infractions of the laws, and impose penalties for infractions.

Addington had not finished his opening address when court adjourned tonight, and it was declared the case probably would last well into next week. The first session attracted a large number of baseball followers, and, though the arguments, involving much legal matter, had no thrills for them, they were recompensed partly by close views of celebrities. Among the latter were the presidents of both big leagues, the chairman of the national commission, the leaders of the federals, and a score or more of magnates and players of note.

SAYS EUGENICS LAW MAKES LOVERS WED IN ANOTHER STATE

Salem, Ore., Jan. 20.—Fourteen hundred and fifty-six Portland, Ore., men left the state when they wanted to get married last year, rather than submit to a medical examination provided by a law enacted by the last legislature. County Clerk John L. Coffey appealed to the present legislature today to abolish the law.

"When a man wants to marry he isn't going to chase around to get the consent of some doctor," Coffey explained in supporting an abolishing bill. "He merely arranges to meet his bride-to-be in some other state. This is true of the physically perfect as well as the unfit."

EARTHQUAKE IN SPAIN KILLS TWENTY PERSONS

London, Jan. 21, 4:14 a. m.—A Madrid dispatch to the Express says that owing to lack of communication the news has just been received of an earthquake on Jan. 2 which did great damage in eighteen villages in the region of Asturias, northern Spain. In one village a score of persons were killed.

MRS. ROBERT FITZSIMMONS DIVORCES EX-CHAMPION.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Julia Fitzsimmons today obtained a divorce from Robert Fitzsimmons, formerly world's champion heavyweigh pugilist. She charged that her husband was cruel to her and named several specific cases of alleged physical abuse.

SUFFRAGE BILL INTRODUCED IN MISSOURI LEGISLATURE.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 20.—A constitutional amendment granting the ballot to women was introduced in both houses of the Missouri legislature today.

German Bombs Damage Eight British Towns. Stern Resistance Expected to French Advance. Russian Progress in East Admittedly Slow.

FOUR KILLED IN AERIAL RAID OVER ENGLAND

TEN PERSONS INJURED BY BOMBS DROPPED BY GERMAN AVIATORS.

PROPERTY DAMAGE HEAVY

YARMOUTH AND KING'S LYNN GREATEST SUFFERERS OF ATTACK.

EIGHT TOWNS VISITED

IT IS NOT YET KNOWN IF AIRCRAFT WERE ZEPPELINS OR PLANES.

London, Jan. 20, 10:10 p. m.—The German airships—for they are thus described by the German official report—visited a four hours' visit to the coast towns of Norfolk last night, dropping twenty or more bombs. The raiders' missiles killed four persons, injured ten or more others and did considerable damage to property. The report that a fifth person, a soldier, had been killed, proved incorrect.

Yarmouth and Kings Lynn, the largest towns visited, suffered the heaviest damage. Eight bombs were dropped in the former town, one of them killing an old man and an old woman, injuring three other persons, and smashing every window within a radius of several hundred yards. In Kings Lynn a woman and boy were killed by bombs which demolished a row of cottages.

The aircraft also visited Cromer, which, however, was not attacked; Sharnham, where four bombs were dropped; Beringham, Griston, Snettisham and Heacham, each of which received one missile. Snettisham and Heacham are within three miles of the king's Sandringham residence. Near the former place, where the windows of the village church were shattered, Queen Mother Alexandra has a summer bungalow.

'PLANES OR ZEPPELINS?'

What composed the raiding fleet is still a matter of discussion. Major Astley, who commands the national reserve at Kings Lynn, says that as the result of information received by him he will report officially that one of the latest Zeppelin dirigibles took part. Some persons declared they saw huge airships; but others assert only aeroplanes and seaplanes participated. Aeronautical experts are of the opinion, from the size of the bombs dropped—weighing from sixty to one hundred pounds each—that airships of the small non-rigid Parseval type were employed, and as the German official account refers to "airships" it is presumed these were the craft used. They can be built more quickly than Zeppelins, but are slower and carry less ammunition.

WERE PREPARED FOR ATTACK.

Whether by coincidence, or because the British and French authorities had knowledge of the enterprise, more stringent regulations as to lighting went into effect last night both in Paris and London. As a consequence of the raid the insurance rates against damage by aircraft were doubled today, and are now from fifty to sixty shillings per cent. A large business was done even at those high rates.

GERMANY'S STATEMENT.

Berlin, by Wireless to Sayville, L. I., Jan. 20.—The following official statement was issued here tonight:

"From Jan. 19 to 20 German airships bombarded the fortified place of Yarmouth and other places on the English east coast. The attack was successful. Considerable damage was done. The airships were shelled, but regained their home port undamaged."

QUESTIONS INDEMNITY PLEDGE.

London, Jan. 21, 2:57 a. m.—The Morning Post, discussing the air raid on the east coast of England questions the wisdom of the recent announcement by the government of its intention to indemnify residents for loss of property, pointing out that the Germans may take advantage by sporadic attacks to drain the government resources.

"Such a pledge, if it amounts to a

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The Russians report repulses of German attacks north of Rawa and on the Brura river, and assert they defeated the Germans with heavy losses near Radloff, western Galicia. They have made advances also in Bukovina. The French official statement announces the recapture by the French of one of the trenches taken the day previously by the Germans north of Notre Dame de Lorette.

From the battle front word comes that so many men perished during the eight days' struggle for the heights across the river from Soissons that four days after the close of the battle the dead lay in heaps, although thousands of men had been engaged without cessation in clearing the field.

pledge," says the Post, "encourages the enemy to proceed with its destruction in the hope of crippling our government financially. The damage done to a country by an enemy is not properly a liability of the government of that country. If the French government had pledged itself to make good the loss sustained by the people in the present war, it might already be bankrupt."

Republican senators are arming for a protracted fight. Senators Weeks, Lodge and Jones today brought to their desks piles of books and documents and remained on guard ready to take up the debate when Senator Burton tired. Others who are preparing to talk are Senators Root, Sutherland, Smoot, Brandegee, Gallinger and Nelson.

Senator Burton talked for more than six hours continuously on the third day of his speech, stopping only to drink two raw eggs. Although aided frequently by prolonged questions the Ohio senator was showing distinct signs of exhaustion when he finally gave way to Senator Weeks.

SCHIFF AND BELMONT DISCUSS LABOR UNREST

Testify at Probe of Foundations by Industrial Relations Commission.

New York, Jan. 20.—Jacob Schiff, banker, and representative in this country of the Baron de Hirsch foundation, and August Belmont, director in many public service corporations, including the Interborough Rapid Transit company, which operates the subway and elevated railroads of New York, both testified today before the inquiry being conducted by the federal commission on industrial relations into the administration of the great philanthropic foundations and the cause of industrial unrest. Both witnesses asserted that the boards of directors with which they were associated paid no attention to labor conditions until trouble seemed imminent.

Mr. Belmont said he did not believe an industrial council, similar to that in England could be successfully operated in this country because of politics. He gave it as his opinion that politics apparently had played a part in the administration of the Erdman and Newlands acts, the objects of which were the settlement of labor disputes. Mr. Belmont was in favor of the enactment of a public inquiry act providing that strikes could not be called, or workers locked out, at least until an investigation of the conditions had been made.

Mr. Belmont said it was his opinion that if the employe regarded employment as a contract between himself and his employer, much would have been accomplished. Personally, the witness was in sympathy with well-administered labor unions, and he cited as a model of efficiency the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The Interborough Rapid Transit company, as such, will not treat with labor unions, the witness declared, as on one occasion a union had violated its contract with the company.

Mr. Schiff said he "would rather think" that industrial unrest was on the decrease and that he believed governmental representation on the boards governing the foundations was inadvisable, as politics might thereby be injected into their management.

SECY. REDFIELD SCORES DELAYS TO COMMERCE IN KENTUCKY ADDRESS

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 20.—"If the facts were fully known, public opinion would insist upon drastic action which would prevent recurrence of the arbitrary series of hold-ups and exactions of which our foreign commerce is today too much the unwilling victim," declared William C. Redfield, secretary of commerce, in an address tonight before the Louisville Transportation club, referring to the lack of a merchant marine.

"It is shocking at this time, when the door of opportunity opens so widely before us," Mr. Redfield said, discussing the question of European markets, to have our ocean shipping facilities, on which the free movement of our foreign commerce depends, so fully in the hands of aliens who do not hesitate to exact their pound of flesh.

"The cynical disregard that foreign steamship companies show for their contracts and for the interests of American commerce at large is such as to make the attitude of a robber baron look respectable. Wonderful as is the growth of our foreign commerce in these recent months, every shipper in the field knows it is but a small part of that which it would be if our commerce were not being throttled at its source by the exactions of foreign-owned steamship companies."

SENATOR BURTON ENDS A THREE DAYS' SPEECH; AGAINST U. S. SHIP BILL

Washington, Jan. 20.—After three days of continuous assault on the government ship purchase bill Senator Burton of Ohio late today yielded the floor in the senate to Senator Weeks, of Massachusetts, who continued the fight. In the meantime Democratic leaders, who regard the Republican opposition as an open filibuster, determined to keep the measure constantly before the senate.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 20.—Judge W. J. Stuart, of the superior court here, died suddenly at his home here this afternoon, after an acute attack of heart disease. He was seventy years old. Judge Stuart had been prominent in political and business affairs of the city for many years, having served as mayor and prosecuting attorney prior to his election to the judgeship.

NEW OFFENSIVE EXPECTED SOON FROM GERMANS

HEAVY ATTACK PREDICTED TO STOP FRENCH ADVANCE ON METZ.

ALLIES CLAIM PROGRESS

BATTLES BOTH EAST AND WEST CONFINED LARGE- LY TO ARTILLERY.

RUSSIAN ADVANCE SLOW

TURKISH ARMY SAID TO BE PREPARING FOR DEFENSE AGAINST INVASION.

London, Jan. 20, 10:10 p. m.—The battles both in the eastern and western theaters of war now consist largely of artillery engagements, with occasional attacks by the infantry.

The French today claim to have made further progress in the region of Pont-a-Mousson, to which military men attach much importance. It is predicted that the Germans will launch a heavy offensive, as they did with great success at Soissons, to put a stop to the French advance toward the roads leading to Metz. The Germans captured more trenches in the Argonne, but according to the French official report the trenches were retaken. The only other point of importance disclosed by the official statements is an intimation in the Berlin communication that the Germans have undertaken a counter offensive in Alsace.

GERMAN ATTACKS REPULSED.

In Poland and western Galicia the Germans and Austrians continue isolated attacks against the Russian line, which, according to the Russian report, have been repulsed with heavy losses to the attacking forces.

The Russians are advancing slowly through the mountains separating Bukovina and Transylvania and are approaching Dorna-Watra, a town of some importance near the Roumanian border.

As for the Turkish Caucasian army, it is believed it will not return to Erzerum, but will be put in readiness for defense against the Russians when they decide to advance. It is considered likely, however, that the Russians will be content for the present with the successes already gained in this region, and turn their attention to the Turkish forces in Azerbaijan before invading Turkey.

RUSSIAN PRINCESS ALLEGED TO RELATE INTERNAL TROUBLES

Berlin, by Wireless, to Sayville, L. I., Jan. 20.—A letter said to be written by a Russian princess, a relative of Emperor Nicholas, and published in the Munich Post, was given out in Berlin today by the Over-Sea News agency. The letter states that in Russian court circles it is estimated that the war losses of the Russians up to the end of November amounted to 500,000 men killed and 1,500,000 wounded, or incapacitated by illness. Many Russian aristocrats, the letter says, regard the war as a calamity for Russia, and certain relatives of the emperor, it is further stated, "are endeavoring to break the influence of the Russian commander-in-chief, Grand Duke Nicholas."

BELGIANS WOULD FINE THEIR WELL-TO-DO, WHO WON'T RETURN HOME

London, Jan. 21, 2:40 a. m.—Brussels dispatches to Reuter's Telegram company by way of Amsterdam say some of the Belgian municipalities have proposed to impose a special tax on well-to-do Belgians who refuse to return to their country. The German authorities, thinking favorably of the idea, propose to make the tax effective for all of Belgium. A fugitive who fails to return to Belgium by March 1 will be obliged to pay a ten-fold personal tax. The revenues will be divided equally between the Germans and the Belgians.

THE DACIA.

The most talked of ship afloat, the former Hamburg-American steamer Dacia, now owned by Mr. Breitung, will, according to the present outlook, be seized by British warships if she clears for a German port, with cotton. The British government suspects that the transfer to Mr. Breitung is not a bona fide transaction, evidently believing that Mr. Breitung is acting as an agent of the Hamburg-American company, or the German government. Inquiries have been made in this county the past few days as to whether Mr. Breitung was really born in Negamsee, as his biographical sketches set forth, the thought apparently having arisen that he may be a naturalized German.

On the other side of the question, it is asserted that the state department is fully satisfied that the purchase of the Dacia by Mr. Breitung was a bona fide transaction, and that he is entitled to the full support of the government, under accepted principles of international law, in his employment of the vessel in any legitimate manner.

The case has proved a particularly embarrassing one for the British government, as it views with great reluctance the further complication of the various questions concerning shipping already at issue between it and the United States. But evidently it has decided that its interests in the matter lie on the side of seizure of the Dacia, if she appears on the high seas laden with cotton consigned to a German port, and the determination of the various disputed points in one of the prize courts. The case will likely give rise to highly important diplomatic exchanges.

IN MEXICO.

Villa is a strong man, but Mexico is a large and faction riven country. Villa's title to supremacy in the military and civil government is challenged by other men, if not as strong as he, at least amply able to make him much trouble, and indefinitely put off the day of even that kind of peace that would come from the dominance of the most ruthless, as well as talented, military leader. Villa, it is now reported from Mexico City, plans to leave the capital, with his forces, to undertake a campaign against the rival leaders in the north, and we can readily believe that "such an eventuality would leave the Mexican situation more confused than it ever has been." Furthermore we may well lament the fact that the tempo of operations in Mexico is much more leisurely than it was when Villa and Carranza were associated in the effort to oust Huerta. The rival leaders are apparently of a mind with President Wilson that they are entitled to spill all the blood they please, and to take all the time they want doing it, in determining the kind of government they would have. Such operations as are in progress are being conducted in a tentative sort of a way, as if the several leaders were thoroughly enjoying them, and apparently we are as far as ever from a decision.

The administration will, it seems, have to wait watchfully all through 1915, and perhaps well into 1916, without seeing any constructive progress made with the restoration of order in Mexico, in which event the Mexican situation will likely be something of a factor in the next campaign. Meanwhile, if the powers were not at one another's throats we can feel very certain that it would have an international significance and that it would raise up questions the most important that our state department has had to meet in generations.

The administration is, in many respects, fortunate in the war. It perhaps saved the house of representatives for it. Certainly it has permitted its Mexican policy to be comparatively obscured, the condition in which it appears in the best light.

The legislature has before it an alien land ownership bill that would bar Japanese from acquiring title to land in Michigan. It recalls the story, current some months ago, that plans had been completed to establish a colony of Japanese in Alger county. It was related that the Japs would soon be on the way. They haven't arrived as yet, and opinion remains divided as to whether or not there was real foundation to the report that they were coming. In it, however, is found the basis of the pending measure in the legislature, which has the endorsement of the labor unions and will probably be urged for serious consideration.

How discouraging! General von Falkenhayn, German minister for war, says that Germany can fight on forever. In that event the allies, with their vastly superior resources, can fight on for eternity. Yet there continue to be those among us who profess to look for an early ending of the war.

The reports from Mexico remind of the once popular jig-saw puzzles. It is a difficult matter to fit them together and get a result that means anything.

HONORARY?

In counseling the Wayne county leaders to bury their differences and compose the dispute between the supporters of the rival Wayne candidates for regent of the university, Mr. Groesbeck is quoted as saying that, for his part, he believes these "honorary" offices should be passed around.

This does not appear to be a sound estimate of the matter, for the reason, principally, that the position of regent of the university cannot be properly said to be an honorary office. The regents are the board of control of one of the greatest educational institutions in the country. They are principally responsible for its business administration, and may, on occasions, have much to do with directing the general trend of its scholastic work. They are intimately in touch with its officials and faculty and much of the effectiveness of the university's great effort depends not only on their attention to the duties devolving upon them, but on their sympathy with the ambitions and ideals of the actual administrators of the institution and the breadth of their appreciation of the problems of higher education.

An office of which all these things can be said surely is not an "honorary" office, but is one that can be "passed around" only to the impairment of the vital interests of the university, and thus of the state.

The ideal policy would appear to be to retain, as long as they will serve, regents who have shown a sincere devotion to the interests of the university, constructive capacity and ability to work harmoniously with the other regents and the faculty. If the members of the board whose terms presently expire measure up to these specifications the obviously wise thing for the Republicans to do is to renominate them.

MONEY SAFEST HERE.

One of the features of stock exchange business in Berlin is the active trading in American securities. There is a good demand for the stocks and bonds of American railroads.

This is not a surprising effect of the war. Every day the vast struggle continues makes America look better than ever to European investors as a place for keeping at least a part of their money.

The contrast between the destruction going on in the Old World and the security and solid gains of the foremost country of the Western Hemisphere is sharp enough to turn the thoughts of European capitalists to the United States as a place where they can count upon safe, as well as profitable, use for their money.

It is the safest place in the world. Nowhere else can investments be so secure against internal trouble and foreign attack. There is no other country where the opportunities for growth are so great and the means of taking advantage of them so ample.

Senator Deland, of Jackson, is quoted as advising against any investigation into the affairs of Jackson prison. The senator is familiar with the various derogatory stories regarding this institution. They have their origin, generally speaking, with ex-convicts and some of them discharged, and ex-convicts and Senator Deland does not believe that they would stand up. Certainly it would be a serious mistake to overhaul Jackson prison affairs unless there was good reason to believe the results would make it worth while. An inquiry that ended nowhere would set back the institution appreciably. If more insight into Jackson prison affairs could be had from day to day there would be less demand for inquiry. Newspaper men are a unit in complaining about the difficulty they have gaining firsthand information about conditions within its walls. In the complaints they make there is a certain justice. Prisons should not be held apart from the outside world by imposing hard regulations. That part of the public that is well intentioned should be as free to come and go in them as in other institutions.

They are playing bad politics in Wayne. The ruction over the candidates for regent is reminding many Republicans out in the state that if the Wayne leaders hadn't got by the ears in the primary they would have been pretty certain to have elected a Republican governor last fall. A disposition is growing to say to the warring factions "a plague of both your houses." Wayne had better brace up and behave itself or it will see its influence in state affairs diminish perceptibly.

Business may be a little soft just now, but the plans of the automobile manufacturers are predicated on a certainty that they will sell more machines in 1915 than in any previous year.

That "a human being is not an article of commerce" will be one of the defenses offered by organized baseball in the suit against it under the anti-trust law. Yet the star of yesterday who is shunted back into the minors, with nothing to say about it, must feel like an article of commerce.

that it serves simply to keep body and soul together, without affording opportunity for happiness, those wages are too low for the community to allow them to be paid. Such a policy may "pay" in terms of money, but does not pay in terms of welfare.

It would not matter if the money cost of a given government operation were twice that for which a competitive contractor could perform the service—if the result were more misery than happiness in the work that result would not be worth achieving.

People like Postmaster General Burleson who have "practomania" are the kind of people who want to "develop our natural resources," "expand our commerce," "promote trade," and "like a dynamo" to consider that our natural resources, for instance, might better be left undeveloped than to develop them in a way to result in more misery than happiness.

In this case it means merely that Postmaster General Burleson proposes that all of us shall exploit some of us a little harder. None of us will ever have a life worth living, in terms of welfare, while "practomania" dominates our industrial and social affairs.—Lansing Journal.

THE VOICE OF EXPERIENCE.
 X. C. Goodwin, the actor, was lunching on a balmy December afternoon in a garden under a trellis of pink roses in Los Angeles.

"I am to be married next week," said a young moving-picture actor, with an uneasy laugh. "She's a dear girl, but I've been told that December is an unlucky month to marry in."

"My boy," said Mr. Goodwin, "I have tried nearly all the months, and December is no worse than any of the others."

HARD WORK.
 A. J. Drexel, who is a volunteer in the automobile service of the British army, wrote in a recent letter to Philadelphia:

"As Kitchener said, or didn't say, to Cobb, our trenches stretch like a gray snake from Switzerland to the sea. And what hard work our young soldiers have, let us tell you, digging these trenches!"

"I see a young soldier in a half-finished trench lay down his shovel the other day and light his pipe."

"Here, what did you lay down that shovel for?" the sergeant said.

"To cool it, sir," said the young soldier.

YOU CAN NEVER TELL.
 At a dancing academy dance the other evening a new young chap was introduced to a pretty dainty girl. She was young, sympathetic and wise to all the steps, and the kid fell for her at once. Then she said:

"You're awfully nice to me, but can't you introduce me to some of your men friends around here?"

"Well, I don't know anybody except that funny-looking dab over there in the corner. He and I belong to the same lodge. Did you ever meet him?"

"Indeed I did—years ago. He used to come and see me a lot—brought me flowers and candy, and all that."

"He did? That old guy? Well, I didn't think it was in him! This'll be a joke to tell to the other fellows. How did you shake him at last?"

"Married him. Come on over and I'll introduce you."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A HOPELESS CASE.
 Congressman Charles H. Randall of California, when reference was made to dodging debtors, said he was reminded of a party named Jake Gump.

Jake, who was notoriously bad pay, took advantage of a new storekeeper in the town and managed to get a dollar's worth of horse feed on credit. Finally, when the money was not forthcoming, the storekeeper set out to collect.

"I came to see you about that dollar for horse feed," said he, approaching Jake in a field some distance from the house. "Do you think you can pay me today?"

"How's that?" returned Jake, putting a hand to his ear, and speaking in a highly pitched voice. "What did ye say?"

"I said," returned the storekeeper, going closer and shouting like a glee club. "That's time you paid me that dollar."

"Can't hear a word ye say," declared Jake. "Ye'll have ter speak up a bit louder."

"Just wait a minute," cried the storekeeper, feeling in his pocket for a lead pencil. "I'll write it down."

"Tain't no use, mister," returned Jake, with a hopeless shake of his head. "Can't see to read without my specs."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

JUDGE FLANNIGAN NAMES PROSECUTORS

Messrs. Nichols and Lucas Appointed to Serve in Seeberville Cases' Retrial.

In the circuit court at Houghton yesterday afternoon, Judge R. F. Flannigan admitted to bail the four defendants in the Seeberville cases, fixing the bail at $5,000 in each case. At the same time he announced the appointment of George H. Nichols of Ionia and Anthony Lucas of Calumet, as prosecutor and assistant prosecutor in the trial of the case, and the fact that he will not conduct the retrial, for good and sufficient reasons, the principal one being that in the opinion granting a new trial he had expressed an opinion regarding the guilt or innocence of the defendants, which expression disqualifies him.

Regarding the Appointment.

The appointment of Messrs. Nichols and Lucas, which overthrows the action of the county board in appointing J. F. Hamblitz as special prosecutor, came as a surprise to many, though there had been an intimation that this course would be taken by the court. In announcing the appointment, Judge Flannigan made the following statement:

"To proceed in these cases, Mr. Galbraith, the present prosecuting attorney of this county, is disqualified, because of his employment on behalf of the defendants before his election. In these circumstances the authority and duty to appoint a prosecuting attorney devolves upon the court.

"The nature of the case justifies also the employment of an assistant prosecuting attorney. For the office of prosecutor for these cases, Joseph F. Hamblitz has been suggested by the board of supervisors. Mr. Hamblitz, who is a member of the county bar, is well and favorably known to the court. His ability to try these cases on behalf of the people, as well as any lawyer who has not been through them, is undoubted, but that a lawyer of equal ability who has been through the cases is better equipped to present them to the court and jury must be conceded.

"Therefore Mr. Lucas was recommended in charge of the case and Mr. Nichols was his assistant. The reversal of this order is no reflection on the ability of Mr. Lucas. In appointments such as this it is usual to place the older practitioner in the leading position, and in appointing Mr. Lucas as assistant the court is but following precedent.

"Before I had notice of the action of the board of supervisors, I notified Mr. Nichols that he and Mr. Lucas would be appointed. If these cases were before the court for the first time, the recommendation of the board of supervisors would be followed almost as a matter of course, but to refuse the appointment to lawyers who were once employed in and are familiar with the case, and well qualified to try them on behalf of the people, would be unprecedented."

Prosecutor's Compensation.

The appointment by Judge Flannigan of Attorneys Nichols and Lucas as special prosecutors will not be agreeable to some members of the county board of supervisors, judging from a statement made yesterday by Supervisor Gus T. Hartman of Portage township, chairman of the committee that recommended the appointment of Attorney J. F. Hamblitz of Houghton.

"You can say for me, as coming from the chairman of the committee, that I recommended Mr. Hamblitz," said Supervisor Hartman, "that there will be no more $50 a day and expenses paid for special prosecutors. If Mr. Nichols comes here to prosecute this case he will be paid $25 a day and will pay his own expenses, this being the compensation fixed for Mr. Hamblitz."

KEWENAUA TERM SHORT.

Court Reporter Ingram has returned to Houghton from Eagle River, Keweenaw county, the term of that court having been concluded, all intents and purposes, Tuesday night. Judge O'Brien remained at the Keweenaw court seat, because at this term the annual tax decree is handed down and the court must remain in session for three full days. If no objection to the decree have been filed by the close of the session this afternoon the court will order the decree and adjourn the term.

HANCOCK RAILROAD MEETING.

W. W. Walker, general manager of the D., S. S. & A., yesterday morning addressed a meeting of Hancock businessmen on the railroad side of the three-cent fare question. The meeting expressed itself in accord with the general manager's position and Chairman W. H. Mason appointed a committee consisting of S. L. Lawton, Mayor Abe Ojala, John C. Shields, George H. Nichols and Hugo Field to draw up resolutions to be sent to the legislature.

CHICAGO TEAM PLAYS PORTAGE LAKE SEVEN

Excellent Exhibition of Hockey Is the Promise for Tonight at Houghton Amphidrome.

Hockey between the Portage Lakes and the Midway Gardens team of Chicago is the program for tonight at the Amphidrome. The program will be repeated tomorrow night.

The game is one that has a peculiar interest for Houghton people, particularly because two of the Chicago players are Houghton boys, graduates from the Amphidrome school of hockey. Another player is also a copper country product. The two first referred to are Fred Cundy, goal, and Arthur Krellwitz, center and captain. "Sailor" Marcotte, coverpoint, is a Dollar Bay and Lake Linden product, who formerly played on the Calumet amateur team.

Sid W. Karger, of Chicago, who is promoting the Midway Gardens team, has been here for several days. He knows hockey having lived in Houghton through hockey's best days. Mr. Karger says that the Midway team is of a class equal to the present copper country amateur teams and that if Portage Lake does win tonight it will realize by the time the last whistle blows that has been in a hockey game.

"The 'Plumbers,' as the Portage Lakes have been nicknamed since the Duluth fiasco, are in excellent condition. The team is considered the best that Houghton and Hancock have offered since the beginning of amateur hockey in the copper country. This being the case, with the Karger forecast considered at par, these matches should be joyous to a public that knows good hockey and demands good hockey.

John T. McNamara, manager of the Amphidrome, got back yesterday from Duluth, where he had been since Sunday night, conferring with Duluth hockey magnates on a settlement of the difficulty between Duluth and Portage Lake. Mr. McNamara said yesterday he could give out no conclusion till he has received a definite statement from the Soo team.

M. C. M. ALUMNUS WRITES.

Rupert P. Hayes Is Now a Mining Engineer in South Africa.

Rupert P. Hayes, a graduate from the Michigan College of Mines, class of 1901, is practicing his profession in South Africa. He is remembered by many Houghton people as one of the most popular members of his class.

A friend of the engineer yesterday received from him a letter postmarked South Africa and it is interesting because of his comment on the short-lived Boer revolution that was born of the European war. Incidentally Hayes says that since his graduation he has never met one of his college classmates, though many of them or at least many M. C. M. men have practiced in South Africa. Touching the revolution, Hayes says:

"The rebellion is now finished. The death of Beyers put on the finishing touch. It was never very serious and only the most ignorant and worst type of Dutchman took part in it. I trust the leaders will be properly and justly punished. Incidentally they should be let off, after causing so much disgrace to the country—the only one of England's colonies that was not heart and soul with her."

Hayes wrote this letter from Beaufort, West Cape province, South Africa, but was on his way to the heart of the Transvaal on a mining mission, expecting to be gone several months.

NEW CANTON COMMANDER.

George A. Blair of the Sao Heads Upper Peninsula Odd Fellows.

Canton Superior, Patriarchs Militant, of Houghton, the military branch of the Odd Fellows, has been notified of the election of George A. Blair of the Sao as brigadier general of the Second brigade, which includes all cantons in the upper peninsula and the northern part of the lower peninsula. It is expected that General Blair, who is outside sentinel of the grand encampment of Odd Fellows, and one of the most prominent men in all branches of the order in the state, will visit the copper country within a short time.

ELKS PLAN TOURNAMENTS.

Notices have been sent to the members of the Hancock lodge of Elks that a meeting will take place tomorrow evening to make arrangements for a card, pool and billiard tournaments. It is hoped to institute in the near future. Much interest is being shown, the committee in charge, consisting of Frank C. Condon and Frank C. Mayworm, having instilled enthusiasm into the members in copious quantities. The bowling team of the lodge will go to Calumet Saturday evening to roll a match with a team representing Calumet lodge. The Hancock team will be made up of Fred M. Penniston, Charles Dover, Dan Fisher, Otto Borosen and John West.

OFFICERS ON MISSION.

Sheriff Cruse Leaves for East—Deputy Vivian Goes Westward.

Sheriff James A. Cruse left Houghton last night for the east, without stating his objective point. He said he was going on a search for a man badly wanted in the county on a serious criminal charge and expected to be absent about five days, during which time he will get nearly as far as the Atlantic coast. Deputy Sheriff W. H. Vivian left yesterday for Duluth, looking for a man wanted as a witness in connection with the Cannon forgery charges.

In Justice Little's Court.

Ransom Cannon, arrested last week on a charge of forgery, will be arraigned before Justice Little at Houghton tomorrow for examination. At the same time he will be arraigned on a second charge, preferred by John Granroth, an Atlantic saloon keeper, who avers Cannon is the man who cashed a forged check bearing the signature of Dr. W. H. Moore of Atlantic.

Era Collins will appear before Justice Little tomorrow also on a charge of embezzlement, for examination, he having been arraigned last week. The charge is brought by Guy Sanders. Collins offers in justification for his alleged retention of Sanders' money a contra account, claiming that Sanders owes him money. A complication in this case is that Collins has asked for a warrant for Deputy Sheriff Chelwe on a charge of assault and battery and that the officer wants a warrant for Collins for resisting arrest. Justice Little has taken these requests under advisement.

HOUGHTON SCHOOL CONGESTION.

High School Crowded More With Each Succeeding New Class.

The system of mid-year promotions in the Houghton schools will on Jan. 29 send into the high school forty-four new pupils, by promotion from the grammar grades, yet room is at a premium. This does not mean that they will not be admitted. The school has made seating provision by putting seats in the mathematics recitation room. There is no space in the common assembly room.

Eighth Grade Commencement.

Formal commencement exercises for the eighth grade pupils will take place one week from tomorrow. The program has not been given out in detail, but George S. Rodd has accepted an invitation to deliver the address and Miss Gaskell is arranging a several music numbers. The pupils will provide the remainder of the program.

This new high school class of forty-four is made up of thirty-nine pupils from the eighth grades of the public schools and five from St. Ignace parochial school. The resulting congestion might be relieved somewhat in June, when a class of between fifty-five and sixty high school seniors will be graduated. But as the eighth grade will promote some eighty pupils in June there will be a considerable net increase.

Superintendent Doelle says that this increase is constant and that it means only that a new high school is something that will be an absolute necessity within a short time. The schools are doing all they can to head off this action, by providing temporary accommodations for pupils in the high school, but the grades classes continue to increase and as from 90 to 95 per cent. of all pupils entering the high school finish either the academic or commercial courses there is little prospect of relief from ordinary diminution throughout the high school course.

Commercial Department.

Superintendent Doelle considers that a pupil completing the commercial department is "finished" just as much as one completing the academic course for a diploma, which is the reason the high percentage of pupils going through the high school is given.

In this connection Superintendent Doelle calls attention again to one desire of the schools in the matter of cooperation between business and the commercial department. The Houghton commercial department desires to have its graduates fill positions in the business houses of Houghton, and to get the best results the department asks that businessmen consult the department when they need help; not to engage pupils for reasons not directly connected with ability.

The director of the department knows the individual capabilities of his pupils and he can best fill the wants of a businessman if the latter will tell just what sort of work he wants the boy or girl for. It happens that a condition of special graduate is hired for work for which he or she is not fitted and the resulting whole or partial failure reflects against the department. It is the desire of Superintendent Doelle that the department be given an opportunity to recommend pupils to the positions. He knows better results will be obtained in this way.

COLLECTION OF CITY TAXES.

Hancock Treasurer Expects to Be Busy—Taxpayers Avoid Extra Fee.

The office of the Hancock city treasurer should be a busy place the remaining days of this week, because the time for paying taxes before the 4 per cent penalty is imposed expires next Saturday. This will be about three weeks later than usual, a condition brought about by the bringing into the county of the state tax commission to review the rolls.

So far only two of the big corporations have paid their taxes, the Houghton County Traction company and Houghton County Electric Light company having sent in their checks several days ago. The other big property owners, which include the Hancock Mining company, Quincy Mining company, banks and merchants, will settle with the treasurer this week, probably Saturday.

To date the treasurer has collected approximately $20,000 of the state, county and city taxes, which leaves a balance of between $45,000 and $50,000. A big part of this will come in between now and the closing office hours Saturday afternoon and the treasurer believes the delinquent roll will be no heavier this winter than in other years. Early in March the rolls will be turned over to the county treasurer and delinquents will then be compelled to pay a fine of one per cent each month the taxes remain unpaid, in addition to the penalty imposed by the city.

Here's a Joy Jar of Real Tobacco

Here's the greatest package of smoke satisfaction that any man ever lifted the cover from. It's full of Prince Albert, the real no-bite, no-blister brand of smokin' for pipe and cigarette. P. A. has got the bulge on every tobacco that's ever been sold or ever will be, because the bite's taken out by a patented process that leaves P. A. as easy on the tongue as a song of gladness.

PRINCE ALBERT the national joy smoke is the real prize winner in the ten-cent tidy red tin and the five-cent tippy red bag, but when a fellow has a pound crystal-glass humidor of P. A. it's just the same as having a sockful of boodle in reserve for a rainy day.

Time to replace that empty jar with a full one of P. A.

That humidor of tobacco you got for Xmas must be running mighty low just about now. If you haven't got a good supply of P. A. in the crystal-glass jar with the sponge in the cover that keeps it fresh and fragrant for pipe and cigarette—fit all the time, go to it and invest today.

Sold at stores where they sell tobacco.

BALTIC CHURCH ANNIVERSARY.

Exercises Marking Ninth Year Next Saturday and Sunday.

The ninth anniversary of Stanton M. E. church of Baltic will be observed with appropriate exercises next Saturday and Sunday. In this connection the following historical data are given by Rev. Henry Rogers, pastor of the Atlantic-Baltic church:

The first Methodist services at Baltic were conducted by Rev. H. Gillingham, now deceased, who was pastor at Atlantic. Regular services were arranged for the pastor being assisted by lay preachers, of whom the first to conduct a service was W. N. Holman of Trinitarian.

In 1891 the Baltic and Hurontown churches were united and Rev. Richard Hancock was appointed pastor, serving two years. In 1893 the Baltic church was made a station and Rev. Arthur Richards was appointed pastor. He was succeeded one year later by Rev. W. Edmunds. Up to this time services were held in the schoolhouse. In the second year of Mr. Edmunds' pastorate the present commodious church was built. It was dedicated, in January, 1896, being named in honor of the late John Stanton.

Other pastors serving the church have been: W. J. Harper, 1906-08; Robert E. Miller, 1908-11; Henry Rogers, 1911 till now. Owing to the strike of 1913 many members and supporters left the community and in the Detroit conference of that year the Atlantic and Baltic churches were united under Mr. Rogers' pastorate. During recent months the church has regained much of its former strength.

Anniversary Program.

The anniversary program will be given Saturday evening, the best talent of the range towns participating. This will be followed by a social in the church parlors. Luncheon will be served by the Women's Aid society.

On Sunday Rev. J. H. Outney of Hurontown will preach at the morning service. At a meeting in the afternoon addresses will be delivered by Rev. R. C. Lyon of Painesdale and Rev. Dr. Rankin of Houghton. Rev. Dr. Rankin will be the preacher at the evening service.

Special music will be provided at each service by the church choir, under the leadership of Robert Fisher.

BASKETBALL AT ONTAGON.

The Portage Lake postoffice basketball team, made up of employees of the Hancock and Houghton offices, will play the Ontagon city team at Ontagon next Friday night. The Portage Lake team is made up as follows: Center and captain, Doyle of Houghton; forwards, Nikle of Hancock and Wimmer of Houghton; guards, O'Neil of Hancock and Shea of Houghton. The team is composed of old high school stars and is really a formidable quintet.

ALIENS SEEK NATURALIZATION.

County Clerk Kaiser yesterday at Houghton posted the petitions for full naturalization from the following aliens: Mike Ojak, Kearsarge; John Larik, Kearsarge; Joseph Priessal, Kearsarge; Alfred Nicholas, Lake Linden.

GUILBAULT PLEADS GUILTY.

Nelson Guilbauld yesterday pleaded guilty to the murder of Charles Guilbauld, his uncle, at Lake Linden Tuesday night, waived examination and was bound over to the circuit court. The inquest was productive of a verdict fixing the murder on the nephew.

GETS CATTLE PLAGUE FROM MILK.

One of the first cases on record of a human being contracting the hoof and mouth disease is that of Carlisle S. Lentz, a student in a leading medical school in Baltimore. Lentz, whose home is in Onamia, Neb., contracted the disease two weeks ago presumably through drinking milk from an infected cow. He now is said to be on the road to recovery.

TUNGSTEIN IN UNITED STATES.

The tungsten resources of the United States are probably considerably larger than have been generally realized. Many new deposits have been discovered in various parts of the western states, according to the United States geological survey, and should prices advance it is probable that the output could soon be increased much above the record of 1910, when 1,821 tons were marketed. Most of these new discoveries are not sufficiently developed to show how large an output can be expected from them, but it is probable that some will prove to be of considerable extent, and one or two new large producers would make a noticeable difference in the American market. Similar discoveries may also be expected in other parts of the world.

WOULD ELIMINATE VILLA AND CARRANZA

Generals Gutierrez and Obregon Start Separate Movement for "Permanent Peace."

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 20.—The elimination of the Venustiano Carranza and Francisco Villa is proposed by a new movement in Mexico. This was learned tonight in most authentic reports from the interior.

The movement is headed by General Alvaro Obregon, Carranza's military chief, and General Gutierrez, the national convention's provisional president, who recently fled from the capital.

They have agreed, together with several of the Carranza and Villa leaders, it is reported, to organize an independent movement to establish a lasting peace.

Evacuation in Prospect.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Advices received from Mexico City today indicated that the Mexican capital would soon be evacuated by the convention forces. The Carranza troops are reported within fifty miles of the city.

State department dispatches said General Villa's followers "were leaving for the north," but did not explain whether the movement was general or merely preliminary to evacuation.

General Villa has been named again as commander in chief of the convention forces, and has been given a vote of confidence by the convention.

Colonel Roque Gonzalez Garza, temporary head of the convention government in Mexico City, in a telegram dated yesterday and received here tonight by his agent, Enrique C. Llorente, announced that the convention had proposed to General Gutierrez that the capital of Mexico be declared neutral territory and a general armistice agreed to in order to conduct peace parleys. A similar proposition, the message said, will be made to General Carranza.

BROAD BUYING MOVEMENT SENDS MANY STOCKS SOARING; NEW HIGH LEVELS ATTAINED

New York, Jan. 20.—There were indications at odd moments of today's stock market session that the limit of absorption had been reached, but these were dispelled in the later dealings, when a broad buying movement wiped out most of the early losses and sent numerous important issues to the highest level attained since the renewal of open trading. Copper prices held at fourteen cents, but some disappointment was felt at the Almaguinat dividend, which was again declared on the fifty-cent quarterly basis.

GOOD EXPORT DEMAND HELPS CEREAL PRICES

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Resumption of export buying on a large scale led to a sharp upturn late today in the price of all cereals. There was a strong close. May wheat closed at 143; July wheat at 125 1/2. The closing price of May corn was 28 1/2 and July corn, 29 1/2. Standard oats closed at 52 1/2 @ 53 1/2.

CHICAGO PRODUCE QUOTATIONS.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Butter was unchanged in price at Chicago today. Creameries were quoted at 24 @ 25 cents. Eggs were lower. Receipts totaled 3,216 cases. At mark, cases included they sold at 25 @ 32; ordinary firsts, 30; firsts, 32. Poultry, alive, were lower. Springs were quoted at 12 1/2 cents and fowls 13.

ARTHUR GUINNESS DEAD.

Dublin, via London, Jan. 21, 4:45 a. m.—The death is announced of Lord Ardilaun (Arthur Edward Guinness), who was famous for his charitable and philanthropic work, and who at one time was the head of the great Guinness brewery, which he and his brother inherited. He was born in 1840.

FACING PENITENTIARY FORGER SHOOTS SELF

In Ten Years Charles Ledowsky Made $250,000 on Worthless Whiskey Receipts.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Rather than face the penitentiary as a confessed forger of whiskey warehouse receipts amounting to $250,000 Charles Ledowsky, fifty years old, president of the Fox River Distilling company, for which a receiver was appointed this week, shot and killed himself on a sleeping car just as it reached the city today.

The Continental & Commercial bank of Chicago was the heaviest loser of the dozen banks which have handled Ledowsky's paper, attorneys said. The Continental & Commercial holds paper on which it advanced $50,000. Most of the receipts are on Kentucky consignment.

Ledowsky confessed his forgeries to his attorneys ten days ago, according to Benjamin F. Straus, a note broker, who testified today in a hearing before the referee in bankruptcy. Straus testified he had discounted the distiller's notes and receipts for ten years. He denied knowing that they had been forgeries until Nov. 11 when Ledowsky took him to William A. Bowers, an attorney, and confessed that he had falsified warehouse receipts, he said. "He said he didn't know whether to shoot himself or go to the penitentiary," said Straus. "Bowers advised him to take his medicine."

"JITNEY" CARS MENACE TO STREET RAILWAYS

Coast Companies Are Retrenching—Movement Starts in Missouri and Kansas.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 20.—Seventeen motor cars, several of which were driven by their owners, entered into competition today with street cars in Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kans., handling passengers for a fare of five cents. The cars ran from all parts of the city to a central station downtown. One of the cars was driven by a woman. Most of them reported a heavy day's business.

San Francisco, Jan. 20.—How seriously the advent of the "jitney" car threatens to affect street railway companies in Pacific coast cities in 1915 is shown in estimates compiled here. The "jitney" reports their minimum average receipts at $1 an hour for an eight-hour day.

In the foremost populous centers on the coast—the San Francisco bay cities, Los Angeles, Portland and Seattle—the number of cars now in operation is 2,375 and their minimum daily receipts, figured on this basis, aggregate $19,000.

At this rate the "jitney" cars would take in the Pacific coast cities in a year $6,935,000, if operated in their present numbers. But the business is only in its infancy.

MUCH TIMBER GIVEN AWAY.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 20.—More than 12,000,000 feet of timber in Oregon and 2,000,000 feet in Washington were given away by the government under the free use permit in the fiscal year 1912, according to an announcement by the district forester's office in Portland. Under the law, settlers are allowed free use of about eighty cords, or 820 worth, for each year.

The excess in Oregon over Washington is accounted for in several ways. In Eastern Oregon, in the dry region, there is little or no timber except in the national forests, and the farmers and settlers depend upon them for their wood supply. More than 74 per cent of the free wood taken out was dead or down timber, whose removal is a great benefit to the forest, as it lessens the danger from fire.

In addition to timber given away, 521 sales were made from Oregon forests and 142 from Washington. It is interesting to note that this represents 24,594,000 board feet for Oregon forests and 199,146,000 board feet for Washington forests. Although the number of sales in Oregon exceeds the number in Washington, the amount of timber is greater in Washington because the sales were larger—one was for 58,000,000 feet and another for 50,000,000 feet; whereas, the 521 sales in Oregon represent smaller individual sales, 93 per cent of them being small sales, involving $100 worth or less. In Eastern Oregon on one forest alone 194 sales were made. The average price received for the timber was $1.78 per thousand. The revenues from sales amounted to $159,262 for Oregon and $90,647 for Washington. Thirty-five per cent of this amount is turned over to the state for road and school purposes.

In order to administer and protect these national forests, the forest service has, up to date, constructed in Oregon 427 miles of road, 2,263 miles of trail, 24,428 miles of telephone lines and seventy-nine bridges and in Washington, 104 miles of road, 1,529 miles of trail, 974 miles of telephone line and fifty-two bridges.

WILL INTRODUCE PROHIBITION BILL

Senator Straight Announces His Intention of Forcing This Issue on Legislature.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 20.—Senator Henry Straight of Coldwater, member of the liquor committee of the senate, announced at an anti-saloon rally at the Masonic temple he would introduce a bill within a short time providing for state-wide prohibition.

Superintendent Grant Hudson of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league announced some time ago that the league would make no effort this year to bring about a fight for state-wide prohibition, as he did not believe the time to be ripe for the big fight.

The announcement by Senator Straight that he was going to make a fight for state-wide prohibition during the present session of the legislature was greeted with cheers, and Senator Hudson, chairman of the liquor committee of the senate, says that Straight has been working on the proposed bill for some time.

It is believed that Straight will be unable to muster a two-thirds majority in the senate necessary for the submission of a constitutional amendment, but city leaders claim that it will be possible to secure seventeen votes, which will be sufficient to pass a statutory bill for state-wide prohibition with a referendum clause attached so that the people of the state will have an opportunity to vote on the bill.

Tufts Fights Distilled Liquor Only.

Representative Charles Tufts, chairman of the house liquor committee, has some pronounced views on the question of partial prohibition in Michigan, and since there are several members in the house and on his committee who endorse his proposal, a bill soon may be introduced in the house prohibiting the sale and use in Michigan of any beverage stronger than beer or light wines.

Captain Tufts hails from Ludington and cannot in any way be linked up with the wet side of the legislature. He believes the elimination of whisky and other so-called "hard" liquors from the state would be a long step toward solving the temperance question.

RAILROAD BODY IS OBJECT OF ATTACK

Representative Person Will Introduce Bill to Abolish State Commission.

Lansing, Jan. 20.—Representative Seymour H. Person of Lansing will introduce a bill in the house this month which will call for the abolition of the state railroad commission, creating in its stead a public service commission and placing every public utility corporation in the state under the direct jurisdiction of the new board.

Person's bill is patterned after the Indiana statute which has been found satisfactory. In many respects it is the most radical measure to be introduced in the legislature in many sessions and it will certainly precipitate a warm fight on the floor of the house.

In the first place it places all street railway systems under the jurisdiction of the public service commission. This applies to both municipal and privately owned properties. It has always been the contention of the state railroad commission that the state should have the same supervision over electric lines as is provided for steam roads, but it is this feature that will cause endless debate, as it is claimed that many people in the city of Detroit would object to such a plan, as the Detroit United Railways company would, to some extent, be removed from local political influences.

Would Remove from Politics. In other cities of the state the traction companies have provided thunder for many a local political battle, but it is not believed that outside of the city of Detroit there will be much concerted action against this phase of the proposed measure.

In Lansing the Michigan Power company has always furnished capital for political spellbinders and local gas and power companies in other cities of the state have not been overlooked at election time. It is said in behalf of Representative Person's measure that public utility corporations will be largely removed from the influence of politics. Gas companies, water power companies and telephone and telegraph companies are included in the list of public utilities over which the state commission will have supervision if the bill is passed.

Ends Dry, Hoarse or Painful Coughs Quickly

A Simple, Home-Made Remedy, Inexpensive but Unusually Effective

The prompt and positive results given by this simple, home-made cough syrup has caused it to be used in more homes than any other remedy. It gives almost instant relief and will usually overcome the average cough in 24 hours.

Get 2 1/2 ounces Pinex (50 cents worth) from any drug store, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This makes a full pint—a family supply—of the most effective cough remedy at a cost of only 54 cents or less. You couldn't buy as much ready-made cough medicine for $2.50, and it's prepared and never spoils. Full directions with Pinex.

The promptness, certainty and ease with which this Pinex Syrup overcomes a bad cough, chest or throat cold is truly remarkable. It quickly loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals and soothes a painful cough in a hurry. With a persistent hoarse cough, it stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the annoying hacking.

Pinex is a highly concentrated extract of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol and is famous the world over for its splendid effect in bronchitis, whooping cough, bronchial asthma and winter coughs.

To avoid disappointment in making the syrup, suggest for "Pinex" the name of Pinex, and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

LONDON SEASON TO BE EVENTFUL ONE

Court Functions Will Be Curtailed and Many Great Houses Will Be Closed.

London, Jan. 20.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—The coming London season will be the dulllest since the Crimean War, owing to the fact that there is scarcely a noble family which is not in mourning. But while there will be little or no entertaining on a large scale, and positively no state balls, the social year will open at Buckingham Palace with a formal reception of diplomats and high officials. In past years, there have been usually two of these courts held during February and March and more in May and June than in any other month. It is probable that two will be suspended.

The king will most likely hold his usual quartet of levees for the officers of the army and navy and the gentlemen having access to the court. The complete knowledge of Buckingham Palace with a formal reception of diplomats and high officials. In past years, there have been usually two of these courts held during February and March and more in May and June than in any other month. It is probable that two will be suspended.

Both the king and queen fed strongly that court balls are out of place at this time, and these will not be resumed until the war ends. It is also decided that there shall be neither a Derby night nor an Oaks night ball, although the king will not forego his usual Derby night dinner to his fellow members of the Jockey club, unless compelled by circumstances.

This year's opening court will be marked by the absence of several familiar faces, notably the late Sir William Carrington, keeper of the privy purse, and the late Lord Blandford, master of the household, the Hon. W. Cadogan enquire to the Prince of Wales, and Major Rivers Bulkeley. The losses of war among the minor members of the household has also been considerable.

The majority of the best known houses in London will remain closed this season, notably Devonshire House, Hyde Park House, Grosvenor House, Sunderland House, Stratford House and Montague House. There will be none of the semi-public costume balls, which were the feature of a London season although a ball fiasco in aid of the Prince of Wales' fund has been suggested.

Had the war not intervened, the formal debut in society of Princess Mary would have been a gala occasion, celebrated at the opera house. Her debut will appear at the first court held after she attains her eighteenth year on April 25.

The king and queen will attend a special performance of the School for Scandal at the Theatre Royal on February 2 for the benefit of the actors' fund, but their visits to the theaters will otherwise be few and far between.

The customary investiture for those obtaining honors in the New Year list will take place in the throne room of Buckingham Palace on February 2, but some simple form will take the place of the elaborate chapter meeting of the Knights of the Garter at Windsor in June.

five persons declared that he would endeavor to have all gas companies in the state placed under the control of the state railroad commission, but he has gone further and drafted a bill to include all sorts of public utilities. The new commission will have the power to fix rates and if citizens are of the opinion that they are being unjustly treated at the hands of a gas company, telephone companies, either municipal or private, they may appeal to the state commission and a hearing will be held. If the commissioners are satisfied that the corporation is not giving the public the worth of its money rates may be reduced. The salary of the commissioners is placed at $6,000 a year, whereas the present yearly stipend of the railroad commission is $3,000.

Every public utility must carry a proper and adequate depreciation account if the proposed bill becomes a law.

GERMAN SPY CAUGHT IN CHURCH TOWER

Officer Who Directed Gunners in Bombardment of Albert Is Quickly Executed.

London, Jan. 9.—[Correspondence.]—A correspondent in Northern France tells the following thrilling story in the London Daily Express:

The remarkable feat of a German military spy, which cost him his life, has just been brought to light at Albert, a manufacturing town by the department of the Somme, on the main line of railway between Paris and Lille.

In consequence of the German advance from Peronne to the line of the River Ancre, the French artillery retired from Albert, which is an open town lying in a hollow, and took up positions on the high plateau to the north and northwest of the town.

When, on September 29, the heavy German guns bombarded Albert, demolishing private houses, factories and public buildings, and setting the town on fire in several places, it was observed that the magnificent new basilica, with its campanile 325 feet high, surmounted by a huge gilt statue of the Virgin and Child, which forms a landmark for miles around, was hit and untouched throughout the terrific bombardment.

Some religious folk attributed the sparing of the church and its tower to a miraculous agency, Albert being a sort of Lourdes in the north of France.

Church Spared Again.

A week later, as several batteries of French heavy artillery were passing through the narrow, ruined streets to take up a position beyond the town, was again bombarded, but once more the church and its great tower suffered no hurt. This was so contrary to the usual habit of the German artillery that the suspicions of the French military authorities were aroused, and these suspicions were increased by the fact that the positions of the French batteries two miles beyond the town were, despite several changes of base, continually being found by the German guns in circumstances which even the visits of the Laubes failed sufficiently to account for.

As at the same time the French command was advised from headquarters that the enemy had apparently established a wireless station somewhere in the locality, it was decided to keep a close watch on the church at Albert, the tower of which had been frequently used by the French, up to the day prior to the first bombardment, as an observation post. It was, in fact, only in order to save the inhabitants from the horrors of a useless bombardment, the town being of complete strategic importance, that the French troops had even withdrawn.

A few days later the comings and goings of a serving woman at a small inn close by the church gave a clew to the watchers. She was observed to enter a courtyard at the back of the church, unlock the sacristy door, and close it after her. A guard was set at the door, the "sister" of the adjoining hostelry left in charge of the locked-up church was brought and ordered to open the door, and a thorough search was instituted.

On the staircase of the tower, the serving woman was arrested, and, in a state of terror, confessed that for a fortnight past she and another woman had received twenty francs a day each to carry food to a man who was hidden in the tower.

At the top of the tower, taken by surprise as he was about to eat the food which the woman had brought him, was found a man of between thirty and thirty-five, a small wireless apparatus, and a pair of powerful field glasses, and a magazine pistol.

The man refused to give his name.

Little Collins' Girl Also Had Stubborn Chronic Cough—Father Tells How She Was Restored to Health by Vinol.

Lakeport, N. H.—"Our little girl, 8 years of age, was in a debilitated, run-down condition, and had a stubborn, chronic cough. While she did not have to stay out of school, on account of her condition, she was weak and ailing all the time and far from well.

"We treated her cough, but nothing seemed to help her until we tried Vinol, after which we noticed an immediate improvement. Her appetite increased and now she is strong and well and we can recommend Vinol to other parents who have delicate, ailing children."—GEO. A. COLLINS, Lakeport, N. H.

What Vinol did for this little girl will do for other weak and ailing children, because they need the tissue-building, strengthening cod liver elements and the tonic iron that Vinol contains. It is delicious to the taste.

That's why Vinol builds them up so quickly, and we ask parents of delicate children in this vicinity to try Vinol with the understanding that we will return their money if it fails to give satisfactory results.

THE GOOD JUDGE KNOWS MR. TEAMSTER IS RIGHT

MEN don't hanker after a big wad that makes them grind and spit. What they want is the small chew that really satisfies—"Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew. When they get it they are just eager to tell their friends about it too.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to the tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

but quite frankly admitted that for a fortnight past he had, from the observations he had been able to make from the tower, directed the fire of the German artillery. He spoke French quite fluently and remarked, "No doubt my fate is sealed, but I have had the satisfaction of doing my duty and serving the Fatherland."

Half an hour afterwards the man was tried by court-martial, condemned to death as a spy, and shot in the little square in front of the church door.

Some papers and notes were found on his person, but the nature of these was not allowed to be known. They appear to have shown, however, that he was a commissioned officer in the German army, and it is certain that he possessed a complete knowledge of the workings of the wireless station which had been set up in the church tower in a most workmanlike manner.

The two women implicated were sent to Amiens, but their fate is not known. Though the church and its tower are still standing at the time of writing, the structure since the execution of the spy has been much damaged by German shells. The church, which took twenty years to build and cost £50,000 sterling, was only completed in 1902.

Upper Peninsula Old Legal Tangle Unwound.

An heirship tangle which began with the death of Matthew Jensen thirty years ago has been straightened out before County Judge John Stiles at Menominee. Jensen was a young man and upon his death his property, which included a farm, went to his parents. A few years later the parents died and the farm went to Peter Jensen, a brother. To obtain a clear title Peter Jensen appeared before Judge Stiles and proved the heirship of his parents to Matthew's property.

Boy's Ruse Failed to Work. Just because he is new at the business is no sign that business shrewdness believe that City Clerk John Folio of Escanaba is "easy." A lad appeared at the office with a bulky looking bag, asserting that he possessed 348 sparrow heads therein, and intended to collect two cents bounty for each of them. "Let's see your birds," said the city clerk. The lad reached down in the bag and produced a sparrow's head as evidence that he had 347 more just like that. "Well, but let me see them all," interrupted the clerk. The lad faltered and an investigation disclosed that the boy possessed but one head and the rest of the bag was filled with rags.

FINDS THE MAN HE SAVED IN BATTLE OF WILDERNESS

London Editor Traces J. S. Botsford, Lawyer, After Fifty Years.

Columbia, Mo., Jan. 20.—Two men, members of the same regiment in the Civil war, who haven't seen each other since the battle of the Wilderness, when one of them bore his wounded comrade off the battlefield and saved his life, may now, by letter, be renewing their friendship, after fifty years.

Evan R. Jones and James Sherman Botsford were in the Fifth Wisconsin regiment in the Union army. Botsford was only a boy, having enlisted when he was seventeen years old. At the battle of the Wilderness, May 5, 1864, he received a serious wound in the right shoulder. His comrade, Evan R. Jones, saved his life by carrying him off the field of battle. That was the last time the two saw each other.

Botsford was in the hospital for several months, and when he recovered he received his honorable discharge from the army. He returned to his home in Wisconsin and took up again the task of acquiring a legal education, in which he had been interrupted by the Civil war. He was admitted to the bar of Illinois in 1866. A few months later he left Illinois and came to Missouri, seeking an opening for the practice of his profession in a newer community. He lived in Sedalia from 1866 to 1872; in the later years he became United States attorney for the Western district of Missouri and moved to Jefferson City.

Seven years later, in 1879, Judge Botsford, as he was known then, moved to Kansas City, where he has lived ever since. He had become one of the leading lawyers of Missouri's second city. He has been one of the leading members of the Republican party in his city and more than once has been its candidate for office. In 1896 he was the Republican candidate for judge of the Kansas City court of appeals, but lost to his Democratic rival, Mr. Botsford is a member of a prominent law firm.

The hero of the incident at the battle of the Wilderness, Evan R. Jones, later became Major Jones. He went to England and today is known as the editor of the Shipping World, published in London, one of the world's greatest commercial papers. Major Jones didn't forget the man whose life he had saved fifty years ago. About two months ago he was talking to an American newspaperman, E. P. Bell, of Chicago. He told Mr. Bell that he was still interested in his comrade of half a century ago; that he believed his friend Botsford had become a lawyer and had moved to Missouri, where he had found success.

Mr. Bell undertook to find Mr. Botsford, and did so. So Major Jones knows where to reach the man whose life he saved in the battle of the Wilderness, fifty years ago. The chances are that by this time Mr. Botsford also knows the whereabouts of Major Jones.

The Diesel engine is coming to be used more and more in smaller naval vessels, particularly submarines. Most of the latest and largest of these are propelled by Diesel engines. Some of them develop as much as 2,900 horsepower. Larger craft of this type are said now to be under construction, in which Diesel engines of 5,000 horsepower will be installed. A number of destroyers and coast defense gunboats have also been equipped with Diesel motors. The engine is in use to some extent in motor tank vessels acting as tenders to warships. How far it will eventually go in displacing the steam engine for marine propulsion is still a very uncertain question.

BUSINESS MEN TO MEET TONIGHT

Excellent Program Arranged for Annual Session of Advancement Association.

The banquet to be given this evening at 6:30 o'clock in the parlors of the First Methodist Episcopal church, under direction of the Ishpeming Advancement association, promises to be the most successful affair of its kind held here in years. The arrangement committee has sold about 200 tickets. The committee announces that the service will start promptly at 6:30 o'clock and those who will attend are asked to be on hand as soon after 6 as possible. The program will open with invocation by Rev. N. C. Kerr, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. While the banquet is being served the Sunday School orchestra of the church will render several selections.

Following the banquet a short business session of the association will be held. Committees will submit reports, officers will be elected for the ensuing year, and Secretary R. J. Wise will outline the achievements of the association since it was organized.

Following the business meeting Senator Roberts, of Marquette, will give an address on "The Dairy and Agricultural Possibilities of the Upper Peninsula, and Particularly Marquette County." This will be followed by a song by a male quartet, entitled "When You Were a Tulip." W. F. Raven, field agent of the Michigan Agricultural college of Lansing, will speak on the "Possibilities of College Extension Work Along Agricultural Lines in Marquette County." The quartet will then render "Harmony Bay," and following the musical number, John D. Mangum, secretary of the Marquette Commercial club, will give an address.

The meeting will close with a selection by the Neapolitan Serenaders. Supper will be served by the women of the First Methodist Episcopal church congregation, who inform the committee that they are preparing an exceptionally fine repast.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

While Edward F. Weigle, The Chicago Tribune's staff photographer, took the moving pictures of the German-Belgian battles in Belgium, which will be shown at the Ishpeming theater tomorrow, Joseph M. Patterson, a writer for the paper, remained with him and furnished a story for The Tribune. He relates that both he and Mr. Weigle had many narrow escapes from being struck with flying bullets, or the fragments of a shrapnel. In one paragraph of his story he says:

"My emotional possibilities by this time were nearly exhausted. It seemed as if I had been walking for all eternity carrying a square black suitcase weighing forty pounds, and that so I would walk for all eternity. A shrapnel explosion, if not too near, now hardly caused my flame to flicker. Myself said dully to my flame at each explosion, 'Well, that one didn't get you anyway'—but the flame didn't seem to care very much. It was exhausted and low and even more than ever sluggish."

VAUDEVILLE TONIGHT.

Calloway & Elliott, black face comedians, will be the vaudeville attraction at Ishpeming theater tonight, tomorrow and Saturday. The act is said to be one of the best comedy turns that has been sent over this circuit in some weeks. Tonight's pictures will include a Lubin two-reel feature, "In the Hills of Kentucky"; "The Evolution of Percival," a Vitagraph comedy, and "The Losing Fight," a Selig drama.

SEEK INFORMATION ABOUT P. O. SITE

However, Contractors Have Not Given Any Evidence of Intention to Start Work.

Although the government awarded the contract for the erection of Ishpeming's new postoffice building more than thirty days ago, the successful bidders have not yet taken any steps to begin the construction work, nor have they yet visited the city to look over the site. It was announced early in the fall that construction work would, in all probability, be started about the first of the year, but there is nothing to indicate any purpose to start it until next spring, or summer.

The contractors have made inquiries of the Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company as to the price of material, and have sought certain information from Trebilcock Bros. as to the material that will have to be excavated, but that is all.

The excavating may present some difficulties, as the muck is of greater depth at the postoffice site than in most other places in the business district. The excavation for the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company's passenger depot a few years ago was by far the most difficult job of the kind ever completed in the city. A heavy flow of water and quicksand had to be overcome. Even after the building was completed the quicksand continued to give trouble. The foundation of the tile floor gave way and a few years later the company was put to considerable expense for repairs.

As Partridge creek passes through the postoffice site, and as the muck is some twelve feet in depth, it is feared that the contractors are likely to find the excavating a much more expensive job than they have expected. They will have one advantage, however, in the fact that the entire building area will be excavated. This will give them a chance to put in their concrete to better advantage. Only a portion of the building area of the Northwestern depot was excavated and the contractors found it a very difficult job to build their walls in trenches.

The postoffice contractors have sixteen months in which to complete the building. The contract was awarded Dec. 19, and if the work is deferred until spring they will still have some eight months to finish the building.

"CABIRIA" WONDERFUL SPECTACLE

The Barbaric Splendor of Ancient Carthage Lives Anew Upon the Screen.

Eleanor Schorer, a well-known critic, in reviewing the wonderful twelve-reel feature production, "Cabiria," which will be shown at Ishpeming theater a week from tonight, said in part: "You must see 'Cabiria.'"

"In no other way can one get a true conception of how people lived so many hundreds of years ago—the hardships to be endured, the menacing dangers of those ages when might was right and no measure too harsh for a great conqueror to use; too mountains too high to command his force to scale; no walls so strong as to withstand their attack. The times when armies stoned each other and slung molten lead in each other's faces—all this is vividly portrayed in this great picture play.

"Barbarous Carthage! How can we in this age imagine that such were your religious ceremonies; to suffer thousands of little children to be placed in the flaming jaws of the monstrous idol Moloch, which sat glowering down upon the masses of worshippers come to pay tribute inside the lavishly ornamented temple.

"Dwellings and draperies of ravishing color and primitive designs. Great stately corridors supported by huge pillars, and beautiful, selfish, luxury-loving women reclining, surrounded by slaves. Such a woman is Sophonisba, daughter of Hasdrubal the Carthaginian Sufetes, and in such a palace does she live upon the screen.

"Poor little Cabiria's varied and perilous life is exciting, interesting and holds one spellbound from the dreadful eruption of Mount Etna to the time when peace was declared between Rome and Carthage, when Fulvius Axilla (and his slave Maristes) rescued her from the temple of Moloch for the second time and took her from these alien shores back to Rome and her heartbroken parents.

"Words are wasted attempting to describe 'Cabiria.' All that needs to be said of it is that it was written by Gabriele D'Annunzio, the great Italian author, whose international fame leaves no doubt in the mind that 'Cabiria' is an excellent piece—beautiful, interesting and true to the period it portrays."

"DAD" PALMER DEAD.

Prominent Elk and Pythian, Who Visited Ishpeming, Expires in Montana.

"Dad" Palmer, who was known to a number of the members of the Elks and Pythian lodges here, died a few days ago in a Miles City, Mont., hospital. Mr. Palmer for years represented The Jolly Elk and Pythian Advocate, of St. Paul, on the road, and he visited this city a number of times. He was one of the best known Elks in the United States. Mr. Palmer had stopped at Miles City to attend the dedication of the new Elks' home when he was taken with pneumonia and went to a hospital. He passed away one evening while he was eating dinner. In his early years Mr. Palmer was known as an expert billiard player. He was seventy-three years old and is survived by one daughter.

K. OF C. VS. HIGH SCHOOL.

What will probably be one of the hardest fought games that the Knights of Columbus basketball team will have this season will be played Tuesday evening in the Braastad Amusement hall with the Ishpeming high school five. The High School team is said to be very fast and the K. of C. players expect a hard contest. The game will be called at 8:30 o'clock, or following the first moving picture performance at the Ishpeming theater, and there will be dancing after the contest. The K. of C. team will hold practice meetings tonight at 6:30 and Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Manning and Sterling, who were out of the game for about a month, will be in better condition next Tuesday than they were last Tuesday evening, when they played against the High School Faculty team in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

HASTINGS.—Through the consideration of his wife, who failed to appear in court and prosecute him for deserting her and her child, Ralph McCaslin, who was living with another woman under the name of McPharlan, went freely, only to fall shortly afterward into the hands of Albion officers, who want him on a serious charge.

BAY CITY.—The second tragedy within forty-eight hours occurred at the fishing village on the ice of Saginaw Bay, near the mouth of the river, when John Hennard suffered an epileptic fit while in his shanty and fell into the hole in the ice through which he was fishing, and drowned. His brother, who was fishing in another shanty nearby, called to John and, receiving no answer, broke in the door of the shanty and found him head down in the water up to his hips, and dead. Hennard was twenty-five years old and not married.

BATTLE CREEK.—Though Mrs. Mary Johnstone, fifty years old, arrested for forgery, says she took chloride of mercury tablets to kill herself, and though she is in a serious condition in a hospital, police believe she is not telling the truth and that the poison she took was of a milder nature. Before swallowing it, Mrs. Johnstone induced Health Officer Eugene Miller to give her morphine, confessing that she was a "dope" fiend. If she took mercury, the morphine must have interfered with its action to a certain extent. This is her third attempt to kill herself, one having been made in a Detroit jail and the other here a year ago.

MUCH EXPENDED FOR HIGHWAYS

Marquette County Road Commission Has Spent $362,170 During the Nine Years of Its Existence—Its Annual Report Is Submitted to the Supervisors.

Rewards Obtained From State Total $21,184, With More Still Due—Last of the Courthouse Bonds Are Paid—Lease for Sanitarium Site Is Procured.

During the period extending from its organization in October, 1905, to Jan. 1, 1915, the Marquette county road commission has expended $362,170.69, of which $72,046.96 was spent last year. These figures are contained in the ninth annual report of the commission, submitted to the board of supervisors at yesterday's meeting. The receipts in 1914 amounted to $63,535.89.

During the nine years of its existence the commission has authorized the construction of 72.9 miles of road, of which 16.4 miles was macadamized. The remainder—57.5 miles—was earth road. There has been obtained in state reward and repair money the sum of $21,184.80, the taxes collected have totaled $329,229.54, and there is now an overdraft on the county treasury of $9,265.17.

Distribution of Levy.

Fifty thousand dollars was appropriated to the road commission by the county board at its annual meeting in October, and to carry on the work planned for 1915 this has been distributed as follows:

ITS ICE HARVEST A RECORD-BREAKER

Lake Superior Company Cuts 1,500 Cords at Michigamme in a Week's Time.

The Lake Superior ice company has finished its harvest at Lake Michigamme, and later expects to cut the rest of the 1915 supply from Lake Superior, or from one of the inland lakes near the city. L. E. Reidinger, manager of the company, was well pleased with the harvest at Lake Michigamme, it having been the largest ever made there by the company. Fifteen hundred cords of ice was cut in a week's time. The company filled a contract with the South Shore railway and other orders, in the western part of the county. One thousand cords has been the average cut in past years. The ice from Lake Michigamme this year is of exceptional quality, Mr. Reidinger says, and is from eighteen to twenty inches in thickness.

Peshekee Road.

When the construction of the Peshekee river road was begun in the spring of 1913, it was expected that it would be an earth road, and a grading contract was let by the commission. The legislature then having passed the so-called "trunk line road," the state agreed to build the bridge over the Peshekee river and the county agreed to build three miles of road adjacent to the bridge.

The state has built a substantial reinforced concrete bridge of the through girder type. It was constructed by Powell & Mitchell, of this city, at a cost of $11,129.70.

Last Courthouse Bonds Paid.

In the report of the auditing committee, read to the board of supervisors yesterday, was an item of $10,200 to pay the last of the bonds on the county courthouse. The total bonded indebtedness on account of the erection of the building was $129,000. The building was completed in 1914.

The chairman of the board and the county clerk, acting for the county, yesterday executed with the Champion Iron company a lease for the site of the Morgan Heights sanitarium. The terms were negotiated at the time the sanitarium was erected.

The bonds of Harlow Clark, as circuit court commissioner, and Charles Cummings, as county surveyor, were received and accepted by the board.

A special committee appointed to investigate the complaint lodged by the Women's Welfare club concerning the women's quarters at the county jail reported yesterday that it had found that the work could not be done conveniently at the present time. Adjournment was taken to Wednesday, Feb. 24.

BERGERON-DEMARCE NUPTIALS.

Maquette Girl Becomes the Bride of an Iron Mountain Man.

Earl C. Bergeron of Iron Mountain and Miss Deedy M. Demarce of Marquette were married at 6 o'clock yesterday morning at St. Peter's cathedral, Rev. Mon. J. G. Pinten performing the ceremony. The bride was attended by Miss Ninievow Demarce, her sister; Arthur Bergeron of Minneapolis, Minn., a brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The bride and bridesmaid were dressed in blue, the bride carrying roses and lilies of the valley and the bridesmaid carrying roses. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. H. Dufras, 211 Mather street. The couple left at 7:15 via the C. M. & St. P. railway for Chicago and points south. They will be at home in ten days at Moston, Wis., where Mr. Bergeron is employed as operator and ticket agent by the C. M. & St. P. company. The couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents.

SECOND PRISON TERM FOR FELIX WAGNER

Soo Man Is Again Convicted of the Charge of Smuggling Chinese Into the U. S.

The conviction of Felix Wagner and Jerry Lessard of smuggling Chinamen from Canada into the United States occurred at the close of the January term of the United States district court at Sault Ste. Marie, Tuesday. Wagner was given eighteen months in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., and Lessard, who was his accomplice, will spend five months in the Chippewa county jail. Lessard confessed, but Wagner maintained his innocence until the verdict was returned by the jury.

Fred J. Schultheis, deputy clerk of the court, and W. A. Ross, deputy United States marshal, who have been in attendance at the court, are home. Wagner had previously been convicted of the same offense. In the latest case Lessard asserted that Wagner arranged for smuggling the Chinamen across the St. Mary's river. Wagner received $500 for the job, Lessard said, of which he received $75. There was no evidence produced other than Wagner's own story, to disprove Lessard's statement.

The short sentence given Wagner occasioned some surprise at the Soo, as it was his second conviction for smuggling Chinamen. He was previously arrested in the latter part of 1910 and was convicted, serving a term in Leavenworth prison. At another time he was convicted of smuggling opium and served time in the Detroit House of Correction.

The next session of the district court will be held in Marquette, in April.

"RIP VAN WINKLE" TODAY.

Opera House to Show Play Staked in the Catskill Mountains.

The opera house is offering for today and tomorrow two exceptional photograph features, Irving's "Rip Van Winkle," with Thomas Jefferson in the title role, will be presented this afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock, and other orders, in the western part of the county. One thousand cords has been the average cut in past years. The ice from Lake Michigamme this year is of exceptional quality, Mr. Reidinger says, and is from eighteen to twenty inches in thickness.

TAYLOR IN THE TOILS.

Old Offender Will Be Brought Before Judge Flannigan Next Month.

William Taylor, convicted of being a drunken and disorderly person, third offense, and released upon suspended sentence by Judge Flannigan at the December term of circuit court on the condition that he make his way out of the state, is again in the county jail. Members of the Elks lodge will be the court to bring Taylor before the judge at the February term of court. When convicted last term Taylor, who is an old man, made a pitiful plea to the court, and the judge was lenient with him. But it took Taylor less than a week after his release to violate the orders of the court to the greatest degree possible. He was picked up by the officers and brought to the county jail. He will doubtless now have to serve a prison term.

CHARITY WORK DISCUSSED.

Meeting at City Hall Not in Favor of a Central Bureau.

The plan for the establishment of a central bureau of charity, which has been advocated by members of the Women's Welfare club, met with general approval at the assemblage at the city hall yesterday afternoon at which the project was discussed. Representatives of nearly all the charitable organizations in the city were present. The discussion was spirited. The meeting closed with the Welfare club agreeing to co-operate with the Visiting Nurse association and the Salvation Army in the work carried on by those organizations. However the matter of a charity bureau is not closed and will probably be taken up again at some future session of the club.

Those represented yesterday afternoon were the Visiting Nurse association, the Salvation Army, the French Aid society, several church societies, the Ladies of the Round Table and the Marquette Commercial club.

Agitation for a central charity bureau was started by the club in reports that the various organizations were conflicting with one another, and that in many instances duplicate giving had been noted. To a certain degree the Visiting Nurse association is filling the purposes of the proposed organization, and officers of that association, in attendance at the meeting, were not favorable to the establishment of a central bureau.

Miss Doris King, of the Northern State Normal school faculty, addressed the club on "The Big Brother Movement." Her discussion was of particular interest and was heard with close attention.

The meeting was attended by the largest assemblage present in several months. Mrs. E. P. Monteith, the secretary, read a report of the club's activities during the past year. The report will be filed with the city commission for publication with the municipal report to be printed next month.

If everybody in town burned gas coke, there would be a big saving in fuel bills and less soot on the clothes every wash day.

ORGANIZING ELKS' LEAGUE.

Matches Will Be Rolled at New Alleys Two Nights Each Week.

An Elks' bowling league is being organized. It will be composed of three-man teams, to which only members of the Elks' lodge will be eligible. In the membership of the lodge are some of the best bowlers in the city. The first match will be played next Monday evening.

Two alleys will be reserved for these matches on two nights of each week. Members of the Elks lodge who desire to enter are requested to notify Sam E. Rose at once, as the entries will close Saturday. A meeting will be held the latter part of the week to arrange the teams and complete the organization of the league.

Among those who have entered the league are: J. M. Evans, H. R. Goodman, P. E. Jenks, John Lamm, Ora Manes, A. E. Miller, Oscar J. Olson, Sam E. Rose, Fred F. Werner and Jacob P. Werner.

Match Game Tonight.

The Mineralites will make their first appearance tonight in a match with Oscar Levene's Braves. The teams will line up as follows:

- Mineralites—Manes, Miller, Jenks, Foard, Van Iderstine.
- Braves—Erickson, Lawrence Porter, Olson, Pennhalligan, Levene, (sub).

Play will begin at 8 p. m. The first five games, in a fifteen-game contest resulted last evening as follows:

PREDICTS $2 WHEAT IF WAR LASTS YEAR

Expert at New York Also Says Flour Will Reach Unprecedented Price in the U. S.

New York, Jan. 20.—Wheat may easily go to $5 a bushel in the next few years, in the opinion of many grain experts. Flour is expected to go to $19 a barrel, probably in March or April. Wheat will pretty certainly go to $2 a bushel in the next twelve months.

In the face of a world war without precedent these prices are not tremendous, by any means. Wheat has beaten $2 a bushel in this country. In 1867 it sold at $2.25. Nor do these prices mean general starvation. A barrel of flour makes 300 loaves of bread. If you make pound loaves and figure them worth five cents each, you would have $15 worth of bread from your $7.50 barrel of flour.

The pinch which will certainly be felt in some homes may be much mitigated by making bread at home, by using corn meal as our forefathers used it, by buying buckwheat flour in large quantities and feeding the family on buckwheat cakes in cold weather.

What causes the high price of wheat this time? When wheat sold at $3.85 in 1898 the price was not due to the Spanish-American war, but to Joe Leiter's corner in wheat. Many similar episodes of very high wheat have been due to corners in the market. The present price has no such false foundation.

It is being paid because of war shortage and the certainty that the shortage will grow worse. This country has this fall sent abroad six barrels of flour and six bushels of wheat for every one barrel and bushel exported in average times. That does not leave any too much wheat and flour at home.

Russia feeds herself. She is not able now to export grain in large quantities as she usually does. Austria's wheat crop was short this year and, almost for the first time she has had to import grain.

"If labor is so short abroad that ships can't be unloaded at London it is likely that an invaded France will be able to sow grain for this year's crop." R. L. Sweet of the produce exchange asked a correspondent.

"It is a fact that the port of London is congested with ships that can't be unloaded promptly. Experience has shown that in prolonged wars—and the present war seems likely to be a matter of years, not months—the highest price of wheat has been reached in the few years following the close of the war when all ports are open again, commerce is free, and every country is crying for foodstuffs. This is why I say wheat may easily go to $5 a bushel, a price without precedent so far as I know. The present time is without precedent, too."

In the American revolution wheat brought ninety-three cents on average at seaboard markets in 1788. It rose yearly to 1796. The average price was $2.48, but it touched $3. It continued high owing to the French revolution, Napoleonic wars and the war of 1812. Waterloo was the end of the Napoleonic wars, but wheat rose from $1.76 in 1815 to $2.85 in 1817. That was the aftermath of a long devastating war. From thirty-eight cents wheat went to $1.85 in 1853, in the Crimean war. It was $2.28 in 1864, but did not reach $2.85 until 1867, two years after the civil war was ended. In the Russo-Turkish war of 1876-78 wheat started at eighty-three cents, rose to 1.76 in 1877, broke to seventy-seven cents at the end of the war, but then rose to $1.44 in 1882.

These facts show that the real high price often comes after hostilities are all over. So it may well be this time, particularly with Germany and Austria, their ports open at last, howling for foodstuffs.

"I want to stop my baby's cough," said a young mother Tuesday, "but I won't give him any harmful drugs." She bought Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It loosens the cough quickly, stimulates the mucous membranes and helps throw off the choking secretion, causes pain and gives the child normal rest. For sale by All Dealers.

LACKS MONEY TO PAY GOOD ROADS BOUNTIES

State Highway Department Asks $600,000 to Make Up Deficit.

Lansing, Jan. 20.—In a statistical chart submitted by the ways and means committee of the house, explaining the highway department basis for requesting a $600,000 emergency fund to make good the state's obligation to counties under the good roads reward system, Commissioner Rogers shows that $652,050 now is due sixty-seven counties in state rewards on highways already built and accepted.

The chart covers the period from July 1, 1905, to Jan. 1, 1915, and shows that in that period a total of $1,437,487.42 has been paid the counties in rewards and $2,270,000 has been expended by the various counties in good roads work. Some conception of the statewide interest in the highway deficit bill is gleaned from the list of counties to be paid from the appropriation and the total of its benefit. A partial list follows:

- Wayne, $41,934; Kent, $31,330; Jackson, $17,434; Berrien, $44,055; Eaton, $9,093; Ingham, $8,228; Kalamazoo, $6,519; Grand Traverse, $7,155; Manistee, $6,785; Muskegon, $5,800; Mason, $5,087; Mecosta, $3,081; Montcalm, $2,800; Nowaga, $4,887; Oceana, $3,561; Charlevoix, $4,009; Benzie, $8,911; Barry, $1,254; St. Joseph, $6,227; Westford, $5,212; Clinton, $1,659; Emmet, $3,829; Allegan, $940.

The ways and means committee is making an investigation through the auditor general's office to determine whether the state treasury would be depleted by the drain of a $600,000 appropriation.

LIFE INSURANCE REFUSED.

All of us—you and I, our neighbor around the corner and the man in far off Australia or in England—we can all get Grape-Nuts at our grocer's.

There are few places, indeed, at home, on shipboard or in a foreign port where this sterling, ready-to-eat food is not available.

The world over you find

Grape-Nuts

FOOD

—a really delicious food, that is all food. No waste, and every granule brim full of nourishment.

Made from prime wheat and malted barley, the firm, crisp granules of Grape-Nuts compel chewing—a great aid to digestion. This food is sterilized by long baking (20 hours or more); is partially predigested by changing the starch of the grain into dextrin or grape-sugar so that it is easily digested and quickly assimilated by the most delicate stomach.

Delicious taste, digestibility, convenience and economy all tell
