SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Whether Greece is to throw in her lot with the allies of the triple cutente or remain neutral is the absorbing question of the war. The Hellenic kingdom is in the throes of a mighty crisis, with King Constantine said to be in favor of neutrality and the reticing premier, Eleutheries Venizelos, one of the strongest men in Greece, declared to be uncompromisingly opposed to such a step. The resignation of the premier and his cabinet on Saturday is reputed to have been due to the unyielding attitude of the monarch. The belief prevailed that with the appoint ment of a new ministry the storm clouds would disappear. The feeling was heightened by reports from Athens that M. Venizelos had stated in a speech in the chamber of deputies that he and his followers would support any government the king might appoint. Later information, however, was that Venizelos had declared: Our party will refuse to support any government which may be formed." M. Zaimis, who has been offered the portfolio of premier, has not yet accepted the task of forming a ministry. Instead, he has requested time to consult his followers Meanwhile the situation is tense.

Continued gains of ground north of Arras, in the Champagne district and in the Vosges, with heavy losses in the latter region for the Germans, is claimed by Paris, while Berlin asserts that the Germans have taken trenches and prisoners in Champagne and caused heavy casualties in the allied lines near Le Mesnil and Badonziller.

In the east, in north Poland, the Russians declare that they are still foreing back the Germans, but Berlin asserts that the operations there are proceeding "according to our plans," In the Rawa region, Berlin says that 5,400 prisoners and sixteen machine guns were taken from the Russians. Farther south in Poland, in the region of Pilica river, Petrograd reports that a great battle is taking shape. In the Carpathian region brisk fighting continues with victories chronicled by both the Austrian and Russian war offices.

The Dardanelles forts continue to feel the shells of the allied warships, but Turkey asserts that they have as yet suffered no great damage, British troops have had a clash with Turkish forces, reinforced by tribesmen, at the head of the Persian gulf. London reports that heavy casualties were inflicted on the Ottomans, but admits that the British also suffered considerably.

According to a newspaper dispatch the Roumanian parliament has empowered the government to proclaim a state of siege until the end of the war, if necessary, The American steamer Pacific, which sailed from Falmouth Friday evening for Rotterdam, has not since been reported. Fifteen small submarines for use in reconnoitering the German coast are said to be building at Karel.

ONE OF THE REASONS.

Concluding a lament over the workings of the primary law, the Detroit Free Press says that "hardly anybody takes any interest in government nowadays, largely because almost everybody sees that he has no voice any more in government." It may be conceded that not enough persons are taking an interterest in government, but this is probably less because the voter cannot now have a voice in government than because he has been called upon to have a voice in it too many times. He has been tired out with trotting to the polls, and his interest, divided between too many elections, has naturally not, with the exception of the presidential year, been pronounced in any of them.

Realization of this condition is be hind much of the grateful support being given to measures, such as are proposed in the present legislature, for abolishing the biennial spring election and ger army and navy which prudence recmaking a group of minor elective offices ommends. appointive, to be filled by the governor. Compelling European Respect.

In one of the Australian papers recently there was a cartoon of John Bull spanking Germany, and Uncle Sam standing at one side remarking that he would like to carry on commerce with the rear John Bull was remarking, "You take care of Uncle Sam while I take care of Germany."

The rather crude idea reflects the omewhat general impression in Great observed in this country has not pleased deed, callousness, toward Great Britain and her case shown by the government of the United States.

It is charged freely in England that the policy of the United States is cold and selfish; that "America seems to do not like the service in the senate, reckon up the matter in cold dollars and aside from the fine associations. It has cents rather than in terms of flesh and blood and human suffering."

The German attitude is equally evere. The Command of Our Navy.

Senator Root's speech was a powerful, and deserved rebuke to congress for neglecting the extremely important mestion of mayal personnel legislation. This subject has been under exhaustive consideration by experts and has been brought to a stage at which intelligent action can be taken. Yet the senate has shirked its duty and the evils of the Congress has just appropriated nearly $150,-000,000 for construction and upkeep and ignored the quality and supply of fight ing men. We spend over a hundred millions on a military establishment and refuse to make that establishment modernly efficient even within the nav ow limits we unwisely fix for it. Making a Farce of Rural Credits. Congress trifled again with rural redit legislation. The senate passed the McCumber rural credits bill without discussion by attaching it as a rider to a general appropriation bill. This measure authorized government to make advances to farmers. The senate passed it so nimbly becase all senators, irre spective of party, want to stand well with the farmers. They know thorvarden's office. It must seem tough oughly that the measure could not pass after building up a political machine to the house; but at least they could go before their rural constituents and spout of what the senate tried to do for the man on the land. But the truth is: that the senate, by wasting precious days on the shipping situation, missed the chance to do something sensibly constructive for the agricultural interests. The house committed itself to a measure the opposite of that which secured the unanimous approval of the august senate. The house stood for mutual rural credit and loan sssociations. Although amended to banish all legislative aid, this bill is based upon that proposed by Senator Fletcher of Florida and his special committee which toured Europe in 1913 collecting information or rural credits, whereas the senate measure is an emaciated edition of Congressman Bathrick's plan for direct oans. Senate and house swapped bills. and the senate seems to have come out econd best. As in the senate the hous. passed its rural credits measure practically without discusion and the conference threw out both measures and substituted a resolution to "investigate" again.

The situation reminds one of two nen rushing through a fog toward the same destination by different routes At the intersection they collide, dro; their bundles, fall to fighting, and wher they finally reach their destination fine they are too late. Between them the senate and the house, with a great show of loyalty to farming interests, suc ceded in killing all rural credit leg islation for this session without in curring the odium of voting directly against it. Delay, rather than defiance appeals to most congressmen as the best policy when they are dealing with the largest class of voters in the coun try.-Grand Rapids Press.

Lieblein vs. George.

Saturday the case of Ed. M. Lieblein vs. Elias George was on trial. This case was somewhat peculiar, Mr. Lieblein alleged that after Elias George failed in business in Houghton about two years twenty cents on the dollar and he borrowed the money from Mr. Lieblein to make the settlement. Mr. Lieblein was a creditor for a considerable amount, and he made the loan with the underman and he forest city men was a man to appear before the committee at the hearing. It is understood that Mayor Ojala of Hancock, Mayor Schumaker or Ojala of Hancock, Mayor Schumaker of Red Jacket and Mayor Heidecamp of Lake Linden are ready to attend and Lake Linden are ready to attend and the loan with the underman and he made the loan with the underman and the loan with the underman and he made the loan with the underman and he was a loan an testimony Judge O'Brien took the case | "The defense is equally powerful, and any more than any other creditor.

"I have $25 to bet on the Soo," said a Houghton businessman. "I would not advise you to, if you'd ask me," said Ernest Westcott.

"What have you got on Cleveland " asked the businessman, willing to hedge right away. Ernie Westcott, it may be remembered, used to be one of the best known forwards in the bockey world. He played on championship teams all over North America and he really knows something about the game that was born in his native Dominion. He figares out the Cleveland-Soo proposition like this: The Soo this year has played only Portage Lake, Calumet and the Canadian Soo, beating from all, but play-Cleveland, which beat the Soo last year has won twenty-two games, lost only one and has tied several, playing strong Canadian amateur teams for the most part. There is no reason to believe that Cleveland is weaker than last year; on the contrary, the indications are that Snannon and Winters have a stronger bunch of players than ever.

Cleveland's Play Described.

Probably the opinion of a sporting writer on the Boston Globe is of value in helping to judge Cleveland's style of play. Here is what he had to say about the Cleveland-Boston A. A. game last Wednesday night at Boston: The Cleveland A. C. hockey seven failed to satisfy, as it lacked the spec

TEST FOR NURSES.

Berlin, Feb. 22.—(Correspondence o the Associated Press.)—How a wise old surgeon determined which of twenty youthful nurses he should accept for service is told in the Tagliche Rundschau. The young women had spent six weeks in training in one of the big garrison cities, and at last stood before the superintendent.

"I congratulate you," he began, "on your willingness to serve the cause of the Fatherland. Previous experiences, however, have shown me that all does not always go well with those serving in the sanitary divisions, that the work proved distasteful to them. Will those who would prefer to serve exclusively in the officers' wards please step for-

Shyly and blushingly, fifteen of the twenty young women stepped out of the line, whereupon the surgeon continued in his amiable tones: "I thank you, ladies. Of your services I shallnot avail myself. Your decision in licates to me that you have not yet attained the necessary degree of earnestness required in thoe serving our wounded soldiers."

INFANTRY MEN SHOOT HIGH.

Paris. Feb. 24.- (Correspondence of the Associated Press.) -The relatively small proportion of men hit by infantry fire has been explained by the fact that the blue sky draws the aim high. La Illustration maintains that this position is untenable because high fire is often mel does without any of the bad after mel does without any of the bad after more deadly than low by reason of the fact that it reaches the reserves who are often assembled in far more compact masses than the men on the firing lines. 50,000 SCHOOL TEACHERS IN ARMY OF FRANCE

Paris, Feb. 24.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press. |-Twenty thousand of the 50,000 school teachers of France are in the army and the frequency with which they are cited in the orders of the day has been marked. Even those who remain with their classes are contributing in an original way to the support of the army. They require their pupils to bring to school at least once each week two potatoes, two carrots, two turnips or other vegetables to be devoted to provisioning the military hospitals. No child is al lowed to bring more than two, in order that no jealousies may be created. That object is not so much to assure a supply of food, as to teach the children generosity and let them feel that they are filling their role in the war. It has also had a levelling effect between the different classes. From the department of the Deux Sevres in one day more 'han sixty thousand vegetables were thus collected.

Highbrows Started War

President Arthur T. Hadley of Yale, who has been one of the American exchange professors in Germany, and who is very familiar with conditions in that country, says that the men connected with the German universities were more responsible for the present German war than the court and that the men of science and scholars of the universities, instead of trying to moderate the zeal for war, championed it.

President Hadley pointed out the part that the universities play in Germany in moulding public opinion and in trainng officials and expressed it as his be lief that eventually this country would have to pattern somewhat after that nation in this regard, instead of leaving public opinion to be almost entirely moulded by the newspapers.

"At the outbreak of the present war, says President Hadley, "people who were naequainted with Germany thought that it was the work of the emperor and those about him. They believed that the nation was less eager for war than the court, and that the scholars and mer of science at the universities might be trusted to moderate the feelings of the nation. It soon appeared that this was a mistaken conception. The nation was apparently much more eager for war than the emperor. The universities acted as exponents of the national feeling. In stead of trying to moderate the zeal for war, they championed it as their own. "It is characteristic of modern Germany that the universities should be exponents rather than critics of pubsentiment. For the universities are probably in closer touch with public opinion in Germany than in any other ountry and do more to make that publie opinion. The contract of professors end students with the national problems is more direct, and their influence on national feeling as a whole much stronger than is the case either in England or in America. "The German universities do more than prepare the great body of officeholders

DON'T USE SOAP ON YOUR HAIR

When you wash your hair, don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared champoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless, It's very cheap, and heats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for bowlers, especially for "Peck." Thompson increased his lead one point 492 last week and the way he is going he probably will increase it again this week. Three men are tied for second place in individual average.

Geelan did not slip last week, as he did not rell. The best bowling last week was done by Gray, he rolling 626. Lundin was next with 604. Everybody had it that Jack was done for in the race for individual average, but Jack says no.

Johnson, "Pie," is coming stronger now being in the 170 class. He seems to be a better bowler than ball player. Heindel continues to hang around the 170 mark. Schilling, who has been on the down and out list, is stirring up trouble again and will have to reckoned with from now on. When Blamey is bowling in practice 200 scores are easy for him, but in the matches 150 looks big. Jack Burke certainly is a good "sport."

He has hard luck bowling, but he is due for a big jump before it is all over. All the teams should make it a point to double up this week and finish the chedule before the Marquette tourna ment commences next week.

TIRE PERFORMANCE. RECORDS TOLD IN BOOK.

Letting tire retailers tell motorists what a certain make of tires does in the way of giving satisfaction and mileage is a new plan of trade promotion insti tuted by Diamond Tires, Akron, Ome.

The Diamond factory has compiled a unique book of letters in which Diamond retailers tell what Diamond tires did in 1914 in the way of big sales and few adjustments.

The book at the same time is an exression from the retailers of their reaons for carrying the same line in 1915 that they made such a success f in the previous year.

The expressions from the retailers cun all the way from records of 6,000 and more miles from Diamonds they used personally, to records of their sales and adjustments.

One man says he sold 2,000 castings and had only half a dozen adjustments. "And these tires were not brought in n account of being defective, but were bruised by sharp stones," he writes. Another man made the unique record of selling 4,000 Diamond tires with only two adjustments. A third man went through the entire year with only one tire out of all he sold coming back for adjustment Speaking of Diamond tire performances, a dealer wrote, "We feel reasonably sure that every one will not only be an advertisement to ourselves, but a great boost for the Diamond tire."

A dealer in the East reported his adustments so small he "hadn't given it my thought whatever." Another who andles all lines said be had "least troude with Diamond tires."

The book is full of similar reports. which are considered of special interest o motorists. It is believed that the service rendered by a tire can well be judged by the unbiased reports of the nen who sell them, and the showing f Diamonds on no replacements is conidered remarkable.

TIGERS LOOK LIKELY

In Many Respects Jennings' Team Looks Best in the American This Season.

Detroit, Mich., March 4.- Hughey Jennings is going to stand very nearly pat Marty Kavanaugh, the Jersey cave man, and good pitchers always can be used, but that will be the extent of the Jungletown patching.

George Burns, who was more or leof a sensation last year, undoubtedly will be seen at first base again this season. Donie Bush will be at short and For the first time in seventy years the playthings, including a rocking horse and Meters George Moriarty, the veteran, who had one of his best seasons last year, at throughout the land was heard. third. Cobb, Crawford and Veach will continue at their outpost stations unless Jacobson, the Mobile swatster, succeeds in supplanting Veach in left field, in which case the best outfield in baseball will be bettered. Stanage again will be the first string catcher, with Red McKee and Del Baker continuing as first

There are three persons of promise who are yearning to cavort around the Oscar Vitt, the diminutive utility in believe the bell cannot be sent on such young man in evening dress. There $ 2,500 issued Oct. 1, 1907; due Oct. 1 fielder, who can play better baseball than many regulars, but who never has been ble to last long at a stretch because of boils, indigestion and an unlucky series of broken bones and other ills.

Who Will It Be This Season?

The pennant prospects of the Tigers really depend on the ability of the pitching staff to perform as it has shown itself capable of performing in seasons past. Of recent years the Tiger moundsmen have been noted for having great years—one pitcher at a time. In 1912, it was Jean Dubuc who proved to be . world beater. The next year George Danss came through. Last season it was Harry Coveleskie. If these men should chance to get right at the same time and Reynolds and Cavey continuthe stride they struck last fall Jennings would ask nothing more.

Then there is George Boehler, who has more stuff than Walter Johnson. but who has never shown any sane comprehension of the purpose for which a white rubber is placed in the vicinity of the batter. If George should ever grasp the fundamental principles of that art known as control he would prove the sensation of the year. But that isn't probable. Oldham, a southpaw garnered from Providence, looked good in some autumn games and may be able to break into the first string mound staff. He pitched some thirty odd innings for Detroit last fall and did not pass a man. He wasn't bombarded vigorously, either.

CHINESE IDEAS ABOUT LIFE.

Bret Harte is chiefly responsible for the American belief that the Chinese are peculiar for ways that are dark and over to the firm. The foundrymen tricks that are sain, but that they are peculiar all travelers agree. It may be tone by increasing the proportion of conthat they are right in their ways and we are wrong, but that is a matter of opinion. For instance, can anyone tell why the Chinese wear cotton cloth shoes? They are not more comfortable than leather, nor cheaper, nor as healthful. They cling to their old shoes because they always stay indoors when it rains. A Chinaman dreads water more than fire, and a steady stream of cold water delivered from a two-inch nozzle, would disperse the most violent mob in China in five minutes' time. +++++++++++++++++ The ravages of the white ant which, because of its insidious work in timber and wood structures, is one of the most destructive insects of North America, can be limited by comparatively simple measures, according to the entomologists of the United States department of agriculture. This pest, known scientifically as the termite, attacks bridge timbers, wells, silos, telegraph poles, hean poles, mine props, fence posts, and rail-road ties, and the sudden crumbling of wharves, caving in of mines, and the settling in of floors are sometimes directly due to its hidden borings. Such large cities as New York, Cleveland, St. Louis, and Washington have known serious depredations, and damage occasionally occurs as far north as Massachusetts and Michigan. Throughout the Southern states the termites' ravages are even more general. Some of the recommendations of the department's entomologist for dealing with this pest are as follows: Forest products in contact with the ground should be impregnated with coaltar creosote, which is a permanent preventive against attack by our native termites. Coal-tar creosote has many properties which would recommend its gicide, and, being insoluble in water, will not leach out in wet locations. These requirements furnish objections to many fective insecticides. The various methods of superficially treating timber, as by charring, by brushing, or by dipping with various chemical preservatives, among which are cosotes, carbolineums, etc., have proven to be temporarily effective in preventing attack, if the work is thoroughly done, If not thoroughly done, termites enter through the untreated or imperfectly treated portions, especially through weathering checks and knots, Where the bases of poles, mine props, etc., are left untreated termites enter the timber from below and, avoiding the treated portions, come up through the interior. Charred timber is effective against termite attack for a period less than ta year, although it is not seriously damaged at the end of one year. It will readily be seen that neither brushing nor spraying the exterior after placement, as is sometimes practiced, is effective in keeping out termites, since the portion that sets in the ground could not be treated, and it is usually at this point that termite attack occurs.

Before treating timber with chemical preservatives, especially where the brush method is employed, it is essential that the timber be thoroughly seasoned, otherwise penetration by the preservatives vill be retarded.

Many patented wood preservatives adertised as effective against wood borers often merely contain simple preserva-tives, as, for instance, linseed oil, to which a slight odor of oil of citronella. has been imparted, or contain simple poisons. For timber to be set in the ground, brush coatings with linseed oil

are not effective against termites. Impregnation with chlorinated naphthalene may prove effective against termites, as a preservative for woodwork n interior finish, where it is important that the preservative should not "sweat" out or stain the wood. Treated wood blocks buried in the ground with termite-infested logs were not attacked after a test of nearly six months. Impregnation with paraffin wax was not effective in the bureau of entomology's experiments. If the wood is not in contact with the ground, impregnation treatments with pichlorid of mercury and zinc chlorid are effective. The mercury and zine in this form are both soluble in water.

PERSIAN CARPETS.

Aniline dyes have not added to the reputation of the carpets of Persia, the Daily Chronicle (London) says. At one time the only dyes used in the Persian carpet industry came from ipdigo, madder, and vine leaves. From these were evolved many delicate shades impervious to the action of sunlight. With aniline dyes the colors fade much more rapidly. In Persia you may see new rugs sprend on the floors of the bazaars, so that many feet may tread on them. By such hard wear, provided the colors are fast, the genuine article improves in appearance, acquiring an attractive gloss. A Persian carpet of the best kind has a marvelous number of stitches, and a hearthrug of pure silk may cost hundreds of pounds. - 01 01
