IN THE U. P.

Two out of three of the upper peninsula counties that voted on prohibition went dry, and the third, Chippewa, remained wet by a narrow margin.

The upper peninsula county that voted most decisively on the issue was Iron. How Iron came to express itself so decidedly on the subject is explained by an article from the Crystal Falls Diamond Drill, reprinted in another column, which recounts a succession of stupid blunders by the liquor interest in Iron at a time when it was obvious that prohibition sentiment was not losing ground.

Much of the advance of the anti-saloon cause can be attributed to the singularly stubborn stupidity of the liquor interests and the saloon men, who in many places appear never to be happy unless they are courting their destruction.

The Michigan results bear warning to the wets in this state that they must put their best foot forward. A vote on state prohibition impends.

HUGE EXPORTS IN MARCH.

Early and necessarily incomplete figures show that the exports of merchandise last month were double the imports and 56 per cent more than the highest previous record for the same month of the year.

These changes in the foreign trade of the United States are of unprecedented proportions. They show a balance in favor of this country which far exceeds any previous surplus of exports.

Such conditions in the foreign commerce of the country mean large imports of gold, diminished American obligations to foreign investors, an easy money market in the financial centers of the United States, swiftly rising confidence in the future of business in this republic.

AUTOMOBILE EXPORTS.

In the seven months ended with January, the United States exported 3,972 commercial motor vehicles valued at $19,989,442. This is an increase of 81 per cent over the same period a year ago.

Foreign purchases of passenger cars fell off from 13,553, worth $12,340,593, in the seven months ended with January, 1914, to 6,904, valued at $5,808,099, in the corresponding period just passed.

This is a decrease of 52 per cent. There was an aggregate gain for the year in all classes of motor vehicles, for the respective periods, of $3,546,087, although the actual number of cars exported was less by 3,113. These figures reflect the greater value of motor trucks as compared with passenger cars.

MAY WALL STREET BE RIGHT.

In a weekly review of financial affairs the New York Sun remarks that Wall street and the country at large have changed position in their outlook with regard to business.

The Sun finds a certain reassurance in the Wall street attitude: "Conceding that Wall street may be mistaken, in its present constructive mood and bullish activity, the record of recent years is nevertheless in favor of the assumption that the stock market phenomena witnessed in the last few weeks are portions of a general business change for the better."

However this may be, certainly the renewed confidence of Wall street is one of the most notable of our business phenomena. Last month the dealings in the market were 2,000,000 in excess of the number of shares bought and sold in the corresponding month last year.

But business throughout the country is far from satisfactory. Here and there is found a center where, because of special causes, employment is at a high average and money is easy.

B. J. McKilloch was elected mayor of Escanaba Monday in a three cornered fight, by a plurality of eighty-six votes. The most interesting thing about the contest is the fact that Alderman Smith, making the run on slips, pulled into second place, leaving Mayor Chatfield in the rear.

Such conditions in the foreign commerce of the country mean large imports of gold, diminished American obligations to foreign investors, an easy money market in the financial centers of the United States, swiftly rising confidence in the future of business in this republic.

It will take much folly at Washington and meddling with business to blight this hopeful prospect of greatly improved times. Fortunately congress is not in session and the administration feels the need of prudence which grows with the approach of the next presidential election.

The dries interpret the spring election results as a great victory. That means that next year they will be looking for more counties to conquer.

Gifford Pinchot has been invited to leave Belgium by the Germans. Nothing personal against Pinchot, no, indeed. Only his sister was unfortunate, in the Germans' eyes, enough to marry an Englishman.

Unless the defeat of the Republican candidate for treasurer can be so considered, the Ishpeming election brought no particular surprise. The success of Mr.

Wahlman, the Republican candidate for mayor, was foreseen. Mr. Wahlman should do very well in the office. He knows Ishpeming, its needs and its people. It was expected that the contest over the Negaunee mayorality would be close, and it was close.

Turkey has appealed to the United States for protection of its subjects in Mexico. We have wondered how it was that civilized Europe has so long tolerated the excesses of the Turks.

Our impression of the president of the United States always has been that of a high minded gentleman.—Houghton Gazette. Who is the "high minded gentleman," the President or the editor of the Gazette?

That's the way it always goes, remarks an exchange. The national prohibition movement was beginning to show life and then Mr. Bryan declared himself its leader.

Who said the Progressives were dead? Humboldt township gave more votes to their state candidates than were given to the Republicans.

This suspense is wearing. In the public view Italy should either declare herself, or announce definitely that she is going to keep out.

The question whether Lil Artha was knocked out is purely academic when it is considered that he is so definitely out.

Lil Artha will make his future home in France. It is a decision that will be unanimously approved of in this country.

In Alger county sentiment on the question of county prohibition was about as evenly divided as it well could be.

EDITORIAL OPINION

Nest Eggs We Lose.

The custom of alien immigrants, particularly from the countries of southern Europe, of gathering "nest eggs" for their labor in the country and returning to their former homes to spend it is illustrated by the statistics for the month of January, 1915, showing 10,299 southern Italians alone left the shores of the United States for "sunny Italy" with nest little wads of cash.

It is asserted by economists who have made a close investigation of the alien worker and his habits that by far the larger part of the wages earned by Italians while in the United States has gone back with them to Italy.

In other words, American capital, through the employment of aliens who have no intention of becoming American citizens, is going out of this country month after month to be used ultimately in competition with our capital and labor.

The statement is made that during the last ten years no less a sum than $3,900,000,000 has gone from the United States in this way.

industry, the temporary alien is steadily displacing the permanent American in many lines of productive and constructive work, not always confined to unskilled labor.

Even those who dislike deliberate discrimination against aliens, either because such discrimination is contrary to good usage or the letter and spirit of United States treaties with other nations, see danger in the wholesale employment of non-Americans to do work that every think should be done by Americans.

The friends of the negro, for example, insist that plenty of negro labor is available to build New York's subways or to do any work of the kind, and that they would be employed were it not for the fact that some people are interested in the business of importing cheap foreign labor.—Grand Rapids Herald.

Calls Censorship a Mistake.

It is of interest to note that Sir James Bryce, prominent representative of Great Britain, says that his government has made a mistake in applying the kind of censorship it has to reports of the big war. He declares that if the British had allowed everything to come through so that Americans could have weighed it all and come to their own conclusions, instead of getting only what the British think they should know, it would have been better for the British government and the British people.

As a matter of fact this criticism would seem to apply with equal force to all the belligerent nations at the present time. Of course the military authorities are justified in suppressing and concealing such news as might disclose actual military secrets, such as the location and movement of forces and important military plans, but they have only aggravated a bad case by deleting practically all of the facts touching on real conditions in the battle-torn countries.

The result has been that the correspondents, with the best of motives, have been compelled to accept hearsay evidence and reports have been unavoidably exaggerated. The suppression of the news always leads to suspicion and gives birth to reports and rumors that are not only untrue, but also of reliable information from headquarters.

A ministry that hasn't the confidence in its own people to tell them the truth, no matter how it hurts, need not be surprised to find itself hurt more by the publication of rumors and exaggerations.—Oshtikosh Northwestern.

A Naval Reward for Integrity. Admiral Fiske finds himself forced from his position as aide for operations in the navy department because he has held honor and patriotism above personal advantages and the exigencies of departmental politics.

Admiral Fiske has gained the respect of the thinking public and he ought to have the gratitude of the nation. In forcing Admiral Fiske to resign, the secretary of the navy has been guilty of deplorable smallness. There is little doubt, too, that the action stands as a notice to other officers of the navy not to consult conscience and expert knowledge too closely when drawing up reports or when testifying before congressional commissions, unless they are sure what they must say after such a consultation will be agreeable to Mr. Daniels and coincide with his pet theories.

The action of the secretary of the navy may be interpreted as a part of an attempt to prevent further authoritative disclosure of the recession in effectiveness which has come about as a result of Mr. Daniels' amateurish and cocksure advisory approval to resign, the secretary of the navy has been guilty of deplorable smallness.

WILL ASK RECOUNT OF MONDAY'S VOTES

FORTY MOTOR CARS TO BE ON EXHIBITION

Opponents Contest the Election of Supervisor Rourke and Township Clerk Thos. Major.

As a result of Monday's election the board of canvassers in Houghton county will be asked to conduct recounts of votes in two precincts.

Captain Kendall, who opposed the election of Supervisor Richard Rourke of Franklin township, will ask for a recount in the Ripley precinct in Hancock township, will ask a recount in that township, which has but one precinct.

In Franklin township Supervisor Rourke was elected by a majority of four, a result so close that Captain Kendall believes a recount might change the score in Mr. Rourke's own precinct.

In Hancock township, Matt Mattson was candidate for clerk and Thomas Major ran against him on slips. Major got twenty-nine votes and Mattson twenty-six. Mr. Mattson bases his contest on this situation.

Major had slips which bore only his name and no reference to the office for which he was a candidate. Mattson says that these slips were half an inch wide and that they covered more than one name on the ballot when pasted. The result was that the slip might have been counted either for clerk or treasurer.

Mattson believes this uncertainty voids all the slipped ballots for Major. As far as County Clerk Kaiser recalls, there never has been a recount in the county. The method of arriving at a recount is this: The candidate desiring a recount must before the last day of the session of the board of county canvassers file an application.

Means New County Chairman. Because of the election of F. W. Denton of Painesdale as supervisor from Adams township, a vacancy is created in the office of chairman of the county board, a position held for the last eleven years by A. D. Edwards, supervisor from Adams.

While there is no definite information on which to base the forecast it is presumed that Hon. Charles Smith of Hubbard, former senator from the copper country district, will be elected to succeed Mr. Edwards. He is the senior member of the board and a man qualified by long legislative and supervisory experience for the chairmanship of any deliberative body.

Hon. A. D. Edwards was elected chairman of the Houghton county board in June, 1904, on the lamented death of John Duggan of Calumet, who had held the position for many years. Mr. Edwards made an exceptional chairman and he took no little pride in the position, having often declared it the greatest honor he could hope to attain.

Personnel of the Board. The returns from Duncan and Laird townships are lacking, but barring these contingencies and also the possibility Supervisor Rourke may lose his seat in the recount, there is to be but one change in the personnel of the board, the succession of Mr. Denton to Mr. Edwards' seat as a member.

In Duncan township A. J. Johnston, the incumbent, was opposed in the election by August Novak, the challenger. In Laird township, Leonard Thompson, the incumbent, was opposed by Peter Hiltunen, former supervisor.

The first meeting of the new board will take place next Tuesday, at which time a chairman will be elected.

Number of passenger gas cars exhibited 38
Motorcycles exhibited 3
Accessory exhibits 14
Lowest-priced car $395
Highest-priced car $2,206
Estimated cost of exhibit 100,000

The first annual automobile show of the associated motor vehicle dealers of the copper country opens this evening in the Colosseum, the big skating rink on the grounds of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company at Calumet.

The Calumet & Hecla band will play a formal concert for the opening night and there will be special music throughout the week.

Because of the rapid restoration of the roads to motoring conditions it is expected that the show will prove an election for an unusually early commissioning of most copper country cars, so that their owners may take in the show through the medium of their own machines.

TO LEAD RATE FIGHT FOR ROADS. Senator George Williams Returns to Lansing for the Purpose.

Senator George Williams, of Calumet, who had been in the copper country to spend Easter, left Monday night for Lansing to take part in the passenger rate bill fight on the floor of the senate Thursday afternoon.

Senator Williams will lead the argument in support of the measure, and he will be assisted by Senators Roberts, Fitzgibbons and others.

Senator Williams is confident the bill will pass the senate. He bases his opinion on pledges procured in the upper house, twenty senators favoring the measure, seven opposing and five being non-committal.

Senator Williams has devoted considerable time to the Culver bill, which would alter the state laws so as to permit boys under eighteen years of age to work. He is hopeful for the passage of the measure.

BURGLARS ARE STILL AT LARGE. Walsh Visitor Evades Sheriff's Officers—Scrubwoman Robbed.

Up to last night the investigation being conducted by Sheriff Cruise's officers of the Walsh burglary at Houghton Sunday afternoon had resulted in no evidence to connect anyone with the crime.

The burglar, who succumbed to the ailments of his Walsh home in the extent that he washed up and left his collar as a souvenir, seems to have gotten away safely with the grape juice and the cigars that constituted the loot.

The sheriff yesterday disclosed another burglary. Mary Greutz, scrubwoman at the South Shore passenger station at Houghton, was robbed two weeks ago of $20. Her house on Portage street was entered during her absence.

A GENUINE MURDER MYSTERY. Doubtful if Slayer of Oscar Nieminen Can Be Brought to Justice.

Sheriff Cruise has a genuine murder mystery in the killing of Oscar Nieminen of Mass City in Hancock. Nieminen's body, with head crushed and face badly gashed as with a knife, was found Friday noon. There has been nothing revealed since to connect anyone with the killing.

Janne Koustra was arrested Saturday night on suspicion, having been, it was said, the last person seen with Nieminen. He was detained in jail till yesterday morning, when he was released. Sheriff Cruise could find no good reason for holding him.

Nieminen was a farmer and woodsman. He sold a farm in Ontonagon county about a year ago and lent the money on mortgages. These papers were deposited in a Hancock bank, but he withdrew them Thursday and in at least one case put up a mortgage in a saloon as collateral for a small loan.

A bloody comping pin was found near the scene of the murder, but this cannot be traced to any source. Sheriff Cruise is almost willing right now to consider this case a mystery that may never be solved.

FORM INSURANCE FEDERATION. Details of the Organization Effected in Houghton Monday.

The Houghton district of the Insurance-Federation of Michigan, comprising the counties of Keweenaw, Houghton, Ontonagon, Baraga and Gogebic, was organized Monday afternoon at a meeting of insurance men at the Douglas House.

W. T. Burdick, chairman; W. C. Corbin Douglas, secretary; Fred K. Guck, Calumet, workingmen's composition; James T. Healy, Houghton, casualty; C. E. L. Thomas, Calumet, fidelity; W. C. Van Orden, surely; W. Frank James, Hancock, health; William J. John Waanti and John Brazen, Calumet, mutual; and James J. Byers, representing policy holders.

W. C. Douglas was named a member of the advisory committee. The meeting was a representative gathering of insurance men of the five counties, with an attendance of fifty-five. The principal speakers were W. S. Diggs, president of the Insurance Federation of Ohio, and Mark T. McKee, secretary of the Insurance Federation of Michigan, both of whom outlined the work of their respective organizations.

"The Insurance Federation of this state was founded," said Mr. Diggs, "for the purpose of uniting and welding into one great, fraternal, co-operative and progressive association the thousands of Michigan citizens who are directly and indirectly engaged or interested in the insurance business. Every class of insurance is represented in the membership and each general line has equal representation on the executive committee, which shapes the policies and directs the affairs of the organization."

CANAL TO BE BEAUTIFIED. Landscape Gardener to Design a System of Decorations.

Through the suggestion of Major E. D. Beck, of Duluth, engineer in charge of Portage lake and as other Lake Superior waterways, Superintendent George H. Heat that reduces living costs!

The struggles of many a man through life seem like a journey through a howling wilderness of bills which mount so high that he can hardly see the blue sky of living economy. But one of the strangest, reckless habits of running up domestic expense is the way that many people still cling to old-fashioned heating ways which greedily eat up coal and send the heat a-flying up the chimney, rather than distributing it evenly to the rooms to comfort the folks.

"Our ideal heating will lead you out of the wilderness of high fuel costs."

AMERICAN & IDEAL RADIATORS & BOILERS

Big Builders and Real Estate men will tell you that the first question asked in buying or renting is: "How is it heated?" This is because heating is now recognized as most important.

Ever heard of any purchaser of these ideal heating outfits not getting back the full price paid for them when offering his property for sale, or not obtaining 10% to 15% larger rental? Ever heard of a banker who would not promptly loan a larger amount on property thus modernized?

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are rapidly supplanting all other methods of heating among thinking people who want to save money, and sanitarily heat their home or other building from top to bottom—automatically regulated to produce day and night the exact volume and degree of heat necessary to meet every caprice of the weather—and no fuel waste.

HOUGHTON COPPER.
The Houghton Copper company has decided to build a railroad to its property. As soon as the snow is off the ground, the work will be started. It is expected the line will be ready to haul rock by the first of May. Only half a mile of road building is required to connect with the Isle Royale-Superior Copper spur. Arrangements have been made with the Calumet & Hecla to stamp 10,000 tons of rock, which is in stockpile at the mine. Houghton should have between $15,000 and $20,000 in its treasury at present, according to Minnissar & Co. The railroad spur will cost $4,000, and the cost of stamping the 10,000 tons another $4,000. The mine is fully equipped and is opened to the ninth level. It is expected the mill test will show satisfactory results.

Division No. 4, A. O. H., will hold a meeting in Keough's Hall this evening, convening at 8 o'clock.
Gordon Thoney, of Ishpeming, has enrolled for the spring term of the Northern State Normal school.
Robert G. Tetro, of Stephenson, Mich., was in Marquette yesterday to attend the meeting of insurance men.
A party of young people will give a "laurel party" in Keough's Hall tomorrow night, starting at 9 o'clock.
Richard Olds, recorder at Ishpeming, and John T. Burns, recorder at Negaunee, were business visitors in Marquette yesterday.
The Ladies' Auxiliary to the A. O. H. will give a card party in Keough's Hall tonight at 8:30 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.
A reception was held last night at the home of R. A. Manhard for Mrs. Hattie Parsons, grand matron of the Order of the Eastern Star.
Marshall Curtis, who was called to New York several weeks ago because of the sudden death of his father, has returned to Marquette.
C. M. York and C. M. Gooding, United States inspectors of steam vessels, left yesterday afternoon for Sault Ste. Marie and Manistique to begin the spring inspections.
The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will meet in Keough's Hall at 2 o'clock this afternoon. There will be a social hour following the business session.
John J. Bogue has returned from a trip to Ottawa and Montreal. Mr. Bogue has accepted a position in Ottawa and expects to leave here with his family about May 1.—Ontonagon Herald.

Bicknell Young, C. S. B., a member of the board of trustees of the Christian Science church, will deliver a lecture at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Marquette, Thursday evening, April 15.
The Study Circle of the Woman's Welfare club will meet in the band room of the city hall this afternoon, assembling at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Charles Johnson, vice president of the Fourth precinct, will have charge.
Two Monroe roadsters were delivered by the Cleveland Auto company yesterday. One went to Charles Retailie, superintendent of the light and power department, and the other to Dr. W. S. Picotte, of Ishpeming.
Members of the North Marquette Mothers and Daughters' club and their friends were entertained at a recent meeting by Mrs. A. T. Roberts and Mrs. E. G. Rushmore. Mrs. Roberts sang three groups of songs and Mrs. Rushmore gave several selections.
Many Obtain Lodging—More than eighty persons have obtained lodging in the city just since the first of the month. With the breaking up of the logging camps in the spring there are always many seekers for lodging. The number the last week has been exceptionally large.
Debate Postponed—The debate between teams of the Marquette and Munising High schools, which was scheduled for Friday night, has been postponed until April 28. Marquette has affirmative and negative teams. One will debate here, and the other at Munising.
Peterson-Mahaffey—Miss Ida Peterson and Elmer Mahaffey, of Sands, were married at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Swedish Lutheran parsonage by Rev. Carl E. Lundgren, the pastor. Miss Marie Johnson and brother, Oscar Johnson, were the attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Mahaffey will make their home on a farm near Sands.
High School Athletics—Athletes of the high school will next week begin track work in preparation for an inter-class meet that will be held shortly before the close of the school year. Outside of the regular physical training work, the boys of the school have enjoyed no athletics since the close of the basketball season. Coach Custman is now making ready plans for the spring out-of-door work.

Extension Lecture Tonight—Professor T. C. Truethood, of the department of oratory of the University of Michigan, will deliver a lecture at the Marquette High school tonight on "Hamlet." The public is invited and there will be no admission charge. At noon today Professor Truethood will be the guest of Marquette alumni of the university at an informal dinner at the Marquette club. An Alumni association will be organized at the meeting.
Much Snow on Road—E. C. Watson, of the Cleveland Auto company, yesterday drove a Monroe roadster to Ishpeming for delivery to Dr. Picotte. It was the first car that has been driven over the road this season, and Mr. Watson says it will be some days before the road will be passable for heavy machines. Now only a light car could get through, and he doesn't believe that all light cars could make the trip. The snow is heavy from Ruble's to Eagle Mills, and is three or more feet deep in places.
PARENTS NOTIFIED.
Defects Found by Medical Inspection of Children Are Being Reported.
The health department has this week sent out several hundred notices of defects found in children as a result of medical inspection, and it asks the cooperation of the parents in correcting these abnormalities.
"It should be understood that in sending notices to parents I am not attempting to recommend the kind of treatment to be given, nor even to advise any treatment whatever," Health Officer Main said yesterday. "The family physician, or dentist, is the one to pass upon such questions. In many cases it is impossible to give definite advice from having seen the child just once, in a hurried examination. For instance, in a case of enlarged tonsils the family physician will know best whether the child is subject to attacks of tonsillitis, or the diseases that it sometimes give rise to. Parents have sometimes taken it for granted that notifications were equivalent to the advice to have the tonsils removed, but this is an erroneous conclusion."
BOWLING NOTES.
Team No. 7 Took Two Out of Three Games from No. 3 Last Night.
Team No. 3 of the Elks-City Bowling league dropped two games to team No. 7 last night. Lawrence, captain of No. 7, rolled the only "200" score. FIGHTS DIVORCE BILL.
George E. Hamilton, Who Says He's from Marquette, in Duluth Court.
R. J. Long, alias George E. Hamilton, who claims Marquette as his residence, created a stir in district court at Duluth this week when he warned the court not to issue a decree of divorce to his wife. A Duluth paper says:
"Dire calamity is likely to befall any member of the judiciary who may transgress the wishes of R. J. Long and allow his wife, Minnie Long, a divorce. Acting as his own attorney, Long yesterday filed his answer to a divorce action with the clerk of the district court. After denying in crude legal phraseology the charge of desertion preferred by his wife, he sounds a note of warning to the judiciary. Says he: 'If any court grants the plaintiff the decree without the defendant being present the defendant will hold said court strictly "responsible" for such decree.'
"Long says that he is not Long, but that his name is George E. Hamilton and that he obtained a legal change of name in the state of Michigan in 1895. He makes several odd demands in his answer which are unusual to the code of procedure in Minnissar. He insists that his wife be required to give a bond before her suit for divorce be heard.
"The case will go on the May calendar and it will be up to Mr. Long or Mr. Hamilton to appear on the day it is set for trial, or the divorce will be granted by default if his wife presses her case.
"Long, alias Hamilton, lives in Marquette, Mich. His answer to his wife's complaint was received by the district court through the mail."

SOUTH LAKE.
Minnear & Co. say: One who is closely connected with South Lake affairs feels that no further funds will be necessary and that inside of ninety days, if aggressive operations are decided upon, the mine ought to be self-sustaining. South Lake at present has a number of openings in good ground, and with the installation of a larger compressor, as is contemplated, it will only take a short while before the mine will be in a position to furnish from 400 to 500 tons of rock a day.
INSPIRATION.
Inspiration is shortly to commence the production of copper after an expenditure of several million dollars for development and construction. The development of the property has proved about 73,000,000 tons of ore of 1.71 per cent copper tenor, which on contemplated basis operations should give the property a productive career of from eighteen to twenty years. It is estimated that company will be able to produce its copper at a cost of 8 cents per pound, and on this basis should earn $4.50 per share on 13-cent copper, with additional earnings of about $1 per share for each advance of a cent per pound in the price of copper. GERMANS FOLLOW NAPOLEON'S PLAN

In 1812, as Now, East Front Was from Galicia to Niemen—Old Methods Revived.

London, March 25.—[Correspondence]—The military correspondent of the Times gives an interesting parallel between the German campaign in Poland today and Napoleon's campaign in 1812: "Though the isolated and disconnected attacks of the Germans in the Warsaw region and elsewhere have given the impression that the enemy is fighting like a wildcat in a cage and striving to break out where he can, we must accept the evidence of recent events, and the admissions of German publicists, which point to an intention, at all events, to prosecute a more general and more orderly offensive than the initial movements and combats appeared to indicate. The general situation of the opposing forces in the eastern theater bears a certain resemblance to that of June 1812, and we might do worse than study that campaign, whether in its fresh and fascinating pages of Fozensau or the Segur or elsewhere.

"Then, as now, the front of the opposing armies was immense and extended from Galicia to the Niemen, Schwarzenberg and his Austrians, issuing from Galicia, represent the armies under the Archduke Eugene; the army of Westphalia marching on Warsaw and Bialystok is paralleled by Von Mackensen's command; the viceroy of Italy, further to the left, is reproduced by the German force on the right bank of the Vistula; the Emperor Napoleon, Murat, and the dukes and princes who came from Thurn and Taxis, stand for the new German forces which Von Hindenburg is crowding into Masurienland; while lastly, Macdonald with his Prussians in front of Tilsit, his counterpart in the German force which is already across the Memel and will act, no doubt, as Macdonald acted before.

"There is evidently nothing new under the sun, and the Germans, in default of a great strategist of their own, have become plagiarists and have stolen a page out of history. "Napoleon's opinion, says Segur, was that the Russian position behind the Niemen was neither offensive nor defensive; that the Russian army, being much scattered, might be surprised and dispersed, as afterward happened, and that an abrupt and direct attack on Kovno and Vilna, might cut off the southern Russian armies from their line of retreat. We need not continue the parallel for the excellent reason that future events are not yet revealed to us, but in general the German design appears to follow, without benefit of a Napoleon, Napoleon's plan.

"The Germans have even been more fortunate than the great emperor in one respect, for if they have no Polish letters to swim the Niemen to their death and no Lithuanians to receive them with open arms, they have at least bought Turkey and have a sporting chance that their right rear may come from Thurn and Taxis. "I have not been busy enough with this right rear and have made mistakes there. Policy and strategy on this side have not marched hand in hand. There will be more to be said upon this subject later on.

"Much evidently now depends upon the German reinforcements, and also much upon the Russian dispositions. As to the first, we have as yet no news that the German forces in the west have been recently reduced by more than the equivalent of four army corps which were mentioned by the writer some three weeks ago—namely, the Second army corps, Third reserve corps and four other divisions. The writer also remarked that some six army corps of new formation might be expected from Germany in the spring, and this figure appears in our telegrams from Petrograd during the last two days. It is early for them to appear, and probably their construction is not very robust. Whether they are all on their way to the east we cannot yet say, but the German writer who declares that the result will depend upon whether all the new German formations are sent east or not, is certainly worth listening to.

PROPOSALS MONOPOLY IN NITROGENOUS PRODUCTS

Berlin, March 25.—[Correspondence of the Associated Press.]—The government has laid before the Reichstag (now in recess until May) a bill for creating a national monopoly in nitrogenous products—nitrate of soda and potash, and sulphate of ammonia. This measure will give the government the exclusive right to deal in the products mentioned for seven years. Its purpose is to secure ample supplies for two purposes—for manufacturing explosives, and for making artificial fertilizers. Hitherto the German powder and explosives have been dependent upon Chilean nitrate, and very large quantities of it were also used by the farmers. As it cannot now be imported the government realizes that comprehensive and energetic measures must be taken to make a substitute at home, and so it proposes to recover nitrogen from the atmosphere on a large scale. Processes have already been worked out by German scientists by which nitrogen can be obtained even more cheaply than by importing it from Chile, provided the recovering plants be built on a sufficiently big scale. Several private ones are already operating successfully. The government proposes to establish such plants and operate them itself, and it expresses its confidence of being able to sell fertilizers at lower prices than have heretofore paid. The question is left open whether the monopoly shall be extended beyond 1922, when the proposed law would otherwise lapse.

THE SMALL TOWN.

Now, living is the most important business that a man has to do. He picks out a place for it with the same care that he picks out a location for a factory, a store or an office, and whenever it is possible for the best, he picks out a small town, unless he is one of those foolish persons who think that joy is to be found in a cabaret, pleasure in a crowd. If the normal man can not take up his residence in a small community, that is his doom of the future.

TYPHUS IN SERBIA IS GREAT PROBLEM

Disease Is Spreading and Danger Exists It Will Be Carried Abroad.

Belgrade, March 25.—[Correspondence of the Associated Press.]—All reports in Belgrade indicate that typhus is gaining ground throughout Serbia. Over a hundred doctors have died from it, as well as 60,000 of the population, mostly women. It was only a few months ago that the disease was brought into the country, probably in December by the Austrian prisoners, with vermin in their clothing. There were over 40,000 wounded Austrian prisoners after the battles of Valjevo and Belgrade. These men were taken into the same hospital with the Serbian troops and cared for by the same doctors and nurses. Working in these hospital wards, with vermin in their clothing, there were over 40,000 wounded Austrian prisoners after the battles of Valjevo and Belgrade. These men were taken into the same hospital with the Serbian troops and cared for by the same doctors and nurses. Working in these hospital wards, with vermin in their clothing, there were over 40,000 wounded Austrian prisoners after the battles of Valjevo and Belgrade.

Owing to the lack of sufficient clothing especially of uniforms, soldiers who have been dismissed from the hospitals and allowed to return to their homes have been given the same clothing they wore when they came into the hospital. This in many cases was doubtless already infected with the body parasite which carries the typhus and which is able to lie dormant for weeks. It comes to life as soon as it comes in contact with the heat of the body. In this way the disease has been carried to distant villages, so that thousands are dying on outlying farms, to which no efficient aid can be sent by the government, owing to the insufficiency of doctors, nurses, transportation facilities, and especially of tents and clothing for isolating the cases. The need of the latter is urgent. The Red Cross Sanitary Commission has supplied the necessary scientific knowledge, the surgeons and nurses are offering their services to go into the danger zone, even though it has been stated that the chances of death are sixty per cent greater than they are in the trenches, but unless the necessary tents and clothing are to be had immediately the work of the commission must fail of any but nominal result.

SIEGE GUN HIGHLY EFFECTIVE AT TSING-TAU.

Tokio, March 25.—[Correspondence of the Associated Press.]—The announcement by the war department that one of the lessons of the capture of Tsing-tau was the effectiveness of the siege gun which was brought into play on the anniversary of the Emperor's birth, makes interesting some particulars concerning this weapon which appear in the Japan Magazine.

The details of the gun's construction are guarded secrets, but it is announced that the cannon is the invention of an artillery officer of the Imperial Army, Col. Ogata, who had been working on his idea for some time prior to the war. As soon as the move against Germany began the inventor set out for Tsing-tau on a ship bearing his gun, with a view to setting it up and having it ready for action on the Emperor's birthday. It was on that date that it sent its first shells into German forts with telling effect. Instead of bursting into fragments at the first impact the shell penetrated far into the objects struck, burst them apart and then scattered the pieces in all directions. It proved itself much more powerful and destructive than the guns used at the siege of Port Arthur.

Pointing out that the main work of good siege guns is to strip an enemy's guns of shields and redoubts, the magazine declares that the new Japanese gun did this in short order at Tsing-tau. A careful study of the effects of the gun shows that but for its work Tsing-tau would have withstood the siege much longer than it did.

ANCIENT MEMORIES CROWN DARDANELLES

"It is only some thirty-five hours from the Pirens to Constantinople, but what a vista of memories," writes Lieut. Col. J. P. Barry in his book, "At the Gates of the East," "rebiles and gathers round each spot you pass in crossing the upper waters of the Aegean! As you near the island of Tenedos, with its pretty town that looks from the sea like a pocket edition of Ragusa, you are abreast of the Troas, and from the Hill of Elias you can descry the Plains of Troy." Where the man asks the landlady, who, "having fed on the manna that fell like a gentle dew," from "the clypeum of the classics, can realize without emotion that he is within five miles of them, the site of the Trojan war, the scene of those insipid legends in the anthologies? Darius, Pinar, Achilles, Hector, Andromache, Penthesilea, Queen of the Amazons, Nestor, sage in council, and Agamemnon king of men, how they all lie past along you deserted plain with all their greatness. "And away in the middle distance to the right," he continues, "watching in absorbed reverie the procession of the heroes and seated on a broken shield, is the most venerable figure of them all—only a trowbridge, Homer, the immortal, Prince of Troubadours," spinning the whole story into hexameters with all the music and pathos of the sea those old Greeks loved so well.

"At the back of the Sigeon promontory which forms the Asiatic entrance to the Dardanelles is a wide sweep of sandy foreshore, where in days of old a fleet of yavels—or triremes were not yet—might have been easily beached, and the Greek warriors could disembark in

MAY MAKE OVER HIGHWAY LAWS

Would Have Road Department in Administrative Charge—Changes in Routes.

Lansing, April 6.—Trunk wagon line building is one of the big problems the legislature has to deal with each session. Before the senate committee on roads is a bill to change the law so that the state highway department an... not the Michigan legislature shall perform this administrative duty. No committee in the legislature has had so much work thrown upon its hands as the committee on roads and bridges. Every section of the state wants a trunk line, with subsidiary lines connecting with the main roadways. The road committee is continually under pressure, with no one objecting either, for changes in the trunk line highways.

West Michigan Trunk.

The house committee, Representative De Prato, chairman, has agreed to report out the bill to change the West Michigan trunk line which runs through Grand Rapids to the west by way of Leonard street so as to follow the Grand Rapids-Muskegon interurban electric line to Coopersville and then to Grand Haven, and not by the way of Bridge street to the Grand river ferry and to Allandale, with a turn north to Eastmanville. This change, the committee believes, will benefit a larger number of persons with far less cost to build the road. To follow the old route, it is said, would

Here Is Good News for Stomach Victims

Some very remarkable results are being obtained by treating stomach, liver and intestinal troubles with pure vegetable oils, which exert a cleansing, soothing and purifying action upon the lower bowels, removing the obstructions of poisonous fecal matter and gases and preventing their absorption by the blood. This done, the food is allowed free passage from the stomach, fermentation ceases and stomach troubles quickly disappear. George H. Mayr, for twenty years a leading Chicago druggist, cured himself and many of his friends of stomach, liver and intestinal troubles of years' standing by this treatment, and so successful was the remedy he devised that it has since been placed in the hands of druggists all over the country, who have sold thousands of bottles. Though absolutely harmless, the effect of the medicine is sufficient to convince any one of its remarkable effectiveness, and within 24 hours the sufferer feels like a new person. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is sold by leading druggists everywhere with the positive understanding that your money will be refunded without question or quibble if ONE bottle fails to give you absolute satisfaction.

Many Urging Change.

There were before the house committee a large delegation of Kent and Ottawa farmers to urge that this change be made, and the committee has agreed to so recommend. With the date for adjournment set for the last week in April, it is plainly apparent that many bills in committee will not be reported out. As a result, to escape the final deluge of pigeon-holed bills, both senators and representatives are making extra efforts to have their pet bills sent out.

In the public health committee it is said there are more than a score of bills already carefully tucked away for the usual two-year's sleep. Bills before the insurance and state affairs committees, however, will practically all be sent out.

The killing of the freemen's vacation bill in the house was not done because members are against the principle involved. It was said that the matter came squarely under the home rule provisions, and that each city could enact ordinances as it liked to cover the matters contained in the proposed state law.

Agree to Ashley's Bill.

Representative Ashley's bill to abolish boards of supervisors and to establish for the governing bodies in counties a smaller body, to be known as a county commission, has been agreed to in committee of the whole. There is every prospect that this bill will pass the house.

LITTLE TYPHOID IN PARIS.

Paris, March 16.—[Correspondence of the Associated Press.]—Vital statistics show there were only 17 cases of typhoid in Paris last week. The average for the season is 32. There were no deaths from smallpox and no new cases. Scarletina also showed a decrease and the sanitary condition of the city generally was called remarkably good. In the towns of the war zone extraordinary precautions are being taken to prevent the outbreak of epidemics with the coming of warm weather. The sanitary department of the army is co-operating with the local authorities on the battlefield of the Marne. Some apprehension was felt concerning this region because of the vast number of dead, insufficiently covered, and the number of bodies unrecovered from the rivers Marne, Grand Morin and Ouse. A great many men who were employed digging trenches around the entrenched camp of Paris will be occupied in the work.

OPPOSE WOMEN WAITERS.

Paris, March 20.—[Correspondence of the Associated Press.]—Paris waiters are up in arms against a proposition to extend the employment of women in restaurants and cafes. Heretofore women have been admitted to a certain class of popular priced restaurants and to recently established bars, only. The mobilization took a great many waiters and it was suggested their places might be taken advantageously by women. The waiters hold that there is no necessity for it as business is much reduced. They fear the introduction of women now would develop serious labor conflicts after the war.

smooth waters. This seems a likelier spot for such an enterprise than along the coast where the cliffs are too steep for harboring the galleys of antiquity. The shallow curve of Besika Bay would be poor protection for them. The Dardanelles and Bosphorus form a continuous rocky deep sea canal bordered by rocky windward shore interrupted only by the vast expansion of the Sea of Marmora, which takes a steamer six hours to cross. As you approach Constantinople from the Marmora the European shore looms afar as an uninteresting flat with no break of hills on the horizon. For the Greek warriors could disembark in their pretty seaside towns and line on line of low mountains far beyond, half lost in the blue depths of haze, make the Asiatic side a dream of wonder in the twilight. Then as you near Stamboul and descry the bastioned and terraced walls of Theodosius all interest swerves to the European shore, and for the last twelve miles of the Marmora you get an unrivaled view of the massive outlines of St. Sophia. Here alone has it the appearance of being lifted into the sky line on a separate hill with its tier of tier of cyclopean masonry and its Byzantine note of semi-domes in clusters round the mother dome."

DESPERATE DEED SET SWISS FREE

Sixteen hundred ill-armed men and boys—farmers, mountaineers and other peasants, for the most part—stood in disorderly array on the hill slope above the marsh of Semnach, Switzerland, July 9, 1836, to check the advance of 6,000 Austrian veterans. Swiss liberty was at stake.

Switzerland, then, as now, was a patch of land made up of high mountains and deep valleys, wholly surrounded by countries many times larger and more powerful than itself. It is seemingly a mere mouthful for the war dogs. Yet it is free. It is a strange little nation, split up into twenty-two tiny states—states which differ from one another in language, politics, creed, industries and in almost every other possible way.

Yet these myriad differences do not prevent the state—or "cantons"—from forming one compact unit, welded together by centuries of strife and bloodshed and constant peril from the stronger outside world.

Naturally in early days this "half-portion" realm was the prey of a half-dozen mighty powers. And, of all these, Austria oppressed the Swiss more cruelly and more frequently than did any other bullies.

On the old idea that union spells strength, the men of the Schwyz valley asked some of the other cantons to join them in a federation of defense. The league that was then formed was known as the Schwyz federation—whence the word "Swiss" was derived.

The federation's troops annihilated and drove back a punitive expedition from Austria. The victory led other cantons to join the league. It also incited Austria to revenge the defeat.

So in 1336 the Archduke Leopold III led an army across the mountain passes into Switzerland, to smash forever the patriots' audacious hopes of independence.

Signal fires and cowhorn blasts warned the mountaineers of their danger. They hurried to the defense of their threatened homes.

The Swiss and Austrian forces came together near Semnach, the invaders outnumbering the defenders by nearly four to one, besides being far better armed, equipped and disciplined.

The battlefield was partly on a hill slope and partly on a marsh. The ground was irregular and broken by rivulets, hedges and patches of swamp. And this gave the Swiss their first and only real advantage. For the Austrian cavalry and the heavy armed infantry could not move swiftly or skillfully over such a doubtful footing. The light armed Swiss mountaineers had all the best of the maneuvering.

Yet for a time this profited them little. By weight and by force of numbers the Austrian phalanx drove its way forward, pushing back its dazedly ineffective opponents. The Swiss could not hold their own against the unbroken line of long spears with which the Austrian ranks bristled. And little by little their scattered ranks were surrounding the patriotic band, crushing in on it like the steel-edged teeth of a trap. The Swiss raged in vain against that double wall of pointed steel.

At the moment of dire stress a knight of the Underwald, Arnold von Winkelried, saved the day. Shouting, "Make way for liberty!" he rushed upon the Austrian line, his outspread arms gathering to his breast as many spearpoints as he could reach.

Von Winkelried fell with twenty spearheads in his body. But through the opening poured the Swiss, stabbing, cutting, hammering the enemy.

The Austrian formation was thrown into the wildest disarray. Unable to hold their ground, the invaders sought to fall back and reform their crumpled line. But they could not. The Swiss were among them like a horde of maniacs, slaying and wounding, with no thought of their own safety. The Austrian retreat speedily became an Austrian rout. The Swiss pursued the flying enemy, inflicting fearful slaughter, driving the Austrians out of the canton and eventually out of Switzerland.

The events of one day and the heroism of one man had made a nation free.

MIAMI

Notwithstanding the curtailment, Miami last year produced its copper at an average cost of 11 and one-third cents a pound. At intervals the cost has been about 8½ cents, while the ultimate cost is expected to be at least 8 cents a pound on a production of 50,000,000 pounds a year. The company is understood to have sold copper well ahead at good prices.

MORE DAYLIGHT PLAN IN ABEYANCE AWHILE

Setting of Clocks Ahead Contingent Upon Action of County's Other Cities.

At the meeting of the city council this evening a resolution from the Ishpeming Advancement association will be presented, asking the officials to confer with those in Marquette and Negaunee relative to setting the clocks one hour ahead. Members of the Advancement association yesterday discussed the matter at considerable length.

The matter was proposed to the council last month, but so much opposition developed that it was yesterday decided to modify the association's position. The change in time will now be contingent upon the action of the city officials in the neighboring cities.

Postoffice Finishings.

The association will also ask the city officials to take up with the government architect the matter of changing the design of the ornamental stone on the exterior of the new postoffice building. The business men believe that the appearance of the building can be greatly improved at small expense. They are informed that the appropriation was in excess of the contract price for the building and interior equipment.

The municipal committee was instructed to confer with the officials of the Chicago & Northwestern and Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railway companies relative to the further improvement of the right-of-way in the business district. This work was started last season, but there is still considerable to be done.

REPUBLICAN VOTE LARGE.

In the election Monday 1,299 votes were cast in Ishpeming for the Republican nominee for justice of the supreme court, and the nominee for that office on the Progressive party's ticket received 327 votes. The Democratic nominee polled 150; the Prohibition nominee fifty-eight and the Socialist nominee seventy-seven.

Simon Anderson, who had no opposition for the office of county commissioner of schools, polled 1,395 votes in this city. He was ninety-three at the time of his election.

The vote polled in the Third ward by William St. John, who was elected to the office of justice of the peace, was 232, giving him a majority of 815, in stead of 810.

DIED IN ELY.

William Prin yesterday received a telegram informing him of the death in Ely, Minn., of Martin Prisk, a former resident of this city. Mr. Prin was asked to notify William Prisk, of Palmer, of his brother's death, also that the funeral will be held in Ely, where the deceased had lived for some years past. Mr. Prisk lived at Humboldt more than thirty years ago and he moved from there to the copper country, where he resided until his death, also that the funeral will be held in Ely, where the deceased had lived for some years past. Mr. Prisk lived at Humboldt thirty-three years ago and she was buried in the Ishpeming cemetery. William Prisk will leave Palmer today for Ely to attend the funeral.

"POTASH AND PERLMUTTER"

For two seasons theatergoers have been hearing with interest of the wonderful success in New York city of "Potash and Perlmutter," the quaint comedy constructed about the characters and incidents in Montague Glass' famous Saturday Evening Post stories, and now at last they are to enjoy for themselves this, the most popular play of the generation, Manager A. H. Woods will present "Potash and Perlmutter" at the Ishpeming theatre on next Wednesday evening. No play that has been introduced here in many years needs less introduction than this up-to-date garment in three pieces, trimmed with a thousand laughs and guaranteed to fit all sizes and ages.

DEATH AT DORRIDE.

In the death of John Ryan at Dorride yesterday, one of the oldest residents of the west end of the county joined the vast majority. Mr. Ryan passed away at the home of his son, Joseph. He was an octogenarian. Nearly half of Mr. Ryan's eighty-two years were spent at Michigan. He removed to Dorride last fall. The funeral will be held at Michigan Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Rev. Father Hassenberg will conduct the services. Interment will be in Lake View cemetery.

CITY COMMENCES ANNUAL CLEAN-UP

Men and Teams Are at Work Plowing the Ice in the Business Streets.

The highway department has started the annual spring clean-up, and a number of men will be employed the greater part of the month, cleaning the streets and alleys. Much ice remains in the streets, particularly in parts of the business district, and men were put to work yesterday on Main street and Cleveland avenue breaking up the ice and opening drains that froze over during the cold weather of the past ten days. The ice on parts of Cleveland avenue, Main and Division streets is from one to four feet deep.

After the clean-up in the downtown district is finished the streets and alleys in other parts of the city will be given attention. Health Officer Vandeventer is preparing a notice, calling on householders to clean up within a given time. As the ashes have been removed from the alleys throughout the winter it will not take long to go over the residence districts, once the alleys are dry, though there will be many hundreds of loads of rubbish to be removed from yards. The greater part of this will be hauled away at the property owners' expense.

Work on the new sewer is progressing favorably, and an average of from fifty to sixty men are employed on the job. The plan of alternating the crews every other week is being continued, and will likely be followed until the sewer is completed, unless the unemployed are given work at the mines.

Applying for Jobs at Oliver.

A number of applications for work have been made at the Oliver office since last Saturday, when it was announced that the forces would be increased as soon as the shipping season opened. Superintendent F. K. Keese has announced that the former Oliver men will be given the preference. Additional men required will be selected from those most in need of employment.

The officers of the United Charities organization in Negaunee yesterday presented Superintendent Keese with a list of unemployed men of that city whom they had found in need of work, asking him to give them places at the Prince of Wales property. Captain Keese gave the visitors to understand that the company's former workmen in Negaunee will be taken care of first. After they are placed men whose names are on the list will be considered.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

H. F. Handford, of Marquette, visited his friend, P. P. Chase, in the city yesterday.

Harvey Scanlon, who spent Easter with Ishpeming friends, has returned to Fond du Lac, Wis.

Tom Cole, who spent the winter here, has returned to Keaton, to resume his position as chauffeur for Dr. C. F. Moll.

The bricklayers employed at the post-office are idle, awaiting the arrival of a carload of cement, which was expected here last week.

The annual ball of Uniform Rank of Zenith Lodge, Knights of Pythias, given Monday night in Anderson Hall, was a success, socially and financially.

The funeral of the late John Bettison was held yesterday afternoon from the First Methodist Episcopal church. Services were conducted by Rev. N. C. Karr, the pastor.

E. R. Nelson yesterday shipped a Franklin touring car to the auto show at Calumet. He and Earl Leininger will go to the copper country tomorrow to attend the show.

Charles Simons Monday purchased a Res touring car from the Forell Auto Sales company. Dr. Braden of the Ishpeming hospital staff, has given the Forell company an order for a Ford roadster.

T. F. Wettmann, who accompanied his wife to the city a few weeks ago, left last evening for his home in Seattle, Wash. Mrs. Wettmann, whose mother, the late Mrs. Urgan Lavigne, was buried Monday, will remain here for a month longer.

A regular meeting of the city council will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock. Another meeting will be held tomorrow evening to canvass the vote in Monday's election. At tonight's session the annual report of the finance committee will be submitted.

Both Junior A teams of the Gwinn club, which played Junior A teams of the Y. M. C. A. here Monday afternoon, were defeated. The score of the game between the two first teams was 71 to 29 and the score of the contest between the second teams was 29 to 12.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Margaret Malloy, held yesterday morning from St. John's church, was largely attended. The services were conducted by Rev. J. A. Keul, the pastor, who spoke briefly on the life of the deceased, who had been a devout member of the church during the forty years or more that she lived in Ishpeming.

The choir of the Finnish Lutheran church, on Ridge street, will give an entertainment in the church tomorrow evening, commencing at 8 o'clock, when a program, consisting of selections by the choir, vocal solos, duets and quartets, also piano solos and duets, will be rendered. Everybody welcome. Admission twenty-five cents.

HOKAN JOHNSON PASSES.

National Man Who Had Been an Invalid Thirty Years Died Monday.

Hokan Johnson, an old resident of the National Mine location, who had been an invalid from paralysis for the past thirty years, died Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Eight years ago Mr. Johnson fell and fractured his leg and he had been confined to his bed continuously since that time. He was a native of Sweden, where he was born seventy-six years ago, and he came to Ishpeming in 1869. He was a charter member of the Swedish Lutheran church society here. There are now but few of the charter members living, among them being John Wahlman of Minneapolis, formerly of this city. For some years prior to his illness, Mr. Johnson was employed as a carpenter at one of the mines at the National.

Mr. Johnson is survived by his widow, two sons and three daughters. One of his sons, Albert Johnson, lives at home, and the other, Henry, resides in Minnesota. The daughters are Mrs. B. T. Leinen of the National; Mrs. Agnes Fjeldberg of Gwinn, and Mrs. Emil Senoh of the National.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Swedish Lutheran church.

ern Power company as well. The dinners usually consist of soup, meat, potatoes, a side dish of vegetables, such as peas, beans or carrots, bread and butter, tea, coffee or milk, and dessert, all served for the nominal price of fifteen cents. Those who do not want dessert obtain their meal for ten cents. Thirty-five to forty-five people are served each noon, and it keeps two persons busy to cook and serve table. The hot lunch plan helps to bring the employer closer in touch with the employed, removes any little difficulties between men in the plant, besides saving time and energy to the men who would otherwise take their meals to work with them. Instead of an hour for dinner, as was the custom before the company undertook to play host, a half-hour is now given, and the men are off duty thirty minutes earlier in the afternoon. This gives them an extra half-hour of the best time of the day.

F. H. BERG BUYS HOME.

F. H. Berg yesterday purchased John Erickson's new dwelling on North Third street, and his family will take possession of it before the close of the week. Mr. Erickson and his family will board until he completes the erection of a dwelling on a lot he owns on East Cleveland avenue. The interior of the house bought by Mr. Berg is finished in quarter-sawn oak. Mr. Erickson, who is in the contracting business in partnership with his father, Louis Erickson, built it last year. Mr. Berg and his family have lived in the dwelling owned by the Mission church society, South Third street, for the past several years.

MATINEE PROGRAM TODAY.

As the films for the feature, "Children of the Ghetto," did not arrive in time for the matinee at Ishpeming theater yesterday, they will be shown at the matinee this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in conjunction with the sixteenth episode of the "$20,000,000 Mystery." This will make a special program, in addition to the vaudeville.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our appreciation of the many favors and the sympathy extended by Ishpeming, as well as out-of-town, friends during our recent bereavement. We feel under very great obligations to friends for floral offerings.

BORING FOR AN HOUR INTO HIS OWN SKULL

How a Spartan Surgeon Performed an Operation to Save Himself from Madness.

Chicago, April 5.—"I kept my head pressed against the back of my chair for support and with one of my surgical knives I made a small incision above my left eye, then with a little gimlet I began drilling into my cranium. I bored for one hour and five minutes."

Blind, half dazed, not knowing how severely he was injured, and relying solely on his sense of touch to guide him, he finished his work, helped to carry the patient from the operating table to the next room and instructed the nurse how to care for her.

PANAMA RAILWAY PLANS. railway is losing from $30,000 to $60,000 a month which is due to the lack of traffic across the isthmus from which the railway obtains anything like paying revenue. It carried out the proposed step may eliminate the Panama Railroad Steamship line boats from using the canal. Instead they will make their destination at Cristobal as before the canal was opened for traffic. The steamship line is still making money and, it is stated, would continue to do so even with the loss of the through trans-isthmian freight.

RAILROADS WOULD STOP TRESPASSING. From time to time the interstate commerce commission issues a statement concerning the number of persons killed by the railroads of the United States, and each time some effort is made to show that by far the greater number of fatalities are due to trespassing and not to railroad accidents. But it seems that the country has not been able to impress this fact very much upon the public mind. There is said to be a tendency to think only of passengers killed and to intimate that the railroads are very careless of human life.

An Abscess in the Brain. He groped to his medicine case, his remarkable sense of touch again his only guide. Fumbling among knives and saws and vials he found what he needed to relieve the stress of pain. His nerves were still steady, there was no other doctor in Kahoka to attend him, so he set his own nose and bandaged his eye.

Opponents of George Yonkosky Charge Illegal Practices in Negaunee Township. Political opponents of George Yonkosky, elected supervisor in Negaunee township Monday, assert that the election in that township was attended by serious violations of the law, and they assert that quo warranto proceedings may be undertaken, to have the election declared invalid. They charge, among other things, that a legal objection to the election was unheeded by Yonkosky partisans, who took possession of the ballots and then violated the law by installing an election board the members of which were candidates for office.

INSURANCE MEN ARE ORGANIZED

Forty or More Representatives from Five Counties Assembled at the Marquette Club Yesterday Afternoon to Consider Plans for Work Extension.

W. S. Diggs, President of Insurance Federation of Ohio, Told of the Objects and Purposes of the Association, and Its Benefits—P. W. Phelps Presided

Some forty insurance men from the counties of Marquette, Alger, Dickinson, Delta and Menominee met in Marquette yesterday to consider plans for extending the work of the Insurance Federation of Michigan to this district. As a result of the discussion, the Marquette representatives organized this county at once, and it was agreed that the other counties with delegates present would effect similar organizations as soon as they can get around to it.

The Marquette county branch has the following officers and committee chairmen: Chairman—P. W. Phelps, Marquette. Secretary—O. J. Welch, Marquette. Fraternal—James Patterson, Marquette. Life—George Tucker, Marquette. Fire—James F. Mullins, Ishpeming. Casualty—Thomas Lattestad, Ishpeming. Surety—John J. Hauserman, Negaunee.

Workers' compensation—O. J. Welch, Marquette. Fidelity—C. Meiller, Negaunee. Health and accident—Thomas Treloar, Marquette. Policy holders—F. H. Begole, Marquette. Advisory counsel—P. W. Phelps, Marquette.

W. S. Diggs, president of the Insurance Federation of Ohio, who has been foremost in promoting the federation, which now embraces the insurance men in twelve states, was the principal speaker yesterday. Mark T. McKee, secretary of the Michigan federation and the Michigan Fraternal congress, was also one of the speakers. P. W. Phelps presided at the sessions, which were held at the Marquette club.

"The Insurance Federation of Michigan is conceived with the idea that the interests of the policyholders, agents and companies are one," Mr. Diggs said, "and that in laboring for the interests of the policyholders, the agents and companies are doing the best for themselves, as well."

Tells of Federation. "The federation has been formed for the purpose of uniting and welding into one great fraternal, co-operative and protective association the thousands of Michigan citizens who are directly or indirectly engaged, or interested, in the insurance business.

"Every class of insurance is represented in the membership, and each general line will have, as it now has, equal representation on the executive committee, which shapes the policy and directs the affairs of the association. Every insurance worker and policyholder in Michigan will be directly benefited by the efforts of the federation.

"Through education, co-operation and organization the federation seeks to bring the policy holders, the insurance agent and the insurance companies to a fuller realization of the fact that they have a mutual interest in any activity which has for its object the advancement of the general cause of insurance and the protection of that cause against destructive acts or measures, public or private.

"The Insurance Federation of Michigan is always ready to defend the best interest of insurance and to oppose that which is harmful and vicious, and is formed.

"To educate the public to a fair view of proper insurance methods. "To promote and protect the interests of the insurer and the insured. "To establish and maintain high, clean standards of professional conduct among the insurance workers of Michigan. "To eliminate and correct evils or abuses which may creep into the insurance business. "To educate and inform the public as to the particular benefit of each form of insurance and thus make it easier for the insurance writer to procure business. "To promote and foster a spirit of fraternalism and mutual helpfulness among the insurance workers of the state. "To co-operate with the public in the enactment and enforcement of just and beneficial insurance laws."

WILL RETURN TO BELGIUM. Refugees in Marquette Are Notified It Is Safe to Return.

Sisters Marguerite and Augustine, formerly stationed in a convent in Belgium, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vandenberg, all of whom have been guests at the home of Fred Donckers since their arrival in Marquette five or six months ago from Antwerp, will leave Friday for their native land. The sisters had been advised by the mother superior that it was safe to return. Similar advices to Frank Nys from friends in Belgium were to the effect the party could return at their convenience. Several of the refugees are related to Mr. Donckers.

Alphonse Vanterbroek, a Belgian boy, who came here with the party, has decided to remain in Marquette, for the time being at least. He is favorably impressed with the United States, as are those whom he accompanied here, and possibly may make his home in this city.

DRYS TO FIGHT IN MARQUETTE COUNTY

Will Enter It Next Year, Unless State Wide Campaign Changes Present Plans.

The latest word from Alger county is to the effect that it will try by vote, this was the claim of the drys late yesterday, and they were so sure of their ground that they wired the state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league that they would not need an attorney to look after their interests.

The outcome of the election was yesterday the subject of conflicting reports, it having been asserted earlier in the day that the vote was a tie, and that the county would, therefore, remain wet. The returns to date are unofficial and the official finding will not be made until the board of supervisors canvasses the vote next week. It is said, however, that there is agreement over all disputed ballots, and as there can be no recount in a local option election, the drys regard their apparent victory as assured.

Much interest was shown here yesterday in the Alger county result by both wets and drys and there was eager inquiry for news from there. The results of the local option elections in the three upper peninsula counties were generally regarded as surprising, particularly the overwhelming defeat of the wets in Iron.

To Enter Marquette. According to Marquette men interested in the movement, the results in the upper peninsula mean that the local option campaign will next year be carried into several other counties north of the straits. Only one thing, they say, might prevent this, namely, a decision on the part of the drys to concentrate their effort on state wide prohibition, if the legislature decides to submit this question in 1916.

"Marquette county will certainly see another local option contest if the drys enter any upper peninsula counties," one of their number, familiar with the plans of the state leaders of the Anti-Saloon movement, said yesterday. "And petitions will also be circulated in Delta and Dickinson counties. Two or three other upper peninsula counties will, in all probability, also be entered. The results this year are most reassuring to the drys. They indicate that the movement is being supported by vastly increasing numbers of men who are not prohibitionists. This is what is giving it its strength."

Last fall the drys seriously considered circulating petitions in Marquette county. In fact some of them had already been put out when it was decided that it would be better to put off the campaign for a year. But those interested in the movement say that the only thing that can stand in the way of

was thought that "what's everybody's business is nobody's business," in short that the campaign would drag along in a haphazard way. "There happened to be among the leaders a few men used to managing big business, Mr. Woodworth and Chas. E. Lawrence as examples, and they declared for a manager, with the result that Baxter Brown, of Owosso, was engaged to manage the campaign. The very first thing Mr. Brown did after he got here was to organize the Iron County Welfare association. This organization was incorporated and took over the entire campaign.

The hiring of Mr. Brown put an entirely different face on the matter. He came here with the purpose of fighting the liquor traffic and would listen to no other suggestion or effort. His first act was to rid the campaign of any political or sectarian influence. Then he went after the financial end, and didn't rest until the money was in his hand. We are told unofficially that the campaign estimate was $5,000. Men came forward liberally with contributions. Most of the mining companies came across. One of the supporters of the movement was told, drew his check for $500 and told the committee that in case of necessity he could be drawn upon for $2,500. "Mr. Brown has displayed marked ability in the work."

LIQUOR INTERESTS FORCED THE FIGHT

Diamond Drill Says Their "Boneheads" Precipitated Campaign in Iron County.

In an article in last week's issue, prior to the election, the Crystal Falls Diamond Drill told how the local option campaign that resulted in the county going dry came to be undertaken in Iron county, as follows:

"Big trees from little acorns grow. The local option contest in Iron county originated in small things, among those the admission to the saloon dealers who were shut out by the council of the city of Crystal Falls, a contest among brewery agents and the licensing and locating of a saloon in front of the residence of George L. Woodworth at Iron River. All of these moves were head-on plays that could have been, and ought to have been, frowned upon by the liquor dealers themselves.

"In Crystal Falls the council acted wisely in selecting only the worthiest applicants for license after the supreme court decision had down the lines. One member of the council, I. H. Jackson, was a brewery agent and instead of trying to hog all the business by approving only his own customers he led the movement to select only the best customers were denied a license, but Mr. Jackson was wise beyond his day and could see that any other action would bring a reaction sooner or later.

"The dealers denied a license went into court and on technicalities wigged back into business. That left a bad taste in many mouths, and it's having its influence now.

"The year following the Crystal Falls action, the council at Iron River leant itself to a fight between local brewery agents, the agent who had enjoyed considerable business was opposed by others who had the major portion of the council on their side. Many old liquor dealers at Iron River were denied licenses because they bought beer from the fellow outside the combine. A big fight resulted and for a part of one day Iron River was dry, all because of the boneheadedness of the Iron River liquor dealers themselves.

"To cap the climax a saloon was licensed to do business in a building opposite the residence of George L. Woodworth, general manager of the Rogers-Brown interests. This naturally aroused Mr. Woodworth's antagonism. Mr. Woodworth is opposed to liquor, but he had taken no decided stand against the traffic to that time. He's been a prime factor in this contest.

"All these little incidents taken together created flame enough to start the fire of agitation for a local option election. A petition was circulated and sufficient signatures secured to compel the county board to call an election.

"Even at that late stage of the game there was no one very sanguine that the local option movement would have any great following. The first week of this year a meeting was called at Crystal Falls and committees were appointed to carry on the campaign. There was no clear understanding at that time as to just what would be the policy. It was thought that "what's everybody's business is nobody's business," in short that the campaign would drag along in a haphazard way.

MEASURE IN FAVOR. Farm Agent Bill Before Legislature Will Likely Be Passed. It will not be long before Marquette county will have a county agriculturist, in the opinion of W. S. Ewing, representative from the First district of Marquette county, who left yesterday afternoon for Lansing after a several days' visit at his home. The measure which will permit counties to pay the salaries of farm specialists will be reported out by the senate committee in a few days, he says, and its passage by the senate is believed to be assured. The measure was passed by the house nearly a month ago. The farm experts will be engaged by the state board, under federal direction. The state will give $1,200 a year towards each salary, and the remainder would be paid by the county.

KETONEN WINS FROM "SAILOR JACK"

Wrestling Match at Liberty Hall Last Night Was an Excellent Exhibition.

Winning two straight falls from "Sailor Jack" Blanchette, of Duluth, Waino Ketonen, of Massachusetts, middleweight champion wrestler, won the honors in the bout at Liberty Hall last night. It was a fine exhibition, and one that was watched with keen interest by a fair-sized crowd. While his opponent proved himself extremely agile, time after time he extricated himself from seemingly dangerous positions. It took him twenty-seven minutes to throw Sailor Jack the first time. Ketonen scored the second fall in seven minutes.

Ketonen's opponent showed himself possessed of thorough knowledge of the wrestling game. At times he looked as though he would have the better of the bout. It was Ketonen's superior skill and agility that won the match. Sailor Jack is more powerful than Ketonen, and with will rushes several times before the contest far off the mat.

The advantages alternated from one wrestler to the other, and twenty-seven minutes had elapsed before Ketonen was able to floor his opponent. The second fall came quickly.

Two preliminary bouts were staged. Both were good exhibitions.

Ketonen and Sailor Jack will go to Lansing today to meet there in a second match.
