Former President Will Resume His Testimony in $50,000 Libel Suit Either Before or After Political Leader, the Plaintiff, Tells His Story to the Jury.

Ruling of Court Permits Colonel to Give Evidence in Regard to Facts Not in Pleadings—Irregularities in State Printing Contracts Are Related by Witnesses

Syracuse, N. Y., May 3.—Theodore Roosevelt again will go upon the witness stand in the supreme court here tomorrow, and the prospects tonight were that William Barnes would either precede or follow him.

Colonel Roosevelt, under a ruling of the court, will be allowed to testify in regard to facts not set forth in the pleadings of mitigation of damages.

More letters that passed between the late Thomas C. Platt, former United States senator, on one hand, and William Barnes and Colonel Roosevelt on the other, also will be produced in court tomorrow.

The testimony given today was of many kinds. There was evidence regarding printing in Albany.

City officials and a former official of Albany also appeared on the stand. One identified official records which showed that the J. B. Lyon company was given a contract over three other concerns which bid lower.

None of the witnesses testified that he had ever had any business dealings with Mr. Barnes personally, or that Mr. Barnes had ever solicited printing.

Two former Albany correspondents for New York newspapers testified to conversations which they said they had with Mr. Barnes.

Walter T. Armit, of New York, the second correspondent, swore that Mr. Barnes had told him in 1911 that he had received a message from Charles Murphy of Tammany hall, that a direct primary was to be held in the legislature, was likely to pass unless the Republicans were to unite with the Democrats and that the Tammany leader had asked the plaintiff's help.

Mr. Barnes was quoted as saying that the Democrats were in control at Albany and that Mr. Murphy could "pull his own chestnuts out of the fire."

NEW YORK CONGRESSMAN, G. A. R. ENTHUSIAST, DEAD Philadelphia, May 3.—Congressman J. A. Goulden, of New York city, dropped dead in the Broad street station of the Pennsylvania railroad this afternoon.

Mr. Goulden had been in Maryland on business and was on his way home when stricken. Mr. Goulden took a deep interest in Grand Army of the Republic affairs and was secretary of the commission that in recent years erected a soldiers' and sailors' memorial monument in New York. He was a Democrat and was seventy-one years old.

START DRAWING A JURY TO TRY MRS. CARMAN Mincola, N. Y., May 3.—With five men chosen of the twelve who will decide her fate, Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, on trial here for the second time in the supreme court charged with having murdered Mrs. Louise D. Bailey in the office of her husband, Dr. Edwin Carman, of Freeport, on June 30, last, was remanded to the sheriff's custody county jail, "I am satisfied with the first five men chosen," said Mrs. Carman today. "I approve of each of them and I believe I have not made a mistake."

WEATHER FORECAST. Washington, May 3.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Unsettled Thursday, probably showery. Wednesday, partly cloudy.

REPORT OF ULTIMATUM FROM JAPAN TO CHINA IS SCOUTED IN THE U. S.

Tokio, May 3, 3:30 p. m.—The Jiji Shimpo, a Japanese newspaper of good standing, issued an extra edition this afternoon in which it made the statement that Japan would send an ultimatum to China, the Chinese reply to the latest Japanese communication regarding the demands of the Tokio government being considered unsatisfactory.

Break Not Looked For. Washington, May 3.—Neither dispatches received by the state department, nor advices to the Japanese embassy here today indicated that any ultimatum had been decided upon by the Japanese government to compel an acceptance by China of her demands for commercial and political rights in the latter country.

The belief here is that while there will be a firm insistence by the negotiators of the demands, the negotiations will not reach the point of a break in diplomatic relations, or a formal threat, but that the parleys will continue along lines that may bring forth further compromises and concessions on both sides.

RAILROAD MEN DEMAND CONGRESSIONAL INQUIRY INTO ACTION OF NAGEL

Chicago, May 3.—A congressional inquiry into the reason Charles H. Nagel, former secretary of commerce and labor, was selected as the neutral member of the arbitration board which settled the wage dispute of the firemen and engineers of ninety-eight western roads, was demanded tonight in a resolution adopted by delegates representing the men's organizations.

"We submit that Mr. Nagel was not neutral," the resolution said, "inasmuch as it was clearly established that he was co-executor and co-trustee of the estate of the Adolphus Busch, which estate has large holdings of railroad securities and that he is a director of the Union Trust company of St. Louis and in the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, of Milwaukee, both of which corporations are larger holders of railroad securities than the Busch estate."

YOUTH MURDERS RIVAL FOR GIRL'S AFFECTIONS

Roodhouse, Ill., May 3.—Lloyd Whitworth was stabbed to death Sunday night in the parlor of the home of Helen Mancell at Whitehall by Elton Thorne, seventeen years old. The two were rivals for the girl's affections, and this was their first meeting for several weeks.

The Thorne boy caught a train a few minutes after the quarrel and has not been heard from. Whitworth was nineteen years old and Helen is seventeen. All are children of wealthy farmers. The homes of the boys are here. Both had been calling on Miss Mancell for several months.

"I never dreamed they felt so bitter toward each other just on account of being acquainted with me," Miss Mancell said. "I liked both of them just about the same. I'm awfully sorry for Elton. I suppose they'll arrest him and his whole life will be ruined. And it doesn't seem possible that Lloyd is dead."

GOVERNMENT WON'T PUSH COAL LAND FRAUD CASES

Detroit, May 3.—On the request of the attorney general of the United States an order of nolle prosequi was issued today in the so-called Alaska coal land fraud cases, which had been pending in the federal district court here since 1911. Among the defendants were W. W. McAlpine, Arthur L. Holmes, Albert H. Rubin, George W. Ross, M. C. Lebeau and Frank D. Anderson, all of whom had returned against the men by a federal grand jury here charged that 610 claims to land in Alaska had been obtained through fraud. It was stated at the time that the land was worth $50,000,000. All of the men indicted were members of a concern formerly known as the Alaska real estate. The action of the prosecution, it is understood, was caused by lack of evidence.

BRONX BOROUGH HALL IS WRECKED BY BOMB

New York, May 3.—A powerful dynamite bomb exploded in the Bronx borough hall tonight badly damaging the building only a short time before a meeting of taxpayers was to have been held there. Only five persons were in the building at the time. Although two of them were thrown twenty feet by the force of the explosion, no one was injured. The first floor was wrecked and the structure was so badly damaged that it was closed to the public. Two foreigners were arrested near the scene shortly after the explosion. The police assign no motive for the crime.

SIXTEEN MEN CONFESS BEING IN STRIKE RIOT

Fairmont, W. Va., May 3.—Eleven men confessed in circuit court today to having participated in the fatal mine riot at Farmington last February in which a constable was killed. Five more confessions were made tonight. The men were sentenced immediately by Judge W. S. Hammond. Sixteen of the 133 cases have been disposed of. Three more have been given life sentences. The others have been given from three to five years in the penitentiary.

MAN DROPS FROM ROOF OF 20-STORY BUILDING

Chicago, May 3.—Charles H. Rounau, at one time a wealthy real estate dealer, was killed today when he fell or leaped from the roof of the twenty-story Auditorium building. Rounau struck the heavy canopy extending over Congress street and the structure crashed to the sidewalk, narrowly missing several pedestrians. Rounau had suffered financial reverses, the police said.

LAWSON GUILTY, VERDICT OF JURY IN MURDER TRIAL

Labor Leader Caused Death of John Nimmo in Strike Battle at Colorado, Is Finding After Considering, Since Saturday Night, Evidence in the Case.

Sentence for Crime Is Execution or Life Imprisonment at Hard Labor, But Punishment Is Fixed at Milder of Two—Defendant's Lawyers Will Appeal

Trinidad, Colo., May 3.—John R. Lawson, today was condemned to spend the remainder of his life at hard labor, in the Colorado penitentiary. He was found guilty of first degree murder in connection with the death of John Nimmo, a deputy sheriff killed in a strike battle Oct. 25, 1913.

Lawson and his counsel had the duty of the jury to fix the penalty at death or life imprisonment, the jury in the district court fixed the milder punishment. Seated at the lawyers' table after the verdict, Lawson talked calmly of the outcome of his fight.

"They may get me, but they can't defeat the cause of labor," Lawson said. "I am not worrying about myself—it's the fight I have been making for the workmen that I am interested in, and that will go along just as before. Even for me it's a long way to the penitentiary. My attorney will get me up until everything possible has been done to save me."

As the convicted labor leader talked, his friends gathered around him and one by one they silently clasped his hands. Some had tears in their eyes as they greeted their defeated chief.

Lawson and his counsel had confidently expected an acquittal, or at most a disagreement. The jury had been out since shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday night.

"I do not believe the Lawson verdict ever will be sustained," said Horace N. Hawkins, chief counsel for the defense. "It is contrary to the evidence. I shall fight this case to a finish as long as there are courts in which to fight."

FIRST CONVICTION OF A UNION LEADER.

Denver, Colo., May 3.—Fred Farrar, attorney general of Colorado, commenting upon the conviction of John R. Lawson, tonight said: "The prosecution of Lawson was conducted solely by the attorney general's office. I think this is the first case on record where one of the leaders of a union has been convicted of a crime arising from the conduct of a strike. Of course there was the McNamee case, but the prosecution there was based upon a confession. The Lawson case was not. This, I think, should indicate to the world that Colorado is still capable of self-government through recourse to the courts."

SAYS IT'S JOHN D. GOULD.

Late tonight Attorney Hawkins issued a statement in which he said "Rockefeller's goal is claiming John R. Lawson, a labor leader, as a victim. Rockefeller's lawyers worked up the evidence and Rockefeller's detectives testified in the case. Indictment. The verdict is an unspeakable outrage. In any other community an acquittal would have been had in five minutes."

RUSSIAN CENTER ISTORN AS UNDER BERLIN REPORTS

For Many Miles in West Galicia, German and Austrian Official Statements Declare, Muscovite Lines Hammering Their Way Westward Have Been Smashed

Victory, if Assertions Are True, Gives Teutonic Allies a Menacing Power—Both Right and Left Flanks of Slavs Threatened—Petrograd Says Little

London, May 3, 10:55 p. m.—According to the official statements, both of Berlin and Vienna, the German and Austrian arms have achieved a notable victory in west Galicia, smashing the entire Russian center along a front of many miles, or as Berlin puts it, across the whole western tip of Galicia from near the Hungarian border to the point where the river Dunajec joins the Vistula, which is right at the frontier of Poland.

Although the eight thousand prisoners, whom the Teutonic allies say they have taken, do not compare with the number which some of Field Marshal von Hindenburg's rushes netted him in the north, the achievement, if subsequent reports bear it out, will mean at least a temporary check to the Russian forces which have been hammering their way westward since the fall of Przemyśl.

If the Austro-German contentions relative to the Galician situation are correct, in the opinion of some of the English military writers it will mean that the whole Russian campaign in the Carpathians is seriously affected, making extremely precarious the position of the Russian troops pressing down the southern slopes towards the plains of Hungary.

The line between the Vistula and the Hungarian frontier was about forty miles east of Cracow. The Austro-Germans have been defending it stubbornly ever since the beginning of the Carpathian fighting. The general British comment is somewhat reserved pending the Petrograd version of the operations.

In the fighting in the Baltic provinces also, Berlin finds cause to rejoice. Rejecting the Russian contention that it is only a sporadic cavalry raid, Berlin wireless comment, received tonight, says it seriously threatens the Russian right, and the fact that troops could be moved so far northeast before they encountered resistance is considered a reflection on the Russian intelligence system.

Beyond the admission in the Petrograd official communication that a desperate battle has been engaged in since last Saturday night on the front from the lower Nida river to the Cyprian mountains, no further news has come through concerning the fighting in which both Berlin and Vienna claim a victory.

The reticence of the Russian official communication, though it may indicate that the battle is still unfinished, is considered in military circles here to give considerable cause for concern, at least to the chain of Vienna, which does not place the victory so high as

ITALIANS ARE ADVISED TO QUIT DUAL MONARCHY; TELL OF TROOPS MOVING

Udine, Italy, May 3, via Paris, May 3, 4:25 p. m.—Italian schools in Austria-Hungary are recommending that all Italians leave the country as soon as possible. As a result of this warning Italian merchants, manufacturers and professional men are arriving today at Udine from points in Austria. They relate experiences, including insults and persecutions, which are arousing local feeling. The refugees describe great military activity along the frontier. All roadways have been barred with trunks of heavy trees, and trenches. The railroads are occupied at night with moving trains loaded with troops and heavy guns.

GERMANY AND BRITAIN TREAT WAR PRISONERS JUST ABOUT THE SAME

London, May 3, 4:40 p. m.—Ambassador Padoa informed the foreign office today that the treatment of the crews of the captured German submarines in England and the British officers, upon whom retaliatory measures were visited by Germany, was virtually the same. The refugees describe great military activity along the frontier. All roadways have been barred with trunks of heavy trees, and trenches. The railroads are occupied at night with moving trains loaded with troops and heavy guns.

6-YEAR-OLD BOY DEAD; HIS MOTHER IS HELD

Milwaukee, May 3.—An autopsy by the coroner's physician today revealed the fact that Adam Wojcik, six years old, who lives with his widowed mother, died from strangulation. The lad was found dead today in an alley near the corner of Third and Washington streets. The mother was tightly around his neck. The mother of the boy and a boarder were looked up, pending further investigation.

SUMMARY OF WAR NEWS.

Another big battle has been fought and a great victory over the Russians in the Carpathians is chronicled. The German and Austrian war offices. The Berlin official statement telling of this says: "The allied troops, after bitter fighting, crushed the entire Russian front in west Galicia from the Hungarian frontier to the junction of the Dunajec river with the Vistula. This is a distance of about sixty miles. The Austrian official statement reports that eight thousand Russian soldiers, many guns and much war material were captured."

The western war zone remains comparatively quiet. The Dardanelles operations are reported by Athens to be developing favorably for the allies.

Italian merchants, manufacturers and professional men are leaving Austria-Hungary on the recommendation of the Italian consuls in that country. Some of the Italians arriving in Udine, Italy, report having undergone insults and persecutions. They also say that there is great military activity by the Austrians along the frontier.

does the German communication. If the Austro-German claims are correct, according to the military observers the Russian right flank is in danger of envelopment, the Russian left flank is threatened by strong Austro-German forces, and on the Stry-Munkacs line the position is so dangerous as to be likely to involve a general retreat.

8,000 Prisoners Taken. Vienna, via London, May 3, 8:43 p. m.—The Austrian official statement issued today confirms the German reports of a big Austro-German victory along the entire front in west Galicia and says that eight thousand Russian prisoners were captured. The text of the statement follows:

"Austro-Hungarian and German forces yesterday attacked the fortified positions in west Galicia and repulsed the Russians along the entire front of Malastov, Gorlice, Gromnik and north of these places. The Russians suffered severe losses. We captured eight thousand Russians and machine guns. Simultaneously we forced our way across the Dunajec river."

"On the Carpathian front the Boskid situation has changed. In the wooded Carpathians we gained ground to the east of Kozimow. We repulsed several counter attacks with great slaughter, capturing several hundred Russians and taking three machine guns."

"To the north of Osmalida the enemy was thrown from several heights with heavy losses. The fighting in this region is progressing."

Berlin Celebrates Victory.

Berlin, via London, May 3, 9:35 p. m.—The reports announcing a great victory in the Carpathians today led to the entire city of Berlin decking itself with flags. The central telephone stations, the newspaper offices and hotels were besieged by crowds seeking details. The excitement began when the authorities received orders to fly the flags "on account of a great victory in the Carpathians."

The details of the reported victory are not yet known here. "The Austrians are showing renewed activity along the entire front-northern front, but we have repulsed all their assaults."

The War in the West.

London, May 3, 10:35 p. m.—England and France make no claim to any gains in the west. The British, contenting themselves with saying that the German attacks on the seared hill No. 90 in Flanders have been beaten back; the French confirm this. The Germans maintain that they are pushing forward to the northwest of Ypres and toward St. Julien village, which they captured at the attack following their first extensive use of gas, but which they were forced to yield under counter attacks.

LONDON OFFERS PLAN TO AID U. S. SHIPPING

Washington, May 3.—The British embassy issued a statement tonight for the information of a transatlantic shipping interests, designed to facilitate the trade of the United States with neutral countries by pointing out a way to guard against interference by allied warships with cargoes not under the flag of Great Britain. The statement says that the British government will advise the British shippers to give notice of the character of cargoes so that the British government may be advised before the ships reach European waters.

BODY OF CHILD FOUND HACKED BY A KNIFE

New York, May 3.—Charles Murray, four and a half years old, was murdered tonight near his home on the lower East Side by an unknown person. The child's mutilated body was found in the hallway of a tenement house near the corner of the street where the murder of Leonore Cohen, aged five, the Cohen girl's body was found on March 19, last, and, like that of the Murray boy, had been hacked with a knife. The murderer was never caught. A man who was accused by young girls of chasing them with knives, was taken into custody shortly before the body of the Murray boy was found.

HERZOG AND UMPIRE FINED FOR FIGHTING

St. Louis, May 3.—Manager Herzog, of the Cincinnati National, and Umpire Rigler, of the National league, were each fined $5 and costs in police court here today for fighting at the St. Louis-Cincinnati game Saturday. The fines were remitted on payment of costs.

U.S. WILL PROBE ATTACK ON SHIP TO GET AT FACTS

Not Until Circumstances Surrounding Torpedoing of Tanker Gulflight in English Channel Are Known, and Liability Fixed, Will Washington Act.

No Proof of Reports That Assault of Vessel Was a German Submarine Has Yet Been Found—Indemnity and Apology Likely Will Be Asked for Incident

Washington, May 3.—Pending an official investigation of the circumstances of the wrecking of the American steamer Gulflight in the English channel, the United States government will defer diplomatic representations as well as any pronouncement of policy. Two messages received today from American Consul Stephens at Plymouth, Eng., reporting that the Gulflight was torpedoed off the Scilly Islands Saturday and that her captain died from an attack of heart disease and that two men of the crew were drowned. The Americans lost, according to the Gulflight company, owners of the vessel, were Captain Alfred Gunther, of Rayonne, N. J., Charles C. Short, wireless operator, of Chicago, and Eugene Chapanetta, a seaman, of Port Arthur, Tex. The vessel's cargo consisted of gasoline and oil consigned to firms doing business in France, according to officials of the company.

Consul Stephens report said that the vessel was still afloat and that patrol boats were attempting to tow her to the Scilly Islands. The Gulflight carried a crew of thirty-seven. All but the three named were saved.

Secretary Bryan announced that he did not wish to make any predictions as to the course of the American government's policy until all the facts were in its possession. Officials were careful not to take for granted the truth of reports that a German torpedo struck the Gulflight. Until there is definite proof no statement bearing on the delicate point of responsibility was deemed expedient.

Should the investigation here and the dispatches, claiming that a German submarine made the attack, the United States probably will demand an indemnity sufficient to cover the losses incurred by the ship and compensation to the families of the victims. It is thought probable that an expression of formal regret also will be requested.

Mother to Demand Reparation. Chicago, May 3.—Mrs. L. F. Short, mother of Charles Short, said tonight she would demand that the German government make reparation for her son's death. "What can a few hundred dollars do toward compensating me for the loss of my boy?" she asked. "I suppose there will be a few polite messages exchanged and the Germans will promise to pay when the war is over. But they should be made to suffer. I am going to demand that this government punish the captain of that torpedo boat who ordered his men to sink the ship on which my boy sailed. That's murder, not war. If my son had blown up a lake steamer and killed three men, would he go free? My boy's body has not even been recovered. Can money pay for it?"

Neutral Shipping Suffers. London, May 3.—Neutral shipping has suffered severely at the hands of German submarines, according to dispatches reaching London, three Norwegian and one Swedish vessel being the victims of underwater attacks. The Norwegian vessels sunk are: Steamer Baldwin, sunk in North sea on Sunday. According to reports nine shots were fired into the vessel before she went down. The crew of seventeen were saved.

The Laika also was sunk in the North sea. The crew of the Laika, which was a small freighter, was landed at Copenhagen.

The American, sunk in the North sea on Saturday. The America was a vessel of 2,365 tons and was engaged in trans-Atlantic trade. Her crew of thirty-nine men were picked up thirteen hours later and landed at Newcastle.

The Swedish steamer Elida, timber laden, was torpedoed in the North sea, and her crew of sixteen men and two women barely escaped with their lives, according to Copenhagen dispatches.

British travelers reaching Aberdeen, Scotland, say that two of their number were sunk fifty miles off Aberdeen on Sunday. The crews of both were rescued.

Burn Swedish Steamer. Leith, Scotland, May 3, 3:05 p. m.—The crew of five men of the Swedish schooner Elsa have been landed here. Their vessel, they say, was destroyed by the German submarine U-29 on Sunday morning. The Elsa, with a cargo of wood, was bound from Hordaland to Granton and was overtaken by the submarine 100 miles west of May Island. The crew say they were given five minutes to quit the vessel, which the Germans then set on fire. The crew was picked up by the steamer Seruelo.

The crew of the schooner Elsa must have read wrongly the number of the German submarine which they report burned their vessel as the U-29 was sunk some time ago. Her loss was admitted by the German admiralty.

London, May 3, 8:53 p. m.—Two hours and laborers who were engaged in constructing houses to accommodate the workers at the Woolwich arsenal, the largest in Great Britain, went on strike today. The men demand higher wages.

OUTLOOK IS GOOD.

The number of unemployed in New York the first part of February is estimated by the department of commerce and labor to have been 398,000 out of 2,455,500 wage earners, and it is noted that the figures do not adequately portray the situation, as they include no irregular or part time workers, concerning whom it is difficult to gain information. Always in New York there is some unemployment even in normal times, but the condition was peculiarly aggravated the past winter. How much it has been relieved in the past few weeks does not appear, but there is doubtless still more than the usual number of men out of work. We are reminded that the stock markets, which have been unusually active and strong of late, have run ahead of actual conditions. There are many centers of good business in the country. The copper camps are all booming and here and there are communities that are prospering all out of comparison to their neighbors because their industries are busy on war orders, but there are still many communities where trade and industry are still sub-normal and where there is no prospect of immediate improvement.

Yet there is no question at all that the outlook has greatly improved the past few weeks, and there is excellent reason to expect that the area of good business conditions will be steadily expanded. Confidence is mounting, and confidence is the one thing needed to send business ahead by leaps and bounds. The financial situation was never better. Money is to be had for every legitimate purpose. Indeed many persons are beginning to worry lest the abundance of money will lead to inflation, particularly in security values. The crop outlook is of the best and the prices that will be commanded for our grains will greatly enrich the nation, as the exports will be heavy for many months to come. It looks as if we had ahead of us a period of excellent business. The dinner pails will be filled and when the dinner pails are filled there will be a new outlook in the field of politics. The Democrats will find their position much improved, and the Republicans will be under the necessity of putting forward their best foot. All of which can be gratefully recorded.

MR. GARRISON'S PLANS. The energy Secretary Garrison is devoting to his program of military improvements indicates that he has been encouraged to hope for more respectful and sympathetic treatment in the next session of congress. If he believed that his suggestions would again be passed over with the scant courtesy he received in the house of representatives in the last session he would scarcely be at pains now to enlist the co-operation of all the high officers of the army in the work of planning such improvements in the land defenses of the nation as study and experience suggest. His new board of survey will receive reports from all department commanders and will base upon them recommendations to be submitted to the general army board. The new policy which will be based on the result of these processes will have the approval of the president before it is submitted to congress.

The tone of the remarks made by Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the senate's military committee, when action was taken by that body on the last army bill, indicated that the senate, at least, will be ready at the next session to vote intelligently on reasonable plans for the strengthening of our defenses. In view of the manifest feeling of the people all over the country, it is not likely that the house can continue to treat with contempt well advised and moderate plans to put our army and our coast defenses in a better condition. Mr. Garrison's plans have been well laid. He will devote all his time before the next session to the formation of a well thought-out, well-worked-out military policy. Such a policy will be a welcome novelty in a country whose military affairs have too often been managed in a haphazard way and confused too frequently with politics. If Mr. Garrison succeeds in having his policy sanctioned by congress next winter, he will have achieved one of the greatest victories of the present administration.

SPLENDID GIVING. Up to April 4 the commission for relief in Belgium had shipped and distributed food and clothing to the value of about $50,000,000, and a large quantity of supplies remained to be forwarded. Americans have also given much to Belgium in other ways. Contributions have gone through various agencies. A great deal of money has been entrusted to officials who could be counted upon to use it carefully, where it was most needed. Altogether, the giving for the relief of Belgium may have reached $75,000,000.

This is a memorable demonstration of American humanity and generosity. It is true that the cause of the giving is without precedent and that even $75,000,000 means only about $10 apiece for every man, woman and child in Belgium. But the sum is very great, notwithstanding, and it has been given in the face of difficult circumstances in this country. The war has cost many Americans a large part of their usual income. It was a heavy burden, for the first four or five months especially, upon the American people and they were hard pressed to keep their own affairs in order. The demands of home charities were insistent and on a larger scale than at any other time for many years. All conditions considered, the Belgian relief fund has been a notable monument to American liberality, as well as American wealth and power to give. It has been created for an alien people thousands of miles distant, and when home needs were imperative and of vast proportions. For that reason it has no parallel in history.

One of the things commented on in connection with our late legislature is the paucity of achievement by the dregs. They were numerically stronger in it than they had ever been before, and as its session opened there was much talk of what they would accomplish in the way of legislation dear to their hearts. And still their net accomplishment was practically nil. The Michigan Bonding company is with us still, and all the major projects advanced by the dregs fell by the wayside. The reason must be found largely in the fact that the dregs were poorly led. Straight, in the senate, was a particular blunderer, and in the house they appeared to have no adequate leadership. Perhaps some of the explanation of their poor showing lies in the fact that they were by no means united as to the best course to pursue. Many anti-saloon men differed with members of the legislature over the advisability of seeking statutory prohibition, and were well pleased when the Straight bill was finally laid out.

Mayor Begole is going to Escanaba to tell the Business Men's association about some of the good things commission government has accomplished in Marquette. The mayor's address will be all the more worthy of attention because at the time the new form of government was proposed here he was in the same frame of mind with regard to it that some of the Escanaba business men were in when they voted against the commission plan in that city some months ago. He was opposed to it, and with sufficiently decisive opinion so that he wrote a letter designed to lessen the support it would receive at the polls. Thus when Mayor Begole addresses the Escanaba business men on commission government they will be listening to a man converted by experience. They will be given a thorough exposition of the subject, and one they will find well worth while.

Announcement is made of small additions to the forces in Marquette county mines. Conditions are far from normal as yet, but in the news from the furnaces and mills and in the strong position of iron and steel stocks, whose advance marks a discounting of a future that shrewd operators see has excellent things in store, there is promise of continual improvement. Sales of ore have been noted the past few weeks, and the general feeling in the trade is much more optimistic. Whereas a few weeks ago it was not possible to find any authority willing to venture prediction on the movement for the season, it is now generally foretold that it will show a gain as compared with 1914, and that the closing months are likely to be marked by a scramble for tonnage, in order to bring lower lake deliveries up to the maximum.

books caused little dissent, and Governor Ferris was able to discern no good reason why he shouldn't give it his approval.

The two Munising saloon men may be taking a chance, but the chance they are taking is materially lessened by the fact that until the supreme court hands down the decision in the Oakland county case, on which Judge Fead is waiting, they will have a monopoly of the saloon business in the Alger county seat.

The war reports of late have been characterized by an unusual amount of flat contradiction in the official statements. As a result, the world is left much at sea concerning both the nature and the results of the operations.

TIMELY QUIPS

Fancy! Grape juice after all may not be the official administration tippie. One fancies that the president drinks tea.—Chicago News.

Agricultural. Germany is putting its prisoners to work on its farms. And still this country is opposed to war.—Cleveland Leader.

Remarkable. When Secretary Daniels decreed prohibition for the navy few people thought that Russia, England and France would follow his example.—Florida Times-Union.

Society Note. A New York woman tells a gaping society page that no one can maintain her social position on less than $8,000 a year. And nine-tenths of the population arises and shouts "What do you mean social position?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Foolish. The old expression for foolishness is that of the person who quarrels with his bread and butter. But is one quite as much of a donkey as the warring government that orders ships sunk hearing food and clothes to the contending nations?—Pittsburg Dispatch.

EDITORIAL OPINION

Always Resourceful.

The London Post's Washington correspondent announces that he has learned on "indisputable authority" that Ambassador von Bernstorff acted very unwillingly in presenting to Washington his memorandum criticizing the neutrality of this country and that he did so only after he had advised Berlin against such a movement and had been told to obey instructions.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The End of the Session.

Sound taps for the 1915 legislature. It is dead, although there are plenty who doubt if it ever was really alive. It did many things which it ought not to have done and left undone many things which it ought to have done. The 1915 legislature assembled amid cheers; it passed in silence; groans would have accompanied its demise if it had persisted much longer. As far as personal ability is concerned the body was excellently equipped. But that ability was widely diffused instead of concentrated, with the result that minor differences of opinion blocked major operations. All hands seemed to be convinced that 1915 is an excellent year for ultra conservatism in lawmaking. The fact that conservatism is less wearing upon a party organization than radicalism, which breeds strife and bitterness among party leaders, may have had its effect.

He Recognized It.

The following story is reported from the trenches in France: A young German lieutenant and his orderly were going patrol duty. All day long they had been ruing through the woods without a bite to eat. Toward evening they came to a battery of heavy artillery, where they dismounted and asked for some supper. The captain in charge of the guns told the young lieutenant that he could have some nice turkey. The young man took a hearty bite of the offered meat, then, looking up suspiciously, asked: "Beg your pardon, captain; did you say this was turkey?" "Why, sure that's turkey." "I took a few more bites and asked again: "Are you really sure, Herr Captain, that this is turkey?" "Certainly Herr Lieutenant; turkey it is." The lieutenant finished his meal in silence, and thanked the captain for his hospitality. Then he called his orderly, "Fritz," he directed, "saddle our turkeys!"—Everybody's Magazine.

A Kindly Superintendent.

A Chicago man with business interests in Missouri tells of an incident at a railway junction therein. He was very hungry, with only two minutes before the departure of his train. "Sandwich and coffee, quick!" he said to the counter man. "Haven't time for anything else." "Easy, friend," said the other. "Take all the time you want. Cast your eye over this bill of fare and I'll phone the

A Threat to King Cotton.

The fiber of the "silk-cotton" tree of the tropical East Indies has been brought into notice by the war. It is claimed that cloth woven by this fiber is much lighter and stronger than fabrics made of ordinary cotton, and that it is waterproof as well. There are reports, likewise, that the tree is quite easy to cultivate.

It is just half of these stories are true, America will have to look sharp to maintain her present supremacy in supplying the world's chief clothing material. Even if the stories are only 10 per cent true, they should serve as a stimulus and a warning; a warning against idle optimism and a stimulus to research.

As a really important clothing material, cotton is not quite as old as the Americanly imported and discarded other fabrics mainly because of its cheapness; it may be forced to yield its present dominant position by any competing substance which has decided advantages in either cost or quality, and which can be produced in large enough quantities to satisfy the tremendous modern demand.

It would seem the part of wisdom for our vast cotton industry to do a little research work in this line. If the throne of King Cotton is firm, knowledge of that fact would be a cheering and vastly important bit of information. If the king is likely to yield to a successor, every effort should be made to see that the new fiber monarch is domiciled in America.—Chicago Journal.

New War Moves.

Italy has summoned to Rome four of her ambassadors to European courts, Berlin, Paris and London. Presumably they have been summoned for a conference as to their country's future attitude during the war. One would naturally expect the ambassador at Vienna to join this conference, which is of unusual import to all the nations at war, as well as to Italy herself. In case the government decides to enter the war some of the ambassadors will find themselves temporarily out of office, but in case the condition of neutrality is continued all of them may be expected to return.

It is said that the main obstacle to an agreement with Austria has been Italy's insistence that in any event the integrity of Serbia is to be maintained after the war. Austria has two reasons for refusing her consent. She has long harbored the ambition to absorb Serbia, in order to push her borders toward the Adriatic. She is also aware of the fact that the Serbian spite against Austria for precipitating the war will not be dissipated when peace comes, and that enmity will practically insure future trouble unless Austria is placed in a position to repress the Serbs with an iron hand.

Greece, like Italy, is divided in sentiment and evidently awaiting events. The royal family is supposed to sympathize with Germany, since the queen is a sister of the German kaiser. The king, however, is a descendant of the royal house of Denmark, which has little reason for loving Germany. The conflicting reports from the Dardanelles may be partly attributed to a desire to influence Greece one way or the other, but Greece is near at hand and she can discover for herself what the conditions are.—Detroit News.

A LAUGH OR TWO

He Caught On. Jessie Chatterton went away from home to attend a select seminary, and in a short time became infected with the germs of diversity to diversity their names. She therefore wrote a letter to her brother at home, signing herself "Jessie." Bill detected the signs of the times, and replied as follows: "Dear Sister Jessie: "Your letter received. Aunt Annica and Uncle Johnica started for Bostonica this morning. Motherica and Fatherica are both well. "Your affectionate brother, "BILLICA."

Correct After All. A teacher was explaining to her pupils in the primary class the difference between civilized and uncivilized races, insisting upon the three things as requisites for civilization—food, clothing and shelter. The following day she resumed her subject by way of review. "What are the three things necessary to a civilized man?" she asked. Several of the children remembered food and clothing, but the third requisite seemed to have entirely escaped their recollection. Finally, after the question had been repeated two or three times, one of the boys, the largest one in the class, raised his hand triumphantly. "Well, James, you may tell us." "A wife," Albany Press.

He Recognized It. The following story is reported from the trenches in France: A young German lieutenant and his orderly were going patrol duty. All day long they had been ruing through the woods without a bite to eat. Toward evening they came to a battery of heavy artillery, where they dismounted and asked for some supper. superintendent to hold the train a while." "Hold the train while I eat?" "Sure. This is a branch road, and there's no other train comin' or goin' over it this mornin'." The superintendent will want you to have a good meal—he owns the lunch room.

Handicapped.

Mrs. Coddling was having some new window fixtures put up in her house one day, and she stood near by watching the workman. "Don't you think that you have placed those fixtures too high?" she asked. "The workman was a stolid German and, making no reply whatever, continued to adjust the fixtures. "Didn't you hear my question?" demanded Mrs. Coddling. "How dare you be so rude!" "The German gulped convulsively, and then, in the most gentle of voices replied: "I haf my mouth full of screws, and I could not speak till I swallow some!"

The Watts Variation.

Alfred Watts, the young futurist poet, was lunching with his publisher at a Broadway restaurant recently, and while waiting for his bill he amused himself by matching quarters with his host. After several dollars had changed hands, the publisher looked through the window at one of those entertaining little Detroitables standing at the curb and said, facetiously, "I wish you were you for that car, Alfred!" Mr. Watts tossed back his much-photographed golden mane, and remarked, with his characteristic drawl: "Aw, don't be a piker! I'll match you for two dollars."

An Important Point.

At a dinner party the other evening, reference having been made to the good old days in the little brick schoolhouse, this story was recalled by James L. Rice, coach of the Columbia college crew: The teacher in a public school was giving a demonstration in mental arithmetic, and after speaking at some length she turned to a bright-faced boy at the head of the class. "Now, then, Willie," she said, "do you think that you can answer me a question in mental arithmetic?" "Yes, ma'am," was the confident rejoinder of the beaming youngster. "Well, then," resumed the teacher, "how old would a person be who was born in 1876?" "That depends," quickly rejoined little Willie. "Was the person a man or a woman?"—Philadelphia Telegraph.

LOWER STATE NOTES

ANN ARBOR—Eulalia Stone, a pretty freshman co-ed in the literary department of the university, whose home is in Charlestown, Va., attempted to drown herself in a drug store by taking poison which she had bought ostensibly for use in one of the university laboratories. She told two clerks she wanted to die, and the clerks rushed her into the street, hailed a passing automobile and took her to the Homeopathic hospital. She will live. Miss Stone has been a sufferer from melancholia and since February a severe mental depression has kept her constantly under the care of physicians.

GRAND RAPIDS—Judge Sessions of the federal district court set an important precedent when he ruled against the United States government in favor of the Mitchell Brothers company of Cadillac, which had brought suit against Emanuel J. Doyle, internal revenue collector, to recover $2,700 paid under protest for income tax on timber stumpage. The plaintiff deducted the market value of the timber stumpage, alleging that it could be classed as income, because it was a part of capital stock. Judge Sessions' decision is the first ruling in a case of this kind ever made in the federal courts.

DETROIT—The Detroit United railway has announced that it has declined to sell its property within the one-fare zone to the City Street Railway commission for $225,285,000. It was announced, however, that the company and the commission had tentatively agreed on a new proposition. It is understood that U. R. is willing to sell its property at a price to be fixed by the six circuit judges of Wayne county, sitting in chancery. The question of municipal purchase of the street railway under the latest plan is to be decided by special election.

PONTIAC—The refusal of the supreme court to grant a new trial in the matter of the estate of Leonard Rowland, eccentric Leonard man, guarantees the establishment of a trust fund of $30,000 for the benefit of needy orphaned children of Oakland county. Rowland left practically all his estate for this purpose and entrusted the establishment of the fund to Eugene Mack, one of Leonard's nephews, William H. Loomis, of Sylvia, Kan., and a niece, Mrs. Ella L. Rowland, of San Diego, Cal., were the heirs who contested the will, which has been in litigation since Rowland's death about six years ago.

LANSING—Three hundred and twenty-seven saloons in the nine "wet" counties in Michigan that voted "dry" April 5 are out of business. This includes 15 saloons in Oakland county, although the result there is to be fought out in the supreme court early in May. The counties affected are: Calhoun, Emmet, Iron, Kalamazoo, Lapeer, Mason, Tuscola and Van Buren. Four of the sixteen counties that voted April 5 were already "dry" and will remain so. They are: Eaton, Genesee, Lenawee, and Sanilac. The three counties that voted "wet" were Alger, Chippewa and Grand Traverse. More than half the area of the state is "dry," although, thanks to Detroit and Grand Rapids, about a million more people will live in "wet" territory than in "dry."

NEW BALTIMORE—Fred Baars, fifty-three years old, a Detroit, Michigan, railway section hand, captured a dove-barreled shotgun at his wife early, then knocked her unconscious with the butt of it, slashed his wrists, cut his throat and hid in the attic where he was not found until blood dripped through the ceiling below. He will die, Mrs. Baars will recover. Both shots were wide. The trouble is thought to have resulted from a quarrel that followed Baars' coming home under the influence of liquor. When Baars crawled into the attic he hid between two rafters, and a physician was unable to find him until the blood betrayed his hiding place.

BENTON HARBOR—Shot twice in the abdomen by his wife, John Cutler, forty-five years old, lives in Mercy hospital here mortally wounded. Mrs. Cutler is in the county jail at St. Joseph. The shooting occurred as the climax to an estrangement that occurred sometime ago between the couple. Cutler hunted up his wife and found her at a home where she was working as a dressmaker. Calling her out on the porch, he engaged her in conversation. A quarrel followed, and according to the woman, Cutler attacked her. Being armed, she pulled out the revolver and shot twice. Cutler ran a few feet and dropped unconscious. When the police arrived, Mrs. Cutler had returned to her work and was calmly ironing. She had first put in a police call stating she had shot a man. "He beat me several times and he was attempting to do it again today, and I shot him to save myself," was her comment in jail. She exhibited no remorse.

NEW GERM KILLER  The ragged and dirt-grained wounds of war have made necessary the discovery of something better than ordinary antiseptics. A substance had to be found that would follow the germs to every nook and corner and kill them before they had a chance to multiply. Such a substance seems to have been discovered by Sir W. Watson Cheyne and associated physicians. "Ordinary syringing of the wound is not sufficient to disinfect it," says the Medical Record. "The antiseptic must be introduced into the wound and left there to diffuse into the tissues." Watson Cheyne and his associate devised a method of estimating the diffusibility of antiseptics in blood clot and their action on the bacteria contained in it. The antiseptics were incorporated in a base consisting of six parts of lanoline to one part of white wax. The antiseptic base was to be tested by means of a bottom of a Petri dish underneath a slab of nutrient agar, the upper surface of which was painted with an emulsion of bacteria were judged by observing the growth or absence of growth of the bacteria planted."

There were several surprising results. A paste containing 6 per cent. of iodine did not diffuse at all. "This finding," remarks the Medical Record, "apparently contradicts the current conception of iodine as an efficient antiseptic and particularly valuable for its penetrating power." Alcohol diffused only slightly. A 10 per cent. paste of the double cyanide of mercury and zinc had no action. 90 per cent. of turpentine, colloidal mercury, selenium, copper and silver were all tried and found wanting.

The favorable result was reached with a 20 per cent. paste of carbolic acid or tricresol. These "diffused rapidly into the nutrient medium and checked the growth of bacteria before they had formed colonies visible under the low power of the microscope." The method has produced happy results in a number of instances so far in which it has been tried on human beings. The important object is to find some means of averting sepsis (poisoning) in a wound for some hours until, through disinfection, can be carried out.

DRESS COAT CHANGES.

Much has been written of the probable effect of the war in Europe on the fashions of men in this country. They are to be more characteristic of this land, they are to be emancipated from foreign influence altogether, and after their superiority has been established and the men of other nations have time to think of anything else than a uniform, it will be American styles in dress that will conquer the world.

This is the optimistic view of the local designers, who look to the day when their efforts will be imported by all other countries. The selection of America as the source of men's fashions will be largely influenced by the event of the war. There will be no prejudice on the part of any European country against fashions which had their origin here.

None of the rosy visions of the American tailors is so revolutionary as that which looks to the reform of evening dress. The dinner coat, which has gained such wide popularity in spite of the decision which greeted its first appearance in the modish world, will succeed its more aristocratic predecessor, "Satin-tail," argue the designers, are useless. They interfere with the ease of the dancer, which is a disadvantage not to be overlooked in these days. The dinner coat is much more comfortable for diners, an important quality.

common sense in dress has, in the opinion of the designers, made the retention of coat tails an impossibility. They must go, along with the frock coat and other survivals. If the American tailor does succeed in abolishing the tails of the dress coat, he will make an impression on the sartorial art of his country; an impression, moreover, which is likely to be received with general favor ultimately, however harshly the radical change may be regarded at first.—New York Sun.

Copper Country

HIGH DIGNITARIES WILL BE PRESENT

Noted Knights Templar to Attend Michigan Conclave in the Copper Country.

High dignitaries of the order in the United States will be among the guests of the copper country on the occasion of the fifty-ninth annual conclave of the Knights Templar of Michigan, June 7, 8, 9 and 10. The conclave is to take place in the copper country and not in any one town of the district and is to be under the management of Palestine commandery of Houghton and Montrose commandery of Calumet.

The general arrangements committee has been advised that the following high officials will be present:

Lee S. Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa., acting grand master of the grand encampment of the United States.

Dr. Jehiel W. Chamberlain of St. Paul, Minn., grand captain general of the grand encampment of the United States. Dr. Chamberlain attended the state conclave at Lansing last year as the personal representative of the grand master.

L. P. Newby of Indiana, grand senior warden of the grand encampment of the United States.

George W. Buck of Duluth, past grand commander of Minnesota, will attend as the personal representative of the grand commander of the United States.

Mark Norvis of Saginaw, grand captain general of the Michigan grand commandery, has advised the copper country committee that he has assurance from fifteen commanderies of the state that they will be present to participate in the parades and competitive drills. It is expected that this number will be increased largely by late arrivals.

The copper country committee are working hard to make the conclave reflect the hospitality of the copper country and to make it a distinctive event, the district presenting unusual opportunities to that end.

ANOTHER TRADITION GOES.

May First Was Not Moving Day, at Least Not in Houghton.

There is an old tradition that May 1 is moving day. This tradition has been fostered by song and story to the extent that when the last day of April has gone into history people unconsciously begin to look for truckloads of furniture on the street. It has gone so far that one of the most successful minstrel jokes was about the chickens that lay on their backs on May first to have their feet tied as a matter of course.

But the tradition is shattered in Houghton. A diligent search of real estate offices yesterday failed to reveal a single record of a move. One reason is that there are few vacant houses, another being of course that Houghton renters pay their rent promptly and a condition of harmony between landlord and tenant results.

Real estate conditions generally in Houghton show an improvement. There are more inquiries for houses, more new buildings under construction than for at least three years.

CREDIT BUREAU BANQUET.

Annual Meeting Tonight at the Douglass House Preceded by Dinner.

The annual meeting of the Copper Country Credit Bureau, the first annual meeting in fact, is to take place tonight at the Douglass House.

The meeting will be preceded by a banquet, at which seventy merchants of Houghton, Keweenaw and Baraga counties will sit down to the discussion of a menu that will be in a style calculated to enhance the reputation of the hotel.

There will be no social nor entertainment features other than the dinner, as the business session following will be somewhat extended.

PROMOTING INTEREST IN CHURCH CENSUS

Rev. Frank Knowles Explains the Work to Be Undertaken Here Next September.

Rev. Frank P. Knowles, pastor of the Houghton Presbyterian church, a member of the general committee in charge of preparation for the forthcoming church census of the copper country, is continuing to promote interest in the project, so that it will not be dormant when the time for the actual collection of the required information comes around, next September.

The term "church census" is used for the lack of a better one, though the campaign is not a census, because there will be no compilation of statistics. In Detroit, where a similar campaign was carried on with great success last year, the entire city being canvassed on the afternoon of one day, Tuesday, Dec. 8, the campaign was called a home visitation movement.

The object simply is to learn the natural church leanings or inclinations of all of the people of the copper country, and the information of interest to the particular denominations will be turned over to the pastors of those denominations in the various sections or municipalities and not distributed to others. The result will be that each clergyman will know whether or not there are any recent members of his flock eligible to his pastoral attention.

Detroit Method

In Detroit the work was effected by 200 city leaders and 3,500 salaried specialists, who guided the activities of 2,000 workers. The city was divided into narrow zones and to each a worker was allotted, so that the information could all be collected in one afternoon. In that city the following organizations cooperated in the campaign:

Wegne county Sunday school association, Michigan State Sunday School Association, International Sunday School Association, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish churches, Sunday schools, Detroit pastors' union, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, Y. M. C. A., Catholic Women's committee, Association of Jewish Women, Young People's societies, and educational, civic and commercial organizations.

Only one salaried worker will be in charge in the copper country, E. K. Mohr, Detroit, well-known as a Sunday school specialist.

THINKS KREISLER IRON MAN.

Manager William J. Tucker Amazed at Virtuoso's Endurance.

William J. Tucker of Marquette and Chicago, at the latter address manager for Fritz Kreisler on his Western tour, is in Houghton, arriving yesterday for the purpose of observing the progress of the arrangements for Kreisler's concert May 17 under the management of the Copper Country Commercial club.

Mr. Tucker says the violinist is having the greatest season of his career; that he criticizes throughout the United States had him as having arrived at the pinnacle of artistry, and the public has been flocking to his concerts in record numbers.

Mr. Tucker naturally is greatly impressed with Kreisler's artistic greatness, his mastery of the queen of instruments, but he confesses that Kreisler interests him to an almost equal extent by his great physical endurance as shown by the great number of concerts in which he engages in a single season.

"People may think that there is more to that effort than the life of a concert violinist," said Mr. Tucker yesterday, "but the reverse is the case. Kreisler's work makes a simply tremendous physical and nervous demand and he is compelled to take as much care of himself as any athlete who desires to keep in perfect training."

LAURIUM COUNCIL TONIGHT.

Residents of Boundary Street Will Ask That Paving Be Laid.

Although the Laurium council has not planned to do a great deal of street work the coming summer, the board will be asked tonight by the residents of Boundary of Calumet street to macadamize that thoroughfare. A largely signed petition will be presented to the village board at its regular monthly meeting this evening. This petition will ask that Boundary street be paved from First street to Lake Linden avenue. It declares the improvement is badly needed.

Boundary street now is merely a dirt road, only partly graded, very rocky and with several bad spots in it. It is one of the principal business and residence streets in the largest village in the copper country. The wheeling is poor. Real estate values are not what they would be if the street were paved or at least macadamized.

The council will consider various important matters of business this evening, including the annual appointments. It is understood that few, if any, changes will be made in the list of village officials and employees.

PORTAGE LAKE MARINE NOTES.

No Commerce Report for April—Hoyer's Freight Handlers Start.

Superintendent George H. Banks of the Portage Lake waterway announced yesterday that no monthly report of commerce for April will be issued, the number of passages being so small as to make such a report unimportant. The April passages will be included in the May report.

The United States tug Essayons of Duluth arrived yesterday with a scowload of Western fire to be used in the construction of the mooring piers of the Portage river harbor of refuge.

Charles Hoyer's gang of freight handlers, with the old slogan "A ton to a truck," got into action last week. Hoyer or will work from fifteen to twenty men throughout the season, handling the freight of the Anchor and Western lines at all Portage lake ports.

Good To the Last Slice

The Anchor liner Delaware will be in port today eastbound, for copper.

The Western liner Rochester is due today, westbound with package freight.

QUINCY MINER DIES.

Passes Away at St. Joseph's Hospital—Death of Nelson Sargent.

Guests Isigkeit, a Quincy miner, died at St. Joseph's hospital, following an illness of two weeks. Death was due to typhoid pneumonia. The man was twenty-eight years of age. He came to the copper district in the fall of 1913. So far as can be learned Isigkeit had no relatives in this region. A brother came to the copper country with him, but has not been seen in the district since the day of his arrival. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the O'Neill chapel in Hancock, burial being made in Lakeside cemetery.

Services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Traub of the German Lutheran church. Nelson Sargent of Dollar Bay died yesterday morning at 6:30 o'clock. He was fifty-three years of age and had been ill for eight months, death being due to a complication of diseases. Mr. Sargent is survived by eight children. One sister, Mrs. Wilkins, lives at Marquette. Mr. Sargent lived in Dollar Bay for twenty-six years. He was employed the greater part of the time at the smelter. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock with services from the Catholic church. Rev. Father Miller officiating.

Peter Severe, sixty-five years of age, died suddenly Sunday night at his home in Hancock. He had been an employee of the Funkey Hardware store for the last fifteen years.

WILL OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY.

A meeting of Calumet commandery, the military branch of the Knights of the Golden Eagle, will be held in the Laurium bank hall at 10 o'clock the morning of May 9, when plans for the observance of the oriel's memorial day, May 25, will be made. It is proposed

SIGN WITH M'GILL (NEV.) TEAM.

Two Hancock Ball Players Leave to Join Stack's Baseball Club.

Mort Keough and James Lee left Hancock last evening for McGill, Nev., to play with the McGill baseball team the coming summer. The McGill team is captained by John "Butch" Stack, who has been in the Nevada town the last few years. Good jobs await the Hancock men upon their arrival in the West and their friends have no fear they will not make good in the league that includes McGill. The fact that Stack thinks Keough and Lee able to play fast ball and that the McGill team is trying to strengthen its lineup indicates that the local players developed in the copper country are looked upon as good material.

ISOLAMPI MOVES ANYWAY.

Hancock Saloonist Defies the Wishes of the Council of That City.

The Hancock city council last week negated the proposal of Frank Isolampi that he be permitted to move from the Rice building on Tezece street, the permit being necessary in order to keep the license effect. However the man packed up Saturday night and moved anyway. Just what the council is going to do about it remains to be seen. In the meantime, Isolampi is transacting business at the new stand.

TO TAKE CENSUS OF PARISH.

Starting with today and continuing the rest of the week, Rev. Father Holland, curate at St. Patrick's church, to go to Lake View cemetery on that day and there to decorate with flowers the graves of members. Ceremonial services will also be held. The members of the commandery will attend divine services at the Calumet Baptist church on Sunday, May 16. Plans are being made for the annual summer picnic and outing.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT.

Chancery Case Before Jury—Slovenian Union Sued by member.

The Houghton county circuit court was occupied yesterday morning, as it was Friday afternoon and all of Saturday, with the case of Matti Kauppi vs. the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance company. A peculiar phase of this case is the fact that though a chancery case it was tried before a jury, by the request of both sides. This was to permit the jury to pass on certain special questions of fact. Kauppi sued to recover on an insurance policy after buildings on his farm in the South range district had been destroyed by fire. The company defended, on the ground of misrepresentation of the value of the property insured.

The case opened yesterday afternoon was that of John Sutlich vs. the Slovenian Croatian Union. Sutlich is suing for $200, which he alleges is due him as a sick and accident benefit, and the case has something of a history. Sutlich was injured in the Tamarack mine and sued for damages, but failed to recover. He was a member of the Calumet branch of the Slovenian Croatian union and he received his sick benefits for twelve months. He sues now under a by-law which he claims gives each totally disabled member $200. The defense of the union is that the $200 is paid only on a quit claim; that if the member accepts regular sick benefits for twelve months he waives the right to the lump sum.

It was the intention of Attorneys Burritt & Burritt of Hancock to move yesterday for a new trial for John Lahmala, now serving a life sentence in Marquette prison on conviction of the murder of his father, but the matter was continued till next Monday.

CLEANUP DAY WAS DAMP ONE.

Campaign Could Not Open Yesterday, but the Week Remains.

Because of the rain yesterday the cleanup campaign in the copper country did not open aggressively. The weather was not conducive to outdoor activities, but the sentiment was present and there is little doubt that if the weather is favorable the weather the public will show the campaign has had an effect.

Superintendent Gibson of the Houghton public works department reports that he has had a big gang of men at work for two weeks cleaning the streets and that on the whole the public did not wait cleanup week, but has been busy since the snow left, so that there is not a great deal of work left to be done.

Observance at L'Anse.

At L'Anse last night Cleanup Day was observed with a public meeting and a program, the latter as follows: Instrumental music.

Introduction—Mrs. C. H. Anderson, grammar lecturer.

Community Betterment—George Sargent.

Music.

Invocation—Dr. W. A. von Zellen.

Tubercolosis—Dr. H. A. Sharpe.

Civic Pledge—C. F. Sunstrom.

Organizing the Civic Improvement League—H. A. Brennan.

COUNTY IS ORDERLY.

Chief Beck of the Calumet & Hecla Police Finds Business Dull.

August Beck of Calumet, former sheriff of Houghton county, now chief of the Calumet & Hecla police department, was in Houghton yesterday on one of his occasional visits to the Royale and Superior, which are under his protection as a peace officer.

Asked as to conditions in the county, Chief Beck said that it is as orderly now as ever in its history. One thing he noted shows how he feels about conditions.

In answer to the question "Your territory extends from Alhambra to White Pine, doesn't it?" he answered:

"Yes, and for all the work I have to do as far as suppressing disorder is concerned, it is about as well settled from Hecla to Fargus."

Chief Beck is probably in a better position to know of conditions in the copper country than any other peace officer, and he says that he does not believe that right now there is a more contented big industry district on earth than the copper country.

"Get Up" and Get

Don't you back up or stop until you've tried PEERLESS. It's the one perfect tobacco for the big, two-fisted, out-of-doors man who wants a rich, full-bodied tobacco for both chewing and smoking.

You get hold of PEERLESS. Note its rich, natural sweetness—just the pure Southern Kentucky leaf, aged naturally and slowly for three to five years, to bring out all its mellow fragrance and flavor. PEERLESS has the genuine snap and taste that you want in tobacco.

PEERLESS Long Cut Tobacco

was purposely made up, fifty years ago, for the sturdy man who is hungry for man's size tobacco. Fifty years have come and gone and all sorts of brands have tried to beat out PEERLESS, but the old he-boy is still the king-brand of them all.

Hitch up with PEERLESS for a week's trial, and you and PEERLESS will always pull together like a well-matched team. Nothing fancy about the PEERLESS package—we put all the cost into the tobacco. As you say of a horse, "he's all horse"—so we say of PEERLESS—"it's all tobacco."

"Smoke it or chew it—but go straight to it." Sold everywhere in 5c packages.

Other sizes, 10c, 20c and 40c Packages, and 45c Tin Pails.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

Hancock, will devote most of his time to taking a census of the parish. The last census was taken several years ago. The data will be available later in the year, when the other churches of the city take the census authorized by the ministerial association.

BISHOP EIS COMING.

Rev. Frederick Eis, bishop of the diocese of Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie, will be in the copper country in the middle of this month on his annual visit for confirmation and other church purposes. Part of his time will be devoted to an inspection of the parochial schools. On the occasion of the bishop's visit to Hancock May 30 large classes will be confirmed at St. Joseph's church and at the Quincy church. The class at St. Joseph's is one of the largest in the history of the parish. The itinerary of the bishop follows:

May 16—Calumet, St. Ann, 7 a. m.; Sacred Heart, 10 a. m.; St. John, 3 p. m.; St. Anthony, 7:30 p. m.

May 17—Hancock, 9 a. m.; May 18—Chassell, 8 a. m.

May 30—Trinity Sunday—Hancock, St. Joseph's 7:30 a. m.; Houghton, St. Ignace, 10:30 a. m.; Quincy Hill, 3:30 p. m.

June 6—Dollar Bay, 7 a. m.; Hubbard, 10:30 a. m.; L'Anse, 7:30 p. m.

June 13—Atlantic, 7 a. m.; Painesdale, 10:30 a. m.; South Range, 3 p. m.

June 14—Beacon Hill, 9 a. m.

A HISTORIC PORTAGE.

Whatever marvels the allied navies may accomplish now in the process of taking Constantinople, there will surely be any dragging of ships overland, as in 1453. The problem for the besieging Turks then was how to get from the Bosphorus into the harbor, which was defended by an impenetrable chain of ships. Gibbon describes how the Turks achieved the ten rough miles on land: "A level way was cut."

Crystal Falls Fire Believed Incendiary.

"It looks suspicious," was the general remark about town Thursday morning when the circumstances surrounding the fire that destroyed the opera house were explained, says the Crystal Falls Drill. The most suspicious circumstance was the removal of the tops of the four hydrants in the vicinity of the building. The department responded so quickly that the alarm had hardly stopped ringing when the truck was on the way. When it was found the tops had been removed from the hydrants messengers had to be sent to the foundry and to the fire hall for Stillson wrenches. Three of the tops were later found in the street 200 to 300 feet away. Ed Masie, night watchman, had passed the building but a few minutes previous. He had reached the postoffice corner when he looked around and saw the flames. The work of the fire department has never been excellent. The wind was blowing a gale, but the pressure was excellent. The short delay in getting water did not make much difference, as the building was enveloped in flames when the department arrived. All efforts were spent in saving the adjoining structures. The Mottis building was but four feet distant from the opera house, and everyone wonders how the boys succeeded in saving it. Had the fire communicated to it the entire block would have gone. Fortunately, the wind blew the flames across the street. The Dalpra building was on fire several times, as was the Camille building. The opera house was owned by E. J. Bregger, and he was absent from the city. There had been a moving picture exhibition early in the evening, as usual. Mr. Bregger had rigged up the portion of the house under the stage as a garage and Gerald McCarty had his Cole "four" there at the time. Will Eldred went into the room with the flames playing above and backed ered with a broad platform of strong and solid planks, and to render them more slippery and smooth, they were anointed with the fat of sheep and oxen. Four-score eight galleys and brigantines of fifty and thirty oars were disembarked on the Bosphorus shore, arranged successively on rollers, and drawn forward by the power of men and pulleys." And so, with two pilots at each helm and prow and with sails unfurled, the Turkish fleet climbed the hill, crossed the plain and reached the harbor in a single night.—London Chronicle.

Much Logging in Felch.

In the district tributary to Felch and Metropolitan, Dickinson county, the input of timber during the past season, while not as large as in former years, was a considerable one, despite adverse market conditions. A man familiar with operations makes the following estimate of the input for the Iron Mountain Press: Mixed logs, 2,500,000 feet; 6,000 cords of poplar bolts, 200,000 cedar posts, 70,000 railroad ties and 4,000 cedar poles. Nearly all the operators were small. The ties were purchased by the Northwestern road.

SOUP AND CRACKERS.

In the Woman's Home Companion appears an interesting little article entitled, "Soup versus Crackers," in which the old-fashioned housekeeper is presented as being highly impressed with the importance of soups. As a matter of fact, according to experts in the department of agriculture at Washington, a fair-sized man, making his living over a desk, requires about 2,500 calories of energy per day. Now, ordinary clear soups and broths run 50, 60 and 70 calories to the pint. The ordinary man, therefore, in order to do a day's work would require something like five gallons of such soup. The meaty soups do better. They lie between one and two hundred calories to the pint. But, after all, beef stock is four-fifths water and one-fifth nutriment. Much a soup-cracker, which the ordinary old-fashioned housekeeper thought contained little nutriment, as a matter of fact, weight for weight, five times as nutritious as clear soups. Crackers lie between 1,800 and 2,000 calories to the pound.

A CLEAN-UP AND PAINT-UP CAMPAIGN

An Appeal to Every Citizen's Civic Pride.

In a tenement district lived a family surrounded by filth and dirt. The whole atmosphere of the little room which they called "home" was one of hopeless desolation and gloom. To prove the power of suggestion, a good woman placed on the table a miniature statue of the Venus of Milo. Against this grimy background of dirt and wretchedness, the Venus shone out in all her whiteness and purity, gleaming and brilliant in her strange surroundings. The good woman called a week later and found that the place had been cleaned up, the dirt had been washed away and a pathetic but sincere attempt at decoration had been made—the subtle influence was effective. If the homes of a neighborhood become weather-beaten and shabby, values in the whole neighborhood deteriorate. But if some house-owner paints and brightens up his home, it radiates its attractiveness in every direction and soon the entire neighborhood is made bright and attractive. Make yourselves missionaries of the "Gospel of Good Paint—of Brightness and Thrift."

FILIPINO DELIGHTS.

Within a few years of America's possession of the Philippines 600,000 bright Filipino boys and girls were found in schoolhouses scattered all over the islands studying modern textbooks illustrated from Philippine life. Fifteen hundred American school teachers had come over 10,000 miles to the debilitating climate of the islands to enable these boys and girls to know the facts of history, the wonders of life, the secrets of healthful living.

Then these young people told the story to their parents, who had never been educated under the Spanish regime. In fact, to be educated was the privilege only of the ostraco, or upper classes. And these Filipino children told their parents they must open the windows of their huts (straw-thatched) huts at night and let in the fresh air; and that it was not sanitary for each member of the family in turn to smoke the long black family cigar which was suspended from the ceiling. They told them, too, that water must be boiled to prevent the spread of typhoid, which had steadily decimated the population.—Christian Herald.

Terry Behan is undecided. Nathan Warshawsky will go into the grocery business. John Palm has not determined upon his plans. Charles Carlson will retire and rent his building. Erik Erickson will go on his farm. John Moberg is heavily interested in the lumber and fuel business. The Mottes boys will open a pool room. The plans of Alex Dalpra

Soe Anglers Catch Huge Trout.

Bright and early Saturday morning many of the Soe sportsmen wended their way to St. Mary's rapids to catch the first trout of the open season. Most of those who went in search of the striped fellows had good results, but the first prize goes to an old-time trapper in fishing circles—Sheriff John Bone, Dr. J. F. Deadman and Sam V. Kirvan, says the Soe News. This party returned to the city about noon with two of the biggest rainbow trout ever captured by anglers in this part of the country. One of the trout weighed twenty pounds, and the other eighteen pounds. They caught a third one which tipped the scales at five pounds. It took about an hour to land each of the big ones. The Bone, Deadman and Kirvan "fish" stories now will be put in the background for all time, for the trio produced the real goods this morning.

Eager Buyers Force in the Doors.

The sale of the bankrupt stock of L. Newmark being conducted by A. Westin & Co. will go down as one of the most successful ever held in Newberry, says the News. The store was jammed with bargain hunters from the time it was opened until it was closed. At one time it was necessary to lock the doors to give the tired clerks an opportunity to handle the crowds, but the eager bargain seekers were not to be denied and forced the barriers.

Has Goodly Log Supply.

The large plant of the Morgan Lumber & Cedar company at Foster City, Dickinson county, is in active operation, with sufficient timber at the landings and in the river to keep the wheels moving throughout the season. During the winter the company cut 5,000,000 feet of timber at its several camps and bought 1,000,000 feet of logs from jobbers operating in the district. At the close of last season the company had 2,000,000 feet of logs in stock, making the total timber supply available 8,

Kenneth Perry, son of Joseph Perry, 330 North Mary street, and a graduate from the Escanaba High school in the class of '14, is making a record for himself at Ann Arbor, where he is attending the University of Michigan, says the Escanaba Press. Mr. Perry entered in the literary department. Recently the class of one hundred and twenty-five were requested to write a play in verse, imitative of a Greek production. Mr. Perry took for his work "Agatha." He was the only one of the class to receive the highest mark possible, "A" while but four received a mark of "B." The standings were made on length, form, versification and phraseology, and in all Mr. Perry outclassed his classmates. The Escanaba student has been highly complimented by professors in the department, and so well pleased are they with his work that they have urged him to procure its publication.

DANGER TO CHILDREN.

Serious illnesses often result from lingering coughs and colds. The backing and coughing and disturbed sleep rack a child's body and the poisons weaken the system, so that disease cannot be thrown off. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has eased coughs, colds and croup for three generations; safe to use and quick to act. There is no better medicine for croup, coughs and colds. Sold Everywhere.

Unique Bill Is Disallowed.

The Menominee Herald-Leader publishes the following: Sobestyan K. Kobal's suicide last June has caused a lot of trouble for Zymont Loh—not that Sobestyan's ghost has come back to haunt or molest Zymont. In the first place, Sobestyan killed himself on a bed in Kobal's home at Perronville. As he slashed his throat he allowed blood to run on the bed-clothes. Then, Loh was forced to keep the body overnight. Here is the bill which Zymont turned in against the Kobal estate:

| Keeping corpse one night..... | $15 |
| Cleaning blood from floor..... | 5 |
| Bed clothing spoiled..... | 6 |
| Total..... | $26 |

Probate Judge John Stiles' ideas on what Zymont had coming from the estate and Zymont's ideas did not agree. The judge some time ago denied the bill. In the meantime Loh had moved to Milwaukee, and he had not heard of the action of the judge. He arrived in Menominee yesterday for the purpose of getting the money. Katherine Stiles, register of probate, explained his bill had been disallowed and that the amount of the estate, amounting to about $700, was in the bank awaiting to be sent to Kobal's parents in Austria. "I guess I better go back to Milwaukee," said Zymont.

Plan Fight on Dickinson Saloons.

A meeting of more than usual interest was held in the city yesterday and was attended by a majority of the ministers of the county and some of the leading business men, reports the Iron Mountain Press. Grant Hudson, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league, and Baxter Brown, who managed the Iron county "local option" campaign, were present and addressed the gathering. The matter of a campaign for Dickinson county was discussed and a number of questions of vital interest were referred to the above named men. After some time spent in

Son Out of School, Man Goes to Jail.

Some time ago Ansel Charles was arrested for not sending his boy Anton, who is thirteen years old, to school. The Menominee Herald-Leader says: "That boy will either go to school or you will go to jail." Police Judge William F. Waite warned the man, Charles did not heed the advice. As a result he has begun a five-day period in the county jail. The sending of Charles to jail marks another chapter in the campaign by Police Captain Charles Van Dooser and Judge Waite to compel the

The first guns in the campaign to make Baraga county dry in 1916 were fired at the L'Anse-au-Loup last Wednesday evening. G. M. Hudson of Lansing, president of the Anti-Saloon league, and Baxter Brown of Owosso, flushed by their success in Alger and Iron counties in the upper peninsula, and gains in lower Michigan, appeared before an assemblage of two hundred and fifty, including a number of women, and delivered forceful addresses. A straw vote was taken after the speeches, to determine the sentiment as to undertaking a local option fight. Of the men 75 voted yes and 54 no. The women voted 32 yes and four no.

RUCKER SAYS CITIES SHOULD BE RAT-PROOF

The Only Reliable Defense Against the Bubonic Plague, U. S. Surgeon Declares.

Fort Worth, Texas, May 3.—Dr. W. C. Rucker, assistant surgeon general of the public health service, before the State Medical association here today told of the worst-wide ramifications of the bubonic plague and its menace to the United States. The plague, he said, follows main-traveled roads, roads along less beaten paths to the remote ends of the earth and goes from one country to another more frequently by water than by land.

"Taking the Hawaiian islands, where plague was found last August, as a central point," Dr. Rucker continued, "plague exists in Seattle, 2,000 miles away; in California, 2,900 miles distant; in Yokohama, 3,445 miles away; in Hongkong, 4,857 miles away, and in Shanghai, a little over 5,000 miles distant. Thus our entire Pacific coast is threatened by plague from the Orient. The Pacific coast is also menaced by the disease in Ecuador and Peru, a little over four thousand miles away from San Francisco.

"The entire Gulf coast is menaced by plague in Havana, 769 miles from Galveston, 601 miles from New Orleans, 324 miles from Tampa, and 92 miles from Key West. The disease was found among rats in New Orleans no longer ago than March 9, 1915. On account of the chaos in Mexico, it is impossible to state whether plague exists in her Gulf ports.

"The Atlantic coast is not only threatened with importation of plague from the eastern coast of South America, but from European, African and Asiatic ports. Less than five thousand miles from New York, plague is found in Brazil, at Pernambuco, Bahia, and Rio de Janeiro. In the Mediterranean littoral, plague is found in Tripoli, Greece, Egypt, and at Port Said, one of the great ports of British India, except Calcutta, are infected. Rangoon, Madras, Colombo, Bombay and Karachi report its presence and from Karachi it has extended up into the Persian gulf. Singapore, Surabaya, Mauritius, Zanzibar, Queenstown in South Africa, and Dakar in Senegal, all have plague. Directly or indirectly our country is in commercial communication with all of the infected places mentioned. It must be admitted that as plague is a disease of rodents which travel around the world in ships, the United States must consider herself as seriously menaced by bubonic plague."

Dr. Rucker contended that there was no reason to believe the disease does not exist in other ports and that the search for it had been either neglected or half-heartedly conducted. That, he said, applies to the United States as well as to other countries.

As to prevention, he said, the first line of defense was maritime quarantine, which might prove disastrous with commerce and "at best a makeshift"; second, rat guards, and other measures at the wharves to prevent embarkation or disembarkation of rats; third, immunization of human beings, "a weak reed to lean upon"; and, fourth, the only reliable defense, rat-proofing man's working and living environment. He said no modern city could regard rat-proofing as a luxury.

Rat-proofing cities and occupants of rat-proof premises need have no fear of the plague, he said.

AMERICANS AID GERMANS IN RUSSIA

United States Diplomatic Officials Organized Effective Relief Work There.

Petrograd, April 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The system hurriedly instituted by the American embassy at the outbreak of war, for the relief of German and Austrian residents of Russia, has been developed by Montgomery Schuyler, special agent of the state department, into a smoothly working machine which handles the details with utmost dispatch. Mr. Schuyler's work is done and he has turned the management of this relief work over to H. D. Peirce, another appointee of the state department, and has left for home to look after his personal affairs, pending possible similar assignment in another field.

When the war began, the embassy in Petrograd found itself poorly equipped to handle the extra work in the care of the Germans and Austrians. In addition to being short-handed, not a member of the staff spoke German, Hungarian or any of the Austrian dialects. Charge d'Affaires Wilson was given authority to hire help, if necessary, and to go ahead on his own initiative. The first embarrassment was lack of funds. Neither the German or Austrian governments appeared to appreciate the requirements in this direction that developed almost immediately. The amount first authorized by them for the work was totally inadequate to meet the demands. This difficulty was overcome, however, as soon as the facts could be made known, and soon relief funds began to pour in.

In the early stages, the plight of Germans and Austrians taxed not only the embassy staff, but was a poser for the Russian local authorities throughout central and southwestern Russia. These aliens were forced from their homes by the exigencies of war, within a zone extending for sixty miles from the frontier and from many districts along the Baltic. Most of them were caught without money, and were driven off to interior towns in a penniless plight.

Accordingly the American embassy, and the American consulates, where there were none, were flooded with appeals for funds. Charge Wilson, with his assistants, Jones and Furness, worked day and night over the mass of cable and mail correspondence that grew from day to day. A bureau of inquiry was established, apart from the embassy proper, in charge of Karl Rukman, a Swede temporarily employed, and soon funds were being dispatched in every direction at the rate of from 10,000 to 50,000 rubles daily. With the arrival of Schuyler, early in January, he strengthened this inquiry bureau by employing a corps of typists and clerks, and organized another bureau at the embassy to handle all general inquiries, regarding both civil and military prisoners and for the transmission of personal funds, which began arriving from relatives of the detained ones. Through-out the country Schuyler organized the civil prisoners themselves by having one of their number chosen as the responsible head of each individual group, charged with transmitting details of the requirements to the managers. To this responsible head funds were sent for relief.

This responsibility had formerly rested on the local Russian police authorities, and Schuyler complimented them warmly for the generally conscientious and efficient discharge of their unsought duties. It is an additional tribute to them that in instances where German members of certain groups have written, asking that the chief of their own selection be removed and the Russian police official be replaced.

In the midst of all these operations came Ambassador Marjory. He found Secretary Wilson running things in a highly commendable way and was satisfied to leave practical control of the relief work in his hands until Schuyler arrived.

Before leaving for home Schuyler made a tour of the military camps as far to the southeast as the Turkistan frontier, returning through the Transcasian and Caucasian country. He traveled 6,000 miles, inspected eight camps containing approximately 50,000 prisoners. On his return, he said that on the whole, the prisoners were well fed, well housed and well clothed. Their daily rations were three pounds of black bread, half a pound of meat, unlimited tea and small quantity of sugar, besides a substantial soup, which after gastrointestinal test, he considered equal to that served him at most of the railway restaurants on route.

"I saw my little Willie swap his jack-knife for an old tin top, the which he gaily spins, and while it whirls its merry race, he wears upon his reckless face some fifteen kinds of grins."

"He thinks he made a corking trade. 'That jackknife hadn't any blade,' he says; 'it was a frost. I gave two marbles and some chalk to Billy Bones, across the block—that's all the blamed thing cost. But this here top's a good as new; I never saw a top could do so niftily its trick. I guess the kid I got it from—his name is Ebenezer Tom—is feeling pretty sick.'"

"My son," I say, "it's wrong to gloat because you got a comrade's gear or stuck him in a swap; if Ebenezer Tom feels sore and comes around to make a roar, just land him back his top."

"I'll see him dead and buried first!" says Willie, with an ardent burst of eloquence, subsiding, "We traded fish-poles last July, and then I got it in the eye. I've evened things this time." So Willie twirls his twinkling top, and I suppose he'll never stop till time to go to bed; he is as happy as a bird that sings a roundelay absurd until it splits its head.

"The boy's the father of the man," remarked an ancient also-ran, whose name has been mislaid; and that old bromide, gray and sore, the relic of a bygone year, is truthful. I'm afraid. (Our gladdest memories are struck when we with energy have flung the harpoon at a friend; when we have clinched an extra wheel by closing up some shady deal, our grins and troubles end.)

Of course you'll say it isn't true; at least it won't apply to you—you're straighter than two strings. You hate and loathe all crooked trades, and just above your shoulder blades you're growing flossy wings. But all the rest of us, I know, experience a pleasant glow when we have made a kill—when we, because of webs we spin, the unearned increment take in, until it fills the till.

My gladdest day, I do declare, was when I swapped an old blind mare to Jinks, who lived next door—the sweetest hour I ever knew; my satisfaction grew and grew, the more he ripped and swore. The village banker, good and great, the man who deals in real estate, the lordly merchant prince, the leading lawyer, learned and grand—they all are glad when they hand the other chap a quince.

It fills my bosom with distress this human weakness to confess, it gives your nerves a jary; but mighty few of us are saints, and you should boost the gent who paints us mortals as we are.—Walt Mason in Judge.

Washington, May 3.—The National Geographic society says of the Austrian province of Istria which the Italians desire to secure, and which is said to be one of the considerations that Germany offers for a continuation of Italian neutrality.

"Across the gulf of Venice from Italy lies the rich Austrian province of Istria, formerly Venetia. The Istrian peninsula, a thick, irregular triangle wedged into the north Adriatic, with its mainland base defined by a line from Trieste in the north to Pola in the south, and with a Piuma at its apex, is an Austrian crownland. Western bankers, though still wisely clinging to a large degree of caution, are daily becoming more candid in their expressions of optimism, and, advised all the way from the Pacific coast to the Alleghenies are almost uniformly hopeful. Not the least of benefits to the United States from the war will be the spread of such knowledge among our own people. American travelers and American investors will become better acquainted with their own country, and this season that prospect is greatly enhanced by the certainty of securing good prices for all food and mineral products. RAPID IMPROVEMENT ON IRON RANGES

Increased Forces Bear Witness to Bettered Outlook for Iron and Steel.

As a result of the recent large sales of ore to the operators of eastern furnaces, mining men throughout the Lake Superior district anticipate that operations will soon be conducted on a much larger scale. A few weeks ago the outlook was not very encouraging and it was feared that many properties that were closed down last fall would remain idle through the summer, but the sales of ore reported within the past ten days indicate that the season shows a gain as compared with last year.

During the past ten days several large sales of ore have been made in Cleveland, Pittsburg and other places, and the volume of new business has been heavy enough materially to affect the mining situation. Within the past few days several hundred men have been put back at work on the old ranges. The idle properties on the Menominee range began resuming work several weeks ago and in the interval nearly 1,000 men have been given employment.

The demand for Menominee range ore seems to be better than the demand for ores produced on the Marquette range, as active shipping operations started in that field nearly a week earlier than on this range. Practically all of the active mines in the Menominee district are now shipping to Escanaba. Only a few of the Marquette range properties have started to come out, but the Menominee range ores began to arrive earlier than the ore carriers destined for the Marquette port.

The movement of ore thus far from both of the old ranges exceeds by a considerable tonnage that forwarded during a corresponding period last spring, while the shipments from the Mesaba range properties have been several times larger. In fact the movement from the Mesaba district last year hardly started until after May 1, while together with the output mined, is shipped in April.

With the Oliver company increasing its operations both underground and on surface this week, a number of additional men have been given employment here, and next week will see an increase in the company's working forces at its Negaunee properties. By the end of this week the Oliver company will be sending out considerable ore, but it will likely be some days yet before the Cleveland-Cliffs shipments are well under way. It is said that the Cleveland-Cliffs company has over 2,000,000 tons in stock on the Marquette and Swanzy ranges, so the season will have to be an exceptional one if all of this ore, together with the output mine, is shipped before the close of navigation.

It is reported that exploratory operations will be resumed at a number of points on the Menominee range in the next few weeks. The best commentary on the weeks very little drilling has been done there, but the improvement in the iron situation has caused several to prepare for drilling operations. Cole & McDonald have several contracts in prospect, and the firm is preparing to do some exploring on its own account on lands held under option. It has a promising tract near the Bristol mine, and it expects to find ore there.

ARTHUR HENDRA COMING HOME.

Arthur Hendra, who has been in Uncle Sam's navy for the past six years, will be home within a month or six weeks to visit his folks. He has asked for a discharge and he expects to get it, as he has served two years longer than his enlisted term. He recently returned from Cuba, where he had been stationed for three years. His folks yesterday received a large photograph of himself and other sailors, comprising the crewmen on his boat. Young Hendra is captain of the team, which some time ago won a large silver cup, in competition with teams from other naval vessels.

TO GIVE PARTY.

A party will be conducted in St. John's hall a week from Thursday evening, the 13th, under auspices of the standing social committee of St. John's church congregation. A new committee was appointed at a meeting held Sunday afternoon, with Mrs. B. J. Goodman, Jr., president; Mrs. T. J. Dundon, vice president; Mrs. H. G. Koefe, secretary, and Mrs. Peter Finnegan, treasurer. Other members of the com-

HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE.

Ishpeming Woman Is Charged With Receiving Stolen Money.

Mrs. Consiglio Coduti will next Monday be given an examination before Judge St. John on the charge of receiving stolen money. One of her sons and a boy named Conna, some two months ago entered O. Latraverse's saloon and stole $128 from the safe. The boys were later sent to the industrial school at Lansing. The Coduti boy told the officers that he had given his mother $85 of the money, but she denies having received more than $25, which she gave up at the time the boys were arrested. If the evidence brought out at the examination is sufficient Mrs. Coduti will be bound over to circuit court.

CHAPLIN COMEDY TODAY.

World's Funniest Photoplay Comedian to Be Seen in "A Night Out."

Referring to "A Night Out," the second comedy produced by the Essanay company with Charles Chaplin in the leading part, it will be shown at the Ishpeming theater this afternoon and evening, the Essanay News says: "There is literally a riot of fun when Charles Chaplin takes 'A Night Out,' which is the title of his second Essanay two-reel comedy.

"Thousands of photoplay enthusiasts as well as exhibitors have written Essanay telling of the great success of the play. Exhibitors who have run this comedy declare that it is the funniest they have ever seen, and that their spectators were convulsed with laughter. "With Ben Turpin, Chaplin attempts to drink the town dry. They spill a pie over a giant, who hurls them out of the cafe into the street after nearly choking them to death. They manage to zig-zag their way to their hotel, where Chaplin is horrified by running across a woman in pajamas, with a poodle. The dog follows Chaplin to his room and the pajama-clad woman chases after her pet. The terrified Chaplin takes refuge in his bath room.

"In the meantime the husband of the pajama-clad woman returns and looks for his wife. She sees him through the crack of the door and slams it and hides. After the distracted husband runs down to the hotel office Chaplin kindly escorts the dog and woman to her room. Friend husband suddenly returns and Chaplin takes refuge in the bed. Husband sits down on the bed to take off his shoes and discovers Chaplin. He hauls him out and hurls him at the side of the wall with deadly intent.

"Chaplin is thrown through the bath room door and falls into the tub filled with water. After coming to the surface, spotting the whole explanation, he is in order. Mr. Chaplin decides that a night out once in a long, long while is quite sufficient.

"Though the scenes themselves are full of fun, it is Mr. Chaplin's antics and facial expression that raise the comedy to the class of a masterpiece."

SOCIAL TOMORROW EVENING.

The ladies of the third division of the First Methodist Episcopal church congregation, who will conduct a social tomorrow evening, commencing at 7 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Corniel, 607 North Main street, issue the following invitation to their friends to attend: A party of measure will give to all. 'Tis something novel as well as new Measure yourself on door or wall. Two cents for every foot you are tall. An extra cent for each inch give. Then show to the world how high you live. With music, song, lunch and pleasure, We'll meet you all at our "Party of Measure."

SEWER JOB DIFFICULT.

Men employed on the new sewer through the Carp river valley encountered exceptionally bad ground last week in a ravine near the southern edge of the swamp, and it is possible that about 100 feet of the pipe will have to be taken up, in order to put in a better foundation. After the pipe was laid the clay beneath it began to heave.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

The May meeting of the city council will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. C. J. Byrns has returned from a six weeks' visit with her husband at Sault Ste. Marie.

Mrs. Samuel Byrne, of Houghton, is in the city on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sullivan, Ridge street.

Henry Girzi, who left here five weeks ago to attend the Panama exposition, is expected home tomorrow. He arrived in Chicago Sunday.

Hubert Jarvis and Bernard Eger have returned from Toledo, O., where they spent the past several weeks taking a course in an automobile factory.

Miss Lillian Roberts entertained twenty-five of her friends Saturday afternoon, the occasion being her birthday. Games were played and a dainty lunch was served.

Very few of the several hundred Ishpeming men and boys who spent Saturday and Sunday at the trout streams had good catches, as the weather was too cold for good fishing.

T. Geraghty, who a few weeks ago opened a hat cleaning and blocking establishment in West & Blokken's barber shop, has rented the store room in the Peterson block, First street, opposite the old fire engine house, and is preparing to open a confectionery store in connection with his hat business. He has been kept busy on hats practically all the time since he opened, and is doing excellent work. Besides conducting his hat and confectionery business, Mr. Geraghty expects to find time to conduct his auto livery. The interior of the room he will occupy is being redecorated and painted, and a pool room will be placed in the rear. He expects to open the store Saturday.

The officers of the Ishpeming Advancement association desire a good attendance at the monthly meeting this afternoon at 8:30 o'clock in the Young Men's Christian association building.

The body of the late Mrs. Johanna Johns, who died in St. Luke's hospital, Marquette, was brought to the city yesterday and funeral services were conducted at Grace Episcopal church by Rev. C. C. Ziegler, the rector.

The council held a special meeting last evening to approve the liquor bond of Saxwood & Anderson, who are preparing to engage in business in the Ponglass block on Main street, in the stand formerly occupied by John Mandley.

The members of the Knights of King Arthur, who were to give a concert in the Guild hall of Grace Episcopal church, Thursday evening of this week, have postponed it for one week, because of the presentation of the high school play, "A Night Out," at the theater.

Miss Stella Skud left last evening for Chicago, where she will spend a few days. She will go from there to Minneapolis, to attend the marriage of her cousin, Sam Simons, of New York, to Miss Lillian Cohen, of Minneapolis. She will be away about three weeks.

Victor Amen, who has been delivering seeds for a wholesale concern the past two or three weeks, has had a hard time locating some of the Finnish farmers who bought seeds from the agent. He spent much time trying to locate Niki Aho, without success.

The picture program at Ishpeming theater today, in addition to the Chaplin comedy, "A Night Out," in two reels, will be the Hearst-Selig News and "His Soul Mate," a Lubin comedy. The Chipper trio, who opened an engagement last evening, created a favorable impression.

Work at the new postoffice building was suspended yesterday because of the rain. The steel crew worked Sunday, but they were unable to do anything yesterday. The brick work was at a standstill practically all last week because of the unfavorable weather conditions.

A. S. and C. H. Carter, who spent a week or more in the city, inspecting the marble beds, north of the Ropes gold mine, have departed for their home in Omaha, Neb. They made no announcement before leaving as to what their plans are, but they said they would be back again within a few weeks.

The funeral of the late Otto Kollgren will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock, with services at the Swedish Lutheran church. The obsequies will be in charge of Zenith Lodge, Knights of Pythias, and the members of the Swedish Home lodge and Ishpeming fire department, will attend in a body.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Epworth league of the First Methodist Episcopal church will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. An election of officers at this meeting will take place, therefore all Epworthians are requested and urged to be present. Arrangements for the twenty-sixth anniversary of the Epworth league will be made.

THE MINERS' NATIONAL BANK ISHPEMING, MICHIGAN

BERMUDA

Every one who took an interest in the contest of four years ago, in which several of our young ladies took part, will remember the delightful time they had and the stories they told of the things they saw—the Black Beauties, the miles of Easter lilies, and so forth.

But of all the celebrities of that beautiful isle none equals in popularity the delicious, fragrant, nutritious, mild-flavored, health-giving Bermuda onion.

This vegetable, friend of the poor, companion of the rich, and boon to all classes, makes its first appearance for the season of 1915 in company with such well-known favorites as Miss Asparagus, Rosy Tomato, New Potato, Carrot, Beet, Turnip, Madam Egg-Plant, Mr. Pie-Plant and Dr. Salsify, attended by all the early members of the Vegetable kingdom, now filling an engagement at our up-to-date grocery department, Home of Good Things to Eat.

Call and meet them, for to meet them is to eat them—

ENGLISH PRAISE FOR GERMANS.

All observers of Germany, her army and her people, under the stress of war, praise the universal spirit of patriotism and determination to win. An English "eyewitness" pictures the German people in the London Daily Mail as follows:

"In my estimate of the present value of our enemies as fighting men we must not lose sight of the national sense of discipline which forms part of the earliest education of every German. It enables them to gain results with raw troops which among us could only be gained after months of continuous training and enables them likewise to maintain an extremely high level of efficiency even after suffering great losses in the commissioned and non-commissioned ranks. Obedience has become ingrained in the people. It is in the very fiber of the nation.

"It is difficult for English people to realize what a national war means to a continental nation. Every man, woman and child is doing his or her part. When the men go to fight the women and children carry on their work at home. It would seem utterly incredible to them that any individual should cease working for the common good in order to gain any personal advantage of increase of leisure and still more that any one should give a thought to the ordinary pleasures and enjoyments of peace.

HUMOR IN THE TRENCHES.

The staff correspondent of the New York Times who recently visited the French front writes as follows:

Through the trenches I found many interesting inscriptions over the dugouts, where the soldiers take refuge during the artillery bombardment.

In one trench I found a band of Paris journalists. Over the entrance to their dugout I read:

"Chevaliers of the Pen and Pencil!"

Doubtless some great stories of the war will come from that underground cave—if any of those chevaliers survive.

In this same line I found a place, wider than the rest, where every one culled in passing. It was a grave, covered with flowers, made there in the mud of the trench for a comrade shot at the loophole just in front while giving the alarm for a German attack.

I did not see a discouraged man in the trenches, and we went through miles of them. The men are now all equipped with the new horizon-blue uniforms. They are in fine physical condition and all are positive of victory.

The best commentary on the French commissariat is summed up in a single sentence from a private to our captain, who said to him:

"Do you get enough to eat here?"

The soldier knew the captain was from general headquarters. He knew that the captain's questions invited a statement of honest fact. He saluted respectfully and said, hesitatingly:

"Well, don't you think we might have a little more salad?"

Our captain nearly fainted. Afterward he gasped to me the French equivalent of "Wouldn't that jar you?"

Markets

NEW YORK MARKET WEAK, BUT RECOVERS SLIGHTLY.

New York, May 3.—A succession of substantial declines, with some slight recovery toward the close, accompanied the course of today's trading in the stock market. Dealings were once more over the million-share mark, but half a dozen issues, chiefly United States Steel, contributed more than fifty per cent of the whole. The foreign situation in its possible bearing on the attitude of the American government was an outstanding feature. Copper fell in common with other active issues, their decline being attributed to rumors of private shading of recent high prices for the metal.

Closing prices of stocks in the markets yesterday are reported by J. A. Minnear & Co., of Laurium, as follows:

Mining News

NEW ARCADIAN.

The New Arcadian officials are averse to making public the yield of refined copper from the rock pile until the entire tonnage has been put through the mill and smelter, believing that in this way only can a fair idea be had of the copper in New Arcadian's rock. There is no doubt, however, but that the showing thus far is satisfactory. Observation of the stamped rock on the tables shows an unusually large amount of headings which means that the smelter percentage of refined copper will be high. Practically all the rock which is now being taken through the Franklin mill is from drifts and there was no opportunity for selection. Four-fifths of the rock came from exploratory openings. There is but one small stop at the mine—at the 250-foot level.

CHILE COPPER.

The Chile Copper company, the 4,300,000 shares of which have recently made their initial appearance on the curb, with large private sales at $20.50 per share (par $25), has the largest copper deposit of any mine in the world, according to persons having large financial interests in the company, says the Boston News Bureau. In talking recently with friends, Pope Yeatman, the consulting engineer now at the property, has given it 300,000,000 tons of 2 per cent ore from only a partial development. On a 15-cent copper market estimate the profit on this ore largely developed should amount to a thousand million dollars. An ultimate cost of

SCHOOL BOARD IS FAVORABLE TO PLAN

Agrees to Put Up $600 of Salary of Proposed Full Time Health Officer.

At a meeting of the board of education and Mayor Heggoton and Alderman Washburn, representing the council, discussion of the employment of a full time health officer resulted in the trustees agreeing to stand a part of the salary of the proposed official. This amount of $600 was suggested. Mayor Heggoton and Mr. Washburn will report the action of the board to the council.

It is thought that a full time officer can be secured without increasing the present outlay for health service. The city is now employing a physician and a veterinarian, the latter acting as dairy inspector, and is paying two salaries of $900 each a year. With the $600 the board of education would pay there would be $2,400 available for a salary for a full time health officer.

The board has re-engaged practically all of the teachers at present employed in the schools. Several of the teachers asked for a few days more time to consider their contracts, and were given until the next meeting to do so.

A force of eleven men is now engaged on the school playgrounds, and the board expects to have the work completed by June.

MAPLE RIDGE BALL TEAM.

Harvey Lahti, a former Negaunee boy, has been chosen to do the pitching this season for the baseball team that was recently organized at Maple Ridge. Lahti is one of the best pitchers ever turned out of the Negaunee High school and the Maple Ridge management considers itself fortunate in signing him. Terry, a Chicago player, has been named captain of the team, and Otto Larson, a Maple Ridge business man, is the manager. Several outside players have been engaged and games will be arranged with all of the fast teams in the upper peninsula.

LOCAL LACONICS.

Mrs. John T. Burns visited yesterday with relatives at Marquette.

Drs. N. J. Robbins and C. J. Larson spent yesterday on business at Marquette.

Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Vincent, 539 Park street, are the parents of a son, born Saturday.

L. E. Chaussee arrived home yesterday from Escanaba, where he spent a few days on business.

The fire department was called out yesterday morning to extinguish a chimney fire on Case street.

Miss Mary Cons has returned to Marquette, after spending a few days here visiting with her parents.

William Davey returned home yesterday morning from Calumet, where he spent a few days visiting with relatives.

Charles Morelli, who has been a patient at St. Mary's hospital at Marquette for the past two weeks, has returned home.

A. T. Winter of Cheboygan, president of the Water Lumber company, and E. W. Wahanko, of Cheboygan, were in the city yesterday, on business.

William Putkonen, Kristo Koorko, Peter Kiiski and John Marjainen departed last evening for Bisbee, Ariz., where they expect to obtain employment.

The senior and junior teams of St. John's Sunday school will play a practice game Thursday afternoon after school, at the Jackson playgrounds district.

F. A. Bell spent yesterday at Escanaba, where he attended the funeral of the late M. D. Mead, a prominent young attorney of that city, who passed away Friday.

The Northwestern morning passenger, which has formerly left here at 8:50, will hereafter leave ten minutes earlier. The train from Marquette will arrive here at 8:35.

Axel Nelson and Louis Peterson, diamond drill runners employed by Longear & Hodge, departed Sunday night for Gila Bend, Ariz., where they will do drill work for several months.

Albert J. Collins, who has been employed in the offices of the Davidson Ore company at Iron River for the past year, is here for an indefinite period, owing to the illness of his mother.

A high school baseball team is being organized at Michiganville. Mr. Beardsley, the superintendent of schools, is coaching the nine. Games will be arranged with other teams in the county.

William Whitburn, an old resident of the city, celebrated his sixty-eighth birthday at his home at the Buffalo location Saturday evening. Music was furnished during the evening by Broad's orchestra.

Oscar Mattila yesterday moved his family to Maple Ridge, where Mr. Mattila purchased a farm last fall. He has erected a dwelling on the property. He has been a resident of the city for the past fifteen years.

Charles Pykala went to Marquette yesterday to enter his application with the county clerk for his second citizenship papers. He was accompanied by John Alpine and William Pykala, who were his witnesses.

The funeral of the late Miss Augusta Norby, who died Saturday morning, will be held this afternoon at 2:30. Services will be conducted at the home of her uncle, Peter Johnson, on Mill street, by Rev. R. T. T. Hicks, pastor of St. John's Episcopal church.

"Oh Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" a two-part Edison picture, with Marc McDermott and Miriam Nesbitt in the leading roles, will be featured in a five reel program at the Star theater tonight. The picture was announced for last week, but the booking agent failed to deliver it. Three other good pictures will be shown tonight.

A Ford automobile was overturned in a trench on Main street Sunday night. None of the occupants of the car was injured. The only damage done to the car was a broken windshield.

WANTS DAMAGES.

Theodore Sjogren Asks $10,000 from Alleged Kidnapers at Crosby, Minn.

H. J. Kruse, a former well-known Negaunee mining man, along with ten other mining men, is the defendant in an action brought recently in the United States court at Duluth by Theodore Sjogren, of Amasa, Mich., formerly of Crosby, Minn., who charges the defendants kidnaped him.

A Duluth paper says: "Charging he was kidnaped from Crosby, Minn., Theodore Sjogren, now of Amasa, Mich., has brought action in the United States district court for $10,000 damages against his alleged kidnapers.

"As defendants the petition names George L. Payne, Peter L. Newman, James Sullivan, W. J. Sullivan, A. C. Anderson, H. J. Kruse, Henry Breen, R. I. Sewell, Rogers Brown Ore company, a corporation of West Virginia; Claude M. Atkinson and Herman Lefko, all of Crosby.

"Sjogren declares that he was kidnaped from Crosby, taken in an automobile to Brainerd, kept there seven hours, and then forced to go to Duluth on April 17, 1913. He alleges that he was seriously bruised, and still is afraid to go back to Crosby. He states that he knows no reason for his being kidnaped.

"G. L. Payne, Peter L. Newman and W. J. Sullivan he charges to be the ones who actually kidnaped him, but all of the other defendants he alleges were in the plot."

NEGAUNEE CITY TEAM.

Has Been Organized With Valmer Heinonen Manager and Jess Peel Captain.

The Negaunee City baseball team has been organized and Valmer Heinonen has been elected manager. Jess Peel, who caught all of the games for last year's league team, will captain the nine. A committee consisting of three of the players was chosen as a board of directors. Games will be arranged with other teams in the upper peninsula. The proposed lineup follows:

Jess Peel, catcher; Hilmer Leaf, Sam Ford, Leslie Gaffney and Earl Rule, pitchers; Adolph Fredrickson, first base; Valmer Heinonen, second base; Joe Iman, third base; John Lindstrom, short stop; Charles Tall, left field; Will Davey, center field, and Sam Ford, right field. Doty will be used as utility infielder. "Dick" Cushing is the mascot.

ST. MARY'S MINERAL LAND.

The St. Mary's Mineral Land company dividend of $1 a share, just declared, is payable May 26 to stock of record May 3. The directors, in addition to declaring a $1 cash dividend, voted to distribute 9,990 shares of North Lake stock held in the St. Mary's treasury. The stock will be distributed in the ratio of one share of North Lake for each seventeen shares of St. Mary's stock held by the shareholders.

This distribution is the second stock distribution to be made by the company, which was organized in March, 1901, to succeed the St. Mary's Mineral Land company. The previous stock distribution was made in April, 1910.

CRULLERS or Fried Cakes

Never Greasy

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Everyone likes fried cakes or crullers. Here's a very superior recipe. Follow directions closely—success is certain.

K C Crullers or Fried Cakes

Three cups sifted flour; 1/2 level teaspoonful salt; 1/2 level teaspoonful baking powder; 1/2 level teaspoonful sugar; 1/2 level teaspoonful melted butter; 5 cups skimmed milk.

Sift together, three times, the flour, K C baking powder, salt and sugar. Add the sugar, butter and milk to the beaten eggs and stir into the dry ingredients to make a stiff dough. Knead slightly; then cut with fried cake cutter.

Drop into a deep kettle filled with hot fat; drain on soft paper or colander and roll in powdered sugar.

To fry have fat at smoking point, turn crullers several times while frying to insure all parts being equally light and thoroughly cooked.

By all means, send for the K C Cook's Book—it's free and it contains 90 just such appetizing recipes. Send the colored certificate packed in 25-cent cans to the JACQUES MFG. CO., Chicago, and write name and address plainly.

As its territory can be served through one or another of the remaining shafts. There has been no agreement reached as to the use of this opening for hoisting Hancock rock, but if a profitable contract can be arranged, doubtless the Quincy company would be willing to increase its income from a new source.

Butte & Superior. In a statement furnished by Butte & Superior to the New York Stock exchange in its application for listing its shares President Mackelvie estimates that the net earnings for the first quarter of 1915 were $1,033,156. This is at the rate of $17 per share per annum. In this quarter spelter was selling much below its present price.

HOTELS DURING WAR.

Hotel managers in Europe, says a Paris dispatch to the New York Sun, despair of anything by way of good business until after the war and freely predict a crisis for all resorts except such as have widely advertised curative waters. Bitterly they say will probably close, and Deauville cannot have a season. All of the smaller seaside places will either close or run half force at cheap rates.

Vichy and Aix-les-Bains will probably do better than any of the other resorts because their clientele is regular and because money can always be found to take care of health. Another consideration is that many of the clients of these waters are elderly persons beyond military age, or, in the case of women, beyond the age when one can be of use nursing or working in relief organizations.

The most severe crisis is in Switzerland, where hotels occupy the position of the third industry of a whole people. The Swiss do not anticipate any profits for the coming summer and feel that they will be lucky if receipts are sufficient to keep their properties from bankruptcy. A prominent Swiss hotel manager has told the Ritz manager it is probable the government will do something for the hotel men by way of a measure permitting them to borrow money on their furniture and on the good will of their trade. Such a measure, hurried on by war conditions, was passed by the Chamber of Deputies recently.

The fact that few hotel proprietors own their own land and buildings makes this law of great importance, for until the bill was passed the courts held that the hotel man's furniture and clientele stood merely as a guarantee for the rent to his land and building owner, the latter being the only party involved who could borrow money on his property.

The fact that hotel furnishings have a value altogether out of proportion to the sum needed to guarantee payment of rent led to the first discussion of the measure, the French law not admitting that so vague an entity as a hotel's clientele could stand as security for a loan. In Switzerland the former French condition still prevails, and great suffering has been entailed through it.

In Paris there is no positive crisis and there probably will be none, because the moratorium makes it possible for the hotels to drift along. The small hotels and pensions are suffering less than the smart places because they cut down expenses more and because their lower prices have to be reduced less. In the big hotels the prices of rooms are already at not much more than half of rush season rates and restaurant prices are down all the way from a third to a half.

Food in the markets, on the contrary, has gone up very much. Small restaurants of smart pretensions report that they are doing well, even at war prices, because the closing of cafes, theaters and other evening amusement places has led to late lingering over dinner, with the consumption of many extra liquors and cigars, so that the restaurant proprietor is getting a little share of the money which under normal amusement conditions would go elsewhere.

The present clientele of the large Paris hotels is composed of contrabanders here after government contracts, relief delegates on business connected with war charities and journalistic or amateur observers of the war. A few old boarders at pension rates help to keep a third of the rooms full. None of these persons pay handsomely for hotel service, and the manager must be satisfied if receipts are sufficient to pay taxes, wages and the interest on his investment, the rest of his building and ground going by the board and net profits being out of the question.

The peril to individual hotels of losing their hard won clientele is very great, too, for travelers are not reasonable and impressions of inferior service, bad food and dull atmosphere based on war conditions may influence many to change hotels after the war. After the war, too, there will be a period of severe price competition which will destroy all but standards and make new ones, compatible with new economic conditions.

The United States consul of Calgary, Canada, says the remarkable development of western Canada has been made largely on borrowed capital.

FAY LIVERY PURCHASED

Flanigan Bros. Have Bought the Boarding Stable and Coal Hauling Business and Will Move from Pine Street Location to Main Street Barn.

New Owners Have Increased Their Business Steadily Since 1907, When They Took Over the Transfer Line Conducted by Their Father, J. J. Flanigan.

Flanigan Bros. have purchased the boarding stable and coal hauling business of Joseph Fay, and will shortly move their teams and equipment from the former Hodgkins barn on Pine street, which they have occupied the last few years, to the new stand.

Mr. Fay, who will now retire, has been in the livery and boarding stable business for more than eighteen years. He closed out the livery in 1913, upon the dissolution of the firm of Fay & Bricker, by whom the business had been conducted since the firm was organized in 1897.

Mr. Fay entered the livery business upon the death of the late George W. Read, whose livery stock was sold. A short time later that Mr. Fay, who was the administrator of the Read estate, opened a livery. Mr. Fay plans to continue his residence here, spending the greater part of the summers in Marquette, and in the fall going to California, where his son resides.

A Progressive Concern.

Flanigan Bros. have made steady progress since they entered the livery business in 1911. Prior to that time they had been successful with their dray line, which they took over from their father, J. J. Flanigan, in 1907.

In May, 1911, they bought the horses and livery equipment of the Hodgkins estate on Pine street, and they have since built up the business materially. In addition, they have continued the dray line, which the firm first took over the business of their father, they operated but a single horse and a team. Now they have four teams and a single.

J. J. Flanigan was one of the pioneer transfer men of Marquette. He entered the business in the late '70s and retired from active work in 1907.

It will require about two months' time to make the change from the Hodgkins barn to the new stand at the corner of Main and Lake streets. In the meantime, Flanigan Bros. will conduct both barns. They plan to rebuild the interior of the Fay barn, and to enlarge the stable room. The second floor of the barn, one side of which has an entrance on the alleyway between Front and Lake streets, will be utilized for the carriages. The work wagons and stables will occupy the lower floor.

The Fay barn will give the Flanigan considerably more floor space than they have had at the Hodgkins barn, and will provide room for the business to expand. An office will be provided at one end of the upper floor, and will be accessible from Main street.

FRITZ KREISLER.

Famous Violinist, Here on the 17th, Displayed Talent as a Boy.

Fritz Kreisler, who is to give a recital at Marquette May 17, who is in America for an entire season's tour under the management of C. A. Ellis of Boston, was born in Vienna, February 2, 1875, and displayed musical gifts of uncommon order in his earliest childhood.

FRITZ KREISLER.

Fortunately for him his father, one of the leading physicians of Vienna, was also an amateur musician of high order who instructed and encouraged him to such a purpose that at the age of seven he appeared at a concert for children given in Vienna by Carlotta Patti and entered the Vienna Conservatory where he studied under Hellmesberger and Auler. This was a special privilege, pupils as a general rule being ineligible for admission in that institution before the age of fourteen. He was, in fact, the youngest child who has studied there, and justified to the full the opinion formed of his exceptional talents by carrying off, in 1885, the gold medal for violin playing at the age of ten.

Passing on to Paris where he studied at the Conservatoire under Massart and Delibes, he there achieved at the age of twelve another remarkable success, gaining the gold medal against forty competitors, all of whom had reached the age of twenty. When he was fourteen years old he made his first tour of this country as a child prodigy, giving concerts with Moritz Rosenthal, the pianist. Then for ten years he gave up his music and devoted himself to various studies and incidentally served his time in the Austrian army where he became an officer in a Dragoon regiment. It was not until 1899 that he returned concertizing and since that time he has been a foremost figure in the world of music. In that year, in the season of 1899-1900, he came to America again as a mature artist and he belongs to that ever-growing class of great artists whose talents are realized and appreciated in the United States before they are in Europe.

His first appearance after his tour as a child were received with acclamation by critics and public alike but before the end of that season he had secured for himself a hold on the admiration and affection of American music lovers which has increased with years. His several tours of this country have been marked by extraordinary success and in the last ten years he has become as great a favorite in London, Paris, Vienna and Berlin as he is in this country. In these cities he has only to announce a recital to have a crowded house.

SEEK BARGAINS AT AUCTION SALE

Disposal of South Shore's Unclaimed Freight Productive of Considerable Fun.

The auction sale of unclaimed freight at the South Shore's warehouse, corner of Baraga avenue and Lake street, last night attracted a surprisingly large crowd, considering the inclemency of the weather. Real bargains were obtained by many persons. In some instances the through had much fun over the articles bought and the prices paid.

Mike Ford, as auctioneer, kept the crowd in a happy mood, and the goods were disposed of at a rapid rate. The sale will be continued tonight and Wednesday or until the accumulation of freight is closed out. Owing to the crowded condition of the warehouse, it was necessary that the crowd stand in the street. Mr. Ford proclaimed the merits of each article from a stand in the doorway. At times during the evening the through extended entirely across the street. Although the sale went well, there is still on hand a large assortment of articles. There were numerous amusing occurrences last night. In one instance, a large box, on which no one seemed willing to bid, was opened and disclosed a fine assortment of women's hats. As soon as the news had spread through the crowd, there was a scramble, and the auctioneer had no difficulty in disposing of the entire contents. The hats were sold singly.

One man bid twenty-five cents for a blind package. His "prize" proved to be the catalogue of a mail order house. On the other hand, some articles were sold at a fraction of their value. For instance, a modern washing machine was sold for $1.50, and iron castings were disposed of for the price of scrap iron. Should the weather be favorable an even larger attendance is expected tonight.

LIBRARIANS HERE EARLY NEXT MONTH

Program for the Meeting of the Upper Peninsula Association Is Announced.

The program for the annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Librarians' association to be held at the Peter White Public library June 3 and 4, has been arranged by Miss Alma Olson, of Marquette, the president of the association. Nearly all the libraries in the upper peninsula will be represented at the gathering, and in addition to the librarians, trustees from several cities will attend.

The evening of Thursday, the opening day of the convention, there will be a reception at the library which the public will be invited to attend.

Friday evening the librarians will be addressed by a prominent speaker. At all of the meetings musical numbers will be given.

The program follows:

—Thursday Evening—
Reception at Peter White Public library.

—Friday Morning—
Address of welcome.

"What the Library Can Offer Men"—Miss Zann K. Miller, Menominee.

"Club Work"—Mrs. F. B. Spear, Jr.

"Books in Foreign Languages"—Theodore Thoren, Negaunee.

"School Libraries"—Mrs. Elsie E. Martin, Marquette.

"Stories and Story Hours"—Miss Ethel Kellow, Painesdale.

—Friday Afternoon—
Round Table, led by Mrs. E. S. Grierson, Calumet.

1. "Periodicals"—Miss Adah Shelly, Sault Ste. Marie.

2. "Book Men and Books in Sets"—Miss Harriet Allen, Houghton.

3. "Circulation, Fiction and Non-Fiction: Methods of increasing, etc."—Mrs. Nellie E. Brayton, Ishpeming.

4. "Bibliographies and Reference Work"—Miss Mary E. Carpenter, Iron Mountain.

5. "New Ideas, etc."—Miss Lara Brubaker, Escanaba.

6. "The Present Day Fiction Problem"—Mrs. Grierson, or member or staff, Calumet.

—Friday Evening—
Lecture.

WASHINGTON STREET WILL NOT BE PAVED

Petition Is Not Granted, as the City Budget for 1915 Has Been Adopted.

A petition by Joseph F. Noidhart and twenty-four others, asking that Washington street, from Front to Fourth, be paved with asphalt macadam was decided in the negative by the city commission last night. The commissioners realize that the roadway is not in the best of condition, but were unable to consider the petition favorably because the annual budget has been formally adopted and it makes no provision for the work requested. While the condition of the street is fairly good in dry weather, the roadway is muddy after a rain. It is likely that the paving project will be taken up next year.

A petition from Simon Toupin and twenty-one others, asking for the construction of a curbing in Rock street and for the rebuilding of part of the thoroughfare was laid on the table until the spring of 1916.

John Balnes and several others petitioned for the construction of a concrete curbing in Ridge street from Sixth to Seventh. The matter was referred to the department of public works.

The commission was waited upon last night by a committee of merchants which asked that an ordinance regulate the operation of hawkers and peddlers be passed. A petition, signed by sixty-seven merchants, practically every one in the city, requested that the proposed ordinance be adopted.

The proposal was discussed by the commissioners, the members of the merchants' committee and A. E. MacDonald, counsel for the merchants. It developed that the merchants feel that they had not been treated fairly in that peddlers and hawkers have been permitted to operate with little or no restrictions and these men have annually taken from the community thousands of dollars.

The draft of the ordinance, as presented, was referred to the department of public affairs and City Attorney Brown. The matter will be considered at the next meeting.

A resolution carried places on the general tax roll certain delinquent assessments for special improvements. Notice of the action will be sent to all delinquents.

PETER MOORE RETURNS.

Former Keeper at Silver Lake Back from Extended Trip.

Peter Moore, for many years keeper of the Silver Lake dam and of Marquette light and power department, arrived in the city Sunday from Detroit, where he spent the last few months. Mr. Moore left yesterday afternoon for Silver Lake, to spend the summer months.

Last fall Mr. Moore left for lower Michigan to search for a daughter he had not seen in more than forty years. He received letters from several persons who claimed relationship, but he failed to find his daughter. Mr. Moore spent the winter at Detroit, but his longing for his familiar haunts in the Silver Lake region, twenty miles north of Ishpeming, induced him to return for the summer, at least. Mr. Moore is now more than eighty years of age.

RIVALS BASEBALL TEAM.

New Organization Is Launched and Will Book Games.

The Rivals baseball club has been organized under the management of Con Harrington. It is open for games with any teams in the country. Uniforms have been ordered. Arrangements for games may be made either through Mr. Harrington or at Willeson's news depot. Herman Smack, who pitched for the Marquette city team two years ago, will pitch for the Rivals.

The Rivals will play their first game of the season with the Federals at the Longear field next Sunday afternoon. Following is the team's lineup: Harry Leskie, catcher; Aniel Toupin, catcher and captain; Smack, pitcher; L. Grienerger, shortstop; K. Anderson, first base; D. Johnson, second base; E. Rohare, third base; B. Terriant, right field; Wm. Gauthier, center field; R. Fleury, left field.

Theatrical

Marquette Opera House.

The Minstrels DeLave, composed of five young women, pleased Marquette Opera House patrons last night with their singing and dancing numbers. They will appear again tonight and tomorrow. Today's pictures will be: Pathe Weekly News, showing Venice flooded, Africa's aid to the English army, Syrian bishop buried in Brooklyn with impressive services, an animated cartoon, and views of the war; "Ashes of Dreams," a Pathe drama featuring Henry Walthall; "Gingl, Southern India," a colored scenic film, and "Rastus' Rabbit Hunt," an animated cartoon.

At the Delft.

"The Rose of the Rancho," a Belasco production of Old California days, popularized by the Jesse L. Lasky company in five reels, will be exhibited at the Delft theater this afternoon and evening. The story is set in fertile southern California just after that region had been ceded to the United States by conquered Mexico. The story turns on the rebuffance of the proud Hidalgo to register the boundaries of their great land holdings with the new "Gringo" government. The failure to register left the owners at the mercy of brutal claim jumpers, who would come in the middle of the night, break in and afterwards register as the proprietors and legally possess the land. The hero of the story is an American sent from Washington to put a stop to the practice. Up to the close of the story it is nip and tuck whether he will be able to save the ranch and the life of the "Rose" whom he loves.

CLEANUP WORK IS IN PROGRESS

Disagreeable Weather Yesterday Did Not Put a Stop to the Campaign.

Although the weather yesterday was far from agreeable, it did not prevent the department of health from carrying out the spring cleanup work in the first precinct. While as much could not be accomplished as it was hoped to do, the results of the work were evident last evening. City employees loaded refuse onto the city wagons throughout the day, and hauled it away.

Today attention will be given to the second precinct.

Health Officer Main has found a number of unsightly spots in the business part of the city. One is along the South Shore railway out, north of Main street, and at the rear of the Washington street stores, and another is the alley from Baraga avenue and Spring street, between Front and Third streets.

Following are the names of the Boy Scouts who have interested themselves in the cleanup campaign:

First precinct—Leonard Ruggles.

Second precinct—James Moran, Curtis Danielson and Charles Brandt.

Third precinct—Arthur Havener, Merle Glover, Bernard Schaefer, Max Bielenberg and Glenn Wilson.

Four precinct—Jack Parker, Harry Hudson, Alfred Wellman, and Walter Bracker.

The annual street cleaning job has now been finished. Twenty-two miles of streets were covered, and the work was done thoroughly. An average of eighteen men were employed thirteen days, or from April 15 to April 30. The cleaning covered 388,800 square yards, from the stone quarry in South Marquette to several blocks north of the Northern State Normal school.

A year ago the work of cleaning the streets cost the city $1,123.61, but this spring the outlay will be less than $1,000, and more ground was covered.

Upper Peninsula

No Serious Forest Fires.

We read in the metropolitan papers the other day that five hundred men were engaged in fighting terrible forest fires in Dickinson county, Connecticut, the Iron Mountain Press. However no one hereabouts possessed any information in the premises. In the vicinity of Witch lake, near George F. Seibert's summer home, there was a bad fire, but it was successfully combated by four or five workers. There are no fires of moment in Sagola, Vanoussah and in this vicinity, where "hundreds of men" were reported engaged in fighting the "fire demon."

Has Souvenir of Bombardment.

Nightwatchman James C. Tlasson of Calumet has received in the mails a souvenir of the European war that perhaps is the most interesting that has yet reached the copper country. It is a small fragment of a steel shell fired by the German fleet in its raid on and bombardment of the town of West Hartlepool on the western coast of England on Dec. 20. The souvenir is of rough steel about one inch long by three-fourths of an inch wide and almost an inch thick. To all intents and purposes it is a piece of scrap steel, large quantities of which are enclosed in a shell of the kind and scattered by the explosion in all directions.

Five New Teachers for Hancock.

The announcement of the list of teachers engaged for the Hancock public schools for the coming year shows that few changes have been made in the corps. Several resignations were sent to the board of education a few weeks ago, but no mention was made of the fact, it having been decided to make no announcement until the new teachers had been engaged. Those who resigned are J. M. Noble, Bernus E. Kline, Ruth E. Lagerquist, Florence Runkey, Anna Copeland and Davis Collins. The new teachers are Clinton O. Bismarck, who comes from the Northwestern university; Helen Morse, a graduate from the University of Michigan; and Irene Driscoll, graduates from the Northern State Normal.
