

JAPS GIVE CHINA A DAY TO GRANT THEIR DEMANDS

If Tokio's Wants Are Not Conceded by 7 O'Clock Friday Evening, Yuan Shih Kai Is Told, Ultimatum Will Follow—An Appeal to the Powers Is Expected

Concessions Offered by Republic Are Rejected, and Legation Has Note Ready to Present—Bryan Outlines Position of U. S. as Favoring "Open Door" Policy

Peking, May 7, 12:55 a. m.—The Japanese legation has informed the Chinese foreign office that Japan is unable to accept the further concessions offered Thursday by China and would present an ultimatum before 7 o'clock this (Friday) afternoon, unless the twenty-four demands were accepted by China without qualification.

The legation yesterday continued its efforts to persuade the Chinese government to concede Japan's demands without the necessity of serving upon China the ultimatum of the Japanese government which was received early yesterday morning.

The secretary of the legation visited the foreign office and informed Vice Minister Tsao Yulin that the legation had received the ultimatum and that it would be presented unless China agreed to Japan's twenty-four demands before 7 o'clock in the evening. Tsao Yulin immediately visited the winter palace, the residence of Yuan Shih Kai, and after a conference with the executive and other members of the government, conveyed to the Japanese legation the following further concessions:

Regarding Shantung province, China will grant Japan everything that already had been granted to Germany there by treaty. China agreed to grant Japan the right to work mines in south Manchuria and eastern Mongolia; that all disputes between the Japanese in Manchuria, of whatever nature, shall be under Japanese jurisdiction; that schools and hospitals may lease land from the Chinese; to grant a concession to Japan to build the Nan Chang (Chao-chow-fu railway) if Great Britain consents to the release of China from the negotiations begun concerning this railroad two years ago. The Japanese claim they respected the concession for this railroad in 1904.

The three stipulations China made to the demands, in the nature of counter proposals, last Sunday, were not withdrawn by China. These were that China asked the right to participate in an international conference for a re-arrangement of the altered status of Shantung; indemnity for the losses incurred in consequence of the Tsing-Tau campaign and the restoration of the status of Shantung as before the war. It is said that the Chinese government has decided to communicate with the United States and Great Britain, Russia and France on receipt of the ultimatum and that the nature of this communication will depend upon the nature of the ultimatum.

STATEMENT BY BRYAN DEFINES U. S. POSITION

Washington, May 6.—The silence which has been consistently maintained by the United States with reference to the Japanese-Chinese negotiations since they began nearly four months ago was broken tonight by the issuance of a statement by Secretary Bryan explaining the position of the American government. The statement was prepared earlier in the day at consultation with President Wilson. While press reports have said that Japan's decision to send an ultimatum to China, official information had been received to confirm this tonight.

The American government in its pronouncement in effect reiterates its adherence to the "open door" policy and the maintenance of the territorial integrity of China and points out that there has been no abatement of its interest in the welfare and progress of China. The "sole interest" of the United States is declared to be that the negotiations between Japan and China "may be concluded in a manner satisfactory to both nations" and thus contribute to "the peace of the world."

AMALGAMATED COPPER IS TO CEASE TO EXIST

John D. Ryan Announces Plan of Dissolution and of Distribution of Assets.

New York, May 6.—Stockholders of the Amalgamated Copper company have received a circular from the president, John D. Ryan, stating that inasmuch as the Amalgamated company has become merely the holding company of the Anaconda Copper Mining company it is proposed to dissolve the Amalgamated and distribute its assets. The Amalgamated has decided to sell an amount of Anaconda stock which will reduce the holdings of the company so that distribution of the present issue of shares of the Anaconda company may be made at the rate of two shares of Anaconda for one of Amalgamated. To carry out this plan the directors of the Amalgamated have concluded to offer stockholders of record on May 17 next the privilege of buying one share of Anaconda at $25 per share for each six shares of Amalgamated held by them. The proceeds of the sale of these shares will provide a sufficient sum to pay the balance of the discharge of all outstanding obligations of the Amalgamated company and to leave approximately $3 per share in cash for distribution among the stockholders upon the completion of the company's liquidation.

THEY TRIED TO BRIBE HER SAYS STATE'S WITNESS IN MRS. CARMAN'S TRIAL

Mineola, N. Y., May 6.—The prosecution in the case of Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, on trial for the second time for the murder of Mrs. Louis Bailey, brought forward new evidence today in corroboration of Celia Coleman, a negro maid in the Carman home, the state's chief witness in the trial, the first of which resulted in a disagreement. Celia herself supplied new testimony in continuation today of her examination as a witness against her mistress, when she declared she had been offered $300 to change the story she had told at the first trial. She said the offer was made to her by a negro detective named Hicks. Mrs. Carman's lawyer admitted that Hicks was in the employ of the defense. Celia said Hicks told her Mrs. Carman could give her the money. Following up this new development, District Attorney Smith put on the stand George Toomer, a negro, who not only corroborated Celia in regard to the alleged bribery offer, but was prompt to testify she had told him on July 2, last, of Mrs. Carman's alleged admissions to the maid regarding the killing of Mrs. Bailey.

STATE CONSTABULARY USED AGAINST WORKMEN IS LABOR HEAD'S CHARGE

Washington, May 6.—Charges that the Pennsylvania state constabulary is used to break strikes and to create rigors of terror in times of industrial disputes were made to the United States commission on industrial relations today by James H. Maurer, president of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor and member of the state legislature. After detailing specific instances of cases in which he said the state police acted against union strikers, Mr. Maurer asserted that he would advise the union men of Pennsylvania to learn military tactics and how to shoot in order to protect themselves.

MOTHER AND CHILD MURDERED BY ROBBER

Chicago, May 6.—Mrs. John Coffey and her two-year-old son were murdered in their apartment on the South side today by a robber who crushed the skulls of his victims with a hammer and then cut their throats with a butcher knife. The murderer remained long enough to wash his hands and to ransack the apartment for valuables. He took $65 in currency. What the police consider their best and most tangible clue to the murderer was the bloody impression of a hand on a table in the kitchen. Two men were arrested tonight.

CHICAGO YOUNG WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN RAVINE

Chicago, May 6.—The body of Miss Marion Farwell was found today at the bottom of a deep ravine which marked the boundary of the Lake Forest estate of her father, Francis Farwell, Treasurer of the John V. Farwell Dry Goods company. The young woman had been in ill health and only yesterday returned home from North Carolina, where she had spent the winter. A trained nurse who had been in attendance on the young woman missed her and the search which was instituted resulted in finding the body.

After a Ruling That He Could Not Tell of Conditions at Albany, Colonel Prepares for Questioning But Is Released—Probably His Last Appearance

Minute Book of Journal Company, Part of Printing Contracts Phase of Case, Shows Wm. Barnes Gave Concern $20,000, To Be Released from All Claims

Syracuse, N. Y., May 6.—An excerpt from the minute book of the Albany Journal company read in the supreme court here today during the trial of William Barnes' suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt purported to show that Mr. Barnes assigned to that corporation a salary claim of $20,000 against James B. Lyon, founder of the Albany printing concern which bears his name. The claim, it was said, represented salary for two years, and for the assignment the trustees authorized the giving to Mr. Barnes of a general release from all existing claims against him held by the Journal company. The Lyon company and James B. Lyon have been mentioned many times in previous testimony.

Excerpts from the minute book were read by counsel for Theodore Roosevelt, after objections made by Mr. Barnes' attorneys had been overruled. The minute book was introduced during the afternoon session of court. During the morning session Justice William S. Andrews ruled that Colonel Roosevelt could not testify about legal conditions in Albany. The Colonel then went on the stand for examination. He remained there long enough for William M. Ivins, chief counsel for Mr. Barnes, to inform him politely that he had no desire to question him. It probably was the Colonel's last appearance upon the witness stand.

VERDICT GIVES WOMAN AN $8,000,000 ESTATE

St. Louis, May 6.—A unanimous verdict in favor of the defendants in the Campbell will case was returned by the jury here tonight. The verdict declares that Lois Campbell, now Mrs. Elzy Burkham, is the daughter of James Campbell, and therefore entitled to half of his $16,000,000 estate, will left by Campbell. Other relatives had brought action to break the will of the late traction magnate on the ground that Lois was not his daughter.

TWO SUFFRAGETTES BESIEGE PRESIDENT BUT FAIL TO SEE HIM

Washington, May 6.—President Wilson was besieged by the White House today by Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Henry Lowenberg, Philadelphia women, who insisted upon seeing the president in order to get his consent to receive a delegation on Pennsylvania suffragists. They refused to accept the word of the president's secretaries that the president would be unable to see them. They replied they would wait until he could see them. After the women discovered the president had gone out to the golf links, they went to the state department to learn that Mr. Bryan was engaged with the Chinese ambassador. Later they returned to the White House but found the president could not see them. They said they would return tomorrow.

MICHIGAN AND SYRACUSE PLAY A NO-Score GAME

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 6.—Michigan and Syracuse played an eleven-inning scoreless game here this afternoon, which was finally ended by darkness. Ferguson held the visitors to three hits and struck out nine men; Slater yielded seven hits and fanned five batters. Nat Michigan won the Syracuse team pitched third base. Michigan opened the sixth and eighth innings with three-batters but the succeeding batters failed to hit safely.

W.M. BASEBALL LEAGUE ADMITTEDLY HOPELESS

Green Bay, Wis., May 6.—Efforts to organize a four-club league of northern Wisconsin and Michigan clubs have failed and there will be no baseball by teams under national agreement in this section this year. Green Bay, Oshkosh, Marinette-Menominee of the W.I. circuit were to be in the organization with Escanaba. As the result of this failure, Racine will be the only city, except Milwaukee, in organized ball in the state.

GILMORE SAYS KAUFF WILL RETURN TO FEDS

French Lick, Ind., May 6.—Benny Kauff will play with the Brooklyn Federals beginning May 8, according to an announcement made here tonight by James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal league. Kauff, who was suspended recently after he attempted to jump to the New York Nationals, will be reinstated on Saturday, Gilmore said.

RUSSIANS DENY VIENNA'S CLAIM OF BIG VICTORY

Both Austrians and Germans Report a Crushing Defeat Administered to Muscovites in West Galicia, Seriously Menacing the Carpathian Armies of Nicholas

Teutonic Successes Vastly Exaggerated, Says Minister of Foreign Affairs at Petrograd, in Flatly Contradicting Assertions Slavs Are in a Pell-Mell Flight

London, May 6, 10:25 p. m.—The Germans, in concert with their Austrian allies, are putting forth an effort, the extent of which has never been approached in the history of war, throughout virtually the whole length of the eastern front they are engaged with the Russians.

Far up in the Russian Baltic provinces, heretofore untouched by the war, the Germans are attempting to advance toward Luga and Riga; on the East Prussian frontier they are engaged in a series of battles and with a big gun are bombarding at long range, as they did Dunkirk, the Russian fortress of Grodno. In Poland they have had to defend themselves against a Russian attack. In western Galicia they are attempting with all their strength to smash the Russian flank and compel the Russians to abandon the Carpathian passes.

Bluntly Deny Defeat. Washington, May 6.—The Russian embassy today received the following dispatch from the Russian minister of foreign affairs: "Petrograd, May 5, 1915. The reports from Berlin and Vienna of a victory gained by the Germans and Austrians in western Galicia are absolutely unfounded. The battles that are proceeding now in that region give no foundation whatever to talk even of a partial success of our enemies. You are asked to contradict most emphatically and the public is waiting to hear what Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces, has to say about it."

"Biggest Success in History." Vienna, via London, May 6, 11:00 p. m.—The strategic achievement of cutting up a hostile battlefield by a flanking attack, of which Chancellorsville is one of the few successful examples in modern history, is now in full progress in west Galicia. Mile after mile of the Russian Carpathian front has been rendered untenable by the steady, un-checked Austro-German advance. The Austrian cavalry and infantry followed the Gorlice turpique and have already teached the Wisloka river. The supporting artillery dropped shells on the road from Zamojsk to Jaslau, on the principal lines of the retreat for the Russians in the Dukla region.

The Russian forces have been in full retreat since dawn of May 5 and are being closely followed by the Austrian Carpathian army, according to official advices. More than fifty thousand prisoners have already been captured by the Austrians in west Galicia.

Field Marshal Von Hoetzendorf's plan is working out with precise regularity. Confidence is expressed that the principal portion of the Russian army under General Dimitchiff, which is attempting to defend positions in the Carpathians to the west of Lupkow pass, cannot make good its retreat. Detachments of this army may work their way out, but it is declared that the bulk of the army with the heavy artillery and baggage can scarcely succeed in avoiding capture, in view of von Hoetzendorf's rapid advance through the Gorlice breach in the lines.

Progress on the northern half of the front is slower. The Russians are holding desperately to Wal mountain—a fortified crest one thousand five hundred to two thousand feet high between the Biala and Dunajec rivers; to enable them to get great quantities of stores away from behind Tarnow and cover the retirement of the armies to the southward.

Slav Move Vital Point. The question as to whether the Russians can make a successful stand on the line of the Wisloka river is the important one from the Austro-German viewpoint. If they cannot the breach in the Russian line is considered complete and the situation for the Russian Carpathian armies would undoubtedly be critical.

The heaviest artillery was employed in these operations. The forty-two centimeter mortars in action were, however, not the noted German guns, but of Austrian make. They are projectiles somewhat heavier than the German mortar and are understood to be comparatively mobile and quickly set up.

Clam Capture of Tarnow.

Vienna, via London, May 6, 11:45 p. m.—An official communication issued this evening by the war office says: "At 4 o'clock this afternoon the last Russian positions on the heights east of the Dunajec and the Biala rivers were gained by our troops. Tarnow was captured by us at 10 o'clock this morning."

Vienna, via London, May 7, 12:50 a. m.—The Austrian southern wing has crossed the Wisloka. The Russians are retreating eastward of Lupkow pass.

Berlin, May 6, via Amsterdam to London, May 7, 2:22 a. m.—Major Morlat, the military correspondent of the Tagblatt, while sharing the general exultation over the recently reported German successes, urges the necessity of curbing extravagant hopes. "For," he says, "the Russians, at the right moment, always understand how to make use of numerical superiority."

FOUR SHIPS IS THE BAG OF GERMAN SUBMARINES

London, May 6, 11:25 p. m.—Though it is evident that several German submarines are still operating around the British coast a great diminution in the number of their victims is reported today as compared with the destruction wrought by them earlier in the week. The list today comprises one schooner, two trawlers and a steamer, for Lloyd's report definitely states that it was a submarine which sank the Danish steamer Cathay, although earlier accounts indicated that it might have been a mine. Notwithstanding the severe losses they have suffered by German submarine raids the trawlers still continue fishing as usual.

SUMMARY OF WAR NEWS.

Reports from Vienna and Berlin continue to assert that the Austro-German offensive against the Russians in the Carpathians is continuing with success. The latest communications declare that the Muscovites now have been driven eastward past the Dukla pass and across the Wisloka river, and that their retreat is continuing. Dukla pass has been taken by the Teutonic allies, Vienna says, and likewise the important town of Tarnow has been recaptured.

Germany's recent claims to various successes on the western front, including that of a forced evacuation of French positions in the Ailly wood with heavy losses in dead and the capture of two thousand Frenchmen, are vigorously denied in a French war office communication. This communication says that, instead of making gains, the Germans, in the last fifteen days, have suffered complete checks and heavy losses. In the Meuse, the Woivre and the Vosges the German losses have exceeded thirty-five thousand men, according to Paris.

Japan has sent an ultimatum to its legation in Peking for delivery in China, demanding that all of Japan's twenty-four demands on China be granted. The United States government, through Secretary Bryan, has issued a statement explaining the position of the United States. It reiterates the government's adherence to the open door and the maintenance of the territorial integrity of China. The United States hopes the negotiations between the two countries will be satisfactorily settled, the statement says.

It is folly to say that Ypres has more of political than of military importance, and adds: "The Germans would be more encouraged by success at Ypres than by anything since the fall of Antwerp. If such an event occurs we must instantly recognize it and admit it to be a defeat and a grave one. In place of a party cabinet a national ministry ought then to be formed and new military moves made. Happily there is yet no need to anticipate a retreat from Ypres, much less a German march to Dunkirk and Calais."

Other German claims relate to successes in the Woivre, where the Germans say in an attack along the northern side of the St. Mihiel salient they took upwards of two thousand prisoners and that they repulsed French attacks on the southern section of the wedge near Flirey. This, as usual, entirely disagrees with the French account of the action.

Foe Failed Utterly, Says Paris.

Paris, May 6, 11:15 p. m.—An official note issued tonight says: "The German general staff persists in giving false details concerning their offensive engagements. During the last fifteen days the enemy has suffered complete checks and severe losses. The total of the German losses in the heights of the Meuse, in the Woivre and the Vosges has been more than thirty-five thousand. At no part have they broken through our lines. They have taken no important position from us. They have allowed half a dozen of their finest regiments to be decimated."

Berlin Reports a Gain.

Berlin, via London, May 6, 7 p. m.—In a German official statement issued today the announcement is made that German soldiers forced the Russian Carpathian armies would undoubtedly be critical.

GAINS IN FRANCE TOLD BY BERLIN; FALSE SAYS PARIS

German Claim Series of Successes Southwest of Ypres, in the Woivre and Near Flirey, and Report Capture of Position Held by Allies in Ailly Wood

French Official Statement Declares, However, All Assertions of Victories by Foe Are Untrue—Sir John French Records an Advance Where the Teutons Do

London, May 6, 10:30 p. m.—The German allies claim a series of successes in the west. They report that they are continuing to make progress southeast of Ypres, which, however, is hardly borne out by Field Marshal French, who says that the British have recaptured more of the trenches which they lost on hill No. 60, and that fighting still is progressing in that neighborhood, while elsewhere the Germans have shown no disposition to attack. "There are reports that the Germans are about to make another determined effort to take Ypres, which is considered the key to the French coast ports. The Pall Mall Gazette says this evening:

"It is folly to say that Ypres has more of political than of military importance, and adds: "The Germans would be more encouraged by success at Ypres than by anything since the fall of Antwerp. If such an event occurs we must instantly recognize it and admit it to be a defeat and a grave one. JUSTICE HUGHES' STATEMENT.

One of the names that has been most mentioned in connection with the Republican nomination for president next year has been that of Justice Hughes. While the party was by the ears over the convention of 1912 and after the famous split had been opened up, with consequences still of distinct memory, Justice Hughes surveyed the political arena from the calm and lofty heights of the federal supreme bench, as far aloof from the turmoil of those turbulent times as if he had been an inhabitant of Mars. And therein would lie his peculiar availability for the Republican nomination. He would be acceptable to all classes of Republicans because he has been identified with none of their recent quarrels, as well as by reason of the high capacity and independence he showed as governor of New York. He is at one and the same time a progressive and a conservative. In politics he was progressive to a degree, far in advance of his day in New York, and he struck mighty blows at the bosses. Temperamentally he is inclined to conservatism, and thus has the confidence of those who believe in making haste slowly. No other man of presidential calibre could be proposed on whom there would be such a general willingness to unite.

Thus when Justice Hughes deprecates the suggestion of his name in connection with the presidency, and says in so many words that he is not to be considered, there is a real delimitation of the field, for there can be no question that if it were believed that he was available a formidable Hughes movement would early develop. But, apparently, it is not to be, for the following authorized statement has a final ring to it:

Justice Hughes wholly disapproves the use of his name in connection with the presidential campaign. Not only has he no desire to re-enter politics, but as a member of the supreme court he is not available. He is not a candidate in any sense and cannot permit his name to be used.

Even in spite of this declaration there can be little question that if the Republicans went ahead and conferred the nomination on Justice Hughes he would accept. It would be a call to duty in as full a sense as any other call to which he has answered. And Justice Hughes, while he may be aloof and inclined to austerity, is still no less than human. No man has yet refused a nomination for the presidency tendered him by a major party. No man who has not been sated with experience in the office is ever likely to do so, particularly when nomination carries with it as excellent a chance of election as the Republican nomination is likely to carry in 1916.

But it's dreary work putting a campaign together for a man who takes no more interest in the proceedings than if the person they directly affected were his thirty-second cousin. If Justice Hughes had emitted the bromide that he was not a candidate, would not lift a finger to secure the nomination, but still, if the call of duty went up to him, he would feel compelled, etc., etc., like as not a "Hughes for president" campaign would begin to take form. But in his formal utterance on the subject he is chilling to a degree, and leaves little doubt that he means to be.

Many Republicans who have been thinking fondly of the prospect that Hughes would be their candidate will feel depressed at the definition of the field by his clear avowal of position. It's all very well to talk idly about the party being rich in presidential timber. The only trouble with that sort of talk is its lack of truth. Hughes appeared the one best bet to the men who were hopeful of getting away from the factional difficulties. Of the capacity of Root, also somewhat considered, there is no question, but he was chairman of the Chicago convention of oderiferous memory, is a man now over seventy years and is known more by reputation than in person in the West. That he would be a strong candidate in the essential business of getting votes there is no certainty, and in many respects he would be a peculiarly vulnerable one. But when Root is passed, and Roosevelt and Taft, we are down to the smaller fry of national politics. And among all the lesser possibilities and near-candidates there is not a single one with any real following outside his own state, or any important personal strength that he would be able to contribute to the cause of party success. It is this situation that explains the occasional talk of Roosevelt as a possible G. O. P. candidate. The sad truth of the matter is that the party is in pretty hard straits for leaders of national proportions.

One writer says that in a military way China is not as one to a hundred compared with Japan. No, nor as one to a thousand. China is an example of a nation that has trusted to the forbearance of others for protection, rather than to ability to look after itself.

OFFICIAL EVIDENCE.

The case of the People vs. Dan McDonald, pending in justice court, is one that should lead the better element in Negaunee to open their eyes somewhat to the kind of municipal service they are getting. McDonald is charged with running a blind pig. One of the witnesses against him is Nicholas Laughlin, a police officer, who was honest enough—and this honesty is the lone good mark in the connection standing to his credit—to relate on the stand that he was a good customer of McDonald's pig over a period of months and that he slaked what appears to have been a somewhat insistent thirst there both during the hours liquor could be legally sold in licensed saloons, and during other hours as well, if that makes any difference. And did Laughlin complain against McDonald? He did not. His appearance on the stand was due to a hunch of the chief that he might know something about the case, after McDonald's arrest had followed on the binding over to circuit court of Martel, another blind pigger.

Negaunee is a good town. No other in the upper peninsula has made more material progress in recent years. Its improved streets are second to none in the district, its public buildings bear evidence to its public spirit and sound judgment about work of this kind, and it shows every sign of enterprise and a desire to build for the future. But there is evidence that its good citizenship has not as yet sufficiently impressed its influence on local politics. The interference of liquor wholesalers in local elections to assure that they will have a large measure of say about which saloon men shall be licensed is a matter of common remark. And now comes the course of this McDonald case to suggest that the good people of Negaunee are not getting the kind of government they are entitled to. When a police officer admits to having been a consistent customer of a blind pig, some of the time when he belonged on duty, the public doesn't need to have a newspaper tell it that there is something rotten in Denmark.

A HISTORICAL SKETCH.

In another column The Mining Journal presents reminiscences of Andrew G. Clark, who first came to Marquette fifty-six years ago this week, and who was associated for a period of twenty years with the forward looking men of his day, and particularly with Heman B. Ely, one of the keenest and most daring of the entire group, in the development of the Marquette iron range.

Mr. Clark's well written article contains interesting references to many of his friends of the pioneer days and unfolds many incidents of which those of the present generation will read for the first time. For instance, those who profess to any adequate knowledge of the history of the pioneer days know that the Schastopol was the first steam locomotive delivered at Marquette, and thus the first locomotive that turned a wheel in the upper peninsula, but few know that the resentment felt by the men who built the plank road from Marquette to Negaunee against the projectors of the steam railway flamed out so fiercely that a mob gathered in Marquette for the purpose of preventing the unloading of the Schastopol, and was fairly on the way to achieving its purpose when Mr. Ely appeared, with the potent argument of a "hoss" pistol. There was no lack of stir and life in Marquette in its pioneer days.

Mr. Clark's comment on railroad and furnace development, and his enumeration of the names of many men identified with the early companies, as well as its human touches, makes his paper one of the most valuable contributions lately made to the records of early activities in Marquette city and the county.

HE SEEMS TO BE RIGHT.

William Watson, British poet, criticizes the "hulling assurances that all will ultimately be well" and says that "it is high time that the masses of the people of this country had it driven and hammered into their somewhat slow minds, for no gentler mode of introduction will suffice, that it is very doubtful indeed whether we are going to beat the Germans at all."

This is the frankest testimony yet forthcoming to British dissatisfaction with the progress of Britain's part in the war, and it carries all the more weight because Watson is no Bernard Shaw, but a more conventional Britisher, one usually eager to seize any fair pretext for glorification of the empire and the British arms.

Watson expresses emphatically and fully what has been gradually taking shape in American minds. They have not failed to note that Great Britain is the only country concerned in the war that is not subordinating all other considerations to the war. There can be no question of the patriotic absorption of the Germans in the business of the day, and no more of the determination of the French to acquit themselves with honor and to carry their full share of the burden. They are, apparently, as thoroughly dedicated to the war behind the lines as at the front. And much the same spirit exists in Russia.

Only from Great Britain have come reports of strikes for higher wages, only from Great Britain have come reports that the carrying out of the military plans has been interfered with by the absence of patriotic devotion in the munition factories, the gun works and the shipyards; only in Great Britain is an opposition to the existing government seeking to gain partisan advantage from the war.

The conclusion is taking form in this country that, despite the stake Great Britain has in the war and despite the price that it has already paid in precious lives and in treasure, it still has not had the war brought home to it, and still is not a nation aroused as are Germany and France, and even Russia. What Great Britain apparently would profit by would be the landing of an expeditionary force of, say, 100,000 Germans who would carry to the English countryside what they carried to Belgium and to northern France. Then Great Britain might concentrate the energies of all ranks of its citizens on the business of the war, and forego its wage disputes and its ignoble politics.

The opinion is forming that Great Britain, which has "muddled through" so many desperate adventures, is of the mind that it can also "muddle through" this one, and Watson's apprehensions have already gained considerable ground on this side of the water.

It has been suggested that perhaps there will be some doubt about the approval of the proposed school bonds. This is difficult to believe. The need of more adequate school facilities, particularly for the high school, has been discussed for years. It was never more pressing than it is now, and the financial position of the board was never better. The plan for discharging the bonds calls for spreading them over an extended period of years, and in no single year will they materially increase taxes. The trustees have not gone into the matter because they have any desire to busy themselves with building a school, but because the time has come when a new building is imperatively needed.

The Y. W. C. A. would put a ban on love stories in the newspapers. In view of the quality of the average newspaper love story, it's not at all to be blamed for its prejudice against them.

The Escanaba Press says there is a lingering hope for a four team league. A long patient public will feel that it should be given gas.

If Ty Cobb maintains peace with the butchers through the season of 1915 there appears to be no good reason why the Tigers should not close near the top.

EDITORIAL OPINION

China a Warning.

Again the relations between China and Japan have come to a crisis. An ultimatum from Tokio has been sent to Peking. The time limit is only two days. In the present temper of the Chinese people there will be danger to the government in yielding to extreme and oppressive Japanese demands.

There will be peril, also, in rejecting Japanese terms. China is wholly unprepared to fight the islanders who menace Chinese independence and the integrity of the Chinese empire. On sea and land alike the Japanese armaments are vastly superior to all that China possesses, or can obtain. Japan has an immense advantage in trained soldiers and in fighting spirit and military experience.

It is a most impressive demonstration of the consequence of national unpreparedness for war. China is more than equal to ten Japanese empires in area and superior to four or five of them in population. The natural resources, of the Chinese empire entirely outclass those of the Japanese island and the Japanese territory on the mainland.

There are many Americans who would be glad to see their country imitate China in its lack of military and naval preparation. Fortunately, they have never yet been in the majority or able to control the United States government.—Cleveland Leader.

If "Somebody Blundered." It is not at all remarkable that Canadians are questioning the generalship that let their troops "up in the air" without support in the face of an overwhelming force of the enemy at Langemarck and caused the deaths of so many of the flower of Canada's youth. The question arose inevitably even over here when the scout reports came about the slaughter. How came it that the little band of soldiers was left exposed to its fate after the supporting army had fallen back? If Americans would suspect something wrong, the relatives and friends of the slain men would feel much more strongly the possibility that the sacrifice was needless.

There is nothing derogatory to the Canadian troops in a question of this kind. "Somebody blundered" has too often been the explanation of disasters in wars heretofore and the blunders have on some very glorious occasions been made the opportunity for deeds the world will never forget. It was so at Langemarck. What was done there will rank with what the Six Hundred did at Balaklava, and the memory of the boys who stood their ground and faced death undiminished after their support had been withdrawn will be a cherished heritage for more nations than Canada in years to come.

But one reflection accompanies the thrilling story of valor. Heretofore "somebody blundered" and the consequences of the blunder were borne by "somebody's" compatriots. If half of the Light Brigade never returned from the "laws of heaven" it was an English officer's error that sent them there. National loyalty will condone many mistakes. Will colonial loyalty stand the strain as well?

It will be worth while watching to see how Canada takes this fearful sacrifice if the future shows the sacrifice to have been unnecessary. Resigned acceptance of the slaughter as a regrettable but unavoidable incident of war in behalf of a cause which requires it, would indicate an identity of purpose between the dominion and the homeland—or the empire—which will bring momentous consequences in its train hereafter. Questioning whether the cause at stake warrants the cost for colonials would mean that Canada is yet more western than eastern, more American than European.—Detroit Free Press.

Postponing a Great Strike

Nobody loves an arbitrator, except possibly that innocent bystander in industrial strife—the public. And as the public has little to say when the awards that in the arbitrators' catch it from both sides. Federal arbitration averted the threatened strikes of 65,000 trainmen on ninety-eight western railroads by the giving the trainmen a slight advance in wages with minor betterments, and leaving the more important disputed work conditions severely alone. So the labor representatives protested because the men did not get more wages.

shorter hours and more help on heavy trains; while the railway representatives say the wage increase is unjustified and the other awards undeserved. Both sides predict a renewal of the struggle one year from now, when all hands will be free again to do as they please. President Stone of the engineers declares that the men have learned this expensive lesson—"put not their trust in arbitration."

If the contestants do not experience a change of heart in the meantime the sole gain is delaying a great strike one year. But that in itself is a benefit of no small proportion. The country will be better able to bear a serious industrial disturbance in a year than it is today. This summer the wheat states west of the Mississippi will reap huge profits from the ready transportation of high-priced wheat. When this strike does come it will be long and bitter, because both sides will be well prepared. Next year the country may be in better shape to wait for crop movements than it is at present, foreign purchases having depleted domestic supplies of grain.

In the meantime, both sides having declared themselves in favor of a year hence, the new statesmanship of industry is challenged to use the intervening period to harmonize differences. Despite the rumor exhibited on both sides that it is not possible if the nation possessed adequate and serviceable machinery for the settlement of industrial disputes, the work could be done and a lasting contribution made to the welfare of the United States. Not possessing such facilities we are likely to drift into a war of the most dangerous kind, a war of economic interests in spite of warning signals. America vaguely hopes to make some contribution to the peace of the world in the near future; but if we show no greater sense, forbearance and incivility in unravelling Europe's tangled skein than we do in maintaining peace with justice here at home the result will be pathetic and ludicrous.—Grand Rapids Press.

Lawrence Barrett's Romeo. Irving contributed to the gaiety of the supper a story about Lawrence Barrett. One night Barrett and his old friend, Edwin Booth, met at their club in New York. Barrett, after brief greeting, bustled towards the door with every appearance of remembering a pressing engagement.

"Hallo! Where are you off to?" Booth asked. "To a rehearsal," said Barrett. "What's the play?" Barrett said it was "Romeo and Juliet."

"And what part do you take," Booth asked, in sudden access of interest. "There is only one part for me in the play," Barrett said, drawing himself up in lofty indignation. "Oh, ah, yes," said Booth. "I know—the nurse." The angered tragedian strode forth in haughty silence, and did not speak

"The boy answered that he would choose the twentieth part, and then, not choosing the twentieth part, and then, not choosing his shifty eyes his teacher's frown, he added hastily: "I don't like apples, you know."

I disagree with John D. in most things, but I'm with him in his blame of our extravagance, waste and living beyond our means."

"In an Orange school, in celebration of one of my birthdays, a teacher asked a little girl: "What is the most wonderful thing a man ever made?" "A living for his family," the little girl promptly answered.

Last Chance Gone. A traveler from the North, proceeding on foot through North Carolina, came upon a mountain cabin that gave unusual evidence of rural industry. Although it was but 10 o'clock in the morning, the traveler decided to stop and ask for refreshment, since he might not come upon anything so promising in many hours.

A tall, apparently ill-dressed woman came to the door. She looked at the traveler in amazement for some minutes, and was resentful when he made known his wants. "We've eat," she said in a reproachful tone. "Tom's gone to town to fetch cornmeal."

Inferred from this that there was no solid food in the larder, the traveler cheerfully suggested a glass of milk. Again the woman shook her head while her sorrow visage lengthened. "Tom went out to get milk for you," he offered. "I was brought up on a farm."

Again the woman shook her head. "Ye can't, strange as it may seem, get milk here. Tom's cow is dead, and the herdsmen are being sent to town to buy a new one."—Harper's Magazine.

LOWER STATE NOTES

LANSING—Dr. James A. Humphrey, one of the leading physicians of the capital city, was bound over to circuit court by the justice court on a charge of violating the local option law. Dr. Humphrey demanded an examination in the lower court and the court's action was the result. He is charged with writing prescriptions for liquor for a fee.

LANSING—Lansing automobile concerns have received their share of the war orders from Europe, a commission having just been received from a New York export house for 750 heavy automobile trucks at $1,650 each for the allies. The total price of the trucks runs over $1,200,000. It is understood that the trucks are to be used in Red Cross work. The order stipulates that the box of the truck must be wide enough to accommodate a man lying stretched out at full length and that each machine must be equipped with a waterproof top designed along prairie schooner lines. Work on the trucks is to be rushed night and day and extra shifts are being employed. Inspectors have been here to witness demonstrations of the first trucks, five of which were loaded with two tons of concrete and driven thirty miles over the worst roads in central Michigan.

IONIA—Ballooning Martin, of Grand Rapids, sprang a sensation in Coroner Boynton's court at the request of Ted Snyder, electrocuted when he assisted Martin in an ascension last week. Martin testified that was approached at 10 o'clock Monday night by a man he could not name who told him that if he would testify at the inquest that the telephone company had informed him that it had shut off the current which killed Snyder, Martin would receive $50. Martin refused. The matter was referred to Prosecuting Attorney Hall, who refused to act, claiming it was a matter for Kent county, inasmuch as the alleged conversation took place there. The coroner's verdict was that Snyder came to his death through his own carelessness in not ascertaining whether or not the electric current was disconnected before he attempted to climb a telephone pole.

LANSING—After trying for two days to find out just what would be a reasonable return on the investment of the Southern Michigan Telephone company from the company's officers and from citizens of St. Joseph and Branch counties, the state railroad commission announced that it would go to the books of the company itself. This announcement came at the close of a stormy hearing over a raise in rates demanded by the company. Some time ago the company joined with the Michigan State company in the two counties named. The people of the two counties lacked up this and the commission permitted it, but other independent companies took the case clear to the department of justice in Washington. The merger went through and a few weeks ago announcement was made of an application by the Southern Michigan, as the merged company is called, for a raise. The telephone company said it was losing money. The citizens charged that all the money which the company had derived from the sale of its stock and bonds had not been used in construction or maintenance of its lines. Most of the testimony offered revolved about the exchange at Quincy. Experts for the company swore that the exchange there was losing $20 a month. The increases asked for would bring the profit up to about $2,240, or a 6 per cent. return on an appraised value of $40,000.

HAMILTON APPEALS TO SUPREME COURT

Dynamiter, So-Called, Makes New Effort to Obtain His Release from Marquette Prison.

George E. Hamilton, formerly of Calumet, convicted in the Houghton county circuit court in 1908 of a charge of assault with intent to murder August Beck, then sheriff of Houghton county, has petitioned the supreme court of the state of Michigan for a writ of habeas corpus, hoping thereby to be released from Marquette prison, where he is serving an indeterminate sentence with ten years and life as his poles.

Hamilton was charged with shipping to Houghton from Iron River, Wis., in July, 1908, a miner's blasting box containing a large charge of dynamite. The box was addressed to Sheriff Beck and had it been opened by the sheriff apparently intended it would have killed a number of people and would have wrecked the county building. The package was expressed to Houghton and as a result Hamilton was arrested, his conviction following. The man has been in Marquette since November, 1908. In his petition to the supreme court Hamilton recites that he has tried to obtain similar writ from Judge O'Brien of this circuit and from Judge Feab of the Chippewa circuit, without success. He states also that as he has had three lawyers working in his interest without result, he has decided to act upon his constitutional rights and be his own attorney.

Prosecuting Attorney Galbraith, received at his office in Calumet yesterday a request from Attorney General Fellows for all papers in connection with Hamilton's trial, conviction and commitment. Mr. Galbraith is preparing the documents.

The prosecuting attorney learns from the attorney general that Hamilton believes he was extradited wrongfully when brought from Minnesota, after his arrest in that state, also that he was convicted under a statute that did not apply to his case. It apparently is Hamilton's belief that the charge against him should have been "shipping dynamite illegally," rather than "assault with intent to murder."

GEOGRAPHIC NIGHT AT CLUB.

Pittsie Ryan and Other Globe Girdlers Swap Experiences.

It was geographic night at the Houghton club Wednesday night. The guest of honor was Pittsie Ryan, the eminent traveler of Edmonton, Alta., who was being entertained by W. D. Calverley, vice president of the Houghton National Club.

Among the company gathered to meet the newsboy traveler were Dr. L. G. Hubbard, university professor at Michigan and traveler of note, and N. E. McBride of Chicago, who girdled the globe with the New York Giants and the White Sox two years ago.

Dr. Hubbard and Mr. McBride are close observers and have retentive memories to take notes on the pleasure in questioning Ryan about his travels. The newsboy was "there." He checked up pretty nearly everything that the older travelers had seen wherever they had been and he mentioned a few places that they and Baedeker had overlooked.

"Did you meet the Pope when you were in Rome?" was asked the newsboy.

"Naw, I missed him," said "Pittsie."

"But, say, that would be some signature to get in my book eh?"

Pittsie's one regret is that he did not get the signature of a single European ruler.

"I tried to get King George when I was in London," he said, "but I almost got pinched. You can't get near them guys, and, say, that Kitchener—he's the worst of 'em 'em."

Pittsie put in yesterday in Calumet and will be back in Houghton today. He intends to walk to Nestoria and if he can learn when R. B. Lang will be back from Montreal he will wait for him. He wants to ask "Capt. Dick," the Nestor of the copper country walkers, to pace him as far as Nestoria.

MOTOR BOATHOUSES LOOTED.

Hancock Owners Complain That Houses Have Been Entered and Robbed.

As a field for "easy picking" boathouses in West Hancock are reported to be. Complaints have been registered that during the last week several such places have been entered by night raiders, tools carried off and even clothing left in the boats by owners has been taken. It appears that about everything portable has become loot. In one boathouse an overcoat valued at $25 was taken. Recently the buildings were used as targets in rifle practice. For years owners of launches have not hesitated to leave tools and clothing in their boats or boathouses, because no burglars, such as those now reported, had ever taken place. The value of the combined loot is considerable.

STEAMER BOPE IS RELEASED.

The steamer H. P. Bope, which was aground in Portage lake all day Wednesday and Wednesday night, was released yesterday morning. With the assistance of Cruz tugs, the steamer Republic and lines stretched to the Houghton shore and connected with steam winches on board the Bope got under way after a delay of fully twenty-four hours. She is now discharging coal at the Portage coal dock, Ripley.

SICK HEADACHE.

Mrs. A. L. Luckie, East Rochester, N. Y., was a victim of sick headache and dizziness, caused by a badly weakened and debilitated condition of her stomach, when she began taking Chamberlain's Tablets. She says, "I found them pleasant to take, also mild and effective. In a few weeks' time I was restored to my former good health." For sale by All Dealers.

PORTAGE LAKE GOLFERS PLAN ACTIVE SEASON

Links Will Be More Than Ever Popular This Year—House for Caddy Boys

The directors of the Portage Lake Golf club met Wednesday night at the Houghton club and decided on the erection of a caddy house, a building in which the boys can "hang out" when not engaged in active duty. A caddy master will be appointed. He will be one of the older and more experienced boys and he will be responsible for the conduct of his associates.

The building will adjoin the entrance to the lock room of the clubhouse. It will be a one-story house, 12 by 14 feet in ground dimensions, with a seven-foot porch. There will be two rooms, one of the caddies and one a work room for Harry Flora, the golf instructor.

Course in Good Condition.

While no schedule of stated events has been announced as yet by the golf committee, the players are making use of the course daily and they report it in excellent condition. The greens committee has decided on the construction of a new No. 9 green, the extent of this year's improvement.

The committee yesterday received a car of cyanamid, a new fertilizer, especially adapted to putting greens. It is expected that this will keep the greens up to top form.

Forthcoming Events.

It is expected that the golf committee will announce its schedule within a few days. It is believed no new trophy will be hung up this year but the existing trophies are numerous enough to give the club an active season.

The first event will be the Tom Morris Memorial Day match, in which the club competes against all the clubs in the Western Golf association. The Portage Lake club last year won second place in this contest against all the clubs in the association.

There will be three Cole cup matches this year, instead of two as usual, this being due to the fact that last fall the Duluth cup granted a postponement of the trip owing by the Portage Lake club to the former. The trip was due at a time when the copper country was pretty gloomy as a result of industrial conditions growing out of the war and the club did not feel like playing golf or anything else. It is likely that the Portage Lake club will make the first trip this year, going to Duluth to play the postponed match.

It is expected that the Thunder Bay and Silver Island clubs from the Canadian cities of Port Arthur and Port William will again send a team to Portage Lake, and that the Portage Lake club will reciprocate. The exchange of trips last year was one of the most pleasant arrangements ever entered into by the organization and the members favor making the friendly relations between the clubs permanent.

Membership Is Growing.

The Portage Lake Golf club promises to be one of the largest clubs in the state within a few years. There are a number of prospective new Houghton and Hancock members this year, and a group of Calumet golfers have promised to affiliate this season. Interest in golf undoubtedly is growing and the Portage Lake club is in a good position to take advantage of it.

CENTRAL DELIVERY SYSTEM.

Houghton Meeting Tonight Will Arrange Zones and Hours of Delivery.

The co-operative delivery system of the Central Delivery association of Houghton will go into effect next Monday. The members of the association will meet tonight in the Copper Country Commercial club for the purpose of arranging the zones and the hours of delivery.

The association has completed the remodeling of the Sheldon-Calverley building on Montezuma street, which is to be the central depot, and it has secured for its horses the Dunn stable on Dakota street. It is now prepared in every way to undertake the first co-operative delivery in the copper country.

The meeting tonight will arrange the information that is to be made known to the public regarding the operation of the system and will give it in order that customers of all stores concerned may know just how the service is to affect them.

The deliveries will be made on scheduled time by certain deliverymen and teams assigned to certain zones and routes. After the passing of the hour for the last delivery on the schedule no goods can be delivered that day. It is expected there will be some confusion regarding this at first because Houghton housewives have in the past been able to get goods delivered at almost any hour. This condition is the one that brought the central delivery about. The delivery of goods was becoming expensive to all stores and markets. One of the public understands deliveries are to be made on a fixed schedule it can govern itself accordingly.

DEATH OF MOTHER ODILIA.

Sisters of St. Joseph of Hancock Mourn Loss of Superior.

Word was received by the sisters of St. Joseph in Hancock yesterday of the death in New York of Mother Odilia, St. Joseph in Hancock yesterday of the Eastern province. Death followed a lengthy illness, but the news of the end came as a surprise, because Mother Odilia had recently been to St. Paul and it was believed her health had been greatly benefited as a result of her trip to Troy with impressive services. The services were attended by delegations of sisters and by priests and dignitaries of the church from all parts of New York state.

"The Best Tobacco Made"

Emphatic Statement by an Eminent Authority—Pipe-smokers, Read what John G. Capers Has to Say

"When I was Commissioner of Internal Revenue under Presidents Roosevelt's and Taft's Administrations, I had a great deal to do with tobacco. In the collection of millions of dollars of tax I came intimately into contact with the whole business. Tuxedo I consider the best tobacco made. I smoke it myself and find it soothing and restful, mild, fragrant and non-irritating to the throat."

John G. Capers

Mr. Smoker, that's evidence straight from an authority that Tuxedo is the top-notch smoke of them all. The tobacco that a famous Internal Revenue Commissioner chooses for his own smoke because he considers it the best tobacco made.

And remember this, men:—that's picking Tuxedo from a mighty big field; for between you and us and the account sheet, the Government collects $100,000,000 a year in revenues from tobaccos.

Mr. Capers is now a prominent and successful practicing lawyer in Washington, D. C., and we are glad to include his name in Tuxedo's great list of friends. It's the same old story everywhere Tuxedo is tried: Quality tells.

Don't quarrel with your pipe and don't quarrel with your tongue. Take your tobacco troubles to good old Tuxedo!

Your pipe'll be sweet and your tongue'll be sound if you smoke Tuxedo. Tuxedo can't bite or blister. That's all taken out by the famous "Tuxedo Process"—the original process which the other brands like so well that they try to imitate it.

And you'll find the Internal Revenue Commissioner absolutely right as to Tuxedo's quality.

John T. McNamara and Milton R. Dickens, voicing the opinions of other residents of College avenue, Houghton, residence street de luxe and boulevard beautiful, believe that there should be a campaign of education against short cuts. They find that few men will go up to the corner when they can save a few feet by cutting across some one's lawn.

OPENING OF BALL SEASON.

Houghton Highlanders to Play at South Range Next Sunday.

The opening of the South Range baseball season is to take place Sunday, the game arranged for last Sunday having been postponed out of respect to the memory of Captain William Jolly, whose funeral took place that day. That game was arranged between the Atlantic White Sox and South Range, but the Houghton Highlanders will take the place of the Sox in this coming contest. The South Range brass band will escort the teams to the Baltic park Sunday and will play a concert preceding the game.

OTTER LAKE ROAD PROBLEMS.

Township Board Will Visit That Section Because of Petitions.

The Portage township board always has Otter lake road problems, when it has nothing else to worry over. The problems have become so insistent this spring that Supervisor Hartman, and the other members of the board will go down to the lake country to look over the ground. No less than four petitions for highways, varying from a quarter to a mile in length, are already on file. The board has granted the Superior Copper company the right of way over the township highway at Superior for the railroad the company is building.

CHAMBERLAIN'S LINIMENT.

This preparation is intended especially for rheumatism, lame back, sprains and like ailments. It is a favorite with people who are well acquainted with its splendid qualities. Mrs. Charles Tanner, Wabash, Ind., says of it, "I have found Chamberlain's Liniment the best thing for lame back and sprains I have ever used. It works like a charm and relieves pain and soreness. It has been used by others of my family, as well as myself, for upwards of twenty years." 25 and 50 cent bottles. For sale by All Dealers.

TO RELEASE KREIWI TOMORROW.

Mystery of the Niemen Murder Baffles Sheriff's Officers.

Arthur Kreiwi, alias Gravy, will be released from custody tomorrow in Justice Eichkern's court at Hancock. The man was arrested some time ago on the suspicion that he knew something of the murder of Oscar Niemen in West Hancock the night of April 1. Kreiwi was reported to have been the last person seen with Niemen, but he declares that he did not see the man after the night of March 29. The sheriff's office yesterday stated the case would be abandoned, as there seemed no possible chance of getting at the bottom of it.

BABY'S SHOCKING DEATH.

Farmer's Two-Year-Old Daughter Is Fatally Burned by Brush Fire.

The two-year-old daughter of a farmer named Tuorovara was burned to death at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, her clothing having caught from a brush fire. The farmer lived at Princess Point, across Portage lake from Chassel. As soon as the fire in the baby's clothing was extinguished she was rushed to Dr. Wilson at Chassel, in a motor boat. The doctor did what he could, and the father left Chassel with the child. It is learned that the baby died at 8 o'clock.

CONCERNING FRITZ KRIESLER.

R. Skiff Sheldon Heard the Great Austrian in Boston Concert.

With the shortening of the time intervening before the Fritz Kreisler concert at Hancock interest in the forthcoming musical event is growing. There is no doubt of the violinist's greatness in the minds of the copper country public but people like to get first hand information and thus a reference made by R. Skiff Sheldon is of timely interest. Mr. Sheldon was in Boston last week on his way home from his South American trip. He attended a Kreisler concert at Symphony hall and he says that Kreisler's popularity in the music center of the United States was attested by the fact that the hall was crowded, even to the extent of seats on the stage and in the aisles. Mr. Sheldon, as a man whose musical opinions are based on sound authority, speaks of Kreisler's playing as the highest expression of musical art.

ORDERS FROM IRON COUNTRY.

Hancock Box Factory Has the Promise of a Bright Future.

With orders already on file from several copper country firms, the factory operated at Hancock by Richard Brock has received from an Ispepung concern a request to ship to it 200 boxes at the earliest possible date. The output has been increasing steadily, and in the near future Mr. Brock expects to be turning out 250 boxes a day. Five men are now employed, and this force will be doubled before the middle of the summer. No efforts have been made as yet to solicit outside business, but once the plant reaches its expected daily capacity a salesman will be put on the road. High school boys taking manual training work visit the factory after school hours to study the machinery and the mode of operation.

WHOOPIING COUGH.

"About a year ago my three boys had whooping cough and I found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the only one that would relieve their coughing and whooping spells. Theodore A. Thoren, of Negaunee, was a Marquette business caller yesterday.

Mrs. J. D. Sherman left last night for Chicago to visit relatives for a few weeks.

K. M. Way, who has been in the city for the last week, left last night for Duluth.

George D. Westerman, of Calumet, spent yesterday in Marquette, attending to business matters.

Charles L. Gilbert and James Fyvie, of Newberry, were visitors in Marquette Wednesday and yesterday.

J. H. Harding and S. S. Ramsey, of Duluth, were among the business visitors in the city yesterday.

The Misses Gentz, daughters of Albert Gentz, of Cherry Creek, have purchased a Ford touring car.

The Ladies' Aid society of the German Lutheran church will meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the church.

J. A. Knight was here from Negaunee last night to attend the lecture of Colonel Taylor at the Peter White library.

Charles Anderson, of Republic, has purchased a farm five miles south of that town, and is now tilling the land. He is assisted by his sons, Enoch and William.

The Baptist Young People's union will hold a "seven" special Tuesday night in the church parlors. The doors will be open at 7 o'clock and the public is cordially invited.

Peter Behan has received some of the latest orchestra music, which will be played for the first time in Marquette at the Machinists' ball Friday evening, May 14.

The Ladies' society of the Swedish Lutheran church will meet in the church parlors this afternoon at 2:30. Messdames Charles Uppstrom, August Peterson and Henry Jacobson will entertain.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church will meet today at the Amstutz camp. A picnic dinner will be served at 1 o'clock. The members are asked to take the 11 o'clock street car for Presque Isle.

Mayor F. H. Begole leaves this afternoon for Escanaba, where tonight he will address the Escanaba Businessmen's association on "The City of Marquette and Its Commission Form of Government." The meeting will be held in the Elks' temple.

The South Shore railway offers excursion rates for the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in Rochester, N. Y., this month. The excursion tickets will be sold May 17, 18, and 19, and will be good for return until June 4.

The Marquette Rivals and the Longvines will cross bats at the Longyear field Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Each team has some of the fastest amateur players in the city in its lineup. Smack and Leskie will be the battery for the Rivals, and Morrison and Downey for the Wolverines.

M. J. Griffin leaves this morning for lower Michigan to look after the interests of the Horse Importing company, of Niles, the next few weeks.

Mr. Griffin will also have charge of the branch in Wex. Ills. The company's business extends through Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana and Illinois.

The third "house night" party at Guild Hall will occur tonight. Dancing will begin at 8 o'clock, and a three-piece orchestra will furnish the music.

Will Give Exhibition—Arab patrol, Ahmad Temple, will give a public exhibition on the business streets tonight, weather permitting. The patrol band, composed largely of Ishpeming and Negaunee members, will appear, and will give a concert at Lakeside park, opposite Hotel Marquette, early in the evening.

Marine Notes—The steamer Conemaugh, one of the freighters of the Anchor line, arrived at Spaul's dock yesterday afternoon with a consignment of package freight. The Conemaugh was the first of the Anchor line vessels to reach Marquette this season. The Frontenac and Andaste, the two Cleveland-Cliffs steamers that brought coal to Pickands' and Spaul's docks, respectively, have cleared from the Presque Isle harbor with ore for Cleveland. The Pontiac also loaded ore at the Presque Isle dock yesterday.

Came Here in 1859—Andrew G. Clark, whose reminiscences of the early days in Marquette city and Marquette county appear in another column, came to Marquette fifty-six years ago May 4 of this week. He sailed from Detroit on the steamer Northern Light on April 20, and was held up for ten days when the steamer was caught in an ice jam in the Neeshish. From that year until 1872, when he left for Chicago, which he has since made his home, Mr. Clark was a resident of Marquette. His activities and connections during that time he tells of himself in his article dealing with the early days. He is an interesting talker on the subject of the men who developed the Marquette range and the early events of importance. During the past two days he has met several of the few surviving pioneers who were active here during the period of his residence. Mr. Clark himself is enjoying good health and is alert and well informed on all subjects.

Church Bazaar at Maple Ridge.
Practically all the details have been arranged for what promises to be the best bazaar ever conducted by the Catholic women at Maple Ridge for the benefit of Sacred Heart church. The event will be opened with a big dinner Sunday noon, May 16. The women have been working hard for weeks past, making pretty and useful things, all of which will be sold for about what the material cost. The committee in charge consists of Mrs. John Larson, Jr., Mrs. Fred Sayen, Mrs. R. Laframboise, Mrs. Otto Larson, Mrs. Frank Johnson, Mrs. Lillie Bridges, Mrs. Ed Johnson and Mrs. August Larson.

Escanaba's Municipal Appointees.
Following are Mayor B. J. MacKillop's appointments for the city offices at Escanaba, all of which have been approved by the council: H. R. Dotsch, city attorney; W. E. McDonald, city engineer; Dr. E. D. Shevalier, city veterinarian; Otto Nyquist, street commissioner; Thomas Corbett, poundmaster; James Powers, poor commissioner; Edward Erickson, board of public works; John J. Tolan, chief of police; Knute Larsen, captain; Joseph Carney, E. Brunelle, D. McCauley, Hugh Early, Sols Nelson, F. Blake, F. Hess and T. J. Curran, patrolmen; George McCarthy, city detective; Elmer Swanson, motorcycle policeman; Walter Johnson, city scavenger; William Meiers, chief of the fire department.

Mayor's Appointments Confirmed.
At Iron Mountain this week Mayor Cruise's appointments were confirmed by the council. The only changes were in the appointment of the city engineer and some of the committees. The salary of the city attorney was decreased from $1,200 a year to $750. This difference will nearly pay for a Ford automobile to be purchased for the fire department. The appointments are as follows: City engineer, S. J. James; Chief of police, John Andrews, Sr.; city attorney, R. L. Hammond; chief of fire department, Lee LaLonde; members of board of public works, Claude H. Millman and Z. P. Rousselet; street commissioner, John Andrews, Sr.; fire warden, Lee LaLonde; building inspectors, E. W. Hunt, Noel Lambert, R. J. McGrath; policemen, Alphonse Gibault, Joel Axberg, Anton Constantini, Jacob Pipp, John Lundquist; sewer inspector, Charles Parmelee. In regard to the appointment of a health officer and a scaler of weights and measures the mayor said that, because the committee was not ready to report on the advisability of engaging a "full-time" health officer those appointments would be held over for a time.

AMBASSADOR PAGE HAS HEAVY LOAD

Germany and Austria and Turkey Have All Entrusted Their Affairs to Him.

London, April 23.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Under stress of war, Germany, Austria-Hungary and Turkey have all entrusted their affairs in Great Britain to the American ambassador, thus piling an extraordinary burden upon Ambassador Page and making it necessary to enlarge the embassy staff. American affairs alone, with the thousand of controversies and claims arising from interrupted shipping and the stubborn citizenship cases encountered daily, would be troublesome enough. But in addition to these the American ambassador and his assistants are looking after the interests of thousands of Germans and Austrians interned in England and are entrusted with the business matters of enemies of England who cannot communicate with this island except through a neutral agency.

William Beckner is the special attaché of the embassy who is entrusted with Austrian and Turkish affairs. He maintains his office at the Austro-Hungarian embassy building in London, where he meets all inquirers and diverts from the American embassy a crowd which would be burdensome at this time when the embassy is frequently crowded with Americans seeking passports.

German affairs are in charge of Edward G. Lowry, special attaché, who has an office in the German embassy building. Mr. Lowry has just recently returned from Germany, where he arranged for the distribution of gifts and comforts among Englishmen interned there, through the agency of American consuls. Lehard Littlefield, who is a special attaché of the embassy, is assisting in carrying for German affairs.

At a time when travelers move between England and the continent with much difficulty the passport work of the embassy is especially arduous. C. E. Stangland, second secretary, is in charge of this department, which demands his entire time, as well as that of several assistants.

Second Secretary J. Herbert Stabler is entrusted with the claims and controversies which arise from England's active campaign against shipping. This department of the embassy's work is growing heavier every day, because of England's aggressive policy under the order in council suppressing trade to and from Germany.

First Secretary Irwin Laughlin handles the diplomatic business of the embassy and is in constant conference with Ambassador Page. Second Secretary Edward Bell has charge of the general correspondence of the embassy, meets press representatives and visitors whose business cannot be referred directly to some special division of the embassy. Second Secretary Franklin M. Gunther, who was sent to London from Christiania on special duty, is Mr. Bell's assistant. Third Secretaries Elbridge Gerry Greene and Eugene C. Shoecraft and Howard N. Barnes, additional secretary detailed direct from the state department, where he has had many years of experience, are in charge of code work, now unusually heavy because of the frequent interchange of lengthy notes between England and the United States.

Sam B. Trissel and John T. Boifeuille are additional secretaries detailed to interview visitors, and direct inquirers to the proper department. Clifford N. Carver is private secretary to Ambassador Page. Francis and Edward Hudson are resident clerks, sons of the late Charles Hudson, who was attached to the American embassy for many years. The Hudson brothers are permanent employees of the embassy who have passed their entire lives in the service of the United States, and are an unfailing source of information concerning diplomatic affairs in London.

Commander Powers Symington is naval attaché. Naval Constructor Louis B. McBride and Lieutenant John H. Towce, aviator, are also attached to the embassy. Lieutenant Colonel Thomas H. Treadwell of the marine corps is another attaché. The army is represented at the London embassy by Lieutenant Colonel G. O. Squier and Lieutenant John G. Quakenbush. Captains A. M. Miller and W. A. Castle of the army are at the embassy temporarily, awaiting assignment with the British army as observers.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT FOR KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

Official Program for the Coming
State Conclave in the Copper
Country Is Announced.

The copper country executive committee in charge of arrangements for the forthcoming grand commandery and state conclave of the Knights Templar announces the official program, as follows:

The steamships are scheduled to reach Houghton Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. At 8 o'clock that evening, the knights and their ladies will be taken by special train from Houghton to Calumet, where a reception and ball will be given in the Colosseum, the knights wearing the full Templar uniform.

Tuesday, June 8, will open with a parade of commanderies from Hancock to Houghton. The grand commandery will be escorted to the Masonic Temple, where it will open its business session and continue in session all day. Directly following the parade, the ladies and the knights who are not in attendance upon the business session will be entertained with sightseeing trips to the Michigan College of Mines and about the Copper Range district. In the evening a band concert will be given.

Calumet Day.
Wednesday, June 9, will be Calumet day, and that town being the home of the grand commander extensive arrangements are being made to insure a day of pleasurable entertainment. There will be a grand parade of commanderies, reviewed by R. E. Sir Gordon R. Campbell, and staff. The afternoon will be devoted to exhibition drills. In the evening there will be a band concert. Special trains will be run to Houghton, leaving at 9 o'clock. Thursday will be the last day spent in the copper country, and will be devoted to sightseeing.

Those coming to the upper peninsula by steamer will make their homes on the ships, which will lie at the dock at Houghton. On Thursday, June 10, the steamers will run to Houghton and Lake Linden, and other places of interest, spending the most of the day in this manner. The officers, past officers and representative of the grand commandery, who attend the business session on Tuesday, will be taken for a ride by autos to points of interest about Houghton and Calumet. They will be accompanied by their ladies. Thursday evening pictures of the underground workings in copper and iron mines will be shown at the Kerredge theater in Hancock and other entertainment will be provided.

The steamers will leave the dock for the return trip home Thursday at midnight, arriving at Detroit and Benton Harbor Sunday afternoon. Stops will be made at some of the commandery points, going and coming, and some of the commanderies will doubtless go on shore and give exhibition drills.

High Officers Coming.
Michigan is to be honored in having present Most Excellent Sir Lee S. Smith, of Pittsburg, Pa., acting grand master of the grand encampment, and Leonidas P. Newby, of Indianapolis, grand senior warden of the grand encampment. R. E. Sir George W. Buck, P. G. C., of Duluth, Minn., will be the personal representative of the grand master. R. E. Sir Pitt H. Sperry, inspector general of Wisconsin, and other distinguished visitors will also be present.

The details looking to the arrangements for this important gathering are being attended to by the following committees:
Conclave committee—R. E. Sir Thomas E. Borden, P. G. C., Saginaw; E. Sir John H. O'Meara, P. C., Marquette; E. Sir Oscar W. Bruns, P. C., Calumet.
Transportation committee—E. Sir Fred E. Gregor, P. C., Detroit; E. Sir William C. Howey, P. C., Benton Harbor; E. Sir Charles E. Fink, P. C., Kalamazoo.
Copper country executive committee—M. M. Morrison, chairman, Calumet;

ANN ARBOR RAILROAD PUSHES RATE HEARING

Serves Notice of Injunction Case on Several of the State Officials.

Lansing, May 6.—Formal notice of the hearing on the petition of the Ann Arbor railroad for a temporary injunction restraining the state executive, attorney general and members of the state railroad commission from interference in the plan of the Ann Arbor railroad to boost its passenger fares has been served here yesterday. The petition was filed in the circuit court of the state at Lansing, Michigan, by the railroad's attorneys, General Fellows, Governor Ferris and the three members of the state railroad commission. The hearing on the petition for a temporary injunction will take place at Grand Rapids, May 19, before Judge Knapp, Sessions and Jensen.

Accompanying the notices are affidavits made by A. W. Towsley, general manager of the Ann Arbor railroad, the company's auditors and Chief Engineer Lewis J. Allen, showing that the road is losing money by carrying passengers for two cents per mile. In addition the statement filed with the legislature by the state railroad commission showing that the railroads are operating at a loss in several instances has also been made a part of the record.

In his affidavit General Manager Towsley says that the property of the Ann Arbor is worth $9,000,000 and that the earnings on the investment do not exceed 5 per cent. The earnings on passenger traffic, according to Towsley's statement, amount to 3 1/2 per cent. He contends that the rates should be increased so that the business will pay 8 per cent on its investment.

Towsley sets forth that the interest-bearing indebtedness of the road is $8,325,500, which is 92 per cent of the total. According to his statement $1,000,000 in preferred stock and $3,250,000 common stock are outstanding, on which a dividend has never been paid. Under the present law Towsley contends that the Ann Arbor is losing at the rate of $700 per day. In his affidavit he calls attention to the fact that the legislature refused to afford the road any relief.

STATE FAILS TO KEEP PROMISE TO VETERANS

House Committee Criticised for Not Reporting Spanish War Claim Bill.

Lansing, May 6.—While the ways and means committee of the house was severely criticised from many quarters for its failure to report out Senator Foster's bill appropriating $600,000 for a new state office building and for its announced intention to kill the teachers' pension bill unless the clause relative to state aid was stricken from the committee now being attacked from a new angle.

ONE DAY OF PEACE.
A bride in Korea begins her married life in silence; she must not speak during the first day even to her husband. To do so is considered a breach of etiquette. The next morning, however, she may give free rein to her tongue, and may talk thereafter to her heart's content.

It is said that many Chinese temples are provided with a bell at the entrance, and when a worshipper enters he gives the bell rope a pull in order that the gods may be notified of his coming and be at hand to attend to his prayers.

Many were paid but 1,088 veterans have claims on file in the office of the auditor general, amounting in all to approximately $50,000, and as a special appropriation was needed to discharge these obligations Senator Walter, a veteran of the war of 1898, tried to put a bill through the legislature.

Governor Promises Signature.
Governor Ferris said he would gladly sign such an appropriation and the bill went through the senate without a dissenting vote, but it never was reported out by the ways and means committee of the house.

The ways and means committee was informed that in some instances the veterans signing the claims had died and their widows and children were badly in need of the money, but the committee turned a deaf ear.

The records of the auditor general's office show Bay county has twenty-four unpaid soldier claims, amounting to approximately $1,000; Kent county has twelve claims unpaid, amounting to $300, while there are seventeen Muskegon county claims amounting to $500.

MINING NEWS
BUTTE & SUPERIOR.
Butte & Superior had a record-breaking month in April. There were 43,500 tons of ore treated, from which 13,100 tons of concentrates were produced. All concentrates were stored for and none had to be stored. This exceeded the March production by 600 tons of concentrates, which was the largest previous output.

BUTTE-BALLAKLAVA.
Operations have been resumed at the Butte-Ballaklava property, which had been shut down since last summer. Mining is being done on all levels between the 800 and 1,600. The output for a time will be about 150 tons of ore a day, this to gradually be increased to 350.

GRANBY CONSOLIDATED.
President Nichols of the Granby Consolidated, in notifying stockholders of the sale of $2,000,000 bonds to which they may subscribe at par, says: "Operations at Phoenix and Grand Forks were resumed on a moderate scale in December and have ever since increased until work at these properties is now in full swing. At Ansox operations have been continued. Until recently but two of the three furnaces were kept regularly running and during part of the time this limited operation was at great disadvantage owing to shortage of power resulting from unusually severe winter. Nevertheless, results indicate that our expectations will be fully realized. Even during the winter months the cost of refined copper in New York was not much above eight cents a pound. The three furnaces are running more steadily and producing at a correspondingly higher rate. Under these conditions we expect that costs will prove lower than heretofore. Present rate of production is about 3,500,000 pounds monthly from both properties. The directors deem it wise to fund the company's short-term loans and have decided to issue $2,000,000 bonds. This will leave the company in a strong financial position.

ANACONDA.
Butte advices say: By the decision of Federal Judge Bourquin, in the Alice mine case, the property of that company, which was taken over by Anaconda when the latter absorbed Butte Coalition, must be resold and stockholders must be paid cash instead of Anaconda stock.

The decision was made in the suit brought by Peter Godes and a number of other minority shareholders of the Alice company who were dissatisfied with the deal made and sale. Many allegations were made of violation of the Sherman anti-trust law and of inadequate price paid for the Alice. The suit was brought a few years ago, but was not argued until last August. The last briefs were filed two weeks ago, since which time the court has had the case under advisement. In the decision, the court refused to determine whether or not the Anaconda company was part of an unlawful copper combine under the Sherman anti-trust act. The court said that point for the reason that on other grounds all the relief due the plaintiffs was granted and because it is doubtful if private litigants can raise the issue. In view of fact that in the sale the vendor and vendee had been common directors the burden was on the defendants to satisfy the court that the sale was in all respects fair to the Alice shareholders. This involves the adequacy of the price paid to the Alice, namely, 30,000 shares of Anaconda stock, then of the market value of $1,500,000, and the payment of all of the Alice company's debts. The plaintiffs and defendants agreed that the price paid for such properties as that of Alice were arbitrary. In view of the wide divergence as to the value of the Alice, and all facts, circumstances and history of the mine and district, the court was not satisfied that a higher price might not have been secured, and held that the price was substantially inadequate. This of itself demanded relief to the plaintiffs, even though the common directors did not consciously act to the prejudice of the Alice. The court said nothing appeared to inspire a belief that the directors aimed at anything but fair bargaining. Another ground for relief was that the transaction was not a sale, but a swap and the stockholders are entitled to a sale for money. Because of all the foregoing, the court ordered a resale of the property.

ADVENTURE.
The annual report of the Adventure Consolidated Copper company shows a balance on hand Jan. 1, 1915, of $2,054, compared with $9,263 at the close of the previous year. Treasurer Wm. R. Todd says: "No mining or regular work of any kind was done the past year. Most of the dwellings at the mine and mill are occupied, rents received last year amounting to $3,847. We have realized something during the year from the sale of mining supplies, stampage, mass copper from work previously done in No. 5 shaft, and from the sale of land near Ontonagon, from which the timber had previously been cut. There remain at the mine mining supplies inventoried at cost price of $6,344. They are of doubtful value, being now useless to the company, although something may hereafter be realized by sale; therefore they are not now included in our account as a good asset, having no real fixed value. We hold in the treasury 480 shares of the company stock, purchased when stock was sold for delinquent assessments, and the company has an indebtedness of $1,411 due on sundry accounts."

WAR NAME EXPLAINED.
Chanak-katesi, the straggling town near the "narrows" of the Dardanelles, which figures prominently in the latest operations, means "earthenware castle" in Turkish, and is so called from a celebrated pottery on the Asiatic side of the strait. An agent from this pottery used to be always on the lookout for a wandering European, and hocked onto every passing ship. His headload of gaudy crockery was generally more remarkable for gilding and tawdry color than for taste. But the forms of the vessels were often graceful, even classical; and specimens of the tall water jugs he sells, or once sold, can be seen throughout the Levant, though seldom in London.—London Chronicle.

MEN WHO DEVELOPED MARQUETTE COUNTY; EARLY MINING AND RAILROAD VENTURES

Andrew G. Clark, of Chicago, Pioneer of Lake Superior Country, Writes Reminiscences of the Early Days.

My first interest in Lake Superior and the iron district was awakened through the stories related by Heman B. Ely, who pictured the great lakes as an inland sea navigated almost exclusively by Indians in their canoes and who told of the discovery of hills of native, or pure copper in one district and of mountains of iron in another, both areas being miles and miles in extent. Not the least interesting were his stories of great herds of deer and bear, of wolves and porcupine and other animals that roamed the limitless forest; nor did he fail to tell of the valued whitefish and trout of the great lake, or the beautiful speckled trout abounding in the streams. It all excited in me a longing to be an eyewitness to some of the wonders portrayed, though at the time the distance seemed so great and money of travel so primitive, it did not seem possible I ever would be so favored.

I was a young man of sixteen years, a clerk in the flouring mill office of Mr. Ely's brothers, Samuel P. Ely and Geo. H. Ely, in Rochester, N. Y. Heman B. Ely, as a rule, spent his winters in Rochester, working on his plans, which included the development of the mountains of iron and in connection the construction of adequate railway facilities for transportation of the iron to the lake port, Marquette. He was my great admiration, first because of his commanding appearance and dignity of manner and, second, because he evidenced special interest in and liking for me.

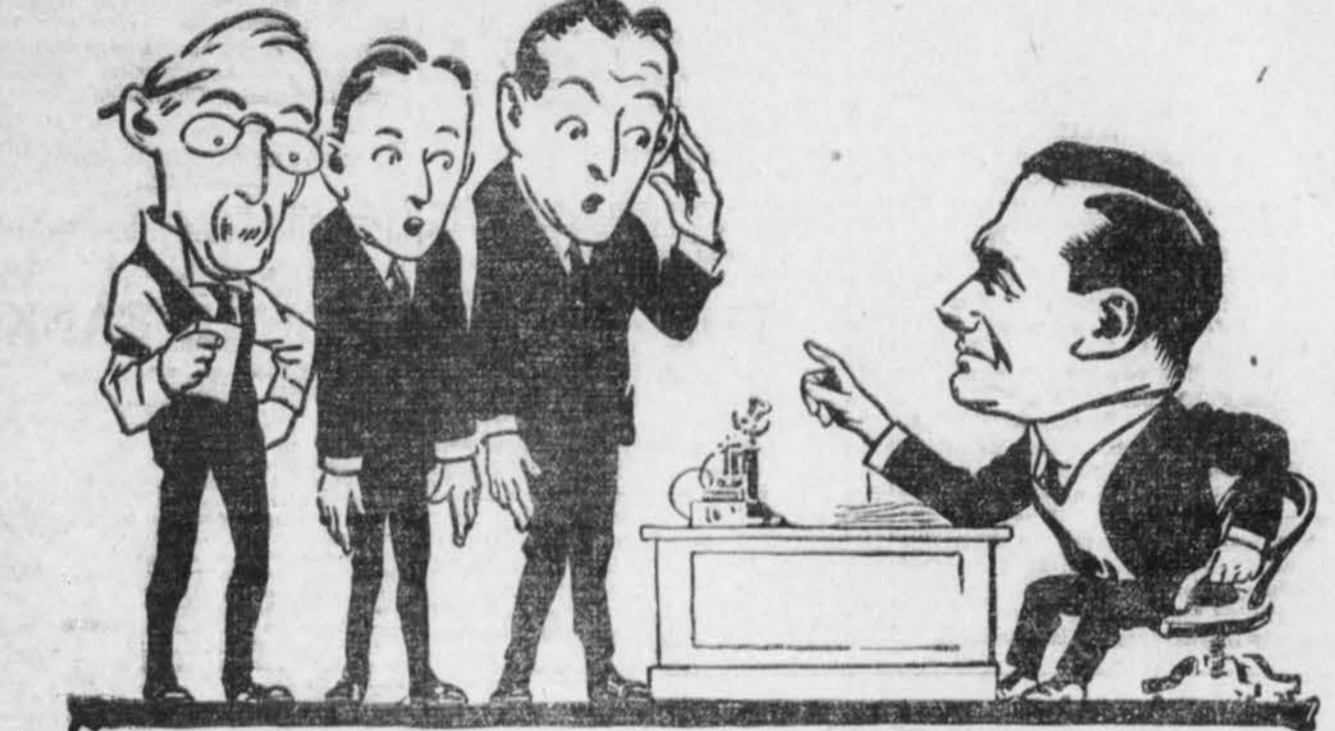

The first organization to commence the exploitation of the iron district was the Jackson Mining company, so called after the town of Jackson, Mich., where the syndicate of owners lived. P. M. Everett, long an honored resident of Marquette, was of the number. The purpose of the organization was, primarily, the exploration of the district for minerals and to acquire possession of the lands containing them. The first acquired was the land constituting the Jackson iron company area. The deposit of iron ore was so immense and its physical appearance so like metallic iron, they must have, in concert, exclaimed, "Eureka."

So convinced were they that the ore could be easily and cheaply wrought into a malleable product they decided to devote their money and energies to give value to their extraordinary find and constructed a bloomery, or forge, on the Carp river, nearby, for the manufacture of blooms.

The cost under the primitive conditions then existing was too great for the distant lower lake market and the project was abandoned. Several other parties in succession, not dismayed at the failure of their predecessors, made similar efforts for success, only to meet with like disappointment and loss.

The Jackson Mining company lands were subsequently transferred to the Jackson Iron company, a new incorporation. New York parties predominated in the ownership, with Fayette Brown as general agent at Cleveland and Samuel Peck as local agent at Marquette.

The second organization was the Cleveland Iron company, named for the city of Cleveland, Ohio, the residence of its principal owners. Among those prominently identified with this company as shareholders and executive officers was Samuel L. Mather, for years its president and managing director—a very genial and interesting gentleman personally and a man of wide influence in af-lular railroad, from Escanaba to Negaunee, was opened for travel and, supplemented by a line of two steamers, from Escanaba to Fort Howard, gave the people of the iron district a direct through route to Chicago and lower lake ports. The Marquette railroad people financed the development, first, of the Lake Superior mine; then, respectively, the Washington, the Champion, the Republic and the Parsons, and, likewise, the charged Morgan, Greenwood and Clarkburg and the neat furnace at Ishpeming. The executive management of all these several enterprises was in charge of Samuel P. Ely, with myself as assistant manager and chief accountant.

Active business on the railroad ended with the close of navigation, usually about the middle of November, when statistical work and reports in detail covering each corporation would be begun and, generally, completed and forwarded to the several boards of directors by, or before, the first of January following.

The Original Mines.

The area included in the Jackson, Cleveland and Lake Superior mines embraces the original locations where iron ore was discovered. The deposits, appearing mountainous in extent, were thought to be inexhaustible and capable of supplying all possible demands in the Marquette country. It was known that large deposits existed a few miles to the west, the opinion prevailed that they never would be called upon. And had the same conditions then existing continued, when the use of iron were comparatively few, this judgment might have been verified. But with the rapid increase in population and the growth of industries to correspond, even had no new uses for iron been developed, or processes of manufacture improved, the iron deposits must surely have been sought for, iron, or wrought, only, was used at that time principally by railroads for rails and car wheels, while steel, confined to special uses, was made by ancient and costly methods.

Coincident with opening of the mines Marquette county came the revolutionary process of Bessemer, and even he "blinded better than he knew," his great ambition being to produce a product for rolling into malleable iron. He consumed several years in experiments, with varying success, but finally, by continuing his ability, in burning out the carbon, to stop the blow of air at the proper stage, depending upon the color of flame to accomplish this. His product was unsatisfactory because not uniform in character, each day's output being different from that of the preceding day, and this caused him much worry. At this juncture a fellow engineer and metallurgist, Robert F. Mushet, appeared and after a consideration of the difficulty suggested the query: "Why not burn out all the carbon and then by the introduction of ferro-manganese or spiegeleisen, the percentage of carbon in which can be definitely determined, supply the requisite amount?"

Acting on this suggestion, success came to Mr. Bessemer and greatly contented his mind. He suggested to me that only a trifle less carbon than necessary in product for malleable iron would produce steel. I believe the suggestion of Mushet to have been inspired. To estimate the extraordinary benefit it gave to the entire world is impossible.

To my mind it is beyond question that to this Bessemer-Mushet discovery the mines of Marquette and the Lake districts owe their wonderful development, necessitating the opening of the Cleveland and the deposits of Michigan and Wisconsin, but also of the later discovered immense deposits of Minnesota, the shipments growing from 5,000 tons in 1856 to approximately 50,000,000 tons in 1913.

It was not until about 1866 that the Bessemer-Mushet process received any practical recognition in this country. Michigan, through Eber B. Ward, of Detroit, at Wyandotte, Mich., has the distinction of being the first to employ the process, though a man of far sight and declared, in the early days, that the English rails started at $170 per ton and Abram S. Hewitt, of New York, after a full examination by himself and subsequently by his chief expert, whom he sent to Sheffield for the purpose, strongly advocated the use of steel rails. The first Bessemer plant of iron rails at $45 per ton, the ruling price at the time.

The first Bessemer rails made in this country sold at $130 per ton. The cost was high largely because of the clumsy machinery appliances, the rolling mill adapted for the heavy work being economically, and because of the large force of operators required. Eventually, however, the inventive genius of our American engineers devised appliances that overcame all the serious objections and reduced the cost of product to a minimum, so that prices were gradually reduced until during one period rails sold at less than $25 per ton and today stand at $28 per ton.

Furnaces. The manufacture of charcoal pig iron in the district has, on the whole, been most satisfactory, the dividing of the shareholders have made good the investment, with even a moderate interest. An exception, possibly, may be made as to the Pioneer furnace, which possessed the advantage of one at mine road and the advantage of location near its ore supply, thereby saving the cost of transportation and re-handling.

The expenses attending a furnace plant were too great a burden against the usual small output of about fifteen tons per day, which was considered good work. Occasionally, under favorable conditions, we would reach twenty tons, when, in appreciation, we favored the force with a barrel of beer.

The principal reason, however, for unsatisfactory results, it may be confessed, was our ignorance of the first principles of metallurgy. We were unskilled and without initiative to improve. I doubt if there is now any furnace plant of importance that is not operated through the laboratory. As we knew was that dumping our ore into blast furnaces and clay into a furnace at the top would result in molten metal and slag at the bottom. We had only recently advanced from the cold blast to the hot blast method, utilizing the gas generated to heat the air, and thought at the time that pig-iron tuyeres, with a twenty horsepower engine, were amply sufficient.

To Major Harry Pickens goes the credit of having had initiative and daring enough to risk an effort to increase his output. With ample power and enlarged iron capacity he increased the size of tuyeres and achieved phenomenal results, increasing his output at the Bay furnace from fifteen to forty-five tons per day, certainly a remarkable achievement, and the secret was "wind" in volume, driven with ample force, properly adjusted.

Of all the many men with whom I was associated in the several enterprises, including executive officers, directors and managers of the railroad, the several mines and furnaces, I alone am left on this side of the great divide.

City's Tax Rate Remains the Same. According to the provisions of the city budget adopted by the council, the tax rate at Escanaba will remain at 1 1/2 per cent, the coming year, as in the past year. The total amount that is to be raised by taxation for city purposes will be $97,000, or approximately $500 more than last year.

Liquor Law Penalties Increased. The 200 common council has adopted an amendment to the liquor ordinance which fixes the maximum penalty for violations at $100 and ninety days, instead of $100 and thirty days. This action came about on the recommendation of City Attorney Francis T. McDonald, who declared the maximum sentence was too light in such cases.

Bessemer Boy Makes Record. Colvin Holland, a student in the commercial department of the Bessemer High school, wrote on the typewriter at the rate of sixty-seven words a minute for ten minutes, averaging sixty words a minute net, after mistakes were deducted. The boy will be awarded a leather case containing a certificate of efficiency by the Underwood Typewriter company.

Concert Tour Is Planned. Members of the Copper Country Choral club, composed of thirty male voices under the direction of Harry E. King, are making plans for a concert tour next spring. The club intends to visit the iron country and may journey as far as Milwaukee and Duluth. Concerts also will be given in the various towns of the copper country. The club is recognized as one of the best musical organizations ever brought together in the peninsula.

Municipality Spends Much Money. For the conduct of its affairs, reports the Press, the city of Escanaba, during the fiscal year ending April 1 of this year paid out a total of $143,983.34. The receipts from all sources amounted to $348,553.19, the city thus closing the year with a balance of $54,925.75. The total bonded debt on April 1 was $189,500, a decrease of $1,500 in the past year. These figures were brought out in a voluminous report submitted to the council by A. H. Rolph, who has completed an audit of the books.

Few Changes in Escanaba Salary List. But few changes were made by the Escanaba council in fixing the salaries of city officials for the coming year. Under the terms of the ordinance adopted, Fire Chief William Heiers will receive an increase of $10 a month and the captain and sergeant of the police will receive increases of $5 and $3 a month, respectively. City Engineer McDonald will be employed for the entire year, instead of part of the year, and will receive a salary of $1,200. His engagement for the entire year is made necessary by the construction of the trunk line sewer.

brothers, who are putting in the sawmill not far from Trout Lake, it is said desire the dock for the shipment of lumber and would like to buy it. Their offer will cover six to eight years. It is also said the Chesbroughs have acquired a large limestone quarry prospect on the Soo Line and will develop this property. A. B. at one time bought by John Malcom, Michael Chambers, Schuyler Farrell and others, over twenty years ago. They had an idea it was likely to turn out a marble proposition. When prospecting proved the stone to be limestone they disposed of the property, but retained a one-eighth share interest therein. Another bidder for the dock is understood to be William St. James, but his project is to tear the structure down and use the material. The lumberless piles are as sound today as the day they were driven. General Manager Walker is said to be loath to see the dock torn down.

Three Teachers Will Not Return. At the next meeting of the Escanaba board of education, three resignations will be handed in by members of the high school faculty. A. B. at one time has accepted a position at Houghton at a larger salary. Miss Genevieve Stowe has signed a contract with the Laramie (Wyoming) schools. Miss Stowe has been in Escanaba for four years and is leaving for the reason that the position in the West offers more of an inducement financially. Miss Mary Lynd will also resign, but has not decided where she will go. She has opportunity to accept either of two positions.

Municipal Officials Succeed Themselves. All city appointive officers holding office at Menominee during the last year were reappointed at this week's meeting of the council. All were elected unanimously, a secret caucus having settled the question of who was to be health officer, the only position for which there were two candidates in the field. Just before this caucus, an alderman working for the election of Dr. B. Phillips figured that the ballot would be a tie, estimating that their man would receive seven votes and that Dr. E. V. McCormick, the present health officer, would receive a like number. When the vote was taken it stood McCormick ten and Phillips three. City Attorney John J. O'Hara, through the courtesy of Alderman C. W. Hutchinson, has the distinction of defeating Attorney General Grant Fellows for the position. Alderman Hutchinson, taking a little dig at Mayor M. B. Lloyd, nominated Mr. Fellows. There was no second. Fred C. Norcross continues as city clerk. Dr. McCormick appointed F. Moerchen as sanitary inspector and C. J. Wueller assistant milk and meat inspector, both appointments being confirmed by the aldermen. Both men have held these positions the past year.

Iron Mountain Municipal Salaries. Following are the salaries that the various city officials of Iron Mountain will receive for the ensuing year: City treasurer, $720; chief of police, $900; city clerk, $1,080; city attorney, $720; chief of fire department, $1,080; street commissioner, $1; fire warden, $1; drain and sewer inspector, $180; city assessor, $600.

THE WEARY WAY.

Daily Becoming Less Wearisome to Many in Marquette.

With a back that aches all day. With rest disturbed at night. Annoying urinary disorders. This is a weary way, indeed. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney trouble.

Are endorsed by Marquette citizens. Mrs. Adolph Racine, 225 W. Spring St., Marquette, says: "One of my family was troubled by a dull, heavy ache in the back, together with severe pains. At times headaches and dizzy spells caused annoyance and the kidney secretions passed too often. The one I am telling about was all run down and felt miserable in every way. One of our neighbors advised a trial of Doan's Kidney Pills. After a few doses were taken there was so much improvement that a second box was used. Since then there has not been much trouble."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Racine recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SALARIES FIXED BY CITY COUNCIL

Sexton Is Given an Increase of $15, But City Will Take All Fees in Future.

The monthly salaries and the wages of city employees will be the same the ensuing year as they were last year, with the exception of the salary of the sexton of the city cemetery, which has been increased from $80 to $75 a month. The sexton has heretofore been allowed all the money paid by lot owners for sodding, cutting grass, watering lots and setting foundations for headstones, but hereafter these fees will go into the cemetery fund. Neither the sexton nor any of the men working under him will be permitted to do work for lot owners without an order from the city recorder, who is the clerk of the cemetery board.

The charge for sodding lots will be two and one-half cents a square foot, or about $3.75 for each lot. The charge for cutting grass and watering lots during the entire season will be one and one-half cents a square foot. During the spring and part of the summer the sexton will have a man or two to help him, but after the grounds have been put in good condition he will be expected to do the work alone.

The monthly salaries and daily wages recommended by the committee and adopted by the council Wednesday evening are as follows:

Request from Association.
The following request from the Ishpeming Advancement Association relative to a formal protest to the state railway commission against the increase in the freight rates on hard and soft coal from Marquette to Ishpeming was laid on the table:

"To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council, Ishpeming, Michigan:

"Gentlemen—The Ishpeming Advancement Association at its regular monthly meeting yesterday decided that while it was very urgent and necessary to file a formal protest against the recent advance in the freight rates on hard and soft coal on haulage between Marquette and Ishpeming, yet that it was a matter outside and beyond the scope of this association. It was therefore resolved to petition your honorable body to take up this matter on behalf of the citizens of Ishpeming and take such action as you deem advisable.

"Yours very truly,

"ISHPEMING ADVANCEMENT ASSOCIATION.

"C. H. Moss, Pres.,
"E. J. Townsend, Sec."

Robert J. Wise, chairman of the committee.

CHURCH CONVENTION.

Ishpeming Will Have 1916 Meeting of Swedish Lutheran Church.

Members of the Swedish Lutheran church congregation have been informed that Ishpeming has been awarded the 1916 convention of the Ishpeming district of the Lake Superior conference, which includes practically all of the churches in the upper peninsula. The 1915 gathering will be held in Hancock, August 15, 16 and 17.

The district meetings this year and in 1916 will be important, as it was a short time ago decided to raise $15,000 to apply on a debt to be contracted for the proposed new home for the aged and orphan children of the conference. A committee has been authorized to purchase a suitable site and negotiations are now pending for a location in Escanaba. The committee was given power to invest not less than $10,000, or more than $15,000, in the purchase of the property.

The conference now has approximately $7,000 in its treasury to apply on the purchase price of the home, and as it is planned to make the institution self-sustaining the conference expects to pay off the entire debt in a few years.

The national convention of the synod will be held next month in St. Paul and the Lake Superior conference will send at least one delegate. Action taken at the conference held in Gladstone a few weeks ago indicates that a member of the Crystal Falls church will be chosen as delegate.

"EXPLOITS OF ELAINE."

Fourteenth Episode of Popular Serial to Be Shown Tonight.

The story of the fourteenth episode of "The Exploits of Elaine," which will be shown this evening at the Ishpeming theater, is as follows: Long Sin, the Chinese adventurer, lately in league with the nefarious Clutching Hand, has been won over to the side of the scientific detective, Craig Kennedy, on the promise of immunity in the final reckoning. The Clutching Hand, unaware of the duplicity of his closest confederate, entrusts him with a chemical bomb, instructing that it be delivered to the laboratory of the detective within an hour. Long Sin promises the delivery, neglecting, however, the understood implication that the delivery was to be made without Kennedy's knowledge. Kennedy's X-Ray discloses the complicated workings of the bomb, which is immediately destroyed. A scrap of the paper wrapping of the explosive furnishes a startling clue to the sender, for a type-written line, under the microscope, shows the letters "T" to be battered and faint. Kennedy and James rush off to Elaine Dodge's home, where, with the help of a clue co-ordinate with the battered letter "T," they hope to gather in the last thread of the already tight mesh enclosing the master criminal. JOHN BUNNY MONDAY.

Late Popular Moving Picture Star to Be Seen in Feature.

Next Monday evening patrons of the Ishpeming theater will have an opportunity to see the late John Bunny in one of the last pictures that he appeared in for the Vitagraph company. The feature is a three reel comedy, entitled "How Cissy Made Good," specially produced for the Vitagraph theater, New York, where it had an extended run. The cast included, beside Bunny, all of the Vitagraph stars, and is said to be one of the best comedies ever secured by the company. The picture is handled through the General Film company's feature department and is in big demand. In addition to this admirable comedy, an episode of the "Hazards of Helen" series will be shown.

The members of the senior class of the Ishpeming high school were greeted by packed houses yesterday afternoon and last evening, when they repeated the farce comedy, "A Night Off." In spite of the heavy rain storm in the afternoon every seat on both floors was taken, the audience being composed principally of teachers and pupils of the schools. The net receipts of the entertainment will be applied on the cost of "Hematie," the senior class annual, to be published next month.

The vaudeville act the first half of the week will be the Musical Macks, presenting a comedy musical act, with special scenery.

POLICE OFFICER IS WITNESS FOR PEOPLE

Nicholas Laughlin Was One of the Customers of Dan McDonald's Blind Pig.

County officials and many Negaunee residents familiar with the testimony submitted in the case of the People vs. Dan McDonald, charged with selling liquor without a license, whose examination will be continued today in Judge Argall's court, point to it as showing great laxity on the part of Negaunee police force.

One of the principal witnesses against McDonald was Nicholas Laughlin, a member of the police force, who testified that over a period of months he had frequented McDonald's place and had drunk liquor there. But while McLaughlin was thus entirely familiar with the violation of the law by McDonald, he made no complaint against him, and only appeared as a witness in the hearing because, a county official said yesterday, Chief Newcombe suspected that he knew something about the case and suggested that he be put on the stand.

The arrest of McDonald was the sequel to the arrest recently of Fred Martel on the charge of keeping a blind pig at the Palmer halfway house. Following his hearing, when he was bound over for trial in circuit court, Martel told of certain business dealings he had with McDonald, who, he asserted, had induced him to open the blind pig at the halfway she returned from Montana, where she taught school. She gave up her position on account of her illness.

R. E. Mace, purchasing agent, and A. M. Gow, assistant chief mechanical engineer, of the Oliver Iron Mining company, were here from Duluth yesterday. They were accompanied by F. B. Orr, the DuPont Powder company's manager in the Minnesota district.

The employees of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company will be paid for the second period of April as follows: Hard Ore, Lake and Cliffs Shatts, next Tuesday, the 11th, Republic, Salisbury and North Lake districts, 12th, Gwin district, 13th, Negaunee district, 14th.

The attention of subscribers to the Fritz Kreisler concert is directed to the fact that the seat sale at Marquette will open tomorrow, and as seats will be reserved for them in the order in which their checks are received it is important that they make remittance at once to W. J. Tucker, at Marquette.

Charles LeRoy, who has been in George Voelker's employ, has resigned, and will engage in the tailoring business in C. L. Anderson's building on Canada street, occupying the room a short time ago vacated by the Western Express company. Mr. LeRoy worked at the clothing business for a number of years. He has ordered a clothes-cleaning machine and a hat blocking outfit.

and who saw that he obtained a federal license to sell liquor. McDonald, also, he said, furnished him with part of his stock.

Following Martel's recital, McDonald's arrest was brought about, and the nature of the testimony that has been submitted in just one case indicates that today he will be bound over to stand trial in circuit court. At the hearing earlier this week, in addition to Laughlin, August Johnson, agent of the Chicago & Northwestern here, Martel, Bert Agnoli, driver for the Leisen & Hones Brewing company of Menominee, and John B. Perenchio, a wholesale liquor dealer here, appeared as witnesses.

Mr. Johnson told of the receipt by the Northwestern at regular intervals during the past several months of considerable quantities of liquor, shipped in kegs, consigned to the defendant, and on one occasion it is said a barrel of wine was received for him. Agnoli told of the delivery of beer, which, however, he said went to the defendant's house, and Mr. Perenchio testified as to sales of liquors. These, however, he said, were in small quantities.

The case, coupled with that of Martel, has caused much comment in Negaunee.

MUCH GOOD WORK WAS DONE IN APRIL

Report of Charities Association Indicates Wide Range of Activities.

During April $183.13 was expended by the United Charities association for meat, groceries, shoes, rubbers and underwear for the needy families of the city. The meat and grocery account amounted to $13.47, April 1 there was $208.83 on hand. A gift of $2 was received during the month, and the present balance is $127.00.

The report of the secretary shows that twelve men and nine women applied for work, and employment was secured for six of the men and two of the women.

Thirty-five families, 174 persons, were assisted with food. During the month Dr. H. W. Sheldon, chairman of the purchasing committee, bought twenty-one pairs of shoes, eleven pairs of rubbers and five pieces of underwear. The articles that were furnished from the store room were sixteen pairs of shoes, one pair of rubbers and three suits of underwear for needy cases.

Seven families were assisted with food by C. L. Sporely, county poor commissioner, upon the request of the United Charities, and Mr. Sporely also furnished fuel for nine families. He also purchased one pair of shoes, one pair of rubbers and three suits of underwear for needy cases.

During the month thirty-four visits were made and six temporary and three chronic cases of illness were found.

A special meeting will be held next Thursday afternoon for the purpose of framing a report to the central committee. A public meeting, similar to the one held when the Charities association was organized several months ago, will be held Monday, May 17, in the Elks hall at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when a complete report of what has been done by the association will be made.

It is thought that in two weeks the money now on hand in the treasury will be about all used up. If it is decided to make the organization permanent at the public meeting, plans will be made for the raising of more money.

BASEBALL SUNDAY.

Negaunee and Marquette City Teams Will Line Up at Union Park.

The first baseball game of the season will be played Sunday afternoon at the Union park, between the Marquette Negaunee team and the Negaunee players. The game will be the first of several days putting the grounds in good order. The game Sunday will commence at 2:30 and the admission will be fifteen cents.

Hilmer Leaf, who has been training for the past several weeks with the expectation of joining the Escanaba team, will pitch. He is in mid-summer form and expects to hold the Marquette batters to but few hits. The line-up of the teams follows:

Marquette—Downey, catcher; Zyrd, pitcher; Smith, first base; Johnson, second base; Lemire, third base; Corbett, short stop; Hennes, left field; Thomas, center field, and Fletcher, right field.

Negaunee—Peel, catcher; Leaf, pitcher; Fredrickson, first base; Heinonen, second base; Holman, third base; Lindstrom, short stop; Tall, left field; Davey or Vincent, center field, and Ford, right field.

FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY.

Mother of Rev. Fr. Bucholtz to Be Laid at Rest at Escanaba.

Rev. H. A. Bucholtz, pastor of St. Paul's Catholic church, will officiate at a requiem high mass at the funeral of his mother, the late Mrs. Jacob Bucholtz, at St. Joseph's church at Escanaba at 9:15 this morning. He will be assisted by priests from Escanaba and Lucan surrounding districts. The service will be delivered by Rev. Father Barth, pastor of St. Patrick's church, Escanaba.

Of the death of Mrs. Bucholtz Wednesday morning the Press had the following: "Following her daughter in death, after a period of but three weeks, Mrs. Jacob Bucholtz, a resident of Delta county for sixty years and known to many throughout this district, passed away at the home of the family on Ogden avenue. Three weeks ago the death of Mrs. Henry Abenstein, daughter of Mrs. Bucholtz, occurred. It was a great shock to the aged mother, who had not enjoyed good health for several months. Her condition gradually grew more serious and Monday night she suffered from a stroke of paralysis. She remained unconscious from the time of the shock until death came, surrounded by members of her family.

"Mrs. Bucholtz was born in Luxem-

BATTLES WON BY TOBACCO.

The value of tobacco in active service is now so well esteemed by the military authorities that today one sees the British government doing what it never did before—supplying free tobacco to the troops. Only within comparatively recent times, however, has this necessity been officially recognized. Wellington condemned the practice of smoking as being "a species of intoxication occasioned by the fumes of tobacco." Official efforts to discourage the use of tobacco were completely negated in the Crimean war. The privations suffered then by the troops resulted in officers and men taking to the panacea adopted by their French and Turkish allies, and by its aid their discomforts were so alleviated that ever since the practice of smoking in active service has been countenanced by those in command. In consequence tobacco has played a notable and beneficial part in the wars of the last century—in fact, from Waterloo to South Africa. Probably its soothing and insipid qualities were never so strongly manifested as in the Franco-German war of 1870. It might be said, indeed, that the crushing defeat inflicted on the French was due largely to the soldiers' lack of tobacco, added, as it was, to the breakdown of the commissariat, whereas on the German side the authorities did all they could to insure the troops being plentifully supplied with the weed.—London Titbits.

HOMECOMING PLANS IN HAND

Committees Have Been Busily at Work the Last Few Weeks and Notable Progress Has Been Made—Executive Body Will Assemble Early Next Week.

Fourth of July Committee, at Last Night's Meeting, Prepared Estimates of Its Probable Expenditures—Several Features Were Suggested and Approved

The committee in charge of the Fourth of July celebration, one of the features of homecoming week, has entered into the work of preparation enthusiastically. At a meeting held by it last night estimates of expense were presented by the chairman of the several sub-committees, and the suggestions as to events that might be given places in the schedule for the day were presented. Part of these will be included in the program. The estimate of the expense that a fitting observance of Independence Day would incur is conservative, the committee believes. It will be submitted to the homecoming executive committee for ratification. Sam Rose, chairman of the Fourth of July committee, presided at last night's gathering.

"The committee has the preliminary arrangements well in hand," said Mr. Rose last night. "The sub-committees, named at a previous meeting, are working as a unit in promoting the celebration, which I am confident will be one with which the people will well be pleased. The young men of the city have rallied to the support of the committee in planning the events of the day, and there seems to be no question that whatever is given place in the program will be carried out."

A meeting of the homecoming executive committee, which has general supervision of the week's activities, will be held the early part of next week, and there will be submitted at that time, in addition to the estimate of the Fourth of July committee, the estimates that have been prepared by the committees planning the events for the other days. The aggregate amount needed will be determined, and the work of raising the funds will be set in motion.

Calithumpians a Feature.

The sub-committee designated to prepare the program for the morning of the Fourth, or July 5, as it will be this year, owing to the Fourth falling on Sunday, has been assured of extensive participation in the calithumpian parade. Many of the merry-makers will appear in line in groups. Several of the lodges and fraternities have signified their intention of entering squads.

Various entertainment features of homecoming week are gradually taking form. Committees of the Women's Welfare club, which has been designated by the executive committee to take charge of the arrangements for Pioneers' day, are meeting regularly. The young people who will participate in the historic pageant have been partly selected.

Meanwhile, the members of the executive committee have not been idle the last few weeks. When that body meets next week with the chairman of the sub-committees, it will be found that the plans for the week are well advanced.

The invitation committee, of which Morgan W. Jopling is the chairman, requests that the names of former residents and their addresses be left with the committee, in order that invitations may be mailed. Three thousand have been submitted to date.

OPENING TONIGHT.

New Front Street Candy Kitchen Now Ready for Business.

James Lafkas, proprietor of the South Front street candy kitchen, announces the opening of his new establishment, two doors north of his former stand. The store will be known as the "Bon-Ton Soda shop." The installation of the equipment was completed yesterday, and the establishment is ready for business. The public is given a cordial invitation to inspect the store tonight. An orchestra will play, and souvenirs will be distributed.

Without a doubt, the new candy kitchen is as modern as any in the upper peninsula. The equipment is massive, the interior of the establishment exceptionally beautiful. All fixtures are finished in mahogany. The soda fountain, believed to be the largest ever installed in this part of the state, is of marble of rare beauty. The walls are lined with large plate glass mirrors. The wall cabinets are attractive, the doors are of variegated glass, leader.

The new store is wider and much longer than the former one, and has larger floor space than any similar establishment in the city. Mr. Lafkas will continue the manufacture of ice cream and candy. He is installing additional modern equipment for the purpose.

MANY HEAR RECITAL BY MRS. A. T. ROBERTS

Evening Was One of the Most Enjoyable Ever Spent at the Normal School.

One of the largest crowds that ever assembled at the Northern State Normal school greeted Mrs. Roberts last evening. Six hundred people crowded into the building and fully as many, unable to get in, turned back disappointed. The occasion made every one look forward with eager anticipation to the time when the new assembly hall will be finished and there will be room for all.

Mrs. Roberts was, as usual, charming in every number. She was in excellent voice and her costumes typified perfectly the characters she portrayed and the periods of which she sang. Excellent taste and artistic skill were apparent in every action. It was altogether one of the most enjoyable evenings ever spent at the Normal.

The spinning song by ten young women of Miss Linton's voice culture class was admirably sung and thoroughly enjoyed. The singers responded to an encore.

The male quartet, consisting of Harold Hallam, Langan Ford, Emil Tompin and Markline Borreson, sang in exquisite taste "Until the Dawn," by Parks. The heartiness of the applause, which twice called them back, showed the appreciation of the audience.

IS TURIN TOWNSHIP ENTITLED TO A SALOON?

Has a Population of Less Than 500—Court Will Decide the Question.

Can Turin township, with less than 500 population, legally have a saloon? This is a question the courts are going to be called to pass on. Recently the application for a license of Harry McFarland was approved by the township board, but when Mr. McFarland sought to exchange $500 for the red card Deputy Treasurer Wright said he was sincerely sorry, but he regretted to have to inform him that as Prosecutor Kennedy had issued from Judge Flannigan's court requiring County Treasurer Barabe to appear May 24, the opening day of the May term, and show cause why McFarland should not have his red card.

For a number of years past there has been a saloon in the township. In April, 1914, Mr. McFarland sets forth in his application for a writ, a license was voted to Christ A. Johnson. He paid the fee to the county treasurer, and it was accepted without question. This spring, when Mr. Johnson failed to file an application, Mr. McFarland sought a license. His bond was approved by the township board. April 28 he tendered to the county treasurer $500 for his license, with the result noted. The population of Turin township is stated to be 280 persons.

TALKED OF EXPLOSIVES.

Col. Taylor, Government Man, Gave Lecture at Library Last Night.

Railroad and mining men from every part of Marquette county were at the Peter White Public Library last night to hear the address of Colonel Taylor, of the United States bureau of industries, on "The Proper Handling of Dangerous Explosives." It was technical talk and one of interest to the men whose daily work brings them in contact with explosives in the many forms. Colonel Taylor is an interesting talker, and those who attended the lecture commented that they had gained much valuable information and were greatly impressed. The lecture was heard by at least two hundred persons. The assembly room could not accommodate all who gathered. There were large delegations present from Ishpeming, Negaunee and Gwin.

CLEANUP CAMPAIGN HAS BEEN THOROUGH

Today Is 'Fifth Precinct Day'—Tomorrow Sees Windup of the Week's Work.

The clean-up campaign will today be extended to the fifth precinct and tomorrow the work will be carried on in various parts of the city not previously reached. It will mark the close of the campaign, which has been attended by considerable success.

"I believe that the cleaning was much more thorough than that of a year ago," Health Officer Main said yesterday. "In the four precincts where work has been carried on so far the people have carried refuse to places accessible to the city wagons. A few have not co-operated with us in the campaign, but this number is comparatively small."

"One thing that has been an important factor in the cleanup has been the untiring work of the Boy Scouts. They have been most energetic, and have aided in making the work more thorough."

FARMERS ARE URGED TO PLANT GRAIN NOW

Wellknown Agriculturist Discusses Early Sowing and Its Resultant Harvest.

Farmers should not hold back their planting now in anticipation of frosts, but should get the greater part of the spring seeding done before the warm weather sets in, a wellknown Marquette county farmer said yesterday.

"All grain should be in early, as it is grain," he said. "It is especially desirable that all grain be sowed before the first of the summer weather. There are farmers in the county who have not their grain in, some who have but a part, and a number who have none whatsoever. It is not possible to get the grain in too early in this part of the state. It is the early planting that produces the grain of the best quality, and that of late sowing is always soft."

"The cold rain the early part of this week was appreciated greatly, as it is conducive to the best crops. It has given added root growth, which is greatly to be desired."

Planting of garden seeds has been quite general the last week. There has been an abundance of rain, the cold weather of the early part of the week having been followed by noticeably warmer temperatures. Some of the farmers have begun the planting of seeds other than grain.

WILL PLAY AT NEGAUNEE.

Marquette City Baseball Team Books Game for Sunday Afternoon.

The Marquette baseball team will play the first game of the season with an outside organization Sunday afternoon, when it will meet the Negaunee city team at Union park. The Marquette boys will be accompanied by a party of rooters, and will leave on the 1 o'clock train Sunday.

Following are the players in the Marquette squad: Downey, catcher; Zyrd, pitcher; Corbett, shortstop; J. Smith, first base; Johnson, second base; LaMere, third base; Haines, Thomas and Fletcher, fielders. Hilmer Leaf, who has made an excellent record in baseball, will pitch for the Negaunee nine.

Theatrical

"The Bargain" Today.

In "The Bargain," a western drama in five reels, released by the Paramount Pictures corporation, which will be presented at the Marquette opera house tonight, Thomas H. Ince and William H. Clifford, the director and scenario writer, have produced a wonderfully strong play. It tells a typical western story, full of action, some of which is sensational. William S. Hart plays the part of Bill Stokes, the "Two Gun Man," and he constantly proves his prowess in the saddle. J. Frank Burke is cast as the sheriff, Clara Williams as the girl, J. Barney Sherry as her father, and James Dawley appears in the small part of the traveling minister.

Baseball Pictures at the Delft.

"The Giants-White Sox World Tour," said to be the greatest baseball picture ever produced, and frequently spoken of as "a pictorial trip around the world for anyone," is the booking of the Delft theater for today. It will be shown at both matinee and evening performances. The production is in six parts.

The interest displayed in the American national game at some points on the tour was such that in some instances rulers of nations witnessed the games. The khedive of Egypt was one. So was the king of England and 35,000 of his subjects. The pope gave a personal interview to the tourists. The governor-general of Australia threw the first ball in a game in that country.

The four scenes take a person to every part of the globe. The Sphinx saw baseball for the first time. The Colosseum at Rome, the tomb of Napoleon, the mosque of Mohamed Ali in the Libyan desert, the Pyramids, the great carnival of Nice, in which the players took part, are a few of the subjects shown in the reels.

BACK TAXES PAID.

Many Descriptions Were Bid in at Tax Sale This Week.

Tax titles on 323 descriptions were sold by the county to individuals at the annual tax sale held at the court house the early part of this week. Back taxes on 457 descriptions were paid before the sale, which included the taxes on mineral reservations in a number of instances. Mineral reservations to the number of 1,113 were withdrawn from sale because of the repeal of the Holland law. At the conclusion of the sale,
