ITALY NOW VIRTUALLY AT WAR WITH AUSTRIA

COSTS OF COURT ISSUE BLOCKING VERDICT FOR T. R.

Former President Did Not Libel William Barnes Find Eleven of Jurors, but Twelfth Declares for Plaintiff, Unless Expenses of the Trial Are Borne Equally.

Sent Back to Deliberate Further, Because Decision Is Improper, Jury, After Ten Hours, Fails to Agree—Will Be Excused Today if Deadlock Appears Hopeless.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 21.—The jury in the trial of William Barnes for libel against Theodore Roosevelt was deadlocked tonight after one hour's deliberation. A conditional verdict in favor of the former president, which Supreme Court Justice William S. Andrews refused to receive. The condition which made the verdict an improper one was that the trialing court costs and disbursements should be divided between the two principals in the action.

That the jury would be held over until Monday seemed to fail to find a proper verdict by tomorrow, was considered improbable by attorneys connected with the case.

The deadlock was the result of juror No. 11—Edward Burns, a Syracuse motor man, and a Republican—announcing, in substance, that if the costs and disbursements were not divided, he favored a verdict for the plaintiff.

Tonight, after the proposal of putting the case upon one of the principals had been under consideration for more than ten hours, no word had come from the jury room to indicate that the jury stood otherwise than it did when it was sent back to its room.

The jury was in court twice today. Soon after Justice Andrews opened the court this morning he received a note from the jurors informing him that a "peculiar situation had arisen" and asking that he confer with them in the jury room.

Justice Andrews had the jury brought into court and informed them that anything he could rightly do to aid them in reaching a decision must be done in open court. The jurors whispered among themselves and then requested that the court be returned to their room for further deliberation.

Juror's Words Like Thunderbolt. Nearly an hour afterward word came from the jury room that a decision had been reached. In open court the foreman, Warren M. Somers, a grocer, announced almost in a whisper that a verdict had been found for the defendant. The spectators started for the exits.

Then Mr. Somers, in a voice that could not be heard at the far side of the court room, went on to say that the verdict was still out, so court was adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The jurors were informed that should they reach a verdict before 11 o'clock they could seal it and turn it over to a court attendant and then return to their homes until the opening of court in the morning, when their decision would be announced. Should they fail to agree, they would be locked up for the night.

Juror No. 11 sent a messenger to his home with a note reading, it was said, that Mr. Burns would not be home before tomorrow.

Shortly after 11 o'clock the jury was locked up for the night.

ERIE-MICHIGAN CANAL LOOKED ON WITH FAVOR BY COMMERCIAL BODIES

New York, May 21.—A proposed new waterway from the upper end of Lake Erie to the lower end of Lake Michigan, to be built by cutting through the northern parts of the states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, so as to enable barges of the type that will operate through the new New York state barge canal to pass from New York to Chicago, was approved here today at a meeting of representatives of New York, Boston and New York commercial organizations. Members of a board of engineers appointed by the war department in 1912 to survey the route of the proposed canal explained the progress of their work, a report on which they are soon to submit to congress. Before doing so they will visit Chicago.

The proposed canal would start at or near Toledo and end at Chicago. It would shorten the present route via the Great Lakes between those cities and also spare the barges from exposure to severe weather in the lakes. It is to have a capacity of ten million tons and will cost $135,000,000. If doubled in capacity the cost will be $147,000,000. New York representatives held that the states benefited should pay half the cost and the government the other half.

At least four-fifths of the damage wrought by earthquakes is due to the neglect of the ordinary requirements of sound construction.

RIVER OF MUD BELCHED FROM CRATER OF LASSEN

Valley in Shasta County, Calif., Partly Inundated—Homes Destroyed—No Lives Lost.

Reading, Calif., May 21.—Lassen Peak's seething cauldron, stirred perhaps by some mighty convulsion, bubbled over early today and sent a river of mud cascading down the mountainside. Hat Creek valley, in the eastern part of Shasta county, was partly inundated. A number of farms were in the path of the flood and several houses and considerable livestock were destroyed. Residents of the valley fled in time, however, and no lives were lost.

From shortly after midnight until late today, when the flood abated, the mud river moved thirty miles, sweeping away bridges and converting roads into morasses.

Warned by a government forest ranger who galloped from the town of Hat Creek through the valley, ranchers and their families, scantily clad, took quick refuge on hillsides and escaped the flood.

Great quantities of ashes floated on the crest of the flood. An electrical storm of great violence was raging here tonight. Black clouds obscured Lassen Peak and it could not be determined whether the crater was still active.

AID FOR COTTON GROWERS OBTAINED UNOFFICIALLY

Work Done by U. S. Officials, Mr. Bryan Says, Not Recognition of Order-in-Council.

Washington, May 21.—President Wilson's cabinet met today for the first time since they gathered ten days ago and approved the note which the United States subsequently sent to Germany as a protest against the sinking of the Lusitania, with the loss of more than a hundred American lives.

In the absence of any definite news from Berlin there was no discussion, it was understood, of the probable contents of the reply which Germany is preparing.

When the cabinet met there had been published here a memorandum given out in London by the British foreign office saying the arrangements being made by Great Britain with American cotton interests for disposition of their cargoes were understood to be acceptable to the United States. Later Secretary Bryan gave out a statement declaring that what had been done by representatives of the state department to assist the cotton interests had been of an unofficial and informal character and was "not to be construed as a recognition of the order-in-council" issued by Great Britain.

Tonight Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, issued a statement explaining that this was also his understanding and suggesting that there had been some mistake in telegraphic transmission or erroneous impressions had been given British officials in London by representatives of the American cotton interests there.

MR. AND MRS. MADDOO ARE PARENTS OF A DAUGHTER

Washington, May 21.—A baby girl, the second grandchild of President Wilson, was born tonight to Secretary and Mrs. William G. Maddoo. She will be christened Ellen Wilson, for the late Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

The secretary and Mrs. Maddoo, who is the president's youngest daughter, were married in the White House just a year ago. The president was at the Maddoo home when his granddaughter was born.

LEGISLATOR ASKS LEAVE TO EARN EXPENSE MONEY

Madison, Wis., May 21.—Assemblyman Minkley, Social-Democrat, asked the lower house of the legislature today for an indefinite leave of absence, saying the $500 paid him by the state has been spent and that he desires a more. He promised that as soon as he saved a small amount he would return to his legislative duties.

DIFFER IN THE HANDS.

The twiddling of one's thumbs is not exactly a useful accomplishment, but it is one of the few points of difference between the hands of the higher order of apes and those of man. The two hands have the same number of bones and are alike in a great many particulars, but the thumbs of the monkey tribe have no separate flexor or bending muscle. In the gorilla the thumb is short and does not reach much beyond the bottom of the first joint of the forefinger. It is very much restricted in its movements, and the animal can neither twiddle his thumbs nor turn them around so that the tips describe a circle.

FORERUNNERS OF MOTOR CAR.

As the result of a wager made by a resident of Merthyr-Tydfil, an important iron town of South Wales, that he could convey a load of iron nine miles by the power of steam alone, Richard Trevithick made the first engine to run on rails in 1803, and won the wager for his employer the next year. Trevithick, it has been claimed, copied the stationary engine built in 1800 by Oliver Evans, an American, who was later ingenious enough to attach wheels to a screw and propel it by steam through the streets of Philadelphia in 1804. This curious creation, called the "orbicular amphibious," was the first motor car to run on American soil.

ROCKEFELLER IN SHARP CLASHES WITH CHAIRMAN

New York Financier, Testifying at Federal Probe of the Colorado Strike, Demands of Mr. Walsh the Same Rights Accorded Other Persons Before Commission.

Investigator Injects in Questions Implications Against Fuel & Iron Company, Witness Insists, but Is Told Inquiry Is Conducted to Suit the Chairman, Not Him.

Washington, May 21.—Frequent sharp clashes between John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Chairman Walsh marked today's session of the industrial relations commission, with Mr. Rockefeller again on the stand testifying about conditions in the Colorado coal fields. Although two members of the commission had protested against what they regarded as a hostile attitude of the chairman yesterday, Mr. Walsh throughout the day put the witness through a grilling examination, time after time arousing him to expressions of resentment.

Mr. Rockefeller demanded that he be accorded the same rights given other witnesses and firmly insisted that Chairman Walsh was seeking to inject into his questions implications against the Colorado Fuel and Iron company and its officers. Some questions he declined to answer as improper and others he characterized as useless. Chairman Walsh was the sole examiner today, the other members taking no part.

Before the session began the commission held an executive session at the instance of Commissioners Weinstock and Mrs. J. Gordon Harrison, who frankly informed Chairman Walsh that they believed the attitude he assumed yesterday toward Mr. Rockefeller had the appearance of hostility. Mr. Walsh then informed his colleagues that he was determined to conduct the examination as he saw fit. Later in the open hearing the chairman emphatically told Mr. Rockefeller he was running the examination and did not propose to be dictated to by the witness.

WON'T TRY TO INFLUENCE COURTS.

Mr. Rockefeller arrived with a prepared statement based on disclosures yesterday that one of the jurors who convicted John R. Lawson, a member of the executive committee of the United Mine Workers of America, of murder, had exclusive sales privileges in the Colorado Fuel & Iron company. Mr. Walsh had appealed to the witness to intercede for Lawson and get him a new trial.

"Were I, either directly or indirectly, to attempt to influence the judiciary of Colorado, as respects the present appeal of Mr. Lawson's trial," said the statement, "I should be guilty of the very procedure against which witnesses before this commission have so strongly protested and which I, myself, have not less than once condemned, and I hope the chairman of the commission will not expect from me replies to any questions which imply that I believe others have been guilty of unlawful or improper acts in the administration of justice, or that I entertain a position superior to that of any other citizen of the republic, either before the law or toward its administration."

Chairman Walsh made no comment on the statement and proceeded vigorously with his examination of the witness. The questioning covered a wide range of subjects—strike violence, responsibility of officials, political influence and correspondence relating to the strike. As to violence Mr. Rockefeller said where constituted authority failed to protect life and property the citizen was justified in using force for his own protection.

ANN ARBOR "PREP" SCHOOLS WINNERS OF BULK OF HONORS

Chicago, May 21.—Ann Arbor "prep" schools won the bulk of the honors in today's "A" preliminaries in Michigan interscholastic meet. University High and Lewis Institute, qualifying nearly all their men for tomorrow's finals. Detroit eastern high placed nearly as many men as either of the Chicago schools with LaGrange, Ills. High, Scott High, of Toledo, and Detroit University school close behind. Only a few preliminaries were run off in the class "B" events.

LEARNING IS SAFE.

When ancient empires fell ages ago the world lost a large part of the knowledge that had been accumulated and civilization retrograded. That cannot happen again no matter how complete may be the destruction of Europe. The art of printing has preserved for future generations the sum of all knowledge that exists today. There will be no more lost arts or literatures. War can not destroy all the books in the world. It is only within the last century that the records have been made complete. A single set of any good encyclopedia would give a new generation a starting point worth more than all that survived the fall of the Roman empire.—New York Commercial.

Japan has greatly advanced during recent years in the art of toy-making.

BRITISH PEOPLE RESENT CRITICISM OF KITCHENER

Copies of Newspapers Which Attacked War Minister Burned at Indignation Meetings.

London, May 22.—The British people resented nothing yesterday but who should be members of the new coalition cabinet. Today, however, this was forgotten in the controversy over Lord Kitchener.

The Times and the Daily Mail attacked the competency of the war minister this morning. The impachment of the Daily Mail was particularly fierce. An upheaval of popular resentment against these newspapers and their dominating spirit, Lord Northcliffe, quickly followed.

The stock exchange men held an excited meeting, formally burned copies of the Daily Mail and the Times, and adopted resolutions supporting Lord Kitchener. Other meetings of protest are being planned, and a large section of the press has come to his support.

The Pall Mall Gazette says the attacks made on Kitchener have rendered him more powerful and popular than ever. The criticism of Lord Kitchener appears to have had its first inspiration in a message last week from the Times military expert at British headquarters in France. The expert asserted that the British offensive has been crippled by the lack of high explosive shells and called for more shells.

Says Nation Stands Back of Him.

Some of the newspapers discussed the possibility of Lord Kitchener being made commander-in-chief of the armies in the field. The Daily Mail, however, attacked Lord Kitchener's South African record as a fighting general and questioned his capacity to command an army in the European war. It also criticized his methods of raising volunteers.

The Pall Mall Gazette, in its issue of today, defending Lord Kitchener, says: "He did not thrust himself upon the cabinet. The country will not suffer indignity and insult to be heaped upon him."

MEXICO CITY OUTLAYS THREATEN FOREIGNERS; GOVERNMENT POWERLESS

Washington, May 21.—Outlays in Mexico City, which assaulted the German charge Tuesday, now are threatening the lives of other foreigners, according to diplomatic dispatches received here today. One message stated that "understandably" the conditions prevailing in Mexico City are such that the government is powerless against the bandits. Several popular demonstrations, because of the food shortage, have occurred in the Mexican capital within the last few days. Reports to the state department today said the situation was serious, prevailing in the great northern towns of the country.

Nation Teems With Enthusiasm.

On the Italian frontier, via Chiasso, Switzerland, to Paris, May 21, 11:35 p. m.—A tide of enthusiasm is now carrying the entire nation with it. Nowhere is the situation more imposing than in the great northern towns of the kingdom. At Milan today the great arched Victor Emmanuel gallery, connecting Cathedral square with the square of the celebrated LaScala theater, which has been called "the pulse of Milan," was crowded all day. But no soldiers or police were needed to restrain the crowds, which were engrossed with only one thought—love of Italy and sympathy with the government in the great decision it was about to make.

Old men, who recalled the great battles for Italian independence, admired the youth of Italy to show the same courage and fortitude that their fathers had shown. These speeches frequently were greeted with cries of "Long live Italy!" and expressions of faith in the army.

At Turin, the former capital of Piedmont, the same intensity of patriotic feeling was observed and crowds professed their loyalty to the house of Savoy.

A great assemblage gave a hearty goodbye to a large contingent of Italian sharpshooters, the Bersaglieri, who were leaving for the front.

At Venice almost the entire population was in the historic square of St. Mark. When it was announced that full powers had been granted to the government by the senate, the tricolor was hoisted on the flagstaff and the crowd enthusiastically applauded. Numerous natives of Trieste, who were present, were the objects of sympathetic attention.

Accounts of the misery and desperation in Trieste are heart-rending.

PEACE MEET PRAISES STAND OF PRESIDENT

Molokai Lake, N. Y., May 21.—President Wilson's stand in the international crisis was approved by the Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration tonight at the conclusion of its twenty-first annual meeting. The platform, as prepared by the platform committee, did not mention the subject of greater preparation for national defense, which was urged upon the conference this year by Secretary of War Garrison.

BELGIAN BUDGET SHOWS A DEFICIT OF $4,600,000

London, May 21, 8:40 p. m.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Amsterdam says: "General von Bissing, the German general in Belgium, has published the Belgian budget for 1915. It gives the revenue for the year as $53,631,996 and the expenditures as $58,231,996. The statement says that means for providing for the deficit of $4,600,000 will have to be found later."

WEATHER FORECAST.

Washington, May 21.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Unsettled, Saturday; Sunday, fair.

TROOPS OF FRANZ JOSEF ON BORDER WRECK BRIDGES, RUIN TELEGRAPH; ALPINE SOLDIERS STRAIN AT LEASH; RUMANIA LIKELY TO AID LATINALLY

The Italian senate, by a vote of 262 to 2, has passed Premier Salandra's bill conferring plenary powers on the government in case of war with Austria. This measure had previously passed the chamber of deputies and the senate vote virtually assures Italy's entry into the conflict.

Popular demonstrations in favor of war are growing more numerous in Italy and from all parts of the kingdom scenes of great enthusiasm are reported. Switzerland has agreed to represent Italian interests in Germany in event of war.

It appears the Austrians consider that a state of war already exists. They have withdrawn their troops and customs guards from the frontier, after destroying the bridges, the telegraph and telephone lines. Other bridges Austrian and German forces of heavy artillery are concentrated on the frontier at Trent, Bozen and Meran and movements of considerable bodies of troops are reported from Munich. Great numbers of Italian troops are massed along the frontier, and it is known that some 350,000 men have been concentrated on the coast of Italy across the Adriatic from Albania.

With the expectation that Italy will enter the war at any moment, the reconstructed Serbian army has commenced a march toward the Austrian border. It is announced Austria being thus attacked from all sides and with the prospect that Rumania, Greece and Bulgaria will enter the war on the side of the allies of the triple entente, the Teutonic allies are making strenuous efforts to complete the defeat of the Russians, who are resistingly stubbornly.

Udine, Italy, via Chiasso to Paris, May 21, 6:50 p. m.—From the Alps down to the sea the whole vast region has been transformed into a huge military encampment. Everywhere are tents, gun carriages and lags and the intense activity which marks a military camp. In the extended plains of Friuli, stretching along the sea, Italian sentinels near the frontier can see the ruins of Aquileia, a second Rome founded by the Romans in 181 B. C. The Italian army officers have great difficulty in restraining the soldiers from crossing the frontier here, the men being anxious to reconquer Friuli.

The troops most anxious to fight are the Alpine soldiers, who are of the same type as the French Alpine chamois. These men number sixty thousand and they have been chosen from among the strongest and bravest of the mountaineers. They are commanded by a select set of officers who know all the secrets of the snow-capped boundaries. The Alpine troops occupy all the passes, their motto being "no admittance through here."

The general opinion is that it would be almost impossible for decisive action through the well fortified Alpine region of the province of Trent, where an attack would have as its only object the keeping there of a large contingent of hostile troops. For the same reason a landing of Italian troops might occur on the Dalmatian coast, it is said, or some contingent might go to help Montenegro and Serbia resume their offensive.

The conflict may find its solution in the valley of the Isonzo river, in eastern Friuli, according to military critics. The Italians, it is said, may advance with their main bodies, having as their ultimate object Trieste.

Nation Teems With Enthusiasm. On the Italian frontier, via Chiasso, Switzerland, to Paris, May 21, 11:35 p. m.—A tide of enthusiasm is now carrying the entire nation with it. Nowhere is the situation more imposing than in the great northern towns of the kingdom. Postpones "Final Victory"—Morath. Berlin, via Amsterdam and London, May 21, 4:50 p. m.—"Certainly the addition of Italy to the hostile side means for the central powers and Turkey postponement of their final victory, but not in the same degree at the present moment as would have been the case months ago," writes Major Morath, the military critic, in the Tageblatt.

Major Morath considers that Italy has now reached the highest point in her preparation.

"So long as no defeats occur and the spirit which plays an important role in the Italian character does not suffer," he continued, "we must count upon energetic conduct of the war."

Chicago, May 21.—Representatives of the Russian government are here to purchase 8,000 freight cars, estimated to cost $12,000,000 according to J. S. Runnels, president of the Pullman company. Mr. Runnels said several construction firms are figuring on the proposition.

London, May 21, 10:45 p. m.—The Stefani agency's Rome correspondent says that the Italian senate today, by a vote of 262 to 2, adopted the bill conferring extraordinary powers on the government in the event of war.

A state of war now virtually exists between Italy and her former allies, Austria and Germany, although no formal declaration has yet been made. The Austrians are strengthening their frontier posts and all navigation services in the Adriatic have been suspended—indications that the clash is not far off.

Simultaneously with the anticipated advent of Italy into the war, Serbia's army has fully recovered from the campaigns which resulted in the Austrians being driven from Serbia, and, well armed and equipped, it is announced, has commenced a march toward the Austrian border, bent on another invasion of Austrian territory.

Thus Austria is being attacked from all sides and still another enemy, Rumania, in prospect, for it has been an open secret for a long time that Italy and Rumania have an agreement to act in concert. Rumania, however, is awaiting the conclusion of an agreement with Greece and Bulgaria, which also are expected to join the allies before she takes up arms.

Austrians Destroy Bridges. The Italian military authorities are guarding with strict secrecy the movement of troops. It is known nevertheless that some 350,000 Italian soldiers have been concentrated on the coast of Italy, across the Adriatic from Albania, says a Chiasso, Switzerland, dispatch. These troops are at Brindisi, Bari and Foggia.

The Austrians, says a dispatch from Brescia, Italy, evidently consider that a state of war between the dual monarchy and Italy already exists. The Austrians have withdrawn their troops and customs guards from the frontier at Ponte Caffiaco and Lodrone, after destroying the bridges, the telegraph and telephone lines and the electric light apparatus. Other bridges on the frontier have been mined.

A dispatch to the Havas agency from Udine, Italy, says that the Austrian military authorities today, after returning Italian mail sacks to Italy from the Austrian frontier, cut the telegraph communications and also removed rails from the railroad line.

Would Keep War in Italy. The theory is advanced by correspondents in Switzerland that Germany and Austria expect to break through the Italian frontier defenses and carry the fighting into Italian territory. Italian troops are massed in great numbers, however, along the same front.

A dispatch to Lloyd's from Bari (in Italy on the Adriatic) says that all navigation services in the Adriatic sea have been suspended.

Among the stories being related at Chiasso today by arrivals from Rome is one that Prince von Buelow requested an interview early yesterday with Premier Salandra. The premier pencilled a gracious refusal, concluding with the words: "I thought you had left Italy."

The Paris Temps publishes a dispatch from Rome to the effect that a flotilla of Austrian aeroplanes from Goritz, Austria, is patrolling the frontier above Isonzo. It is said two of the aeroplanes have flown over Italian territory. Several hundred thousand persons, says a Rome dispatch, led by the mayor of Rome, assembled tonight before the quinal. The members of the royal family made their appearance on a balcony amid almost indescribable scenes of enthusiasm. King Victor Emmanuel was greeted with cries of "Long live king!" and with cheering for war.

When the vote, which virtually assures Italy's entry into the war, was announced, say Rome dispatches, there was a great demonstration of enthusiasm inside the senate chamber, shouts of "Long live Italy!" intermingling with the cheering and hand-clapping of the senators, the ministers, army and navy officers and the people in the galleries. King Victor Emmanuel and members of the royal household witnessed the demonstration.

Prince Colonna, the mayor of Rome, had been chosen to present the bill to the senate and his speech was frequently interrupted by applause. The mayor said he was proud to address the senate on an occasion so momentous for the country and for civilization. In the name of the people he asked the king and the parliament of the country to make a just war in order to deliver their oppressed brothers.

Patriotic Demonstrations in Vienna.

Berlin, via London, May 21, 11:15 p. m.—The Lokal Anzeiger in its issue of today says it learns from Vienna that a great patriotic demonstration has taken place before the war ministry there. The crowds sang patriotic songs and greeted the officials with outbursts of tremendous cheering. All Vienna is in high spirits. The people, the newspapers assert, feel that war with Italy is inevitable and their confidence in victory is higher than at the outbreak of the war with Serbia.

Napoleon's Nephew Would Join.

Paris, May 21, 2:30 p. m.—A news agency dispatch from Rome says that Prince Victor, head of the house of Bonaparte, Prince Louis, Napoleon's brother, and Prince Alfonso, of Portugal, brother of the late King Carlos, have applied to the Italian war ministry for permission to join the army. Prince Victor and Prince Louis Napoleon are great nephews of Napoleon I. Their mother was Marie Clotilde, princess of Savoy, the reigning house of Italy.

GERMAN ALLIES MAKE FEROCIOUS RUSHES IN EAST

Tremendous Efforts Are Being Put Forth to Crush Russians Before Italy Joins War.

London, May 21, 10:55 p. m.—The entrance of Italy and possibly some of the Balkan states into the war explains the tremendous efforts that Austria and Germany are making to complete the defeat of the Russians, who, having been forced out of western Galicia and the Carpathians, now are offering stubborn resistance to the further advance of the Teutonic allies behind the San river and around Przemysl.

Although the Germans have crossed the San north of Przemysl and the Austrians have advanced to the southeast of that town, they appear at last to have been brought to a halt, as today's report from Berlin does not claim any further progress.

Just to the north, in Poland, the Russians are carrying on a strong offensive, and, driving the Germans back, have at least partly exhausted the German tanks in Galicia. However, after the way they have been driven back and the heavy artillery bombardment they have had to undergo, the Russians must take some time to regain the initiative.

Since foggy weather has stopped the battles in the west the allies have confined themselves to attempts to improve and organize the positions gained, and in this they claim to have been successful, although the Germans state that all the allies' attacks have been repulsed.

Unofficial dispatches from Athens continue to report successes for the allies, but official quarters remain silent—an attitude which meets with some criticism.

Terror Reigns in Turk Capital.

Paris, May 22, 1:05 a. m.—Telegraphing from Bucharest the correspondent of the Havas agency says: "Ten Turkish officers of field rank have been brought back from the Dardanelles to Prince von Buelow for refusing to obey their German commanders."

"The Turkish cruiser Goeben, badly damaged, has been towed into the Golden Horn by the cruiser Breslau."

"The authorities at Constantinople Wednesday night arrested a number of Christians and foreigners and even some Mussulmans. They are charged with plotting against the Young Turks."

"General discontent in Constantinople is increasing, but the existing reign of terror makes outward manifestations impossible."

"The reports that Italy is about to declare war on Turkey and assist in the attack on the Dardanelles has brought about deep gloom in Constantinople."

Russian Admiral Pneumonia Victim.

Petrograd, via London, May 21.—Admiral von Essen, commander of the Russian Baltic fleet, has succumbed to pneumonia at the marine hospital at Revel.

WHAT IS IMPORTANT.

When, in the course of his testimony before the commission on industrial relations, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., said, "As I see it, the vital questions now are these: Are conditions as they ought to be? If not, are sincere and effective efforts being put forth to make them better?" he said a great deal. The public, it may be assumed, is much more interested in the answer to these questions than it is in the controversy between Mr. Walsh and Mr. Rockefeller as to the degree in which the latter was responsible for the bad conditions that caused the strike, and how far he had a finger in the conduct by the companies.

It is now generally accepted by fair-minded men that the absentee owning interests in the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, principally the Rockefellers, knew far too little about the manner in which its affairs were conducted. It is generally accepted, also, that the employing interests conducted themselves in many respects in a manner to outrage decent public opinion, and that the state officials proved entirely inadequate to meet the situation that confronted them. Also, it is clear that the strikers were guilty of many criminal and subversive acts that cannot be entirely excused, although it is obvious that more could have been expected from the intelligent and informed men in charge of company affairs than from the workers, many of them ignorant and too receptive to unwise counsel.

The greatest contributing factor to the breakdown of government in the Colorado coal fields was, perhaps, the loss of prestige by the state government. Laws in the interest of labor had been nullified by the arrogance of the employing interests and the spineless neglect of the state officials. Even the courts were suspect, and it is clear that the militia was improperly employed. Thus the government became a source of anarchy, rather than a conservator of rights. And as the employers were more responsible for the government than the workers, here is another responsibility that can properly be saddled on them, in large part.

The strike and the resulting discussion shows that conditions in Colorado will never be right until the government is redeemed for all the people, and ceases to be a class government. It shows that they will never be right until men like Mr. Rockefeller, who have a very large investment in the state's industries and who can be credited with a purpose to do what is right, check by personal knowledge the reports and methods of their managers and insist that the human side of industry be given more sympathetic attention. They can never be right until an entirely different spirit comes over industry.

Mr. Rockefeller, it is probable, now sees these things clearly. He has made mistakes, and doubtless he has made serious ones. There is no doubt a certain measure of truth in Mr. Walsh's estimate of the part he played in connection with the Colorado strike. But that is of yesterday, and of little importance, after all, if Mr. Rockefeller has applied what he has learned and has determined to see that his mistakes are not repeated. The vital question now is how to make conditions better. If he possesses the will—and most persons are charitable enough to believe he does—Mr. Rockefeller can do much to answer it in a manner that will contribute largely to industrial peace maintained in a spirit of mutual respect and helpfulness. His ultimate reputation will depend on the part he chooses to play. If he accomplishes what is hoped for him he may yet live down many of the unsavory traditions attaching to the family millions.

DRAWING IN GOLD.

Europe needs its gold now more than it ever did before, but it is unable to keep down exports of that metal to the United States. Since the beginning of the year more than $2,000,000 in gold has been imported, most of it coming from Europe directly or through Canada. One shipment from France last week amounted to $5,000,000.

It is the natural result of the enormous export surplus in the movement of merchandise. Europe is unable to settle the balances against its greatest commercial nations without sending specie in large amounts to the United States. Meanwhile the mines of Africa are being worked to their capacity to make good, in some measure, the loss of gold to the United States.

Much more than half of the gold produced in the world is mined in the British empire and nearly all of the remainder comes from countries like Russia which are allies of Great Britain or from neutral countries, chiefly the United States. This condition enables Great Britain and France to send much gold to New York but under existing circumstances they do it very reluctantly. There is no need of other evidence than the golden stream flowing into American ports to prove that the economic position of the United States in its dealings with Europe is stronger today than it ever was before that continent plunged into the mad destruction of an unprecedented war.

THE RIVAL PRESSES.

The censoring of the news may be equally rigorous in Great Britain and Germany, but this is not the case with the censoring of the editorial columns. Great Britain has a press that is, to all intents and purposes, as free as that of the United States. It is subject to regulation only under the general laws of the realm, and the law of libel in particular. It is independent of the government, glories in honorable traditions and, in its many phases, reflects the opinion of all classes in the country, even that of the opposition to the sitting ministry.

Even in time of peace the press occupies in Germany a low estate. It is surrounded by restrictions unheard of in most other continental countries, to say nothing of Great Britain, and is regarded in official circles not so much as an outlet for untrammelled opinion as an instrument to mold the public to the government's purposes. Busch's memoirs of Bismarck show how the molder of the empire delayed it to the standing of a lickspittle press, and there is much contemporary testimony that it has not risen far above the low estate that he fixed for it.

The freedom of discussion of war measures and the state of the country that has been noted in the British papers of late weeks, and the part the conservative press has had in forcing the organization of a coalition ministry, are quite beyond the understanding of the Germans, who know full well how rigorously such manifestations of independence would be suppressed in the fatherland. Voerwants, the socialist organ, was heavily penalized in the early stages of the war for mild comment on certain phases of the situation that the government did not want illuminated, and of late the entire German press has been, to all intents and purposes, an official press, printing only what the government desired it to print, both in the way of news and of comment.

Because of these opposed attitudes toward the press, a perusal of the newspapers would persuade, on the one hand, that Britain is much more riven by discussion than is actually the case, and that there is less of divided opinion in Germany than really exists there. In the press, in short, is to be found the same fundamental differences that characterize both nations in all their activities.

Elihu Root, president of the constitutional convention in New York, selected William Barnes, Jr., who did not win his libel suit against Colonel Roosevelt, to be chairman of the important elections committee of the body. Mr. Root evidently thinks a great deal of Mr. Barnes, and Mr. Barnes' prediction that Mr. Root will be the next president indicates that this kindly feeling is fully reciprocated. Doubtless Mr. Root would have to confess that there are certain things about Mr. Barnes' career as a public printer that he does not like, but they have a great deal in common. Mr. Root hardly appears available for the C. O. P. nomination. He is a not any able man and has done some things that merit unqualified approval, but in politics of late he keeps much bad company. As a candidate he would have to spend a good deal of his time on the defensive.

Great things are in store for the younger Rockefeller, if he will only grasp his opportunity. It does not lie in the further enhancement of the Rockefeller fortune, but rather in its wise administration, if not distribution, and in intelligent attention to the human side of the relations between employer and employed. Evidence is not lacking that he glimpses it, as so many other wealthy employers are beginning to. The time is coming when the vicious agitator will find great difficulty crowding in between the employer and his men because the employer will already have got so close to the men, and so earned their confidence, that there will be no room, or place, for him. Notable strides are now being made in that direction.

Viewed in one light, the cabinet shake-up is the most reassuring thing that has come out of Great Britain since the beginning of the war. It is evidence that the somewhat sluggish Britisher is at last becoming thoroughly awake to the nature of the job he has on his hands.

The advice that politics makes strange bedfellows receives additional sanction from the spectacle of Messrs. Root and Barnes banking together. Ostensibly the legislature reconvened to clean up the odds and ends of business. In the course of events at Lancing there is cause for suspicion that the real reason for its belated session was a desire to clean up Governor Ferris.

Petitions and letters by the thousands for clemency for Frank are pouring in to the governor of Georgia. Not even the fact that the petitioners can know but little of the niceties of the case will entirely destroy their influence.

If instead of busying themselves with the "more daylight" movement its advocates took up one for "more sunlight" they would have hold of something in which they could count confidently on unanimous support.

Now Italy has issued a green book. The railway, however, will still be able to supply appropriate colors to Roumania and Greece, if they, too, decide to get in.

EDITORIAL OPINION

Traitors—and Traitors.
 "The Republican party would be taking a long backward step should it place the party wreckers in control. The Pioneer-Tribune would rather see a Democratic president in charge of governmental affairs for an indefinite period than to be a party to the elevation of a traitor."—Manistiquic Pioneer Tribune.

Now see here, brother, aren't you inclined to manifest the same spirit yourself that you condemn in others? If there is anything that will prevent a satisfactory adjustment of the split in the Republican party two years ago it will be the publication of such editorials as that which appeared in the Pioneer-Tribune last week and the dumplified editorial which was reprinted therefrom from another upper peninsula newspaper.

Facts are stubborn things, and one of the most stubborn facts of political history is that Roosevelt was defrauded out of the Republican nomination for president two years ago. The Republicans of the country expressed themselves upon that act of political thievery when 4,119,507 voted for Roosevelt on the Progressive ticket at the subsequent November election, while only 3,484,596 voted for Taft. Now, just for argument's sake, suppose the four million who voted for Roosevelt should swing in a body back to the Republican party and nominate him next year as the Republican candidate for president against the united opposition of the three million who voted for Taft two years ago; and supposing those three million which includes Editors Holben and Guck, should bolt the ticket and nominate their candidate on a third ticket; who, in that case, would be the traitors to the Republican party? It is true that The Journal two weeks ago said that Roosevelt is our choice for the Republican nomination for president next year. But We Will Support The Republican Nominee, No Matter Who He May Be, if he receives the nomination fairly and honestly. But Holben announces right off the reel that Roosevelt should be nominated on the Republican ticket he wants to see the Democratic candidate elected. Then we should like to ask the question: Who is the Republican party? Is it Holben and Guck, in the upper peninsula, and a few more like them all over the country, or is it the millions of free American citizens who vote the Republican ticket because their mind and their heart tell them it is right that they should?

Four million Republicans voting as Progressives, and three million Republicans voting as Republicans, never can beat six million Democrats voting solidly as Democrats. Obviously, then, the only thing to do to achieve Republican success is for all Republicans to vote as Republicans. Seven million will then beat the six million.

The wise and politic thing for Republican newspapers to do is to seek to bury the mistakes of the past and to manifest a spirit of give-and-take, for the party good, and in that way the Republican editors can best serve the party and the country.

But many repetitions of the intemperate, injudicious, inopportune and absurd, un-called-for editorials, such as those that appeared in the Pioneer Tribune last week will start something doing that will not spell Republican success in November 1916.—Escanaba Journal.

A LAUGH OR TWO

A Question of Force.
The musketry instructor had just been giving a lesson on the rifle to one particularly "green" set of recruits. At the end he asked: "Now, is there any question you want to ask?"

"One dull-looking 'Johnny Raw' stepped forward, blushing awkwardly. 'Yes, my man?' said the instructor, encouragingly.

Murphy was rambling over the boulevard one afternoon when he met a friend who was trudging along as painfully as if he had been in collision with a road roller.

"Rheumatism," answered the friend, in reply to Murphy's question. "Caught cold, and every blossom home in my body aches to beat the band."

"Hard luck, old man," sympathized Murphy, "but it might be a whole lot worse."

"Might be a whole lot worse?" quizzically rejoined the patient.

"Yes," was the philosophic rejoinder of Murphy. "Just suppose you were a shad."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

One Reason for Italy's Fighting.

One feature of the Italian demands on Austria has received much attention, but it may prove to be the most important of them all. It is the point that Italy is practically holding up her associates in the Triple Alliance, taking advantage of their difficulties to gain an advantage from them for herself and using what is to all intents duress with them.

If the Italians do wring concessions of territory from allies who are unable and who to resist her demands, will the gain thus be permanent? Will not Germany and Austria, in case they are victorious in the war, make it their first business thereafter to recover what was taken from one of them under such conditions? And, on the other hand, if Germany and Austria are defeated in the war will the opposing nations, who have poured out their blood and treasure in the fighting, consent that a country which has spent nothing shall profit from standing aloof?

LOWER STATE NOTES

LANSING—The mortality report issued by Secretary of State Vaughan Tuesday shows that 3,775 deaths occurred in Michigan in April, while 5,962 births were reported.

ANN ARBOR—Professor Henry C. Adams, of the University of Michigan, will return to China to spend six months adjusting and unifying railroad records there for the Chinese government.

JACKSON—City Manager C. C. Cummin has ordered all city employees to stop using liquor if they wish to hold their positions. The office of superintendent of cemeteries has been abolished.

LANSING—Glen R. Munshaw, field supervisor for the public domain commission, reports that there has been little trespassing on state timber lands during the past year, owing to efficient policing.

COLDWATER—The famous Loomis battery room was held here by only twelve of the surviving members present. A. R. Grove was elected president and Edward R. Root, of this city, secretary.

MARSHALL—The fight between Mayor Reniger and the city council was renewed Wednesday when the mayor vetoed a motion to have a Toledo engineering firm send a representative here to confer with the council on pending public improvements.

EAST LANSING—The state board of agriculture has appointed a committee of four to inspect gymnasiums to get ideas for the new gym to be erected at the M. A. C. The committee consists of Alfred Dougherty, William Wallace, Coach John F. Macklin and E. A. Bowd.

LANSING—Whether Jamaica ginger is liquor under the meaning of the local option law is a question the Ingham county courts must decide. A warrant was issued Wednesday for Frank Webb charging him with furnishing a woman tippler, now in the Detroit house of correction, with Jamaica ginger.

ANN ARBOR—Fire Commissioner Emil Calman, appointed in 1913, tendered his resignation to Mayor Sauer because of the unsanitary condition of the fire houses, which he said were "unfit for humans" to live in. As an official of a labor organization which has pride of itself, and made wonderful progress in the provision of sanitary working conditions for its members, it is hardly conceivable that I should be requested to continue to serve on a body which has paid little or no attention to the sanitation of the fire stations," he said.

ANN ARBOR—The following students of the University of Michigan have been received into the Griffin, inter-departmental honorary society: Staats Albans, Orange, N. WHAT WAR IS COSTING.

Nine thousand million pounds a year! In exact figures $9,147,900,000, over forty-three times as much as the total annual revenue of the United Kingdom. That is the total direct and indirect cost of the war, estimated up to July 21 next. Of that amount our share will be $1,258,000,000, which covers the direct expenditure of the government, the capitalized value of the loss of human life, and the loss of production.

It is pointed out, however, by Mr. Edgar Crammond, the recognized authority on war finance, that the accumulated wealth and national income of Great Britain is on such a sound basis that these have only been slightly affected by the war. While Germany is utilizing all her means, only the fringe of our resources in men, money, food-stuffs, and raw material has been touched, in spite of this estimated vast expenditure to the end of July.

Our bill is less than that of France, Russia, Austria or Germany, the total loss to Belgium, which includes $250,000,000—the value of property destroyed—being $326,500,000. Germany suffers most in pocket, and by the end of July they will have expended $2,775,000,000. Germany's loss of production will amount

FOOLED THE GENERAL.

There is a famous British general who hates to see his soldiers wed. One day a Tommy came to him and asked permission to marry.

The general, hoping to cool the man's ardor, told him to go away and come back again a year from that day, and if he was then in the same mind permission would be given him to marry. When a year had passed the soldier repeated his request.

"But do you really still wish to marry?" asked the general, in surprise.

"Yes, sir, very much," answered Tommy.

"Well, you may marry now," said the general. "I never believed there was so much constancy in man or woman."

to at least $675,000,000 in the first twelve months of the war, while she is spending $2,000,000 a day, or at the rate of $730,000,000 per annum, on the upkeep of her army in the field.

France's bill for the maintenance for her 3,000,000 men now available for active service and the 1,000,000 in the reserve, is very heavy. Mr. Crammond puts it at 75¢ per man per day—say $1,500,000 a day, while as practically the whole of the male population between nineteen and fifty have been withdrawn from production, the total loss of production amounts to $225,000,000. The total cost to France up to July 21 next is estimated at $1,686,400,000 a year, $250,000,000 more than the total cost to Russia.—The Bits.

TRIANGLE BOOSTS TEMPLAR CONCLAVE

"On to the Copper Country," Says Snappy Little Publication of De Molai Commandery.

That the Templars of Detroit are taking great interest in the forthcoming conclave in the copper country is shown by the amount of space devoted to the last several months by The Triangle, De Molai commandery's publication, to the affair.

The Triangle is a monthly magazine devoted to the interest of the second of the Detroit commanderies, and it is a bright and snappy publication. It has devoted the bulk of its space the last three issues to the copper country club, which is promoting the trip for De Molai, and that club makes in the Triangle the following announcement:

"On to the copper country." De Molai commandery at the front, as ever. Never before has the splendid body of men comprising the Knights Templar of Michigan had such an outing planned for them as that which has been arranged for the grand conclave of the great commandery of the state of Michigan at Houghton and Calumet, June 7 to 10, 1915.

Those who have ever enjoyed the hospitality of the open-hearted people who comprise the sturdy population of the upper peninsula country will not miss the opportunity to repeat the experience under the conditions of the present gathering, when the cities of the copper country will outlive themselves to provide the very best of all things for the very best of all people—the Knights Templar of Michigan.

A Glorious Lake Excursion.

The conclave committee has arranged for an excursion second to none possible on the Great Lakes. The two palatial steamers, North American and South American, have been chartered to carry the Sir Knights and their families to the lower portion of the state to Houghton and incidentally have planned an additional excursion that will be worth the entire trip.

Think of a visit to historic Mackinac Island; a steamer ride through the picturesque islands of the Georgian bay; the trip through beautiful and thrilling St. Mary's river; an inspection of the wonderful Soo canal and the locks, which in some respects surpass the famous Panama canal equipment; a ride over the lumpy blue Lake Superior. All of these features will give pleasure and excitement enough to make this journey one to be remembered many years.

MOVE FOR PARDON POPULAR PROJECT

300 Copies of Petition in Behalf of Seeberville Deputies Are in Circulation.

The mothers of the copper country are taking such an interest in the petition for a pardon for the Seeberville defendants as makes it one of the most widespread movements in the history of the district. The general committee reported yesterday that three hundred copies of the petition were then in circulation and that more had been requested. These requests are voluntary and come from every part of the district, so that there is not a woman in the copper country who will not be given an opportunity to sign this plea for clemency.

Thank Mrs. Hartman.

The general committee feels that it should give expression to its thanks for the kindness of Mrs. Hartman for her donation of the use of the Hartman hall for the initial meeting of the petition. Mrs. Hartman, mother of Mayor Hartman of Houghton and of Assistant Superintendent Hartman of the Mohawk mine, is a woman well advanced in years and responsive to this appeal to mother love. Her contribution of the hall was one of the greatest aids in promoting the movement.

HEADQUARTERS SHIFTED.

But Gas Company Management Denies Ownership Is Changed.

Rumors of Hancock the last few days that the ownership of the Hancock gas company had passed into new hands have been as persistent as the present spell of cold weather and rain. John West, manager of the Hancock office, was asked if there were any grounds for the reports, and he answered in the negative.

negative. "The only changes are the removal of our headquarters from Oshkosh to Chicago, and a change or two in the personnel of our officers," was Manager West's answer.

FIERCEST BATTLE OF THE WAR.

Douglas House Scene of Great Conflict Because of the Rain.

Time was when Kelly pool was the favorite diversion of the travelingmen interned by the rain. But Colonel Lee's favorite diversion has lost its popularity since grim-visaged war has raised its wrinkled front and when the precipitation is too profuse to admit of patrolling the streets in search of customers the knights of the grip buckle on their armor and flood the lobby of the Douglas House with gore.

The greatest battle of the war was waged all day yesterday between the Russian forces of General Sam Kropotkin, who sells braces out of Chicago, and the German host of General Martin Landwehr, who in private life distributes commissary stores for a Milwaukee house.

The slaughter in this engagement was frightful. The tide of battle crested toward one force and then toward the other all over the house. The naval forces were brought into the conflict, and while no damage was done to the fleets there were many casualties reported from a fleet of submarine schooners in the basement. Much contraband was destroyed.

One of the dramatic incidents of the day was the annihilation of an Irish war correspondent by the Russian forces. He was captured near the register and ruthlessly slaughtered, but he went down singing "Erin Go Allie" to the tune of "Die Wacht Am Rhein."

An unexpected diversion was created by a desperate sortie of a Jewish contingent of the Russian forces. They were at first believed to be Germans, and when General Martin attempted to give them an order they responded with a volley that created a whole lot of astonishment.

ODD FELLOWS' MEMORIALS.

Graves Being Restored in Anticipation of Memorial Day.

Alfred Snowden, secretary of Pilgrim lodge, Odd Fellows, of Houghton, will today supervise the operations of a force of men at Forest Hill cemetery, directing the restoration of the graves of a number of members of the order.

NO SUNDAY CAMP THIS WEEK.

Engineers Will Await Warmer Weather Before Going Afield.

Although a week-end camp in the open was planned for the members of Company A, Calumet Engineers, for tomorrow night and Sunday, with special tents in guard duty and work along engineering lines, the outing has been indefinitely postponed because of the continued unfavorable weather.

PRESIDENT OF FARM BUREAU.

John T. McNamara Succeeds John G. Stone—Potato Union Formed.

At the meeting this week of the Houghton County Farm Bureau John T. McNamara of Houghton was elected president to succeed John G. Stone, who resigned from that position of F. W. Nichols.

HEADQUARTERS SHIFTED.

But Gas Company Management Denies Ownership Is Changed.

Rumors of Hancock the last few days that the ownership of the Hancock gas company had passed into new hands have been as persistent as the present spell of cold weather and rain. John West, manager of the Hancock office, was asked if there were any grounds for the reports, and he answered in the negative.

CIRCUIT COURT MATTERS.

Naturalization Day Is Set—Probationers in Difficulties.

County Clerk Kaiser announced yesterday that Judge O'Brien has set June 7 as the naturalization hearing day for the April term of the Houghton circuit court. The original date was April 7, but a postponement was ordered because of the absence of the judge.

The naturalization class will number fifty, a small class for this county, though in a number of terms past the naturalization petitions have been growing smaller. Even the September term list, which will number about eighty, is small in comparison with the classes of a few years ago, when the petitioners numbered hundreds.

On Judge O'Brien's return from his present term at L'Anse it is expected he will deal with Fred Danielson ex Calumet, who was jailed during the week for violating his parole. Danielson, in the interim, after pleading guilty to forgery, went to Tomahawk, Wis., and there, according to his own statement, he forged a check for something over $50. He was picked up on his return to Calumet. The Tomahawk bank has asked Danielson's father to make the check good, but the latter cannot afford to do so. Danielson is the first probationer to violate his parole out of scores given conditional liberty by Judge O'Brien. It is the belief of Probation Officer McGrath that Danielson now cannot avoid a reformatory sentence.

McNeel, a Ripley youth, also is wanted for violating his parole. He pleaded guilty to larceny and promised restitution. This he has failed to do and Probation Officer McGrath is seeking him.

On Judge O'Brien's return it also is expected that he will rule on the celebrated Deber-Deber divorce amendment case, which he took under advisement last week.

DULUTH GOLFERS ARE READY.

W. W. Walker Reports Northland Team Is Eager for Cole Cup Play.

W. W. Walker of Duluth, who is a prominent member of the Cole cup team of the Northland country club of that city, while in Houghton yesterday attempted to work up a little early enthusiasm among Houghton golfers for the first cup contest, which this year will be played in Duluth. He says the Duluth team is ready and eager for the visitors to arrive.

The Portage Lake team has made no arrangements for the trip as yet and members say frankly that they expect to get a severe trouncing when they do go to Duluth, but that the Zenith City hospitality will take the sting out of it. Tal Goodrich, who plays with Portage Lake in all contests against Duluth, is in California and is not expected to play this year. J. C. Taylor will be unable to attend and S. E. Ryne says he will not make the trip, these facts having the effect of weakening the Portage Lake team, but the team will make the trip anyway, in due time.

Mining News

ANACONDA.

The new acid plant at the Washoe smelter of the Anaconda was put in commission Monday and the manufacture of sulphuric acid for use in the leaching process was begun. The capacity of the plant is 100 tons of acid a day.

LAKE COPPER COMPANY.

The unwatering of the Lake mine commenced last week. It will probably take two months to complete the work, as the mine was flooded up to the sixth level. It will be the middle of July before any substantial amount of rock can be hoisted, although in the meantime rock can be broken in the upper levels, preparatory to hoisting when the mine is dry. Lake's shutdown will have lasted practically two years, as it was in July, 1913, that the property was closed on account of shortage of labor. An attempt was made to resume operations in the fall of that year, but the strike was on at that time and the idea was abandoned after a futile attempt to secure men. Under labor conditions now obtaining in the Lake Superior district, Lake should be able to give a better account of itself than has heretofore been possible. The property's output during the three years that it was operated was hindered first by the large amount of development work that was being done, and later by unfavorable labor conditions. The result was that costs were prohibitive. Reduced copper yield, except during the first few months of operation when selected rock was put through the mill, was also low, although during a greater part of the time the stockpile was being treated along with rock hoisted in regular mining operations. Lake's record of production with yield of rock to date has been as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Year, Copper, Lbs. per ton rock. Rows for 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914.

When it gets under way Lake should hoist at least 1,500 tons of rock per day, and on this basis its refined copper output, even with the rock running but fifteen pounds to the ton, should be over 7,000,000 pounds per annum. On present price of copper the property could, of course, make a very comfortable profit. The company has $180,000 in its treasury, which is ample for all present and prospective needs.

FATALITIES IN COAL MINES IN THE UNITED STATES.

Fatalities in coal mines in the United States in 1914 numbered 2,451, a decrease of 334 as compared with 1913.

Table with 2 columns: American League, National League, Federal League. Rows for various teams and their opponents.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Chicago, 3; Boston, 2. Boston, May 21—Chicago won the second game of the series from Boston here today. It was a pitchers' battle between Rudolph and Lavender. A muff by Connolly permitted Chicago to score two runs with two out in the fourth.

FEDERAL LEAGUE.

Kansas City, 8; Buffalo, 3. Kansas City, May 21—Krugger's four runs scored on Dave Stutz and a double out of four times at bat, and opportune hitting on the part of his teammates, helped Kansas City to win a game over Buffalo here today.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Kansas City, 8; Columbus, 8. Milwaukee-Cleveland, St. Paul-Louisville and Minneapolis-Indianapolis games postponed on account of wet grounds.

DANGER TO CHILDREN.

Serious illnesses often result from lingering coughs and colds. City Brevities

Today's weather: Partly cloudy. Yesterday's temperature: Seven a. m., 39 degrees; noon, 40; 7 p. m., 44. Highest, 44 degrees; lowest, 38.

Marquette news is published today on pages 4, 5, 6 and 10.

Miss Frances Salter is ill and is confined to St. Luke's hospital for a few days.

Dr. Burr, who has been at the Huron Mountain club lately, left yesterday afternoon for his home in Flint.

A "house night" party will be held in Guild Hall next Wednesday night, May 26. The orchestra will consist of three pieces. Dancing will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

A. O. Jopling arrived in the city yesterday afternoon from Detroit, where he went the early part of the week to attend the funeral of George Howard Russell, president of the People's State bank.

Will Address Brotherhood—W. R. McIntock, principal of the high school, will address the Baptist Brotherhood at 8 o'clock Monday night on "The Need of a New Public School Building in Marquette."

Large Class to Be Confirmed—Pontifical high mass will be celebrated at St. Peter's cathedral at 10:15 o'clock tomorrow morning by Bishop Eiss. Following this mass, the bishop will confirm a large class of children. The class made their first communion yesterday.

Outlook for Fair Weather—Following the inclement spell of the last week, the weather bureau promises fair weather for today and the early part of next week. Storm signals were hoisted yesterday afternoon, but were ordered down last night. However, on the western end of Lake Superior there were high winds yesterday, and several boats sought the shelter of the Marquette breakwater. There was a high sea and fog on the lake yesterday afternoon.

Central Delivery Abandoned—Although the majority of the merchants of the city are in favor of the central delivery plan, Flanigan Bros. have decided to abandon the enterprise, and if the service is to be put in operation it will be on the initiative of the merchants themselves. Nineteen retail dealers had pledged themselves to adopt the central delivery, had Flanigan Bros. successfully carried out the plan.

Have Arrived in Holland—Fred Donckers has been informed of the safe arrival in Holland of the two Catholic Sisters and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vanderbrook, who left Marquette several weeks ago. The party came to Marquette shortly after the outbreak of the war. On the trip the vessel on which the party had passage was searched by an English cruiser, and two Germans were taken prisoners, according to a letter Mr. Donckers received this week.

Marriage of Miss Digby—Miss Dorothy Digby, formerly of Shingleton, was married recently to Frank C. Young, of San Francisco. The San Francisco Chronicle said of the wedding: "Frank C. Young, office manager of the Republic company, the coast branch of the big Youngstown Tire factory, has deserted the ranks of bachelorhood. He was quietly married Sunday to Miss Dorothy Digby, a charming Michigan belle, who journeyed from her home town to become Mr. Young's bride. The couple are now touring down the peninsula on a honeymoon trip that will consume a week."

OLD RESIDENT DIES.

Mrs. George Ciesielski Passed from Life Late Last Night.

Mrs. George Ciesielski, 434 West Baraga avenue, a resident of Marquette for the last forty-two years, died last night. She was seventy-seven years of age. One daughter, Mrs. John Miller, Baraga avenue, and a brother, John Marasek, of Eau Claire, Wis., are the only immediate members of the family surviving. The funeral will be held Monday or Tuesday.

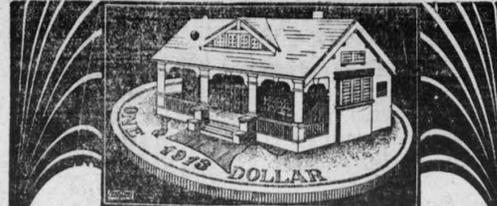

Mrs. Ciesielski had the distinction of being one of the very few persons who have lived to see great-great-grandchildren. There are two of these, in addition to nineteen great-grandchildren and seventeen grandchildren.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation and gratitude to the many kind friends and members of fraternal orders who so graciously ministered to us during our recent bereavement. Also for the beautiful floral tributes sent by friends and societies.

MAKE HOME YOUR HOME

THE word HOME is often robbed of all its sweet, tender significance, because of the spectres of rent days, the interest days or foreclosures, perhaps. Yet it isn't such a big step to actually owning a home.

A few dollars put into the Bank regularly has enabled many persons in this community to OWN their homes.

Have something to show for your labor. Regular saving and banking here will pave the way.

"Paris Fashion-isms"

A wise Western merchant used to say, "I would rather see a woman go out of my store empty hand, but smiling, than to see her leave with a purchase in her hands, but a frown on her face."

You see, that man has learned that in the long run it's satisfaction that counts and not the immediate sale.

We aim to, and hope we will, always be able to meet your wants when you come to us. But if in any particular we cannot suit you, we'd prefer to keep our merchandise and retain your good will.

ACROSS THE SEA.

I dreamed of Freedom slowly gained,
By martyr meekness, patience, faith,
And lo! an athlete grimly stained,
With corded muscles battle strained,
Shouting it on the fields of death.

I turn me, awe-struck, from the sight,
Among the clamoring thousands mute;
I only know that God is right,
And that the children of the light
Shall tread the darkness under foot.

I know the pent fire heaves its crest,
That smoky skies the bolt will form.
To smite them clear, that Nature must
The balance of her powers adjust.
Though with the earthquake and the storm.

God reigns, and let the earth rejoice!
I bow before His sterner plan,
Dumb are the organs of my choice;
He speaks in battle's stormy voice,
His praise is in the wrath of man.

Yet, surely as He lives, the day
Of peace He promised shall be ours,
To fold the flags of war and lay
Its sword and spear to rust away,
And sow its ghastly fields with flowers.
—Whittier.

STUDYING IN PRISON.

About 130 at the federal prison in Leavenworth and the state prisons at Lansing are doing correspondence work with the Kansas state agricultural college. Professor George E. Brady of the correspondence study department of the extension division is spending this week with his students in the prisons. The work at each prison is under the special care of the chaplain, who distributes and collects all the lesson papers and hands out the books or bulletins. Some of the work sent to the college is of high quality. Many of the men are taking work in mechanical drawing, others are taking automobile repairing, gas engines, shop mathematics, vegetable gardening, etc.—Kansas City Journal.

NO ENCOURAGEMENT FOR "MORE DAYLIGHT"

Plan Proposed in Ishpeming Is Not Favored by the Marquette Workmen.

The "more daylight" plan, a movement to set the clocks ahead one hour during the summer months, appears to be doomed as far as Marquette is concerned. The adverse sentiment has increased the last few days. Yesterday Mayor Begole was deluged with letters asking that no effort be made to enter into the plan with Ishpeming and Negaunee, should they choose to go ahead with it.

A good idea of how the workmen of the city stand may be gained from the vote polled yesterday at the Lake Superior & Ishpeming railway shops. There were ninety-three votes against a change, and but three for the "more daylight" plan. Straw votes taken in other industrial establishments of the city the last few days have resulted practically as decisively. More than forty replies to the inquiries sent out by the mayor were received yesterday, and but five or six were favorable to the proposal change. The vote of the workmen at the South Shore shops will be taken Monday.

The report of Mayor Begole, to be presented at the meeting of the commission Monday night, will probably recommend that Marquette not enter into the movement with Ishpeming and Negaunee, as has been proposed. Mayor Begole is opposed to it, and he has now been convinced that the public in general is not in sympathy with the plan.

German Lutheran. Rev. W. Roepke, pastor. Pentecost services will be held Sunday at 7:30 p. m. The services will be conducted in English.

First Church of Christ, Scientist. Services will be held Sunday at 11 o'clock. Subject, "Body and Soul."

Theatrical

Marquette Opera House. Mary Pickford and King Baggott are among the motion picture stars featured in the program at the opera house today. Miss Pickford will appear in a one-reel comedy drama, "The Fibber and the Girl." Mr. Baggott plays in a comedy-drama, "Pressing His Suit." A two-reel Bison drama, "In Jungle Wilds," featuring Marie Walecamp and William Clifford, also will be exhibited today. Matinees will be held from 2:30 to 5 o'clock. At the matinees a souvenir hat of "The Diamond from the Sky" will be given to every child. The first episode of "The Diamond from the Sky," the serial production of the American Film Manufacturing company, will be shown at the opera house June 3, two weeks from today. Featured in this production is Lottie Pickford, younger sister of Mary Pickford.

Program at the Delft. "The Strength of the Weak," a two-part Essanay drama, which depicts a powerful story, will be the feature of the program at the Delft theater today. Other pictures will be "The Bandit and the Baby," a Biograph drama, and "Love and Limbo," a Min-A comedy. The usual matinees and evening exhibitions will be held.

THIS SEASON'S GOWNS FOR GRADUATING GIRL

Net the Favored Fabric for Her Frock, in Empire, Bodice or Bolero Fashion.

New York, May 21.—The question of the graduation dresses is always perplexing. Here girlhood and womanhood meet, but the girl must yet be kept the girl for the one day of days when she receives the bit of parchment, which seals her school life.

In this season of revived fashions and fabrics, the problem simplifies itself to some extent, for all styles are youthful. One need only visit the large stores to appreciate the variety offered in these frocks. La, la, you fair maidens, wrestling with the quibs and questions of your last examinations, you should be with me in the great metropolis. On the spacious fourth floor of a house, devoted solely to the needs of the girl, there are mahogany cases filled with frothy white dresses, stretching away row after row, like the battalions of an army. It is seldom you find so large an assemblage of frocks for one purpose, and age collected in one place. Here you can be outfitted from tip to toe, with the style and suitability of the garments assured.

At first glance, it seems the whole graduating world is to be gowned in net, so completely does the fabric dominate the collection. No doubt, it is the extremely light skirt that brings this material so noticeably to the fore, but regardless of the cause, the effect is charming in the quaint Empire, bodice and bolero dresses, showing features from old fashions such as short, puffed sleeves and narrow ruffles. Valenciennes lace is applied; also on the skirt, in a Grecian border above the hem. Primness, the chief charm of the frock, is again in evidence in the broad girle of moire ribbon, brought straight around the Empire waistline and finished at the back with a flat bow and long streamers.

Claves, for the graduation frock, are generally of plain silk. Many well-to-do mothers are buying their daughters' silk gloves in place of the formal white kid; the effect is more girlish and they are much cooler for warm weather. To be sure there are fancy models shown and in good taste, too. A silk glove, pin tucked around and around the wrist, a half-inch apart, or delicately embroidered, may be worn; the new lace gloves, too, is perfectly appropriate for the graduate.

The medium heel on the shoes is another feature of the fashions shown for graduation. The doctress is well-to-do mothers are buying their daughters' silk gloves in place of the formal white kid; the effect is more girlish and they are much cooler for warm weather. To be sure there are fancy models shown and in good taste, too. A silk glove, pin tucked around and around the wrist, a half-inch apart, or delicately embroidered, may be worn; the new lace gloves, too, is perfectly appropriate for the graduate.

The simplicity of the fashions allows but little jewelry. Such touches as a string of pearls, a turquoise locket, or a heavy gold bracelet, are employed to give the desired old-time air to the frock. The hair, however, is decidedly modern, but so artistic that it in no wise spoils the quaintness of the costume. The bobbed effect is the most popular coiffure for the young girl. This may sound as if the younger generation are recklessly cutting off their hair, but be misled for such is not the case. Some clever Miss lately conceived the idea of combing her hair back straight in front, low over the ears and winding it in a soft coil in back. Her friend copied it and now all the young girls have the effect of the castle clip without the "clip" and the originator of the fad, who cut her hair close, envies their long tresses. Since the first girl wound her hair in this knot in back, so many have adopted the mode that pins have been especially designed for this knot. They consist of a single straight spike with ball or slender triangular top of amber, jet or tortoise shell. Poignards, the French call them; in plain English they are daggers. One of these pins will hold the knot firmly and is a fitting finish for a young girl's coiffure; more Dame Fashion talismans at poor taste.

FIVE BILLS PASSED OVER FERRIS' VETO

Republican Legislators Rode Over the Governor in Session This Week.

Lansing, May 21.—Five vetoes by Governor Ferris were overridden in both the house and senate in the semi-final session of the 1915 legislature. Three other vetoes were overridden by the house, but not by the senate, although the latter body left two of the three unacted on at this session. Three other bills were amended by both houses and sent to the governor.

The session was an odd one for a Michigan legislature. Ninety-one house members out of ninety-nine and thirty senators out of thirty-two returned for the final adjournment meetings. Ordinarily not more than two or three members of each house show up for the final adjournment, and two years ago when twenty or thirty members appeared it was considered remarkable.

The members came back this time because of a desire to put through bills vetoed by Governor Ferris. They had made provision for a two-day final adjournment at this time in case it was deemed necessary to come back. They worked with a vim on overriding vetoes when they got at it.

PARTY WAS SUCCESSFUL

Elks' Ball Last Night Attended by One Hundred and Twenty-Five Couples. The ball given by Marquette lodge, No. 495, B. P. O. E., in the temple last night, the first event of the kind to be held in the building, was attended by upwards of one hundred and twenty-five couples. It was regarded as a great social success by all present.

The entire building was opened to the dancers. Many had not seen the club rooms and the other facilities afforded by the new temple. All were well pleased.

PLAN TO BEAT PRIMARY VETO

Michigan Republican Lawmakers Delay Adjournment Until Next Tuesday.

Lansing, Mich., May 21.—In order that the Republican members of the legislature may have an opportunity to pass the Nank primary bill over the veto of Governor Ferris in event the chief executive declines to approve the measure, the legislature suspended its rules and rescinded its resolution for a final adjournment at noon Thursday and extended the working time until Tuesday.

Demagogue leaders throughout the state have urged the governor to veto the bill and the Republican members of the house and senate are emphatic in their opposition to the measure. The action he intends to take on the Nank bill.

The law passed two years ago whereby the names of all the candidates are printed on a single ballot is repealed by the Nank bill. It also provides that where there is a vacancy on the ballot and the name of a candidate is written in such candidate must receive 3 per cent of his party vote.

This section is designed to prevent the election of a man appearing on the general election ballot who received only one or two votes in the primary. Owing to the fact that the Nank primary bill was not sent to the executive office until May 12 the governor has until next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock to pass on it. By that time the bill must either be vetoed or signed or it automatically becomes a law.

SEEKS APPRAISAL OF ANN ARBOR ROAD

Fellows Will Appeal to I. C. C. to Aid in the Two-Cent Fare Test.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 21.—Whether or not an injunction shall be issued restraining the Michigan railway commission from enforcing the provisions of the two-cent fare law, which was enacted by the legislature in 1907, will not be argued for at least a week. Arguments were presented before Judge Arthur Denison and Judge Loyal Knappen of the U. S. circuit court of appeals and Judge Clarence Sessions of the federal court here yesterday afternoon.

Alexander Smith, general counsel for the complaining Ann Arbor railroad, cited that passenger earnings during the fiscal year amounted to only 3.45 per cent of the investment and delayed the passenger earnings should be 8 per cent for the road to survive.

Smith showed that the road was appraised at $8,604,834 and that $7,000,000 in bonds had been floated. He declared that no dividends had ever been declared but that interest on the bonds had been met.

The net earnings since 1910 ranged from $42,000 to $76,000; those of 1914 were $50,965. Smith asserted nothing had been written off for depreciation in figuring these earnings.

Attorney General Fellows announced his intention of going to Washington to take up the matter with the interstate railway commission and have an appeal made to the supreme court.

In the event of the issuance of a temporary injunction it is believed the court will order the taking of testimony to determine whether the two-cent passenger rate is confiscatory.

As both Judges Knappen and Denison are judges of the U. S. circuit court of appeals, an appeal from the three judges would go directly to the U. S. supreme court in the event that the issue is taken to a higher tribunal.

"Lady Customer (pleasantly)—I hear you are getting married today, Mr. Ribbs. I do congratulate you. Mr. Ribbs (the local butcher)—Well, I dunno so much about congratulations, mum. It do be costing me a pretty penny, I can tell you. Mrs. Ribbs as is to be, what with her trousseau, you know, an' the furnishing an' the house an' the parson's fees an' there 'vo to give 'er an' 'er sister a piece of jewelry each, and wot with one thing an' another she's a 'eavy woman, as you know, mum, 215 ston odd, an' I reckon she'll cost me best part o' two shillings 11 pence a pound before I get her home.—Punch.

CZAR'S TRIPS AID TO POPULARITY

Russian Ruler Finds That the Nation Is United Behind Him in War.

Odessa, Russia, May 10.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The emperor's trip to Southern Russia, the latest of the remarkable series of journeys which the Russian ruler has been making into various parts of his empire in a democratic effort to get closer in touch with his people, was a complete success.

Notice of School Bond Election and Registration of School Electors.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the Public Schools of the City of Marquette, State of Michigan, has duly estimated and determined it to be necessary, in order to advance the interest of public education in said school district, to immediately purchase a new schoolhouse site in some central place in said district, and to erect, furnish and equip a school building thereon; and has estimated and determined that for said purpose the amount of $140,000 is necessary and required, and that it is necessary to raise for said purpose, and said Board proposes to raise for said purpose, the sum of $140,000, by borrowing the same upon bonds to be issued therefor, pledging the faith and credit of said school district for the payment of the principal and interest of such bonds; said bonds to be payable on the first day of July in each year, as follows: $5,000 in 1920, and a like sum each year for ten years thereafter; $10,000 in 1921, and a like sum each year for three years thereafter, and $45,000 in 1925; with interest thereon at the rate of four and one-half per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on January first and July first in each year.

The question of ratifying such estimate, the amount proposed to be raised, the purpose thereof, the borrowing of said sum of money and the issue of such bonds therefor, will be submitted to the vote by ballot of the legal voters of said school district for their approval, at a special election which has been duly appointed and called, to be held in the City Hall, in said district, on Tuesday, June 1st, 1915, and the polls of said election will be open continuously from eight o'clock a. m. to eight o'clock p. m. of said day.

Said question will be submitted in the following form upon the ballot to be used at said election, viz: Should the estimate of $140,000 for the purchase of a new schoolhouse site in some central place in the school district comprising the City of Marquette, and the erection, furnishing and equipping of a school building thereon, be approved and the Board of Education be authorized to borrow said sum of money and to issue bonds therefor payable on the first day of July in each year, as follows: $5,000 in 1920, and a like sum each year for ten years thereafter; $10,000 in 1921, and a like sum each year for three years thereafter, and $45,000 in 1925; with interest thereon at the rate of four and one-half per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on January first and July first in each year, and pledging the faith and credit of said school district for the payment of the principal and interest of such bonds?

REGISTRATION OF SCHOOL ELECTORS.

Notice is also hereby given, that the Board of Registration of said school district will be in session at said City Hall on Saturday, May 29th, 1915, from the hour of eight o'clock in the forenoon until eight o'clock in the afternoon, for completing the list of qualified school electors of said district, which time and place unregistered school electors of said district will be given an opportunity to have their names entered in the proper Register of School Electors of said district.

Dated, May 19th, 1915.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE CITY OF MARQUETTE, JOSEPH E. NEIDHART, President, JAMES O'NEILL, Secretary. (6-10-204.)

a simple service uniform, with the khaki-colored blouse of a Russian officer of ordinary rank. He rode in an automobile, attended by a single aide. During his progress across the city he threw etiquette and tradition to the winds and stood up in his car, hat in hand, bowing and smiling to the cheering crowds.

In a central square the emperor stepped out of his automobile and inspected the local troops. It was no perfunctory ceremony. At a brisk pace he walked along the entire front, stopping now and then to exchange a word with one of the privates. Then he walked back thoughtfully to the center of the line and made a brief extempore speech. It was without oratorical embroidery, simply worded and matter-of-fact in delivery, but wonderfully effective. He reviewed the history of the war, reminded the men of Russia's glorious past and spoke of the splendid deeds of the army in the present campaigns.

"Do as your brothers have done," he said in closing. "Do as they have done on the battlefields of East Prussia, Galicia and Bukovina. God will watch over you and Russia will remember you."

There was absolute silence for a full minute after he had finished. Then the silence was broken by the crash of a thousand choruses of cheers. "Long live the emperor. Long live the Little Father!"

During his visit the emperor had an opportunity to show his mastery of English. The British consul general, accompanied by a delegation of English residents, presented their congratulations, expressing on behalf of England admiration and appreciation of the Russian army's work. The emperor replied in English: "I thank you sincerely for what you have said. We do not forget how much we in Russia owe to the brave English and French. We are now on the high road to victory, and with the aid of our allies, the common cause shall speedily triumph."

Some idea of the manner in which the emperor's trips through the country aim to reach the workmen and common people may be gained from an account of his visit to the Biarski factory at Bielska. The whole working population numbering nearly 40,000 turned out to meet him, and a delegation consisting of workmen who have been employed in the factory for at least 20 years, presented him with bread and salt, the traditional emblems of hospitality. "We are happy that you have come," said the leader of the delegation. "We wish you to see our labor, which we are performing joyfully for you and for our country, while our children and brothers are fighting on the field of battle."

The emperor spent four hours in the factory going through all the workshops and carefully inspecting the progress of the work. Later he visited the workmen's quarters, going into several houses and talking with the men's families.

LIFE AND DEATH.

Some men live altogether outside their own souls; some live altogether within their own souls; some pass out and in; these last are the best men.

A man's life is like a well, not like a snake—it should be measured by its depth, not by its length. Life is a charity ball given by the leaders of society. A few dance, get their charity's worth in the last penny, and the poor stand outside the gate and watch with hungry eyes the glint of jewels in the warm air. Then comes the lucky death, and he says: "Madame and my Master, your carriage waits." So they go away into the dark in the carriage of the black plumes and the dancing costumes.—Dr. Austin O'Malley, in "Keystones of Thought."

DISASTER MAY CUT BIG TRADE BALANCE

Cancellation of Sailings by Big Liners Works Hardships on Exporters.

Washington, May 21.—The sinking of the Lusitania again has brought sharply home to American wheat, cotton, cattle and other exporters the enormous loss to the United States because of the lack of American ships, according to officials of the department of commerce.

With the temporary cancellation of the sailings of the Cunard line from England and with the fear that other ships may meet the same fate of the Lusitania, the prediction of Secretary Redfield that American export trade for the fiscal year 1914-15 will total $2,750,000,000 may not be verified. Ninety-two per cent of this trade is carried in foreign ships.

It is pointed out that in view of Germany's circular note of May 11 to the neutral powers a great American merchant marine—if it existed—could now be plying to Europe practically unhindered by Germany.

American Ships Are Safe. The note implicitly states that "the German government has naturally no intention of causing to be attacked by submarines or aircraft such neutral ships of commerce in the zone of naval warfare as have been guilty of no hostile act." It declares that even when such ships have contraband aboard the German instructions are that they should be dealt with as prizes. The plain inference from the note is that the submarine attack on the Gulfight was due to the mistake of a minor naval officer.

BRITISH NAVAL MEN INTERNED IN HOLLAND

Force That Took Part in Defense of Antwerp Is Well Looked After. London, May 2.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The Rev. A. A. Prianfield of Chicago, who is in Holland giving a series of lectures on the United States, has the following account of his visit to the internment camp at Grootegroeve, Holland, where the men of the British Naval Brigade have been interned since their retreat from Antwerp over the Dutch border.

"The men are fortunate in being placed in Grootegroeve. It is an old university town, and soldiers can profit by the privileges of the university classrooms, which are open to them without charge. The camp is thoroughly organized. Large barracks, low wooden buildings, have been erected on an open plain. There is a large recreation hall, provided with writing tables and equipment, games, and a well-stocked reading room. Lectures are given at frequent intervals. At one end of the hall a room is screened off, and here Church of England services are held, conducted by the Rev. H. H. Coryton, an assistant stationed in the camp. Services are also held for men of other religious denominations.

"Nearby, in other buildings, there are shops of all kinds, where the men can employ themselves usefully in carpentry, wood carving, tailoring, shoemaking, harnessing, tent and net making, and knitting and weaving. Many of the goods made here are sent to England. "A small daily newspaper is edited and printed in the camp, and there is a library of over 1,000 volumes. The camp has its own post-office, where parcels and letters are received and dispatched free of postage. The men all wear wooden shoes, to which the Dutch quickly accustomed them.

"The camp is in charge of a Dutch commandant with whom I had a long conversation. They are a remarkably representative crowd," he told me. "Here you have university graduates and men of wealth and influence alongside miners, sailors, fishing lads and factory hands. All this is strange and interesting to us Hollanders, who are strictly democratic in theory, yet in practice take a much stricter account of class distinctions than do these Englishmen. But I have been noticing the effect, and find that the mingling of the classes is helpful; it certainly has a refining influence on the characters of the men, and they learn to understand and respect one another.

"The relation of the two clerymen to the men is also a marvel to us Dutch. They even direct the sports! See, here goes the young preacher now in football togs, to take part in a match. It could never be done in Holland. It seemed very strange to me at first, but after seeing its practical working, I think it's the right thing."

Potash fertilizers seem to give profusion from a French market gardener has found that plants in a field strongly fertilized with kainit suffered little from a series of heavy frosts, those on a lightly fertilized area were more injured and those on untreated land were much damaged. INSURE NATIONS AGAINST WARFARE

Ex-Gov. Baldwin Approves the Idea of So Employing Great Combinations of Capital.

Mohawk Lake, N. Y., May 21.—Simon E. Baldwin, former governor of Connecticut and a student of international law, in an address before the Lake Mohawk Conference on "Avoiding the Occasions for War," approved of the idea that some of the greatest combinations of capital might undertake to insure nations against war.

"A strong motive for avoiding occasions for war would be furnished," Mr. Baldwin said, "if the scheme suggested as a possibility in the little book recently written by Professor Royce were ever put in practice. Prudent individuals, he says, are accustomed to insure themselves against loss by the happening of certain future events. Why should not nations do the same? "There are combinations of capital in this age, and even individuals, holding funds far greater than the total amount of the property of some sovereign states. Why not let some such combination set up the business of insuring nations against pecuniary loss by any future disaster?"

In one respect, this would promote war. It would tend to make a nation that was well insured careless in reckoning its risks. On the other hand, it would bring in a strong influence to wards peace—namely the capitalist or combination of capitalists granting the insurance.

Urges Education Against War. Mr. Baldwin dealt more largely, however, with misunderstandings which were occasions for war. He urged broad-mindedness; instruction in schools and respect for the rights of others; the careful weight of words, and use of "courtly phraseology" in diplomatic negotiations, and he pointed to the work of such commissions as that created by the Carnegie endowment for investigating the causes and conduct of the Balkan wars as a factor in arousing animosities. He said in part: "Occasions of war are avoided by giving such instruction in our schools and homes as will tend to inculcate respect for the rights of others, reverence for authority, and forms of courtesy in speech and demeanor.

"These doctrines are in large part what has kept China in existence so long. While learning to keep apart from foreign interests, she has emphasized the importance of maintaining the amenities of intercourse in ordinary life within her own borders. A people civil among themselves are little likely to be unkind to such foreigners as they may meet abroad or receive at home. They may entertain secret distrust, but they will not transgress the rules of politeness.

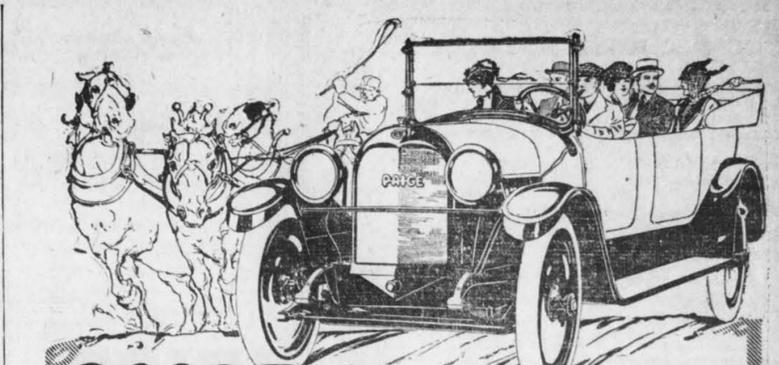

"A bitter word, from some one high in place, or perhaps a writer of literary eminence, which reflects on the course of a government or the character of its public men, often sinks deep, and poisons the sources of international good feeling. "Philanthropic Associations Helpful. "Recent factors in world-politics, of which mention must be made in this connection, are the philanthropic associations striving to promote the interests of a vast and world-wide agency for the promotion of peace between nations, having its seat in the country whose official attitude towards another is thus sharply criticized.

"Still more, of course, is language of this kind out of place in diplomatic dispatches. "A government that would avoid occasions of war, when communicating with foreign powers, should measure its words, for they are the words of all its people. "It should measure them by sincere consideration for those to whom they are addressed; it should measure them by standards of idealism—the idealism of courtesy and of good faith; the idealism of justice, that is of justice to all, of which justice to its own land is only a part. There is an idealism of force; but, as Bergson has said, it can best be met by the force of idealism. The extension of idealism should harmonize with the thought that it sets forth."

DOCTOR IS VICTIM OF HIS OWN SERUM

Life Was Saved, but His Mind Is Wrecked as the Result of His Experiment. Trenton, May 19.—A victim of the deadly meningitis germ, which, after years of patient research, he himself isolated, Dr. Frederick Hammond of the staff of the New Jersey State hospital and a native of Brooklyn, N. Y., is now a patient at the hospital. Prompt application by Dr. Harry A. Cotton, medical director of the institution, of a treatment for the scourge which Dr. Hammond discovered saved the patient's life but he is now a raving maniac.

Dr. Hammond, while working as a pathologist at the state hospital last December became infected with a disease germ which attacks the blood. He had been working long hours in the laboratory and his physical strength was at low ebb, friends say, so that when the tiny germ lodged in his system—probably breathed in while he was making a microscopic examination—he was unable to combat the ravages. Development of the disease was rapid and ended in spinal meningitis. Contrary to the advice of his colleagues, Dr. Cotton immediately prepared to resort to a serum treatment which Dr. Hammond had discovered. Medical authorities declared such treatment would be fatal, but Dr. Cotton decided to follow the course laid down by Dr. Hammond in his experiment. The cerebro-spinal fluid was drawn from the spinal canal and a serum injected in its

PAIGE "The Standard of Value and Quality"

Power!! Few of us have the need or desire for a racing car. But every man wants to sit behind a motor which responds eagerly—buoyantly—to the slightest touch of the throttle.

Steep hills and heavy, clinging sand roads have no terrors for the Paige owner. He knows that he has but to "step on" the accelerator and the hills flatten out like smooth boulevards. From a walking pace to the speed of the winds—this range is at the service of every Paige driver without a change from high gear. Sit behind the steering wheel of the record breaking Paige Six "46". Sense the flexibility and power under the impressive, deep chested hood just in front of you. Swing bithely up those grades that are the despair of many vastly higher priced automobiles.

Then, ask yourself if you could possibly require more of any motor car. And remember that the "Six" belongs to no "school" for it is rapidly establishing a school of its own—the school of 1916.

Table with 3 columns: Model, Price, f. o. b. Model: Fairfield Six "46", Price: $1395, f. o. b.: Detroit, Fully Equipped.

Consider the following essentials of Paige Value—a combination of high-grade features found on no other light "Six" regardless of price: The celebrated Paige Continental 35x3 1/2 motor, freely considered as the undisputed leader in Sixes. It is the result of close co-operation between both Paige and Continental engineers. The Gray & Davis electrical starting and lighting system, one of the most expensive systems that a manufacturer can place on his car. The Rayfield Carburetor, admittedly the most efficient and positive carburetor manufactured for Sixes. The Multiple Disc Clutch, with cork inserts—no better or more dependable clutch can be found on any car at any price.

Characterizations of utterances by our public men in directing the course of our foreign affairs. Positions taken by our secretary of state, in regard to the Venezuelan question, for instance, are referred to as resting on "audacious and arrogant dogmas," and expressed in a manner "somewhat coarse and repulsive." "Such epithets have a double force when appearing under the stamp of approval of a vast and world-wide agency for the promotion of peace between nations, having its seat in the country whose official attitude towards another is thus sharply criticized.

"Still more, of course, is language of this kind out of place in diplomatic dispatches. "A government that would avoid occasions of war, when communicating with foreign powers, should measure its words, for they are the words of all its people. "It should measure them by sincere consideration for those to whom they are addressed; it should measure them by standards of idealism—the idealism of courtesy and of good faith; the idealism of justice, that is of justice to all, of which justice to its own land is only a part. Washington, May 21.—Should an occasion arise that would make it necessary for the United States government to seize the foreign vessels now interned, it will become possessed of ocean transportation facilities, with an aggregate tonnage of half a million. Recently a list of interned ships was prepared at the department of commerce, which has just become public. It shows a total of 68 vessels interned in ports of continental United States, all of which were tied up at our docks shortly after the beginning of the European war. They are mostly owned by the Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd Steamship companies, but some by the flags of other nations now at war. The list does not include the converted cruisers Prince Eitel Frederick and Kronprinz Wilhelm, recently interned at Norfolk, near the Oldenwald, at San Juan, Porto Rico, nor one gunboat at Honolulu. Fifty or 60 merchant vessels also are interned in the Philippines and at Honolulu, but no accurate information about them is obtainable at the department.

The list contains the name of the Prinz Eitel Frederick, but it is explained that this is a ship of that name other than the one at Norfolk. The latter belongs to the North German Lloyd company, while the one in the list is owned by the Hamburg-American line. The value of the interned ships has not been obtained, but it will run into many millions.

SISTER: READ MY FREE OFFER!

I am a woman. I know a woman's trials. I know her need of sympathy and help. If you, my sister, are unhappy because of ill-health, if you feel unfit for household duties, social pleasures, or daily employment, write and tell me just how you suffer, and ask for my free ten days' trial of a home treatment suited to your needs. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any man. I want to tell you how to cure yourself at home at a cost of about 15 cents a week. If you suffer from women's peculiar ailments causing pain in the head, back, or bowels, feeling of weight and dragging-down sensation, falling or displacement of pelvic organs, causing kidney and bladder weakness or constipation and piles, painful or irregular periods, catarrhal conditions and discharges, extreme nervousness, depressed spirits, melancholy, desire to cry, fear of something evil about to happen, creeping feelings along the spine, palpitation, hot flashes, weariness, sallow complexion with dark circles under the eyes, pain in the left breast, or a general feeling that life is not worth living. I INVITE YOU TO SEND TODAY FOR MY FREE TEN DAYS' TREATMENT and learn how these ailments can be easily and surely conquered at home without the dangers and expense of an operation. When you are cured, and able to enjoy life again, you can pass the good word along to some other sufferer. My home treatment is for young or old. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain how to overcome green sickness (chlorosis), irregularities, headaches, and lassitude in young women and restore them to plumpness and health. Tell me if you are worried about your daughter. Remember, it costs you nothing to give my home treatment a ten days' trial, and does not interfere with daily work. If health is worth asking for, then accept my generous offer and write for the free treatment, including my illustrated booklet, "Woman's Own Medical Adviser." I will send it all in plain wrappers post-paid. To save time, you can cut out this offer, mark your feelings, and return to me. Send today, as you may not see this offer again. MRS. M. SUMMERS, Box H, SOUTH BEND, IND.

CITY TO PLAT OLD BURIAL GROUNDS

Bodies Remaining in Lots Will Be Removed to the Present Cemetery.

Upon recommendation of the committee on grounds and insurance, the council, at a special session last evening, decided to plat into building lots the old Protestant cemetery, north of the old Catholic cemetery, on North Main street. The cemetery board of trustees recently secured authority to remove the bodies remaining in the ground there to the present cemetery, and a resolution adopted last evening instructed it to have them removed as soon as possible, so that the lots may be offered for sale during the coming summer.

Most of the bodies buried there were removed from the cemetery some years ago, following the opening of the present burial ground. It may be a difficult matter to locate all of the graves, as some of them are now marked. Some desirable lots will be made available, especially west of Main street, which passes through the center of the two plats. A portion of the high bluff on the east side of Main street is not suitable for building purposes, and a part of the ground on the north side will have to be graded up to the fill in the Cleveland-Chiefs Iron company's plat, on the opposite side of Empire street.

City Attorney Jurma, who recently offered to purchase a few feet of Arcia street on the north side of his lot, was authorized to close the deal, on recommendation of the committee on grounds and insurance. The price set for the ground offered to Mr. Jurma is $20 a front foot. The strip will extend back the entire length of his lot.

Hose Wagon Purchased.

On the recommendation of the fire department and purchasing committee, the council last night authorized the purchase of a combination hose and chemical wagon from the Peter Parish company of Kenosha, Wis., represented by E. L. Ward. The vehicle will cost the city $1,265. It will be delivered within sixty days. The Parish company was the lowest bidder.

The council last night also accepted the annual report of the Carnegie Public Library's secretary and librarian.

AT METHODIST CHURCH SUNDAY.

The men's class of the First Methodist Episcopal church will meet tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and at the 10:30 service Rev. N. C. Karr, the pastor, will preach on "Christian Growth." The Sunday school will meet at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the Epworth league at 6 o'clock. Miss Ethel Jenkins will be the leader. The topic will be "Are Children in Our Town Getting a Fair Chance Physically, Mentally and Morally?" At the evening service, Rev. Lewis Keast, pastor of the Salisbury Methodist church, will preach on the theme, "The Dying and Selling of the Truth." The pastor extends an invitation to the public to attend all the services.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS.

Evangelistic services, conducted by Rev. August Dahlquist of Rock Island, Ill., will be held this evening and tomorrow in the Swedish Baptist church, corner Third and East High streets. Rev. Dahlquist is a forceful speaker and also a good singer. The services tomorrow will be Sunday school at 9:30, sermon at 11; young people's rally at 3; evening services at 7 o'clock. The speaking tomorrow afternoon will be in English and everybody will be welcomed.

CHARLOTTE RUSSELL VICTIM OF PLOT?

Music Teacher at the National Overpowered by the Fumes from Poisoned Letter.

Miss Charlotte Russell, music teacher in the Tilden township schools at the National Mine location, and temporary superintendent following the release of K. C. Inselman, is the victim of a plot to seriously injure her by means of a poisoned letter, it is believed. Miss Russell was rendered unconscious when she opened an envelope which contained two pieces of cardboard, between which was spread cotton saturated with a highly poisonous solution. The exact nature of the substance has not been determined, but several physicians are investigating and the matter will be called to the attention of the government postal authorities for investigation.

The missive was brought to Miss Russell by one of the pupils. It had been sent through the postoffice at the National. The young woman had no suspicion of the matter until she opened the letter from the poisonous substance overpowered her. The board of education has been aroused over the incident and will make every effort to discover and prosecute the guilty persons. Considerable bitterness has been displayed by the people of the township as a result of Mr. Inselman's dismissal, and it is the idea that somehow the motive for the sending of the letter to Miss Russell lies in this feeling.

The condition of Miss Russell has improved, but she is still confined to her room. After she lapsed into unconsciousness, following the opening of the letter, it required more than two hours to revive her.

FUNERAL IN TRUMANSBERG.

Masonic Society Had Charge of Services for the Late E. E. Scribner.

George Hayden, who went east with Mrs. Scribner and the body of her husband, the late E. E. Scribner, superintendent of the Ishpeming public schools, yesterday wired W. P. Belden, a member of the board of education, that they had arrived in Trumansberg. The services were held in the Episcopal church at 11 o'clock and members of the Masonic society attended in a body.

The late Mr. Scribner had a great many friends and acquaintances in Trumansberg, though it is nearly twenty years since he was superintendent of the schools there. After leaving the city he had been a frequent visitor there. He owned a farm, the property having been leased for a number of years past. It adjoins one owned by the parents of Miss Louise Stone, supervisor of music in the Ishpeming schools, who accompanied Mrs. Scribner on the trip.

DEATH OF FORMER RESIDENT.

Mrs. Mary Osborn, who resided at the Lake Angeline location for a number of years, until seven years ago when she moved to Cloquet, Minn., died there Wednesday, and her body was received here yesterday morning. It was accompanied by her son-in-law, W. H. Wilton, and son, William, former residents, and the funeral was held yesterday afternoon from William Leininger's undertaking parlors, where services were conducted by Rev. Carl G. Zeigler, pastor of Grace Episcopal church. Mrs. Osborn died from Bright's disease, from which she had been a sufferer for several months. Her husband died in this city from typhoid fever fifteen years ago and her daughter, Mrs. Wilton, who was her only child, died four years ago in Cloquet, and was buried here.

WANTED—Maid. One who can cook and do general housework. Mrs. J. P. O'Neil, 213 Euclid street. (5-20-14)

MERCHANTS FAIL TO AGREE.

Several Business Men Opposed to Half Holidays This Summer.

The merchants who met in the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday to discuss arrangements for weekly half holidays during the summer months could not agree on a course of action, and a committee was finally appointed to call on those who were not present to ascertain their views, and to report back at another meeting. The committee is composed of John S. Olson, of the A. W. Myers Mercantile company; Julius Johnson of Johnson Bros., and W. J. Hebard.

Some of the merchants contend that they lose trade every time they close their store during an afternoon. They cited instances where customers came in from North Lake and other locations and returned home, disappointed, because they could not get into the stores. Some of the merchants are of the opinion that they should encourage trade from the locations, instead of discouraging it. A vote taken on the half holiday plan resulted in a tie.

Some of the merchant said they would prefer to give their clerks time off with pay equal to that which they would have in the various half holidays, rather than close their business places at any time during the week.

ASKED TO APPEAL FOR LEO M. FRANK

Ishpeming Residents Urged to Send Letters to Governor of Georgia.

Many Ishpeming men and women are being asked to intercede in behalf of Leo M. Frank, the Atlanta factory superintendent who is sentenced to hang June 22 for the murder of Mary Phagan, a fifteen-year-old factory girl, on April 26, 1913, on the ground that Frank was not given a fair trial.

Only executive clemency will save Frank from death, and it is asked that letters be sent direct to Governor Slaton, the head of the board of pardon commissioners, petitioning him to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment.

Each of the Ishpeming men who have been asked to write letters of appeal to Governor Slaton has been requested to send a copy of his letter to five of his friends, with the request that they also join in the appeal.

Prominent men and women in all parts of the United States are interesting themselves in Frank's behalf. Among them are Senators Borah, Thomas, Newlands and Reed; Governors Brumbaugh, of Pennsylvania; Ferris, of Michigan, and Hall, of Louisiana, and Mayor Rolph, of San Francisco; Myron T. Herrick, former ambassador to France; Philander C. Knox, formerly secretary of state, and F. L. Delano, of the federal reserve board. It is said that Governor Slaton has already received more than 100,000 letters of appeal from men and women all over the country.

The following statement has been prepared for the information of those not fully acquainted with the facts in the Frank case:

"Leo M. Frank is to be hanged on June 22 at Atlanta, Ga. The only hope left for him is the exercise of executive clemency. An application to that end has been made to the board of prison commissioners and to Governor John M. Slaton at Atlanta, Ga.

"The judge before whom Frank was tried publicly stated, in denying a motion for a new trial, that he was not satisfied as to his guilt. The supreme court of Georgia, in denying the motion for a new trial, was not unanimous, two very able judges dissenting. Two justices of the supreme court of the United States also dissented from the decision of that court denying a writ of habeas corpus.

"Under the laws of the state of Georgia only questions of law arising on a ruling during the course of a trial can be reviewed in a criminal case. No court of appellate jurisdiction has passed upon the facts in the case."

"The form suggested for the chain letter is as follows:

"The undersigned most respectfully approaches you in behalf of Leo Frank, convicted in your city and state. It does not believe any citizen of the United States to question the justice of a verdict on the part of its fellow citizens, any decision of a regularly constituted court of justice, but in a question of mercy, no one should be backward in asking same for any unfortunate who has come under the jurisdiction of the law.

"Therefore, the undersigned begs to intercede with your excellency to bestow clemency upon said Leo Frank if your cool judgment combined with human compassion will allow you to do so."

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Thibert, of Clarksburg, a daughter.

Richard Trembath has not invested in a motor car, as reported yesterday.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. band will meet for practice tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Guy Canfield will leave today for Bay City to attend the grand lodge of the Masonic society as representative of the Ishpeming lodge. The session will be held Tuesday and Wednesday.

Rev. N. C. Karr, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will preach tomorrow evening in the Salisbury Methodist church. His subject will be "Faith in God." The choir will render several special numbers and a double young men's quartet will sing.

John Lacey, president of the Upper Peninsula Firemen's association, left yesterday afternoon for Manistique, where he and the other officers of the organization will confer with Manistique firemen relative to this year's tournament. The dates will be decided upon and the program will be arranged.

John R. Boase, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Boase of the Lake Angeline location, was married Thursday to a Duluth girl, the wedding taking place in that city. Mr. Boase left Ishpeming about eight years ago to take a position on the Mesaba range. Several months ago he accepted a position as private secretary to a prominent Duluth business man.

A GREAT MOMENT.

Mrs. Raymond Robins, president of the National Women's Trade Union League, gave an interesting talk before the Women's Peace Party in Boston recently. She said: "It was my privilege to be on board the peace ship when it sailed from Hoboken with Jane Addams and her forty-one colleagues. When the peace flag was raised, and Jane Addams saluted it, you had a sense that it was one of the great moments of life. Some vital power went forth. I do not believe there was one of those women who believed that she was going to make peace out of that great chaos, but all felt that they were going to re-establish human relations."

A Mistaken Impression

A woman said, "I used to wear Redfern laced-back corsets, but I understand that there are no Redfern laced-front styles, and I prefer this type of corset."

Unfortunately, she had a mistaken impression.

REDFERN models can be had in both front-lace and back-lace styles. Different figures require different types of corsets—and the REDFERN line is complete for every requirement—each model soft, pliant, fashionably shaped and comfortable.

We do not urge any corset on any woman. Call on us, tell us your preference—back-lace or front-lace—and our corsetieres will gladly fit you with every style we have, if necessary, to insure your obtaining the REDFERN properly shaped for you. From $3 up.

GENUINE HEROISM.

The characteristic of genuine heroism is its persistency. All men have wandering impulses, fits and starts of generosity. But when you have resolved to be great, able by yourself, and do not weakly try to reconcile yourself with the world, the heroic cannot be the common, nor the common the heroic. If you would serve your brother, because it is fit for you to serve him, do not take back your words when you find that prudent people do not commend you. Be true to your own act, and congratulate yourself if you have done something strange and extravagant, and broken the monotony of a decorous life. It was a high counsel that I once heard given to a young person: "Always do what you are afraid to do."—Emerson.

"MRS. WIGGS" COMING.
Notable Production Will be Shown at Ishpeming Theater Wednesday.

The feature offering at Ishpeming theater next Wednesday afternoon and evening will be "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," with Miss Beatrice Michelena, one of the most prominent of the moving picture stars, in the part of Mrs. Wiggs. This picture was produced by the California Motion Picture corporation, under special arrangement with the Lieber company. It was produced in picture form with close attention to detail. An entire circus was transported to San Rafael, and Theodore Roche, a leading lawyer, supervised the court scene.

Supporting Miss Michelena are such well-known players as Blanche Chapman, Andrew Robson and House Peters. A matinee will be given at 4 o'clock.

EIGHT-REEL MATINEE TODAY.

The usual eight-reel matinee will be given this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Ishpeming theater. WEINSTEIN STORE IS SCENE OF FIRE

Considerable Loss by Water Occurred in Business House at Gwinn.

Fire, which started in the rear of Henry N. Weinstein's clothing and dry goods store in the Rosenblum building at Gwinn, resulted in damage of about $1,000 yesterday morning. It was confined mostly to the stock of clothing and dry goods, and was caused by water. The building was only slightly damaged, as the fire was extinguished before it had gained much headway.

The fire started about 9 o'clock, and is thought to have caught from an overturned stove in the rear of the store. Mr. Weinstein and his clerk were at work in one of the front windows at the time. The flames had not gained a great headway before they were discovered, but they spread rapidly. Mr. Weinstein's clerk ran to the fire hall, a short distance away, for a chemical extinguisher, and effective work was done with it for a few minutes before the smoke became so dense that the men were driven from the building.

When the fire department arrived it was necessary to throw a considerable amount of water into the store. The firemen had the fire out in about an hour's time, and had it not been for three lengths of hose bursting it would have been quenched much sooner.

Mr. Weinstein carried a large stock, valued at about $5,000, and it was partially insured. Insurance was also carried on the building, which is owned by Henry Rosenblum, of Gladstone.

PASSED AWAY YESTERDAY.

Matt Turpeinen, of Palmer, Died at Morgan Heights Sanitarium.

Matt Turpeinen, a farmhand who formerly worked on a farm south of Palmer, died suddenly yesterday afternoon on the steps of the Morgan Heights sanitarium. Turpeinen had been in Negaunee for a few days, and yesterday morning, after he had collapsed in a grocery store, it was found he was suffering with tuberculosis. He was taken to Morgan Heights by C. L. Sporey, county poor commissioner. When he arrived there early yesterday afternoon it was found that no more patients could be accommodated at the sanitarium. Mr. Sporey then decided to take him to the county poor farm. As they were walking down the steps of the building Turpeinen fell to the ground, and when he was picked up by the attendants he was dead.

The body was brought to Dawe's undertaking parlor in Duluth, to attend a few days pending word from relatives. The man was not very well known here, but it is thought that he had relatives living at Palmer.

NEW TEAM ORGANIZED.

Bart Dushane has been chosen manager of the Negaunee mine baseball team. It has been considerably strengthened by the addition of several Ishpeming players, "Doc" Enblus, last season's shortstop on the Ishpeming league team; Sam Harper and Axel Anderson. Ray Aas, of Ishpeming, who is now attending the Michigan Agricultural college at Lansing, and is first catcher on the freshmen baseball team, will play with the nine during the summer.

The team will line-up as follows: Samuel Harper, catcher; Axel Anderson and Earl Rule, pitchers; "Butts" Johnson, first base; Harry King, second base and captain; John Doty, third base; "Doc" Enblus, last season's shortstop; left field; "Nikkie" Garbolino, center field; and "Trixie" Frisk, right field.

AUTO 'BUS SERVICE DURING THE SUMMER

George J. Williamson Will Have Two Cars in Service Between Three Cities.

Starting Monday and continuing until late in the fall, George J. Williamson, proprietor of the Auto Inn, will operate a jitney bus service between Ishpeming, Negaunee and Marquette. Two automobiles, an Oakland five-passenger car and a seven-passenger Chalmers touring car, will be used in the service. Mr. Williamson will have two smaller cars at the Inn for other trips.

The regular trips will be made hourly, cars leaving Ishpeming and Marquette at the same time. The first car in the morning will leave the Nelson House at Ishpeming and the Stafford drug store, Marquette, at 8 o'clock. The auto will arrive here, going to Marquette, fifteen minutes after the hour and from Marquette at fifteen minutes to the hour. The first car in the morning for Marquette will leave the Inn here at 7:15. The fare will be fifty cents one way, regardless of the number of passengers carried.

The last car will leave Ishpeming in the afternoon at 4 o'clock and it will arrive at Marquette at 5 o'clock, leaving there immediately for Negaunee. The cars will leave the terminals in the morning at 8, 9, 10 and 11 o'clock and in the afternoon at 1, 2, 3 and 4 o'clock. The last regular trip from Marquette will be at 5 o'clock. One trip will be made from Ishpeming in the evening, leaving there at 7 o'clock, and on the return trip the car will leave Marquette at 10 o'clock.

A dance will be given tonight at the Labor Temple. Music will be furnished by Anderson's orchestra. The admission will be twenty-five cents.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Maitland and daughter, Rena, who have been visiting in California for the past three months, are expected home this morning.

Thomas M. Wells, county sealer of weights and measures, arrived home yesterday from Republic and departed on the afternoon train for Lansing, to spend a few days on business.

James King and Frank E. Tompkins returned home yesterday from a few days' fishing trip at King Lake, near Negaunee. They had several trout which weighed nearly two pounds each.

Mrs. C. A. Monroe arrived here yesterday morning from Duluth, to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. Johanna Sheehan, which will be held this morning at 9 o'clock from St. Paul's church.

John Rouse, William Thomas, Edwin Norris, Thomas Hosking and John Webb, well-known Negaunee young men, have departed for Butte, Mont., where they expect to obtain employment as miners.

Lee L. Wilcox, chief engineer, and H. Roy Edmonds, chief chemist for the Republic Iron & Steel company, with headquarters at Gilbert, Minn., are here on a few days' business visit at the company's Hartford and Cambria mines.

An enjoyable program was presented last evening at the Swedish Lutheran church by the members of the Young People's society of the Swedish Lutheran church of Ishpeming. The Negaunee Young People were the guests of the Ishpeming society. At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served.

"Mothers' Day" will be observed tomorrow at the Gwinn Methodist Episcopal church. A special program will be given and the members of the congregation will wear flowers, in honor of their mothers, a red flower if the mother is living and a white flower if she is deceased. The choir will render special music at all of the services.

Thomas J. Flynn, secretary of the Upper Peninsula Firemen's association, left yesterday for Marquette, where the officers of the association will meet to complete a program and arrange dates for the 1915 tournament. All the members of the executive committee, with the exception of Gordon J. Murray, of Michigan, treasurer of the association, will be present. Mr. Murray is confined to his home by illness.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE FALLS TO LOWEST RATES IN YEARS; ITALIAN ISSUES REFUSED

New York, May 21.—Developments in the foreign exchange markets today were regarded as of more importance than the day's rather inconclusive session on the stock exchange. Demand sterling fell to 4.78, the lowest rate since the panic of 1873; francs declined to the lowest quotation within the memory of exchange dealers, and Italian renzittances were virtually unobtainable. Later in the day London bills recovered a trifle on rumors that arrangements

In the opinion of experts, unless the strain soon is relaxed foreign financial conditions will reach the point where most, if not all the nations now at war may have to declare a double monetary standard—gold and paper. It is generally understood that England is financing the immediate needs of France and Russia, and Italy's projection into the conflict is calculated to add to Great Britain's financial burdens.

DECREE AGAINST IRON COMPANY

In Foreclosure Suit Brought by Union Trust Company Against Lake Superior Iron & Chemical Co., Judge Sessions in Grand Rapids Found for Complainant.

Indebtedness Amounts to Nearly Seven and One-Half Million Dollars and, in Default of the Payment, With Interest, the Properties Will Be Sold at Auction.

A decree has been filed by Judge C. W. Sessions in the foreclosure suit brought by the Union Trust company against the Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company, in which he holds the latter concerned indebted to the trust company in the sum of $7,462,851.53. The defendant company must pay that sum, with interest at six per cent, on or before Monday, May 24, in default of which its premises and properties will be sold at public auction. The decree provides that the complainant or any of the parties to the suit, may become the purchaser, or purchasers, of the company's properties.

The filing of the decree closes another chapter in the story of the financial difficulties of the Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company. They began when the company was bonded to the Union Trust company to the extent of more than six millions. The Trust company filed its foreclosure suit in the United States district court October 31, 1913, and the case has been pending since that time. Co-defendants with the Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company are the Continental & Commercial Trust & Savings bank, and Frank H. Jones.

The proceedings were not contested. Judge Sessions' Decree.

"This cause having been brought on to be heard on the bill of complaint filed therein, taken as confessed by the said defendants, and on motion of Campbell, Buckley & Ledyard, attorneys for the complainant, says Judge Sessions, 'it is ordered, adjudged and decreed: That the material allegations of said bill of complaint are true in manner and form as alleged.'"

"That there is due to the complainants, as trustee under the trust deed and mortgage set forth in said bill of complaint, for principal and interest of the bonds thereby secured, as of the 17th day of May, 1915, the sum of $7,462,851.53."

"That the defendants pay, or cause to be paid said complainant, or to its solicitors, the amount hereinafter so found to be due, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent, per annum, from the said 17th day of May, 1915, and the costs of the said complainant by it about its suit in this behalf expended, to be taxed, on or before the 24th day of May, 1915; and in default thereof, that all and singular the said mortgaged premises and property mentioned in the bill of complaint in this cause and hereinafter described, be sold as provided in said trust deed and mortgage, as an entirety, subject to the obligations of the receiver, hereinafter in this cause appointed, at public auction, by and under the direction of John S. Lawrence, who is hereby appointed special master in chancery of this court, for the purpose of holding and conducting the sale, at any time after the said 24th day of May, 1915; that the said sale be conducted at the courthouse in the city of Marquette, county of Marquette, state of Michigan."

The decree provides, further, the master in chancery, out of the proceeds of the sale of the premises and properties of the company, must pay the complainant its costs.

Judge Sessions requires that no bid for the purchase of the furnace company's holdings shall be received unless accompanied by a certified check for $100,000. Six months from the date of sale, the defendants and all other persons claiming, or to claim, shall be forever barred and foreclosed from all equity, or redemption. Also, it is provided that if the sale does not realize sufficient amount to pay the debt due the trust company, the Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company and the other defendants must pay to the complainant the amount of the deficiency, with interest.

Has Extensive Holdings.

The Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company has extensive holdings in Michigan and in northern Wisconsin. It owns six furnaces, three of which are in the upper peninsula, one in Ashland, Wis., and two in the lower peninsula. The plant at Newberry is the only one in the upper peninsula that is now working. The other two at Marquette and Chocoma. The latter has never been operated by the company. The lower Michigan plants are located at Elk Rapids and Boyne City.

In addition to the furnace plants, the iron company owns large tracts of timber lands in Ashland county, Wis., Iron, Gogonic, Alger, Delta, Schoolcraft, Lapeer, Mackinac, Chippewa, Benzie, Antrim, Kalkaska, Emmet and Charlevoix counties in Michigan. The company also has an interest in the Yale mine.

DEATH OF NELS E. KROPP.

Aged Resident of Marquette Passed Away Last Evening.

Nels E. Krupp, aged eighty-nine years, passed away at 10:45 o'clock last night at the home of his son-in-law, Andrew E. Peterson, 614 North Third street. Since Tuesday afternoon, when shortly after returning from a walk he suffered a paralytic stroke, Mr. Krupp had been unconscious. He was well-known in Marquette, particularly among the Swedish people.

Mr. Krupp was born in Vermland, Sweden, March 10, 1826. He came to the United States in 1879 and lived in Ishpeming until fourteen years ago. Then he moved to Marquette and had since made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Peterson. Besides Mrs. Peterson, he is survived by two sons, Nickulus, of Seattle, Wash., and John P., of Ishpeming; also a stepdaughter, Mrs. Charles Johnson, of Duluth. There are ten grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Mr. Krupp was a member of the Swedish Methodist Episcopal church. Arrangements for the funeral will be made today.

IS IDENTICAL WITH TURIN TOWNSHIP CASE

Alger County Now Faces the Problem of Issuing Saloon Licenses in Some Townships.

In a township of less than 500 population has the township board the right to grant a saloon license? This question, raised recently in connection with the approval of an application for a license in Turin township and the later refusal of the county treasurer to accept the license money, may be regarded as being advised by the prosecuting attorney, has now arisen in Alger county, where according to the last census several townships show less than 500 population. The issue in Marquette county doubtless will be decided at the term of circuit court next week when Judge Flannigan will consider an application for a writ of mandamus to compel the county treasurer to issue a liquor license for Turin township.

Should the courts decide the question as Prosecuting Attorney Kennedy contends, no saloon licenses may be granted in several Alger county townships. These are: AuTrain, population, 409; Grand Island, population, 52; Limestone, population, 413; Onota, population, 147.

According to the 1910 census Munising township including the then Munising village, had a population of 3,517. But as the city of Munising has been set apart from the township of Munising, that the latter now has a population of 500 is doubtful.

The last census gave Mathias township a population of a little more than 500. Therefore, population considered, the township would be entitled to at least one saloon.

The last census gave Rock River over 1,000 population. But as the people of that township, by petition, have decided against surety bonds and personal bonds have been fixed at $6,000, that township is likely to remain dry this year.

Upper Peninsula

Purported Blind-Piggers Arrested.

The Iron Mountain Tribune-Gazette reports the issuance of warrants for the arrest of Robert Quilici, Emma Miller, Mary Longrey, Ed Shea, Dominic Cantani and James Lambert, charging them with selling liquor without saloon licenses. The preliminary examination will take place next Wednesday. The evidence is stated to have been obtained by two detectives who were employed by the city to ascertain whether there were places selling liquor without license, as was hinted. It is said the detectives represented themselves as piano agents.

Soo Boosters Organize Club.

"The Sault Ste. Marie Civic and Commercial club" was formally launched at a meeting of businessmen held at the Le Saut de Sainte Marie club rooms at the Soo this week. Officers were elected for the ensuing year. The formation of the new organization comes as the result of the businessmen's dinner held at the Country club last week. The sole object of the club is to promote the industrial and civic welfare of the Soo and Chippewa county. R. G. Ferguson was unanimously selected to head the organization, as president. The following men were also unanimously selected for the various offices: Charles E. Chibley, first vice president; B. M. Morris, second vice president; John P. Old, secretary; William M. Snell, treasurer.

Chosen Commercial Club Secretary.

Harry A. Thurlow has been selected by the directors of the Menominee Commercial club as the secretary or active head of that organization. The directors had a long list of applicants for the place and after a long deliberation considered Mr. Thurlow as the best fitted. The new secretary has already taken active charge of the affairs of the club. He was born in Marinette and has lived in Menominee for twelve years. He is thirty-two years old. For several years Mr. Thurlow was connected with the Prescott company in various capacities. Most of his time was spent on the road, but he also had an active part in the advertising work. This experience along advertising lines, it is believed, will prove a valuable asset to him in his work for the city.

Lock City Dry for Five Hours.

For five hours Tuesday night the Soo was "dry" so far as the water supply is concerned, owing to trouble with the pump that feeds the boilers at the pumping station. From 7:45 o'clock until 1 o'clock in the morning there was no pressure in the mains. The excitement and apprehension were so intense that Mayor Handy, Recorder Eaton, City Engineer Frederick and Water Commissioner McLaw made a trip to the pumping station and remained until early morning. But the break-down had its good effects, too. City Recorder Eaton has been kept on the jump by persons hustling in to pay their water rental, thinking that the water had been turned off because of their neglect to pay their rent. It was the first time the Soo has been shut off from its water supply for this length of time for many years. A fire alarm turned into an unusual excitement. Fortunately, the alarm was a false one. Had there been a fire the water would have been ready to fight it with chemicals. Chief Taylor having got an extra supply of chemicals in readiness as soon as the water was shut off.

John D. Cuddihy Is Optimistic.

John D. Cuddihy of Calumet, who has arrived home from an extended business trip to Eastern points, is optimistic over business conditions as he found them, particularly as they relate to the copper industry. Commenting on the prospects for the copper market, Mr. Cuddihy said: "The copper companies are selling for delivery to England and Russia far into 1916. Copper men believe that even if the war ends, and it is not expected to end for at least two years more, that from the present outlook Europe, particularly the continental countries, will want enough copper for replacements to take the full American output for two or three years to come. If the war does not end in side two years this condition of affairs will exist just that much longer. This is taken generally in the copper world to mean nineteen to twenty-cent copper, at least, for several years to come. There is little likelihood the United States will be drawn into the European war, according to Mr. Cuddihy, whose opinions are based on expressions of leading men of many industries in the east. President Wilson is receiving much praise in Boston and New York for his attitude in the present crisis. The big factors in the present era of prosperity, according to Mr. Cuddihy, are trade expansion and the strong financial position occupied by the United States. While in New York, Mr. Cuddihy witnessed the assembling of the great Atlantic fleet for review and visited several of the great ships.
