

ITALY IS TO BEGIN WAR ON AUSTRIA TODAY

COL. ROOSEVELT IS TRIUMPHANT IN BIG LAWSUIT

Not Having Been Libeled, Wm. Barnes, Jr., Is Entitled to No Damages, Jury Decides—Ev-erything the Former President Charged Is Held to Be True.

Long Consideration of the Question of Placing All Costs Upon Plaintiff Terminates in Sweep- ing Victory for Defendant—At- torneys for "Boss" to Appeal.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 23.—The jury in the trial of William Barnes Jr.'s suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt returned a verdict in favor of the defendant after considering for more than eleven hours the question of placing all the costs of the action upon the plaintiff.

It is the belief of the jury every- thing Colonel Roosevelt charged is true and therefore the plaintiff, not having been libeled, is entitled to no damages.

Barnes had asked $50,000 damages be- cause Roosevelt accused him of being a crooked ally with Boss Murphy of Tammany Hall.

The foreman of the jury, Warren W. Summers, announced that the verdict was for the defendant and then the jury was polled.

Ten jurors answered "for the defend- ant," then the clerk hesitated, called the name of Edward Burns and waited.

Burns, a big rosy checked Republican, stood up in his seat and in a deep voice, said: "For the defendant."

Juror No. 12 gave the same answer.

Judge Prohibits Applause.

Before the jury came in the specu- lators in the crowded court room were warned that any demonstration would be met with severe punishment.

Except for the voice of the clerk and jurors, the room was absolutely quiet un- til the name of Burns was called. When he announced that he, too, favored a ver- dict for the former president, the court room buzzed like a dynamo with voices.

Several persons in the court room stood up and waved their hands, but there was no outbreak of applause.

After the announcement of the verdict, attorneys for Mr. Barnes objected to its receipt.

The objection was overruled, the jury was thanked by Justice Andrews for its services and it then filed out into the jury room. Colonel Roosevelt broke off shaking hands with his counsel and several newspaper men whom he has known for several years and hurried to the jury room. There he thanked the jury and shook hands with each member and said:

"My whole life I shall work in the interest of the public and none of you gentlemen shall ever have the chance to say that I have done otherwise."

The colonel was then photographed with the jury. After the pictures had been taken the colonel turned to the jury and continued:

"I am more moved by this verdict than it is possible for me to express. None of you, I assure you, will ever have cause to regret your action. I am especially gratified that such a verdict came from a jury composed of men of every political faith."

VIOLATION OF ALLIANCE GIVEN AS CAUSE OF WAR

Formal Declaration by Italy Short and to the Point—Hostilities to Start Today.

London, May 24, 12:23 a. m.—The Italian ambassador at Vienna on Sun- day afternoon presented a formal declaration of war to Baron von Burian, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister. This announcement is made in a Vienna dispatch to Reuters by a telegram company sent by way of Amsterdam.

Amsterdam, May 23, via London, May 24, 2:05 a. m.—A dispatch from Vienna says the Italian ambassador to Austria, the Duke of Avarna, this afternoon pre- sented to Baron von Burian, the Aus- trian foreign minister, the following declaration of war:

"Vienna, May 23, 1915. "Conforming with the orders of his majesty, the august sovereign, the un- derigned ambassador of Italy has the honor to deliver to his excellency, the foreign minister of Austria-Hungary, the following communication:

"Declaration has been made as from the fourth of this month to the im- perial and royal governments of grave motives for which Italy, confident in her good right, proclaimed a general and henceforward without effect her treaty of alliance with Austria-Hungary, which was violated by the imperial and royal government, and resumed her liberty of action in this respect.

"The government of the king firmly resolves to provide, by all means at its disposal, for safeguarding Italian rights and interests, and cannot fail in its duty to take against every existing and fu- ture menace measures which events im- pose upon it for the fulfillment of national aspirations.

"His majesty the king, declares that he considers himself from tomorrow in a state of war with Austria-Hungary.

"The undersigned has the honor to make known, at the same time, to his excellency, the foreign minister, that passports will be placed this very day at the disposal of the imperial and royal ambassador at Rome and he will be obliged to his excellency if he will kindly have his passports handed to him.

"Signed, "Avarna."

DEATH ROLL TOTALS 158 AS RESULT OF COLLISION OF THREE BRITISH TRAINS

London, May 23.—An official an- nouncement was made tonight that 158 persons were killed or missing as the result of the triple collision which occurred yesterday morning on the Caledonian railway north of Carlisle. All but six of the killed were soldiers belonging to the Royal Scotch regiment.

The wreck took place at 6 o'clock in the morning. One of the three trains was a troop train; another was a local and the third was the express train from London to Glasgow.

The adjoining fields soon had the appearance of an immense mortuary, with the dead, it is said, lying and the injured lying in gresworn ranks.

The troop train collided first with a local from Carlisle and before the occu- sion was over the wreckage of the London-Glasgow express crashed into them.

Fire broke out and before it was ex- tinguished many under the wreckage, unable to make their escape, were burned alive.

Doctors performed heroic service. One physician responded to the appeals of two soldiers who were imprisoned by the legs. Facing the flames, he ampu- tated both legs of one soldier and one leg of the other, as this method offered their only hope of escape. One soldier died from the shock.

GEN. OREGON RECORDS A REVERSE FOR VILLA

Vera Cruz, May 23.—General Oregon, in a report received today, says that after the troops of General Villa at- tacked his men at Trinidad, he drove Villa back to Leon, capturing or killing two thousand of the Villa forces. The fight continued for sixteen hours Satur- day.

Generals Villa and Angeles, ac- cording to reports, were moving south from Leon to strike Oregon's flank. Gen- eral Oregon says the move failed utterly and that Villa lost several officers. General Oregon says he is pursuing Villa northward and that his own losses were slight.

SAYS CURZON AND CARSON WILL BE IN NEW CABINET

London, May 24, 3:17 a. m.—The new British cabinet, according to the Times, will have as members both Lord Curzon, of Kedleston, former viceroy of India, and Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader. It is believed that the distribu- tion of the portfolios in the fighting de- partment is still undecided and that they are giving Premier Asquith much trouble.

EIGHTH STATE TO TAKE FIELD ON ALLIES' SIDE

Belligerent Nations in European War, With Entrance of Italy Today, Total Eleven—Action Taken by King Victor the Direct Result of Popular Demand

Territory at Head of Adriatic Object of Rome Government—What Are Declared to Be Most Powerful Guns in World Will Be Used Against Austrians.

Rome, May 23.—The entrance of Italy in the European war, which began last August, brings the number of states en- gaged in the conflict up to eleven. Italy, allied with Germany and Austria-Hun- gary since 1882, in the triple alliance, was called upon by the emperor after the assassination of the Austrian crown prince, at Sarajevo, Bosnia, to support the German empire. She de- clined, and there began a series of dip- lomatic negotiations which soon resolved themselves into efforts on the part of Germany and Austria-Hungary to induce Italy to remain neutral.

Prince von Buolov, an astute German statesman, whose wife is an Italian woman, was sent to Rome with instructions to do his utmost to save the situation. He la- bored for months, but in vain. He of- fered Italy certain tracts of Austrian territory as the price of her neutrality, but her answer was: "It is not enough." It now appears that Austria did not really believe that Italy would enter the field against her.

In the meantime there had risen in- stantly a war party which made its voice heard in no uncertain terms in Italy. Dispatches from Rome for months past have indicated that the sentiment for active participation in the war was stronger by far than that on the side of continued neutrality.

Popular Demand Hostilities.

The cabinet of Premier Salandra re- signed early in May. This was the signal for violent demonstrations in many important cities of the kingdom, all in favor of war. A wave of pa- triotic fervor swept the country and the people were loud in their demands for the beginning of hostilities. Troops had to be called out to maintain order, but everybody and everything which de- picted continued neutrality was de- stroyed and despoiled. Even relatives of King Victor Emmanuel were hooted, and there was talk of revolution. The emperor of Austria-Hungary was burned in effigy in Rome and ex-Premier Giolitti, leader of the pacifists, was driven into seclusion.

These evidences of the popular de- termination had their effect. The an- nouncement was made that the ministry of Premier Salandra would continue in office, whereupon there was instant calm throughout the country. Having gained their point, the people quieted down as quickly as they had risen to voice their determination, and turned their faces to await the call to arms.

For months the diplomatic exchanges between Vienna and Rome had been con- stant, but the most persistent efforts of the diplomats to keep Italy out of the war were futile. The triple alliance was denounced by Italy on May 4, but even after this diplomatic endeavors were continued, Austria offering Italy further concessions as late as May 10.

Two Armies Face Each Other.

Italy's first move on land undoubtedly will be against the Austrian frontier. Large numbers of her troops are mobilized in this territory and the forces of Austria-Hungary are lined up on the other side of the boundary. The very mountains which separate the two armies, where the opposing armies face each other, the southern part of the Austrian Alps, promises to be the scene of most difficult fighting. For several weeks past both the Austro-Hungarian and the Italian armies have been engaged in fortifying, and otherwise adopting protective measures, each on its side of the dividing line.

So far as is known most of the Italian fleet is in the Adriatic under the command of the Duke d'Abuzzi, who is known to many Americans through his visit to the United States some ten years ago. It is generally believed that the fleet will proceed promptly against the naval strength of Austria in these waters. On the Adriatic are the Austrian ports of Trieste and Pola and Fiume, in Hungary; the Dardanelles coast also is Austria's. The Dardanelles is less than eight hundred miles from southern Italy, and her participation in these operations against the Turkish positions is expected.

"Unregained Italy" Object of War.

One great purpose of Italy in entering the war is to gain possession of "un- regained Italy," a sweep of Austrian ter- ritory near the head of the Adriatic sea. This region, which includes Trent and Trieste, is Italian in all but ownership. To obtain it has long been Italy's cherished ambition.

When the great European war began Italy's army was considerably below the normal peace footing, estimated at three hundred thousand men. Almost half of these troops were in Tripoli. Three classes of men were called to the colors immediately and others were summoned from time to time, until now the active, or first line, army, numbers more than one million of all arms. The age limit for active service in Italy is thirty-two. Men between that age and forty form the territorial army, consisting of eight classes, amounting to 1,150,000 second

SUMMARY OF SITUATION.

Italy, the eleventh nation to enter the European war, has thrown down the gauntlet of battle to Austria.

The Austrian and Italian troops in vast numbers are arrayed against each other along the mountainous frontier.

Most of Austria's warships are at Pola, the great Austrian naval port in the Adriatic. The Italian fleet, powerful in dreadnoughts, put to sea from Spezia weeks ago under command of the Duke d'Abuzzi, a cousin of King Victor Emmanuel, and its whereabouts is not at present known.

The official proclamation, signed by the king, fixed May 24 as the day for commencement of the war, but almost immediately the Italian ambassador at Vienna presented the Austrian foreign minister with the formal declaration. In an official statement issued at Berlin the German government says that by this at- tack against the dual monarchy Italy also has broken her alliance with Germany and adds that the royal relationship existing be- tween Austria-Hungary and the German empire remains unim- paired.

Expectancy in the action of Italy has rather dwarfed interest in other matters connected with the war, but strangely enough there has been little of para- mount importance during the last few days to attract attention. The battles both in the east and in the west are being fought much after the manner of the past six months, with losses or gains here and there.

Line troops. There are also about one million men, trained, but exempt from military service, who, in case of urgent necessity, could be called to arms. Vol- unteer corps likewise could be formed, so that Italy's total war strength, including four million men.

Artillery the Best in the World.

In eight months she has spent $400, 000,000 on military preparations. Partic- ular attention was paid to artillery and her equipment in this arm, from machine guns to heavy field pieces, is said to be unexcelled in the world's armies. Her heavy guns are reported to be superior to the now famous German and Austrian types, and in military cir- cles there have been rumors that Italy has evolved a field gun of about three inch calibre, exceeding in range, ac- curacy, ease of handling and effective- ness of projectile even the famous French "75's."

Italy has a powerful fleet of modern warships. In her navy she has eight battleships of the pre-dreadnought type, seven armored cruisers, thirteen protected cruisers and the usual complement of destroyers and torpedo boats. She also has twenty-five submarines.

Italy's population in 1913 was given as 33,288,000. Military or naval service is compulsory and universal.

THOUSANDS PREVENTED FROM LEAVING TOWNS IN TEUTON TERRITORY

Rome, via Paris, May 23, 8 p. m.—The reports from Rome that the Ger- man and Austrian governments have prevented thirty thousand Italians from leaving the territory of those countries have created a profound impression here.

From the Austrian side of the frontier news reaches this place that at Udine the German army has been heavily re- hauled and that the rate of six hun- dred men, who left Trieste, hoping to reach Italy, is unknown and the greatest anxiety is felt for their safety.

At Rovino, in Istria, sixty-two Italian citizens have been arrested. All had been ordered to leave Italy, but pledges taken by the German general staff and by the German emperor per- sonally with Emperor Franz Josef re- sulted in the triumph of those advocat- ing Austro-German solidarity, even in the new war against Italy.

About eight hundred thousand Ba- varians and Hungarians already have been concentrated against Italy, Austria insuring them commissariat service.

Germany to Conduct Campaign.

Although Field Marshal Baron Conrad von Hotzendorf, chief of staff of the Austrian army, had prepared for many years for a possible outbreak of war between Austria and Italy, the belief is held here by the campaign will be conducted by the German general staff, which, it is said, has planned a strong offensive movement against Italy in the hope of breaking the Italian lines and forcing their way into Italian territory, thereby arousing alarm and strengthening the feeling favorable to peace.

The Austrian fleet is centered at Pola with only a few torpedo boats and de- stroyers at Cattaro and Spalato. Other Austrian warships are in the Dalmatian archipelago, on the northeast coast of the Adriatic sea. Naval men here do not consider it likely that the Austrian fleet will have Pola unless forced to do so by an Italian attack.

Italians Repulse First Attack of Foe

Rome, May 23, via Paris, May 23, 11:30 a. m.—A clash which is gener- ally termed here the first skirmish of the Austro-Italian war occurred today be- tween Italian and Austrian troops near Focchoddi di Montezzo, in the pass be- tween Pont di Legno and Peja. The Austrian patrol crossed the frontier, but was attacked by Italian Alpine troops and was driven back over the border.

German General Staff, It Is Be- lieved Will Take Command and Conduct the Campaign—Berlin, Rome Hears, Is Angry With Austria for Her Stubbornness.

London, May 24, 3:55 a. m.—"Austrian and Italian forces are facing each other at some places only a half-mile apart," says the Geneva correspondent of the Daily Express. "The forces at the front are estimated at a million men on each side."

Rome, May 22, 8:15 p. m., via Paris, May 23.—Contemporaneously with the issuance of the general mobilization or- der the Italian government tonight offi- cially announced that it had declared war against Austria-Hungary.

Rome, via Paris, May 23, 11:25 p. m.—Italy is at war with Austria-Hungary. With the issuance of the mobilization order the Italian government issued a proclamation declaring war on Austria, which officially will begin tomorrow.

Prior to this, and after a lengthy con- sultation, the ministers of war and marine proclaimed all the provinces bor- dering on Austria, and the islands and coast towns of the Adriatic, to be in a state of war, which was equivalent to the establishment of martial law. The step usually preceding the formal de- claration.

Although drastic action has been looked for momentarily, Italians of all classes have been electrified by the swiftly moving events. Early this morning great crowds gathered around the quinal to await the ministers who were called on the king for the purpose of discussing the situation and signing de- crees.

Strong Italian Forces Ready.

When Premier Salandra and Signor Sonnino, the foreign minister, left the palace, the people cheered them en- thusiastically. When the first blow will be struck cannot be foretold, but after many months of preparation, the army, which has been strengthened greatly, and the navy, are ready. Ex- ceedingly strong forces are in position all along the Austro-Italian frontier on the Austrian side of which preparations have been going on during the last few days to make fortifications as strong as possible and to clear the way for ef- fective artillery action.

The German ambassador and the Austrian ambassador still are in Rome, so far as is known.

Most alarming reports have been re- ceived from Italian border towns that Italian residents in the Austrian Tyrol are experiencing great difficulty in re- turning to Italy and, in many cases, have been placed under arrest.

Berlin Angry With Vienna.

From Germany come reports that com- mander-in-chief, General von Hindenburg, in his quarters there against what is alleged to be the obstinacy of Austria, respon- sible for the failure of negotiations with Italy initiated by Prince von Buolov, the German ambassador. The sugges- tion had even been made that Austria should be left alone to fight Italy, but pledges taken by the German general staff and by the German emperor per- sonally with Emperor Franz Josef re- sulted in the triumph of those advocat- ing Austro-German solidarity, even in the new war against Italy.

About eight hundred thousand Ba- varians and Hungarians already have been concentrated against Italy, Austria insuring them commissariat service.

BALKANS ARE ON EDGE, WATCHING THEIR CHANGE

War Party in Greece Stronger—Roumanian Awaiting Outcome of Battles in Galicia.

London, May 23, 10:38 p. m.—London today awaited with deepest interest the outbreak of actual hostilities between Italy and Austria. Communication across the Austro-Italian border has ceased. Italian mobilization has begun and in Rome today decrees were issued respecting measures "an economic nature establishing a censorship and providing for public safety."

Greece, whose anxiety over the ill- ness of King Constantine has been in- creased by the bulletin issued today, is following closely the situation as re- gards the relations between Austria and Italy and dispatches from Athens state that the war party now is gaining in strength and that the recall of ex-Premier Venizelos is imminent.

Roumania, on the other hand, seems anxious to ascertain the outcome of the great Galician battles before she makes her decision, while Bulgaria is awaiting for more definite results of the attack on the Dardanelles. Roumania may have some time to wait, as Russia has commenced her counter-offensive against the Austro-Germans who drove her Carpathian armies back to the San and Dniester rivers and an entirely new bat- tle now is developing.

The Russians, with strong reinforce- ments, have crossed the San confluence with the Vistula and are advancing southward in an effort to outflank the Germans who crossed the San in the vicinity of Jaroslavl. They also are striking hard at the Austrians in Buko- vina, but apparently have made no fur- ther headway there nor with their offen- sive in the Opatow region. The latter offensive was a movement to involve the German flank, which it partly suc- ceeded in doing. In the Baltic pro- vinces the Germans claim to have de- feated the Russian northern wing in the region of Shavl and also to have re- pushed the Russian attacks near the Dulyba and Niemen rivers.

In the west there has been a series of attacks along the greater part of the line, but no action of importance.

Germans Repulsed in Argonne.

Paris, May 23, 2:35 p. m.—An attack made by the Germans in the Argonne forest was repulsed last night with ex- tremely heavy losses, according to the official statement issued by the French war department this afternoon. The official announcement added that the re- pulsion of the enemy in this region had been complete.

Berlin Reports Successes.

Berlin, May 23.—Fighting at close range at Givency, it was asserted, was going in favor of the Germans and some ground had been gained to the south of Neuville, France. These were the chief events of yesterday on the battle front, according to the German official statement given out here today.

In the eastern theater of war the Ger- mans claim to have attacked and de- feated the Russian north wing. Another thousand Russians are said to have been captured on the Dulyba river.

Four Turk War Craft Sunk.

Paris, May 23.—An official note issued tonight regarding the operations in the Dardanelles says that a British sub- marine has sunk two torpedo boats and two transports, one of which was loaded with troops.

Paris, May 24, 12:15 a. m.—Tele- graphing from Athens the correspondent of the Havas agency says:

"Advices from Mytilene are to the effect that the allied fleet continues to operate in the interior of the straits of the Dardanelles. Several Turkish sub- marine batteries, whose flying was irksome to the allied movement, have been de- stroyed."

GREEK KING IS REPORTED WORSE, WITH HIGH FEVER

Athens, via London, May 23.—King Constantine of Greece, who is ill with pleurisy, became feverish after under- going an operation yesterday, his tem- perature increasing to 101.8 and later to 102.2.

A dispatch from Athens to the Havas News agency says that after a confer- ence of the Greek cabinet ministers with the doctors treating King Constantine it was decided to telegraph to Berlin for a specialist. The king's fever in- creased yesterday and an urgent opera- tion was considered necessary. The latest bulletin from the sick chamber indicating that the temperature had risen caused the greatest anxiety in Athens. Crown Prince George is at his father's bedside.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS TO BE BARRED BY ITALY

Turin, Italy, May 23, 5 p. m.—Com- mander-in-Chief Cadorna, Premier Sal- andra and Foreign Minister Sonnino have agreed, says the Stampa, that no war correspondent shall be allowed with the Italian army and that the Italian press bureaus shall operate in the same manner as those in France and Great Britain.

NEUTRALITY OF VATICAN IS JUSTIFIED BY POPE

Paris, May 23, 5:15 p. m.—A dis- patch to the Temps from Rome says it is stated that Pope Benedict has pre- pared a document justifying the vati- can for its decision to maintain abso- lute neutrality by leaving Italian Cath- olics free to act in the war according to their own desires without engaging the responsibility of the holy see.

ROME MAY HOLD ALL FOOD SHIPS AND STARVE FOE

Cutting Off of Commerce to Aus- tria and Germany Would Be Seriously Felt in Central Em- pire, and May End War Soon, Is the View at Washington.

If Balkans Enter, It Is Asserted, Allies Would Be Sure of Upper Hand—Swiss, Too, Faced by Famine—U. S. Likely Will Issue Neutrality Proclamation.

Washington, May 23.—Italy's decla- ration of war on Austria created a sensa- tion in diplomatic quarters here, for, while the announcement was not unex- pected, the addition of another powerful nation to the number of belligerents in Europe brought out a variety of specu- lation on the military effect of the new operations on the conflict as a whole, and the possible attitude of Roumania, Bulgaria and Greece.

Up to a late hour tonight the Italian and Austrian embassies here, as well as the state department, were without official notification of the declaration of war by Italy, but officials began the preparation of a neutrality proclamation which will be issued by President Wilson probably tomorrow when Am- bassador Page advises the American government of Italy's action.

The opening of hostilities between Austria and Italy had so long been fore- cast that American business interests had long made preparation for the severance of communication.

U. S. to Take Over Consulates.

The United States government, in ac- cordance with requests received over a month ago, will now take over the cus- tody of Italian diplomatic and consular interests in Austria, and Austrian in- terests in Italy, arranging for the care of prisoners and the safe conduct of consuls and diplomatic officers and the protection of embassy archives.

It is taken for granted in diplomatic quarters here that as a result of the declaration of war against Austria, Germany and Turkey, as the allies of that country, will announce a state of war with Italy. Switzerland is expected to take charge of Italian interests in Berlin and Constantinople.

Watch Rome's Policy on Commence.

One of the subjects on which informa- tion is awaited with much interest is the attitude of Italy towards the naval operations of the allies, whether Italy will subscribe to the order-in-council making impossible all commercial inter- course with Germany and Austria through the Mediterranean and whether the same right rule as to contraband will be enforced by the Italian fleets as by the Anglo-French fleets.

The situation of Switzerland is likely to be a cause of much concern, for should the same rule as to ultimate desti- nation of cargoes be put into effect with respect to shipments consigned for transshipment through Italian ports, as imposed by the allies, the little republic, isolated in the center of Europe, with- out sea outlet, may suffer seriously.

Blockade May End War Soon.

The cutting off of commerce to Ger- many and Austria through the Mediter- ranean, it is thought, will permit that country to enter the conflict as a matter of course, but might otherwise have been the case. The entrance of Roumania, shutting off a wheat supply from south- western Europe, would be another im- portant factor. There long has been an understanding between Italy and Roumania, according to official informa- tion here, to enter the war at approx- imately the same time, but whether Bul- garia, anxious to regain territory lost to Roumania, will permit that country to enter the conflict is a matter of con- sideration. The Greek ministry is un- derstood to be ready to assist the allies, though King Constantine, personally, is said to be pledged to maintain neutral- ity. In view of the king's critical ill- ness, the belief has prevailed that Rou- mania's entrance would be followed by that of Greece, counterbalancing any at- tempt Bulgaria might attempt on Rou- mania.

It is generally expected that the Ital- ian fleet will take charge of Anstria- tion in the Adriatic, releasing the French war- ships, which have been on guard there, to go to the Dardanelles. Some Ger- man submarines, it is known, have been shipped overland to Trieste and Aus- trian ports and will assist in the opera- tion, consider the Austrian fleet against Italian commerce. The belief prevails even among well-informed Italians here that there will be no bombardment of Trieste by sea, but that it will be one of the objective points of the Italian land cam- paign.

THANKS TO MR. BARNES.

To William Barnes, Jr., Colonel Roosevelt is indebted for one of the most sweeping and valuable victories in his whole busy and tumultuous career.

In the spring of 1913 Colonel Roosevelt was enabled, through the medium of his libel suit in Marquette against Mr. Newett, to lay for all time the insidious story that he was an intemperate man.

At Syracuse the essential issue was not so much whether Colonel Roosevelt had libeled Mr. Barnes as the question whether the spirit and fact of his political career had been so above cause for reproach that there was justification for his turning the batteries of his biting invective against any man.

For the delineation of this portrait before the jury Mr. Ivins and his associate attorneys were, unfortunately for them, not well equipped with materials.

On the other hand, Mr. Barnes proved a heavy load for his attorneys to carry. He was most vulnerable in those parts of the testimony that Justice Andrews finally ruled out of the case, those relating to his activities as a public printer at Albany.

This verdict is, in effect, a pronouncement that Colonel Roosevelt at all times in his career has, as he contended he has, held first in importance the public interest, that he made no bargains with men whom, like Platt, he was compelled to work with from time to time that were injurious to the public interest, that he sought in all ways in his power to bring out the best in the men he was brought in contact with, and that, in fact, he long essayed to bring out in Barnes the Dr. Jekyll to the subordination of the Mr. Hyde.

So much for Colonel Roosevelt. What did the jury find concerning Mr. Barnes? It found that the defendant charged of him was true. And we find that Colonel Roosevelt charged that:

In New York we see at its worst the development of the system of bipartism rule.

In New York state the two political machines are completely dominated, the one by Mr. Barnes, the other by Mr. Murphy.

The state government is rotten throughout in almost all its departments and this is directly due to the dominance in politics of Mr. Murphy and his sub-bosses, acting through such entirely subservient agents as Mr. Dix and Mr. Glynn, and aided and abetted when necessary by Mr. Barnes.

Mr. Murphy and Mr. Barnes are exactly of the same political type. The interests of Mr. Murphy and Mr. Barnes are fundamentally identical, and when the issue between popular rights and corrupt and machine ruled government is clearly drawn, the two bosses will always be found fighting on the same side, openly or covertly, giving one another such support as can with safety be rendered.

These bosses do not hold public office themselves. They act through the holders of public office whom they control. Yet they really form the all powerful, invisible government which is responsible for the mal-administration and corruption in the public offices of the state.

The Mr. Barnes so characterized by the twelve good men and true, as well as by Colonel Roosevelt, was the dominant factor in the Chicago convention of 1912. He is the man who, more than any other, led to the flouting of the will of electorate as it found free expression in the primary election states. He is the man who more than any other forced the nomination of Mr. Taft and relegated the party which he misrepresented to, for the time, third place in the country.

He is the man who since that convention, and to the present day, has been the strongest individual Republican in New York. He is the man who brought about the nomination of Whitman for governor. He has been selected for the post of chairman of the elections committee of the New York constitutional convention by Elihu Root, the president. He has expected to have a big hand in president making in 1916, as well as, himself, to be elected a Republican senator from the Empire state.

And yet there are many persons who tell us that the Republican party is fully redeemed and is worthy of the confidence of the nation. The Mining Journal believes that it has a lot of unseemliness to do before the nation—unless it loses its sense of political discretion under the spur of economic pressure—will be ready to give to this party its confidence in 1916, and New York is clearly the place where the house cleaning should begin. That is one of the political aspects of a trial, which, however important its political aspects may be, is most notable for the sweeping nature of its vindication of Colonel Roosevelt, the man.

"AMERICANIZING" CUBA. Cuba has taken another voluntary step toward "Americanization." She has abolished the old Spanish arroba of about twenty-five pounds and the old Spanish real of varying value, formerly used for computing and recording transactions in sugar. Henceforth, Cuban sugar will be weighed in pounds and paid for in dollars and cents.

"It is a good step, though it will cause some temporary inconvenience and complaint. The value of our decimal system of currency never has been questioned, and the English pound has proved a most satisfactory unit of weight. It is the one place where the English system of weights and measures seems better than the metric system in use through most of continental Europe. Meters, kilometers and centimeters work very well in practice, and their handiness, as compared with our yards, miles and inches, is beyond dispute. But the kilogram as a unit of weight is too heavy for ordinary transactions, and custom has substituted the half-kilogram, or "demi-kilo," which equals one and one-tenth pounds.

and it cement Cuban friendship for this country instead of weakening it. Which is no more, or the many proofs that it pays a big nation to be considerate of the rights of smaller ones.

The London Times and the Daily Mail, perhaps emboldened by a certain measure of success that attended their efforts to secure a coalition ministry, have turned their attacks on Kitchener, only to find that, this time, they have prodded a hornet's nest and that their course has evoked serious criticism from Britishers of all ranks, expressed in the most emphatic manner they can hit upon.

Kitchener does not promise to be materially injured by the fire of the hostile journals, and like as not will be strengthened. Doubtless there are certain mistakes and miscalculations that can be charged to his account, but the popular verdict appears to be that, in the face of a tremendous emergency, he has done very well, indeed, better than any other British military leader would likely have done. Kitchener will doubtless continue the supreme leader of the army, and it may shortly be brought about that Admiral Fisher's will be far the weightiest influence in the admiralty, if he is not given supreme command of the fleets.

The sentiment among Marquette workmen is largely opposed to the proposal to set the clocks ahead an hour, in the cause of "more daylight." At the L. S. & I shops the employees voted almost unanimously against it. Their attitude is due to particular considerations. At present at quitting time they are able to catch a company train that whisks them downtown in a few minutes, whereas if the clocks were moved an hour ahead they would have to depend on street car service, and with the walk to the street car line, would lose most of the "more daylight" in getting to their homes. Other interests, also, are so in the grip of conditions surrounding their affairs that the proposed change in time would greatly inconvenience them. Mayor Begole will likely report to the commission this evening that he finds no substantial demand here for a change in time, in which event the commission will doubtless table the proposal indefinitely.

Addressing the jury, Mr. Ivins, for Mr. Barnes, said the issue came down to one of veracity between the plaintiff and defendant. Mr. Ivins was largely correct in this assertion. And it wasn't his fault that when the jury settled down to deliberate it was strongly of the opinion that on the score of veracity the plaintiff didn't stand as high. Mr. Ivins did as well as any man could with the material he had to work with. A libel suit in which the plaintiff fails to come clean, while the defendant does, is a monumental undertaking for any attorney.

Concluding comment on the British ministry changes, the Milwaukee Free Press asks: "Are we not justified in thinking that the everlasting Nemesis—Retribution—has already overtaken this conscienceless adventurer, just as it will overtake the Italian proteges if they place greed and hate above truth and duty?" That should be strong enough to satisfy even Milwaukee's stomach.

In other words, there is a large measure of agreement in Marquette that those who desire an hour's more daylight should obtain it by setting their alarm clocks an hour ahead.

Also the Syracuse result will doubtless put an end to the pastime of suing T. R.

EDITORIAL OPINION

Britain's New Determination. On its face the British cabinet crisis was caused by the irreconcilable differences of Winston Churchill and Lord Fisher, both masterful men and unwilling to yield their opinions about the conduct of the naval campaign in the war.

Obviously there was but one course open from the day that the Italian government first asked territorial concessions from an ally at a time when the latter power was hard pressed in war. That way out was to take the whole risk of joining the enemies of the two central European empires, with which Italy was besieged and staking everything upon the allies' final success.

Then and only then Italy might presume to disregard the bitter and hostility of a former ally attacked and despoiled in its hour of need.—Cleveland Leader.

War Immigration. During the winter months of 1915, while New York and other large cities were bewailing the vast hordes of unemployed then on their hands, immigrants to the number of 38,763 were admitted to the United States, according to the United States Bureau of Immigration.

While this is not in itself a very alarming thing in comparison with normal immigration figures, behind it lurks what some of our immigration officials regard as a very significant and dangerous fact. It seems that, despite the

LOWER STATE NOTES

CHEBOYGAN—Dr. A. Grainger's touring car from Pellston toppled over a ten-foot embankment at Gebhardt's hill, outside the city limits. The doctor and a friend were thrown fifteen feet into a brush pile. His wife and two women were pinned beneath the heavy car at the foot of the embankment, but no one was hurt.

JACKSON—John C. Koehler, serving fifteen days for assault and battery upon his wife, is confronted by another wife. Wife No. 1, of Battle Creek, alleges that Koehler never got a divorce. Koehler was married to his present wife Aug. 21, 1912, and he swore he had never been married before. He says he supposed his first wife was dead.

LANSING—Governor Ferris has appointed William F. Connolly, of Detroit, as judge of the recorder's court of Detroit, to succeed James (Chelan) deceased. Judge Connolly has been associate recorder for several years. Senator James Murtha, of Detroit, announces that he will be a candidate for associate recorder to succeed Judge Connolly at the special election to be called by the Detroit city council.

LANSING—A meeting of dry leaders from all parts of the state to have held here June 10 for the purpose of offering the submission of a statewide prohibition amendment by means of the initiative has been abandoned for the time being at least, according to Grant M. Hudson, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league. Plans for placing the proposed amendment before the voters at the 1916 fall election will be discussed, however, at a meeting of the board of trustees of the league to be held here June 19.

ANN ARBOR—C. S. Lind, radium expert and for several years assistant professor in the chemistry department of the University of Michigan, has resigned to devote himself to research work in radium. Two years ago Dr. Lind secured a leave of absence for one year that he might undertake some research work for the United States government at Denver. His resignation will be presented to the board of regents. Other resignations to be presented are those of Professor James P. Ely, who will take the chair of romance languages at Carleton college, Northfield, Minn.; Professor J. S. F. Tatlock, who will go to Leland Stanford, and Professor R. D. Parker, of the engineering department.

ALPENA—When the steamer Alpha arrived from Port McNicoll, Ont., Captain C. L. Atkinson, master, reported Customs Collector James Moffat that two alien stowaways were aboard and asked what should be done with them. Collector Moffat took the matter in charge at once. The men gave their names as T. M. Coffey, twenty-nine years old, and Samuel Manning, twenty years old. Both are natives of England. The men said they hoped to find work in Alpena. Coffey said he is a citizen of the United States, that he was naturalized in Pittsburg, but had left his papers in a suit case. Manning did not deny his allegiance to the king of England. Collector Moffat did not allow the men to land. They were taken to Wyandotte on the Alpha, and will be turned over to the United States immigration inspectors in Detroit.

DETROIT—Although Dean S. S. Marquis of this city characterized the clergyman's pension fund as "un-Christian" and a "Wall Street scheme," the convention of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan in session here has adopted the system. The endorsement of the pension fund was not accomplished, however, until after a heated debate. The pension proposal provides for pensions graduated according to the clergyman's service, with a minimum of $800 for all clergymen who retire at the age of sixty-eight or who retire because of disability between the ages of forty-eight and sixty-eight. It also provides pensions for the widows and minor orphans of clergymen. Dr. Marquis led the opposition to the plan. The officers of the church pension fund are: President, Right Rev. William Lawrence, bishop of Massachusetts; vice president, Samuel Mather; treasurer, J. Pierpont Morgan, and secretary, Monell Sayre.

BAY CITY—When Rev. Thomas S. Anderson, pastor of the First Methodist Presbyterian church, stood up in his pulpit last Sunday and denounced the peace policy of President Wilson toward Germany, he started something. Mrs. Susan Wilson Snyder, of Bay City, first cousin of the president, indignantly left the church with her daughter, Miss Fern Snyder, while Rev. Dr. Anderson was in the midst of a plea for immediate war with Germany, and the upshot of the sermon has been that the congregation is split wide open. Several strong members of his parish have caused active identification with the church among them C. B. Chatfield, prominent capitalist; Dr. H. M. Gale, and others, and there is a possibility that the belligerent pastor may have a little war of his own to settle before the echoes of that sermon die out. Rev. Dr. Anderson, who was an intimate friend of Albert C. Hulbert, who was lost on the Lusitania, charged that the president was "sacrificing honor for peace" and called the administration a failure. In his sermon the pastor declared that President Wilson should have sent at least thirty battleships to deliver his note to the Kaiser.

WIRELESS AND LONGITUDE. Scientists and astronomers are fully agreed that wireless telegraphy can be used for an accurate determination of longitude. The successful work of the American and French parties in the winter of 1913-14 in determining the difference in longitude between Washington and Paris settled this important scientific point; a work in which the astronomers of the United States naval observatory had an important part. It has been satisfactorily demonstrated that for the connection of important places, where high power wireless stations are available, there is great advantage over the old cable methods. In the transmission of wireless time made by local and French scientists from Washington to Paris and vice versa, it was found with a fair degree of precision to be only one-fiftieth of a second. To make this determination of longitude difference it is necessary to make a signal at any wireless station and to have this signal received and the time observed at points where differences of longitude are to be determined. For the accuracy of the determined time it is necessary to have recourse to astronomical observations, which renders the United States naval observatory the ideal place from which the test of these scientific values can best be obtained.

GO TO THE RESCUE.

Don't Wait 'Til It's Too Late—Follow the Example of a Marquette Citizen.

Rescue the aching back. If it keeps on aching, trouble may come. Often it indicates kidney weakness.

If you neglect the kidneys' warning, look out for aching back and aches. This Marquette citizen will show you how to go to the rescue.

Mrs. D. F. Keough, 121 N. Fifth St., Marquette, says: "My back ached all the time and was so lame and painful I couldn't rest at night. After I stopped I could hardly get through with it and I couldn't do my housework. I was troubled considerably by headaches and dizzy spells. My sight began to fail and my health was all run down. The kidney secretions bothered me, too, and were unnatural. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and after using two boxes I improved rapidly. Four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cured me."

BOARD CANNOT HELP RE-VALUE THE MINES

Tax Commission Declines Invitation to Investigate Houghton County Assessments.

County Clerk Kaiser was advised in a letter received late Friday night that the request of the Houghton county board that the state tax commission come to Houghton county before June 1 to assist in the revaluation of producing mines cannot be granted.

The request was made at the instance of F. W. Denton, general manager of the Copper Range Consolidated, a member of the county board. The declaration of the invitation was made by Orlando F. Barnes, chairman of the state tax commission. In his letter, Mr. Barnes says:

"The board appreciates the confidence expressed in the request of your board and is deterred from immediately responding to your appeal by certain considerations that uniformly govern our action in such matters and which we deem proper to declare to your board."

"The board of state tax commissioners in its reviews of assessments and recommendations as to values can only recognize cash value; but in reviewing county equalization it is not bound by considerations of cash value, inasmuch as it is, by law, prevented from equalizing at a greater sum than the totals of the rolls assessed. Because, in reviewing assessments, it can value property only at full cash value, this board has uniformly declined to make recommendations as to individual properties or as to properties of a single class, except where all other properties on the same assessment roll were, in its judgment, at full cash value. It will be readily apparent to anyone that for the board of state tax commissioners to recommend full cash value upon certain properties and leave all other properties on a different basis would be unjust to the properties raised to full value and would continue in an aggravated form inequalities and injustices that might have previously existed in the assessment roll."

"We were asked by your resolution to confer with you as to mining properties only, leaving general properties unadjusted. The experience of this commission in the iron mining counties, where mining property was advanced to full cash value one year but general property not reviewed and placed at cash value until the following year, was unfortunate and unbalanced assessments for two years and necessitated an almost needless amount of explanation to both assessing officers and taxpayers."

The letter of Mr. Barnes also explained that the commission had prepared to get at mining valuations through the work of the state geologist, but this work was stopped at the outbreak of the strike and would later be renewed.

The letter also explained that in later reviewing the assessments of mining companies the commission would also find it expedient to go into other properties, such as real estate and personal property. The commission further explains that if any individual supervisor feels called upon to ask the aid of the state tax commission, that action should be taken after the county equalization board should complete its work.

In the statement Mr. Barnes explains that if the state commission should come at this time it could not alter the method of the local equalization board or the board of supervisors in arriving at valuations, and the results would be practically the same as those obtained by the supervisors of the county.

MOTORCAR MISHAPS AROUSE THE MAYOR

Houghton Executive Orders Rigid Enforcement of Ordinances Relating to Automobiles.

Mrs. F. J. Bowden was slightly injured and the horses attached to the Bowden family carriage also were injured, one somewhat seriously, when an automobile driven by Dr. A. D. Aldrich collided with the vehicle Friday night in East Houghton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowden and Miss Garvin were leaving the home of C. C. Douglass at 10:30 o'clock, the carriage having called for them. As the coachman started from his position in front of the Douglass residence he saw two automobiles approaching, both going eastward. He attempted to get out of the way by driving to the north side of the street. The automobile on the north side attempted to stop, but the slippery condition of the road pavement, following a day of continuous rain, caused the car to skid. A head-on collision was avoided, but the car struck the horses a glancing blow and knocked them down.

Mrs. Bowden's Escape. The only occupant of the carriage affected by the collision was Mrs. Bowden, who was almost thrown from the vehicle. Her foot caught or she doubtless would have gone to the pavement. As it was, her shoe was torn from her foot. At the time she appeared to have suffered no injury, but Saturday morning she found that painful bruises remained to remind her of the experience.

Dr. A. D. Aldrich proved to be the driver of the colliding car. He was accompanied by Mrs. Aldrich. They stopped at once and lent such assistance as was necessary in righting the horses and getting the Bowden party started for home.

Another accident Friday night, in which the Misses Kinne and Munn of Houghton were knocked down, was traced to a car from the Nissila & Makela garage of Hancock, driven by the first named member of the firm. Mr. Nissila was arrested Saturday morning, charged with violating the ordinance against a standing street car. His case is pending.

Mayor Hartman's Warning. Mayor Hartman, when apprised of these accidents, at once issued to Chief Voith orders that there be a more stringent enforcement of the ordinances relating to automobiles. Mr. Hartman says that the village administration is determined to enforce these laws and that any violator will be arrested, regardless of anything but the fact of his violation.

The mayor asks the co-operation of the public. He says that the police force is small, though adequate to all purposes but this. The village has but one officer—Chief Voith—on duty during the day. In watching Slickton street he cannot observe violations on College avenue.

Automobiles are urged to observe the speed laws, to respect the rule of the road to pass on the right, to leave their cars standing at no greater distance than four inches from a curb. Many have taken offense when this latter provision is called to their attention.

Hereafter Chief Voith and his night patrolmen are under positive orders to make arrests when a violation of the automobile ordinance is observed.

TRIMOUNTAIN ANNIVERSARY. Methodist Episcopal Church Will Celebrate on 6th of June.

The anniversary of the dedication of the Trimountain M. E. church will be celebrated June 6. There will be three programs during the day, a morning service, an afternoon platform meeting and an evening meeting. The following ministers will assist: Morning service, 10:30, Rev. Frank Cookson, Lake Linden; afternoon meeting, addresses by Rev. E. Cookson, Rev. Carlton of Painesdale, Rev. Dr. J. R. Rankin of Houghton; evening, sermon by Dr. Rankin.

The choir is arranging special music for the three services, which will be under the general charge of Rev. R. H. Prouse, pastor of the church.

CLOSING ORGAN RECITAL. Paul Allen Beymer, organist and choirmaster of Trinity Episcopal church of Houghton, will play the last of the series of organ recitals at the church Wednesday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. The selections are all from the operas of Richard Wagner and are as follows: "Parsifal," "Prelude from Parsifal," "Pilot's chorus from 'Tannhauser,'" "Introduction to third act and Bridal chorus from 'Lohengrin,'" "To the Evening Star" from "Tannhauser," "March and chorus from 'Tannhauser,'" "Elizabeth's Prayer" from "Tannhauser," "Ride of the Valkyries" from "Tannhauser."

STORM SIGNALS DISCONTINUED. Weather Observer Cowdrey of Houghton was instructed Saturday to discontinue the storm warning service at Ontonagon, which has been supplied through his office to a volunteer displayman at that place. The service is discontinued because it has only provided warnings during the day, at no expense to the government, and the latter now asks that Ontonagon make a show that a day and night service is necessary, when the department will erect a steel tower and compensate the displayman.

GIFT FOR GOOD WILL FARM. Mrs. McDonald, superintendent of Good Will farm, has been advised by the Goodwill Lumber company of Marquette that it has shipped to the farm a carload of wood. Mrs. McDonald expresses her grateful appreciation.

MOVEMENT FOR PEACE. Houghton Chapter, Eastern Star, Will Sign Petition to President.

Houghton chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, has received from Mrs. Lottie Parsons, grand worthy matron of the Michigan grand chapter, a copy of a petition authorized by the eastern Star to be signed by the members of every chapter in Michigan, numbering 450 organizations. Houghton chapter has three hundred members.

VILLAGE CLOCK IS STOPPED. One of the Cables Breaks and Operating Weight Drops.

The Houghton village clock stopped at 9:30 Saturday morning, and this was the way of it. The clock is operated by weights, the law of gravity being the motive power rather than springs. One of the cables supporting the weights broke, and the weight dropped to the floor of the tower, startling the village administration, or such of it as happened to be in the office at the time. That was the extent of the damage, but it shows that there are possibilities in the clock. It was the smaller of the two weights that dropped. If the larger one had dropped it undoubtedly would have continued right through the building. Several administrations have looked for just this latter accident during many years. When it happens, Houghton will have a new clock and very probably a new town hall.

BECOMES HANCOCK MERCHANT. A. M. MacDonald Leaves Gately-Wiggins After Seventeen Years.

Angus M. MacDonald, for the last ten years manager of the Houghton store of the Gately-Wiggins company, announces that he has purchased the Hancock Furniture company from Richard Colville, who recently took it over from the Barkell estate, and will within the week assume the active direction of the affairs of the establishment. He will remain in charge of the Houghton store of the Gately-Wiggins company until his successor is appointed.

Mr. MacDonald entered the employ of the Gately-Wiggins company as a salesman at Calumet seventeen years ago. He was manager of the Houghton store on its establishment ten years ago and shortly thereafter was made vice president of the company. Under his management the Houghton store became the largest of the chain.

In embarking in business in Hancock Mr. MacDonald will have the assistance of his Houghton friends in and out of business. He has established himself firmly as a Houghtonite during his residence, even to the extent of becoming a member of the village council, which position he now holds. For the present at least Mr. MacDonald will continue to live in Houghton.

TEMPLAR CONCLAVE NOTES. Personal and Other Matters Relating to Forthcoming Gathering.

Representative A. E. Peterman recently gave a lecture on the copper country before DeMolay commandery of Grand Rapids, at which time he explained in full the preparations that were being made for the coming conclave. As a result of the lecture, the number of Sir Knights of this commandery who will take the trip next month was increased 25 per cent.

Palestine commandery, of Houghton, gave a dinner at the Masonic building last Wednesday evening, after which the Temple degree was conferred upon three candidates. This will be the last work before the conclave, every Wednesday and Friday evenings from now on will be devoted to drills.

H. C. Blackman, a national bank examiner for this district, attended the sessions of Palestine and Montrose commanderies last week. Mr. Blackman is a member of Eureka commandery, No. 3, of Hillsdale, and contemplates being in the copper country next month for the conclave.

The members of the executive committee having the arrangements of the conclave in hand wish to emphasize that the ball to be given at Calumet the evening of June 7 will be informal. The Sir Knights only will be in uniform or full dress and, with their ladies, will be the only ones to take part in the grand march. All the Masonic bodies of Houghton and the adjoining counties are to be invited to this ball. It was first planned to send invitations to the individual members, but the latest plan is to send the invitation to the secretary or recorder of each of the several bodies.

Portage Lake people are to have an opportunity to see the conclave, as the visiting commanderies give exhibition drills. It has not yet been decided whether these drills will be given in the Amphidrome or on Vivian field.

The Calumet & Hecla band has received from the captain general of Detroit commandery, No. 1, the music to be played during the exhibition drills given by this famous organization. The drills of this corps usually last an hour or more and are always one of the important events of any conclave.

On account of the height of the Amphidrome dock from the water level, it has been decided to dock the North American and the South American at the Copper Range dock. On the morning of the parade at Portage Lake the boats will probably be moved over to Hancock, which will eliminate for the Sir Knights the walk here from Houghton to Hancock for the start of the parade.

SCHULTZ TAKEN TO CHICAGO. Otto Schultz has been taken to Chicago by an agent of the training station near that city. The man will be lodged in the government station until disposition has been made of his case. Schultz was a machinist stationed on board the training ship Yantic at Houghton and is alleged to have assaulted the shipkeeper several days ago. He was arrested and placed in the county jail. The inspector of the Duluth reserve was sent to Hancock to investigate and it is believed that upon his report to headquarters it was decided to take Schultz to Chicago. If found guilty of the charge, it is said the minimum sentence that Schultz can receive is two years in prison.

The last boundary monument between the United States and Canada has been set. The work has been going on intermittently for 100 years.

ROOSEVELT IS VICTOR IN SYRACUSE LAW SUIT

Jury Decides That Everything the Colonel Charged Against Wm. Barnes, Jr., Is True.

The Anglo-Saxon system of determining questions between litigants is rightly lodged in the hands of a jury of twelve men. "Moreover, it determines that jurors holding political views opposed to those held by a party will not be swayed thereby in determining the questions submitted to them."

"My associates and I have fully appreciated the responsibility we assumed in advising the course to be taken in defending the action, and it is a source of great satisfaction to me that the result achieved has justified our advice."

The foreman of the jury, in a statement, said: "After the first ballot we stood eleven to one in favor of the defendant. Those figures were never changed, Mr. Barnes refusing to change his vote until this morning."

"Except for Mr. Barnes, the jurors who voted for the plaintiff in the first ballot did so, they said, because they did not want it to appear that they gave insufficient consideration to the great mass of evidence that was presented during those five long weeks. We are all very tired, I assure you."

Barnes Plans Appeal. New York, May 23.—William Ivins, of counsel for William Barnes, announces that an appeal will be taken from the verdict of the jury at Syracuse, which found in favor of Theodore Roosevelt in the trial of the libel suit brought by Mr. Barnes against the former president. The following statement was issued at the same time by Mr. Barnes:

"There is nothing that I can say regarding the verdict of the jury in this matter, except that when I brought the action I knew that the accusation made by Mr. Roosevelt, of collusion, combination or even dicker between me and Tammany Hall, or Mr. Murphy, or any other Democratic agency, not only for any corrupt purpose, but for any purpose was absolutely false."

"When I accepted the chairmanship of the state committee in January, 1911, it was at the request of the membership of the committee at a time when I had retired from political life and when the republican party was out of power in the state. As chairman of the committee I never attempted to build up any 'machine,' nor to dictate nominations, nor to act in accordance with the ideas which formerly had prevailed with regard to the functions of this office."

"The jury decided that I had no cause of action against Mr. Roosevelt, who charged me with acts which I did not commit and therefore, temporarily, the public may believe that I was guilty of what I did not do."

"However, the knowledge of the complete rectitude of my conduct must content me—which, after all, is the only important thing in life."

Mr. Ivins' statement dealt with the purely legal aspects of the case. After saying that the verdict was entirely unexpected, Mr. Ivins asserted that counsel for Mr. Barnes were satisfied from the beginning that "the attitude of the court toward libel was not in conformity with precedent."

"From the outset," the statement sets forth, "there was a difference of opinion between counsel and myself as to the propriety of the application of these precedents to the case. The result was that numerous objections were taken to the admission and rejection of evidence and the entire charge to the jury was excepted to with the exception of the court's disposition of the law of libel."

Appeal in Due Course. These objections, the statement says, furnish ample grounds for an appeal. Of the appeal, the statement says: "The usual procedure in such cases will be followed, and an appeal will be taken in due course, which will come up for hearing in the first instance in the appellate division of the fourth department. At the hearing the questions of fact may be considered by the supreme court, and on final appeal, by either party only questions of law can be determined. The law of libel has become unsettled through the course in the lower courts, of recent years, that we regard it as a duty to make the endeavor in this case to finally settle precisely what the law of libel and the rights of the respective parties are by an ultimate decision of the court of appeals."

"In the meantime I may add that it remains absolutely true that, as a matter of law, the charge complained of was libelous and was without justification, and that its application to the time covered by the Democratic administration and that there is no evidence of any kind in the case of any collusion between Mr. Barnes and Mr. Murphy, but the most direct evidence of the attempt on the part of Mr. Barnes, in the respective parties at every point."

"The situation would probably have arisen if it had not been for President Roosevelt's attempt to dominate the politics of the state in 1910, and under such conditions as to secure the election of the Democratic administration which brought about the corruption complained of. But Mr. Barnes devoted forty years of his life to the exclusion of business and all other considerations for the people, restoring the Republican party to power, and he succeeded."

"In the meantime, this part of the preclusion has moved by, but the issue still remains undetermined."

TWO AMERICAS MEET THIS WEEK TO FORM A CLOSER RELATION

Washington, May 2.—The Pan-American financial congress, in which administration officials put high hopes for a closer union of the commercial, financial and industrial interests of the hemisphere, begins here tomorrow, with President Wilson as the chief figure at the opening session, to welcome the visitor. The conference will last six days, and although neither the visiting delegates nor the administration has authority to bind the spoken word, those who have planned it expect to see come from it a union of interests and purposes which eventually will work for the peace of the world and the betterment of humanity.

ACCIDENT WILL KEEP SHIP OUT OF WAR GAME

Newport, R. I., May 23.—The battleship New Hampshire, one of the fleet of defenders in the war game, came into port under reduced speed today, having been disabled by a collision with the Island and Gay Head. Naval experts here believe that the attacking fleet is making an effort to obtain possession of the Cape Cod canal and that submarines are being used to defend the Buzzard-bay entrance.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with Olive Oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, you will know them by their olive taste. These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter that our system collects. If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women, as well as men, take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. Mining News

ST. MARY'S. St. Mary's Mineral Land has a present market value of $8,000,000, figuring 100,000 shares at $84 a share—less than the value of its 50,000 Champion shares at $175 a share, which officials say is a low valuation for a stock now showing earnings at a rate of $30 per share per annum. In addition to its Champion, St. Mary's owns over 120,000 shares in other mining companies with a present market value of over $1,000,000; also 93,032 acres of mineral land and the mineral rights to 14,112 additional acres.

GRANBY CONSOLIDATED. Although the directors of the Granby Consolidated took no action on the dividend at last week's meeting, it should not be considered finally settled that there will be no dividend action during the company's fiscal year which ends June 30. A special session of the board may be called early in June to place the stock back in the dividend ranks later in the month. Granby's earnings were never so large and in this prosperity the stockholders will share. As the floating bid has not actually been paid off, although arranged for, this situation doubtless resulted in a decision to defer dividend declaration for a few days. On June 1 this debt will have been eliminated. Development work at Hidden Creek will be pushed this summer. The 5,000,000 tons of known ore reserves will, it is expected, be materially increased. It is not generally known that the tonnage already placed in sight is 200 feet above the sea level. The unexpected territory presents unusual possibilities for greatly increasing the ore reserves. By July 1 the fourth furnace at Hidden Creek should be ready to be blown out and from that time on the new plant will be in position to keep three furnaces in continuous operation. The normal capacity of the plant as it stands has been considerably exceeded, which has been a factor in the low bids already attained.

ANACONDA. At a meeting of shareholders of the Anaconda Copper Mining company held at Anaconda, Mont., the following new directors were elected: Nicholas F. Brady, J. Horace Harding, Andrew J. Miller. The board of directors was increased from seven to nine and three new classes fixed so that the terms of three directors expire each year. The increase in the par value of the shares from $25 to $50 and the consequent decrease in the number of shares outstanding from 4,662,500 to 2,331,250 was authorized and will be put into effect as soon as proper notices can be sent to the shareholders.

CALUMET & ARIZONA. A mining man just returned from an inspection trip of the New Cornelia property, control of which was recently purchased by Calumet & Arizona, says: "The experimental plant at New Cornelia is turning out about 1,000 pounds of electrolytic copper per day. The plant has been in operation about four weeks, and at first the extraction was but 80 per cent, but the last three tests while I was on the ground averaged 85 per cent, which means that it will finally be increased to 90 per cent, which is what they are striving to accomplish. The experimental plant is a demonstration success, and construction of a 4,000-ton plant for treatment of the ores on a big scale only awaits the building of a short stretch of railroad. Bids for this work will be received on June 5, which means that the road will be finished by early fall and the 4,000-ton plant rushed to completion. Although Calumet & Arizona acquired about 70 per cent of the stock of the New Cornelia company when the option was exercised in October, 1913, a great deal of stock has since been picked up, so that it is safe to state that Calumet & Arizona's holdings now amount to between 85 per cent and 90 per cent of the total."

SPLENDID FOR RHEUMATISM. "I think Chamberlain's Liniment is just splendid for rheumatism," writes Mrs. Dunburgh, Eldridge, N. Y. "It has been used by myself and other members of my family time and time again during the past six years and has always given the best of satisfaction." The quick relief from pain which Chamberlain's Liniment affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by all dealers. The water in the Panama canal is gradually becoming salty.

Lumber Trade Improved.

President Flanagan, of the Sagola Lumber company, tells the Iron Mountain Press that there has been a very marked improvement in the lumber trade the last few weeks. His company is now making heavy shipments, but the movement is retarded in a measure by difficulty in procuring cars. The company now has about 5,000,000 feet of lumber in the storage yards at Sagola.

Telephone to Fence.

Dykes & Hickman have decided to build a telephone line from their Fence river ranch in Dickinson county to Witch Lake, a distance of about eight miles, and construction work will commence at once. At Witch Lake the line will connect with the state trunk line. The new line will be a great convenience to fishermen and hunters who visit the Fence river district in great numbers.

School Contract Awarded.

Fred E. Parmelee of Iron Mountain has been awarded the contract to furnish the plans for a school building at Hardwood, subject to the approval of the state superintendent of public instruction. Mr. Parmelee will also superintend the erection. The building will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000. Norway township has let the contract for the erection of a small school house near the Jackson farm.

May be No Local Option Contest.

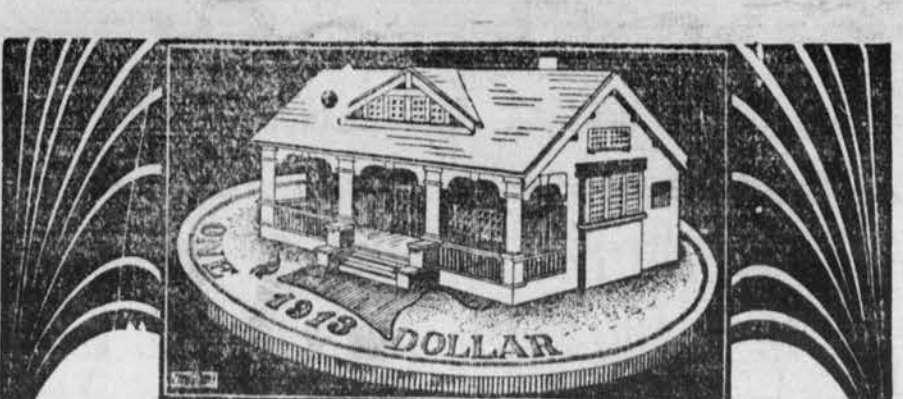

In view of the fact that, according to statements made by prominent leaders, petitions favorable to a state-wide prohibition election will soon be circulated, strong local advocates of temperance in Iron Mountain are not favorably inclined toward a local option campaign in Dickinson county. The local leaders believe that the local campaign would result in a division of strength. If a state campaign is inaugurated the local leaders will rally to the support of the movement.

New Rural Route.

Petitions are in circulation for another rural postal route out of Iron Mountain. The proposed route would serve about four hundred people and be about thirty miles in length. It would cover the Indian mine location, the Jackson farm district, Merzman and George Bluff, returning to Iron Mountain via Twin Falls and the county road. Before the route can be established it will be necessary for Breitung township to build a road nearly a mile long and the authorities have agreed to do the work.

Mining Valuations Are Slashed.

George H. Horton, state tax commissioner, and R. C. Allen, state geologist, conferred at Iron Mountain last week with the local board of review and as a result of their recommendations a marked reduction will be made in the assessed valuations of mining properties in the city. The assessed valuation of the real properties of the Oliver Iron Mining company, including the hydraulic works, in 1914, was $5,333,000. This year—1915—the untraced real properties are assessed upon the recommendation of the above-named state officials at $2,424,200, a reduction compared with last year's of $709,398. In addition to this reduction $250,000—hydraulic works tax—is transferred to the rolls of Breitung township, making the total property valuations removed from the Iron Mountain rolls $1,003,298. The above figures do not include the company's personal assessment. The amount of which has not been decided. The real property of the Pewabic company was assessed in 1914 at $347,500. This valuation will be reduced to $102,129, a cut of $245,371. The total valuation of the Disappearance Remains a Mystery.

Morris Dohnis, who left Norway days ago to spend the day in fishing in the Monominee river, remains unaccounted for. The river has been dragged for several miles near the point where he was last seen and the banks patrolled in hopes of finding evidence of his fate, but without results. The search continues. Dohnis was a miner by trade and there was no reason why he should leave the country. He was afflicted with heart trouble and it is the supposition that he fell into the river and that his body in size and Mr. Eskill hopes to have the everything ready for the fall and winter trade. He has had much experience in Iron Mountain assessment rolls this year by this cut is $1,248,709.

Will Build Green-Houses.

"A Chain Is No Stronger Than Its Weakest Link."

The links in the chain which holds this store together are Perfect Merchandise, Proper Prices, Complete Stocks, Efficient Service, Trustworthy Advertising, Fair Dealing and Progressive Methods. Each is indispensable to strength and each is equally important.

Not one link is weak. They are all of equal strength and no matter how you test them, one at a time or all at once, they will stand the strain without breaking. Thus have we welded these links into a perfect chain which holds this entire store together. Such a strong institution we believe merits all the attention you can give it and is deserving of your continued patronage.

PONT-A-MOUSSON IS MUCH SHELLED TOWN

But Despite Rain of Steel Life in Its Confinement Goes on as Usual.

Pont-a-Mousson, May 4.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Pont-a-Mousson is approaching its hundredth bombardment. It has heard the cannon continuously for nine months, been shelled, intermittently, during the whole of that period, and daily during part of it; it shows some ugly scars here and there, but life goes on as usual. The shops are all open and mostly doing a lively trade. Those merchants not serving customers are sunning themselves in their doorways. Boys playing marbles on the Place Duroc stop only to salute gravely a detachment of military marching through the town to take its position in the Bois Le Pretre. A group of women on the cathedral steps, surrounded by their children, are knitting and chatting calmly.

Meanwhile the cannons roar to the east toward Nomeny, to the southeast toward Chateau Saliffs, to the north toward Metz, to the north in the Bois Le Pretre and to the west toward St. Mihiel. Yesterday eighty shells fell in the town, adding one more to the fresh graves in the cemetery and increasing the devastation. The villagers have distinguished a new note in the formidable concert playing all about them. It is the voice of the big French guns that have commenced pounding the southern forts of the fortified camp of Metz. They know where they are, but no one mentions the name of the spot for every inhabitant of Pont-a-Mousson has acquired military discretion.

"Each one in his turn," said a non-commissioned officer, dining off a half demolished table in a characteristic old provincial auberge across the bridge in the suburb of Saint Mihiel. "Now they are going to get their own and how they are going to get it, though!"

"Tit for Tat," he added, to the landlady coming in from the kitchen to serve him. Through the doors she opened the kitchen was seen to be open to the sky. "It doesn't matter, but when the weather's good," said the landlady. "In fact that old range seems to work better than ever in the open air, but when it rains it kicks like sixty."

The kitchen in question had been visited by a 12-inch shell and all that was left of it was the range and chimney. The partitions separating the dining room and bar were riddled by fragments. The bar itself had had its back broken and the tables and chairs were in various stages of demolition.

"What a fright you must have had," said the sergeant.

"Yes," replied the simple old lady, "I was afraid the range was busted."

Such is the spirit of these frontier folks who have been bombarded for nine months and have witnessed some of the momentous developments of the gigantic duel between the principal opposing fortresses of Metz and Verdun. Metz delivered the first blow; Verdun is now countering.

The German armies invading France were unable to use their forces to the best advantage over so short a front as the boundary between France and Germany. That is one of the reasons given by military experts for the violation of the neutrality of Belgium by Germany. This strategic movement enabled them to pivot on Metz and wheel around through Belgium into France over a vast front.

The German line resting on Metz was at once engaged with the French center resting on Verdun. The Crown Prince's army, coming into France by way of Longwy, attacked Verdun on two sides. It succeeded in demolishing Troyon, an interval fort between Verdun and Toul, but was forced to give up Verdun when they were able to attack by Douaumont, and the French claim not a shell struck home.

This bombardment was effected from a sort of neutral zone to the north which neither side has occupied—consisting of two small plateaus called "Les Jumelles de France." The Germans constructed a railroad behind these plateaus, brought up guns by train, fired a few shots, then drew the guns away without waiting for Verdun to reply. The battle of the Marne put an end to this desultory attack and since then the pressure on Verdun has gradually turned upon Metz.

Students of the military operations declare that the French have been within long range of the Sommy and Wagner forts for several weeks and could have attacked them with heavy artillery at the time they began bombarding the railroad line at Arnaville. The entire distance between Verdun and Metz is only thirty-seven miles. It is supposed that they were waiting for the new heavy English monitors from which great things are expected.

The fortress of Metz, like that of Verdun, is surrounded by heights affording admirable protection and commanding long distance of approaching ground. In the time of the French possession of Alsace-Lorraine it was supposed to be the strongest fortified place on the frontier. The Germans began to strengthen it immediately after 1871. The work was finished in 1890. Another transformation, during which a number of new forts were built, began in 1900 and was not yet completed at the outbreak of the war.

The place is now defended by twenty-five modern forts with many intervening redoubts and secret field works. The southernmost forts are the Sommy and Haesler which adjoin each other on the right bank of the Moselle and the left bank of the Sillon and Wagner on the right bank of the Sillon. It is supposed to be the forts of Sommy and Haesler that are now being attacked. The former is one of the most recently constructed forts of the fortress; it is only three and three quarters miles from Arnaville, the frontier railroad town that has been bombarded since December.

It is not supposed that the French have in view an assault upon Metz. They are simply improving the opportunity afforded by the progress of their lines to inflict all the damage possible in anticipation of a siege later on.

"RED HOG" CASE LONG AND COSTLY

Expensive Suit Over Eighteen-Dollar Porker in Kansas Lasted Five Years.

Leavenworth, Kan., May 23.—The trial of the case of Henry Shaw against Andrew Evans over a pig worth $13 that has been in litigation for nearly five years ended in the district court when a jury brought in a verdict finding that Evans owned the porker. In a previous trial before a jury in the city court a verdict was returned declaring that Shaw was the owner of the hog. Whether a further appeal will be taken to the state supreme court to see what the judges of this tribunal will decide had not been determined.

The costs in the case, as assumed from lawyers' fees, is said to be over $100. It is expected that the case will be kept in the courts, as both sides have shown a grim determination to be declared the owner of the hog, regardless of time or expense.

Wonderful Witnesses.

The trouble in this "Red Hog case," as it is called, started in the South Side Park near the Riverside mine in December, 1910, when Shaw claims that a hog owned by him wandered away and that Evans penned it up and later on killed it. On the other hand Evans claims to have raised the hog, that it was his property from the time it was born.

The first trial for possession of the hog took place in the city court before a jury in January, 1911, when Shaw won. An appeal was taken and all efforts to settle the case have been futile.

Many South Side Park people, Polish, and other friends of both parties, were witnesses, and their testimony offered. The descriptions of the hog varied greatly. One said it had no tail and that both of its ears had pieces clipped out. Some said it was white and black spotted.

A photograph of anything but a prize-winning hog was placed in evidence and most of the witnesses when confronted with it said it was a good picture of the hog in dispute.

It developed that the hog the suit was over had several litters of pigs and they were sold around the neighborhood. One Polish witness said he knew all about the hog, first saw it when it was five days old, watched it grow up and helped to eat it. He knew the hog belonged to Evans.

M. Toffler, one of the jurymen, acted as interpreter while a number of the Polish witnesses were testifying.

The jury was only out a short time in reaching a verdict.

Notice of School Bond Election and Registration of School Electors.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the Public Schools of the City of Marquette, State of Michigan, has duly estimated and determined it to be necessary, in order to advance the interest of public education in said school district, to immediately purchase a new schoolhouse site in some central place in said district, and to erect, furnish and equip a school building thereon; and has estimated and determined that for said purpose the amount of $140,000 is necessary and required, and that it is necessary to raise for said purpose, and said Board proposes, for said purpose, the sum of $140,000, by borrowing the same upon bonds to be issued therefor, pledging the faith and credit of said school district for the payment of the principal and interest of such bonds; said bonds to be payable on the first day of July in each year, as follows: $5,000 in 1920, and a like sum each year for ten years thereafter; $10,000 in 1931, and a like sum each year for three years thereafter, and $45,000 in 1935; with interest thereon at the rate of four and one-half per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on January first and July first in each year.

The question of ratifying such estimate, the amount proposed to be raised, the purpose thereof, the borrowing of said sum of money and the issue of such bonds therefor, will be submitted to the vote by ballot of the legal voters of said school district for their approval, at a special election which has been duly appointed and called, to be held in the City Hall, in said district, on Tuesday, June 1st, 1915, and that the polls of said election will be open continuously from eight o'clock a. m. to eight o'clock p. m. of said day.

Said question will be submitted in the following form upon the ballot to be used at said election, viz:

Shall the estimate of $140,000 for the purchase of a new schoolhouse site in some central place in said district, and the erection, furnishing and equipment of a school building thereon, be approved and the Board of Education be authorized to borrow said sum of money and to issue bonds therefor payable on the first day of July in each year as follows: $5,000 in 1920, and a like sum each year for ten years thereafter; $10,000 in 1931, and a like sum each year for three years thereafter, and $45,000 in 1935; with interest thereon at the rate of four and one-half per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on January first and July first in each year, and pledging the faith and credit of said school district for the payment of the principal and interest of such bonds?

MOVING PICTURES UTILIZED TO POPULARIZE THE WAR.

London, May 23.—The use the German government makes of moving pictures to popularize the war among the German people and the expedition of picture operators for the front organization by the French war office has brought the film to the notice of the British war department as an aid to recruiting. "Our young men are not so much lacking in patriotism as imagination," said a leading recruiting officer. "An appeal to the eye is the most effective that can be devised. The battle picture, the cinema proprietor will tell you, is the most popular he can film. If our young men could see for themselves, there would be no further talk of compulsory service."

"DIAGNOSIS OF THE ENGLISHMAN"

The Englishman must have a thing brought under his nose before he will act; bring it there and he will go on acting after everybody else has stopped. He lives very much in the moment because he is essentially a man of facts and not a man of imagination. Want of imagination makes him, philosophically speaking, rather ludicrous; in practical affairs it handicaps him; at the start, but once he has "got going," as we say, it is of incalculable assistance to his stamina. The Englishman, partly through this lack of imagination and nervous sensibility, partly through his inbred dislike of extremes, and habit of minimizing the expression of everything, is a perfect example of the conservatism to the end of him. All to this unimaginative, practical, tenacious moderation, an inherent spirit of competition—not to say pugnacity—so strong that it will often show through the coating of his "live-and-let-live" half-surely, half-good-humored manner; and a peculiar, ironic, "don't-care" sort of humor, an underground but inveterate humor, and an ashamed idealism, and you get some notion of the pudding of English character. Its main feature is a kind of terrible coolness, a rather awful level-headedness. The Englishman makes constant small blunders, but few, almost no deep mistakes.

England produces more than its proper percentage of cranks and poets, and, I take it, this is nature's way of redressing the balance in a country where feelings are not shown, sentiments not expressed, and extremes laughed at. Not that the Englishman lacks heart; he is not cold, as is generally supposed; on the contrary, he is warm-hearted and feels very strongly; but just as peasants, for lack of words to express their feelings, become stolid, so it is with the Englishman, from his lack of the habit of self-expression. Nor is the Englishman deliberately hypocritical; but his tenacity, combined with his powerlessness to express his feelings, often gives him the appearance of a Pharisee. It is the habit of men of all nations to want to have things both ways; the Englishman is, unfortunately, so unable to express himself even to himself that he has never realized this, much less confessed it; hence his appearance of hypocrisy. John Galsworthy in North American Review.

WHEN IT RAINS ONE INCH.

Very few persons—even those who are well informed on most matters—know how much an inch of rain is.

The average man or woman probably has an idea that an inch is a mere trifle on nature's part. This is entirely wrong in reality it is a good big rainfall—more than falls in most places in an average week.

A rainfall of one inch means literally that the amount of water descending in a particular shower would cover the surrounding territory to a depth of one inch, providing it did not run away or soak into the ground.

An inch of rain coming down on a single acre of land would fill more than 600 barrels of forty-five gallons capacity each. This amount of water would weigh more than 110 tons, or nearly a quarter of a million pounds.—Pearson's

FIREMEN ARE TO MEET IN AUGUST

Manistique Tournament Will Be Held First Week—Entertainment Planned.

John Lacey, chief of the Ishpeming fire department and president of the Upper Peninsula Firemen's association, arrived home yesterday from Manistique, where he and other members of the association's executive committee conferred with Manistique men relative to the 1915 tournament of the association and reunion to be held in that city. Other members of the committee present were P. H. Exley, chief of the Manistique department, who is first vice president; Oscar E. Oie, of Munising, second vice president; and Thomas J. Flynn, Negamee, secretary. Gordon J. Murray, the treasurer, of Michigamme, who has been ill, was unable to attend.

It was decided to hold the tournament during the week of August 1. The arrangement committee expects within the next week or so to close a contract for a street carnival, which will furnish the principal entertainment for the visitors.

A program of firemen's contests is to be arranged by the Manistique committee and copies will be sent to the executive committee for approval. The events will be similar to those on last year's program in this city.

The members of the executive committee are well pleased with the prospects for a successful tournament, and they believe that the Manistique men will prove excellent entertainers. About $2,800 has already been raised for entertainment purposes and the committee expects to increase the fund to at least $3,200 and possibly to $4,000.

The Ishpeming department will enter teams in the several events. The prizes will be generous, but the Manistique committee has not yet decided what they will be. It is expected that most of the departments will enter teams in the contests, as the firemen can take part in them without devoting much time to training.

FUNERAL OF FRANK E. LONG.

Old-Time Stock Actor, Wellknown Here, Buried in Austin, Minn.

Frank E. Long, whose death last week in Minneapolis was reported in The Mining Journal, was buried Thursday in Austin, Minn., where he had made his home since his marriage, more than seventeen years ago. While for many years past Mr. Long had been a sufferer from locomotor ataxia, his death was due to injuries sustained a short time ago in Winona, Minn., where his company was filling a week's engagement at the opera house. He was fifty-one years of age.

Thirty years of Mr. Long's life was spent in the theater business, twenty of them as manager of his own company, which played many of the cities of the Northwest year after year. He started in the show business as a clown with Ringling Bros. circus. Next he went into a minstrel show, then into a small dramatic company, where his character work soon won him a reputation. He started in "The Middleman" and soon after organized a stock company of his own, with which he traveled until a week before his death.

In 1898 Mr. Long married Miss Alice Sullivan of Austin, Minn., who survives him. Two sisters and one brother are also living.

KILLED AT AMERICAN MINE.

Workman Falls From Cage 150 Feet To Bottom of the Shaft.

John Maki, a young Finn, employed at the American mine, Friday night fell 150 feet from the cage to his death. There were several men on the cage, but none of them can explain how Maki came to fall, as the gate was closed. He was not seen when the accident occurred.

Coroner Pein was called to the mine Saturday to investigate the case. No far as he could learn Maki has no relatives in Marquette county, other than a brother, living in Negamee. An inquest will be held at Dorrite today.

CAPTAIN O. P. DOTY RESIGNS.

The Iron River-Stambough Reporter says: "Captain O. P. Doty, who has been superintendent of the Zimmerman mine for a number of years, has resigned. No announcement was made as to his reason for leaving connection with the Spring Valley Iron company, although it was understood a change would be made in the management of the mine soon after the death of the late Colonel Zimmerman. Captain Doty has not disclosed his plans for the future."

TO OPEN STORE HERE.

John Gouge, who has conducted a five, ten and twenty-five cents store in Negamee for the past few years, has rented the main store room in the Menefee block, Main street, and will open a store about the 20th of next month. He was here Saturday and measured the room for fixtures. He will carry a stock of goods similar to those he sells in his Negamee store.

THE ROAD TO SUCCESS.

The best brain effort and indigestion do not go hand in hand. If you would win a lasting success you must keep your stomach in good working order and your bowels regular. This is easily done if you go at it right. Mrs. C. C. Baker, Homer City, Pa., writes: "About two years ago I suffered from stomach trouble and constipation. After I began using Chamberlain's Tablets my condition improved. At the end of a week I could eat and sleep well." Sold by All Dealers.

AMERICANS TO SINK SHAFT IN SWEDEN

Longyear Company Has Just Received an Important Foreign Contract.

The E. J. Longyear company has secured a contract to sink a shaft in Norway, about fifty miles out of Christiania, for a large copper company, says the plant manager. The work will be done under management of the Judson mining company, and Captain Wm. Holman are now at work drawing up plans and organizing their crew to do the work.

As soon as a crew of about sixty men is organized, they will be sent over at once, accompanied by Capt. Holman, who will start the work and will remain about two months until the shaft is well under way and everything thoroughly systematized. The most efficient machinery will be used and the latest methods in shaft sinking will be adopted.

Great speed is required in sinking this shaft and it was for this particular reason that the Norwegian people had American contractors bid on the work. As America holds the records for speed in this line of work, the contract calls for a shaft 12x18 and 1,100 feet in depth.

The company will have no trouble in organizing a crew, as Mr. Richards says that many have already signified their intention of going over. Mr. Richards expects to have a full crew organized before June 10, around which time they will leave this country to begin work.

The E. J. Longyear Co. are to be congratulated on their success in landing this big contract, which is a tribute to the world wide reputation they enjoy. Several other large shaft sinking contractors bid on the job.

MARRIED AT TOWER.

John Boase Wedded to Miss Clara Hunter, of Vermilion Range Town.

Of the marriage of John Boase, son of Thomas Boase of the Lake Angeline location, and Miss Clara Hunter of Tower, Minn., a press dispatch to a Duluth paper said:

"Thursday forenoon Miss Clara Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hunter, became the bride of John Boase of Duluth. Rev. Mr. Mapson of Ely performed the ceremony. The couple were unattended and only the immediate family witnessed the ceremony. The couple will make their home in Duluth, where Mr. Boase is now employed. The bride was born and lived here until a few years ago when she went to Cloquet, where she was employed in the bank. She later to Duluth, where she has been for the last two years. Until quite recently, Mr. Boase was also employed in Duluth."

DENTISTS HERE NEXT YEAR.

Upper Peninsula Dental Society to Meet in Ishpeming in 1916.

Ishpeming was chosen as the next place of meeting of the Upper Peninsula Dental society, at the annual convention held Friday and Saturday in Menominee. The annual meeting is held in May or June.

Dr. E. G. Robbins, of this city, was elected vice president of the association and Dr. S. G. Main was elected secretary and treasurer. Dr. John A. Bung, of Houghton, was chosen president.

The visiting dentists were enthusiastic over the success of the Menominee convention, which they declared was the best the society had ever held. Nearly 100 dentists from various parts of the upper peninsula attended the meeting, and several from outside were also present.

The programs for the two days, arranged by the officers of the society and a committee composed of Menominee and Marquette dentists, was a profitable one. Several excellent papers on topics pertaining to the profession were presented. A banquet was held Friday evening in the Hotel Menominee.

FEATURE TONIGHT.

Another Broadway Star Picture, in Three Parts, at Ishpeming Theater.

"O'Garry of the Royal Mounted," another of the Vitagraph company's Broadway star features, will be shown this evening at the Ishpeming theater. Several of the Broadway company's favorite performers will be seen in the production, including Edith Storey, who takes the leading feminine part; Ned Finley, S. Rankin Drew, Logan Paul and Jack Brown. There are some exciting scenes in the picture, among them a struggle on a precipice during which a man is thrown into the river below and is saved from drowning by Miss Storey, who is an expert swimmer.

Glarry O'Garry and Jan Larose are partners, working the same gold claim on the bank of the river. Jan grows increasingly jealous of O'Garry's friendship with his wife, Marie. O'Garry seeing that he is causing trouble between the two, decides to go away, first giving his share of the claim to Cummins, Marie's father. He leaves behind Pitah, an Indian whose life he had once saved, telling him to watch over Marie.

O'Garry wanders aimlessly through the wilds until he meets Constable Miller, of the Royal Mounted police, and the idea of that kind of life appealing to him, he joins Miller's company. After a year of rough service, O'Garry is promoted to a constable in the mounted and assigned to Fort Redoubt, a mountain outpost. One day looking over the records, he sees a photo of Jan Larose, wanted under another name by the One-hoe police for murder, with a notation saying that he has left a wife and two children behind him. His superior orders him to set out after Larose and apprehend him.

O'Garry finds his old partner, and a terrific fight takes place on the edge of a high bluff. Larose succeeds in striking Glarry over the head with the butt of his revolver and throwing the unconscious man over the cliff into the river. Marie, out riding, sees him fall, lets her hair down the side of the cliff with a lariat, and while she is in mid-air, Larose creeps up and cuts the rope. She falls into the icy water, but swims to O'Garry, who is sinking, and supports him. Larose shoots his revolver and is about to shoot the two in the water when Pitah creeps up behind him and stabs him.

Marie and the Indian then rescue O'Garry and carry him back to the cabin where they care for him until his recovery. He sets out for the fort to resume his duty, but before leaving Marie proclaims his love and promises to return in the spring and make her his wife.

THE INDUSTRIAL CHEMIST.

Comparison of the work of German and American chemists in respect to the coal tar dye industry tends to cast a reflection upon the competence of the American which Dr. Bernhard C. Hesse, who writes in Science, thinks unwarranted. German pre-eminence in this coal tar dye making he attributes to narrow speculation in this branch on the part of the Germans and to the German business-man's understanding of and sympathy with the problems of chemistry. Handicapped as the American has been by the absence of this co-operation between the businessman and the chemist, the American chemist, the writer thinks, has yet made a very real and broad contribution to the prosperity of American industry. His activities have covered a wide range of industries. In the cottonseed oil industry the American chemist has standardized methods of production, reduced losses, increased yields, made new use of waste and by-products, and has added somewhere between $10 and $12 to the value of each bale of cotton grown. In the cement industry he has found new ingredients in what was formerly waste and has insured consistency and permanence of quality. Without the chemist the sugar industry, it is said, would be impossible, and in the textile industry he has substituted uniform and rational methods where "rule of thumb," with accompanying uncertainties, had existed. In the fertilizer industry the chemist taught how to make immense beds of phosphate rock useful in enriching the soil and has shown how to put other waste material to the same purpose. The soda industry the chemist is said to have founded and practically to have brought to its present state of perfection an utility. Standardization and selection of the proper grain for specific purposes in the flour industry has been made possible by the chemist, and in the science of preservation of foods he made the fundamental discoveries. In the water supply of cities he has shown how water of varying quality can be made potable and of substantially uniform quality and composition. The cellulose industry and the nitro-cellulose industries owe their very existence, it is said, to the chemist, and in the glass industry he has shown the way to prepare glass for a wide range of uses and to control quality and output. In the pulp and paper industry the chemist has made the fundamental observations, inventions and operations, and today is in control of all the operations of the plant itself. In addition he is said to have cheapened many of the materials entering into this industry and will have expanded the market for the product itself.

OFFICERS GET TWO OFFENDERS

Nunn and Daniels, Arrested at Little Lake, Held Responsible for Many Robberies.

Roy Nunn and Joseph Daniels, alias William Lewis and "Billy" King, respectively, ex-convicts, were arrested Saturday at Little Lake by John Lehman, James M. Johnson and George Booker, of Gwin, and Ernest Bodinas, of Little Lake, deputy sheriffs. The men, who are reputed to be desperate criminals, have, since their arrest, confessed to committing a series of robberies in Marquette and Delta county towns during the past year.

Nunn, who served seventeen years in Jackson and Marquette prisons for murder, confessed to Deputy Johnson, while being taken to the county jail, that it was he who robbed St. Paul's Catholic church here and took valuable altar fixtures from the sanctuary on the morning of March 30. He also confessed to the entering of the jewelry store of A. Forsander, next to the "Star" theater, some time during the month of March.

The men have lived at Thomas Kirkwood's camp near Little Lake, since last fall, and Mr. Lehman, who is the Cleveland-Chief Iron company's office at Gwin, has suspected for some time past that they needed watching. The day after the Gwin robbery he watched their camp from a distance to see if they tried to conceal any of the stolen articles, but they kept out of sight that day and several days following.

The gold pax and eborium, valued at $100, which Nunn stole from St. Paul's church are now at the bottom of Little Lake. Nunn thought the articles were solid gold. When he found that they were plated he threw them into the lake. Little Lake residents spent yesterday trying to recover them.

Is Well Known Here.

Nunn is well known in Negaunee, he having spent several months here after he was released from the Marquette prison, although only a few persons here knew that he was a paroled convict. A few days before he left the city for Little Lake, where he went last fall to look after a mushroom garden for Mr. Kirkwood, he broke into Bellstrom & Son's bicycle repair shop on Case street, and stole a number of guns, ammunition, razors and knives. It is finally learned that he was the guilty man, but Mr. Bellstrom did not want to prosecute him, because of his being out on parole.

After going to Little Lake Nunn frequently came to Negaunee to purchase supplies for the camp. He was always armed and carried two revolvers in his belt. When asked why he was armed here he said he had a homestead in a wild part of the country and that it was necessary for him to protect himself from wolves and bears.

Planned to Leave.

Thursday Mr. Lehman, who had been keeping a close watch on the men, saw them moving their stuff from the camp to Little Lake. They had been ordered to vacate the place by Mr. Kirkwood, who with his family spends the greater part of the summer there. They brought in three large boxes, three bags and a suit case, all of which were filled with stolen goods. The suit case was left at the Little Lake depot and the boxes and bags were stored about the village. Mr. Lehman opened the suit case, and found that it contained nearly all of the stuff which was taken from the Gwin pharmacy.

Mr. Lehman then arranged with E. J. Goodman, Jr., to get work for the men at the saw mill at Little Lake. The officers entered the mill and saw the men at work. They were kept apart from each other, so that the officers could arrest one of them without the other knowing it. Mr. Goodman noticed Lehman early Saturday morning that the men planned to leave Little Lake as soon as they had finished their work that evening. Nunn was sent to E. Goodman's camp, about three miles from the mill, to repair a chimney, and Daniels was put to work in the blacksmith shop.

Men Made No Fight.

Mr. Lehman, with Johnson, Booker and Mr. Goodman, surrounded the blacksmith shop, and when the officers walked in on Johnson he was taken unawares and gave himself up without making a fight. He was handcuffed and Booker was left at the shop to guard him while Lehman, Johnson and Bodinas went to the camp to get Nunn. The officers entered the camp by a side door and were in the same room with Nunn and within ten feet of him before he knew of their presence. He was ordered to throw up his hands. In turning to face the deputies he reacted, for a gun in his hip pocket, but the officers had him covered.

Robbed Ramile's Store Three Times.

The men were handcuffed together, but when they were taken on the train Nunn asked Deputy Johnson if he could speak to him privately. When this favor was granted he at once commenced to shift the blame on his partner. When he saw that the officer did not believe his story he confessed his guilt.

When asked where they got money with which to purchase provisions Nunn told Johnson that it was easier to get them with money. "Every time we ran short," he said, "we broke into Martin Ramile's store at Little Lake, and helped ourselves to what we needed. We got in there three different times, and he never got wise. Twice Joe worked on the inside and I kept watch, and the other time we changed about. In our trips there we loaded up with clothes and canned stuff and other things to eat. On one trip we took a whole box of shirts. After every visit there we nosed around to find out if anything was said, but he couldn't have missed any of the stuff, because he never said a word to anyone."

Had Plenty of Ammunition.

Nunn and Daniels had enough ammunition at the camp to last them for several years. They had three high power rifles, and several boxes of ammunition for each. They also had revolvers of every description and size. While Mr. Lehman did not make a count of the revolvers he found at the place, he estimated the number at two to three dozen. They had five and six boxes each of shot gun shells and twenty-two, thirty-two, thirty-eight and forty-four caliber revolver shells.

Yesterday Marshal Newcomb visited a Negaunee residence, where Nunn was boarded for two months while he lived here, and found a large number of his belongings. Nunn had evidently sometime or other worked at the jewelry trade, as the marshal found a complete set of watch and jewelry repair tools. Other articles that he left at the boarding house to pay a board bill of two months was a complete set of books on astronomy and a number of instruments.

Have Prison Records.

Nunn, who is about forty years old, has served seventeen years in prison, six of them in Marquette. He was sent up from Gladwin prison, in the lower peninsula, in 1897. His father was sent to prison at the same time, having been implicated with his son in a murder. His father died a number of years ago in Jackson prison. The Nunn's were robbing a chicken coop and they shot the owner, who surprised them at work, in cold blood. Nunn, during the time he was confined to Jackson prison, was an incorrigible, and for that reason was removed to Marquette.

Daniels served ten years in Jackson prison for rape and assault, having been sent up from Detroit. It is thought that he was paroled, and that he broke his parole by going to Canada, going from there to Little Lake to join Nunn when the latter secured the position with Mr. Kirkwood. The men told Little Lake residents that they were spending the time in camp to benefit their health, and that as soon as the nice weather came they were going to California.

CHARITY BALL THURSDAY.

The women of the United Charities organization will give a charity ball Thursday evening at the Adelphi rink. The admission will be twenty-five cents. In addition, a charge of five cents will be made for each dance. Hayden's orchestra of Ishpeming will furnish the music. The ball will take place of the concert it had first been decided to conduct. The committee of eight appointed to arrange for that event will have charge of the ball. It is probable the concert will be given at some early date.

CHAMPION BASEBALL TEAM.

A number of Champion and Beacon young men have organized a baseball team and are now booking games. The team is composed of some former college ball players and several men who have had minor league experience. Ed Bellhumer is the manager.

At a dance given recently the team cleared enough money to purchase a complete outfit of making games. The team is composed of some former college ball players and several men who have had minor league experience. Ed Bellhumer is the manager.

The officers of the ball club are Edward J. Bellhumer, manager; Walter E. Nord, captain; Alfred E. Cardinal, treasurer, and Gordon Fredrickson, secretary. The team will be composed of the following players: Harry Garrow, Fred Reinhardt, James Plankey, Dolph Gouvier, Alexander Assault, Howard Priske, Will Valine, Walter Nord, Al Cardinal, Gordon Fredrickson and Ed Bellhumer. Verne LaCrosse is the mascot.

LOCAL LAONICS.

Al Beal of Michigan visited Saturday with George Feigel and family.

Mrs. Leo Guimond, formerly of this city, who has been ill for some time at Alpha, is improving.

Mrs. H. C. Wagner spent the past few days visiting with her father, Thomas Smith, at Houghton.

Miss Virginia McKenzie has gone to Chicago to spend a few days visiting with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin H. Green have arrived from Chicago, and will reside here for the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. Hans Hansen has returned from Lathrop, where she spent a few weeks visiting with her son, Thorvald Hansen.

Carter H. Harrison, ex-mayor, of Chicago, spent Saturday here visiting with Joseph H. Winter and family.

Oscar Walkama, son of Isaac Walkama, has gone to Brussels, Wis., where he is receiving treatment at a sanitarium.

A class of fifty children made their first Holy Communion yesterday morning at the 8 o'clock mass at St. Paul's church.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Farney, of Marquette, were here Saturday to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. Johanna Sheehan.

Frank Altman arrived in the city Friday evening on a short visit to his family and departed again Saturday for California.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Johanna Sheehan was held Saturday morning, with services at St. Paul's church, and was largely attended.

The remains of the late Mrs. C. J. Wedlake, who died Wednesday at Butte, Mont., after a week's illness, will arrive here this morning and will be taken to the home of Thomas Gribble, on Snow

Several thousand persons heard the concert given at the city band stand Saturday evening by the Negaunee City band. The music was well-received and was much appreciated.

James Hendrickson, Charles Laity, Hugo Muck, John J. Wentala and H. W. Trembath will go to Marquette this morning to serve as jurors during the May term of circuit court.

J. D. Murphy, a former well-known Negaunee resident, has been appointed postmaster at Tower, Minn. His daughters, the Misses Mayne and Lenore, will be employed in the office.

Rev. R. T. Hicks, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, has returned from Kalamazoo, where he went as a delegate from Negaunee Chapter 108, R. A. M., to attend a meeting of the Grand Chapter.

Orlando Swick, who was a member of the Negaunee league baseball team for several seasons, is now playing with the Keokuk, Ia., team of the Three I league. The team has won nine games and lost six and is in third place.

"The Hour of Three," the eleventh episode of the "Exploits of Elaine," will be the feature on the program at the Star theater tonight. The other pictures will be "Dwellers in Glass Houses," a two-reel biograph drama, with a cast including Franklin Ritchie, Louise Vale and Jack Drumier, and "Love Versus Chickens," a Kalem comedy.

PLAN PROGRAM FOR HOMECOMING

Committee in Charge of the Celebration Meets Tonight With Sub-Committees to Consider the Various Entertainment Features That Have Been Proposed Observance Will Extend Over a Period of Four Days, and Not Five as Originally Intended—Special Attention to Be Given to the Fourth of July.

The executive committee in charge of Marquette's homecoming will meet with the chairman and members of all sub-committees at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight for the purpose of arranging a definite program for the celebration and observance of the week of the Fourth of July.

At a meeting of the executive committee and the chairman of the sub-committees Saturday it was determined to make the celebration extend over a period of four days, instead of five as had been planned.

The executive committee now is considering the features to be worked into the fourth of July program.

The chairman of the finance committee has reported to the executive board that sufficient money will be obtainable to carry the celebration through.

Invitations still are being sent out by the invitation committee, of which M. W. Jopling is the chairman.

ELKS DELEGATED TO LOS ANGELES MEET

Thomas P. Carey and William J. Johnston Will Represent the Marquette Lodge.

Thomas P. Carey, exalted ruler of Marquette lodge, No. 495, I. O. O. F., and William J. Johnston, district deputy grand exalted ruler, have been selected to represent Marquette lodge at the national convention of the order, to be held in Los Angeles in July.

Marquette Elks are showing more than usual interest in the state convention in Grand Rapids next month, principally because Saint Ste. Marie is seeking the 1916 convention.

The entertainment committee of Marquette lodge is making plans for the observance of Flag Day, June 14.

Housekeepers Hoped Central Delivery Would Be Established.

NEGAUNEE TOOK YESTERDAY'S GAME

Defeated the Marquette Ball Team at the Fair Grounds, 5 to 3.

Negaunee's ball team yesterday afternoon evened up for its defeat by the Marquette nine at Union Park two weeks ago by winning from the Marquette boys in a game at the fair grounds here by the score of 5 to 3.

In the first inning, Negaunee scored two runs on two errors by Marquette, and in the second the visitors put across three runs on the same number of errors.

Marquette club has ordered new uniforms and expects to wear them in the next game it plays.

WOULD INCREASE LOCK CAPACITY

Marine Men Are Favorable to Greater Depth at the New No. 4 at the Soo.

Although the excavation for No. 4 lock at the Soo has been finished and all is in readiness for a start with the concrete work, great lake vesselmen are endorsing the proposal that the federal government revise its plans so as to provide for a thirty, instead of a twenty-four, foot depth.
