ROTTERDAM SHIPPING FALLS OFF RAPIDLY

Is Predicted That It Will Take Five Years After Peace for It to Recover.

FAMOUS PHRASES OF AMERICAN NAVAL MEN

Captain Whipple in the French and Italian war in his privateer, Gamecock, captured in a single year twenty-three French prizes and subsequently became a hero of the revolution against Great Britain. In 1775 Sir James Wallace of the British frigate Rose notified Whipple that he would be hanged at the yardarm for having burned his majesty's ship Gaspee. Whipple sent the memorable reply: "Catch a man before you hang him."

THE AMERICAN WAR CRY ON SEA AND LAND

The American war cry on sea and land during the Spanish-American war was: "Remember the Maine!" It was the dominant thought of every sailor on American warships at Manila bay and in front of Santiago. The feeling of revenge was often voiced by gunners in the heat of the fight.

SEARCH FOR LOST EXPLORERS.

The three-masted schooner George B. Cluett of the Grenfell Association, under the command of Captain H. C. Pickles, sailed from this port recently to search for the Crocker Land.

The destination of the schooner is Etah, Greenland, from where the party will continue its search over the ice. The existence of Crocker Land, said to have been discovered in 1906 about sixty miles south of the North Pole, was declared to be a myth in a letter recently received from Donald B. MacMillan, the leader of the missing expedition sent out by the Museum of Natural History in July, 1913, on the Diana to explore the unknown territory.

Commodore Hull, aboard the Constitution in his memorable engagement with the frigate Guerriere, held his first unit within a few hundred feet of his enemy, although Old Ironsides was shot almost to pieces; then he literally tore the Guerriere to splinters. His command amid the roaring of the enemy's guns: "Now give her a broadside!" is recalled by Dewey's calm order "Gridley, you may fire when you are ready!"

SENIORS GAVE AN EXCELLENT PROGRAM

"Our Country, Its Past, Present and Future" Was Theme of the Addresses.

Ishpeming theater was filled to its capacity last evening by relatives and friends of the members of the class of 1915 of the Ishpeming High school.

The class, sixty-eight in number, the faculty and the members of the board of education occupied seats on the stage, the portion occupied by the members of the class being decorated. The stage was prettily decorated with the class colors. The members of the junior class occupied the balcony boxes on the right, which were decorated with the junior colors.

The theme for the evening was "Our Country, Its Past, Present and Future." This theme was suggested by the late Superintendent E. E. Scribner, who also selected the various speakers for the commencement and class day exercises.

"Our Early Life" was the subject of the salutatorian, Arnold Cain, who traced the development of our history from the landing of the Pilgrims to the Revolutionary war. He emphasized the sound foundation upon which the nation was built, showing that our sturdy ancestors were men of principle.

"The Growth of the Nation," the subject handled by Mimmie Millinachi, continued the theme from the signing of the Declaration of Independence through the Revolutionary war to the ratification of the constitution, with emphasis on the great men of the period.

Next followed "The Rise of Nationality," by John Sibley. He showed how the Declaration of Independence had secured only political independence and that this political independence was in form only.

Also he showed that we were dependent upon Europe in an economic and social way in the first years of our existence as a nation. The War of 1812 was the turning point, and our nationality began to take form at that time.

"Our National development," by Theodore Magnusson, described the condition of the country at the end of the Civil war, and traced the development of the country through the reconstruction period down to the present time. In "Our Present Day Opportunities" Viola Williams made a plea that our trade with South America be built on a firmer basis. We should buy at home, travel at home, and build at home, bringing our quality and service higher, so that the slogan "Made in the U. S. A." will mean something. Her final plea was one for universal peace and brotherhood.

The valedictorian of the class, Laura Peterson, in an able manner spoke of "Our Future as a Nation," she emphasizing in particular phases of such questions as immigration, scientific management, and profit sharing. She showed that the world problems would be solved in this democracy.

An enjoyable declamation on "The Star Spangled Banner" was given by Signe Johnson.

In a most convincing manner George Quaal rendered a declamation on "The New South."

One of the most enjoyable numbers on the program was the solo, "In the Garden of My Heart," by Walter Larson. Harry Battrell, one of the finest violinists in the city, rendered a great variation and was obliged to respond to an encore.

The several numbers by the Glee clubs were also well received. The clubs sang under the direction of Miss Louise Stone, the supervisor of music.

Superintendent E. A. Jellens of the Painesdale schools gave strong address. He referred appropriately to the work of the late Superintendent E. E. Scribner during the years that he had been at the head of the Ishpeming schools.

The graduates were presented with their diplomas by Principal R. P. Davis, who has been acting superintendent since the death of Mr. Scribner. The program closed with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the class, glee clubs and audience.

well displayed. For his opening tomorrow he announces three bargain specials.

SCENES OF MAGNITUDE.

The magnitude of the scenes representing New Year's eve on Broadway, New York, in Henry W. Savage's production of the dramatic spectacle, "Everywoman," will be understood from the statement that to approach realism a chime of bells is used, it weighing over three thousand pounds. Over one hundred and fifty people appear in this scene, which is one of the largest ever staged. "Everywoman" is booked for Ishpeming theater for Thursday, July 1.

REV. FATHER PAULIN HAS RESIGNED

Former Pastor of St. Joseph's Church Is to Take a Well-Earned Rest.

Rev. Father Paulin, former pastor of St. Joseph's church in this city, who for the past several years has been pastor of the Catholic church at Schaffer, Mich., has tendered his resignation to Bishop Eis.

"Bishop Eis has accepted the resignation," says the Escanaba Press. "Although Father Paulin had often said his ambition was only to pay the debts of the Schaffer parish, place it on a good standing and start a building fund; although he also often said he had worked long enough in the diocese to be entitled to a well built-up parish and that he was too old to undertake the building of a church, his people in Schaffer, on seeing his zeal for work and the great interest he always displayed in their parish affairs, held the hope that their beloved pastor would stay with them. The news of his coming departure will be a sad and surprising blow to them all."

"It will be four years on the 27th of this month that Father Paulin assumed the pastorate of Schaffer. There was then a debt of $3,050, which was paid in one year. The property then was improved for about $2,000, which amount was paid up. The improvements were the finishing and furnishing of the parsonage, the building of fences, concrete walks and a floor in the basement. A building fund afterwards was started by the indefatigable pastor, and today there is $2,350 deposited in the bank."

"During last winter Father Paulin had the schools, societies and the church choir at work to raise money for the windows to be placed in the church and lately two beautiful chiming bells have been bought at a cost of $1,078. Of this amount $678.00 has been paid, leaving a balance of $400 still due, which is the only bill against the church. It was the plan of Father Paulin to complete the set of bells by buying a third one and to raise the money to pay the remaining bill on the day the three bells were blessed."

"Father Paulin will leave Schaffer, as he did all his former charges, with the consciousness of having worked faithfully and as a true priest of God, and he will carry with him the love and admiration not only of his own parishioners, but of all who have known him. He expects, as soon as his successor arrives at Schaffer, to go West and visit some old home in Quebec, where he owns a fine property, and he will remain there."
