

U. S. CLAIMS SINKING OF FRYE IS A VIOLATION OF TREATY, NOT ISSUE FOR PRIZE COURT

WASHINGTON ADMINISTRATION, IN NOTE TO BERLIN, BLUNTLY REFUSES TO CONCUR WITH IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT PRINZ EITEL FRIEDRICH WAS JUSTIFIED IN SINKING AMERICAN VESSEL—AGREEMENT OF 1799 PROVIDES NO SHIP MAY BE DESTROYED, REGARDLESS OF CARGO, IT IS ASSERTED.

REPARATION FOR BREACH OF CONVENTION, NOT ATTACK ON BOAT, CALLED QUESTION

Washington, June 28.—By agreement with the foreign office the state department tonight made public the text of the note sent on June 24, by the United States, asking Germany to reconsider her refusal to settle by direct diplomatic negotiations, instead of by prize court proceedings, the claim presented on behalf of the captain and owners of the American ship William P. Frye, sunk with her cargo of wheat by the commerce raider Prinz Eitel Friedrich.

the cargo was contraband, your contention that the destruction of the vessel was justified by the provision of Article XIII does not seem to be well founded. The government of the United States has not thought it necessary in the discussion of the case to go into the question of the contraband or non-contraband character of the cargo. The imperial German government has admitted that this question makes no difference so far as its liability for damages is concerned, and the result is the same so far as the justification for the sinking of the vessel is concerned. As shown above, if we assume that the cargo was contraband, the master of the Frye should have been allowed to deliver it out and the vessel should have been allowed to proceed on her voyage.

Ambassador Gerard Saturday afternoon called that he had delivered the note.

The American government declares that, inasmuch as Germany has admitted liability for the sinking of the Frye, under the treaty of 1828 prize court proceedings are unnecessary and not binding upon the United States.

NO RIGHT TO SINK SHIP.

Aside from the question of how the indemnity should be paid the note brings out clearly the refusal of the United States to accept the contention that Germany has a right to stop the carrying of contraband by American ships "by the destruction of the contraband and the ship carrying it." While no mention of submarine warfare was made in either the last German note or the present reply occasion was taken to deny this right because of a belief that admission of it now in the future may be used as a justification for submarine attacks on American ships.

THINKS GERMANY WILL MODERATE SUBMARINE WAR

Washington, June 28.—A favorable reply from Germany to the last note of the United States concerning submarine warfare and the sinking of the Lusitania was predicted in an official dispatch from Ambassador Gerard, received today at the state department. The dispatch was transmitted to President Wilson at Cornish, N. H.

TREATY DOESN'T JUSTIFY ACT.

"The government of the United States, on the other hand, does not find in the treaty stipulations mentioning any justification for the sinking of the Frye and does not consider that the German prize court has any jurisdiction over the question of the amount of indemnity to be paid by the imperial German government on account of its admitted liability for the destruction of an American vessel on the high seas.

WON'T CONCEDE BERLIN'S CLAIM.

"You state in your note of the 7th inst., that Article XIII of the above mentioned treaty of 1798 expressly reserves to the party at war the right to stop the carrying of contraband and to detain the contraband; it follows then that if it cannot be accomplished in any other way the stopping of the supply may, in an extreme case, be effected by the destruction of the contraband and the ship carrying it."

RUSSIANS' REAR HELD TO ALLOW ARMY TO UNITE

Stubborn Resistance of Back Lines of Duke Nicholas' Retreating Forces Gave Opportunity for Men to Reform—Big Battle on the River San Now Is Expected.

WHILE THE AUSTRO-GERMANS HAVE CROSSED DNEISTER AFTER DESPERATE ENGAGEMENT, DEFENSIVE OF MUSCOVITES ON GROUND OF OWN CHOOSING MUST BE MET SOON.

London, June 28, 10:30 p. m.—Berlin reports the fall of the Galician town of Halicz and says that the Austro-Germans have crossed the Dneister river, which means that the five days' desperate rear guard action by the Russians has ended in their retirement.

ARMY READY FOR BATTLE.

Petrograd admits the retirement of the Russians to the river Gnla Lipa, which is some eighty miles from the frontier and falls into the Dneister at Halicz, but military experts do not expect heavy fighting along that river. They express the opinion that the next serious battle probably will occur along the Zlota Lipa river, which runs parallel to the Gnla Lipa farther eastward, where the Russians would benefit by the railroad with which the Tarnopol line connects. These operations and plans, according to military men, confirm the theory that the Dneister forces were merely covering for the northern army.

CHICAGO KIDS' HOPES FOR A 'CELEBRATION' ON FOURTH SHATTERED

Chicago, June 28.—Police regulations here today look to mean the youngsters' last remnants of the old-time Fourth of July celebration in which gunpowder and noise predominated. An order was issued prohibiting the sale of a few years ago when firecrackers, blank cartridges and other explosives were forbidden. The "sparklers" made no noise, but gave off a shower of tiny sparks. The ban against them was necessary for the general safety of the public, the police order read.

New York, June 28.—Trading in stocks today was without special feature, except for a further demand for Reading and liquidation in United States Rubber. Reading's strength was attributed to reports that the company was to participate in exports of coal to Mediterranean ports, presumably for France and Italy, while Rubber's three-point decline to 18 1/2, with partial recovery later, was again based upon doubt concerning the stability of its dividend. United States Steel, copper and a few of the other speculative specialties advanced one and a half points, the metal group holding the better part of its gain in connection with a revival of domestic demand for the refined product.

Kansas City, June 28.—Officials of St. Clair county, Mo., today filed an answer in the United States district court in the famous St. Clair county bond case involving bonds issued by the county in 1871 to promote a tax company which promised to build the Tebo & Neosho railway, in which they declare the present holders of judgments against the county are not the legal holders, that the county is without funds to pay the bonds and that the method of reviving the judgments against the county each nine years is illegal.

At the department of justice today it was said that investigation was being made to learn whether General Angeles, Villa's right hand man, had any connection with the so-called Huerta plot and that some evidence seemed to connect him with it. Enrique C. Lorente, Washington representative of General Angeles, announced later that after a long-distance telephone conversation with General Angeles, who is in Boston, the latter had started for Washington to call in person at the state department and deny that he had any connection with the Huerta conspiracy.

HUERTA.

The federal government has interested itself in Huerta's movements to the extent of accusing him of a design to invade the Mexican republic, or republics, to the impairment of the prospects of the presidents thereof, if not of the population, and has released him on bonds, pending further action in this case.

Europe is spending money with us, instead of our spending ours in Europe, and the result is an increased hoarding of gold in the United States.

The balance of trade is our way and will continue so for the duration of the war, and the money in payment is also coming to American shores.

And the end of the war is not in sight. How long it will be before the fighting ends and the soldiers return from the trenches to the factories there is no way of predicting, but at least it is safe to say that the balance of trade and the gold reserve will be much more strongly ours than even at the present time.

THE DEVELOPMENT BUREAU.

The Upper Peninsula Development bureau holds its annual meeting this week at Houghton. It must, as The Mining Journal recalls the date of organization, be about the fourth annual session, and there were many persons who, at its inception, were pessimistic enough to predict that it would not last even that long.

will find generally endorsed. There has always been at Ishpeming a strong underlying objection to the licensing of carnivals. After the recent demonstration of the length to which these attractions are willing to go, those who have shared it will doubtless in the future have the courage of their convictions.

The Republican convention in 1910 will be held in Chicago. Among other things Chicago was able to offer was meaningful memories of the convention of 1912, warning the G. O. P. of the increasing independence of the independent voters, and their growing number, and thus of the necessity for the party in opposition to put its best foot forward.

The school board welcomed advice and ideas about the school site, and is now getting a plenty of both. When the decision is made, and the project is under way, those dissatisfied with the ultimate decision at least will not be free to assert that a snap decision was made.

Mr. Bryan's hold on the front page is already a slender one. Less and less space is given his lucubrations, and prominence in keeping with the diminishing space. Presently he will be found on the inside, next to reading matter.

The more recent announcements of Mr. Daniels anent the navy suggest that perhaps he is not as oblivious to the advice of the experts as he has pretended to be.

At the same time Huerta will probably not appreciate how much the administration is doing for him by keeping him out of Mexico.

RAIN AND TEARS. Father, the rain you send us is so clean, And sweet and cool; the dust that hid the green Of grass and tree is washed away, and the world seems glowing clean and bright again.

Father, the tears you send us are so sad, But may be from our hearts they wash away.

The evil that had hidden all our glad, The old, obscuring darkness of our day, Father, the storms you send us are so fierce, But in the clearing sunlight after them We see the shafts of beauty, how they pierce.

The gloom, and turn each cloud a diamond. Father, the griefs you send us are so sharp, And yet they leave us, after all, so bright.

That through us sings the music of a harp, Struck by some hand of glory in the light.

Wash us with rain or wash us with these tears, It seems the same conclusion of the years— That all which comes in judgment on us lies

GUNS AND PLOW SHARES. If the Krupp gun factory in Germany were suddenly changed into a plant for the manufacture of agricultural implements, it could turn out enough plowshares in one day to last the entire United States for fifty years.

The wealth which is required to operate this great cannon factory for six days if applied to the manufacture of grain binders would make enough binders to supply every wheat grower in the United States for the next twenty-five years.

The uselessness of war can well be demonstrated by these figures.—Farm Machinery.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED. By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the rest of the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SPEAKS OF TRAVEL BY CONSUMPTIVES

Dr. Hemenway Tells Convention He Considers Dangers Comparatively Slight.

One of the favorite indoor sports of motorists lately has been to heap abuse on Covington township, Baraga county, for not keeping its roads in better condition.

Ernest Hansen, manager of the Northern Garage, returned to Houghton Sunday from a trip through the upper peninsula, and he says that he negotiated the road between Herman and Nestoria in Covington township without difficulty.

Mr. Hansen considers that generally the upper peninsula, and particularly the iron country, is an automobilist's paradise. He speaks in terms of the highest praise of the roads in Marquette county and goes even a little stronger in commending the roads of Iron county.

Mr. Hansen made quite an extended tour on his trip, though it consumed only four days. The Northern Garage recently was appointed overland distributor for eight upper peninsula counties and he was making a tour of the principal agencies.

By Your Lathe

You need skill of hand, a keen eye and steady nerves, and when you get a crackerjack chew or smoke you know how it helps all three. Nothing like tucking good old PEERLESS into your pipe, or taking a man's size chew, to hold you steady and put gimp into the job.

PEERLESS Long Cut Tobacco

is a substantial, satisfying, rich tobacco—made for real men who like the honest taste of real tobacco.

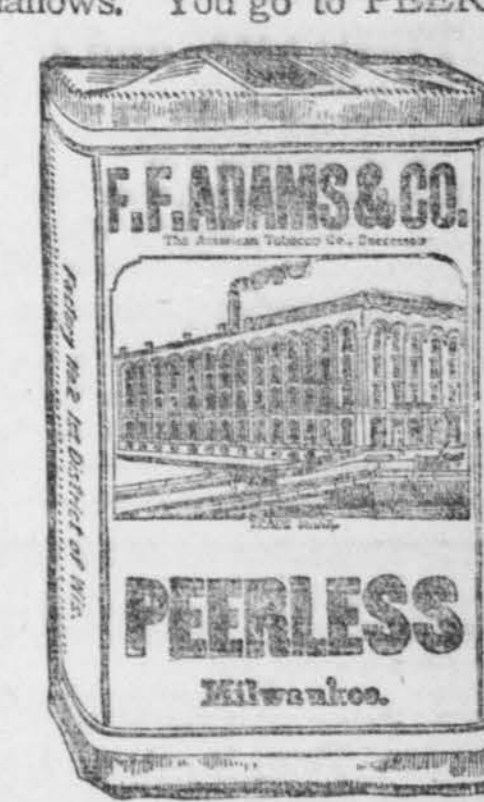

Manly men cannot get satisfaction out of insipid mixtures, any more than they can make a meal off of marshmallows. You go to PEERLESS to satisfy your tobacco hunger, just as you go to a beef-steak to satisfy stomach hunger.

We make PEERLESS out of pure Southern Kentucky leaf. We age it three to five years—so as to make it rich, ripe and mellow—naturally sweet, juicy and pleasing. It's got the snap and taste to it.

For over fifty years the big, two-fisted men that have "built the country" have used PEERLESS, because it is the one tobacco that always satisfies them. You try PEERLESS for a week, and you'll always keep it on the job. Sold everywhere in 5c packages.

The city owns the property, good for nothing else. Two basements built. Two walls in place. Lots of light. Overlooks old Lake Superior—always cool, good air, great view. Away from street car, not so far—nearly central.

Chance to expand for forty years without buying high-priced property. A good athletic field. About $25,000 more to put into the building.

Child Drowned in Creek.
Lying in two feet of water in a creek not far from her home, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sidbeck, of Indiantown, was found at noon Saturday, when her parents, alarmed at her disappearance, assisted by neighbors, started out to search for her. The little girl frequently played about the banks of the creek. She had been with other children, but evidently became separated from them. She was missed not more than fifteen minutes after leaving the other children. The body was found a short time later. It is believed the little girl fell into the creek from the bridge or near it. At that point the water is quite deep and the current swift. The current might have carried the body to the point where it was found.

School Building Called Inadequate.
That steps must be taken in the immediate future to alleviate the crowded condition of the Central school building, which each year is becoming more acute, is the consensus of opinion of members of the board of education and prominent taxpayers at Manistique who have investigated the matter. There were in the neighborhood of 215 pupils enrolled at central school building this year, and the number will be close to, if not in excess of, 250 next year. That a frame high school building, aside from being a fire trap, is entirely out of place in a part of the country noted for its excellent school buildings is an opinion which is gaining ground. With the advent of the present local industrial prosperity, people are beginning to realize that the city has a future, and that plans must be made accordingly. It has been necessary to curtail the work of the school on account of the crowded condition. Several departments considered necessary to the modern high school have not been attempted here because of lack of room.

AUSTRIAN GUN IS EFFICIENT WEAPON

New 42 Centimeter Field Piece Has So Far Given Surprisingly Good Results.

Vienna, June 28.—A description of the giant Austrian field howitzers which have done such effective work in the recent Galician campaign, where they have demonstrated a power comparable to that of the great German 42-centimeter gun, is furnished by the Reichfort by Baron Kurt von Reden. Baron von Reden describes the gun as follows:

"The giant Skoda guns have taken a leading part in subduing the Russian position to the southeast of Tarnow. It happened to be able to witness personally these guns in action from the first day of the attack until they had accomplished their task and were taken to other quarters. Since the Russian aviators have taken photographs of the guns the enemy knows that it is not the German mortar which has wrought havoc in the Russian lines. At first they thought the work was performed by German artillery, and they were strengthened in that belief because they had examined one unexploded shell marked with the initials of the Austrian steel works in Witkowitz, and had thought it meant 'Wilhelm imperator ten-tonner.' The attempted examination of this projectile led to its explosion, which killed or wounded forty-one soldiers.

Gun Requires Special Train.

"I am authorized now to report some particulars of our 42-centimeter gun. The howitzer and all accessories, such as bed, training gear, cranes, ammunition, are carried on a special train. It can be mounted ready for action within two days. Special care has been taken to conceal the gun's presence from aviators. Once when it was thought that an aviator had located its position the gun was transferred over night to another spot in a wood. The following morning sixty heavy shells were hurled on its previous position. This proves how easily the gun can be moved. The rapidity of the fire is likewise amazing—two minutes per shot.

"The bed for the howitzer is two meters in depth. A large ball bearing rests on it, which supports the revolving gun carriage. The powerful gun in firing position stands above the carriage and reaches the crowns of the fir trees.

Gun Can Be Fired by Hand.

"To fire the gun one operates a common cord. One can even pull directly by hand the trigger on the gun itself if one keeps the mouth open. The muzzle flash is, however, so dazzling that the gunners are strictly forbidden to raise their eyes upward. The detonation which follows a shot is far deeper than that of the 30.5 centimeter mortar and therefore less offensive to the ear. It is strange to note that the gun's effects are very slight on men, but most destructive on inert material on account of the tremendous air pressure. For instance, a railway car loaded with ammunition and distant sixty meters from the gun had its body crushed and splintered. The accuracy of the fire is beyond all expectations. I have seen funnel shaped holes the diameter of which varies from fourteen to sixteen meters. They were so close to each other that their outer edges were only separated by intervals of three to four meters.

"The terrific gas pressure has a deadly effect. At a long distance Russians were lying peacefully. They showed no signs of external wounds and looked as if they were sleeping, but the dark blue coloring of their faces revealed that an admission of blood throughout their veins and arteries had taken place.

Guns Stand Hard Usage.

"I was present when on Russian New Year's day the first shot was fired from one howitzer which has since fired more than three hundred shots without losing any of its accuracy. When the famous hill 49 was about to be stormed the gun was still able to fire at and destroy the wire entanglements in front of the Russian positions while our soldiers resumed their attack. A telephone message had, it is true, to be sent previous to every single shot so that our soldiers could seek cover in time.

"According to the statements of officers who were made prisoners the long drawn awful howling of the projectiles on their declining course told so heavily on the nerve of the Russians that the latter were almost relieved when they exploded. The projectiles exploding in closed localities had the most powerful effect. A whole wing of the seminary, a huge modern building outside the city, was wrecked from the roof to the cellar by one single shot. All other buildings in Tarnow which were hit were similarly destroyed. They were simply wiped out.

"The surprising fact that the city has suffered little damage is ascribable to the great accuracy of the fire. For instance, a small place used for motor cars and surrounded by houses was accurately hit, and no damage was done in the vicinity save the breaking of windows. The motor cars were destroyed and burnt. Part of the railway station was destroyed, but the main building was not hurt.

"As our troops had minute plans of the city, it was possible to aim and direct the fire of the guns precisely on the very spots which were selected. For this reason the native population finally feared the bombardment far less than it hoped that it would bring about the longed-for liberation. A few civilians only have been hit. The name of the city of Tarnow will ever recall the efficiency of the wonderful 42-centimeter guns."

DNIESTER RIVER MILITARY FRONTIER

Is One of the Most Irregular Streams in the World—Its Nature Treacherous.

Washington, June 28.—"The Dniester, where it flows through central and eastern Galicia, has again become a military frontier of first interest, the most important feature of the northeastern Galician fields for which the Austro-German and Russians are bitterly contending," says a statement on war geography just issued by the National Geographic society. "The Dniester flows on the northern slope of the Carpathian mountains, about 50 miles due south of Permysl, and flows to the north to Sambor, where it turns in an arc toward the southeast, finally reaching the Black sea at Odessa.

"The river is about 865 miles long, 350 miles of its course being in Austrian territory and the last 515 miles lying in Russia. It drains an area of approximately 29,670 square miles. Until it reaches the plain falling toward the Black sea the Dniester runs through an elevated country, and its flow is rapid, its mean rate having been calculated at 17.11 miles per hour. Projecting rocks feature many sections of the river's bed, making navigation difficult in its upper reaches. Steam navigation is confined to the lower course.

"The Dniester is one of the most irregular rivers in the world. It winds and turns with the most unexpected abruptness and inconsistency throughout its way, being especially capricious in matters of direction in the Russian part of its course. It passes about 12 miles southeast of Permysl and approaches to within about 15 miles of Lemberg, whence it flows for the rest of its way through Galicia roughly parallel with the Lemberg-Czernowitz railway. The railway crosses the Dniester just north of Stanislan.

"In many stretches the channel of the river is confined, averaging in width between 500 and 750 feet, though in some places it widens out to as much as 1,400 feet. Along its way in Galicia where the Russians and Austro-Germans are fighting the river is narrow and shallow. While the spring floods of the Dniester often cause the waters to rise to such a degree as to submerge much of the surrounding country, sometimes raising the level of the water 20 feet, these floods recede in the latter part of February and in March, and have now subsided. The Dniester however is still high, and its current, strong even during shallow water, must prove an obstacle to the river's passage.

"The rapids and shallows have greatly retarded its employment as a traffic route. The governments have expended large amounts in the endeavor to open the waterway, but its greatly varying depth and the costliness of sufficient improvement have operated to minimize the stream's commercial importance. It passes through regions rich in products best carried by water transportation, such bulk products as the grains and timber of Galicia and the agricultural products of Bessarabia. In dry years, the water is so low as to permit of only two or three weeks of navigation, while in others, freight craft are able to ply without interruption.

"Innumerable tributaries flow to the Dniester, but, none, probably, of any importance, with the possible exception of the Sereth in Galicia. The river mouth and the lower part of the river are rich in fish supplies, Carp, pike, salmon, sturgeon and eels are caught. The banks of the stream along the Austro-German and Russian line are sharply defined, in places difficult, but not approaching the steeper formation of the cliff."

SERBIA DOOMED TO LOSE LAND?

Only Way to Draw Other Balkan Nations Into War Is Sacrifice.

Munich, via London, June 24.—(The Augsburg Zeitung publishes an interview with a well informed Russian diplomat who describes the great difficulties which Russian diplomacy is experiencing in the negotiations with the Balkan states. The difficulties, the diplomat says, have arisen from Russia's pledges to Serbia, to which he declared Russia must adhere if she wishes to retain her prestige in the Balkans.

According to the diplomat, the negotiations with Rumania, the participation of which in the war would be of the greatest military importance, are held up by the almost insoluble question concerning Banat territory in southern Hungary bordering on Serbia and Rumania. This question cannot be settled with Rumania because part of the territory already has been promised to Serbia and Russia cannot permit the annexation by Rumania of the remainder of Banat or of northern Bukovina on account of its effect upon Russia's "little Russia" problem.

Serbia Must Sacrifice.

"The co-operation of Bulgaria in this war, the interview quotes the diplomat as having said, can be purchased only at the expense of Serbia. Bulgaria, he adds, has been smart enough to refuse to accept mere promises and insists that sessions of Rumania and Serbian territory to Bulgaria be made immediately.

"If we must make war against the Turks and eventually against Greece we at least must have the Serbian and Rumanian districts immediately in the way the Bulgarian statesman put the matter, according to the Russian diplomat.

"The increase in the Bulgarian demands, the diplomat continues, brings automatically an increase in the Rumanian pretensions and if the negotiations with Greece are resumed probably will lead to a similar increase of the already excessive Greek desires."

"If the return of Venizelos, the former Greek premier, to power results in a general tightening up of the demands of the Balkan states all round," the interview says in conclusion, "it can scarcely be looked upon as an unmitigated victory for Russian diplomacy."

FRENCH HEAVYWEIGHTS MAY HAVE TO JOIN ARMY

Paris, June 11.—(Correspondent of the Associated Press.)—The "rent kilns," the 220-pound men who heretofore have been exempted from military duty, are likely to be called upon for service in the auxiliary corps. The chamber is discussing a law to revise all exemptions and attributions of troops in order to increase the effectiveness of the army at the front. The 220-pound men are not considered apt for service in the zone of operations, but it is maintained that they are perfectly capable of guarding lines of communication and doing other service in the auxiliary department that would relieve men capable of active service.

HEAVIEST RAINFALL OF SPRING RECORDED

Downpour Yesterday Did Minor Damage About City—Street Work Set Back.

Marquette experienced the heaviest rainfall of the spring during a few hours yesterday afternoon. The streets in the downtown district were fairly flooded by the torrents that poured down the hill sides and there was water enough on Washington street to float a boat. Over one and a fifth inches of rain was recorded and during the thirteen minutes of heaviest precipitation the fall was .51 of an inch. Many basements in the residential district on Arch and Ridge streets were flooded by water backed up, and at the Champion street fill there was a small washout at the place where trouble occurred a few weeks ago. The damage caused by the storm would have been much greater if the old water, which had accumulated in the street, had still been in use. The asphalt treated macadam streets stand heavy rains well and there is much less damage from this cause than there was formerly.

Street Superintendent Wright expects to begin this week, perhaps Friday, the repair of Lake street, which is in bad condition most of the distance from the gas house to the city limits. It has been the cause of much complaint this spring both from auto drivers and farmers. Mr. Wright had hoped to do some work on it earlier, but the unfavorable weather has put back the street work a full month. In the past few weeks there have been but one or two days when the asphalt could be spread on macadam. As a result, the improvement of Spruce street between Hewitt avenue and Arch street, which is being given this treatment, has been held up, and there is still a full block of the work to be done. Lake street will be rebuilt in places and other bad spots in the road will be filled. It is now full of pitch holes, and it is entirely lacking in adequate drainage. After the heavy storm yesterday there was over a foot of water on it in places.

CAPITULATED TO LABOR LEADERS

A. A. Schantz, D. & C. Official, Says Seamen's Bill Is a Great Menace.

That the willingness of the senators and representatives to accept the dictation of labor bosses is the cause of the objectionable form of recent seamen's legislation is the charge of A. A. Schantz, vice president and general manager of the D. & C. Navigation company. The legislation is driving American shipping off the Pacific coast, and Mr. Schantz predicts that it will do great injury to the lake and river navigation interests.

"Why," said Mr. Schantz, "the original bill, written by Andrew Furuseth, president of the Seamen's union, provided that every steamer on ocean, lake, river or sound had to carry life boats sufficient to float the entire passenger list; and that two seamen had to be assigned to each of these boats, with his duties confined solely to the decks. The senate passed that bill. The senate wouldn't have a single life raft on board, notwithstanding that we proved to them that where life rafts are used they save more people than the life boats. The senate bill didn't even show any faith in life preservers.

"In the first place there isn't a steamer afloat that has enough room to carry all the life rafts that bill provided for. Even if they did get them all aboard, they never would be able to launch more than a small percentage of them. But that's not the worst of it—and here is where the union showed its hand. These life rafts were intended principally to compel the employment of a lot of union seamen. That's what they were after. Take the City of Detroit, for instance; if we had the room to carry the life rafts provided for in that senate bill, we would have to hire a crew of 180 seamen to stand watch over them.

"Well, we got some modifications of the measure when it went to the senate and house conference. The conference permitted the use of a certain percentage of life rafts. But even in that particular the union tried to put something across, and did succeed in slipping in a joker. Instead of regular seamen, the conference bill permitted the boats and rafts to be manned by certified men; that is, members of the regular crew to whom certificates of competency might be issued only after examination, experience, etc.

"But here is where the joker was inserted. The law provides that one-half the rafts shall have a capacity exceeding fifteen persons; that one man shall be assigned to rafts of seventeen or less capacity; but that rafts of from seven to forty-one capacity shall have two men assigned to them. Now it so happens that our best lake steamers have only ten-capacity rafts, they being considered the most practical. But why enough men, so we must have rafts that will greatly increase the size of the crew.

"The bill also makes it possible for a seaman shipping from a foreign port to hold up his steamer in this country and demand the union scale here. If that wage isn't paid the steamer couldn't clear from one of our ports.

"The act provides for a three watch system of firemen, stokers and others of the crew down in the hold. Now that might be all right on a vessel making a trip of several continuous days. But on the Great Lakes we have got to have this three watch system notwithstanding that some of our vessels lie several hours each day in port with nothing for the crew to do.

"Moreover, this law will necessitate cutting down our carrying capacity by from 20 to 25 per cent. You know when

DOORMAN'S TIPS BRING HIM $1,000,000

Jimmy Hebron, at Delmonico's at $1 a Day, Played Stock Mart and Made Fortune.

New York, June 23.—How James W. Hebron, for thirty years a doorman at Delmonico's at $1 a day, made a fortune of $1,000,000 in Wall street largely through tips given by the patrons of the restaurant, and how subsequently his mind was changed for four years until an accident cured him, was told by Hebron himself before Supreme Court Justice Gagegan when United States Senator O'Gorman appeared as his attorney.

Hebron, who is now past sixty years old, but who is still known as Jimmy Hebron to the older patrons of Delmonico's, is suing the Lawyers Mortgage company and others to set aside a deed to property in East Fifty-third street, near Lexington avenue. The suit is based on allegations that at the time he deeded away the property his mental faculties were impaired.

Barnum Had Three Rings.

"Barnum had only a three ring circus when I first knew him, but it was not long afterward that I had five very successful rings in the fire while still holding down my humble job as doorman at Delmonico's," testified Hebron. "I was college bred and for that reason I was able to converse intelligently with many of the prominent men who dined regularly at the restaurant, then in the Wall street district, and by taking their advice I built up the beginning of a $1,000,000 fortune on an original investment of $20.

"For a period of four years following May, 1907, my mind was not clear. I scarcely realized what went on about me, and although I went out walking with members of my family and accompanied my wife to church I didn't know what I was doing. After an accident fall in 1911, in which my head received a heavy blow, my mental balance suddenly returned and I then discovered that my affairs had become tangled during the period when I was not myself. Among other things I found that I had executed a mortgage and a deed to the property in question.

Son Speculating in Wall Street.

Mr. Hebron said that his son James was speculating in Wall street during the time when he was incompetent to transact business, and that the money realized on the mortgage was used by his son for the latter's own benefit in his speculation. He immediately brought a series of actions to recover various properties that had been dissipated during the period of his clouded mentality.

OUR PEACE TAX.

On a life insurance policy for $20,000, taken out in this country with a British company, the English tax amounted to six pence, 1/2 penny. On the same policy an American "war tax" of $2,500 was collected.

England is at war and the United States is at peace. But in Great Britain the nation's finance are controlled by seasoned statesmen and astute financiers, while this country's fiscal affairs are managed by the Democratic party.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

U. S. WILL MAKE CHEAP GASOLINE

Rittman Process Will Be on Commercial Working Plane Shortly, Secretary Lane Says.

Washington, June 23. Secretary Lane of the department of the interior is trying to preserve for the people of the United States the processes devised by Dr. Walter E. Rittman, chemical engineer of the bureau of mines, to produce gasoline and benzol at a much lower cost than that they are now obtained.

"Excellent progress is being made in the development of the Rittman process," said Secretary Lane, "and there is every reason to believe that both the gasoline and the benzol processes will be on a commercial working plane within a reasonably short time. I am informed that the gasoline process is now ready for large scale industrial applications and the hope is expressed that the benzol process will be ready soon.

"The benzol process is being developed in co-operation with the Aetna Chemical company of New York, which company has entered into an agreement whereby all patentable equipment, processes and ideas available as a result of the cooperative work will be turned over to the department to be dedicated to the public.

Wants Co-operation.

"The department stands ready and is anxious to enter into similar agreements with any other companies in the country that will agree to the same terms—that all processes and ideas patentable in the development of either process shall be turned over to the department for the use of the public.

"The department is willing for all who are desirous of making use of the processes to do so to the fullest possible extent consistent with the proper protection of the processes in order that the public may derive the greatest measure of benefit therefrom. It looks as if it would be only a short time before the complete mechanical equipment necessary for the practice of the pro-

ORIGIN OF "INDIAN SUMMER"

One of the load-lines marked on British ships has long borne the initials "I. S." This line indicates the maximum depth to which vessels are to be loaded during "Indian summer," the fine season in the East Indian seas. It has been suggested that this may explain the origin of the term "Indian summer" which has never yet been satisfactorily accounted for; the name of this autumnal period may have been derived from the resemblance which old sailors noted between it and the fine weather of the northeast monsoon in India.

As soon as the department is assured that the public's interests are properly safeguarded, a full and complete scientific paper describing the processes will be issued. In the mean time, the processes will be open to any one who wishes to develop them under the conditions imposed.

"At the first public demonstration of the Rittman benzol and gasoline processes, held March 8, before the representatives of the army and navy, the General Chemical company, the Standard Oil company of Indiana, the Du Pont de Nemours Powder company and some twenty or more representatives of the National Petroleum association and other prominent refining interests throughout the eastern part of the United States, announcement was made that both processes might be used by all interested persons upon application to the department. At the same time, however, because of the desire to give the public the fullest possible benefit of the Rittman processes, it was stated that the use of the processes would be coupled with the condition that the person using the same would have to give to the public the benefits of such ideas along mechanical lines as they might conceive during the employment of the processes."

ORDERS FOR BATTLE OF MARNE PUBLIC

They Show Dispositions by General Joffre for the Allies' Successful Offensive.

Paris, June 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The way in which General Joffre prepared for the battle of the Marne is now fully disclosed for the first time, although more than ten months have elapsed since the French and English succeeded in that battle in checking the German advance toward Paris.

The Order of Aug. 25. The documents now published begin with General Joffre's order of Aug. 25, as follows: "1. The projected offensive maneuver not having been possible of execution, the subsequent operations will be regulated so as to reconstitute on our left by the junction of the Fourth and Fifth armies of the English forces and new forces taken from the region of the east, a mass capable of resuming the offensive, while the other armies will resist the efforts of the enemy during the time that may be necessary.

that the right of the German army (von Kluck's army) deflected its advance toward the southeast (Meaux and Compiègne), abandoning the direction of Paris.

"By this time the original army of the French left (the Fifth army) was ready to face the German columns in front, and it was prolonged toward the northwest by the British army and Maunoury's army directed to the northeast of Paris.

"The disposition sought by the instructions of Aug. 25 for the resumption of the offensive was then realized. The line escaped the projected envelopment and it was their own army that now assumed an enveloping disposition.

"2. The dispositions to be realized for the 5th of September in the evening shall be: "a. All the forces available of the Sixth army to the northeast of Meaux to cross the Ourcq between Lizy-sur-Ourcq and May-en-Multien in the general direction of Thateau-Terri.

"3. The offensive shall be taken by these different armies the 6th of September in the morning. "Signed J. Joffre."

"The following morning orders were given to the Fourth and Third armies operating at the right of the preceding: "Fourth army. Tomorrow morning, Sept. 6, the armies on our left will attack in front and in flank the First and Second German armies.

"The movement will be covered by the rear guards left upon favorable ground so as to utilize all obstacles to arrest the forward march of the enemy, or at least to retard him by short and violent counter attacks in which the principal element will be the artillery.

"The object of the maneuver is thus with the beginning of August clearly fixed; it is to prepare not only an offensive action but an offensive which will be taken as soon as favorable circumstances shall arise.

"From the 25th of August to the 4th of September the orders for retirement were executed, but the rapidity of the advance of the British, of the time necessary for the British army to be completed and reinforced, certain difficulties in our transports arising from the encumbrance of railroads by the evacuations from Paris necessitated the disembarkation of a part of the troops sent from the east to general Maunoury more to the south than had been foreseen on the 25th of August. The offensive was retarded by that fact.

"On the 4th of September the reconstitutions of our cavalry, those of the flying corps, of the British, of the stationary army of the military government of Paris developed the information

SERVANT PROBLEM ARISES IN HOLLAND

New Fields Opened, Young Women Are Reluctant to Enter Domestic Service.

Rotterdam, Netherlands, June 12.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—For the first time in history, the Dutch housewife is today face to face with a servant problem.

Following the Dutch custom, domestic servants are employed by the year at yearly fixed wages and in case of dissatisfaction on either side, a rupture of the contract can only take place quarterly, on the first of February, May, August or November.

The tipping system is the cause of domestic service in the Netherlands. In addition to the cook's commission, each servant, at the New Year and All Saints' Day, receives five gulden on every hundred of yearly wage, or $1 on every $20.

Germany before the war devoted 50,000 acres to production of sugar beet seed, and in 1913 exported 12,910,394 pounds of seed to the United States.

ARTIFICIAL PEARLS.

Just as the real pearl comes from the oyster, so to a large extent is the manufacture of artificial pearls dependent upon a certain species of fish.

The military authorities of Germany are so desirous of obtaining good animals that they are willing to pay very high prices, and the breeders and dealers on the Dutch side of the line do not hesitate to take the risk of being hit by a stray shot while trying to secure the alluring profits.

Holland's horse-breeders have in general suffered considerably from the prohibition of export of horses.

REILLY IS PLACED ON PENSION LIST

Former Winthrop Man Retires from the Service of Oliver Iron Mining Company.

John Reilly, of Coleraine, a former well-known resident of the Winthrop and father of Barney Reilly, the skier, has been placed on the Oliver Iron Mining company's pension list.

Of the retirement of the veteran workmen a press dispatch to a Duluth paper said: "John Reilly of Coleraine has been placed on the pension list by the Oliver Iron Mining company. He has been in the employ of the company for twenty-six years, and has been engaged in mining since 1870, several years before the United States Steel company was organized."

There are only two pensioners of the mining company here, the other being Maurice Fitzgerald, who retired two years ago. It is a great satisfaction to the citizens to know that these worthy veterans of the mining industry are to be well cared for during their declining years.

ORDINANCE IN EFFECT.

Unlawful to Spit on Walks or in Public Buildings After Today.

The ordinance of the common council prohibiting expectorating upon the sidewalks, floors of public buildings and in street cars will go into effect tomorrow. It was adopted at the regular meeting this month. Copies of the ordinance are being posted throughout the city and the mayor has instructed the marshal to see that the police enforce its provisions.

The ordinance is in three sections, reading as follows: "Section 1—It shall be unlawful for any person to expectorate upon the sidewalks of the city of Ishpeming or upon the floors of public buildings or street cars, or floors of any building used for public gatherings and business houses in the said city of Ishpeming."

"Sec. 2—Any person violating the provisions of this ordinance shall be punished by a fine of not less than $5 and not more than $25, or imprisonment in the county jail of the county of Marquette, or the city jail of the said city of Ishpeming, not to exceed thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court."

"Sec. 3—All ordinances or parts of ordinances relating to the same subject matter and contravening the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed."

ORES TO ATLANTIC.

Lack of Ships Causes Coast Manufacturers to Buy Lake Superior Product.

Lake Superior ore will reach the Atlantic steel manufacturers this year. A Philadelphia dispatch to the Daily Iron Trade says that an Eastern Pennsylvania steel company has just closed for a block of Lake Superior ore.

The coast situation has become so acute that freighters ore from Cuba is a serious problem and the company that purchased Lake Superior ore cannot increase its receipts of Cuban ore. The seller of the ore was a steel manufacturing company with mines of its own.

There has been some inquiry from the coast for Lake Superior ore at various times, but the cost of railroad transportation has prevented much use being made of Lake Superior ores along the Atlantic coast. This year the lack of ships and the very high freights that are being paid for ocean transportation more than equalize the railroad freight and the Lake Superior mines are likely to do a fair business in the extreme East.

BUTTE MINERS PUT UP NEARLY $1,000,000

Rupture Between Local and Western Federation Brings Out Interesting Facts.

Certain inside history in connection with the strike in the copper country has come out since the rupture between the Butte local and the Western Federation of Miners, resulting in court proceedings over the property of the local union bearing a general resemblance to the efforts of the Federation to get hold of the property of the Ishpeming union, when it withdrew from the Federation a few years ago.

It is shown that the Federation spent nearly $1,000,000 to support the Michigan strike. The resolutions of the Butte local dealing with the subject are, in part, as follows:

"Whereas, Since the date of May 15, 1893, and up to Dec. 1, 1914, the Butte Miners' union, a corporation, has paid into the treasury of the Western Federation of Miners, as per capita tax, assessments levied and donations appealed for, a sum in excess of $1,000,000; and

"Whereas, Between Jan. 5, 1914, and June 15, in dues, assessments and donations, the Butte Miners' union paid to the Western Federation sums of money, making a total of $78,559; and

"Whereas, Upon Jan. 1, 1914, the Western Federation of Miners claimed that the Butte Miners' union owed it a balance of $44,268.15 and from Jan. 1, 1914, to June 2, of said year, additional amounts, making a total amount owing from Jan. 1, 1914, to June 2, 1914, $136,861.65; and

"Whereas, After receiving the sum of $78,559 in a period of six months, the Western Federation of Miners claim that at said time, to-wit: June 15, 1914, there was on hand in the treasury of the Butte Miners' union, a corporation, to the said Western Federation of Miners, a balance of $60,115.41; and

"Whereas, the Butte Miners' union, a corporation, during all the times in which the Western Federation demanded and received the sums of money set forth from the Butte Miners' union, a corporation, the corporation was compelled to pay the sums of money, to the said Western Federation of Miners, through its officers and were not permitted to, at any time, send the money themselves to the places wherein the officers of the Western Federation claimed it was wanted for and was to be sent; and

"Whereas, Very many complaints have reached the Butte Miners' union from the localities wherein the money was supposed to be sent, that the same did not reach their destination, but were spent by some of the members of the general executive board who were interested with the distribution of that same in all manner of debauchery and for their own benefit, and that only a small portion of it reached the deserving families; and

Lowney Handled $90,000.

Whereas, The reports of the secretary-treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1914, as an example, shows that on the Michigan strike on Aug. 22, 1913, J. C. Lowney, of Butte, Mont., member of the executive board, received the sum of $25,000 on Sept. 12, 1913; he received an additional $25,000 on Nov. 25, 1913; $10,000 on Dec. 1, 1913; $10,000 on Dec. 9, 1913, making a total received from Aug. 22, 1913, to Dec. 9, 1913, of $80,000.

From Sept. 26 to Oct. 16, 1913, inclusive a period of twenty days, E. Miller of the executive board, presumably for the same purpose, also received on Sept. 26, $25,000; Oct. 2, $25,000; Oct. 8, $25,000; Oct. 16, $25,000, making a total of $100,000 in twenty days.

$75,000 to Mahoney.

Then we find Vice President C. E. Mahoney also handling the money for strike relief as follows: Oct. 24, $25,000; Oct. 31, $30,000; Nov. 6, $10,000; Nov. 12, $10,000; Nov. 17, $10,000; making a total of $75,000 received by Mahoney from Oct. 24, 1913, to Nov. 17, 1913, inclusive. In other words, $75,000 in twenty-four days; and

Whereas, Many reports have reached the Butte Miners' union that strikes were being caused and called by the general officers and the general executive board for the sole purpose of collecting a large relief fund for the benefit of the general officers and those acting in concert with them; and

Whereas, The above amounts were given to the various parties during practically the same period of time, and that a very short period of time, firmly convinced the Butte Miners' union of the truth of the accusations, more particularly so when we find in the same report the expenditures of the Western Federation of Miners for the said term, namely, July 1, 1913, to June 30, 1914, were the sum of $2,019,822.43, almost $1,000,000 in one year, itemized as follows:

Table listing expenditures: President ($4,309.40), Vice president ($4,983.35), Secretary-treasurer ($1,857.45), Executive board ($12,151.89), Organizers ($6,714.14), Miners' Magazine ($7,962.22), Attorneys ($10,248.56), Rent, light and janitor service ($1,500.00), Office expenses and office assistant ($4,399.50), Supplies ($7,627.21), Postage ($1,929.27), Express charges ($338.00), Telephone ($93.35), Telegrams ($895.08), Strike Relief ($728,932.79), Bingham M. U. No. 67 ($1,195.00), Bine Rapids M. and S. No. 218 ($1,740.00), Craig's M. U. No. 245 ($350.00), Ymir M. U. A PLAY WITH A PURPOSE.

"Everywoman," to Be Seen Here Thursday Evening, Teaches a Moral Lesson.

The Henry W. Savage dramatic spectacle, "Everywoman," to be seen at the Ishpeming theater Thursday evening, is described as a masterpiece. Three carloads of scenery, costumes and electrical effects are transported from city to city to aid in illuminating the peculiar play. An entire symphony orchestra is carried to interpret the score, which was composed by George Whitefield Chadwick, dean of the New England Conservatory of Music.

Aside from all this "Everywoman" is a play with a purpose, a play with a high moral lesson which has been endorsed by educators, scholars, clergymen, editors and sociologists. Written from the view point of a many-sided man who had been an actor, a singer, an editor, a lecturer, a dramatist and had finished the play hardly any one would read it. After much buffeting it reached the eyes of Henry W. Savage, who produced it. It has been witnessed by four million people and has been played in five countries. Walter Browne, the author, died on the day of the first production and never saw his play produced.

CHAPLIN IN "THE TRAMP."

Critic Says There Are Enough Laughs in This Picture to Shake the Roof.

A critic on a Chicago paper gave "The Tramp," the Charles Chaplin comedy which will be included in the program this afternoon and evening at Ishpeming theater, the following mention:

"The two-reel comedy, 'The Tramp,' is the funniest that Chaplin has yet produced. Charles Chaplin, a tramp, sits at the roadside to eat his noonday repast. While the fastidious Charlie is polishing his nails another hobo steals his lunch, leaving a brick in its place. Chaplin makes his meal on grass, uses his tomato can for a finger bowl, absentmindedly wraps up the brick in his kerchief and walks on.

He comes on the hobo trying to rob a farmer's daughter and promptly taps him with the brick. The hobo's two companions rush to the scene, but the trick proves effective and they take refuge in a river.

Chaplin follows, but they throw mud at him and he falls into the empyre, setting the seat of his trousers ablaze. The hoboes keep him from the river and with trousers blazing he rushes wildly in search of water, which he finds after doing considerable damage to his seating capacity.

The girl takes him home, where he eats his dinner from the mounted piece. The farmer gives him a job, and he merely messes up the work, stalling a farm hand with a pitchfork, knocking down the farmer with a sack of grain

DIVER W. M. M'COY COMPLETES WORK

Mouth of Intake Is Elevated to Obtain Clearer Water from Teal Lake.

W. M. McCoy, of Marquette, the diver employed by the city to make changes in the intake pipe at the pumping station on Teal lake, completed the work yesterday.

The water pumped from the lake has been muddy for several months past. Dr. C. J. Larson, city health officer, advised that a diver be procured to ascertain whether the mud was getting into the pipe from a leak.

The intake was installed three years ago by Wankles & King of Duluth. It was set on a concrete cribbing eight feet square and four feet thick.

Eight-foot lengths of pipe were attached to the openings on the three arms of the intake by Silver McCoy, so that henceforth the water going into the mains will be free from mud and other matter carried by the undercurrent.

The water was mostly mud and did not contain much bacteria, said Dr. Larson yesterday. "A month ago the condition of the water was at its worst, but it was not dangerous. I think that from now on the water will show a marked improvement."
