

7 AMERICANS ARE REPORTED LOST IN THE ARABIC

WHITE STAR LINER TORPEDOED BY A GERMAN SUB-SEA RAIDER WITHOUT A MOMENT'S WARNING

British Steamer, Bound from Liverpool to New York, Sinks Ten Minutes After Missile Strikes--Passengers, Half-Dressed, Saved With Difficulty

WASHINGTON VIEWS ATTACK WITH CONCERN

London, Aug. 20, 12:10 a. m.—The big White Star liner Arabic, formerly a favorite ship of the Liverpool-Boston service, but which, on her present trip, was on the way to New York, was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine at 9:15 o'clock Thursday morning southeast of Fastnet.

New York, Aug. 19.—Careful checking of the various lists of survivors of the Arabic, as given out in London, Washington and New York, late tonight showed all but three cabin and four steerage passengers, Americans, as accounted for.

Washington, Aug. 19.—News of the torpedoing of the British steamer Arabic, of the White Star line, with Americans on board, came as a shock to United States officials, who had hoped, since the dispatch of the last American note, there would be no aggravation of an already tense situation between the United States and Germany.

SURVIVORS TOOK TO BOATS.

The survivors left the steamer in the ship's boats and were picked up later by passing vessels, which arrived in Queenstown tonight. They are being accommodated by the White Star line in hotels and boarding houses in the little town which so short a time ago cared for the survivors and the dead of the Lusitania.

WASHINGTON, AUG. 19.—VICE CONSUL THOMPSON AT QUEENSTOWN CALLED THE STATE DEPARTMENT TONIGHT THE NAMES OF SIXTEEN AMERICAN SURVIVORS OF THE ARABIC.

He said there was no authentic information as yet as to whether any or how many were lost. Following is the list: A. H. Nebeker, Logan, Utah. James Houlihan, Philadelphia. Thomas Elmore, New York. Rev. Dr. George A. McAllister, Chambersburg, Pa. James F. Rowley, Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Covington, New York and London.

AWAIT MORE INFORMATION.

What the course of the United States would be no official would predict because of the absence of detailed information. It must be established authoritatively whether any warning was given and whether the vessel attempted to escape. If no American lives were lost it was thought in most quarters tonight that drastic steps were improbable, but in the event it is found Americans were drowned a rupture in diplomatic relations was everywhere discussed as likely.

FOE'S MARKSMANSHIP DEADLY.

When some fifty miles west of where the Lusitania was sunk in May the German underwater boat rose to the surface and launched a torpedo. The marksmanship of the Germans, as in the case of the Lusitania, was deadly accurate and like the Lusitania the big liner quickly settled down and shortly disappeared from view.

LONDON PRESS SAYS SHIP'S COURSE SHOWS IT HAD NO MUNITIONS

London, Aug. 20, 2:44 a. m.—The newspapers in their editorials dealing with the sinking of the steamer Arabic comment at length on the effect the event is likely to have on the relations between the United States and Germany. "It remains to be seen," says the Daily Telegraph, "what the civilized world will do, particularly the people of the United States—if it be proven that an American citizen has been killed. The American government already has stated its standpoint in the plainest language. Germany has treated the American statement with contempt."

SURVIVORS FROM SHIP WERE SCANTILY CLAD; WORK OF CREW PRAISED

Queenstown, Aug. 20, 2:30 a. m.—The landing here yesterday evening of the survivors of the ill-fated White Star line steamer Arabic was a pitiful scene. All of them were scantily clad and none of them had hats or head coverings of any kind. A large number of survivors were suffering from injuries to the heads and other wounds or from shock and the effect of being forced to open boats scantily attired.

ARABIC HAD NO AMMUNITION.

"The fact that the Arabic was outward bound wipes away the whole web of falsehood and sophistry with which Germany sought to darken the case in its impudent and mendacious reply to the American note on the Lusitania. There can be no pretense that the Arabic was carrying ammunition."

AMERICANS HAVE BEEN WONDERING WHY NO REPLY HAS BEEN RETURNED TO THE NOTE THEY SENT GERMANY ON JULY 23.

The reply was given yesterday and deeds speak louder than words. "The Standard says: 'It would seem that President Wilson can hardly ignore this cool defiance of his recent note.'

SAILORS RESCUE WOMAN.

One woman who fell into the sea screamed pitifully for help. Two sailors swam to her assistance and succeeded in lifting her upon a raft.

SIX UNACCOUNTED FOR SAYS WHITE STAR LINE

London, Aug. 19.—The White Star line tonight issued a statement concerning the liner Arabic which was sunk today by a German submarine, declaring that apparently only six passengers are unaccounted for. The vessel had 423 persons aboard. Latest figures show 375 survivors. There were twenty-five Americans aboard.

DR. WOODS WAS RETURNING FROM RED CROSS DUTIES

Janesville, Wis., Aug. 19.—Dr. E. F. Woods, of Jamesville, one of the leading surgeons of Wisconsin, was a passenger on the Arabic, according to information furnished by members of his family tonight. Dr. Woods had completed a tour of Red Cross duty with the British hospital corps in Flanders and was enroute to his home.

ITALY HAS SENT AN ULTIMATUM TO MUSSULMANS

London, Aug. 19, 10:30 p. m.—The forces of the Ottoman empire, besides being closely pressed by the Anglo-French allies on the Gallipoli peninsula, where a new British contingent has obtained a firm footing in the vicinity of Sulva Bay, and by the Russians in the Caucasus, are threatened by a new enemy—Italy.

PENETRATED BREST-LITOVSK?

Besides the capture of Kovno the Germans have taken additional Novogorodsk and according to their account, have penetrated the outer positions of Brest-Litovsk, the great fortress which is the mainstay of what was expected to be the Russians' new line of defense.

ITALIAN SQUADRON READY.

Taranto, Italy, Aug. 19, via Paris, Aug. 20, 12:20 a. m.—A strong squadron of fast cruisers is being held in readiness to steam from here at a moment's notice. It is expected that the warships will be sent against Turkey if that country declines to satisfy Italy's demands for the release of Italian subjects held in the Ottoman empire.

GERMAN DESTROYERS REPORT SINKING TWO BRITISH NAVAL CRAFT

Berlin, via Wireless to Tuckerton, N. J., Aug. 19.—German torpedo boat destroyers have sunk a small British cruiser and a British destroyer by torpedoing them in an engagement of small craft off the west coast of Jutland, the German admiralty announces today.

SERBIA HAS AGREED TO CEDE MACEDONIA WORD IN NEWS ITEM

Paris, Aug. 20, 1:30 a. m.—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Bern says: "According to information from semi-official Serbian sources here, Serbia has accepted the condition of the allies and will consent to the occupation of Macedonia by the allies in exchange for a section of the Dalmatian coast and adjacent islands and the partition of Albania with Greece, except Axonia, which will remain Italian. When this is accomplished the allies will transfer Macedonia to Bulgaria. The plan only awaits the adhesion of Italy."

CORRESPONDENT TELLS OF HORRIBLE MASSACRE BY TURKS OF ARMENIANS

London, Aug. 20, 2:23 a. m.—A Reuter dispatch from Petrograd says: "Almost unbelievable details of Turkish massacres of Armenians in Bitlis has reached Petrograd. In one village one thousand men, women and children are reported to have been locked in a wooden building and burned to death. In another large village only thirty-six persons, it is said, escaped massacre. In still another instance it is asserted that several scores of men and women were chained together and thrown into Lake Van."

French, in West Theater, Have Won Two Successes and Have Greatly Improved Their Positions—Norway Indignant at Seizure of Mails by Germans.

London, Aug. 19, 10:30 p. m.—The sinking of the White Star liner Arabic has completely overshadowed all other news of the war, in spite of the fact that the continued German advance on the eastern front is seriously endangering a portion of the Russian army and must soon have an effect on other fronts.

Berlin repeats today the claim that the fortress of Kovno has fallen, compelling the Russians in the Kalwaria and Suwalki districts, on the East Prussian frontier, to fall back. In fact the Russians now appear able to hold their own only in the Baltic provinces, where they are preventing the Germans from advancing.

LAUDS IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT.

"A country whose policy was and is such as has no right to accuse of war-lust or barbarism or of a desire of conquest a country that protected European peace for forty-four years; a country that lived only for peaceful evolution, while others went to war and conquered other countries; a country that now, menaced by half of the world, fights for its own life. Such an accusation is hypocrisy," he said.

SEIZE NORWEGIAN MAILS.

Norway has protested to Berlin against the seizure by a German submarine of mails from the steamer Haakon VII, bound from Bergen, Norway, to England, and has demanded the return of the mails to Norway. What the newspapers term "mail theft" has aroused a storm of resentment. The Aftenposten says: "The news will be received with hot indignation and bitterness by Norwegians. The theft of neutral mails is not decent warfare."

GERMAN NAVY MENACES RUSSIAN PORT OF RIGA

Petrograd, Aug. 19, via London, Aug. 20, 12:32 a. m.—That German warships again are menacing Riga, the big Russian port on the Baltic, is indicated by an official communication issued here tonight. The communication says: "Our warships protecting the entrance to the gulf of Riga yesterday drew closer in, owing to the great superiority of the enemy's fleet."

Berlin, via Wireless to Sayville, L. I., Aug. 19.—In a stirring speech at the opening of the reichstag today, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, after tracing the victorious course of the German armies, quoted the words which he declared Sir Edward Grey spoke to the German ambassador at London when the latter took leave of the British foreign minister after the beginning of the war in August, 1914.

PUT NONE BUT AMERICANS ON GUARD.
 —WASHINGTON.

IN STORMY MUNISING.

From Munising it is reported that sufficient petitions to assure an election for the recall of Mayor Sullivan will probably be filed and that the election will probably be held Sept. 6. The mayor is accused of having foisted on the town incompetent officials, also of countenancing gambling and of taking a complacent view of law enforcement that has, in effect, made Munising a "wide open" village. Whether these allegations have basis in fact, or whether the recall movement has been started because Sullivan is Sullivan, The Mining Journal is in no position to judge, but, Sullivan being Sullivan, it was a safe prophecy at the time of his election that not many months would pass before a recall movement would be started.

For at Munising almost as much heat is generated over the personal aspects of municipal administration as was generated in Marquette only a few years ago, and most voters take their village politics much more seriously than they do their religion. Sullivan has been a leading figure in one of the factions that go to the mat with each other recurrently. With a certain gift for organization along old-fashioned lines, and a zeal for the game as a game, he has been a prominent figure in village affairs for many years. In the recent local option unpleasantness he was an aggressive "wet," and did much to give direction to the wet campaign. So it requires no second sight to predict one important line of cleavage in the recall election. If the average Munising election is to be taken as a criterion, it will probably turn out that Sullivan will either be set down or retained in office by a narrow margin. The Munising election is usually a very close, as well as a high spirited, affair.

WHERE IT STANDS.

A reader asks The Mining Journal where it stands on the auditorium proposition, saying that while it has commented at some length on the subject it has not taken an out and out position. It's a fair question. The Mining Journal believes the project is unsound and that the community would be foolish if it seriously considered voting $100,000 bonds for carrying it out. It is because it has believed that there was no likelihood that the community would do any such thing that it has had comparatively little to say in opposition. It's not the part of wisdom to waste much time on issues that are not vital.

A catalog of reasons why The Mining Journal believes the project unsound would take an alarming length. It believes, for one thing, that the generalizations of its proponents about the earning power of the proposed building will not stand analysis, and that it would be a heavy burden to the city and one for which, after the novelty wore off, little use would be found. Marquette is already well equipped with auditoriums that can be used on public and semi-public occasions, and The Mining Journal recalls no time in the past ten years when the available facilities were not amply sufficient for the demands put upon them. It believes that if the voters desire to pledge the city's credit for $100,000 much more inviting projects can be hit upon. If it was of the opinion that the plan of building a municipal auditorium had standing with any considerable number of voters it would be at the trouble of going into the detail, with facts and figures, of the unfavorable factors. For the time at least, it does not believe that this is necessary.

The Commercial club, in The Mining Journal's opinion, showed poor judgment in becoming sponsor for this project. When some two years ago over 300 $25 memberships were pledged for this organization, it was with far different thought than that its directors and officers would incubate proposals to the taxpayers to pledge their credit for the carrying out of non-productive enterprises. At that time there was hope and expectation that the considerable proposed investment in support of the club would mean some modest industrial development. The fact that the $100,000 auditorium project is the latest plan the club has been able to offer illustrates most tellingly how sad has been its performance compared with its promise. It's a project that, The Mining Journal believes, the voters should knock the stuffing out of, if it chances, which is unlikely, that they are ever called on to pass on it.

A COLORADO RULING.

Another chapter in the case of John R. Lawson, sentenced to life in a Colorado prison for murder committed in the course of the labor war in the Colorado coal fields, has been written. The supreme court has granted a writ of superedeas permitting the appeal of his case to go before the courts on its merits, and, what is more enlightening as to the conditions under which he was tried, an order forbidding Judge Grandby Hillier from trying any more cases growing out of the coal strike, Hillier being the judge who presided over Lawson's trial.

Hillier, who the supreme court now holds is not competent to try cases of the nature of that of Lawson's, was formerly a company attorney. He was appointed specially to sit in the strike cases by the governor, despite the fact that his former affiliations and his known sympathies made his designation for such duty an act of impropriety that would, in most states, have given rise to a storm of indignation that would have caused the substitution of some other man. The action of the supreme court here recorded is, it is worthy of notice, the most eloquent testimony to its impropriety that could be offered.

The trial of Lawson was, many persons who followed it have contended, accompanied by most flagrant official abuses of a nature to deny the prisoner a fair and impartial hearing. Under the circumstances, and particularly in the light of the finding of the supreme court on the point of the competency of the judge to sit on strike cases, it need be little wonder that the public feels no confidence in the fairness of Lawson's conviction.

The courts in some of the western states have been sorely misused to serve personal and corporate purposes. Confidence in them has, as a result, been badly undermined. Justice has not been evenhanded as it has been in many more favored commonwealths, and as it was in Houghton and Marquette counties during the progress of and subsequent to the copper strike.

AMERICAN DOLLAR SUPREME.

For a time, at least, the American dollar is supreme in the money world, displacing the English pound sterling. The war has turned the trick by smashing the exchange rates. American manufacturers have demanded payment in American dollars, thus rebating the pound, or sovereign, to the background. Therefore the loss, or cost, of exchange falls upon the foreign buyers, and not upon the American sellers, as hitherto, it has amounted to a financial revolution.

Illustrating the depreciation is the case of the pound sterling, which at one time Monday sold as low as $4.64, the ordinary rate being $4.80 to $4.84. The French franc, usually getting in at about the proportion of five for a dollar, stood at a fraction over six, and so it went all along the line of foreign money. The possible steps of the foreign powers to restore normal conditions are a subject of speculation. It is pointed out that one resource open to the Europeans, and especially the English and French, is to dispose of their American securities, of which they hold many millions, mostly high class railroad bonds and preferred stocks in selected industries.

The World's correspondence illuminates the ugly fact that much of the manifestation of interest in Germany by many German-Americans has not arisen from unmixed love of the Fatherland, but, in part, from the fact that it has been profitable in a monetary way for the German agents have been willing to pay generously for any assistance given them in working out their ends. We are, it appears, too tolerant by far. We should ask ourselves how long such a subversive campaign as has been carried on by Germans and German-Americans in this country would be tolerated in Germany.

Funny things continue to happen right along, says the Houghton Gazette. Now we find that virtuous Marquette is really going to have a carnival company at its county fair. And it has been Marquette that has been lecturing all the rest of us for daring to have these shows. The mayor of Atlanta says that former Governor Clayton had better not go home. The mayor of Atlanta appears to be a highly temperamental individual. The general opinion will be that Clayton would be perfectly safe in going home. Astonishment at the crass stupidity of the German propagandism and intrigue in this country, as revealed by the correspondence being made public by the New York World, rather overshadows the indignation that is expressed. Where, it is asked, is the boasted German intelligence that, in theory, always so effectively adopts the means to the end? As the New York Times says: "These German propagandists were as blind as bats. They were seeking covertly and secretly, by intrigue and devices, to enter where the door was wide open, and the hand of welcome extended. The American press has been prodigal in its expenditures of money and space for the presentation of German views and German news. There was not only not the slightest occasion for underground work, there was visible proof that it would be futile. * * * We knew the conspirators were at work, that the conspiracy was widespread and we had a pretty good idea of the identity of the principal workers. We did not know until the latest disclosures that the creatures who were all the time bawling about the payment of British gold to influence opinion here were themselves taking German gold in payment for their services."

"In right and reason," says the Grand Rapids Press, "the administration could make no other reply to Austria-Hungary than that embodied in the note. The sole reason for changing the rules regarding trade between belligerents and neutrals, through which both the Teutonic nations have profited in the past, would be a benefit to the United States. If the national interest could be served better by prohibiting the exportation of arms than by shipping them no one could deny the right of the administration to put such embargo into effect. At present that condition does not exist, our responsible officials hold."

The latest Zeppelin raid cost ten lives of civilians and some thirty others were injured. Of military significance it had none. It is so easy to acquire a dangerous habit during a recognized period of tranquillity that we import on fellow citizens who sympathize strongly and naturally with the German cause, and who are not overparticular as to the forms in which their sympathies express themselves, to ponder well the slightness of the transition by which deeds and words now legally immune may suddenly become the deeds and words of a crime for which the punishment is death.—Sup.

Have Done It So Badly. All told, the revelations are deeply damaging, even though they do not prove some of the things they are said to. They establish the fact that German government gold is being used in this country in large sums. That is quite enough. Woe to the American politician whose name appears on German-American platforms hereafter: The taint of Golden Club gold will be as nothing henceforth. And woe to the newspaper or lecturer that takes the German side, for now you are being paid by the Germans? This will be an inevitable question.

EDITORIAL OPINION

(Following are comments of the New York daily newspapers on the World's revelations with regard to the German propaganda in this country.)
A Diplomatic Cleaning. No one in this country has been in ignorance of the great effort being made by Germany to bend the United States to her will. The elaborate scheme to "run" this government from Berlin has been known to all men and the World has performed good service in producing documentary proof. Our government was to be bullied and our foreign policy was to be "made in Germany." Where the "kaiser touch" could swing Americans susceptible to flattery the "kaiser touch" was applied. Where the clink of coin would prove effective the coin clinked. The "invisible army" remained invisible only while designs of the precious crew of conspirators were being formed. Then the mask was dropped and forged passports and other measures were adopted as actually as though the operators were in Berlin.

 So it went. It is a revelation which should stir this government to action. The Germans appear to have assumed that President Wilson would tolerate anything. The exposure should go on and there should be a house cleaning in the diplomatic corps. For this matter goes to the very heart of national dignity and national self-respect.
 This government must be conducted by Americans and not by Germans.—Herald.

The Seeds of Treason and the Sowers. Once more we call attention to the time limit prescribed by the constitution for such activities and utterances on the part of "German-American" citizens of the United States as are illustrated in the documents which the World is publishing for the good of the country.
 The World properly describes the process of intrigue and bribery in the guise of subsidy as the "sowing broadcast" of seeds of treason throughout the United States. That is what it is, the seeds of treason, but not treason just at present.
 It is so easy to acquire a dangerous habit during a recognized period of tranquillity that we import on fellow citizens who sympathize strongly and naturally with the German cause, and who are not overparticular as to the forms in which their sympathies express themselves, to ponder well the slightness of the transition by which deeds and words now legally immune may suddenly become the deeds and words of a crime for which the punishment is death.—Sup.

Grammatical Error. Little Wendell Holmes Emerson of Boston was resting sedately with his book in the park shortly after a picnic dinner. He had eaten too much and he was a bit drowsy. He was looking at a book in his hand and he was thinking of the things he had read in it. Just then a kindly old lady appeared and sat down beside him. "Ah!" thought Wendell, "I have sadly injured my esthetic sensibilities."
 By this time the kindly old lady was firmly settled. "My little boy," she said, "are you over eight?"
 "It was wonderful to see how the young Mr. Emerson recovered his dignity. That a woman with such outlandish grammar should dare to criticize him was unbelievable. 'No, madam,' said he proudly, 'I have overate!'—National Monthly.

 Bobby—Yes, but I couldn't pronounce it.—Judge.

LOWER STATE NOTES

BAY CITY—Chicago buyers of $80,000 worth of local improvement bonds sent the cash to the city Saturday and four pay rolls due on pavements, sewers and sidewalks were taken care of.

CHARLEVOIX—The steam barge A. C. Pierce of Charlevoix, which had been chartered by the Y. M. C. A. for a cruise around two Grand Traverse bays and the Fox islands, sprung a leak and foundered near the Fox islands, according to stories told by members of the crew who reached Charlevoix in a yawl.

MACKINAW CITY—Another big sale of Mackinac county lands was recorded last week when the Northern Improvement company sold to T. C. Blodgett of Minneapolis 1,000 acres in the vicinity of Ozark and said to be all suited for agriculture and among the best in Mackinac. Mr. Blodgett will clear and develop a considerable portion of the property, selling the remainder to reliable farmers.

LUDINGTON—That this city's new trunk sewer, constructed at an expense of $68,900, is poorly built, and is defective in a number of vital places, was the report submitted to the board of public works by City Engineer G. W. Clark and Superintendent of Water Works H. L. Williams, after an inspection of the sewer. The sum of $15,000 from the contract price pending action in making a satisfactory adjustment. A penalty of $10 a day for failure to complete the work will be exacted.

LANSING—To awaken interest in the spring local option contests and spur anti-saloon workers to greater activity in circulating petitions calling for a vote on statewide prohibition in the fall of 1916, a mass meeting of lower peninsula liquor fees will be held here Nov. 10. Headquarters of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league announced the meeting, which will be under the auspices of the Cleaners, the Grange, the Anti-Saloon league, and other kindred organizations, and will be addressed by noted advocates of the prohibition cause, among them being Congressman R. P. Hobson. A similar meeting is being arranged for the upper peninsula a short time later.

LUDINGTON—Upon a statement made by H. Geilich, of Traverse City, that he had been beaten and robbed of $130 and his watch while sleeping in a berth on Pere Marquette, No. 20, car ferry, John Barrett, Thomas Michaelson and Joe McLane were arrested here when the ferry arrived in port from Manitowoc and are being held pending further investigation. Upon the return of the car ferry a charge of robbery on the high seas probably will be preferred against them. According to the story told by Geilich, he was enroute home from Fond du Lac, Wis., and inquired in a Manitowoc saloon for information regarding a boat to Ludington. He was told that there were two firemen from a car ferry in the place at the time who would accompany him to the craft. Arriving at the ferry he sought a berth and was directed to one used by one of the firemen. Three hours later he awakened from sleep with his head covered with blood from two big gashes and his pocket rifled of his gold watch and $30 in money. A search of the boat by officers who were notified failed to reveal the stolen goods and local officers were notified by wireless to hold the three firemen when the ferry landed.

DETROIT—The Veterans of Foreign Wars, assembled in convention here, adopted resolutions favoring a navy second only to that of Great Britain; a regular army of 125,000 men; a reserve force of 500,000 to meet in camp annually, and the appointment of a national executive commission which would cooperate with all other national patriotic societies in the formulation of plans for an adequate defense system. During submission of the report of the resolutions committee, Rice W. Means of Denver, the chairman, said: "Preliminary to the adoption of plans for a larger army and navy the insurance companies of the United States should be taught or compelled by law not to discriminate against the men who enlist for national defense. Many barriers which now discourage men with families from enlisting must be swept aside." An amendment to the organization's ritual was adopted which provides that at 9:40 p. m. Feb. 13 of each year every member of the order of Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States shall come to attention for one minute wherever he may be and repeat the toast, "Remember the Maine." Local posts shall hold formal meetings on that day in commemoration of the destruction of the Maine.

Double-Ended Compliment. It was at the private theatricals, and the young man who wished to compliment his hostess, said: "Madame, you played your part splendidly. It fits you to perfection."
 "I'm afraid not. A young and pretty woman is needed for that," said the smiling hostess.
 "But, madam, you have positively proved the contrary."

Dubious. An artist and his wife were entertaining some friends at tea in the studio. The host's picture, which had recently been "hung," was the topic of conversation. "Mr. Vandike, yours was the only picture I looked at in the exhibition," Vandike bowed and smiled delightedly. "Believe me, madame," he said, "I appreciate the honor."
 But she gave a little start of perplexity. "Honor?" she said. "The others, you know, were so surrounded by the crowd."
 —Tit-Bits.

Poland. Thy valor, Poland, stemmed the tide of late Onrushing from the East in olden days, When proud Vienna saw with dread amaze, Vast Turkish hosts before her walls, o'late In victor pride, inflated with zealot hate! Then Sobieski did thy banner raise—Triumphantly, bore it through the battle haze, And saved from Crescent rule the Christian State!

And what was thy reward, O Land of Woe? 'Twas thine to see thy kingdom torn and rent, And all a proud and vanquished people know Whose necks beneath a conqueror's yoke are bent! Yet thou hast kept through all thy century night An altar flaming clear with Freedom's light!

And now again the tide of war has swept In mightiest wave the world has ever known Across thy plains by battle scarred, and prone A nation lies! War's fury that long slept, To greater madness waked! The bounds it kept In older times are swept away, and strown Thy fields are with thy dead, while moan Of dying men shows where War's cohorts stoop!

And Warsaw fair, where slow the Vistula flows, Where Kosciusko fell in Freedom's cause, Now once again a conqueror's presence knows While issue vast that all the world now issues vast that all the world now hangs trembling in the balance stern of Fate Whose dread decree all nations now await! —H. T. Sudduth in New York Times.

HORSEFLIES. Horseflies are not only a serious annoyance to livestock in many sections of the United States, but are frequently agents in transmitting the disease known as anthrax, or charbon, which is extremely fatal not only to various kinds of animals but to man as well. An excellent article on horseflies is contained in the current issue of the Weekly News-letter published by the federal department of agriculture. It has been proved in experiments that horseflies, as well as the stable fly, carry the disease. In particular, observations in the plateau region of west Texas furnish important evidence that the horsefly is responsible in some degree for the spread of this disease to healthy animals. This fact, it should be said, does not in any way lessen the necessity for the other measures of controlling anthrax, such as the burning of carcasses and proper incineration. In fact, large numbers of horseflies have been observed feeding on animals which had either just died or were about to die from anthrax. At this time the blood is known to be filled with the germs of the disease. This emphasizes the importance of isolating sick animals and destroying the carcasses immediately after death.

Even, however, when the horsefly plays no part in the spread of anthrax, it may cause severe loss of stock. The worry caused by the flies' bites frequently causes animals to cease feeding and to group themselves together for mutual protection. When the pest is more than usually abundant nervous animals are sometimes driven frantic and injure themselves in various ways. Furthermore, the loss of blood from the attacks of the fly may be very serious. Scientists in the department have studied cases in which it was estimated that in the course of a single day several hundreds of flies gorged themselves with blood from one animal. In addition to the blood drunk by the flies, much was lost by trickling out of the wounds made by the insects.

The adult horsefly is equipped with such a formidable biting apparatus that it is difficult to protect stock from its attacks. Any substance which will repel the insect is likely to injure the animal to which it is applied. A preparation which will, however, give temporary degree of protection consists of one gallon of fish oil, one ounce oil of tar, and one ounce oil of pennyroyal. This may be sprayed on work animals with advantage, but the use of sprays is practically impossible in the case of range stock. Bulletin No. 131 of the department of agriculture, which may be obtained from the superintendent of documents, Washington, D. C., for five cents, deals with this question of repellents.

Another method which has the advantage of simplicity is to provide shades which furnish rather dense shade and into which livestock may go when the pests are most troublesome. Horseflies do not enter these shades readily and the stock will obtain some relief. For very valuable stock or for young calves fly-proof cages are sometimes constructed and the animals placed in these during the middle of the day when the flies are the worst. Such a screened cage is very desirable as a means of isolating animals suspected of anthrax. After a diseased animal has been in it the cage should always be disinfected.

In swampy places. For this reason the numbers of the flies decrease with the clearing up of cultivation of marshy areas. This course of action is a measure of relief, and investigators have found that the process may be hastened by placing a film of kerosene on the surface of pools of water. All adult flies that strike the kerosene are destroyed. This system of control is valuable chiefly in regions where there are comparatively few pools of water or in wooded areas where certain pools are observed to be especially attractive to the flies.

The adult fly frequently deposits its eggs on the leaves of water plants growing in pools or along streams, but in west Texas it has been found that the eggs are usually deposited on rocks sticking out of running water. When first deposited the eggs are almost white, but they soon turn almost black or, in other cases, an ashy gray. When full grown they change into the pupal or resting stage and a few weeks after emerge as adult flies. Most of the species of horseflies require nearly a year to complete this life cycle, and so there is usually but one generation annually. There are a large number of different species, however, each of which shows minor differences. One of the most important groups is known as the "ear" or "deer" fly. This is a comparatively small insect with mottled wings.

LIGHT IN THE ARCTIC.
 An electric light plant is being built 100 miles north of the arctic circle by a mission at Mount Hope. Engineers at the University of Pennsylvania will design the equipment. It is proposed to use the cold, icy winds to propel a huge windmill, as the source of power. The wind in this region is steady and seldom falls below twenty miles an hour. There are 400 persons at this spot. The darkness here is intense during the long arctic night. Electric power will make the night like day and, besides, provide all the heat needed.—Electric News.

FACT.
 Local Evidence. Evidence that can be verified. Fact is what we want. Opinion is not enough. Opinions differ. Here's a Marquette fact. Mrs. E. H. Cleary, 322 Rock St., Marquette, says: "One of my family had a bad attack of kidney trouble and could hardly straighten on account of backache. Doan's Kidney Pills gave relief right away. Since they have been used several times when this person has taken cold in the kidneys and they have always given as much benefit as they did at first. I publicly endorse Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago and I can only repeat that they are a grand medicine for kidney trouble."
 Price 50c at all druggers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—Get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Cleary recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

DROWNING IS THE FATE OF TWO SMALL BOYS DEER AND PARTRIDGE PLENTIFUL THIS YEAR

Lake Linden Youths of 11 and 12 Lose Lives When They Wade Beyond Their Depth.

Theodore Provencher aged eleven, and Jerome Crossier, twelve years of age, both of Lake Linden, were drowned in Torch lake yesterday, when they waded beyond their depth. The bodies were recovered an hour afterwards. Funeral services were held in Torch lake yesterday. The boys were, respectively, the sons of Arthur Provencher and Sefry Crossier. With a companion, Joseph Perrault, seven years of age, the youngsters were playing in the water at the Caumet stamp and bank. Perrault was on a raft. The others pushed the craft into the lake, and when the boy became frightened his companions went after him. Unable to swim, they were drowned when they got beyond their depth.

FATALITY AT THE HECLA.

Fall of Rock Results in the Death of Peter Ziehr, Timberman.

Peter Ziehr, a timber foreman in No. 7 shaft of the Hecla mine, was fatally injured by a fall of rock in the seventy-first level late Wednesday afternoon, his death occurring an hour later from a crushing injury in the chest, loss of blood and a contusion of the head. Peter Peterson, a miner, with whom Ziehr was prying down loose ground, narrowly escaped death, death breaking his arm and leg. According to the evidence at the inquest, conducted by Coroner William Fisher, Peterson warned the timber crew that a mass of rock was to be barred down in the slope. Ziehr went to the aid of Peterson and both were prying at the rock when it gave way. The verdict was in accordance with the facts.

STATE ASSOCIATION INVITED.

Houghton County Medics Anxious to Entertain Michigan Society.

At a special meeting of the Houghton County medical society, held last evening for the purpose of taking definite action on the proposal to entertain the state medical society in Houghton next year, it was unanimously decided to instruct the Houghton county delegates to the state meeting, Aug. 30 to Sept. 1, to extend the invitation.

At the regular meeting of the society in January Dr. P. D. MacNaughton, of Calumet, was selected as the Houghton county delegate to the gathering of the state medical association at Grand Rapids, to be held at the Hotel Grand Rapids, and Dr. J. G. Turner was chosen as alternate. The wishes of the Houghton county society will be conveyed to the state meeting by Dr. MacNaughton. The decision will be awaited with keen interest.

WILL MOTOR TO GRAND RAPIDS.

Dr. C. A. Conrad will leave Houghton Tuesday in his automobile for Chicago, whence he will proceed around the southern end of Lake Michigan. Grand Rapids is his destination. He will be accompanied from Chicago on the return trip by Mrs. Conrad, who left yesterday by rail.

HOUGHTON BOY ADVANCES.

Friends of Meredith Randall, now of Detroit, will be pleased to learn that he has made an advantageous change of business connections. He is now traveling in southern Michigan and northern Indiana for the American Rubber company. Mr. Randall is a Houghton boy, the son of Ira Randall.

FREE ADVICE TO SICK WOMEN

Women suffering from any form of female ills are invited to communicate promptly with the woman's private correspondence department of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; this has been established a confidential correspondence which has extended over many years and which has never been broken. Never have they published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which they have to draw from, it is more than possible that they possess the very knowledge needed in your case. Nothing is asked in return except your good will, and their advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today.

BIGGER THAN EVER.

Copper Country Fair at Houghton Will Open Sept. 28.

Preliminary activity in connection with the opening of the Copper Country Fair on Sept. 28 will be started next week, when the first of the advertising cars is started on a tour of the county. Huge posters will be prominently displayed on bill boards and in shop windows everywhere, announcing what Secretary I. N. Haas says will be the biggest exposition in the history of the association.

Special departures will be made this year. In the interest of uniformity, the fair committee has decided that it will construct all of the booths in the Amphidrome, the several exhibitors to trim them to suit their own fancies. It is thought that this will greatly improve the appearance of the general display, and at the same time all booths will be completed before the fair opens, avoiding needless confusion. A new sectional floor will be constructed in the gallery, on both sides of the main floor.

The Robinson Amusement company will furnish the program of vaudeville acts. The Robinson company provided the acts last year, and all were well received.

TODAY TUBERCULOSIS DAY.

Physicians of the Copper Country Will Make Examinations Free of Charge.

The physicians of the copper country will, in common with physicians throughout Michigan, today give free examinations to all persons who believe they have tuberculosis in any form or who suspect they are contracting the disease. This is part of a state-wide campaign suggested by Governor Woodbridge N. Ferris some time ago. Results of the examination will be submitted, from all parts of the state, to the meeting of the Michigan Anti-Tuberculosis society at Grand Rapids Sept. 2 and 3, returns being made on blanks furnished by that society.

The blanks contain the following list of questions, answers to which must be made:

Have you ever been associated with a person who had consumption?

Have you ever contracted the disease?

Have you ever spit blood?

Have you a chronic cough or expectoration?

Have you had typhoid, pneumonia or grippe?

These questions and a test of the lungs, pulse and temperature make up the examination. The National Community Betterment association asks that all patriotic citizens unite on that day in promoting community welfare. Ministers are asked to consider the subject from their pulpits; all others are urged to cooperate by attending church, and asking their friends to do likewise. "An opportunity and a responsibility in your community; do your part in making Community Day while. Say a good word about your community, shake hands with your neighbor, go to church, unfurl the flag."

"Let's have every day a 'Community Day' and we'll get better results," said the mayor yesterday. "One day to promote harmony is not enough when we have 365 available."

THINKS IT TIME TO CALL HALT.

Mayor Ojala Gets Many Requests for Special Observance Days.

Not that Mayor Ojala of Hancock frowns upon civic movements, whether they be municipal, county, state or national, aiming to do good for the humanity, but he thinks it time the curb should be applied. Scarcely a day passes that the mayor is not in receipt of communications asking that he issue a proclamation or call a mass meeting of citizens to pass resolutions favoring the setting aside of some particular day for a special cause. These communications as a rule find their way to the waste paper basket. The mayor takes no stock in them.

Mr. Ojala yesterday received a communication asking that Hancock observe Sunday, Oct. 3, as a "National Community Day." The National Community Betterment association asks that all patriotic citizens unite on that day in promoting community welfare. Ministers are asked to consider the subject from their pulpits; all others are urged to cooperate by attending church, and asking their friends to do likewise. "An opportunity and a responsibility in your community; do your part in making Community Day while. Say a good word about your community, shake hands with your neighbor, go to church, unfurl the flag."

FARMERS REAPING HARVEST.

Probably few individuals stop to consider what a big help camping parties are to farmers, especially those farmers that live near any of the copper country's numerous outing resorts. But, if the farmer had the camping parties at source of revenue, the campers have, in turn, discovered the farmer a convenience.

Farmers say that during the present summer they have sold large quantities of fresh milk and cream, eggs and vegetables, and furthermore, the eggs were made without the necessity of hauling the product to town, a distance of several miles in some cases. In fact, the campers go after the stuff and consider it a special favor to be accommodated. City folks depending upon farmers for fresh eggs, and other farm products, aside from vegetables, have not been so fortunate this summer as in other years, because of the increased number of campers and, consequently, the increased number of visitors to the farmhouse.

TRACTION-LIGHT OFFICES CLOSE.

Employees to Attend Picnic at Electric Park This Afternoon.

Employees in the offices of the Houghton County Electric Light & Traction company will attend the joint picnic to be given at Electric Park today, and consequently, the offices will be closed from noon till tomorrow morning. The outing today is arranged for the employees of both the electric light and traction companies, and is an annual event. The street car schedules has been arranged so that every man in the employ of the company will have an opportunity to spend half a day at the park.

ELECTRIC COMPANY SUSPENDS.

The Barrett Electric company, for many years one of Houghton's prominent business firms, has discontinued business and the remaining stock has been stored. F. L. Barrett, proprietor, is at present out of town, and no intimation of his intentions could be learned yesterday.

CAMELS HOLD INITIATION.

At one of the biggest meetings since the organization of the lodge, the Camels of the World of Houghton Wednesday evening initiated fifty-six candidates. The work was put on in the Citizens' Bank hall because the decorating work in progress in the Old Fellows' temple prevented the use of the regular lodge room. The membership of the lodge has now reached four hundred and six.

THREW UP THE JOB.

A guest was expected for dinner and Bobby had received five cents as the price of his silence during the meal. He was as quiet as a mouse, says the Kansas City Times, until, discovering that his favorite dessert was being served, he could no longer curb his enthusiasm. He drew the coin from his pocket and, rolling it across the table, exclaimed, "Here's your nickel, mamma, I'd rather talk."

Is Appointed Municipal Engineer.

Walter Hodson has been appointed by Mayor B. J. MacKillean as city engineer of Escanaba, to succeed W. J. McDonald, resigned. The appointment has been confirmed by the aldermen. Mr. Hodson has been performing the work since the resignation of Mr. McDonald, and is in charge of the sewer construction work now in progress and other details of the office. He has had extensive experience in engineering work.

On Long Bicycle Tour.

Howard Thompson, assistant weather observer at the Soo station, and Albert address, also of the Soo, arrived in Escanaba this week, riding bicycles, with their destination a matter of their own judgment. They declared their trip had been most enjoyable thus far. They carry a shelter tent, knapsacks, field glasses and other equipment. The young men left Escanaba, going south, saying they expected to ride toward Chicago and take the boat home from some port along the way; if they do not reach the Windy City.

City Scales for Escanaba.

The Escanaba council has formally approved the action of the purchasing committee in buying a set of scales to be erected in the alley north of the police station at a cost of $240. The scales will be installed within sixty days. The council also provided for first reading an ordinance providing for the use of the scales. Under the provisions of the ordinance, all persons selling hay, coal, or bulk products, must have the loads weighed at the city scale, when request is made, and the person making the request will pay a weighing fee of ten cents. The ordinance provides for the appointment of a weighmaster, who will receive a salary and will turn over all receipts of his office to the city treasurer. For violation of the ordinance by any person claiming a greater weight on wagon or truck than is finally shown by the city scales, a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $25 is provided.

STRAIN ON SUBMARINE CREWS.

Service on board submarines while cruising at sea is extremely trying for the men. One of the German submarine captains who was captured, Commander Hansen of the U-16, recently described how it feels to be in a submerged submarine. "It is fearfully trying on the nerves. Every man does not stand it. When running under sea there is deathlike stillness in the boats as the electrical machinery is noiseless. As the air heats it gets poor and mixed with the odor of oil from the machinery. The atmosphere becomes fearful. An overpowering sleepiness often attacks new men and one requires the utmost will power to remain awake. I have had men who did not want to eat during the first three days out because they did not want to lose that amount of time from sleep. Day after day spent in such cramped quarters, where there is hardly room to stretch your legs, and constantly on the alert, is a tremendous strain on the nerves."—World's Work.

Manager John Vanzel of the Rochester International league baseball team, has resigned. He had been manager of the Hustlers for six years and his retirement was unexpected.

The Tigers have done about as much to keep the White Sox out of the pennant this year as any team could. Winning twelve out of seventeen games is a fairly good record.

Herbert Posten, star pitcher for the Duluth White Sox, has been sold to the Detroit team of the American league, according to Harry Blaine owner of the Sox. Mr. Blaine refused to state the amount paid for the Pallade wonder, but seemed to be well satisfied.

Pitcher Joseph Conzelmann has been sold to the Indianapolis club of the American association, according to an announcement made by President Barney Dreyfus of the Pittsburgh National league club. The purchase price was not announced. Conzelmann joined the Pirates in 1913, coming from Brown University.

President R. B. Ward of the Brooklyn Federal league club, says he has received and accepted the formal resignation of Lee Magee as manager of the team. Magee will continue to play at second base. His contract with the club still has two years to run. Magee's chief reason for resigning is that he cannot do justice to the club in the dual capacity of player and manager.

Some remarkable statistics have been compiled in connection with the games made by Jack Neuss of the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast league in getting at least one hit in forty-nine consecutive games. Neuss started his string of hits, which eventually displaced the record held by Ty Cobb, on May 31. His batting spree did not end until July 27, and during that period the giant Oakland first baseman went to bat 184 times, scoring thirty-six runs and eighty-one hits, including thirteen two-baggers, three threebaggers and six home runs. His total number of bases was 118 for the forty-nine games and his batting average for the same period .440.

RECORD PEACH CROP IN SIGHT.

Indications at present are that the 1915 peach crop of the United States will be the largest in the history of the country. According to a commerce report, the 68,000,000 bushels reported on July 1 showed an increase of 8 per cent over last year's figures for the corresponding period, but it is thought that the real extent of the crop, when completed, will be greater than is indicated by these figures. Many of the larger producing areas will have substantially increased yields, in some of which there was a dearth last year, while in the entire country there is only one district—Colorado—in which the crop is noticeably shorter than in 1914. As the fruit of several of the big producing districts will be ready for consumption at about the same time, the marketing problem involved will be one requiring the most expert attention, according to the report, in order that the distribution may be made to the best advantage.

THE QUESTION.

Oh, do I look as old to them
As they look young to me
I mean the cop upon his beat,
The subway engineer,
The fireman, the "D" guard and
The U. S. regular,
The college boy with rah-rah clothes,
And also the baseball star.
Time was (and not so long ago)
They all looked old and sage,
For men of thirty seemed to bow
Beneath the weight of age.
But step by step I overtook
The decades, after while,
Until a man of thirty-one
Looked mighty juvenile;
And so, till now, when all these
Mere children seem to be,
Say, do I look as old to them
As they look young to me?
—H. S. Haskins, in the New York Sun.

GASOLINE "JAGS."

The first important discovery in the navy to be reported to Josephus Daniels since Thomas A. Edison helped him to form his celebrated inventors board, it was learned, is a brand new kind of a "jag." It is prevalent in the submarine service, and no sort of prohibition order can end the trouble, and what is more, it is free.

The "jag" comes from gasoline, and apparently Mr. Daniels will never succeed in getting "prohibition" in the navy firmly established until he finds some other fluid besides gasoline to use in his submarines.

This account of the "gasoline jag" is given in the current number of the Army and Navy Register.

"A peculiar condition is noted on board the submarines, resulting in the temporary disability of members of the crew, on account of what has come to be termed a 'gasoline jag.' This occurs especially on boats equipped with a certain type of gasoline engine where the gasoline is stored in tanks. It is found that both raw and burned gasoline have toxic effects which differ from each other in degree and in character. Raw or unburned gasoline may be present in the fuel through leaks anywhere in the gasoline is stored in tanks. It is found volatilization produces a typical 'gasoline jag' that resembles an acute alcoholic intoxication in many ways and is rather insidious in its onset.

"In a typical case a man will be found working in the engine room in close proximity to a leak. He is conscious at first of a slight and not unpleasant odor of gasoline. Presently he feels rather lightly and is conscious of a dull headache. He determines to get out into the open air, but as he feels more or less weak and languid he does not hurry. He may reach the open air and his weakness passes off and his headache is gradually relieved. Otherwise, he may be overcome with delirium.

"Sometimes the man will be found wildly excited and it frequently takes several men to restrain him, a condition lasting from five to twenty minutes. Finally he lapses into a sleep from which he can be easily aroused to complain of a bad headache. In the course of three or four hours he feels ready for duty save for a slight weakness.

"Intoxication from raw gasoline is not so frequently met with, now as formerly, due to more careful supervision of the integrity of the gasoline lines in the boats. One remarkable case recently was the intoxication of a man who was painting double bottoms with an asphaltum paint in which gasoline was used."—New York Herald.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO.

WHAT IS THE MATTER?

To the Editor of The Mining Journal: What is the matter with Marquette? A city can be just what its citizens desire to make it.

Do the majority of our citizens want Marquette to become an industrial or merely an amusement center?

What is the reason we cannot induce industries to locate here? Other cities all around us, smaller in population than we, are practicing the material and no better transportation facilities, seem to have no difficulty in getting them.

The writer believes the Commercial club is making an honest effort to lead some industries, but why this effort has not met with success is unknown outside its membership.

There must be a reason for not getting some results from their efforts.

What is it? Is it a question of site, financial assistance or what?

If we cannot induce outside capital to come in, what is the matter with getting some of the surplus lying in the banks busy. Surely something can be started that will earn just as much without hurting the banks' business.

On the contrary it should increase it.

It has been said you could raise $200,000 in five minutes to finance a copper stock deal, but could not raise that many cents to finance an industrial plant.

Industries mean much to a city.

Take the Pioneer Iron company, see what it has added to our tax roll. Has it not in a large measure been responsible for the growth of the city, in the matter of home building by its employees? Will not the creating of other plants keep the city growing? Is this not just what we want? It will mean more business for the merchant and the banks, work for the mechanics and the laboring man, more revenue for the city and lower taxes. Inducing conventions and amusements to come to our city is not going to build it up. True they may leave a little loose change, but as a rule the outgo is far greater than the benefit derived.

For instance, in 1908 the Parker street

at Iron River, where the Nobles will parade. On their way back from Iron River the "caravan" will stop at the Oasis of Fortune lake, known as Idlewild.

Opens Office Here—John O. Maxey, of L'Anse, president of the Baraga County National bank, has opened an office in the Marquette County Savings bank for the sale of twenty thousand acres of land which he recently purchased in southern Alger county. Mr. Maxey was in the city yesterday with H. E. Morgan of Chicago, a writer for the Country Gentleman, as his guest. Visits were made to the farms in Alger and Marquette county.

Free Consultation Today—The physicians of Marquette, in compliance with the proclamation of Governor Woodbridge N. Ferris setting aside Friday, Aug. 20, as Tuberculosis Day, will give free examination and advice to all persons wishing to determine whether they are victims of tuberculosis. The office of Dr. R. C. Main, the health officer, has been open all month for such free examinations and five persons have come to him for advice.

Addition to Bank—Philip J. Braun of Potoski, Mich., has arrived in the city to take charge of the insurance department of the Marquette County Savings bank. Mr. Braun has had much experience in insurance work, coming to Marquette from the Detroit National Fire Insurance company in Detroit. Before that he was with Quinlan and with Wachtel & Glaster at Potoski. The growth of the insurance business of the bank has made it necessary to make it a separate department in charge of an experienced man. Mr. Braun's wife will arrive in Marquette in September.

Golf Club Dance—Invitations have been sent out for a dance to be given this evening at the Town and Country club. The dance will begin with 8 o'clock and will be preceded by a basket supper for members at 6:30 o'clock. Music will be furnished by Peter Behan's orchestra. The dance is the second to be given this summer, the "Tango Town" entertainment being the first. Weather conditions have prevented the committee from carrying out a weekly or bi-weekly program of dances, but it is expected that a series of parties will be given from time to time in the future.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO.

WHAT IS THE MATTER?

To the Editor of The Mining Journal: What is the matter with Marquette? A city can be just what its citizens desire to make it.

Do the majority of our citizens want Marquette to become an industrial or merely an amusement center?

What is the reason we cannot induce industries to locate here? Other cities all around us, smaller in population than we, are practicing the material and no better transportation facilities, seem to have no difficulty in getting them.

The writer believes the Commercial club is making an honest effort to lead some industries, but why this effort has not met with success is unknown outside its membership.

There must be a reason for not getting some results from their efforts.

What is it? Is it a question of site, financial assistance or what?

If we cannot induce outside capital to come in, what is the matter with getting some of the surplus lying in the banks busy. Surely something can be started that will earn just as much without hurting the banks' business.

On the contrary it should increase it.

It has been said you could raise $200,000 in five minutes to finance a copper stock deal, but could not raise that many cents to finance an industrial plant.

Industries mean much to a city.

Take the Pioneer Iron company, see what it has added to our tax roll. Has it not in a large measure been responsible for the growth of the city, in the matter of home building by its employees? Will not the creating of other plants keep the city growing? Is this not just what we want? It will mean more business for the merchant and the banks, work for the mechanics and the laboring man, more revenue for the city and lower taxes. Inducing conventions and amusements to come to our city is not going to build it up. True they may leave a little loose change, but as a rule the outgo is far greater than the benefit derived.

For instance, in 1908 the Parker street

THE WRIST WATCH.

Why should a man be accused of "assiness" because he wears a wrist watch? Some eastern pundits are making vastly merry over their discovery that many officers are somewhat addicted to this practice. Now the wrist would seem to be exactly the place where a soldier should wear his watch, or indeed any other man who is likely to find that both hands are strenuously and simultaneously occupied. The idiot scribbles who are raising their feeble cackle over this matter might find something better with which to occupy their alleged minds than the wearing of a watch in the most sensible of all places.—Argonaut.

POWER TURNED DOWN BY STATE AUDITOR

Minnesota Official Refuses to Take a Hand in Fight in Progress at Hibbing.

J. O. A. Preus, Minnesota state auditor, who was appealed to by Mayor Power of Hibbing to enjoin the companies who refused to pay their taxes from carrying on mining operations and shipping while the case is in litigation, has refused to move. This means that the companies, which have refused to pay current taxes aggregating $1,500,000 on their Hibbing holdings, because of extravagance by the Power administration, will not be interfered with. It also means that the state auditor will not seize any ore and sell it to satisfy the taxes.

The decision by the state auditor was awaited on the range with much interest, not only by the representatives of the Oliver and other mining companies, but by the people. The state auditor's refusal to move is based on a provision of the statute. It seems that Mayor Power, the state auditor and Attorney General Smith have placed different constructions on the law. Mr. Power takes the stand that the state is required to take action against the companies to compel them to pay their taxes. The law was designed to protect against impairment of the state's security in its taxes, in cases where the immediate removal of ore or timber would strip the property of its chief value, and it clothes the state authorities with authority to seize all ore, timber and structures removed from the land on which taxes had not been paid, and to sell the same to satisfy the taxes. At the time the law was passed it was not an uncommon thing for unscrupulous dealers to strip land of its timber, and then to refuse to pay back taxes.

Whether the companies operating mines in the Hibbing district should be enjoined is purely discretionary with the state auditor under the law, and his refusal to act is based primarily on the purpose that he does not consider that the state's tax lien on the Hibbing mineral holdings, worth upwards of $100,000,000, has been seriously impaired.

In his letter to Mayor Power, the state auditor says that he had reached the decision that the purpose of the statute referred to is to prevent the removal of structures, timber or mineral from mines on which a lien for taxes has attached, the result of which removal might be that the taxes cannot thereafter be collected. Mr. Preus says that in no instance will the removal of ore from Hibbing mines impair the state's rights.

Mr. Power was greatly disappointed in the state auditor's decision, but he announces that he has no intention of giving up the fight and that he still has several cards up his sleeve.

SCHOOLS WILL OPEN TUESDAY, SEPT. 7

Have Been Thoroughly Renovated and Are in Excellent Condition for Fall Term.

The Ishpeming public schools and St. John's parochial school will open for the fall term Tuesday, Sept. 7. The school children have had a pleasant vacation. Many of them have enjoyed playground work, and others have had frequent opportunities to go camping and fishing. In the neighborhood of 1,500 of the boys and girls have enjoyed the playgrounds regularly, and basketball and baseball games have been popular. The practice has put the boys and girls in condition for the indoor games that will be played during the fall and winter.

C. E. Phelps, who accepted the superintendency more than a month ago, has been busy since his arrival in the city. He is spending nearly all of his time in the office, getting acquainted with the records of the pupils, as well as other matters pertaining to the schools. He is now compiling a list of the teachers and arranging the assignments. Although most of the teachers will return to their former rooms, some changes will be necessary, as some new teachers have been engaged.

The school buildings are being thoroughly renovated. The cleaning work will not be finished for a few weeks yet, although the exterior painting of a number of the larger schools has been finished. Most of this work, including the painting of the central group of buildings, was done by students of the manual training department. The boys have also done a number of other jobs, including the digging of a sewer trench and laying a sewer main from the manual training building. The old pipe was in such condition that it had to be removed.

"ROMANCE OF ELAINE."

Many Exciting Scenes in Episode to Be Shown at Theater Tonight.

"The Conspirators" is the title of the fifth episode of the "Romance of Elaine," to be shown tonight and tomorrow afternoon at the Ishpeming theatre.

At Fort Dale, Lieutenant Woodward receives an invitation from Elaine Dodge to attend a house party she is to give. At the same time he receives a visit from an old man with a dark, heavy beard and spectacles. This man whispers something to Woodward, who starts in amazement and then answers Elaine's note, begging permission to bring his friend, Professor Arnold.

Marcus Del Mar, a foreign agent, posing to Elaine as an investigator in search of the lost Craig Kennedy, plans with his fellow conspirators to cut the great Atlantic cable. That night at the party, Elaine discovers a note thrown away by Del Mar. It is undecipherable to her at first, as it represents only a crudely drawn sunrise on the ocean. It is Del Mar's plan to cut the cable, and she is surprised in his search for Del Mar, who has all of his astounding ingenuity to outwit the foreign agent.

The next morning Elaine rises early, and going down to the ocean, interests herself in the actions of a boat off shore. It is Del Mar's ship, being used on his cable cutting exploit. Del Mar sees her watching, and he is captured and taken aboard. Jameson, off for a fishing trip, sees Elaine's plight, but being alone is powerless to help her. Rushing off to Fort Dale, he explains the whole situation to Captain Burdette of the U. S. army, who sends a helicopter to Woodward and Professor Arnold, out for a horseback ride, see Del Mar's crew haul the Atlantic cable on deck preparatory to cutting it. Woodward gallops off to Fort Dale, where he secures a company of soldiers and a field gun, and starts back to bombard the ship.

Elaine in the foreigners' ship, the ship bombarded by a field gun and a company of U. S. soldiers, the Atlantic cable about to be severed, and a hydroplane about to descend are all on the film.

TO ORGANIZE LADIES' LODGE.
The members of the Ishpeming branch of the Order of Owls are asked to attend the meeting, Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, in the Odd Fellows hall, as after the business session, a ladies' branch, with forty or more members, will be organized. The ladies of the Order of Owls are now established in thirty-four states. The work of obtaining the charter members for the Ishpeming branch has been done by the members of the men's lodge.

WASTE OF LAND IN ROADS.
In Kansas and the middle west, a public road is four rods, or sixty-six feet wide, by decree of the government survey. The makers of macadam for state roads rarely pretend to build road beds more than eighteen feet wide. A farm wagon is four feet, eight inches wide from wheel to wheel. Add one foot for hubs and still three vehicles can be placed abreast in the eighteen-foot road.

In the four-rod government highway, ten wagons could be set side by side in single rank. This sounds extravagant, and it is. Each foot of government roadway contains eight acres of land. Much of it is perfectly good land, capable of growing 500 bushels of corn to the acre. Counting one rod as enough for proper usage, six acres in each mile is pure waste.

KILLED IN WAR.

Brother of Ishpeming Woman Loses His Life at the Dardanelles.

Mrs. James L. Reid, of this city, whose husband travels for the Edson-Moore company of Detroit, has been informed of the death of her brother, James Falconer, who was a member of the Royal Scots regiment. He enlisted from Edinburgh and was sent to the Dardanelles. He was nineteen years of age. Another brother of Mrs. Reid is on his way to the Dardanelles with another regiment.

Mrs. Reid had received letters and postal cards from her brother at frequent intervals until the latter part of June, when they stopped coming. She then feared that he had been killed, but her parents in Edinburgh were not able until recently to obtain any news of him.

SALES GROW IN VOLUME.

It is now estimated that more than 2,500,000 tons of ore have been sold the last few days. The sales in July and August are much larger than was anticipated sixty days ago, and the fact that shipments are continually improving shows that more ore has been sold than has been recorded.

Season contracts made Saturday of last week are from 500,000 to 500,000 tons. With trades and contracts, more than 1,200,000 tons of ore have been placed in the last ten days.

Those who predicted the season's ore movement would be 42,000,000 tons are called now that it will reach their estimate.

PRESBYTERY MEETING HERE.

Rev. Hugh McCarroll, moderator, and Rev. M. M. Allen, secretary, of the Lake Superior Presbytery, have announced that a meeting of the Lake Superior Presbytery will be held in the Presbyterian church, this city, on the 27th at 2:15 o'clock, for the purpose of considering the report of Rev. William Roberts and Rev. M. M. Allen, their letters of Presbyterial dismissal; the filling of any or all offices held by them, if held advisable, and the question of the fall meeting of the Presbytery, whether to be held in Houghton, as appointed, or deferred to the "floor of the synod."

WHEN IT'S GOING TO RAIN.

There are plenty of soundly scientific weather signs that are right before our eyes and vouch for by the best meteorologists. For instance, the "ring around the moon," which is produced by a thin, filmy cloud made up of minute particles of ice, state of things not built to last. Either some unlooked-for commotion will put a stop to it in a different manner or it will pour "cats and dogs" within three days at most. In eighty-six cases out of a hundred, the rule holds good. A still better sign is the "ring around the sun."

This is science, pure and simple, and so is the old maxim: "The farther the sight, the nearer the rain." It is not pessimism that makes people along the coast predict a downpour when they can pick out the separate houses on a far-away island, or the peaks of mountainous regions call it "too good to last," when a distant peak, generally invisible, comes into view. They are shrewd meteorologists in making these predictions, and when a rain shower comes they are right when a rain shower comes.

Of all nice, convincing weather signs, however, a "sickening sky" is pretty nearly the most reliable. When the deep warm blue grows paler, and then whitish, and your spirits drop, and shade away from the edges and disappear, then you are having a sickening sky. Rain is not being brought up ready-made from afar, it is being manufactured directly overhead.

The color of the sky, then, is a fair, trustworthy sign in and of itself, and so is the color of the clouds. Intensely white clouds against an intensely blue sky mean bright weather ahead. Grayish clouds on a lightish blue foretell rain.

—Rolin L. Hartt in Woman's Home Companion.

SHORT STORIES MONEY GETTERS.

Would you like to be that hero of romance, a neglected genius? Do you wish to have the proud consciousness of writing stories too good to be appreciated by the public? Do you wish to produce great literature and picturesquely starve?

Well, you can't do it in the United States. Charles Belmont Davis says so. And Mr. Davis does not lack the opinion on the fact that "The Ledger Over Head," "In Another Moment," and his other short stories have been well received, nor on the fact that he is Rebecca Harding Davis' son and Richard Harding Davis' brother.

He has had numerous other opportunities to learn the truth about short-story writing as a means of livelihood. For one thing, he was at one time fiction editor of Collier's Weekly and had charge of a great short-story prize contest.

"There is no more mistaken idea," he said to me recently, "than this belief of young writers that their work is not appreciated. If a man can write good fiction, he'll find market for it. If he can't sell his stories to the leading magazines, he can sell them to the second-rate magazines. Today, in the United States it is absolutely impossible to be a neglected genius."

"A really good short story never is lost. A really good short story never has to wait long for recognition. What surprises me about the good short stories published nowadays is the very short time it takes for them to be discovered by an enormous number of people." —New York Times.

Multiply these figures for the state of Iowa by the 104,000 miles of public road, and we have 416,000 acres of the best farming land in the world just wasted. #### A NEW EXPLOSIVE.

A new explosive, called "Simitite," has been invented and patented in Sweden by an artillery captain named B. Holmberg. It is not intended for use in war primarily. Its principal uses make it adapted for pacific purposes. It will be recalled that dynamite, the first strong explosive, was invented by a Swedish engineer, Alfred Nobel.

Unlike the original dynamite, simitite is a safety explosive. It will go off by concussion alone. At recent demonstrations on an estate not far from Stockholm, the new explosive was used to blow up stumps as well as splitting blocks of stone. The principal advantage claimed for it by the inventor is that it is not necessary to drill holes into the rocks or the stumps for blasting. In the case of stumps the cartridge was inserted by hand into a crevice at the roots, and it was then covered with loose clay or dirt. The effect of the explosion was, nevertheless, most destructive. In the case of granite it broke the explosive was laid on top of the stone, and after being covered with ordinary soil it was set off, breaking the rocks into many pieces.

Though simitite might be used for the blast grenades that are now thrown from trench to trench on the battlefield, it will be found more useful to farmers and foresters. The cost of manufacturing is said to be low, and before long the new explosive will be on the market.

ALLEGED DANGERS TO THE EYE.

The eye is such supreme importance to man and its mechanism is so delicate that it is quite naturally regarded as peculiarly susceptible to all sorts of offending agencies and exposed to a myriad of unsuspected dangers. Many of these fears and beliefs are well grounded. Some of them, on the other hand, have led to unnecessary conclusions. Certain of the modern illuminants have acquired the reputation of being dangerous by reason of injurious effects of the ultraviolet radiation delivered by them.

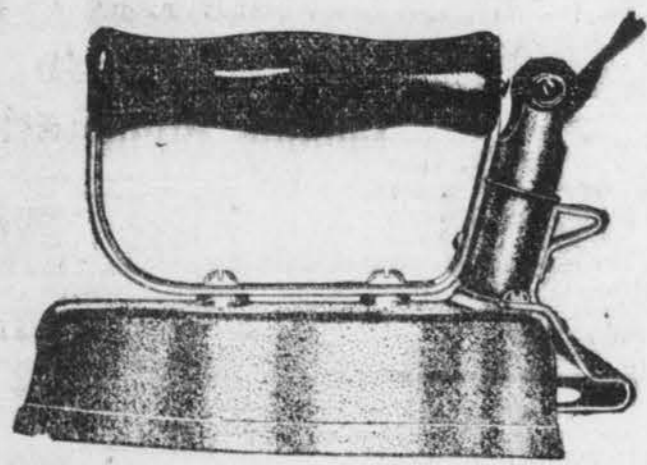

Drs. Verhoeff and Bell of Boston have published a summary of an investigation of the effects of radiation on the eye. The vital question is not whether a light source gives ultra-violet radiations, but whether it gives them of such kind, and in sufficient quantity, as to injure the eye. They find that no artificial source of light used for illuminating purposes contains enough ultra-violet radiation to involve the slightest danger to the eye.

Experiments on rabbits, monkeys, etc., and observations on the human object, prove that the retina may be flooded for an hour or more with light of extreme intensity without any sign of permanent injury. Only when the concentration of light involves enough heat is the retina liable to be injured. Actual experiments made on the human eye show conclusively that no concentration of radiation on the retina from any artificial illuminant is sufficient to produce injury under any practical conditions.

Glass blowers' cataract, often charged to specific radiation, ultra-violet or other, is regarded as probably due to the overheating of the eye as a whole with consequent disturbed nutrition of the lens.

It is comforting to be told that com-

WORLD'S SMALLEST STATE.

The only absolute monarchy left in Europe, and its smallest state, is this same Monaco, which covers eight square miles of land on the coast of the Mediterranean sea, nine miles east of Nice. Monaco has 14,000 inhabitants and is bounded on one side by the sea and all other sides by France. In the year 7 B. C. the Emperor Augustus erected a monument in Monaco (the ruins of which can be seen today in close proximity) and contrast to the modern hotel and railway) to celebrate the subjugation of forty-five Gallic cantons which had been so ill-advised as to defy the power of Rome. These cantons were all like Monaco—little states, independent or united in more or less unstable confederacies. They might be called the standard of which the planets of the European solar system were formed. Rome itself was originally just such a village state.—Christian Herald.

WATER POWER IN IRELAND.

A somewhat extensive water power scheme in Ireland, according to the Irish Industrial Journal, involves the combination of two power houses utilizing the waters of the Shannon and Erne, and capital expenditures amounting to $1,500,000. The drainage area of the Shannon is 6,000 square miles, and the average discharge is given as 1,320,000 cubic feet a minute at an available head of forty feet, equivalent to some 60,000-horse power all the year round. It is proposed to utilize Loughs Derg, Rea and Allen as storage reservoirs. The catchment area of the Erne is almost half that of the Shannon, but a head of sixty-feet is said to be available. Comparatively little in the way of dams would be required, although considerable dredging would be necessary below the fall, and a conduit would be needed. It is proposed to establish transmission lines to Dublin, Cork, Waterford, Killkenny and other centers.

THE TWENTY YEAR TEST.

"Some twenty years ago I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Geo. W. Brock, publisher of the Enterprise, Aberdeen, Md. "I discovered that it was a quick and safe cure for diarrhoea. Since then no one can sell me anything said to be just as good." During all these years I have used it and recommended it many times, and it has never disappointed anyone." For sale by All Dealers.

SINKING OF LINER ARABIC SENDS BOTH THE STANDARD AND WAR ISSUES DOWNGRADE

New York, Aug. 19.—Wall street received an unexpected reminder today that a state of war exists across the water. The market, which had been under pressure in the early hours, broke abruptly in the afternoon on news that a German submarine had sunk another British liner. United States Steel, weakest of the leaders up to mid-day, fell over two points and other stocks of almost equal prominence showed losses of one to two points while a few of the recently exploited specialties added two to five points to their reverses of the forenoon. From this level most stocks made partial recovery, only to fall to lower levels in the final hour when the selling movement gathered greater force. The closing was heavy to weak.

BOSTON "COPPERS"

Boston, Aug. 19.—The Boston copper market was narrow today on account of the reactionary tendency in New York. The market held weak and showed a strong undertone. Copper shares show a tendency to do better on the next up ward swing in New York. Fitzgerald, Hubbard & Co. We have had a very erratic market, and generally a reactionary one. The closing was at about the lowest. While there was no forced selling, the demand for stocks was very small. There was plenty of news that had a marked influence, such as the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic, the report of LIBRARY IS NOW IN NEW QUARTERS Will Probably Be Opened for the Public Monday—Assistant Is Appointed.

The work of moving the Negaunee city library from the temporary quarters in the high school building to the new city building has been completed and the new quarters will probably be opened to the public Monday afternoon.

At a meeting of the library board yesterday afternoon Miss Mildred Andrus, daughter of Dr. J. H. Andrus, was appointed assistant librarian. Miss Andrus has specialized in library work and has had much experience in the Negaunee library. The board has been contemplating the appointment of an assistant for some months past as the new library will be much larger than the old one and the work could not be handled by Miss Wellet without help.

The hours the library will be open will be from 2 in the afternoon until 9 o'clock in the evening. The library now has between 8,000 and 9,000 volumes. Although the library fund is only $1,000 a year, only the best books on the market are purchased.

During the past few weeks some fine photoplay productions have been shown at the Gwinn Club association's motion picture theater at Gwinn. Mr. Adler, the manager of the club house, has contracted with the World Film corporation for features. Shows are given at the club house every evening a week, Monday, Tuesday, Friday and Saturday, with matinees each day. Friday evening the World Film features are shown. Today Vivian Martin will be seen in "The Washing Ring."

MINING NEWS

ARIZONA COMMERCIAL. Arizona Commercial production is increasing right along and at present being shipped daily. The smelting ore runs 5 1/2 per cent, and the concentrating ore 4 per cent. At the moment, developments in the copper field are the most interesting, but within two or three weeks some highly important information should be received as a result of development work contiguous to the Eureka shaft.

OSCEOLA CENTENNIAL.

There is a movement on foot among some of the independent shareholders of the Centennial company at Lake Superior to have the Osceola Consolidated buy up the outstanding shares of the Centennial. Both the copper corporations are subsidiaries of the Calumet & Hecla. In neither company does the Calumet & Hecla own majority stock interest. In the case of the Centennial the ownership of the Calumet & Hecla is 41-500 shares. In the Osceola Consolidated the Calumet interest is 32,781 shares. There is a good deal of Centennial stock held in the copper country. Most of it is held at prices that are higher than the present market. The history of the Centennial is a long drawn-out battle to get on its financial feet. First there was the elaborate and exhaustive exploration and development of the Calumet conglomerate. Directly adjoining the Calumet & Hecla and separated by nothing but a barbed wire fence—and that broken down in several places—it was considered a certainty that the Centennial would open the Calumet conglomerate, but that lode has a habit of

FOOD IN TUBES FOR SOLDIERS.

The neutral observer of the London Times describes the ingenuity displayed by the German shopkeepers in supplying the public with useful and suitable gifts for the soldier at the front, as follows: "During my excursion into the shopping world I was greatly impressed by the arrangements for sending gifts to officers and men in the field. It need hardly be said that the postoffice parcel system is working with the same locklike precision as are the other parts of the state machine, but the facilities which commercial enterprise has created for the public deserve notice. In many places I found whole shops converted into centers for providing food and delicacies for the soldiers at the front. The food was specially prepared and placed in metal tubes with screw caps of the same kind as are fitted to ordinary vaseline or lanolin tubes. There were one pound, one-half pound and one-quarter pound tubes containing butter, lard, honey, marmalade, jams, preserved cream, condensed meat extracts—in short, every kind of nutritious material that can be reduced to a consistency suitable for such a packing. "In the same shops there were large stocks of ready-made cardboard boxes of various sizes, each bearing a printed label to be filled in with the name and military number of the addressee."

In times of old It was thy breast that nourished them to strength, So often hast thou to thy bosom pressed The golden head, the face and brow of snow; So often has it 'gainst they broad, dark breast Lain, set off like a quickened cameo, Thou simple soul, as emulating that babe With thy sweet croon, so plaintive and so wild, Came o'er the thought to thee, swift like a stab, That it some day might crush thine own black child? —James Weldon Johnson in The Crisis.

HEAVIER FINES TO BE ADVISED

State Game Warden W. R. Oates Believes Penalties for Flagrant Violations Should Be Made Commensurate With Act—New Laws in Effect August 24.

Persons With Nets or Spears Should Dispose of Them Before Tuesday—Brook Trout Season Closes Sept. 1—Many Jail Sentences Meted Out to Deer Killers

Larger minimum penalties for flagrant and chronic violations of the game laws will be one of the most important recommendations to be made by the state game warden and forestry department in the next report to the legislature.

The wholesome effect of the recent determined campaign against unlawful killing of deer has strengthened State Game Warden W. R. Oates in his conviction that the laws should be amended so as to make the sentences imposed commensurate with the violation.

"The idea of hauling a man into court from some club house fifty or sixty miles from a town and have only a small fine imposed is ridiculous," said Mr. Oates yesterday. "The penalty should be stiff enough to act as a deterrent, but in the past the fines have not been sufficient to prevent a repetition of the violation. Many of the violators find it profitable to kill deer out of season, in spite of one or two apprehensions, because the value of the meat is greater than the small fines imposed. This condition is undesirable because it indicates the inadequacy of the penalties.

Heavier Fines Imposed.

"A better public spirit, more interest on the part of sportsmen in the observation of the game laws, a growing disposition on the part of the warden, and a greater activity on the part of the press in condemning violators, have led to the meting out of heavier fines in upper peninsula courts. For instance, in the campaign against head lighters and deer killers which has been conducted in the last few weeks, a dozen violators have been sent to jail. Such fines will have a wholesome effect."

Sportsmen have only a few more days in which to fish for brook trout, because the season will close Sept. 1, fourteen days earlier than in former seasons, according to the new game and fish laws which go into effect Tuesday, Aug. 24. Mr. Oates also advises all persons who live within a half a mile of a lake or stream and who have nets or spears in their possession to dispose of them before Tuesday, inasmuch as the mere possession of the nets and spears makes a person subject to fine and imprisonment. Heretofore it has been necessary for the game warden to find them in actual use before an arrest could be made.

Gun Carriers in Danger.

Another feature of the game laws on which Mr. Oates is laying much stress is the fact that any person found in the woods with a gun before Oct. 1 will be arrested. Since the rabbit and partridge season will open at the same time this year, a person who takes his gun out for the purpose of hunting partridges cannot evade arrest by asserting that he is out for rabbits.

It is expected that all hunters will be aware of the provision that only one deer may be killed during the deer season. The hunter's license law provides that each hunter must carry a license which must be shown to deputies on demand. Licenses must even be secured for rabbit hunting and for hunting either in or outside the county in which one resides.

In prosecuting for game law violations, ignorance of the law, as well as other prosecutions, excuses no one, but in order that nobody may be justified in giving this excuse, the department is posting canvas posters containing the important features of the game laws. Copies of a digest and a synopsis of the game and fish laws are also being widely distributed. It has always been the position of the department that it would rather prevent than prosecute violations of the game and fish laws.

TO STUDY COST OF LIVING.

M. A. C. to Give Domestic Science Course Under Auspices of Welfare Club.

The Women's Welfare club has made arrangements with the Michigan Agricultural college for a short course in domestic science to be given in Marquette some time in January. The required thirty signatures of women who will take the course have been secured and it is likely the lectures will be given in the City Hall.

Miss Pauline Raven, daughter of W. F. Raven, field agent for the M. A. C., expects to conduct the lectures, she being one of the directors of the extension courses. All women of Marquette and vicinity are invited.

The lectures will be aimed, to large extent, at the high cost of living, food values and home economies being the principal subjects to be treated. Five lectures will be given mornings and five evenings. The cost of the entire lecture course will be fifty cents.

HENDERSHOT SHOWS FOR COUNTY FAIR

Company Will Make Railroad Jump from Gary, Ind., to Marquette.

The officers of the Marquette County Fair association yesterday afternoon signed a contract with H. Sanger, general agent of the Hendershot United Shows, for a week's engagement of the show for the fair, beginning Labor Day, Sept. 6. One of the managers of the show, accompanied Mr. Sanger.

The company has nine shows, a merry-go-round, a Ferris wheel, and many free acts. "We have no shows," said Mr. Sanger, "which are not clean, no entertainments which women and children cannot attend with perfect propriety. No gambling devices of any kind are permitted, and confetti, ticklers, and other articles of annoyance are barred on our midway. We have never been in the upper peninsula before and we are making a big jump to appear at the fair, our preceding stop being at Gary, Ind. Our only other contract in the peninsula is with the county fair association at Norway, which engagement follows the one at Marquette, and we hope to make such an excellent impression that next year we can secure a number of upper peninsula contracts."

Among the free acts to be shown will be the Aerial Geysers, a family of four trapeze performers. It's a big act. Another is Mlle. Zella in a flying perch. A third is entitled "Crazy Sailor in Cloud Swing."

The biggest show will be Jack Huber's trained animal exhibition featuring Huber's trained bears. These trained bears were a feature with the Hagenback & Wallace shows.

PACKARD AGENCY ESTABLISHED.

Cleveland Auto Company to Sell New Twin-Six Model in This District.

The agency for the Packard Automobile company in Marquette and surrounding counties has been given to the Cleveland Auto company. Five agencies are established by the Packard company and the Cleveland company regards itself as fortunate in being selected. A demonstrator car, the Twin-Six, seven passenger model, which is just being placed on the market, has been ordered and will arrive Sept. 25. The delay in shipment is caused by a shut-down of ninety days in the factory to change the equipment to conform to the new model.

A carload of Buicks of the D 45 type, all of which have been sold to Marquette residents, has left the factory and will be ready for delivery in a few days. E. C. Watson, manager of the Cleveland garage, said yesterday that all the Buicks sold in the upper peninsula have given the utmost satisfaction.

The Cleveland garage has also been made a service station by the Boston Magneto company and an entire equipment for repairing Bosch magnetos has been installed.

July was a good month for tourists in Marquette, an average of five out-of-town cars having been stored in the garage every night. The August business is equal to that done in July.

FREE EXAMINATIONS WILL BE MADE TODAY

Physicians Will Examine All Applicants Specially With Regard to Tuberculosis.

This is Tuberculosis Day. Answering the appeal of Governor Ferris, physicians all over Michigan will conduct free examinations of all applicants, particularly with a view of determining their condition with regard to this disease. Those who take advantage of this opportunity will be informed whether they are wholly free of it, whether they are incipient cases, whether their general health makes them susceptible to it, or whether they are in excellent physical condition and thus comparatively immune.

The Marquette County Medical society is in thorough sympathy with the movement, and its members will today be ready to conduct examinations. In support of the value of a general examination it is pointed out that it is during the period that tuberculosis exists without making itself felt that the infected person has his best chance of recovery. But the period in which he is surest of help and cure is the very period when he least suspects that he needs any medical help at all. That is why it is called "the dangerous period." It is not as dangerous to the victim's own life as the later stages, but it is dangerous in that it deludes the victim, so that it helps him to believe himself well when he is really tuberculous; and in this ignorance the period in which he could be most certainly helped is allowed to pass unheeded.

The best thing to consult a physician competent to diagnose tuberculosis in its earliest stages. Consult him now. Demand a thorough examination. Tell the doctor that you want to know positively whether or not you have the beginning of the disease in you, and whether your condition is such that you could successfully risk exposure to it.

What you want to know is, first, whether the germ is detectable in you, and, second, whether your condition is strong enough to east off the germ if you should breathe it in from the street dust or other carrier. Don't be put off by anything less than the best. If you find that you have tuberculosis in its earliest stages, you may be mighty thankful that you have found out in time.

If you find you have escaped it thus far, you may be mighty thankful for that, and you ought to resolve forthwith to give your body a chance to grow strong and resistant.

But the only way you can absolutely know either of these things is to present yourself to a competent physician for a thorough physical examination. It may not reveal tuberculosis at all—it may only be telling you that you have kidney trouble or other things which grow up slowly and which make themselves known only when it is on the verge of being too late.

In any event an examination will pay you. Have your physical machine looked over. Have an expert tell you what your shape is in. Then you will know how to live so that the weak points in you may have a chance to grow strong.

Theatrical

Marquette Clark at Opera House.

Marguerite Clark, the dainty and magnetic little star, who sprang into national popularity as a screen favorite through her clever acting in "Wildflower" and "The Crucible," returns to the screen at the opera house today in the Famous Players Film company's four-part picture of Grace Livingston Furness' romantic comedy, "Gretna Green." The play possesses all the essential elements of a successful picture: full screen drama—love, sacrifice, humor, mystery and thrill—and is of the picturesque period of the early Nineteenth century, when romantic elopements to Gretna Green, a lovers' haven in the north of Scotland, added a dash of excitement to many true love matches.

Miss Clark portrays the character of Dolly Erskine, a little English belle and a bit of a flirt, but loyal to her friends and brave of heart. She loses her heart to handsome Richard Murray, a riding master. Richard has lost his head and heart, too. He is in reality the Earl of Bassett, who, weary of the lawning hypocrisy of society, is living in seclusion in Harrowgate and highly enjoying his first experiences as a laboring man. To save a frivolous married sister's reputation, Dolly asks his aid, and they arrive at Gretna Green to prevent a disgraceful elopement.

How Dolly's reputation is placed in jeopardy, how, unaware of the full import of what she is saying, she makes a statement which according to the Scotch law makes her Richard's wife, the many complications that follow this impromptu marriage, and the delightful comedy of the Earl's pretense to detest but really adores, are unfolded in this fascinating photoplay.

URGES VOTE ON HIGH SCHOOL SITE

Harlow Clark Writes Letter on Question Where New Building Should Go Up.

To the Mining Journal—I would like to submit the following communication to you for publication, if you can conveniently give it space.

It is believed by a great many of our citizens that the high school site question should be submitted to a vote of the people. It would seem that there are many reasons why the question should be submitted to a vote.

First, because the board assured the people before the election on the bond issue that it would be guided by public sentiment in making its choice of a site. In the Mining Journal issue of May 27, 1915, there appeared a news article on the bond issue question then before the people from which article I quote the following: "During the last few days some effort has been made to stir up opposition to the bonding proposal by insinuations that the board contemplated the use of a certain site or another. It is the board's intention to determine whether the people want a new building, and then select a site, if the proposal receives favorable decision. Every opportunity will be given the public to express its opinion on the question, and in its choice the board will be guided by public sentiment."

This attitude of the school board should be reason enough for submitting the question to a vote.

In a news article concerning various proposed school sites printed on June 2, 1915 after the bond issue had carried, there appeared the following: "It is likely that before it is disposed of an effort will be made to determine which proposal will be acceptable to most people."

If the board is to be guided by public sentiment, it is its duty to ascertain public sentiment in any better way than by submitting the question to a vote? In fact, is not a vote on the question the only way in which the board can really ascertain the wishes of the people?

Second, the site question should be submitted to a vote because many of our citizens are expressing themselves as anxious to vote on the subject and therefore register their views in the matter. The final decision of the school board should be clearly in line with the will of the people.

Third, the site question should be submitted to a vote because it is not an unusual method of choosing a school site. We have in Michigan a general school act which provides how school sites shall be chosen, but in Marquette we are controlled by a special school act. The general act provides that school sites shall be designated by two-thirds of those present at a regular or special meeting of the voters of a school district. Reference was made to the requirements of this general school act in a comparatively recent case decided by the supreme court in which it was held that the school board in Marquette is not authorized by the special act to designate a school site, therefore, he put up to the people in such places as are not subject to a special act. I refer to the method provided by the general school act for the choosing of a school site for the purpose of showing that the selection of school sites by the people is not an unheard of proposal in Michigan.

The special school act for Marquette to which I have referred above provides how school sites are to be chosen here. This special act provides that the board of education of Marquette shall have the honor and duty to call for the duty to designate and purchase sites for public school purposes, provided that the expense of any site and building shall not exceed ten thousand dollars, unless authorized by a majority of the school electors voting thereon at an annual or special election.

Had the board thought it wise to do so it might have designated a site in the notice of the bond election. It was deemed unwise to have the particular site to be chosen an issue in the bond election. The voters were, however, informed through the press that the bond issue carried by the people would be guided by public sentiment in choosing a site. There is no legal obstacle to the board's finding out the people's preference as to a site for the high school before it reaches a final decision. In other words before it is too late. That it should be hereby carried by the people is everybody's business should not be a reason for failure to ascertain the preference of a majority of the school voters if the board is to be guided by public sentiment.

Fourth, the school question should be submitted to a vote because the people are competent to express a preference as to the proper site. I do not believe that the questions involved in the selection of a school site are so intricate and exacting as to be beyond the understanding of the qualified school voters. If a voter was qualified to vote on whether or not there should be a $140,000 bond issue, he is equally well qualified to vote intelligently on the location of the building.

Seventh, the site question should be put up to the people because the best safeguard against making a mistake is complete publicity and a general expression of public opinion.

Eighth, an expression of public opinion should be obtained at an election because the question at issue involves the welfare of the entire city and of all its people for years beyond the term of office of the present incumbents. If government is to be thought of as "the mutual enterprise of citizens organized to render common service at cost" the board of education would do well even at this late date to obtain an expression of the will of the people at the ballot box.

The relative price of tires is a true index of their comparative values.

Make automobiling a real pleasure because ordinary tire troubles are unknown to the Knight type. Blow-outs and punctures are greatly reduced owing to the special construction and high grade materials used in making them. Knight Tires give more miles per tire and per dollar than any other tire built.
