

BERLIN SAYS ARABIC WAS SUNK IN SELF-DEFENSE

NO SHOTS FIRED ACROSS BORDER; ARMY IN CHARGE

First Day of Policy of General Funston Passes With No Disorders or Untoward Acts by Mexicans—Further Orders Intended to Restore Peace Are Expected.

Circulars in Streets of Mercedes Urge Conquering of California, Arizona, Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Mississippi to Make "Republic of Texas."

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 8.—The first day of the army's new policy of entire control over the river front in the Brownsville section passed without a report of a shot being fired across the international line.

Major W. H. Hay, chief-of-staff for Major General Frederick Funston, left tonight for San Antonio to report on a four-day inspection of the disturbed area. It is believed that upon receiving this report General Funston will issue further important orders intended to restore peace on the boundary.

PLAN TO GET SIX STATES.

On the streets of Mercedes this morning a dozen printed circulars were found calling on Mexicans to rise and conquer the states of California, Arizona, Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Mississippi and rename them the "Republic of Texas." The circulars were printed in Spanish. The declared that "outrages are being daily committed on defenseless women, old men and children of our race."

CARRANZA ATTACKING NOGALES.

Nogales, Ariz., Sept. 8.—Carranza troops began tonight storming the outer defenses of Nogales, Sonora, just across the international boundary from here. The attacking forces were said to number four thousand men. Governor Maytorena, Villa defender of the town, it is believed to have a garrison of five thousand soldiers.

WATCH CARRANZA'S MOVES.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Administration officials here are closely watching the military situation in central Mexico, where Carranza forces are planning to launch a general attack against the Villa armies in the near future, either at Torreon or Chihuahua.

American consuls at Torreon, Saltillo, Monclova, Monterey and neighboring towns have been asked for all available information regarding troop movements. A message received tonight and dated yesterday from the consul at Torreon said Villa troops recently driven from Saltillo by General Obregon began arriving there last night.

Unofficial reports have reached Washington that General Villa is planning to evacuate Torreon and to concentrate his forces at Chihuahua for the struggle with Obregon, Trevino and other Carranza generals whose recent successes have paved the way for an attempt to close in and crush Villa. The forthcoming battle, it is recognized here, probably will have an important effect upon the political future of the country.

VILLA PEACE MEN CHOSEN.

Secretary Lansing said today that plans for the meeting of the Pan-American conferees next week had not been completed. Villa and his adherents are going ahead with preparations for a peace convention and already have chosen their delegates. What the conferees will do about arrangements for the convention, in view of Carranza's apparent attitude of defiance, has not yet been disclosed.

Carranza's answer to the peace appeal, his agents here confidentially expect, will arrive before the Pan-American conferees assemble. The rapid advance of Carranza's forces in central Mexico during the last few weeks has aroused the optimism of his Washington representative, who now asserts that his complete domination of the situation soon will be so apparent as to demonstrate the reason for seeking recognition and his unwillingness to confer with his military adversaries.

TODAY'S WEATHER.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Partly cloudy and cooler Thursday; Friday fair.

DUMBA INCIDENT IS MORE SERIOUS THAN BELIEVED

Austro-Hungarian Ambassador's Statement That He Acted Under Instructions from Vienna in His Plans to Tie Up Munitions Plants Creates Grave Situation.

President Visits Secretary Lansing to Discuss Matter, First Time Nation's Head Has Done Such a Thing for Years—Dual Empire Will Disregard U. S. Attitude.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Dr. Constantin Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, left late today for the summer embassy at Lenox, Mass., to await word from Secretary Lansing as to whether the United States government is satisfied with his explanation of his intercepted letter to the Vienna foreign office outlining plans for withdrawing Austro-Hungarian labor and handicapping American plants manufacturing war supplies. The ambassador's statement to Mr. Lansing that he was acting under instructions from his government in all that he planned to do apparently has made a diplomatic issue of the affair far more serious than a mere question of ethics or propriety involving only Dr. Dumba himself.

PRESIDENT VISITS MR. LANSING.

Silence on the subject was observed again today at the White House and the state department, and so far as is known no decision has been reached as to what course shall be adopted. The president, carrying the cable copy of the ambassador's letter, walked over to the department during the morning, surprised Secretary Lansing in his office and spent fifteen minutes discussing the situation. It was the first time a president had done such a thing since Spanish war days.

It is understood that the ambassador proposes to go ahead with his plans without regard to the attitude of the American government. At the embassy today it was emphasized that the only step so far ordered in the instructions from Vienna was the issuance of a proclamation calling upon all Austro-Hungarian subjects to obey the decree of their government against aiding in the manufacture of war munitions for the enemy.

A similar decree, it was recalled tonight, was issued some time ago by Germany, although it attracted but little comment. It was stated that soon after the decree was proclaimed most of the Germans employed in munition plants, chiefly in executive or scientific departments, quietly sought other positions without waiting for urging through diplomatic agencies.

SKILLED WORKMEN FAR FROM BEING HEALTHY

DOCTOR'S REPORT SHOWS

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Startling figures as to the prevalence of illness among skilled workmen, even under the most favorable working conditions, were set forth in an address by Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, director of hygiene of Life Extension Institute, before the American Public Health association here today. To ascertain the condition of individual workers and measure how far they fell below their attainable condition of bodily efficiency and well-being, the institute conducted an examination of 1,000 foremen and skilled workmen in the automobile industry. Notwithstanding the most favorable conditions as to environment, compensation and emergency medical aid, 42 per cent of them showed signs of premature aging, evidence by arterial changes varying from slight fibrosis to advanced arterio-sclerosis. More than 39 per cent showed evidences of kidney disorder; 68 per cent showed some form of mouth infection; 14 per cent showed marked over-weight and over-nourishment.

COAL DOCK STRIKERS AT DULUTH OBTAIN DEMANDS IN ONE DAY

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 8.—Coal dock men on the Island Creek, Carnegie and Great Lakes coal docks struck today for an increase in pay, demanding a restoration to the figure that prevailed until last fall, and they won their demands. All of the docks consented to the increase, which affects about three hundred men.

Up to last fall the men were paid 27½ cents an hour, but because the movement of coal out of Duluth to the northwestern territory was slow the scale was reduced to 22½ cents an hour. A compromise was tried this morning, 25 cents being offered. The men refused and quit work. Then the companies offered 27½ cents and all but sixteen men returned to work.

EASTERN FRONT AGAIN IS SCENE OF GREAT STRIFE

With the Assumption of Command of Russian Armies by Emperor Nicholas Fighting Resumes Intensity of Last Summer, Despite Beginning of Fall Rains.

Although von Hindenburg Is Held in Check and von Mackensen Is on Defensive, Bavarian Leader Is Pushing Ahead in the Center to Capture Important Railways.

Petrograd, Sept. 8, via London, Sept. 9, 4:30 a. m.—Near Tarnopol the Russians have defeated the third German division and the forty-eighth reserve division of an Austrian brigade, capturing eight thousand prisoners and thirty guns, besides a quick firer, according to an official statement issued tonight at the war office.

London, Sept. 9, 4:48 a. m.—Premier Radoslawoff, of Bulgaria, stated in an interview with the Sofia correspondent of the Post that the agreement for the cession of the Dedegatch railway to Bulgaria by Turkey has been concluded and that the occupation of the ceded territory will begin ten days hence in the presence of Bulgarian and Turkish officials.

London, Sept. 8, 9:55 p. m.—Almost simultaneously with the announcement that the emperor has personally replaced Grand Duke Nicholas as commander of the Russian forces, the fighting along the eastern frontier, despite the beginning of the autumn rains, has been resumed with the intensity which characterized it throughout the summer on both wings in Courland in the north, and in Valhynia, Podolia and East Galicia.

In the south the Russians are making determined efforts to regain the initiative while in the center the Austro-Germans continue to increase their advantage.

VON HINDENBURG STILL HELD.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg and his commanders in Courland are still being denied their objective, the Dvina river, while Field Marshal von Mackensen and the Austrian general at the other end of the line are engaged in opposing the Russian offensive. In the center, on the other hand, Lieutenant General von Eichhorn and Prince Leopold of Bavaria are pushing forward, and, according to the Berlin report, have occupied Wolkowysk, an important railway junction immediately east of Bialystok. It is for these railways that the Germans are now fighting, as when the autumn rains turn a great part of the country into an impassable morass they will need every line of railway to keep their armies supplied with provisions and munitions.

HEAVY FIGHTING IN WEST.

Another day of heavy artillery engagements is recorded on the western front where also there has been a series of air raids, as well as a bombardment of the German coast batteries by the British fleet.

The Italians claim to have captured several Austrian positions on the Cadore frontier, while on the rest of the Austro-Italian front only artillery actions have occurred. This long-distance fighting appears also to be a feature of the operations in the Dardanelles, where, according to the accounts from Constantinople, the Turks have successfully bombarded the allies' positions at Anafarta and Seddul Bahr.

The Zeppelin raid on England last night resulted in the death of thirteen persons, of whom ten were women and children, and the wounding of forty-three, of whom thirty were women and children. This brings the grand total of casualties from Zeppelin raids up to 102 killed and 263 injured.

AUSTRIANS REPORT RUSSIANS ARE ON RUN

Vienna, Sept. 8, via London, 10:25 p. m.—In the fighting near Podkamin, on the Russo-Galician frontier, and Radziwilo, in Russia, the Russians have been forced to retreat on a front of about fifty-six miles, according to the official communication issued by the Austrian war office today.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 8.—William Cullen Budd, brother-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, died this afternoon at his home.

GERMAN AIRMEN RAID BRITISH COAST AGAIN

London, Sept. 9, 1:02 a. m.—Hostile air raids on the eastern counties of England and the London district were continued last (Wednesday) night. Air craft dropped a number of bombs and casualties and fires resulted.

BULL MOOSERS CAN'T TELL G. O. P. WHAT TO DO IN RETURNING—TAFT

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 8.—William D. Taft, in a speech here tonight, characterized as the first political talk of his present tour, defined what the "return must mean" of dissenting Republicans to their party. "They cannot involve the old party," he said, "in promotion of those planks of the so-called Progressive party adopted in 1912 which never were, and never will be, supported by the national republican party." "The placing of the Democratic party in power," he said, "and the adoption of policies to which the majority of voters are opposed has, I think, started many of the holding Republicans into the conviction that whatever the merits of the Republican fight of 1912 it is time for them to resume their places in the Republican army, and we all rejoice in welcoming them back."

BUMPER CROPS ARE FORECAST BY GOVERNMENT

Washington, Sept. 8.—Bumper crops this year, with a half dozen new production records, now seem assured. Basing predictions on a canvass made Sept. 1 by its thousands of agents throughout the United States, the department of agriculture today issued forecasts showing the prospects of practically all the principal farm crops, except potatoes and rice, improved during August.

The wheat crop is placed at 981,000,000 bushels, 90,000,000 bushels more than last year's record crop. Wet weather has damaged winter wheat and delayed threshing. In Kansas not more than half the crop has been threshed. Additional inquiries by crop reporters this month, however, resulted in the crop reporting bad making no change in its August prediction of 659,000,000 bushels of winter wheat.

As a result of the favorable conditions the spring wheat production forecast was increased 15,000,000 bushels to a total of 322,000,000 bushels. When the final canvass is made the entire wheat production probably will reach one billion bushels. Corn production prospects increased 67,000,000 during August, the forecast now being 2,985,000,000 bushels. Although that exceeds last year's crop by more than 110,000,000 bushels, it falls 139,000,000 bushels short of the record crop of 1912.

Oats may reach a record, the September forecast being 1,408,000,000 bushels, which is 267,000,000 more than was harvested last year, but 10,000,000 bushels below the record crop of 1912.

The condition of white potatoes took a decided drop during August, resulting in a decrease of 25,000,000 bushels in the estimates of production. The September forecast is 406,000,000, 14,000,000 below the record crop.

Indications point to record crops of barley, rye, sweet potatoes, tobacco, rice and hay.

The apple and peach crops also are far above the average production.

PRaises NEWSPAPERS FOR PART THEY PLAY IN BETTERING HEALTH

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Tribute to the part that newspapers play in the promotion of public health was paid by Dr. W. E. Park, commissioner of health, of Rockford, Ill., in an address today before the American Public Health association. The departments of health in the larger cities, he said, had taken the newspapers into their confidence and had obtained the co-operation of the press in the presentation of health information.

Discussing the differences in health administration in the larger and smaller cities, Dr. Park said that good ordinances generally prevailed in both the big cities and the small ones, but ordinances were worthless without public sentiment, and the smaller cities often lost sight of the fact that public sentiment must be won by judicious publicity.

It is announced from Germany that an inventor in that country has succeeded in greatly improving the character of the sounds emanating from the phonograph and of effectually reducing the metallic tones by a lining of eucalyptus for the cabinet and by making washers and other accessories of the same material, substituting the fiber for metal wherever it is at all possible.

NOTE TO U. S. DECLARES LINER APPEARED TO BE COMING AT SUBMARINE

German Government Expresses Willingness to Submit to The Hague Questions of Reparation and Compensation—Hesperian Incident Looming Up Grave.

Berlin, Sept. 8, via London, Sept. 9, 2:50 a. m.—Germany's note to the United States concerning the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic by a German submarine was communicated to James W. Gerard, the American ambassador, yesterday evening.

The note ascribes the destruction of the liner to an act of self-defense on the part of the submarine, expresses the German government's regret that American lives were lost thereby, and offers to refer the questions of reparation and compensation to The Hague for adjustment.

SUBMARINE FOLLOWED ORDERS?

The note reveals in detail the instructions to submarine commanders concerning their treatment of liners. They are ordered not to attack a passenger steamer, except in case of an attempt to escape after it has been ordered to halt, or unless its actions indicate intentions to attack the submarine. A hostile passenger ship, after the passengers and crew have been placed in boats, presumably is not affected by these instructions.

The submarine commander, according to his report concerning the sinking of the Arabic, says he believed the Arabic was about to attack the submarine, and therefore he acted within his instructions.

U. CRAFT FEARED ATTACK.

Berlin, via London, Sept. 8, 8:05 p. m.—The commander of a German submarine which has returned to its base has reported to the admiralty that he torpedoed the liner Arabic in the belief that the Arabic's action indicated he was about to attack the submarine and that he fired in self-defense.

According to the submarine commander's report the submarine was destroying a freighter when the Arabic was sighted. The submarine was then on the surface.

The Arabic, the commander declares, swung around and headed toward the freighter, as if to attack the submarine. The commander of the under-sea craft remained in doubt as to the intentions of the Arabic when the latter changed her course a few points and still kept headed in a direction which was bringing her nearer to the scene. The captain of the submarine reports that he continued to observe the actions of the liner until he saw the Arabic again change her course and head directly for the spot where the submarine lay, as if the Arabic had sighted the under-sea boat. Then the commander of the submarine, believing his craft was in danger, he declared, submerged and fired a torpedo.

NO OFFICIAL WORD YET.

Washington, Sept. 8.—No word from Ambassador Gerard regarding the German note had been received when the state department closed tonight. Cabled dispatches usually require twenty-four hours or more for transmission.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Germany's promised communication in regard to the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic is expected here within a few days, in view of press dispatches announcing that a submarine commander had reported to Berlin that he had torpedoed the Arabic because he thought her change of course meant she intended to attack him. Officials did not comment on the press reports.

Through Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, assurances have been given that full satisfaction will be accorded the United States in connection with the destruction of the Arabic, on which American passengers lost their lives. Consequently, while some officials intimated that the submarine commander's explanation seemed unconvincing, there will be no judgment until Berlin is heard from formally.

AWAIT DETAILS ON HESPERIAN.

In the meantime, attention is being given the case of the Allan liner Hesperian. Secretary Lansing today called Ambassador Gerard at Berlin asking that he report any information that might be available there. Although all reports from London declare that the Hesperian was torpedoed, the belief that she struck a mine still is prevalent in naval circles here and at the state department no conclusion has been reached. No confirmation has been received so far of reports that an American named Wolff, a member of the crew, was lost with the Hesperian. It was pointed out that the situation would not be changed if this proved to be untrue. The American government has taken the ground that the placing of American lives in jeopardy by illegal acts is as grave an offense against the rights of a neutral nation as the actual destruction of life.

BERLIN SAYS BOAT HIT MINE.

New York, Sept. 8.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, received a wireless dispatch from Berlin late today from the German foreign office in which the statement is made that it appears improbable that the Hesperian was torpedoed and that it is much more likely the boat ran into a mine.

The dispatch, as given out by the ambassador at his hotel here, follows: "According to information available at Berlin it appears improbable that the Hesperian was torpedoed. Much more likely the boat ran on a mine."

RURAL SANITATION MUST BE IMPROVED HEALTH BODY HEARS

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 8.—The need for improving rural sanitation was strongly urged by Dr. W. S. Rankin, secretary of the North Carolina state board of health, in a paper read before the American Public Health association today, when he pointed out that the field of rural sanitation embraces more than 90 per cent of the area of the United States and more than half of the country's population.

Dr. Rankin declared that the work of improving rural standards of sanitation should be initiated by the state governments and conducted by the local or county governments. He pointed out that there are 2,983 counties in the United States, an average of sixty-six to a state, and that this multiplicity of governments affords a multiplicity of opportunity to the state governments in the development of rural sanitation. At the same time he pointed out that rural public health work must be conducted on a lower per capita cost than urban or municipal health work.

As one method of dealing with the problem of rural sanitation, he advocated that the state propose a definite plan to deal with some particular health problem and agree to execute the proposed plan for a definite county appropriation. This plan might be some particular disease problem, as, for example, the free vaccination of a large proportion of the county population; or it might be a more general sanitary plan restricted to some particular locality, as a township or precinct. This method had been tried in North Carolina with considerable success, he said.

EITHER BETTER DEFENSE OR NONE AT ALL, HE URGES

New York Attorney Tells Bankers of Nation U. S. May as Well Scrap Guns, or Have More.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 8.—Henry D. Estabrook, a New York attorney, declared in an address before the American Bankers' association here today that it would be better for the United States to scrap every gun and warship it now owned than to attempt to resist invasion by a nation prepared for war. "No nation threatens us in so many words," said Mr. Estabrook, "but who is oblivious to hints and intimations that speak louder than words? We boast our strength to repel attack when we know we are weaker than dishwater. While every other nation has been preparing for aggression we have not even prepared for self-defense."

"I would heartily advocate Mr. Bryan's Quaker policy of non-resistance rather than a policy of half-preparedness. I had rather see every gun and warship we own scrapped if we are not to add to them. For if we were without strength to repel invasion we could at least claim the privilege of the weak and surrender without loss of life. Whereas, to fight inadequately armed and certain of losing would be nothing short of murder for which every taxpayer in the United States would be responsible."

Advocates Military Training.

Mr. Estabrook strongly advocated placing the militia directly under control of the regular army, and at the same time providing adequate military training in all schools.

The speaker said Washington's contention that a free people should be armed and disciplined according to some well adjusted plan was more true today than ever before. Mr. Estabrook held that the essential factor in defense for the United States was a big navy. He said it should at least be as large as any other nation in the world; should include all the latest and best naval developments and munitions for a year's campaign in reserve.

LET NONE BUT AMERICANS ON GUARD.—WASHINGTON.

EXIT THE GRAND DUKE.

Great interest, indeed, will attend the unfolding of the reasons why the czar has replaced the Grand Duke as head of all the Russian armies...

iciency of their government, even in its hour of great need.

Is not the lesson plain? America is immense in extent and imposing in population. In wealth and natural resources it leads the world by a wide margin.

BIDDING ITS TIME.

The administration will make no untimely move in an effort to bring about peace. It is closely in touch with the foreign offices of the belligerents, and it will not move until it has assurances that the warring powers are in a receptive attitude.

In the connection, it is recalled that when former President Roosevelt entered on the negotiations that brought about the end of the Japanese-Russian war he did so only after assurances were given that there would be friendly response to his overtures.

For the moment we have the mere fact that the Grand Duke is going to the Caucasus and that the czar will succeed him as commander in chief.

Answers to these various questions and a clear exposition of what is behind the decision of the czar and the Russian government to switch horses in the middle of the stream will be awaited with keen attention.

SIZE MAY COUNT LITTLE.

One of the plainest lessons of the times is that great size may not count much in safeguarding a nation or insuring its welfare.

Russia has 100,000,000 more inhabitants than Germany. The proportion is about two and one-half to one.

The Colonel can see the evil of race suicide, but he cannot see the evil of the suicide of the races that go to war.

TURKISH TROPHIES Cigarettes fifteen years ago are smokers of TURKISH TROPHIES Cigarettes today!

ele Frank, who was keen on correct speaking.

One day Uncle Frank met John Willie in the street and asked him if he was going to the school treat the following week.

"No, I ain't going," replied the lad glibly.

"Oh, John Willie!" protested his uncle. "You shouldn't say 'I ain't going'; you must say 'I am not going'."

"Come on, can't you?" scoffed John Willie. "There ain't nobody going!"

The famous botanist was pacing slowly along the country road, his eyes, as usual, roaming from side to side for new plants to study.

At that moment a shock-headed lad strolled along the road and stopped to gaze open-mouthed at him.

"I say!" called the botanist indignantly. "See that plant there? That pale pink one in the corner? Do you know it?"

"Uh-huh," said the boy briefly. "What's its name? Do you know what family it belongs to?"

"Why, they've made a mess of my sewing room," explained his wife. "Needles, reels of cotton, scissors—everything has been hidden away in the most unexpected places. It is really exasperating."

"I did that," he said calmly. Then, in answer to a questioning look, he went on: "You tidied up my desk so beautifully the other day that I thought it only fair to return the compliment. So I tidied up your sewing room!"—Chicago Journal.

When the conversation turned to the subject of economy this little incident was related by Congressman Charles H. Burke of South Dakota:

Jenkins was sitting in front of the fire in a suburban town when a fellow commuter came along and unrolled a dissertation on the high cost of living.

"Speaking of the high cost of living," responded Jenkins, "everything is economy down our way now. My wife is practicing it to beat the band."

"You don't mean it," exclaimed the other. "In what way is she economizing?"

"She is economizing on my shirts," was the rejoinder of Jenkins. "She is buying me three for $1 so that she can get a $15 hat!"—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Miss Curley kept a private school, and one morning was interviewing a new pupil.

"What does your father do to earn his living?" the teacher asked the little girl.

"Please, ma'am," was the prompt reply, "he doesn't live with us. My mamma supports me."

"Well, then," asked the teacher, "how does your mother earn her living?"

"Why," replied the little girl, in an artless manner, "she gets paid for staying away from father."—Argonaut.

We, in the ages lying In the buried past of earth, Build Nineveh with our singing, And Babel itself with our mirth; And o'er throw them with prophesying To the old of the new world's worth; For each age is a dream that is dying, Or one that is coming to earth. —Arthur O'Shaughnessy. GERMAN FAMILIES FOR OTTER LAKE Worcester Company Brings a New Element into Growing Agricultural District.

Paul Muerck, manager of the land department of the Worcester Lumber company of Chassell, has located recently four German families on lands of the company in the Otter Lake district, an important contribution to the development of that district. The company has six other German families on the way to take up lands in the same vicinity.

The addition of these ten families to the Otter Lake region is not so important from the point of view of population as it is from that of bringing a new element into the district. Otter Lake having thus far been settled exclusively by Finns. Their farming methods are identical and there has been somewhat less of friendly rivalry in farming development than there would be had the community been more varied from a racial point of view.

The addition of a considerable German settlement in the district also is expected to promote the learning of the English language, as the two nationalities will want a more easy means of communication than their natural languages.

New Principal for School. Milo J. Slagg of Fort Atkinson, Wis., a graduate from the agricultural department of the University of Wisconsin, arrived in Houghton yesterday to take up the duties of principal of the Otter Lake school.

An additional lure is the residence in Long Beach, Calif., of his son, and the reverend doctor will make his home near the latter.

Leave for Port Huron Sunday. The copper country ministers who will attend the Detroit conference session will leave for Port Huron Sunday night. District Superintendent Marvin, of Hancock, was unable to state yesterday the approximate number of changes likely to be made in the Houghton district.

There are now 115 pupils in the school, as compared with ninety last year.

MRS. HARTMAN'S ANNIVERSARY. Mother of Mayor Hartman Celebrates Seventy-Fifth Birthday.

Mrs. G. Hartman yesterday celebrated her seventy-fifth birthday at her home on Dodge street, Houghton. The occasion was the more enjoyable because all of the venerable woman's children could be present to wish her many more birthdays.

The Capicola is 138 feet long, 19 feet beam, registers 123 gross tons and is magnificently fitted. It left during the day for the head of the lakes.

REV. J. R. RANKIN, D. D., TO LEAVE MINISTRY

Pastor of Houghton's Methodist Episcopal Church Will Make His Home in California.

Rev. J. R. Rankin, D. D., for the last three years pastor of Grace M. E. church, Houghton, stated yesterday that it is his intention to retire from the ministry and from active work with the church of the present year.

Dr. Rankin has been a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church for twenty-seven years. He did not select the ministry as his life work as a youth and for fifteen years was a teacher. Then he thought he saw a better opportunity for service in the ministry and he took it up.

Dr. Rankin is a genuine American, and he glories in that fact fully as much as he does in his Christianity. He was born in Butler county, Pa., long enough ago to permit him to fight through the Civil war as a soldier of the Union.

There were two new ideas prominent in the examination of aliens for naturalization as citizens in the Houghton county circuit court yesterday. One was the administration of the oath of allegiance en masse.

Henceforth the new citizens went to the county clerk's desk individually and took the oath, while the business of the court went on around them.

Heretofore the new citizens went to the county clerk's desk and took the oath together. The court insisted on silence and the oath is administered by County Clerk Kaiser with as much solemnity as the occasion warrants.

This method appeals to the instinct for the dramatic that is inherent in every man," said Judge O'Brien. "I believe that the administration of the oath should be made as impressive as possible and the new citizens thus feel the greater responsibility in making the pledge."

The other new idea in the naturalization proceedings was the question put by Examiner Bloek to nearly all of the applicants: "Will you be willing to fight for the United States should she get into trouble with a foreign country?"

Invariably the applicant answered in the affirmative. This question teaches the new citizen that citizenship carries with it not alone the right to vote but the duty of contributing to the national defense.

RECORD CATCH OF BLACK BASS. Fred Bennett of Houghton Takes Eighteen in a Short Session.

Fred W. Bennett of Houghton may not be the champion black bass fisherman of the copper country, but he has a record. He caught eighteen black bass in Lake Roland in three and a half hours of fishing Sunday and Monday, and even George Williams admits that this is considerable fishing.

Mr. Bennett took advantage of the double holiday the first of the week to go fishing. He left Houghton Sunday afternoon and went to fishing as soon as he arrived at Twin Lakes, shortly after 2 o'clock. He quit at 5:30 because he had landed the legal limit, ten fish, for one day's fishing.

Mr. Bennett started out Monday morning, hoping for poor luck. He went out for fishing and not for fish, but if they came as fast as they did on Sunday he'd have to sit around and do nothing a whole lot. His hope was in vain in the first forty-five minutes. He started at 5:15 and at 6 o'clock he had hooked eight more bass. He decided he had enough and he quit.

Mr. Bennett's catch for the two days averaged three and one-half pounds. All of the bass but one were of the big mouth variety. Twin Lakes people offer this incident as an argument in favor of the quality of fishing that the lakes afford. Also, right now black bass is the only sport fish that is best to catch. The trout season is over. Twin Lakes offers numerous facilities for fishermen and extends an invitation to all who may have a desire to beat the Bennett record.

Napoleon Roy, of East Houghton, was compelled to undergo the amputation of three fingers at St. Joseph's hospital.

TRIBUTE TO THE MOVIES. Elderly Spectator at the Kerridge Gives Voice to His Feelings.

That the moving pictures do create an illusion for the spectators, that they can make the spectators forget themselves for the time and lose themselves in the mimic life portrayed on the screen, was shown by an incident at the Kerridge theater Tuesday night during the presentation of "Bootsie's Baby."

The story of this play is of the abandonment by an English officer of his baby girl, the finding and adoption of the child by a fellow officer, nicknamed Bootsie. The foster father was showing his child to his brother officers when the real father happened along. He looked at the baby for a moment and then sneered, "That workhouse brat."

Midway in the theater was seated an elderly man, a man of big and imposing presence. He sat crouched in his seat and attracted no more attention than did any other spectator till the villain's sneering remark about his child appeared on the screen.

There was a hush over the house as the people present gave thought to the possibility that there could not be in real life such a father. Then the silent was broken by a rumbling bass voice that shouted in disgust: "The dirty dog!"

When moving pictures can create for such a man an illusion that will make him lose himself like that there is little likelihood that this newest form of entertainment will ever die out.

CITIZENSHIP DAY IN COURT. Slightly Dramatic Innovation in "Swearing In" in a Body.

There were two new ideas prominent in the examination of aliens for naturalization as citizens in the Houghton county circuit court yesterday. One was the administration of the oath of allegiance en masse.

Henceforth the new citizens went to the county clerk's desk individually and took the oath, while the business of the court went on around them.

Heretofore the new citizens went to the county clerk's desk and took the oath together. The court insisted on silence and the oath is administered by County Clerk Kaiser with as much solemnity as the occasion warrants.

The other new idea in the naturalization proceedings was the question put by Examiner Bloek to nearly all of the applicants: "Will you be willing to fight for the United States should she get into trouble with a foreign country?"

Invariably the applicant answered in the affirmative. This question teaches the new citizen that citizenship carries with it not alone the right to vote but the duty of contributing to the national defense.

Red Jacket and Laurium Departments Purchase New Apparatus. Important new apparatus was received yesterday by both the Red Jacket and Laurium fire departments, including smoke ladders, automatic couplings and revolving collar nozzles.

These departments frequently have to work together, and they standardize their equipment so that there may be no conflict when on joint engagements. The new apparatus makes these among the best equipped departments in the upper peninsula.

CALUMET SOCIETY WEDDING. Miss Mary Shea the Bride of John A. Mulvihill of Hamball, Mo.

Miss Mary Shea, daughter of Bartholomew Shea of Calumet, was united in marriage there yesterday morning at St. Mary's church by Rev. Father Felix. The wedding was witnessed by only the bride's relatives, including Mr. and Mrs. D. Mulvihill, the bridegroom's parents, and Arthur Mulvihill, his brother, who came from Hamball for the event.

PREMIUM LIST ISSUED. Copper Country Fair Booklet Is This Year Larger Than Ever.

Secretary Haas yesterday began mailing the annual premium list of the copper country fair, which is just off the presses. The booklet is unusually attractive this year, and it is a larger publication than ever before, owing to the expansion of the actual premium list and the demand for advertising space.

Undersheriff Heikkila returned to Houghton yesterday from Duluth, bringing with him John F. Hansen of Calumet, captured in the South City, and Jacob Kakkonen of Laird township, apprehended in Cloquet, Minn. Both are wanted on charges of non-support.

JUNTILA'S ROAD AGAIN. Otter Lake Residents Petition That Sam Be Paid for His Work.

The Sam Juntila road in the Otter Lake region is always taking the job out of life for the Portage township board. It has many of the characteristics of Banquo's ghost. Sam is the man who established a shotgun injunction to close a road that he had built and for which the township refused to pay him, because it had not been ordered. This was several years ago. Sam still has hope in vain.

These Who Take Part. The following is a list of the participants: Miss Flora Retaille of Marquette, prima donna soprano; James Fox, tenor; Donald MacDonald, leading man and principal dancer.

At the same time the board granted a contract for a half mile of new road in the district. The farmers will build it and will wait for their pay till the taxes come in. Otherwise the meeting transacted nothing but routine business.

NAVY TO HAVE TARGET WORK ON GREAT SCALE.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The most comprehensive target practice ever planned by the navy department was yesterday by destroyers of the Atlantic fleet on the southern drill grounds off the Virginia capes. The battleships themselves will begin target practice Sept. 13.

Not only will the target practice be unusually thorough, but the war games which will follow will be longer and will more nearly approach actual war conditions than ever before.

One of the features of the drill will be the movements by the fleet as a whole as distinguished from division movements, hitherto the largest unit of maneuvering on such occasions.

GERMAN AEROPLANE RISES

Berlin, Sept. 8.—An aeroplane of the of 3,200 meters (10,599 feet). The previous altitude record for a machine carrying four passengers was 3,050 meters (10,006 feet).

Congress Assured—About a week ago the directors of the Cleveland Potato Congress had practically decided to give up the idea of a congress because of the frost which destroyed so many potato fields. It has been found, however, that the frost was not as widespread as was at first supposed and the directors are going ahead with their plans and are still confident of having an excellent display of potatoes.

Linen Shower—A linen shower was given Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Alice Henne by the members of the accounting department of the Bell Telephone company in honor of Miss Aline Bertrand, whose resignation takes effect Sept. 15, and who has been a clerk in the department for three years. Covers were laid for seventeen in the dining room, which was a lower of sweet peas.
 The table decorations consisted of an arrangement of hearts strung from the chandelier to the corners of the table.

Potato Growers to Meet—L. R. Walker, the county agricultural agent, has called a meeting of the Marquette County Potato Growers' association for 1 o'clock tomorrow. It is to be an important meeting, he says, as fully half the potatoes planted in the upper peninsula have been seriously damaged by the wet weather and the frosts. The association should take some steps towards naming standard varieties for this county and then getting them as free of disease as possible, as there will undoubtedly be a good demand for potato seed next spring. Marquette county growers should now take steps to have available all the seed they will need.

K. of P. Dance Friday—The fall and The Pythians declare that no effort will be spared to make this party a delightful social affair, one that will be a thoroughly enjoyable climax to Marquette Day at the county fair and a most pleasing premier to the fall social season. The Knights of Pythias orchestra will furnish the music. It is the intention of the Uniform Rank to conduct a series of dancing parties during the next few months, announcements concerning which will be made in due time.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO.
LONG A RESIDENT HERE.

Death of E. P. Monteith Learned Of With Much Regret.

The announcement by The Mining Journal yesterday of the death of Edward P. Monteith was both a great surprise and the occasion of much regret among his friends here and in other parts of the upper peninsula. The past few months Mr. Monteith had been ailing, but lately he had been feeling better, and he told friends even a few days before his death occurred that he felt as well as ever. His last illness was of less than two days' duration, and his death was due to acute intestinal trouble.

Mr. Monteith had been a resident of Marquette for nearly thirty years. For a number of years he was in charge of the news service of the South Shore railway, and while in that position he built up a wide acquaintance on the company's line. After leaving the railway service he traveled for various firms and also for a time sold insurance. Perhaps no man who resided in the district had a wider acquaintance in the upper peninsula than Mr. Monteith. He was a kindly and genial man, and made hosts of friends.

Mr. Monteith, although he was a man of strong political convictions, never was active in politics until the Progressive campaign in 1912 began to take form.
 He entered it with much zest, and gave much of his time to advancing the interests of the Progressive candidates.
 In 1914 he was the Progressive candidate for senator in the Thirty-first district, and although he realized that the contest was for him a hopeless one he made a thorough canvass of the district, much of it at his own expense.

Three children by his first marriage,
 Isaac, Isabelle and Virginia, survive him, as well as Mrs. Monteith.

INDIANA ADOPTS ACCIDENT LAW

Thirty-One States of the Union Now Operate Under Workingmen's Compensation Act.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—Indiana has joined the states having workmen's compensation laws in operation. The new law, hailed by some as the greatest achievement of the 1915 legislature, went into effect today.

Although nearly 800 employers have taken advantage of the opportunity to reject the law, members of the commission pointed out that this is a very small portion of the approximately 300,000 employers in Indiana.

Indiana was the twenty-seventh state to enact such a law. Since that time four other states have joined the list, making 31 in all. Alaska also has such a law.

Several of the larger traction systems in the state have rejected the law, preferring to take their chances in the courts with damage suits. Those rejecting the law cannot plead as defense that the employee was negligent, that the injury was caused by the negligence of a fellow employe, or that the employe assumed the risk of injury.

If any employe whose employer has not rejected the law is injured, the employer must furnish free medical care and supplies for 30 days. After 14 days the injured man begins to draw a sum equal to 55 per cent of his wages. If he is totally disabled his payment will continue for 500 weeks. If he is partially disabled the compensation is at the rate of one-half the difference between his earning capacity before and after the injury.

This law is chiefly in the form of a bill favored by the manufacturers, but with certain amendments for which labor contended. Labor was unable to force state insurance of employers.

Information obtained from John A. Lapp, director of the Indiana bureau of legislative information, discloses that workmen's compensation so far obtains chiefly in the northern states. There is a strip across the country where the ambulance chasing lawyer and the courts are left to decide whether a laborer is entitled to damages, these states being:

Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Arkansas, New Mexico, Utah, Idaho, North and South Dakota, Missouri, Delaware and Kentucky.

Kentucky passed such a law, but it was declared unconstitutional because of a constitutional provision that the general assembly has no power to limit the amount of damages. Friends of workmen's compensation in that state are now interested in an amendment to the constitution.

Montana is the only state to reject compensation by a vote of the people. Montana's bill is said to have had some unusually objectionable features. In Wyoming the legislature passed a compensation law after the people had ratified an amendment to the constitution permitting it. This year Nebraska voters ratified in referendum, the compensation law passed in 1913 by the legislature.

MORE CONCRETE ROADS ARE BUILT

Increase Has Been Phenomenal in the Last Five Years, Government Statistics Indicate.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The mileage of concrete pavements in the United States has increased rapidly, and it is likely to continue to increase, according to a new bulletin of the government. This bulletin gives the estimated amount of concrete pavement in the United States in 1914 as 19,200,000 square yards; in 1909 it was only 364,000 square yards.

The principal advantages of concrete pavements which had led to this increase in popularity are said to be:

(1) Durability under ordinary traffic conditions.

(2) A smooth, even surface offering little resistance.

(3) Absence of dust and ease with which it may be cleaned.

(4) Comparatively small cost of maintenance until renewal is necessary.

(5) Admissibility as a base for another type of surface if desirable.

(6) Attractive appearance.

Durability Not Yet Proved.

In commenting upon these advantages the bulletin states that the durability of concrete road has not yet been proved by actual practice, because there are no very old pavements as yet in existence, but from the condition of those which have undergone several years' service it seems probable that they will be found to wear well.

The disadvantages of concrete as a road surface are:

(1) Its noise under horse traffic.

(2) The wearing of the necessary joints in the pavement, and the tendency to crack, with its consequent rapid deterioration.

Efforts to Overcome Objections.

In the past efforts have frequently been made to overcome these objections to a certain degree by covering the concrete pavement with a bituminous wearing surface. At the present time, the specialists in the department hold that this cannot be economically justified, although it is possible that future investigation may change the situation in this respect.

In the present state of road science, however, it seems that where traffic conditions are such that a bituminous surface on a concrete road is practicable a bituminous surface macadam road would be equally practicable and certainly cheaper. Where traffic is too heavy for macadam road the bituminous surface is likely to give way and the uneven manner in which it fails tends to produce excessive wear on portions of the concrete.

How Best Results Are Obtained.

For a successful concrete road, hardness, toughness, and uniformity are the most essential qualities. These can be secured to a great extent by care in the selection of the constituent materials and the proportions in which they are mixed. Sample specifications are included in the bulletin.

The cement, it is said, should always conform to some standard specifications for Portland cement, such as those issued by the United States bureau of standards or the American Society for Testing Materials. The sand should not contain more than 3 per cent of

The greatest agricultural section of the new State. Land will produce large crops of corn, wheat, oats, kafir corn, milo maize; alfalfa yields 4 to 6 cuttings a year and will average from $70 to $100 an acre.

All vegetables yield two crops a year and fruits and berries that can be grown in any temperate zone thrive in abundance; average rain fall 38 to 42 inches a year; good markets already established; near railroads and towns. You buy these lands directly from the government and become the first individual owner, thus you buy them for much less than they are actually worth.

The government gives you two and three years to pay for it and does not require any residence or improvements as the homestead act does not apply.

The Indian Land Schooling Car is now in Marquette equipped with maps, charts, photographs of the land together with a display of fruits, grains and vegetables grown on adjoining lands and a corps of skilled demonstrators to school the public in securing these lands.

foreign material, and sand with more coarse than fine grains is to be preferred.

The proportion of cement to the sand and coarse aggregate combined should not be less than about 1 to 5 and the proportion of sand to coarse aggregate not less than 1 1/2 to 3, nor greater than 2 to 3. A useful formula when gravel is used as coarse aggregate is 1 part of cement to 1 1/2 parts of sand to 3 parts of gravel. When crushed stone is used, 1 1/2 parts of sand may be substituted in place of 1 1/2 parts.

Later Cost Considered.

In addition to discussing the engineering details of construction, the bulletin already mentioned calls attention to the fact that ordinarily from one-third to one-half of the total cost of constructing a concrete pavement is for labor after the materials are delivered. This emphasizes the importance of efficient organization and proper equipment. Failure to take these factors into consideration frequently results, it is said, in adding from 10 to 20 per cent to the cost of a concrete pavement.

The most economical method is to have the work of mixing and placing the concrete as nearly continuous as practicable. The work should be planned with a primary view of keeping the mixer going full time. The drainage structures, the grading, and the sub-grade should, therefore, be completed well in advance of the mixer and provision made for obtaining all of the necessary materials without delay.

ROW OVER NEW JAIL.

Newaygo Officials Lose in Fight Against State Board's Order.

Lansing, Sept. 8.—A threat of the county officers of Newaygo county to take the state board of charities and correction into court over the plans for a basement jail in the court house at White Cloud, with the other two villages working against that place. The two propositions were put up to the voters for bonds three different times and each time were beaten.

At the recent meeting of the state board, the supervisors appeared with plans for a basement jail which they asked the board to approve. It was to be built with $1,000 borrowed by the county treasurer under a resolution of the supervisors. The state board decided this was not a due authorization within the meaning of the law and refused approval. The supervisors then sent word that if the plans were not approved by September 1 there would be "something doing."

The board made no move and a committee of the supervisors came to Lansing, headed by prosecuting attorney William J. Branstrom. They visited the attorney general and wanted to start legal proceedings. He explained to them, however, that the state board was right and they were wrong. So they went back to Newaygo county and the state board's ruling still goes.

MOUNT VERNON SAVED FROM SLIPPING INTO POTOMAC.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The high bluff on which stands Mount Vernon, the home of our first president, has for years been in danger of gradually sliding into the Potomac. This danger became acute a few years ago when it was discovered that a new landslide was beginning to destroy the driveway to the broad lawn in front of the mansion, if not the foundations of the mansion itself, and engineering work, recently completed, was begun at that time to save the historic site from further damage.

The ground slopes from the mansion to the edge of the bluff and from the point drops steeply for a hundred feet or more to the edge of the Potomac. The river at this point is a wide tidal estuary, and the action of the waves has caused a steady erosion at the foot of the bluff. Underlying the bluff are strata of sand, clay and soft sandstone, which, on investigation, were found to be saturated with water, and this, combined with the erosion of the waves has resulted in landslides that have doubtless been going on intermittently for ages.

To cure the trouble a small drainage tunnel was first driven in the bottom of the sandstone stratum and carried back from the river front a distance of about 200 feet. From this tunnel a heavy flow of water immediately started and this flow continued for several months. At the end of that time the flow diminished to a moderate amount and has remained practically constant ever since. To prevent further erosions at the foot of the bluff through the action of the waves a heavy masonry wall was then built along the edge of the river.

PREDICTING RAIN.

In the August Woman's Home Companion, Rollin Lynde Hartt writes a highly entertaining and exceedingly practical article entitled "Let's Talk About the Weather." He tells how to guard against lightning, how to treat people who have been struck by lightning, how to tell when it is going to rain, and so on. On the subject of predicting rain he writes in part as follows:

"There are plenty of soundly scientific weather signs that are right before our eyes and vouched for by the best meteorologists. For instance, the 'ring round the moon,' which is produced by a thin, filmy cloud made up of minute particles of ice—a state of things not built to last. Either some unlooked-for commotion will put a stop to it in a different manner, or it will pour 'cats and dogs' within three days at most. In eighty-six cases out of a hundred, the rule holds good. A still better sign is the 'ring around the sun.'"

"This is science, pure and simple, and so is the old maxim: 'The farther the sight, the nearer the rain.' It is not pessimism that makes people along the coast predict a downpour when they can pick out the separate houses of a faraway island, or people in mountainous regions call it 'too good to last,' when a distant peak, generally invisible, comes into view. They are shrewd meteorologists in making these predictions, and also in declaring that sounds carry better when a rainstorm is brewing."

"Of all nice, convincing weather signs, however, a 'sickening sky' is pretty nearly the most reliable. When the deep warm blue grows paler, and then whitish, and your spirits drop, and shadows fray at the edges and disappear, then you have a sickening sky. Rain is not being brought up ready-made from afar, it is being manufactured directly overhead."

"The color of the sky, then, is a fairly trustworthy sign in and of itself and so is the color of the clouds. Intensely white clouds against an intensely blue sky mean bright weather ahead. Grayish clouds on a lightish blue foretell rain."

NEWSPAPER MAN RECOMMENDS IT

R. E. Wentworth, of the St. James (Mo.) News, writes: "A severe cold settled in my lungs. I feared pneumonia. Foley's Honey and Tar straightened me up immediately. I recommend this genuine cough and lung medicine." Right now thousands of hay fever and asthma sufferers are thankful for this wonderful healing and soothing remedy. Sold everywhere.

A man or woman may climb to social, political or commercial heights far above the humbler estate of the good mother, but the golden chain of success, if it be real success, is ever linked with the woman who bore them in her arms and her father, and others of the same blood aggregating $2,000 at the time of the child's disappearance. Money did his wife died several years ago, he has four sisters and a brother are here and welcome their long-lost sister.

MOTHER.

This world, itself, is a fitted essay to all right thinking men of women, young or old, for it carries memories and associations most tender and grossing. Even viewed from the angel side, the tiger licks its young with yearning no tongue can tell. She who fight for it and die for it.

On the human side, a mother will fight and die, by agonizing inches, if needs be, not only for the man-child of strength and of courage who sustains her and gives her a solid basis for her pride and admiration, but for the son or daughter, deformed, weakling though they may be, and a matter how unworthy. The mother love knows no limits nor asks reward. It is lavished on the worthy and the unworthy, and it endures forever, regardless.

Few great men fail to ascribe their greatness to the mother who formed their character in the tender years of childhood.

Henry Grady, after he had become famous and the world had laid its honors at his feet, was present at a religious meeting the ceremony of which was to join hands in a circle and sing "Blest be the tie that binds," etc. A sense of his unworthiness kept him from accepting the invitations to join with the others in the ceremony. His thoughts flew back to the innocent days of his childhood, and to his mother who was still in the old family home. He left his office a few days later and went to visit his mother, not only for a few hours, as had been his habit for some years, but for a long, loving visit.

He had her on arriving at the old home she wanted to be her boy again for a while, he wanted to say the same old prayer at her knee again, and to have her sit by him in the dark and hold his hand and sing to him the old hymns familiar to his childhood. This visit to the wise mother brought the then famous orator back to his boyish faith and trust, and it was under this good mother's renewed inspiration that he delivered a little later, in New York, his oration on the South, that oration which perhaps has no parallel except in Patrick Henry's Williamstown speech and Abraham Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg.

A man or woman may climb to social, political or commercial heights far above the humbler estate of the good mother, but the golden chain of success, if it be real success, is ever linked with the woman who bore them in her arms and

WORK AT FRANCIS SHAFT DESCRIBED

John L. Reigart of C. C. I. Company Presents Paper at L. S. Mining Institute.

Among the papers prepared for the twelfth annual meeting of the Lake Superior Mining Institute, which is being held this week on the Gogebic range and in Minnesota, is one on "Grouting at the Francis Mine Shaft" of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, in the Gwin district, by J. L. Reigart, the assistant district superintendent, formerly of this city.

Mr. Reigart reviews the work from the time the shaft was started by the New York Foundation company until it was completed.

The shaft is circular, seventeen feet in diameter, inside dimensions, and was driven through sand. It was constructed so that it might be enlarged to the standard size adopted by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, which is ten feet, ten inches by fourteen feet, ten inches, inside measurements. The standard shaft is rectangular, with two skip compartments, a cage compartment, and a ladder and pipe way.

After the shaft had stood uncompleted for a time, work on it was resumed in the spring of 1911, and was continued long enough to put in the steel divisions in the concrete and to drill a number of holes through the seal in the bottom, to ascertain the flow of water to be handled. The holes struck water at a depth of from two to three feet. The water came out at a pressure of a little over forty pounds, and any two of the holes made sufficient water to give a No. 9 Cameron pump all it could do.

It was shown that a large flow of water would be encountered as soon as the seal was broken and also that the slate ledge was probably broken to a greater or less degree. It was readily seen that the water would have to be excluded before continuing the shaft, or it could be sunk only with the greatest difficulty and expense, if at all. The Foundation company, Mr. Reigart said, might have carried the shaft down farther by its process except for the fact that at the time the ledge was struck the men were working under forty-seven pounds air pressure on fifteen-minute shifts. This was not only exceedingly expensive, but was hazardous.

The ledge at the bottom of the shaft being irregular, the thickness of the seal varied, but it was supposed to average twenty-four inches. The encountering of water so quickly seemed to indicate that the seal put in by the Foundation company had not formed a good contact with the rock. At this point the work was discontinued and was not resumed until Feb. 1, 1915.

Mr. Reigart makes the following reference to the progress of the work after operations had been resumed in February:

"When work was begun anew last February various means were discussed for permanently cutting off the water which would come in at the ledge, and it was finally decided to attempt this by drilling incline holes around the inside circumference of the shaft, at such an angle that they would reach beyond the outside circumference of the wall of the shaft, and forcing neat cement in these holes under air pressure until the water-bearing cracks and crevices were filled, thus making a water-tight seal through which the shaft could be sunk with safety. We were apprehensive that there would be a leakage between the seal and the ledge covering a part of the area of the shaft. If this was the case, the pressure exerted on the cement to force it into the holes would in turn be transmitted against the bottom of the concrete seal and develop an enormous pressure. This pressure would be instantly transmitted to the ledge, and breaking through would be a very serious matter. As a precaution against this, three-inch planks were set up on edge eight inches apart, like joists in a floor, and on top of these and at right angles to them twelve-inch square beams were put in across the shaft about four feet apart and spragged with stulls to the steel sets above. Wherever there was any space between the joists or the cement seal, wedges were driven in so that should there be any tendency for the concrete to give, the pressure would be instantly transmitted to the ledge. This covered up the bottom of the shaft pretty well, but still left space enough for drilling holes until it was felt that the space below the seal had been filled and the reinforcing could be removed with safety."

The paper contains several illustrations showing the concrete construction and the manner in which the work was conducted from the time ground was broken.

STEEL IS MADE IMMUNE FROM RUST AND ACID.

Berlin, Sept. 8.—"In closing a series of articles on Germany seen through Austrian eyes the Austrian poet, Rudolf Hans Bartsch, gives a vivid description of the Krupp plant at Essen," says the Overseas News agency, "in which the interesting fact is disclosed that the firm has developed a process for making steel absolutely immune against rust and even against the action of nitric acid."

"SEPTEMBER MORN" COMING.

Popular Musical Comedy Attraction at Ishpeming Theater Next Thursday.

The music of "September Morn," which will be presented at the Ishpeming theater Thursday of next week, contains tuneful numbers. Nothing could be more charming than the serenade, "Beautiful Dreams I'm Dreaming," which is incidental to the second act. The ensemble pieces and choruses are superior to anything heard since the passing of Gustav Leuder's "Prince of Pilsen." The music for the comic duets is a revelation in that sort of thing, and if one can sit through "September Morn's" entire tumble of melody and ditty and be once bored, he must be lame.

The acting success of "September Morn" is Harry Fields, who plays the character of the art dealer, Rudolph Plastric.

The admission prices will be $1.50 and $1.00 on the lower floor, $1 and seventy-five cents in the balcony and thirty-five in the gallery.

BIG ACT COMING.

Artistic Divers and Swimmers at Ishpeming Theater First Half of Week.

The Berlo sisters, artistic divers and swimmers, who will be the vaudeville attraction at Ishpeming theater the first three days of next week, are said to present one of the highest paid acts in vaudeville. Of their performance at Ramona Park, the Minneapolis Journal said:

"Several thousand people witnessed the thrilling high-diving and surf riding performed by the Berlo sisters off the beach dock at Ramona Park. Miss Lillian Berlo executed many artistic fancy dives from a fifty-foot platform erected at the end of the dock, while Miss Madeline Berlo, towed by William Burgess in the speedy launch, Edna II, thrilled the large assemblage with a meritorious performance of the difficult surf riding. The terrific speed with which the Edna made the curves spilled Miss Madeline several times at first, but she soon became accustomed to it, and held the board while Burgess circled the lake.

"Madeline Berlo is the young woman who was pronounced by Professor Sargent, of Harvard university, as being the most perfect woman physically in the United States. Miss Berlo was an instructor in swimming at Cambridge. She holds the mid-swimming championship of New England and has many medals which were given her for her prowess and daring in aquatic events.

"Another member of the Berlo troupe added spice to the entertainment by falling from the dock accidentally on purpose and being rescued by several would-be heroic young men only to splash back into the water and show her rescuers some of the fine points of swimming."

LUTHERANS TO MEET.

General Council for America to hold Sessions at Rock Island.

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 8.—The general council of the Lutheran church in America, which is said to represent about 750,000 communicants, will begin its thirty-fifth biennial convention here tomorrow. Among the more important matters that will come up for consideration will be foreign mission work, which is particularly strong in the Far East. German Lutheran Missions in India have suffered because since the European war began aid has not been forthcoming from the home country, and on account of this the American Lutherans have been appealed to for help. "The problem of the English home missions in Canada is also said to be one of the most pressing matters."

The approach in 1917 of the 400th anniversary of the beginning of the Reformation under Martin Luther will occupy much attention. A movement is in progress to unite all sections of the Lutheran church in this country in a grand jubilee celebration and, in fact, overtures have been made to have representatives of all Protestant churches give special attention to this Quadracentennial Jubilee. A feature of the Lutheran church celebration is the planning for a large memorial fund to be used for all forms of church work. The proposal will be made to other sections of the church to unite in raising a $10,000,000 fund.

STATE ROADS SHOW GAIN.

Increase of $1,658,843 Is Shown in Quarterly Reports.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 8.—Reports of fifty of the sixty Michigan railroads filed with the state railroad commission for the quarter ending June 30 showed a gain in earnings of $1,658,843 over the corresponding period in 1914.

With the exception of the Soo line and the Detroit & Mackinac, none of the larger roads show losses in the freight revenue. Even the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, the other upper peninsula road which was in the passenger rate fight, shows an increase in freight revenue.

The roads nearly all show losses in passenger business, which to a great extent bears out their contention that the passenger business was going down hill steadily. Here, too, are some notable exceptions, but in the aggregate the heavy losses of the quarter on all roads were in passenger revenue.

Among the larger roads the Michigan Central shows heavy gains in both freight and passenger business, although the former is the heavier and in the aggregate of operating revenue shows an increase of $1,300,032. The Pere Marquette is next with a combined increase of $363,958 with the entire Grand Trunk system third with an increase of $108,090.

The Ann Arbor shows a gain in the freight and a loss in passenger business, although in the recapitulation it shows an increase. The Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee increased $89,000 in freight business, but lost $17,000 in the passenger end. The Grand Trunk Western gained $60,000 in freight and lost $60,000 in passenger rates.

"THE POMP OF EARTH."

Tenth in the Series of Dramas on the Recurrent Theme, "Who Pays?"

The tenth story of the "Who Pays?" series will be included in today's program at the Ishpeming theater. The title of the story is "The Pomp of Earth." In addition four other reels will be shown at the matinee, at 2:30 o'clock. They are "The Red Stephano," a Vitagraph feature drama, in two parts; "The Chadford Diamonds," a Biograph drama, and "Following the Scent," a Vitagraph comedy. The McGreeveys, who present a comedy novelty act, will open an engagement this afternoon.

The story of "The Pomp of Earth" is as follows: "John Cole steals a million dollars from the bank of which is president, and shifts the blame to his cashier, Don Porter, an innocent man, and Porter is sentenced to a long term of imprisonment. Edith Hilson and her mother, in a far western town, have never heard of either John Cole or Don Porter, and know nothing of the effect their little affair will have on Edith's life.

"Cole goes to the city in which Edith lives, changes his name to Richard Walker, and starts regally to 'spread' himself. Edith's mother, with a calculating eye to business, notes the coming of the millionaire, and tries to persuade her beautiful daughter to note also—as seriously as she.

"But Edith feels the call of youth to youth, and creates in the heart of Hugh Keene the hope of a great love. Keene is a young broker and does business for Walker. He sees a rival in his customer, and appropriates money not his to cut the dash of a richer suitor. His financial ventures break frightfully, and he is forced to 'borrow' from the Sunset club, of which he is treasurer. Urged on by her mother's importunities and Walker's supplications, Edith marries the millionaire. Walker, suspecting Keene, asks for an accounting, threatening arrest. Keene, knowing he can't pay, and crazed at his loss of Edith, decides to kill Walker that night.

"But his plans are spoiled by Don Porter, who has escaped from prison and made his way to the west. Porter does well the job Keene had laid out for himself. Asked by the Sunset club for the funds in his possession, and seeing disgrace ahead, Keene finds the path of the bullet 'the easiest way.' Walker, dead, Edith flies madly to Keene's office, turning naturally to him in her sorrow. She finds him seated in his office chair, a revolver at his feet, his face wreathed in a hideous smile."

THESE ISLANDS HAVE STRATEGIC VALUE

Imbros, Lemnos, Tenedos and Rabbit Group Command the Dardanelles.

Constantinople, Aug. 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—A contest for the possession of Rabbit, Imbros, Tenedos and Lemnos islands is bound to be one of the principal features of the peace negotiations marking the end of the European war, according to a neutral diplomat here. The informant would not have his name mentioned, but he is a man who is considered here as thoroughly conversant with affairs in Russia.

"One has but to look at the map to realize that the power installed upon the islands of Imbros, Lemnos, Tenedos, and the group known as the Rabbit islands will be the master of the Dardanelles and the approaches to them," said he. "That power, at present, is Great Britain. It is not for me to say what the Russian government thinks of seeing Great Britain in possession of such splendid sites for the establishment of another Gibraltar. I know, however, that the Russian government has already seriously considered that possibility, and on two occasions sounded the British government what its intentions were. What the reply was, I do not know."

Up to last October the islands, with the exception of the Rabbit group, had been provisionally occupied by Greece by virtue of the treaty of London. They are of great strategic importance owing to their location and proximity to the entrance of the Dardanelles. In addition to controlling the approaches to the strait, the islands also command the adjacent Levant and European coastlines.

Nine Miles from Dardanelles.

The largest of the Rabbit islands is only nine and one-half English miles from the Dardanelles entrance, and about five miles from Yenikoi on the Anatolian coast. It consists of a single, low hill, which is said to be excellently suited as the site of a large number of coast batteries. On the southern coast of the island a harbor and base for small war craft, such as submarines, torpedo-boats and destroyers, could be easily established. With the great range of modern guns, entry into and exit from the Dardanelles could be controlled without difficulty from this position. A range of nine and a half miles ensures effective fire. The forts at Kum Kaleh and Seddul-Bahr could be bombarded by batteries on Rabbit island.

No less important in such a scheme is the island of Imbros. Its eastern shore is situated about twelve and a half miles from Seddul-Bahr and thirteen miles from Yenikoi. The channel of the Dardanelles entrance. The bay of the island are suited for naval stations, while batteries on the shore south of Cape Cefalo could efficiently support the batteries on Rabbit island in an operation against ships wishing to enter or leave the strait. What the world means is best understood when it is borne in mind that on March 18, the "Queen Elizabeth's" main battery of sixteen-inch guns bombarded the forts of Teshnak Kaleh from a distance of about 18,000 yards, or a little more than ten English miles. Since ships in the entrance would not have the excellent cover enjoyed by the Turkish batteries, a totally different result would have to be looked for. The batteries on Imbros and Rabbit islands would fire from a stationary base and would take their target under a cross fire.

With the island of Lemnos also in possession of the power holding Rabbit and Imbros islands, the Dardanelles could be closed tighter than ever, according to military and naval men here. This island is forty-one miles from the entrance to the strait, and by virtue of location and proper distance admirably suited as a naval base against the Dardanelles. While such a base could be established on Imbros island, that point is too close to the Dardanelles, and not centrally enough located, to serve well for that purpose. The British have already realized this, and, while keeping a large number of vessels in the Cefalo bay, Imbros island, maintain their naval base against the Dardanelles at Lemnos.

Passage Is Narrow.

The passage between Imbros and Lemnos islands is but thirteen miles wide, and can easily be closed by batteries on opposing shores. The waters between Lemnos and the island of Tenedos could be commanded by coast batteries and the warships maintained at the Lemnos base. In this manner egress from, and ingress to, the Dardanelles would be rendered most difficult, if not impossible, whenever it pleased the power holding these islands to make them so.

That the possession of the islands of Imbros, Lemnos and Tenedos could be made a strong military and political factor was realized by the convention of London, which ended the Balkan war. Greece was permitted provisionally to occupy these islands, firstly, because of the general decrease in building operations throughout the country, although ten cities showed increases over 1913. Inquiries asking detailed information from 157 cities resulted in 147 replies, of which only 112 furnished sufficient details to permit statistics to be classified.

BOARDER ACCUSED OF STEALING HOST'S WIFE, CHILD, WATCH

New York, Sept. 8.—So desirous of stepping into the shoes of another man was Philip Keiser that he stole the man's wife, child, watch and clothing, according to the accusations lodged against him by Peter Giehl, a farmer residing near Allentown, Pa.

Keiser is a steamship fireman, twenty-nine years old. He was arrested when eating luncheon with Mrs. Giehl and her nine-year-old daughter, Alice. Detectives escorted the prisoner to police headquarters on a warrant issued in Allentown and charging grand larceny.

Three months ago Keiser went to Allentown and engaged board at the Giehl farmhouse. According to his version of the triangular drama, Mrs. Giehl virtually threw herself upon him and followed him around. When Keiser came to this city recently Mrs. Giehl pursued, accompanied by her child.

The deserted husband traced the three through an express company. When local detectives inquired for Keiser at the Ninth avenue address the landlady, they assert, told them that the man and a woman, who seemed to be his wife, were a most devoted pair.

Keiser insisted that he had not stolen anything from Giehl, and that the farmer's wife had given him her husband's clothing and gold watch. The woman corroborated Keiser, proclaiming her love for him.

"Do you blame her?" demanded the prisoner, who was attired in a suit of gray, calculated to attract attention, a checked plaid cap, red tie and sport shirt. He is five feet one inch in height.

SPANISH SWINDLE TAKES NEW FORM DURING WAR.

Paris, Sept. 8.—The time worn swindle of the travelers detained in inaccessible regions and needing some of the family money to get himself out of being played in a modified form on the families of soldiers.

French papers published lists with the home addresses of French soldiers held prisoner in some of the German camps. These names and addresses were used by a band of swindlers operating from Saint Sebastian and other Spanish towns who picked out families in easy circumstances and wrote letters similar to one received by the mother of a soldier who was wounded near Arras in October last and reported missing.

"I write you on behalf of your son," the letter ran, "who with the aid of myself and some comrades, Spanish journalists, succeeded in escaping from the German prisoner camp at Darnstadt. After many vicissitudes we got him safely into Spain, but he is still in grave danger. As you know Spain, on account of its strict neutrality, is bound to send back to Germany any prisoners escaping from there to this country. Your son's right arm and hand are healing slowly and he will soon be able to continue his journey, but he is entirely without funds. It will require 2,000 francs to enable him to get to Portugal from where he will easily find passage for France."

The letter, signed Senora Eulalia Nogueria, and asking for the utmost discretion, was turned over to the French consul at Saint Sebastian and he expressed the trick.

CHICAGO LEADS U. S. IN BUILDING WORK.

Washington, Sept. 8.—New York lost its place to Chicago last year as the leading American city in cost of building operations. Statistics made public show Chicago's 1914 building operations to have cost $83,261,710, while New York's total was $74,000,241. New York's decrease compared with 1913 was $33,074,496.

San Francisco showed the greatest increase of any city, with $7,140,299 more than in 1913; Brooklyn was second, with a $7,109,801 increase.

School Children Can't Afford Handicaps

In a remarkable test, recently made under the supervision of the State Board of Health of Minnesota, over 9000 school children were questioned as to what they ate for breakfast.

A large percentage of the breakfasts consisted of coffee, bread and butter; coffee and oatmeal or some other cereal; coffee and hotcakes; coffee and biscuits; coffee and coffee cake, or coffee alone. Probably the same conditions prevail everywhere throughout the country.

"IS IT ANY WONDER," SAYS THE EXAMINING PHYSICIAN, "THAT 23 PER CENT OF THESE CHILDREN HAVE FREQUENT HEADACHES?"

He was thinking of the chief cause—coffee. And it IS no wonder when we consider that coffee contains the powerful drug, caffeine, a nerve poison and notorious cause of headaches, heart trouble, sleeplessness, irritation and other ills!

Parents often wonder why their children are sickly, dull and backward in school, when frequently the cause lies in the homely, accepted habit of giving them a beverage containing an insidious poison.

When scientists and Boards of Health everywhere are speaking out against the dietetic dangers to which these children have been so long subjected, it is high time that parents take heed and correct these conditions. No child should be permitted to use coffee. It is easy to furnish them instead the pleasant, pure food-drink—

Instant Postum

Made from wheat, roasted with a bit of wholesome molasses, Postum contains the goodness of the grain and is a most delicious beverage, economical, convenient and free from coffee drugs or any other harmful substance.

Postum comes in two forms. The original Postum Cereal, which has to be boiled; Instant Postum—soluble—made in the cup with hot water—instantly. They are equally delicious, and the cost per cup is about the same for both kinds.

Postum for Children Avoids Coffee Troubles!

when Jennings' men drove both Faber and Benz from the mound with a total of eight hits, which produced an eight-run lead, the Chicago club gained a bang on and tied the visitors in the seventh by driving Boland and Dubuc off the mound and won out in the ninth when Lowdermilk lost control.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.
Washington, Sept. 8. Helmarich Cup party school, and editor in chief of Vorwarts, the party's central organ; Paul Lensch, one of the most successful students of Marxian tendencies and formerly editor of the Leipzig Volkszeitung; Konrad Haenisch, a member of the Prussian Diet and one of the closest friends of Liebknecht and Mehring; Heinrich Schulz, delegate from Erfurt and secretary of the central educational committee; Max Cohen, a delegate in the Reichstag; Max Grunwald, and many other Socialists of prominence.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS PUT IN FOUR GROUPS.
New York, Sept. 8. The new grouping that has taken place within the German Social Democratic party in the course of the present war is treated exhaustively in a recent issue of the Breiter Volkswacht.

The paper begins by pointing out that a considerable number of the leading Socialists who formerly belonged to the left or extreme radical wing of the party have now gone over to the so-called right wing, among them Helmarich Cup party school, and editor in chief of Vorwarts, the party's central organ; Paul Lensch, one of the most successful students of Marxian tendencies and formerly editor of the Leipzig Volkszeitung; Konrad Haenisch, a member of the Prussian Diet and one of the closest friends of Liebknecht and Mehring; Heinrich Schulz, delegate from Erfurt and secretary of the central educational committee; Max Cohen, a delegate in the Reichstag; Max Grunwald, and many other Socialists of prominence.

All these, the paper points out, can be approached by the extreme left, having denied their past and gone over into the camp of the imperialists.

"On the other hand, there is no lack of swervers in directly the opposite direction," says the Volkswacht; "an example being our own delegate in the Reichstag, Eduard Bernheim, who in the first place endorsed the war credits, and to him may be added Kurt Eisner and Edmund Fischer, who likewise have gone from the extreme right to the extreme left."

The Volkswacht divides the Social Democratic party into four groups. The first is the "Liebknecht Group," which recently sent out a circular in which it repudiated the party with having abandoned its principles and being guilty of treachery to its entire past.

JEWIS ASK FOR EQUAL RIGHTS WHEN WAR ENDS.
New York, Sept. 8. The national workmen's committee of Jewish rights, which is said to represent nearly 1,000,000 Jews, concluded its first convention here today. The principal aim of the organization is to obtain for the Jews of Europe equal civil, political and national rights.

"We want to induce the United States government to send a delegate to the peace conference against war to speak to the Jews in the warring countries," said Dr. Frank F. Rosenblatt, chairman of the resolutions committee. "We want this delegate to insist that one of the terms of peace shall be that the Jews be granted equal rights in each of the countries."

"We have received from Russia a great number of official and other records, and a number of important documents from the Russian drama, describing the atrocities that have been inflicted on Jews during the present war. We shall send copies of these to President Wilson and to every senator and congressman."

HEAR THEIR HEARTS INSTEAD OF CANNON.
London, Sept. 8. "Is it the guns in Flanders or the beating of their own hearts that people on the English coast and inland are writing to the newspapers about?" asks a London physician discussing the reports of gunning heard sixty, seventy and even ninety miles from the nearest scene of war operations.

"Let me suggest a trial experiment," he continues. "When anyone hears these sounds let him stop his ears with his fingers. Then if he really hears guns, the sound will be diminished or blotted out altogether; if it is the heartbeat the sound will be increased."

"A great many persons when they lie down at night hear their hearts beating. One correspondent at a shore report says that he counted eighty-eight gunshots in a minute. I myself heard gunning while on the east coast, and not until my return to London, where I heard the guns just as plainly every night, did the explanation of the heartbeats occur to me."

MOTHERS--WATCH IRRITABLE CHILDREN!
That fever, paleness, grinding of teeth while asleep, and coated tongue are indications that your child has worms in its system. Kickapoo Worm Killer quickly gets rid of these parasites. It is perfectly safe for even the most delicate children. It is pleasant to take and has three effective medicinal qualities: acts as a laxative, expels the worms, and tones up the system. Begin treatment today and eliminate the cause of irritability. 25c

GIANT BIPLANE TO REPLACE ZEPPELIN.
Copenhagen, via London, Sept. 8. The new type of giant biplane undergoing tests in Germany is said to have a measurement of 42 1/2 metres across the plane.

The motors develop 300 horsepower, and each works three propellers. These biplanes are capable of carrying sufficient fuel for flights of eight hours. They are equipped with wireless and searchlights. Each carries two bombs weighing twenty-two pounds apiece, and five machine guns.

Biplanes of this type will have crews of eight men and will be able to travel to London and back in five hours. The engineers who constructed them obtained the idea from a Russian machine. They say that the new craft will supersede the Zeppelin.

Just Apply This Paste and the Hairs Vanish (Helps to Beauty)
A safe, reliable home-treatment for the quick removal of superfluous hairs from your face or neck is as follows: Mix a stiff paste with some water and powdered delatone, apply to objectionable hairs and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This simple treatment is unfeeling and no pain or inconvenience attends its use, but to avoid disappointment be certain you get genuine delatone.

EVERY HOME NEEDS A FAITHFUL COUGH AND COLIC REMEDY.
When seasons change and colds appear—when you first detect a cold after sitting next to one who has sneezed, then it is that a tried and tested remedy should be faithfully used. "I never wrote a testimonial before, but I know positively that for myself and family, Dr. King's New Discovery is the best cough remedy we ever used and we have tried them all." 50c. and $1.00.

CROWDS ATTEND COUNTY'S FAIR

Excellent Program Arranged for Ishpeming Day—Trombley and Others in Motorcycle Race— Trotting Events and Baseball Scheduled for This Afternoon.

The Mining Journal Newsboys to Be Entertained Tonight—Cattle Show Has Many High Grade Entries—Poultry Exhibit Bigger—Corn 9 Feet in Height Shown.

The Marquette county fair is as good as it ever has been and perhaps a little better. It is the place where everybody is going this week and yesterday afternoon it seemed that more persons came by automobile than by street car. The jitney buses also were busy most of the day. It was Negaunee Day and the opening of the fair. Today is Ishpeming Day and Marquette Day comes Friday.

Ishpeming Day Program—Carnival and fair all day. Horse races at 2 p. m. Baby show at 2:30 p. m. Motorcycle race at 3 o'clock. Ishpeming vs. Marquette baseball game at 4 p. m.

All entries to be judged. Ed Trombley's ability as a motorcycle speeder has been challenged by Ed Bellstrom and Gust Johnson of Negaunee and Marquette's fly cop will have an opportunity to demonstrate his ability at the fair grounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The men will race for a purse of $50, the race being five miles, or ten times around the track. Trombley drives a Harley-Davidson and the Negaunee men drive Excelsior and Indian makes. The race undoubtedly will attract much attention as there is great local interest in Trombley and it is said the track at Negaunee can tear around the track at tremendous speed. Trombley fell off his machine when it skidded in rounding a curve during practice yesterday afternoon.

Fourteen Horses Racing.

Fourteen horses are in the stalls at the fair grounds and will participate in the races to be held at 2 o'clock every afternoon this week. The horses entered in the 2:20 class yesterday were: Air Line, owned by Dr. Bell of Negaunee; Little Johnny, owned by Gust Koski of Marquette; Harry Wilkes, owned by George Watson of Pickford; Bertie Strathmore, owned by Ralph Bowers. The best time, 2:24 3/4, was made by Harry Wilkes.

The horses entered in the 2:30 class were: John C., owned by George Coleman of Sault Ste. Marie; Nora D., owned by George Watson; Chester Barnes, owned by Bob Roney of the Canadian Soo; Dandee R., owned by Bruce Leslie of Munising. The best time, 2:29 3/4, was made by Chester Barnes.

Prizes were awarded yesterday as follows:

- Class I, beautiful babies—Edward Butler, 1st; Angela Bennett, 2nd; Russell Kent, 3rd.
- Class II, strenuous babies—Clarence Jane, 1st; Dorothy Corlepp, 2nd.
- Little girl—Ruth Barrett.
- Class III, fat babies—Jean Webb, 1st.
- Class IV, small babies—Charlotte Phillips.
- Class V, twins—Evelyn and Ada Hedstrum.

Some excellent horse racing will be seen this week. The prizes are rather small, but the string which will participate is as good as it ever has been for the fair. Only Chippewa and Marquette county horses are entered. The races have lost some of their interest to the public because of the death of Dr. Deadman's horse, which was killed Tuesday afternoon. The 2:40 and 2:25 classes will be run off today.

Stock Exhibits.

All the entries in the fair will be judged today. The cattle exhibit is not quite as large as that of last year, but there is a fine lot of high grade cattle in the stalls. The Newberry state hospital has fifteen head of Holsteins, the Morgan Heights sanitarium has five Holsteins, the Embagaard dairy farm at Big Bay has eleven Holsteins and eleven Shropshire sheep on exhibition. Vandenberg's farm is represented by sixteen Guernseys and Holsteins, one of Mr. Vandenberg's prize exhibits being his Guernsey bull, a grandson of Salmon King. Mr. Carr of Trout Creek has five Jerseys and five pens of sheep, and Mr. Berg has a bull in the stalls.

A fine lot of horses are at the fair for exhibition purposes. Krieger Bros. of Skandia have four heavy draft horses, but the horses from Chippewa county exceed in number any one entry made from Marquette county.

The poultry exhibit is better than that of last year largely because of the exhibit of fifty sets of game birds by George Watson of Pickford. Mr. Watson also has eight pens of ducks. Twenty-five pens is the total of Marquette county entries. Every variety of chicken for which prizes are offered is shown. E. W. Doak of Escanaba has entered two pens of White Wyandottes. The corn which a few weeks ago was growing to a height of six feet on F. H. Vandenberg's farm is now on exhibit in Class B and has attained a height of nine feet. There are other corn exhibits of the same height, however, indicating that in many parts of the county the corn has grown rapidly in spite of the cold weather. There are many grain samples, but the fruit exhibit is not as attractive as it was last year because the fruit in the county has not yet ripened.

Fine Flower Exhibit.

The flower exhibit is as attractive as ever and is nicely arranged. Displays by the local florists, Sorenson and Tach, have been placed in the center of the floor and the flowers in competition have been set around the sides of the room. In the aster exhibit entered by Mrs. Blenhuber are twenty-eight varieties. A sunflower eight feet high with thirty-two blossoms is another interesting feature of the flower show. The exhibit by the state board of health is one of the most popular in the entire fair and its popularity is due to the attractive manner in which it is aranged and the graphic means employed to illustrate methods of bettering sanitation in municipalities and on the farm. One looks into a black box, dimly lighted, and sees a healthy doll. Thirty seconds later the doll is replaced by a skeleton. And then one is told that every thirty seconds another life has been claimed by the White Plague. The dangers of the public drinking water are illustrated in a similar manner. Flies are shown moving from barn to privy, to dwelling. Elaborate charts show every process in the development and the prevention of tuberculosis. Another series of charts shows the method of caring for the teeth. Models of cities are laid out on tables to show the proper and improper methods of sewage disposal and another model shows the sanitary plan of sewage disposal in a dwelling not connected with a municipal system.

Negaunee defeated Marquette yesterday in the first baseball game of the week by a score of 13 to 2. Today Marquette will play Ishpeming. Should Ishpeming win today, it will play Negaunee Friday for the first money.

Will Entertain Carriers.

Eighteen of The Mining Journal's carriers will be given a treat tonight by the management of the Hendershot shows and will be entertained in one of the carnival tents. They will see everything and try everything, including merry-go-round and Ferris wheel. Each will wear a badge. The flea circus, the Astee snake charmer, the animal show, vaudeville and minstrel entertainments will all be inspected by the amateur critics. The Hendershot company makes a practice of entertaining the newsboys in every city.

The Baby Show started out with eleven entries from Negaunee today, ten of which were awarded prizes. No attempt is made to select the most perfect baby, the department not having the facilities and the equipment for the detailed measurement and examination necessary for such a contest. Prizes are awarded in five classes—beautiful, strenuous, fat, small, and twins. Only five entries have been received by mail for the Ishpeming contest today, but it is likely many entries will be made at the grounds. Marquette, however, will have the big show day, twenty-five entries having already been received by mail. It is expected the judges will be given real work in selecting the finest babies on Friday.

The public schools will close all day Friday to enable the pupils to attend Marquette day at the fair.

PRIMEAU AT BAY CITY.

Marquette County Register Lived There Fifty Years Ago.

J. H. Primeau, a resident of Bay City fifty years ago, and who is the oldest register of deeds in the United States, as near as can be learned, has arrived in the city from Marquette to attend the Golden Jubilee and also the first convention of registers of deeds of Michigan, says the Bay City Tribune.

Mr. Primeau is one of the most prominent men among the French people in the Northwest. He is known as a brilliant orator and a great admirer of Sir Wilfred Laurier, former premier of Canada. He has been a big factor in Marquette politics and for the last nineteen years has been register of deeds at that place.

"Why, I can remember when Bay City, that is, where the city now stands, was a bayou and a person didn't dare drink the river water for fear of the ague," Mr. Primeau told a Tribune reporter. "I came to this valley when we used to row up and down Center avenue in boats. But I want to tell you one thing and that is that Bay City has developed into a wonderful city, and I am proud of it. I came here in 1865 to work in the sawmills. After staying here a year I left for a year's traveling and then went to Marquette, where I have since been. This is the first time I have been back to Bay City since I left in 1865 and words cannot express my joy at finding such a beautiful and prosperous city."

GUARD TELLS STORY OF PRISONER'S CAPTURE

Humphries Enjoyed Freedom Until 3 O'Clock Tuesday Morning.

Carl Siegel, the guard at the Marquette prison who caught Walter Humphries, the escaped prisoner, last night told his story of the capture. Humphries was a trusty on the farm and left it at 4:15 o'clock Monday afternoon. His coat was found in a shack near the Carp river at 7 o'clock by officers of the prison who had started on his trail. Mr. Siegel was called from his home Monday evening and assigned to go to Negaunee on No. 7 and keep a watch for the prisoner in that direction. He first went to the prison and got a revolver and handcuffs. When on the train he was told of three hoboes who were riding on the train, and when the train stopped at Negaunee he got off and tried to stop them. They escaped, however, and a company of Negaunee police officers who were called to assist in the search were unable to pick up the trail of the men. Mr. Siegel thought one of the men had the appearance of Humphries, but in this he was mistaken.

After a search of the railroad yards and a trip around the county road and around the Jackson mine Mr. Siegel got back to Iron street in Negaunee, intending to watch the road and the railroad track the rest of the night. Two members of the Negaunee police force in civilian's clothes were seated on the porch of the Breitung House and Mr. Siegel joined them and continued his lookout from this point.

At 3 o'clock in the morning someone came up one of the dark streets when Mr. Siegel at once recognized as his man. The man wore a mackinaw, but the hat he wore was the same one he had worn on the farm. Mr. Siegel told the officers of his discovery and asked that they be quiet until the man got near them. When he became aware of their presence he called to them and asked the whereabouts of the station. They told him to come up on the porch and they would show him. When he had approached to within a few feet of the porch, Mr. Siegel made a jump down the steps and leveled his revolver at the man, ordering him to put up his hands. He quietly complied with the request and the handcuffs were adjusted without any trouble.

KORPI FOUND GUILTY.

Case Against Walter Dobson Tried in Circuit Court Yesterday.

Sam Korpi was yesterday morning found guilty by a jury in the circuit court of criminal assault upon Mrs. Paulina Yonkosky, fifty-seven years old. The case was heard Tuesday afternoon and the jury was charged this morning by Judge R. C. Flannigan. The jury was out about forty-five minutes. Korpi has served many sentences in the county jail.

The case against Walter Dobson, charged with intent to rape was the second in the criminal calendar. The witnesses were heard and the arguments of the attorneys were made when the day's session was over at 5 o'clock. Judge Flannigan will address the jury at 9 o'clock this morning. W. T. Potter is representing Dobson. The next case will be that of the people vs. Oril C. Nadeau, charged with bastardy.

SAYS CONTEST WAS HORRIBLE EXAMPLE

School Board Journal Asserts Marquette Has Shown How Plans Should Not Be Chosen.

The leading editorial in the September issue of the American School Board Journal is an attack on the methods pursued by the Marquette board in determining who would make the plans for the proposed new high school building. It runs as follows:

"An interesting example of what competitions for schoolhouse plans should not be afforded by an invitation issued by the school board of Marquette, Mich. On July 29, the following resolution was adopted and sent to nine architects in the Middle West: 'Resolved, That nine architects be asked to submit floor plan and sketches of high school building in black and white, and estimate cost of said building upon a competitive basis. Three prizes of $50 each to be paid for three best sketches, except that the architect to whom the contract is awarded shall not receive a prize. The board of education shall be the sole judge in the competition with such experts as it may see fit to engage. Preference will be given to plans and sketches of architects who make personal visit to the proposed site. Sketches must be submitted on or before Aug. 12, 1915. All sketches to be the property of the board of education.'"

"The special features desired in the high school building are the following: Gymnasium, assembly room, domestic science rooms, commercial room, chemical laboratory, physical laboratory, biological laboratory, lecture rooms, music room, medical examination room, shower baths, locker rooms, dining room, debating room, classrooms, book room, and miscellaneous rooms."

This resolution violates practically every known principle of architectural competitions. To persons who are at all familiar with the customs of architects it displays a lamentable ignorance, assuring in advance the defeat of the very purpose it is intended to achieve and affording loopholes for unfairness on the part of the competitors and favoritism on the part of the board members.

Without entering in detail into the details of the resolution it may be said that the board presupposes that architects are tradesmen who are willing to prepare and submit plans for examination, just as a merchant presents samples of merchandise. They offer to six architects no compensation for sets of sketches, which, if technical preparation and experience are added to the cost of actual drawing, are worth not less than $20.00 each for a building costing $100,000. Five laymen set up themselves as sole judges of plans that involve difficult technical problems such as can be judged accurately and completely only by an expert. The members, if they may see fit to engage experts, do not agree to follow their advice. An outline of the requirements is not offered equally to all competitors, but such as visit the site are to be preferred. Only two weeks are given to any architect's office in less than a month or six weeks' time. Finally, the board does not absolutely agree to accept one of the sets of plans and may, if it desires, throw out all plans.

An architectural competition is the least satisfactory of the several methods of obtaining plans for a new schoolhouse. It is frequently necessary when many architects press their claims, but it is only successful when conducted with rigid fairness and with due consideration of all the principles formulated by the American Institute of Architects. These principles are not the arbitrary dictum of a portion of the architectural profession; they are the result of many years' experience and of observation of the simple state the conditions which will assure fair and honest conservation of the rights and interests of the architect and of the owner.

Space prevents a discussion of the principles of architectural competitions. A few of the most important can, however, be stated because they are so commonly overlooked by school boards:

First, competitions must recognize the professional and technical character of the services rendered by architects. Second, the program must contain a complete technical statement of the problem, and fix fair definite conditions under which the drawings are to be submitted. A man familiar with competitions should be called upon to draw up these conditions.

Third, the architects invited should be competent and honest, and evidence of these qualifications should be required. Fourth, the selection of plans should be in the hands of a competent expert, who has had training, experience, and a pre-eminent reputation as a schoolhouse architect.

Fifth, the competition should be a definite contract between the architects and the school board, and should provide for the employment of the successful competitor or for adequate compensation for the drawings, if the project is abandoned.

As a basis for competition, the resolution of the Marquette School Board is defective in every one of these five essentials. It is of a character that will permit no self-respecting architect who values his professional reputation to enter, and will undoubtedly be condemned by the American Institute of Architects before this issue of the Journal is read. Instead of an impartial competition, it will provide for a scramble in which the man or the firm that can furnish the flashiest drawing and make the most extravagant promises, will win. If we were not certain that the members of the board are wholly honest and upright we should say that the competition has all the earmarks of political jobbery.

Marquette Opera House.

The program at the opera house today, afternoon and evening, will consist of the six-part photoplay, "The Spanish Jade," and vaudeville by the Kitties, who give a novelty bounding rope act. "The Spanish Jade," written by Maurice Hewlett and dramatized by Louis Joseph Vace, is a production of the Fiction Pictures company, released by the Paramount corporation, its purchaser. The play depicts an absorbing, gripping story. Betty Bellairs, formerly leading woman with Fred Terry in England, has the principal role, Manuela. While the picture was taken in that part of California where an occasional building of the old Spanish missions still stands, the greater part of the buildings, the beautiful arch before the inn, and some of the outside landmarks as well, were constructed especially for this production. Tomorrow the opera house will show Daniel Frohman's elaborate photoproduction of Hall Caine's novel, "The Eternal City," with Pauline Frederick in the role of Donna Roma. The play having been filmed amid the grandeur and beauty of modern Rome, the Vatican gardens, the Coliseum, St. Peter's, the castle of St. Angelo and other historic spots in the Eternal City have been used as settings. Mr. Caine's thrilling romance is, therefore, presented on the screen with a wider range, in true colors, than is possible to produce it on the stage. The picture is in eight parts.
