

RELATIONS WITH BERLIN HANGING IN BALANCE

GERMAN BANKS MAY BE INVITED TO AID IN LOAN

Financiers, Whose Sympathies Obviously Are With the Kaiser, May Contribute to Billion Dollar Credit Wanted by Allies, if They Desire, Under New Policy.

Many of Them, It Is Believed, Will Be Glad to Help—Heretofore Commission Saw Only Men Favoring Entente, but This Excluded Several Big Houses.

New York, Sept. 14.—The German element in the New York financial world probably will be invited to participate, if they desire, in floating the billion dollar credit loan which Great Britain and France want. They will be glad to have a chance to help, it was said.

Another faction, the mid-western bankers with German sympathies, would bitterly oppose participation in raising funds for the use of Germany's enemies, however, even though the money be spent in the United States, it is believed here.

HOTEL GIVEN QUEEN AS HOSPITAL IS FAMED

Star and Garter, on Thames, Over 150 Years Old, Often Has Had Royal Guests.

London, Sept. 14.—The Star and Garter hotel at Richmond on the Thames, which has just been purchased by real estate men of Great Britain and presented to the queen as a Red Cross hospital for disabled officers, is probably the most famous hotel in England.

INSANE MAN IS FOUND BURIED IN STRAW STACK; WILL NOT GIVE HIS NAME

Stevens Point, Wis., Sept. 14.—Fred Frater, who lives on a farm at Stevens Point, accidentally stepped on a man covered completely with straw in a stack. The man made no effort to extricate himself. He was brought to Stevens Point, adjudged insane and has been taken to the Northern hospital at Oshkosh. He is about thirty-five years old, but neither his name nor his place of residence has been determined.

ROYALTY FREQUENT GUESTS

Queen Victoria was a frequent visitor to the hotel, particularly during the earlier years of her reign, and there were few of her royal contemporaries who did not at one time or another take of its hospitality during the decade preceding the fire of 1870, which destroyed the greater part of the luxurious building.

SWEDEN LIKELY TO ENTER WAR WITH GERMANY?

That Scandinavian Nation Will Do Something Shortly, Favoring One Side or the Other—Is Established Opinion—Indications Are Kaiser Will Get Aid.

Financial Interests of Country, Which Are in Minority, Advocate Joining Central Empires, Although Democracy May Rule and Keep Government Neutral.

William G. Shepherd, writing from London, says in regard to possible action by Sweden in the war: "What will Sweden do?" "This is a question being asked with increasing frequency here.

Germany is doing her best to bring Sweden into the war. There is a party in Sweden that favors Germany and is willing to have the Swedish army help the Germans. This party includes the financial interests, but is in the minority numerically.

HEAR NATION IS FOR KAISER

The militarists of Sweden are of the German school; the Swedish army is training on German lines, the sympathies of many Swedish militarists are with Germany.

The chief outstanding fact is that Sweden's democracy is being severely tested on this war question. If this democracy succeeds, Sweden will not enter the war.

SAID SHE WAS UNHURT, SO HUSBAND HURT HER

Kalamazoo, Sept. 14.—According to charges made by Mrs. George Knowles, wife of a wealthy Kalamazoo real estate dealer, she was badly beaten by her husband because she refused to go to a hospital after another automobile had run over into theirs. She declares that she was not hurt in any way in the accident, and because she protested that she was not injured her husband gave her a fearful whipping. She has asked for a divorce, charging cruelty. The wife asks for a portion of the husband's property. She alleges that he carried about $10,000 in currency with him all the time, keeping it strapped about his knee.

TEUTONS' RUSH TOWARD DVINSK YET UNCHECKED

Terrific Weight of Men and Guns Continues to Force Russians Back, Berlin Reports—von Hindenburg, in Last Twenty-Four Hours, Took 5,000 Prisoners.

Muscovites in Galicia Still Are on Offensive, However, and Are Meeting With Success—Artillery Warfare Prevails in West—British Parliament in Session.

London, Sept. 13, 10:45 p. m.—The German drive toward Dvinsk goes forward unchecked, according to a Berlin official statement today. Field Marshal von Hindenburg's army has taken over five thousand prisoners in the last twenty-four hours and has forged ahead to within thirty miles of the Dvinsk fortress, the statement adds.

Riga, for the present, is not threatened by a direct attack, but later may be exposed by an expected enveloping movement. All mid-Poland is the scene of desperate fighting, which, the Germans say, is progressing in their favor. The Russians continue their successful offensive in Galicia.

WON'T DISCUSS CONSCRIPTION

Parliament at London reassembled today, but the first session developed nothing notable other than the premier's refusal to discuss conscription proposals.

The parliamentary correspondent of the Daily News says that the present views of the cabinet on the question of compulsory service, which is now the one most discussed in the secret councils of the government, are as follows: "Uncommitted—Kitchener. For compulsory service—Curzon. For slow down, Lloyd George, Churchill, Bonar Law, Long, Chamberlain, Selborne and Carson. Against compulsory—Asquith, Grey, Balfour, Curzon, Ramsden, McKenna, Birrell, Henderson.

LABOR MAN AGAINST IT

London, Sept. 14.—George Nield Barnes, labor member of parliament, speaking at Watford, said he did not believe there was need for conscription, but it was imperative "that the men we have sent out to fight our battles should be supported by the men in the workshops better than they are at the present moment." He continued: "Under the conditions caused by the war we ought to regard it as our solemn duty to turn out as much as possible in every workshop in the country. Speaking as a trade unionist and a member of the Unemployed Society of Engineers, I am sorry to say I do not believe that has been done."

TURKS BEATEN NEAR OITI

Petrograd, Sept. 14.—The following official statement was issued at the headquarters of the army of the Caucasus: "In the coastal region there was an artillery rifle fire. In the direction of Oiti the Turks, who were bombarding Mount Paraket, were driven back to the Teloruk river. West of Melaghet and in the district of Kompkhan there were skirmishes between our scouts and Kurds."

WILSON IS TOO BUSY FOR SPEAKING DATES HE TELLS HIS CALLERS

Washington, Sept. 14.—President Wilson told a delegation of visitors from Manassas, Va., that the seriousness of the international situation makes it impossible for him to consider any speaking dates. He declined therefore to talk to civil war veterans in that city.

GERMAN PRISONERS SELDOM AFFORD ANY SECRETS OF VALUE

Paris, Sept. 14.—The inventory of the pockets of German soldiers taken prisoner is as thorough as at the beginning of the war, though it rarely discloses anything important except occasionally in the case of officers so taken by surprise that they had no chance to make away with interesting documents.

GERMAN SPECTRE ORDERS T. R.'S PICTURE REMOVED

Chicago, Sept. 14.—There is a vacancy in the row of portraits of presidents which hang in the room of the North Side Turnpike hall. It has existed since the Chicago Turngemeinde voted overwhelmingly to take from its place of honor where it has hung for seven years, the large picture of Theodore Roosevelt.

SENATOR TO EUROPE TO FREE AMERICANS

Washington, Sept. 14.—Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois sailed for Europe on the Byrdland of the Holland-American line today. He has special letters to American representatives in Holland, Germany, France and Great Britain.

New London, Wis., Sept. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Loss have been enjoying a unique outing. They purchased part of the old steamer Laura May, sawed off and closed about eighteen feet of the bow, shipped it by wagon to Shawano and then floated down more than one hundred miles of Wolf river in this novel houseboat. An old bus top served as cabin.

London, Sept. 14.—A decrease of approximately 25 per cent in the birth rate of Berlin for July over the same month in 1914 is reported in a Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam. Official returns show that 3,370 children were born in the German capital in July, 1914, but only 2,520 were born in July, 1915.

U. S. ACTION DEPENDS ON GERMAN ATTITUDE IN REGARD TO ARABIC

Critical Point Has Been Reached and Washington Only Awaiting Reply from Imperial Government

SEEKS FIERY SCENE AT FALL OF GRODNO

Berlin Correspondent Describes Bloody Fighting in the City's Streets.

Berlin, Sept. 14.—"The night scene at the water's edge was one of unparalleled grandeur. The river, skirted by rows of houses on bluffs 130 feet high, was illuminated by exploding shells, the broad stream sending up everywhere jets of water from the shell fragments. Numerous church towers across the river, with their gilt crosses encircled by clouds of smoke from the shrapnel, appeared on the lighted horizon.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Prospects for a favorable adjustment of the controversies between America and Germany tonight depend on the attitude Berlin may take toward recommendations made today by Ambassador von Bernstorff, after his conference yesterday with Secretary Lansing.

Details of the conference became known today, throwing light on critical points that had been reached in the relations between the two countries. Washington was almost ready to sever diplomatic relations, but decided to delay taking any step until Germany received evidence in the possession of the American government on the Arabic case.

The United States wants a disavowal of the torpedoing of the Arabic and this was made clear to Ambassador von Bernstorff. Arbitration cannot be considered until the attitude of Germany toward the torpedoing is placed on record.

Tension was lessened today and there was more hope in the state department and German quarters of a friendly adjustment than there has been in several days.

GERMAN CALLS ATTACK ON STR. ORDUNA MISTAKE DUE TO ROUGH WEATHER

Washington, Sept. 14.—Germany's explanation of the unsuccessful attempt to destroy the Cunard liner Orduna, July 9, is that the submarine commander violated his instructions which were that he should not attack any liner, but that because of the weather he was unable to make out the character or nationality of the Orduna.

BURTON WOULD ARM TO GUARD REPUBLIC

Ex-Senator from Ohio Says No Interest Should Control Making Ready Defenses.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Ex-Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, who, after a tour of study on Latin-American conditions, has returned to find himself one of the Republicans prominently mentioned as a candidate for president, has declared himself here, on the eve of his return to Ohio, strongly in favor of a reasonable increase in both the army and navy. Mr. Burton, who was regarded as one of the scholars of congress during his long service at both ends of the capitol, said that history left it an open question whether the end of a great war would be followed by an era of peace or of feverishly increased armaments.

With that question unanswered, he said, the only duty for patriotic Americans was to remove the country's condition of unpreparedness. He was evidently strongly impressed by the possibility that the end of the war, regardless of which side won, might see the so-called militaristic parties in power with the democratic progress of the last hundred years largely nullified and forgotten. The end of the war, he said, might mean the return of an era of absolute monarchies, and the preparedness of neutral republics was the best preventive of that development now, or the best remedy for it later.

London, Sept. 14.—The Morning Post publishes the following from a Hungarian correspondent: "The chief agents of the Austro-German intrigues in the United States are the editors of the American-Hungarian papers. In the letter which Ambassador Dunbar attempted to convey to Count Burian through J. F. J. Archibald, the editor of the Szabadseg, a Cleveland daily newspaper, and Dr. Sember, Austro-Hungarian consul in New York, figured."

London, Tuesday, Sept. 14.—The Daily News says: "America is confronted not merely with a relapse of the whole situation to the position at the acutest stage of the Lusitania crisis, but with the recognition that throughout the negotiations she has been in a diplomatic strait with a government whose sole purpose has been procrastination and evasion."

Captain Dunn of the Onoko is unable to explain the sinking.

PUT NONE BUT AMERICANS ON GUARD.—WASHINGTON.

WHICH ARE THEY?

After discussing at length the shortcomings of the Soo's municipal government, the Times urges that a complete change would be desirable.

As it is of great interest to Marquette just now to be able to compare its methods of municipal administration with those of other cities meeting with conspicuous success, it is to be regretted that the Times does not specifically mention some of the "many" cities under the old form of government that compare with Marquette in the particulars referred to.

The Mining Journal is of the opinion that cities "operating under the old form" whose management is characterized by "economy and conscientiousness" are as rare as white blackbirds.

Most governments under the old form are "spotty." They may have a strong mayor and an indifferent council, or a good council and a trouble making mayor. Marquette in past years had both combinations.

Commission government is not an end. It is important only as a means. As a tool for the effective carrying on of the public's work it can be made of thing of the greatest value, but of itself it can accomplish nothing.

If the Soo Times wants to find the way out of the slough of bad municipal administration at the Look City it should nourish no prejudices against commission government. It is a better tool for serving municipal purposes than the old form. It won't accomplish anything in itself, but if the Soo expects to be able to interest its best and most interested administrators in the responsibilities of public affairs it can certainly get the best results with the best tool.

LLOYD GEORGE.

Too much importance can be attached to the introductory remarks by Lloyd George, in the volume in which twelve of his addresses are published, to the effect that the allies are losing the war because the central empires are still months ahead of them in preparation.

Thus there is reasonable warrant for believing that the allies' predicament is not as serious as one as Lloyd George pictures it, and doubtless none knows it better than he.

enemy powers that were all too prevalent in the early months of the war. Lloyd George's employment of exaggerated warnings at this juncture, that the last of the complacency may be laid, is something that ought to be easily understood.

It is the name of Lloyd George, more than that of any other Englishman, that figures in the reports from the embattled countries. Much more is heard of him than of Asquith or of Kitchener, and if comparative prominence is a criterion he is perhaps the most servicable just now of all of Great Britain's public men.

And this is, indeed, not an unreasonable estimate. Great Britain's problems are for the moment principally internal ones. A highly individualized society and an industrial organization in which the rule of the laissez faire has only lately been challenged has to be adjusted to combat the effectively socialized organization of Germany.

The Russian drama now finds itself nearly as much in the hands of the American congress. Though not as important, of course, as some congressmen—Grand Rapids Press.

"Russians present compact fronts to the Germans," says an exchange headline. We understand the Russians were presenting their compact backs.—Jackson Citizen Press.

The Republican who attacks the president's Mexican policy—let us call it a "policy," for the sake of the argument—is immediately scolded for injecting "politics" into an affair of national concern.—Kalamazoo Telegraph-Press.

The news that the Allan liner Hesperian had been torpedoed by a German submarine was received by the "Friends of Peace," gathered in convention at Chicago, with cheers of delight. Refreshing neutrality!—Kalamazoo Gazette.

Many Annapolis faculty members have been ordered to sea as the aftermath of a cribbing scandal. Not that controlling a herd of very much alive youngsters is any less of a man's job than commanding a battleship.—Detroit News.

Chicago is worried. That is a good symptom. Until men begin to ache because they are hurt there is no hope for improvement. Congress passed a bad law—probably Chicago members voted for it—authorizing that almost unbearable combination of business destroyers, the interstate commerce commission, to say that railroads must not own lake boats.—Jackson Patriot.

Including real estate, the wealth of this country increased at the rate of $4,646,000,000 per year from 1900 to 1904, and at the rate of $10,000,000,000 per year from 1904 to 1912. The investment in manufacturing machinery, tools and implements increased in the eight years from $3,297,000,000 to $6,091,000,000, or nearly doubled.

A Lansing dispatch says the public domain commission is peeved because when it had enough work already the last legislature unloaded the state game department on it. There's an easy way out. Let it depend on the chief of the department for the proper discharge of its responsibilities.

Von Bernstorff has been a model of diplomatic discretion since the early days of the war. If there has been anything indiscreet to be done he has let George do it. Unless because of circumstances over which he has no control, it can be predicted with confidence that he will still be serving at Washington with honor when the terms of peace are finally made.

The Soo Times complains that the city is out of funds and that small loans are now being made to meet expenses that are part of the usual cost of running the city government. Furthermore, the proceeding is one that is repeated from year to year. The Soo city managers do not learn from experience to cut their coat to their cloth. Last year's deficit makes such inroads on this year's revenues that there is bound to be a deficit for next year. If this wasn't a rule of municipal management in so many cities, the Soo would feel deeply chagrined about it.

The Detroit News remarks that it "rushes to agree with the Free Press." This must be regarded as quite the most astounding thing that has happened in Detroit journalism for, lo, these many moons.

EDITORIAL OPINION

The Twelve Million Foreigners. There are today twelve million all us in the United States. They owe no allegiance to the United States government; they are citizens of foreign powers.

Some expect to be naturalized; others not. Many expect to stay here indefinitely; others want to make a little stake and his back to the old country, where leisure can be bought for less money. There are villages in Hungary practically rebuilt in the last ten years with money earned in America.

Some of the twelve million "read" others not. The twelve million are fairly hard to reach. They cannot be approached and reasoned with as if they were naturalized or native born. We can make no legitimate appeal to their sense of patriotism or duty because their duty as citizens is toward the motherland until they formally shift allegiance.

know why the twelve million are here. They came because they would be better off, earn higher wages, live in better homes, wear better clothes and escape the twin handicaps of military service and taxation to defray huge military establishments. Now that war is pauperizing Europe the twelve million who escaped with their lives and prosper here have all the more reason to feel grateful toward the United States. Knowing better than most of us the penalties of war and burden of armaments, they should be the last to lend their support to a cause whose success might lead the United States into the horrors they escaped.

Perhaps ten of the twelve million feel that way about it; but under competent leadership two million recalcitrants can make much noise and cause much mischief. The two million, if they will not remember that they are here upon sufferance, must be reminded that the government has ample power to bring this truth home to them in a manner which they will not enjoy and the necessity for which their hosts would as deeply deplore.—Grand Rapids Press.

The Bryan Plan.

On the subject of national defense Mr. Bryan is clearly past praying for. The more he says the worse he grows. Here is his latest idea on preparedness for war, as presented to a bevy of startled reporters at the University club, Chicago.

Descending on the needlessness of spending money on a navy, the eloquent strategist thus unfolded his great alternative plan for mobilization of embattled farmers at strategic points to repel invasion.

"With twelve national highways leading from coast to coast, the American farmers who would fight a foreign foe could seize their guns and mobilize quickly at certain points by riding to them in their motor cars."

That is Mr. Bryan's plan for national defense, and a state of perpetual preparedness! If the man ever joked, one would conclude that he was chaffing those reporters. But he was perfectly serious, and showed it by his irritation when one bright young man, with a hint for strategy, objected that the wonderful highways would be equally convenient for the enemy and the transport of his artillery.

The most ridiculed scheme of national defense heretofore propounded was Thomas Jefferson's celebrated amphibious navy, consisting of vehicular gunboats on wheels stored on shore at eligible points and ready to be wheeled down to the water for launching on the appearance of the enemy.

But Mr. Bryan's mobilization highways for the assembling of farmers with their fowling pieces beats that. It is a gentlemanly, capable and propounding such nonsense with an air of delivering something weighty, practical and original was pith-forked by the vagaries of politics into the high office of state secretary is one of the marvels of this democratic administration.

"What a superb constitution this country must have," remarked a slight-spirited Frenchman to Mr. Lovell, "to enable it to pull through in spite of its politics!"—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Balfour's Message to America. Arthur J. Balfour, now first lord of the admiralty, has written a letter to the British press in which he intended to encourage his compatriots about the progress of the war in which they are engaged, but that incidentally carries a strong warning to this country as well.

When Mr. Balfour, speaking with possession of official records, declares that Germany lost her chance to meet England on equal terms at sea by not fighting, he bears a message to America about the vital necessity for preparedness. When he ascribes the resort to submarine fighting as a desperate attempt to regain the advantage lost through failure to take advantage of earlier opportunities before the German condition in which America may some day find herself.

When he draws a lesson from the past, he drives home to our people the solemn thought which runs through all his communication. It takes time as well as money to create a great fleet, is Mr. Balfour's warning. Years of anticipatory effort, must go to building up the defenses a nation relies upon when the emergencies of war are upon her.

Germany got something by way of preparation; she did not do enough, and what she had done went for naught in the crisis. Her inadequate fleet has been useless. She might as well have had no fleet as to be driven to hide what she had from the superior force of the enemy.

The lesson of Germany is America's lesson as well. When our time of trial comes we must be fit to meet the test. Half-hearted preparation will be wasted. We must have enough ships to cope with the enemy and they must be as good as the enemy's ship for ship. It is folly to depend on improvised substitutes, to be invented on the spur of the moment when the peril arrives. It is folly, too, to depend on improved methods for fighting. A suggestion was made not long ago that America abandon her naval policy and begin to build a fleet of submarines, but the record of the submarines in this war shows how useless would be such a plan.

submarines have not been able even to keep British shipping down to its totals as they stood before the war. Unless America is to be confronted with Germany's plight when America's war comes she should take heed of the lesson of Germany's unpreparedness. Our navy will be all-essential to our security in the day of danger. Now is the time to be making sure of our navy.—Detroit Free Press.

LOWER STATE NOTES

PORT HURON—The upper boom of the Cleveland & Sarnia mills which holds stored logs, broke, letting out about 2,000,000 feet of timber. This is now drifting down the St. Clair river and is expected to be a source of trouble to navigation. The logs will drift all the way to Lake St. Clair before they can be picked up.

PONTIAC—Misfortune lunched his Saturday night and Sunday for John Brown, of Pontiac, former proprietor of the Hodges house. It stayed by him until he was struck by a street car, had several bones broken and finally landed in jail. Mr. Brown, in trying to board an interurban car at the Nine-Mile road, was struck by it. His head was injured and his arm was broken.

Ale Mauts, his helper, attempted to rescue him, but when he got Van Dyke free he was dead.

MAXIMUM FOR DEATH IS PLACED AT $3,000 'TANGO TOWN' PUT ON IN COPPER COUNTRY

Member of Industrial Accident Board Clears Up Some Phases of Compensation Law.

Ora S. Reeves, of Lansing, a member of the Michigan Industrial accident board, was in Houghton yesterday conducting hearings in matters brought to the attention of the board by Houghton county interests.

This created an opportunity for Mr. Reeves to explain to this public one of the phases of the law. In a recent accident in the county a man drawing $125 in wages was killed. Rumor has it that this man's wife will receive from his employer $62.50 a month for seven years as industrial accident compensation.

Mr. Reeves explains that it is not true, that the law only allows $3,000 for a death, no matter how much salary the victim was earning. It is limited to $10 a week for 300 weeks, which is the amount the beneficiary in the case in point will receive. Every death claim runs 300 weeks, there is no less period. The minimum is $4 a week, no matter what the persons was earning and Mr. Reeves states that there have been cases in Michigan where injured persons actually received more than they earned per week.

Yesterday's Hearing.

The case under discussion yesterday was that of the parents of Frank Kotes, who was killed April 25, 1914, in the Superior mine of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company. The man's parents, the dependents who would receive the compensation as a result of his death, live in Austria and they were represented at the hearing by John A. Berry, of Lansing, attorney for the Austrian consul.

It was shown that Kotes regularly sent his parents $150 a year and the arbitration board appointed at the hearing decided that they should receive from the company $144 for 300 weeks. There was no contest in the country on a desire on the part of the company to know that the parents in Austria actually had been dependent on the deceased employee.

Mr. Reeves explained that the granting of compensation to dependents in these cases is not under the common law; if a man has not been a contributor to his parents they cannot expect to get compensation for his death. In any event they only can receive half of what he normally contributed. If it is shown that he has not contributed anything to them for a period of two years or more, when the case comes on for particular circumstances, based on the rule of the board that they cannot benefit.

JAY WALLACE ADVANCED.

Becomes Manager of Houghton Branch of Cudahy Packing Company. Jay Wallace, for the last five years cashier and salesman for the Houghton branch of the Cudahy Packing company, last week assumed the management of the branch, succeeding Manager Bellaire, resigned.

Mr. Wallace has been very popular among the younger businessmen of Houghton during his residence here. He came from Marquette about ten years ago to take charge of the office of Roach & Seiber and after about five years in the employ of that concern went with the packing company. Businessmen acquainted with Mr. Wallace's personality and abilities predict for him a success in his managerial capacity.

Charles Fitzgibbon has joined Manager Wallace's force as salesman.

chors representing the months in costume.

The closing feature was a song by Mr. MacDonald, "Aren't You the Girl I Met at Sherry's?" in which he was assisted by the Misses Noys, Klanser and Vail and Messrs. Canton and H. Cross.

The finale introduced the whole chorus in a review of the refrains from the program.

In the matter of costuming the show is far and away superior to anything offered in the copper country in an amateur way in many years.

Considering the short time given to rehearsal and the varied nature of the program, Mr. MacDonald can be said to have achieved a triumph in stage production.

His success in the circumstances is equally a tribute to the talent laid out in the young people of the copper country. Their grasp of his ideas had to be quick, else his success would have been replaced by failure.

HORSE RACING AT THE FAIR. Laurium Promoters Announce Wrestling Plan Is Abandoned.

Horse racing is to replace Cornish wrestling as one of the prominent sport features of the Twin Counties fair at Laurium next week. It was announced a week ago that matches had been arranged among the winners of the Labor Day tourney at Ahmeek but the promoters learned that Clarence Pope, of Negaunee, broke three ribs in the Ahmeek match and cannot compete.

Horse racing has been substituted and the announcement yesterday was to the effect that the horses raced at the recent Marquette county meeting would succeed in Laurium the last three days of the fair. It is stated also that these will include horses from Marquette, the Soo, Pickford and Negaunee as well as copper country horses.

TO OBSERVE COLUMBUS DAY. Knights of Columbus of Hancock Plan Special Events.

An appropriate observance of Columbus day was planned by Hancock county Knights of Columbus, Monday evening at the annual meeting of the council. It is proposed, as a special feature, to confer the first degree on a class of candidates, and it is possible the newly elected officers will be installed. A social session at the close of the ceremonies, a lunch, smoker and musical program will provide the merriment.

But one change was made in the list of officers for the coming year, Charles O. Oliver being elected chancellor to succeed W. J. McConor, who has left the district. The officers are: Grand Knight—Dan A. Holland, Deputy Grand Knight—George Carroll, Chancellor—Charles O. Oliver, Financial Secretary—Frank Francis, Recording Secretary—Peter Fink, Warden—Joseph Francis, Advocate—John Jones, Outside Guard—Eugene Monroe, Inside Guard—James Sullivan, Trustee—Joseph J. Willis.

The appointive officers will be named later.

TAFFY DAY SATURDAY. Unknown Benefactor of Good Will Farm Kids Makes a Date.

Saturday will be Taffy Day at Good Will Farm. It will be remembered that last week an unknown man called up the farm and told Mrs. Donaldson he would be out "one of these days" to give the kids a taffy pull. Mrs. Donaldson was grateful but did not know to whom to extend her gratitude. She had not learned the man's name nor his address.

But yesterday the telephone at the farm rang again and the calling party said: "This is Servoss (that's as near as Mrs. Donaldson can come to the name) I'll be out on Saturday with that taffy."

Mrs. Donaldson learned only that the kindly stranger lives in Calumet. In the meantime the boys are preparing to put on their overalls and the girls their pinafores (there's a word not much used in later years) and to get all dressed and ready to receive a little bit of taffy next Saturday.

A taffy pull at Good Will Farm? No one would object particularly if Mrs. Donaldson charged an admission fee to see it.

REV. DR. REZEK, HISTORIAN. Houghton Catholic Rector Considered an Authority by Pamphleteer.

The recent publication by the Catholic University at Washington, D. C., of a pamphlet entitled "The Annals of the Leopoldine Society," calls attention to the place as a historian that Rev. Dr. A. J. Rezek of Houghton has won for himself, not alone for his history of the upper peninsula, but because of his researches. Rev. Raymond Payne, author of the pamphlet, credits Father Rezek with being the principal source of his information.

The Leopoldine society was organized in Vienna in 1829 for the purpose of assisting struggling Catholic missions in the United States and from the first the society published its annals in the form of annual pamphlets known as "Berichte der Leopoldine Stiftung im Kaiserthum Oesterreich." Father Rezek has been collecting these pamphlets for years and he now owns a complete set of those published from 1829 to 1890, with the exception of two numbers. He now has an agent at work in Vienna trying to locate these missing numbers. There is but one complete set of the Berichte in the United States, which is owned in Milwaukee. Father Rezek's collection is the only other one at all approaching completion.

The Berichte contain much valuable information on early American history, consisting as they do of the reports of early American missionaries. The Leopoldine society for many years raised in Europe large sums of money for the support of American missions and it was this society that financed to a great extent the work of Bishop Baraga in and around the copper country.

Father Rezek believes that, for example, the first schools in the part of the upper peninsula now directly under the Jesuit missionaries were built from funds provided by this society.

"There always was a school at a mission in those days," said Dr. Rezek yesterday. "That much can be said for the everlasting glory of the early missionaries. No matter how small or how poor a mission was it had a school and this Leopoldine society to a great extent contributed the funds to build it."

AFTER RESTAURANTS. Food Inspector Rowe of Laurium Is Prosecuting New Line of Violators.

John T. Rowe of Laurium, upper peninsula deputy for the state dairy and food department, announces that he is now going after such upper peninsula keepers of restaurants as do not comply with the law.

He cites the example of a Marquette restaurant keeper who was fined for selling skim milk without so designating it. The restaurant keeper of the upper peninsula who are not leaving closely to the line of the law may as well submit to a week ago that matches had been arranged among the winners of the Labor Day tourney at Ahmeek but the promoters learned that Clarence Pope, of Negaunee, broke three ribs in the Ahmeek match and cannot compete.

Horse racing has been substituted and the announcement yesterday was to the effect that the horses raced at the recent Marquette county meeting would succeed in Laurium the last three days of the fair. REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home." Mrs. JOSIE HAM, R. F. D. 1, Box 23, Shamrock, Missouri.

Referred to the building committee with power to act.

The hospital committee announced the appointment of Alfred J. Mitchell of Hancock as caretaker for the detention hospital to succeed Joseph Wardman, resigned. Supervisor Rourke questioned the justice of appointing one who is a recent resident of the county. A deep silence was his reward.

Thereupon Supervisor Rourke had another matter to discuss and he put this one over. He said that the county road commission works its men ten hours a day and that all other employers are committed to a nine-hour day. He offered a resolution that the supervisors recommend that a nine-hour day be made effective. The resolution was carried.

There was no further business and the board adjourned.

Markets

BOSTON COPPERS.

Boston, Sept. 14.—With the exception of an advance in certain of the specialties the market ruled firm with very narrow fluctuations. The market seemed to be waiting for a definite announcement as to the success of the loan to the allies and for official news from Germany on the various questions now pending. Stocks seemed to be forthcoming on any advance today, but were well absorbed and market is in a strong position. We look for higher prices and believe the rails will soon become more active.—H. W. & Co.

Ishpeming, Sept. 14.—A further advance of fourteen points in Bethlehem Steel and five point in Crucible Steel was the sensation on the market today. The New York list generally was higher. The report that the interest on the Rock Island Bonds was paid helped the entire list. The coppers acted much better today, and while there was no general advance, there was more activity and a much better tone. Mr. Hubbard wired us this afternoon that it looks as if we might have a good move in these coppers very shortly. As compared with the steel issues, and other war stocks the coppers should be at least 25 per cent. higher and an advance in them of five to ten points is really over-due. Electrolytic copper in London advanced two pounds today, while U. S. B. was marketed up 10 shillings.—J. A. Minnear & Co.

Minneapolis, Sept. 14.—The day's closing prices as follows:

Table of market prices for various commodities including copper, steel, and other metals.

Upper Peninsula

Bumped the Pole.

Alex Solovey, a young man from the western location, Iron county, who became the owner of a Ford recently, tried to push a telephone pole off Superior avenue at Iron River. The young man had taken one drink too many of something strong and he fell over the pole, after which he invited a friend out for a ride. Everything went lovely until they got above the upper Northwestern track on Superior avenue. The "pole" must have affected his arms instead of his legs for at this point the car began to act queerly and didn't let up until it bumped the pole. After recovering from the first jar he received another when Marshall Broad came along and arrested him for being disorderly. The car got the worse of the deal, being pretty badly shaken up, but not beyond repair.

Mining News

COPPER RANGE CONSOLIDATED.

The Copper Range Consolidated company issues the following statement of earnings for the first six months of 1915:

For the first six months of 1915—Jan. 1 to June 30—the profits of the Baltic, Tri-mount and one-half Cham-pion mines were $1,802,791.

The notes which were outstanding on Jan. 1, 1915, amount to $1,200,000, have all been paid, and the company is now entirely free from debt.

On Sept. 1, 1915, the company had cash in bank of $1,612,427.

There was due for copper produced to Sept. 1, which has all been sold but not paid for (after deducting one-half Champion) $1,556,041.

President Paine notifies stockholders by circular that since incorporation in 1901 under New Jersey laws, the company has acquired by exchange of stock the shares of two other Michigan mining corporations, and has outstanding at the present time 393,862 shares of $100 par value. The mining companies acquired each had 100,000 shares, par $25, which is the usual type of Michigan mining capitalization.

The organization of the Copper Range Consolidated company resulted in the unified ownership and management of the chief mines on the Baltic lode. From its New Jersey charter the company had wide powers to effect such unification of ownership and to acquire and hold stocks in Michigan companies.

At the time of its incorporation the laws of Michigan did not provide for such an organization. Present Michigan corporation laws are satisfactory and adequate for the purpose for which the Copper Range Consolidated company was formed, and your directors believe that the New Jersey corporation should now be dissolved and its entire assets transferred to a Michigan corporation.

 Saw Ore Leader at Work—General Manager E. L. Pearce and Chief Engineer V. G. Halby, of the Lake Shore Engine Works, accompanied by E. H. Jenson and C. S. Oldroyd, of Knoxville, Tenn., visited the Hudson mine at Alpha Monday to witness the Halby mechanical ore loader in actual operation in the underground workings of that property. The Tennessee men, who are associated with the machinery business, were greatly interested in the work of the device, which is a product of the Engine Works company. The trip to and from the Menominee iron range was made in Mr. Pearce's motorcar.
 Demonstration at Foster's—Miss Maude O. Amsden, representing the Joseph Burnett company of Boston, Mass., manufacturer of Burnett's extracts, is demonstrating the flavoring and color paste products of that concern at the J. H. Foster store in the opera house block this week. Desserts of various kinds are served to all persons who call, and Miss Amsden explains just how she makes the various dishes. Recipes are complimentary to all who desire them. The demonstration, which had been announced to open on Monday, was delayed until Wednesday, due to Miss Amsden's failure to make train connections at Marquette. It will continue until Saturday evening.
 Hunting Licenses in Demand—A brisk demand for hunting licenses has sprung up during the short time in which the new game laws of the state have been effective. To date County Clerk Jenks has issued 285 permits of this kind of his office here, practically all of which have gone to Marquette men. No returns from the sale in the county at large have yet been received, but as twenty-nine deputies have been authorized to grant licenses and as it is likely that hunters elsewhere are as keen to enjoy the pleasures of the chase as are marionds in this city it appears the aggregate number of permits issued will run well into the hundreds. The demand is likely to increase with the approach of the partridge season. The licenses give their holders permission to hunt game within its particular season until April 1, next, deer excepted.

 If you, your heart, your will, are enlisted on the good side, if you are wishing and trying that the good in you should conquer the bad, then you are on the side of God Himself, and God is on your side; and "if God be for us, who shall be against us?" Take courage, then. If thou dislikest thy sins, so does God. If thou art fighting against thy worst feelings, so is God. On thy side is God who made all, and Christ who died for all, and the Holy Spirit who alone gives wisdom, purity, righteousness. How canst thou fail when He is on thy side? On thy side are all spirits of just men made perfect, all wise and good souls in earth and heaven, all good and wholesome influences, whether of nature or of grace, of matter or of mind. How canst thou fail if they are on thy side?—Charles Kingsley.

POTATO GROWERS ADOPT STANDARD

Green Mountain Variety of Tubers
Will, It Is Believed, Yield
Best Results Here.

The Marquette County Potato Growers' association, at a meeting at the court house yesterday, adopted the Green Mountain variety as the one that will, all things considered, yield the best results in this county. The selection was the result of wide observation of all varieties and represents the collective judgment of the association, which now numbers twenty-three growers, who have about 100 acres planted to potatoes, the great part of which are Green Mountains. The Green Mountain stock will be saved for seed purposes, and it is expected that next spring seed potatoes will be in great demand.

The seed potato situation is one that, because of the unfavorable crop conditions this year, is regarded as of much seriousness, and Prof. G. R. Coombs, plant pathologist of the M. A. C., and J. W. Weston, the assistant extension specialist, who have been working in the upper peninsula of late, have issued a letter of advice to the growers on the subject. The condition of the potato crop in both the lower peninsula and the upper peninsula, they say, a matter that needs close attention from the growers. For more than two years a concerted effort has been made to improve the potato seed stock, and a noteworthy advance is being made in many counties. But during the present growing season potatoes in the lower peninsula and in certain parts of the upper peninsula have been badly hit by the late blight. Tubers that rot badly in the ground are generally considered unsafe seed stock. The mere presence of late blight on the leaves without the rotting of the tubers in the soil need not, however, necessarily cause discrimination against the seed stock. Where blighted tubers exist, digging should be delayed ten days or two weeks, if soil conditions will permit.

The frost injury in many sections has caused a great shortening of the crop. The common condition is to find but few tubers in the hill which are of marketable size, and many that have reached the size of a hen's egg or larger. It is noteworthy that in some of the later plantings where growth was vigorous the frost damage has been restricted to the upper tufts of leaves. The lower leaves are still productive and new growth is coming. This is a very reassuring sign and means many bushels of increase for these hills.

With this condition of shortage due to both blight and frost, many growers are going to turn to the more fortunate localities for seed potatoes. The problem then comes up, can the smaller potatoes be used for seed?

How to Use Small Stock.

From the breeder's point of view the small potato from a hill which has the power of producing a good yield is just as good as the larger potato from that same hill. It has the same "blood" and will give the same type of growth as the others. From the point of view of avoiding rotting of the tubers after planting, the thing which often happens when the spring is unfavorable—the small whole tuber is greatly superior to the cut large tuber, but on the other hand, several diseases of a hereditary nature, diseases that are generally described as "running out of stock," show themselves by the production of small potatoes. Therefore, if small potatoes are planted from a mixed stock the tendency in a few years would be to increase its tendency to run out. This is, of course, a thing to be greatly feared. It can best be overcome by selection of high yielding hills which show no dangerous diseases.

In an ordinary year the planting of small potatoes from a stock whose general vigor is not known could hardly be recommended. During this year, in which the strong hills are producing only a few large potatoes and many small ones, and the weak hills have not produced marketable seed stock, it seems a fairly safe recommendation to suggest the careful use of the small potatoes from high yielding fields. This should be made with one qualification. Small potatoes which do not have a characteristic shape of the variety—those that show pointed ends, especially—should be discarded for planting purposes.

As is well known, commercial potatoes are usually larger than the average sized seed potato. Small potatoes from vigorous healthy hills produce a very good quality of seed and are used by careful growers as they make better seed stock. As above stated, the continued use of small seed without selection of those tubers from healthy hills will tend to run out the stock. With the condition prevailing in this section this year, it appears it would be good management in selecting potatoes from those fields that are frosted to pick out the tubers weighing from two to seven ounces from healthy hills to be saved for seed purposes, those weighing eight ounces and above for commercial use and those too small for seed to be cooked and fed to stock or used for the grower's own purposes. In this way a large part of the damaged crop can be made use of.

SCOTT NEARING'S LATEST BOOKS SAYS MAJORITY OF FAMILIES ARE BANKRUPT.

Philadelphia, Sept. 13.—Although he has been "fired" from his professorship at the University of Pennsylvania for his radical ideas on the wage of workers, Dr. Scott Nearing refuses to stop his campaign of enlightenment. He has now issued a pamphlet outlining the conditions of American workers in terms of modern business. He writes: "Any business man who would attempt to conduct business on a basis that would pay only the flimsiest of upkeep charges would be regarded as a subject for mental treatment. Yet the bulk of American workers find themselves exactly in that predicament. They are conducting a family business on a basis that will not pay reasonable running expenses. The legiti-mate fixed charges of business—interest on the investment, adequate insurance and depreciation—are far above the reach of most wage workers who have a family of five to support.

"The ordinary worker's family is a bankrupt concern; it cannot meet even the interest on its bonds. And dividends are a luxury of which he does not dream."

which is advertising water power and cheap electrical energy, the proposition of changing from steam to electricity is not considered by the council. Why? That is a question which comes from every person investigating the Soo as a manufacturing site. It is also hard for strangers to understand why a municipal plant charges double the price for water for family purposes compared to other cities where the water works are under private ownership.

Robbed of His Chance.

Heredity has robbed Martin William Maurus of the fruits of the first real chance he has had during his eleven years of existence. Martin was adjudged feeble-minded and committed to the state home at Lapeer, following a hearing before Probate Judge John Stiles at Menominee. He was born in June, 1904. In December of that year his mother died, leaving three children. The father, who it was alleged was more or less of a drunkard, deserted the children, and the two girls were sent to the state dependent home at Coldwater. An uncle adopted the boy, but the uncle became unable to work and became a county charge, and the boy was indentured to a farmer out in the county. The treatment accorded the boy was not the best, it is claimed Mrs. Robert Gramer, of Menominee met a dirt beggared, ragged youngster who was sitting beside a road about three months ago. It was Martin. She became interested in him, learned his history, and enlisted the aid of County Agent Fred Bruce. She succeeded in getting the privilege of taking the youngster into her home about a month ago, and started him to school. Martin was to have a real chance at last. It was about this time that symptoms of feeble-mindedness were found, and these became so marked during the last week or two that the petition to have him examined was brought in. LIGHTNING KILLS
REPUBLIC FARMER

Bolt Entered House Through Chimney and Struck Down Samuel Mallinen.

Coroner William Prin was called to Republic yesterday to look into the cause of the death of Samuel Mallinen, a farmer living five miles south of the town, who was killed by lightning Monday night. After viewing the body of Mallinen and learning the facts from August Aho, who was in the house with him, he decided that an inquest was not necessary.

Mallinen, who has been engaged in farming near Republic for several years, and who was wellknown there, was sleeping on a mattress on the floor in one room, and Aho was in an adjoining room. The lightning came down the chimney, and completely shattered it to within two feet of its base. All but a few of the brick fell on Mallinen, while the lightning also struck him about the head and body. Practically all of his hair and his moustache were burned off and the flesh on his head, neck and upper part of the body was frightfully burned.

One of the flying bricks struck Aho in the breast, causing a painful injury, but after a few minutes, he recovered himself and called Mallinen, who did not respond. He looked into Mallinen's room and saw him lying under the brick. Before trying to ascertain if he had been killed he ran to Charles Swanson's farm, a quarter of a mile away, and told the latter what had happened. Swanson accompanied Aho back to Mallinen's place, and they found the man dead.

Mallinen was about fifty years of age, and was an industrious man who was well thought of in Republic. His farm is worth several thousand dollars, but Oscar Huttinen of Republic holds a mortgage on it, though the mortgage does not cover the cattle or other live stock.

A sister of the deceased lives at Iron River and Coroner Prin wired her yesterday of her brother's death. The coroner placed Mr. Swanson in charge of the farm. The funeral will be held tomorrow in Republic and the services will be conducted by the Finnish Lutheran minister of Negaunee.

LIGHTNING KILLS PIGS.

Two pigs, each weighing about 150 pounds, owned by O. LaFreniere, were killed by lightning at Oliver Ayotte's place at the Junction location during the storm Monday night. One of the pigs was killed instantly and the other was injured by a tree that had been struck and fell into the pen, and had to be killed. So far as could be learned yesterday, this was the only damage that was done in and near Ishpeming by lightning, but a number of the streets were in bad condition as a result of the heavy flow of water that passed through them. Men were put to work early yesterday morning cleaning out the catch basins. Even the macadamized streets were damaged, especially on the hills. Additional damage was caused to the streets yesterday afternoon, when the downpour was as heavy as those that occurred Monday afternoon and night.

WOULD ESTABLISH A FACTORY HERE

M. R. Aaron of Chicago Submits a Proposition to Ishpeming Advancement Club.

Michael R. Aaron, of the firm of Aaron & Sherman of Chicago, manufacturers of women's house garments, was in Ishpeming yesterday, accompanied by Ben Silverman, of Escanaba. He laid before the businessmen's association a proposition, to investigate which a committee was appointed. The committee consists of Wm. Leininger, J. S. Olson, Dr. E. G. Robbins, Thos. Hughes and E. J. Townsend.

Mr. Aaron proposes to organize a company, with a capital of $50,000, $30,000 of this to be paid in, to engage in this city in the manufacture of women's house dresses, aprons and similar goods. Ishpeming interests to subscribe for $20,000 of the stock and Mr. Aaron and his associates for $10,000 worth. Twenty thousand shares will remain in the treasury. Mr. Aaron further proposes to close up his Chicago concern and transfer the business to this city. The plant here would be equipped with the most modern machinery and would be of a capacity to turn out a big output. The Chicago factory has on its books orders sufficient to keep it busy until the first of the year. The profits from these contracts from the time of organization here would be turned over to the Ishpeming company. It is proposed to equip the Ishpeming factory with sixty machines at the start, such as sewing and button machines.

Mr. Aaron has had sixteen years' experience in the business and has made a success of it. He said yesterday that various plants manufacturing similar goods have been established in various cities of the country of late years. All are said to be in flourishing condition, the demand for this class of goods being large and steadily growing. Mr. Aaron's motive in leaving Chicago, he explained, was to take advantage of the better field for labor here. The plant would, he said, employ seventy-five to one hundred hands within three months. Mr. Aaron would give the business his personal attention. The committee will look into the proposition and will report at a meeting of the association in due time.

MARRIED YESTERDAY.

South Shore Employee United in Marriage to Ewen Girl.

H. A. Gallagher, who is employed at the South Shore transfer station here, and Miss Mabel Gue, of Ewen, were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at St. John's parsonage by Rev. J. A. Keul, the pastor. Miss Diana Villeneuve was bridesmaid and Leonard Sullivan was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher will leave this morning for Ewen, where they will spend their honeymoon, and upon their return to Ishpeming they will begin housekeeping.

Gallagher's friends at the South Shore station had a busy time of it Monday night and yesterday. Miss Gue came down from Ewen on the evening train and was met at the diamond crossing by one of the South Shore boys, who was well acquainted with her, and taken off the train and escorted to his boarding house, where arrangements had been made for her accommodation. She was told that Mr. Gallagher was working. Meanwhile, Mr. Gallagher received a telegram that his bride-to-be had missed the train and would reach here at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Later in the evening he was informed of the facts.

The automobile used in conveying the bridal party to and from the parsonage yesterday was elaborately decorated.

WILLIAM RODGERS' FUNERAL.

Many Northwestern Conductors Attended Obsequies in Escanaba Monday.

Patrick Gallery, passenger conductor on the Chicago & Northwestern railway line, of this city, was one of the pallbearers at the funeral of the late William Rodgers, the pioneer passenger conductor on the Northwestern system, who died Saturday at his home in Escanaba, and who had many friends on this end of the line.

The Escanaba Press had the following account of the funeral: "A large number of sorrowing people attended the funeral of William Rodgers, pioneer conductor for the Northwestern road, out of this city and known to a host of people throughout this district. The impressive funeral service was conducted at St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock, Rev. Father Barth officiating. Members of the Escanaba council Knights of Columbus and Division No. 1 Ancient Order of Hibernians attended the funeral in a body and following the service escorted the body to its final resting place at St. Joseph's cemetery.

"Those who served as pallbearers at the funeral were: John J. Tolan, Patrick Wade, James S. Doherty, John Ward, Patrick Gallery and Charles Mahoney."

The testimonial concert at the Anderson hall tomorrow evening for the benefit of Harry Bottrell promises to be largely attended. The sale of tickets yesterday was reported excellent.

STORM CAUSES MUCH DAMAGE ABOUT CITY

Cellars Flooded, Roofs Leaked and Streets Are Flooded by Downpour.

The heavy rains yesterday afternoon and Monday afternoon and night did considerable damage in Negaunee. Many cellars were flooded. In some of the basements in the residence district the water was two to three feet deep.

No damage was done by the electrical and wind storm Monday night, but the rain, which was driven by the heavy wind, leaked through roofs in both the residential and business portions of the city. In several houses so much water came in from the roof and sidewalks that plaster and interior decorations were destroyed. The wind drove the water through small cracks and crevices that ordinary rains would not penetrate. Even roofs on houses which were reshingled and repaired during the past few months leaked.

The rain yesterday afternoon was one of the heaviest that has ever been experienced in this section. A resident who has been here over forty years said that it was the hardest rain that he had ever seen. The water came down in sheets and it swept along the streets like waves.

Much trouble was experienced yesterday in keeping the catch basins for the sewers open, as the force of the water carried with it numerous objects which blocked the catch basins and the water flowed over the tops onto the street.

The Chicago & Northwestern railway company's tracks for two blocks between Tabin and Iron streets were flooded with over a foot of water. A freight train was held in the sand cut near Cyr street Monday night for over an hour while the train crew shoveled sand off the track. A large quantity of sand washed in from the cut again yesterday afternoon, and it required work by section men to clear the track.

Monday afternoon and night and again yesterday afternoon it was impossible to run the street cars on Barn and Cyr streets because of the large amount of sand which was washed in on the tracks.

The rails on Barn street were covered with over three feet of sand Monday night and the cars were unable to run after 9:30. Yesterday afternoon the cars were again held up for several hours.

The floor of the boiler room at the high school was covered with two and a half feet of water yesterday morning.

TWO GIRLS DEAD.

Tuberculosis claimed two more victims this week in the passing of Miss Esther Peterson, at her home on Brown avenue, and Miss Signe Salminen, of Stambaugh, at the Morgan Heights sanitarium. Both were fourteen years of age. Miss Peterson had been sick for the past two years, and Miss Salminen had been a patient at the sanitarium since June 27. The former is survived by her mother and several brothers and sisters living in the city. The latter is a daughter of Nestor E. Salminen, of Stambaugh, and the remains will be taken to her home in Finland. Miss Peterson's funeral will be held this afternoon

DEMAND FOR MUSIC.

The Cheboygan Daily News of last Wednesday had the following reference to "September Morn," the musical comedy offering, which will hold the boards at Ishpeming theater tomorrow evening:

"September Morn" played to a large audience at the opera house last night and proved a crisp, breezy show with plenty of action, catchy music and good dancing. The run on the music dealers today for copies of the songs in the score, shows that the musical numbers made a hit. The show gave general satisfaction. The scenery was good and the costumes first class. The company jumped from here to Appleton."

MADE RECORD.

In registering fifteen strike outs against the Escanaba team in Sunday's game, Hilmer Leaf, the Negaunee pitcher, established a new strikeout record for the Escanaba grounds. Leaf did not allow a base on balls, but had one bad inning when he made two wild pitches. Negaunee was touched for eight hits, one of which was a two base drive by "Steing" Aronson, Escanaba's leading hitter. "Doc" Enblom, of Ishpeming, who played short stop for the locals in the series, made a two base drive in Sunday's contest, as did Heimonen, the second sacker. Other hits made by Negaunee were a single each by Ford and Swanson.

An automobile owned by a Marquette man became stuck in the mud on Jackson street yesterday afternoon and it was necessary to use a team of horses and do two hours work to get it out. The driver of the machine pulled up close to the curbing to put on the side curtains during the heavy rain storm, and the car sunk down over the tops of the wheels in the mud. The ground, where the car sunk was soft and soggy from an excavation which was made there when the new water main was put in on Jackson street.

SMUGGLED IN FOUR ALIENS

Nels P. Mortenson, Charged With Violation of the Immigration Laws, Is Indicted and Pleads Guilty in U. S. Court—Case Is Taken Under Advisement.

Bringing Into This Country Austrians Anxious to Quit Canadian Soil Is the Man's Offense—Adler & Gray Litigation Is Heard by Judge Sessions.

The grand jury in United States court yesterday returned an indictment charging Nels P. Mortenson with a violation of the immigration laws at the Soo last month in bringing into this country four Austrians from the Canadian Soo. Mortenson was arraigned on the return of the indictment, and pleaded guilty. Judge Sessions took the case under advisement, and will pronounce sentence later in the term.

Mortenson brought the aliens to the American side in a row boat, with every precaution to avoid the customs officers, but they were speedily apprehended and his arrest followed. They were Ivan Geika, Stefan Czernysz, Stanlaw Okulowski and Florian Trembinski. They said that their position on the Canadian side had become unbearable, owing to conditions caused by the war. They were unable to secure work to support themselves or their dependents, and it was in the hope of bettering themselves that they entered into an agreement with Mortenson by which he was to smuggle them into this country.

Judge Sessions was busy yesterday with a hearing of three cases brought by F. H. Withey, trustee in bankruptcy, estate of Adler & Gray, vs. the Commercial Bank of Iron Mountain. All three cases depend on the same testimony and they will be disposed of by the pending hearing.

Adler & Gray, who were logging operators, in December last filed a petition of voluntary bankruptcy, with liabilities of $42,000. The Commercial Bank was a creditor in the sum of $18,000, and its claim was secured by conveyances of real estate and a chattel mortgage covering land and property said to be valued at $20,000. The pending actions were brought by Mr. Withey, the trustee, in behalf of all the creditors, it being claimed that the Commercial Bank was made a preferred creditor within the statutory period of four months prior to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy. The court was still busy with the hearing of this case at the close of yesterday afternoon's session.

Judge Sessions yesterday admitted R. W. Nebel, of Munising, to practice in U. S. court.

In addition to the indictment against Mortenson, the grand jury returned an indictment against another man, but his name is withheld, pending his arrest. The grand jury is still in session.

The cases the court will hear at the session are not of great importance, but it is expected that ten days will be required to clean them up.

The slides will take the onlookers to scenes prominent in the history of the pioneer days and the early years of the Republic. In addition, Dr. Florer will show Mr. Swain's collection of Ann Arbor views.

Dr. Florer, a nephew of the late General Henry Dana Washburn, is president of the Washburn chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution. He is an interesting and instructive speaker and his lecture is sure to be of much interest.

CITY LINEMEN HAD A BUSY DAY

Storm of Monday Raised No With City's Electric Light and Power System.

In consequence of Monday's electrical storm the linemen of the municipal light and power commission were an exceptionally busy crew yesterday, from early until late. As a matter of fact, the men worked overtime Monday, and it will take them some hours today to repair all of the damage resulting from the papers cut up by the elements. The storm hit the electric light and power department of the city to greater extent than had any storm the last two years or more.

During the afternoon of Monday a number of transformers were burned out. Good headway had been made in replacing the fuses when, along about 10 p. m., the second episode of the storm happened along and wrought more damage than had the first installment. The lightning was as terrific and as awe-inspiring as any ever seen in this vicinage. When account was taken yesterday it was found that twenty-five transformers had been put out of commission in all and that three of these had been destroyed utterly. Not only were the people in the areas served from these common centers of electrical illumination put to much temporary inconvenience when the lights suddenly failed, but various industrial plants depending upon the city for power suffered similarly.

The burning out of a transformer put a stop to operations at the Schneider & Brown sawmill during the afternoon. This damage had been repaired by evening, but at 10 o'clock lightning shut off the electrical current for the second time. The plant was then closed for the night. It was necessary also to suspend night shift work at the Lake Shore Engine Works for the same reason. Other industrial establishments affected similarly were the Lake Superior & Ishpeming shops, the Longyear & Hodge plant and the Upper Peninsula brewery.

To cap the climax, three live wires were severed by the wind during the night, and it was an exceedingly ticklish job to make good the storm's work in this particular. One wire broke at the corner of Center street and Presque Isle avenue, another at Fourth street and Baraga avenue, and the third on East Hewitt avenue. Half a dozen meters in dwelling houses in various parts of the city were burned out by

WILL KEEP UNSKILLED OFF OF LAKE VESSELS

Deputy Collector Jellison Is Notified to Enforce Provisions of the Seamen's Act.

After the 4th of November, next, no vessel of 100 gross tons and upward, navigating the Great Lakes, fishing craft and yachts excepted, will be permitted by the government to depart from any port unless it has on board a crew, not less than 40 per cent of the deck crew of which are of a rating not less than able seamen. This is a provision of the act of congress of March 4, last, passed to amend the laws relating to American seamen, for the protection of such seamen and to promote commerce. The effect will be to keep out of the lake marine many a man now employed in it. Instructions to see that the statute is enforced within his jurisdiction were received from the department of commerce, Washington, yesterday by W. A. Jellison, deputy in charge of the United States customs office here.

An able seaman is defined by the act as a person, aged not less than sixteen, who has had at least three years' service on the deck of ocean or Great Lakes vessels of the class to which the provision applies, and including decked fishing craft, naval ships or coast guard vessels, provided that upon examination under the rules of the department of commerce such seaman is found competent.

The section of the act relating to the employment of the deck crew will effect some twenty-five vessels documented at this port. Deputy Jellison has instructions to forward to Washington a list of these vessels, together with the number of the deck crews, the data being desired so that arrangements may be made for the examination of the men.

By another section of the act it is made unlawful to pay any seaman wages in advance of the time when he has actually earned them, or to pay any person for the shipment of seamen when payment is deducted or is to be deducted from the men's wages. A fine of $25 to $100 or imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months is provided as a penalty for violations. It is expressly stated that the payment of advance wages shall not absolve a master or owner from paying the full wages after the same have been actually earned, and shall not be a defense to a libel suit or action for the recovery of such wages.

It is provided also that if any person shall demand or shall receive from any seaman seeking employment as a seaman any remuneration for providing him with employment he shall for every such offense be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, the penalty for which shall be imprisonment for not more than six months or a fine of not more than $500.

CIRCUIT COURT MATTERS.
Jury Yesterday Awarded Amelia Niemi Judgment for $1,000.

In circuit court yesterday the jury in the case of Amelia Niemi versus the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railway company, a suit for damages, brought in a judgment in the sum of $1,000. The plaintiff, a child, represented by her father, Wm. Niemi, as her next friend, was injured in the eye by the explosion of a dynamite cap which she and playmates had found at Negawance at a point where men in the employ of the company had been engaged in construction work. The sight of the eye has since been impaired. The jury was charged by Judge Flannigan at about 10 o'clock and had reported its verdict prior to noon.

Court was occupied the greater part of yesterday with the trial of the suit of the Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company versus Hyman Pimstein. The litigation arose over a contract, by the terms of which Mr. Pimstein, operating in the vicinity of Arabin, Houghton county, was to furnish the company with 500 cords of block wood and 500 cords of four-foot hardwood. The agreement was entered into in May, 1913. It is alleged by the company that the contractor was unable to or did not make delivery of wood in a dry state at the time specified and that it had, accordingly, been compelled to look to other sources of supply at prices in excess of those Mr. Pimstein had bound himself to furnish the product. The company brought suit for the difference between the two prices.

The case next on the docket is that in which Angus DeLoach, administrator, is the plaintiff and J. R. Thompson and James S. Kennedy are the defendants. This is a personal injury suit. Mr. Thompson is the superintendent of the M. A. Hanna & Co.'s American mine at Diorite.
