

U. S. DESTROYER FIGHTS U-BOAT

GERMANS FAIL IN EFFORTS TO GAIN GROUND

British and French Roll Back Teutonic Offensive in Most Bitter Fighting Inflicting Heavy Losses.

BREAK DOWN ATTACKS

(BULLETIN) LONDON, May 16, 11:24 p. m.—"Exceptionally heavy losses" were inflicted on the German troops, which today were sent against the British between Gavrelle and the Scarpe river, according to the official report from British headquarters in France tonight.

(BULLETIN) PARIS, May 16, 10:40 p. m.—Heavy German attacks in the Aisne sector have been repulsed with singularly heavy losses, and where the Germans temporarily broke through they were driven back, and the lost ground regained, according to the official statement issued by the war office tonight.

SLAUGHTER IS TERRIFIC. (By a staff correspondent of the Associated Press.)

British Headquarters in France, May 16, via London, 9:20 p. m.—The Germans received a heavy check north of the Scarpe river today where, in massed formation, they stormed this position, which was recently won by the British. After a terrific bombardment lasting a considerable time, the German infantry came down the slopes of Greenland Hill from the direction of Polouvain.

The British artillery made the hillside look like a mushroom farm, shell smoke mounting up thickly over the entire field. Machine guns streamed nicked missiles into the enemy ranks on the front and in the flanks. Sheer weight and momentum carried the Germans beyond the British outpost, and even into the chemical works themselves, but, like a rubber ball, the rebound was instantaneous, and swift as the defenders struck. After a short and hard fight the enemy was thrown out with heavy losses, leaving the British established there more secure than ever. The fighting continued about Bullecourt and a German partial success, recently won there, was wiped out. In the meantime, the British strengthened their positions eastward toward Ronex and drew a mile closer to Lens. Here the Germans continued the work of wrecking the district. Buildings are being blown up and machinery is being destroyed in order that the great mining center shall not furnish the slightest benefit to the allies when the Germans are finally forced to let go.

FRENCH ALSO HOLD FAST. (Associated Press War Summary.)

Between Gavrelle and Scarpe River in France, the German forces have again made extraordinary heavy counter-attacks against positions taken from them recently by Field Marshal Haig's men, but again the British inflicted exceptionally heavy casualties on them and held their ground. At one point, by numerically superior forces, the Germans made the British fall back, but, returning to the front, the French forces have again made extraordinary heavy counter-attacks against positions taken from them recently by Field Marshal Haig's men, but again the British inflicted exceptionally heavy casualties on them and held their ground.

Like-wise on the Aisne sector held by the French the Germans threw in large forces in an endeavor to push back the line. At several places the French line bent, but, like the British, the Frenchmen launched brilliant counter attacks which enabled them to retake their lost ground and inflict heavy losses on the Germans.

The Italians are keeping up their strong offensive against the Austrians along the Isonzo front and have succeeded in capturing several strategic points, including two villages, and carrying with great dash, two mountain crests. The Austrians, apparently taken by surprise in the commencement of the offensive, now are striving with their artillery and infantry to hold the Italians in check, but, thus far, according to the Rome war office, they have met with no success. Prisoners to the number of 37,375, among them ninety-eight officers and guns, machine guns and war material has been captured by the Italians.

Both in Mesopotamia and Macedonia successes for the entente allies are recorded. In the latter theaters, the British in the Lake Doiran region, have captured 5,000 yards of enemy trenches to a depth of 500 yards and in the Struma river sector another front of trenches of 3,000 yards.

OFFER PLAN FOR HOME RULE TO IRISH PEOPLE

Government Announces First Efforts Towards Giving Island Freedom

LONDON, May 16.—The British prime minister today sent a letter to John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalist party, outlining the government's project for the settlement of the home rule question. He asked Mr. Redmond to state his views on the government's suggestions, in order that the government may be able to consider the matter before Monday.

As soon as the premier's proposals were available the Irish Unionists met to discuss the documents. The Nationalists will hold a meeting on Thursday morning for the same purpose. The government, the letter set forth, has been desirous of effecting an immediate settlement, which will concede the largest possible measure of home rule that can be secured by agreement at this moment, without prejudice to the undertaking by parliament of a further and final settlement of the most disputed questions after the war.

WHAT THEY PROVIDE.

The government's proposals provide for the introduction of a bill for the immediate application of the home rule act to Ireland, but excluding the six counties of Northeast Ulster, such exclusion to be subject to reconsideration by parliament at the end of five years; a council of Ireland to be composed of two delegations, representing the excluded area as well as the new Irish parliament; consideration of the bill after its second reading by a special conference under the chairmanship of someone commanding general confidence.

As an alternative, it is suggested by the premier that a convention of Irishmen of all parties be assembled for the purpose of arranging a scheme of Irish self government.

U-BOAT TOLL CUT SAYS LATEST REPORT

Figures Issued by British Admiralty for Last Week Show Big Decreases.

LONDON, May 16, 6:50 p. m.—Eighteen British merchant vessels of more than 1,000 tons were sunk during the past week, is the official summary of shipping losses issued today. Five merchant vessels of less than 1,000 tons were sunk, together with three fishing vessels.

(The foregoing statement shows the losses for the week cut considerably more than half as regards the number of vessels sunk, last week's report showing sixty-two vessels as compared with twenty-six in the current statement.)

In large vessels the decrease was from twenty-four to eighteen. The most marked decrease, however, was in the number of smaller vessels destroyed. Last Wednesday twenty-two vessels of less than 1,000 tons were reported sunk, in contrast with the five in this week's report, where the number of fishing craft dropped from sixteen to only three.

The high water mark in the destruction of large vessels was reached in the report of April 26, when forty such vessels were announced as destroyed.)

ITALIANS LOSE SHIPS.

Paris, May 16, 5:15 p. m.—A dispatch from Rome says that losses to Italian shipping during the past week, as a result of Germany's submarine campaign, were two steamers under 1,000 tons each and seven small sailing craft. Some fishing boats also were sunk.

TELLS HOW MONGOLIA SANK GERMAN U-BOAT

New York, May 16.—The story of how the American ship Mongolia fired the first shot of the war for the United States in defending herself from an attack by a German submarine, was told by Lieutenant Bruce R. Ware, Jr., commander of the United States naval gunners on board the ship, at a dinner given here tonight in honor of Captain Eric Rice, commander of the Mongolia, and Lieutenant Ware.

ANACONDA COPPER COMPANY DIRECTORS WERE RE-ELECTED

Butte, Mont., May 16.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Anaconda Copper Mining company was held here today. H. H. Rogers, A. J. Miller and G. W. Church, directors whose terms had expired, were re-elected. No other important business was transacted.

SENATE TAKES EXCEPTION TO DEFENSE BODY

Members Bitterly Attack Council of National Defense and Also Criticize President Wilson.

WOULD LIMIT POWERS

Washington, May 16.—In beginning consideration today of the $3,390,946,000 war budget the senate devoted the entire session to sweeping criticism of the executive branch of the government. Seldom has there been such a scene of such vehement attacks, continued for five hours behind closed doors and renewed after the doors were opened.

No progress was made on the bill, but with the outburst of indignation out of the way senate leaders thought passage of the huge war appropriation measure would not be long delayed.

WILSON ALSO IS TARGET.

The council of national defense, composed of cabinet officers, its civilian advisory commission and the government shipping board, were special targets of senatorial wrath, and President Wilson was sharply criticized. The council was charged with usurpation of authority and with unlawfully delegating power to the advisory commission. The shipping board was assailed for alleged interference with private ship builders and for insisting upon its wooden ship program. The president was attacked for alleged lack of co-operation and consultation with congress.

The upshot of the entire discussion was adoption of an amendment offered by Senator Sterling, of South Dakota, setting forth that the powers of the council of national defense shall not be considered enlarged because of war conditions. A section of the bill appropriating $500,000 for the defense council was the basis for the debate.

Democratic Leader Martin consented to an executive session, suggested by Senator Weeks, of Massachusetts, because the whole bill involved discussion of confidential military questions. Five hours afterwards the doors were opened, because Republican senators suggested it was not proper that such statements as had been heard should be made without cognizance of the public and without opportunity for those attacked to offer defense.

Democratic senators, it was said afterwards, began the discussion by criticizing certain acts of the advisory commission. Senator Reed, of Missouri, was said to have been particularly vehement. Senator Lewis, of Illinois, vigorously condemned certain activities of the commission, especially regarding the letting of government contracts. "Some senators said President Wilson was not kept properly informed regarding supply purchases."

DEMANDED WOODEN SHIPS.

It was asserted that General Goethals opposed building of wooden ships, favoring steel, but had been compelled by the shipping board to proceed with the wooden construction. Senator Lodge replied to criticism that the senate has been delaying war legislation.

"In observations frequently made, we have been called 'slackers' and it has been said that we are doing nothing," Senator Lodge said. "Six weeks ago today the war was declared. We began by passing four great appropriation bills. We have passed great loan bills; we've provided for selective conscription. "England and Canada have been discussing conscription for three years. We've done it in both houses inside of a fortnight."

FOREST FIRES AT WAUSAU THREATEN TWO BIG INDUSTRIES

Wausau, Wis., May 16.—Forest fires this afternoon threatened the plants of the Mesquite Land Log and Timber company and the Wausau Sulphate company at Mesquite. Assistance sent from here placed one fire under control, while a change of wind drove the other around the mill plant. It was believed tonight the situation is well in hand, providing the wind does not change again.

SELLS YACHT TO U. S. GOVERNMENT FOR $1

Oshkosh, Wis., May 16.—For the consideration of $1, Edgar P. Sawyer, president of the Oshkosh Gas Light company, has executed a contract turning over to the United States government, through the navy department, his Badger Queen, one of the handsomest and best equipped yachts in these waters. This means he practically makes Uncle Sam a present of the vessel for use in war defense.

HOUSE ADOPTS REPORT ON NEW WAR ARMY BILL

Now Goes to Senate for Final Vote Before Wilson's Signature

Washington, May 16.—The conference report on the war army bill was adopted by the house without a record vote late today, after Representative Deut had announced that the senate conferees had agreed to the house provision increasing the pay of enlisted men. Final action must be taken by the senate.

The section regarding pay provides that all officers and enlisted men of the forces to be raised by conscription shall have the same pay, allowance and pensions as the regular army, and makes these increases in the pay of enlisted men.

Those receiving $15 to $21 per month an increase of $16 per month. Those receiving $24 an increase of $12. Those receiving $30, $36 or $40 an increase of $8.

SEE SENATE ACCEPTANCE.

The senate is expected to accept the conference report tomorrow or Friday, and then it will go to the president. Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the senate conferees, said an effort might be expected, when the report is brought up in the senate, to reduce the maximum conscription age of thirty years, insisted upon by the house. Both the pay increase section and the Roosevelt volunteer amendment may also encounter renewed objection, and several hours of debate are expected.

Plans for beginning registration of those subject to the draft have been completed by the war department, and it was announced tonight that immediately upon signature of the bill by the president the department also will outline to procedure to be followed in bringing the national guard into the federal service.

SEC. M'ADOO STARTS ON SPEAKING TOUR

Will Go Through Midwest Asking People's Aid to New Liberty Loan.

Washington, May 16.—Secretary McAdoo left the capital tonight on a ten-day speaking tour of the middle and central west in behalf of the Liberty Loan.

WILL TALK IN EIGHT CITIES.

Mr. McAdoo will address audiences of bankers and business men in at least eight cities. He will outline the details of the Liberty Loan with a view to accelerating subscription. He also will endeavor to bring home to his audiences a full realization of the fact that the United States is engaged in a real war with all grim possibilities. The secretary's first stop will be Chicago, where he is due tomorrow afternoon. He will speak at Milwaukee May 18 and St. Paul May 19.

DISCUSS PLANS TO SPEED UP WORK ON GOVERNMENT PLANES

Washington, May 16.—Plans for speeding up the production of aircraft for the army and navy were discussed today by the council of national defense. The army and navy together already have placed orders for aircraft which have swamped American builders. An enormous increase in building facilities must be made if the new army is to be supplied adequately with this vital instrument of modern warfare.

FOUR NEW REGIMENTS OF ENGINEERS PLANNED

Washington, D. C., May 16.—Orders were issued today for the organization of four new regiments and two mounted battalions of engineer troops for the regular army to bring the engineer force up to the strength provided for in the national defense act.

The existing first and second regiments of engineers and the two mounted companies now in the southern department will be expanded to form the new units.

The order means the promotion of six engineer lieutenant colonels, to be colonels, twelve majors to be lieutenant colonels, twenty-nine captains to be majors and all present first or second lieutenants to be captains.

RUSSIA SHARES IN WAR LOANS TO THE ALLIES

United States Turn Over $100,000,000 to Slav Government for Purchase of War Supplies.

WILL BE SPENT HERE

Washington, May 16.—United States today loaned Russia $100,000,000. The money was loaned, to be spent as needed, without stipulation or understanding of any sort, further than Russia stands back of the obligation, will make it good and will spend the money in this country under the supervision of a representative of the treasury department, or a commission to be named by the American government.

WANT TO HELP RUSSIA.

The latter stipulation was made in a spirit of co-operation, without intending to embarrass the Russian government, but with the end in view that Russia will secure the maximum result for the money she is to spend.

In this respect, Russia stands on an equal footing with other entente governments to which the United States is making loans, Great Britain, France, Italy, and other beneficiaries of American loans. Plans for mobilizing in American hands, all purchases to be made here by the allies are nearing completion.

The purchasing board for all the allies, it was indicated tonight, may be in operation within a month.

FIRST LOAN TO SLAVS.

Today's loan to Russia, her first participation in the huge sums which the United States will lend the allies, was made, it was authoritatively said, first to help the Russian government to obtain supplies which she needs here, and secondly as an earnest manifestation to the Russian people that the United States places no credence in rumors that Russia is contemplating a separate peace with Germany. Intimations have been conveyed to the Russian government that other assistance of substantial nature will be forthcoming when it is needed.

FORT BRADY BLAST DUE TO ACCIDENT?

Government and City Officials Probing Cause of Explosion at Soo That Killed Five.

Sault Ste. Marie, May 16.—Expressing the conviction that the explosion at the end of Fort Brady pier this morning, which caused the death of five men and possible fatal injury of three others, was the result of an accident, government and city officials are conducting a thorough investigation of the affair.

CAUSED BY TORPEDO CAPS.

Investigation indicated the tragedy was caused by the explosion of five boxes of torpedoes caps, which were being taken to a refuse dump, their use for Independence Day celebrations having been prohibited. What caused them to explode after being placed on the dock has not been determined.

The force of the explosion was terrific, windows in several buildings some distance from the scene being shattered, and several persons being thrown to the ground.

Had the pier been completely wrecked the debris probably would have hindered investigation.

Boston, May 16.—Two hours after word came from Washington today that Representative Augustus P. Gardner, of the sixth congressional district, had resigned to enter the army three Republican indications that the number would be greatly increased before announcement by Governor McCall of a date for a special primary. The sixth district is normally republican.

IRON RIVER PHARMACY DESTROYED BY FLAMES

Iron River, Mich., May 16.—Jay Cook's pharmacy was completely gutted this afternoon by a blaze which started from a bonfire in the rear of the building, and at one time it was feared the east two blocks of the town would be wiped out. The Stambaugh hose company was called for, and after a two hours' fight the fire was extinguished. Loss on building, $3,000; on stock, $4,000.

AMERICAN FLOTILLA NOW SCOURING ENGLISH WATERS FOR GERMAN SUBMARINES

Queenstown, Ireland, May 16, 9:11 p. m.—A squadron of American torpedo boat destroyers has safely crossed the Atlantic and is patrolling the sea in war service.

The American navy's actual entry into the war zone has already been productive of a brush between a destroyer and a German under-water boat, according to an announcement by the British admiralty, but the result of it has not been made public.

The destroyer squadron arrived in Queenstown after an uneventful voyage across the Atlantic, but almost immediately after a formal exchange of greetings with the British naval officers, put to sea again for the Lard work that is before it.

LARGE CROWD GREET SHIPS.

A crowd of several hundred persons, some of them carrying tiny American flags, lined the water front and cheered the destroyers from the moment the first sighted the flotilla until it reached the dock. The crowd cheered again when a few moments later the American senior officer came ashore to greet the British senior officer and Wesley Frost, the American consul, who had come down to the dock, to welcome the flotilla. Everything was done in a simple, business-like manner. There was an entire absence of formality.

The commander of the British flotilla was waiting on board his ship and sent wireless greetings to the American units as soon as they were into sight, steaming in a long line into the harbor.

After the exchange of shore greetings and the British commander had congratulated the American officers on their safe voyage he said:

"When will you be ready for business?"

"We can start at once," the American commander replied promptly.

This response, so characteristically American, surprised the British commander, who said he had not expected the Americans would be ready to begin work on this side so soon after their long voyage. When he had recovered from his surprise, however, he made a short tour of the destroyers and admitted that the American tars looked prepared.

"Yes," replied the American commander, "we made preparations on the way over. That is why we are ready."

The equipment on board the destroyers was found to be in excellent condition and remarkably well suited to the requirements on this side of the ocean. In fact, it was said by the British officer, that the only thing lacking in the equipment of the American sailors, was heavier clothing. It appears that the American were wearing clothing too light for the varying conditions of weather they will encounter in these waters. This lack, however, was quickly provided for.

PUT OUT TO SEA.

After the formalities had ended and the needs of the men were attended to the American ships at once put out to sea, the men from captains to seamen looking in the pink of condition and apparently enthusiastic for their task.

"They are certainly a fine body of men, and what's more their craft look just as fit," said the British commander as he watched the destroyers file seaward. One of the American destroyers began war duty even before reaching this side of the Atlantic. This was when it picked up and escorted through the danger zone one of the largest of the Atlantic liners. This action so pleased the passengers on board that they sent a message of greeting and appreciation to the commander of the destroyer.

Many enthusiastic persons managed to get snapshots of the American vessels in Queenstown harbor, but the best picture, and those that are destined to become famous, are moving pictures taken by the official British government photographer as the flotilla steamed into port.

With his camera mounted on a small tugboat the operator went out to meet the destroyers and filmed them from many angles.

FETED BY TOWNSPEOPLE.

On arriving in Queenstown some of the members of the crews of the destroyers were granted brief shore leave. They were nearly made captives by the townspeople, who insisted on taking them to their homes, where they plied the sailors with good things to eat and drink. They were the first American naval seamen seen in these parts for many years and they were bombarded with questions concerning the happenings in America by people who have relatives there.

stripes flying from many buildings. They were told that these were hoisted to celebrate the entry of the United States into the war and had been left there as an honor to the American sailors whom they had been expecting.

DANIELS ANNOUNCES ARRIVAL.

Washington, May 16.—Formal announcement that American destroyers manned by picked crews have carried the flag into the war zones of Europe and are operating against German submarines with British and French war vessels was made tonight by Secretary Daniels after the news had come from London. The number and names of these vessels were not disclosed. It was made clear, however, that the fighting power of the nation was to be asserted to its utmost to stamp out the U-boat menace.

The secretary's statement follows: "United States naval vessels have been operating with the allied naval forces in European waters since May 4. A number of destroyers sailed from American ports in the latter part of April and all arrived at their destination without accident or delay of any kind. They were ready for operation when they arrived and went into service immediately. "The United States vessels are under command of Rear Admiral Sims, who went to England and France several weeks ago to arrange for active co-operation between the naval forces of the United States and those of the other nations at war with Germany. Plans formulated after reports from Rear Admiral Sims, made as a result of his conferences with the British and French admiralties are now being effectuated.

WILL ASSIST ALLIES.

"It has been the purpose of the United States navy to give the largest measure of assistance to the other countries at war with Germany that is consistent with the whole and complete protection of our own coasts and territorial waters. "The navy department has received no reports that engagements have occurred between United States vessels now in European waters and the vessels of the enemy."

The disposition of the destroyers has been left entirely to Admiral Sims, who has worked out a careful plan for use of the vessels placed under his command after conferences with the British and French admiralties.

Destroyers have proved the most efficient foe of submarines. Their value has been so great that all possible effect has been concentrated by the navy department upon adding to the American flotillas in the shortest time. More than fifty new boats, swifter, more powerful and seaworthy and more heavily armed than any now in service are being built with all possible haste. Several will be commissioned early in the summer. Others will be ready a few months later and still others at intervals of a few months thereafter.

There does not appear to be any present necessity for heavy craft in addition to the British and French fleets.

AMERICANS EXPECTED TO LEAVE HOLLAND AT ONCE

Rotterdam, May 16.—The Holland-American line steamship Noordam was expected to sail for America today, giving the first opportunity for the return home of many Americans who have been stranded in Holland for months. The embarkation stage Wednesday night was the scene of great activity.

THE GERMAN OFFENSIVE.

The German offensive? You are reading it every day. It is taking the form of counter-attacks on the positions won by the British and the French.

The allies' plan of campaign, made effective in 1916, has gone away because of the impotence, at the moment, of Russia.

Now the brunt of the fighting is on the west front. There the British and French have to make way not only against the troops originally told off to that front, but against heavy reinforcements from the east as well.

The west front has become not only the most active front, but the only front where events of first importance are in progress.

THE CHANCELLOR'S ADDRESS.

The German chancellor's much forecast peace speech was no peace speech at all, but a declaration that the time is not ripe for any definition of the war aims of the German government.

The "peace offer of December, 1916," the public has not forgotten, was no more than expression of German willingness to discuss peace with the allies at the council table.

President Wilson's rejoinder to the German note is also fresh in memory. He asked for definition of aims that might serve as a basis for the proposed conference, preliminary, if the response made it possible, to urging, solemnly, consideration of peace on the warring powers.

It will have to be agreed with the German chancellor that the time is not ripe for a definition of German war aims. It is not ripe because it is inconceivable that any definition of the chancellor could make him prove acceptable to the allies.

The formula for peace is not any more easy to arrive at than it was in December, 1916. The only sound conclusion is that the war must be pursued until one of the parties is in a position to enforce peace on the other.

Justice to Teutons. The state of war in which we find ourselves isn't interfering with the enlarged administration of justice.

The suit involved a claim of $2,240,000 damages for the failure of the Cecile to deliver a consignment of gold bullion worth $11,000,000 which was shipped to England at the outbreak of the war.

Plunge into Hostilities. "It was a mistake for me to marry in order to keep from going into the army," remarked the man with a black eye and a lump on his forehead.

Keeping a Secret. A trawler skipper on returning from his priod at sea made the customary visit to his senior officer and was asked why he had not obeyed certain instructions which had been given him.

Democracy. War Secretary Baker said at a luncheon in Washington "Ours will be the most democratic army in the world, for ours is the most democratic country."

Reciprocity. While a village blacksmith toiled manfully over an old farmer's plough share the owner of the share recounted at some length the wonderful success he had had with three litters of pigs he had marketed that day.

Why, how now?" the farmer exclaimed, "I've got it now." The farmer explained that he had learned that the price of corn was high and that he had decided to plant more corn.

the fullest measure of co-operation that the public can give. Both these organizations, particularly the Red Cross, have real work to do.

The report that an explosion had occurred at Fort Brady had to be revised downward. It was learned that it was a load of debris that had exploded, unfortunately with fatal results.

We hasten to record that, after two weeks of weary waiting, the local season of navigation is open.

However, there continue to be any number of unattached, able-bodied young men who might as well "do it" as not who are not "doing it now."

If the comment on the tax bill was to be taken at face value, there would seem to be no chance for "business as usual."

KALAMAZOO--Victor L. Palmer, secretary of the defunct Michigan Buggy company, testified in the case against Frank B. Lay, Jr., creating a sensation when he related the inside story of how the directors had planned, through the "velvet pay roll," to oust Mr. Henry Lane from the presidency.

Why the Congestion? The superficial explanation of the freight congestion on the railroads that has hampered the business of the country and caused local shortages of coal and food supply that have operated to cause scarcity prices is the volume of war business.

Why, how now?" the farmer exclaimed, "I've got it now." The farmer explained that he had learned that the price of corn was high and that he had decided to plant more corn.

A period of vindictive legislation, in which every man's hand seemed to be against the railroads (not, we admit, originally altogether without the culpable responsibility by the railroads, but overdue and unjustly prolonged) so impaired railroad credit or borrowing power so that the money needed for development and extensions was hard to get.

ADD TO THAT the inability of the roads to raise the price of the commodity they have to sell, namely, transportation, to offset the mounting cost of everything they have to buy, including labor, and it is easy to see why the development of the roads was suddenly arrested, and when the strain came of the immense demand for transportation is caught them comparatively unprepared, and the whole country has suffered.

The railroads could not make bricks without straw; that is to say, could not, without increased revenues and unimpaired borrowing power, launch out on expenditures for new trackage, terminals, cars, motive power, etc.

Inadequate facilities can not supply adequate service, and inadequate funds can not supply adequate facilities.

The question of allowing the roads to charge rates sufficient to meet the service requirements is a public interest question and a vital one just now.

Why, how now?" the farmer exclaimed, "I've got it now." The farmer explained that he had learned that the price of corn was high and that he had decided to plant more corn.

A period of vindictive legislation, in which every man's hand seemed to be against the railroads (not, we admit, originally altogether without the culpable responsibility by the railroads, but overdue and unjustly prolonged) so impaired railroad credit or borrowing power so that the money needed for development and extensions was hard to get.

ADD TO THAT the inability of the roads to raise the price of the commodity they have to sell, namely, transportation, to offset the mounting cost of everything they have to buy, including labor, and it is easy to see why the development of the roads was suddenly arrested, and when the strain came of the immense demand for transportation is caught them comparatively unprepared, and the whole country has suffered.

TO AID ENGINEERS IN RECRUITING

Iron Counties Promise Support in Filling Up Ranks of New Battalion.

A campaign for recruits for the Michigan battalion of engineers has been begun in the Iron country, Professor A. J. Houle, of the Michigan College of Mines...

Prof. Houle yesterday received a telegram from Major Vallat in which the latter said he will be in Houghton the last of the week to take permanent charge of the battalion...

Major Vallat asks Professor Houle to begin a campaign for authority to turn one of the buildings of the college, preferably the gymnasium, into an armory for the battalion.

Red Cross Membership Plan. Houghton will have a Red Cross membership of 5,000, the largest in proportion to population of any town in the United States.

This sentence indicates the shining mark the Houghton chapter of the Red Cross has set for itself, a goal that is not as far distant as the casual observer might suppose.

Businessmen's Plan. A committee of businessmen, members of the chapter, met recently to formulate if possible a plan to increase the membership. The one decided upon is simply itself and it promises to work.

One concern with over 500 employees expects to enroll the entire list and pay into the chapter $500 in membership fees. Others with smaller lists of employees are to do the same.

The Douglas House has donated the magnificent office suite, formerly occupied by Gay & Sturgis, for the use of the Houghton chapter, which will occupy it today.

The agitation for a large membership in the Houghton chapter of the Red Cross is not to be allowed to lag for a minute, said a member yesterday, "till we get that 5,000 members. A man without a Red Cross button on his coat...

Corns Drive You Mad? Try "Gets-It" and They'll Feel Right Off! How big it was, how it hurt, how it was born, how the new way—the common-sense, simple, sure way...

There has been nothing new discovered for corns since "Gets-It" was born. It's the new way—the common-sense, simple, sure way. "Gets-It" is sold everywhere, in a bottle, or sent on receipt of price to E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

before the year is out. "People are asked by the Red Cross not to believe that membership in the organization entails any obligation. While it is true that scores of Houghton women with exacting home duties are giving freely of their time and their work this is purely voluntary. It is not a requisite of their membership. Houghton women are making up a very large amount of surgical material, but no member need feel that this is compulsory."

"There are some who believe that a member of the Red Cross needs must be a nurse and may be called into the field at any time. This is not true. All that is required of a member is $1 and a friendly attitude toward the organization. In addition to this they may contribute time, labor and material if they choose. Many of them do."

Series of Theater Talks. R. H. Shields, president of the Houghton chapter, last night inaugurated a new movement for increasing the membership. At the intermission in the performance at the Keredge theater Mr. Shields took the stage and spoke for five minutes on the aims and objects of the Red Cross. He will speak during the week in Houghton theaters. This initial effort of Mr. Shields will be followed by similar speaking engagements by other prominent and eloquent men of Houghton and Hancock.

All of this effort is disinterested on the part of the men and women engaged in it. All they hope for is to have Houghton and the rest of the copper country contribute generously toward the world's greatest humanitarian enterprise.

WORST SEASON IN YEARS.

Captain Lanstra, of the Marigold, Tells of His Experiences. Captain Jacob Lanstra, of the Light house supply steamer Marigold, which is awaiting orders at Houghton, says that the present opening of navigation presented sailing conditions more difficult to cope with than any in his thirty years of experience as a lake mariner.

The Marigold left Duluth May 1 to distribute supplies and keepers to various light houses, including Stannard Rock, Apostle, Passage and Huron islands, Eagle Harbor and the Portage Lake canal. It succeeded in landing at or near the lighthouse in every case till the attempt was made to reach Granite island, 12 miles from Marquette. The latter attempt had to be abandoned and the Marigold is awaiting at Houghton advice regarding the breakup near this island before making another attempt.

In many cases it was impossible to get close to the lighthouses and it was necessary for the crew to push a small boat across the ice in order to land the men and supplies. In some cases the Marigold shoved through ice fields two miles wide. This work stove a hole in her bow. Temporary repairs have been made at Houghton, but the steamer will have to go into drydock as soon as this trip is completed.

Professor Nordstrom, in charge of the commercial department of Suomi college of Hancock, yesterday announced the personnel of the class to receive diplomas from this branch of the institution at the close of the school term. The closing exercises will be held jointly with the seniors of the college at Germania hall the evening of May 31. Commencement addresses will be made by John A. Doelle, superintendent of the Portage township schools, and the Rev. Rautanen, of Calumet, the latter speaking in Finnish. The program will include piano numbers by the Rev. Immonen, of Duluth, a graduate of the college, and K. W. Kikkila, supervisor of music at the institution. Class songs will be sung, the college choir and glee clubs will sing and there will be vocal solo. The Rev. J. K. Nikander, president of the college, will preside. The evening previous to commencement there will be a general reunion of the college alumni at which this year's graduates will enroll.

ACCIDENT ON THE BRIDGE.

South Shore engine No. 806 was derailed on the Houghton county bridge yesterday morning, delaying traffic for two hours. The engine and the bridge were uninjured.

The remains of the late Mrs. George Furlette arrived in Hancock yesterday morning from Sault Ste. Marie and were taken to the home of the deceased's sister, Mrs. John Carney. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from St. Patrick's church.

HE ALMOST FELL DOWN.

A. M. Hunsucker, Bogue Chitto, Miss., writes: "I suffered from rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble, also dizziness; would almost fall down at times. Foley Kidney Pills gave me entire relief. Disordered kidneys give warning by pains in side and back, sore muscles, swollen joints, tired and languid feeling. Sold Everywhere.—Adv."

CHANGE IN EXPRESS AGENTS.

H. J. Dericks Succeeded by M. S. Crosby of Monroe, Wis.

H. J. Dericks, agent in Houghton for the Wells-Fargo and Western express companies since last August, left Tuesday for Milwaukee, having been succeeded here by M. S. Crosby of Monroe, Wis. Mr. Dericks made many friends in Houghton and his departure is regretted. He takes a position in the Wells-Fargo office in Milwaukee.

Mr. Crosby assumed his duties yesterday. F. B. Cladin, route agent for the Wells-Fargo, and W. D. McIntosh, route agent for the Western, were in Houghton Tuesday checking the new agent in and the old one out.

TO MARK FRANKLIN CROSSING.

Copper Country Automobile Club to Put Up Warning Signs.

The Copper Country Automobile Club will at once take steps to put up warning signs near the approaches to the dangerous Franklin crossing of the Calumet-Hancock highway and the Mineral Range railroad.

A triple fatality resulted from an automobile collision with a train at this point last year. A similar catastrophe was narrowly averted there Tuesday afternoon.

There are no marks to indicate the dangerous character of the crossing but the automobile club will supply this need. Secretary Bellis said yesterday the work will be done at once.

SUB-STATION IS OPENED.

Recruiting Officer Arrives from Marquette For a Week.

Recruiting Officer Kurth came to Hancock yesterday morning from Marquette, where he had been stationed several weeks, to take charge of the subdivision recruiting station to be located in Hancock. Mr. Kurth spent yesterday morning with Postmaster Holland getting things in shape to begin the drive for recruits for the army.

The sub-station in this city will continue for seven days during which time candidates for enlistment will be examined. The Hancock station is to serve the entire Copper Country. Postmasters are not receiving enlistments any longer, but if candidates apply at postoffices they will be directed to the Hancock station.

COPPER COUNTRY'S ZONES.

Geographical Divisions on a Basis of Climate are Recognized.

Prof. Leo M. Geismar, who is assisting Supervisor Ketonen in the organization of school grade clubs, has advised Superintendent Doelle of the Houghton schools, that of the three communities to be organized, Houghton, Hancock and Lake Linden, Houghton comes last. He gives a peculiar but interesting reason.

He states that Lake Linden has the warmest climate in the Copper Country and can begin planting operations the earliest, because it is in a shallow valley that is under the rays of the sun for a longer portion of each day. Hancock is second because it is on the south side of Quincy hill and is affected by the rays in the morning and early afternoon. Houghton is third because its location does not permit the morning sun to affect the ground, at least this period of the year. For these reasons the apparent delay in the organization of the Houghton clubs is something that could not in any event be avoided.

BISHOP HENDERSON COMING.

Michigan M. E. Prelate to Arrive in Hancock Tomorrow.

Bishop Theodora Henderson of the Detroit M. E. conference and aides, will reach Hancock tomorrow on the St. Paul train, coming here from Crystal Falls where meetings will be held this evening. The bishop is in the upper peninsula in the interests of the conference endowment fund which is intended as a pension for old preachers.

District Superintendent Marvin returned yesterday morning from Negawana where he spent Tuesday with the bishop and party. In addition to those previously announced as comprising the delegation Rev. E. J. Clemans, of Chicago,

Peterson Bros., Dear Sirs: I was afflicted with what the doctors said were Varicose Ulers, and up until about five weeks ago I have been treating them for about a year and five months.

With all the treatments that were prescribed to me by several doctors I received little benefit, and they kept spreading and gave me much distress and caused me to quit my work.

I was induced by a brother brakeman to try Peterson's Ointment, and after I had used two boxes I saw the wonderful results. You can tell suffering ones troubled with ugly, painful and horrid ulcers that your Ointment is a cure for them when everything else fails, as I have tried about everything.

Thanking you many times over, I am, your happy friend, Chas. J. Heyser, Baltic Creek, Mich., 42 Glenwood avenue, Jan. 12, 1916.

"I know and dozens of people write me" says Peterson, "that Peterson's Ointment also cures eczema, old sores, salt rheum, piles and all skin diseases, and all druggists sell a big box for 25 cents."

James to Give Address.

Congressman W. Frank James, of Michigan, will share honors with President Wilson on Memorial Day. While the chief executive is making an address to the G. A. R. at Arlington, the Hancock solon will make the Memorial day address, in commemoration of those who lost their lives by the sinking of the battleship Maine, in Arlington cemetery. Mr. James is a veteran of the Spanish-American war and since going to Washington has made a reputation as an opponent of "Spanish pork," or pensions to the undeserving. Recently he has been one of the most active for the conservation bill in the house. The fact that Congressman James has been picked to deliver the address at Arlington cemetery justifies recent reports that a majority of the Spanish war veterans support his stand on pensions for the undeserving. The honor of delivering the Arlington cemetery Memorial day address is considered one of the highest compliments that can be paid a member of congress.

Former Menominee Girl Weds.

Miss Kathleen Kirkham, a former Menominee girl, who has become famous as a moving picture star, was married in Los Angeles, California, to Harrison Woodruff, a prosperous business man of southern California, where he is general agent for the Firemen's Fund Insurance company. The wedding occurred in the future home of the young people, a beautiful bungalow at 1135 Delaware Drive in the fashionable part of Los Angeles, and was solemnized in the presence of a few members of the immediate families of the bride and groom.

Miss Kirkham has had a remarkable career in the moving picture profession. Her first opportunity came in the famous picture "Strathmore," in which she scored a distinct success, in spite of her lack of experience. She then was given a part in "Two Sides of Life," a production made by the Universal Film company, and so well did she handle the

SECRETS OF THE SENUSSI.

The Senussi derive much of their interest from the fact that very little is known about them. They are not a tribe; but a Moslem religious order coming an immense membership among all the various wandering tribes of the African deserts, not only among the Arabs, but also among the Touaregs, Kabyles and other of more nearly Berber race, and even in Egypt and the Sudan. The Egyptian government in times past has tried, without success, to ascertain the extent to which the Senussi have recruited their membership in the Sudan, and also has failed in many attempts to discover the real purpose and aims of the organization.

H., at a meeting last night, voted to refund dues and assessments of all members who have joined any branch of the military service, or who anticipated such action for the future. The Hibernalians hope, through this means, to increase enlistments from this city, and to help out in the work now being carried on by patriotic organizations in the city.

Building Company Organized—The Marquette Home Building company has been organized, with a capital of $50,000. The following are stockholders: John M. Longyear, Morgan W. Jopling, James E. Death of Mrs. Gallagher—Mrs. L. J. Gallagher, a well known resident of Marquette, passed away Tuesday at the home of her sister, Mrs. George J. Siefert, of Houghton, following a lingering illness. Mrs. Gallagher had been visiting her sister for the past few months. She is survived by three children: one son, Edward, employed by the Michigan State Telephone company; two daughters, the Misses Angie and Glady's, who at present are teaching school in Great Falls, Mont., and three sisters, Mrs. H. M. Wardle, of Detroit; Mrs. John Stanton, and Mrs. G. J. Siefert, of Houghton.

Addresses Commercial Club—The Rev. Ernest Claypool, head of the anti-saloon movement for the upper peninsula, gave an interesting address before the members of the Marquette Commercial club at their noon-day luncheon yesterday.

Mr. Claypool talked on "Patriotism" and denounced the able-bodied and eligible man who refuses to go forth and fight for his home and country. Mr. Claypool also commended the action of the government for the establishment of the universal draft and declared that he is heartily in favor of universal military training. A Christian, he said, is necessarily a patriot, and a man cannot be one without automatically becoming the other. The experience that the nation will gain during the present crisis, he declared, will prove invaluable in the future.

Many Fires in Delta.

Forest fires are raging in Delta and surrounding counties, and several small settlements are threatened with destruction unless rainfall relieves the situation. The town of Ralph, thirty-six miles from Escanaba, as well as Cornell and other small towns are threatened, it is reported, and only the hard work of people in that vicinity who formed buckets and shovels saved much property from being lost in the fires.

Forest fires threaten the J. Stephenson company lumber camp No. 16. Settlers were reported to be abandoning their homes in some places, but in many regions the fire is under control. The E. & L. S. company railroad tracks are threatened in numerous places by fire abutting on the property. Only the quick work of 150 men who were called to the scene stopped the destruction by fire of property in the vicinity of Masonville. The fire was first discovered at the settlement about a mile and one-half from the postoffice at Masonville. A call for help brought the Rapid River fire department. When the wind favored the blaze it was feared that the Maple Ridge Excelsior plant could not be saved. The Stack Lumber company's property in that vicinity was also threatened, but a force of men are on watch to check the fire.

Escanaba Contingent Goes Out.

Escanaba Tuesday night sent forward its second contingent of volunteers for the United States army. Ten Escanaba young men left to answer the call to the colors and while the demonstration was less elaborate than that arranged when the first contingent left the city it was none the less hearty in the patriotic spirit displayed. Led by members of the Escanaba Military band the party of recruits left the central recruiting station and marched up Ladington street, which was lined with people who cheered the volunteers lustily. At the station, relatives took leave of the departing volunteers, while the crowd cheered and the band played patriotic airs. As the train pulled out from the station a perfect din of cheers was sent up by a big throng of people blocked about the depot, giving a rousing farewell to the departing recruits. Members of the contingent will go direct to Jefferson Barracks, at St. Louis. The men who left, fifteen in all, were: Escanaba—Louis C. Trotter, Russell L. Clark, George T. Belanger, A. S. Swanson, Irene G. Marchand, Elmer St. Martin, Arthur M. Pearson, James A. Vanderbergh, George E. Perrin, John A. Finnegan, Cornell—Richard Cannon. T'Anse—Stephen D. Chapel. Stephenson—George Colburn, Mathew Doyle, Justus J. Boucher.

Prosecutor Urges Law Enforcement. Prosecuting Attorney T. E. Strom, of Delta county, has addressed a letter to Sheriff Andrew Iverson and to the chiefs of police of Escanaba and Gladstone, insisting on a full and strict observance of the liquor laws throughout Delta county. The letter follows: "I wish to call your particular attention to the necessity of absolutely enforcing all provisions of the liquor laws of the state of Michigan. Saloons and bars of Delta county must be closed tight according to law, screens must be entirely removed so that the interior of the bar, rooms and places where liquor is sold is open to full view from the streets, side streets and alleys, and drug stores must restrict their sales entirely in compliance with the law. There appears to be a laxity on the part of saloon proprietors and their agents in complying with the regulations and it must be thoroughly understood that violators will be vigorously prosecuted without fear or sentiment. You will further understand that with war conditions existing throughout the country peace officers are absolutely bound to enforce all peace regulations and minimize every tendency to violence or breach of the peace resulting from excess or abuse of liquors and the business connected with it. You are further instructed to make close search for any and all evidence of houses of questionable character, and if such things exist they must be severely presented and you gentlemen are charged with the duty of investigating and bringing the offenders to justice. Please give these matters your immediate, personal and careful attention."

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO. THE BRITISH ARMY BOOT.

The British army boot is made from very stout chrome-tanned leather. It is interesting to note that what is called the "front" of the boot is unlike the average civilian boot, cut all in one piece, right from the toe to the heel and seamed up at the back. The toe contains, amongst other things, a plate of hard iron, which is nailed on underneath. On the whole, the British Tommy has a small foot, the average sizes being seven and eight. Compare Mr. Atkins' foot with that of his Russian brother. Here we have an average of nine and ten. The upper portion of the Cossack boot reaches to within an inch or two of the knee and has a buckle at the top. Its construction is very similar to the British boot, the essential difference being the boot is not stitched round the "welts," as is the British.

STARS UPON THE FLAG.

They blossomed forth like flowers Of old, to meet the sun; To spread the light of liberty. Their mission was begun. They cheered the brave, they freed the slave; Their mission is not done. The wave of every ocean Hath dewed them with its spray; Everywhere the stars above Have kissed them with their ray; And shall they flee the billows At a foe's command today? Most gallantly our grandsires bore them in the long ago, Blithely gleaming from a banner With their beauty still aglow; Shall they hide within the harbor At the cry of cravens? No! Fling forth flag from every ship We have that now can sail; Let every laughing star shine out Again to greet the gale; Whatever peril they may meet, Our sailors will not fail. Beat back the shame that threatens; Send our stars across the foam, Wherever any ship can go. In freedom let them roam; There's not a loyal heart today Would have them bide at home. —Samuel Minturn Peck, in New York Tribune.

WAS HE RIGHT?

A stranger applied at a certain livery stable for a horse and carriage, explaining that he wished to take a drive through some adjacent country. Being unacquainted with the man, the proprietor of the stable was reluctant to let him have what he wanted. Seeing this, the stranger pulled out a roll of money, saying as he did so: "If you wish I will buy your horse and carriage, provided that you will buy them back at the same price when I come in with them this evening."

Considering this a fair proposition, the liveryman agreed and the stranger gave him the price of the outfit. That night he came back with the horse and carriage and turned them over to the proprietor of the stable. When the purchase price had been returned to him, the stranger bade the liveryman good day and started to leave.

"I beg pardon, sir," exclaimed the liveryman, "but you have forgotten to pay for the hire!"

"What do you mean—pay for the hire? My dear, sir," said the stranger coolly, "I can't see that at all. You are certainly aware that I have been driving my own horse and carriage all day, for you sold them to me this morning, and now since you have brought them back they are yours, of course. Good day." And he walked out, leaving the astonished liveryman wrapped in sober thought.

FAMOUS WAILING WALL IN THE HOLY CITY OF JERUSALEM.

The famous wailing wall, which is a part of King Solomon's temple, in the city of Jerusalem. Indications are that the Holy City soon will be in the hands of Christians for the first time since the Crusades, falling to the British armies operating in Palestine.

PETER'S PENCE AT VATICAN SHORT

Pope Can't Raise Wages Because Income Has Materially Decreased.

Rome, May 16.—The high cost of living in the Vatican has impelled the large staff engaged there to petition the Pope for a general increase in wages and salaries. But the pontifical administration has been obliged to refuse any increase, owing to the low state of the Papal budget.

Belgium, formerly the largest contributor of Peter's Pence, has ceased to pay anything toward the upkeep of the Holy See, Austria, which came next, can send only very small amounts.

Against the decrease in papal receipts comes the increase in expenditure. For Pope Benedict gives very freely to the many war charities, sending large sums into France, Belgium and Poland, especially for the relief of the starving civil population, which is distributed by the bishops to the various parishes.

MUNITION WORKERS TO BE FREED FOR SERVICE

London, April 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—In order fully to meet the pressing need of the army for 500,000 men between now and July, next, recently announced by General Sir William Robertson, a large number of munition workers are to be set free for general military service.

Similarly all skilled and other essential men engaged on shipbuilding, ship repair, and marine engineering will for the present be protected from recruiting. The war cabinet has approved a new plan submitted by the director general of national service for obtaining from the less essential industries a sufficient number of suitable substitutes for men who must be released for military purposes.

MANY SECRET DISTILLERIES.

Petrograd, April 10.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Prohibition of traffic in vodka which went into effect at the beginning of the war, while reducing to a minimum the percentage of drunkenness in cities throughout the empire, has met with less flattering results in the villages, according to reports recently received.

The increased supplies of foodstuffs which America plans to produce must be moved freely and with precision if they are to nourish the millions of people, here and abroad, who are depending upon them.

Clearly, the production of food is but one side of the problem, and in the circumstances the less important one. For the need and the means of enlarging the food supply are generally comprehended, but the matter of food distribution is not.

One hundred thousand cars, at the least, are needed by the railroads—that is, by the country—as speedily as machinery and muscle can turn them out.

article concludes with the significant observation: 'Perhaps those who are secretly condoning this drunkenness.'

BERLIN CHILDREN TO DO WORK ON FARMS

Amsterdam, Netherlands, April 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The newspapers devote much space to a description of the departure of nearly 1,000 children from Berlin to the villages and farm houses of East Prussia.

The first party of 1,000 Berlin children left in the early evening on a fifteen-hour journey, under the care of a staff of nurses and school teachers. Their ages ranged from eight to fourteen years.

Maintaining the food supply means not only growing larger crops but distributing them. The latter task falls mainly upon the railroads, and a stupendous task it is. It is well to insist upon the utilization of every square foot of unoccupied soil for the growing of crops, but the mere production of foodstuffs on a grand scale is not going to bring victory in war nor even properly feed the people at home.

BRITISH COLLEGES WELL NIGH DESERTED

Men Qualified for Military Service Have All Forsaken Their Work.

London, April 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The war seems more intensely real at England's university centres than anywhere else in the country. This was not so apparent in the early days of the conflict.

Not only the undergraduate has gone from these seats of learning, but also the young Don. Everyone of military age except the invalid and the crippled, has vanished. Whatever of life there is in the colleges is alien to the place.

The examination schools at Oxford have been transformed into a hospital. Part of the other buildings have been given up to training of cadets for the army. Terms begin and end unheeded. The only students left are students of war; the only arts cultivated are those of destruction.

A. C. Benson, the widely known author and master at Cambridge, discussing recently the gradual transformation at the English seats of learning, said: "It was a question of instinct and feeling from the start. The high-spirited and adventurous went first, then the sedate sort; then the men of an altogether quieter type; and then those who were naturally averse from the fighting life."

Work Now in Progress.

Outlining before parliament the other day the work now being done at the universities, Herbert A. L. Fisher, head of the educational department of the country, said: "The professor and lecturer, the research assistant, and the powerful assets to the nation. Whatever university you may choose to visit, you will find it to be the scene of delicate and reconite investigation, resulting here in a more deadly explosive, there in a stronger army boot, or, again, in some improvement to the fast advancing technique of aerial navigation."

Commenting on the effect of the war upon American seats of learning the Daily Telegraph says: "Those who know anything of the colleges and universities of America can well imagine what a ferment is going on within them at the present time, and with what fervid zeal their students and professors alike will throw themselves into the war."

FUR AUCTION WAS UNUSUALLY LARGE

Spring Market at St. Louis One of Most Important Ever Held in the Country.

St. Louis, Mo., May 16.—What has proved to be, according to experts in the fur world, and oddtime fur traders and dealers, the largest, most important and most successful fur auction that the United States has ever seen has just taken place in St. Louis; the spring sale of raw furs from all over the world at Funsten Bros. & Co.'s Fur Exchange—right on the spot where Pierre Laclede planted the first fur trading flag on this continent, some 150 years ago, and which has remained an active fur trading center ever since.

A total of $4,000,000 for eight days selling sets a new record. For scope of variety, source, quantity and value this sale has never been excelled. Skins from almost every country in the world were in the catalogue; and buyers from nearly as many places came to purchase. Every state in the Union, every province in Canada, was represented.

Large Fur Consumer.

The United States has always been one of the largest consumers of high class furs in the world. Although the furs originating in the United States are some of the most valuable commercially, and are trapped in abundance, they were formerly sent to Europe to be sold, and our buyers had to cross the Atlantic in order to purchase American furs for their American clientele, and pay duty on them coming in.

This spring's sale presented a grand total of 2,877,887 skins, representing eighty-two different kinds of fur recognized and dealt in by the fur trades, divided into 11,974 lots, and listed in a catalogue of 448 pages and cover. In this enormous number of lots some consisted of a single skin only, as in the case of the precious Silver Foxes, where single skins sold as high as from $500 to $1,500 each.

Secretary Sweet Attends.

Impressive ceremonies marked the opening of the sale. Assistant Secretary of Commerce, Hon. E. A. Sweet, arrived from Washington to represent the United States government; and K. Kisuni represented the Japanese government—both these governments having sealskins in the auction.

The Japanese sealskins, raw (that is, not dressed or dyed), brought $45,000; and it was said that they would be dressed and dyed in St. Louis by the same firm as handles the United States Alaska seals. They sold quickly.

Fur Center of World.

Mr. Kisuni received an ovation when he mounted the stand to auction off the first lot of Japanese seals. He told the audience that he very much appreciated the privileges which residence in America confers, the contact with big business men and their methods, the many comforts of life, and the enterprise of the people.

When all the skins catalogued for the first day's sale had been disposed of, a total of $750,000 was reached. Alaska and Japan seals, Australian Hair Seals, Chinese—and some of these fetched record price, $70 a skin for some of the royal Chinchillas, of which only about thirty dozen are trapped each season—Russian Sable, 150,000 American Skunk, and some 90,000 Ermine.

The sudden rise in Opossum was one of the sensations of the sale. Record prices were brought for choice large dark pelts; and the whole market rose sharply.

Otter and Beaver Strong.

Otter and Beaver are in strong demand. Both these durable pelts rose from 15 per cent to 25 per cent above last sales. Muskrat to the number of 1,215,000 sold for approximately $300,000. While this is mostly dyed to a seal-skin tint and worn as Hudson seal, the furriers say that they intend to make up a large number of the skins undyed for coats, scarfs, capes, etc.

cial returns of the sale, there being nearly 50,000 of them, from all corners of the earth. Alaska, Canada, Yukon, the Northwest states, China, Russia, Siberia, Japan, Italy, Australia, Argentine, Patagonia, Bulgaria, all sent Foxes to the Funsten sale. The Canadian provinces, especially those of the Northwest, sent in Lynx to the number of nearly 20,000; and these proved exceptionally good sellers, being the best quality that has come on the market for some time and bringing some $250,000. Raccoon Steady Seller. Raccoon, another highly popular American fur, was one of the steady sellers and fair prices were realized throughout for $14,000. The comparatively small amount of Mole skins sent the price kiting; and the highest price ever recorded at open auction—eighty-seven cents the skin—was paid for a choice lot. A marked surprise was the offering of 42,000 Wolf, and the prices went away above all reasonable expectations. Large Silver Grey skins sold for $26 each, top price; others around $15 to $20; while the bulk of average grade went around the $10 mark. Of course, there were poor skins that brought very little; but the demand for good Wolf skins surprised even the specialists in this pet. Fisher, of fine dark Canadian and American origin, is bound to be even more fashionable, since it brought fair prices for good grades. BARBED WIRE FOR WAR. The American Steel Export company announces that its shipments of barbed wire to the allied armies total more than 12,000 tons, which, if stretched into a single line, would extend 86,000 miles. The shipments have been in progress ever since trench warfare was first undertaken on a big scale in France and Russia. "The product is not the ordinary barb wire," says the company, "but a special military type, very heavy and strong, with great, four-pointed barbs and painted the grim olive drab of war. The wire is made up in different ways, sometimes coiled in a special manner and held by a single strand, so that it might be added to the supplies already possessed. Nuts are wasted in great quantities in some parts of the country. This is true especially of such varieties as black walnuts and butternuts, which have kernels not so easily taken from their shells as those of chestnuts and Hickory nuts. It is probable that not half of the nuts which ripen every fall in the United States are ever eaten by human beings. These facts are only hints of the reserves of food which can be brought into use in this country whenever the need becomes urgent. Nature has always given more than most Americans have realized.—Cleveland Leader.

WOUNDED SOLDIERS TELL OF FIGHT

Profess Entire Satisfaction With the Progress Now Being Made by British.

London, April 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Stirring incidents of the tremendous fighting on the Arras battlefields are related by wounded officers and men who have returned from the British front in France. That these men are absolutely satisfied with the progress the British troops are making is quickly evident. They are pleased with every aspect of the fighting. It is difficult to extract a grumble even from that most exacting critic the "old soldier."

It is pointed out here that this situation gives the soldiers confidence, the surest foundation of perfect morale and that this, backed by abundant material, leads to victory.

Asked if there were no mistakes, oversights, checks or blunders, one young officer who had been wounded in the head and left hand with shrapnel and whose life had been saved by one of the British army's so-called "tin hats," replied: "Oh, yes, there were checks and blunders, all right; only they weren't on our side of the fence. They were all on the other side of the 'granite wall.' Mister Hindenburg's side, you know. I guess he will be issuing another order to his armies, as he did over the December show at Verdun, demanding stricter training, and regretting faulty morale. All those guns, you know, and the thousands of unwounded prisoners, and the German barrage that didn't get going until our fourth wave went over the parapet. They'll have to ramp up something a bit more convincing to soothe the Fatherland over this show, won't they?"

Had Fourteen Wounds.

One little man who had tried conclusions with a German grenade and had left the ground with fourteen wounds, but in remarkably high spirits, expressed the conviction that the German grenade was "not a bloomin' patch on ours." He and a comrade told a story of visiting a "cave of the dead," so circumstantial in its details as to leave no doubt of its truth. While exploring a huge shell crater they discovered a cavity leading out of one side it and, entering the hole found it led to what once had been an exceptionally large and deep

MOTHER FOLLOWS HER SON TO GRAVE

William Williams and Mrs. Elizabeth Williams Are Called by Death.

Two days after the burial of William Williams, of Champion, who passed away Wednesday, May 2, following a long illness with tuberculosis, his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, died suddenly from a stroke of apoplexy.

Mr. Williams was born in Pennsylvania, about forty-four years ago, and moved to Ontonagon, with his parents, when quite young, the family going from there to Champion, where they have resided ever since.

The funeral was held Sunday with services at the Champion Methodist Episcopal church, the Rev. Ruell officiating.

Mrs. Williams was seventy-one years of age, and was the widow of the late Stephen Williams, who lost his life in a cave-in at the Champion mine sixteen years ago. Mrs. Williams had been enjoying comparatively good health up to the time of her son's death and her sudden passing was a distinct shock to her relatives and many friends. Her funeral was held on Monday.

The deceased is survived by two sons, Thomas M. Williams, of Bisbee, Ariz., and Richard P., of Eveleth, Minn., and two daughters, Mrs. W. T. Olds, of Trimountain, and Mrs. Eliza Nottle, of Bessemer, all of whom were at her bedside when the end came, having come to attend the funeral of their brother.

Mrs. Williams was well known and very popular among the residents of Champion and was well known in Ishpeming as she has several relatives here with whom she has visited a number of times.

THEATRICAL

There will be exceptional pictures to-night at both the Ishpeming and Butler theaters. The offering at the Ishpeming will be "Where Love Is," a Mutual masterpiece. Miss Ann Murdock is the star, and the picture is in six reels. The LaDean sisters, who were performing at the Crown theater, Calumet, last week when the building in which the playhouse was located was destroyed by fire, will be at the Ishpeming tonight and tomorrow night. They present a singing and dancing act.

World Feature at Butler.

Ethel Clayton and Carlyle Blackwell will be seen this evening at the Butler theater in "The Madness of Helen," a World-Brady feature. This is what the World management says of it: "Emmett Campbell Hall wrote this story, so full of thrills that to tell any part of it would be robbing you of some big moment which must come as a surprise. The photograph of this picture is marvelous."

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our appreciation to the friends and neighbors who came to our assistance following the death of our mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, and brother, William Williams. We assure all that their kindness will never be forgotten. We also desire to thank the Rev. Ruell, pastor of the Champion Methodist church, and friends for floral offerings.

BAKERS OF COUNTY TO RAISE PRICES

Announce That High Cost of Materials Makes This Step Necessary.

The bakers of Marquette county have decided to increase the prices on all their products the end of this week, this action being necessary because of the high price being necessary because of the high price of flour, sugar, fats and other ingredients. Speaking of the proposed increase, yesterday, one of the local bakers said: "It has become absolutely necessary for us to increase our prices if we wish to continue in business as the flour which we formerly purchased at from $5 to $5.50 a barrel is now costing us $14, with prospects of still higher prices, and in order to protect ourselves we are forced to raise the prices on all products."

"Some of the bakers plan on raising the price of the loaf now being sold at five cents to six cents, while others have decided to discard the five-cent loaf entirely, and will hereafter make a sixteen-ounce loaf, to sell at ten cents. A few of the dealers will also bake a twenty-four-ounce loaf, to sell at fifteen cents and it is thought that this loaf will become popular because of its size. The prices on all biscuits and buns will be increased at least three cents a dozen, while the prices on cakes, cookies and other baked goods will be raised in proportion.

"The new prices will become effective the latter part of this week. We have endeavored to keep them as low as possible. In most places, especially the larger cities, the prices of all baked goods were increased several months ago, but inasmuch as most of the Marquette county bakers had large supplies of flour contracted for before the higher prices became effective, we were able to keep our prices down. We have now reached a point where we will have to go into the market and pay the price asked and as a result the present action is imperative.

"It is not only the price of flour that enters in the increased cost of baked goods as the prices of all other ingredients have increased all the way from 70 to 100 per cent in the past year."

Miss Evelyn M. Pepin, daughter of Phillip Pepin, of Davis street, and Maurice McGrath, son of Mrs. Mary McGrath, of Euclid street, were united in marriage yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's church, the Rev. Fr. LeGolin, the pastor, performing the ceremony.

The bride wore a dark blue traveling suit and carried a prayer book and was attended by Miss Catherine McGrath, sister of the groom. Phillip E. Pepin, Jr., brother of the bride, was best man. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party went to the home of the bride's parents where a wedding breakfast was served.

Mr. McGrath and his bride went by auto to Negaunee where they took the Chicago & Northwestern train for Chicago, where they will visit a few days, then going to Nevada, where Mr. McGrath will do contract work for the Lake Shore Engine Works, of Marquette. The groom recently returned from South America where he installed a Halby mucking machine.

Both Mr. McGrath and his bride are well known and popular in Ishpeming. For several years he was in the employ of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company as machinist, resigning this position to accept his present one with the Lake Shore Engine works. Upon their return from Nevada they will make their home in Marquette.

DICKENS' SISTER-IN-LAW DEAD.

London, April 20.—(Correspondence.)—Miss Georgina Hogarth, sister-in-law of Charles Dickens, and devoted guardian of his children, has just died at the age of ninety years. "The best and truest friend ever man had," is the description Dickens gave in his will of Miss Hogarth, who was so frequently mentioned in Dickens' correspondence after his return from America, when she joined his household as housekeeper. NEW ZEALAND MAKES HEAVY CONTRIBUTION

Wellington, New Zealand, April 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—New Zealand claims the distinction of having contributed more men for the war in proportion to the population than any other part of the British empire, except England and Scotland.

Official figures show that New Zealand's contribution to the British empire's military forces has been 80,933 men, out of a population of 1,190,000, or one in thirteen. More than 10,000 horses have been sent to the front by this dominion.

Under the military service act, a measure providing for compulsory service to supplement the volunteers, the first reserve, consisting of single men and men who married after May, 1915, will be exhausted about August, next. The second reserve, consisting wholly of married men, will then be drawn upon.

Colonel James Allen, the minister of defense, said lately of the working of the act:

"New Zealand reinforcements have gone forward without a break at the strength arranged with the Imperial authorities. There has been no omission, no check, no alteration."

It is admitted that the anti-war influence of the Industrial Workers of the World is constantly operative, but it is explained that this is not extensive. All New Zealand residents who make seditions statements or statements prejudicial to recruiting are summarily jailed. Voluntary recruiting still is active and the proportion of volunteers in the latest reinforcements is large.

CHEERFUL ASPECT OF FOREIGN SITUATION IS REFLECTED IN MARKET

New York, May 16.—The extraordinary improvement shown by the stock market today was attributed mainly to the more cheerful aspects presented by the foreign situation and abatement of the recent liquidation in rails and utilities.

The loan by this government of $100,000,000 to Russia had an extremely favorable effect on the financial relations between the two countries. United States steel led the rise on the exchange, making a net advance of 1/4 points to 120 1/2, its highest quotation of the year, but considerably under the maximum of 1916. Dealing in steel went on the same enormous scale that characterized operations in that stock during the "boom" markets of the past two years.

Other steel and iron shares were higher by two to seven points. All classes of rails were embraced in the inquiry for that group. Total sales 750,000 shares, almost 14 percent of which occurred in the last hour.

BOSTON COPPERS.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 16.—The market "about faced" today. Steel common was the leader advancing four points and closing right at the top. The New York railroads, industrials and coppers were all higher with several two and three point advances scored in the list. After the markets advanced a few points more.

PRAY FOR RAIN TO CHECK FOREST FIRES

Woods Around Negaunee Facing Destruction from Many Conflagrations.

Forest fires are raging in the entire district surrounding Negaunee and although shrouded with the smoke for the past two days it is not thought the city is in any danger. As a precaution against any possible damage, however, Chief Julius Johnson, of the fire department, is holding his men in readiness to answer an alarm on a moment's notice.

A good rain is the only thing that will check the fires, woodsmen say, as the woods are very dry and it takes only a small spark to ignite the dry grass and leaves. In some sections of the upper peninsula land owners fear great destruction to property unless there is a heavy rainfall within thirty-six hours.

In the vicinity of the I. Stephenson's lumber camps, a few miles south of Princeson, the fires are said to be doing much damage. The fire threatened Camp No. 16 and it was necessary to send aid to the camp in order to get the woodsmen from the scene of danger.

The district north of Negaunee is said to be on fire and an area, which extends from the Dead river to within a few miles from the city, is burning. There are many fires among the jack-pines and on the plains in the vicinity of Goose lake and railroad men report it is gaining headway and if it is not checked soon they say it will reach the tracks and once across this obstacle would travel in a direction that would finally bring them to Palmer.

MAY SEND TOBACCO.

Postmaster Peter Trudell, Jr., has been notified by the postal department of the United States that tobacco may again be sent from this country to England. Many Negaunee people desired to send "smokes" to friends in England and in the trenches in France, but were unable to do so because of the postal regulations. The postmaster general rescinded the embargo a few days ago by the following order:

"Tobacco, cigars and cigarettes may be imported into Great Britain by parcel post. Consequently packages containing such articles of merchandise intended for soldiers with the French army in France—which should be addressed care of the British expeditionary forces at London and are included in the mails made up at New York for England—should be accepted for mailing by postmasters, subject to the rates and conditions applicable to parcels for Great Britain."

PROGRAM AT SCHOOL.

The program of music and speaking to be given in the high school auditorium this evening promises to be an enjoyable one. The high school glee clubs and orchestra and the boys' and girls from the public speaking department have been preparing it for some time, and are prepared to give a good account of themselves. The public is cordially invited, and it is hoped the auditorium will be filled. There is ample seating capacity for all. A nominal admission price of fifteen cents will be charged, in order that parents and adults who wish to hear the entertainment may be accommodated.

The program will be carried out as previously announced. The Iowa state team, are taking the course. Among the Iowa stars are: Boylan, Cornell college; Lester Fields, former State University of Iowa football player; Proctor M. Fiske, Coe college baseball and football player; C. R. Howard, Cornell gridiron player, Yern Hinckley, All-state basketball, baseball and football man, and Dean W. Pierson, Eldora football player.

The decision of the University of Minnesota to take no part in football next fall was a blow to Dr. Harry L. Williams, the gridiron coach, who took the position that no action should have been taken until next fall when the exact condition under which football will be played became known. "It may prove to be the right step," Dr. Williams said, "but I had hoped that the question might have been left open until fall. Just at present, all is unsettled on account of enlistments and the coming draft and no one has any time to think about football. By September, the situation may have changed considerably. I had thought that if the university had continued open it would not be proper but desirable that the students who were attending should keep up football. The cream of the present football team has already joined some arm of the service and will undoubtedly prove to be valuable men. Why not then start another crop of athletes who will be ready to go in a year or two if needed? Football training is one of the best preparatory courses for making a good officer that the university can offer. I shall cooperate in every possible way to help build up and develop intra-mural football to take the place of the usual 'Big Nine' games."

THOUSANDS SAW PATRIOTIC PROCESSION AND FAREWELL

Big Demonstration Yesterday Afternoon Was Greatest Event of Kind Ever Held Here.

MUNISING TOOK PART

If yesterday's demonstration is significant of the spirit and love of the residents of this city, patriotism runs 100 per cent in Marquette. The response surpassed the expectation of those who have worked during the past several days arranging the details for the affair.

The parade, participated in by nearly 2,000 individuals, including the school children, was the distinctive feature. Three bands, the Knights of Pythias, the prison organization and the Munising city band, furnished the music and martial strains filled the air as the procession filed through the business district.

The following organizations participated:

- First Division.
Munising band.
Marquette city officials and employees.
G. A. R. veterans.
Spanish American war veterans.
Company M 33rd regiment of infantry Michigan.
Red Cross.
U. S. army recruits.

- Second Division.
Arab Patrol band.
Arab Patrol.
School children.
Labor unions.
Marquette fire department.
Civilians marching bodies.
Marquette Patriotic League.

- Third Division.
Knights of Pythias band.
Knights of Pythias.
Boy Scouts.
Marquette Branch Prison band.
Elks.
Hibernians.
St. John Baptist society.
Knights of Columbus.

Forming on Baraga avenue, the parade marched east on Baraga to Front street; north on Front to Arch; west on Arch to Third; south on Third to Washington; east on Washington to Front; south on Front to the South Shore depot.

"Uncle Sam" and "Columbia" were attractively portrayed, riding in an automobile, and another automobile bore veterans of the Civil war. The school children, of which it is estimated about 1,000 marched, entered into the occasion with great spirit. Trudging through the street, some waving flags, others wearing red, white and blue hats, they showed the loyalty and fidelity of the coming generation. The members of the Marquette fire department presented an attractive appearance in their parade uniforms.

The drill maneuvers of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, and of the Arab Patrol of Ahmed Temple, both bodies in dress uniforms, was an attractive feature of the parade. The former, captained by Frank G. Jenks, and the latter, by A. K. Moore, executed a number of difficult drill movements, and did so in a way which showed careful training.

Farewell to Recruits.
Yesterday's event was not only a demonstration to awaken the enthusiasm of the public, but it was a farewell to the United States army recruits who left for the training camps yesterday and for the other Marquette young men who have joined some other branch of service. At the South Shore depot, where the parade ended, the bands played several selections while the army recruits were awaiting the train which took them to Escentaba, where they will report at enlistment headquarters today.

Those who left yesterday are: William Dionne, Wilfred Heaudrea, Elmer Demaise, Henry F. Hokenson, Emil Rosell, Wilford Ducharme, John Hill, Rudolph W. Rehn, Charles A. Hanson, Joseph A. Cooney, Carol B. Barnes, Henry J. Cameron.

A delegation of about 150 Munising residents attended the event. The Munising band gave a concert on Washington street last night, which was greatly appreciated, as evidenced by the vast crowds which gathered to hear the music.

Many up-the-road people also came to Marquette yesterday, to participate in the demonstration.

ONE VESSEL STILL HELD IN ICE FIELD

Four of the Imprisoned Vessels Reached Port Yesterday—Munising to Help Bartow

After struggling with the heavy, wind-droved ice off Black Rocks for two weeks, in an effort to break a channel, the C. C. I. company's steamer Munising, with three other boats, the Ishpeming, Grand Island and the Peter White, arrived in port yesterday morning. The Munising, however, tied up at the L. S. & I. docks only long enough to stock up with provisions and then started out again to assist the J. H. Bartow, which is still stuck in the ice about three miles east of Presque Isle. Both steamers are expected in today. Their arrival terminates a situation which, it is said, has not been paralleled for over forty-five years.

Two weeks ago today the Munising, sailing from Cleveland, O., with coal for the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, hit the wind-droved ice about twelve miles off Black Rocks, and despite every effort on the part of the captain, Carl F. Rydholm, of this city, and the crew, she was unable to make any headway. For three days and nights Captain Rydholm tried to open a channel, but with no avail.

A Perilous Trip.
Every resource exhausted and with the provisions seriously depleted, Captain Rydholm decided that the only means of immediate relief lay in communication with the mainland. Five members of the crew, including the first mate, volunteered to make the long trip across the ice to Black Rocks. At 8 o'clock they started out and, after a trip replete with harrowing experiences, during which every man in the expedition was subjected to frequent plunges in the ice waters of Lake Superior, the five men finally reached Black Rocks, shortly before 6 o'clock, cold, wet, tired and hungry. The trip was probably the most remarkable, and at the same time most perilous, ever attempted in the history of Great Lakes shipping.

After a conference between the members of the crew, Walter Durocher, of T. L. Durocher & Son, and officials of the C. C. I. company, here, it was decided that the Durocher tug, Thompson, should attempt to break a channel through to the Munising. Consequently on Tuesday of last week the tug started out, but, after battling with the heavy ice field for several hours, was forced to return to port.

The J. H. Bartow, up-bound light, for ore from the L. S. & I. docks, ran into the wind-droved ice at a point about two miles east of the Munising, some time Saturday. During the week that followed three other steamers, the Ishpeming, Grand Island and Peter White also entered the field, and finally all were hung up within but a comparatively short distance of each other.

The Grand Island and the Ishpeming were the first boats to reach the Munising, pulling up alongside at about 9 o'clock the morning of May 9. "As far as I could judge," said a member of the Grand Island's crew yesterday, "the boys had just about enough food for the morning's breakfast, and no more." Moreover the Munising's supply of tobacco, one of the greatest comforts of the men who travel the seas, and the sailor's "best friend," had run out. The crews of the Ishpeming and Grand Island no time in transporting an ample supply of staple provisions to the Munising.

How They Did It.
The brunt of the work of breaking the channel fell to the Grand Island and the Ishpeming. After backing a short distance, the steamers were speared into the ice, which in some places was wind-droved to a thickness of fifteen feet. The five boats managed to make on an average of two miles a day, the Peter White and Munising following in the channel cut by the first two steamers.

While maneuvering about in the field off Black Rocks the Bartow rammed the bulwarks of the Ishpeming, bending in the railing and causing other minor damages. No serious damage, however, was done to any of the steamers, according to the officers, in spite of the grilling test.

The Bartow was unable to make her way to the other four boats, and consequently could not reach the channel cut by the Ishpeming and the Grand Island. She has made progress, however, and it is expected that with the help of the Munising she will make port today.

KOEPP PLACE BOUGHT FOR PRISON FARMS ICE UNTIL JUNE 1 MARINE MEN PREDICT

200 Acres Added to Present Holding of 240 Five Miles South of Institution. St. Mary's River Still Choked With Ice—Lake Superior Practically Impassable.

The purchase of 200 acres of land five miles south of the prison from Louis C. Koepf has been closed by officers of the Marquette prison for the state of Michigan. The description is N 1/2 of the SW 1/4 and the W 1/2 of the SE 1/4 of Section 15 and the NW 1/4 of the NE 1/4 of Section 22 in T 47 N of R 24 W. The land adjoins a tract of 240 acres purchased last year by the prison officials for the state, and gives the prison 440 acres in that locality. It is located a short distance off the main county highway.

The tract purchased from Mr. Koepf has a modern dwelling, good barn and other structures, and about a fifty acres of timber on the unenclosed land. The consideration was $11,000, and the land will be worked by the convicts the present season. About 100 acres on the farm purchased last year will be cultivated, and over 150 acres near the prison, so in all some 300 acres will be under cultivation. Potatoes and oats will be the principal crops. It is likely that the prison officials will purchase the stock and poultry on the Koepf place, but the deal is yet to be closed.

There was delivered to the prison this week a Case tractor, which was put in use plowing yesterday. It will greatly decrease the need for horses on the prison farms. The tractor is driven by kerosene, though gasoline is used when it is started.

The prison has sold over 500 bushels of seed potatoes within the past week, the surplus from the 1916 crop.

PATRIOTIC BODIES SWELL MEMBERSHIPS

Red Cross Roster Grows—Requirements for Membership—75 Join League.

Eighty-eight new members were secured for the Marquette chapter of the Red Cross, at the headquarters in the Pythian building yesterday. It is estimated that these, with the members secured through branch stations in the city yesterday, will bring the membership up to about 250. The officers are highly gratified with the results, and a bright future is predicted for the local organization.

For the information of those seeking membership the following requirements of membership information is given: "Any citizen or resident of the United States or of its dependencies may become a member of the American Red Cross by paying the membership fee, and sending us his name and address. Membership imposes no obligation of personal service either in time of war or peace. It is not to be confused with enrollment for special service, such as the nursing service, hospital units, etc., which have special requirements and duties. "Comparatively few persons can serve in the Red Cross in the field. But every one can serve at home by becoming a member, by getting his friends to join, and by spreading a knowledge of the work, and by participating in the work of the local chapter. "Members residing within the territory of a chapter automatically become members of that chapter. It is desired to have members join through the local chapter, but dues may be sent directly to Washington. Checks should be made payable to the American Red Cross. "Further, it is unlawful: "For any person to claim falsely to be a member or agent of the Red Cross for the purpose of soliciting or collecting money or material. "For any person to wear to display the insignia of the Red Cross or any insignia colored in imitation thereof for the purpose of falsely inducing the belief that he is a member or agent of the society. "For any person, corporation, or association other than the American Red Cross and its authorized agents to use the emblem or any imitation thereof as an advertisement or for any business or charitable purpose. "League Also Gets Members.

The membership of the Marquette Patriotic League was also considerably swelled yesterday, about seventy-five names being added to the roster. This brings the total up to about 250 members. The officers declare that there is going to be no let-up in the campaign for membership, as the work of the organization demands widespread support. "We believe that every resident of this city who claims fidelity to the American flag should sign up and become a member of the league. Its work has already proven effective, and the plans for the future are such as, should merit the hearty co-operation of every Marquette citizen."

REPORT WHITMORE DIED ON BATTLEFIELD

Brother of Local Man Said to Have Been Killed on April 17.

According to a dispatch from the Chicago Daily News, Frank E. Whitmore, of Richmond, Va., a brother of Dr. J. P. Whitmore, of this city, and a member of the American Legion fighting in France, who was reported wounded three different times, is now believed to have been killed in the French attack on the Western front April 17.

The report says that several of Whitmore's comrades saw him fall in the lines during the battle and as they have neither seen nor heard from him since then they feel certain that he met death. Whitmore was badly wounded in a battle July 4, 1916, and returned to the front after his recovery. The dispatch telling of his probable death comes from Paris and is dated May 15.

STATE FORCE NOW BEING ORGANIZED

Cavalry Organization to Do Police Duty in Michigan Is Taking Form.

Lansing, Mich., May 16.—While Michigan is preparing her army for intensive farming to help feed the armies which must fight America's battles and in many other respects taking a leading place among the states in war preparations, she is not neglecting measures for home defense and protection.

The industrial, mining and agricultural resources of the state form an important item in the nation's war arrangements and steps are being pushed to protect them adequately when the fighting forces are called away for national service.

The most important measure in this program of home defense, and about which scarcely anything has been said, is the organization of the Michigan state troops, who, in case of need, will serve as a mounted constabulary.

Under the command of Major Roy C. Vandercook, a nucleus for an adequate force is being organized and drilled at East Lansing. The force is small and the few tents and buildings required to date do not look very imposing on the camp at which until recently was the Michigan Agricultural college farm.

"The purpose of the state is not to recruit a large body of troops in this mounted guard until developments show what numbers will be needed. Therefore, when applicants present themselves, they are sent to the local army or national guard recruiting offices and urged to join one of these bodies. It is the policy of the organization not to recruit men at present who would be more useful to the country in the federal service, but rather to draw its numbers from those eager to serve in some way but who, for some minor reason not connected with general fitness or courage, failed to pass the exacting physical standards set by federal examiners. Canvass being at a premium, the Michigan state troops are housed in portable frame buildings of their own construction. Three of these have been erected, one "bunkhouse" for officers, another for the men, and a third long building which will serve as a stable. The old buildings on the farm will be razed.

Horses selected according to the rigid cavalry requirements of the regular army are arriving daily and some splendid mounts are seen when the force is drilling. The horses are all Michigan bred and shipped to the camp via Mason, Mich., where a remount depot has been established.

The troop is receiving the same drill given to cavalry in the federal army. This is augmented with training in some of the special duties connected with possible trouble within the state. One of the weapons which the force is learning to use is a formidable club—of steel duty. The men are very fond of this duty, as long as it is available no situation is likely to arise which might induce them to consider firearms necessary.
