PROPOSE TAX ON ADVERTISING IN ALL NEWSPAPERS

Senate Committee Considers Plan to Change Method of Taxing Publications

Washington, May 28.—Making rapid progress in revising the house war tax bill the senate finance committee today decided to exempt from taxation many articles, levied upon by the house; to substitute stamp taxes for the manufacturers' gross sales plan of the house, and to consider new taxes upon second class mail matter.

It was agreed that there should be no direct taxation on jewelry, motion picture films, chewing gum and pianos and self-playing musical instruments.

TAX ON ADVERTISING

Although the committee previously decided to strike out the house increases of second class matter under a zone system, it reopened the question of magazines today by receiving the new increased revenue from newspapers and proposal of Senator Hardwick, backed by the postoffice department.

Provost Marshal General Crowder and Lawyers Consider This Angle of Draft Measure

Washington, May 28.—Regulations to govern exemptions under the selective draft are being worked out by Provost Marshal General Crowder, with a number of prominent lawyers. Although the plans are not yet complete, it is probable that the jury wheel system will be followed selecting those who are to go into the first army of 500,000, and not until the names have been drawn and each registration district has provided the number apportioned to it, will exemptions be considered.

NEW CHAMPION BORN—WELSH KNOCKED OUT

Benny Leonard of Brooklyn Wins Lightweight Crown in Ninth of Ten-Round Fight in New York.

BATTLE A BITTER ONE

NEW YORK, May 28.—Benny Leonard won the world's lightweight championship by knocking out Freddie Welsh, in the ninth round of a ten-round match here tonight.

New York, May 28.—Freddie Welsh's downfall came at the end of a series of rushes by Benny Leonard that drove him from corner to corner. The champion had taken a severe beating during the early rounds and the punishment had begun to tell when the gong for the ninth round sounded.

CHAMPION BEATEN DOWN

His strength gone the champion strove weakly to strike a fighting pose. As he left the ropes Leonard landed and Welsh hit the floor. He struggled to his feet twice more, but each time he was met by Leonard's rights to the face and head and again he fell to the floor.

LEONARD'S FIGHT THROUGHOUT

It was Leonard's fight throughout. He took the offensive in the first round and held it until the end. There was never a moment when he was in danger, and, although the champion fought valiantly and succeeded in landing many blows, they appeared to have little effect.

LOCAL EXEMPTION BOARDS

The law provides for local exemption boards in each county and for each 30,000 in city populations. Boards of review also will be established on the basis of one or more to each federal judicial district. All the boards will be composed of civilians. Secretary Baker said today the process of selecting them had not been worked out.

FOOD SURVEY BILL IS PASSED IN THE HOUSE

First Control Measure Provides for Survey and Stimulation

Washington, May 28.—The administration's food survey bill, first of the food control measures, was passed by the house today without a record vote. It appropriates $14,770,000 for an immediate investigation of the country's food resources and for measures to stimulate production.

The agriculture department expects to present a fairly accurate estimate of food resources within three weeks after the bill is signed by the president, secretary Honston said today. As soon as the measure becomes a law the department will start its 17,000 employees, and the 150,000 voluntary crop reporters, to work on the investigation.

FEW CHANGES IN BILL

The survey bill passed virtually as it came from the committee. Miss Rankin, the woman representative from Montana, inserted an amendment which would require the department of agriculture to use women in the survey work whenever practicable. An amendment by Representative McKenzie, of Illinois, would make all persons employed under the bill liable to military service.

DISPUTES ON SHIP PROGRAM SETTLED

Goethals to Be Given Free Rein in Construction Work by Shipping Board.

GOETHALS TO GET FREE REIN

It was said authoritatively that General Goethals will be given a free rein in the ship-building program, and that there will be no interference from the board. Ship building will be put entirely in his hands. Operation of the fleet will be in the hands of the board.

NEW YORK NEWSPAPERS OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

MAKE SPIRITED ATTEMPTS TO BREAK THROUGH

Smash Way Across Timavo River and Take Village of San Giovanni Near Trieste Railway Line.

REPORT QUIET ELSEWHERE

(Associated Press War Summary.) Aside from the Austro-Italian threat especially the southeastern sector, where the Italians are making spirited effort to break through the Austrian line toward Trieste, little fighting of consequence is taking place on any of the battle fronts.

ITALIANS TAKE SAN GIOVANNI

On the Carso plateau, just above the head of the Gulf of Trieste, the Italian have smashed their way across the Timavo river and captured the village of San Giovanni, a scant two miles north-west of Duino, a fashionable watering resort on the railroad skirting the Gulf of Trieste, and leading into Trieste. Nin six-inch guns fell into the hands of the Italians when they captured the village and they soon will be used against the Austrians, as their condition is described as excellent.

AUSTRIANS CLAIM SUCCESSES

It asserts also that the Italian casualties have been very heavy, the ground before the Austrian position being covered by Italian dead. More than 18,000 unrounded Italians have been captured up to Sunday, says the statement, 7,900 of them having been made prisoners on the Carso plateau.

IS NOT THE TIME

One might naturally expect that the revelations in the New York trials, resulting, the other day, in the conviction of three pro-German plotters, headed by Captain Rintelen, a German citizen, of how the well meaning pacifists of America, including no less a figure than Mr. Bryan himself, were made the cats-paws of movements whose origin was German gold and German intrigue would give them a moment's pause, but, no, here they are at it again.

The Permanent Peace commission, in session in Chicago Sunday, passed two resolutions, one calling upon the government of the United States to define its terms of peace and those of its European allies; the second proposing that the Chicago council invite the Russian official commissioners to visit Chicago and to make public explanation of the aims of the Russian government.

There is in these resolutions that which calls to mind the international socialist conference on which our government has placed its ban, for they suggest zeal to raise controversial questions in America, and perhaps between America and its allies, that at the moment could do naught but work to the advantage of Germany and the countries that are swept along in its train.

Their sponsors and supporters, it will seem to many, are, wittingly or unwittingly, doing their little all to serve Germany's ends.

As for America's purposes in the war, they are sufficiently indicated by the President's address to congress, and the aims there outlined were made, to all intents and purposes, the aims of the nation by the acceptance and ratification of that address by congress.

It is most patent to all but pacifists that the moment is no time for wasting effort and thought on peace terms. So clear ought this to be that the very loyalty of sponsors of meetings like that held in Chicago must, to many, seem open to suspicion.

The government is taking cognizance of various efforts to discourage registration under the draft law. This law provides heavy penalties for those to whom it applies who do not fulfill its requirements. The courts before which these offenders will be arraigned will have no option but to inflict prison sentences.

When the time comes to talk peace there need be no doubt that American aims and terms will be generally discussed and made clear enough. But for the moment peace discussions can only result in giving aid and comfort to Germany.

CLOSING THE BORDER

The Michigan Soo is getting more of a touch of the war than most of the other Michigan cities. The Canadian authorities, under an order in council are demanding passports from all men of military age passing from the Canadian to the Michigan Soo, with the result that traffic across the river has been reduced to the point of disappearance.

The purpose behind this order is to prevent the exodus from the country of men liable to draft, if the Canadian parliament accepts favorably the recommendation of the premier and provides the draft. Canada has done nobly in the war, as the United States will do nobly before it is through with its "bit," but Canada has its "slackers" and its cravens, as every country has them. Since the serious suggestion of the draft as a means of keeping in reserve men enough to sustain at full strength the Canadian divisions at the front, some of these gentry have been developing a surprising affection for the United States, and have planned to make it a permanent place of residence.

And on our side of the border, we have had Americans who have developed similar enthusiasm for Canada, and from various parts of the north-west have come reports of suspiciously large movements of men across the line. Apparently there is a handful of invertebrates in both countries willing to bedevil the governments, if they can, by sudden change of residence not contemplated up to the time of the serious proposal of the draft principle as a means of supporting the armies.

The best advice that can be given these poor creatures, on both sides of the border is "face the music." Nothing is more unlikely than that the existence of an imaginary line, extending over land and water, will suffice to secure the slacker's immunity. If there is considerable suspicious travel at this juncture, an obvious development will be an exchange of "slackers" relentlessly hunted out by the draft process, in the course of the few months to come. And they would be exchanged branded with shame, nor will the inexperience of the brand avail to save them from army service.

We all must "face the music." We all will have something to pay that must be paid. Among the unhappiest men the world will know for a generation to come, and perhaps a second generation, will be those who fail to do their full duty by their governments in this world convulsion. All must be ready for whatever is required of them, and they must do it with a willing, if not cheerful, heart.

RECKLESSNESS

The annual report of the Interstate commerce commission, covering the period for the year ending June 30, 1916, indicates that 1,306 persons were killed, and 3,207 persons were injured on grade crossings in the United States. The majority of those killed and injured were drivers or occupants of motor cars, and such persons are, as a general rule, of the better class of citizens.

Realizing that practically all these deaths and injuries are easily avoidable, and are the result of carelessness, the railroads are conducting a campaign of education, calling attention, wherever possible, to the dire results of not exercising care where crossings are reached.

It would not appear to be necessary to make a man take the ordinary precautions to protect and save his own life. But the truth is, such a course is necessary, as is proved by the records of deaths at crossings. Any one who has been an occupant of a motor car, with a reckless driver at the wheel, knows the need of the words of precaution.

The warm weather is upon us, and already there has been a sad record of accidents at crossings since early spring. Owners and drivers of motor cars have it in their power to continue or to stop this record of destruction.

The government is taking cognizance of various efforts to discourage registration under the draft law. This law provides heavy penalties for those to whom it applies who do not fulfill its requirements. The courts before which these offenders will be arraigned will have no option but to inflict prison sentences.

When the time comes to talk peace there need be no doubt that American aims and terms will be generally discussed and made clear enough. But for the moment peace discussions can only result in giving aid and comfort to Germany.

and it will, as far as outward signs go, continue for some days. Conditions here are perhaps the worst they are at any point on the lakes, but in all directions navigation is still hampered by the ice, and the movement of freight from and to Lake Superior is so small as to be negligible.

The ban of the United States on the international socialist conference is a great disappointment to its projectors, who insist that Washington does not understand it. But Washington continues of the opinion that it understands the purpose of the conference thoroughly.

Russia is less on the front page for the moment, but it is no less an uncertain quantity.

A Laugh Or Two

Change for the Better

"Now, this is where the plot begins to thicken," remarked the budding dramatist as he started to read his second act.

"I sincerely hope so," said the manager. "It couldn't very well be any thinner than it has been so far."

Pride in the Daily Task

A quaint story is told to exemplify the pride that every man should take in the work by which he makes a living.

Two street sweepers, seated on a curbstone, were discussing a comrade who had died the day before.

"Bilby certainly was a good sweeper," said one.

"Yes," conceded the other thoughtfully. "But—don't you think he was a little weak around the lamp posts?"

Could Not Fool Mike

"Have you lobsters like this in Ireland, Mike?"

"Is it lobsters?" replied Mike, contentedly. "Why, I've seen the sea red with 'em."

"But, Mike, lobsters aren't red until they're boiled."

"Don't I know that? But we've hot springs in the old country, and the crabs swim thro' 'em and come out ready for ye to crack open and ate," said Mike, calmly.

Perfect Faith

The little daughter of a college professor had been taught to pray for the things which she desired. It was very dry and hot and everybody was looking anxiously for rain. Suddenly it occurred to the little miss that she could pray for rain, and she acted on her impulse at once. Shortly after there came a terrific thunder shower. Streets were gullied out, trees were blown down and other damage was done. After the shower the child's mother found her standing at the window looking out.

Finishing a Telephone Talk

IT is always good practice to finish your telephone talk by saying "good-by."

If you hang up the receiver without doing so, the party to whom you are talking may continue to talk or at least remain at the telephone, wasting his time and keeping the line from being used by somebody else.

The "good-by" at the end of a telephone talk is an infallible signal to hang up the receiver without delay—it terminates the telephone talk graciously and effectively.

Very Appropriate

The young chaplain had just been appointed to a battleship. He desired to amuse and instruct his men, so he arranged to give lectures on bible scenes with lantern slides. A sailor who had a gramophone was secured to discourse appropriate music between the slides. The first picture shown was Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden. The sailor called his brains to find something suitable. "Play up, play up!" whispered the curate. Suddenly an inspiration struck Jack, and, to the consternation of the chaplain and delight of the audience, the gramophone squeaked out, "There's only one girl in this world for me."

The Postscript

"Well, well, well!" cried Mrs. Henpeck. "Our son is engaged to be married. We will write to the dear lad and congratulate him."

Mr. Henpeck agreed (he dared not do otherwise), and the lady picked up her pen.

"My darling boy," read the son, "what glorious news. Your father and I rejoice in your happiness. It has long been our greatest wish that you should marry some good woman. A good woman is heaven's most gracious gift to man. She brings out all the best in him, and helps him to suppress all that is evil. Her price is above rubies."

Then there was a postscript in a different handwriting: "Your mother has gone for a stamp. Keep single."

Editorial Opinion

American Troops to Asia Minor?

The letter printed in a recent issue with reference to sending troops to Asia Minor rather than to France presented an interesting suggestion which, in its general feature, had occurred to others and been laid before the military authorities. The possibility that the effective strength of any force sent across the Atlantic may be seriously reduced through the torpedoing of transports is an obviously important factor in the military situation. The expedition to France headed by General Pershing has been decided upon, but does not necessarily settle the disposition of our new armies when these become available.

The British have apparently been able, by thickly planted mine fields at the eastern end of the British channel and by concentrated patrol service in those narrow waters, to transfer their armies to France without the loss as yet of a single loaded troop ship. But the twenty-mile passage of the channel and the passage of the Atlantic are altogether different matters.

While the dispatch of troops across the Pacific and the Indian ocean, with their base to be established in Egypt or in Mesopotamia, would be in one sense uneconomical, because of the long voyage, there would apparently be little danger from submarines and the force sent would arrive intact. If through the addition of American troops in Asia Minor the Turkish strength would be shattered and Constantinople reached from that side there might be a final accomplishment, in spite of German reinforcements, of what the British attempted at Gallipoli. The passage to the Black sea once opened, there would be immediate relief for the food situation in France and England through the newly established accessibility of Russia's granaries and at the same time munitions could be hurried to Russian armies.

It is apparent that the first need, after supplying provisions to the British and French, will be to add to their depleted man-power. But it will not do to forget that this war, the greatest in the world's history, is a war of many fronts. The problem after warding off blows that are threatened, is to strike blows in return where they may be delivered with a minimum of loss and a maximum of effectiveness. The answer must largely depend upon the comparative success or failure of U-boat warfare, within the coming months, while our new armies are being trained.—Springfield Republican.

Those holding to the first theory argue that if rainy, stormy weather followed for months the explosions of the volcanoes of Mt. Pelee, Mt. Katmai and Kratoa, the thirty-three months of almost continuous cannonading in Mesopotamia, Palestine, Turkey, Russia, the Balkans, Austria and France must have the same consequences as that ascribed to the volcanoes—the freeing of clouds of dust-particles to be carried into the upper air currents and disarranging them, as well as the lower atmosphere. If they are right, then the war operations by creating freak weather are responsible for bad crop conditions all over the world.

For some days recently the skies of lower Michigan were darkened and the sun shone with a sickly glare through the rifts. Some have blamed forest fires in Wexford, Missaukee, Iron and Gogebic counties for this condition, recalling the palls of smoke which for days overhung the Michigan peninsula during the forest fire periods of 1871 and 1887. This explanation, if true, would bolster the theories of those who think the Eulivered with a minimum of loss and a maximum of effectiveness. The answer must largely depend upon the comparative success or failure of U-boat warfare, within the coming months, while our new armies are being trained.—Springfield Republican.

Sugar Beet Seed Shortage

The Dutch ship "Noordam" bound for the United States, was turned back by German "subs" the other day to discharge 18,000 bales of sugar beet seed consigned to growers in this country. That will result in an injury to the sugar beet industry here that will be consequential in the year to come. If Germany had any respect for the law we would remind her that sugar beet seed is not contraband. If we had possessed a little more respect for the industrial welfare of the United States we would be raising beet seed sufficient for our own use today.

Both parties have been censurable with respect to a tariff duty on beet seed to encourage domestic production—the Democrats doubly so because of their singular antipathy to any tariff policy which would encourage domestic sugar production. During the fiscal year 1913, when beet sugar had a protective tariff, our growers imported about 15,000,000 pounds of the seed, and the following fiscal year, 1914, with sugar operating under a 25 per cent reduction of duty, and scheduled for the free list May 1, 1916, imports of beet seed fell to about 10,000,000 pounds, a decrease of 33 per cent.

Several considerations operated after that to favor the beet sugar industry: the war was creating a vast draft on our sugar supply; the Democratic tariff law was a rank failure as a revenue producer; and the vote of the growers in Utah and other localities was needed. So the program of free sugar after May 1, 1916, was destroyed, just a few days before it would have become effective.

The effect was immediate and astonishing. We had imported but 5,600,000 pounds of the seed up to May, 1916. By the close of the fiscal year we had imported 9,000,000 pounds, and by the close of the calendar year 1916 we had imported 19,000,000 pounds, the greatest importation in our history. The bulk of it prior to the war came from Germany; now it comes from Russia and the Netherlands.

The department of agriculture finds that we are well able to raise our entire supply in this country, and the imposition of a small tariff to encourage its growth would have made us independent of Europe and such an instance as that of the "Noordam" would not pester us.—Saginaw Courier Herald.

Weather and Cannon Fire

Scientific and lay minds are alike puzzled by weather conditions the world over. Their puzzlement has been increasing for thirty-three months or thereabouts, since the outbreak of the European war, in fact. Some venture the opinion that the war operations are affecting the weather conditions, while others are just as positive that cannon-fire has nothing to do with the situation.

Those holding to the first theory argue that if rainy, stormy weather followed for months the explosions of the volcanoes of Mt. Pelee, Mt. Katmai and Kratoa, the thirty-three months of almost continuous cannonading in Mesopotamia, Palestine, Turkey, Russia, the Balkans, Austria and France must have the same consequences as that ascribed to the volcanoes—the freeing of clouds of dust-particles to be carried into the upper air currents and disarranging them, as well as the lower atmosphere. DOPE WAR IS WRECKING THE WORLD'S WEATHER AND CROPS

Of two schools of thought in the United States weather bureau one has repudiated with scorn the idea that cannon-fire in Europe can affect weather in America or anywhere else. But the layman, mindful of the mistaken predictions of the weathermen and the fact that weather prognostication is a wonderfully inexact science, goes right on speculating on what effect an armistice would have on the weather.—Detroit Free Press.

DON'T BLAME THE CHILD

Don't scold your children for lack of control over the kidney secretions. It is not always the children's fault—in many cases it means weak kidneys and can be readily righted. Read this Marquette mother's advice:

Mrs. Emil L'Huillier, 623 Division St., Marquette, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are what all folks ailing with their kidneys should use. About two years ago my son was troubled with his kidneys. The child had no control over the action of the kidneys and this caused annoyance at night. As Doan's Kidney Pills were highly recommended, I got some from The Stafford Drug Co. and began giving them to the child. They soon corrected the annoyance curbing him of all kidney trouble. Mothers having children troubled likewise should give them Doan's Pills."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. L'Huillier recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

NEW PERFECTION OIL COOK STOVE

With the Long Blue Chimney
Bakes your cakes evenly. You turn the flame high and make an omelet in ten minutes or—very low and bake a roast for hours. The heat stays at just the temperature you like. You don't need to watch it.

Hot bread in the morning. That's the time you will like the New Perfection. The oven takes ten minutes to heat through. Hot rolls for breakfast or bake your bacon. Don't make an extra big fire as on a coal or wood range, and wait and wait for it to heat.

Turn it right off when you are through. Saturday baking doesn't heat the kitchen. The long blue chimney concentrates the heat. Keeps you cool and the dinner boiling. It keeps an even temperature; it keeps clean and the kitchen clean. It keeps fuel cost down, too. Saves one-third. Easy to fill; easy to light; easy to rewick.

The Maxwell Is Mechanically Right We Waited Four Years To Say That

The makers of the Maxwell spent four years in developing the car. Patient, persistent, scientific refinement of one model—that was the method. An automobile that beats the world for endurance, efficiency, economy—that's the result.

You know the old story about the race between the hare and the tortoise:
—how the hare skipped about the fields—nibbled clover tops—cut all kinds of capers, trying to "show off";
—how the tortoise stuck to his job—stayed in the middle of the road—kept on going—and won the race;
—you know that story and its moral.

No Experiment in Maxwell Mechanism

Some automobile makers have run around after novelties—like the hare, trying to add untried "improvements" which operate better in advertising than on the car.
But the Maxwell makers held fast to one model, —and when some one made a big how-de-do about his latest novelty, the Maxwell makers strengthened a pin,
—or simplified or improved a part of the Maxwell mechanism,
—or in other big and little ways developed, refined, perfected the one Maxwell model.
So that, in the end, the Maxwell won by the tortoise method.

The Maxwell World Endurance Champion

A Maxwell stock car—a duplicate in every detail of your Maxwell—without stopping the motor, traveled 22,022 miles in 44 days and nights, —and at a rate of 25 miles an hour and 22 miles per gallon of gasoline.
No other vehicle built by human beings ever did anything to compare with that feat.

The Economy Champion Too

P. D. Armour used to say that his packing houses "utilized all the hog but the squeal."
That's the kind of economy you get in a Maxwell.

With the Fingers! Says Corns Lift Out Without Any Pain

Soze corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can shortly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of freezezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

It is claimed that at small cost one can get a quarter of an ounce of freezezone at any drug store, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain, soreness or the danger of infection.

This new drug is an ether compound, and while sticky, dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue.

This announcement will interest many women here, for it is said that the present high-heeled footwear is putting corns on practically every woman's feet.

ENGLAND BANKRUPT IF SHE LOSES WAR

Ottawa, Ont. May 28.—Arthur James Balfour, British minister of foreign affairs, and head of the mission sent to America, in an address late today before the two houses of the Canadian parliament, declared that the British empire had "staked its last dollar on democracy" and that if democracy failed England and her possessions would be "bankrupt indeed". Mr. Balfour added, however, that he knew democracy would not fail.

DEMOCRACY WILL TRIUMPH.

"I know the democracies of the old world and the new will come out of this struggle, not merely triumphant in the military sense, but strengthened in their own inner life, more firmly convinced that the path of freedom is the only path to national greatness," asserted Mr. Balfour.

"I do not believe, that anything ever unexpected to the outside world ever occurred than the enthusiasm self-sacrifice with which the great self-governing British dominions have thrown themselves into the great contest at the side of the motherland."

LIBERTY LOAN WEEK PROGRAM NOW COMPLETED

People in All Walks of Life Asked to Participate in Plan to Raise money

Washington, May 28.—Men, women and children in every walk of life are given places for active service in the program for Liberty Loan week beginning next Saturday, made public tonight by the treasury department.

Treasury officials also made public tonight an appeal by Samuel Gompers to all members of the American Federation of Labor requesting them to aid the government in making the loan a success.

"Liberty bonds are a safe investment and it is a patriotic duty to subscribe for them," said Mr. Gompers. He added that he would like to see every member of the federation subscribe for as large an amount of the bonds as his means would permit, and he gave his approval to the plan to make Wednesday, June 6, Liberty Loan labor day, to be devoted to a united effort by organized labor on behalf of the loan.

NOTES OF SPORT

Captain T. L. Huston, one of the owners of the New York Americans, now in Cincinnati to recruit several companies of engineers for immediate service in France, paid his respects to city officials of Boston and Philadelphia by sending them telegrams, which read: "Soldiers die on Sunday. They suffer in hospitals on Sunday. They fight battles on Sunday." The captain was prompted to the action after reading that Boston and Philadelphia authorities had expressed themselves against permitting several games of baseball on Sunday by the National and American league clubs. The proceeds were to be used for the regimental funds of the engineers and for the relief of their families. The plan originated with Huston. He said: "The opposition in Boston and Philadelphia against playing championship baseball games on Sunday for the benefit of the engineer troops soon to be sent to France is inexplicable. The money derived from the proposed games would be devoted to the comforts of the soldiers at the front, to the alleviation of the sick and wounded in the hospitals, to aiding those permanently crippled and to the relief of the dependents left at home. The disbursements would be made at the direction of the war department. In war, battles are fought on Sundays, marches are made, men are killed, wounded and maimed lie on the battlefield, the sick suffer and die in the hospitals, and notwithstanding its spiritual consolation, the day brings no physical relief to the sufferers, no rest to those in action and no mercy to the prisoners of war. It was proposed to play these benefit games on Sunday in the east, frankly because they would entail the least hardship on baseball, which is having a struggle at the best, and also because they would bring about the greatest results for the object in view."

Amateur and semi-professional baseball players in Cincinnati are preparing to "do their bit" for the American Red Cross. The receipts of all games on a Sunday to be designated later will be turned over to the fund.

Duffy's is Good For Old People

A tablespoonful of Duffy's before meals and on retiring gently stimulates and invigorates the system. For Today

LIVING, hoping and striving just for the success of today is our foundation for the ultimate success of our business for all time.
Some will call this an insecure foundation to build upon, but is it? Who knows what will come to us tomorrow? We may hope for better things to come, but what about the success of today?

Making each day realize to the full today's ambitions, builds our business foundation more firmly and ensures with greater certainty, the progress of the store. Nothing great was ever done in a hurry and a realization of the truth of this comes to us more forcibly each day. Slowly, and step by step, we strive to make every day and hour count for the future here.

JUNE 5 WILL BE GENERAL HOLIDAY

Mines and Stores in Ishpeming Will Be Closed—Plan of Observance Outlined.

A week from today, June 5, will be generally observed as a holiday here. The merchants will close their stores. All required to register will be given every opportunity to do so.

The Military Training Camps' association has issued the following circular, offering suggestions as to how the day should be observed and giving facts as to what will happen those who fail to register:

"Church bells and fire bells should be rung at the hour of the opening of the polls; meetings should be arranged for public places with patriotic addresses; parades should be organized in which young men of registration age will be given places of honor. Every business place and private residence should fly a flag; inexpensive decorations should be encouraged. Committees should thoroughly post themselves as to the requirements of registration and should actively offer every encouragement in making the event a success. Prominent men in every community should be appointed on committees to take charge of various events. Placards should be impressed upon the alien population by posters printed in foreign languages. The day should end with a grand rally with speeches, songs, and music and some special mark of honor shown those who have registered.

"All men must register who have attained by June 5, their twenty-first birthday and must not have attained their thirty-first birthday, regardless of nationality.

"Registration officials will have full information regarding registration and will be prepared to answer every question. It will, however, be advisable to give this information general publicity through the press and at meetings.

"Sickness, physical disability of any kind or absence from home does not excuse failure to register. National guardsmen not mustered into the service of the United States before June 5 must register.

"A year's imprisonment and enforced registration are the penalty for failure to register. A year's imprisonment is the penalty for making false statements at registration whether about one's self or any other person. Where the person failing to register is subject to military law he will be court-martialed.

"Men exempt from registration are those who on June 5 have not attained their twenty-first birthday and those who have attained their thirty-first birthday and the following:

"Men in the navy or regular army of the United States, the marine corps, the officers' reserve corps.

"Members of the national guard and naval militia actually in the service of the United States on June 5.

"Men in the enlisted reserve corps in the service of the United States on June 5."

Thomas Green well known North-western passenger engineer, who has been pulling trains into Ishpeming for the past thirty years or more, and who is one of the oldest engine men in the employ of the company had a narrow escape from drowning, when his engine crashed into a street car at a grade crossing in Menominee, Friday night.

Mr. Green had been pulling the morning passenger from Escanaba to Ishpeming until three or four weeks ago, when he was transferred to the Escanaba-Green Bay run.

John Armstrong, another employe of the company injured in the wreck, ran into Ishpeming for a number of years, though for the past several years he has been employed on a run between Green Bay and Escanaba. He is a brother of Henry Armstrong, the well known conductor who has one of the runs between Green Bay and Ishpeming.

If Mr. Green had not been released from his perilous position in the cab of his engine by a man who lived near the scene of the wreck, he would probably have lost his life within a few minutes, as the water from the engine and tank was pouring over him in great force and he was pinned down in such a way that he would soon have been drowned.

EMPLOYES URGED TO BUY LIBERTY BONDS

Management of Gately-Wiggins Company Makes Appeal in Interest of Loan.

James F. Wiggins, manager of the Gately-Wiggins stores in Ishpeming, Calumet, Houghton and Iron Mountain, has appealed to the emigrants' employes to purchase liberty bonds, and several of them have already done so. The employes have received copies of the following appeal from the manager:

"Remember we are at war with the strongest military power in the world. This is your war, your country, your responsibility.

"The lives of thousands of the best young blood of America is about to be offered on the altar of freedom. What do you offer?

"Thousands of the best young men are giving up their hopes of material prosperity in the interests of all. What are you giving?

"This war is a war for the rights of mankind, but patriotism means deeds not words. There is a price to pay in both blood and treasure. All must pay.

"One hundred million people are asked to loan their governments two thousand millions of dollars. This is your opportunity to help, also to save. Help the nation help yourself by loaning to your country. Every person earning a salary should buy a bond. We will finance all employes who wish to help. The Liberty Loan will be apportioned on June 15, in denominations as low as $50.00. We will accept subscriptions from all employes for these bonds, on payments of $1.00 down and $1.00 per week for each $50.00 bond purchased, until the balance is paid. The bonds draw interest at 3 1/2 per cent. We will charge you 3 1/2 per cent on deferred payments, which the interest on the bond will pay. Subscribe at once. Be patriotic and at the same time save money."

GREEN CLOSE TO DEATH.

Engineer of Locomotive That Crashed Into Car Had Narrow Escape.

SEASON'S GREATEST MOTION PICTURE EVENT

"Intolerance," Critics Agree, Is the World's Greatest Screen Achievement.

"Intolerance," D. W. Griffith's spectacle, etc., at Ishpeming theater next Monday and Tuesday was received with enthusiasm at the Menominee theater.

The Herald Leader said: "D. W. Griffith's colossal spectacle 'Intolerance,' opened a four days engagement last night to a large audience at the Menominee theater. The wonderful picture is accompanied by a twenty-piece orchestra, and solists, making an entertainment far surpassing anything that has ever been seen in the twin cities.

"All the interest that has been aroused in this production becomes tame when it is seen. Nothing like its equal was ever dreamed of before. It is so big that the figures of its people and its five thousand different scenes stagger you. However, when you consider that 125,000 people appear in the production with 7,000 horses and 1,500 chariots you form some idea of its comprehensive details. In keeping with this largeness of outline is its bigness of purpose theme.

"It tells four stories that encompass the high lights in the world's development. It links Babylon and the Holy Land and Medieval France all in poetry which join their purpose with poetry romance the comedy and the tragedy of every day existence as it is found in an American city of the present time. It contains everything that is permissible in drama and shows the luxury of ancient courts contrasted with the misery of modern hovels. It shifts from the time of the religious persecutions of this age when over-loads of regulation would drain the laughter and smile of the people through the sieve of their tolerant meddling. It is now dramatic, now pictorial, now intensely real, now bewildering diverting in its mad dances of the Orient and now solemnly beautiful in its scenic reproduction of the Holy Land and the Son of Man who brought the dawn of a new love into the world. It recognizes neither time nor space. It is everything that enriches drama and opera."

Making Search for a Deserter.

Officers of Company L, Thirty-third Infantry, are conducting a search for a deserter, Oliver Pouquette, a private and a newly enlisted man, who has not been seen since May 14. A reward is offered by his commanding officer for his arrest and return to camp. Captain Falk issued the following notice relative to Pouquette's desertion: "To Whom It May Concern: Information as to the whereabouts of one Oliver Pouquette, a private in Company L, Thirty-third Michigan Infantry, is requested. He answers to the following description: Height, 5 feet, 5 inches. Weight, 144 pounds. Stocky build; complexion dark; brown eyes. When last seen he wore a dark blue suit, blue cap, similar to a naval officer, or an officer on a boat. Reward of $50 for his apprehension and delivery to his commanding officer will be given. Aged twenty-two, born in Carney, Michigan. Any information can be addressed to Captain O. Falk, Thirty-third Michigan Infantry, Escanaba, Michigan."

Votes Money for New Bridge.

The first definite move toward the construction of a new bridge crossing the Iron River at Genesee street was made by the village council of Iron River when, at the suggestion of County Engineer Burridge, an appropriation of $50,000 was made to pay the share of the village. The plans have been out for some time, in conjunction with the state highway department. The new bridge will be a fifty-foot concrete arch type bridge with a roadway of seventy feet. The state will stand the cost of the customary 24-foot bridge and the balance must be shouldered by the village of Iron River. It is estimated that the bridge will cost in the neighborhood of $12,000. The village's share of the expense will be provided for in a tax of one-half mill upon the taxable property of the village, levied and collected this year. The erection of this new bridge will necessitate the closing of Genesee street to traffic, which will be diverted for the present up Stambaugh hill and across the bridge at the Stambaugh station. It is probable that the street will be closed most of the year, as it is difficult to get material these days.

Deadlock in Crystal Falls.

The deadlock in the Crystal Falls city council over the appointments of Mayor Gaffney is still on and surface indications are that there will be a lull in city business for some time unless one side or the other gives way. The mayor says that he is going to have the official question settled before any more business is done. If he continues in that frame of mind there is liable to be a lot of interesting things develop. After the roll call at the last council meeting the first matter of business up was communications from the mayor. The mayor announced that he wanted to make some appointments. He appointed C. D. Dwyer to be city attorney and ordered a roll call. On the roll call all voted "No," except Louis Miesler who voted "Yes." The mayor then appointed Hugo Koepke, postmaster, and on that roll call all voted "No" excepting Pel-glass and Miesler. The mayor then appointed William St. Arnaud chief of the fire department and on that roll call all voted "No" excepting Miesler. The mayor then appointed Louis Miesler president pro tem, and on that roll call all of the members voted "Yes." The mayor then announced that a motion to adjourn was in order, which meant that he wouldn't entertain any more business. A motion was made to adjourn and was seconded, whereat all voted in favor of adjourning. In an informal way the city hall committee was instructed to give the hand the use of the city hall, but no other business was taken up and Mayor Gaffney says none will be taken up so long as he is mayor unless the appointments that he makes are disposed of. If the mayor persists it means that no bills will be paid nor, in fact, the monthly payroll allowed. One can easily see where this is going to lead if both sides stand obdurate. Mayor Gaffney says, in justification of his position, that he was elected by a big majority vote at the last election; that the people evidently wanted him to be mayor all the way through, or they wouldn't have given him the majority that they gave him. Now, he proposes to know if the people really wanted him to be mayor when they voted for him.

Girls Picket Crystal Falls Store.

There was some excitement in Crystal Falls when the lady clerks of the several stores formed a picket circle about the store of Herman Lavine, in the lower end of the city. Lavine was the only dry goods and clothing store opened that evening after 6 o'clock and the girls determined that they would show him up and prevent customers from entering the store after the hour of six. About twenty-five girls were on hand immediately after 6 o'clock and the leader of the band, Miss Hilma Lindquist, divided her squad up so that part of them could go to supper and another part remain on duty. The first customer who attempted to enter the store was a foreigner. Two ladies stepped up to him, one taking hold of each arm, and led him off down the street. The novelty of having two pretty young ladies escort him a block or so along the street appealed to him, and he didn't attempt to enter the store after that. The same plan was followed out in each instance and the girls were kept busy down the street. The work was kept up until about 9 o'clock when all traffic was stopped, and Lavine closed his store. The sight of twenty-five young ladies grouped in front of the store early attracted the attention of people on the street and soon a large crowd was assembled, every one of them cheering the girls in their attempt to lessen the length of their hours of labor. The young men who are working as clerks were present to cheer the girls. It certainly would not have been wise for any one to have shown disrespect for the young ladies. The fun of the thing appealed to many and some who didn't have any intention of entering the store would try to get in, when they would be led off by the accommodating young ladies and poor Lavine could see more business getting away from him than he had had in weeks before.

Increased Acreage in Delta.

Data compiled from crop reports indicate that Delta county will have 71 per cent more acreage in farms this season than in 1916. The reports have been received by the Delta county food preparedness board from the greater number of farmers, with a number to be heard from. In Back River township the reports already filed there indicate that a total of 300 acres of land will be planted, 144 of which will be in oats. Fifty-two acres will be planted in potatoes, and the balance in corn, peas, roots and vegetables. Baldwin township reports a total acreage of 273, while in Bay de Noc township 160 acres will be planted. Brampton will plant 239 acres and Cornell will plant 662. The reports are not complete, however. The balance reported so far follows: Escanaba, 500 acres; Ford River, 372 acres; Fairbanks, 928; Garden, 540; Maple Ridge, 230; Masonville, 175; Naima, gain of 26 per cent, and Wells, 476 acres.

Woman Given Thirty Days.

Jennie Vincent, who was ordered out of Menominee by Judge W. F. Waite, was later picked up on the street by Chief of Police Van Doozer, arraigned before Judge Waite and given thirty days in the county jail. The charge of vagrancy was preferred against her and she pleaded not guilty. During the trial she made no denial of the fact that she used profane language on the public streets, and testified that she had not worked for the past two weeks. Miss Vincent was given a chance to leave

She was given thirty days in the county jail, after which she will be ordered to leave the city, and the judge told her that a repetition of this offense would result in her being sent to the Detroit house of correction.

AMERICAN CHILDREN'S MANNERS.

The North American child is too often merely the by-product of marriage. It serves as an outlet for that pride which its parents cannot always reasonably take in themselves. It is petted, spoiled, pampered, over-dressed, and undisciplined, until there is evolved a strange pinyan for whom the world soon grows hard, who is destitute of the petitionary appeal of childhood, and who surveys an already anticipated and thoroughly analyzed future with the cold eyes of an unattractive knowledge. The world is its football. It is smart beyond description. But there is in the forced garden of its life no sheltered bed where may bloom the flowers of graciousness or peace. Of such will be the new aristocracy, and its traditions will be of grandfathers who, by virtue of that fine native American longheadedness, delivered the goods of their period and were promptly and suitably rewarded. But there will be few traditions of courtliness, scant reminders that noblesse oblige, and but scant memories of inherited responsibilities. The semipitiful dollar will still dominate. One generation will be too busy collecting and the other will be too busy spending. The second generation will be no promise, and the third will be little. The fourth will probably open a new and finer cycle.—Harpner.

Copper Country

EXCITING WINTER ON ISLE ROYALE

'Ping' Foster and Companions Did Much to Relieve Game from Scourge of Wolves.

By virtue of the complaisance of the Island Copper company, which owns 95,000 of the 120,000 acres of Isle Royale, the world's largest fresh water island, in Lake Superior, the state of Michigan maintains the island as a game preserve. It came to the ears of State Game Warden Oates last year that in winter human and animal enemies and the elements combined to reduce the big game of the island. Evidence of this was difficult to obtain. Isle Royale is thinly populated at the best of seasons and in winter, with the exception of an occasional fisherman or trapper and their families, there is no population on the island at all. Evidence of poaching or the destruction of game in other ways was hard to get. Oates made up his mind to get it and he put the matter in the hands of William H. "Ping" Foster, trapper, hunter and guide, now of Laurium, but often of almost any place in Michigan where there is fishing or hunting to be done.

"Ping" has wowed nature in many localities, from being cook on the Michigan Fish commission's car to being a game keeper on Grand Island. He has tried often to get away from the lure of the woods. He ran a restaurant once, at another time a chicken farm. He is at present a special deputy game warden of the state of Michigan and the world for him holds no higher honor. The state game warden last fall delegated "Ping" to spend the winter on Isle Royale, taking with him such companions and aides as he might consider necessary and useful. He was to patrol the island, trap wolves and other destructive "vermin," and take an accurate census as possible of the game on the island. Foster selected Paul Opitz, of Grass Lake, and Sam Bennetts, of Kenton, famous wolf trappers, and the party left the copper country for Isle Royale via Duluth Nov. 22. A Duluth coasting steamer handed the party and their winter supplies at Wiclied's Island, about twenty miles from the western extremity of Isle Royale, and from this point they had to take their outfit by small boat seven miles to Little Siskiwit Bay, where they had decided to camp.

They made their camp in a felt house, a shack used by fishermen in the summer season. There are more substantial buildings on the eastern extremity of the island, where there are various summer resorts, but Foster wanted to be at a central point from which to make his trapping and exploring trips. He had brought with him a quantity of sheet iron for the manufacture of a stove and from this they made a combined cook stove and heating plant. Foster says that last winter was the coldest winter he ever experienced. It was a record breaker throughout the Lake Superior region and he believes Isle Royale enjoyed the limit of its severity. The party did not have a thermometer. The party did not have a thermometer. The party did not have a thermometer.

Foster and his companions had ample supplies and one of the first things they did was to build a root house in which to store their vegetables and other perishable goods. It was lucky for the other winter residents of the island that they did. Isle Royale was almost densely populated last winter. Joe Larmour, of Au Train, Mich., and Joe Reidering, of Gunflint, Minn., had elected to stay over the winter at the Washington Harbor club, to guard the club property and to trap wolves. They learned in mid-winter that a fishing colony had remained on the island, a few miles distant from Washington Harbor. These people, six men, one woman and six children, had remained for the dual purpose of building a fishing boat and establishing a Michigan residence, being residents of Minnesota. Their purpose in this latter was to save the non-resident fishing license.

Larmour and Reidering were well supplied with grub and learned that all of the fishing party's vegetables had frozen. They shared with them as long as they could, but were beginning to fear a famine when they came in contact with the Foster party. Foster gave from his store for the rest of the winter, undoubtedly saving the lives at least of the six children.

Isle Royale once held many caribou but the wolves gradually have cut down the herd till Foster now estimates there are not at the most more than twenty of his type of big game on the island. About the same number of deer were seen. These deer probably have grown from a small number placed on the island a few years ago by the state game warden's department. But Isle Royale would be a paradise for the moose hunter. Foster's count of this biggest of the deer tribe is 150, with the conservative estimate that the natural increase this spring will be thirty. Moose stand the rigors of such a winter as last winter better than can deer and caribou, who find a difficulty in getting at the higher browse on the trees and an equal one in getting at ground food through the very heavy snow. These animals also fall before the wolves, while the moose generally is able to care for itself and its mate in affairs with these varmints.

Bird life is scarce on Isle Royale. Foster observed a few pin-tailed grouse and prairie chickens. Ducks naturally are rather numerous but the winter was hard on them and those that did not freeze fell before the eagles. Patriotic Americans who want samples of the national bird of prey can get any number of them along the rocky shores of Isle Royale.

Isle Royale is forty-two miles long, seven and a half wide at the western end and three and a half at the waist. Little Siskiwit lake, abounding in fish, is six and a third by one and a third miles in area and there are nine other lakes each a mile in length. Foster and his party patrolled thirty-five miles of the length of the island and believe that with the assistance of the Washington Harbor trappers they pretty nearly cleaned up the noxious animals on the game preserve. The score when they left for Duluth May 8 was twenty-seven wolves, sixty-seven lynx, fifty mink, fifty weasels, two foxes and one marten.

The Island Copper company is not actively engaged in mining and even if it were it would not disturb the game that is growing up. The company long ago determined that no timber must be cut from Isle Royale. The prospect is that it will be a wilderness and an ideal game preserve for many years to come. "Ping" Foster says that the prospect does not interest him at all. He would not put in another winter on Isle Royale for all the moose and copper from Rock of Ages to Washington Harbor.

FINNS IN CELEBRATION. Five Thousand Gather at Amphidrome To Joy Over Liberty.

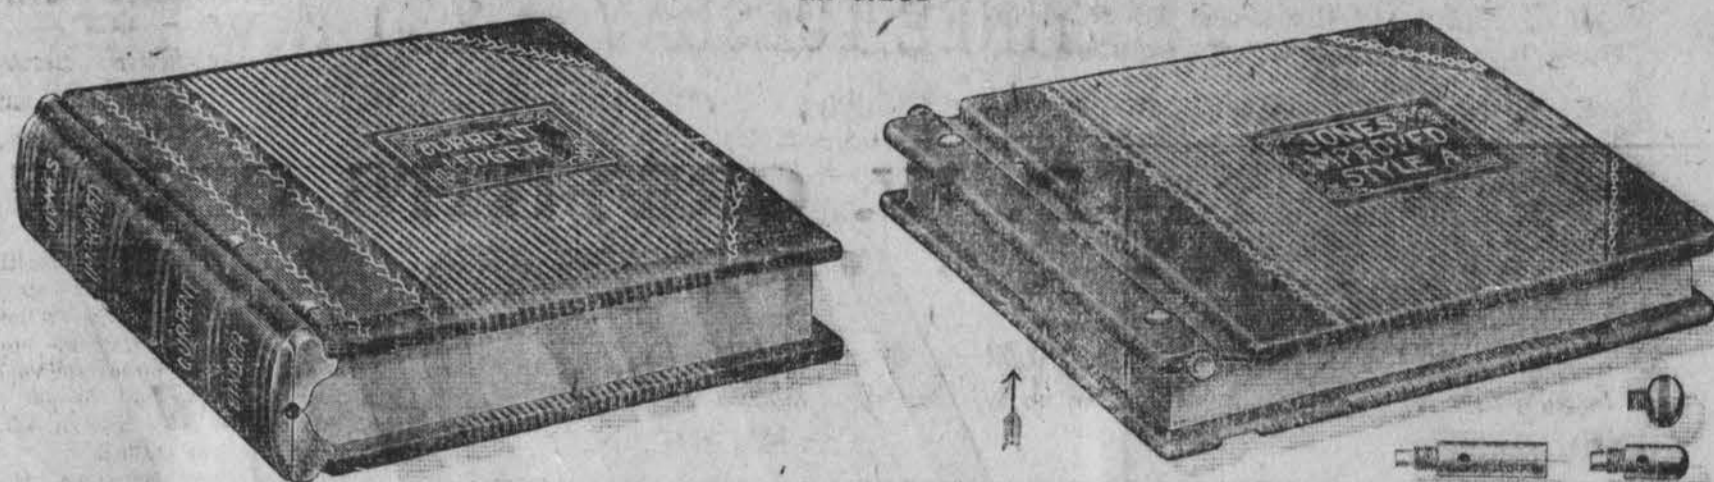

The overthrow of the Romanoffs, the downfall of Russian autocracy, the triumphant culmination of the centuries of struggle for freedom in Russia and her subject countries, were celebrated in Houghton Sunday afternoon when the Finnish people of the Portage Lake district gathered for the purpose. It was one of the most remarkable demonstrations ever seen in the copper country. While the parade was not a long one it was sufficiently impressive to attract crowds to view it as it passed through the Hancock and Houghton streets, bearing the American and Finnish flags and headed by the Hancock Finnish band.

Finns not in the marching body followed it through the streets and united to form an audience of 5,000 people in the main part of the Amphidrome, where the program was carried out, consisting of addresses by Frank Anttonen and Rev. V. Rautanen, the reading of the Russian proclamation of freedom and the singing of American and Finnish national songs by the massed Finnish choirs of Wolverine and Hancock.

Merry-Go-Round And Other Devices Not Wanted July Fourth.

Yesterday's mail brought to Henry L. Baer, president of the Copper Country Commercial club, a communication from an amusement company asking if Hancock was in the field for outside attractions for the Fourth of July observance.

Since the Portage Lake towns are to have a joint observance in Houghton this year, and the additional fact it will be a loyal demonstration rather than the old style Fourth, Mr. Baer does not see that the district is in a position to consider the communication seriously.

DEATH OF 'PETE' GALLAGHER. Former Houghton Professional Ball Player Is "Out" In Chicago.

Houghton had a professional ball team in 1890 that stood up with the best teams in the big leagues. That was a year when the entire upper peninsula went mad about baseball and spent a deal of money on teams. There was a rivalry between the copper and iron countries and the result was probably the fastest baseball that the upper peninsula ever saw.

One of the best known of the Houghton team was Pete Gallagher, third base. His name actually was Galligan and under that name he later became a power in Illinois and Chicago politics. News of his death in Chicago last week was received with regret by his old Houghton friends.

DR. WU, INSTALLED AS CHINESE PREMIER, FAVORS WAR ON GERMANY.

Dr. Wu Ting Fang, former Chinese minister to the U. S., has been appointed Premier of China and is empowered to form a new cabinet. This action will probably end the deadlock in the Chinese parliament and result in an open declaration of war on Germany. Dr. Wu is one of the most picturesque characters in China. He was born in Singapore in 1842. He was graduated from St. Paul's college in Hongkong and later studied in London. He was appointed minister to the United States in 1896. He was recalled in 1902, but was re-appointed in 1907 and served until 1909. In Washington he established a reputation for witty repartee and audacity in asking questions which made him the subject of daily comment.

FOREST FIRE LOSS IS GREAT.

Big Stand of Timber and Farm in Keweenaw County Recent Victims.

The forest fires of the past two weeks, which subsided early last week and then broke out again, will have a more serious record of damage than generally is believed, when the whole thing is reckoned.

The St. Mary's Canal company suffered quite a serious loss Friday and Saturday in Keweenaw county. A fire that started in old burnings two weeks ago and was believed to have burned itself out, started up again on Friday and before it could be headed off had killed the mixed lumber, hemlock and larch wood, on about 80 acres. The estimated loss is about $2,000.

Farmers in the neighborhood started in to fight this fire and their work was aided later by a gang of woodsmen organized by Captain John Conklin, cruiser for the canal company. The Michigan States Telephone company's trouble men working out from the Houghton exchange are now engaged in repairing the damage done by fires in the vicinity of Nestoria. A number of poles were burned by the fires in that section.

COUNTY COMMITTEE MEETING.

Members of Hancock Lodge to Draft St. John's Day Program.

Representatives of the St. Jean Baptiste societies of the copper country met Sunday at the Redoubt hall to receive reports on plans for the annual observance of St. John's day, which will be celebrated this year on June 23 at the city park in Hancock.

The delegates delegated authority to Justice Charles E. Roudout and Attorney C. O. Olivier to make all further plans for the affair. A list of prominent speakers has been drafted and invitations will be sent this week asking them to address the gathering.

MARKET ACTIVE BUT FEW ISSUES MANAGE TO RETAIN ADVANCE.

New York, May 28.—Higher quotations at the outset of today's active and diversified dealings met with extensive realization for profits and renewed opposition by the shorts. In consequence, few, if any, of the more important gains were retained. The very large turn-over of the forenoon again derived much of its power and influence from out of town centers.
 United States Steel once more set the pace, both on the rise and decline, advancing to the new record of 135, from which it reacted to 132 1/2 and closed at 132 1/2, a net loss of 1 1/2 points. Much of the underlying strength was furnished by rails. Important issues of that description, especially Pacific and St. Paul were in demand at extreme advance of one to 3/4 points. Metals were under pressure most of the time, Utah making an abrupt decline of three points, others of that class falling one to two. Total sales amounted to 1,330,000 shares.

BOSTON COPPERS.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 28.—Markets were erratic today with railroads higher and industrials and coppers somewhat lower. Trading was again on an enormous scale, total sales being 1,200,000 shares. Steel Common sold at $135, a new high, but as the day advanced this stock was heavily sold. According to New York advices, one operator alone sold 60,000 shares of steel and notwithstanding the heavy profit taking, steel closes tonight only 2 1/2 points below its highest prices. It looks as if strong interests have been buying stocks the past few weeks. We continue to believe reactions such as these should be taken advantage of to buy the good stocks and that stocks generally are going to sell very much higher in the next few months. Kennecott declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 per share payable June 30 to stock of record June 8. Lake Superior copper held firm today. UNCLE SAM GIVES WORD OF WARNING

Cardinal Points in the Registration Outlined in War Department Statement.

Washington, May 28.—In its campaign to stimulate interest in registration, June 5, for the war army, the war department today issued a memorandum emphasizing the seven cardinal points to be remembered, particularly by men between the ages of 21 and 39, inclusive, who will be required to register. The memorandum follows:
 1.—There is only one day for registration, June 5, 1917.
 2.—Every male resident of the United States who has reached his twenty-first and has not reached his thirty-first birthday must register on the day set, June 5, 1917.
 The only exceptions are persons in the military or naval service of the United States, which includes all regulars and enlisted men of the regular army, the regular army reserve, the officers' reserve corps, the enlisted reserve corps, the national guard and national guard reserve, recognized by the militia bureau of the war department; the navy, the marine corps, the coast guard and the naval militia, the naval reserve force; the marine corps reserve and the national volunteers, recognized by the navy department.
 3.—Registration is distinct from draft. No matter what just claim you have for exemption, you must register.
 4.—Registration is a public duty. For those not responsive to the sense of this duty, the penalty of imprisonment, not fine, is provided in the draft act.
 5.—Those who through sickness shall be unable to register should cause a representative to apply to the county or city clerk for a copy of the registration card. The clerk will give instructions as to how this card should be filled out. The card should then be mailed by the sick person, or delivered by his agent, to the registrar of his home district. The sick person will enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for the return to him of his registration certificate.
 6.—Any person who expects to be absent from his home district on registration day should apply as soon as practicable for a registration card to the county clerk of the county where he may be stopping, or if he is in a city of more than 30,000 to the city clerk. The clerk will record the answers on the card and turn it over to the absentee. The absentee should mail this card to the registrar of his home district so that it will reach that official by registration day. A self-addressed, stamped envelope should be enclosed with the card to insure the return to the absentee of a registration certificate.
 7.—Registration booths will be open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. on registration day, June 5, 1917.

CAR BADLY DAMAGED.

Dr. I. Sicotte, of Michigamme, Had Narrow Escape from Injury Sunday.

Dr. I. Sicotte, of Michigamme, had a narrow escape from serious injury Sunday on the highway between Humboldt and Michigamme, when the steering gear of his Metz touring car went out of commission. The car was almost totally wrecked.
 It was being driven at a moderate speed when the accident occurred, but being unable to control it, Dr. Sicotte was given a ride that he will likely remember for some time. From the center of the road the car jumped to one side, and, after going over a ditch, went twenty-five feet into the woods. Turning, it started back towards the road, but struck an embankment before the highway was reached and it was here that the machine was badly damaged. The front axle was driven almost back to the rear axle and the front part of the machine was considerably battered up.

HIGH SCHOOL ANNUAL ON SALE.

Copies of the "Negauneean," the annual publication of the senior class of Negaunee high school were placed on sale yesterday. The books may be purchased at Perkins' or Arnett's Drug stores, or from any high school student.
 This year's edition has an attractive cover of green paper, gilt lettering and a conventional design in dark green. The contents furnish a complete summary of the past year's school life. The printed matter shows originality and ease of expression; the photographs and drawings are clear cut and artistic. Graduates will be particularly interested in the revised alumni directory which mentions all changes of address since 1915, when a complete alumni list was published. The book is carefully planned, well written and interesting.

FIRE DAMAGED CAMP.

Fire of unknown origin did considerable damage to the logging camp of George Miller, of this city, at Lathrop early Friday morning. The cook camp, with the entire equipment, and a large amount of provisions, was a total loss. The cook camp was a large one, as it was built last year with the expectation of its being used for seven or more years. The men employed in the camp did everything possible to check the flames, but they were unable to save either the camp or any of the equipment. A large amount of meat and other provisions stored in a provision house, a few feet from the main cook camp, were also lost.

Juice of Lemons!
How to Make Skin White and Beautiful

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as sallowness, freckles and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothen and beautifier.
 Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is wonderful to smooth rough, red hands.

SICK HEADACHE.

This disease is nearly always caused by a disordered stomach. Correct that and the attacks of sick headache may be avoided. Mrs. A. L. Luckie, East Rochester, N. Y., writes: "I was a victim of sick headache, caused by a badly disordered stomach when I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets three years ago. In a few weeks' time I was restored to my former good health." Obtainable everywhere.—Advt.

WITH THE ATLANTIC FLEET AT SEA.

Ever since the war began the Atlantic fleet has been playing "I spy" with phantom U-boats and German raiders. Just because the war is 3,000 miles away, is not considered a sufficient reason for what these jacksies would call being "asleep at the switch." This picture, actually taken at sea, is one of the first to be passed by the censor, showing the activities on board a United States battleship since the United States entered the war. This is a bit of target practice. Many of the sailors are new recruits getting their training at sea.

ARGO MAKES PORT AFTER HARD FIGHT

Tug Goes After Disabled Marigold—Steamer Steel King Blowing Distress Signals.

Yesterday brought a considerable change in the situation of the eight boats which on Sunday were imprisoned in the ice off Marquette.

The Argo, loaded with iron pyrites for the Pioneer Furnace, tied up at Spear's dock at about 6:45 o'clock last night, after a several hours' fight with the ice, from her position south of Lighthouse Point.

The Argo renewed her struggle yesterday morning, after laying idle Saturday and Sunday. Durocher's tug, the Thompson, late last night was making good progress towards her dock with the coast-guard cutter Marigold in tow.

The Thompson started out early yesterday afternoon to the relief of the Marigold, which has been stuck fast in the ice a short distance off the breakwater, with a broken propeller.

The steamer Warriner, with her tow the Thompson, due at Pickand's dock with coal, were making fair progress off Lighthouse Point late last night, and her arrival was predicted for about midnight.

Anderson's fish tug the Columbia, which has been held in the ice about one mile off Sugar Loaf, between Presque Isle and Partridge Island, again took up the fight early yesterday morning, after lying idle for several days.

Not only will each artist present operatic numbers, together with some of the higher classics, but they will also offer a generous number of encores of old songs and compositions that all like so well, and which usually are minus on most modern concert programs.

Mme. Galli-Curci will be assisted by Manuel Berenguer, flutist, and Homer Samuels, at the piano, and her first number will be the Bel Song from Lakme, in Italian, with flute obligato.

Mr. Ganz will present several selections by MacDowell, who he recognizes as the genius of American composers. Mr. Ganz was one of the first of the great artists to recognize the works of MacDowell as being worthy of foremost positions on his programs.

The program for the joint recital will be as follows: 1—Sonata Eroica, op. 59, No. 3, MacDowell. Mr. Ganz.

2—Bell Song (from Lakme) (in Italian) (with flute obligato) Mme. Galli-Curci. 3—(a) Nocturnes in C, Chopin. (b) Berceuse, Chopin. (c) Polonaise in A flat, Chopin. Mr. Ganz.

VERNE CHAMBERLAIN LEAVES FOR SERVICE

Intends to Join Canadian Artillery—Has Seen Two Years of Active Service.

"I thought I was through, but I've changed my mind—I'm going to see it from a new angle this time," said Verne Chamberlain, yesterday morning as he boarded a train enroute to Toronto, Canada, where he will apply for enlistment in the Canadian field artillery.

Verne first left Marquette in September, 1914. Arriving at New Orleans he secured employment on an ocean freighter, and landed in Cardiff, South Wales, several days later. Learning the conditions there and realizing that England was greatly in need of men he enlisted in the King's Own Yorkshire infantry, and was assigned to convoy duty between Arrmentiers and Ypres, serving in that capacity during the greater part of his two years' enlistment.

Young Chamberlain recites thrilling tales of death and destruction which he declares he has witnessed on the western front of France, where the heaviest fighting is now in progress. He has himself had several very narrow escapes from death, he relates, some of them seemingly miraculous. A shell explosion he declares, partially destroyed, temporarily, the sight of one of his eyes, and today he is forced to wear thick-lensed glasses, as the result of that shock.

He figured in five engagements, has been wounded twice and, in addition, has traveled in practically every country in Europe since first leaving Marquette.

He graphically relates the varied sensations which come over a soldier when he enters his first engagement, and describes the symptoms and effects of "war-madness" which has both won and lost many battles. It is quite impossible, Chamberlain declares, for anyone who has not seen or experienced actual service to realize its horrors; to know the sensation of rushing over a field pitted with shell-holes and sprinkled with falling bombs and shells.

Chamberlain interestingly describes the methods of fighting used by the various armies engaged in the great war; how the Germans respect the cold steel of the English and the French, preferring to fight at long range with cannon and grenade, and how the gallant French are far superior to the Germans in their methods of warfare. "But at that I am certain that the Germans have the greatest surprise of their lives ahead of them," he said. "I think they will find that in spite of all that has been said about America being unprepared, both with her army and navy, that she can produce, both on land and sea. Who knows but that she has already done so?"

CITY TEAM WILL PLAY PRISON NINE TOMORROW—AFTERNOON

As a special feature of tomorrow's celebration the city baseball team will play the Marquette Prison nine in the afternoon, on Longyear field.

In view of the fact that the prison squad has already defeated the city team once, and tied the locals in a second game, a lively contest is anticipated. The game will begin at about 3 o'clock. Members of the city team are requested to meet in Buck Price's billiard rooms tonight, to make arrangements for the game.

FINAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR REGISTRATION

Sheriff Arranging Details for "Duty Day"—Prison Term for Violation of Law.

Registration day, or "Duty Day," as it has come to be called by the authorities, is fast approaching, and as the time draws near Sheriff Newcombe is making every preparation to see that no American citizen between the ages of 21 and 30, inclusive, residing in Marquette county, escapes the duty. There is still considerable misunderstanding regarding eligibility for draft.

"If an American citizen, whose age makes him subject to registration, has left the United States for Canada and is now residing there, he is required to register," was a question asked of the officials yesterday. "Most certainly," is the answer. The regulation declares that any American citizen, between the specified ages, whether ill or crippled, at home or abroad, must register on or before June 5. A perusal of the regulation, which will shortly be in the hands of every precinct registrar in the county, will reveal the manner in which the registration of such persons is carried out.

A situation which it had been hoped would be avoided in this county has come to the attention of the registration officials—a few, only a few men, between the specified ages, have stated that they are not going to register June 5. The statements were made unwisely, for they were overheard by those who have the authority to report them. As a result these men will be carefully watched and if, after "Duty Day," it is found that they have not obeyed the law, their chances of spending a year at Fort Leavenworth, the federal prison, will be bright indeed. In addition military service will be required of them; so they will be avoiding nothing—not even trouble—by refusing to register.

Must Display Flags. The Council of Defense has made the request that flags be displayed on registration day, on all public buildings, and as far as possible, on all business houses and residences. It is urged that all polling places be decorated with the stars and stripes.

The list of registrars for the city and township precincts of Marquette county is now complete, and, aside from the distribution to the various registrars of the cards and other literature, everything is in readiness for registration in this county.

May Close Stations. "Volunteer now for service in the regular army, or national guard or be drafted June 5," is the situation confronting thousands of men between the ages of twenty-one and thirty, inclusive, today. The selective draft probably will be applied to obtain recruits to all branches of the military service after the registration of the 10,000,000 men, subject to conscription.

The military authorities in charge of the selective draft have advised President Wilson to terminate volunteering and fill the regular army and national guard to war strength from the ranks of those who register on June 5, and the general belief at the war department is that the executive will adopt the recommendations.

If the president terminates volunteering he will need from 750,000 to 800,000 men to bring the regular army and national guard to war strength, as well as form the selective draft forces. Those drafted into the regular army and national guard would get into training from one to two months before the selective draft recruits.

Recruiting Slow Here. Recruiting in Marquette has been unusually slack during the past few days. The officers are at a loss to understand the situation, believing, naturally, that the approach of the registration would induce increased numbers of young men to enlist, thereby escaping the draft.

"Why not make up your mind now, before the government does it for you," is the way one of the officers good-naturedly expressed it to a prospect yesterday.

PLEASING PROGRAM FOR JOINT RECITAL

Mme. Galli-Curci and Rudolph Ganz Will Present Wide Range of Compositions.

A program, extremely pleasing and diversified, has been arranged by Mme. Galli-Curci, famous operatic star, and Rudolph Ganz, the eminent Swiss pianist, who will appear here at the Normal auditorium next Monday night in a joint recital.

Not only will each artist present operatic numbers, together with some of the higher classics, but they will also offer a generous number of encores of old songs and compositions that all like so well, and which usually are minus on most modern concert programs.

Mme. Galli-Curci will be assisted by Manuel Berenguer, flutist, and Homer Samuels, at the piano, and her first number will be the Bel Song from Lakme, in Italian, with flute obligato.

Mr. Ganz will present several selections by MacDowell, who he recognizes as the genius of American composers. Mr. Ganz was one of the first of the great artists to recognize the works of MacDowell as being worthy of foremost positions on his programs.

The program for the joint recital will be as follows: 1—Sonata Eroica, op. 59, No. 3, MacDowell. Mr. Ganz.
