future is discussed

erment and hw enforcement offi-cials are once again discussing op-tions for Camp Ministique. According to City Manager Alan Houster, who standed Fri-day's closed meeting with the DOC, two of the options discussed have always been looming. "There is the level one (minimum security facility) option, and, again, there is the option of complete closure of the facility," he said.

he said.

Despite a resurgence of the two old options, an additional possibility was introduced at Friday's "meeting, Housler said.

"The concept of making the facility a Technical Rules Violation Center (TRV) was brought up," he said.

Open Door

As the Michigan Department of Corrections (DOC) has again initiated talks about the future of Camp Manistinge, they stress that they intend to make every effort to get input from the community to help them make a mutually beneficial decision.

But how does the DOC expect to gain public input by holding a closed meeting? Granted, last Friday's discussion at the courthouse was designed so that local government and law enforcement officials would have an opportunity to discuss potential programs for the Camp Manistique's future. Still, one would expect an official announcement of the meeting to the media, or at least press release stating that the unsuccessful pre-SAI program is to be abandoned and other options are being parased. No such releases were received by this newspaper. If the DOC was sincer in their request of the theolite of the public know exactly what is going on?

Likewise, if public input is truly what the DOC wants, why are they not holding public hearings before they start their decision making process?

The staff and trainees at Camp Manistique are not the only ones that will be affected by the change, nor are the residents who live close to the facility. Changes at the camp will affect every area of our community, from our economy to our lifestyles. The DOC should be seeking the imput of the entire public, and that requires an open door for discussion.

Law and order for the Garden area was always something to debate over, whether it was a case of "he never meant it" or "let's burn the place down".

Justice was dealt out as the peo-ple saw fit. Now, the people of the area have handed the judging and prosecuting of lawbreakers to the proper authorities. How time and progress have civilized us....

According to DC Disciplinary Compliance Coordinator IV. Eliserman, in 1990, complianant Margorie Murphy paid the Timberline Company $11, 641.60 to perform construction services, but the company never did the work.

Eiserman sid that the entire amount of the contract was awarded back to Murphy as restitution, and a $2.50 film was ablo levide against the company. The final order of the bureau was handed down on Feb. 4. Eiserman added that the balled does not currently have a license to operate in the state.

District champions

Despite a 19-3 record and home court advantage, St. Ignace Saints were slain by the Manistique Emeralds vary basketball team 76-73 during the Class C District Tournament championship game last Friday.

The Emeralds, at 11-11, have taken on many of the U.P.'s best and won. Thursday (tonight) they face Mid-Peninsula Conference champs from Mountain at 8:30 per street of the Conference of th Manistique a 53-48 lead at the end of the third.

The fourth quarter was a wild one. Tkyan said. "We came out with a great deal of desire and deutermination and built up a 16 point lead in the first half of the fourth."

The Emeralds did not have a calm road to the District Championship game, as they tangled with Rudyard last Wednesday. The Emeralds came away with a 83-79 victory.

Ben Carlson pressures St. Ignace from the top of the key Friday.

"He was an inspiration to the team during the entire tournament." Ryan said of the senior, who finished with 20 points and seven steals.

"The Company of the Carlson seven seed first quarter threes as well."

Rudyard broke the game open in the second quarter, however, outscoring the Emeralds 27-15.

After allowing the Bulldogs 51 first half points, however, Manistique tightened up their defense to limit their opponent to 28 second helf points.

"We came out of the locker room and stormed right back to cut their lead to one point at 51-50," Ryan said. "But Rudyard contin-

"This is something we want to continue to do as I family. I help mostly with gathering the sap, and anywhere else they need me," she said.

Stephanie Vought, as a fifth generation syrup maker, helps out too, even though she is only four years old.

"Stephanie walks in the woods with us and rides the tractor. She loves helping with the syrup, but mostly she just loves the syrup," Viginia said.

After Robert retired from Buick Moor Devision, the Scotts brought their maple syrup making skills

In the shanty, the sap is pumped into a holding tank. From there, it is fed by a float into the evaporator.

Sidewalk clearing costs presented

Though the Public Works De-partment was once responsible for snow removal from sidewalks, City Manager Alan Housler told City Council last Monday that per-forming such a task these days would be 'very difficult'. After being approached by con-cerned parents earlier this year. Council has looked at the possibil-ity of implementing a snow ordi-nance to ensure that residents clear snow from their sidewalks so that pedestrains, expecially children on their way to school, could safely pass.

At the Feb. 22 meeting, however, Councilman Dennis Boyd proposed that the City assume the responsibility for clearing the sidewalks, as it had in the past. It was suggested that charge for the activity be added to the utility bills of City residents. Council in-structed Housler to investigate such a possibility.

structed Housler to investigate such a possibility.

According to Housler's memo to Council on the subject, about $33,000 would have to be budgeted annually to cover the expenses. Divided by 1,500 City water bills, the expense would be $22 per bill per year, which could be charged as $1.83 per month or $4.40 per month during the winter only.

$4.40 per month during the winter only.

The cost would include the purchase of a 20 horsepower tractor with a snowblower as primary equipment and a-plow for a City truck as emergency back-up equipment, both totaling $12.500 to be paid over a three year period at about $5.000 per tract. It would lake one period floor that it days to make a complete circuit of the City sidewalks.

"Clearly, this is an excessive length of time, which is to say that more than one person would have to be assigned to this work in order to accomplish it within a reasonable and acceptable amount of time," he said, adding that $25,000 annually should be set asside per winter for wages and benefits. The addition of maintenance, gas, oil, and other miscellaneous expenses would boost the annual cost another $3,000. In addition to the cost, Housler questioned the equity of charging "folks that winter elsewhere" or citizens who own a lot without some the said of the sa
