Level I transition to take place in June

Camp Manistique will be transformed into a level I minimum security prison late this spring, according to information from facility officials who have received from the Michigan Department of Corrections (DOC).
"The information we've received at this point puts June as the date for change," said Lt. Bill Houtler Wednesday morning.
Houtler added that the facility currently houses 12 pre-SAL Alternative Incarceration (SAI) trainees, with as many as five more potential boot camp participants expected to arrive at the facility Wednesday afternoon.
It is not yet known when the pre-SAL trainees will be removed from Camp Manistique to make way for the level one inmates, Houtler said.
Manistique City Manager Alan Housler said Wednesday that the Manistique sprinter Derek LaPointe (left) comes out of the final turn leading opponents in the 200 meter dash Saturday. LaPointe finished third in the race at the Class C indoor meet in Northern Michigan's "Voooper Dome". For complete meet results, see page 6A.

County abstract office to be closed in May

The Schoolcraft County Abstract Office, which has been open since 1933, will close its doors due to declining business and a lack of county revenue.
"It has always been a service to the public, but, nowadays, a public service has to support itself," said County Abstractor Mary Lee Desjardins.
The county resolved at their Tuesday meeting to close the office on May 31, with no new orders accepted after May 1. Desjardins, currently the only office employee, will be laid off.
"We will close it down until we find out which way to go with it," said County Board Chairman Sparky Lauzon Wednesday. "We will look to come up with a plan to make the office more effective, to reduce the office, or to contract it out."
Orders for abstract services have declined from 450 in 1988 to 278

Compost recycling program to start

Earlier this spring, the City-County Department of Public Works (CCDPW) contracted Manistique Rentals, Inc. to begin a recycling program to lessen the amount of household waste that goes to landfills.
By summer, the composting program, which was approved by the CCDPW at Tuesday's meeting will help local residents to recycle yard waste and similar biodegradable items.
At the former two-acre site of the Demers Sawmill on M-94 in Manistique, independent contractor Kevin Thorell, operating as "Enviro-cycle", will accept brush, leaves, grass clippings and garden debris, kitchen vegetable matter, trees, wood pallets, used kity litter, animal manure, wood ashes, and shredded paper, tentatively beginning May 1.
The public will be able to use most of the composting program will be $1500 per year, with the initial one-year contract available for a three or five year extension upon expiration. All equipment used in the Enviro-cycle will carry liability insurance for the composting operation, and will be responsible for lighting and maintenance of the site within Michigan Department of Natural Resources and LMS Health Department standards, according to the proposal.

Though Thorell's proposal allowed for the site to be open residential use during daylight hours from spring through fall, CCDPW members suggested that specific hours be posted for residential use of the compost site.

CCDPW extends contract

As a result of the City-County Department of Public Works (CCDPW) and Manistique Rentals, Inc. (MRI) will remain the exclusive type II solid waste hauler in Schoolcraft County for an additional five months beyond the May 4 contract expiration date.
The CCDPW passed the contract extension even though the contract is officially an agreement between six individual municipalities of Schoolcraft County and MRI.
"The $,01667 collection is why we're interested in the contract," said CCDPW Chairman Alan Housler, referring to the per pound fee that is collected by MRI under contract and rebated to the CCDPW for landfill closure, recycling, and administrative costs.
"We're a party to the contracts, as we're the beneficiary," Housler added.

County Prosecutor Peter Hollenbeck said Wednesday that the five month extension is not contrary to his previous advice to the CCDPW, which stated that any "material change" in the contract would have to require a rebid.
The CCDPW action comes one week after the City of Manistique approved an extension of the current solid waste removal system.
The Hiawatha Township Board has also approved the extension, supervisor and CCDPW member Tom Kitzman said Tuesday, while Manistique and Township Township representatives indicated that they, too, were considering a similar extension.
All CCDPW members approved the extension, except Gernfack Supervisor Omer Doran and Sney Supervisor Dick St. Martin, who abstained from the vote as their townships are not currently bound by the contract. CCDPW member and County Commissioner Jack Hugson was absent, as a County Board meeting was held concurrently Tuesday.
Before the extension was passed, CCDPW member Mike Dougovito suggested that the board seek documentation of the contracts with MRI made prior to May 4, 1992 that would be extended from paying the $,01667 per Continued on page 4A

Former Manistique resident Lisa White and singing partner Brian Kieffer will be performing on this year's Folkfest stage.

White and Kieffer to perform at Folkfest

Folkfest 1993 will celebrate culture from throughout the world, but not all of the entertainers at the event will feel like foreigners.
Former Manistique resident Lisa White and Brian Kieffer will sing country, pop, jazz, and dance standards on stage during Folkfest.
"It's always fun to perform in Manistique. You get a lot of hometown support," White said Friday, hours before the pair performed at the Big Springs Inn.
White, who performed with "The Natruals" and "Jill" at Manistique High School before graduating in 1984, is currently a middle school reading and history teacher in Ohio.
"Ever since I was little I've been involved with music," said White, who is the daughter of Mike and Peg White of Manistique. "It's great to have another opportunity to perform here."
At Cedar Point, White met Kieffer, a fellow performer who is currently a choir instructor at a North Canton, Ohio high school.
"Singing mixes perfectly with our teaching careers," Kieffer said. "The time off in the summer can be spent performing."
As Kieffer's choir instruction often concentrates on classical music, he said that performing country and pop songs with piano accompaniment or pre-recorded backing tracks is a welcome change of pace.
"We enjoy it. I think we will always keep performing as a part of our life. If it goes to a higher level, that will work out great," Kieffer said.
The "higher level" for the singers could mean performing on a cruise ship, and Kieffer also hopes to earn his masters degree in music and teach on the college level.
In addition to the Folkfest gig, the pair's immediate plans include marriage, as they will be wed on July 31.

County opposes possible land swap

The Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners have backed some Manistique Riverfront property owners in opposition to a proposed land swap in Doyle Township.
Landowner Tony Zambrowski has been in contact with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), offering a parcel of land in Luce County for Manistique River State Forest land.
Zambrowski said last month that he intended to use the state forest land, in addition to other Doyle Township property he currently owns, to create a wildlife habitat.
At Tuesday's meeting, Doyle Township property owners, including Kenneth Glat and Lindsey Frenette, informed the County Board of their opposition to the transfer of riverfront state forest lands to a private individual.
"After hearing the opposing property owners' presentation, the County Board adopted a resolution to send the letter to the DNR opposing the swap," Zambrowski was not at the meeting.
"The county's position is to meet with the landowners and the DNR this Saturday," said Chairman Sparky Lauzon. "We will oppose the swap in a letter until we find out exactly what is happening."

Glat said in a letter to the Pioneer-Tribune that the proposed swap would allow access through the land even if it is transferred to Zambrowski's ownership, but area sportsmen would not be able to use the land adjacent to the stream.
"These owners made investments in their properties believing that the state land existing would always be there for their use," Glat said. "It serves to devalue their property for other prospective buyers should they decide to sell their camps in the future."
Glat also said that the state land is an important migration corridor for deer, and privatization and fencing could adversely affect the deer population.
Property owners opposing the swap also presented the County Board with photographs of deer that had been caught in a fence that borders Zambrowski's current property.
Zambrowski said Wednesday that the fence was installed to keep the winter feeding area for deer clear of human disturbances.
Initially, Zambrowski proposed

Valedictorian, salutatorian named at Manistique High

Manistique High School has named Angela Sartori and Mandy Males as salutatorian for their 1000th graduating class.
Sartori plans to major in business administration at St. Norbert College in DePue, WI. Currently class vice-president and a member of the National Honor Society, Sartori has a 10.881 grade point average and recently received an award from the Manistique Academic Booster Club for four years of scholarship.
In addition, Sartori has been involved in girls basketball and track, as well as pep club, prom committee, and powder puff football. The valedictorian is the daughter of Roger and Joanne Swarzenski.
Males, the 1993 salutatorian, plans to attend Central Michigan University this fall. She is a member of the National Honor Society and recently received honors from the Manistique Academic Booster Club for her four years of academic accomplishment. With a 10.833 grade point average, Males was selected to receive All State Honorable Mention on the Detroit Free Press Academic Team.
Males has been active in track, on the pom pom squad, and was a freshman cheerleader. She has also been involved with the senior play and served on the prom, homecoming, and winterfest committees. She is the daughter of Robert and Deborah Males.

Local Rotary inducts first woman member

Though the local Rotary Club has been in existence since 1923, it was not until last week that a woman attended a Rotary meeting as a member.
Manistique Pioneer-Tribune Owner-Publisher Leanne Trebilcock was the first woman invited to join the service organization.
"In my opinion, Leanne is definitely a prominent business person. She has a reputation for straightforwardness and integrity," said Rotary President Dan White. "We are excited about having Leanne as a member, just as we are excited about having any new member."
"I see this as a reflection of the changing attitudes towards women in business in the community," said Trebilcock. "I know that I am only the first of several women in the area that will be invited to join."
According to White, Trebilcock's induction does not mark a change in Rotary International policy.
"It's not by its nature, a gender-oriented organization," White said, adding that prominence in the business community is the true criteria for membership.
"The fact that our chapter was exclusively men was an unspoken rule," White said. "Many women in a community like ours are qualified, but they have been virtually overlooked."
White added that the Manistique Rotary Club was one of the last in its region, which includes Northern Michigan and Northern Wisconsin, to have an exclusively male membership.
Rotary International seeks to unify the business people to offer services to the community, according to White.
While international efforts have focused on funding the worldwide elimination of polio and international student exchanges, the local Rotarians have recently been involved with the 1993 CBC Drive and Michigan Department of Transportation's "Adopt-a-Highway" program, as well as offering academic scholarships to Manistique High School seniors.

River clean-up group seeks public input

Area residents were told Monday night that they will have some say in the possible future clean-up of the Manistique River due to the winter feeding area for deer cleared by the Manistique River Public Advisory Council (PAC) by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR).
The volunteer PAC members will be the only ones offering input, as the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the riverfront businesses that the EPA points to as potential polluters indicated Monday that they, too, have opinions on what should be done to the polluted river.
As the lower 1.7 miles of the river is one of 12 Michigan Areas of Concern (AOC) prioritized for clean up, the DNR is overseeing the implementation of a new Remedial Action Plan (RAP), updating a 1987 RAP done by the DNR.
According to DNR RAP Program Chairperson Diana Klemmas, a RAP has three stages which include: "defining environmental problems, their causes, and what uses of the river have been impaired; identifying water quality goals and creating a plan to get there; and, finally, confirming that all beneficial uses are restored."

The PAC will serve as the "liaison between the RAP team and the general public," Klemmas said.
The LMS Health Department has been awarded a $15,000 grant from the state for setting up the local PAC, with Mark McCune acting as the organizational chairperson. Nomination forms were handed out at the meeting for interested citizens to apply for PAC membership.
Despite the DNR's intent to include the public in what Klemmas called an "ecosystem approach," Manistique Papers President and General Manager Leif Christensen, who has been involved with RAP coordination as a member of Statewide PAC, told those present at the organizational meeting that the EPA is seeking more immediate action.
On Apr. 8, Manistique Papers, Edison South Electric Company, and Washnawsky Brothers Iron and Metal received notice that the EPA is currently planning to remove PCB contaminated sediments from the Manistique Harbor using a diver-assisted Continued on page 4A

Corporal Douglas J. LaFolle, an eight year veteran of the Prince George County, MD Police Department, was recently honored by the St. John N. Neumann Assembly and Washington District Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus for "both a pattern of outstanding police service and repeated acts of valor offered to enhance the safety of our community."

LaFolle, the son of former Manistique residents Delor LaFolle and Connie (LaFolle) Eske and the grandson of the late Pete LaFolle and Reva LaFolle of Garden, was involved in a 1992 pursuit of armed robbery suspects.

While fleeing the scene of the robbery, the suspects fired numerous times at LaFolle, striking his car. After an accident, the suspects fled on foot. LaFolle captured one suspect at the scene.

Subsequent investigation led to the arrest of two more suspects, and continuing investigation may lead to future arrests.

LaFolle is a veteran U.S. Army Military Police Officer. Following his service, LaFolle joined the Metropolitan Police Department in Washington, D.C. where, in addition to numerous commendations, he received both the Bronze Medal of Valor and the Silver Medal of

At home with Sarah

by Sarah Bignall

If you were asked to choose your very favorite dessert ever, wouldn't that be a hard choice - so many come to mind. This chocolate fudge pie would certainly rank up there on my list of top favorites. It is an old recipe that I have loved for years. It is pretty as a picture and so delicious - one you would want to serve to very special people. If you are a chocolate lover, this one is for you.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE PIE

1 quart vanilla ice cream	6 oz. (1 cup) chocolate chips
1 box vanilla wafers	1 cup miniature marshmallows
pecan halves	1 cup canned milk
pinch salt

Melt together salt, chocolate chips, marshmallows and canned milk. Stir until smooth; set aside and cool. Remove ice cream from the freezer and let it set until it is of spreading consistency. (Do not let it get too soft or it will get grainy when you refreeze it.) Line a 9 inch pie pan with vanilla wafers, standing them up around the side as well as the bottom. Layer 1/4 of the ice cream (about 1 cupful) over the wafers on the bottom. Cover with a layer of chocolate sauce that has cooled. Continue for 4 layers, using up all the ice cream and chocolate sauce. Garnish with pecan halves on the top. Return to freezer to harden. Serves 6 to 8.

Sarah says . . . If you are going to discard an old purse, leather or plastic, think of recycling. Using pinkish sheets cut out plant mats. They are waterproof, keep pots from scratching a table, and keep pots from sliding around. They are also good under baskets which are so popular today. Cut any size or shape you desire.

Food for thought . . . a triangle of pie is a good way to round out a square meal.

Her contributions include: senior class advisor for the last 13 years, varsity track coach for 15 years, cross-country coach for one year, kindergarten graduation coordinator since the school began, cheerleading coach for 10 years, St. Jutes Research Hospital for Cancer marathon for 10 years, and CCD teacher for 10 years.

Sobieski also helped coordinate the breakfast program at the school, which Big Bay secretary Carol Morrison called "very beneficial for the students."

"We serve 70 to 80 students a day," Morrison said. "That's something that Mrs. Sobieski deserves a lot of thanks for. She is always a great help at the school. She is always upbeat and has a very happy attitude, and she shares it with everyone. I don't know what we'd do without her."

Arlene Bartholomew, who has worked with Sobieski for 17 years, said Sobieski is "very much for the school. It's her life, and the kids love her."

In 1992 Sobieski was nominated into "Who's Who in American Education."

"I don't know who nominated me, but it was a surprise and a nice honor," Sobieski said.

For Sobieski, the high point of the year is always the senior class trip.

"I try to give the kids everything they can see on these class trips and still have a good time," Sobieski said. "We went to Washington, D.C. for nine years and that was the best, but now we go to Chicago, which is still nice."

"But in Washington, D.C., these kids had a chance to view life with their own eyes and not through the television. When these students see the homelessness with no shoes pushing everything they own in a cart, even the hardest kids cry. Our kids have never really seen life on their own. When I take these kids on their class trips, I know this is their last year of being a kid. In another couple weeks they'll be out on their own to decide their future. It gives me a great sense of accomplishment to know these kids have finished high school and will go on."

Bartholomew said, "These kids have a lot more respect for Mrs. Sobieski when they come back from their trip. They have a chance to see her as not an authority figure, but as a person and a friend."

Sobieski said kids are changing over the years; even the little ones. She explained, "Kids are smarter that they used to be. I think we push our little ones harder than we used to. I like working with little ones because they're so cuddly, they're not moody, and you can talk to them. You can reason with them."

Sobieski has had many funny experiences since beginning at Big Bay de Noe School, but the one that sticks with her is when Violet Sargent was teaching kindergarten years ago.

"It was after hunting season and Mrs. Sargent asked the kids, 'If any of your fathers got a deer this season, raise your hand.' Half the class raised their hands," Sobieski said. "Then she asked those whose fathers didn't get a deer to raise their hands."

Everyone else raised their hands, except for one little boy.

"Then Mrs. Sargent asked, 'How come you didn't raise your hand?' The little boy looked up and said, 'My dad got two deer,'" Sobieski recalled. "Back then, you were only supposed to get one deer. Kids say the darndest things."

Sobieski also takes the Christmas season to heart, as she takes responsibility for getting the decorations put up in the hallways and in the school.

"If it wasn't for her, most of the stuff probably wouldn't get done. We wouldn't have a lot without her," Morrison said.

"Christmas is a special time for me," Sobieski said. "I decorate my home and we always turn the Christmas lights on Thanksgiving night. I decorate my house because my 12 grandchildren love it. I decorate at the school because all the kids love it."

Sobieski carried the spirit of Christmas and all of the seasons in her heart when she said, "I bring the kids in and I kick them out. I love them all, and they'll all have a special place in my heart."

Fish Report

by Sgt. John Walker (Ret.)

Well, would you believe it's almost the end of April and we are still suppose to get snow? Now this wouldn't be too bad except if you are a trout fisherman, then you may have a problem this coming Saturday when it opens. The water is going to be way up and up along Lake Superior you may need to walk in over the snowdrifts.

I have heard very little about any melt runs, but already all the experts are telling you they went south and/or where they went. Now could it be that they have not figured out that it is spring yet? I have a feeling they will make it within the next couple of weeks.

All the "snowbirds" are wondering if they should head home from down South or wait till July 4 just to make sure they get home after the warm weather gets here to stay. Now, we hardly souls who have to stay here all year around get to enjoy a nice warm day up in the high 40s, then if it gets into the high 50s summer has to be here! Right? But you stop and think about it, we sure do miss a lot of bad weather just by living here in the U.P. The good Lord sends it south of us half the time.

Well, have you ever got into one of those moods, that get you in trouble just for thinking, but what you are thinking is just too good to let pass, so you have to stir the pot and let things fall where they may. That's how Teivo feels this morning, so if you do not like what he says, blame him, he won't mind he doesn't have too many feelings anyway.

Yesterday noon I was watching TV when they had live pictures of the fire down in Waco, TX where it looks like almost 90 people got burned up, nine so far got out.

EDC receives grant for home improvements

"Home Improvement" may soon be more than a hit television series for some Schoolcraft County residents, thanks to a $200,000 Community Development Block Grant.

The grant, processed under the Michigan Department of Commerce Housing Grant Program, will be used by the county to assist people with low to very low incomes interested in rehabilitating their homes.

"This is actually a re-funding of the program we have," said Economic Development Corporation (EDC) Director Linda Arthock, local administrator of the funds.

Arthock said that county rehabilitation efforts will primarily

The point is I do you realize! almost 90 people lost their lives at one time, not counting those 51 days ago on account of GUN CONTROL LAWS!!

This is the main reason they were going in there in the first place. Were these people robbing banks? no, were these people out shooting up towns? no, were they trying to make a problem for their fort? no, not that they had heard of. The only thing they did was own illegal weapons, by the federal gun control laws. This cost almost 100, 100 people their lives. But do you ever hear that this is the reason? No!!! But let some fruitcake take a rifle and go into town and shoot under 10 people and they want to outlaw every gun in the country. Does it make sense, will it work, no. A lot of these firearms that those in Texas had were already illegal by law and they still managed to get them, then it cost around 100 people their lives. Would it be right for us to get on our soap boxes and get all the gun laws repealed after they cost 100 lives, the way those who want gun control get wound up over shootings from the other side? Remember, this whole mess took place on account of Gun Control Laws, not because there were none! These are the laws that the ATF agents enforce, the ones that caused them to try to raid the place in the first place. The question is, if they were in their own little world, not bothering anyone, not coming out into public causing problems with their firearms, was it worth around 100 lives to try to take their guns away from them? Teivo doesn't know, but it makes one think after 20 little kids got burned up.

P.S. For you who don't know it, I worked 25 years in law enforcement and am not a gun nut. In fact, for as good a shot as I am I could hunt with a single shot and have just as good of luck.

National Honor Society inductees, officers named

For meeting high standards of scholarship, service, leadership, and character, 18 Manistique High School students were recently inducted into the membership of the National Honor Society (NHS). The students were selected by a faculty council, and were honored during an evening ceremony at the Ramada Inn.

New NHS officers for the 1993-1994 school year will be Shannon Lawrence, president; Renee LaFleur, vice-president; Scott Sholander, secretary; and Brian Larson, treasurer.

"National Honor Society members are expected to continue their exemplary contributions to the school and community," said Rosemary Sablack, chapter advisor.

NHS chapters exist in three-

Manistique middle-distance man Carl Dougovito (white singlet) runs his leg of the 3,200 meter relay during Saturday's season opening indoor meet at Northern Michigan's "Voooper Dome".

NMU meet opens track season

Manistique track team members got a preview of their Class C competitors at a season-opening indoor meet at Northern Michigan University.

This was a good meet to see what the other competition looked like," said girls coach Barb Landis.

Manistique boxers win at Golden Gloves

Manistique boxers Jeremy Carroll and Greg Reed won their respective divisions at last weekend's Golden Gloves Championship at Waukesha, WI.

Carroll won the 147 pound novice championship by a three round decision.

Reed won the 119 pound bracket after his opponent did not show.

Mike Goudreau and Dave O'Hare of Manistique also competed in the Golden Gloves Tournament.

Collins earns award

David P. Collins of Fayette is one of 23 Western Michigan University students who received awards to spend the winter semester work on research projects with faculty mentors.

Collins, a senior member of the Lee Honor College majoring in music, received the award for his research project with professor of music Ramon Zapko on the composition of a "Chamber Symphony".

Each student who applied for the award was required to have a grade point average of 3.3 or above. During the research semester, students must carry at least 12 credit hours of course

"It was also good to see what we need to work on and where we need to gain some experience."

Of the 12 teams competing, girls came home with a seventh place finish, while the boys team took ninth among their Class C peers.

O'Hare was defeated in his quest for the 165 pound novice class championship.

The four boxers qualified for the championship by winning preliminary Golden Gloves fights in Waukesha on previous weekends.

"The Boxing Club would like to thank Chet Gould for his generous contribution towards our last trip," said Coach Hank Swanson.

"Thanks also to Jane Swanson and Greg Cass of Milwaukee for giving us a place to stay on our second trip."

The Boxing Club will put on a home show in the Manistique High School gym on Apr. 24 at 7 p.m.

For the girls, Sue Fleck took first place in the high jump at 4-foot-10, a record at the first annual meet.

Alison Malloch also earned points for the girls' Emerald team, placing fifth in the shot put with a throw of 30-foot-1/4.

"The team did a fine job overall, running some good times," said Landis. "The incoming freshmen will certainly make a swollen ankle to the team now that we have the first meet jitters out of the way."

In the boys meet, run concurrently with the girls, Manistique ran away with their heat in the 800 relay at 1:41, but had to settle for second, as meet winner St. Ignace won the race with a 1:39.5 time in a different heat.

Emerald sprinter Derek LaPointe won his heat in the 200 but placed third overall in the event.

Andy LaVigne placed fourth in the 55 meter dash, followed closely by LaPointe, who took fifth.

Richie Blowers took two laps on the NMU track with a swollen ankle to place fourth in the 400 with a time of 54.8 seconds.

The Manistique boys enjoyed success in areas other than the sprint events, however, as Andy Ozanich took sixth in the 1,600 meter run.

Sue Fleck arches over the bar during girls' high jump competition at Northern Michigan University last Saturday. Fleck took first in the event with a jump of 4-foot-10.

Sprinter Andy LaVigne (second from right) lunges over the line for fourth place in the 55 meter dash Saturday, as Derek LaPointe (right) sprints to a fifth place finish.

Michigan State Police, Manistique Post, said that on April 15 they received a report of a runaway juvenile female in the Dodge Lake area. Later she was arrested for being a runaway and breaking and entering. Her juvenile male companion from Escanaba was also arrested and charged with breaking and entering of an area cabin.

Two fifteen-year old males and a 12-year-old male were arrested in connection with breaking and entering and malicious destruction of two camps on Cooper Rd. last weekend. The arrests were made following an investigation of the break-ins.

A U.P.S. truck overturned on US-2 near the Schoelcraft County Airport on April 16 at 10:10 p.m. Driver Alvin A. Schwiderson of Rudyard told police that when he started to slow his truck as he was driving west, the wind forced his rear trailer to the south. Then the rest of the truck jackknifed and went into a ditch. The driver was not injured.

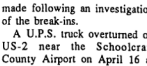

Rhea M. Groleau of Rapid River and Byron R. Hazel of Garden were taken by EMS for treatment at St. Francis Hospital of injuries received in an accident on April 15 at 10:20 a.m. Hazel was westbound told police he saw Groleau who was eastbound lose control of the vehicle she was driving. He tried but was unable to avoid the collision.

Roberta B. Barton was cited for failure to yield following a collision on US-2 on April 20.

The collision occurred as she attempted to drive her vehicle from the parking lot at Tyelene's Restaurant.

According to police, Leo F. Cameron was eastbound on US-2 at 11:10 a.m. on April 15 when his vehicle went onto the shoulder of the road. He said his vehicle failed to respond when he tried to drive back on the roadway and it hit a stump.

Historically, spring is when most wildfires occur in Michigan. It is also the time when most large wildfires occur. To reduce the number of wildfires, fire agencies across the state will not be issuing burning permits under the State Forest Fire Law from April 17 - May 16, 1993.

Where did Germfask really get its name?

Memories

by Del Sheppard

According to a write up by E.W. Kiebler on Germfask in 1956, there's a report on file in Lansing, on the "Organization and Official Record" of Germfask township. In this report there is a copy of the letter from the "The Board in reference to Germfask. He also assumes this letter came from the Board of Supervisors, which at that time John Costello was county clerk of Schoolcraft County. These were the members present in the Germfask area at the meeting.

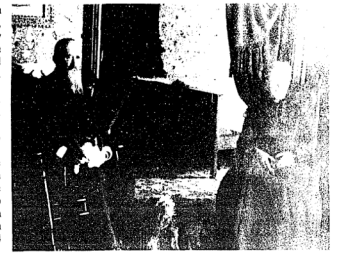

G-Grant, John; E-Ezekiel Ackley; R-Mosher, John; M-Mead, Thaddeus; F-French, William; A-Ackley, John; S-Stewart, Alexander; K-Knaggs, Hezekiah.

He also states that the members could not settle on a name for the township and one member suggested to take a letter from each present to come up with the name of Germfask--there the above arrangement. Now I do believe that there was such a letter "PUT" as was at a dinner one time in Germfask and there was this orderly listing acting at the same table as I. The conversation got around to the naming of Germfask and the lady made this statement. A gentleman from Germfask who was at that time Representative of the area, had told her about reading a letter of this type in which the letter "R" was Roat not Robinson. His statement does not go along with the above. He was the same person that I asked about the letter "R" and he gave me Roat.

On with the story, right or wrong, it will be a little history of each of the old timers, which they duly deserve. John Grant has been covered. Matthew Edge for the "E". Of all, this man has the least amount of history recorded on him. Homestead was filed on 8-10-82. The description T 44 N, R 13 W, NE 1/4 of Sec. 14. He worked at a logging camp in the winter of 1883. It's evident that he was fed up with the home-steading way of life, so he turned the whole thing over to a man by the name of Thomas Kennedy who at that time was the camp cook. After Kennedy had come and looked over his new holdings, he stopped at my Grandparents home for supper. It was then that he said, "I'd taken over the former Edge homestead and he was also returning to Canada to claim a bride, then he would return and be their neighbor."

The letter "R" we don't want to even go into that. Thaddeus Mead for the letter "M". Filing date 10-25-81. Description T 44 N, R 13 W, NE 1/4 of Sec. 26. I talked to a Mrs. Fanny (Cornell) Blizard about Mead. She in some way was re-

W.W. French and wife. (Del Sheppard collection.)

French started his practice in Canada. In 1870 he moved to North Branch, MI. In 1873 he moved back to Canada where his son Charles was born. The family again moved back to Michigan in 1878. The area became crowded with five other doctors in the North Branch locale, so he took his family north to St. Ignace. Here he became the forerunner of the pioneers for the Germfask area. Through a team of horses belonging to French is how Ezekiel Ackley came to the area. French had left the team at Ackley's until he went north and got settled in Ackley. He was then to bring the team to him; which he did in October of 1880. When the two met in St. Ignace, French told Ackley about the homesteads being let out some 100 miles west of St. Ignace. Ackley went west to look at the area. When returning to St. Ignace he went to Mackinac Island where he filed a claim for himself and also for Dr. French. French moved his family west to the Germfask area in 1882. He practiced medicine here until 1892 when he moved west of Manistique to Thompson. French lived there until 1895. There's nothing definite on this but he must have moved back to the Germfask area for it's there that both he and his wife are buried. I'd like to make a personal note here. If anyone has read Kieblers book on the history of Germfask, there are two listings in the book for the names of the 12 freeholders. I see no reason why he had the second one printed, for it's not accurate.

This is one of the print outs from my program.

As you can see all three are similar, each having basically the same information, but the layout is different. You get the idea. You are grouping families together. A married individual will first show up as a child on one Group Sheet and again on another as a parent.

Now dig out that list that you made for you, your spouse, and kids. Make yourself a Family Group Record. You do have to know the city and/or county where your subject people lived in 1910. If you're not sure of the county, there is a book at our library you will want to check. It is called "Hand Book for Genealogists", Everton Publishing Co., which gives a state by state synopsis of each state's history, as well as a listing of the counties, when the county was formed, the date it was formed, and from what parent territories (if any) were part of that formation. Schoolcraft County for example, was formed in 1871, and made up from portions of Chippewa, Houghton, and Marquette Counties. Interesting, no?

Now you see what's happening. Specific information may start to get vague or non-existent. But write down what you have and who gave that information to you...the source! Very important. ALWAYS RECORD YOUR SOURCE(S)! ALWAYS. I didn't learn this rule until I was well into the effort, but I learned. Get used to doing it right off and it will be almost automatic. It makes it a lot easier later when you have to go back and check something. And you will have to go back. Believe me.

You are starting to build my kind of reverse pedigree chart. Don't do it if this is not what you want to do.

Somewhere soon you are going to run into a problem of not having the information and not knowing where to get it.

One of the most frustrating things is not having family members (and other sources for that matter, but mostly family) responding in a "Timely" fashion. One of my first cousins, whom I didn't know existed up to over a year ago, has some key information about cousins on my Dad's side. I've written two letters, made numerous phone calls. I get reassurances from her and her kids, but to date, no information. (Rule #5 and #10)

If your ancestors are native to the state of Michigan, it will be somewhat easier. Assume you are starting with your parents and working back, and you get to your Grandparents. Little or no information. Try the 1910 US Census. The US Census are on microfilm reels, 35mm. In the U.P. we don't have big libraries like many larger cities, where they have the census for the whole state, but we do have other options.

(Now I don't know if Houghton and Marquette counties then were the same as we know them today. You'd have to check that out.) The reason you may have to know this, is in event you have to track a record/event at a county seat prior to 1871, it might not be at the Schoolcraft County Courthouse. Got that?

Our library also has a limited collection of microfilm for Schoolcraft County. You'd have to check to see if they have what you want. They do have a microfilm reader available for public use.

As I stated, the US Census are on 35mm reels, 1790 to 1920. There are roughly 5000 documents per reel. It takes me about 11 hours to go through one reel and that is way too fast. And I can do it only for about six hours at a time. Then my eyes go batty! Actually, six hours at a setting is too much because your eyes get very tired and you miss some information. (rule 2 & 3)

For 1910, Schoolcraft County shares a reel with another county and a part of a third county. Not bad. The city of Syracuse has four reels. Still not too bad. But the City of Philadelphia has 30! (They didn't break out the cities from the counties). Can you imagine going through 30 reels of film at 11 hours each? And six hours a crack? I'd be heading non-stop for the lazing academy. (There is a "Soundex" system will help find way to get around this, it's an indexing system adopted in the 30s called "Soundex". I've used it, messed it up, and tried again. As I am now in over my head on the Soundex system I will cease and desist any further discussion on same. But remember such a system exists when you run across it...and hopefully somebody who knows how to use it better than I) In large cities, you will have to know the "Enumeration District" 1381-1384, Sheet 17 and line 64 number, or "ED" in order to find the correct reel. Actually 1880 and later use "ED", 1870 uses ED (They didn't break out the cities or Ward, before 1870 "Ward" is used. Gotta be correct you know.) US Census's are cataloged by State, County, and ED. The "Soundex" system will help find the proper ED. And while we're on ED's, when you are recording your source of information from the Census, always record the year code, the reel number, ED #, vol. #, Sheet #, and line.

For example, 1625-1639, Vol. 266, ED 1391, Sheet 17, Line 64. This means it is the 1920 US census, reel 1639, Pennsylvania: Philadelphia Co. and City, that contain ED's 1294-1386 and ED's 1381-1384, Sheet 17 and line 64. All this will take me right to my grandfather and his family. I did find an advantage though, of having the opportunity to review all four of the Syracuse reels. I found names of people I had thought were relatives, copied down the information, and later, when I proved they were indeed relatives, I had the information. I do not have to reorder those reels. (There is an associated story with this that will be included in...yep, You got it...later!)
