City faces $165,000 budget deficit

by Robert Kirkbride
Cuts in the city's budget must be made to cover a $165,000 deficit spending situation accumulated over the last two fiscal years, but councilmembers are trying to make the cuts without making layoffs.

In a memo sent to the mayor and city council members from City Manager Alan Housler, Housler suggests the elimination of two positions in the Department of Public Works, and possible restructuring of the management structure in the department. Council member Mike Dougovio to said he is concerned about eliminating jobs from the Department of Public Works. "We have the smallest public works staff for a city our size as compared to just about anywhere," he said. "How will we be able to keep up with our general day-to-day work?" Housler said things would have to slow down for the department and snow removal may be a problem.

"Before we do this," said Dougovio, "I would like to see a meeting with the staff of the Department of Public Works. "Maybe we can find a workable solution by getting ideas on alternate ways to cut the budget. "All possible solutions should be looked at before layoffs. "I don't think long term layoffs accomplish much. From what I understand we would have to pay unemployment and health benefits to the men who would be laid off. In addition to the layoffs, Housler outlined two other possible solutions to the deficit situation.

The other reductions would be accomplished by not filling a current vacancy in the Clerk/Treasurer office and a retirement in the Public Safety Department command structure, including a restructuring of the department, eliminating one command position.

In his letter to the city council, Housler said, "The above listed staff reductions result in four positions being eliminated, at least until economic times or other favorable financial situations occur. These personnel decisions that must be made are among the most difficult tasks which must be accomplished.

"However, as mentioned earlier, we have been slipping financially and the prognosis for the future due to state-wide issues holds no hope of improvement. "I am hopeful that even with these cuts, we can continue to serve the citizens of the community in a reasonably efficient and effective manner. Housler said the city is waiting to receive the 1992-93 audit report on the recently completed audit to be 100 percent sure the deficit numbers are correct.

"We don't expect too many changes from the figures we are now projecting," he said.

Council member Don Halling said he did not see the deficit problems coming. "I guess I was lulled to sleep," he said. The deficit the city is facing came about partly because of decreases in state funding. "...our position has further deteriorated," Housler's letter says, "and due to cuts in state funding, the future does not hold promise for reversal of this trend."

Housler said he contacted the Michigan Department of Treasury, which said Manistique has five years to pay off the budget deficit. "The deficit necessitates the preparation of a plan to eliminate this situation," the letter says. "It is quite important that a plan be implemented as soon as possible in order to make as much headway as we can during this fiscal year."

"...the fact that we could take this much time, it certainly does not appear to be in the best interest of the city to do so."

Dougovio said the budget balanced when it was voted on earlier in the year. "We passed the budget long ago," he said, "now it seems it's not accurate statement of the revenues. "If your recall, when we passed it, it was a balanced fund. "The major problem seems to be the carry over (from past year's deficits)."

Halling echoed Dougovio's concern. "It seemed like a reasonable budget and a realistic attempt," he said. "I'm surprised."

Several members of the city council said the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) should help with the budget deficit. "Since the DDA was implemented," said Housler, "they receive $270,000 that would have gone into our fund."

"That is the largest single item by which we are taking a loss." Dougovio said one of the major things the city does for the DDA is snow removal. "I hope things like this are chargeable items for DDA paybacks," he said. Housler said, to date there has not been any progress with conversations with the DDA to form a concrete proposal to transfer funds for services rendered in the DDA district.

"They have an obligation to help us over the rough spots," said Halling. When asked by Mayor John Stewart if he would support a proposal to rechannel funds, Housler said he would. "This can't lie on the table for a month," Housler said. "A special DDA meeting would need to be set up in the real near future. "I would advise the city council to attend meeting to get a better feel for where the DDA is coming from."

Stewart said, "It would be reasonable to go back to the drawing board and get a meaningful transfer from the DDA. "We are looking for that long sought after cooperation."

In addition to DDA compensation, the city council also discussed ways in which the new heavy equipment being purchased by the city could be financed without the proposed $300,000 down payment. "Maybe we can arrange a new down payment," Halling said. "The $300,000 would give us our first year reduction without the layoffs."

"Most of us would not be comfortable buying equipment on the backs of layoffs. Continued on page 4A

EDC strives for goals

The Schoolcraft County Economic Development Corporation (EDC) decided at Monday's regular meeting to compile a list of their goals for the coming year. Dixie Klagstad, the chairperson of the EDC said setting the goals for the following year is an annual process the EDC goes through. "We need ideas for short term and long term goals," she said. "What we normally do is have a brainstorming session." Klagstad said the executive board would meet and discuss directions in which to take the EDC. "We are pleased some of the past goals have already been met," she said. "I think it shows that we have positive leadership in the community."

"The EDC discussed the loss of the utility pole business that was courted by the EDC to Shingleton in Alger County. "Dan Graves (who was coordinating the expansion for the company) set up in Shingleton," Bob Pankaj said. "He really appreciated the time and effort that was spent trying to get him in Schoolcraft County." Klagstad said there were problems finding a suitable location for the business, which needed a large enough parcel of property with rail line accessibility. James Anderson, the new EDC director said the proposal being discussed by the Schoolcraft County Commission to take 3 to 5 percent of the administration part

EPA to cap 'hotspot' in harbor; will use federal Superfund

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) will begin temporarily capping one "hotspot" in the Manistique Harbor without the support of Manistique Papers or Edison Sault.

Larry Leveque, spokesperson for the EPA on Manistique Harbor said that although the EPA is continuing to negotiate with Manistique Papers and Edison Sault, the EPA feels something needs to be done. In a letter explaining the position of the agency, the EPA says, "...One of these 'hotspots'...poses potential problems that require immediate action. "Its position in the river, along with its shallow depth, subject it to higher flow rates of the Manistique River. "This risk would increase due to the sediments and cause an additional migration of PCBs into the harbor and lake. "This risk would increase in case of a severe storm during the coming winter and spring. The location where they will place the cap is in front of the fish processing plant along the east bank of the river. Leveque said the installation of the cap would take approximately 10 days. Eric Bourdo of Manistique Papers said the EPA called Manistique Papers and Edison Sault at about 2:45 p.m. Friday, Sept. 17 and wanted an answer if they planned on helping with the one temporary cap by the end of Monday, Sept. 20.

In a letter from Don Sawruk of Edison Sault and Eric Bourdo of Manistique Papers, the two companies said they did not feel 24 hours was adequate to examine the situation. "Manistique Papers and Edison Sault are quite surprised to learn that U.S. EPA is proceeding in a manner which is inconsistent with our position. "In short, the Agency has once again asked us to sign a "blank check" for a project with an undefined scope, without any detailed technical information and with a totally unworkable timeframe for preparing a meaningful response."

"When we will go through the Cost Recovery Phase where we collect for what we spent." Bourdo said he thinks the EPA could have gone about these latest talks in a more cooperative way. "I hate to see money tossed down the drain," he said. In Manistique Papers' and Edison Sault's letter it says, "Our companies cannot commit to undertake such action without adequate justification and support. "We believe that U.S. EPA is proceeding in a manner which is inconsistent with our position. "In short, the Agency has once again asked us to sign a "blank check" for a project with an undefined scope, without any detailed technical information and with a totally unworkable timeframe for preparing a meaningful response."

"A single working day to respond to a specific request of this nature is inappropriate and unfair, under the best of circumstances. "In this situation, given the absence of any detailed information on the scope of the proposed project, the one day turnaround request is shocking. The letter from the EPA says, "To temporarily mitigate the environmental risk posed by this "hotspot," the U.S. EPA will install a Gtotech cover over it. "This one half acre cover will be anchored to the bedrock upstream of the "hotspot" to keep the cover in place. "U.S. EPA officials will discuss this cover, as well as other subject-related to Manistique Harbor Superfund Site at the public meeting to be held Wednesday, Sept. 29, 1993 at 7:30 p.m. in the Manistique High School Auditorium. The temporary cap will be paid for out of the environmental Superfund set up by the U.S. Government to clean up polluted areas. "We will use the Superfund," Leveque said, "which is public money. "Then we will go through the Cost Recovery Phase where we collect for what we spent." Bourdo said he thinks the EPA could have gone about these latest talks in a more cooperative way. "I hate to see money tossed down the drain," he said. In Manistique Papers' and Edison Sault's letter it says, "Our companies cannot commit to undertake such action without adequate justification and support. "We believe that U.S. EPA is proceeding in a manner which is inconsistent with our position. "In short, the Agency has once again asked us to sign a "blank check" for a project with an undefined scope, without any detailed technical information and with a totally unworkable timeframe for preparing a meaningful response."

City seeks cable regulation

The Manistique City Council will discuss a resolution that will be introduced to regulate cable television at Monday's regular council meeting at 7 p.m. at 7 p.m. at City Manager Alan Housler, who has been working on the ordinance for the city said under the 1992 Cable Act passed by the U.S. Congress, the city has the right to regulate cable rates if the city feels they are excessive. "The theory behind the law is that cable rate increases have been out of control," he said. "They have been in excess of the rate of inflation." John Dagenais, Bressan Communications' general manager said the rate increases before the law were necessary to keep up with increased programming costs. "The programming costs were over inflation," he said. "I feel our rate increases were justified."

Housler said that although the city could charge a 2 to 5 percent franchise fee under the law, it will not be doing so. "I feel we could have only done that at the opening of the franchise," he said.

Money tight for county

According to figures discussed at Tuesday's County Commissioner's meeting by Board Chairman Louis Lauzon, the county may have a deficit of approximately $397,000 next year. Lauzon said the county has lost money from the state and has higher operating costs than in past years. "The $397,000 could jump to $900,000 by next year," he said, which is approximately half the county's budget. "I do plan on presenting the board and public with a budget in December," Lauzon said. "There won't be any secrets in this budget. "We will have a rough time in the coming years, there is no doubt about it."

The board unanimously voted to adopt a resolution strongly opposing House Bill (HB) 4576 and HB 4976, which would eliminate personal property tax and cost the county about $235,000 in tax revenues. The resolution says, "...the Schoolcraft County Board of Commissioners...respectfully asks the legislature to find a method for financing education that will not destroy local government in the process. "...combined with other proposed cuts being considered following the adoption of Senate Bill I could cause counties to experience a financial catastrophe which would make it impossible to deliver even the most basic services to the public."

Motion to accept the resolution was made by Commissioner Don Martin and seconded by Commissioner Jack Houghton. Money was also the issue as the commission discussed the idea to take a certain percentage of each grant that comes through the county for administration. Commissioner Keith Aldrich said he is concerned the 3 to 5 percent proposed charge on grants for administration may hurt many of the services the agencies that receive grants provide to the county. "What is it going to do to the agencies?" he asked. "Some of them use the 3 to 5 percent to get... Continued on page 4A

Varsity b-ball splits pair; Plays tough defense

The Manistique Girls Varsity Basketball Team split a pair of games this week, beating Gwinw and bowing to Iron Mountain.

The Emeralds defeated Gwinw Tuesday, Sept. 21 by the score of 53 to 37.

Coach Bob Ryan was pleased with the team's performance.

"We really played an excellent all-around game against a very good Gwinw team," he said. "This was a key win for us, raising our record to 4-2 and 1-1 in the conference."

Gwinw was 2-0 in the conference coming into the game.

"We had an outstanding defensive performance by the entire team," Ryan said. "Our full court press was very effective."

He said the team also ran the fast break very well. "Generally, we played well in all aspects of the game," he added.

In the first quarter the Emeralds gave Gwinw defensive problems, holding them to just six points.

Manistique scored 12 in the first to lead 12-6.

Both teams picked up offensively in the second quarter, but Manistique outscored them 14-12 to lead 26-18 at the half.

Defense was the key for the Emeralds again in the third quarter as Manistique outscored Gwinw 8-6 to take a 10 point lead into the final quarter.

The Emeralds had an outstanding fourth quarter, scoring 16 unanswered points to take a 50-24 lead and going on to win 53-37.

"It was a tremendous team effort by the girls," said Ryan. "We really played with a lot of heart."

"We worked extremely hard and it paid off with a super win."

"We had some key scoring with three girls in double-figures, but we also had some real clutch scoring from Sarah Bourdo with seven points, Robin Demers with six points and Shannon Lawrence with four points.

"Another key performance came from Renee LaFleur with 15 rebounds and a strong defensive effort.

"The rest of the girls played well; you can't tell them not to play hard."

11 players scored for the Emeralds, with Aleasha Ackley leading with 20 points.

Michelle Mickelson pulled down nine rebounds for the Emeralds.

The JV team had a closer game with Iron Mountain on Thursday, Sept. 16, winning 56-35.

Ackley again led scorers with 21 points, including a 3-pointer.

Manistique's height advantage allowed the Emeralds to dominate the rebounds with Mickelson and Frances Rodriguez each grabbing 14 boards.

Rodriguez also turned in a fine performance on defense with eight steals.

Mandy Cohen and Ackley each had seven assists.

Lady Bears end win streak

The Big Bay de Noc girls varsity basketball team beat Carney 48-44 in overtime on Tuesday, Sept. 14 to end the Wolves' 127-game regular season winning streak.

Big Bay coach Kim Picord said the win was very exciting for the team and the community.

"Our goal was not to do well against Carney," she said, "it was to beat Carney."

"Once we had the confidence to win, that's all we needed."

Other than their five losses in the post season tournament, Carney had not lost since a 64-49 setback to Bak River-Harris on Nov. 6, 1986.

During their incredible run, Carney set a state record, winning 78 straight games and producing Class D state championships in 1989 and 1990.

Big Bay has moved out to a 3-2 record for the year, including three important wins against Central U.P. League conference opponents.

"When we play as a team," said Picord, "anyone can score. That's our strength."

Dobbie Hermes made a last second lay-up to force the Carney into an overtime period with the score tied at 41.

"It was very exciting (when Hermes made the lay-up)," Picord said. "At that point, I knew momentum was on our side."

Carney brought a 20-0 regular season record into the game, spanning from 1987-92.

They were 3-0 on the season, and carried a No. 1 ranking.

Picord said it is very difficult for a team with a tradition like Carney to stay up for every game they play.

"It was not as stressful for us," she said. "Everyone is out to beat them."

Big Bay worked on breaking Carney's press, said Picord, and worked at beating their zone defense, which they used at a team camp both teams attended.

"We have also been working to be more consistent throughout the game," she said.

The only games Carney lost after the setback to BR-H were in the district tournaments to North Central in 1986 and North Dickinson in 1987, to Walkerville in the 1988 state semifinals and to Baraga in the 1991 and 1992 regional finals.

Picord said she hopes the victory carries over into future games.

"Since the (Carney) game we beat Engadine," she said. "I guess the future will tell whether the win will help us in the long run."

Picord said the team's goal for the rest of the season is simple.

"We want to play hard for 32 minutes each game and hopefully come out on top," she said.

JV football tops JV to remain unbeaten

Another great game running for 191 yards, averaging 10 yards per carry and leading the Emeralds in tackling from his linebacker position with 24 stops.

Quarterback Jon Yinen completed one of two passes attempted to Tim Sholander for 10 yards.

Manistique will host Norway at home on Thursday, Sept. 23.

"Norway always comes in her ready to play hard and it," Peters said. "They come in ready to play football."

Peters said the last two games against Gwinw and Ishpeming were not the toughest, but the team will face some real challenges in their upcoming games.

"It's nice to see the team playing as sharp as they are," he said, "but they have to be sharper in the games coming up."

Oas said the girls who do not get to play much to see plenty of action.

"We didn't try to run up the score," he said, "because the starters played less than half the game."

to remain unbeaten.

The Manistique JV Football Team beat Gwinw, at Gwinw, Thursday, Sept. 16 to improve their record to 3-0 on the season.

JV Head Coach Matt Peterson said he is very pleased with the way the team played.

"The most pleasing part of the game was the play of the five interior linemen," he said. "Mike Peters, Corey Malloch, Josh Carlson, Brandon Winsor and Dick Ekstrom did an outstanding job."

Gwinw's coach even mentioned to me after the game that he had not seen a line that good in a long time.

The line opened gaping holes for tailback Jason Blowers to run through.

Blowers rushed for 290 yards, averaging 18.1 yards per carry.

Fullback Nick Snyder also had

Harley-Davidson owners to meet Sat.

The Superior Chapter of the Harley Owners Group (HOG) will hold its monthly meeting on Saturday, Sept. 25 at the Fireside Inn in Manistique at 1 p.m. All Harley-Davidson owners or riders are invited to attend the meeting to learn about what H.O.G. has to offer and to meet old and new friends.

Schools test for radon

Local school authorities here plan to test schoolrooms for deadly radon gas under a program conducted by a Seattle-based education group, the Cancer Center for Detection and Prevention.

Included in applications for grants is Manistique; St. Francis de Sales School.

Schools across the country are reacting to warnings from the Environmental Protection Agency that school authorities should make a concerted effort to test school structures for radon, a colorless, odorless, quickly decaying radioactive gas created naturally from the decay of traced of uranium in the soil. Radon may become trapped in homes, offices or schools where it poses a health hazard.

Water, water, everywhere. Except in there.

Memories

St. Francis de Sales has been in Manistique and Schoolcraft County for over 100 years. The parish includes the church in Gulliver.

Over the years our family has grown, some staying, some leaving, only to come home to retire. Of course, with the passing of time and the creation of new jobs, it is not unusual not to know the family that sits next to you in church on Sunday.

The parish council decided to put together a directory.

This directory will include various aspects of our church activities, pictures of families, and a roster of church families.

Each family photographed and selecting a pose at the church to be printed in the directory will receive both a free 8x10 portrait in natural color and a free directory. The directory will help us to recognize faces and names, thereby creating a close bond that will unite the entire church. It can be used to introduce the church to friends, neighbors and community.

We will be capturing and preserving the special time in our life and our church. There will be people to sign up families before and after church on Sept. 18, 19, 25, 26 and 27.

The importance of this directory makes it self known to new people in the area families tracing relatives. The use of this document is unlimited. As a matter of information, the only other congregation to have a directory is the Zion Lutheran Church and it has been a huge success. As I got into this project I realized just what a church community is all about. I started to dig around and came up with some interesting pictures. I know that all of you out there aren't all Catholics but the purpose of the pictures is to jog your memory a little and to drive home my point that a directory is the same as a family tree and can be used for any size groups and be a sure way to preserve your group or company's identity.

Now that I have made my point, but the purpose of the pictures and the people and enjoy the record of change that these pictures show.

Carol Weinert is a long-time Yooper fan

Editor's Note: This story appeared in the Medina (Ohio) County Gazette Thursday, Sept. 2, 1993. Weinert is talking about First Northern Bank & Trust's Weatherby gun promotion.

by Carol Weinert
Friends who know of my long-time love affair with the Upper Peninsula of Michigan have often heard me ramble about how the area is a whole different world with its clean air, clear lakes and streams and the laid-back lifestyle. At times I probably sound like a representative from the Michigan Department of Tourism.

It's been many years since my husband, Hank, first introduced me to this "51st state." I was his bride when I first visited his hometown, Manistique, on the north shore of Lake Michigan, and we return there several times every year. But even after all those years, every visit offers me something new, refreshing or even totally unexpected - like my recent Bank Encounter (but I'm getting ahead of myself).

At home, I like to watch the morning and evening newscasts to stay informed with happenings around the nation and the world. In the Manistique area, however, the evening news programs (there are only two TV stations, unless you have a "dish" originate in Green Bay, WI or Marquette, MI and the coverage is VERY limited, loss of local (read that: Green Bay or Marquette) happenings, but not much else.

Of course, if I get up real early, I can catch national news programming (which is on right after a late-night segment of Home Shoppers) but while in the UP, Hank happily informed me that the bank was now giving "premiums" for opening new accounts. What's so unusual about that, you may ask.

Being virtually cut-off in this way from the harshness of rest of the world may be why the UP seems rather insulated from the daily stress and turmoil we live with here in the lower states. It's this feeling of being insulated that makes me believe the UP offers the perfect escape to those who want to get away from it all.

On our most recent visit to Manistique, however, the aforementioned Bank Encounter abruptly reminded me that even when I'm on vacation and basking in the apparent friendliness and trustfulness of the natives, I still carry along subconsciously the "baggage" of suspicion we who live in "the real world" have developed as a necessary tool for survival, a case of "You can take the girl out of the city but you can't take the city out of the girl," I guess.

One morning during that vacation, Hank had some business to take care of at the local bank, so I went along on the 14-mile ride into town and "poked" around in the stores while he did his banking.

Well, shopping opportunities are limited in Manistique (and I'm no shopper, anyway), so it wasn't very long before I had been in and out of every establishment that had piqued my interest. Knowing Hank must not be finished with his banking business yet because he wasn't anywhere in sight (it's a very small town and you can see just about everyone and everything at one glance), I decided to return to the bank.

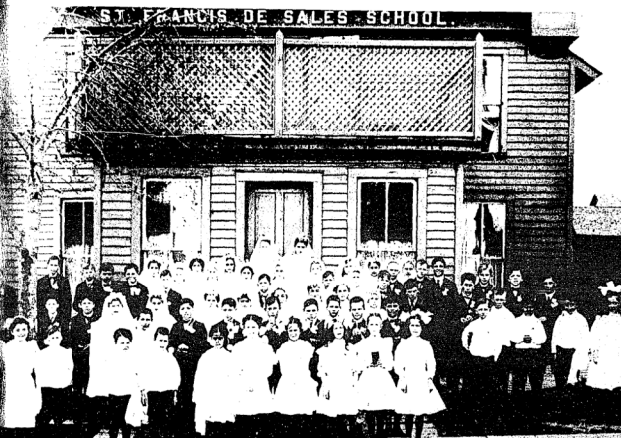

When I entered the cubicle where he was chatting with a bank executive (everybody knows everybody else in Manistique), Hank happily informed me that the bank was now giving "premiums" for opening new accounts. What's so unusual about that, you may ask.

When Hank asked if he could see one of the rifles, the woman led him to a cabinet in the main lobby, opened the glass door and handed him one. The next thing I knew, he was drawing a bead through the gun sight at a teller!

Standing nervously nearby, I expected to hear somebody shout, "Hit the decks!" followed by screaming alarms and the police rushing through the doors with guns pointed right at us. But no one else even seemed to notice what Hank was doing and went calmly about the business of the day.

NAAAH! It couldn't happen -- not in Manistique!

(Can you imagine such a scenario treated with such total indifference in Cleveland, Akron, Brunswick, Medina or anywhere else in the U.S.? I think not!)

Emil Knoph and Elsie Olson wear crown at September facility birthday party

by Dorothy Hoholik

The September Birthday Party at Schoolcraft County Medical Care Facility brought out a crowd of volunteers and guests on Wednesday, Sept. 8 at 2 p.m. The pavilion was all set up to celebrate nine September birthdays outside, but a cool day moved in so we chose to take advantage of the warm and cozy fa-city dining room. As nine birthdays were celebrated, a King and Queen were crowned, if "Only for a Day." Emil Knoph wore the crown as King for being 69 years of age. Majestically wearing the Queen's crown was Elsie Olson, age 91. Other birthdays followed at Cordelia Beaudoin reached 98 years of age; Marian Fox, 90 years; Mildred Lowery, age 87;

Edith Gray, age 84; Mabel Moreau, 84; Viola Steele, 73 and Beatrice Minor, age 82. Howard Auger entertained at the organ and played Happy Birthday to each birthday person as residents Dorothy LaCrew and Lillian Fredrickson sang the song with love and friendship. Auger was named "Mr. Congeniality" as he never fails to meet our needs at the birthday parties. A musical engineer, he plays the music the patients love to hear, the good old time tunes that everyone knows the words to sing along to. Cake, ice cream and coffee were served to everyone present. Lap robes, monetary gifts and birthday cards were given to each birthday person.

Woman's Club Home Life Committee makes the party a success. Other volunteer members were Vi Fredrickson, Eleanor Broullier, Betty DeSautel, Lew and Shirley Chartier, Jean Gundersen, Frances Weber, Millie Klarich, Irene Hinkson, Charlene Turek, Margaret Taylor, Ruth Morang, Betty Harding, Eileen Arrowood, Jane Leonard, Catherine Cooper, Dorothy Hoholik and Howard, Weber and Edwards.

Mayme Schubring, age 94, a member of the Manistique Woman's Club, made a special visit to the facility to volunteer and also to visit some of her friends, mainly Dora Courmaye, Bertha Davis and Mildred Lowery. The birthday party project made a historic move during the September party. Dorothy Hoholik and Betty DeSautel, have been co-ordinators of the party for the past 12 years. Beginning for the 13th year will be two new coordinators, Catherine Cooper and Jane Leonard. Thanks and welcome greetings were exchanged as the transition took place. A successful and new approach will begin with the October party and continuing will be the Third Grade Class from St. Francis School of Music under the direction of Sister Winifred. The musical class will sing "Pumpkin Carols" and come in costume to usher in the Halloween spirit at the facility. A large delegation of family and friends were present for the birthday folks. For Edith Gray, daughter Lois Middaugh was present; Christine Swagart, Laurel Olson, Criville Olson and Barbara Vinton for Queen Elsie Olson; Eleanor Broullier was the guest for Viola Steele; Jack, Mary Faye and Dorna Minor were there for Beatrice Minor; Jeanne Nedean was present for Loretta Nedean; Mary Borke visited John Borke and Charlene Turek visited her mother, Evelyn Coffey. As Dorothy Betty sign off their responsibilities after 12 years of serving the Medicare birthday parties, a special tribute worth its weight in gold, was handed to us after the September party. A "THANK YOU," written by Mabel Moreau, on behalf of the Medicare patients went like this: "We would like to thank you, Dorothy and Betty, for the gifts and lovely parties every month and also please thank the Manistique Women's Club for sponsoring the party. Thank you and God Bless, Mabel Moreau. Thank you, Mabel, we will be back to see you each month as volunteers."

Meeting? Wedding Reception? Class Reunion? Shower? Anniversary Party? Holiday Get-Together?

Manistique JV team's Aleasha Ackley tries to pass over an Iron Mountain defender to Courtney McGuire under the basket.

Caroline Howard, a new volunteer to the project, was vocal and delighted everyone with her famous yodeling. She recently auditioned for the Wheel of Fortune. Other volunteers making their debut to the birthday party project were Mary Weber and Dora Edwards. Weber recently retired from 40 years with Manistique City Hall and we welcome her to this worthwhile project. Seemingly she knows everyone in the facility from her years of public service work. The Manistique Woman's Club provide volunteer services at each birthday party throughout the year. October marks the 13th year that the GFWC Manistique

by Debbie Lang

Big Bay de Noc at Garden Corners has a new media specialist.

Barb Hoffmyer has taken on the duty of operating the school's satellite, televisions, VCRs and other electronic equipment in the library for Big Bay de Noc.

Hoffmyer says, "Vioia Hamid had the job of librarian since the school opened. She retired this spring and now I've got to get everything sorted out so that I can understand everything better. Mrs. Hamid did a good job for years running the library her way, but now I have to convert it to my way and update all the material."

One of Hoffmyer's ways of dealing with the books in the library is to get a computerized order in the library. "Hopefully before the year's out I'll have a computer in here that will have every book coded into it. When a student wants to check out a book he will have their book run over a card, and everything will be done automatically by the computer."

Hoffmyer estimates it will save her and her aides who help in the library hours of work a week which they can better spend in other areas.

"The time we save doing the bar coding will be put towards sorting out and reshaping other areas of the library. The library is a never ending working area because there is always material to update and change."

One of the areas Hoffmyer hopes to reshape is the computers in the library. "I'm hoping I can get the computers in the library updated so I can teach the seventh graders how to use the computers to research material."

Another project Hoffmyer hopes to breathe new life into is reminding people that the library is always looking for donations to help replace old reference books and to purchase new fiction books for the students.

Along with teaching the seventh graders special skills in the library Hoffmyer also has K-10 in the library for half an hour a week. "This allows the students to pick out books to read and I read the younger students stories. This helps to keep their interest in reading instead of always watching television."

Hoffmyer is also facilitator of a new Japanese language class that is being taught through satellite in accordance with ISD. "The class will watch lectures on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and on Tuesdays and Thursdays they use the phone to talk with teachers in New Jersey. I am also trying to learn Japanese with the students and I don't know if I'll master the language but I'm going to give it a try."

Hoffmyer is no stranger to the halls and rooms of Big Bay de Noc. She has been teaching for 30 years and 26 of the years have been spent at Big Bay de Noc. "I've taught K-3 at different times. I was a tutor last year and title coordinator for a year also. I love the students here but after 30 years of teaching I think I've gotten burned out from controlling the kids in a classroom situation," Hoffmyer laughs good naturedly. "I'm going to enjoy working in the library. I think it would be quite challenging and you I can still deal with the students, but on a different level."

You Make Us Proud

The Manistique Education Foundation is highlighting different students of the schools in the Manistique area who have gone on to make their mark in the world.

Nominations of 300 words and a photograph, if available, should be sent to 502 W. Elk St., Manistique.

Anyone who says studying does not pay off obviously has not met Charles Hamiel, a 1974 graduate of Manistique High School. Hamiel is a Materials Engineer for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio. He is working in research and development, evaluating new rubber and reinforcement materials for use in tires.

Hamiel, the son of Elmer and Muriel Hamiel of Manistique, earned his bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from Michigan Technological University, graduating with honors.

In 1985 he earned his Juris Doctor degree from the University of Akron School of Law, graduating in the upper 25 percent.

Hamiel passed the Ohio Bar Exam in July 1985.

Hamiel then went on to earn his MBA degree from Kent State University.

He graduated from the Executive MBA program with outstanding academic achievement recognition (3.95 G.P.A.).

In addition to his studying and working, Hamiel is licensed as a private pilot and commercial pilot. Hamiel was an Eagle Scout of Troop 400, Manistique Boy Scouts.

He also rode his bicycle across Iowa with 10,000 other riders in 1987.

In 1980, Hamiel married Nancy Patton. Both are avid skin divers.

Auxiliary sets Oct. meeting

The Schoolcraft Medical Care Facility Auxiliary will meet on Monday, October 4 at 2 p.m. at the Facility.

Slate of new officers for 1993/94 and acceptance of by-laws must be ratified and plans for the annual Halloween party and fall bazaar have to be made.

Pioneer-Tribune Subscriptions make wonderful gifts for any occasion.

"Walk to Remember" set

October is National Pregnancy and Infant Loss Awareness Month. During the month hundreds of parents, health professionals and friends across the United States will be participating in "A Walk to Remember."

The second annual walk in Manistique will be held on Saturday, Oct. 2, beginning at 11 a.m. Walkers will gather at Manistique's Lakeside Park (across US-2 from the Howard Johnson) near the well. After a brief introduction, walkers will proceed along the lakeside walkway to the marina Park where there will be a brief program and refreshments. The walk is scheduled to take place whether it rains or shines.

Participation in the event is open to everyone wishing to offer support, encouragement and understanding to families who have experienced the tragic loss of their babies.

This walk is dedicated to the approximately 770,000 babies who die each year through miscarriage, ectopic (tubal) pregnancy, stillbirth, or newborn death. The walk also symbolically joins all the people nationwide who are working to raise awareness on perinatal grief and ensure that sensitive care is given parents who experience the death of a baby.

For more information on the "Walk to Remember" in Manistique, please contact Sue Bjornes (341-6667), Jay Martin (341-2839) or Pam Tallman (341-6395).

First Baptist Church to host senior banquet

First Baptist Church will host a Golden Age Banquet honoring mature adults on Thursday, Sept. 30, at 6 p.m. in the Church's Fellowship Hall.

A buffet supper will be served followed by a program of fun and fellowship.

Among the participants in the evening program are Tom Hoholik and Mary Ann Mills.

Eileen Males will give a talk entitled "Old Age - Is it for the Birds?" Tickets are $4.00 a person and can be purchased from Verice Hollister, Helen Anderson, Ethel Carlson, Marie Brock and Eileen Males. Tickets must be purchased by Monday, Sept. 27.

All mature members of the church and their guests are invited to attend.

Garden to honor its seniors

The Garden Peninsula Historical Society is sponsoring a dinner and program to honor senior citizens in the area on Sunday, Sept. 26 at noon in the Garden Community Building.

The public is invited. The Garden Peninsula Historical Society is asking that a dish to pass and table setting be brought.
