Airport manager wants health insurance

Schoolcraft county airport manager Bruce Hoffman came before the Schoolcraft county board of commissioners Tuesday to get the insurance he bargained for during employment negotiations.

The only hitch is there is no mention of insurance in Hoffman's contract that he signed Oct. 1, 1992.

"I would like the insurance negotiated for in the pre-employment period," Hoffman said.

Louis Lauzon, chairman of the board of commissioners said, "There is nothing in the contract that has to do with insurance."

Hoffman said, "Snow removal is not in my contract either, but I still do it. In both cases we had a verbal agreement."

Board members Keith Aldrich and Ernie Hoholik said they did offer insurance to Hoffman as part of the employment package.

"Keith and I negotiated with him and we told him insurance was part of the contract," said Hoholik. "All the other airport managers received insurance except for the one immediately previous to Mr. Hoffman."

"The only reason he did not accept the insurance is his wife had better insurance than the county could provide."

"We assumed and told Mr. Hoffman insurance would be provided to him."

Aldrich said, "The main is an employee of Schoolcraft county. The contract was drawn up to show his work duties, not if he was going to get insurance or not."

Lauzon said if there was any question whether or not Hoffman was to get insurance, it should have been brought back to the county board.

"I'll sit down with Pete (Hollenbeck, county prosecutor) and one of you guys (from airport committee) and work this out," he said.

In section one of the airport operator's agreement, signed by Hoffman and members of the county board including Lauzon, it says Hoffman is an employee of Schoolcraft county.

"I am a county employee in my contract," Hoffman said.

"Therefore I am eligible for all county employee rights and privileges."

Lauzon said that if insurance is to become part of the benefit package of the airport manager, the contract would have to be legally amended or changed.

"He needs this insurance in this day and age," said Hoholik. "We were just going by past practice."

Lauzon said if he is a county employee all the problems will be solved. "If you are a county employee we can set your hours."

"People think it is pollution from the mill," he said. "That's

This is the area of the river where the foam water release at Manistique Papers, Inc. The foam is caused by protein in the water.

River foam is not pollution

Manistique Papers, Inc. installed stop blocks in the discharge area of the plant to try to eliminate some of the foam that accumulates along the river's edge.

Eric Bourdo of Manistique Papers said he has received several calls from people concerned about the foam build-up on the river.

"People think it is pollution from the mill," he said. "That's just not true."

The foam occurs naturally as it goes out of the flume.

"It occurs where the river flows out of the mill and where it empties from the flume and does not go through the mill."

Bourdo said stop blocks have been installed to prevent some of the foam from building up.

Some days the foam is not

County holds up building

The Luce-Mackinac-Alger-Schoolcraft (LMAS) Health Department will have to wait a little longer to begin construction on their new building they plan to erect in Manistique.

The Schoolcraft county board of commissioners did not provide the district health department said the building could get underway at Tuesday's board meeting.

"I think the plans and specifications should have been given to us before today so we could look them over a little better," said Louis Lauzon, chairman of the board of commissioners.

Jim Shifflet, the administrator of the district health department said the plans were about the same as the last set that was submitted to the board for approval.

The two changes in the proposal Shifflet identified was the $850,000 price tag and a change in the building site.

The building will be funded through bonding. The bonds will be paid for with rent collected from the building. If the bonding goes as planned, the building will be paid for and county owned in 20 years.

"I have not submitted the documents sooner because the board of health authorized lease arrangements for these buildings last Monday," Shifflet said.

Lauzon asked the county's prosecuting attorney Pete Hollenbeck if he had a chance to look over the documents.

"No, not the latest version," Hollenbeck said.

"I think Pete should have a chance to look these over," Lauzon said.

Shifflet said, "We really need to try to move along as rapidly as we can on this. This is money."

Lauzon said from now on, the board should receive the plans before the day of the meeting.

He said a special meeting would be called after the documents have been studied by Hollenbeck.

The meeting will be held as soon as possible and the documents should be signed at that time.

In other board action:

...Board members voted for their choice for a hospital board member to fill the term of Ed Way.

Board members chose between Jane Kopecky, Robert Carlson and Marie Grover.

Don Martin voted for Robert Carlson. Keith Aldrich voted for Robert Carlson. Ernie Hoholik voted for Marie Grover. Jack Hughton voted for Jane Kopecky.

The vote ended with a two way tie between Carlson and Kopecky.

The issue was voted again with Carlson and Kopecky as possible candidates.

911 may come to county

Schoolcraft county commissioners and area law enforcement officials are looking at ways to bring enhanced 911 service to the county.

County commissioners Keith Aldrich and Jack Hughton, along with state police Lt. Greg Aho and sheriff Gary Maddox met with officials in Negaunee to discuss a plan in which counties in the Upper Peninsula would share the cost of 911 service.

Enhanced 911 provides the location, identity of the caller and other important information to the dispatcher (also called council) immediately when the call comes into the system.

The system would be run from a central location in Negaunee, which would eliminate the need for the separate counties to train personnel and set up the costly computer and communication equipment individually.

The cost would be split between the counties so no one county would have to pay for start up costs individually.

"This may be our best alternative yet to get enhanced 911 service to people who live here," said Maddox. "Obviously we'd like to have our own system, but like other areas in the U.P., we just don't have the money."

Aho said it is important to get the people of Schoolcraft county 911 service.

"The citizens of Schoolcraft county are owed 911 service," he said. "If we don't get the service we are doing the people of this county a great disservice."

Aldrich brought the plan to the Schoolcraft county board of commissioners' audit/finance board Friday.

Chairman Louis Lauzon said the idea looked promising. "I feel we should definitely pursue it and see the figures," he said.

Aldrich added that the issue should be brought before the county board and the community. "We should contact the surrounding communities to get their impressions on the idea," he said.

Everyone who attended the meeting said the benefits of the idea outweighed any of the disadvantages.

Some of the advantages outlined are:

- The system provides a single number for police, fire, and emergency medical service (EMS) response. This enhances the coordinated delivery of services.
- Vacationers, hunters, fishermen, skiers, campers, etc., from other areas of Michigan and the United States would expect 911 to be the emergency number. This has been further promoted by popular TV shows. Delays in sending emergency assistance may be encountered if 911 service is not available.
- The system would allow for shared expenses for equipment, dispatchers, supervision and administration.
- The system would provide not only coordinated dispatching involving police, fire, and EMS, but coordination of agencies from multiple jurisdictions with one or more counties.
- The system will not be free, but according to Aldrich, it will be much cheaper than trying to set up the service on a county-wide level.
- "One way to fund the system is by adding 4 percent to customer's telephone bills," he said. "Anything over 4 percent and we have to go to the people."
- "It would cost the average telephone customer about $1 or $1.50. That's a bargain."
- "I work as a volunteer firefighter, so I see it from the other end too. It's a great system."
- "We are looking at two years before it could be initiated. The townships would have to set up a parcel numbering system. We would have to have joint cooperation with the townships and the county."
- According to Aho and Maddox, the cost of 911 is small compared to the benefits.
- "What is the cost of a human life?" said Aho. "You just can't put a price on it."
- Maddox said, "911 pretty much proves itself. It has a great history and it's very popular."
- "I am very positive about it. If it saves one life, it is worth it."

EDC seeks utility pole business for area

The Economic Development Corporation (EDC) is looking for hard to attract a Canadian utility pole business to the county.

One problem with the plan identified at Monday's EDC meeting is that the industrial park only has about 11 acres left. The new business would need at least 15 acres.

"Six to eight new jobs (directly because of the utility pole business) would be created to start," said Linda Armoock, director of the EDC. "That's in addition to jobs created driving trucks and other jobs not directly tied to the company."

The company would be producing non-treated poles so environmental permits would not be needed.

According to Armoock, the company needs 15 acres of land that are dry and are on a rail spur. The company will be using rail transportation in addition to trucking.

Other sites were discussed including areas in Cooks and Semy.

"Wisconsin Central is very pro-business and may put a gas line where we've decided," said Bob Panek. "The DNR and Forest Service are interested in the project. You may want to go to one of them to swap some land."

Louise Lauzon said the county may even decide to purchase some land for the project. "Very few things are coming around here. We need to do what we have to get them in here," he said.

Further research is being done on possible sites for the company.

In other EDC action:

- ...EDC director Linda Armoock said it was a "95 percent sure thing" that she would be resigning in August to pursue other interests.
- "I would like to put the wheels in motion to find a replacement," said Armoock. "I think we should start advertising for the position."
- John Stewart made motion to authorize the executive board of the EDC to put together advertisements and get the process of finding a successor moving. This was seconded by Eric Bourdo. The motion carried unanimously.
- "I will do anything possible to make the transition as smooth as possible," Armoock said.
- ...The EDC is still working out the details of the proposed informational meeting between the EDC and the county.

Firefighters battle blaze

A fire ripped through a home in Curtis last week and leveled the house located on H33 Manistique Lake Road.

Portage township firefighters fought the blaze for more than an hour before the fire raged out of control.

The owners of the 80-year-old home, Bill and Jean Sideler were not injured in the fire.

Bill Sideler risked his life by reentering the home during the fire to try to rescue the family cat. He was unsuccessful.

The cause of the fire is unknown at this time and is being investigated.

Underage Drinkers: Nowhere to run

Robert Kirkbride, teenagers should think twice before planning a party or cruising with alcohol in the car. Officers from the Manistique Michigan State Police Post are watching.

The crack-down on underage drinking is being funded by the Delta County Teen Alcohol Enforcement Grant Project, and according to Lt. Greg Aho of the state police, it is specifically for youth alcohol related expenses incurred by law enforcement agencies.

The grant is funded federally by the Office of Highway Safety Planning and is being administered by the Escanaba Department of Public Safety. Each department is given a certain number of overtime hours to be used to combat underage drinking that will be paid for by the grant. For each overtime hour paid for by the grant, the participating department must match the number of hours with "regular time" patrols.

The Manistique State Police Post has in excess of 100 hours from the grant. Even though the county is specifically targeting Delta county, the state police post received the hours because it covers an area that includes Delta and Schoolcraft counties.

The officers involved in the program have been instructed to adopt and apply a "Zero Tolerance Policy." "Under the zero tolerance policy, an officer will have no discretion when addressing a situation and no warnings will be issued," Aho said. "If you get caught with it, you'll be cited for it."

"This is not some kind of undercover operation. We're not trying to hide anything. We're just saying, 'We are out here, and we are looking.'"

He said the offenses that are being targeted are minor in possession of alcohol (MIP), operating under the influence of liquor (OUIL), transportation of open alcohol in the car, disorderly conduct, and sale and furnishing alcohol to minors. Law enforcement officials will also be conducting sting operations to stop stores from selling alcohol to minors.

"We may use a decoy to go try to buy alcohol," he said. "We have used this method successfully before."

Wayne Heikkila, the director of public safety in Escanaba said the major focus of the project is to bring the various agencies involved closer together and to better coordinate services so programs do not overlap and funds are not being wasted by duplicating programs.

"Besides the Escanaba Department of Public Safety and the Manistique State Police Post," he said, "the Gladstone State Police Post, Gladstone Department of Public Safety and the Delta County Sheriff Department are also involved in the program."

Heikkila said 14 counties in the state were offered the chance to send in a grant proposal on the program. Five grants were approved for the state.

"We were given the grant because the traffic statistics say we have a problem with teenage drinking and driving in the area," he said. "This is a pilot program for the nation and even though it's early to say, the program appears to be working."

Heikkila said the program is a three year project. The grant must be renewed on an annual basis.

According to Aho, the program is just getting up for the summer.

"This is a time when there are a lot of teenage keg parties," he said. "If we find a big party, we can mobilize the different law enforcement agencies by using the call-out system. They can do the same with us."

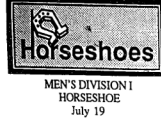

"We just hope it will deter

Govt. seeks public's input

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service announced July 8 it is seeking public comment on a notice of intent to propose limits on the length of shotgun shells, the size of shot, and the coatings on non-toxic shot used in waterfowl hunting. The Service said its notice is based on concerns that existing waterfowl hunting regulations have become outdated in the face of advancing technology.

In a three-part notice published in the June 30, 1993, Federal Register, the Service announced its intent to limit the length of shotgun shells to 3.5 inches, the largest currently available on the market. By limiting the length of shells, the Service expects to discourage long-range shooting that can lead to crippling and, in effect, over harvest of birds. In addition, the Service proposes to limit the diameter of shot size to no larger than a No. 7 (0.20 inch). The proposed regulation is intended to reduce crippling losses by limiting shot sizes to those that have been demonstrated to be the most efficient for harvesting large waterfowl.

Under the notice, the hunting community and others would be given time to deplete their supplies of size No. 7 shot (0.22 inch), which is larger than No. 7 shot.

The Service also proposes to require shotgun shell manufacturers to obtain the Service's approval for anti-corrosive coatings on non-toxic shot pellets. Al-

Manistique 13-year-olds win district title

While most of us thought about getting ready for work, the Manistique 13-year-old all-stars were busy winning the junior league district 10 championship.

Sunday, the all-stars faced Gladstone, who they handily defeated 10-2.

The winning pitcher for Manistique, Jeff Parkinson gave up just three hits and fanned eight Gladstone batters.

Luke Harrison blasted a solo home run in the fifth inning to put the Manistique all-stars ahead for good.

Tommy LaVigne made it aboard four times in the game and rounded the pads to score three runs.

"We have a lot of big kids on our team this year," said Manistique manager Mike Parkinson. "They are strong kids and they hit and throw harder than most kids their age."

Sunday's game for the championship pitted Manistique against Escanaba.

Again, Escanaba was no match for the team from Manistique.

The Manistique all-stars won easily 8-2.

"Everybody hit well," said Mike Parkinson. "We played like a big wagon wheel and just kept on rolling."

If the team was a wagon wheel, then Brian Spaulding was one of the strongest spokes.

Spaulding pitched the entire game allowing only one hit.

He also cleared the left-center field fence to give the Manistique all-stars a 3-0 lead in the top of the second inning.

Manistique did not look back. Escanaba only scored two runs, both of which were on a controversial play at first base.

The umpire called out the Escanaba runner and the Manistique all-stars headed for the dugout. Everyone but the players from Manistique were told the runner was actually safe. The umpire later said first baseman Luke Harrison did not have control of the ball when he stepped on the base.

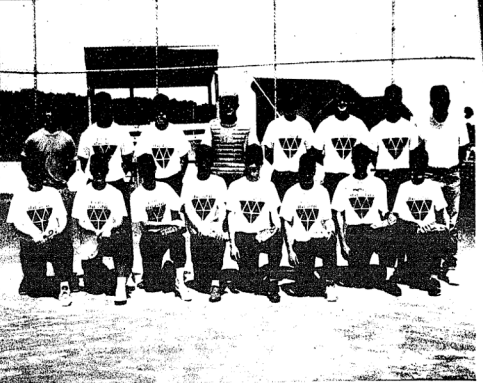

The Manistique 13- to 15-year old all star team never recovered from their devastating loss to Escanaba.

The team was beaten for the second time and eliminated from the district tournament with a 17-5 loss to Iron County.

"They base hit us to death," said manager Bob Gierke. "The officiating was very, very poor again."

"I think the umpires should be from the outside area."

Jake Orr scored two of the team's five runs. Justin Johnson,

All-stars lose second game

The Manistique 13-15 year old all star team never recovered from their devastating loss to Escanaba.

The team was beaten for the second time and eliminated from the district tournament with a 17-5 loss to Iron County.

"They base hit us to death," said manager Bob Gierke. "The officiating was very, very poor again."

Jim Proctor and Chris Gierke scored the other runs for Manistique.

Three different pitchers were used in the game.

"Next year we will be just as strong," Gierke said. "The kids had a good time this year. "Even though we lost, they all left with big smiles. "What really brings a team down is a poor job by an umpire, but we shook it off."

Fish Report
by Sgt. John Walker (Ret.)

Well forget it !!! I give up !!! I guess I'll have to wait till winter to get my basement dry! Every time it rains just about dry we get another heavy rain that sends water down into it again. But I guess after watching TV we are still crying shame when the people of prey well off. A party stopped me in Harder's the other day to tell me a friend of theirs was catching catfish off his picnic table in his backyard in Iowa. The only problem was he did not live on a river. In other words, this fishing spot was not supposed to be there.

The bear license for this year are out, but who knows when? It seems that very few people in the area got one. Of all those who I talked to, only one person I know got one. The luck of the draw must have left out the U.P. this year.

The fishing has been on the down side the last couple of weeks with all the crazy weather. They were getting a few bass and some pike, but it was real spotty. They are doing a little fishing in the river now and now and then taking a fish or two.

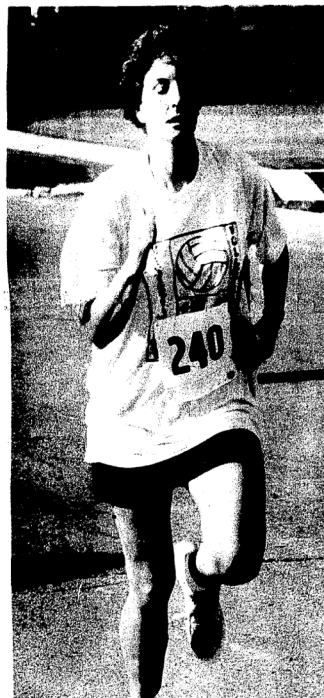

Did you read the letter to the editor in the paper last week from the EPA? I think it is interesting that they finally felt they should let someone know why they were going to spend all the money to clean something up that has been there for years. This letter brought back an interesting thought.

Do some of you old timers remember when a person who was paid to do a job with tax dollars was called a "public servant"? When I was growing up I can remember this term and was taught that those who were paid by the taxpayers to do a job were supposed to answer to those who paid them. What has happened in this someone's mind.

country when the people in a town where all these projects are taking place at taxpayer expense have to dig and dig to find out what is going on? We have really lost something in this nation and state when those who are "public servants" do not have to answer to anyone. Anything that is to work right and have the right kind of success has to have some checks and balances, if not, they will get millions of dollars of taxpayers money and go off and do their own thing. To me, it is a crying shame when the people of our town have to sign petitions and write their elected officials just to find out what is going on down in their harbor. We have lost something and it is costing us a mint anyway. In one of last week's papers it stated that 43 percent of a person's income goes either to local, state or federal coffers to be spent by them! Wouldn't you at least like to know to and why this is being spent? Then, if it really should be? Believe it or not, there are some pretty intelligent people who have signed this petition just asking that a proper study be done before they spend millions and stir up the whole river doing it. I feel that it is our right as taxpayers to let the "public servants" know, we would like to know, just what they are doing to our harbor with our tax dollars.

To ask questions and keep informed is not wrong and over the balances work out better for everyone. For any part of our government to work properly there has to be input from those living in the area that is affected. Like I have stated over and over in the Fish Report, if you wait till after the law is passed or the project is done before you put your two cents worth in you really have nothing to complain about. We all have the right to attend public meetings, write letters to the editor or your elected officials. Once in a while your two cents worth may just be enough to change someone's mind.

Runners: Mentally and physically fit

Some runners have goals as simple as going one mile farther than they did before. Others hope to beat personal best times.

Keeping fit has become an obsession in the United States.

Manistique is no different.

Jogging has become one of the most popular ways to keep off those unwanted pounds.

The Manistique Paper Chase, sponsored by Manistique Papers, Inc. brought out some of the area's best runners.

The race also featured short distance runs that allowed beginners and children to hit the pavement.

The race was held July 10 as part of the Folkfest celebration.

Running brings out the best sports, as those who were finished with the run waited by the finish line to cheer on those who crossed later.

Running is often a sport in which one competes with one's self.

Runners try to beat their own "best times."

It is an internal struggle that drive the runner on even when pain and fatigue set in.

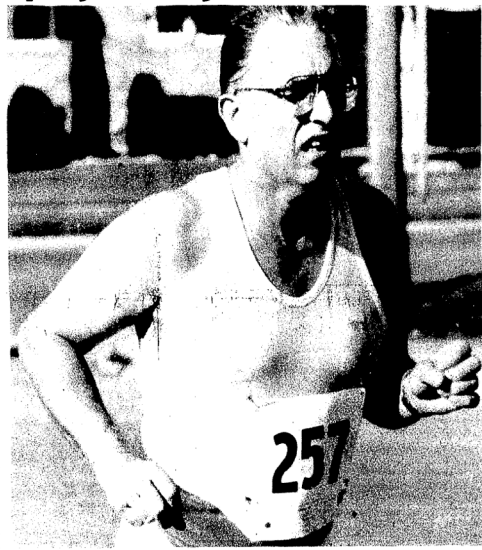

Whether a runner is in the Boston Marathon or the Manistique Paper Chase, they give it all.

Blisters are rewarded with personal fulfillment.

Everyone who ran in the Manistique is a winner. Whether the runner finished or not, the fact is, the runner tried.

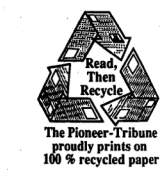

Running has to be one of history's oldest sports.

As long as there are dedicated runners in the world, running will continue to be one of the most popular sports in the world.

Pain and fatigue are two parts of running that go hand in hand. Runners look past the pain and fatigue and strive for personal goals. This runner has met his goal. Crossing the finish line.

CCDPW Circus

After attending a city-county department of public works meeting, it is hard to imagine how garbage ever got picked up in Schoolcraft County.

It is that Manistique Rentals, Inc., the exclusive hauler in our area, is not doing their job. Although some residents have complained about their prices and quality of bags, the trash is picked up every week.

The problem lies with the CCDPW itself.

Squabbling among the individual members prevents important issues from being addressed.

An agenda topic is placed before CCDPW and turns into a circus as members fight each other on every issue, most of which have little or no bearing on the topic that was originally presented.

There is no doubt that the members of the CCDPW want to protect the interests they represent, but as members of a board that affects the entire county, they must think of the welfare of the citizens first.

The people of Schoolcraft county want leadership on these important issues. They also want action. Issues decided by CCDPW members affect every single person living in Schoolcraft county.

CCDPW members need to iron out their differences so issues can be addressed at their meetings.

Surely CCDPW members want to help Schoolcraft county, but to do so, they must work together to solve problems.

"It hasn't come together yet," said Armock. "The EPA said they want to wait until the end of July.

"There is a possibility that the meeting would be held on the local radio station."

"...Mike Hickey asked if there would be any changes to Folkefest for next year.

"We are looking at hiring a Hawaiian group for next year," Armock said. "We have reached our limit on arts and crafts booths. Some were placed on side streets this year.

"We have also reached our limit on food booths. There just isn't enough electricity for any more."

Hickey said he thought more people could attend Folkefest if it was a multi-day event.

"Most people renting cabins out on the lake have to be out by Saturday," he said. "The tents want to come to Folkefest on their way out of town with a full car.

"And the people moving into the cabins for the week are usually too tired to attend when they arrive in town."

Armock said the Folkefest committee is looking at holding a barbecue or western line dance on Friday evening.

Panek suggested holding a canoe race on the river.

"I think that's a great idea," said Hickey. "The canoe race on the Au Sable river gives that area terrific exposure."

Armock said all the suggestions would be brought before the

Downstate Differences

By Robert Kirkbride

Sugar-beaters like me who are from below the bridge have a different way of viewing things. Not better, not worse, just different. In this column I will try to explain some of these differences and why they exist.

How do movie theaters in the Upper Peninsula keep their prices so low?

This is one mystery I have not been able to figure out since I moved up here.

Granted, nothing is free. This applies double for movie theaters. For the same snacks and a movie at Cinema One in Manistique it would cost $11.35 (the cost includes buttered popcorn and two $50 candy bars).

So why does it cost $11.23 more downstate?

The popcorn tastes the same. So does the soda and candy. A movie is a movie lover, like myself, and you live in Manistique.

Your pocket book will remain fat and your girlfriend will be happy.

In Manistique you can actually enjoy a movie for a reasonable price.

$3.80 for a large. Here is the kicker. If you happen to have a sweet tooth it will cost you $1.90 for a candy bar.

For two medium sodas, one large popcorn and two candy bars, plus two movie tickets it would cost the poor, or should I say, soon to be poor downstate 16-year-old $22.58.

The teen from Manistique has it much better, but a movie is still a luxury for a kid on a limited budget.

Letters to the Editor

I am in the process of compiling material for "A Kid's Guide To Fun Along the North Coast," and perhaps your readers would be willing to help by suggesting events and attractions that ought to be included.

The book will include information on the interesting, exciting, and fun things for kids to see and do in communities around the shores of the Great Lakes.

From Duluth to the Thousand Islands, I'm looking for the special places, happenings, and things kids want to experience. Attractions like parks, festivals, parades, participatory museums and living history, doll and toy factories and exhibits, special seasonal events, and music and drama geared to kids will be included. Maybe there is a restaurant that kids especially enjoy, or a local tradition to which they look forward.

Anyone willing to share suggestions will send them to me at the address below. Quotable comments of kids reactions to particular events and attractions will be welcomed.

Thanks for passing along this request to your readers. I look forward to experiencing the attractions of your community with my family.

Sincerely,

They deal with their problems, and they would recommend it for other families.

The two basic options available in most situations, either:

- *Remove the child from the risk.
- *Remove the risk from the child.

It is our belief that children are generally served best in the context of their family; thus the second option is the one we should strive to attain.

This is not always possible and, when necessary, the court is petitioned to remove children who are at risk.

Out-of-home placement, even though necessary in some cases, always creates trauma for a child. Children get the message that must have been their fault because, in their minds, they are the ones being punished, they are being removed from parents, friends, neighbors, sometimes school and other things familiar to them. Children generally suffer from feelings of guilt and anxiety.

Children love their parents, and their goal is almost always to be reunited with their parents, except in very severe and unusual circumstances.

When children are removed from their parents, efforts begin immediately to plan for a permanent future for them. The first option is always to explore the possibility of reuniting the family. Other options may be living with other siblings, other relatives, or a legal guardian.

Some family situations deteriorate so badly that the termination of parental rights must be considered so the child can be adopted.

One extremely important point to remember: Safeguards exist throughout the system. The role of the Probate Court is dominant in all decisions; to place children in foster care, to return them to their parents, to terminate the parents rights, to find the children another home, or to approve adoption.

Family preservation or reunification, even though just one of the options, is the central focus not only because it is considered to be good practice, it's the law. Probate Judges are required by the federal law (PL 96-272) to determine, in every case, whether "reasonable efforts" have been made to keep the family together.

Foster care is a valuable and necessary ingredient for a quality child-care system, a short-term goal until a more permanent solution can be arranged. However, it is not a panacea, in many cases, the answer is not to quickly remove children from homes that may appear less than desirable. The rest of a life in the foster care system can be devastating. Children who have been in foster care tend to develop a long-term dependency on government support and exhibit much higher rates of school dropout and incarceration.

At least count, about 17,000 children in Michigan are living away from their parents homes due to abuse, neglect, or delinquency.

It is a well-documented fact that out-of-home care is far more costly to the people of Michigan, both fiscally and in human terms, than keeping families safely together.

Probate Judges, Prosecutors, and this department must consider the long-range effect of removing children from their homes, the effects on the children, their parents, and society in general.

The safety of children must always be the primary concern, but rushing to "save" children can have, in the long run, the opposite effect.

Sometimes, many times the best way to save the child is by saving the family.

Dr. Gerald H. Miller

Local talent Lisa White and her fiance Brian Kiefler returned to Manistique to perform during Folkefest. The couple performed country and western songs along with Rock-and-Roll oldies.

Festival of Michigan Folklife

Storytellers and quillworkers, blues singers to pipers... They're all among the featured artists at this year at the annual Michigan State University Summer Festival of Michigan Folklife, scheduled for Aug. 7-7 and Aug. 14-15 on the beautiful campus of Michigan State University.

The artists, musicians, craftspeople and others represent a cross-section of old and new groups and traditions, all exploring the theme "Migration to Michigan." The festival showcases the cultural legacy of immigrants who built the state and added their distinctive stamp to Michigan's traditions.

Since its beginnings in 1987 as the centerpiece of the Michigan Festival, the annual Festival of Michigan Folklife has become an extremely popular event in the state of Michigan, bringing together storytellers, musicians, cooks and dancers representing Michigan's diverse regional, occupational and ethnic traditions.

This is the state's largest outdoor exhibition of living traditions, modeled after the Smithsonian Institution's Festival of American Folklife.

Artists from Upper Michigan include:

- *Master riverboat builder Elmer Johnson of Lake Linden and his apprentice David Paavola of Pelkie will be featured artists at the 1993 Michigan State University Museum Festival of Michigan Folklife.
- *The Michigan Heritage Awards are presented annually to master artists who continue the traditions of their families or communities with excellence and authenticity. As a highly respected Finnish-American tradition bearer of the Upper Peninsula, Anna Lassila has been honored with the Heritage Award and a 1991 Michigan Traditional Arts Apprenticeship Award, and she was an invited participant at the Smithsonian Institution's 1987 Festival of American Folklife and the MSU Museum Festival of Michigan Folklife.
- *Fiddler Helmer Toiras and accordionist Ken Salo were both

"Foodways, a term which refers to the entire pattern of what is eaten, when, how, and what it means, are closely linked to ethnic and regional identity. Perhaps the most important reason why they are especially resistant to change. In the case of Finnish Americans, for example, foods of the immigrant generation are still prepared.

Finnish-American cook Jean Johnson of Lake Linden is very comfortable in the kitchen. She loves to bake and assemble canned vegetables from her garden, fruit, fish, mushrooms, and so on. Johnson also is a good cook and often prepares Finnish-American foods such as the old-time favorites she demonstrates at the state's festival.

*Earl Nyholm of Crystal Falls is a respected bearer of Ojibwa traditional culture, carrying on traditions learned from his parents and other elders. He is recognized by his community as a skilled dancer, storyteller, comedian, pout woe emcee, and craftsman. His knowledge of birchbark canoe making is the subject of a film entitled The Birch Bark Canoe.

*Storyteller Fred Waisanen of Aulse was born and raised in a predominantly Finnish-American community of Aura, Baraga County, where he heard many stories from and about the loggers, fishermen, and farmers living in the area. One of the characters who figures prominently in these tales is the legendary lumberman, Big Eric, a lumberjack who logged some 10 to 15 miles from Waisanen's home.

*Many immigrants came to Michigan's Upper Peninsula from the work in mining, farming, and logging, among them a sizable group of Finns. Besides continuing the repertoire brought from Finland, Finnish immigrant musicians established a distinctly Finnish-American tradition and some adopted an eclectic repertoire reflecting the ethnic diversity of the U.P.

*Fiddler Helmer Toiras and accordionist Ken Salo were both born in the 1920s, children of Finnish immigrants and natives of Aura. Toiras began playing the fiddle as a boy and still plays often at the Aura Community Center. Accordionist Salo played with Toiras during the 1940s and '50s in a polka band called The High.

Aldrich, Hoholik, Hughson and Lauson voted for Kopecky. Martin voted for Carlson.

Jane Kopecky will replace Way on the hospital board.

County commissioners changed the drug-free workplace act for county employees.

The drug-free workplace act says:

"All grantees receiving grants, including cooperative agreements, from any federal agency must certify that they will provide a drug-free workplace...Making the pre-condition certification has been a pre-condition of receiving a grant from a federal agency since March 18, 1989. Every grantee, except a state or state agency, is required to make this certification for each grant."

"The grantee certifies that it will provide a drug-free workplace by...publishing a policy statement notifying employees that the unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensing, possession or use of a controlled substance is prohibited in the grantee's workplace and specifying the actions that will be taken against employees for violation of such prohibitions."

The act also outlines the establishment of an ongoing drug-free awareness program.

It also includes procedural matters for disciplinary action.

The county board also split the revenue the county received from liquor taxes with the health department to be used for substance abuse programs.

Rodney Weber was elected to the Economic Development Corporation to replace Gina Lawrence who stepped down.

Bob Panek was also elected to replace Sam Harms who also resigned.

Both were unanimously voted to serve on the EDC.

In executive session the county commissioners signed a contract with the AFS-CME union that represents hourly county employees who work in the clerical and building grounds departments.

According to county clerk Sigrid Doyle, the employees will receive a $25 an hour increase in wages and an increase in life insurance from $8,000 to $10,000.

Disability insurance was eliminated from the contract.

The county commission agreed to pay an $1,100 bill to UP Engineers for maps for the proposed zoning ordinance, even though $500 was the original agreed upon amount that was to be paid.

They said copying and reducing was where the added costs were incurred," said Aldrich. "Everything had to be sent to Green Bay."

Aldrich moved to pay the $1,100 bill and Hughson supported it.

It unanimously passed the board.

Airport, Continued

said Lauson. "Do you want to be a county employee?"

"Yes," said Hoffman.

"The system has been going fine for the last several years," said Aldrich. "I don't see why we are changing it now."

Hoffman said, "All I want is what they (former airport managers) got in the past year. I need the health benefits. No family man can live without them."

When asked why promises made by the airport committee were not binding even though the committee represented the county in employment discussions, Holmbeck said, "A decision like that needs to be made with the whole board present."

"My contract was negotiated with representatives of the board," said Hoffman. "I think they are the ones who should decide the specifics of the contract, otherwise why negotiate at all?"

"My son broke his arm a few weeks ago and had to have emergency surgery in Marquette."

"I just got the $7,000 doctor bill."

Many decoy carvers and collectors credit Jim Wicks' willingness to share his time and talents for spurring their interest in this traditional craft. For more than 20 years, Jim Wicks of McMillan, MI, participated in national decoy carving shows both as award-winning entrant and as award-granting judge. He is past president and long-time board member of the Wildfowl Preservation and Decoy Carving Association, and a generous donor to the Wildfowl Preservation group. Ducks Unlimited and Michigan Duck Hunters Association.

*Michigan's western Upper Peninsula is home to the nation's second concentration of Finnish-Americans. Art Mollanen of Mass City, MI, is the dean of Finnish-American piano accordions in the region, with a repertoire embracing Finnish songs learned from old-timers, regional dance tunes, and country western standards. Logger, tavern-keeper, and musician Mollanen has lived for more than 50 years, Mollanen still lives and plays in his hometown, Mass City.

This is the view from a bluff located in the Schoolcraft County Environmental Lab. The view overlooks the Jamestown Slough and the city of Manistique. The final touches are being put on the lab, which is open to the public. It will be used for environmental education programs.

Swagart deployed to Middle East

Navy Chief Petty Officer David W. Swagart, son of Gerald D. and Frances A. Swagart of Cooks is currently deployed with Tactical Electronic Warfare Squadron 141, Naval Air Station Whidbey Island, Oak Harbor, WA as part of the aircraft carrier USS Theodore Roosevelt Battle Group.

After more than 100 days at sea, the ship transited from the Mediterranean to the Red Sea where Swagart is helping to enforce the United Nations-imposed "no-fly" zone over southern Iraq. While in the Mediterranean, the ship enforced the United Nations imposed "no-fly" zone over Bosnia-Herzegovina.

Today, American aircraft carriers are on station around the world. USS Theodore Roosevelt is in the Red Sea. USS Nimitz is re-arming from the Persian Gulf, and USS Abraham Lincoln is in the Western Pacific. USS America is participating in a major Fleet Exercise off the U.S. East Coast, and will deploy to the Mediterranean next month.

Aircraft carriers, along with their planes and escort ships, are uniquely capable of providing global presence and can respond to protected contingencies such as Iraq and the Adriatic Sea on a moment's notice. These forces can dominate the coastal battlespace from the sea and can project sustained, precise power in America's interest around the globe.

The 1975 graduate of Big Bay de Noc High School of Garden, joined the Navy in February 1975. His wife, Cindy, is the daughter of Jerome and Barbara Segerstrom, also of Cooks.

SHARE! High school exchange program needs host families

What better way to celebrate American Independence this July than to share America with a high school exchange student from Eastern Europe, the former Soviet Union, Europe, South America, or Asia.

The SHARE! High School Exchange Program still needs a few more families in Manistiquette and the surrounding area to host exchange students arriving soon from over 15 different countries for the 1993/94 school year.

"The exchange students begin arriving as early as August 15, but it is important to match students with their host families now in July," states Dolores Bowers, the SHARE! Area Representative.

"The students are anxious to know where they will be living for the next 10 months and want to communicate with their host families as soon as possible so that they can get to know each other before they arrive in the United States."

The SHARE! students are well screened, speak English, are fully insured, and bring their own personal spending money. The host family provides a bed, meals, and a loving home and may deduct $50 per month for income tax purposes. It is not necessary for the host family to have teenagers in the home. The SHARE! Program considers all types of families to host.

Anyone interested in hosting should call as soon as possible. Many Michigan high schools have deadlines for exchange student enrollments. Call Dolores Bowers today at 616-896-7450 or the SHARE! office 1-800-835-8760 for a free brochure and more information.

Michigan Iron Industry Museum to host video "Camp Forgotten"

The Michigan Iron Industry Museum in Negaunee Township will host the Marquette County premiere of the videotape documentary "Camp Forgotten: The Civilian Conservation Corps in Michigan" at 4 p.m. Saturday, July 24, in the museum auditorium. The program will be presented by Bill Jamerson, A Traverse City film producer and archivist who spent a year researching the subject. Light refreshments will be served.

In 1933, during the worst economic depression the United States had ever seen, President Franklin D. Roosevelt created the Civilian Conservation Corps under the National Recovery Act. Over a 10 year period, this work relief program employed over three million young men between the ages of 17 and 23 in camps located in America's wilderness and set them to work restoring damaged natural resources, planting forests and building parks. The CCC would change the face of America and in time be recognized as FDR's most successful public works program.

"Camp Forgotten" explores the role of the CCC in Michigan and projects such as the building of the Sconey National Wildlife Refuge, Catebae Ski Area, and the transport of moose from Isle Royale to the Upper Peninsula. It includes interviews with more than a dozen CCC members who vividly describe life in camp and how the experience changed their lives. Combining rare archival footage and photographs with lo-matic cinematography of CCC built structures, this timeless program tells the dramatic story of how young men discovered their potential as productive citizens while restoring Michigan's wilderness.

The Michigan Iron Industry Museum is one of 10 museums and historic properties administered by the Michigan Department of State's Bureau of History. The Department of State is the official state agency responsible for preserving, protecting and interpreting Michigan history. The bureau administers the Michigan Historical Museum system; the State Archives of Michigan; and archaeology, historic preservation and publications programs including "Michigan History Magazine." The bureau is supported in its efforts by the Michigan Historical Commission, the Michigan Historical Center Foundation, the Friends of Michigan History and the Deont Club.

The Michigan Iron Industry Museum is open daily from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. through Oct. 31. Admission is free. For more information, telephone 475-7857.

Lawn ornaments "selling like hotcakes"

Wholesale, unique cement lawn ornaments are now for sale at Love's Cement Lawn Ornaments on U.S. 2 in Isabella and Kathy Love says, "There selling like hotcakes."

The prices are low and Kathy and Glen Love, proprietors, have cut out the middle man by purchasing the molds for their special lawn ornaments. They mix the cement and by making and painting their ornaments at their business site they can keep the cost low.

"We purchase our own molds and we have a real nice selection to choose from. We usually pour our cement at night and then take the mold apart in the morning. We set the ornament out to dry for a few days and then if it needs any patching up we take the extra cement and repair the flaw. We believe that when an ornament is done it should be like a porcelain piece," Kathy Love says with pride.

Not only do the Loves make their own lawn ornaments but they also repair used and older pieces customers bring to them.

"Whether it's a touch-up for broken ornaments to repainting an item we take special care in giving each item our full attention and best work. We believe the person who purchases our work or is just bringing in an old piece to be repaired puts a special value on each piece. These items are family heirlooms or will become family heirlooms so it's real important to do a great job on each and every piece," Kathy said.

Right now, since Glen and Kathy opened up on May 1, they are busy putting out orders from businesses that purchase their work to sell, custom orders and trying to fill their yard up with sale items.

One of Loves' fastest selling items is the fishing kids and black bear bird baths. They also have ornaments from one dollar to 100 dollars.

"The staff is going so fast. People know that each ornament is real reasonable in cost. We also let people know we stand behind our work. If there is any damage done to a piece due to workmanship we will repair it at no cost to the customer. We try to make sure our cement is reinforced so there

Flooding precautions

Recent flooding and extremely high water levels across the Midwest are posing great danger to children.

"In light of the tremendous rain and flooding we have experienced in recent weeks, we are urging parents everywhere to be acutely aware of how dangerous the water can be for children," Children's Hospital of Wisconsin Public Relations Director Leigh E. Morris said.

Children's Hospital is warning parents to keep their children away from rivers, lakes and creeks which are deeper and more dangerous than ever.

Standing water found in fields also is hazardous, not only because of its depth, but because it may be contaminated with animal or human waste or farm chemicals, Morris said.

Another concern for parents should be underwater hazards such as glass, fence posts, sharp rocks and branches. In some areas, standing water may have a strong current running through it, which also is dangerous.

Parents should allow their children to swim only in designated areas and only with adult supervision.

"A moment of carelessness can lead to serious injury or death," Morris said. "Water demands our respect and vigilance."

Our new card tables have arrived. We still have a few more to which if you would like to help with the cost. When you buy a table we do put your name on it. We will also write if you have purchased the table in memory of someone. If you are interested and would like to give us a hand with paying for the tables, please let us know at the Center.

Class of 1938 celebrates 55th

by Harriett Abramson

Just like Energizer Batteries, the class of 1938 keeps going and going and going, but stopped on July 10 just long enough to celebrate its 55th reunion at the Kamada Inn.

Since our class flower, the tulip, has come and gone, the tables were decorated with vases of everyone's favorite, the Daisy - compliments of Lois (Ott) Neus and Linnea (Mickelson) Ott.

After Jack Ott read the names of our departed classmates, Hugh Fisher offered the blessing in remembrance.

In addition to Lois, Linnea, Jack and Hugh, those attending were: Lawrence Landwehr, Milwaukee; Wallace Martin, Las Vegas; Orpha (Hoc) Hermes, St. Paul; John Solting, Muskegon; Norman Slough, Postville; Donald Southard, Denver and Archie Cameron, Madison, Wisconsin.

Hugh Fisher lives in L'Anse. Those attending from town were: Elaine (Carlson) Hawley, Linnea Carlson, Elsie (Carlson) Barry, Lowell Olsen, Elva (Reid) Carlson, Shirley (Van Dyke) Graff and the committee, Dorothy (Edwards) Kerr, Dorothy (DuChene) Whitelaw and Harriett Abramson.

From a class of 83 graduates, there are 29 dressed: John Baker, Truman Bester, June Bunker, Kenneth Burley, Florence Carlson, Shirley Carlson, Billie Carlstenson, Burnette Cooper, Olive Diller, Doris Eckhardt, Walter Gillingham, Clinton Goufreau, Earle Hursch, Donald Hyland, Virginia McNamora, Marvin Morrice, Jack Norton, Joyce Olson, Harold Peasley, Averil Sine, Bruce Smith, Victor Steele, Geraldine Stinch, Lloyd Thomas, Charles Watson, Bob Wesson, Melbourne Williams and Doris Wilson, Truman Brown and Donald Hyland were killed during World War II. Both Lawrence Landwehr and Hugh Fisher were WWII prisoners of war, held in Germany. The only business on the agenda was to promote Billie (Carlstenson) Doyle from Emerald 500 into the Emerald Grand Plus in the Manistique Area School's Foundation Scholarship Fund by donating $50.00 to her memorial fund. Billie not only organized so many of the past class reunions, she also served on the School Board for many years. Other memorials were received from John Seling and Virginia (Hood) Ellefson, Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin.

The class of 1938 expects to keep going and going and going but will stop for its annual get-together in 1994, 95, 96 and 97. Our Jack Ott (as we call him) promises a bang-up celebration for the 60th to be held on the second Saturday after the 4th of July, 1998. Mark your calendar!

Northern Michigan Relief Sale to be held made gifts from 35 developing nations.

This year's sale will again feature the Relief Sale Run. The two-mile race will start at 7 p.m. on Friday. Entrants may register anytime during the day before the race.

At 7 p.m. on Friday, a musical program will feature the "One Accord Quartet" from Pigeon, MI. The program will be held in the main arena at the fairgrounds.

A parade and savings breakfast starts off the Saturday events at 6 a.m. Shops open at 7:30 a.m. The sale's most popular attraction, the auction, begins at 9 a.m. Some of the special items are a hand-crafted grandfather clock, a solid oak table and chairs, an oak rocker, an oak hutch, and hickory table for an adult and one for a child. The quilt sale, beginning at 11 a.m., is the highlight of the auction. Nearly 200 quilts, comforters, afghans, and baby quilts will be up for bids. Several ladies will be quilting during the day at the quilt supply booth.

Young shoppers won't want to miss Kids' World, where items are priced with a youngster's budget. Money raised from Kids' World will go toward a special project: supporting a school for the deaf in Jamaica.

For doll collectors, a "Zook Kid" will be auctioned off. Her name is DANA, made by "Johannes Zook Originals" of Midland. DANA is 20/250.

A variety of food to satisfy appetites will be available throughout the day, with barbecued chicken, pork sandwiches, fresh fruit pies, pasties, Sloppy Joes, and much more for sale.

The persons promoting the Northern Michigan Relief Sale are doing so for serious reasons. While human suffering cannot be entirely eliminated, much can be done to alleviate it through the efforts of volunteers and donors.

The purpose of the sale is to help the hungry, the homeless, the war-torn, the sick, the handicapped, and the illiterate in the "Name of Christ." Monies raised will be channeled through the Menominee Central Committee, the cooperative relief and service agency of North American Menomonic and Brethren in Christ church groups. Last year, the 36 relief sales in the U.S. and Canada raised over $4,000,000 for U.S. and world relief. You can do your part by donating and bidding generously. Come and enjoy the sale with us!

For local information call: Valene Esch, 517-848-2445, Bill Esch, 517-848-2391 or write: Northern Michigan Relief Sale, Box 98, Fairview, MI 48621.

Write to: Community Action Agency, 507 First Avenue North, Escanaba, MI 49829-3998 or call (906) 786-7080 for specifications. Bids will be accepted postmarked no later than July 30, 1993.

"EPA - For Manistique's Sake, Stop and Think"

We, the undersigned, oppose EPA's plan to dredge PCB sediments from Manistique Harbor. We believe the decision is wrong - both in terms of the environment and the community.

- EPA is acting irresponsibly. Their decision is based on outdated scientific information. The Agency's top priority should be a thorough scientific study of PCBs in the harbor, not just dredging the Harbor before the weather gets too cold.
- Dredging the PCB sediments could do more harm than good to the environment.
- Dredging the Harbor this summer will be a huge waste of money.
- Why must the Harbor all of a sudden be dredged when the PCBs have been there for at least 20 years, and fish in the area have been tested safe for consumption?
- EPA is ignoring the public. No one has ever told us how dredging the Harbor will provide a benefit to either our environment or our health.
- The cost of the unnecessary dredging of the Harbor will affect our entire community. Tourism will suffer, and jobs will be lost because of the stigma and financial impact of dredging.

Please stop this action before it is too late. Our community and environment deserve better.
