

Argentina And Chile Agree To Solidarity

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 21.—P—Argentina and Chile swung into line with the 19 other American republics tonight in a declaration of intention to sever diplomatic relations with the Axis.

Argentina, considered from the very start of the current conference of foreign ministers as the most likely obstacle to unanimity behind such a declaration, accepted the compromise plan without reservation.

The wording of the all-important agreement, however, indicated that Argentina's assistance nevertheless would have to be ratified by the Argentine congress.

It was recalled that the Argentine foreign minister said even before the conference began that any agreement he made would have to be approved by his congress.

Chile's foreign minister, Juan Bautista Rossetti, however, made the reservation that he would have to consult his government. From the start he had insisted that Chile's special geographical situation affected her position.

A four-point statement was thrashed out in a series of talks among the conference leaders, the climax being a session in the office of Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha, of Brazil, at which adherence to the two reluctant powers finally was won.

Besides Aranha and Rossetti, those attending were U. S. Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, Argentine Foreign Minister Enrique Ruiz Guinazu and Peruvian Foreign Minister Alfredo Solís Muro.

The first two points of the form reiterated the long-standing declarations that any act of aggression against any American republic by a non-American state is an act of aggression against all of them and that all 21 nations will cooperate for their mutual protection.

The third and fourth points, embodying the question which has occasioned all the negotiations with Argentina and Chile, are:

"The American republics consequently declare that in the exercise of their sovereignty and in accordance with their constitutional institutions and powers, provided that these are in accord, they cannot continue diplomatic relations with Japan, Germany, and Italy, since Japan has attacked and the others have declared war upon a country of our Hemisphere.

"Sponsors of Move Elated
The American republics finally declared that before they reestablish relations referred to in the previous paragraph, they will consult together in order that their decision may be collective and unanimous."

Despite the Chilean reservation and the careful wording of the third article, backers of the diplomatic rupture were elated. An American observer commented, "It is a real achievement," and that the conference already could be called a success, even though it had four working days remaining.

The agreement still required the approval of the foreign ministers or chief delegates of 16 other American nations, assembled at this third consultative Pan-American conference.

Approval By All Expected
These included the sponsors of the original rupture resolution—Mexico, Colombia and Venezuela—but approval by all was not expected to be difficult.

For example, Alberto Guani, foreign minister of Uruguay, had said before the agreement was reported that a unanimous rupture of relations with the Axis "must not be delayed too long."

The agreement, with its qualifications, was not all that was wanted by Welles and the bloc of northern countries solidly behind the United States.

They would have preferred a flat agreement for an immediate severance of relations with the Axis, but what they got was considered much better than nothing. It was regarded as going a long way toward showing the world in general and the Axis in particular that the Americas were effectively united against aggressors.

Guani had said that until that was done, the conference was stalling, the real business being handled only "in private conversations."

From the beginning a majority of Pan-American delegates had favored leaving Argentina out on a limb should that country refuse to vote with them in favor of ousting all Axis diplomatic and consular agents.

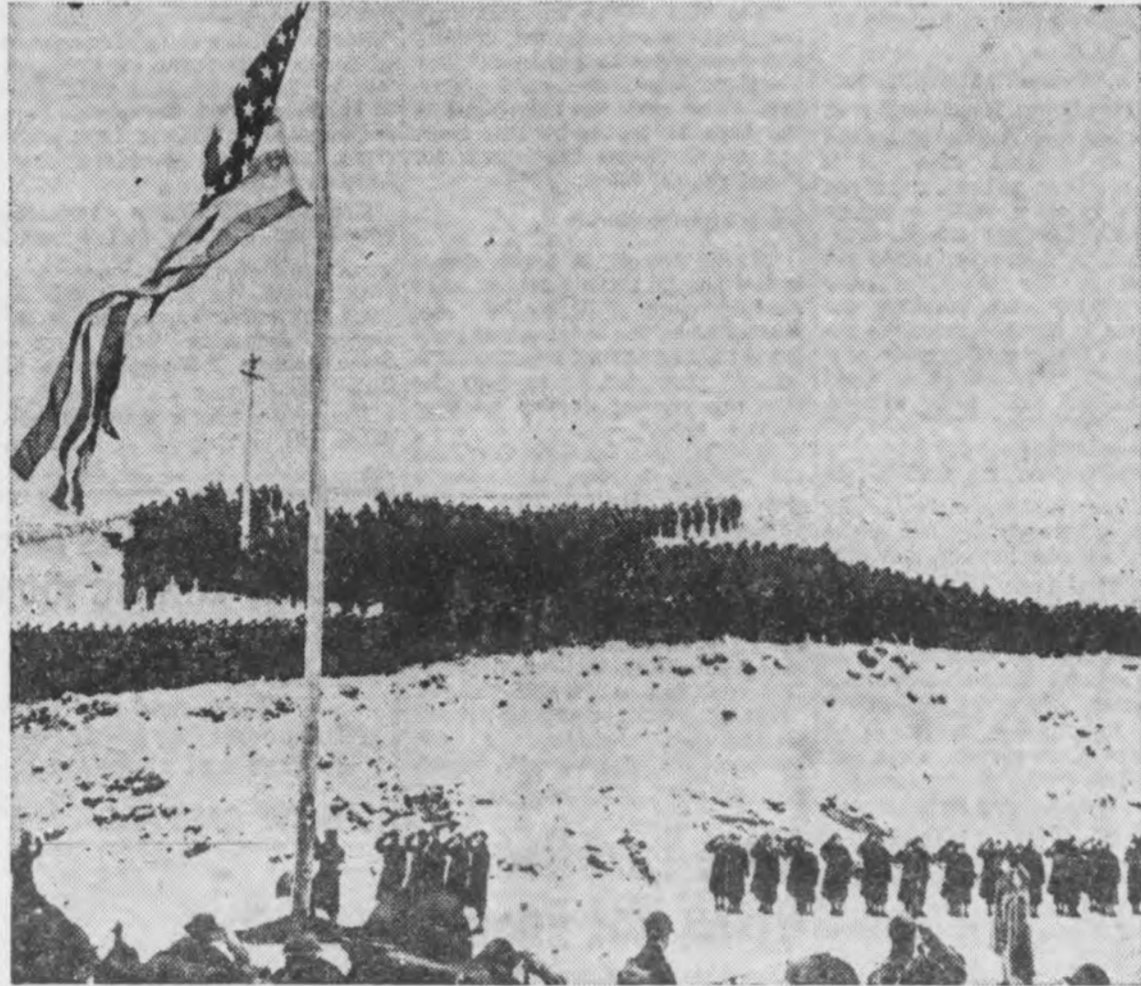

Liberals Opposed Castillo
Argentina's attitude—as expressed by acting President Ramon S. Castillo and not the big Radical (Liberal) party opposing him—was that she is contributing wisely to Hemisphere solidarity in her policy of regarding the United States as a non-belligerent, thus opening Argentine ports to U. S. warships for indefinite stays.

A break with the Axis would just complicate defense problems for the U. S. and other American nations, Castillo had declared.

Chile's lukewarm stand had not been considered much of an obstacle, since her cautious attitude was prompted somewhat by an approaching presidential election, delegates said.

War Production Program Streamlined by Nelson

By Richard L. Turner

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—P—Asserting that "debating societies" were out, Donald M. Nelson, generalissimo of American war production, announced a revised war-industry setup today with key men given sweeping authority to "get the job done."

He called it, at a press conference, a general "streamlining" of the old production organization, but still an "interim organization," subject to change as experience may demonstrate that change is necessary.

Essentially, it consisted of passing on to his subordinates the power which the President gave him as chairman of the war production board, relieving himself of administrative detail so that he may function as general director of the program.

Kanzler Directs Auto Industry
For instance, and Nelson stressed it as typical, he announced that Ernest Kanzler, an old associate of Henry Ford, had been made head of a committee for the automobile industry, charged essentially with converting that industry to war production.

Kanzler will move to Detroit, make decisions on the spot, and hold all the authority to get the job done that was vested in Nelson himself. His power includes such things as compelling, if necessary, the tool room of one plant, if it has idle capacity, to make tools for another company.

But first of all, Nelson said, it was necessary that the men in charge know what was needed. So, he is establishing a committee on requirements, under William L. Bait. The committee will be composed of representatives of the Army, the Navy, the lease-lend administration and the Maritime Commission. In addition to providing an over-all estimate of needs, he said, Bait will allocate the percentages of available materials which will go into production for each.

Six Essential Divisions
Below this committee, Nelson's administrative chart fans out into six essential divisions. They are:

A division of industry operations. Its task will be to get "as much conversion as possible as quickly as possible," and after receiving the recommendations of other divisions, it will order such curtailments of civilian production as may be necessary. Its head will be J. S. Knowlson, president of the Stewart-Warner corporation.

It also will have charge of priorities, and a director of priorities may be created within it. To it will report some 50 or sixty industry committees, such as that for automobiles, under Kanzler.

Through the heads of these committees it will handle the placing of contracts (the latter, however, still to be let by the Army and Navy).

A production division, under W. H. Harrison, who, Nelson said, "will be hard enough and tough enough to cut through the bottle necks" and get production rolling.

A materials division, under William L. Bait, with the task of making the "materials go around," of keeping tab on what is available and what expected, and expediting.

Embarrassing Moment For Nazi Announcer
NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—P—NBC's listening post tonight reported the following embarrassing moment for the announcer on the Berlin radio's "news in English" program:

"In the course of heavy fighting in Malaya," said the German announcer, "the Italians lost considerable ground. . . er— I beg pardon, the Australians lost the ground!"

"Tavo, it appeared, was being developed by the Japanese as the base for a second probable thrust upon Moulmein, to which it is linked by a railway and highway route.

The master Japanese scheme apparently is to undertake piecemeal occupation of exposed southern Burma areas while the British command's main task is that of marshaling an offensive and not a defensive army. (An eventual British thrust from Burma at the Japanese flank in Thailand to relieve Malaya is generally expected.)

Moulmein is but 15 minutes flying time from three Japanese air bases in Thailand.

Chinese Entreaty to Burma
On Chungking, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was understood to be sending additional troops down the Burma road into Burma, itself, to strengthen the British allies.

At the same time, the Chinese press carried an article apparently officially inspired, which stated that Chinese fears that the United States might concentrate too much on Germany had now been dispelled.

"American statesmen apparently see eye to eye with Chinese leaders that no effort should be spared to inflict heavy losses on the Japanese in order to hasten Japan's total defeat," said the article.

During the day it was announced that the total casualties in Rangoon air raids of Dec. 23 and Dec. 25 were 1,102 killed and 1,650 wounded.

Riots Caused by Food Problem in France, Report

BERN, Switzerland, Jan. 21.—P—The food situation in France was reported tonight to have led to riots in at least four cities.

In the Mediterranean city of Sete, between Marseille and the Spanish border, dockworkers seized the city hall after some demonstrators had been arrested. They withdrew only when the mayor promised to release the prisoners and do all he could to relieve the food shortage.

Other demonstrations occurred in Nimes, Montpellier and Agde, all in the Marseille area. Details were not available, but Vichy authorities were reported seriously concerned lest the disorders spread.

Heavy fighting continued there and in the nearby Bakri vicinity. (A Japanese newspaper reported that Allied warships were operating in the area.)

On the western anchor of the British line, however, British headquarters reported that there had been only slight contact with the Japanese in the area of Batu Pahat about 60 miles north of Singapore, the nearest previous point of enemy penetration.

In the area of Bukit Payong, a hill nine miles north of Batu Pahat and below the Muar river, said the British communique, "our artillery inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy at short range over open sights."

MacArthur's Forces Push Japs Back In Fierce Counter-Blow; British Halt Malayan Advance

13 Raiders Downed Over Singapore

By C. Yates McDaniel

SINGAPORE, Jan. 21.—P—British artillery firing point-blank over open sights appeared tonight to have beaten the Japanese offensive to a halt in northwest Johore state, and Singapore's AA batteries and fighter planes shot down at least 13 enemy raiders in the best day's work yet for the defenders of this base.

The RAF, too, was in heavy and effective action against the invaders' principal air bases, Kuantan and Kuala Lumpur having been especially hard hit and left alight with flames.

Only on the eastern, and far less critical, side of the Malayan peninsula was there evidence of Japanese progress of consequence. There, the British command acknowledged that the imperial outpost at Endau, about 85 miles above Singapore, had fallen back before superior enemy forces.

Court-Martial Acquits Colonel Muhlenberg

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 21.—P—A general court-martial today acquitted Col. H. C. Kress Muhlenberg of charges that he wrongfully criticized the United States policy of sending American warplanes to foreign powers.

Colonel Muhlenberg, 55, who will be retired next month as Fifth Corps area air officer, immediately was freed from arrest. He had been confined to quarters since Dec. 18, the day after an address to the Curtiss Flying club here.

The former commander at Hickam Field, Honolulu, was accused of violating two articles of war regulating "conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman" and "conduct of a nature to bring discredit upon the military service."

Only on the eastern, and far less critical, side of the Malayan peninsula was there evidence of Japanese progress of consequence. There, the British command acknowledged that the imperial outpost at Endau, about 85 miles above Singapore, had fallen back before superior enemy forces.

County Fair Cancelled By Supervisors

The Marquette county fair, one of the county's notable "institutions," which has been presented by the county agricultural association for 58 consecutive years, will not be held in 1942. This was the decision of the county board of supervisors yesterday as it soberly considered many problems arising from the war emergency.

Ceases March 1

The agricultural association, called into special session during a recess of the board meeting, voted unanimously to pay all bills up to March 1 and cease operations on that date. This recommendation was approved by the supervisors, with only one dissenting vote.

All fair property was placed under the supervision of the county purchasing agent. Keenly aware of the increasing responsibilities and problems that the county government must face in the coming months, the supervisors voted to keep a closer check on county monies by referring all requests for appropriations to the budget and executive committee.

To Study Requests

When the first request was read, Chairman T. J. Nicholas, Sr., Palmer, outlined a broad policy, asserting that because of the expected increase in requests for county aid, all should be referred to the budget and executive committee for study. "Many of these requests will be granted," he said, "but I believe they should be given careful study." A motion to this effect was approved.

Among requests for appropriations yesterday referred to the budget and executive committee were:

- County tire rationing board—Money to defray cost of postage, telephone calls at the like.
- County defense council—Aid for the expense of telephone, postage and stationery.
- Emergency medical service for civilian defense of Marquette county—$1,000 to $1,200 for purchase of instruments and supplies.
- Also referred to the budget and executive committee was the request of the county defense bond committee that the county institute a voluntary payroll deduction plan for the purchase of defense bonds by county employes.

Food Allowance Raised

An increase of five cents a day in the allowance for feeding inmates in the county jail was approved. The new rate is 70 cents a day. Sheriff Howard Treado, pointing to higher food costs, sought an increase of 10 cents.

After voting not to send representatives to the annual meeting of State Association of Supervisors in Lansing January 27 to 29, the board rescinded its action on motion of James Jernsted, of Ishpeming, and authorized the chairman or vice-chairman and the county purchasing agent to attend.

Chairman Nicholas said he doubted whether matters to be considered at the meeting were worth the cost of sending delegates, but Jernsted contended that the county "might lose money" by not participating in discussion of questions growing out of the war emergency.

In pointing out the need for suspending the county fair, Chairman

FERRY SCHEDULE (Eastern Standard Time)

The state ferry schedule effective at the Straits of Mackinac until April 15 follows:

- Leave St. Ignace—5:30 a. m., 9 a. m., 12 noon, 3 p. m., 6 p. m.
- Leave Mackinac City—7 a. m., 10:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m., 4:30 p. m., 7:30 p. m.

Nicholas said it would be dangerous to enter into contracts for entertainment in February when conditions in August could not be foreseen. "By that time," he said, "we might think it would be unwise to permit 5,000 or 6,000 persons to assemble in one group." Supervisor Charles Stakel, North Lake, asserted that "while I don't want to be too pessimistic, I believe we should face the facts. We should realize that between now and August this region may have a more war-like atmosphere."

Transportation Factor

Stakel pointed out that many mine workers already are facing an acute transportation problem because of the shortage of tires. "Many are begging for tires now, so that they can get to work," he said, predicting that if the fair were held there would be a sharp decrease in attendance. "We are in a war, and a war much worse than the last one. We must change our ways of thinking," he said.

Emphasizing his remarks, he pointed out that three persons came to the meeting from Ishpeming in one car, whereas formerly three cars were used.

On motion of Dr. Paul Van Ripper, the board voted to rescind any motion or resolution concerning time in Marquette county that would be in conflict with the act of Congress establishing day-light saving time throughout the country.

Oppose Tax Change

A resolution was passed supporting the action of the Kalamazoo county board of supervisors in its opposition to a proposal to reduce the state weight tax on automotive equipment. A resolution opposing the shooting of antlerless deer on camp licenses was referred to the conservation committee.

The request for an appropriation for purchase of medical equipment and supplies was presented to the board by Dr. Neal J. McCann, Ishpeming, chairman of the county emergency medical service.

This equipment, he pointed out, would be kept at various hospitals and would be used in field emergency first aid work. It is a voluntary service organized by doctors of the county for emergency medical aid. Materials, he said, would be stationed at Ishpeming, Negaunee, Marquette, Gwinn, Republic, Champion, Michigamme and Big Bay.

Hikers Hike Sunday, Snow Or No Snow

Hampered by warm temperatures and lack of snow in starting the winter sports season, promoters of the ski hike from Superior hills have adopted a novel way of hurdling the weather bugaboo. They've decided not to pay any attention to it.

The hike over the new picturesque Bleimhuber Homestead trail will be held next Sunday afternoon—with or without snow. If it snows, everyone will ski, and if the weather remains mild, everyone will simply hike and like it.

A ski hike sans snow would set a precedent for the Marquette Winter Sports club, marking the first time in the history of the organization that a winter sports season was officially opened by a ski hike—without skis and without snow.

Everyone Invited

participate. The group will leave Superior hills at 2 Sunday afternoon, following a trail to the southwest near the Enchantment lake road and turning north to emerge from the woods south of the Marquette Golf and Country club course.

A stop will be made at Ole's Barn, where coffee and doughnuts will be served. After refreshments, the skiers—that is, the hikers—will go east through open fields and into the valley behind Giant's Foot hill and arrive at the ski shack at Superior hills before 5 p. m.

The hike will be made through beautiful, heavily-wooded country and over interesting terrain," Dan Vaughan, hike leader, said yesterday. "The route has been marked. We hope to popularize this route and use it during the winter for moonlight ski hikes.

Much Interest Shown

"Much interest is being shown in the jaunt. I think 200 or more persons were disappointed last Sunday when the opening was postponed because of mild weather. This interest prompted us to hold the hike this coming Sunday with or without snow."

Assisting in planning the hike are William Carlson, Al J. Jacobson, Andrew Easley, Tom Kelly, Mrs. Carl Beckman, Miss Stephanie Coppens, Miss Sarah Van Cleave, William Ferns, Franklin Thompson, Bob Ferns, Charles Thompson and the Misses Rosemary Leonard, Carol Garby, Elaine Rose, Nita Engalls, Eunice and Lorraine Frink and Luella Olson.

February Tire Rationing Quota Lower

LANSING, Jan. 21—P—Michigan's passenger tire rationing quota next month will be 2,871, a decrease of more than 1,000 from the January quota. It was announced today by Arthur H. Sarvis, state rationing administrator. Quota this month was 3,985.

Sarvis said the state allotment of passenger tire tubes in February will be 2,403 compared with 3,336 in January. Truck tire quotas were decreased from 9,196 to 5,892, while truck tubes were increased from 7,688 to 10,102.

Reports of county rationing boards indicate the full January duty during the hike. It will be their first public appearance of the season. Members will stage a demonstration following lunch at Ole's Barn.

Marquette winter queen candidates will participate in the hike.

quota will not be used up, Sarvis said, but the unused portion of the quota will be cancelled. He pointed out that February always has been a seasonal low spot in marketing of replacement tires.

'42 Outlook For Farmers Good in U. P.

On the basis of current price trends and crop predictions Northern Michigan farmers can anticipate generally favorable conditions this year with weather being the outstanding controlling factor, D. L. Clannahan, Michigan State College extension crop specialist in the Upper Peninsula, believes.

Because potato prices are now the highest in several years and because potatoes are the most important cash crop in the Peninsula, the regional and national outlook for this crop, Clannahan believes, is of considerable interest at this time.

Although Department of Agriculture records show that high price years frequently have been followed by sharp declines, either as a result of increased acreage placed in production or of exceptionally high prices, stabilizing factors are indicated for 1942.

Little Increase Likely

Because war conditions are affecting all commodity price indices, some officials believe that some acreage in potato production in 1941 may be diverted to other crops. Such decreases, it is believed, may largely offset increases, leaving the county's 1942 potato acreage approximately the same as last season. Recent surveys have indicated that there is a need for expansion of potato acreage in the so-called late states, including Michigan.

Weather, Clannahan points out, is the principal factor in potato yields. Since the nation's average yield has been above normal for several years, an average or below average yield in 1942 is not unlikely. Some analysts predict that even with an increase in acreage the nation's crop will be no more than normal in 1942.

No marked change in potato acreage in the Upper Peninsula is foreseen, Clannahan said, except in Menominee county, the largest potato producing area in the region, where an acreage reduction of approximately one-third appears likely. Menominee county producers lost a considerable part of their crop last year because of heavy rains, which caused rot and storage damage.

Few Changes Seen

Little change is expected in Houghton county, the second largest producing area in the Peninsula, or in Marquette, Iron and other counties. Some acreage increases may be made in Delta county, which had good yields in 1941. The situation is not yet clear in Gogebic and Ontonagon counties, where producers were hard hit by weather last fall.

No change in the hay crop, the largest in terms of acreage in the region, is expected, barring abnormal weather conditions. It will have greater value in 1942, however, because of favorable prices for dairy products.

Grain production, although not large in the Peninsula, will have added importance because of higher prices, which will adversely affect dairy farmers who must buy grain for feed. Chippewa and Menominee counties are the largest grain producers. The former usually has about 125,000 acres of oats and 95,000 acres of barley, while the latter averages about 115,000 acres of oats and 50,000 acres of barley.

Down-State Group To Be Guests Here

Enroute to attend the state highway conference in Houghton January 30 and 31, a party of 25 men from Lower Michigan, including several state officials, will be entertained by the Marquette Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon-meeting in the Northland hotel Thursday noon, January 29.

Among those in the party will be Captain Don S. Leonard, state defense director; LeRoy Smith, Wayne county highway engineer, and William Palmer, state civil service director.

Marquette and the county will be represented at the meeting, which will be attended by highway engineers and commissioners from all parts of the Peninsula.

the individual qualifies for service under the new standards.

Likewise, cases placed in 3A because of marital status will be checked to determine whether there is a dependency which will prevent military service. It is entirely up to the draft boards to decide whether married men shall be called. Those who have acquired dependency since the selective service act went into effect cannot expect automatic deferment. Their cases will be scrutinized closely. Many who tentatively were placed in 3A can expect reclassification into 1A.

If the demand for man-power grows, men who married prior to the selective service act, but whose dependents are capable of independent support, undoubtedly will be reclassified from 3A to 1A.

In all cases where there is reclassification, the individual has 10 days in which to make an appeal. The appeal board will review each case separately.

The selective service regulations are as flexible as they are broad. This is as it should be, especially now that the country is at war. They will be applied fairly and uniformly to meet the requirements of our armed forces. At the moment these requirements are such that many who previously have been deferred must now be called up for service. None, therefore, should count too much on marriage, with or without minor dependents, as a basis for permanent deferment.

Demands on Churchill

Mr. Churchill is being pressed for a discussion of the failure of the defense of Malaya to come up to expectations. The opposition wants it at once. Mr. Churchill, while not averse to giving it, desires to speak in his own time. Sooner or later, however, there will be a full dress debate on the subject.

If it conforms to what it has been in the past, Mr. Churchill's position will be the one that the Government is indivisible, that what is done and what is not done represents decision of the whole as to what is best. He will not be likely to provide a scapegoat for Malaya and the peril to which Singapore is exposed. His attitude will more fully reflect Mr. Eden's earlier statement, "If we were wrong it was as a result of a deliberate decision, and not as a result of neglect."

While it is certainly true that more was not done to reinforce the British army based on Singapore, and to provide it with more planes, because of concentration for the battle of Lybia and the necessity, up to the turn of the campaigns in Russia against the Nazis, of providing against likely contingencies in Syria, Iran and Iraq, this is not the whole story.

If there had been sound estimate of the strength of the Japanese and the far-sighted care with which they had worked out plans for a lightning offensive the Allies would have found means greatly to bolster Singapore. By the same token, this country would have done somewhat better for the Philippines and would not have been caught napping at Pearl Harbor. It is a tragic fact that Japan completely hoodwinked the Allies.

But too much time may be spent dwelling on what is past. The important thing is to apply its lessons in dispositions for the future. The debacle at Pearl Harbor was followed by early action by the President to replace, pending inquiry, all the commanders who shared the responsibility. New men have been given new tasks, and all the evidence points that they are acquitting themselves well in them.

The British Government, also, has made far-reaching changes in command, placing General Wavell in charge of land operations and concurring in delegation of the naval command to the American, Admiral Hart. None can doubt that it, as well as our Government, has taken every possible step to make good the setbacks attributable principally to underestimation of Japanese strength.

Mr. Churchill is being urged to make changes in the Government personnel. While it seems probable that some changes will be made, they will not likely meet the views of all who are demanding them. But they will represent Mr. Churchill's decision as to what may best be done. This decision the House of Commons will doubtless accept. The alternative will be a vote of no confidence, a vote to drop the pilot that does not seem to be in the realm even of possibilities. The matter of importance is to get on with the tasks of the future. As far as the British are concerned, there is no man comparable with Mr. Churchill in capacity to deal with them.

Contemporary Opinion

Manager Plan Grows. That the manager form of municipal government is meeting with favor in the United States is clearly shown by the fact that the cities having this system of administration now total 54, an all-time record.

During the past year, 18 cities joined the ranks of those with managers. Only five cities put the abandonment of the plan to a vote, and in each case the voters supported the manager system. This seems to indicate that citizens are becoming better informed as to the advantages of the plan, and are able to resist the attacks of self-seeking politicians successfully.

The manager form of municipal government has seen remarkable growth since it was first put into operation 33 years ago. In this connection, it might be mentioned that Escanaba adopted the plan as far back as 1922, and other Upper Peninsula cities followed suit.

Escanaba would never think of going back to the old aldermanic form of government. The manager form of government has given proof of its worth in this city. Politics and inefficiency have been wiped out, and now Escanaba has the reputation of being one of the best governed small cities in the country.—Escanaba Daily Press.

Arguing Against Balance

Two arguments have been widely used by farm bloc Senators in attempting to justify the torpedoing of the price control bill with amendments. It remains to be seen whether this bloc can take any pride in its handiwork in the face of President Roosevelt's sharp and justified criticism.

One line of pleading is to the effect that even current prices for certain farm products, particularly cotton, represent a wage of 20 cents an hour or less to the workers who produce them, while Federal legislation requires wages of 40 cents or better in industry. Such comparisons do not take into account some compensations of farm life. Moreover there is little wisdom in jeopardizing the war effort to try to accomplish a social revolution, especially when if the price of cotton could be lifted to 40 cents a pound this would have the peace-time effect of destroying the demand for cotton.

The other argument voiced by political friends of agriculture is that the war emergency gives the farmer his only opportunity to make up for years of small earnings when prices for his products were below "parity." The price control bill would allow a ceiling of 110 per cent of farm parity in recognition of this point, but the farm bloc is not satisfied with that.

The index of buying power of farm products—that is, the ratio between prices the farmer receives and prices he pays for things—stands now above 95 per cent of the 1909-14 ratio chosen by farm groups as being fair. This would indicate that a pretty good balance already exists between present agricultural and industrial prices. In fact, farm prices rose 22 per cent during 1941 while prices paid by farmers rose only 4 per cent.

If the war were to be taken as an occasion for every group to "cash in," it could be argued with equal propriety that the armament makers should be allowed to charge all the traffic would bear since they have little business in peace time, or that industrial workers and farm help should demand the highest wages scarcity could enforce so as to make up for months of unemployment.

Agriculture has more to gain in the long run from helping to keep the nation's economy in balance than from trying to exploit a temporary advantage. High prices would sow seeds of a post-war agricultural depression whereas reasonable prices will help assure stability.—Christian Science Monitor.

Penalties For Tire Thieves

What the public at large thinks of the tire thief can be gauged from the fact that a bill providing stiff penalties for tire stealing was passed by both houses at the special session of the Illinois legislature. The bill makes tire theft a felony and imposes a minimum sentence of one year and the maximum, with a maximum of 10 years.

Excellent! May the stiffer penalties be provided generally be accompanied by quick and certain apprehension. The tire thief has enjoyed a certain success in this first few days of the auto-tire ban. But his number is up. The American people at war will not tolerate that kind of vermin.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Turkey

British successes in Africa and German losses in Russia suggest to many military observers that Turkey may soon become another of the war's far-flung battlefronts. For several weeks there have been reports that Hitler is massing troops for an African counter-offensive; and while these reports are unconfirmed, they have the larger authenticity of rumors that might well be true.

The importance of Turkey in this situation is two-fold. It consists of that country's natural resources and its geographical advantages. A country slightly smaller than the state of California, Turkey's total land area embraces portions of two continents. Its first line of defense is the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles, the latter of great strategic value to the side with which Turkey decides to link its fate.

Surrounded on three sides by seas, its high mountains ranges make the country comparatively easy to defend. Although its border on Russia is wild and thickly wooded, troops could attack Russia by means of the Black sea.

Turkey boasts three separate and distinct ranges of climate. In the north along the Black sea, winter is extremely cold and summer is warm and moisture-laden. The temperate Mediterranean climate prevails along the Ionian coast as far south as Adana, while the western portion of Turkey is dry and hot most of the year, with only occasional light snows in the winter season.

Coal and Copper. Coal and copper are the country's leading minerals, with more than 1,500,000 tons of bunker coal produced annually in the western section of Kastamuni on the Black sea. Copper is mined from extensive fields on the Iraq-Syrian frontier and at Arghana, where 1,600,000 tons of red metal are obtained annually. At Erzerum, near the Iranian border, are large petroleum deposits which have not yet been worked. In addition to copper and petroleum, there are large workings of chrome, lignite, manganese, zinc, silver-lead, borax, sulphur, antimony, arsenic, mercury and valuable clays.

Chief agricultural products are tobacco, for which Turkey's market is world-wide; and olive oil, of which Turkey is one of the chief exporters. Other products include cereals, cotton, figs, nuts, opium and gum.

Turkey is at full war strength today. Military service is compulsory, with citizens becoming eligible at the age of 20, and remaining subject to service for 26 years. Requirements call for 18 months' service in the infantry, three years in the navy and a total of two years in other services.

Diplomatic Enigma. As in World War I, Turkey is a diplomatic enigma which both Great Britain and Germany have sought consistently to reduce to understandable terms. Composed chiefly of Moslems, Turkey has been uncompromisingly nationalistic, having sought to assimilate all subject peoples. During the first World War, she waited until late in the conflict before casting her lot with Germany. Her present government, well aware of the importance of the country's nearness to the vital petroleum fields of neighboring Iran (taken over by Britain to prevent their falling into Nazi hands), seems determined to keep the world waiting as long as possible before deciding in which direction the die will be cast.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

New York Chats

By Charles B. Driscoll. NEW YORK—When Dr. Jerome Ziegler died, a few months ago, he left no fortune, though he was a famous surgeon and had a large practice in some of the best hospitals in New York. Like so many doctors, he did a great deal of work for which he asked no pay and a great deal more work for which he got no pay. And, like many other doctors, he was not a business man. Income was good, and the future would take care of itself.

Left Problem for Wife. The doctor's death left his wife, Belle, with a heavy apartment lease, an expensive household, and two boys in school. The older boy, 18, studying for a medical career at the University of Chicago, got a job as common laborer, to help out with his expenses. The other boy is only 14. Mrs. Ziegler is not a strong woman, physically, and she never had had any experience in the business world. Coming out of a college in Boston, she had been married and had found the running of a big household a full-time job.

Now she knew that it was up to her to earn some money and quickly. Mrs. Ziegler remembered that the fruit cakes made by her French-Canadian maid, Annette Trepannier, had been the talk of her circle of friends. She asked Annette to make one. She cut it in two, took one half to the manager of a famous school in her neighborhood, and the other half to a delicatessen in an exclusive location.

In the first six weeks of her fruit cake venture, Mrs. Ziegler sold 400 pounds at a dollar and a half a pound. Things were looking a little brighter. The Zieglers had had favorable comments on their cocktail nuts, too. So Mrs. Ziegler bought 100 pounds of Brazil nuts, put them through a secret process, then she toasted in the oven, with salt she toasted in the oven, with salt and maybe something else. They turned out to be delicious appetizers.

Any (Historical) Rags? Germany has reached into the grab-bag of historical relics to try to keep its Russian troops warm and inspired, especially the latter. The German radio heard in New York announced the other day that a fur coat which belonged to Prince Otto von Bismarck and a hunting jacket of Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg have been sent to the Nazi troops in Russia.

The German propaganda ministry will doubtless hope that these objects don't fall into the hands of German soldiers who happen to know that friendship with Russia was the keynote of Bismarck's foreign policy, or that Hindenburg's were even more brilliant victories over the Russians than the Nazi victories last summer—only to lose the war.

Also shipped to Russia are a sleeping bag of Baron Manfred von Richtofen and a fur hat of Oswald Boelke, World War air ace. Anybody got the snuff box of Frederick the Great? Or the ashes of Attila the Hun? Any old rag, bones or battle flags of the Franco-Prussian war? Any old waste-paper, such as Nazi aggression treaties? Anything at all to keep the German soldiers in Russia warm.—Philadelphia Record.

Americana. Lend you money to build a boat that runs on steam? Look here, Fulton, do I look crazy? "A machine to put seeds out of cotton! Don't make me laugh, Whitney. I've got a chapped lip! Me put up dough for that! Be yourself, Eli, be yourself!"

Talk over a wire? Why, you poor nut, of course I won't put up any cash for stock in a thing like that. You might find some prospects in that building over there, though. Yeah, that's the insane asylum. Better not let the guards overhear your selling talk or you'll be doodling on padded wallpaper! "Buy stock in a gasoline gig!"

Mr. Ford, I want you to take note of that cop over there while I'm telling you no, no, no. Sure, I'm glad to get a chance to buy your high power ethyl oil well stock. With that shortage in the east, we'll sure clean up.—Prots & Reprints.

Today and Tomorrow

Organize the White House for War. By Walter Lippmann.

There has been some progress in making the Government better fitted to conduct the war. But we shall be making a very serious error if we now relax and assume that the appointment of Mr. Nelson is anything more than the beginning of the conversion of the Government itself from a peace-time to a war-time basis.

For the moment let us assume that the establishment of the Nelson office by the executive order is sufficient. For the moment let us choose not to make too much of the fact, noted on Monday by Mr. Ernest Lindley, that Mr. Knudsen's appointment in the War department was made not by Mr. Nelson but by the President in a separate action. For even if Mr. Nelson's authority is really final and comprehensive in the field of the production and procurement of munitions, there remain large and vitally important fields of government which cannot be left as they are now organized.

Mr. Nelson's field is the supplying of the armed forces. But there is a lot more to total routine than that, and when we look beyond Mr. Nelson's province at all great things that must be done, it is evident that the President is still carrying a burden of responsibility which is beyond the capacity of any human being to do well.

Mr. Roosevelt is the commander in chief, which means that he must make the great strategic decisions, military, political and diplomatic in continual consultation with our Allies. In the whole history of mankind there has never before been a war that was actually world-wide, with so many theaters of war, with such immense and complicated coalitions on both sides.

This is a responsibility which in the last analysis the President cannot delegate. He alone can make the final choice of the commanders in the field and he alone can make the momentous agreements which have to be made with Churchill, Stalin and Chiang Kai-shek.

Problems Novel, Difficult. But Mr. Roosevelt is also the Chief Executive, which means that the immensely difficult domestic problems of the nation will come up to him through many regular departments—the Treasury, Agriculture, Commerce, Labor, Justice—and through many emergency offices and independent agencies which deal with civilian defense, social security, price control, transportation, housing and the like. The problems are not routine. On the contrary they are novel and difficult because on the one hand, the Japanese successes have deeply injured our internal economy, and on the other hand, because the more Mr. Nelson mobilizes industry for war, the more acute and far-reaching will be the effect on civilian life.

The problems of the depression and of the recovery from it were children's play compared with the domestic problems which the war presents. It is inconceivable that Mr. Roosevelt can direct a world war as commander in chief and also manage the domestic consequences of a world war.

But Mr. Roosevelt is also the leader of the nation in a time of great trial, and this is by no means the least, indeed it is ultimately the greatest of all his tasks. It is a task that he cannot delegate, except in part as he turns over to Mr. Nelson the whole responsibility for supplying the armed forces and to some one else the larger part of the responsibility in domestic affairs.

For it is necessary that the President should in a crisis of this kind remain close to the people and to their representatives in Congress. On the supreme questions of war and peace, of suffering and sacrifice, of success and failure, they will listen to him, and not only in formal statements drafted by others but in talks which, like the great speeches of Churchill, give them the conviction that they are in the confidence—military secret—of the Commander in Chief. This indispensable work cannot be done by a man entangled in the details of price control, agriculture, taxes, labor relations, housing, treatment of enemy aliens, doubtful aliens and friendly aliens. It is as necessary for the President to divest himself of immediate personal responsibility for these domestic matters as it has been necessary for him to do what he has, we hope, done in appointing Mr. Nelson. He needs a deputy to the Chief Executive for domestic affairs, some one to clear his desk of these matters, some one to take the primary responsibility for them, some one to free his own time and let him concentrate his energy upon his own supreme business—that of leading the people and of being the Commander in Chief.

The urgent need for some such reorganization has been shown clearly by a number of things that have happened recently. There is the incident of Secretary Knox's speech to the conference of mayors in which by entering the field of the highest strategy—the field that is pre-eminently and exclusively the President's—Colonel Knox inadvertently has caused serious uneasiness in China, in the Netherlands Indies, in Australia, perhaps in India, perhaps even in Russia. That kind of thing could not have happened if the President himself had his attention clearly fixed on his own duty as commander-in-chief, and had established the proper discipline among his subordinates.

There is the complicated affair of the price-control bill—on the one hand the pressure of the farm bloc which resulted in the deplorable O'Mahoney amendment, and quite separately the greatly misunderstood and wholly unnecessary controversy between Secretary Wickard and Mr. Henderson.

All this trouble has arisen from the fact that the President could not put his mind on the problem and no one else had the power to speak for him. The farm bloc got out of hand while Mr. Roosevelt was conferring with Mr. Churchill. Mr. Wickard and Mr. Henderson got into a dispute because there was no one above them both to understand and insist that they were both right, but that each was looking at only one side, rather than at both sides, of the same question.

Announced Shortage. There is the affair of Secretary Wickard's radio announcement that there will be a shortage of sugar, which is true, but can lead only to hoarding—an announcement which should never have been made until the Government was ready to announce also a rationing system to deal with the shortage. There is the affair of the Office of Civilian Defense, which has never known what it was doing, what it was meant to do, what its power was to do, or who was to do it. There is the great vacuum where there ought to be a responsible agency planning what is to be done to transport the people back and forth to work as automobiles have to be put in dead storage.

All of these are matters which require authority and direction from the Chief Executive. But since one man cannot do all that is now required of the Chief Executive, they will be left undone, or done badly and too late, if there is not some sort of deputy to the Chief Executive. It would be possible to cite many more examples. One final example should be mentioned. In the conduct of a war of this character there must be propaganda abroad, and in our peculiar position, the whole question of the treatment of aliens is closely related to diplomacy and is fraught with the highest and most far-reaching consequences not only here but abroad. The handling of these matters is dispersed among several departments and agencies, operating on different principles and under no coherent and central control. The Department of State, the Department of Justice, Mr. Sherwood's New York branch of Colonel Donovan's office and Mr. Rockefeller's office are all concerned. But it is not even probable that each knows what the other is doing. It is certain that in this vital and intricate field of action there is no one who is in command, no one who is at once sufficiently in the President's confidence and yet also invested with enough authority to conduct the psychological war. # Violations Of Parole Fewer In Peninsula Satisfactory progress in the application of the parole system in the Upper Peninsula is reflected in the annual report of Emery E. Jacques, of Marquette, supervisor of pardons and paroles in the U. P. district, which shows that Marquette county had the greatest reduction in its parole case load last year of any county in the Peninsula.

Compared with 33 paroles in 1940, there were only 24 in this county last year, Jacques reported. This is in line with the policy of the district office of holding the county's case load down as much as possible.

"Employment opportunities in lower Michigan have helped considerably to decrease the number of paroles in the county," he asserted. "As of December 31, 1941, there were 16 unemployed paroles in the Upper Peninsula, but we expect that at least half of these men will be employed by February 1."

Unemployed paroles in the U. P. as of December 31 were divided as follows: Three each in Chippewa and Delta counties; two each in Gogebic, Houghton, Marquette and Schoolcraft counties and one each in Alger and Iron counties.

Marquette and Chippewa lead U. P. counties in number of paroles with 24 each. Gogebic is next in line with 15, and others rank as follows: Iron, 14; Houghton, 13; Alger, Dickinson, 11 each; Delta, 10; Schoolcraft, eight; Baraga, Luce, Mackinac, five each; Menominee, four; Ontonagon, three, and Keweenaw has none.

"The percentage of men who violated their parole in 1941 is much less than in 1940," Jacques said. "We hesitate to point to a general improvement trend in the readjustment of the parolee as the cause for this showing, because of the fact it is partially due to a smaller case load and better employment opportunities."

"Twenty men, or 11.8 per cent of the average monthly case load of 169 for the Upper Peninsula, violated parole in 1941. A breakdown of this percentage reveals that nine men, or 5.4 per cent, were returned by the parole officers for various violations; six men, or 3.4 per cent, are at large and five men, or 3 three of the total violators, were returned to prison through the medium of the courts for the commission of new offenses.

"Today, it appears that the selective service system is about to replace enlistments as a means of securing and maintaining a standing army," Jacques said. "While 10 only, the parole men here are looking to the selective service draft boards in our counties for a continuation and a broadening of the cooperation extended to us heretofore, so that we may, with the aid of case histories and other data, jointly determine which of our charges can reasonably be expected to make good soldiers, sailors or fliers. It is hoped that the broadening selective service program will take in sufficient ex-prisoners and parolees to give the military authorities an opportunity to gauge their worth as soldiers beside the average of the lay population in the military services and that when the Selective Service act is no longer operative, because of the termination of hostilities, the military authorities will see fit to find a permanent place in their ranks for ex-felons selected for this service on an individual and scientific basis."

The case load in the Upper Peninsula is supervised by three officials, William S. Cooley, Sault Ste. Marie, is parole officer in charge of Alger, Chippewa, Delta, Luce, Mackinac and Schoolcraft counties.

Harry L. Trezise, Wakefield, is parole officer in charge of Baraga, Gogebic, Houghton, Iron, Keweenaw and Ontonagon counties. Jacques is in charge of the actual case load in Dickinson, Marquette and Menominee counties and also is the acting institutional parole officer at the Marquette branch prison. The district headquarters office is located at 228 Harlow block, Marquette.

Your Federal Income Tax

COMPUTATION OF TAX ON INDIVIDUALS

The normal tax and the surtax on individuals for 1941 are computed on their normal tax net income and surtax net income, respectively.

The following example will show how to compute the normal tax and surtax on an income of $8,500, all of which represents earned net income, the taxpayer being single and without dependents:

Net income	$8,500.00
Less personal exemption	750.00
Balance (surtax net income)	7,750.00
Earned income credit	850.00
Net income subject to normal tax	6,900.00
Surtax upon the surtax net income of $6,000	560.00
Surtax at 17 per cent upon amount of surtax net income in excess of $6,000	135.00
Total	1,695.00

In addition to the 23 sent from the Upper Peninsula to lower Michigan, 15 were transferred to other states.

100 Honorable Discharges

"One hundred honorable discharges were issued during 1941. Four of these were granted for the purpose of permitting the parolee to join the armed forces of the United States. Thirteen additional parolees have expressed a desire to enlist in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps during the last three months of 1941. However, there appears to be little object on the part of parole officers to attempt to bring about the enlistment of their charges, as our experience indicates that the military regulations, for all practical purposes, are prohibitive as far as enlistment is concerned," Jacques states.

"For some years past, parole men and other penal groups, as well as a representative cross-section of the general public, have been asking the question, 'Why this discrimination on the part of the armed forces toward all parolees who have committed a felony?'"

"Our social institutions feel it is their responsibility to look into the merits of individual cases. Our charges are accepted in colleges,

Obituary

Clarence McKereghan

Funeral services for Clarence McKereghan, who died early Tuesday morning in Minneapolis, Minn., will be held at 10:30 this morning in St. Peter's cathedral.

Interment will be in the Holy Cross cemetery.

The bearers will be William F. Peissler, J. O. Leonard, Ralph R. Eldredge, Howard Urbach, Mark LaBonte, of this city, and S. E. Johnson, of Dallas, Texas.

He was a member of Marquette council, Knights of Columbus, serving from October 1, 1922, to October 1, 1923, as grand knight. He also was financial secretary for several years.

Members of the Knight of Columbus are requested to be at the Tonella funeral home at 8:30 this morning to recite the rosary.

Legionnaires and Veterans of Foreign Wars are requested to attend funeral services and wear their caps.

Gorman Funeral

Funeral services for Bessie Gorman, who died in St. Luke's hospital Tuesday night, will be held Friday afternoon at 2 in the Oates funeral home. The Rev. John Carlton, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, will officiate and interment will be made in Park cemetery.

Miss Gorman, who lived in Marquette 53 years, was 75 years old. She was born in England and came to the United States when she was a young woman. She was a sister of the late Harry Gorman, of this city. She leaves five nieces and three nephews. The nieces are Emily Hanley, of Marquette; Flora Hanman, of Park Ridge, Ill.; Grace McManus, of Los Angeles, Calif.; Elizabeth Tobin, of Detroit, and Ted Swanson, of Lansing. The nephews are Ben Gorman, of Marquette; Clifford Gorman, of Buffalo, N. Y., and James Hyland, of Devonport, England.

Ingram Funeral

The body of William G. Ingram, who died at the homes of his sister, Mrs. John N. Love, will be shipped from the Oates funeral home to Oconto, Wis., Friday morning. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 in the Gallagher funeral home in Oconto.

Archie LaCrosse

Archie LaCrosse, 65, a resident of Marquette 36 years, died suddenly at 7:20 last evening at Loma Farms, where he was employed.

Mr. LaCrosse was born in Chamption on March 12, 1876. He resided in Marquette at 102 East Jackson street. He was a member of St. John's church congregation and of the Marquette council, Knights of Columbus.

He leaves his widow, Tillie; two sons, Leon and Norbert, of Marquette; two daughters, Mrs. A. J. ## Transformer Explodes, Plant Forced To Close CLEVELAND, Jan. 21.—A transformer exploded late today in the American Steel & Wire Co.'s power plant in suburban Newburgh Heights, forcing a shutdown of the U. S. Steel Corp. subsidiary.

Several thousand workers were thrown out of their jobs temporarily when all power was cut off. Flames gutted the power house.

The company's president, Clifford S. Hood, said that pending an investigation, no sabotage was suspected. The company is filling large orders for steel war munitions. Amount of the damage could not be estimated immediately, and Hood was unable to say how long the plant would be shut down before power could be restored.

Fairs Urged To Use Grounds For Defense

DETROIT, Jan. 21.—Officials of various Michigan fairs were urged to grant use of their fair grounds for housing of defense personnel and for military activity by Arnel Engstrom, of Traverse City, president of the Michigan Association of Fairs, in an address at the association's convention here today.

"Let us always be ready to offer our facilities to the state and Federal Government in this 'all out' program," Engstrom said. "A great many of our fair grounds were established years ago at the edge of the center of population in our respective districts. Land was cheap in those days and transportation facilities consisted of the horse and buggy, bicycles and good old shoe leather."

"Our communities have grown and many of our fair ground sites are in strategic location for storage of defense equipment, for the housing of defense personnel and for military activity. Many of our fair grounds have well maintained buildings, good water supply and toilet facilities. They have wide expanses of level ground and are enclosed with good high fences. Be prepared to grant the use of your fair grounds in this emergency," he said.

Who Says Now Is Time To Register Gloom?

(By MANTHEI HOWE)

Did you hear about some of the women in New York who suddenly had the fool idea that it would be fit and proper to wear black for the duration of the war? That's even worse than a man deciding not to cut his hair or shave. A man doing such a thing would at least become a subject of amusement to his friends, who could have a good time ribbing him.

What a Dumbness

But women sinking around in black would be horrible things to contemplate for the duration. If they had any reason for the cock-eyed notion that black would be a proper choice, it must have been with the idea that they should dress to show their distress at the present world situation. If they were going to decide upon sophisticated, glamorous, somewhat entrancing siren effects in black, one might have a bit of patience, because the spectacle would be somewhat diverting, but to dress so as to spread gloom . . . phooie! No woman should feel impelled to wear anything so dreary and wear anything that is bright and gay.

Soldier blue, victory red, sunshine yellow, attractive pink and green . . . colors like that are gay and cheering to contemplate, have some reason for being worn. Look Confident, Gay

Certainly few women are going to spend too much precious time and money on clothes when there are so many more important things on which the money and time might be spent. However, it is equally certain that no real woman is going to forget for a minute that now, as seldom before, she needs to look spick and span, cheery, healthy and confident.

There is a definite split in the morale of a household if the woman who runs that home wears bright-colored house dresses, bothers to wear her hair becomingly, sticks a few flowers in a vase in the center of the table, and turns the radio on now and then to cheering music that makes the feet tap and tempt one to whistle the tune.

Maybe you have seen situations in which tears and wailing, whining and gloom, accomplished something purposeful, but, if so, you ought to send it in for a Believe-it-or-not Ripley collection.

Has Tonic Effect

Every one knows how a good laugh clears the atmosphere if a group is irritable or depressed. A girl wearing a bright colored hat, scarf or dress brings a note of cheer when she enters a store or restaurant. Folk who begin sneiveling and whining and sighing now are going to run out of emotional ammunition if they keep on. It won't be humanly possible for them to keep up that kind of hysterical mood for the duration.

And the women and girls, who really have a reason for being worried and somewhat blue, are the very ones who are sticking their chins up determinedly, working at anything and everything to keep occupied, going about the daily business of living in a mood the most cheery they can make it.

Time was when milk used to draw the curtains, close the piano and tip-toe around the house when there was a death in the family. They withdrew from social circulation for six months or a year. We have fortunately grown more adult than that, the past few years.

It is not that when death strikes these near and dear do not feel and suffer grief, but they recognize that what is expected of them if they unnecessarily impose their grief on others.

They Stand Firm

So with the women who have sons, brothers, husbands in the military forces. They have their thoughts, when they worry and wonder and wish distances were not so great and mail so slow. In coming, but they know, too, that even as their men are serving their country, so the women back home have a duty to perform. They have the responsibility of as nearly as possible continuing to carry on their daily duties as they did before the war, only, if possible, to do it with a bit more courage and cheer, and a greater gentleness that comes from understanding and sympathy.

So men and women will sing and dance as they always have. They will wear bright-colored clothes; look to their health, do everything they can to make the same as the community much the same as it ordinarily is for the sake of the boys and girls growing up; and will take time to do a bit more than that, to help the country along to victory.

A Strange Reaction

I chanced to hear the other day of a woman who said that she had no one in the military service and she couldn't become thoroughly aware of or stirred by the war. Hearing that, I confess to being left somewhat astounded, mouth open gaping like a fish hauled suddenly out of water. It is hard to understand or interpret the character of such a person. At least she rates as a rare bird, unexpectedly startling.

There are few of us who can be so blind and deaf and dumb in relation to what is going on. Most

Round Steak Helps Solve Meat Problem

Combine round steak (chopped) with vegetables and light biscuits in individual dishes and you have a surprise, a lot of nutrition and no waste, says Mrs. Gaynor Maddox. Or else try the better recipe for Swiss steak. Both recipes lower the meat costs while they raise the quality of your family menus.

Burger Pie With Biscuits

(Serves six.)

Three tablespoons finely chopped onion, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 1/2 pounds chopped round steak, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 cup cooked green beans, 1 cup tomatoes, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 cups sifted all-purpose enriched flour, 1 1/2 teaspoon salt (additional), 3 teaspoons phosphate baking powder, 2 3/4 cups shortening, milk (about 2 1/4 cup).

Cook onion in butter until soft and yellow. Add round steak, salt and pepper and cook until lightly browned, stirring occasionally. Add green beans, tomatoes and sugar, mixing well. Place in six well-greased, individual baking dishes. Sift together flour, salt and baking powder. Cut or work in shortening until thoroughly blended with flour. Using a spatula or long-bladed knife, mix to a very soft dough with milk. Turn onto a well-floured board and roll out or pat with hand about 3/4 of an inch thick. Cut into rounds with a biscuit cutter, and arrange groups of three biscuits on top of each individual baking dish. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 15 minutes.

Swiss Steak

(Serves four to six.)

Two pounds round steak 1 1/2 inch thick, flour, 3 tablespoons fat, 2 cups sliced onions, 1-2 clove gar-

Men Are Invited To Presbyterian Church Forum

An informal church forum, planned to continue during January, February, March and April, will be initiated at the meeting to be held Monday night in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church. The forum is for men and all interested men, even though they are not members of the church, are invited to attend.

The meeting Monday evening will begin at 7:30. Dr. Albert F. Burrows, of the Northern Michigan College of Education faculty, will give a talk on "Man, Money and the Kingdom."

It is asked that, if possible, all men attending the meeting bring books suitable to contribute to the Victory Book campaign for men in U. S. military service. If they cannot bring books, a small silver offering will be accepted.

Lunch will be served during the evening by wives of the members of the session, with Mrs. A. K. Bennett as chairman. In order that arrangements may be completed it is asked that all men planning to attend the meeting telephone, not later than Monday noon, 316 or 1094.

MENU

Breakfast: Orange juice, brown rice, bacon, toast, coffee, milk.

Lunch: Lentil soup, hard rolls, baked apples, tea, milk.

Dinner: Swiss steak, boiled potatoes, buttered carrots, cole slaw, canned cherries, cup cakes, coffee, milk.

ORDERS

Premier Mussolini once issued several pamphlets giving advice to new-lyweds and implying that each couple was expected to rear 12 children.

Have You High Score On Rules Of Nutrition?

The Marquette county nutrition committee, interested in aiding national defense through a healthy well-nourished people, wonders how many are following the simple rules that will help the body make the most of the food it gets.

These are the rules given by Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, who says: "No body thinks he needs to be told how to eat, but the truth is that most of us can improve the way we eat and be the healthier for it!" How close do you adhere to these rules:

1. Eat at regular hours every day. Irregularity leads to poor digestion.
2. Don't go on a self-prescribed diet. See your physician before going on any kind of diet.
3. Don't hurry at meals. Eat slowly, give yourself time to enjoy eating.
4. Whenever possible, make eating a social event, a cheerful occasion. Eating in this kind of atmosphere aids digestion.
5. Don't over eat.
6. Don't break the normal rhythm of meals by indiscriminate eating between meals.
7. Get enough liquid (4 to 6 glasses daily). Take stimulants (coffee, tea, etc.) in moderation. Drink at meals if you like, but don't "wash down" your food.
8. Get your regular quota of exercise, fresh air, and sunshine. Sunshine is a natural source of vitamin D.
9. Relax before and after meals whenever possible, and get sufficient sleep at night. A tired, nervous body makes poor use of its food.
10. Be fastidious about washing hands before eating.
11. Have regular habits of elimination.
12. Keep your teeth in good condition. After all, thorough chewing is the first stage of good digestion and nutrition.

Here Are Basic Foods

But it will accomplish little to observe those foregoing rules if the menu does not contain balanced foods. The following are the foods that should be included in the diet each day:

- Milk—One quart for children. One pint for adults.
- Vegetables—One leafy, one raw, and one green or yellow vegetable.
- Meat, poultry, fish or cheese—One or more servings.
- Fruits—Two a day, one of them raw. Citrus fruit or tomato once a day.
- Bread and cereals—One serving of a whole grain cereal, and at least two servings of "enriched" or whole grain breads.
- Eggs—About one a day. Be sure to average at least three or four a week.
- Potatoes—Once a day.
- Sweets as needed to make foods taste good, and supplement the diet.
- Water and other liquids—Four to six glasses.

Plan For Week

Those interested in the building up of civilian health and nutrition stress the importance of making a menu plan for a week, making sure ## that the necessary protective foods are included, of saving time and fuel by planning some foods to be served twice.

They warn against the practice of reheating vegetables, which destroys much of the vitamin content, noting that vegetables should be cooked in the least possible amount of boiling water (1-4 inch deep in heavy saucepan) and for the smallest possible amount of time, covered. Never use soda to save the color of vegetables, since soda destroys vitamins. If greens are to be shredded or chopped for salads, prepare them just before serving.

Foods that are used by the body for growth and repair are the proteins. Typical protein foods are milk, meat, fish, cheese and eggs.

Foods that provide energy and warmth are fats and carbohydrates such as breads, cereals, butter, potatoes, fats, bacon, sugar.

Foods that protect the body and regulate its function are those containing vitamins and minerals such as fruits, vegetables (including potatoes), dairy products, liver, eggs, whole grain and "enriched" breads and cereals.

Include the three kinds of food in the daily diet.

New Style Showers For Spring Brides

Springtime is showertime — for the new crop of brides. All the old shower-stylos go by the board. Aluminum is on priorities—so out goes the kitchen shower. Rubber is on priorities—so out goes the bathroom shower. Wool is on priorities—so out goes the blanket shower. What's left? A defense savings stamp shower—money for the bride and groom to put into a defense bond—to cash, with interest, on that tenth anniversary celebration. Yes, it's a "tin" anniversary—and those bonds will assure "tin" of being off the priority list by then.

Meetings

Coffee Social at 8 tonight in Aalto hall.

Officers of Woman's Relief Corps at 8:30 tonight in Knights of Columbus hall.

Sunday school teachers of Finnish Evangelical Lutheran church at 8 tonight in home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Makiranta, 417 Baraga avenue.

A cheery dish for cold days—tropical sweet potatoes the KARO way

Here's the way to add savor, flavor, and new interest to those old favorites—sweet potatoes! Better make two servings for everybody—they're that good!

HOORAY!

TROPICAL SWEET POTATOES
5 medium sized sweet potatoes, boiled
1/2 cup KARO (blue label)
2/3 cup crushed pineapple (canned) with juice
2 tablespoons melted butter

Peel and cut potatoes in 1/2-inch slices. Place in shallow oiled baking dish. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over potatoes. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Sweet potatoes prepared "the KARO way" are so good for you as they are delicious. For KARO syrup is rich in Dextrose, food-energy sugar.

Undeclared Sentinels To Clash With Calumet-Laurium Here Tonight

New Goalie Will Make Local Debut

STANDINGS	W	L	T	P	G	OG
Marquette	7	0	1	15	35	22
Soo	4	5	1	9	33	32
Painesdale	3	5	0	6	29	39
Calumet	2	6	0	4	32	38

GAMES TONIGHT

Calumet at Marquette.
Painesdale at Soo.

By Jimmie Ward

Just when the defending champion Soo Indians were beginning to get within shouting distance of the all-victorious Sentinels, the Marquette squad spanked Calumet again, 4 to 3, in the Colosseum, and tonight will try to repeat the performance in the Palestra. The game will start at 8:15.

Not that Marquette hasn't accomplished that feat before at the Palestra, but Pleban's puck-chasers would like to do it tonight, particularly because the arena probably will be packed with 2,000 or more home town fans who love to cheer "our boys" and boo the enemy.

It would be superfluous to say that Marquette has acquitted itself well against the Calumet-Laurium lads. The league standings show clearly that the Sentinels have acquitted themselves right handsomely against every team in the loop.

Longest Winning Streak

With seven victories and a tie in eight games, the Sentinels can hold up heads plenty high. It's the longest winning streak a Marquette team ever had in the Northern Michigan league.

Calumet has already felt the full force of the Marquette attack. It started January 8 when the Sentinels beat Calumet, 6-5. That was the last appearance here of Kolvuniemi-Gresnick & Co.

In addition to another glance at Kolvuniemi, Gresnick and Jasper Murphy, which home-town fans always regard as something of a treat, since they were Marquette uniforms last season, the fans are eager for a glimpse of George Wolff in action.

Wolff made an auspicious debut in the Sentinels' goal Tuesday night, but since that game was heard and not seen by Marquette hockey fans, the folks will want to see Monsieur Wolff in the flesh.

Earl Tripp, against whom only 19 goals were scored in seven games, is being retained by the Sentinels big-wigs, but Wolff will start tonight's game.

No Other Changes

There are no other changes in the Marquette lineup. The Ike Prokaski-Hodge Johnson-Lloyd Hill and Boots Kukuk-Leslie Kanakas-Ad Saftian lines are intact with Eddie Olds ready to fill in. Frank Lauch, Yanki Urhila, Pleban and Muggs Gingsburg will handle the blue line duties.

Coach Pleban will speak to the crested children at the Frobels school annex at a special luncheon this noon. All the children will be guests of the hockey committee at tonight's game.

Negaunee '5' Plays Redmen Here Friday

Graveraet's Redmen, who have improved steadily since the holidays, will tangle with the Negaunee Miners in the Sidney Adams gymnasium at Graveraet tomorrow night.

A preliminary between the Negaunee and Marquette "B" teams will start at 7 and the main game will get underway at 8:15.

With only one victory in six games, the Redmen are eager to improve their 1942 record and they can think of no better way to do it than to beat the fast-breaking Miners, who have posted the commendable record of four victories in six games to date.

The Redmen lost a heartbreaker, 21-20, to Ishpeming last Friday. It was a game that might have gone either way. With Ishpeming leading, 21-20, Graveraet had at least 10 shots at the basket and on at least two of them the ball rolled around the hoop once before falling out.

Negaunee will go into the game a favorite on the strength of its previous showing. The Miners defeated Ishpeming earlier in the season, and last Friday beat Munising, which won from Marquette, 24-17, early in December.

John Swanson is pushing Al "Red" Williams for forward position on the first team, and Bob Lahti impressed Coach Bruce Blackburn with his play in the Ishpeming battle.

Probable lineup will be Dick Keskey and Williams, forwards; Bernard Chapman, center; Bob Lahti and Lloyd Vadnais, guards.

CHANGE STADIUM NAME
INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 21.—P.—Frank McKinney and Owne Bush, new owners of the Indianapolis American association club, announced today the stadium in which the baseball team plays home games would be called "Victory field."

Schumacher Never Skated, But He Heads Hockey Loop

(Editor's Note—Of interest to Marquette hockey fans is the following article, written by Arthur Juntunen, Hancock free-lance writer, which appeared in a Milwaukee newspaper.)

E. J. "Lock" Schumacher never learned to skate in his life, but that doesn't prevent him from being up there on skates or afoot. He can tell you offhand what the Northern Michigan league standings are today and add a few sidelights about the merits of any stick-handling charger you call off. He lives on hockey.

Star But Not On Ice
For nine years he has been president of the Northern Michigan Hockey league and all its legal predecessors.

He modestly claims no credit, but the part he has played in putting senior hockey on the Michigan map is stay is known in every camp and arena.

Born and raised in the Copper Country, he grew up around scores of outdoor rinks and became a local star in high school and professional football and basketball. But hockey just grew on him.

As president of the northern Michigan "big league," Schumacher shoulders a heavy burden. He settles team arguments—sometimes deep into the night over a long-distance phone. He is "in-between-man" in all kinds of inter-organizational scraps. When meetings are called, Schumacher calls them, and when rules are enforced,

Schumacher enforces them—with an iron hand and a grin. Never Allows Protest Past master in the art of handling the rough and tumble type of athlete who follows the hockey trail, he is usually in the background—but it is a known fact that he has never allowed a protested game in league hockey. Honest men respect him for fairness, justice and firmness.

Although a fan and an organizer years previously, Schumacher really stepped into the picture when he helped organize the first Copper Country senior hockey league, forerunner of the present loop, in 1934. It was a five-team circuit, with Hancock, Houghton, Torch Lake, Laurium and Painesdale.

In succession with Schumacher at the helm, came the Northern Michigan Senior Hockey league, the Northern Michigan-Wisconsin Hockey league and the current NMHL. Marquette and the American Soo became permanent fixtures and one year Eagle River, Wis., was represented by the Falcons. This season Calumet-Laurium, Painesdale, Marquette and the American Soo are members.

Schumacher wants to see high school hockey spread to all parts of the Peninsula. The Copper Country high school league now has four teams. He predicts that within five years the Upper Peninsula will be able to serve as a "reservoir" of topnotch players for the whole midwest.
"Hockey," he says, "is the best means of advertising winter sports. It's a man's game, too—and it requires tougher, sturdier men than any other sport—football included."

Down Sports Trail

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(Wide World)—We have a furtive idea that the usual feeding-time roar of the baseball holdouts will be confined to a practically inaudible whimper this year, for the players are cagey enough to realize that the less said about the money they are drawing down the better it will be for them, as otherwise it might stir up some thought waves in the mind of a $21-a-month soldier.

Undue stress on the financial aspect would be bound to arouse the dormant resentment of the person who works hard for little money always feels toward the fellow who works little for big money. About the only way you could get away from it right now would be to pay the ball players $21 a month and the soldiers $20,000 or $30,000 a year, and even then there would be squawks that the ball players were making their money too easy.

5 Negaunee Riders Enter Alger Meet

NEGAUNEE, Jan. 21.—Five riders were selected last night to represent the Negaunee Junior Ski club in the Junior meet to be held Sunday afternoon at Munising.

Myron Johns, Negaunee's outstanding junior rider who has taken several first places in junior meets in the Upper Peninsula, will lead the contingent, with Owen Woodward, Walter Cook, Bob Ellis and Bob Matthews as his team mates.

Local activities of the club have been hampered this season by lack of snow and none has had any appreciable amount of practice.

The club last night accepted an invitation to participate in the third annual Mackinac Island Forest Winter Carnival to be held at Oconto Falls, Wis., February 7 and 8. Plans to construct a ski hill here to meet specifications of the U. S. Central Ski association have been dropped, due to loss of senior riders through selective service and enlistments. This will bar affiliation of the club with the association.

The club will meet Tuesday evening at the home of Owen Woodward. Any person interested in ski riding is invited to attend.

Trenary Beats Powers By Four-Point Margin

POWERS, Jan. 21.—Trenary high school's basketball team posted a four-point lead over the Powers-Spalding squad in the first half here tonight and managed to finish the contest on the long end of a 32-28 count. Powers whittled three points off the visitors' margin in the third stanza, but Trenary came back to outpoint its foes 10-7 in the final quarter. In the preliminary game the Powers B team defeated the Trenary B's, 19 to 18. Summary of main game:

Escanabans Play St. Paul Five Tonight

NEGAUNEE, Jan. 21.—The basketball game between the St. Paul Emeralds and St. Joseph, of Escanaba, scheduled for Friday, has been advanced to Thursday to avoid conflict with the Girl Scout jamboree. It was announced today by school officials.

St. Joseph comes here with one of the strongest teams it has had in several years. It lost to Gladstone by a single point and the latter defeated Munising by a large margin. The Emeralds have won five of seven games played to date and are showing improvement as the season advances.

Benaglio will start at one forward with Gleason or Del Angelo as his partner. Taylor will be at center with St. Onge and Marta guards.

The preliminary game will start at 7 and the main match at 8. Al Treado, of Negaunee, will referee.

Washington University Fires Football Coach

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 21.—P.—After dropping Frank (Butch) Loeb as football coach, Washington University, of the Missouri Valley conference, announced a three-man committee today to supervise intercollegiate sports, physical education and student health.

Dr. Frank H. Ewerhardt, chairman of the faculty athletic board, was named head of the health service and coordinator of the work of the committee.

Robert Kinnan, basketball coach, was given supervision of intercollegiate athletics and Willis H. Summers, a member of the physical education staff, was made head of that department.

A new football coach will be named later by the athletic board. Among those mentioned as possible successors to Loeb are Francis Schmidt, formerly of Ohio State, and Otto Roost, former Kansas university gridiron star.

Spartan Cagers Meet Cincinnati Tonight

EAST LANSING, Jan. 21.—P.—The Michigan State college basketball team, winner in eight of 11 games, will wind up a five-game home stand tomorrow night against the Spartans of Cincinnati. The Spartans journey to South Bend, Ind., Saturday to face Notre Dame.

Eddie Olds Top Scorer For Northern

So far this season the Northern Michigan Wildcats have piled up 560 points and "Speed" Olds, with 168, is the high-scoring man of the fast-moving quintet.

Through remarkably good playing, the veteran Olds has dropped in 75 field goals, Harold Anderson, of Munising, ranks second with 153 points. Anderson, who has become widely known for his trick one-hand shots, has made 63 field goals. Chauncey St. Germain, guard, with 27 field goals and 12 free shots to his credit, is third, and Henry Lindeman, center from Channing, ranks fourth with 27 field goals and five free throws. "Mink" and "Lindy" as they are known at Northern, are doing a fine job of feeding the forwards.

Free-Shot Percentages
Jack Refling, Menominee, is a first-year man, but has proved capable by slipping in 18 field goals. He has made 41 points. Norman Slough, giant of the Wildcats, is responsible for 24 points. Slough does the long distance shooting for the team, and along with St. Germain, his guard mate, is considered a backbone of the squad. Both are doing fine work on defense.

The Wildcats have made 76 out of 116 free throw attempts, for an average of 65 per cent. "Babe" Anderson leads with an average of 77 per cent.

Foul-shooting percentages of the five starters follow:

	Pct.
Anderson	27 out of 35 77
St. Germain	12 out of 17 71
Olds	18 out of 27 67
Slough	4 out of 8 50
Lindeman	5 out of 11 45

Complete scoring by the Wildcats follows:

Pfeiffers Retain Lead In Crib League Race

The Pfeiffer Beers, winners of first-round honors in the Marquette Cribbage league, retained that berth as the second half of competition got underway last night. The Beermen defeated the Marquette Service by 426, 13,843 to 13,417.

Right on their heels are the American Legion, who counted 13,814 in whipping the Knights of Columbus Colts by 227 holes. This place is occupied by the Fitzer Beers, victors over the Elks, 13,791 to 13,455, while the Knights of Columbus Old-Timers, with a 13,739 to 13,603 triumph over the Independents, are in fourth place.

High score of 1,228 was pegged by H. Carlson and C. Williams, of the Pfeiffers, and by Raish and Burns, of the Legion.

Yshinsky Scores 630
After a poor start of 158, Leo Yshinsky, of Yates' Texacos, got into the groove in classic league competition on the Elks alleys last night to register games of 225 and 247 for a 630 total. His performance helped the Texacos to a three-game victory over the Bon Tons and high match total of 2,817.

The Carroll Motors also swept their series with the Royal Bohemians, while the Phillips 66 won a pair from the Clicquot Club and Nesbitt's took as many from Flanagan's.

Meet Northern's Wildcats!

Any time a freshman makes the varsity basketball squad—the top ten—at Northern Michigan College, you can bank on the fact that he has plenty on the ball.

Such is the case of John Mercer, who came here from Macomb, Ill., to utilize his cage talents with the Olive and Gold squad on Upper Peninsula courts.

Mercer also is one of the few six-footers on Northern's squad. He is 23 years old and weighs 172 pounds. He plays in the front line, and this is his first year of varsity experience.

Three years of high school basketball at Macomb under Coach Strickland gave Mr. Mercer a sound schooling in fundamentals of the popular winter game.

His work was highly regarded at Macomb, as testified by the fact that he played on the first team during his sophomore, junior and senior years. He's only a freshman at Northern, and if he keeps progressing as he has so far this season, it may be that he'll duplicate his high school record in college.

At any rate, three more years of Mercer strikes a happy note for the Wildcat mentor, C. B. Hedgcock.

Pierce Tops City's Prep Cage Teams

By Dave Reed

With the current basketball season approaching the halfway mark, John D. Pierce is pacing the city high school teams with a commendable record of four wins against one defeat, while Baraga Parochial and Graveraet, two other representatives of the Queen City, have somewhat imposing records to date. The Redmen have won one game and lost five and Baraga copied only one out of eight.

Pierce has defeated Gwin, 50-19, National Mine, 44-30, Baraga Parochial, 25-24, and Eben, 33-21, to remain undefeated in scheduled play. Graveraet has a 36-26 win over a strong Menominee quint, but has dropped games to Munising, 24-17; Escanaba, 35-22; Sault Ste. Marie, 20-14; Bessemer, 36-34 and Ishpeming, 21-20.

Baraga has had its troubles. It nipped Gwin, 25-24, but lost to Ontonagon, 24-23; Eben, 31-22; Crystal Falls, 48-24; Pierce, 25-24; St. Paul, of Negaunee, 19-17; St. Ambrose, of Ironwood, 31-25 and the Alumni, 27-25, in an overtime game.

Redmen Opposition Tougher

It must be said, however, that the caliber of Marquette's opposition has been higher than either Pierce's or Baraga's.

As further basis to place rights among the city cages, Pierce followers point to the fact that the Pierce team have scored 184 points against their opponents 133, an average of almost 37 points a game, while holding their foes to an average of 26 points.

Baraga has scored 182 points, an average of 22 points a game, while opponents have slipped in 229 points, an average of 28. Marquette has scored 144 points in six games for an average of 24 points a game, while opponents have collected 161 points, 27 points a game.

One reason extended for the higher scores in Pierce games is the fact the Pierce is the only team of the three utilizing the fast-break type of play.

Standings of the three city cage teams:

Team	W	L	Pts.	OP
J. D. Pierce	4	1	184	133
Marquette	1	5	144	161
Baraga	1	7	182	229

Slalom Club Party Set For Friday

Like the Winter Sports club, the Marquette Slalom club is going to open its season this week even if there isn't any snow.

The club will hold a party tomorrow night at Al Jacobson's cottage at Lakewood. Everyone, including members, their guests and prospective members, will wear ski clothes, and all the fun of a ski outing—without the snow—will be the order of the evening. Members may bring one or two guests.

Persons planning to attend are asked to meet at the city hall at 7:30 tomorrow evening, where transportation will be provided for all who wish to go.

Those who will be at the party are asked to notify via telephone Mrs. Joseph Morrison, 2904; Miss Elaine Rose, 1771, or Jack Messenger, 2510.

Wildcats Battle Tech Five Friday; Northland, Saturday

Northern Michigan's Wildcats, whose record now stands at eight victories and one defeat, will hit the road again this weekend, playing Michigan Tech in Houghton tomorrow night and Northland college in Ashland, Wis., Saturday night.

The game tomorrow will be the first of the traditional home-and-home series between the Wildcats and Tech Engineers, athletic rivals for more than 40 years. Tech will return the compliment by playing here February 9.

Northern will go into the game decided favorites to win. The Engineers lost to Central last Friday, 41-18, and the following night Central was defeated by the Wildcats, 56-48.

Expect Hard Battle

Nevertheless with the game being played on the Engineers' floor, the Wildcats are expecting a hard battle and are prepared for anything.

Contrary to its first road trip of the season, Northern will rank as favorite in both games away from home this time. January 16, Northern trounced Northland, 78-28, and shouldn't have any trouble beating the Wisconsin quintet Saturday, although the Badgers are expected to put up a much stiffer fight this time.

Northern will try to shackle the

Rapid River Bows, 25-20, To Eben Five

EBEN, Jan. 21.—Eben high school cages, led by Central Ross with 10 points, toppled Rapid River here tonight, 25 to 20. Eben trailed 11-7, at half-time but rallied in the third quarter to count 11 points and gain its winning margin.

In a preliminary tussle, Eben "B" topped Rapid River second-stringers, 22-19.

Engineers To Hear Address On Plastics

ISHPEMING, Jan. 21—Members of the Marquette Range Engineers club will meet Tuesday, January 27, in the Mather Inn, W. R. Atkins, secretary, announced this morning.

The meeting starts with a 6:30 dinner served in the Georgian room of the Inn and will be followed by a talk by a well known research worker and speaker on plastics.

Officers stressed that this will not be a technical discussion but a report on the progress in plastics, in language easily understood by lay groups. In addition there will be films showing the manufacture and present and future uses of plastics.

An important phase of the discussion will be an estimate of the extent to which plastics will replace metals and where substitution will be, with present knowledge, impractical.

Mr. Atkins emphasized that officers of the club are seeking to avoid programs of purely commercial presentation and to emphasize informative and entertaining features.

At the brief business session to precede the program, arrangements will be made to name a treasurer to succeed Paul Allen, who has resigned.

Because of the larger number of new members, it is more important than ever, Mr. Atkins emphasized, that the return half of the postcard notices be sent in. The club now has 228 members, of whom 38 are recent additions.

Ontonagon

Edward Corwin is in Milwaukee on business.

Miss Creta White has gone to Washington, D. C., where she has accepted a position.

Miss Jane Brown has returned from Ann Arbor where she received medical treatment.

Mrs. Stephen Younk and Mrs. Alfred Hill have returned from Ironwood where they visited friends.

Funeral services for Alphonse Parent were held Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Daniel Nehmer. The Rev. Merwin Morse, of the Methodist church, officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith White and family have returned to Marquette after a short visit here with relatives and friends. They were accompanied to Marquette by Mrs. White's sister, Mrs. Charles Lantto, and daughter, Dulcie.

The Parent-Teachers' association met Monday evening in the high school auditorium. The following program was given: Vocal selections, Mrs. H. K. Hamar; Miss Olive Hagen, high school English teacher, talk on her experiences in Japan; musical novelty, Mrs. C. J. Joseph. Following the program lunch was served by the men, with Clyde Hayward in charge.

AAA Authorizes Increase In Corn Acreage Quotas

LANSING, Jan. 21—P—Clarence W. Swanebeck, acting state chairman of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, announced today that the AAA has authorized a 10 per cent increase in previously announced 1942 corn acreage allotments for Michigan's 12 commercial corn producing counties.

He said the increase was ordered in Berrien, Branch, Calhoun, Cass, Hillsdale, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lenawee, Monroe, St. Joseph, Washtenaw and Wayne counties to cushion withdrawals from the over-normal granary for increased livestock feeding operations necessitated by the war program.

Farms under the AAA in these counties, he said, can raise up to 15 acres of corn by sacrificing special corn payments of eight cents per bushel of the normal corn yield for each acre under allotment.

The AAA also will establish at 130 per cent of the revised 1942 acreage allotments the "usual corn acreage" for each farm, up to which corn may be planted without loss of benefits for other crops.

Swanebeck said this will be done to aid individual farmers in dairy areas where more feed is required by expanding dairy production.

HASTINGS, Mich., Jan. 21—P—Mrs. Anna Lampson, 85, was found burned to death today at the home of her son, Roy, 55, of Irving. Sheriff Glen Bera said the woman had apparently attempted to add fuel to a stove when her clothing caught fire.

The body, severely burned, was

37 Complete Initial Work In First Aid

ISHPEMING, Jan. 21—Under the direction of James Tomlinson, 37 residents of Ishpeming have completed the standard American Red Cross first aid course, as the initial step in a civilian defense program, and 29 are continuing with the advanced course, being joined by two others who previously completed the standard course. This does not include the work being given to the employees of the county road commission, or the advanced work being taken by graduate nurses of the community.

"This work was completed in scheduled time," said Mr. Tomlinson, "and reflects the enthusiasm and the serious attitude toward the project by the members of the classes."

Started By Club

Those in the class started by the Winter Sports club before the civilian defense program began but which was merged into the defense group are Helene A. Anderson, Mrs. Gertrude Johnson, Mrs. Ethel Lawer, Mrs. Henrietta Magnuson, Agnes Norell, Bernice Pearce, Florence Pepin, Irma H. Peterson, Mrs. Mary Lou Schaaf, Helen Swahn, Ewald F. Asplund, Bertrand Cain, Earl Gray, Robert Jacobson, D. W. Lundblad, Walter Murray and A. E. Passander. Only seven of this class ended their work with the standard course, the others taking the advanced preparatory to becoming instructors in first aid.

Defense Class

The defense class organized at the outset of the program consists of Mrs. James E. Flan, Dorothy Kinsman, Helen Malmgren, Bernice Skoglund, Edward J. Bissonette, Arthur G. Brown, Leonard Flan, M. A. Haney, Waino Ikola, Rudolph Kivisto, John Laver, Frank J. Leone, Francis J. Marketty, Ben Renz, Vernon Schmeltz, George C. Ole, W. C. Peterson, William S. Pierce and Fred Zhukkie. All but one of this class have already entered the advanced course.

In the advanced work, too, are Stuart Morrison and J. Frederick Larson who have had the standard course elsewhere.

found by her son as he returned from a trip to Hastings. Coroner Gordon Fisner said death was due to burns and shock.

LaCanne-Kucher

ISHPEMING, Jan. 21—Miss Evelyn LaCanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter LaCanne, 602 Fremont avenue, Menominee, exchanged vows Saturday, Jan. 17, with Robert Kucher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kucher, of Ishpeming, former residents of Menominee, at an 8 o'clock nuptial mass in the Church of Epiphany in Menominee. The Rev. Sebastian Maier officiated. Mrs. Archie Meissner presided at the wedding and sang.

A street-length dress of sheer wool crepe fashioned with a white bodice and a blue skirt was worn by the bride with accessories of powder blue. Mixed flowers were in the colonial bouquet she carried. Miss Marjorie Kucher, sister of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor, wearing a pastel green wool crepe dress with accessories of black. Serving as bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Mae LaCanne, sister of the bride, wore a pink wool crepe dress with black accessories. Both attendants wore corsages of white carnations.

Peter Sarvello, of Ishpeming, was best man for Mr. Kucher. Mrs. LaCanne attended the nuptials, wearing a black crepe dress with red trim and accessories to correspond. Mrs. Kucher wore a duobonnet velvet dress with matching accessories. Both had corsages of carnations and roses.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the LaCanne home an in the afternoon a reception was held. Lunch was served buffet style from a table centered with a wedding cake and mixed flowers.

The bride is a graduate of the Menominee high school and is employed by the Lloyd Manufacturing company. Mr. Kucher, also a graduate of the Menominee high school, is in the United States Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Kucher and daughter, Marjorie, and Peter Sarvello, of Ishpeming, attended the wedding.

Arena Rink For Adults This Evening

NEGAUNEE, Jan. 21—Thursday night is adults' night at the Arena skating rink.

Tomorrow night and every Thursday night the remainder of the skating season will be reserved for adults and the committee in charge urges everyone in the community to cooperate and make the program a success.

The plan was instituted two seasons ago and was popular with all skaters. "Adults appreciate having the rink to themselves one evening a week," a spokesman for the group said today.

"We urge all parents to keep their children away from the rink on Thursday nights. They may skate until 7 p. m. but after that hour the rink is solely for adults."

The committee has requested that dogs be left at home.

ing in the Malacca strait along the west Malayan coast, bombarding Japanese troops. The Japanese news agency Domei claimed that advanced Japanese units stood within six miles of the Strait of Johore, which separates Singapore from the mainland.

The struggle in northwestern Johore was a wild medley of artillery, aerial and infantry action, Japanese dive-bombers heavily assaulting the British forward troops.

British bombing attacks were delivered twice overnight on Japanese-occupied Kuantan. Fires were set off in Japanese hangars and direct hits were scored on enemy aircraft. At Kuala Lumpur at least three Japanese planes were left aflame. In these three raids only a single British plane was lost.

Singapore's sharply improved aerial defense was in large part attributed to anti-aircraft batteries, which brought down nine enemy planes to four destroyed by British fighters. Others were damaged.

Again, as on Tuesday, the Japanese lost their bombers alike on residential areas and fortifications in indiscriminate attacks; the details of the damage were not immediately made known.

Tuesday's raids on the city—made by 90 heavy bombers escorted by fighters—killed 64 persons and wounded 154.

Manitowoc, Wis., Firm Given Navy Contract

MANITOWOC, Wis., Jan. 21—A Navy ordnance contract which will give work to 1,000 men has been awarded the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing company, A. J. Vits, president, said today.

Vits said new machinery had been ordered and that expected production would start within two months. He said the contract was the largest ever obtained by the company, which operates plants here and at Two Rivers, Wis.

The contract was expected to relieve materially the unemployment problem which threatened this area when the Aluminum company was forced to lay-off about one-third of its 3,000 employes because of material shortage. Vits said the men would return to work shortly.

A purchases division, under Douglas MacKeechie, formerly a purchasing director for the Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, who has been in charge of the OPM purchasing division. His staff will be placed in the Army and Navy procurement offices to assist in buying supplies and material of all kinds.

Labor division under Sidney Hillman, who acted in a similar capacity for OPM.

A civilian supply division under Leon Henderson, apparently to act in an advisory capacity. Henderson also is price administrator.

The seventh division which may be established, if need for it arises, Nelson said, would be a field organization.

The old Office of Production Management will be dissolved, Nelson said, and William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman, its directors, will be given membership on the war production board, because he wants their advice and help. Knudsen has been put in charge of Army procurement with a commission as lieutenant general.

R. A. Gilmour Toastmaster For Dinner

NEGAUNEE, Jan. 21—Robert A. Gilmour will be the toastmaster at the American Legion dinner to be held Friday night in honor of visiting state dignitaries of the organization.

The Rev. H. Roger Sherman, Jr., will pronounce the invocation and John P. Collins, commander of John H. Mitchell post, will introduce the visitors.

Martin Johnston of Marquette will lead a program of singing and Bob Hall, star of radio and stage, will be the feature entertainer.

Three members of the Marquette post have been selected to attend the Upper Peninsula mid-winter conference to be held in Manistique, January 24 and 25. John P. Collins is the delegate, Oral LaLonde, Jr., alternate, M. L. Wetton, welfare officer, also will attend.

Bill To Create Women's Army Corps Advances

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Ready to trade the glamour of peacetime for the grime and grind behind-the-lines Army jobs, America's women today won powerful backing in their demand for a peacetime branch of the nation's fighting forces.

Rep. Andrew Jackson May (D-Ky.), chairman of the House military committee, said that the committee would approve next Tuesday a bill for creation of a women's Army auxiliary corps of volunteers between the ages of 21 and 45. "There has been no opposition," he said.

The measure was introduced by Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass) and would set up officers training schools and a feminine army of unlimited size. The pay would start at the figure for women in the regular Army, $21 a month.

To its support came Brig. Gen. John H. Hildring, an assistant chief of staff. He declared that there was urgent need for its immediate passage, that there were hundreds of jobs now at Army posts which could be taken over by women to relieve men for service elsewhere.

Bill To Create Women's Army Corps Advances

The bill provides that during air raid alarms only vehicles of the armed forces, ambulances, fire apparatus, machines owned by public agencies, and those in the defense services or urgently needed to cope with the emergency would be permitted to move. During blackouts, vehicles would have to reduce speed to 20 miles an hour in a city or 15 miles outside, forbidden to pass others going in the same direction.

The measure passed by the House 308 to 101. It would be sent to the Senate for its consideration.

Detroit City Councilmen Defy Union

DETROIT, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The Detroit city council today defied the City Employees union (AFU) to fulfill a promise to strike at 4 a. m. Friday and thereby disrupt utility services and paralyze facilities of thousands of defense workers.

By a vote of 8 to 1, the council rejected demands of the union for a 15 per cent blanket wage increase for municipal workers.

The union, meantime, remained firm, but said a mass meeting of its members would be held tomorrow night. Over objections of international officers, it approved the strike call last Sunday, declaring wage increases were necessary to offset rising living costs.

Today's action of the council, which said no further wage increases would be considered for the remainder of the fiscal year—an action tantamount to "freezing" percent pay scales until July 1—was interpreted as unequivocal support of Mayor Edward J. Jeffries' stand that duly elected officials and not labor unions would run the city's government.

Workers Promised Protection

Jeffries, whose administration has been beset by numerous labor disputes, has declared that any of the city's 37,000 employes who fails to report for work Friday would be considered as having resigned. Police protection was promised for those who want to work.

Union officials, who claim from 12,000 to 15,000 municipal workers as members, had the indirect support today of bus drivers and street car operators in the city-owned transportation system.

Officials of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America (AFM), demanding a 33-cent-an-hour wage boost of their own, said picket lines, if thrown around production of street rail cars, would be respected.

Transportation Tieup Feared

A tieup of bus and street car service was viewed with concern because of the heavy demands imposed on this means of transportation since the rationing of automobile tires and the fact that accelerated production of defense factories to meet war-time conditions might be seriously affected through inability of workers to get to their jobs.

A five-day strike paralyzed bus and street car service last August. The dissenting council vote was cast by George Edwards, a former labor leader, who earlier had introduced a resolution, which was defeated, calling for a 10 per cent increase in wages of city employes earning $2,000 or less annually.

able service," and finally, "the elimination of political pressure on county employes by unscrupulous individuals, for personal motives."

Collection Of Taxes May Set Record

NEGAUNEE, Jan. 21—Tax collections in Negaunee may establish a record it was announced today by Frank Tompkins, city treasurer, who stated that 91.6 per cent had been collected up to Tuesday of last week.

The total amount to be collected is $483,946.48 on a valuation of $14,563,810. Of the total the county will receive $107,721.90 and school taxes amount to $131,074.29. To date the county has received $103,000 and the school treasurer has been paid $126,000.

The city budget amounts to $244,800 this year and of this sum the largest amount, $72,800, is targeted for the street and highway department. The city expense, is set at $54,300, city debt service at $66,200 and water fund at $16,000. Cemetery maintenance this year will cost taxpayers $13,500 and the fire protection budget is $13,000. The library fund will receive $6,000 and the sewer fund $3,000.

Taxes collected in Negaunee last year were 99.9559 per cent of the total levy, leaving a delinquency of .0041 compared with a delinquency in 1939 of .0058. Delinquency this year is expected to amount to even less.

oughly amended to provide what its chairman, Rep. John P. Espie, said were "safeguards so all of the money would not go to the military department, or to Wayne county."

The measure gives the bi-partisan state administrative board of elective officials absolute power to allocate the money as it pleases, without consulting the budget department.

It adopted without a dissenting vote a measure prescribing rules of conduct for air raids, blackouts or alert alarms. It also goes to the senate, bearing a clause giving it immediate effect.

The bill provides that during air raid alarms only vehicles of the armed forces, ambulances, fire apparatus, machines owned by public agencies, and those in the defense services or urgently needed to cope with the emergency would be permitted to move. # Tambay Gold

By Samuel Hopkins Adams

THE STORY: Mom Baumer sets up "Federia" lunch wagon at run-down Tambay Plantation, forms tourist camp partnership with its aristocratic, impoverished neighbor, Jane Ann Judson, last of the Mauries and sored on the world. Mom tells Juddy she has a daughter, Carnival; Juddy tells Mom of a lonely childhood. Other characters: Loren Oliver, Welliver U. prof digging for Indian relics at Tambay and harboring Old Swoby, a Slovakian refugee; Dolf, Mom's pet skunk; Lawyer Maurice Sears and Football Star Angel Todd, both in love with Juddy. Sheriff Hollister Mowry thinks Oliver after gold. Juddy is ill after mob lynching at Hanging Tree, later accuses "Doc" of telling her husband, wealthy Henderson Kent, whom she has left, where she is.

THREE-CORNERED FEUD CHAPTER XV

When we came out I said to Juddy, "Does Angel know you've been married?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"What difference does it make?" she said. "You don't understand about Angel and me."

I sure didn't.

Shortly before Commencement a bunch of Chi Rho Gamma alumnae came over for a weekend conference something to do with a new wing on Rogers Hall. There was a little dinner party at my outdoor oven. An undergrad committee was there, and Maurice Sears as chapter counselor, and Loren Oliver because he was on the faculty buildings committee. At the end of the dinner they invited Juddy and me over for coffee and a drink.

I first she balked, but I was for anything that would get her back into circulation. So we went over, and she settled in quietly and naturally beside Angel Todd. Everything was sweet and lovely till a whiskey old gazabo who looked as if he had been left over from the class of 1840 brought up the lynching.

"There was one when I was in college, too," he said. "Tambay Tree was green then."

Doc Oliver tried to hush him, for Juddy had got white and twitchy around the mouth, but the old boob didn't get the point. He burbled along:

"They say the tree bears fruit three times in every ownership." Juddy gave a sort of cry. "Not in mine," she said. "How could anyone—"

I tried to switch the talk, but Angel crabbled it. He put on that cherub grin and said, "Ask Brother Sears."

Maurie Sears darkened up. "I don't care for your choice of words, Doc," he said.

Juddy said to him: "I think it was horrible of you to be there."

Poor Maurice looked as if she had hit him. "Do you know what the man had done, Cousin?"

"Don't tell her that," Doc said, quick and sharp.

"I hadn't intended to," Sears said. "Being a northerner, you don't—"

"Nonsense!" said Juddy. "Button it up, pal," I said. "I didn't like the way things were shaping."

Angel did. It was right up his alley. "It's a pity there wasn't a man on the place that night," he said. "This time he was staring straight at Doc Oliver."

"What could one man do there?" I said.

"I'd like to have been there with a few of the team," Angel said. "Anderson and Karpak and Ziegler and Bones Smith."

"Oh, if only you had been!" This from Juddy.

"What would you and your young friends have done, Mr. Todd?" asked old Brother Whiskers.

Angel laughed.

The old party had bristled up. "I'm afraid that Welliver would have had to get a new football team. Have you ever heard of a lynching being stopped in these parts?" He talked like he was defending a cherished institution.

Doc jumped in. "Yes, I have. This one was stopped by"—he smiled—"an aged man, two loads, a narrow lane."

"Shakespeare," I said, "Shoat, Doc." I could feel the tension loosening up.

"Right here at Tambay," he went on. "Several years ago. There had been a particularly brutal murder on the plantation. There was no plain clev, but an old Negro man had been seen putting about the place. He had always been a harmless old fellow, but when they caught and threatened him, he was too terrified to explain what he'd been doing there. Word reached a dinner party that the old fellow was being taken to Tambay Tree. There was an old gentleman there for whom the Negro worked. He excused himself from the party. Two other guests followed him, boys of 17 or 18. Their horses were outside. They got to Tambay only just in time. They rode their horses through the mob, took the rope from the praying Negro's neck, and faced around with their pistols in their hands. Nobody stopped them. They brought their man out safe. Weeks later the real murderer was caught."

"Who were the rescue party, Doc?" I said.

"Ask Maurice Sears," he said.

Angel had put his lip in. "Pity you didn't show a little of the same spirit the other night, Prof," he said.

"That'll be about enough from you, Big Boy," I told him.

Juddy left Angel and went over to Sears. "Who was the old man, Maurice?" she said.

"Great-uncle Rantoul Maurice. He's right much of an old fire-eater and afraid of nothing on earth."

"And you?" She smiled at him. "And the other boy, whoever he was?"

"My cousin, Elliott Maurice. We

Mozhaisk Loss Bitter Dose For Hitler

is in progress on a front of unindicated width.

The north-south rail and road line from Rjhev, through Vyazma to Bryansk, which supported the Mzhaisk bulge, is already cracked by the Russians to the south and rendered useless in the north. Bryansk itself is menaced by the Russian breakthrough to the north at Lyudnovo. The Rjhev junction pivot on the upper Volga also is threatened from three sides.

Only the center section of the Rjhev-Bryansk line, between Vyazma and the vicinity of Lyudnovo, is still in German hands. There appear to be more or less isolated pockets of German resistance north and west of retaken Kaluga, but the Russian southern pincer, now already west of Lyudnovo and stretching northeastward to Moshalsk renders their position precarious.

Escape to Vyazma Doubtful

Whether the Germans backtracking from Mzhaisk can escape to Vyazma down the main Smolensk-Moscow route appears doubtful. Rearguard action west of Mzhaisk, in the vicinity of historic Borodino, is reported. It was there Napoleon scored the victory that allowed him to reach Moscow, only to meet utter disaster in a winter retreat.

There have been persistent reports of Russian straggling of the Vyazma-Mzhaisk route near Gjatask, midway between Borodino and Vyazma and 35 miles in the rear of the retreating Germans. From the Kostino area on the Kaluga-Vyazma railroad, another Russian spearhead is pointed northwestward at Vyazma, 50 miles away.

Some military observers expect a new German stand at Vyazma, integrated with an effort to hold also the Ugra river bulge southeast of that point in lieu of the lost Mzhaisk position. The strongest natural defense position on the Napoleonic road is west of Vyazma, however, along the rise of the Dnieper, 60 miles east of Smolensk.

Rail Passenger Fares Increased 10 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—A 10 per cent increase in railroad passenger fares, estimated to yield $45,000,000 annually on the basis of 1941 business, was granted the railroads today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The increase will apply to all fares except the 1-1-4 cents a mile rate allowed members of the military or naval forces traveling on furlough and extra fares charged on certain trains.

The new rates will become effective 10 days after the railroads have filed tariffs with the I. C. C. The tariffs will be filed in time to become effective between Feb. 1 and 4.

Tommy Manville's Fifth Wife Awarded Divorce

RENO, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The former Bonita Edwards hobbled into court on crutches today and emerged with a divorce from Tommy Manville.

The 22-year-old showgirl, wife Nov. 5 of the 47-year-old asbestos fortune heir, fractured an ankle last month while skiing.

Married at Ridgefield, Conn., Nov. 18, 1941, after a whirlwind courtship, the couple separated 17 days later after agreeing to an undisclosed cash settlement in New York.

Mental Hygiene Clinics Slated for Three Cities

LANSING, Jan. 21.—The state hospital commission tentatively agreed today to establish mental hygiene clinics at Saginaw, Muskegon and Kalamazoo.

The commission said the final decision would not be made until the house of representatives had concurred in a senate resolution permitting $22,000 appropriated previously for two clinics to be used for three if funds proved sufficient.

Fred C. Striffler, who was re-elected chairman at today's meeting, said delays in starting the program had stored sufficient reserve in the current fiscal year to permit three clinics to be operated.

The clinical program is designed to stem mental illnesses before they reach the institutional stage, thus reducing the cost of the state hospital program.

Hemispheric War Output Plan Bared

try must return home to have the commitments passed on by the respective governments.

Government officials said the plan forms the basis of an unfettered Western Hemisphere attempt to gear itself to one aim—defeat of the Axis. The plan would put into effect the raw materials, transportation, technicians and finances of all signatory countries.

United States recommendations for the plan are being presented at Rio by Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, Assistant Secretary of Commerce Wayne C. Taylor and Warren Lee Pierson, president of the Export-Import bank.

Steps have already been taken toward realization of several points in the plan. The United States has already begun to push a program for completion of the Pan-American highway to Panama. Several Latin American nations have already nationalized their airlines. The Pan-American Union has established a technical shipping commission to consider how Western Hemisphere shipping can be pooled for the maximum benefit of all countries.

Stocks Retreat; Carriers Fail To Extend Advance

Few Issues Regain Part Of Losses

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—P—Stocks suffered a fairly wide retreat today as rails surrendered the leadership they had given the market in the two preceding sessions.

Prices were off from the beginning and the momentum extended quarter after quarter as a possible sign of impairment of the market's technical structure, tending to bring in a little general selling and such groups as steels, aircrafts, chemicals and industrial specialties soon were well in arrears.

Stock Average Drops
Despite a pickup in transactions on a midday bulge in activity the volume for the five-hour stretch came to only 553,850 shares. This compared with Tuesday's 600,000 of 457,700 shares.

The Associated Press stock-volume recorder a drop of 5 to 37.3.

The chemical stocks were a depressed bloc and their recurrent weakness brought forth the explanation heard earlier that proposed changes in the excess profits tax would hit many of these companies hard.

Down two points or so were Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak and J. C. Penney. The last named and Du Pont dipped also to new lows for the year.

Also closing lower were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Douglas, Santa Fe, Southern Railway and Great Northern, Pfd.

Curb Volume Up
Patio Mines, Bolivian tin producer, was firm throughout with a final gain of about a point.

Bonds were mixed and commodities improved. Chicago wheat ended 5-8 to 1 cent a bushel higher and corn rose 1-8 to 1-2. Hogs were down 10 to 15 cents. Cotton futures pushed up 20 to 35 cents a bale.

In the curb better marks were posted for Gulf Oil and American Export Lines. Aluminum of America and International Petroleum slipped. Transfers here were around 116,000 shares against 98,000 the day before.

Corn, Rye, Beans Lead Grain Upturn

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—P—Corn, rye and soybeans led a general price advance today as the grain market absorbed the best buying power generated in more than a week.

Corn closed 1-8 to 1-2 cents higher than yesterday, May 7-1-4 to 3-8, July 8-9. These were the highest prices since last September and only about four cents below the peaks for the past five years.

Rye was 1-2 to 1-5-8 higher, May 8-1-4, July 8-7-8, about a cent below the five-year tops established last week. Soybeans closed 3 to 3-8 up, May $1.35, or seven cents below the all time peak established for beans last fall.

Wheat borrowed strength from other grains, closing 5-8 to 1 cent higher, May $1.31 1-2 to 3-8, July $1.32 7-8. Oats were 1-4 to 3-8 up and lard, seven lower to three higher. Lard was depressed by weakness of hogs.

The most important development of a bullish nature was a one-cent advance in the price at which the Government is offering old corn for sale.

Bonds Drift Lower; Rail Gains Erased

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—P—Preoccupied with the first big piece of new financing this year, the bond market drifted irregularly lower today.

The First Boston Corp. and Bonbright & Co., which headed the syndicate which offered through a nation-wide selling group the new $80,000,000 issue of Alabama Power Co. 3-1-28 at 101 3-4 reported early in the session that the issue was accorded an enthusiastic reception by buyers. Trading on a when issued basis got under way almost immediately and premiums of full two points over the offering price were established within the hour. A late check disclosed a bid of 103 1-2 and offer at 103 7-8.

Activity in listed issues fell to $9,617,000, par value, from $12,040,400 on Tuesday largely as a result of the tapering off of demand for rails. The 20 carrier bond in the Associated Press index dropped .5 or a point to 63.6, cancelling most of the improvement registered Monday and Tuesday. Other groups in the index moved narrowly.

Liners of fractions to around two points included Southern Pacific 4-1-28 at 52 1-2, Nickel Plate 5-1-28 at 77 1-4, New York Central 5s at 57 3-4, Illinois Central 4 3-4s at 44 3-4 and Baltimore & Ohio stamped convertibles of '60 at 37 5-8.

Ahead moderately were American Telephone 3s, Consolidated Edison 3-1-28, Youngstown Sheet & Tube 3-1-4s and Republic Steel 4-1-28. U. S. Governments moved narrowly on both the stock ex-

Today In Washington
By David Lawrence
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Lots of loose talk has been heard recently to the effect that the automobile industry should have curbed its production and turned its facilities over to defense work in 1941. Those who make such comments will be interested to learn that it is impossible for any industry to curtail production unless the anti-trust laws operate to impede national defense by spreading fear of punishment among the very industrial executives who are eager to help their Government in an emergency has just been issued by the Department of Justice.

There is an emergency situation with respect to oil on the west coast. Fuel is needed in greater quantities than heretofore to supply a fleet at war. Tonnage for coastwise transportation is limited. Into the emergency steps the oil industry representatives on the west coast and Ralph Davies, deputy petroleum administrator. A plan is evolved to meet the emergency. But just as American oil men tried to save a "distress gasoline" situation once before found themselves convicted in Federal court by technicalities under the anti-trust laws, another group of oil men see the same wording today in the midst of war.

Can Change His Mind
Thurman Arnold, Assistant Attorney General, who seems to have more power over production than Donald Nelson wherever the anti-trust laws are involved, has consented to look the other way while the law is being violated. He promises not to prosecute now, but at any moment that he wants to change his mind he can bring the oil men into court and punish them for doing what they had believed was their patriotic duty. Here is an excerpt from the text of a letter dated January 15, 1942, from Mr. Arnold to Howard Marshall, chief counsel of the office of petroleum coordinator for national defense:

"Because of the sweeping character of the plan embodied in the recommendation and because the recommendation proposes to delegate to members of the industry the power to formulate and carry out the plan, it is my view that the recommendation does not come within the procedure established by the letter that the Attorney General sent to Mr. John Lord O'Brien on April 23, 1941.

Birth Rate in U. S. Shows Gain in 1941
 NEW YORK, Jan. 21—P—No matter what the times, the stark comes through, with an indication that the United States will have the highest birth rate for 1941 of any year since 1930.
 From available data, statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company figured the birth rate for the year would reach about 18.8 per thousand population, as against 17.9 for 1940. They said a slight decline in the death rate to about 30.7 per thousand population also was indicated.
 These figures, they explained, would mean that the natural rate of increase for the American population during 1941 was 8.1 per thousand as compared with the average rate of seven per thousand for the 10-year period 1930-1940.

Nickel May Disappear From Five-Cent Coins
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—P—Nickel will disappear entirely from America's five cent coins under a measure that started through Congress today.
 A Senate judiciary sub-committee wrote into a pending bill language authorizing a new five-cent piece, which would be made half of copper and half of silver, instead of the present combination of three quarters copper and one-fourth nickel.
 Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said Donald M. Nelson, production chief, had asked the measure as a means of saving 435 tons of nickel a year.

 The provision was inserted in a bill expanding the Government's war powers. Approved by the sub-committee, the bill would, among other things, impose penalties for violations of the Government's priorities orders.

U. S., Latins Partners In Economic Plan

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Ten days ago, John Lear, Latin American news specialist of Wide World News, reported that the inter-American conference at Rio de Janeiro, would consider a plan to make the whole new world a single economic unit. Yesterdays details of such a plan were disclosed in Washington. Lear tells the significance of the plan to our war effort and to the future of the new world.)

By John Lear

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—(Wide World)—The United States today played its ace card against Adolf Hitler in Latin America.

That card was the plan which Government sources disclosed had been proposed to the conference of American foreign ministers at Rio de Janeiro—to weld the whole new world into a single economic unit. One effect of playing this card now was to prove to the other American republics, once and for all, that the "good neighbor" policy is sincere and not merely the "disguise for Yankee imperialism" which Axis agents in the Latin lands have alleged it to be.

The criticism Latins have made of the "good neighbor" policy up to now has been that it was "too much talk and not enough brass tacks."

Provide Financial Backing
The plan as outlined today—freer trade, simplification of exchange, industrial expansion, modernized transportation—hits squarely on the head practically all the brass tacks which have been sticking up for centuries to slow Latin America's growth.

The hammer that is to drive these tacks home is United States financial backing and technical assistance, meeting the two greatest single needs below the Rio Grande.

The full import of the plan can be understood from the following statement by a well placed Government official in Washington:

"This is the first time that we ever have laid down a concrete integrated plan for the development of Latin America."

The main intent of the plan was to smash the Axis powers by gearing all the Americas into one closely knit, fast running fighting machine, able to pour raw materials quickly where they are needed and deliver guns and ammunition and tanks and planes to any danger point at a moment's notice.

Would Continue After War
The benefits of improved interconnected rivers, roads, and railroads—mentioned specifically in the plan—would continue after the war, affording the Latin republics trade routes among themselves and to the outside world.

Argentina would be one of the first to be able to take advantage of the economic correlation, since her farm and industrial production are more advanced than those of her neighbors. What she has needed has been markets.

This fact is not likely to be overlooked by Argentine acting President Ramon Castillo, whose hesitancy to support a unanimous new world break with Hitler is explainable chiefly in terms of his country's fear that the United States would not really go all-out to protect the Latin Americas when a showdown came.

The plan is obviously going to cost a lot of money. Putting it into operation will require much more than money—soothing of ancient jealousies, changing of old and beloved customs, revision of laws, public education on an immense scale to avoid the pitfalls which Axis propaganda will try to create among the Latin peoples, among whom are large groups lacking in knowledge of the outside world.

FSA BUYS LAND

LANSING, Jan. 21—P—Sale of approximately 24,000 acres of Rio Grande valley properties owned by the defunct American Life Insurance company, of Detroit, was announced today by Eugene P. Berry, state insurance commissioner, serving as receiver for the company. He said the sale realized nearly $1,200,000 and that most of the land was purchased by the Farm Security Administration for a resettlement project.
