Laurium Eliminates Taxes

LAURIUM, Feb. 5—The Laurium village council, has voted to recommend elimination of real estate and personal property taxes in 1942. The favorable condition of the treasury with a cash balance of approximately $40,000 in cash on hand and no outstanding indebtedness enabled the council to take this step. As a patriotic gesture, the council suggested that the taxpayers use this money for the purchase of Defense Bonds.

Northern Neighbor

All our good neighbors are not south of the border, for Canada probably has been a good friend to the United States longer than any nation. Do you know these Canadian questions?

1. Which are the maritime provinces of Canada? The prairie provinces?
2. Who is prime minister of Canada and where is his official residence?
3. Name a large Canadian city farther south than Seattle, Wash., the largest city in Canada, and a Canadian city famous for its wheat market.
4. What is Canada's legal relation to the British empire?
5. Name two big lakes in northern western Canada which are famous in fact and in adventure fiction.

Breitung's Heirs Sue To Clear Title

CRYSTAL FALLS, Feb. 5—A bill, the purpose of which is to quiet the title to certain mineral-bearing parcels of land in townships, has been filed in circuit court against Herman Holmes, L. A. Burdette, the city of Crystal Falls, the Oliver Iron Mining company and 13 other defendants, some of whom are deceased.

The plaintiffs are E. S. Bice, of Marquette, administrator of the estate of the late Charlotte Breitung, and R. W. Baldwin, of Marquette, trustee under the will of Mrs. Breitung, acting through their attorneys, Eldredge and Eldredge, of Marquette. City Attorney Dwyer will act for Crystal Falls in the litigation, which concerns property north of the power plant.

The value of the property is not stated, but the bill implies that the heirs desire to quiet title so that they may deal with a prospective purchaser of the mineral interest in certain parcels, which Mrs. Breitung inherited on the death of her husband, the late Edward N. Breitung.

corps yesterday informed Captain Ted Baldwin of the Michigan State Troops here that construction of an indoor rifle range at the troop headquarters in the U. P. State Fairgrounds exhibition building has been authorized and that work on it can begin at once. Baldwin said the range would be constructed so that practice with 22 rifles can be held at distances of either 50 or 100 feet. The range will be built on rollers so that it can be easily moved when not in use.

Tax Dispute Important To Lumbermen

IRON RIVER, Feb. 5—Whether Henry Kingston, Stambaugh lumberman, who had timber from about 100 acres of land saved at John Streckert's portable mill was responsible for payment of unemployment taxes on wages of Streckert's men was the question before Henry Gilman, Detroit, referee of the Michigan unemployment compensation commission, at a hearing in the city hall Tuesday.

Important to Lumbermen

Outweighing in importance the Kingston case itself, from the viewpoint of north country lumbermen, is the question of liability of an employer for taxes on the wages of portable sawmill operators and their helpers, who usually are engaged under written, or oral, contract, and set up their mills near lumbering operations, or work almost exclusively over a period of time for one jobber.

It is the first case of its kind to come to Lawrence's attention, and so far as he knows it is the first in Michigan.

Those who gave testimony were Lawrence, Kingston, his foreman, John Ehlen, Ray Phipps, bookkeeper, and Mrs. Phipps, who succeeded her husband in that position.

Streckert had a written contract with Kingston in 1939, and operations continued into 1940, during which time he sawed the cut from about 100 acres of land. His sawmill was placed on land leased by Kingston, the latter, or men employed by him, delivering the logs to the mill and taking away the finished product. The mill was located just south of Kingston's yard on Selden road.

listed on Kingston's payroll reports, on the basis of which taxes are assessed for unemployment compensation.

Kingston contended that Streckert was an independent operator, responsible directly to the commission, and that the Streckert employees were solely under his direction.

Wants To See Carnival
Editor,
Mining Journal:
It is somewhat discouraging to realize that the winter carnival is being staged at the Palestra on Saturday night, when it will be impossible for sales people and other employees of stores to attend. As most of our customers will be sure to be there, I would suggest a move whereby the stores would close at 8 Saturday night to allow the hundreds of store employees to enjoy this outstanding event of the winter season. How about it fellow store-workers?
Sincerely yours,
WAYNE W. WITANEN,

Coast Guard Announces New Plan for Reserves

A four-month course for a commission in the U. S. Coast Guard Reserve as ensign is now open to qualified college graduates, the Cleveland office announces. The new course does not replace any existing method of obtaining a Reserve commission, but is an additional means of supplying the demand for more officers.

To qualify, applicants must be between 20 and 30 years old, unmarried, physically fit and possessing a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university. The curriculum must have included two one-semester courses of college-grade mathematics, preferably algebra and trigonometry. Preliminary application can be made at the U. S. Coast Guard, Keith Bldg., Cleveland, or by writing the Commandant, U. S. Coast Guard, Washington, D. C. Men accepted will be sent to the Coast Guard academy at New London, Conn., where they will receive first month of basic seaman training. During the ensuing three-month officers' course, they will receive the same pay and allowances as the regular academy cadets.

Half-Year Auto Plates Now on Sale

Half-year automobile license plates are now on sale at the state license bureau in the Union National bank building.

The new plates are the same as the full-year plates, with the exception that they bear the inscription "Exp. 8-31-42." When purchasing plates for the last half of the year, the automobile owner will receive a metal strip inscribed "1942" to be placed over the half-year strip. The metal strips bear serial numbers for identification.

There are no plates for 1942 half-year commercial or farm commercial plates, officials here reported. Instead of regular plates, windshield stickers are being used to replace 1941 plates now in use. Windshield stickers will be good until August 31, 1942, at which time full-year plates will be issued.

Commercial Charge Reduced

Owners of commercial vehicles or trailers who have made no structural changes in their units will not be required to have their vehicles reweighed this year, but must present the 1941 registration slip showing the weight last year and sign an affidavit stating that no structural change has been made to alter the weight. If the registration slip is not available a new weight slip is mandatory.

The charge for farm commercial licenses has been reduced from 50 cents a hundredweight to 35 cents a hundredweight. Likewise, the charge for small trailers weighing less than 500 pounds has been reduced from 50 to 35 cents a hundredweight.

State law requires that when an individual sells an automobile to another individual—not through a dealer—an affidavit must be provided by the seller stating that he is not a dealer and not engaged in the business of making repeated transactions of that nature.

1942 Assignment

The affidavit must be sent in with the assigned title. Branch offices have been supplied with printed forms for making the affidavits.

The 1942 assignment of plates to the Marquette office follows: 2,400 pair of full passenger plates, LP-4351 to LP 6750; 650 pair of full commercial, 3151-AN to 3800-AN; 550 full trailer tags, 122351 to 122900; 150 pairs of farm commercial, 322501 to 322650.

Half-year plate supplies received are 2,300 pairs of passenger tags, LR-3201 to LR-3500, and 125 trailer tags.

NYA Trains Youths For Defense Jobs

To prepare youths of the Upper Peninsula for the "greatest wave of manufacturing in this country has ever seen," expected to start about June 1, Wilbur E. Crowley, NYA employment supervisor in this area, and Sherman J. McNamara, area director, have written to city clerks and sheriffs asking them to recommend and assist applicants for the resident training centers in Houghton and Ironwood.

"Congress has appropriated 51 billion dollars for the purpose of manufacturing war materials," they said. "Automobile production has been suspended and factories are being converted to provide for this emergency. In all probability, by June of this year they will be prepared to start the greatest wave of manufacturing in this country has ever seen."

For Youths 17 to 25

"It is reasonable to expect that the unemployed will consist of only those who are unable to work and those who do not want to work. Men who have the experience in metal trades will be in great demand and without a doubt will be earning from $1 to $1.50 an hour," the letter stated.

"The National Youth administration has established two resident training centers in Houghton and Ironwood for which youths from 17 to 25 years of age are eligible for enrollment. They live in comfortable dormitories and receive work experience in well-equipped shops.

The NYA officials requested city clerks and sheriffs to "speak to any boy who can qualify and encourage them to enroll for the training."

"Through funds appropriated by the United States Government, NYA is making every effort to aid the national defense program," they concluded.

Several Courses

The training includes operation of these machines: Lathe, shaper, drill press, punchpress, planer, surface grinder, milling machine. Oxygen, arc and oxy-acetylene welding also are taught. Students are instructed in sheet metal work with power and rotary shears, metal band saw, power press, heavy sheet metal cutter and hand tools. Spray gun painting and automobile bumping, manufacturing, assembling and testing radio sets and learning to operate a short wave transmitter also are among the courses offered.

Monthly earnings on the project take care of the student's board and room, medical and dental treatment and provide a little spending money in addition.

FINNS SHORT OF FUEL

HELSINKI, Feb. 5.—(P)—Helsinki is to have only one "hot water day" during February because of the fuel shortage. It will be Friday, the 13th. On all other days the use of fuel for heating water is forbidden.

Early Call Unlikely For February 16 Registrants

LANSING, Feb. 5.—(P)—Men who register for the draft February 16 probably will not be called into military service before May and possibly not before July, the state selective service headquarters reported today.

The headquarters declared men listed in two previous registrations will be called before the February 16 registrants. Order numbers for the new registrants will not be issued until early in March, it was pointed out, and then they must be classified by local draft boards. Only about 70 per cent of the eligible registrants now listed have been inducted to date, the service said.

Conditional Release Of Cars Ordered

Release of automobiles which were sold, but not delivered before January 1 when new car transfers were suspended has been authorized by Leon Henderson, administrator of the Office of Price Administration, it was reported in a memorandum received here by L. J. LeVasseur, county rationing administrator.

Positioning boards, however, will not be empowered to issue purchase certificates until after February 12, according to the order.

The memorandum applies only to cars which were purchased before the freezing order of January 1, and to a small group of buyers including the Army, Navy and other Federal agencies directly related to the fighting services, which may purchase new cars without certificates.

General Rationing

General rationing of new cars to eligible users obtaining purchase certificates from their local boards will not begin until February 26. It is expected that an amendment setting up eligibility classifications will be issued to local boards soon.

The program contemplates the release before the end of the year of all cars in dealers' hands excepting those manufactured during the latter part of January, and which are being held in reserve.

In order to obtain a new car, purchased but not delivered by January 1, the buyer must produce for his local board one of three types of evidence of purchase:

Here's How It's Done

A certificate of title or registration for the car, issued in his name before January 1, by the state authority having jurisdiction over automobile registrations; or

A sworn statement by the state agency that such an application was filed before January 1, or Satisfactory evidence of purchase—a cancelled check for $25 or more of the purchase price, the original bound or serially numbered receipt book used by the dealer showing an entry or credit for all or part of the purchase price, a certificate of title or registration showing a used car had been traded in, or the sworn statement of the automobile registration agency that application for the transfer of title has been made. Proof must also be submitted that the car involved actually was in the hands of the dealer or in transit before January 1.

Exceptions To Rule

The Army, Navy and Federal agencies need not apply for purchase certificates. Dealers also may transfer cars to manufacturers, distributors and other dealers without purchase certificates.

Meanwhile, the rationing board has been having difficulty with the definition of obsolete tires. Neither applicants for purchase certificates nor tire inspectors understand the designation, LeVasseur said. Certain sizes of tires are listed as obsolete, and not subject to rationing, although buyers must obtain

How to make Pillsbury's Crown-of-Cherries Dessert

Complete recipe:

1. Combine 2 tps. cornstarch and 2 Tbsp. sugar; add 1/2 c. cherry juice gradually; cook until thick and clear. Pour this glaze into a well-greased 8-in. layer pan. 2. Arrange 2 c. (No. 2) can of sliced cherries, well drained, on glaze to cover bottom of pan. 3. Sift and measure 1 1/4 c. Enriched Pillsbury's Best Flour. (Two B vitamins and iron have been added to Pillsbury's Best, with no change in flavor, color, or baking quality.) Add 2 1/4 tps. baking powder (or 1 1/4 tps. double-acting) and 1/2 tsp. salt; sift 3 times. (Note the creamy whiteness of Pillsbury's Best! Every hour during milling, tests are made to insure this uniform, inviting color!) 4. Cream 1/2 c. shortening; add 1 c. sugar gradually; beat until light. 5. Add 2 eggs, well beaten; mix well. 6. Add dry ingredients alternately with combined 1/2 c. milk and 1 tsp. vanilla; mix well after each addition; beat well at end. (That fluffiness is typical of batter made with Pillsbury's Best. This superb flour is BAKE-PROVED; actual baking tests are made 4 to 6 times daily during milling!) 7. Bake 1/2 batter in cherry-lined pan and other 1/2 in well-greased 8-in. layer pan in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 min. for plain layer, 45 min. for layer with cherries. 8. Spread cold layers with sweetened whipped cream, using cherry layer on top. When men folks (and women folks, too) bite into that fluff Pillsbury cake—they'll exclaim, "Why, it tastes even better than it looks!" So get Pillsbury's Best Flour today—and try this new dessert in your own kitchen!

Whooping, They Sent 'Bundles' To Congressmen

(By MANTHEI HOWE)

Remember the homely and inelegant old adage: "There is more than one way to skin a cat"? That applies to most situations. Sometimes, one can put over a project by bullying, ruthless methods, by plowing right through to the objective.

Now and then, as many women know, the quickest way to achieve the goal they may have in mind is to be all sweetness and light, graciousness, and charm itself.

But in instances of the individual and of the nation, laughter and hilarious bouncing ridicule may bring the speediest results.

The latest demonstration of this started in Spokane, Washington. The citizens there were completely disgusted when they learned about Congressmen voting pensions for themselves.

A Round Table was formed for the merry purpose of sending "Bundles to Congress." The idea went over with a whoop, and all up and down the west coast folk fell into line in the campaign to keep folk guffawing at the witless Congressmen.

One Spokane announcement noted ironically: "Congress needs help. They voted themselves a pension bill, but that ain't enough. Mail your old straw hats, rags, mothballs—anything that's light and cheap—to Congressmen and Senators today. "Don't worry about the war and taxes!"

"Get that pension and forget the Axis!"

"Bundles for Britain? No. Bundles for Hawaii? No. Bundles for Congressmen? Yes. "Save a Congressman at any price!"

Those who started the "Bundles for Congress" had no idea that it would sweep down the coast like a forest fire. They were indignant and disgusted at Congress's action on that pension business and wanted to make that indignation voluble, so they started the Bundles idea rolling, and how it rolled!

And the things that went into those bundles were something: Glass eyes, wooden legs, false teeth, rats' nests, moth-eaten cushions, moth balls, stage money. The more ridiculous the contribution, the more jubilant the donor and the bundle wrappers.

The women actually wrapped the bundles and arrangements were made to take a caravan of that junk to Washington. Indubitably a lot of effort had been expended that did nothing in the way of showing some concrete constructive result, but the intangible ones were many.

Those westerners whooped and guffawed with laughter that momentarily made them forget all about the tragedy of war. Up and down the coast folk telephoned, chucking over the ribbing the Congressmen were getting, one they felt the lads in Washington thoroughly deserved.

And that ribald and vociferous needling has its salutary effect as reminder to the men in Washington that the folk back home are keeping their eyes open and their ears to the ground. They are perfectly willing to cooperate in all expenditures which they are convinced are necessary to carrying on the war to the finish, but, by hee, they aren't going to countenance any fancy financial doodads that those with the power of Congress may feel like putting over.

Some of the Congressmen took the ribbing in good part, rather suspecting, maybe, that they had it coming to them. Some of the stuffed-shirts waxed indignant and felt that the western constituents had not conducted themselves with a proper appreciation of the respect due to the august body; failing to see that said constituents were plainly convinced that the gentlemen's conduct didn't deserve any respect. But the thing about the whole business that delighted and cheered me came in the realization that in no other place in the world could that ridiculous "Bundles for Congress" goofiness have been accepted and sent rocketing on its way. In other countries, people disliking what their law makers did, might boo and hoot the lads. They might have rained a shower of stones on the building, or formed lines of protesting marching and singing men and women; and—possibly paid for their temerity by being chucked into prison or fined.

Spirit of the West!

The only other place that such goofiness could have been approached would have been in England, but the Englishmen wouldn't have conducted themselves with quite such joyous and voluble abandon as the Americans did. Those goofy Americans cussed a bit, suddenly one of them had an idea. One can imagine how he slapped his knees and whooped when the idea dawned. He passed it along, and how those westerners, always relishing a joke, picked up the notion and embellished and supported it.

The folk on the whole western coast were quite well aware that they were figuratively thumbing the collective coastal nose at the Congressmen and a lot they cared about it!

Those Congressmen had been put

Mrs. F. B. Spear Gives Paper On 'South America'

At a meeting of the Marquette chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, held in the home of Mrs. C. E. Lytle, Tuesday, Mrs. F. B. Spear spoke on "South America," pointing out some of the geographic and political differences and similarities between the 21 republics that make up the greater part of the American continent.

"Among the geographic features which set off the American continent from the other continents of the world were its great length from north to south, a peculiarity which permits its territory to enjoy four of the five terrestrial zones; its magnificent rivers which, together with its lakes, give it the best inland water transportation system of the earth, and its rich natural resources, greater than those of any other continent," Mrs. Spear said. "A fact not often realized is that the east coast of North America is on a line with the west coast of South America."

"The outstanding geographic feature of the Americas is the tremendous cordillera which extends the entire length of the continent from the Antarctic through South and Central America and Mexico and joins with the Rocky Mountain system in the United States. The highest peak on the continent is Mt. Aconcagua, near the Argentine-Chilean frontier, which rises to a height of 23,994 feet. In the Andes there are several peaks 20,000 or more feet high, and Mt. Orizaba in Mexico rises to a height of 18,696 feet, and Mt. McKinley in Alaska to a height of 20,300."

Has Large Waterways

"Large coastal areas cover much of the territorial surface of the Americas and are drained by a large number of long and important rivers. The Amazon is the world's largest river system and is navigable for ocean-going vessels for a distance of 2,300 miles. The Americas also boast the largest system of lakes in the world."

"Since history has been defined as a systematic record of events in which man has taken part," said Mrs. Spear, "in considering the history of the Americas one first asks—how did man get to the continent?"

"The theory which has received the greatest acceptance is that the American Indian is of Asiatic origin, and that successive hordes migrated to America by way of Bering Strait. Then, having crossed the short gap separating the two continents, these nomadic Asiatics continued southward, until they finally covered the whole continent and the outlying islands. Thus by the time Columbus discovered America, the continent was well populated and at least three aboriginal groups (the Mayas, Aztecs and Incas) had reached a high stage of civilization. As soon as the continent was discovered by Europe colonization was started by Spain, Portugal, England and France. After three centuries of exploitation by the mother countries, colonists began to complain. When no relief was forthcoming, they resorted to arms, and in a series of movements, some long and bloody, others short and decisive, won their independence, and set up the nations that today make up the Pan American Union."

Quotes Gunther

John Gunther in his book, "Inside Latin America," says: "The first thing to say about Latin America is that no such thing as Latin America does exist as 20 independent and highly individual countries which differ from one another strikingly. It is true that all have the same racial, historical, and geographical background, and that all speak a brand of Spanish except Brazil, which speaks Portuguese, and Haiti, which speaks Creole and French. Yet the differences between the 20 states are profound."

"Take Uruguay and Paraguay, small countries within 100 miles of each other. The contrast between them is incredibly sharp. Uruguay is one of the most advanced countries in the world, and Paraguay is one of the most primitive. Uruguay is like Denmark before Hitler—with a highly developed social conscience, state control of industry, paternalistic co-operatives, and an almost too pure political democracy. But Paraguay is like—Paraguay. It resembles nothing except itself. It is the one country in Latin America where the Indian has, as it were, absorbed the Spanish instead of vice versa. It never had the advantage of Uruguay's enlightenment, but let no one say it is without its own peculiar charm."

A Trio of Contrasts

"On the northern edge of South America lie the three Bolivar countries—Venezuela, Colombia, and Ecuador. But though geography binds them close, they have differed radically since their deliverance from Spain. The story is that Venezuela became a barracks, Colombia a university, and Ecuador, a monastery. There are other differences too. In wealthy Venezuela, which lives on oil, the cost of living is about 250 per cent higher than in New York City. But Ecuador, close by, is one of the poorest countries in the world.

"Take Peru. It has its own special problems. One is transition from years of military dictatorship to a moderately liberal constitutional government; another is imperialism by outsiders. Peru is a classic example of the semi-colonial state. Oil is owned by Canada and the United States, minerals largely by the United States, and cotton partly by Japanese and Germans. The British control the railways, the Italians largely control banking, and Americans and Germans divide the sugar."

"Bollivia, next door, is a one-crop country—if you can call tin, on which Bolivia lives, a crop. Its population is perhaps 90 per cent Indian. But Chile, with which Bolivia has a common frontier, is pre-eminently white. Bolivia is ruled by the tin merchants and a military president. But in sharp contrast, Chile is the home of the only Popular Front government in the Americas."

Don Cossack Chorus Remains Unique Ensemble With Superb Tone And Exquisite Pianissimo

When one attempts to write a review of a concert by the Don Cossack chorus, he is somewhat in the predicament of the small boy who, standing in front of a dazzling array of candies, tries to select which of all he likes best.

The program, "a George Quaal presentation" given in the Ishpeming high school auditorium, was one that had something to please all musical tastes, but, more important, it was one on which the music expressed so eloquently the different facets of the Russian character.

The deeply religious feeling of the old Russia, with its appreciation of the dramatic and impressive in religious worship, was expressed in the five compositions of the first group.

In the second group one glimpsed the artistic side of Russia and the folk quality, and in the last group of five numbers there was the passionate, wild Russian nature coming to the surface in the Cossack and gypsy songs.

Was Enchanting Program

It would be impossible for this reviewer to tell which number she liked best, for no more does one begin to rationalize one choice than made up of some of those unbelievably high and clear Russian voices, quite unlike all other tenors, even the Italian which they most closely resemble.

Those who attended the concert will recall awaiting the effect of that baritone solo after the spectacular tenors, and then the saccato hearer felt as that baritone sang the soft and flowing pianissimo and then with equal ease and legato smoothness sang the round, flowing crescendo, with flawless evenness of tone.

That chorus is equal to the most astounding crashing crescendo and fortissimo effects, but even more astounding are the pianissimo passages, such as those in Dunayevsky's "Cradle Song," the finale in "Volga Boatmen Song" and the finale in Rachmaninoff's "We Sing to Thee," a pianissimo so delicate and sustained that one has the eerie feeling that it never will or can end; and then abruptly comes the startling silence. This reviewer has heard no chorus do anything more spectacular and exacting.

Uses Good Showmanship

In the program, Serge Jaroff introduced a variety of amusing and divertingly entertaining bits, the weary "oh's" in the comic song, "Parting" (wouldn't a Russian get something comic in a song with such a serious title), in the musical nonsense in the folk song, "Farewell to Civilian Life," and the novelty of the rhythmic accompaniment to the major melody in the Cossack

LaBieu-Cleary

Miss Corinne Cleary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cleary, 149 Rock street, was married to Lowell LaBieu, son of John LaBieu, of Sault Ste. Marie, on Tuesday morning in St. Peter's cathedral, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor H. A. Buchholz officiating.

The couple was attended by Miss Joyce and Fred Cleary, sister and brother of the bride.

The bride wore a blue wool suit and pink hat, and a corsage of Briarcliff roses. Her attendant chose a beige suit and brown hat, and a corsage of Tallman roses.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the Pine room of the Clifton hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. LaBieu left that afternoon for Detroit and after February 9 will live at 149 Rock street.

The bride is a graduate of the Baraga high school. The groom is in the employ of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic railway company.

Miss Joyce Cleary was hostess at the rehearsal dinner and prenuptial showers were given by Mrs. Melvin Thompson, the Misses Lillian and Lorraine LaFonde and Mrs. John Treado.

Although official figures for the 12-month period had not been released at this writing, the monthly average passenger volume indicated the airlines carried roughly one million more passengers in 1941 than in 1940.

13 Per Cent Increase In State Costs

By Donald W. Pollard
(In The Detroit News)

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 5.—State officials, pleased by a 20 per cent increase in revenue, have slurred over the fact, shown in the year-end report of Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, that state operating expenditures are 13 per cent higher than they were a year ago. Brown's report shows that state operating expenditures for the six months ending Dec. 31 were $62,691,307 compared with $55,883,520 for the same period a year ago. The 1941 total contained a $1,750,000 debt service item not included the previous year. The balance of the increase was spread through numerous state departments.

State revenues during the same period were $79,432,658, compared with $65,337,944 the previous year, an increase sufficient to make up for the increased spending and wipe out the state deficit.

Fiscal officers pointed out, however, that once a department has expanded its level of spending it is difficult to economize, and state revenues during the coming war years are expected to be considerably less than the 1941 "defense" year.

Kelly, Fry Costs Drop

Among the state constitutional officers, only Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly and State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry showed lesser expenditures for the period than for the corresponding period of the Luren D. Dickinson administration.

The costs of Kelly's office declined from $70,601 to $63,674 and those of Fry's office from $27,098 to $20,966.

Costs of the Governor's office jumped from $21,578 to $27,008; those of Brown's office rose from $228,368 to $239,033; expenditures of Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton increased from $100,221 to $104,826; and those of Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, advanced from $48,270 to $57,899.

Sales tax department expenditures were up from $514,506 to $616,693; those of the civil service department from $48,908 to $135,227; costs of the state police rose from $546,878 to $687,541, and those of the department of labor and industry, from $90,172 to $114,988.

More For Education

Liquor control commission costs were down from $188,252 to $186,872, and department of agriculture costs dropped from $355,093 to $345,476.

State education costs as a whole were up from $24,595,377 to $26,781,343, with all state colleges showing increased expenditures except the University of Michigan, which dropped from $2,237,499 to $2,000,868.

Public health costs were up from $1,738,869 to $1,995,471 with the state health department and various tuberculosis sanitariums all showing increased spending.

Principally because of the new state hospital building program, hospital costs were up from $3,088,955 to $3,964,371.

Welfare costs rose from $17,778,718 to $19,198,644. A decrease in direct relief costs from $4,095,189 to $2,419,756 was more than offset by an increase in old age assistance costs from $7,493,631 to $9,670,493 and in aid to dependent children costs from $4,657,710 to $5,249,431.

Police, defense and prison costs rose from $2,522,333 to $2,641,753 with each of the three state prisons showing substantial increases.

Conservation, recreation and agriculture costs were up only from

Traveling Grandmother, On Quest To Bring Children To Safety, Trapped in Manila

By Doudon Kelly

DENVER, Feb. 5.—(Wide World)—A 40-year-old Denver grandmother, slender and attractive, sailed out into the Pacific, bound for the China seas.

Her destination was Manila; her quest, to bring back her twin grandchildren, two years old and motherless, back to a safe haven in the United States.

On Dec. 5 Mrs. Cynthia A. Cox reached the Philippines. During the voyage her boat had been blacked out at night, although the United States was still uneasily at peace. A gay cable told her family here of the safe arrival.

Two days later Japanese bombers raked the islands, preliminary of the invasion to come. Presumably Mrs. Cox and her young charges have been stranded in Manila with other American civilians. Since then fragmentary cables have come from her, saying she was safe and urging the family not to worry.

Departure Often Delayed

Until then her life had been much like that of other American housewives except that she became a grandmother earlier than most. Born in Tennessee, Mrs. Cox was reared in the south and came here when she was 25. She saw her daughters married and one sail to the islands more than 8,000 miles away. Her own marriage ended in divorce.

Mrs. Cox's journey to Manila took only about a third as long as the preparations. It took three months to get a passport. Three times she booked passage aboard liners at San Francisco and once aboard a Clipper plane, but each time had to cancel because the passport hadn't come through.

Before she finally got it, she had to be vaccinated against smallpox and cholera. There was no cholera serum in Denver, so some had to be flown from New York.

Finally, on Nov. 1, Mrs. Cox said farewell to relatives and friends and boarded a train for San Francisco. She would leave Manila for home Dec. 15, she said. But that was before the curtain of war rolled down.

Whooping, They Sent 'Bundles' To Congressmen

in office by the vote of the people. They were supposed to attend to the business of the people, and when they began to do what the westerners thought was chiseling the whole gang up and down the coast burst forth with the warning hoot of the campaign "keep 'em laughing."

Hitler, if he hears of that bundles business, may be inclined to take heart, to believe that we are a nation of crack-pots. He's just stupid enough (and we hope he is) to overlook the fact that people who can needle those in power with raucous laughter, are dangerous and implacable enemies, the kind of people he will have a terrific time trying to beat.

Son Safe in Australia, Pittsburgh Family Told

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 5.—P—A telephone call from halfway around the world today informed a suburban Crafton family their U. S. Army pilot son is safe and well in Australia.

Last heard from through a Christmas note postmarked San Francisco, Richard Suehr, 24, Army flier, made the trans-Pacific call to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Suehr.

The aviator was not permitted to say where he was, when he arrived nor what, if any, action he has seen. He is a graduate of Marquette university and joined the Air Corps last March.
