

Commission Changes Hour Of Meetings

Two city commission meetings were held yesterday—one in the afternoon and one in the evening—but only the last one counted. Principal business at the night session was to change the hour of meetings to 5 p. m. Monday, for a period of four or five weeks, to enable commissioners, department heads and other officials to attend civilian defense meetings Monday and Wednesday nights.

It happened this way. Last Wednesday Mayor Biegler learned that the defense meetings would be held Monday and Wednesday nights and that several city officials participating in defense work would have to attend. All commissioners and officials were notified by the city clerk last Thursday that the meeting this week would be held at 5 p. m. Monday.

All commissioners and supervisors were on hand at the appointed hour—all except Commissioners Patrick and McGinley. The latter earlier said he could not attend. The former knew of a provision in the city charter which made it technically illegal for the mayor to move the meeting ahead to 5 p. m. Yesterday afternoon he informed the city attorney of this and asserted he would be unable to attend and that he would challenge the legality of any business undertaken.

When the city attorney explained this, everybody went home. Less Than Cordial. The evening session was something less than cordial. After approving the report of the Morrison Audit Company, the commissioners settled down to the business of changing the hour of meetings.

Mayor Biegler explained that last Wednesday it was determined civilian defense meetings would be held Monday and Wednesday nights. Knowing that a number of city officials desired to attend, he said he asked the city clerk to call the meeting for 5 p. m.

"Nobility has authority to move a meeting ahead," McGinley interjected. "Let's have things done open and above board."

"I will take the blame," the mayor replied. "I did not know of the charter provision that applied in this case. Everything was perfectly above board. Last Thursday I asked the clerk to notify each commissioner. The change was in the interests of the city's defense program, which should take precedence over other work."

City Criticized. Referring to the meeting of the county defense council last Saturday afternoon, the Mayor said: "If you had heard the bawling out, we got for our attitude toward civilian defense, you would be willing to meet at 4 o'clock in the morning. Marquette has been charged with lack of initiative. The commission should do everything it can to help in this work."

McGinley said he considered civilian defense "a poor excuse" for changing the meeting hour, adding that "there are six other nights in the week we could meet." "These are public meetings," he said, "and we should attempt to keep them public as far as possible."

"No petty partisan politics should enter into this discussion," the mayor answered. "If that isn't politics, I don't know what it is. After all, a permanent change is not proposed. We only want to meet in the afternoon for six weeks."

Explains Position. Patrick, who said he has completed his civilian defense first aid course, said it didn't make any difference to him when the commission met, but in the vote on the motion he sided with McGinley in voting no. Following the meeting he said it was his understanding that the afternoon session was to be "special" and that he did not learn until the last minute that it was called as a regular meeting.

"When I learned this," he said, "I pointed out that any business undertaken would be illegal." Questioned as to why he voted against the motion to hold afternoon meetings for six weeks, he asserted that he opposed it because he would be better able to attend if "the meetings were held some other night." He said he did not agree with McGinley's contention that the public would be denied an opportunity to attend if they were held at 5 p. m.

Coast Guard Seeks To Avoid Rush for Cards.

In order to facilitate prompt service to men who are getting ready for the opening of commercial navigation on the Great Lakes, persons not employed by shipping or dock companies are urged to wait until the end of April before applying to the Coast Guard for identification cards.

Issuance of the cards to those operating or working on boats or docks is now required by the Federal government as an anti-sabotage measure.

Pleasure boat owners in particular are requested to wait until May before applying for cards.

Pull the Trigger on Constipation, with Ease for Stomach, too

When constipation brings on discomfort after meals, stomach upset, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, and bad breath, your stomach is probably "crying the blues" because your bowels don't move. It calls for Laxative-Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels, combined with Syrup Pepsin for perfect ease to your stomach in taking. For years, many Doctors have given Laxative-Senna in their prescriptions to make medicine more agreeable to a touchy stomach. So be sure your laxative contains Syrup Pepsin. Insist on Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin. See how wonderfully the Laxative Senna works up laxative and muscles in your intestines to bring welcome relief from constipation. And the good old Syrup Pepsin makes this laxative so comfortable and easy on your stomach. Even finicky children love the taste of this pleasant family laxative. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin, as directed on label or as your doctor advises, and feel world's better. Get genuine Dr. Caldwell's.

Imbedded Danger

Russian army medical officers said this unexploded projectile lodged in the arm and shoulder of Nikolai Bystrikov, a Soviet soldier, after being fired from a German mortar. Though in danger of exploding at any moment, the projectile was removed by delicate surgery. Last reports said Bystrikov was recovering. This picture was sent by radio from Moscow to New York. Facts About American Navy

Women in the Navy

The hand that rocks the cradle also does its bit for the Navy. In the Navy Department buildings in Washington there are working, at the present time, nearly 9,000 women. They serve in a greater variety of positions than the Navy has ever before opened to its female employees. It is a new Navy policy to employ a woman for any job for which she is fitted, with masculine priority tossed to the winds.

All of them are U. S. citizens and with few exceptions have Civil Service ratings, because the commission, with its examinations and interviews and form sheets, is the only royal road to employment in the Navy Department.

Most of Them Clerks

Ninety per cent of the women employed by the Navy Department serve in clerical capacities, a proportion which probably matches fairly closely with women employed everywhere throughout the U. S. They are typists and clerks, stenographers and secretaries and the salaries of this 90 per cent range from about $1,080 for messengers to $2,600 for secretaries.

Another five per cent serve under the Civil Service classification of junior and senior administrative assistants. These are mostly chiefs of sections and their seconds in command. Frequently they have risen from the 90 per cent group, for the Navy Department likes to keep its women employees, advancing them through long tenures of duty. They seem to acquire by contagion the officers' loyalty to the service. These junior and senior administrators range in salary from $2,600 to $3,800.

The other five per cent of the women working for the Navy Department come in the professional and sub-professional group. They are the women chemists, mathematicians, physicists and metallurgists of the Navy Department. A few of them are engineers and the Navy, incidentally, could use more of these, if they are qualified. Others are architects and draftsmen, research analysts cartographers, librarians and teachers.

Three Join Army — Two Marquette county residents and one man from Manistique, who enlisted in the U. S. Army at the Marquette recruiting station, left last night for Wausau, Wis., where they will be assigned to a reception center. They are: Henry W. Nelson, 502 Summit avenue, Marquette; Olavi Holmi, 115 Peck street, Negaunee; and Alexander G. Wood, Manistique.

Nurses Really "In" Navy The Navy nurse corps is another story, for here the women are actually "in" the Navy, serving in a Navy status. When on duty aboard a hospital ship, of which the U. S. S. relief is the biggest, they are saluted by and salute the officers and enjoy their privileges. They are appointed not by the Civil Service commission, but by the chief of the Navy's bureau of medicine and surgery in accordance with their credentials and qualifications.

During the last war the Navy hired women clerks with the rating of "Yeomanette" and there are still a few of them in the service. Should women be given ratings during the present emergency they will be rated as "Anchorettes." Except for nurses, all women are stationed on shore.

Percy Kimball Lost When Tanker Sinks

Percy Kimball, former Marquette resident, lost his life when a tanker on which he was employed as a member of the crew was sunk in the Atlantic ocean, presumably by a torpedo fired from an enemy submarine, according to word received here yesterday.

The tanker, whose name was not disclosed, was engaged in coastwise trade. Mr. Kimball's death was reported in a telegram from Miss Una Kimball, sister of the deceased, who resides in Port Huron, Mich.

Mr. Kimball was the son of the late Charles P. Kimball, lighthouse keeper here for approximately 25 years. He had served at sea for many years and formerly was employed by the Dollar Steamship company. He held papers as a ship's officer.

Besides his sister, Una, he also leaves a sister, Corrine, also of Port Huron. The body is being shipped to Port Huron for interment.

Brown Sees Deficit In General Fund

LANSING, March 16—P—Michigan's general fund will show a deficit of $409,419 at the end of the current fiscal year, Auditor General Vernon J. Brown reported today.

Brown said he includes in that estimate a saving of $1,178,325 in legislative appropriations, and pointed out that greater economies were possible.

Special defense and supplemental appropriations voted by the first and second extra sessions of the legislature this year resulted in the expected deficit, Brown said.

He said he estimated revenues at $112,000,000 for the year, $12,000,000 higher than the legislature originally had estimated and $1,297,650 higher than the budget department's latest revised estimate.

Recently Budget Director Leo J. Nowicki estimated the current biennium, ending June 30, 1943, would show a balance of more than $1,000,000.

Army Board Examinations Begin Today

Examinations of hundreds of Upper Peninsula selective service registrants will be started in St. Luke's hospital today and will continue through Saturday. They will be conducted by officers of the Army Medical Examining Board, who visit the city once a month. Marquette is the examination center for the Peninsula.

Under the new plan, men who pass the examination here are inducted immediately into Army service and will be sent to Fort Sheridan, Ill., where they will be "processed" and supplied with uniforms and other equipment.

Under the old plan, they were placed in Class 1-A and returned to their homes to be called within 90 days. In only cases of extreme necessity, the draft board emphasized yesterday, will a 1-A registrant be given permission under the new plan to return home to straighten out his personal affairs before starting his period of military service.

Capt. Kiblinger in Command

Each man has been instructed to come to Marquette prepared for a two or three-day stay before being sent to Fort Sheridan. Men who do not pass the examination will return to their homes.

A large group of Marquette county men will be examined Friday. Delta county's contingent will leave Escanaba today and probably will be examined here tomorrow and Thursday.

Capt. L. B. Kiblinger is commanding officer of the medical board, which is headquartered at Kalamazoo. Capt. S. A. Moore is executive officer, and Capt. C. J. Sprunk is chief medical officer. The board consists of 14 officers and 35 enlisted men.

X-Rays Show Mukkala's Skull Not Fractured

X-rays taken yesterday revealed that Ben Mukkala, night captain on the Marquette police force, did not suffer a fractured skull Saturday night when he was thrown from a car he was attempting to stop on Washington street.

The officer received concussion of the brain and a deep scalp laceration when the runaway car crashed into a parked car at the intersection of Third and Washington streets. He was lying across the hood of the car at the time of the crash.

Robert Hood, 18, of Gwinn, driver of the car Mukkala tried to stop for making a U-turn in front of the Deft theater, still is being held for investigation. Albert Hood, 21, of Marquette, and Jerry Westman, Jr., 20, of Forsyth, passengers, were released yesterday.

First balloons were inflated with hot air, obtained by burning damp straw and wool.

Gogebic Unable To Find Rooms for Insane Persons

LANSING, March 16—P—Six insane residents of Gogebic county have presented that county's officials with a real problem—where to commit them pending opening of space in a state hospital.

Probate Judge Michael E. Nolan, of Bessemer, wrote Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton for advice, reporting he has committed the patients to the Newberry state hospital, but that the hospital has no room for them and the county has no facilities for their care.

Rushton sent this reply today: "It is the duty of the various counties to provide a suitable place or places to care for persons adjudged insane, feeble-minded, epileptic or mentally diseased until such persons have been permanently committed."

Parachute Troops Get $50 a Month Extra Pay

Young men of adventure are being signed for the parachute battalion, according to Major B. Whitlow, district recruiting officer.

"This type of service," he said, "calls for alert, active men with a dash of adventure in their make-up." Eligible for the parachute troop are men, 18 to 30, in good physical condition with nearly perfect eyesight. They may not weigh more than 185 pounds.

Army regulations provide they must be "alert, active, supple, with firm muscles and sound limbs, capable of developing into individual fighters with great endurance." The parachute troop is among the most highly trained soldiers in the U. S. Army, proficient in the use of nearly all types of light weapon, and capable of meeting any emergency. After completing an intensive training course the men are permitted to wear the silver parachute insignia, which means $50 a month additional pay.

Reconditioning and remodeling of existing dwellings in defense areas is being urged as a means of utilizing all possible housing. Expert technical service has been made available without charge, by the Home Owners Loan corporation. The program embraces repair of approximately 550,000 homes.

State Game Men Study Effects of March Storm

LANSING, March 16—Lonely snowshoe trails criss-crossing conifer swamps in all parts of northern Michigan are taking the state's game area managers on a thorough search and survey of the effects of the critical storm of March 9.

Up to the time of the storm, Michigan's deer herd seemed to have a good chance of coming through the winter in better condition generally than in several years, according to I. H. Bartlett, conservation department deer specialist. Snow conditions had allowed deer unusual freedom and access to upland food supplies. Swift and severe drops in tem-

61 Draftees Go to Army Post Tonight

Twenty-one residents of Marquette are among the March contingent of 61 young men from this county who will leave at 6:10 this evening for Fort Sheridan, Ill., to be inducted into the United States Army.

The group leaving the county tonight will be the last to be sent to Fort Sheridan before being inducted into the Army. Under the new plan, men will be inducted in Marquette as soon as they are passed by the Army Medical Examining Board.

Many gifts will be given to men who entrain at the South Shore station in Marquette, and a large crowd of friends, relatives and well-wishers is expected to be at the station to bid them goodbye.

Twenty-seven men will report at the Marquette station at 5:45; 19 will report at Ishpeming at 6:10; 12 at Negaunee at 6:30, and three selectees will board the train at Little Lake at 7:10.

perature together with rain or snow will create a critical situation for wildlife, particularly for deer that have had insufficient or poor food, Barlette says. In problem areas where deer mortality has occurred in the past or has been expected, the light losses anticipated a few weeks ago may be increased by the storm.

'Forgets' Ticket, Nabbed By Police Two Months Later

Proof that it doesn't pay to disregard a police summons, even for a minor traffic violation, is the case of John Bradley, truck driver, who ignored a state police order to answer a charge of driving without a chauffeur's license.

Bradley was stopped by state police on January 17 as he was driving on US-41, Marquette township. When he failed to appear in Marquette municipal court, state police issued a warrant for his arrest and kept their collective eye out for him.

Located near Newberry he was brought to Marquette Sunday and was arraigned in municipal court yesterday, after spending the night in the county jail. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $3 and costs of $5.45.

Waino Keskey, of Negaunee, an old offender, was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail after he pleaded guilty to a charge of being intoxicated on Front street.

Fire Fighters Face Big Job, Need Volunteers

To show prospective volunteer "forest fire cooperators" how they will fit into the conservation department's forest fire fighting force, a field administration official has figured out:

That each of the department's 134 towermen will be keeping watch this summer over more than 200 square miles of forest land.

Scores of alert cottagers will be needed to watch for fires; That each of the department's 110 fire wardens (not counting 24 heavy equipment operators) must do fire prevention work and fight fires over 250 square miles of territory, in which there is plenty of room for volunteer assistants to aid in the fire defense of their vacation spots;

That in a forest area as large as Wayne county, regular funds permit employment of three towermen and possibly three fire wardens, with about 30 "keymen" on call but unpaid except for the time actually spent fighting fires.

Volunteer "forest fire cooperators" will be enrolled from among vacationers, part-time and permanent residents of the north country, where the conservation department's forest fire protection system covers 27,300 square miles, nearly half the state's entire area.

ISHPEMING AND MARQUETTE

Registrars Named For Sugar Plan

The rationing board and Stanley R. Williams, Marquette county school commissioner, who is in charge of the distribution of sugar rationing stamps, are awaiting the "go" signal from state headquarters to put the sugar rationing program in effect in this county.

As soon as definite word comes from downstate about the start of the rationing plan, residents of the county will be instructed when and where to get sugar stamps. They will be distributed to families—one for each member. Each booklet contains 28 stamps.

Williams yesterday announced the appointment of registrars in each school in the county, where the number of booklets to be distributed at each school has been determined, and everything is in readiness for the start of the program.

Superintendents Are Registrars
W. M. Whitman, Marquette school superintendent, is chief registrar for the city of Marquette. Registrars in other Marquette schools will receive supplies from him, and residents may procure them at a time to be designated later by reporting to the elementary school closest to their homes.

The same policy will be followed in Ishpeming and Negaunee and throughout the townships. C. L. Phelps, Ishpeming superintendent, and H. S. Doolittle, Negaunee superintendent, also will serve as chief registrars in their districts.

Seventeen thousand booklets will be distributed in Marquette, 10,000 in Ishpeming and 7,000 in Negaunee. Throughout the county, 52,950 books of stamps will be distributed.

County Registrar Roster
The chief registrar in each township school and the number of booklets to be given follow:

- Champion—E. W. Carlson, 1,100.
- Chocoma—Mrs. Marian Batchelder, Harvey, 500; Mrs. Emma Olson, Beaver Grove, 500; Mrs. Lucile Keast, Mangum, 300.

Screwy News

By Gladwin Hill

HOLLYWOOD, March 16—(Wide World)—This may annoy you for a minute, but bear with it. . . That man is here again. . . The little man you pick up as you're driving along a highway in your car. In the course of the conversation, he lets fall that he is the seventh son of a seventh son, or otherwise gifted with psychic power. He volunteers a few prophecies, just off the cuff.

Hitler, he predicts, is going to be defeated in July. And, he foresees incredibly enough, you're soon going to have a dead man in your car.

You get to the little man's destination and you let him out. You have hardly gone a mile when you run into an auto accident. They put one of the victims in your car, to rush to a hospital. En route, he dies. Remember the little man's prediction? What about Hitler next July?

Don't You Believe It
That hasn't happened to you, but you heard of somebody it happened to recently, didn't you? People all over the country have heard this story in the last few months.

The only trouble is it's bunk. Baloney. It never, never happened. But wait before you get your blood pressure up. You KNOW somebody it happened to, don't you? At least you heard of somebody it did. You got the story first-hand from somebody who knew this person.

That's the way it always is. Always second-hand. You never learn the name of the actual person who picked up the little man, or just where, or when. The story has been seriously reported in recent weeks from Philadelphia, Kansas, the west coast—always without the specific details. It's going the rounds of Hollywood now. Your favorite movie stars are telling it to each other, in awed voices, at their parties.

Probably Told by Greeks
But it never happened. It's just a tale so intriguing, especially at present to people who are hoping Hitler will get his. It has been going the rounds, in various forms to suit the times for years.

for distribution to other counties in the Upper Peninsula.

generations, centuries. It's folk lore, ranking with the plots of the Arabian Nights and Bocaccio. It probably was taken from the Greeks, by force.

Every few years the yarn gets going again in a new version. Psychologists attribute the present run to general war excitement, which has started a lot of cock-and-bull stories circulating as truth, like the Joe Miller—vintage gag about the woman air raid warden selling "two airplanes and a submarine overhead!" That has been reported from half a dozen places.

The little-man story isn't new, either. It probably goes back as far as the human race—as far back as there were people to wishful-think.

Continue School Work, MSC Students Told

EAST LANSING, March 16—P—Students attending a special convocation at Michigan State college were asked by President John A. Hannah to dedicate themselves to the war effort today.

Students should continue in college, attend summer schools, take maximum number of courses, do their best work and finish their education quickly, he said.

"The greatest contribution we can make as individuals to ourselves, to our families and to our country," Hannah asserted, "is to proceed with our college training effectively and at an accelerated rate, fitting ourselves for efficient service in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps, if that is necessary, or for useful work as engineers, or veterinarians, or farmers or scientists, or home economists, to serve in war or in peace."

Orchids Take Back Seat At Flower Show

By Amy Porter

NEW YORK, March 16—P—If you were stranded on an island in the Pacific, which would you rather have, a bunch of carrots or a bunch of orchids?

Even if you don't like carrots the answer is obvious—and the same sentiment is in evidence at the 29th international flower show, opening in New York today.

In most of the displays, lowly vegetables and flowers occupy first place, while luxury hot-house flowers take a back seat.

Estate gardeners who used to import tulip bulbs from Holland and orchid plants from Java make the most of petunias (now called "glamour blossoms"), bachelor buttons, carrots, marigolds, radishes, candy tuft, peas, portulaca, beans, phlox, tomatoes and nasturtium.

Veteran gardeners—commercial growers and garden club ladies—wandering among the sweet-smelling displays at Grand Central Palace, remarked, "It's like pre-war days."

They meant pre-World War I. For it seems the old-fashioned vegetable-and-flower gardens went out of style in the 1920's giving place to imported plants and delicately-bred hybrids. Even the famous "American beauty" rose was an artificially-bred product of the jazz age.

Most discussed new flower was the "Mrs. Douglas MacArthur sweetpea," originated by David

Britain Uses Women For Ferry Pilots

By Russell Landstrom

LONDON, March 16—(Wide World)—In this war-scarred land where aviation summons to various capable and resourceful women, many a girl envies the efficient and forthright ferry pilots.

The air transport auxiliary is a service wherein women can get wings—gold ones on dark blue uniforms designed after the manner of RAF livery.

The ferry pilots fly all types of planes from the trainer to the Wellington two-engine bomber, taking them from factories to RAF stations.

To qualify, a girl must have 50 hours of solo flying to her credit. Until recently more experienced pilots were used, but with the broadening of the girls' potential service to the nation, the way was opened for those with little real training to become ferry pilots.

Learn Rapidly

"The new idea is to take younger girls and train them for ferry piloting," says a representative of the ministry of aircraft production. "It is working out most satisfactorily."

"The eligibles learn rapidly, have fine enthusiasm and are not afraid of difficult jobs. Many of them will be able to take their place later alongside older pilots flying Wellingtons, which is a pretty big handful for any women."

Members range from about 20 to early middle age. Older women are employed mostly in ground work, maintenance and air tending.

Discipline and regulations are informal and largely self-imposed. Authorities say the result is exemplary.

It is especially true of fliers that they want to get all the planes possible delivered speedily, and let nothing interfere with that goal. Submit to Strict Schedules.

Thus they frequently go long stretches without leave and submit good humoredly to strict schedules unrelieved by amusement except such as can be snatched among themselves in occasional time margins.

ATA girls are quartered near their stations, usually converting a Burpee. It is more vigorous, longer-stemmed and richer in color than ordinary sweetpeas. Mrs. George C. Marshall, wife of the U. S. Army chief of staff, visited the flower show and accepted a bouquet of these in the name of Mrs. MacArthur.

big house into billets and turning farm sheds into hangars. Girls are taking a progressively active part in operational duties, relieving additional men for more urgent work. Those of the air transport service are assigned to anti-aircraft batteries.

Every recruit now is given a test to determine her suitability as a gunnery girl. The test is simple and aimed at finding girls with sharp sight and wits. Girls are asked to go through a complicated mechanical operation such as finding out what is wrong with a model machine.

Taking Over Gun Sites
Through Britain, gun sites are being taken over by mixed personnel. It was announced that in the future only the most strategic batteries would be operated exclusively by men.

As in other women's services, the main purpose of educational facilities offered the gun-girls is to head them in the proper post-war direction.

It perhaps is an anomaly that some of these girls are hearing lectures on home life and domestic economy. But that is the part of the plan.

Embattled Britain, which is changing in spite of itself with more than a few signals of future communal ways, still has what many consider old-fashioned ideas about home and family life.

Ice Crusher Starts Work In St. Marys

In an effort to clear upper lake channels of ice for early movement of war vital iron ore, the state highway department yesterday ordered its leased ice crusher, the Sainte Marie, to begin bucking ice floes in the St. Marys river Wednesday.

Sending the big craft out 10 days earlier than usual, the department said the vessel would attempt to open the St. Marys river first, then would extend its operations to various northern lake ports.

It will operate under the supervision of the Navy and Coast Guard. The Chief Wawatam will succeed the Sainte Marie as ferry across the Straits of Mackinac and will operate on the following schedule:

Leave St. Ignace at 5:30 a. m., 8:30 a. m., 12 noon, 3 p. m. and 7 p. m.
Leave Mackinaw City at 7 a. m., 10 a. m., 1:30 p. m., 4:30 p. m., and 8:30 p. m.

University Offers New Degree in Business

ANN ARBOR, March 16—Admission requirements for a new undergraduate degree in business administration are announced by the board of regents of the University of Michigan. The undergraduate program, which will include two years of literary college training followed by two years in the School of Business Administration, makes provision especially for students desiring to terminate their training for business and secure a degree before becoming liable for military service or for those who wish to become immediately useful in vital civilian occupations.

Previously, the University has granted only graduate degrees in business administration. Under the new plan, students may enroll in the School of Business Administration after the satisfactory completion of four terms of general college work. The new degree, Bachelor of Business Administration, will be granted at the end of a four term program in the school. The Master of Business Administration degree will be granted after six terms of work in the school.

Bank Debits Show Gain Of 31 Per Cent

Business activity, as reflected by bank debits, increased 31 per cent here in February, compared to the same month a year ago, Federal Reserve reports indicating the largest dollar volume for any February in recent years.

Marquette led all other cities in the Peninsula, its debits aggregating $3,951,000, compared to $3,029,000 in February, 1941. Escanaba was in second place with debits of $3,820,000, representing an increase of 24 per cent, and Sault Ste. Marie showed an increase of 25 per cent and debits of $3,106,000, the third largest.

Two-Month Gain
This city's gain for the first two months of 1942 was 19 per cent above the 1941 January-February figure, and the average gain for the Peninsula was 18 per cent. In February Marquette not only had the largest dollar volume but the largest percentage of increase.

As bank debit figures represent, for the most part, the dollar total of checks drawn by depositors against their bank accounts in payment for goods, services, debts and the like, they are considered a good indicator of general business activity.

Bank debit figures reported from cities throughout Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota and parts of Wisconsin and Michigan showed a year-to-year February gain of 26 per cent, while accumulated totals for the first two months of 1942 show an average gain of 28 per cent over comparable 1941 figures.
