

53 Wardens To Receive Certificates

Fifty-three men from communities in all parts of the Upper Peninsula tonight will receive certificates signifying they have successfully completed the course given this week at the U. P. air raid warden school and are qualified to return to their home towns to conduct similar schools.

The school system is sponsored by the Department of Michigan, American Legion, and the Michigan Council of Defense and is intended to train wardens in every community in the state. The state school was held in East Lansing last week; seven district schools were held this week and men trained at the latter will conduct community schools next week.

Every effort has been made to give the men a thorough understanding of the requirements of an air raid warden in case of attack.

Preparation Important

It is the consensus of national defense officials throughout the United States that adequate home defense preparation is of utmost importance. It was shown in England and Russia that the value of enemy attacks was practically nil from the standpoint of actual damage and disruption of civilian morale, when the civilian population was prepared to meet it.

Certificates will be given the men at the college tonight by Charles H. Rogers, American Legion Twelfth district committeeman and administrator of the Marquette district school, who will make a brief address on behalf of the Legion. Robert A. Gilmour, of Negaunee, director of the school, also will speak.

Dr. N. J. McCann, of Ishpeming, will address the class in one of the closing sessions at the college today. He will explain how medical men of the county and all the personnel, equipment and facilities at their command are prepared to meet the enemy.

First Aid Demonstrations

First aid demonstrations were given by Miss Eliza L. Morse, Mrs. N. J. McCann and Mrs. Chester A. Arps at the Palestra Wednesday night. Each of the three leaders had charge of a group of nurses from St. Luke's hospital, who participated in the demonstrations. The men were shown how to apply bandages for all types of injuries.

The first aid program last night consisted of demonstrations in artificial respiration, use of tourniquets, how to stop bleeding, and the use of splints in case of fractures.

Speakers yesterday were Ralph Sheehan, of the Michigan state police, and R. W. Bystrom, Marquette fire chief. Sheehan spoke on sabotage and espionage and Bystrom lectured and demonstrated the use of several different types of fire extinguishers.

The graduation ceremony at the college tonight will conclude the school.

California's tuberculosis death rate decreased from 65.1 per 100,000 of the population in 1938, to 62.6 in 1939.

'Feast Or Famine' In This Business, Busy Firemen Say

"It's either a feast or a famine in this business," Marquette firemen philosophized yesterday.

The remark was inspired by the fact that at present the fire fighters are having a "feast." There have been more fire alarms in the last two days than you could shake a stick at, if that's your idea of fun.

Besides the usual run of grass fires, common at this time of the year, two boxcars loaded with charcoal at the Cliffs Dow chemical plant caught fire from spontaneous combustion Wednesday night and yesterday an overheated lathe caused a pile of shavings to burn at the handle factory of the Munising Wood Products company.

Chief's A Teacher, Too!

Grass fires occurred at the Honolulu farms on Sands road at 5:30 Wednesday afternoon, at the George Nelson estate, 414 North Front street, at 10:45 yesterday morning and at Norwood and Wright streets at 10:54 yesterday morning.

The alarm at Cliffs Dow was turned in at 10:10 p. m. Wednesday, and the handle factory at the West end of College avenue was the scene of a shavings fire at 5:20 yesterday morning. The company's fire extinguisher was used to good advantage.

And on top of all this, Fire Chief R. W. Bystrom was kept busy giving demonstrations in fire fighting at the Upper Peninsula air raid warden school at the Palestra. All of which makes it a case of actually defending the home front while preparing for home defense.

Chief Bystrom showed the wardens how to combat incendiary bombs Tuesday, and his job yesterday was to show them how to operate various kinds of fire extinguishers.

Funeral Rites Today For Old Resident

Funeral services for Miss Susan Brotherton, 78, who died Wednesday in St. Luke's hospital, will be held in the Oates funeral home this afternoon at 2:30. The Rev. Herbert J. Bryce, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will officiate and interment will be made in Park cemetery. Pall bearers will be R. T. Young, H. A. Clark, E. S. Bice, G. R. Everett, A. J. Wartime Vote Decline Noted in Illinois Primary

CHICAGO, April 16.—(AP)—Republican gains and a decline in public participation in wartime politics shared interest tonight in the wake of the Illinois primary election.

Projection of unofficial returns from yesterday's vote—the first major state-wide test of 1942 and the first since Pearl Harbor—indicated a total of approximately 1,850,000. That would be the lowest in 12 years in Illinois and would seem to demonstrate that citizens preoccupied by the war and production in factories and on farms don't go to the polls in normal numbers.

A similar projection placed the Democratic total in the senatorial contest at 913,360 or about 52 per cent of the total in that race compared with 1,307,267 or 55 per cent in 1940. By the same method the Republican total in the senatorial contest was figured at 856,971 or about 48 per cent of the total compared with 1,038,172 or 45 per cent in 1940.

Burma has a population of 16,698,500 and an area of approximately 270,000 square miles.

M'Clintock On U-Boat Raid In Jap Waters

(Editor's Note—The following article from a Honolulu, Hawaii, newspaper, in which American submarine activity in Far East Pacific waters is described vividly, was received by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne B. McClintock, 1623 North Front street, from their son, Lieut. David McClintock, USN, who was on duty in one of the subs mentioned in the article.)

They came back to their base—grinning triumphantly. Most of them hadn't seen the light of day for months. They had carried the war right to the enemy's front doorstep, torpedoed his ships, sometimes almost in view of lookouts at his principal home ports and had sustained the worst depth charge attacks he could launch. They were the submariners of the Pacific fleet. When the war extended to the United States, they knew their job would be tough. "They Like It" Today they know this even more emphatically. But they like it. Their stories, released at fleet headquarters, reveal for the first time a type of heroism that gets scant publicity, because submarine operations necessarily are secret. Take the case of one submarine which cruised for a long period of time to reach, patrol and return from her objective far from home. Many of her dangerous days were spent submerged. Of the crew, few glimpsed the sun from the time she first submerged outside her base area until she last surfaced weeks later for entry into safe harbor. They saw the moon and stars, but that was all. Yet their health was termed "excellent" by their youthful commanding officer. Made Crash Dive They devoured two meals a day; a new washing machine laundered their clothes in freshly distilled water and when barrages of Japanese depth charges thundered at them they performed their duties calmly. Long days after leaving sanctuary, this American submarine entered enemy home waters — and promptly sighted a hostile destroyer. It was a bright moonlit night. Apparently the Japanese craft clean. Light bulbs were shattered. Drawers in officers' rooms tumbled to the deck. But the American boat survived. Later, still patrolling tenaciously across the sea-lane, she struck. Two minor targets had been disdained as too meager to risk an attack that might bring disclosure of her whereabouts. Then, one blustery day, she sighted a freighter of the London Maru class—7,200 tons of valuable ship and cargo. Two direct hits sent the enemy to the bottom in 15 minutes. And another American sub accounted for a 17,000-ton vessel.

RAID HIGHLIGHTS
American submarines, in a raid to Japan's front doorstep, sank 44,200 tons of enemy shipping. One sub sank a 5,000-ton freighter during a gale, eluded destroyers and sank two more ships and sent its last torpedo at an enemy warship. This U. S. craft alone accounted for 15,000 tons of shipping. A 17,000-ton liner of the Yawata Maru 17,000-ton class, having emerged from an undisclosed port, disappeared after a U. S. sub, which had dodged enemy patrol plane for 48 hours, fired two torpedoes at its amidships. Another U. S. sub, having survived terrific attacks from depth charges, sank an enemy freighter of the London Maru 7,200-ton class with two direct hits. And finally, another U. S. sub furnished its country with a Christmas present in the form of a 5,000-ton enemy merchantman. spotted the sub first, silhouetted against the dark sky, for her funnels belched black smoke as she dove in for the attack from 5,000 yards. The submarine made a crash dive. In several terrific attacks, the enemy destroyer dropped dozens of depth charges. Inside the silent sub, the crew waited tensely. And Another—! Petitions For Citizenship Filed by 45

Forty-five residents of Marquette county have qualified to appear before Judge Frank A. Bell in the circuit court room June 16 for their final United States citizenship hearings. R. W. Gearing, officer of the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, Sault Ste. Marie, said here yesterday.

It has not been determined, however, how many will be eligible to become citizens at that time. From among the list of 45 petitioners, those who are aliens of countries now at war with the United States will not be permitted to become citizens.

"The list must be checked carefully," Gearing said, "and a definite announcement of the number who will be fully eligible to obtain their final citizenship papers will be made later."

Prof. Copper Writes Prayer Published in Church Book

More than a million readers, including thousands of Uncle Sam's boys in the armed service, will draw spiritual inspiration Monday, April 20, from a devotional message written by Professor F. R. Copper, of the Northern Michigan College of Education, for "The Upper Room," a book of daily devotions published at Nashville, Tenn., by the Commission on Evangelism of the Methodist church, and edited by the Rev. Dr. Grover C. Emmons, of Nashville.

Professor Copper's meditation for the twentieth day of April is based on Psalm 133, "And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper."

"The Upper Room" is read not only in American homes but thousands of copies go to corrective and benevolent institutions. Soldiers and sailors in camps and Navy yards receive individual copies in red, white, and blue envelopes. In addition, "The Upper Room" is read by many nationals and is printed in Spanish, Korean, Portuguese and Hindustani; and there is a special issue available in Braille, for the blind.

Issued Quarterly

The five by seven-inch booklet is issued quarterly. Each circulation issue exceeds one million copies. Distributing centers are maintained at Nashville, Tenn.; Mexico City, Mex.; Lucknow, India; Seoul, Korea; Buenos Aires, Argentina; Habana, Cuba; Sao Paulo, Brazil; Colatepeque, El Salvador; Medellin, Colombia; Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico; Santiago de Chile; Cape Town, South Africa, and Glasgow, Scotland.

The devotional reading for each day covers one page and consists of a verse of Scripture, a brief comment, a sentence prayer and a "thought for the day," all based on the Scriptural passage.

Professor Copper's prayer for April 20 is: "O Lord, may our lives, like the tree, bring forth abundant fruit for Thee in due season. May our roots be love, faith, justice, and good will to all mankind. May our leaves be acts of kindness. We ask all these things in the name of the Master. Amen."

"Adversity is not without comfort and hopes"

—SIR FRANCIS BACON

These are days of hard work . . . suspense . . . concern . . . sacrifice. Yet, in these times of adversity, there are still some pleasures that bring daily comfort and strengthen morale. One of the greatest of these is to drink a steaming, fragrant cup of coffee and say, "Now that's what I call good coffee!"

"Coffee-drinking is an American tradition to be kept secure. There is nothing we know of or can imagine that could cause us to forsake the tradition we have maintained for 64 years of roasting and packing the finest coffees obtainable." Hills Bros. Coffee, Inc., San Francisco, Calif. Plants at San Francisco and Edgewater, N. J.

TO QUICKEN FLOW OF LIVER BILE

Do This Every Morning for 30 Days To normal your liver should discharge about a full quart of digestion-aiding bile juices every day. A scanty flow may mean sick headaches, so-called biliousness, poor digestion, that half-sick, half-alive feeling. Snap out of it! Probably all you need is a gentle laxative. Get a bottle of Bay Kruschen's Sals tonight. Start right in tomorrow morning and take 1/2 teaspoonful in a glass of water (hot or cold) half an hour before breakfast and keep this up for 30 days. Do this and you too should get up feeling fit and ready for a real day's work. Try Kruschen—a famous English formula—Satisfaction guaranteed or money back.

Two Tons of Sales Tax Returns Scrapped Here

LANSING, April 16—P—Under orders to clean out all their old closets to aid the "salvage for victory" drive, state institutions are parting with tons of old records, Budget Director Leo J. Nowicki said today.

He said the latest call for bids for state-owned junk showed 13 tons of old sales tax returns being scrapped in the headquarters of the sales tax division, five tons in its Detroit branch and two tons in its Marquette branch.

The liquor commission will sell seven tons of old records, while the military establishment will dispose of another two tons.

FEWER DISPUTES IN MARCH

LANSING, April 16—P—Fewer industrial disputes and one less strike were called to the attention of the state labor mediation board during March than in the previous month.

Bataan Hero Home

MENOMINEE, April 16 — Vincent (Ben) Leslie, the first soldier wounded in the battle of the Philippines to return to Menominee, was in the U. S. military service for nine months and nine days. Leslie, who is making his home with his sister, Mrs. George Kasinski, 610 Martha avenue, was given an honorable discharge from the Army March 27 after being injured in line of duty. Leslie, a private of the 147th Medical Detachment, General Hospital, suffered a machine gun bullet wound in a leg in the early fighting with General Douglas MacArthur's forces on Bataan. He was evacuated from the Philippines to Australia and later brought to San Francisco by hospital ship. Leslie was wounded when the Japanese first attacked Manila. He was manning a machine gun and his crew mates were killed in the bombing.

Hides Seized; Youth Arrested

IRON RIVER, April 16—Maurice Warshawsky, 22, of Crystal Falls, formerly owner of a barbecue stand, pleaded not guilty Tuesday when arraigned in Stambaugh justice court and charged with possession of 13 illegal beaver pelts. After consulting his attorney in Green Bay by long distance telephone, Warshawsky produced a $200 cash bond for his release. Justice Conrad Lantz set a hearing for Saturday. Warshawsky was arrested on complaint of Bernard Stephansky, district conservation supervisor. He is charged with sending the pelts to Jack's Fur House in Bay City. The hides were seized upon their arrival there. Stephansky said his investigation, in which Federal and Wisconsin authorities assisted Michigan officers, has been conducted over a period of weeks prior to the arrest. The officer said Warshawsky had the furs at the farm of his brother, Ruben Warshawsky, on M-189 in Stambaugh township. He added Warshawsky had been under suspicion for some time as one engaged in illegal fur traffic.

Woman Dies Suddenly

IRON RIVER, April 16—Mrs. Arzelle Leonard, 72, widow of the late P. X. Leonard, well known Iron River family, died suddenly in the kitchen of the American Legion rooms in the city hall at 5:45 Tuesday evening, stricken by a heart attack.

Escanaba Woman Missing

ESCANABA, April 16—Missing from her home here since last Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Olat (Frances) Jackson is the object of a search by city police officers.

Mrs. Jackson is 26 years old, five feet, five inches tall and weighs 147 pounds. She has brown eyes, a light brown complexion. When last seen she was wearing a blue suit, tan shoes, a wine colored coat with gray fur and red ear-rings. She has a scar on the right side of her neck. No logical motive was offered by the woman's relatives for her strange disappearance. She left her small child with a neighbor saying she would return in two hours and has not been seen since.

Aged Norway Resident Dies

NORWAY, April 16—John Haglund, 85, a resident of Norway 55 years and a former street commissioner, died Tuesday at the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. Arvid Anderson. He was the last living charter member of the Norway Baptist church. Born in Arnas Ornskoldsvik, Sweden, on Dec. 13, 1857, Mr. Haglund and his family came to Norway in 1887. His wife, to whom he was wedded in 1880 in Sweden, preceded him in death. The couple observed the golden anniversary of their marriage in 1930 in Norway.

NOSE PICKING May be a Sign of WORMS

Don't blame your child! It looks like just a nasty habit, but it may mean that ugly, crawling roundworms are starting trouble inside the child's nose. Other warning signs are: "picky" appetite, fidgeting, uneasy stomach, itching seat. Anybody, anywhere, can "catch" roundworms! If you even suspect your child has them, get Jayne's Vermifuge right away! It's America's leading proprietary worm medicine. Scientifically tested, and used by millions for over a century. Jayne's expels stubborn worms, yet acts gently. If no worms are there, it is just a mild laxative. Demand Jayne's Vermifuge.

'Get More Out Of Life' Is Book All Should Read During War Years

Though Pinned Back, Our Ears Still Flap

(By MANTHEI HOWE)

One of the problems is to find daily something to write about in this column that one hopes people will be interested in reading. So, along with the lovely weather yesterday morning there was gratitude that Robert A. Hill, of Ishpeming, and the editor of our paper dumped a subject right into my lap. Both were too tender-hearted to credit me with having written the article on March 26 about cutting out hunting for the duration. But they didn't like, and agree with, the article.

Mr. Hill dubbed the content of the article "akin to unpatrician activities and its fertility is used by the Axis powers as such." Our editor said (having commented on the recognized need of the people for recreation in war times): "In view of this, the argument that sportsmen should give up hunting to save ammunition must be considered ridiculous."

Ouch! It Hurt

There! Did you ever hear about folk squirming the hardest when the shoe pinches their special sensitive corn. I certainly didn't intend to bruise the hunters' corns quite so cruelly as I begin to suspect I did.

If you were good enough to read the article of March 26 carefully enough to remember, you will recall the paragraph: "If they are going to use ammunition for anything but war why not conserve it for target practice, where they really get down to the business of shooting and no fooling?"

Mr. Hill is quite right that there are many lads going into the Army who have never had the least experience in using firearms. That's one of the tragic things. I'm all for seeing that every lad of draft age has opportunity to get that training. Contribute the ammunition used in hunting to setting up rifle range practice for young men, and I'd be all for that project, if it were possible.

It's a Fine Organization

You likely noted that Mr. Hill said in his "editor's mail" communication: "This country has, I believe, 8,000,000 members belonging to the N. R. A. (National Rifle Association) whose privilege of purchasing arms and ammunition from the War department ended with the present emergency. * * * Please note some of the outstanding riflemen in the Philippines, who recently gained honorable mention as crackshots, are members of our organization."

And am I ever glad that there are 8,000,000 men in the N. R. A., but important as they are the emergency was such that the War department had to shut down at the present time on continuing to extend to them the privilege they had in the past of purchasing equipment and ammunition from the department. Yet certainly, it is likely that there is a higher percentage of good marksmen in the N. R. A. than in the ranks of hunters. At least one might think so, but maybe that would not be true. Yet the War department shut down on ammunition. Not out of meanness I'm sure!

Our editor said in his editorial: "The President has sanctioned professional baseball as a sport essential to national morale. Industrial specialists everywhere testify to the need of recreation and relaxation to offset the wear and tear on nerves. In view of this the argument that sportsmen should give up hunting must be considered ridiculous. It provides recreation, exercise and training in the handling of firearms. Organized baseball, which is beyond the reach of millions, serves only one—recreation."

Takes Nothing from War

That's true, but considering the attendance at baseball games, hundreds of thousands benefit from the recreation obtained as spectators of the sport, and baseballs and bats used in the game would hardly be wasting ammunition used in the war.

And would it be possible for all the sportsmen champing on the bit to decide, instead of going hunting, to organize small squads of lads of the draft age, meet with them (not for the eight or 10 days the instructor might have spent in the woods) once or twice a week for directed target practice, getting the fellows used to the feel of firearms, at least able to recognize how to hold a gun?

Of course, that the sportsmen should loan their favorite guns to lads strangers to them, should see the youngsters' bungling attempts, might be beyond the limits of their altruistic and patriotic spirit. Not being a sportsman I wouldn't know just how hard that would be on the owner of a prized rifle.

Make no mistake about my stand. I'm not primarily interested in the sportsmen hunting or remaining at home, but am interested rather in everybody doing every possible thing to win this war.

I'd be thrilled if it were possible to have every man from the age of 18 to 40 in Marquette county have the opportunity for regular and properly instructed target practice, for though this war gives promise of being a major Air Corps conflict, there will be plenty men, too, who will need to be expert marksmen, and did you chance to see the article in the May issue of The American magazine, under the title: "How to Get Along Under Fire" by Guardsman Patrick Tivey, of the British Coldstream Guards, sent by courier from Calcutta.

Note this paragraph: "If an enemy plane is anywhere near within range—even a couple of thousand feet high—have a go at him with your rifle. I know it sounds useless and it took a long time to convince me it wasn't just a waste of good ammunition. Well, I've seen eight planes brought down by rifle fire so far, and I'm convinced. I've a pal in the RAF and he put it to me this way: "Sure, the machine guns can fire a hell of a lot faster than you can, but they're firing more or less in the same direction. If they're dead on, well and good. But usually they're not. Now, on the other hand, if you get a hundred blokes all firing every which way, some of those shots are almost bound to hit home."

My thanks to the editor and Mr. Hill for pinning my ears back (that's healthful for all of us, now and then), but the ears are still flapping!

Cheerio! "Keep 'em flying."

Catherine Groves Tells Why We Get Odd Slants On Life And What To Do About It

There is a saying that precious and potent things may come in small amounts. That might well apply to a book which is available in the Peter White Public library. It is called "Get More Out Of Life," and is written by Catherine Groves, executive secretary of the Family Service association, of Durham, N. C.

Now make no mistake by merely glancing at the title and thinking: "Oh, that's merely another of those smile, smile, smile treatises." It's anything but that. Rather, though it is only 133 pages in length, it's one of the most satisfactory books along the lines of mental hygiene for the layman that this reviewer has chanced to see.

Catherine Groves has done an excellent piece of work in making some personality difficulties and some situations of strained family relations intelligible to the layman. She uses no difficult technical terms, the use of which makes the writing of the book easier for the reader but more difficult for the author. Moreover, she has a pleasant, unburied, informal conversational style that makes reading the book an entertainingly informative experience.

This reviewer recommends the book to the attention of parents, to young married couples, to teachers, and all persons who give frequent contact with other people in an advisory or guidance position. Something of what the book has to offer the reader may be guessed by noting the chapter headings: Why this book? Are you satisfied with your life? When life is but a squeezed lemon. Why we are as we are. What to do about our lives. Where to get help. There is help to be had. The family counselor. Social agencies. Misconceptions. Conclusion. There is also a bibliography which will probably not be of special interest to the casual reader.

Don't We Thought

The author in her preface says that every one finds obstacles in his path from time to time and has his own brand of trouble to endure. Because that applies to every one, the author says we need to learn how to prevent those that are not inevitable and to learn to wrestle with those that have to be faced, and to know where to find help when life becomes too difficult for us to cope with it by ourselves.

Some rather generously lengthy quotations from the book will probably give the readers the best idea of some of the efforts made these days to give the same sort of skill, sympathy and compassion to those nervously or mentally sick as we give to those who are physically ill or who have been victims of physical accident.

Says the author: "When Sue and Fred get in a heated argument at the breakfast table over the expenditure of their joint income, what happens? Perhaps the trouble is merely that they each got out of the wrong side of the bed that morning, and by night the whole thing will have blown over. Perhaps, on the other hand, things are said by each that the other is never quite able to forget; perhaps they know that only on the surface is the outburst caused by the disagreement over money and that the real difficulty is a smoldering antagonism between that that erupts at the slightest excuse. If the last explanation is the correct one, how do they set about handling their problem?"

Sensible Help Is Available

A good many persons do not yet know that nowadays we have family counseling to handle exactly such instances as the foregoing, a fact which the author points out in her book.

In passing, it might be well to mention that Marquette is farther ahead than many towns in that the Family Welfare society is organized primarily to assist in rehabilitating family relationships that tend to do on the rocks, or to prevent other family relationships, those of husband and wife, parent and child, and in-laws from driving marriages to the place where they crash. It provides family counseling.

Trained workers are engaged in this counseling which now rates as a profession that is accomplishing much.

To return to quoting from the book: "Let us take a look at the reasons why people feel that living is not worth the effort it costs, why it seems to them like something perpetrated upon mankind as a joke * * * Most of us sometime in our lives, go through a period of this sort, when our burdens seem heavier than any human being can carry; when we find our road blocked, no matter which way we turn. * * * There are times when it is understandable that people should feel this way. Many adolescents, on facing adulthood, get an overwhelming sense of the burden of life. Or, when a person has suffered a great loss, such as the death of someone close and dear or the collapse of a venture into which he had put many years of his life. * * * When such a slant on life becomes chronic, * * * the first thing we think of is the physical health of the person concerned.

Are Working Together

"There are those who seem to think of their minds as separate entities, independent of their bodies. This, of course, is a mistake. Our ability to remember or recall depends, first of all, on a healthy state of the brain; while our moods, the tempo of our emotional reactions, are the result primarily of our physical make-up, our count-down ways, our body is constantly influencing our manner of response and the way we feel.

"It is equally ridiculous to think of the body as a separate entity. If our bodily condition influences our emotional state; it is equally true that our emotional state influences our bodily reaction. * * * Indeed, so intertwined are our emotional and bodily states that one cannot tell where one starts and the other ends, which is cause and which effect. * * * The important thing for us all to realize is that the individual is not divided into two or more spheres. That is why, if we find ourselves out of joint in life, one of the first questions we should ask ourselves, is whether we are well, or at least as well as it is possible for medical science to make us."

Is Good Book for Today

One reason this book is being reviewed at length at this time is because of the length and with such lengthy quotations is because of the emotional tension and pressure that comes during war, every one should know some of the things treated in this book, and should acquire a realistic and intelligent approach to the situations in daily living.

The author pertinently comments that people need help in solving such things as nervous, mental and physical problems, not because the people with problems are not intelligent but rather "because we all have blind spots in looking at ourselves; we all have blockages that make us act in one way after we have reasoned things out and decide that it would be wise to do something else. This is that an impartial person with common sense, and one versed in the workings of the human personality, can help us, regardless of whether or not he has a higher level of intelligence than we have."

One of the important comments made by the author is on a subject, about which the public in general is much too ill-informed. Often a doctor checking over his patient finds that there seems no physical explanation for the difficulties and says that he would like to refer the patient to a psychiatrist, which unfortunately terrifies many people because they think immediately of insanity, failing to realize that insanity is after all only a disease, calling for physical and mental treatment.

Another quote: "It is amazing how many people undergoing emotional turmoil carry the fear within them that they may be insane. If advised to see a psychiatrist they jump to the odd conclusion that they would then be at once break into maniacal behavior. For this reason, it cannot be emphasized too strongly that the business of a psychiatrist is to prevent insanity, or to keep mild emotional disturbance from becoming more serious. * * * Right here it should be said that if you think you are losing your mind, the chances are about a hundred to one that you are not."

The family counselors are in most instances persons who have been trained as social workers. They are making practical application of the desire held by many people as long as there have been people . . . of wanting to help others. The difference is the family counselors are especially trained to give that help intelligently.

There will likely be a waiting list for this small book but it is a good book for folk to read as additional training, in a different field, for those who have taken Red Cross first aid work.

Victory Garden Can Be Aid to Beauty

All of you patriotic gardeners who are transplanting seedlings, dividing clumps of perennials and interspersing them with vegetables and other food for victory, don't forget that gardening is "manual" labor that requires special preparation, says Alicia Hart.

While other gardening addicts may understand and be sympathetic toward chipped nails, jagged cuticle, stains and callouses, non-gardeners won't necessarily. And, of course, you still intend to show up at June weddings, summer dances and relaxing weekend gatherings with nails fit to be seen.

So, wear those gloves. Cotton will protect you instead of the thin rubber ones you used to wear reluctantly, and they'll be no more of a handicap in planting or even in sowing. Wear them every second you're in the garden. If you must take them off to handle particularly tiny seeds or to move an extra-precious plant, dig your fingernails into a cake of soap to keep the seeds and dirt from getting stuck under the nails.

Train for Garden Work

You'll want heavier cotton gloves to wear when pruning bushes, shearing the hedge or pushing the lawn mower. They ward off callouses and blisters.

And, there'll be no stiff and sore knees, back and arms, all through the spring season, if you go in for a little exercise before starting the year's digging and planting.

Try choosing five exercises, one each for arms, knees, back, ankles, and neck, and do each routine five times a day for two weeks before the first spading. This will help make your battles with spade, hoe, and rake end in victory.

Speaker Tells Of Beginning Of Woman's Club

The Marquette Woman's club, one of the old and representative organizations of the city, had a "looking backward" program Wednesday afternoon in the Federated Women's club.

Mrs. L. O. Gant told something of the high lights in the history of the organization from the time a public meeting was called March 5, 1914, the city hall for the purpose of organizing a Woman's club, through 1917.

Worked for Suffrage

The organization was named "The Woman's Welfare club" with Mrs. Abby Beecher Roberts as the first president, and with a vice-president for each city precinct. The club affiliated with the Michigan Equal Suffrage association and a committee was appointed to study the curfew ordinance.

On April 15, 1914, the club met in the auditorium of the city hall. Here are excerpts from minutes of former meetings showing, the trend of the organizations interests and activities.

Leafs Square Stanley Cup Series With 3 To 0 Victory Over Wings

Final Game Saturday At Toronto

DETROIT, April 16.—The rebounding Toronto Maple Leafs squared the Stanley cup hockey series at three games by crushing the Detroit Red Wings 3 to 0 before 13,153 spectators tonight for their third successive victory. The deciding game will be played Saturday at Toronto.

The Leafs scored the winning marker in the second period when young Don Metz slipped home a sneak shot, but Bob Goldham and Billy Taylor made it certain with goals 32 seconds apart in the third period. Goalie Walter (Turk) Broda meanwhile kept the weary Detroiters in check for the first shutout of the playoffs.

No Fights, No Penalties

In coming back after dropping the first three games, the Leafs made hockey history tonight by tying the series. Because of its dash and hustle the Toronto club now is a prohibitive favorite to clinch its first cup, symbolic of world hockey supremacy, since 1932.

Curiously, there wasn't a single penalty in the sixth game of what has been a rough and tumble series. There wasn't even a first class fist fight reminiscent of the fourth game here when Manager Jack Adams, swung at Referee Mel Harwood and drew a subsequent suspension.

The Leafs were extremely bus-like about the way they won the game. The first period of hard hitting hockey produced no score, but 14 seconds after the intermission the alert Metz, a substitute winger who has sparked Toronto's comeback drive, seized the puck near the cage and beat Goalie Johnny Mowers cleanly.

The Leafs then exercised considerable caution and invited the infuriated Red Wings to pick up the attack. But Toronto repeatedly out-positioned the Wings and kept wearing them down.

Finally the break came. Sweeney Schriner dug up the puck at center ice and passed to Goldham, who streaked across the blue line and into Mowers unmolested. The Leaf defenseman feinted the netminder out of his cage and then let go.

Taylor scored on a combination play with Schriner, and again Mowers was unprepared. When the red light flashed the customers began to leave their seats.

Metz's goal was his fourth in three games, but for Goldham and Taylor it was a pleasant surprise. They had scored once each previously in 11 playoff games.

Small Deficit Indicated In State's General Fund

LANSING, April 16.—Harold W. H. Burrows, comptroller of the state accounting division, said today Michigan will end the fiscal year June 30 with no worse than a "small" deficit in its general fund.

He asserted the liquor control commission is behind schedule in transferring to the general fund profits from the sale of hard liquor, and that his estimates did not include a letdown in liquor revenues.

Ralph Thomas, chairman of the liquor control commission, said it might not be possible to maintain the schedule because his department is faced with a need to build its inventory to meet threatened shortages of gin and rum, and to guard against running out of stock due to transportation delays. He said the commission has nearly $1,500,000 invested in Federal taxes on the liquor inventory, which was another factor in building the inventory.

Burrows, adjusting estimated expenditures to the estimated $112,000,000 state revenues in the fiscal year, said a deficit of not more than $409,419 was indicated.

Past Employment Peaks In State To Be Dwarfed

LANSING, April 16.—Boom-time employment peaks of the past will be dwarfed within a year when Michigan's factories start rolling in earnest on the production of materials of war, the Michigan unemployment compensation commission declared today.

Paul L. Stanchfield, statistician of the commission, predicted employment totals would leap to a point 300,000 to 400,000 higher than the old records.

He made his predictions in a special survey for the state department of labor and industry's monthly statistical publication, declaring 500 major plants in the Detroit area plan to employ 585,000 workers by the summer of 1943, compared with 365,000 in June, 1941.

Baseball Leagues Meet To Map War Relief Program

By Judson Bailey

NEW YORK, April 16.—An all-inclusive program for baseball's cooperation with the war effort will be mapped tomorrow at a meeting of Commissioners Kenesaw M. Landis with executives of the major and minor leagues and representatives of the Army and Navy.

The conference, for which President William G. Bramham, of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, has been hastily summoned from his home at Durham, N. C., resulted from a session today of the major leagues' advisory council, attended by Army and Navy officers, for the purpose of completing plans for the second of next summer's two big all-star games.

It was known that a plan is under consideration for having a team of major league stars play a combination of "standout" players from the Army and Navy in the game at Cleveland Tuesday night, July 7, twenty-four hours after the National and American league stars clash in the Polo Grounds at New York.

But instead of going ahead with these arrangements, Landis recessed the meeting until tomorrow when the whole broad question of baseball helping the war will be discussed.

Two National league clubs, the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers, already have set aside two of their forthcoming games to play each other from which all proceeds will be turned over to the Navy relief society and the Army emergency relief fund.

Landis said after the conference today that the possibility of organizing a service team for the second all-star game still was open and that he would be glad to discuss the matter with Army and Navy departments for approval.

Down Sports Trail

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, April 16.—If you want to get an idea of the Brooklyn Dodgers' chances of repeating as National league champions, take a look at the Phils and Braves.

That may sound like telling a man to look at his feet to see if he needs a haircut, but it isn't quite that bad, although when you're looking at the Phils and Braves you're looking pretty low, at that.

Anyway, if the Phils and Braves are improved this year, the Dodgers' chances aren't so good. Those two clubs were the leaders on which Durocher's darling climbed to the top.—The big blues over in Brooklyn found a couple of teams they could kick every day, and they were out of the lead on Sunday, and they really poured it on.

The Dodgers beat the Braves 18 out of 22 times, and had a like record against the Phils. Add to those 36 victories the 14 turned in against the Giants and you have 50.

Metz's goal was his fourth in three games, but for Goldham and Taylor it was a pleasant surprise. They had scored once each previously in 11 playoff games.

Skeet Club Holds Annual Meet Tonight

The Marquette Skeet club will hold its annual dinner-meeting in the Marquette club this evening, beginning at 6:30.

A short business meeting will be held after dinner and this will be followed by motion pictures, shown by Richard Gearhart, of the state conservation department's education staff.

Rudy Heinle, field manager, reported yesterday that the skeet range north of the city is ready for the season's activity. The first monthly handicap shoot will be held there Sunday afternoon.

Billed as the "man to beat" this season is County Clerk Lloyd LeVasseur, who has progressed rapidly the last few summers. Last season, LeVasseur posted two perfect scores in formal competition.

Dismissed Tax Employees Get Court Injunction

LANSING, April 16.—Just how much effect a Wayne county circuit court injunction will have in keeping 11 dismissed sales tax employees on the job was in dispute today among state officials.

The employees obtained an order to prevent their being laid off pending a hearing, but the injunction was not served on state officials until after the dismissals actually had taken place.

Declaring "they can't stop that which has already happened," Louis M. Nims, state revenue commissioner, said "civil service told me to fire those men and I'm not going to put them back until civil service tells me to."

Chief Assistant Attorney General James F. Shepherd said he had advised civil service officials to obey the injunction, paying no attention to the time it was served. Their decision had not been made tonight.

Regency Election Case Before Supreme Court

LANSING, April 16.—Franklin M. Cook, Hillsdale, defeated candidate of the commission, predicted employment totals would leap to a point 300,000 to 400,000 higher than the old records.

He made his predictions in a special survey for the state department of labor and industry's monthly statistical publication, declaring 500 major plants in the Detroit area plan to employ 585,000 workers by the summer of 1943, compared with 365,000 in June, 1941.

The litigation, a quo warranto proceedings, is based on a contention Burhans may not be both a regent and legislator at the same time. Burhans' regency term began January 1, 1942, while his term in the state senate does not end until December 31, 1942.

KILLED AT RAIL CROSSING

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 16.—Edward S. Nogle, 73, was instantly killed today when he was struck by a Grand Trunk passenger train at local crossing. Coroner Simeon LeRoy said Nogle was walking on a sidewalk crossing when he was struck by the locomotive. The body was carried 100 feet before the train was brought to a halt.

Ross' Homer In 8th Wins For Detroit

DETROIT, April 16.—Don Ross and Rudy York belted home runs today to give the Detroit Tigers a 5-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians and a 2-1 edge in the first series between the two clubs that tied for fourth place in the American league last season.

Ross' game-winning smash came in the eighth inning off Relief Pitcher Clint Brown after the Indians twice had come from behind to square the count. In the seventh Jeff Heath, of Cleveland, had squared it with a long homer with the bases unoccupied. York homered for the second time in two days with one on in the fifth.

The veteran Tommy Bridges, starting his 13th season, went the distance for Detroit after a shaky start and stranded 10 runners while scattering eight hits. Bridges pitched over three errors and only two of the runs were earned.

The Tigers gathered nine hits, all but one off southpaw Al Milnar, who started for the Tribe. Joe Heving stopped one Detroit rally and hurled his ball until removed for a pinch-hitter.

The 33-year-old Bridges, who probably will be called upon by the Cardinals, when he declares himself ready, rationed the Indians to single runs in the first, third, sixth and seventh innings. Errors by Pinky Higgins and Jimmy Bloodworth brought two unearned runs, so Tommy's record was particularly good.

Detroit pushed across two runs in the second frame when Ross, winter acquisition in the baseball draft who is alternating in right field with Ned Harris, drew a walk and scored on George (Birdie) Tebbetts' hit and run double to right. Bloodworth singled Tebbetts home.

York Parks One in Stands
York's 390-foot homer into the left field lower stands came with Cramer on base, and that ended Detroit's scoring until Ross connected with one out in the eighth, blasting the ball into the left field stands.

Singles by Roy Weatherly and Oris Hockett, plus a long fly, gave Cleveland its first run, and the same two singled in the third and Weatherly scored on Higgins' error. Bridges loaded the bases the same inning, but then got Manager Lou Boudreau, of the Tribe, to ground out. In the fourth a fast double play started by Bloodworth got Detroit a tight race.

In the sixth Bloodworth muffed a fly ball by Weatherly, however, to permit Otto Denning, who had doubled, to score. The second sacker booted another the same frame, but Bridges escaped further damage by inducing Ken Keltner to pop up with two on.

Heath's homer was off the facing of the third deck in right field, a favorite target of Ted Williams, of Boston, who hit one there last July to give the American leaguers victory in the all-star game.

When Roger Cramer, who came from Washington, singled in the first, it was his first hit as a Tiger. He got another in the fifth.

Tomorrow the Tigers open a four-game series at St. Louis with Virgil (Fire) Trucks slated to be the pitching opponent of Bob Harris, of the Browns.

Dodgers Beat Giants on 3 Walks in 9th

NEW YORK, April 16.—Two young pitchers for the New York Giants gave the Brooklyn Dodgers three bases on balls in the ninth inning today and two of them forced in runs for a 4-2 Brooklyn victory in the rubber game of the rivals' opening series.

Until this letdown in the last frame the contest had been a deadly serious struggle between two rookie hurlers, Ed Head, of the Dodgers, and Dave Koslo, of the Giants.

Koslo walked two men in the first inning to set up a run for the Dodgers and Head singled another across in the fifth. But Manager Mel Ott kept the Giants in the game by singling home a tally in the first and hitting a homer to tie the score in the seventh.

Registration Arranged At Mines, Plants

ISHPEMING, April 16—Plans are shaping up for the selective service registration for men 45 to 64 years of age to be held Monday, April 27.

To facilitate the work, arrangements have been made to enroll men at points of employment in the industrial units.

Among the places where this type of registration will be done and those named to handle it are: Lloyd mine—Carl Carlson, chairman, Harlon Westerland, Donald Krooks.

Cliffs Shaft—Fred Nelson, chairman; Bernard Carlson, Arthur Backlund, Frances Markety, W. H. Thomas.

C. C. I. Storehouse—Walter Wicklund, chairman, Delbert Larson.

Tilden mine—Vivian Perring. Mather Mine—Carl F. Anderson, chairman, George Bonovich.

Athens mine—Arnold Solem, chairman; O. T. Johnson, Roy C. Miller.

Negaunee mine—Walter Warmee, chairman; Jay Dyer, George S. Bowden, James Dompierre.

Mass mine—Turri Lindstrom, chairman; Leonard Bjorklund, Joseph Thomas, Reino Seppanen.

County road commission—William Gray, chairman; Frank Masek, James E. Denney, Roland J. Devine.

Hercules Powder company—Ira Fowler.

Morris mine—D. B. LeMay, chairman; Joseph Ebner, Clarence Larson.

Greenwood mine—C. V. Carlson, chairman; William Tonkin.

Blueberry mine—P. A. Alexander, chairman, George K. Persons, Ray Northey.

Mary Charlotte mine—R. N. Theobald, chairman and W. H. Norman.

This will take a considerable portion of the registrants off the hands of registrars who will handle enrollment at the city council chambers.

Paul Ameen, Ishpeming member of the draft board, said today he had received offers of assistance from men and women to act as registrars at the council chambers April 27, but that a few more could be used to advantage.

Boys Finish First Set Of Model Planes

ISHPEMING, April 16—The second set of drawings for 20 different scale models of airplanes has been received by the manual arts department of Ishpeming high school. The models will be used in training courses and for civilian defense purposes.

Tracings and templates are being made by boys in the drafting department and wood shop students will soon be working on the actual construction of this second set of models. To date 26 boys have finished their first models and are ready for the next assignment.

The finished planes are of 10 different models, and another set of 10 is nearing completion. This series consists of 13 American models, two German, three Japanese and two British.

The Series B, just received, is made up of nine American models, four German, three Japs, one Italian, one Russian and two British.

The wood shop classes have completed two models of the Boeing 17-E U. S. Army flying fortress four-motored bomber, one of which flew over Marquette county this week.

Victory Book Collection Set for Today

ISHPEMING, April 16—Ishpeming residents are being called upon again to contribute books for the men in the military service and Friday, April 17, has been designated by President Roosevelt as Victory Book Day.

It is not expected that a large number of books can be collected here because Ishpeming citizens, in a recent drive sponsored by the State Library association, sent more than 400 books to the merchant marine library at Sault Ste. Marie.

However, in house cleaning many persons may have found books no longer needed which were overlooked before.

Mayor John T. Johnson today expressed hope that Ishpeming residents will cooperate as much as possible in this project.

Japan has an average of six earthquake tremors daily.

Streamliner Service Seven Days to Escanaba

ISHPEMING, April 16—Extension of service by the streamliner, Peninsula "400," between Chicago and Escanaba, from six to seven days a week was announced officially today by the Chicago and North Western railway.

The Peninsula "400," newest and one of the most popular trains operating from Chicago to Upper Michigan, originally served Escanaba on the northbound trip daily, except Saturday, when its terminal was Menominee.

Under the new schedule, now in effect, the "400" will operate from Chicago to Ishpeming daily, except Saturday. On Saturdays it will operate from Chicago to Escanaba.

A "400" leaving at 8:35 a. m., will depart from Escanaba for Chicago on Sundays only, thus providing daily streamliner service between Chicago and Escanaba.

Northbound, the Peninsula "400" leaves Chicago at 4 p. m., Milwaukee at 5:25 p. m., Green Bay at 7:42 p. m., arriving in Escanaba at 9:53 p. m. Sundays the "400" will leave Escanaba at 8:35 a. m., Powers at 9 p. m., Stephenson at 9:23 a. m., Menominee at 10 a. m., Milwaukee at 1:20 p. m., arriving in Chicago at 2:45 p. m.

New "Rubberless" Tire Tested by Ford Motor
DETROIT, April 16—A new automobile tire, using only about one-sixteenth the amount of rubber heretofore used in tire manufacture, is being given exhaustive tests by Ford Motor company engineers, it was learned today.

Preliminary tests with the new tire, made with a specially treated fabric and small amounts of rubber, have shown it to be capable of withstanding great wear, it was said.

Ford engineers have been experimenting with the new tire since rubber shortages caused rationing of standard tire stocks.

Occupational Deformities In Michigan Studied

The state military department said Lieut. Col. Glenn B. Arnold has been assigned to determine what jobs are most essential to the war program. He also will advise on methods of making certain that non-essential workers are drafted if called.

a house already built. If you are wise you'll buy before prices go up. You can't fool the old law of supply and demand!

YOU CAN BUY a well located lot. Of course you know you can't build a house on it right away—Uncle Sam says "No more than $500 for new construction or repairs." But you can buy a lot on easy terms and pay for it on small monthly installments.

When the war is over you'll have your lot all paid for and in many cases it will constitute a down payment on your new house.

LOOK THESE LISTINGS OVER:
HEWITT AVENUE—This house is absolutely like new. Modern in every respect from top to bottom. It is solid, weatherstripped windows, automatic water, beautifully decorated. You couldn't buy this house for $4,000 more than the price asked.

COLLEGE AVENUE—Practically new, ultra-modern. One of the finest homes in Marquette. Can be used as a family dwelling, or two separate apartments. Will return upwards of $150 per month in rentals.

JACKSON STREET—Six rooms with basement. Garage. Lot 50 by 150. This house is for sale at $2,600 on easy terms.

New Factory in Menominee
MENOMINEE, April 16—Menominee's newest industry, the Michigan Glove company, a subsidiary of the Boreal Manufacturing company of Marinette, and the Elsenhardt Glove company of Chicago, has leased the third floor of the Menominee Community building and expects to be in production by May 1. The new company will employ about 125 persons, mostly women as soon as production is in full swing.

Soo Postoffice Swamped
SAULT STE. MARIE, April 16—Every day is "Christmas" at the Sault Ste. Marie postoffice these days. The volume of business is so great, due to the daily increasing population of the Sault, the military activity and the influx of lock workers, that, despite the extra help that has been put on at the postoffice, no day passes without sacks of mail are left unhandled by train time. Mrs. Mary Ripley, postmaster, made these facts known at a meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, to whom she appealed for cooperation in changing the mailing habits of Sault Ste. Marie people. Mrs. Ripley pointed out that the business at the postoffice for the month of March exceeded by $1,000 the December business of a year ago. And that the rush daily now is comparative to the week before any Christmas. Because business people particularly dump all of their outgoing mail into the postoffice in the last couple of hours prior to train time, it is impossible to cancel and sort and sack much of this mail in time—and as a result it is left for dispatch next day.

PCA Pilot Has Troubles
SAULT STE. MARIE, April 16—The woes of the Pennsylvania Central Airline were added to Sunday night by the searchlights of the military defense system. When the passenger liner, due at midnight, arrived near the Sault, the lights which encircle Sault Ste. Marie, picked up the plane and turned their full brilliance upon it. The pilot, blinded by the light which obliterated the airport lights completely from his vision, flew about over the city for some time, the Chamber of Commerce directors were told, and finally the plane turned about and headed back to Traverse City. When it reached St. Ignace, however, a wireless message from the Sault asked it to return, which the pilot did. However, when he arrived, the operators of the lights on the Canadian side of the river, which apparently had failed to get the orders to desist, poured their millions of candlepower of electricity into the plane. There was nothing to do but turn back again—and this time the pilot landed at Traverse City and stayed there until morning.

SUPERVISES EMPLOYEES

'Axis Juniors' Get Warning From Welles

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 16—When Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles recently warned that the U. S. will declare war on Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria if they aid Hitler's armies against Russia, it surprised a great many Americans who had taken for granted that we were already at war with these "Axis Juniors."

Welles' threat, coinciding with the announcement of pro-Nazi Laval's return to power in France, was the opening shot in America's spring offensive on the diplomatic front. Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria declared war on the U. S., but we did not retaliate, on the theory that their declarations were made under the threat of the people. Allens of those countries are free to move about as they wish, because they are not classified—as "enemy aliens."

Recognizes "Exiled" Governments
The U. S. government makes a wide distinction between countries like the above three and nations which have been conquered by the Axis and whose people are under the heels of the conquerors. Thus the American government grants full diplomatic recognition to the shadow governments of Norway, Luxembourg, Poland, Denmark, Belgium, Holland, Yugoslavia, Greece and Czechoslovakia. But there is still another category. Austria, which has been incorporated in Hitler Germany, is one example and Hungary is another. In Austria there are Austrians and Hungarians who proclaim their intent to free their native lands from Nazi conquest or domination. When such organizations are formed, they have to report to the State Department, giving full particulars.

This does not mean that the American government gives them recognition such as it does to the exiled governments. For instance, the outfit that calls itself "Free Austria" is not in the same class with Yugoslavia. The Austrians have no diplomatic representative and no official standing. Neither has the "Movement for Independent Hungary."

The whole matter recently came to a head because of a complaint to Sumner Welles by Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr, chairman of the Union for Democratic Action. Dr. Niebuhr thinks that some sort of official U. S. recognition has been given to Dr. Tibor Eckhardt, a Hungarian politician who is in this country now as leader of a "Movement for Independent Hungary" and who has friendly relations with the American-Hungarian Federation.

Says Eckhardt Led Terrorists
Dr. Niebuhr says, if the State Department thinks Eckhardt is on the side of the democracies, it is badly mistaken. Among other things, he charges Eckhardt was one of the leaders of the "Awakening Magyars," an outfit which brought about white terror in Hungary and got anti-Semitic laws passed.

Dr. Niebuhr asked that the government investigate this "free movement" as a potential fifth column. The Government stands by its declaration that registration of such movements as the one Eckhardt heads does not mean approval of them or cooperation with them. It is understood also that the Department of Justice, through the FBI, keeps a close watch on all the doings of these free movements and their leaders.

DETROIT, April 16—JP—Perry R. Chapin, Hammond, Ind., attorney, charged with defrauding the Grand Trunk railway of $56,250 through false personal injury claims, has pleaded guilty to mail fraud in U. S. district court.

James A. Wilson, of Detroit, former general claims agent for the Grand Trunk railway, is being tried on similar charges while Oliver T. Prickett, former Lansing claims agent for the railway, previously had pleaded guilty to a part in the alleged fraud and is awaiting sentence.

The case involves a wreck of a football special near South Bend, Ind., in November, 1938.

Vandenberg Endorses Kelly for Governor

WASHINGTON, April 16—JP—The gubernatorial candidacy of Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly, of Michigan, has the blessing of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (Mich.-R.).

"Kelly is the logical state Republican leader of Michigan by character, standing and record," Vandenberg said. "He has demonstrated that he is one of the ablest administrators ever to serve in Lansing. He has demonstrated at the polls that he has maximum popular confidence."

"As one of the bravest men to serve his country in the first World war, he is particularly qualified to serve his state in World War II."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are the natural way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste stays in the blood. These poisons may start making backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Frantic Weekend

By Edmund Fancott

THE STORY: Returning on a train to Montreal from a weekend vacation, Myra Mack, a plain, likeable young stenographer, strikes up conversation with a Canadian lieutenant. Their introduction is mutual admiration of a pretty girl on the station platform.

CHAPTER II

"I know where I've seen you!" said the soldier suddenly, snapping his fingers as his memory obeyed him. "You're the girl Ferdie Lorton painted, against a background of Laurentian hills."

Myra stared at him. "Don't tell me you know Ferdie?"

"I do. He's a great friend of mine."

Myra nodded. "It doesn't surprise me. He's a great friend of most every man in Montreal."

"I'd better introduce myself. Nigel Monkhouse, lieutenant, Royal Canadian Artillery. I saw your picture first in the Spring Exhibition."

"Luckily most of my friends didn't recognize me," said Myra. "I'd never have lived it down. He had a crazy idea that there was some relation between all those bumps and hills in the Laurentians and my face." Myra laughed. "Maybe he was right at that."

"Ferdie thinks the world of you." "In a purely platonic way, of course," said Myra. "Now if you really want to meet that rhapsody in blue, he is the man to help you. He not only knows every man in town, but sooner or later he seems to meet all the prettiest girls."

Lieutenant Nigel Monkhouse puffed at his cigaret. He nodded slowly. "It gets me. I don't know how he does it. With that sandy hair and that grin of his, I suppose. He's not tall, he's not dark, he's not even handsome, he looks at times as though he slept out all night on the tiles, and yet he always seems to have a pretty girl or two in love with him. There should be hope for me."

He said it half humorously but Myra took him up.

"I doubt it," she said. "You're a nice enough boy, but you've got no nerve. The ones that speak to me like you did are always the ones that would run a mile before speaking to a girl like Blue Hat on the station."

Nigel Monkhouse blushed and grinned. "Well, there's something nonsense and all that sort of thing."

Myra shook her head without the flicker of a smile on her face. "No. That's not it. I know your type. You look at a pretty face and fall for it and it frightens you so much you rush right into the arms of a motherly sort to tell her all about it. But that's the way it goes. You pay for your weaknesses in this world. Here we are at Montreal West and you could have been sitting with the redhead all this while in an aura of ecstasy, instead of with a deadpan like mine. That is if you'd had enough nerve."

There the incident might have ended. The conversation made the rest of the journey to Montreal go very quickly. Myra said a quick farewell to Lieutenant Monkhouse on the station platform and made her way to St. James street and the office.

The offices of Consolidated Steel were even more busy than usual with war work and Myra was soon plunged into the Monday thick of it. She was secretary to Mr. Macallum and the more his work grew the more hers increased. By 11 o'clock she had forgotten about the girl at the station and the shy young officer in the train. In fact she had forgotten all about the weekend by noon and it seemed as though she had never done anything but work.

But two interesting things intruded into the busy morning. Her young sister telephoned to say that her brother had arrived home suddenly from England. That was important news. He was Myra's favorite brother and had been overseas with the First Canadian Division since the first sailing; his return was unexpected. But apparently he had been commissioned in England and was one of a number of officers sent back for posting to the Third Division.

The other thing that happened was not so important. "Miss Mack?" Mr. Macallum's voice startled her from a steep stack of papers she was sorting. "I want you to slip over to Ramsom's, the stockbroker! I want you to hand this to him personally. It is very important and I want it to get to him quickly."

He handed her a bulky envelope and in a few minutes she was out in St. James street wondering how so many people managed to find time to walk about while she was spending all her days at a desk.

It was quiet in the stockbroker's office and she was told to go straight through to Mr. Ramsom's office. As she reached the door it opened and she bumped right into the girl who was coming out. She gasped and the girl gasped, then the girl apologized but Myra only stared. Miss Blue Hat—the girl on the station platform.

Myra went past her and delivered her envelope. Mr. Ramsom asked her to wait outside for a return envelope which would be ready in a minute. In the outer office she saw the girl at a desk and crossed to her.

"Sorry I banged into you so hard just now."

The girl smiled and Myra noticed that her eyes were a clear blue green. "That's all right. It was my fault."

Myra shook her head. "I saw you on the platform at Lakeside this morning."

"I remember," said the girl. "You were with that tall officer."

"Not exactly," said Myra, "but it seemed to work out that way because we were talking of you."

The girl blushed and Myra put that down to the credit side. She continued. "He thought you were the answer to a soldier's dream, but I decided you weren't interested in men."

"Why not?" she said frankly. "Why not?" she said frankly. Myra wrinkled her nose and looked down at the piquant face. A faint mist of freckles added definite attraction to the short nose.

"Why not?" echoed Myra slowly. "Well, if you ask me, I should say you make up to compete with women rather than to interest men."

A smile flickered for a moment on the girl's face. "You might explain."

"Simple," said Myra. "Look at your lips and your eyes. If you had a face like mine you'd need twice as much as that, but with a face like yours you need about a quarter of it."

There was no time to say any more because a boy had brought an envelope to Myra who smiled a farewell to the girl and moved to the door.

The girl watched her go with a faint smile playing about her lips. Then Mr. Ramsom came out of his office and crossed to her.

"Well, Fay," he said to his daughter, "what does an office feel like after the hectic life?"

"Not so bad," she smiled up at him. "One meets as many strange people here as anywhere else. Who was that girl who came in just now?"

"That girl? Oh, John Macallum's secretary. He thinks the world of her. I could use a girl like that myself."

"Won't I do?"

"Temporarily, yes, my dear. Until we get some real work to do."

Air Service May Be Halted
SAULT STE. MARIE, April 16—As far as the Sault airport is concerned, air service by the Pennsylvania Central Airlines may be discontinued in May, due to the work of improving the airport, Thomas Chandler, chairman of the aviation committee of the Chamber of Commerce told the board of directors of that organization at its April session in the Hotel Ojibway.

Plane Makes Mercy Flight
SAULT STE. MARIE, April 16—A Coast Guard amphibian plane, piloted by Lieut. Commander N. N. Nelson, arrived in the Sault Monday night, carrying two ailing sailors who were placed in the War Memorial hospital. Both were taken from freighters in Whitefish bay by the plane on a mercy flight from Traverse City. One of the men, Cletus McLean, of Rogers City, who was suffering from an abscessed tooth, left the hospital Tuesday morning. James Joyce, of Chicago, was found to be suffering from sea-sickness, instead of appendicitis, as first feared, and also was released from the hospital Tuesday.
