U. P. October Draft Group Sets Record

If all counties in the Upper Peninsula meet their quotas, the U.S. Army medical examining board will examine here this week the largest group of U. P. registrants brought here since Marquette was designat-ed as the induction center for this

This statement was made yesterday by Maj. L. B. Kiblinger, chief executive officer, who arrived here over the weekend with other officers, enlisted men and civilian assistants. Ninety-seven persons, including women typists, are attached to the board.

Examinations will start today and continue through Friday, Men will be inducted the same day they pass the examination and will return to their homes to spend 14day furloughs before being called 300 Men Teday

Approximately 300 men from Cogebic and Baraga counties are scheduled to be examined today. Major Kiblinger said that about 2,200 men from the 15 U. P. counties are slated to report to St. Luke's hospital this week.

The largest contingent ever to report from Delta county will arrive in Marquette today and will be examined tomorrow. Another large group will come from Dickinson county Wednesday

Dickinson county's October draft quota was doubled by the state selective service headquarters in a manner similar to the increase in Marquette county's quota last June when approximately 380 men left this city by bus for Traverse City. The Dickinson board received a call from state headquarters some time ago asking the number of men in 1-A available for immediate induction. After the report was given, the October quota was in-

Keep Mileage Records, Auto Drivers Told

Automobile drivers, particularly war production workers, were urged yesterday by Arthur H. Sarvis, state director of the Office of Price Administration, to keep a record of their mileage and gasoline consumption in driving between home and work.

If the regulations now governing the gasoline rationing program in the 17 Eastern states are applied nationwide, Sarvis said, it will be of great importance that persons who can otherwise qualify for supplemental rations have an accurate check on their travel

"We stress this importance to war production workers so that those who may be eligible for supplemental rations," Sarvis said, "will not have their applications held up, thus possibly causing the loss of valuable man-hours in our war plants. "It will be much easier for local boards to 'tailor' the supplemental book when the applicant has a specific record of his mileage requirements. It will also enable the board to act more promptly in (NEA Telephoto) greatest advantage is that no war worker will have to stay away from his place of work because of

The appointment of Mr. Byrnes will be approved. He went to the Supreme Court from the Senate, where he had a distinguished record. His long service in Congress has given him a fundamental grasp on the problems with which he has been called on to deal. As he is known as a man of courage and resolution there will be, it can be expected, nothing of temerity in his manner of handling them.

The President did not get all he asked of Congress. Loans on farm products were given a limit of 90 per cent, five per cent more than the existing figure, an inflationary increase. Also he was directed, where in the first instance he sought a free hand, to take account of increased labor costs on the farm in fixing farm priorities. They will, it appears, be somewhat higher than they would have been if what the President had asked had been given him without qualification.

His order with respect to salaries and wages will be closely studied. No increases may be given without approval of the NLRB, which is specifically instructed to authorize none except "to correct maladjustments, to eliminate sub-standards of living, to correct gross inequalities, or to aid in effective prosecution of the war.

While under the latter specification the WLB has been given wide latitude, it is the general implication of the Prseident's order that existing wages in the war industries, in which substantial rises have been given the past year or more, are tops for the duration and that increases will be approved only in cases where, judging by the average, wages may be regarded as sub-standard.

The President's satisfaction with what Congress has done, even if it did not do everything he asked in the first instance, is recorded in his declaration that "it has done its part in helping substantially to stabilize the cost of living." He goes on to say "I am certain that from now on this substantial stabilization of the cost of living will assist greatly in bringing the war to a successful conclusion, will make the transition to peace conditions easier after the war, and will receive the wholehearted approval of farmers, workers and housewives.'

The country, for its part, can only hope that the President's confidence will be wholly justified by the results.

And then there is the situation which none can evade that, if a man leaves immediately after the wedding to engage in active military service, there is the gamble on the kind of a person he may be when he returns. The lively joking youth, fond of dancing and fun, may return a mature, sobered and uncommonly serious man. That change is personality is, however, the least of the hazards and one to which adjustments can be made, if both want to make those adjustments.

Can She Measure Up? But there is the more serious consideration which, if one looks at the situation, must be faced ry during the war, and should, but Refreshments will be served and realistically. There are young women who care enough for the men, who are the one-man kind of woman, who will capably meet the challenge, but all young wives are not deeply enough in love for that, are not unselfish enough, are not trained in any special work so they can shoulder such a responsibility.

That is an angle that bears thinking about before a young man and woman, after a few short weeks of acquaintance, marry prior to the husband leaving for war

It seems to me that is proof of why no one can decide for young couples by a simple "yes" or "no" to the question bothering many of them: "Do you think young couples should marry before the man goes to war?"

There are some couples who meet, fall 4ruly in love, have a congeniality of tastes, and a similar outlook on life. They are right for each other, and they may well decide to marry, take the happiness they have for the time being, and know that, even though they are separated by circumstances, they belong to each other, and the wife will be waiting when her husband returns.

If the young man and woman considering marriage have known each other for some months, are aware of each other's oddities of personality as well as charm, are somewhat acquainted with the family backgrounds, and planned marriage anyway, why, far be it from me to dissuade them. If they have faced possible future responsibilities and are ready to take over such, there are things to be said for their marriage even though it may mean they can live as husband and wife for only a few days or weeks. I do feel that young women who marry men going into the service, young women who have no training to enable them to make a living, might well be about the business of acquiring such training so they are reasonably well prepared for any eventuality. Certainly marriages during war, if they are to remain intact when peace comes, should be entered into with a greater sense of mature consideration, a more keen and realistic attitude, than are the

Hematites Really Made It A Rout

ISHPEMING, Oct. 4-The Isheming high school eleven adminstered one of the worst beatings Negaunee has absorbed at its hands in years, taking an easy 40-0 ver-

Ishpeming pushed over three touchdowns in the first period, lost two scoring chances in the second, added a brace of markers in the third and one more in the fourth.

Negaunee made its lone threat in the closing minutes of the fourth period when it rushed from its 35yard line to the 19, with Jennings throwing passes all over the lot. Kirkpatrick did most of the receiving in this flurry of yardage, but when the Miners reached the 19-yard stripe, they were stymied and lost possession of the ball. Hematites Really Cookin'

What was billed as a nip-andtuck battle between two ancient rivals turned into a surprising rout from the outset,, as Ishpeming displayed a fast-charging line and a driving backfield.

Marra made a beautiful return of some 20 yards of Negaunee's first punt and it was up to the 27yard line. Gregg reeled off 12 yards, Wiinikainen raced through tackle for 13 and Gregg plowed South over for the touchdown. Wiinikainen placekicked the extra point.

Within four minutes Ishpeming was down again. This time, the team got the ball close to midfield. Wiinikainen cracked through tackle for 25 yards, Marra went around end for 12 and then sent a looping pass to Gagliardi who raced around one Negaunee tackler about four yards for the second score. Wiinikainen again booted the extra point.

Miners Finally Tighten After Negaunee kicked off and Marra had downed it at midfield, Wilnikainen spun through the line Far West for 18 yards, and added another eight. Marra took it to the twoyard line and Wiinikainen banged through the line for the marker. His kick was wide.

That was the end, for the first half, of any brilliant play. Negaunee stiffened, but Ishpeming fumbled twice, was penalized 15 yards Baraga Tips after gaining a first down on what appeared to be a certain touchdown march.

Negaunee took over and made a first down, then punted out of bounds. The half ended with Ishpeming in possession of the ball. Marra drove over for the seventh point and it was 33-0.

The fourth period opened with Ishpeming on the 50-yard line. Wiinikainen and Marra made its first down, then Wiinikainen teamed with Gregg for another first down. Community Chest Story Will Be Told ISHPEMING, Oct. 4 — Between now and October 19, date of the start of the annual Community Chest drive, Ishpeming residents will be informed in detail of the work of the participating agencies, their needs and the amount set up in the Chest budget for them.

William S. Pierce, Community Chest president, said officers and directors of the Chest had gone over all budgets carefully, had exmained the services to the community and would give the people, who will be solicited for funds, as full information as possible.

A "Vital Factor"

"There is a greater need than ever to preserve morale among our own people during these war times," Pierce said, "and all of us who have had the opportunity to become acquainted with the agencies and their work are impressed with the fact that the Community Chest is very necessary.

"We are all acutely aware of the pressing demands of the times, of the efforts our people are making to buy their share of war bonds, to subscribe to various war-borne appeals for help. Yet the Commun-ity Chest, too, becomes a vital fac-

"We are confident the citizens of Ishpeming will realize the importance of continuing this splendid program and making our 1942 drive a success."

the idea there was nothing wrong with the Yanks that a couple of hits wouldn't cure. So the boys went out and got just that mediine. The biggest dose, of course, was Killer's homer. Right there, Cooper realized it's a slight misake to try to push a fast ball past King Kong. Incidentally, Keller's only made three hits in the series, and two of 'em were homers with go's city series, 5 to 3, behind Hir-

Joe Gordon and Johnny Hopp collided when Joe beat out his hit in the sixth. The Flash threw such a body block at the Card first sacker that George Halas immediately sent him a Chicago Bears contract. Gerry Priddy then doubled Gordon home and the game was all tied up like a box of Christmas cigars.

The last Yankee run was unearned. That makes five unearned for the Yanks this series and one Moore of a homer in the sixth, and uncarned for the Cards. Just goes Terry immediately asked the sheriff to show you-the Cards are cer-

The Cards untied it in a hurry in the seventh and it was "hold your hats, boys, here we go again," as Slaughter and Musial walked, and Walker Cooper singled what proved to be the winning marker across.

Three Noted Churchmen Praise Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 4-P-Three noted churchmen of the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths praised the American press today for helping to promote the principles of re-

They were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael J. Ready, general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare Conference; Dr. Luther A. Weigle, president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America; and Dr. Israel Goldstein, president of the Synagogue Council of America.

Their statements were issued through Religious News Service in connection with the celebration of National Newspaper Week, Oct. 1 - 8.

Confidence in Press

Msgr. Ready expressed gratification over the great increase in the number and length of news and editorial articles in the press dealing with religion.

"Morality, international, national and personal, is the answer te our present grievous problems," Msgr. Ready said. "Religion is, as the President wisely says, the source of morality. There will be sound approval from millions as American newspapers come more and more to realize these truths and to proclaim them. I have conlidence our press will measure up to the task.'

Dr. Weigle praised "the increasing attention which the newspapers are giving to the place of religious faith in the life of the nation and the world."

Avoid Sectarian Spirit

"With negligible exceptions the newspapers of the country have avoided a sectarian spirit and have shown a broad view in the essential things which the churches of various names hold in common,' he said.

Dr. Goldstein declared that, "insofar as religion seeks to inculcate a sense of world community and interrelated fellowship among nations, races and creeds, the newspaper is a valuable aid to one of the fundamental purposes of re-

He stressed the post-war "responsibility and opportunity of the press to build public morale for the winning of the peace.'

Pastor Resigns; Has Son In Army, Objectors Camp

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 4-(A)-Dr. E. LeRoy Dakin, who has one son in a conscientious objectors camp and another in the Army, resigned today as pastor of the First Baptist church. Declaring his was "a unique situation and a glorious privilege," Dr. Dakin told his congregation he planned to become a member of the National Service Board for Reigious Objectors for the duration of the war. He said he would act in a liaison capacity between men in civilian public service camps as conscientious objectors to military service, and their families and churches Dr. Dakin declared that he had, as pastor and parent, to stand face to face with the two most divergent attitudes of mind to be found in the Christian church today." He said he knew his soldier son would "be in your prayers, because the great majority of you understand and give not only your approval but your support to all our lads in military service."

The other son, he said, "belongs to that minority group in our Christian churches whose understanding of Christ's claims commits him to a non-violent way of life and service to others, regardless of any cost in misunderstanding or hardship to himself."
