

Her Lurong Set To Music

Tondeleyo Lamarr, or rather Hedy Lamarr, of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, does her torrid love dance for "White Cargo." She's the siren who makes white men wilt in the tropics. And here is one way of doing it.

'Quickie' Officers In For Some Real Soldiering Now

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—A golden era passed into history at the War Department last week, with a fanfare of trumpeting feet and much shouting.

At long last the order has come down that Washington's legion of "desk officers" must at least look and act like soldiers, even though they'll probably never get closer to the battlefield than Constitution avenue.

So, if you have business with the War Department and they tell you "the Colonel is out of his office for a few days," you'll probably find him in the riding hall over at Fort Myer, Va.

But he won't be riding. He'll probably be sweating along in the rear rank of a squad of majors and captains and lieutenants — and they'll all be taking orders from a tough sergeant of Washington's efficient mobile force.

This is the "new order" among the War Department's "quickies," and it stems out of last December's emergency, when the Army suddenly found it needed a lot of officers in a hurry—officers to handle the non-military business end of running a war.

There was a call for qualified civilians, and they came by the thousands, stepping into specifically created niches as lieutenants, captains, majors, colonels and even a general or two.

Most of us didn't even know how—or whom to salute," explains an army public relations officer who is himself a candidate for a few sessions with the drill sergeant at Fort Myer.

"We wore nice new uniforms, but to the rest of the army we looked like hell. And the rest of the army was too busy to do anything about us."

But now that the first pressing emergency is over, they say they're going to make us look like soldiers, anyway—even if it hurts."

Old R. O. T. C. Stuff

The Fort Myer curriculum looks like first-year ROTC. It's old stuff to most of the army's six-week "trookies."

But to the dignified gentlemen fresh out from behind the War Department's desks, it's all new and most of it painfully difficult.

First, there's military courtesy—the art of knowing whom to salute and when to do it. That'll be the most frequent military maneuver required of the desk men.

Learn Squad Formations

Then the Army wants them to stand and walk and dress like fighting men. So it's teaching the "quickie" officers the simple squad formations; and how to "halt," "left face," "right face," about face," etc., etc.

If this sounds simple, remember that a lot of these gentlemen are well beyond the athletic age when a flight of steps is all that a hill was 20 years earlier.

And the Army has announced that it's going to be tough.

It isn't going to have anybody around who doesn't know all that a huck private knows after his first six weeks.

Commission or no commission, they'll learn the elemental rules or get out.

So, the good old days are over.

In the official decree that brought to an end the comfortable days of the emergency, the War Department said:

"This order applies to the training of certain officers on duty in Washington.

"Instructions will consist of the showing of two training films, detailed instructions in positions and facing, exact cadence, marching in two 30-minute periods, a period on the giving of commands, a period of squad and platoon drills and four 15-minute periods in which drill is conducted by officers receiving training."

MR. AUTO DRIVER HELP UNCLE SAM!

If you drive an automobile you can save rubber and help win the war if you will do these things:

Drive only when it is absolutely necessary.

Do not drive faster than 35 miles an hour. It is unlawful to exceed 35.

Keep your tires properly inflated and have them inspected regularly.

Share your car with others.

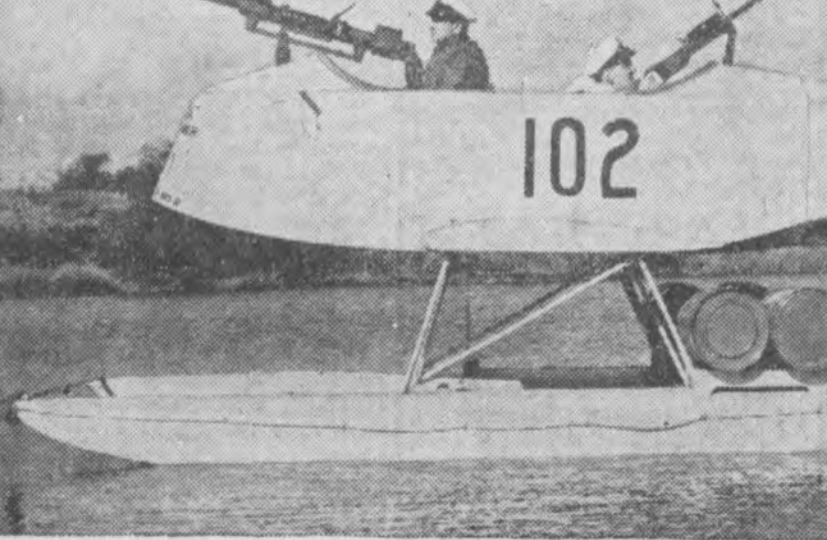

First Aiders Treat This Dog of War

TUCSON, Ariz.—A dog fight gave members of a first aid class their first experience.

As the class left its meeting room, two dogs began a terrific battle. One of the combatants was knocked unconscious. With the class gathered around, Instructor John I. Griffin administered artificial respiration.

Revived, the patient lurched to its feet, wagged its tail and ambled off.

Designed To Chase Axis U-Boats

The odd-looking craft pictured above was recently designed as a new weapon against the Axis submarines.

Its inventor, Antoine Gazda, calls it the "Sea Skimmer," which aptly describes the way it rides the waves. It is shown during a recent trial run at Providence, R. I. The "hull" is mounted on a catamaran base, similar to those used by ocean resort lifeguards for riding through the surf. This construction, its sponsors say, enables easy handling in rough water. The "Sea Skimmer" carries a two-man crew, who, in addition to operating it, man the guns, which not only serve as protection against air raiders, but can be turned against a surfaced sub. These are a machine gun and a 20-mm. Oerlikon cannon (seen at bow) which was also invented by Gazda. For attacking submerged U-boats, the "Sea Skimmer" carried four depth charges, which rest on the catamaran floats under the hull's stern. These can be replaced by torpedoes. The craft is said to reach a 50-mile-an-hour speed under the drive of its airplane-propeller engine. Elimination of sub-surface screw propulsion, it is pointed out, also protects it from detection by an enemy ship's sound-detection gear. Except for the propeller and engine, the Sea Skimmer is built entirely of non-strategic plywood plastic, and can easily be molded out in large numbers. Very light, the new sub-chaser can be hoisted aboard and carried on regular surface craft as easily as can a lifeboat.

Do U. S. Youngsters Know Why We Fight? Yes, Says Lochner

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Louis Lochner, who headed the Berlin bureau of the Associated Press and Wide World for many years, is on a lecture tour. He is writing his impressions as he travels, and here he tells what he's found about the younger generation.)

By Louis Lochner

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 16—(Wide World) — Let nobody tell you that the children of our country don't know what this war is about. I had an experience in this city which I'll never forget.

About two dozen youngsters of upper grade school age waylaid me when I arrived to speak on Hitler and his nefarious works. They said they had been sent by their teachers in civics and in English to "interview" me. And interview me they did.

I have become accustomed to reporters for high school and college papers plying me with questions about the Nazi scene. But juveniles from the graded schools—that was something different. Yet they indicated by their questions that they know what is going on in the world fully as well as the oldsters.

The Ask Pointed Questions

"Why did Rudolf Hess fly to England? What about the concentration camps—are they really so bad? Do you think Stalingrad can hold out? Any signs of a German crack-up? What is happened to the Jews? Are the German boys and girls anything like ourselves? Is it true that Hitler is fighting religion? Have you ever seen Hitler? What is he like?"

Thus ran the questions. The youngsters would have remained for hours, had not the local committee gently drawn me away.

I could not help thinking that if only we could get several shiploads of German children over here and put them right among our own youngsters, of whom I feel sure, these Oklahoma boys were typical, they'd soon forget all they learned about Nazism.

The problem of what should happen to the German youth, corrupted by Nazi dogma, suddenly seemed quite simple: Let our American boys and girls take hold of them. They have very positive convictions about democracy and human rights and the Four Freedoms. It would not take them long to remake their German fellow-humans. Students Great Help to U. S.

Oklahoma and Kansas are teeming with war plants. And in these two states I have become conscious of something else: Some of the most important little gadgets, some of the most vital inventions for giving us mechanical superiority over Hitler and Hirohito are being quietly thought up by young men in our colleges and technical universities.

It is no doubt an accident that I just happened to hear of concrete inventions in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and in Wichita, Kansas. The higher schools of learning in other parts of our country undoubtedly are developing or finding similar geniuses.

But in Kansas and Oklahoma I learned of several things that heartened me greatly. Naturally I cannot disclose details — they are military secrets. Suffice it to intimate, however, that one of them, about which I learned at Wichita, has a vital bearing on our submarine warfare, while another, to which my attention was called at Tulsa, is of first rate importance

Difficult Tests Devised To Pick U. S. Aviation Cadets

By Science Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—The big moment has arrived for a United States aviation cadet.

He is standing high above the ground, balanced precariously on one foot on a moving plank while, high above his head, he tries to hold the point of a pin-sized stylus steadily in a nail-sized hole without once allowing it to touch the hole's edges. If he thinks now of the danger of a fall from this uncertain perch—if his hand trembles ever so slightly, he will fall.

Yet this test may decide whether he will ever wear a pilot's wings in the Army.

Taxes Nerve, Control

The job is hard. It taxes all his nerve and self-control. If you don't think so, just try sticking a needle into the ceiling and then balancing on the top of a teetering ladder while you try to thread it.

This beam balancing test is one of the new psychological tests being developed by Army scientists in the air surgeon's office. All aviation cadets must take classification tests before training to master the controls of a plane, operate the new secret bomb-sight or to plan and direct long flights from Shanghai to Tokyo or Berlin.

Each man is allowed to choose the type of training he would like, as soon as he has passed the initial qualifying examination and receives his appointment in the Army Air Forces. But before he can enter that training he must prove his ability for it.

Quick and Accurate

He must show how quickly and accurately he is with his hands and arms by reaching for small pegs and fitting them rapidly and without fumbling into small holes. He has to prove that he can pick up a test with one hand and turn them dextrously and replace them without clumsiness.

He must show how quickly he can make a decision and act on it by moving control levers in the correct way in response to different combinations of signals flashed to him from an "instrument board."

Another steadiness test—this one looks easy. He is seated comfortably and the metal plate with the nail-sized hole is within easy reach before him. All he has to do is to hold that pin-sized metal point in the hole without allowing his hand to shake.

Tsk, Tsk—A Commotion

But all of a sudden bedlam broke loose. Bang! Wheel-e-e-l Horns and gongs may glare out with ear-splitting shrillness. Does his hand shake?

Now a voice bellows from behind him, "If you are rattled now, what will you do when you are in combat?"

It is all a part of the test—this heckling from the sergeant kibitzing behind his chair. But the aviation cadet doesn't know this. So if he is the type who can't stand this sort of distraction, he may become flustered. He may lose his temper and forget all about the test. Or he may become so harried that he can't hold his hand steady, try as he will.

Another "Easy" Task

But not all the tests are so trying on the patience and self-control. Another looks like something at the amusement park or penny arcade. It reminds the men of the pinball machine that used to provide fun in many a corner store. But it is operated by manipulating two levers — one in each hand. If you work your hands in perfect unison and do it just right, you can make a metal pin travel in a straight course around a triangular groove. The edges of the groove are notched to snare the pin at the slightest faulty movement.

A favorite test of the boy who has wanted all his life to be an airplane pilot is the test that makes him feel that he has already stepped into the cockpit of a trainer. Here is a joystick and a rudder bar. He gets his hand and feet on them at last. It is up to him to show that he can work these controls. Before him is a signal board of flashing lights. He must so operate the controls that the red and green lights are brought into straight lines.

Coordination Test

What this test really measures is the ability of the cadet to move his

Promoted

CAPT. CHAPUT

Captain Clayton L. Chaput, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chaput, Gwin, was promoted to the rank of captain from first lieutenant on September 19, 1942. He enlisted in the U. S. Army for service in Panama on May 13, 1931, served there three years and returned to the United States, after which he served in various infantry units in all the enlisted grades and in more than half the states. His last assignment, before entering an officer candidate school, was as a master sergeant under Gen. Stillwell at Fort Ord, Calif. After completing the course at the officer candidate school and being commissioned a second lieutenant in the signal corps, he was assigned to the staff and faculty of the same school at Fort Monmouth, N. J., where he is now stationed. He is married and has a son, Alan Bruce, 11 months old. The family home is on Cayuga avenue, Port au Peck, New Jersey.

Axis Agents' Work in Cuba Uncovered

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

FIRST news that Axis submarines were being furnished information by radio from Cuba on the movement of United Nations ships in western hemisphere waters was carried in an exclusive series of dispatches written by Robert Ruark for NEA Service newspapers last June. Ruark is now an ensign in the Navy, but the news that he uncovered while on assignment in Havana for this newspaper has been officially confirmed by disclosures of the arrest, trial, conviction and sentencing to death of an Axis agent named Luning, who operated a secret radio in Cuba to relay information to submarines in Caribbean waters.

Luning, after his conviction, made written confession of the part he played in an intricate network of Nazi spies operating in Latin America, linking a Nazi headquarters in Barcelona, Spain, with agents in Santiago, Chile, who relayed information on the ship movements to Cuba.

The Luning case is apparently the first conviction in a Cuban government roundup of Nazi agents which the Ruark disclosures helped bring on. But as Reporter Ruark wrote at that time, the quinquagenarians were operating actively throughout the island republic, and charges were frequently made that Nazi subs were not only being informed by radio from Cuba, but were actually being refueled and supplied from secret bases. So the Luning case is perhaps only a beginning.

Tremendous Trifles

The way a few insignificant words can shape up international affairs was never better illustrated than in the case of this classic runaround given the United States by the Chilean government. The recent speech of Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles in Boston brought this situation to a head, but the events leading up to that showdown make a story of tremendous trifles in themselves.

In its Oct. 3 issue, the Foreign Commerce Weekly, overseas trade magazine of the Department of Commerce, printed an article captioned "War's Effect on Chilean Economy." First paragraph of that article follows:

"Chile, the second largest copper-producing country in the world, possesses ore reserves estimated at more than 1,250,000,000 tons. Although the Chilean government has not yet severed relations with the Axis powers, the Chilean mining industry is shipping to the United States thousands of tons of copper and other strategic metals vitally necessary to our anti-Axis offensive."

The article then went on in routine style to outline Chile's domestic conditions, foreign exchange, agriculture, manufacturing and so on. Copies of this article apparently were rushed to Santiago. Almost immediately thereafter, leading Chilean newspapers appeared with obviously government-inspired editorials, quoting the paragraph given above and then going on to say that in view of this official U. S. view of the situation, it would not be necessary for the Chilean government to break relations with the Axis powers.

When this official state of mind was reported back to the United States things began to happen.

Under Secretary Welles made his speech denouncing Chilean aid to the Axis, the Chilean government protested, and then the facts came out on the participation of Chilean citizens in a Nazi spy ring furnishing information to Axis submarines.

Civilian Army

The U. S. War Department now has more than 1,100,000 civilian employees, making it the largest employer in the country. This means the War Department has one civilian employe for approximately every four men in the armed service.

If the figure looks high, the Army thinks it has a justifiable explanation. The civilian clerical force of the War Department in Washington numbers only 46,500, or about one clerk for every 100 soldiers. That leaves 1,053,500 civilian employes to account for. They're scattered all over the United States as machinists and helpers in Government-owned and operated ordnance plants, as construction workers at Corps of Engineers Army camp projects, as Quartermaster Corps storekeepers, storage or maintenance employes, and so on.

This million or more workers does not include any of the people working for private employers who have War Department contracts.

Married Sixty Years

MR. AND MRS. DAMAS DESOTELL

SATURDAY, OCT. 10, marked the sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Damas Desotell, Limestone, residents of Alger county 39 years. They were married by the Rev. Fr. Martel in St. John's church, Marquette. Their attendants, now deceased, were Joseph DeCharm and Georgiana Lompra, sister of the bride. They are the parents of two sons and four daughters, all of whom were present for their anniversary. The sons are Medos, Marquette, and Fred, Limestone. The daughters are Mrs. Louis Mandock, Mrs. Homer Roy and Mrs. Evangeline Johnson, all of Limestone, and Mrs. Jerry Lambert, Isabella. There are 18 grandchildren, 30 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild, making five generations in the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Desotell received many gifts, including a purse of silver. Mr. Desotell, who is 80 years old, and Mrs. Desotell, who is 76, were born in Canada and came to this country in their youth. They are living on a farm in Limestone and are in good health.

Open house was held at the Golden Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. A. L. ROSE

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Rose, 114 West Prospect street, Marquette, celebrated the golden anniversary of their wedding Monday, October 12. They were married October 12, 1892, in St. Peter's cathedral, the Rev. Joseph Langan officiating.

Hail Storm Damages Pikes Peak Forests

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—Pikes Peak forests were seriously damaged recently by the most severe hail storm that has struck that lofty mountain in years. More than 2,000 acres of pine and aspen trees were believed to have been injured so badly they will die. The storm raged at an altitude of more than 10,000 feet, stripping all branches and leaves from the trees.

COURIERS WERE SPEEDY

The Romans maintained such an efficient system of couriers that messages were carried between Rome and London in less than a week.

Most Popular Bird

Hunting began Thursday, October 15, for the 1942 crop of Chinese ring-neck pheasants. Michigan hunters bagged one and one-quarter million of the colorful birds last season, for sport and pheasant dinners. Conservation department game men report that this season's production, though not up to last year's in several areas, is abundant. Quite as important this season is the fact that pheasant hunting is available to most of the state's hunters with very little travel.

Today's Games Conclude High School Football Schedule In County

Negaunee To Tackle Red Forces Here

Planning an all-out sustained attack in an effort to gain their first victory on the new Gravenet high school athletic field, the Red and White gridders will tangle with the Negaunee Miners here this afternoon. The kickoff is slated for 2.

SCRAP—THAT'S THE TICKET!

Grade school youngsters will be admitted free of charge to the football game here this afternoon between Gravenet and Negaunee if they turn in at least five pounds of scrap at the gate.

If the practice sessions the last few days are any criterion, the Reds will present a tighter defense and a more aggressive offense.

Too often this season have the Reds waited until too late to start clicking on all "11," and in today's battle they plan to put it in high and keep there throughout the game.

MSC Meets Hilltoppers Without Ace

EAST LANSING—(P)—Michigan State's hopes of defeating Marquette university here tomorrow slumped when Halfback Dick Kiepke was sent to the college clinic tonight with a severe cold.

Couch Charley Bachman said the veteran triple-threat had a high fever and probably would not start against the Hilltoppers. He may be replaced by Ebert Stark.

Although the Milwaukee huskies have been more impressive to date, measuring two major opponents in Kansas and Iowa State, the experts were chary in forecasting the outcome of the 14th meeting between the two schools.

Some observers apparently were impressed by State's 46-6 rout of Wayne last week, but others recalled the Spartans' impotence against Michigan in their season opener.

At any rate, they all predicted an estimated crowd of 10,000 would see a rip-sporting struggle at Mackinac field, probably settled by a snug margin. The kickoff is scheduled at 2 p. m.

Marquette's 24 player squad was headed to Mackinac field by Coach Tom Stidham shortly after its arrival this afternoon. The Hilltoppers showed plenty of snap running signals despite a soggy field.

It was apparent Coach Charley Bachman would start the same team he kept intact throughout the week, indicating the Spartans would take to the air frequently with a sophomore calling the shots.

While the two teams were fairly well matched in poundage along the front line, it was likely the Spartans would spot the Hilltoppers about 10 pounds a man in the backfield.

Heaviest Spartan ball-carrier probably will be 185-pound Quarterback Russ Gilpin. Detroit, getting his first starting assignment, Morgan Gingsara, expected to start at fullback, is a fraction over 180, while Halfback Wally Pawlowski weighs only 150.

Wet weather presumably would hurt State more than the crashing Hilltoppers, since the Spartans will be banking almost entirely on speed and passing against the line-pounding tactics Bachman expects Marquette to use.

With Strzykalak the only new-cormer, Marquette will start 10 lettermen. The Spartans will have four starting sophomores, including Gilpin; Ends Vincent Mroz and Barney Roskopf and Tackle Alger Corner.

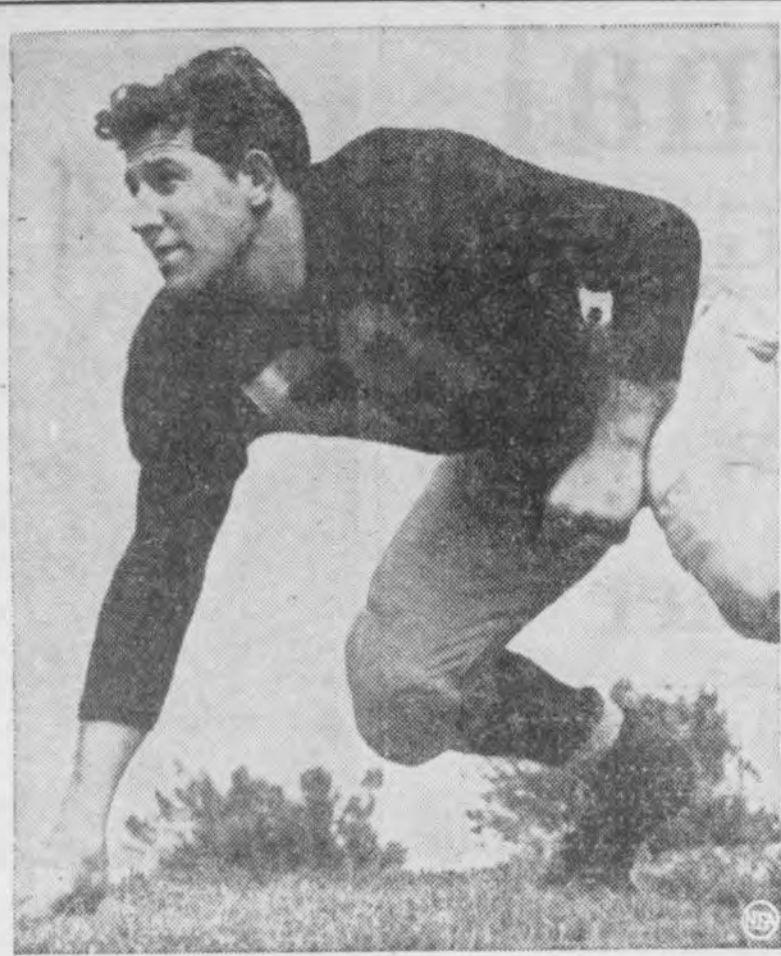

Kleppe and Tackle Dick Mangrum are the only Spartans who started against Marquette here last season when State scored a 13-7 upset victory.

DIAMONDS IN ARKANSAS

A diamond field of 73 acres is being worked in the state of Arkansas. The prize find in the field was a stone weighing more than 40 carats.

SAPPHIRE DEPOSITS

Principal deposits of sapphires, gems of the same mineral matter as the ruby, are found in Ceylon, Australia, Madagascar and Thailand.

ALEXANDER THE GREAT—Alex Agase came from the bottom of the pile, where most guards spend their afternoons, to score two touchdowns and give Illinois a surprising 20-13 victory over Minnesota. Agase, who also wrestles, returned to college this fall at the suggestion of Marine corps officers after enlisting in the reserve.

Opening Date for Women's Bowling Tourney Changed

ISHPEMING, Oct. 16—Mrs. Florence Reed, president of the Great Northern Bowling association, announced today that the Great Northern Bowling tournament will open Saturday, November 14, instead of November 21, as previously stated.

The date was changed in response to requests made by many out-of-town league members.

Two hundred more entry blanks have been ordered and the largest delegation of bowlers ever entered in a Great Northern Bowling tournament is forecast. The Newberry women's league will be represented. This is a new league, formed this year.

Women who wish to bowl on a booster team are asked to notify Mrs. Florence Reed, Ishpeming, Mrs. Agnes Conway, Marquette, or Mrs. Shirley Liberty, Munising. Those qualified to bowl on booster teams are women who have not yet joined a sanctioned league. Their entry fees will be paid by the association. They will have to pay for their own bowling only.

The Munising high school bowling league and the Women's Afternoon league, Marquette, are also invited to bowl in the tournament. Entry blanks must be returned as soon as possible to the association secretary, Mrs. Eve Carlson, Marinette, Wis.

Mr. Claassen Likes 'Hawks Over Irish

By Harold Claassen

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(P)—Giving the X-ray eye, our not-infallible football selector, a last chance to avoid being included in the office scrap contribution:

Iowa—Pre-Flight over Notre Dame—Notre Dame has Angelo Bertelli, but Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman has Al Coupee, George Benson, Bill Scharizer and Dick Fisher. It will be Bierman's first coaching victory over Notre Dame. Boston College over North Carolina—After a game-like scrimmage with the Eagles, members of Col. Robert Neyland's eastern Army all-stars rated the Boston College line on a par with any of the pro forwards they met except the Chicago Bears. Alabama over Tennessee—Those Crimson Tide backs to be the difference after a rugged struggle.

Georgia over Tulane—This is the week for Tulane's up-and-down team to be down—and that's fatal when Frankie Sinkwich is part of the opposition. Army over Columbia—Two heads are better than one—so it's Mazur and Hill, of the Cadets, over Governal, of the Lions.

Duquesne over North Carolina—The Pittsburh Dukes to come up with their 1-in victory in a row. Penn over Princeton—The Tiggers surprised by whipping Navy last week, but the casualty list was heavy. Penn is the peer of the Ivy loop. Iowa over Illinois—Coach Ray Eliot's honeymoon at Illinois is over and the Iowa string of uninterrupted victories since 1927 will continue.

Washington State over Southern California—The Trojans still too travel weary and bruised from their excursions into State's lair. Texas Christian over Texas A. & M.—The unbeaten TCU eleven to remain that way for at least another week.

Missouri over Kansas State—Kansas State has scored only one touchdown in three games. Lakes Wolverines Over N. U.—Michigan over Northwestern—Tom Kuzma to make his debut for the Wolverines. Ohio State over Purdue—The Buckeyes to keep storming along even if Gene Fekete isn't in top shape.

Indiana over Pittsburgh—Big Ten teams seem to have the Panthers number. Wisconsin over Great Lakes—Harder, Hirsch and Hoskins too hot for the Sailors. Louisiana State over Mississippi—Bernie Moore's Tigers to get revenge for the 13 to 12 setback of a year ago.

Vanderbilt over Mississippi State—The Commodores have been scored on but once this season. Virginia Military over Maryland—It is too much to expect Clark Shaughnessy to pull another all-winning first year as he did at Stanford two seasons ago.

Santa Clara over Oregon State—The Broncos to keep on winning and become the uncrowned kings of the coast conference. Minnesota over Nebraska—Bill Daley and his mates to make up for that Illinois upset.

Fordham over West Virginia—The Ram line is being repaired which gives that top-grade backfield a chance. Auburn over Georgetown—Auburn wins every other week and lost last Saturday.

Dartmouth Looks Good: Dartmouth over Harvard—Tuss McLaughry's high stepping backs to break away from Harvard's intricate defenses. Navy over Yale—Yale lacks both talent and experience, Navy only experience.

Colgate over Duke—The Dixie club to get a chilling reception in the north. Picking the team in a hurry: Brown over Lafayette, Syracuse over Holy Cross, Penn State over Cornell, Iowa State over Drake, Michigan State over Marquette, Oklahoma over Kansas, Baylor over Texas Tech, Utah over Utah State, Denver over Wyoming, Colorado over New Mexico, Oklahoma A. & M. over Arizona, Tulsa over Washington, Georgia Tech over Davidson, Kentucky over Virginia Tech, Wake Forest over North Carolina State, Georgia Pre - Flight over Pensacola, Hampden Sydney over Washington & Lee.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 16—(P)—Iowa's pass-minded Hawkeyes jump into Big Ten competition tomorrow, facing the unpredictable and undefeated Illinois eleven which is going strong under its new coach, Ray Eliot.

The game will be the 23rd meeting of the two schools, but the Illini haven't defeated the Hawkeyes since 1937. However, Orange and Blue supporters look favorably on their team for victory tomorrow on the basis of its 20-13 victory over Minnesota last Saturday.

SMU, TEMPLE TIE: DALLAS, Oct. 16—(P)—Southern Methodist's Mustangs held Temple University from Philadelphia to a 6-6 tie in the Cotton Bowl tonight. The visiting Owls, getting hot in the second half, easily scored their touchdown and came within an ace of getting another. A slim crowd of only 2,000 watched.

Bernie Bierman singled Elmer out for special mention after the Seahawks' 26-11 victory over Michigan. "He caused us a lot of trouble," said laconic Bernie.

Down Sports Trail

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

Wide World Sports Columnist: NEW YORK, Oct. 16—We had an idea that football scouting would shrink somewhat this fall, but we had no idea the colleges would cooperate in this shrinkage to the extent of sending out gents equipped with spy glasses, graphs and fever charts to get the inside dope on empty stadiums.

Cornell provides exhibit "A" of the new practice of scouting the little game that wasn't there, and after pondering the details of the particular incident we think we've found out what's wrong with the Big Red this year. It just doesn't know where it's going.

Coach Carl Snavely called upon Eddie Pierce to look over the Penn-Yale game a week ago to see if that big stiff and Bob Odell were as good as they are cracked up to be, and Mr. Pierce came back with a fine report on the status of William Penn and how Franklin field looks in repose.

Mr. Pierce went to Philadelphia for the game instead of New Haven, but we'll be glad to help him out of his difficulties. We can tell him, for instance, that Bob Odell moves rapidly forward, one foot at a time, but that he needs handles for the ball, and that Bert Stiff not only runs his own interference, but is so full of the old zip that he has a hard time from keeping from slipping through his interference and tackling himself.

Mr. Pierce is a gentleman after our own heart. As a guy who was lost in the New York subway for three days, subsisting only on chicken sandwiches, cold plate lunches, leg of lamb, bread and butter, pie and coffee, which we luckily discovered cached at numerous lunch counters, we can sympathize with anyone who doesn't know where he's going.

We have a wayward idea that perhaps Mr. Pierce was misled direct by malice aforethought, Mr. Snavely figuring that no news is good news, and that if Mr. Pierce had nothing to report but travel conditions and how it feels to watch a game between two teams that aren't there, it would be

Bay Towners Set for Tilt In Ishpeming

ISHPEMING, Oct. 16—It will be farewell to 1942 football for Ishpeming Saturday afternoon when the Gladstone entry comes here to renew their athletic rivalry. The kickoff is at 2:30.

It promises to be a hard-fought affair, but in the Ishpeming camp, which is at full strength, there is belief that the edge should be in the Hematites' favor.

Two games have been lost by the Watson outfit, which dropped decisions to Iron Mountain and Calumet. It showed superiority over Soo, Negaunee and Marquette.

With the county championship in its pocket, regardless of the outcome of the Negaunee-Marquette affair at the county seat the same day, Ishpeming has no title to gain Saturday, but would enjoy the comfortable feeling that comes with having knocked the ears off a respected foe.

To Erect Bleachers: Bleachers will be erected at the municipal playgrounds for accommodation of the fans. The high school band will lend color to the occasion, parading to the area from the school and putting on its formations and program between halves. Director Pixley also has his musicians well rehearsed in the "Victory Song" in the expectation it will be needed to mark Ishpeming touchdowns.

Senate Delays Passage Of Draft Change

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—The Senate military committee unanimously voted today to draft youths of 18 and 19 today while the House arranged to consider and pass a similar measure tomorrow.

The legislation was requested by President Roosevelt in his speech of last Monday. Foreseeing little or no opposition, Congressional leaders set about placing the bill in Mr. Roosevelt's hands at the earliest possible moment.

While the House stood ready to act at once, an obstacle to immediate passage arose today in the Senate. Senator McNary (R-Ore), Republican floor leader, pointed out that many members of the Senate returned to their states a week ago upon the assurance of the Administration leadership that no major legislation would be taken up for several weeks.

To Delay Consideration

Under the circumstances, although heartily in favor of the bill, McNary said he would feel obliged to oppose any motion to take the bill up until the absentees have been notified and given an opportunity to return.

Thus, while Senate leaders had planned to bring the bill before the Senate on Tuesday, it appeared that it probably would not come up before Thursday or Friday, or possibly not until the following week. The measure approved by the Senate committee today was drafted by Senator Gurney (R-SD). It would amend the selective service act to make the draft apply to men between 18 to 45 years old—instead of 20 to 45, as at present.

It includes a provision that students at a high school or similar educational institution, if ordered to report for induction during the second half of their school year, shall upon request receive deferment until the academic year is ended.

Debate Over Clause Likely

This clause was the source of one of two controversies foreseen in connection with the bill. The House bill, by contrast, would grant students at high schools, colleges and universities deferment, whenever called, until the end of the present academic year. After July 1, 1943, no educational deferments would be granted.

The second controversy involved a proposal which was rejected by the military committee of both Houses. It would forbid the Army to send soldiers into combat with less than a year's training. It was expected that this plan would be revived on the floor of both House and Senate.

Urges Mandatory Deferment

Some members of the rules committee objected to the fact that the bill includes no 12-month training provision, and there was criticism of the way in which the educational deferment section was worded.

Representative Colmer (D-Miss) objected that the measure left it up to the students, themselves, to decide whether they would ask deferment. He suggested a mandatory deferment clause. Rep. Michener (R-Mich) backed Colmer, saying "why put the boy in the position of being called a slacker or a shirker if he claims that deferment?"

British Planes Drop Big Bombs on Cologne

LONDON, Oct. 16—(AP)—Hundreds of the RAF's four-motored planes bombed Cologne last night with two-ton block-buster explosives in a determined effort to keep the broken Rhine land capital from rising from its ashes.

It was the first time Cologne had been a specific target since the night of May 30 when a force of 1,130 British planes obliterated large sections of the city.

The RAF and RCAF lost 18 planes over Cologne and other Rhine land targets. German radio broadcasts claimed that 22 British bombers were downed, some of them by night fighters, and that "fully one-fourth" of the attacking force was destroyed.

Canadian fliers on their way home from Cologne said that the fires set in the city were visible almost as far as the North sea coast.

They indicated that the attack achieved a considerable element of surprise, for anti-aircraft fire and searchlight operation was comparatively light when the first planes reached Cologne.

Later the ground fire became heavy and night fighters appeared.

Victory Tax Approved In Conference

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—The biggest tax increase ever voted on individuals—the five per cent victory levy on all income above $624 yearly—won approval today of a joint conference committee rapidly adjusting Senate and House differences over the new revenue bill.

With only minor changes, the committee agreed to accept the new tax written into the bill by the Senate in place of a House-approved provision for a five per cent withholding levy on wages, interest and dividends. The latter would have served merely to advance the collection of the regular income tax.

Provides Post-War Rebates

The victory levy, softened somewhat by provisions for post-war rebates as well as current credits for debt reduction, insurance payments and bond purchases, is geared to raise from $3,100,000,000 to $3,600,000,000 yearly.

Of this amount, the Treasury would retain from $2,000,000,000 to $2,500,000,000 under varying estimates, rebating the remainder to taxpayers. Legislators said this was the biggest single tax increase on individuals in history.

Specifically, it would add $70.25 net to the yearly tax bill of a single person with $2,500 gross income, $56.28 to the bill for a married person with no dependents, and the same income and $52.53 to the amount paid by a married person with two dependents. This would be in addition to the increased income tax rates already agreed upon by the two Houses in passing measures that varied in some respects.

The committee agreed to make minor changes in the methods of withholding the new tax, eliminating provisions which would have required the levy to be withheld at the source on fees paid to public officials.

$50 for Each Dependent

Aiming toward complete agreement on the terms of the measures by tomorrow, the conference group compromised between Senate and House figures to fix $50 as the credit to be taken by income taxpayers for each dependent. The law now allows $400 and the House had voted to retain that figure, but the Senate cut the amount to $50.

Both Houses previously had voted to cut the basic exemption of $750 for single persons to $500 and the $1,500 for married persons to $1,200.

Allied Drive Prepared In Egypt: Axis

By Noland Norgaard

LONDON, Oct. 16—(AP)—Axis radio reported unhesitatingly today that a new Allied offensive was being prepared in Egypt in which United States troops would play a big role, explaining in part the furious air assaults on Malta which has cost the Axis 97 planes this week.

Malta's swarm of Spitfires downed 14 more Axis attackers Thursday.

Two submarines of the Mediterranean fleet sank three enemy supply ships and damaged four others. RAF fighters and bombers attacked enemy supply columns moving to the Alamein front 80 miles from Alexandria and the bases at Tobruk, Salum and Sidi Haneish.

The intensive assaults on Malta started Sunday with all the appearance of a defensive screen for German sea trains carrying reinforcements and supplies to the desert forces of Marshal Erwin Rommel. The successful submarine attacks seemed to bear out this view.

The German-controlled Paris radio was heard speculating that the visit to London of Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, the South African premier, was connected with Allied plans to open a new offensive in North Africa in the early future.

The uneasy lull in Egypt continued, but there were indications that Rommel still was receiving reinforcements by air. A British communiqué today reported a Junkers 52 troop carrier was destroyed south of Crete.

Axis Planes Intercepted
Bomb-carrying Messerschmitts were used mainly against Malta yesterday in waves of up to 60 planes, but the defenders intercepted most of them well out at sea.

The bag of 14 included five Junkers-88s, seven Messerschmitt-109s and two Macchi-202s. Numerous others were damaged severely in the five raids during which the British lost but four planes and only one pilot.

Nazis Report Hostilities In Dakar Region

LONDON, Oct. 17—(Saturday)—The Vichy radio announced last night that a French naval officer was killed in combat over West Africa last Sunday, and the Germans prefaced their broadcast of this news with a statement saying "fighting activities have started over Dakar."

Captain Dailliere, described as a flight officer stationed at the strategic base of Dakar, died in an aerial engagement, and while neither Vichy nor Berlin identified his opponent, their meaning was clear—that a member of the United Nations had shot down the Vichy airman.

Fighting French and British military sources here said "no comment" on the report.

For weeks now the Germans have been warning of an impending Allied (Turn to Page 8, Column 4)

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), Oct. 16—(AP)—A Domei dispatch to Tokyo reported today that "the entire island of Borneo has now been freed from enemy forces."

Japs Shell U. S. Positions On Guadalcanal; Americans' Peril Growing; Bombers Blast Kiska

Army Troops Extend Hold In Aleutians

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(By A. P.)—Raining explosive and incendiary bombs on Kiska, American Army bombers are still pounding the last precarious foothold of the Japanese in the Aleutians without interference from enemy warplanes, the Navy reported today.

Many large fires were started by the incendiaries, loosed over the invaders' camp October 14 by four-engined Consolidated Liberators, following up a raid October 11 in which the long-range bombers dropped six tons of demolition bombs on the camp.

The results of the earlier raid were not observed, but the airman reported success with the incendiaries in the second expedition. They were accompanied by speedy, heavily-armed Lockheed Lightning fighter planes which used their machine guns and 37 mm. cannon to destroy three enemy seaplanes caught on the water. One of the American fighters, however, was lost, apparently to enemy anti-aircraft fire.

The planes were operating from advanced bases in the Andreanof group of the Aleutians. The Alaskan defense command disclosed today that Army troops, operating under Navy command, had extended their positions by occupation of another of the Andreanof islands, in what was described as a "routine operation."

This occupation was accomplished without opposition, said the announcement, and the troops experienced no difficulty in landing. A solitary enemy plane flew over the new position not long after it was occupied, and dropped two bombs, but they caused no casualties.

137 Lost In Torpedoing Off Canada

SYDNEY, N. S., Oct. 16—(AP)—Torpedoed in darkness, the Newfoundland-Nova Scotia ferry steamship Caribou was sunk in Cabot strait October 14 with the loss of 137 lives in the greatest announced marine disaster of this war in the coastal waters fringing on Canada.

Canadian naval craft saved 101 passengers and crewmen after the 2,200-ton ship, owned by the Newfoundland government, had been sent to the bottom of the sea near the end of her overnight run from North Sydney, N. S., to Port Aux Basques, Newfoundland.

The victims included eight U. S. service men and five American civilians. The others who lost their lives included women and children, Canadian service men, the Caribou's skipper, Capt. Benjamin Tavernier, and his two sons, both officers on the ship.

The sinking raised to 494 the Associated Press count of announced Allied ship losses in the Western Atlantic since December 7, 1941.

The survivors, landed here the day of the sinking, told how the captain steered his settling craft at the surface in an apparent effort to ram the attacker. But the Caribou slid under before she could get her icebreaker's prow against the U-boat's hull.

In surfacing the submarines were believed to have contributed to the loss of life by capsizing one or two rafts and smashing a lifeboat.

Reoccupation of Burma Planned by Allies?

NEW DELHI, Oct. 16—(AP)—Extensive reconnaissance into Burma and the strengthening of Allied forces trained in "traveling light and living on the country," heightened speculation here tonight on the prospects of a United Nations offensive to drive the Japanese out of Burma.

The belief that some major operation is pending was heightened by the return of General Sir Archibald Wavell, commander-in-chief of India, from a tour of inspection which took him across the Burma frontier.

The general appeared satisfied with what he had seen, and a spokesman said his journey "was a practical illustration of his recent statement that the reoccupation of Burma is now foremost in his mind."

A favorable turn of the weather and the strengthening of Allied air forces along the northeast frontier were other factors leading to a belief that an effort to clean up Burma and reopen the all-important Burma road of supply to China would not be long delayed.

The monsoon rains are ending and the season best suited to campaigning is at hand.

Reds Retreat From Section Of Stalingrad

By Henry C. Cassidy

MOSCOW, Oct. 17—(Saturday)—"The Stalingrad garrison withdrew from one of the city's settlements" yesterday under the pressure of thousands of "numerically superior" German shock troops who were supported by hundreds of tanks and planes in their furious new effort to split the Red army defenders.

A midnight communique announcing the third Russian withdrawal in two days emphasized the peril to the Volga river city now in its 64th day of siege, and the Russians had abandoned the factory district of northern Stalingrad.

"In the Stalingrad area," the bulletin said, "our troops are repulsing furious attacks by numerically superior enemy forces. According to preliminary data during the day we destroyed 43 German tanks and annihilated about a regiment of enemy infantry."

"After stubborn fighting our units withdrew from one of the city's settlements."

Little Fighting Above City

The Russians said there was only "fighting of local significance" northwest of the city where a Red army offensive against the Nazi flank has been under way for weeks in an effort to ease the pressure on Stalingrad.

Two companies of Nazi infantry and 200 Rumanians were killed in that sector, and Red army artillery was reported to have destroyed five tanks, four mortars, 16 machine guns, two anti-tank guns and 28 enemy blockhouses.

Indecisive but heavy fighting continued also in the Mzokok sector of the mid-Caucasus where the Russians said they killed approximately 400 Germans and destroyed five tanks and an ammunition dump.

On the only other fronts mentioned the communique said 600 enemy troops were slain on the front west of Moscow "by our artillery reconnaissance units and snipers," and the Germans also suffered "many dead" in an unsuccessful attack on the Leningrad front.

The critical situation at Stalingrad was stressed in dispatches which said the Germans were driving (Turn to Page 8, Column 5)

Actor Errol Flynn Accused Of Raping 17-Year-Old Girl

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16—(AP)—Errol Flynn, swashbuckling film star, surrendered today on a charge of raping a 17-year-old girl at a party and was released under $1,000 bail.

"I'm bewildered," he told reporters. "I can't understand it. I hardly touched the girl."

The complaint, issued by District Attorney John F. Dockweiler, after the county grand jury had failed to indict Flynn yesterday, charged him with raping Betty Hansen, 17, at the Bel Air mansion of Fred McEvoy, wealthy British sportsman and former Olympic bobbed champion, the night of September 27.

She had come here recently from Lincoln, Neb., to live with a sister, Mrs. Jack Marsden.

"It is obvious," said Dockweiler, "that the grand jurors have not considered the evidence, for, from a study of it, I am convinced that this is as airtight a case of its kind as ever has been presented to my office."

Three Others Admit Attacks

Similarly charged and also released on bail were three employees of the studio where Flynn is under contract, Armand Knapp, 18; Morrie Black, 22; and Joseph Gerardi, 20. Dockweiler said they had confessed attacking the Hansen girl after the night of the party.

In California the legally-termed age of consent is 18 years. A sexual offense against a girl under that age, regardless of consent, becomes statutory rape, the district attorney's office explained.

Juvenile Officer Dorothy Pallas and Police Sgts. Edward Walker and R. W. Bowling said Miss Hansen, who disappeared from her sister's home a month ago and was found by police, told the following story:

"When I left my sister's home, I got a job in a drug store. I met Knapp there. He offered to introduce me to Errol Flynn, whom I had always admired on the screen. I asked my boss for time off. He refused to let me go. Knapp told me to quit and come anyway, that Flynn would get me a job.

"With 'Chichi,' Knapp and I went to the McEvoy estate. We were not invited, but they seemed glad to see us. 'Bus' Wiles, Flynn's friend and stunt man, asked us to stay for dinner."

"Didn't Struggle Very Hard"

"Knapp went away and came back with a Miss Boyer. He had dinner. Knapp had told me to take a drink, and I did. After dinner we went into the living room. Flynn began showing me attention. He told me he was very fond of me and would get me a job.

"He asked me to go upstairs with him. 'Flynn disrobed and then assisted me in taking off my clothes. I protested against what he did to me then, but I did not struggle very hard. Later we went back downstairs and he told me he would call me the next night. I waited for three nights, but he never called."

Violent Disorders Against Nazi Conquerors Reported

By William B. King

LONDON, Oct. 16—(AP)—Violent disorders against Nazi repressive measures and brutal reprisals were reported today from many parts of oppressed Europe.

France—French workers were reported in revolt against the Laval government's conscription of labor for Germany in unoccupied territory. Bombs were thrown, blood flowed and police were called out to quell riots. Lyon, Chambery and Annecy were the trouble centers. Troops occupied railway stations.

Norway—The German submarine building base at Trondheim, site of 24 recent executions, was reported by the Moscow radio to have been burned out of commission for a long time.

Another report said the Germans had ordered radio sets confiscated from members of Quisling's party in border districts because some Norwegians could not be trusted to "enemy broadcasts." The Quisling government confined 1,100 clergymen and replaced them with Quislingists. The Norwegians reported 70 Germans killed at the recent RAF bombing in Oslo.

500 Serbs Executed

Yugoslavia—Balkan sources said the Germans executed 500 Serbs charged with insurrection. Occupation forces were increased. More than 800 were arrested last night in Belgrade and reported implicated in a widespread revolutionary plot.

Turkish reports told of prolonged pitched battles near Sarajevo, birthplace of the last World War, between Axis forces and patriots under Gen. Draja Mihailovic. The nearby mining towns of Kupres and Forcha on the south bank of the Drina river were reported, practically destroyed, with their important installations in artillery and tank battles between the patriots and Axis troops. The battles in the towns of 25,000 population were reported to have ceased 15 days in July.

The big steel rolling plant at nearby Zenica which was producing German arms has been reported idle since the battle.

Mass Killings of Russians

Occupied Russia—Stories of Nazi savagery dwarfed the punitive measures in western Europe. Russian reports said conditions imposed in German prison camps amounted to mass killings. The Moscow radio quoted excerpts from German newspapers which reported that Latvian and Estonian pe-

Large Enemy Fleet Sighted In Solomons

By William F. Frye

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(By A. P.)—The peril of American troops in the Solomons increased ominously today as the Japanese, having landed large reinforcements with heavy equipment on Guadalcanal, began shelling the American positions there with field artillery.

Moreover, the Navy reported in a communique that a large group of enemy ships had been sighted near Shortland island in the northwestern Solomons in addition to the various units of transports and warships which have been pouring men ashore and shelling the American emplacements on Guadalcanal.

Details of the bitter ground fighting were lacking, however, and there was no indication that the Japanese, although heavily reinforced with troops and equipment, had succeeded thus far in forcing the Marines out of any of the territory they had occupied.

Knox Hopes For Victory

A cautious expression of hope for victory was voiced late today by Secretary of the Navy Knox. Asked at a press conference whether he thought the American positions could be held, he replied:

"I certainly hope so, I expect so. I don't want to make any predictions, but every man will give a good account of himself."

When a reporter, misunderstanding him, asked Knox if he had said "rather sharply," "oh, don't try to pin me down on a specific word."

"Of course, every American hopes we will win," he added, "but there's no concealing there's a good stiff, tough fight on, which has not yet been determined."

Until today, there has been no indication that the Japanese possessed any artillery to turn against the American forces since the Marines, with Navy support, launched their surprise attack and wrested the important Guadalcanal-Tulagi area from the enemy early in August.

Torpedo Boats Attack Warships

For obvious reasons, the Navy gave no hint of any counter measures planned to nullify the renewed Japanese offensive now in its fifth critical day. However, it was recalled here that Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, has said only yesterday at Pearl Harbor that the Marines on Guadalcanal were "effectively meeting every force that the enemy has hurled at them."

The communique this afternoon disclosed for the first time that some of the Navy's motor torpedo boats, of a type which scored so heavily against the Japanese invasion fleets in the Philippines last winter, were operating with the American forces in the Solomons.

Enemy warships shelling the Army-Navy-Marine forces on Guadalcanal from positions northward of the island on the night of October 14-15 were attacked by the torpedo boats, which reported a probable hit on a cruiser.

Battle May Decide War's Course

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 16—(AP)—The Battle of Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons is shaping itself into one of the decisive engagements in the war in the Pacific. There is every indication that it may decide the course of the war between Japan and the United States.

Two months of infiltration tactics, such as used successfully in the Malayan campaign, have failed to dislodge the American Marines from their 15-mile foothold on Guadalcanal, an island 80 miles long, and now the enemy has launched an all-out fight, bringing into action its full might on the southwest Pacific.

Tremendous forces are being brought into play by both sides. Japan already has committed its battleships and spread its sea and air attacks to supporting American bases east of Guadalcanal, such as the New Hebrides. Large Jap Force Available
For months American air power has been hitting the enemy's platforms of offensive strength in the Bismarck archipelago and the northwestern Solomons. Japanese landings of heavy troops, including artillery, and the (Turn to Page 8, Column 2)

Flight School Transferred To Escanaba

The Civilian Pilots' Training school, which has been in operation here under the supervision of Sigurd O. Wilson, flight instructor, and C. B. Hedgcock, coordinator, since the fall of 1939, will be transferred to Escanaba November 1 because of the necessity of finding better weather conditions to expedite the training of fliers for the Army and Navy.

"I regret very much that it is necessary to transfer the school from the Marquette county airport," Wilson said yesterday, "but the pressure of completing the preliminary CPT course and turning out fliers under military regulations in half the time we formerly were allotted requires a change to a location where flying conditions will be considerably better."

Wilson said that Escanaba's milder winters and the difference in altitude, 640 feet above sea level compared with 1,412 at the Marquette county airport, were factors which led to the decision to move the school.

NMCE Extension Division
The flight instructor staff, Wilson, J. L. McCarthy, Milwaukee; Ole Norstrom, Escanaba; and Luther West, Appleton, Wis., which will be augmented soon by three additional instructors, will be on full-time duty in Escanaba, effective November 1, and the ground school instruction will be handled by the establishment of an extension division of Northern Michigan College of Education in charge of Hedgcock, who also will be on full time duty there.

Two other members of the Northern Michigan faculty have rearranged their schedules to permit them to spend three days a week in Escanaba. They will commute and will continue their regular classes in other subjects at Northern under a revised schedule.

The fact that the Federal Government requires completion of the preliminary course in eight weeks instead of 16 weeks, as was the policy before wartime pressure was applied, is responsible for the change, Wilson said.

102 Men Trained Here
"Under existing weather conditions at the Marquette county airport, we cannot depend upon sufficient favorable flying time during winter months to complete the course in eight weeks," he said. "Formerly, despite uncertain weather, we were able to do it in 16 weeks."

Since the school opened here, Wilson and his staff have turned out 102 fliers. There have been seven classes of students consisting of 10 students. Some have been 20-student classes. The current one, which is the eighth class, has 21 students and will be increased November 1 to 32—and possibly more later on, pending developments in Escanaba, where preparations are being made rapidly to handle the class.

For the time being, Wilson said, ground school classes will not be conducted at the Escanaba airport, but at some building in the city. It is planned to hold classes at the airport as soon as possible, because it would be advantageous in expediting completion of each course to have the school centralized.

Transportation Problem Here
One of the disadvantages of the setup in Marquette county was the transportation problem. In addition to inclement weather in the winter, transportation had to be provided for the students from their rooming and boarding place to the airport, a distance of more than eight miles. Classes were held at the college, also eight miles from the airport.

Wilson said that moving the school to Escanaba would result in the closing of the county airport because civilian use of the port is not sufficient to warrant keeping it open. There are only two civilian-owned planes at the airport. Although the transfer represents a loss to the city and the county, it will "save" the county $2,000, which this month was appropriated by the board of supervisors for upkeep of the county airport in 1943.

State Employees Not Affected by Ruling

LANSING, Oct. 16.—The state civil service commission and budget department received a legal opinion today that 18,000 state employees were not covered by President Roosevelt's wage and salary freezing order.

Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Dunn declared that normally the act does not apply to governmental agencies unless specifically included, and that no such coverage is found in the Federal statutes giving the President power to control compensation. The act mentions only an "employer or corporation," he said.

C. J. MacNeill, acting budget director, said he would accept Dunn's ruling and begin immediately to pass on a pile of pay increase requests which he has been holding pending a determination of the legal problems involved.

The opinion said the order freezing wages and salaries over $5,000 applied only to employees who come under the Federal social security act or jurisdiction of the War Labor Board, neither of which has jurisdiction over state workers.

Draft Board Places 63 Men in 1-A

In preparation for meeting a large November quota and subsequent quotas, the Marquette county draft board has classified the following 63 men in 1-A:

John William Franke, LeRoy George Windahl, Alven Anderson, Ralph Henry Tietz, James C. Butler, Clarence P. Quayle, John M. Hill, Rudolph R. Saari, Dennis E. Sullivan, Charles S. Waisanen, Daniel J. to accommodate Wilson's planes began yesterday under the direction of A. V. Aronson, Escanaba city power Taylorcrafts and one 65-horsepower Cub trainer. At least two more will be procured.

Thursday night the Escanaba city council authorized expenditure of $4,000 for improvements at the airport. Dr. Henry A. Tape and I. O. Gant, president and registrar, respectively, of Northern Michigan College, conferred this week with Escanaba officials in making plans for the transfer.

Included in improvement work at the airport in Escanaba is the roofing and construction of doors for four hangars which now have only sidewalls. Construction of a barracks building for the students is under consideration.

The only other CPT school in the Upper Peninsula is located at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology in Houghton. Training of student fliers is part of a Federal plan for providing preliminary instruction for men preparing to fly for the Army, Navy or Marine corps.

KC Ceremony Tomorrow In Iron Mountain

PATRICK L. BENNETT

Joseph P. Harrington, president of the Upper Peninsula Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus association, and Patrick L. Bennett, faithful navigator of the Marquette General Assembly, will attend the exemplification of the Fourth Degree to be held in Iron Mountain tomorrow.

The degree work will begin promptly at 1:30 and will be followed by a banquet. It is expected that more than 40 candidates will take the degree and it will be conferred by a new Fourth Degree team composed of Upper Peninsula m. m. E. J. Lafreniere, faithful controller of the Marquette General Assembly, is a member of the team. The Michigan Master of the Fourth Degree, Martin B. Galvin, Grosse Ile, will have charge of the degree work.

A large delegation of Marquette Knights will attend the ceremony and degree candidates from this district are William J. Balmes, Jr., Marquette; Dominic Dighera, Negaunee; John Oswald, Ishpeming; and James Clancey, Negaunee. It is expected that the Iron Mountain ceremony will be attended by knights from all parts of the Upper Peninsula and from several towns in Wisconsin. In all probability this will be the last Fourth Degree exemplification in the Upper Peninsula until after the war, officers of the Marquette General Assembly said yesterday. The Marquette Assembly comprises Marquette, Ishpeming, Negaunee, Munising and Sault Ste. Marie.

USES, FSA Adopt New Plan To Procure Farm Workers

The U. S. Employment Service and Farm Security Administration are cooperating in a new plan to help farmers obtain workers for the harvest of vital war crops and to help farm workers procure jobs with a minimum of difficulty.

The employment service will recruit the workers, it was explained here yesterday, and the FSA will arrange to transport and assist in housing workers who must be brought in from distances of more than 200 miles.

The plan follows: A farmer who needs workers will apply to his local employment service office. In Marquette the office is located in the Kaufman building. If not enough workers can be recruited within 200 miles, the USES will explain to the farmer the conditions under which the Government will bring workers in from "outside."

Cooperative Agreement
Workers will be transported, as a rule, only in groups of 100 or more, only when needed for at least 30 days and only to groups of farmers who have pooled their individual needs. Farmers must sign a cooperative agreement with the FSA and show evidence of their ability to carry out their part of the agreement, which consists of payment of prevailing wages, not less than 30 cents an hour; guarantee employment for at least three-fourths of the time they want workers; provide housing when FSA migratory labor camps are not available; permit workers to buy food and other provisions whenever they choose and pay $5 for each worker as their share of the transportation cost.

The USES will explain the "set-up" to the workers, and those who agree to take the jobs will be given transportation by bus or train to and from the work areas. Free food and medical care will be provided during the time of traveling. Workers must agree to work for the wages agreed to by the farmers, and those who break the

Funeral Expenses For Home Guard Sought

LANSING, Oct. 16.—The state administrative board will be asked to approve a $300 expenditure to defray funeral expenses of Private Donald K. Sinclair, Detroit, who was said to have shot himself accidentally while on sentry duty.

The board's finance committee said Sinclair was the first member of the Michigan state troops to lose his life in line of duty since the war was started.

Navy Parade, Show Here October 27

The Navy Veterans Committee for Recruiting, with a membership of about 30 to date, has joined hands with Richard M. Jopling post, American Legion, in preparing for the celebration of Navy Day here on October 27. It was announced yesterday by Dan Vaughan, chairman of the committee.

The celebration will include an early-evening parade, followed by an indoor entertainment. Plans for the parade are in the hands of the Legion post with Commander Jack Milnar, Navy Day chairman, in charge. The program for the indoor show, details of which will be announced in a few days, will be prepared by the Navy Veterans Committee.

Band, Drum Corps in Parade
The Legion drum corps and Gravenet high school band will furnish music for the parade. In the procession will be marching units of Coast Guards in training at the Marquette base; a Navy color guard composed of Navy veterans, and other uniformed groups. Parents of all Marquette men serving in the Navy will be invited to ride in the parade. The Veterans Committee is preparing a list of Marquette men in the Navy and will send written invitations to their parents to take part in the parade.

The program for the indoor show will include addresses by two Navy officers who will come here from Chicago and it will be highlighted by moving pictures released by the Navy.

Recruiting Signs
To help speed up enlistment of young men in the Navy the Veterans Committee is placing attractive signs at "strategic" outdoor points in downtown Marquette and members of the committee will display Navy posters in the windows of their homes and stores. The outdoor signs were made at the Marquette prison and their distribution is in the hands of a poster committee composed of Angus Nault, R. T. Young and Charles Beaudry, Jr.

Sub-recruiting stations, or information centers, will be opened Monday night, from 7:30 to 9 p. m., in charge of former Navy men who will be prepared to give information concerning the Navy to young men interested in enlisting. At the Jones & Frei Chevrolet agency on Spring street, Clayton Frei, former storekeeper in the Navy, Chief Yeoman Hoffenbacher and Asst. Paymaster Dan Vaughan will be on hand to tell prospective recruits what the Navy offers to men interested in short-hand, typewriting and clerical work of all kinds.

Angus Grant, chief electrician, Charles Beaudry, chief radio officer and Jack Liberty, radioman, who are well versed in the radio and electricians' branches of Navy service, will be stationed at Grant's flower shop on Third street, 17 to 50 Acker Street.

Office of Phil Spear, S. E. Lantto and Sam Tourville, who served in the Navy as firemen and engineering men, will be ready to give information based on their experience.

These men also are prepared to answer questions covering other branches of Naval service and all men from 17 to 50 years of age are invited to consult them and learn what the Navy has to offer.

The Navy Veterans Committee will meet next Wednesday night in the Pine room of the Clifton hotel. New members of the committee are George Jepson, J. D. Hoffenbacher, Carl Oien, W. H. Chubb and Eral-Bystrom.

LANSING, Oct. 16—P—The state health and welfare committee of the state council of defense, warned that upwards of 165,000 women will take industrial jobs within the next year, today moved to speed Michigan's program for day care of children whose mothers will be war workers.

As its organizational meeting, the group authorized Chairman John D. O'Connell, director of the state state, the job Kelly now holds, he also gave outstanding service. "I don't," Dickinson declared, "think the present Governor has the right enthusiasm for his job."

301 Predators Taken in U. P. Last Month

A predator take last month of 10 wolves, 245 coyotes and 46 bobcats boosted the total capture in the Upper Peninsula for the season to October 1 to 21 wolves, 949 coyotes and 178 cats, the regional office of the state conservation department reported yesterday.

Thirty-nine coyotes and three bobcats were caught in Marquette county in September. The greatest combined take, however, was in Iron county where trappers got two wolves, 46 coyotes and six cats.

The September report for each county follows:

Change Made In Consumer Credit Rules

The board of governors of the Federal Reserve System has adopted Amendment No. 9 to Regulation W, relating to consumer credit, J. N. Peyton, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, announced yesterday. This amendment, which becomes effective October 26, 1942, is designed to improve the practical workings of the regulation.

One of the changes relates to the sending out of listed articles on approval. "This may not be done if the customer's charge account is in default under the regulation; and if it is an installment sale that is in contemplation, the seller must obtain, at or before the time of delivery, a deposit equal to the required down payment."

Another change permits delivery of small listed articles costing no more than $5 to charge account customers even though the merchant does not check the accounts before delivery to see if they are in default, provided the merchant promptly requests any customer whose account he finds to be in default to return his purchase or pay for it immediately. This change is designed to facilitate the operations of merchants who at busy times have found it physically impossible to check accounts before making deliveries.

A third change permits credit sales to customers whose charge accounts are in default by amounts less than $2. This change is designed to relieve both merchants and customers from a requirement that is frequently bothersome out of all proportion to its importance.

The meeting has been called by Grant R. McCauley, commander of the Marquette county chapter. "The state department commander, Earl C. Anderson, Muskegon, and the national rehabilitation officer, Sydney J. Allen, Detroit, will discuss in detail many vital points of the new legislation," McCauley said yesterday.

Burns Offers Trucks For Scrap Drive

In response to an appeal by the Marquette county salvage committee for trucks to assist in the harvest of scrap in rural areas, Edward Burns, of Burns and Company, has offered the use of two large trucks, with drivers and helpers, at least once a week.

The appeal for trucks went out after reports to the salvage committee showed more than 250 tons of scrap metal were collected and stored at rural scrap depots as a result of a harvest drive, which is still underway. Only two trucks, donated by the Horrigan Oil company and the Wadhams Oil company, had been available for hauling scrap to Marquette and Ishpeming junk dealers.

W. J. Weber, chairman of the county committee, yesterday commended the three companies for donating the use of their trucks, but stressed the need for more.

Must "Beat The Snow"
"In times like these, when tire and gasoline restrictions make truck operation a problem, it certainly shows a fine spirit of cooperation and patriotism when these three companies have volunteered the regular use of their trucks for this essential war endeavor," Weber said.

Every effort is being expended to see that rural scrap is gathered up before snow covers it.

An appeal to some 300 owners have been affected by the fast changing conditions," he added. Refreshments will be provided by the chapter, and a social hour will follow the business meeting.

Educational System In Peril, Governor Says

SAGINAW, Oct. 16—(AP)—Governor Van Wagener, in a campaign address here tonight, asserted "our entire Michigan educational system is threatened with a breakdown, as war dislocations press against this inefficient school administrative structure."

"The real victims," Van Wagener said, are the children of the state.

The Governor declared "it is no credit to our state that school aid is, to a large extent, a political favoritism matter today. It is no credit to Michigan that waste and duplication, and unfairness to teachers, and shirking of local tax support, is widespread in our state, and is publicly admitted by educational leaders."

Declaring that if local control of education is to continue, local districts must stop "unloading" financial responsibility on the state, Van Wagener said money could be saved by consolidation of school districts and elimination of poor business practices in education.

The Democratic state ticket, including U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown, will be together for the remainder of the campaign.

SAURDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1942

State Pay and Wages

The civil service commission has been approached by union representatives of state employes with request for wage increases that call for an increase of approximately $5,000,000 in payroll disbursements.

The likelihood that they will be granted is remote. But, irrespective of the demands of union leaders, the commission is confronted by necessity of increasing pay in some divisions of state employment, to prevent deterioration of service.

Pay for state jobs is less than many persons now filling them could obtain in other employment. But offsetting this in considerable measure is the condition that under civil service they are assured, as long as they tend to business and turn in fairly good work, of indefinite tenure.

Generally speaking, the average of service received for money paid in state employment is much under that in private employment. Before the advent of civil service jobs were filled for political reasons, with small thought for the ability of those named for them to fill them adequately.

The matter of wage increases in state employment obviously should be approached with great caution. Revenue is now on the downgrade, and higher costs of government will be difficult to meet.

Outlook in New York

A poll undertaken by the New York News on the standing of the candidates for governor in New York shows much the same results as earlier polls reported by the Gallup Institute.

The first news poll—taking account to be sure of but a small number of voters but still representative of the trend in New York City and upstate—shows Dewey with 56.7 per cent support, Bennett with 36.5 and Alfange, the American Labor party candidate, with 6.8.

What is revealed of the outlook in New York raises the question whether it is a particular condition due to Dewey's strength and Democratic interneine strife, or a reflection of a nation-wide trend.

Quest For Values

The conservation commission proposes to increase its effort to uncover latent mineral values. It is relatively inexpensive. A single find of even relatively minor importance would justify it many times over.

But working of wonders is not to be expected. The greatest urge in development of natural resources is the commercial urge. Corporations in a single year spend money in effort to uncover mineral resources that dwarfs to insignificance the outlay from public funds.

In the effort to find and develop merchantable values untold millions have gone into the ground with nothing to show for them. The field of probable values has been pretty well explored, and geological knowledge has defined it with close exactitude.

very lack of success prevents future unprofitable expenditure in exploration.

Loyalty Rewarded

Attorney General Biddle's speech dealing with the Italians in America obviously was written with two practical purposes in mind—the tying of resident Italians and persons of Italian ancestry more closely to the cause of the United States and the driving of wedges between Italians and Germans in Europe.

The Department of Justice reports careful investigation has disclosed that among 600,000 Italians resident in this country only 228 have given the slightest grounds for suspecting their loyalty.

Because of it after October 19 Italians will no longer be classed as enemy aliens. This does not mean that dangerous or disloyal persons will no longer be subject to arrest and internment.

In the Tire Business

The Government, now in the tire market, will buy all casings sent to the designated warehouses. If it were to be left at this it might be expected that it would not have to expend large sums.

The Government does not at the moment want cars, and has no present purpose of bidding for them. But it wants the largest possible store of usable tires for issue by rationing boards to those entitled to get them under the prevailing regulations.

Mr. Jeffers, the rubber czar, has made measures to assure that there will be sufficient tires to meet essential transportation needs his principal concern. His effort has two phases, pressure to bring about at the earliest possible time large scale production of synthetic rubber, and conservation of rubber in tires now in use against the time when they will be requisitioned, if this is necessary.

What he has done since he took over his responsibility goes far to confirm the first impression that no better man could have been selected for the job.

Contemporary Opinion

Cars for Wine, But Not for Oil

Three boys, 12 to 15 years, crawled inside a railroad tank car in northeast Minneapolis the other day and got ingloriously drunk on wine.

A tank car is a queer place to get drunk, but that isn't all that's queer about this story. The boys had not taken bottles of wine into the tank car with them.

We need cars to carry oil so desperately that thirty states, including Minnesota, are on rationing—rationing dictating a temperature of not more than 65 degrees this winter in homes heated by oil burners.

A Challenge A group of Cuyahoga county farmers who are really up against it for help have been studying their problem trying to find a solution. The high wages of industry in nearby cities have been luring their men away until some may be forced to give up their usual production of truck and vegetable crops.

This is a fair challenge and one that demands attention. Farmers of this country are not afraid of hard work and long hours, but they are getting short of patience with those who say they must work only 40 hours in a week at a certain rate of pay and can only produce a set amount in those 40 hours else they will be violating some union rule.

Unless we want to fight a World War No. 3 a few years after the end of this World War No. 2, we will have to mend our ways by refusing to adopt a policy of economic isolationism.

The main problem at present is the outcome of the war, not the maintenance of civilian morale and civilian comforts and conveniences.

It is to be confidently expected that the maritime wars of the future will begin in the air and under the surface but that they will progress to a finish on the surface.

do likewise, and soon we will run heading into another world war. Without the test it will come when our new synthetic rubber industry goes before Congress to ask for "protection" behind tariff walls.

Outstate Help Needed

If Wayne county is to clean up its mess of bad government and install a modern streamlined system it must have the help of the rest of the state in gaining approval of the home rule amendment.

Principal objection in rural sections appears to be that this would be an opening wedge for adoption of similar home rule charters in other counties of the state.

It is ridiculous to maintain that Wayne county should continue to labor under a system that requires a county board of 161 members, that calls for a government without direction, that perpetuates a meaningless political system, with spoils the chief objective.

The protest is too just to provoke counterargument. It should be helpful in preventing discrimination.

In this war, the nurses have made shining history. They have faced the hardships and horrors of Bataan and Corregidor, they have added new luster with their names and deeds to our annals of heroism.

Only the enduring tribute of a nation and its fighting men could fully compensate them. This they are assured. But they should be spared any discrimination in the matter of pay.

Price The Officer Pays

Each month Army officers' candid school bags amount to $5,000 more than their commissions as second lieutenants and $150 with which to buy uniforms.

Partly to protect pocketbooks, partly to make uniforms really uniform in color throughout the nation, the first six items on the list were pegged by the Army exchange service on Sept. 15 and sale of this official, or "QM" uniform was limited to 295 authorized retail outlets—mostly department stores—as well as post exchanges.

But the officer is under no compulsion to buy at the authorized outlets. He can cut corners by getting his wardrobe at Army and Navy stores for less. Or he can go to his own tailor and pay more. He can plunk down his entire $150 allotment for a long overcoat alone and pay equally high prices for the rest—$135 for a short coat, $16 for a service cap, and $30 for extra slacks. He can even indulge in the chichi of second lieutenant's bars of solid gold, to the tune of $22.

But whether the shavetail goes all-out or saves wherever possible, he almost invariably exceeds his Army allotment on the minimum requirements. And these don't take into consideration either a change of olive drab uniform and extra shirts, ties, socks and shoes, or any part of his summer uniform, which make total expenditures run even higher.

Similar problems confront the Naval ensign. The Navy gives him a clothing allowance of $250, on which he usually will buy (again at representative prices):

1 blue uniform ..... $40.00 gold braid ..... 8.50 1 cap (with three covers, blue, white) ..... 16.00 1 wool raincoat ..... 49.50 1 set of khakis ..... 18.50 1 set of white ..... 23.75 1 set of buttons ..... 1.40 1 set of shoulder boards ..... 5.50 1 set of white insignia ..... 3.00 3 khaki shirts ..... 9.00 6 pairs khaki socks ..... 3.00 1 white belt ..... .50 1 pair white shoes ..... 7.50 1 pair black shoes ..... 7.50 4 ties ..... 4.00 6 pairs black socks ..... 3.00 3 white shirts ..... 6.75

Though less than $250 is thus spent, an ensign would consider his existence precarious without a change of uniform, and other items, and the tally would begin to mount.—From Newsweek.

NEW YORK—The latest left-handed barber turns up in Menka, Minn., on last night of Melissa Bailey, of St. Clair, Minn. I'm convinced by several hundred left-handers that there are many left-handed barbers and typewriters in the United States, and that there are left-handed people in every art and craft. Well, why shouldn't there be?

In second-hand magazine stores which flourish in Third and Sixth avenues, and in certain areas downtown, I've always observed that the National Geographic has the highest resale value. There are always customers looking for numbers to fill out their files, and willing to pay nicely for them.

And that reminds me that one of the most popular numbers ever published by this magazine was in March, 23 years ago. The entire issue, 280 pages, was devoted to dogs, in the thorough scholarly manner characteristic of the Geographic.

Many hotpots have written from various parts of the country to know where they could pick up some of the hotel help left jobless by the closing of coast hotels when taken over by the armed forces.

I have communicated these requests immediately to the organized hotel industry. I find that all except managerial employes have now been placed.

There is a shortage of waiters, cooks and chefs throughout most of the country. Well, hoteliers, watch the papers. More big hotel help will be taken over, you may be sure. And I'm not giving away Army secrets, either.

Our Heroic War Nurses

In a communication to the News, Lieut. Willie A. Little, an officer in the Nurses' corps at Sheppard Field, refers to a bill pending in Congress to raise the pay of commissioned officers in the WAAC to that received by male officers of the Army.

Not even if they goad you by charging you with having said things you know perfectly well you never said. Not even if they goad and shake their finger in your face and dare you to defend yourself. You will show your superiority by keeping your temper, smiling indulgently or brushing aside their insults with a hearty laugh.

You will let them have the first word and you will make no effort to have the last one. You will assure them that they seem to know, and who are you to question what they say? You will thank them for giving you the facts and putting you straight.

It is a matter of assuming the proper mental attitude, reminding yourself repeatedly that arguments are silly and futile and that it is a credit to you to rise superior to your adversary.

Take this wise course of action and you may go as far as five minutes before you lose your temper, forget your resolution and proceed to go after your tormentor tooth and nail.—Baltimore Sun.

Today And Tomorrow

F.D.R. and the Press

SOMETIME or other when he can manage to get around to it Mr. Roosevelt might find it useful to clarify his ideas about the relations in this war between the Government and the independent press.

Surely this is not going to do anybody much good. We have an independent press in this country, and its faults, which are many and undeniable, will not be corrected by wisecracks. Newspapersmen are human, perhaps all too human, and I cannot help thinking that most of them would respond if they were treated as adult men and not as naughty schoolboys.

It is evident that there is a defect somewhere in the relationship between the President and the Press, and I venture to believe that if we look into it enough, we shall find that we are all suffering, the President and the newspapers, for want of a responsible, well-informed and constructive opposition.

There has been some good criticism in Congress of scattered phases of the war effort. But there has been no leader, unless Mr. Wilkie settles down to become that leader, who has the privilege of knowing all that is going on inside and at the same time the right, which he exercises subject to his conscience and with the help of wise counselors, to ask questions that must be answered and to make proposals that must be considered.

For lack of this kind of dependable opposition, the burden of criticism has fallen almost entirely upon correspondents and editors and commentators. Of course, as the President keeps telling them, they do not know nearly so much about everything as he knows about everything. Of course, they frequently hear only part of the story, say what one of his subordinates thinks and not what all of them think or what he himself thinks, and that must be very annoying and not at all the way things ought to be in a more perfect world.

Scattered Criticism What has been the trouble? The trouble has been that Mr. Roosevelt was in fact too busy with too many things to take hold of these questions and decide who in his official family should settle them. On the outside there was no opposition strong enough to force the issue and end the drifting and compel decisions. There was only cattered private criticism. Much of it was instinctively right, but it was not sufficiently informed and documented to compel a hearing, and even malicious. I can well understand that to the President, who through the dark days of disaster and defeat, carried such a weight of anxiety and of woe so gallantly, the whole of this criticism must have seemed like a swarm of flies buzzing around his head, and that to ask him to discriminate between the gadflies and the midges was perhaps asking too much.

Yet a critical opposition is indispensable, and in so far as it is not made more responsible it will inevitably become more irresponsible. Mr. Roosevelt may discredit his conscientious, even if imperfect, critics, the only result will be to strengthen and multiply his irreconcilable critics.

Same Trouble in London There will have to be more criticism. For it is becoming quite evident that owing to the traffic jam which still exists at the White House, many urgent matters are stalled way down the line. Unfortunately, there is a similar difficulty in London, and in consequence projects languish and decisions are not made which are absolutely necessary to the conduct of the coalition war as a whole and to a healthy evolution of British-American relations specifically.

The affairs of two great states, both of them in the midst of an immense historical movement, cannot be conducted solely on a day-to-day basis by preoccupied men. Yet less preoccupied men have no authority to decide. This is the true cause of the little irritations which are causing many to forget the meaning and the shape of the war, and thus their paramount duty and their vital interest.

Needy School Pupils Given Milk Daily

One of the most important phases of the work of the Visiting Nurse association, one of nine agencies financed by the Marquette Community Chest, is the supplying of milk to school children and to sick persons and children at their homes.

Miss Lillie M. Olson, Marquette's visiting nurse, pointed out yesterday that the association started this project 25 years ago and has maintained it each year since.

The association will receive $2,200 from money donated next week in this city's Chest campaign and of this amount $650 will go toward the milk fund. Last year, Miss Olson said, $768.21 was spent for milk in the schools and $202.16 for milk in homes. Eight thousand quarts were distributed at a total cost of $970.37.

Proper Nourishment
"Our milk project has helped build up the health of children whose parents in many cases would not be able to provide them with proper nourishment," she said. "Many underweight children have made remarkable gains, and the health of the individual child has been benefited greatly."

"During the school year, children needing milk in Marquette are given one pint a day. The school nurse or schools send a list of children, who should have milk, to the Visiting Nurse and the association sees that the amount needed by each school is supplied."

"Last year 142 children in the schools were given milk each school day and a number of homes where milk was needed was supplied monthly."

Association Appreciates Aid
"This association would not be able to carry on its work so thoroughly if it were not for many interested organizations and friends who send generous contributions to help the association care for the children."

"The Visiting Nurse association is most appreciative of their kindnesses," she said, "and will endeavor to continue its work of helping the children whose health depends upon care and nourishment."

Prohibition Party Men Encouraged
After a 10-day tour of the district during which they attended meetings in several towns and cities, Prohibition party candidates, here last night for a county campaign organization meeting, declared they were encouraged by the reception they were given and by the attendance at their party rallies.

Last night's meeting was held in the city hall auditorium and was attended by Dr. F. W. Lough, Prohibition party candidate for attorney general in Indiana; Andrew Asikainen, Gwinn, the party's candidate for representative in Congress from the Twelfth district, and Harold Lindahl, Iron River, candidate for state senator from the Thirty-first district.

"I find the situation very encouraging in this district," Mr. Lough stated. "With a three-way fight on in this district the Prohibition ticket has excellent chance of victory on November 3. Our meetings have been well attended and we have found many men and women who have been voting as Democrats and Republicans who have come to the conclusion that neither party has anything of value to offer and neither has made a satisfactory record in Washington. These dissatisfied voters are being converted to our cause in large numbers."

"We are in this fight to win and I believe we can do it," declared Mr. Lindahl, whose views were echoed by Mr. Asikainen.

Tire Blows Out; Car Wrecked
GLADSTONE, Oct. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nelson, Kalamazoo had a lucky escape from serious injury yesterday afternoon when Nelson lost control of his auto after a tire blew out a short distance south of the Y on U. S. 241, three miles south of Gladstone, and the auto and a trailer which was attached overturned several times. Nelson, a chief petty officer in the U. S. Navy, had been transferred from a recruiting office at Kalamazoo to a hydrographic office at Sault Ste. Marie and was enroute to his new post when the accident occurred.

Civil War Veteran Dies
MEMONIEVE, Oct. 16.—Joseph E. Lemieux, 95, who lived with his daughter, Mrs. Stella Gross, died Wednesday in St. Joseph's hospital after a week's illness. Mr. Lemieux suffered a hip fracture a week ago which resulted in his death. Born in Plattsburg, N. Y., June 20, 1847, Mr. Lemieux had lived in Menominee about 65 years. He was an architect and contractor and designed and erected many buildings in the city, among them the former Leisen and Henes building on Sheridan road, the Richards Hotel, the Charles Spies home and numerous others. He also supervised erection of several buildings in Iron Mountain and Green Bay. Mr. Lemieux was a Civil War veteran. He joined the Union army in 1864, at the age of 17 years and was discharged in 1865.

PUSH-BUTTON HEATER
One man, by merely pressing push-buttons, stokes all the coal-burning boilers in a 47-story New York hotel. The boilers burn pulverized coal and, when a button is pushed, exactly the right amount of coal to keep the fire at proper heat is automatically released from the bunkers to the fire box.

Serving U. S.

EDITORS NOTE—The Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard and Merchant Marines are growing in strength every day. That means more and more Marquette county men are "Serving U. S." They read and enjoy this column as faithfully as those of us at home. Don't fail them! Send in items about men in uniform to the Service Editor, The Mining Journal, Marquette, Mich., or telephone Marquette 150. In Ishpeming, phone 3; Negaunee, 404, and in Republic, 701.

PVT. Lawrence Peickert, Marquette, hesitates not a bit to tell his friend, Fritz Harkin, in a letter received yesterday that he likes the Army very much. After five days at Fort Sheridan, Peickert was sent to Camp McCoy, Sparta, Wis., for 28 days' basic training, after which he will be transferred to a more-or-less permanent station. The meals are good. We drill about five hours a day, and tomorrow we start with rifles," he said. His address is No. 36194666, Barrack 7225, 306 M. P., Camp McCoy, Wis.

Kenneth Brani, son of Mrs. Johanna M. Brani, Trowbridge Park, has the rating of technician, fourth grade, at the 136th general hospital, Camp Carson, Colo. He was advanced to that grade last October 8. Kenneth attended John D. Pierce training school and the University of Michigan.

Maurice F. Brady, Marquette, who recently entered military service, has been sent to the engineer replacement training center at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., where he will take an intensive training course preparing him for combat engineer duty. From Fort Leonard Wood, soldiers are transferred to tactical units, to special training schools or to officer candidate schools.

Milton Everson, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Everson, 417 West Michigan street, Marquette, has been sent from the reception center at Fort Sheridan, Ill., to Sheppard Field, Tex., and Army Air Corps station, Milton or "MIT," as he is more commonly known, was inducted last September 25 and hopes to become a mechanic in the Air corps. He worked as a mechanic for several years before going into the service, so feels that it will be right in his line. Sheppard Field is near Wichita Falls, Tex.

William C. Donnthorne, Negaunee, was graduated from the U. S. Navy radio school at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., Thursday and will be transferred next Wednesday to the U. S. Naval Training school, Aviation Field Maintenance, Tenn. Donnthorne will visit his family and friends in Negaunee and Marquette until he leaves for Memphis.

Capt. John B. Nicholson, Marquette, has gone to the Army Air Corps station at Miami Beach, Fla., where he has been assigned for service with the U. S. Army Medical corps.

Pvt. Joseph Stine and Pvt. Alden Trombly, both of Turin, have met after six months' separation and are now serving in the Army together at Camp Edwards, Mass. Joe was inducted last April and was stationed at Camp Forrest, Tenn., until August, and Alden, known to his friends as "Baldy," was inducted in June and stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., until last month. They like Massachusetts because it is more like Upper Michigan. Their friends may write them as follows: Pvt. Joe Stine, Weapons Detachment, Engr. Amphibian Command, Camp Edwards, Mass., and Pvt. Alden Trombly, Co. B, 111th Eng. Bn., APO-36, Camp Edwards, Mass.

Staff Sgt. Edward Morton surprised the folks at home in Turin last Tuesday when he popped in for his second 10-day furlough in seven months. He was inducted into the Army last March 20 and has been stationed since that time at Camp Chaffee, Ark. He was promoted last September 1 to his present grade. "I like it first rate," says Ed. His address is: Staff Sgt. Edward Morton, A. S. N. No. 36194523, Service Battery, 53rd Armored F. A. Bn., Camp Chaffee, Ark. Last week, incidentally, Ed received the highest score in machine gun firing in his battery. He posted 145 out of 150, and the second highest was 112. That's some shooting, pal!

Friends here will be glad to know Cpl. Walter S. Mackey arrived home last night from the Army Air Force gunnery school at Las Vegas, Nev., to spend a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mackey, 326 West Park street.

Four members of the same John D. Pierce training school graduating class are serving in the U. S. Marines. They are Patrick W. Ellsworth, 20, the most recent enlistee, who is the son of Mrs. Ward Kirkendall, Marquette; Norbert Libby, Howard Korpi and William Graham. Libby is serving in the Pacific area, and Korpi and Graham are with Ellsworth at

Chest Army Ready For 'Go' Signal

A Community Chest force of 200 workers will meet in the commission chambers in the city hall at 8:30 Monday morning to get final instructions and supplies for the 1942 campaign toward a goal of $18,662—the amount necessary to finance the work of nine welfare, relief and character-building agencies next year.

Because of wartime restrictions, there will be no report luncheon this year, as has been the custom in recent campaigns. Instead, workers will convene in the commission chambers at 4:30 each afternoon for a daily check of progress.

Division heads, majors, captains and others will attend the "kick-off" meeting Monday morning, and as soon as they procure their supplies they'll begin the canvass.

Roster of Chest Army
The campaign will be directed by George E. Bishop, Ralph Sheehan is chairman of the Chest council. Members of the publicity committee are Paul A. Young, chairman; W. M. Whitman, Mrs. G. C. Meyland, James L. Slatery, James G. Ward, Jr., and Miss Mildred Bral.

Speakers arranged for booster meetings during the week are Mayor L. W. Biegler, George E. Bishop, Ralph Sheehan, Mrs. C. A. Brennan, C. C. Rushton, Stanley Elder, Dr. Albert Burrows, the Rev. John G. Carlton, Mrs. L. O. Gant, the Most Rev. Francis J. Magner and John O'Neill. Walter C. Drevdahl will conduct the auditing.

Chest canvassers are:
Clubs—R. M. Sheehan, major. Advance gifts—Mrs. C. T. DeHaas, major; Mrs. Frank Spear, Mrs. Edith Morrison, Mrs. Helen Bice, Mrs. Bernice Chamberlain, Miss Melissa Deif.

Central—Joseph Barron, major; William Sense, George S. Raish, J. O. Leonard, Stanley Elder, Leo Bruce, George J. Sneedman, John Backels, Robert Michaels. Educational—Howard J. Larson, major; William M. Whitman, Donald Bottum, Mildred J. Biral.

INDUSTRIAL

Warren Essex, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Essex, 1835 Presque Isle avenue, and a grandson of Marquette's justice of peace, John Siegel, is spending a short furlough, at his home here after completing his basic training at the Great Lakes, Ill., Naval Training station. Warren left Marquette for California with Judge Siegel's son, Howard, about five years ago and this is his first visit here since that time. He enlisted in the Navy in Los Angeles, Calif., last September 2.

Roy McCollom, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. McCollom, Marquette, has been selected to take a course in Naval radio work at the Naval training school, Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, at the expiration of which he will be assigned to duty with one of the Navy's fighting units. Roy underwent boot training at Great Lakes, Ill.

Louis Berry, apprentice seaman, Marquette, has been transferred from Grand Haven to Milwaukee, Wis. He's enlisted in the U. S. Coast Guard. His address is: Eighth and Maple streets, White Eagle hotel, Milwaukee, Wis.

Leonard Hill, second class petty officer, is a flight engineer with a patrol bomber squadron at the Navy Air Base at Norfolk, Va. In a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hill, Chatham, Leonard has time to wonder about the U. S. potato crop. Since he was an Alger county 4-H club potato champion for five consecutive years and U. P. champion one year, his interest in "spuds" is understandable. He enlisted for Navy officer training while a sophomore at Michigan State college. We are glad to hear that Leonard is a faithful reader of the Service Column. He wants to hear from his friends. The address is: J. Leonard Hill, Jr., A. M. 3/c T. S. A. V. P. Squadron 207, U. S. Naval Air Station, Norfolk, Va.

Saleswomen Invited To Bond Rally

Women war bond and stamp sellers who are cooperating with the merchants in the "Retailers for Victory" campaign under the supervision of Mrs. C. A. Brennan and Miss Melissa Deif, co-chairmen of the women's division of the city war savings committee, are invited to attend the war bond rally to be held in the Nordic theater next Wednesday morning from 8:45 to 10.

In addition to an address by George G. Whitney, Detroit, executive director of the Michigan retailers' war savings committee, a motion picture film will be shown and there will be musical entertainment. The rally is being held to review the campaign to date and to make plans for future sales of war bonds and stamps.

Sustained Effort Needed
"To use a very old, but very applicable phrase, we must 'put our shoulders to the wheel' to make a sustained effort in the sale of war bonds and stamps," R. C. Heynen, chairman of the city committee, said yesterday.

"It is not simply a matter of reaching one month's quota and then relaxing. The enemy at the front does not relax at the end of a month. The fight is a continuous one between the Axis and Allies, and our efforts to sell as many bonds and stamps as possible must be continuous."

Stores in Marquette will be closed from 8:45 to 10 next Wednesday morning to permit merchants and their employees to attend the session. Whitney is making an Upper Peninsula tour. After the meeting he will remain in Marquette Wednesday afternoon for individual consultations and the following morning he will conduct similar rallies in Ishpeming and Negaunee.

88,000 Michigan Youths May Be Called to Colors

LANSING, Oct. 16.—Approximately 88,000 Michigan youths in the 18- and 19-year-old age group may be called to the colors if Congress decides to draft them, it was reported today by officials of the state selective service headquarters.

The officials said about 110,000 boys of that age resided in Michigan and predicted that about 20 per cent of them would be physically ineligible.

The first of the group will be inducted to six or seven weeks of the time Congress passes the necessary legislation. A minimum of 38 days is required to "process" a draftee, it was said.

The headquarters staff said some men with dependent wives would be called in December to permit quotas to be filled, but it pointed out some single men still would remain in some draft boards.

Men with employed wives or those with independent incomes are more apt to be called in the December quotas, the staff said, but it was explained that "our lists are not classified just that way and men still have to take their chances."

Weddings

Kelly-McCarthy
ISHPEMING, Oct. 16—Glady's McCarthy, daughter of Mrs. Albert Rickstad, East Wabash street, was married to Frederick Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kelly, South Pine street, at 9 Saturday evening, October 10, in the parsonage of the Bethany Lutheran church with the Rev. C. Reuben Pearson officiating.

The couple was attended by Mrs. Chester Pridoux and William G. Garrett, niece and nephew of the bridegroom. The bride wore a solid blue wool suit with accessories to match. Her attendant wore a brown wool suit with matching accessories. Their corsages were of yellow roses and white and yellow chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony a reception for 50 relatives and friends was held in the home of the bride and bridegroom. The bride previous to her marriage was employed by the H. W. Gossard company and the groom at the Mather mine. They are residing at 807 East Wabash street.

Argall-Steede
ISHPEMING, Oct. 16—Mr. and Mrs. Russell Argall, Park street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Jean, to Henry Steede, son of Mrs. M. B. Steede, Negaunee. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lewis Keast in the parsonage of the First Methodist church on Saturday, September 26.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white silk jersey and a shoulder-length veil with a taria of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink and yellow roses and white pompons. Her attendants were Mrs. William Morcum, sister of the bridegroom, who chose a floor-length gown of pink broadcloth and Miss Phyllis Lind, who wore a floor-length gown of blue silk jersey. Both wore corsages of pink and yellow roses and white pompons. The bride's mother wore a blue figured crepe dress and the bridegroom's mother wore a black crepe dress. Both wore corsages of red roses and white pompons.

The bridegroom's attendants were Russell Argall, brother of the bride, and John Holmgren, friend of the couple.

The bride cut her three-tiered wedding cake at a reception held at the Ishpeming Ski club. The Misses Helen Huhtala, Arlene and Marion Bess, and Catherine Argall served to more than 80 guests.

The couple will reside in Ishpeming, where the bridegroom is employed by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company.

Mrs. Argall was guest of honor at a shower given recently at the Ishpeming Ski club.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. M. B. Steede and family, Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Rice and Mr. and Mrs. John Jandron Negaunee; Russell Argall, William Polkinghorne and Mr. and Mrs. William Nicholas, Palmer; Mr. and Mrs. William Bess, Doriot.

Half of the fruits and vegetables consumed by New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston, New Orleans, San Francisco and St. Louis arrive by truck.

Michael Lossel Yong Dies; Resided in City 67 Years

ISHPEMING, Oct. 16—Michael Peter Lossel Yong, 68, died at his home, 217 West Barnum street, at 4 this morning after a long illness.

Mr. Lossel Yong was born in Eschmaba, February 18, 1874, and his family came to Ishpeming when he was one year old. He had lived in Ishpeming 67 years.

He and his brother, John, took over the livery and coal business which their father, Nicholas Lossel Yong, operated and in 1902, Michael purchased the interests of his brother. He conducted the business on Pearl street until ill health forced his retirement.

Mr. Lossel Yong was a member of the Holy Name society of St. John's church and also was a Fourth Degree member of the Knights of Columbus.

He leaves his widow, Emma, his brother, John, and three nieces, Mrs. Stewart Underhill, Mrs. William Snyder and Mrs. John Gallisario, all of Detroit.

Funeral services will be held at 9 Monday morning in St. John's church, the Rev. Henry Kron officiating. Interment will be made in the Ishpeming cemetery. The body was removed to the family residence this afternoon.

Whitney To Be Guest Of Retailers

ISHPEMING, Oct. 16—All Ishpeming retail merchants and their clerical staffs are urged to attend a meeting to be held from 9:45 to 10:30 Thursday morning, October 22, in the Butler theater when George G. Whitney, executive director of the state retailers' war savings committee, comes here on a tour of the Upper Peninsula to bring a war message of importance to the community.

Burton Stevens, retailers' chairman for this city, today asked that every merchant attend the meeting and bring all his clerks with him.

"It means closing of stores for a 45-minute period Thursday morning," he said, "but it will also mean the opportunity to hear a message of importance. There will be little, if any, inconvenience to the shopping public or store owners."

Experience has proved, he added, that morning sessions have been far more successful than those held at any other period in the day.

"Other communities," Mr. Stevens said, "have reported fine attendance at these morning meetings and we would like to see Ishpeming make the same record."

Boy, 14, Confesses He Hit Girl With Stick

ISHPEMING, Oct. 16—Chief of Police Nestor Eckloff has asked the probate court for investigation of the case of an Ishpeming minor, a boy of 14, who has confessed he hit Blanche Nault on the side of the head as she was walking on South Pine street last Saturday evening.

Authorities did not disclose their findings in the case until they had completed their work and presented it to probate court.

According to the boy's story, he had a quarrel with his grandmother and left the house in an angry mood. Outside, he picked up a stout stick. Miss Nault happened to be passing by and without a word he struck her on the head.

The fact that it was a glancing blow probably averted serious injury.

Norwegian Aid Party At Ole's Barn Tonight

ISHPEMING, Oct. 16—The Marquette lodge, Order of Vasa, will sponsor a dance at Ole's Barn Saturday night. The purpose of the dance is to raise funds to buy planes for the Norwegian Air Cadets, who are training in Canada.

Under the lease lend act planes are being made for three cadets and approximately $185,000 is needed for this purpose.

The public is invited to attend the party. Dances and programs are being given all over the country for this cause.

Tickets are available at Gust Johnson's confectionery store, Cleveland avenue.

EAT BY APPOINTMENT

Dickinson Budget Up
IRON MOUNTAIN, Oct. 16—Expenditures of $122,633.76, an increase of $1,363.76 over the current year, are provided for in the 1943 county budget adopted by the board of supervisors in annual session at the court house yesterday. The 1942 budget was $121,270.

Mine Elections Ordered
IRON RIVER, Oct. 16—The NLRB has ordered elections, within 30 days, on collective bargaining at the Buck, Bengal and James mines. The directive, a copy of which was received yesterday by W. E. Whitaker, union organizer, was signed Oct. 12 by Harry A. Mills, chairman of the NLRB, and Gerard D. Reilly, member.

Truck Driver Seriously Hurt
MANISTIQUE, Oct. 16—Otto Sandstrom, 58, South Second street, was seriously injured Thursday when he was caught under a log which fell from his truck while he was unloading at the Hancock mill at the end of South First street in Manistique. Sandstrom was taken to the Shaw hospital with a broken leg and head injuries after being extricated from under the heavy log. He had been hauling from Driggs to the local mill.

Miss Reese Joins WAVES
IRON MOUNTAIN, Oct. 16—Miss Alice Reese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Reese, Iron Mountain, has joined the WAVES, women's reserve of the U. S. Naval Reserve, at Detroit, and is now being trained as a yeoman at Stillwater, Okla. For the last two years Miss Reese has been employed by the pathological department of the University of Michigan medical school at Ann Arbor.

Metal Stolen From Autos For Junk Pile

ISHPEMING, Oct. 16—Too much enthusiasm for scrap drives is being blamed by city police for complaints that cars and trucks are being robbed of tire tools and cranks.

"We have had a surprisingly large number of complaints recently," Chief Nestor Eckloff reported this afternoon, "of persons going through cars and taking all metal accessories and tools."

"We believe these items are finding their way to scrap heaps. If so, the enthusiasm is running in wrong channels."

Pre-Hallowe'en Pranks
In a "fireside chat" with parents of the community, the chief also pointed out that business men of Ishpeming are complaining of pre-Hallowe'en celebrations in the form of soaped windows.

Youngsters have been at it since the first of the month and when merchants clean their windows, the children repeat the soaping.

"Parents should assume the responsibility of impressing upon children that the Hallowe'en celebration is strictly a one-night proposition. There is no reward for continuous performances."

Hotel Ojibway, Judge Vail pointed out that the rate of delinquency among youngsters in this Sault military area is more than three times that which exists in the Fort Custer area at Battle Creek. Home environment — and principally drunkenness by one or more of the child's parents — was blamed by Mrs. Vail as the greatest cause of juvenile delinquency. Unhappy homes, quarrelsome parents, overcrowding and lack of affection, were declared to be factors which drag the children down.

Fine Art Exhibit At School Next Week

ISHPEMING, Oct. 16—A splendid opportunity for art education is afforded in the exhibit of fine art prints on display October 19 to 23 at the Ishpeming high school. There will be a small admission charge which will be used for the purchase of pictures for the school.

There are about 150 large colored reproductions of the work of the old and modern masters. Among the most famous artists represented are Da Vinci, Murillo, Raphael Michelangelo, Durer, Gainsborough, Velasquez, Rembrandt, Terborch, Hals and many others of the old masters, while among the more modern are Cezanne, Monet, Van Gogh, Gauguin, Dewenck, Vincent, Amick, Crane and Wiegand.

The exhibit was arranged by Miss Tyne Kaupilla, of the art department, and will be open to the public from 4 to 5 each afternoon.

Chest Drive Delayed To October 26

NEGAUNEE, Oct. 16—The Negaunee Community Chest will open its drive for funds Monday, October 26, it was determined at a meeting of council officers last night.

While this is a delay of a week from original plans, it was found necessary in order to complete the study of budgets of participating agencies as well as to conclude conferences with representatives of these agencies.

In the meantime, however, Peter Dighera, general chairman, has practically completed his organization and will have ample manpower for the job. He believes it can be completed within a few days.

$6,000 Is Goal
Negaunee is including 10 agencies in its Community Chest and has set a goal of $6,000 to cover the contributions to these groups.

New to the group is the USO. Negaunee plans to pay its share of the 1942 county quota to this organization from the Community Chest.

Others are the Salvation Army, Negaunee tonsil and eye clinics conducted through the schools; Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Girl Scouts, St. Paul's Milk fund, conducted through St. Paul's parochial school; Michigan Children's Aid society, Legion drum and bugle corps, Bay Cliffs health camp and Good Will farm at Houghton.

OPA Sets Up Program For Tire Inspection

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration announced today a nation-wide program for periodic inspection of tires, designed to keep casings in good repair and to prevent illegal use or sale of them.

Possession of tires not "legally acquired" will result in loss of gasoline rations, OPA said. Only "legal" tires will be the maximum of five certified for each private car, plus any acquired through rationing certificates.

The inspection program is a part of nation-wide mileage rationing, which goes into effect November 22.

Under the program, OPA said, neither private nor commercial vehicles will be certified for continued operation when their tires need repairs or mechanical faults cause unnecessary tire wear. OPA added that if a passenger car owner attempts to keep and use a tire in excess of the five permitted under the regulations, the violation will be disclosed by the inspection system.

Pennsylvania Leading Metal Scrap Campaign

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—Industrial Pennsylvania climbed into first place today in the newspaper-sponsored scrap collection campaign, reporting 411,062 tons for an average of 83.1 pounds for every man, woman and child in the state.

Montana moved up to second with a per capita average of 78.2 pounds and a total scrap pile of 21,851 tons.

For 37 states reporting to national headquarters of the newspapers' united scrap metal drive, which will wind up Saturday, the incomplete estimated total reached 2,071,223 tons for an average of 42.6 pounds per person.

Japs Shell U. S. Positions In Solomons

Attack in force on Guadalcanal indicate that softening up attacks by American aviation on enemy bases to the west effectively have endangered Japan's position in the southwest Pacific.

It is believed the Japanese have had a force of perhaps a quarter of a million men, especially trained for jungle island warfare, in their powerhouses on Truk Island. About a fourth of this force has been at Rabaul, enemy key stronghold on New Britain which stands in the way of an Allied move toward Japanese territory.

Allies Attack Cargo Vessel
GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Oct. 17—(Saturday)—AP—Allied air forces in New Guinea again supported the hard fighting U. S. Marines and troops on Guadalcanal by a bombing expedition to Buin where the Washington Navy department announced a new Japanese naval concentration had been sighted. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said today.

A large enemy merchant ship was attacked, but the results were not learned by the crewmen of the offensive reconnaissance unit which delivered the stroke, the communiqué said. Buin is across the passage from Shortland Island, 260 miles northwest of Guadalcanal.

Meanwhile, a headquarters spokesman said Japanese troops defending their positions on the north slope of the Owen Stanley mountains about 12 miles from Kokoda had been forced back slightly by Allied patrols. General Situation Unchanged
The communiqué said there had been no change in the general situation, however.

Extension of Japanese occupation to villages at the mouth of the Mambare river, 40 miles north of Buna on the northeastern New Guinea coast, was disclosed in the announcement that Allied planes had machine-gunned those places.

The Mambare river is the farthest north the Japanese have penetrated up the coast from their invasion base of Buna, although they previously had been reported about 20 miles north of the latter place.
On Timor, northwest of Australia, the communiqué said, fires were started in the village of Vila Manatuto by Allied medium bombers.

Floods Menace Sections Of National Capital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—Swirling flood waters of the Potomac and other rivers today menaced sections of the national capital, caused four deaths and wide destruction and left at least 2,000 people homeless in a large area of Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Acting upon reports that the flood here might be the gravest in Washington history, President Roosevelt toured the critical areas in and around this city and appealed to authorities to take every precaution to protect the capital.

With the Rappahannock and other streams on the rampage as well as the Potomac, many persons have been evacuated from lowland homes, some in rowboats, and the Weather Bureau warned others to be ready to leave.

Two-thirds of all livestock received at principal stockyards are delivered via motor trucks.

ing close to the Volga river on the eastern side of the ruined city.

With their back to the river, the Russians fought resolutely to check the Nazi spearheads after an early morning Red retreat through several streets of a workers' settlement.

The Russians reported that only superior numbers forced them back, but the critical turn in the 53rd day of siege left the defenders with little room to maneuver in the skeleton ruins of the north part of the city.

(The German communiqué said an armored division had pushed through to the Volga, taking the northern part of a factory suburb containing the large Dzerzhinsky tractor works. Military spokesmen, however, were quoted by Transocean as saying the Red army "is continuing to fight as if nothing had happened.")

The great spokesman said two other great factories nearby, the Red October and Red Barricade, were cut off, and that the Russians had made relief attacks to ease pressure on them. The high command claimed further encirclement and annihilation of Russians southeast of Novorossisk and the capture of mountain positions on the road to Taghsse.)

In devastated Stalingrad, the Russians fought back seven German attacks before giving ground, destroying 36 tanks yesterday and 16 planes, battlefront dispatches said.

Finnis Seeks Peace, Report

Northwest of the city, the Russian relief offensive dug deeper into the German left flank "occupying more advantageous positions" and repulsing German counterattacks.

At the northern end of the front, Red Star said the Russians occupied two hills in Karelia, inflicting 300 casualties.

(Reuters reported from Zurich, Switzerland, that the Finnish commander, Baron Mannerheim, had sent a letter to Pope Pius XII broaching the possibility of a separate peace and suggesting that the Pope use his influence with the United States and Britain to obtain favorable terms. The letter was said to have stated that Finland "would soon be unable to continue its superhuman efforts.")

The report was wholly unconfirmed.

Johnson-Boyer

NEGAUNEE, Oct. 16—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, West Iron street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy, to Delbert Boyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Boyer, Michigamme. They were married Saturday, October 10, at a nuptial high mass in the rectory of St. Paul's Catholic church, the Rev. Fr. Girard LaMothe officiating.

Miss Alice Linstrom, Albert LaForest, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moffatt were the attendants.

The bride wore an aqua blue dress and hat with a corsage of gardenias and red roses. Mrs. Moffatt, maid of honor, wore a beige dress with green accessories; Miss Linstrom, bridesmaid, wore a brown and green dress with brown accessories; the bride's mother chose a navy blue dress and hat, and the groom's mother wore a brown dress.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. The bride cut her wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyer have gone on a short wedding trip through Wisconsin, Illinois and Lower Michigan.

HEAVY CONSUMPTION

Electric utility power plants in the United States consumed 5,767,742 tons of coal during November, 1941. In addition, they used 1,729,267 barrels of fuel oil and 16,588,710 thousand cubic feet of gas.

Part of Prison Camp Sold to Private Buyer

LANSING, Oct. 16—(AP)—A tangle resulting when the title of a parcel of state-owned property "reverted to the state" for non-payment of taxes and was sold to a private buyer today confronted the state corrections department.

Garrett Heins, state corrections director, said the land was 40 acres of the 560-acre Hardwood camp near Iron Mountain which was purchased by the former prison commission in 1933. Its use as a prison camp was abandoned in 1937. Meanwhile, taxes were levied against the property without the department's knowledge and recently it reverted to the state conservation department for delinquent taxes.

When the corrections department reported the land as in its possession to the state planning commission during an inventory of state property, the mix-up was discovered. Forty acres of the plot had been sold by the conservation department.

State Tin Sales May Violate OPA Rules

LANSING, Oct. 16—(AP)—The state government sought today to determine whether its contract for sale of tin was in violation of Federal price fixing regulations. The sale involves discarded cans made as food containers in state institutions.

The finance committee of the state administrative board has requested the Office of Price Administration for a clarifying statement, meanwhile deferring settlement of payment for tin sold to the West Side Beer Co., Grand Rapids. The committee also withheld action on a request of Governor Van Wagener that henceforth state tin be sold only to approved detinning plants.

J. C. McNeil, acting budget director, said he was uncertain whether the state was bound by a $6 a ton price ceiling of scrap tin since it processes cans for scrapping.

Nazis Report Hostilities In Dakar Region

lied attack on Dakar, possibly with the hope of gaining concessions for themselves in Africa, and also no doubt through genuine fear of a possible Allied second front in that area.

Captain Dailliere "fell in African skies in defense of the French empire and of French unity," the Vichy radio said in quoting Vice-Admiral G. A. J. P. Auphand, secretary of state for the navy in the Laval cabinet.

Axis broadcasts in the past few weeks have reported the landing of United States troops on the French West African coast, as well as the area below it.

Troops Elsewhere on Coast
One of these German-inspired reports said that both American and British troops were concentrated on the frontier of British Gambia, which is barely 100 miles south of Dakar.

American troops also were said by the Nazis to be disembarking in the Belgian Congo and British Nigeria.

Antonio Tovar, a Spanish Falangist leader, took up this theme several days ago by saying that U. S. troops were in Equatorial Africa, and warning Vichy that it must be ready to protect northwest Africa from "a new and tremendous imperialism."

Businessmen—Let's talk about death! Let's not dodge the issue — let's face facts. A lot of good American fighting men may soon have to die for want of scrap!

IF YOU FAIL SOME BOY WILL DIE!
We're talking facts, remember! Such as the fact that steel for every tank, ship and gun must be made of 50% scrap. And the terrible fact that America's mills are starving for this scrap—without enough on hand for even 30 days' more production!
Which puts it up to you!
The big scrap metal drive is on. And you, as a businessman, have a double job to do. Clean out your home — and scour your place of business, factory, office or store . . . for every single bit of scrap. And when you see the stockpile grow — for the mills to take when it's needed—be glad that you've done your part . . . that your work may have saved some boy from a needless death!

Registration For Defense Progressing

NEGAUNEE, Oct. 16.—Registration of Negaunee residents for civilian defense is progressing satisfactorily, it was stated today at the volunteer service office in the city hall.

A different procedure is being used, efforts being made to sign up civilians through organized groups. As an illustration, home nursing class members signed up in a body, the choral club did the same and a worker from the office enlisted the services of 90 parochial school upper class students at one conference.

"It seemed a little too much," said a defense council member, "to ask the people to come in again singly for registration, when this other means of enlisting them was open to us."

"It has worked very satisfactorily. We contact an officer of each club that is to meet soon and he is given enough registration cards for the membership. Those who have registered previously through some other organization, do not repeat."

It was emphasized, however, that the offices on the second floor of the city building are open daily and persons who may have no organization affiliation can register there. Their cooperation will be appreciated by the council.

Grinn

Mrs. Lawrence Worth and daughter and William Worth, Negaunee, left this week for Wamego, Kas., where they will visit relatives.

Louis Tounignant has gone to Chicago to join Mrs. Tounignant who has been visiting relatives there. They will return home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Oien have gone to Denver, Colo., where they will visit their son, Russell, who is stationed there with the Army Air Forces.

The Women's guild will meet in the clubhouse Wednesday evening, October 21, instead of Thursday, the regular meeting night. Mrs. Brison Wills and Mrs. Walter Saur will be the hostesses.

Women's Cards — The women's bridge and cribbage groups will meet in the clubhouse Tuesday evening, October 20, at 7:45.

Chicken Supper — The ladies of Princeton will sponsor a chicken supper for the benefit of St. Anthony's church Sunday evening at 6 in the basement of the church. The public is invited.

Smorgasbord — The Dorcas society will sponsor a smorgasbord in the basement of the Methodist church this evening, beginning at 6:30. The proceeds will be used for church purposes. The public is invited.

Study Club — The Study club met in the clubhouse Tuesday evening. After a short business meeting a committee presented a program on "Michigan." Mrs. Negrinelli gave a paper on the "Legends of Michigan." Miss Loretta Gollinger spoke about Michigan's music and Miss Daisy Kilmer presented a paper on its poetry. Hostesses were Mrs. J. E. Witters and Mrs. Anna Maynes. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, October 27.

Observation Post — E. L. Miller, civilian defense commissioner for Forsyth township, has been notified that the U. S. Army has requested that a primary observation post be established in the Grinn area. A committee has inspected several sites in the district, but a final decision has been withheld pending the granting of permission for the use of one. Observation posts of this kind demand the organized assistance of a large group of civilian volunteers working in shifts of two to four hours, depending on the number enrolled. A meeting to organize will be held Wednesday evening, October 21, at the Grinn high school at 7:30, at which time out-of-town speakers will explain the operation procedure. All persons who have signed for civilian defense duty and others wishing to enroll are requested to attend.

Preaching Mission — The Rev. Lawrence Worth, pastor of the Grinn Methodist church, announces a preaching mission which will begin Sunday, October 18, and continue through Friday, October 23. These services are in line with the evangelistic crusade which is being conducted in every Methodist church in Michigan. The purpose

At The Vista

NEGAUNEE, Oct. 16.—The feature starting at the Vista theater Sunday is Paramount's adventure "Beyond the Blue Horizon," starring Dorothy Lamour, supported by Richard Denning, Jack Haley, Patricia Morison, Walter Abel, Helen Gilbert and Elizabeth Patterson.

The story concerns sarong-clad Dorothy, whose parents had been killed in the jungle by a wild elephant when she was a child. Later she is brought to the United States to claim a fortune belonging to her, but it is necessary for her to return to the wilds for certain lost papers when her claim is disputed.

"The Perfect Snob," starring Charles Ruggles, Charlotte Greenwood, Lynn Bari and Cornel Wilde, and the return engagement of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Escape," co-starring Norma Shearer and Robert Taylor, make up the double feature showing for the last time Saturday.

At the Saturday matinee the first chapter of "The Perils of Nyoka" will be shown."

Stocks Start Upward Climb On Light Turnover

Transactions At Low Point For October

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—P.—Selected stocks dug in for recovery in today's market, but many leaders exhibited little interest in the proceedings.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 2 of a point at 39.6. Dealings were relatively sluggish throughout. Transfers of 504,890 shares compared with 1,054,470 the day before and with 536,700 the day before that.

American Car & Foundry preferred jumped 3-4 and the common 1-8 when the highest New Jersey court upheld an injunction preventing payment of dividends for 1936.

Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck improved as retail spending picked up briskly. Moderately higher were Western Union, Standard Oil of New Jersey, General Motors, Kennecott and U. S. Rubber.

On the offside elsewhere were American Smelting, Goodrich, International Nickel, Caterpillar, Tractor and Allied Chemical.

Tilting forward in the curb were Gulf Oil, Aluminum Ltd., American Cyanamid "B," Creole Petroleum and Pantepec. Minor losers included Electric Bond & Share, Humble Oil, Lake Shore, American Gas and Pittsburgh Plate Glass.

The aggregate here was 97,580 shares versus 129,165 Thursday.

On the offside elsewhere were American Smelting, Goodrich, International Nickel, Caterpillar, Tractor and Allied Chemical.

Tilting forward in the curb were Gulf Oil, Aluminum Ltd., American Cyanamid "B," Creole Petroleum and Pantepec. Minor losers included Electric Bond & Share, Humble Oil, Lake Shore, American Gas and Pittsburgh Plate Glass.

The aggregate here was 97,580 shares versus 129,165 Thursday.

Grain Prices Firm; Buyers Mark Time

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—P.—Steady grain prices today continued to show the extent to which the trade is marking time pending a decision as to how ceiling revision and the limits, if any, to be placed on cereals themselves.

What moved within a range of about a cent a bushel, alternating above and below previous closing quotations; 3 finishing unchanged to 3-8 higher compared with yesterday, December $1.23 7-8 to 3-4, May $1.26 3-8 to 1-4.

The fresh break in beans, on top of yesterday's three-cent decline, was accomplished largely because of the very small trade. In fact, closing prices were on a bid and asked basis, and the only trades were posted in December beans.

Considerable amount of talk has been heard for several weeks hereabouts that a draft pool of 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 men would be needed out of which to build an army. When statisticians have endeavored to show that the Army could have no intention of building a 10,000,000-man army, the analyses have been brushed aside by apologists for the selective service bureaucracy as inadequate.

But now the official figure of 7,500,000, as the size of the Army by the end of the year 1943, is given out as the real goal by Secretary Stimson. This settles once and for all the debates about the size of the Army which have led to indiscriminate drafting of men in all age groups up to the limit.

The testimony of General Marshall and Secretary Stimson to the Mexican loans small fractions, but most other foreign dollar issues did nothing.

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—A few weeks ago in these dispatches attention was called to the approaching crisis in the manpower problem. That crisis is here and the revelations now being made as to the manner in which men have been taken out of industry and from the farms, when the needs of the latter were paramount, are confirmatory of the fact that overall planning in the distribution of America's manpower has been woefully lacking.

Efforts will be made to prove that Congress was to blame in failing to pass laws permitting the 18 to 20-year-old boys to be drafted. Efforts will be made also to prove that the selective service boards, acting in good faith and with all sorts of instructions from the selective service headquarters, drafted older men into the service because the manpower situation demanded it.

But who sent those men into service? The laws being acting under regulations made by the selective service headquarters in Washington. The boards are not to blame for the failure of the draft headquarters to classify registrants by ages and defer those in the group above 40 until all other classes had been exhausted.

Most everybody who is familiar with the draft problem knows that in many instances physical examinations have been of the most cursory sort. All this was believed to be necessary because the word was sent out that the demand for manpower was such that even partially disabled men had to be taken into the service. If there are physically weak individuals in large numbers in the Army or persons beyond the fighting age, whose fault is it?

Recently a Congressional committee tried to find out to whom the director of the national selective service law reported—B the War Department or the Manpower Commission or to the President.

Not "Figured Out Yet?" "To whom is the selective service administration answerable," asked Representative Bender, "to the Army or to the Manpower Commission?"

Here is the head of the selective service machinery who doesn't make policies. Such a conflict can be solved only by the President, who has not yet clarified the matter. Meanwhile, it is a fact that workers in some instances are already being called back from the Army to fill critical jobs when there is now a plan afoot to get men back to the farms on furloughs to help harvest crops.

Wartime Carrots Get A Haircut

WASHINGTON—P—Carrots are getting a "military haircut"—nothing fancy, just a quick bob. As a result Uncle Sam is saving on wood and nails and on transportation space needed in war.

Bobbing carrot tops has been practiced on a small scale for several years. Now the shortage of packaging materials may give it an impetus. Some growers and shippers have found that by cutting the carrot tops to a length of 4 inches or less they can save up to 40 per cent of the crate space. This means saving on crating material, lumber and nails.

Carrots with 4-inch tops remain fresh just as long as those with full foliage, and much longer than those whose tops are pared at their base, say marketing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

State Payroll Reduction Kelly's Aim

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Promising reduction of the personnel of state government to save "every dollar possible in this hour of crisis," Harry F. Kelly, Republican candidate for Governor, declared at the same time tonight that Governor Van Wagener, his Democratic opponent, had failed to keep his campaign pledges of two years ago to trim state payrolls.

Kelly, addressing a party rally in the Pantlind hotel with Judge Homer Ferguson, candidate for Senator, and others on the Republican ticket, asserted that Van Wagener, after his first year in office, had "endeavored to explain to the people that he had asked department heads to reduce payrolls and they had failed to follow his advice."

"He certainly was not talking about one of the two largest departments of state government—the department of state—when he made that statement," Kelly declared, "because the records disclose that as secretary of state the number of employees properly exercised did not increase, but did decrease during the first year he was Governor."

In the other large state office, the highway department, Kelly charged the records showed after Van Wagener's first year there was an increase of 130 employees.

Failed to Use Power

"Wouldn't the Governor's highway commissioner follow the Governor's advice?" Kelly asked. "And what did the Governor do about it, if the highway commissioner refused?"

"Civil service, voted into existence by the people at the last election, brought about a reduction in payrolls during this past year, proving those reductions should have been brought about by the Governor if he had properly exercised the power which the people had placed in his hands."

Kelly admitted there had been an increase in salaries paid to state employees during Van Wagener's administration, and he added that the Governor "should not be criticized for it and he should not ask credit for it." The civil service commission, Kelly asserted, was responsible for the pay increases, to which, he declared, "I have not the slightest objection."

Judge Ferguson urged on the people a "deep government, which is fighting today for its very existence."

"The people," Ferguson declared, "want an aggressive government, and they are way ahead of the folks in Washington in their thinking."

Warns Against Power Grants

He warned against too much concentration of power in the executive branch of the national government and regretted "the gradual abdication of power by the legislative branch."

"This is a people's government," Ferguson said, "and the people must stay close to it and the government must stay close to the people. We must have faith in our form of government so that when the war is over America will be a better place in which to live."

Gets Salvage Award

IRON MOUNTAIN, Oct. 16.—For scrapping 1463 old cars from June 1 to Oct. 10, the shipping 183 tons of metal to the steel mills, the Anderson Auto Salvage company, Kingsford, yesterday was presented with the War Production Board's emblem of merit. The Kingsford concern was the second of its kind in the community to receive the award. The other was W. Auto Salvage company, 158 Worthworth avenue, Kingsford, having been presented with a similar emblem on Sept. 30.

Mrs. Sullivan Dies

SAULT STE. MARIE, Oct. 16.—Minnie Winnifred Sullivan, wife of Frank P. Sullivan, prominent Sault Ste. Marie attorney, died Thursday at her home at 325 Spruce street. She had been critically ill for the past six months, and had been in ill health for some months before that time. Born in Saginaw, the daughter of the late James Allen Hall and Margaret Allison Hall, on June 20, 1866, Mrs. Sullivan had been a resident of the Sault 32 years.

Officer Visits Ford Plant

IRON MOUNTAIN, Oct. 16.—Col. W. S. Duffee, Army Air Corps, at Detroit, has arrived here to confer with officials of the Ford Motor company, who had been missing two months. The officer is on the local plant. Col. Duffee made the trip from Detroit in a bi-motored Drummond amphibian. The Air Force officer declined to comment on the progress of the work here, but said he will confer with Army officials on his return, relative to a probable statement in the near future.

Missing Man Found

HANCOCK, Oct. 16.—An intensive search on the part of the sheriff's department for Erick Johnson, Hancock, who had been missing two months, was ended Tuesday when the man was found in an old shack in the Salmon Trout River district. When found by Deputy Ernest Macagno, Johnson was in a semi-conscious condition, too weak to walk or talk, and evidently had had nothing to eat for two weeks. It was necessary for the officers to carry Johnson more than a mile through the woods to their car, after which he was removed to St. Joseph's hospital. Because of the man's physical condition, it was impossible to obtain a statement from him, and it will probably be several days before the complete story of his wanderings is told. According to the sheriff's department, attendants at St. Joseph's hospital said Wednesday Johnson's condition is critical.

News Behind the News

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 — President Roosevelt and other officials intimately associated with the war effort are not passing out Pollyanna propaganda when they suggest that the Axis leaders, particularly Hitler and Mussolini, realize that the United Nations are rapidly winning the battles of production and transportation.

Many German and Italian agents or sympathizers still reside in the United States, England and other Allied countries with the possible exception of Russia. They have plenty of opportunity to see and read about evidences of our increasing output of weapons and the mobilization of a mighty military machine. They find means of getting this information across the boundaries and thence to hostile capitals.

Representatives of lands not unfriendly to Berlin and Rome, including businessmen, diplomats and journalists, have been allowed discreet glimpses of our armament factories and shipyards. Washington is not reluctant to afford them this chance, hoping that they will report what they observe or hear.

CRISIS—Manpower experts in the Capital do not believe that the United States Employment Service can handle the increasingly dangerous problem of deciding whether an individual can best serve in the Army, in a factory or on a farm. That is the system advocated by F. D. R. in an attempt to avoid the necessity of "work or fight" legislation.

The U. S. E. S., frankly, is not highly regarded here or in many other sections of the country. It is staffed to a great extent by starchy-eyed economists and social welfare workers with only slight knowledge of labor or industrial conditions. Manufacturers seeking personnel have complained that they do not obtain results, while laborers looking for jobs have too often been given the runaround at one or another of the forty-five hundred offices which the President

Hold Everything

Winning The War

SUPERVISION—The Presidential warning that growing boys and girls will be needed to fill the manpower gap causes concern among educators. They foresee disrupted curricula unless each community maps out a common sense part-time employment program. Many principals agree that pupils should help — especially in rural regions — but they hope that school committees, parents and businessmen will look before they leap.

The records of Summer and Fall disclose intelligent handling of the problem in most agricultural sections, featuring early morning sessions, Saturday lessons and postponed vacations. But other reports show that city kids often were tentatively hired and transported a couple of hundred miles to the berry patches only to be told the jobs had been filled. One farmer left a bus load of kids stranded in the rain ten miles from home. They were unable to pick up their fares.

CHANGE—The Administration has two alternatives which would obviate resorting to the cumbersome U. S. E. S. and to legislation freezing a man or woman to a machine or farm tractor.

The first consists of the scheme by which copper miners and lumbermen are prohibited from quitting their present posts for better paying jobs. No book statute legitimizes such drastic action. It was accomplished by quiet negotiation of an unwritten agreement among employers, unions and the Government, with the U. S. E. S. as the supervising agency. A digger or woodsman can, as a practical matter, walk out but he will find it mighty difficult to get placed elsewhere. It is doubtful whether such a system could be effective on a nation-wide scale, however.

Selective Service officials argue that the same objective can be attained through a simple change in their regulations. They now have the authority to defer a man engaged in an important industrial occupation. But if he refuses to remain in that position, the proposed revision would give them power to slap a 1-A rating against him which could not be modified to a lower status without their consent. That amounts to a "work where we say or fight" system, but its adoption would save embarrassment for both the White House and Congress.

RICHT—If the Federal and state governments and other cities exhibited an iota of the ingenuity of the people of Selma, Alabama, the present shortage of scrap would disappear or at least decline sharply.

During the Civil War, a Confederate arsenal was running full blast when word arrived that Union troops were advancing on the place. Folks dumped machinery as well as manufactured weapons into the Alabama river. Recently somebody remembered the jettisoned junk and it has been reclaimed from its watery storehouse.

National and local officials have neglected rich mines of metal, according to some experts. Among the articles which might be contributed are Uncle Sam's mail boxes, traffic posts and signs, man-hole covers, fences, public trash cans, unnecessary furnishings of public structures, etc. It is contended that there is no reason why many of these potential sources of planes and tanks and ships could not be replaced by wooden or plastic substitutes.

DOLLARS—Red tape hit a colorful climax when the Procurement Division of the Treasury recently offered for sale "ten bags of wrappings." Although the amount of money involved in the transaction came to only a few dollars, bureaucratic officials issued two pages of specifications, regulations and other thou-shall-nots for the bidders.

"You would think they were selling the Washington monument," remarked a Congressional wag.

Play By Play

By Paul David Preston

THE STORY: Blythe Miller, 19, is in love with Duane Hogan, big, girl-shy star of the Lincoln Field Cadet football team, which her dad coaches. But Duane doesn't know it. Neither does Nancy Hale. Nancy is a young widow of a soldier, and has been given work and a place to live at the field after she and her son have been rescued from an auto wreck by Duane. Now the grateful, adoring Nancy wants Blythe to help her win Duane's love! Instead, Blythe decides pity and friendship can go just so far, and decides to give Nancy a fight for Duane's affection.

NANCY PROGRESSES

CHAPTER VI

Elmer Summers, sports editor of the Journal, first told the facts of the matter publicly, and they didn't make Blythe any happier when she read them. In his column he wrote:

"Out at the Lincoln Field gym, cadet gridders have a New Interest in life. Coach Pop Miller says that he has never seen a team center its emotional attention around a mascot such as these boys have.

"But the interest there is more than a mascot, it is an inspiration. More than that, it is a dual inspiration—a widow and a son. Best part of all is that the girl is too tiny to run any sort of interference between the footballers and the mama. Mama, you see, is age only 21, and in appearance is a magazine cover come to life."

Reading it now in Pop's office, Blythe had to admit that all of it was certainly true. Nancy Hale and baby Scooter had everything of personal charm. She read on down the column:

"Mrs. Hale, it seems, is not only a good sport but a good sports-woman. Her late husband, a casualty at Pearl Harbor, had taught her the finer points of tennis, for instance. And since a dramatic accident tossed her literally into the Lincoln team's lap, the players have almost forsaken football for racquets! Pop Miller himself plays tennis, which makes it even harder for him to bowl out his lads."

"This is not to say that the Lincolns won't be in tip-top shape for their fray with the Aggies on Saturday. Pop himself says the team spirit was never higher. But from the viewpoint of us, fans, the incident romance in the field house is as interesting as the scrimmage on the field.

"Officially, it isn't any of our business; but we in the grand stands aren't officials! We can speculate and gossip in genteel way as much as we please! And so, as the Broadway columnists might hint it—what charming young widow from what upstairs apartment over what gymnasium is being seen more and more with what All-America fullback?"

"That could mean only one thing, Blythe knew; Duane Hogan had come from fullback honors at A. and M., every judge last year had given him All-America rating. But it stung Blythe to know that even the newspapers were seeing what she had seen. Big Duane, rushing Nancy Hale.

"Somebody tapped on Pop's office door, then opened it.

"Hi, Bly!"

"Oh, Hello, Norman." Her tone was flat, lifeless.

"Get away from the typewriter and let's talk stuff and things."

"No."

"You got the Journal, I see. Norman was obviously pleased about life in general, this noon. Don't what Summers wrote?"

"I read it."

"Great stuff, hm? For Nancy and Hogan. Good old Hogan!"

Blythe scowled a little, poutingly. "Since when have you felt 'good-old-Hoganish,' Norman?"

"Mm?" He persisted in beaming.

"You know what I mean."

"Av listen, cookie! I don't like Hogan too much, I admit that. He wrecked too many of my plans last year, and before. He—"

"Didn't he, though? Both times the Aggies smothered your State U. team, with Duane leading the march?"

"No, listen!" Norman was getting mad.

School Children Start Scrap Drive; Pile Grows

NEWBERRY, Oct. 16 — Enthusiasm for scrap drives apparently having cooled here somewhat, Newberry school children are stepping in to gather up more tonnage of junk for the war salvage pile. The school drive will take the form of a contest. Elementary grade children are doing their utmost to outdo the junior and senior high school. All hours of the day and evening the children are dragging iron and metal to the growing pile in a corner of the Newberry athletic field. There is also a rumor that the seniors intend to "charge" children scrap instead of money for admittance to the matinee of the play they will stage in November.

Air Success Vial For New Front: Rickenbacker

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—P — Captain E. V. "Edie" Rickenbacker brought back today from an official survey trip to England the conclusion that a second land front in Europe must await decisive success for the British-American air offensive.

Already aerial superiority is "definitely on the Allies' side" and "the British are on the way" to the First World War air ace reported to Secretary Stimson. But, he added:

"The European theater will remain an air theater until we have secured superiority over the German air force and paralyzed the production capacity of the German aircraft industry."

The War Secretary added weight to the opinion by making public excerpts from Rickenbacker's report of a survey of the American Army airmen under actual combat conditions and in comparison with British and Nazi fliers and planes.

In general, Rickenbacker said that "the picture, from our standpoint, is as bright as the grim portrait of war can be," although he warned against complacency. American planes and tactics have proven sound and have won the approval of the British.

Kuzma Returns To Wolverine Lineup Against Northwestern Today

Otto Graham Mainstay Of N. U. Offense

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 16—P—Michigan's powerful Wolverines, halted for the past four seasons just a step away from Big Ten gridiron fame, try it again here Saturday in a homecoming struggle before an expected throng of 35,000. Kick-off time is 2 p. m. (CST).

Into their Big Ten inaugural the Wolverines will tote the same weapons that brought impressive victories over Great Lakes and Michigan State and a whipping from the Iowa naval air cadets.

There is one important addition, Halfback Tom Kuzma, the Gary thunderbolt. Kuzma, after a brilliant sophomore season, hasn't seen a game this year because of a wrenched leg. The injury has healed and Coach Fritz Crisler gives assurance the hard-running Hoosier will see action.

Kuzma May Not Start

Crisler gives no promise Kuzma will start the game, and it will be no surprise if he does not enter the fray until some moments after the Kickoff.

Michigan's "seven oak posts" are ready for another battle of endurance. Another week of practice has not uncovered any new reserve material for this sturdy line that has gone through three hard contests almost without relief. Elmer Madar and Phil Sharpe are the ends, with Al Wistert and Bill Prutla at tackle, Bob Kolesar and Julius Franks at guards and Mervin Preugaman at center.

George Cotham is the quarterback and Bob Whisen fullback. Kuzma or Don Robinson will be at left half and Frank Wardley or Paul White at right half.

Northwestern is stinging from a 7-6 rebuke at the hands of unsuspected Purdue last week. This upset portends a Wildcat eleven on a lusty "rebound." Michigan strategists believe. The Purple also were defeated by Bernie Bierman's Seahawks, 20-12, but they licked mighty Texas, 3-0.

A fast aggressive line and a versatile halfback named Otto Graham are Northwestern's mainstays. Graham does everything, runs, passes and punts—and he does it skillfully, as Michigan discovered at Evanston last season.

U. M. Won Last Year

The Wolverines finally edged out the Wildcats 15-7, in 1941, but it was a vicious, clawing jungle scrap.

Since 1932 Michigan has won nine, lost six and tied one in this series. Saturday's game will mark the 50th anniversary of grid relations between the two schools.

If the Wildcat line has a soft spot it is in the middle, Bob Mott and Bud Hasse are a pair of fine ends and Ray Vincent and Warren Karlstead are strong tackles. Captain Nickie Butts is the star of the better guards in the conference, but the other linemen are unknown quantities.

Coach Lynn Waldorf will start 11 letter-winners. The Wildcats arrived in Dearborn by train today and loosened up their muscles before the game. Michigan had a light workout under the roof of Yost field house.

Notre Dame Underdog In Today's Game

By Dave Hoff

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 16—P—Bernie Bierman, unable to beat Notre Dame in two tries as coach of the Minnesota Gophers, may have better luck tomorrow with his great array of former collegians and professionals who wear the uniforms of the Iowa Pre-Flight Naval school.

Before 35,000 spectators Bierman will direct his Seahawks against a once-tied, once-beaten Notre Dame team whose coach, Frank Leahy, lies ill in a Rochester, Minn., clinic.

The keys to Notre Dame's return to form last Saturday when it swamped weakened Stanford, 27-0, were the inspiration of the enforced absence of Leahy, plus the freeing of Angelo Bertelli from the signal calling duties.

Other than the triumph, Notre Dame's men haven't shown any real reason why they should expect to beat the battering Seahawks—but on pure hunch guessing they've been listed in many circles for an upset victory.

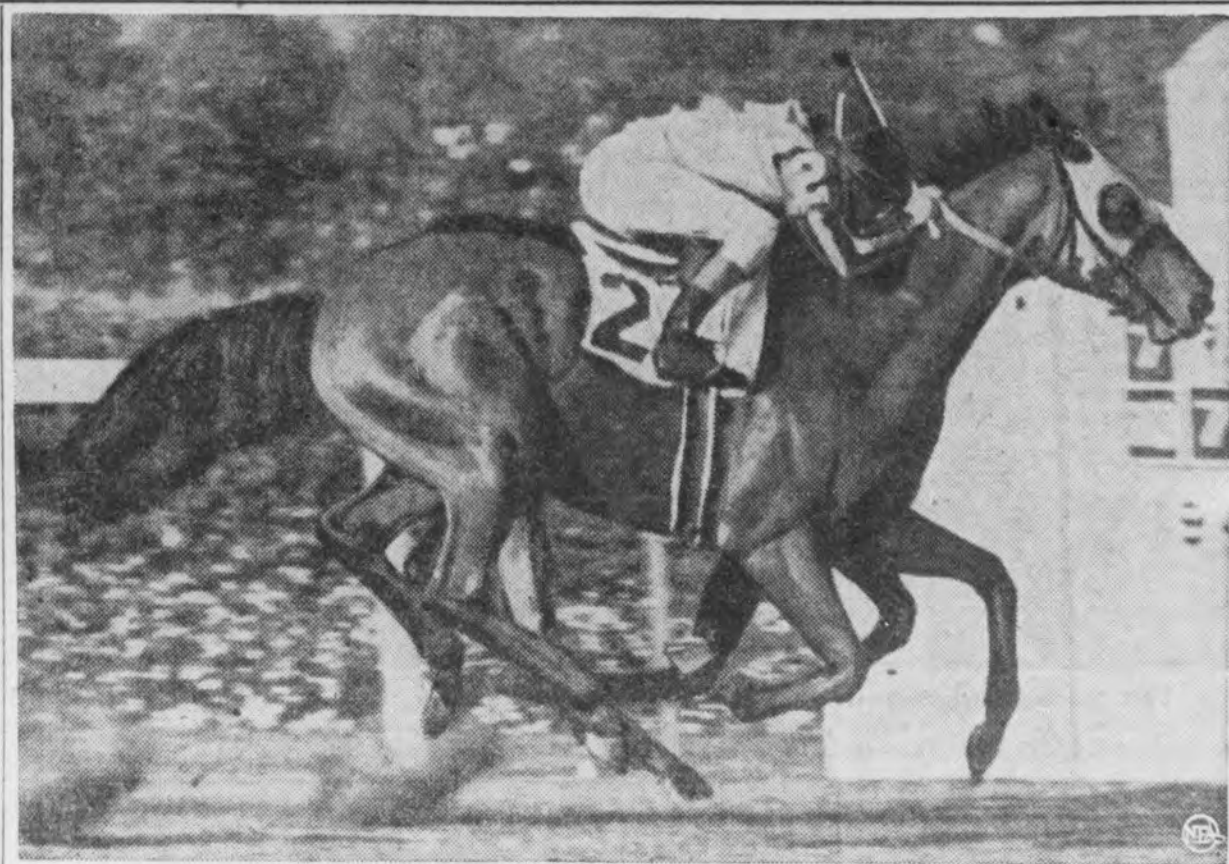

Fred (Dippy) Evans, their leading scorer last year and the kind of player who could spell the difference between defeat and victory in a close match, had been disabled most of the time and at best will see action tomorrow only in a relief capacity. The burden thus rests again on the passing arm of the Italian wizard, Bertelli.

On the other hand Bierman has every conceivable kind of power ready. His Seahawks are perhaps the greatest collection of players ever assembled outside of the pure professional ranks.

There's Dick Fisher, the Ohio State boy who has been the main reason for the Seahawks' last two wins—over Minnesota and Michigan. Forest Evashevsk, of Michigan, and George Benson, of Northwestern, lend additional backfield strength and the Iowans have flowing power in a battery of ends—including Mal Kutner, of Texas; Matt Bolger, of Notre Dame; Jud Ringer, of Minnesota; and Harlin Fraumann, of Michigan.

DISTANT PORT

Iquitos, Peru, on the Amazon river, is an Atlantic seaport, although it is more than 2,000 miles from the Atlantic ocean, and less than 600 miles from the Pacific.

HONEST—IT'S TWO HORSES—Corydon, 2, Buddy Haas up, gets slight fraction of nose down in front of Bright Gallant, Wendell Eads aboard, to win mile-and-a-half Sortado Handicap at Belmont park. Find Bright Gallant and then note that all eight hooves are off the track.

Unbeaten Records at Stake In Today's Grid Highlights

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—P—The unbeaten records of two of the Navy's pre-flight elevens will be in jeopardy tomorrow when Lieut. Commander James Crowley leads his North Carolina cloudbusters against Boston College and Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman's Iowa Seahawks go up against Notre Dame's once-beaten, once-tied but dangerous outfit at South Bend.

These two games figure to be among the best, if not the best, of a nation-wide football schedule that is none too long on quantity in regards to major conflicts but one that is packed with bitter conference and inter-sectional rivalries.

The cloudbusters have only a 14-14 tie with Georgia pre-flight to mark their record while Boston college has bowled over West Virginia and Clemson.

Bierman's power-laden Seahawks carry one of the country's most impressive records into their Notre Dame game, having whipped Kansas, Northwestern, Minnesota and Michigan on successive Saturdays. Notre Dame bunched back last week to smother Stanford after tying Wisconsin and losing to Georgia Tech.

Illinois Meets Iowa

Illinois puts its new-found three-game victory streak, including a win over Minnesota, on the line at Iowa City against Iowa while Ohio State, the nation's top-ranking college team, risks its standing against up-and-down Purdue. With the fray between Northwestern and Michigan at Ann Arbor, they furnish the complete all-western conference schedule. Minnesota goes out of the league to meet its traditional rival, Nebraska; Indiana takes on Pittsburgh and unbeaten Wisconsin tangles with Great Lakes, downed only by Michigan.

The high-light games of the South are in the southeastern conference, where Alabama clashes with Tennessee and hot-and-cold Tulane attempts to smash the four-game winning streak of Georgia's Crackers, named the nation's No. 2 team this week.

A game scheduled only this week finds Duquesne, with a 16-game winning streak and 26 victories out of the last 28 games, meeting North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Other southern games include Davidson-Georgia Tech, Mississippi-Louisiana State, Miss-State-Vanderbilt, Maryland-Virginia Military, Georgia Pre-Flight-Pensacola Naval Training Station, Wake Forest-N. C. State and Kentucky-V. P. I.

Outside of the Cloudbusters-Boston college fray at Boston, the east's other top games figure to be

Princeton and Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, with the Tigers seeking to stop the Quakers' bid for Ivy league honors, Duke and Colgate at Buffalo, Army and Columbia at New York, Penn State and Cornell at Ithaca, Auburn and Georgetown at Washington, Yale-Navy at Annapolis, Lafayette and Brown at Providence, and West Virginia and Fordham at New York.

Conference Headliners
Out through the Big Six and Southwest conferences there are to attract the fans such games as Missouri and Kansas State, Oklahoma and Kansas, Texas and Arkansas, and T. C. U. and Texas Aggies. In the Big Seven its Utah and Utah State and Denver and Wyoming that will furnish the chief fireworks.

The Pacific Coast features two all-conference affairs—Washington State and U. S. C., and U. S. L. A. and California, and Oregon State against Santa Clara, one of the country's leading independent elevens. Stanford and Washington meet two of the circuit's weaker members—Idaho and Montana, respectively.

Pittsburgh Boxer To Meet Chicago Fighter

DETROIT, Oct. 16—P—Promoter Jack Laken announced today that Carmen Notch, Pittsburgh welterweight, had agreed to go through with a 10-round bout at Arena Gardens with Willie Joyce, Chicago, and that the match had been set back a week to October 26.

State Athletic Commissioner John J. Hettehe threatened Notch with suspension from the National Boxing association after the fighter reported his inability to meet Joyce.

Titles of Champions In Service Frozen by NBA

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 16—P—Freezing of titles for champions in the armed services today was pronounced the National Boxing association policy for the duration. "A man in the service is entitled to complete protection of his championship under all circumstances until he is able to defend. This is the NBA policy announced early in the conflict," Abe J. Greene, NBA head, said in commenting on a proposal by Jerry Giesler, chairman of the California boxing commission, that such action be taken.

In classes where champions are not in the service, Greene declared, boxing owes it to the public to keep active.

Grid Teams May Travel By Box Car

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—Travel, travel, little star, and be darned glad it isn't by box car.

Which about sums up the transportation difficulties confronting our college football teams today. They go how they can and when they can, and if your favorite team shows a marked form reversal some Saturday just remember the boys might have been sitting up starting at each other all night in day coaches, or had nothing to eat but a hot dog and a candy bar for 24 hours.

Not so long ago—last fall, in fact—nothing was too good for our collegiate warriors. Railroad representatives fought over the privilege of providing special Pullmans and de luxe diners. Downy hotel beds awaited their many frames. Everything was clever, and it was swell.

We didn't realize how much all this had changed until we read John McFarlane's piece in the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette disclosing the woes of John Holahan, manager of the Duquesne team. We have an idea Mr. Holahan's experiences have carbon copies all over the country.

Everything Not Hunky-Dory

The Dukes were to play Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass., and Pullman transportation had been arranged last June, the team to share accommodations with the West Virginia squad.

As the time for the trip neared the railroad officials weren't so sure everything was hunky-dory. Priorities, you know, and one thing and another. Mr. Holahan rustled around and revised plans as he could, with the result the team left on a Thursday afternoon, wedged into crowded day coaches. The boys rode that way to New York, reaching there at 10 p. m., found overnight accommodations, and left, again by day coach, at 9:10 the next morning.

Toward noon the boys, as sometimes happens, began to get hungry. Where was the diner? There wasn't even a ham sandwich jammed to grab a sandwich and milk at a brief stop.

They arrived at Worcester at 2 p. m., but their uniforms didn't. The suits had been forwarded Friday, but again the transportation problem entered the picture. They finally arrived, on a later train, after the harried Mr. Holahan had all but torn the depot down looking for them.

The Dukes left Worcester at 7 p. m. Saturday, and wearily departed in New York at 1:10 Sunday morning. The World series was on, and the hotels were jammed to the rafters. The boys were finally tucked in, six to a room, to rest, if they could, and at 8 Sunday morning they piled into day coaches again for the long haul back to Pittsburgh.

Things Are Different Now
"Don't get me wrong," Mr. Holahan explained to Mr. McFarlane. "We got all we were entitled to under the circumstances. I'm just describing a few of the difficulties to show how different things are when a team travels today than they were before the war."

The SMU players had to travel two to a berth on the long trip from Dallas to Pittsburgh for the game with Pitt, and when you put

Newberry 11 Plays Today In Munising

MUNISING, Oct. 16—Mather high graders will face Newberry's Indians at 2 p. m. Saturday on the municipal playgrounds field in an attempt to hang up their fifth straight win of the season.

The Trojans of St. Joseph High, Escanaba, were the last victims of Orange and Black strategy. In that contest, played in Escanaba last Friday, both squads failed to score during the opening half, but Mather uncorked its passing game in the final quarters and white-washed the Catholics, 21 to 0.

During his years as mentor of Newberry teams Joe DeCooke has built up a reputation as a "dangerous" man for his foes. The fact that his squad dropped a 26 to 12 match to Gladstone last weekend! (Mather downed the Deltons 15 to 0) is no indication that the Indians will be a setup tomorrow.

Coach St. Germaine has prepared his Munising plan for the match by stressing defensive strategy and polishing up the ground-gaining machinery.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 16—P—Ohio State university's three-victorious Bucks, top-ranking college team in the land, ruled a slight favorite today as they wound up workouts for Saturday's clash with Purdue.

The Big Ten contest is expected to attract about 40,000 fans. Purdue holds a slight weight edge over Ohio, but the Bucks have

Tassel-Tossing Called Art In Broadway's Skin-Operas

Michael Todd started all this business of promoting burlesque's tassel-tossing to an art (and a $3.30 top) when he presented "Star and Garter" this summer. Pictured above is Leticia, in a scene from the Todd opus, which may have prompted Star Gypsy Rose Lee's query: "Is THIS legit?"

The serious-minded student of the drama is apt to bump into some unusual situations on Broadway these days. Such as fr instance, the science—or art—of synchronizing sound and motion, as demonstrated by Trap Drummer Tommy Fargel and Jean Carter in the currently popular "Strip for Action."

By TOM WOLF
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—Burlesque in New York having long been officially buried and forgotten, any similarity between the G-string follies of the days of Minsky and the current goings-on in several of Broadway's "legitimate" theaters is purely coincidental.

Old-timers in the show world who can remember all the way back to last March, when half a dozen girly gaieties graced the erstwhile Great White Way, say that the coincidence is positively amazing.

They recall, for example, a burlesque ballet called "the strip tease." This is a folk dance performed by a young lady with an allergy to clothing. She divests herself of her outer and under garments, one by one, until the difference between seeing and believing becomes purely hypothetical.

While it never goes quite that far on the modern stage, at least three producers have come to the aid of students of theatrical history by presenting reasonable facsimiles of this all-but-forgotten dance.

Judging by box office receipts, there is a surprising number of such students in New York, for even the critic-panned "Wine, Women and Song," wherein Margie Hart covers herself with little else than glory, is playing to S. R. O. audiences.

Dance Demon

Michael Todd started the cycle last summer with "Star and Garter." In this musical revue Gypsy Rose Lee winds up (sic!) behind some fetching tassels. Georgia Sothern demonstrates why burlesque has had its bumps from time to time; and Carrie Fennell shows a thing or two about anatomy which she didn't learn from books.

Latest arrival on Broadway in this series is the new Lindsay-Crouse comedy, "Strip for Action," in which Eleanor Lynn provides the takeoff which explains the title.

One distinguishing feature of the burlesque of old was the similarity of the dramatic acts in every show. Rehearsals were seldom necessary. When a new actress came into the cast, she would be asked: "What's your routine, Boko?"

"I'm the talking woman in 'The Pickle Bit,'" she might reply. The cast could go into the number immediately, without further preparation.

By coincidence, a number of these standard burlesque routines (including "The Pickle Bit," now billed as "The Sacred Gherkin") mysteriously pops up in the current musical dramas. Among these are: "The Box Number," "The Husband's Return," "The Letter Bit," "Edna Valley," "The $1.60," and others.

How do the principals like their new roles? Gypsy Rose Lee and Eleanor Lynn present the two sides of the question. Miss Lynn, a graduate of the Provincetown Playhouse and of Eva LaGallienne's company, is playing burlesque for the first time. "What," she asks, "has LaGallienne got that burlesque hasn't?"

Miss Lee remains cynical. Asked how she liked "legit," the famed striptease answered with a poser: "Is THIS legit?"

Highlights From New Books

THE November 1 mailing deadline is closing in on you and you still haven't found the right gift for that boy in foreign service, send a book. When you put a book in the mail, you are guaranteeing pleasure not only for the lad who will receive it, but also for all his buddies. One book may go the rounds of an entire battalion, and that is really spreading out your Christmas joy.

Don't confine your book gifts to Christmas. Send a book to a soldier or a sailor whenever you can. Books, wrapped individually, comply with all postal restrictions, and can be mailed under the low book rate. The average book will cost you about 6 cents postage.

Current releases supply an excellent selection for gifts for men in service. Books on the war are intentionally omitted.

Short Stories Top List

COLLECTIONS of short stories lead the list. A short story can fill in an empty hour or a dreary day. "This Is My Best" (Dial; $3.50), presents the work of 33 living American authors. Whit Burnett has collected 150 stories, essays, poems and profiles, each selected by the author as his finest product.

"American Harvest" (Fischer; $3.50) contains the cream of American literature in the period from 1920 to 1940. All the "big names" of fiction and fact are here with carefully selected stories, articles and verse. "The World's Great Short Stories" (World; 49c) offers 24 great tales by authors of all nations.

Around The World

AMERICAN troops are guarding the four corners of the globe. Regardless of where your soldier-friend may be stationed, you can find a book that will give him the background and some of the romance of the country.

For those in the Egyptian-Near East zone there is Emil Ludwig's "The Mediterranean" (Whitlesey House; $3.75), the story of the inland sea from Pericles to Mussolini. The Mediterranean has been the center of the greater part of our civilization, the source of culture and religion. Ludwig's history covers all the important facts and individuals, the rise and fall of empires, in a brilliant and entirely readable volume.

The long Alaskan nights may seem shorter if the "Lord of Alaska" (Viking; $3) is handy. This is the story of Andreich Baranov, leader of Russia's colony in Arctic America. It is a vigorous man-sized yarn, with plenty of adventure.

"My Father in China" (Farrar and Rinehart; $3) is not only an exceptionally fine biography of William Burke, Methodist missionary, but is the story of China, too, in a period of eruptive growth. The Soong family (Mme. Chang Kai-shek is one of the daughters) plays an important part in the story.

Ernestine Hill writes a most readable, however feminine, account of the people, animals and country "down under" in "Australian Frontier" (Doubleday Doran; $3.50).

Historical Fiction

THERE is an inspiration for every fighting American in the stories of the early struggles of this nation. Inevitably, he must realize that these principles of freedom which were worth fighting for in the 18th century are still worth preserving in 1942. These historical novels are recommended:

"Look to the Mountain" (Holt; $2.75) by LeGrand Cannon is set in pre-Revolutionary New Hampshire, details the courage and love of two young Americans who were willing to fight for personal liberty. Of such pioneer stock was a nation built to greatness.

The period of America's expansion to the west after the Civil War forms the background for Armstrong Sperry's "No Brighter Glory" (Macmillan; $2.75). The adventures of India de Chambord and Dr. Mark Denny lead from staid New England and glittering Manhattan to the Sandwich Isles and the vigorous northwest frontier.

Mysteries Never Miss

THE murder crop is always a good choice for gifts. With Gypsy Rose Lee is the author, "Mother Finds a Body" (Simon and Schuster; $2) is a sure-fire hit. Gypsy isn't particularly worried by rules of grammar and the plot is somewhat secondary, but all in all, she turns out an entertaining yarn, brightened by burlesque asides, and lively conversation. Her second whodunit is a better job than "The G-String Murders" which introduced her as a writer.

There are killers, dope fiends, doctors, bobby pins and a watch crystal all mixed up in the plot of "The Banock Murder Case" (Dutton; $2) and you'll have to be as good as Sheriff Jess Roden to solve it. With all its angles, it is a well-managed mystery yarn.

On $25 Pay, Memphis Greek Buys War Bond Every Week

By NEA Service

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 16—Kindly Old Tom Lecourias, a native of Greece who became an American citizen only a few months ago, isn't given to talking about his sacrifices. He says that putting $18.75 of his $25 salary into war bonds every week doesn't even seem like a sacrifice to a man whose wife and four children are starving somewhere in Greece—if the Nazis haven't killed them.

Tom works here in a small restaurant owned by his brother. His story would never have been told had not a Memphis couple brought their young son to the cafe a few days ago. The boy brought grievous memories to Tom.

"I have a little boy like you—somewhere in Greece. I haven't heard from him, though, since the Nazis went there."

Bonds Tom's Ammunition

Then Tom's story came to light. The story of a man fighting the Nazis who he knows how against the Nazis who ravaged his homeland, cut him off from word or knowledge of his loved ones.

Times were hard in Greece in 1933, and Tom thought that he could provide for his wife and their four children better if he came to America. But times were hard in America, too. The depression made it difficult to find jobs. And Tom was heartbroken to learn that before he could bring his family to join him he would not only have to become an American citizen, but also have enough money saved to insure that they would not become public charges.

His brother had a small cafe here and Tom went to work. At first he could only save about $20 a month to send home. Then came better times and better wages. The checks to Greece got bigger. Hope began to arise that his family might soon join him. Then the Nazis poured into Greece.

The checks and his letters were begun to be returned undelivered. No word came from Greece about his wife and children. Tom wanted to fight. But at 58 there are difficulties. He did the only thing he knew how.

Lives On $6.25 A Week

It's a pretty drab existence, living on $6.25 a week. Half of it goes for room. Tom gets his meals included in his salary. But this isn't a drab life to Tom because he knows he's fighting Hitler as best he can.

"It is the only thing a man can do," he says of the bonds, "it is an investment in America. In our country goes down then everything goes down. Some day the bonds may help bring the family."

"But now," he adds bitterly, "I hope every bullet my bonds buy goes straight through the heart of Hitler."

Tom Lecourias . . . "I hope every bullet my bonds buy goes straight through the heart of Hitler."

Housing Problem Acute

The way these mid-southwestern cities are growing and sprawling out under the impact of war work is amazing. The housing problem is as acute here as it is anywhere. Wichita's famous trailer camp is but one evidence of housing shortage. All these trailer habitats have been given the same camouflage paint, and from all of them the tires and wheels have disappeared.

Side by side with trailer camps, however, one finds huge stacks of lumber, indicating that houses are soon to go up.

And up they go, over night almost. There is hammering and sawing and measuring wherever one looks. Building activities have been speeded even more since the plan for nation-wide gas rationing has become known. For, many workers still travel miles and miles in their flippers—50 miles are nothing uncommon—to go to their jobs.

The wide spaces here in the middle west are something to think about when one contemplates normalizing the whole gas rationing system.

ALAMO, Ind., Oct. 16—This tiny Hoosier town of 155 persons, named for the fort which produced so many American heroes, is fairly bursting with pride over its own hero—Donald Runyan.

Don, and that's what you hear him called around here, is the 29-year-old Indiana boy whom Clark Lee, of the Associated Press, calls the Navy's No. 1 combat pilot of the war. The last official count gave him eight Jap planes, four of them in one day's fighting in the Solomon Islands, and no one knows what the total may be now.

The argument hereabouts is whether Don should be listed as from Crawfordsville or Alamo, Crawfordsville, home of another war hero, General Lew Wallace, author of "Ben Hur," says it has a claim because it's the biggest town around and Don went to Crawfordsville high school for one year.

But Alamo counters with the fact that Don went to Alamo high school for three years and, besides, his father's 80-acre farm is nearer Alamo than Crawfordsville. Navy-Minded

Don's been away from home for eight years and his old buddies have all gone to war, too. But you can chat awhile with his older brother, Orville, and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Runyan. Learning on the cart in which he was hauling heavy freight to a trucking line headquarters in Crawfordsville, Orville tells you that one brother, George, 25, is working in an airplane factory in Tennessee and another brother, Louis, 22, in an airplane factory in Texas.

Don wanted to join the Navy long before he was out of high school," Orville said. "The folks wouldn't give permission then but when he was 21 he joined. After he finished his 'boot' training at Norfolk, Va., he came home and when he walked in he said, 'well, I've always wanted this uniform and now I've got it.'"

Someone else in Crawfordsville said Don was full of mischief when he was a boy but here is what Orville said:

"Well, he always knew how to stand up for his rights," and then you could almost see the big brother's chest swell with pride as he added, "and I guess he's showing it now."

The family home is a six-year-old five-room farmhouse on a knoll amid fertile Indiana farmlands. A visitor is apt to meet Don's mother first.

"I'm so proud of him I don't know how to say it," she told me. Then, in from the back came Don's dad, wearing overalls. He beamed at mention of his son.

Modest Hero

Don hasn't been home since February, 1940, and since has married a California girl whom his parents haven't seen.

"The last letter we had from him was written the day after that last battle," Mrs. Runyan said, "but he never mentioned shooting down all those planes. He just inquired about the family and never mentioned what he had been doing."

His mother will tell you that after his first enlistment period she asked him to return to civilian life but his answer was: "The Government has spent a lot of money training me and if I quit now I'd have to start at the bottom again if I ever went back."

hands and feet in perfect coordination. Actually coordination is necessary for the bombardier as well as for the pilot, but because of the looks of the device, the would-be pilot thinks it is aimed especially at him.

He spends many hours on such tests and others that show how good he is at mathematics, reasoning, map reading, comprehension of written material, dial reading, and the reading and speed of identification.

If a man does well on all the tests he is then assigned to the type of training that he prefers. But if he is particularly good at some of the tests and does less well on others he is assigned to the type of work for which he is best fitted.

Speeds Up Training

Careful selection of the right man for the right job makes it possible to speed up training and get the men into the air over the war area in the shortest possible time.

If a man were trained to be a navigator just because he wanted to do that sort of work, although his talents really fit him for piloting or bombing, the chances are he would never complete the course creditably. He would have to drop out eventually and be replaced by a better qualified man. The Army Air Forces would be delayed in getting a good navigator. At the same time he would be using the precious time of instructor and equipment for which some other man is waiting.

Careful Placement

The Army does not want failures in training. They want to put each man where he will make good and will make good fast.

The famous team of pilot-navigator-bombardier that is writing history in the skies over Germany, the Aleutians or the South Sea Islands, are not all alike in their personalities or talents. They supplement each other. They dovetail. Precision bombing requires speed and accuracy. When you drop a bomb from a very high altitude, even a tiny error will make the bomb fall far wide of its mark. That means precious ammunition wasted. It means prolonging the war.

Must Operate Sight

But when you are bombing from very low altitudes, the target zig past your field of view at such a tremendous speed that great speed and accuracy of timing, are essential.

The bombardier must use the secret bomb sight. This is an instrument which can be set and automatically performs all the computations and adjustments necessary to put the bomb on the target. The bombardier must be able to operate over a score of switches, and watch numerous instruments estimating drift, wind, altitude and speed.

If he falls in doing all this with precision, in spite of all the breathtaking distractions and hazards of combat above the earth's firm ground, the entire bombing mission will be for nothing.

Pilot Responsibilities

The pilot must control a plane traveling at speeds that he has never before encountered. He must know what to do if a part of his plane is disabled. He must be able to fight off enemy attacks or to evade them. He must be able to take upon himself a tremendous amount of responsibility when he takes off in a large bomber worth thousands of dollars and heavily loaded with high explosives. A misjudgment might cost many lives.

nation taken when the would-be aviation cadet first applies at one of the several hundred aviation cadet examining boards that are dotted over the United States. They must be able to read understandingly all the difficult material that they must master in their profession. They must be good at elementary mathematics and at understanding mechanical devices and diagrams. They must be able to read maps and weather reports. They must be good leaders of men.

Finally, they must have good judgment. The navigator who had poor judgment would never be able to find the objective. The bombardier who had poor judgment would not be able to place the deadly missiles accurately on the target. The pilot who had poor judgment might take all hands crashing to their death.

Only About Half Pass

The qualifying examination which picks men who can meet these demands and screens out those who would waste training time and eventually wash out is not exactly an easy test. Only about half the men who have taken it so far have passed and been appointed as cadets.

But this qualifying examination is one of the most important of the Army's war weapons. For it is because of this test and the classification tests taken later that the Army is able to make the most effective use of our most precious of all resources—man power.

HAVING long wanted to be a war correspondent, we have been studying up on the technique, with the following results:

Veronica Lake, who has just returned to her base after a day-and-night sweep of the country during which she left large fires burning in Columbus, Madison Square Garden and Daytona Beach, is resting up for another costly raid on the Americans. It was learned in an exclusive interview today.

In a two-week sortie, the Flying Sorceress unloaded $10,000,000 worth of war bonds over an area extending from coast to coast. Part of her right forelock failed to return.

Informed sources said a man named Meyer Regenstien got the hair, but only after Miss Lake had inflicted losses on his pocketbook estimated at $180,000. The ack-ack was heaviest in the Garden.

Dog Draftee Subs For Lamed Master

PELHAM, N. Y.—P—Robert Milan, 21, couldn't go to war for two years ago he injured his hip in a football game, the joint became affected, and he now walks only with difficulty.

So Milan did the next best thing. He offered his three-year old Irish setter, Brian Boru, as his substitute.

Dogs for Defense, Inc., is now training the setter for war work.

she said, but she neatly escaped direct hits everywhere except Maccon, Ga., where she had a brush with a visiting expert from Columbus, O.

"But it's such an imposing desk," observed Miss Lake. "Oh, you think THIS is imposing?" shot back the unnamed Treasury official and cabinet member.

"You ought to see So-and-so's desk" (naming a high official of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer whose name happens to tally with the last part of the hyphenated company name.)

Expressing keen satisfaction at the results of her trip, the star nevertheless revealed some alarming data on the rising cost of commodities around the country, based on her own first-hand observation. At the Madison Square Garden rally which she attended, for example, a wispy second-hand sarong which the auctioneer admitted had been used by Miss Dorothy Lamour, sold for $50,000.

A pair of used gloves belonging to Miss Paulette Goddard were for slightly less. At these prices, experts compute, Miss Lake would have been good for the cost of a B-24 in just what she was wearing.

In Jacksonville, Fla., we managed to worm out of her, Miss Lake was called upon to christen a minesweeper.

She smashed the champagne bottle to smithereens squarely on the objective, and a yard official hinted that this was too good to be just beginner's luck. Miss Lake admitted that she had practiced throwing crockery at Joel McCrea for two whole days once for a movie, but she said this was her maiden pitch in the champagne league.

Only with difficulty.

The islands usually comprised in the term "South Seas" have a combined land area of 391,000 square miles.

Thrill Follows Thrill

Little Lorene Mitchell, infantile paralysis victim whose biggest thrill came only a month ago when she christened a Liberty ship and was given $10,000 collected by California Shipbuilding Yards workers, may have an even greater moment in store for her. Two noted surgeons, famed for their work with polio, are to operate on the 10-year-old daughter of a laundry worker; hope that one day she may walk without braces.
